The U. S. Department of Commerce Bureau of the Census is preparing to take the 19th federal census in the United States.

The head count, taken every 10 years, is required by the U. S. Constitution, and the first one was taken in 1790.

There will be a lot more people to count in 1970 than there were in 1790, and the census information will go into much more detail.

The Bureau of the Census reports that 80 per cent of the households will be required to answer 23 questions this time, which is expected to require about 15 minutes. The remaining 20 per cent of the households will have an average of 69 questions to answer, which will require an estimated 45 minutes.

The census has important political significance. The census count is used to determine fair apportionment of seats in the Congress and in state legislatures. Also, federal funds are distributed on the basis of population figures, which is something that was not a factor in the first census 180 years ago.

The answers to questions involved in the federal census are put into the confidential category. Census employes are forbidden by law from disclosing any fact about a person and would be subject to heavy fine or imprisonment for a violation of the law.

The overall figures, of course, are awaited anxiously by business and industry as well as by government agencies at all levels.

In the past, census-taking time has been of considerable concern to ambitious Chambers of Commerce who were not reluctant to make liberal estimates of population between census years. Now, although most places are as interested in population growth as ever, they are more cautious about their claims, especially in the months immediately preceding the census. Many cities and towns were caught short of their estimates in 1950 and in 1960. Application of various criteria, established via the last actual census, used to be an accepted method of projecting estimates. However, the standard of living plays havoc with such criteria within a 10-year span.

For example, suppose the census shows that there are a dozen people for each automobile and half a dozen people for each television set at the time the census is taken. A few years later those criteria may be far off the mark as more cars and more television sets per capita come into use.

Only the census itself can provide the true picture, and it comes only once every 10 years.

Model Cities Could Help Save Construction Unions

AUSTIN (AP) — An increasingly tight construction squeeze and racial requirements in federal housing programs concern building trade unionists here for a three-day conference.

Gerald Brown, executive secretary of the Texas Building Trades Council, advised those at the council's Legislative Conference Tuesday to get involved in model cities.

Model cities programs are aimed at improving poverty neighborhoods and generally include such construction as making deteriorated homes more liveable. In many cases a specified percentage of the construction workers must come from the poverty area involved. This usually means hiring of members of minority groups.

Brown said local governments have cut unions out of the committees that run model cities programs in Texas.

"They didn't want organized labor in the state of Texas to have any part of model cities," he said. He said construction unions have the ability both to do the work and to train poverty area employes.

With construction work slowing down, "model cities might be our only salvation, it might be our bread and butter," Brown said.

The conference runs through Thursday.

"They say the recession is coming—I say it's here," Brown said. "By February 1971 there will be 20 per cent of the construction industry idle in the state of Texas. Over $100 million in construction work in the Gulf Coast Council which has been shut down since the first of the year.

Edgar Berlin of the U.S. Office of Economic Opportunity urged the unions to lower racial barriers and take a bigger part in training minority-group workers in the building crafts.

"Some building trades unions in this state have drawn a line, regardless of what their internationals say. They say, 'We won't allow any colored in. We ought to look at ways of using these trained or half-trained people. This is a problem we are going to have to face or it is going to eat us up," Berlin said.

He urged the unions to "get in on the ground floor, get in on the training part" of housing programs, including model cities.

It's a question, Berlin said, of whether "you do it or whether you let the fat cats, the businessmen and the bankers operate it by default."

Agreement On Plant Is Ok'd Here

The Board of Directors of the Scurry County Industrial Foundation met this morning to approve a formal agreement with Ritz-Craft Southern, Inc., for a plant site and building for a mobile homes manufacturing plant here.

The foundation, which has a long-established policy of providing plant sites for industries, will furnish a 20-acre site for Ritz-Craft. Arrangements also will be made to construct a plant building of some 72,000 square feet. The construction however, will be financed through the three local financial institutions and will be amortized by a lease agreement.

Ritz-Craft announced Monday that Snyder had been selected as the site for a new plant, following negotiations with several West Texas cities.

Officials of the company said that plans for buildings and equipment are well underway and that construction could begin in about two weeks. The company will build mobile homes here for wholesale distribution.

Arabs Questioned In Airport Attack

MUNICH (AP) — Munich police today questioned four Arabs arrested after a grenade attack in the Munich airport on passengers of an Israeli airliner.

Three of the Arabs were wounded during the attack Tuesday and the fourth was arrested by police who cordoned off the airport to search for accomplices.

Munich Police Chief Hermann Schreiber said officials were trying to determine the motive for the attack. He said police "cannot rule out" the possibility that the target was Assaf Dayan, 24-year-old actor son of Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan and a passenger on the plane. But the police added that as yet there was no firm evidence to support that theory.

Young Dayan was not hurt. A spokesman for El Al Airlines said he had left Munich but "for security reasons" would not say where he had gone. Before the attack, Dayan was on his way to London.

The attack killed one passenger and wounded eleven other persons, including the three attackers, the plane's pilot and flight engineer, a policeman and two British passengers.

Israeli officials said the dead passenger was Arieh Katzenstein, 32, of Haifa. His father, Heinz, 57, was among the six passengers injured.

One of Israel's leading actresses, Hanna Meron, was the most seriously injured person. She was reported in "extremely grave" condition after a second major operation today, but the nature of her injuries was not made public.

The plane returned to Tel Aviv with only the crew aboard. The pilot remained hospitalized in Munich.

Two Arab guerrilla organizations with headquarters in Amman, Jordan, the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine and the Action Organization for the Liberation of Palestine, claimed credit for the attack. The Popular Front has made a specialty of attacking planes and offices of Israel's El Al Airline.

It was the fifth Arab attack on El Al in 30 months.

The El Al airliner had stopped in Munich during a flight from Tel Aviv to London and the passengers and crew are preparing to return from the terminal to the aircraft.

The Arab terrorists, armed with pistols, blocked the path of the pilot and flight engineer as they walked from the departure lounge to an airport transit bus. The Arabs apparently threw grenades both into the bus and into the terminal, then traded shots with police.

Ed Takes Show To Brooke

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Ed Sullivan live and in color brought his show to Brooke Army Medical Center Tuesday.

Accompanied by comedians Mary Allen, and George Kirby and singing stars Nancy Ames and Buck Owens, Sullivan taped the show for viewing on Easter Sunday.

Half of the Easter show was filmed earlier at the Army's Fitzsimmons General Hospital in Denver, Colo.

Most of the patients who saw the show, complete with performers, crewmen, equipment and cue cards, are veterans of Vietnam.

N-Viet Push Is Disrupted By Allied Forces

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese commanders say allied forces have disrupted a major new push by two North Vietnamese battalions into the Mekong Delta. They reported 79 more enemy troops killed in the Plain of Reeds, bringing the total to 207 in a series of battles since last Friday.

No government casualties were reported in the most recent clash 10 miles west of the provincial capital of Moc Hoa. Spokesmen said most of the enemy dead probably were slain by artillery, fighter-bombers and helicopters supporting government rangers trying to block the retreat into Cambodia of the North Vietnamese 88th Regiment's 8th and 9th battalions.

Seventeen South Vietnamese were killed and 24 wounded in the earlier fighting after the enemy battalions were intercepted last week in the desolate plain some 60 miles west of Saigon.

Associated Press correspondent David Rosenzweig reported from the Plain of Reeds that ranking South Vietnamese officers and their U.S. advisers believe an enemy drive toward the head of the heavily populated delta had been "compromised" by the government troops, who now are trying to bottle up scattered North Vietnamese forces.

"The Communists have been set back many months," one South Vietnamese officer said.

The officers said captured documents and prisoners revealed the 88th Regiment had planned to make its way during the Tet cease-fire period last week to the vicinity of My Tho, the chief city in the northern delta 40 miles south of Saigon, to be ready for an offensive in the area in mid March.

Sporadic fighting was continued in the border region near Tuyen Binh, a district town about 15 miles northwest of Moc Hoa, Rosenzweig said.

It was the second mauling for the battalions in three months. Last December more than 100 of their men were killed in an unsuccessful attempt to overrun Tuyen Binh.

Elsewhere-

Eight Americans were killed and 12 wounded when enemy sappers, moving in behind a barrage of rocket-grenades attacked Firebase Rifle 15 miles south of Hue. Twelve of the attackers were killed, some inside the camp.

The U.S. Command said three Americans were wounded when their observation helicopter was shot down in Tay Ninh Province, near the Cambodian border north of Saigon.

Other fighting reported today took the lives of 80 enemy soldiers, spokesmen said. Government casualties were reported as "light."

In Saigon, U.S. Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird and Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, began talks with U.S. and South Vietnamese officials on the progress of the Vietnamization program. The information Laird and Wheeler take back to Washington is expected to be a major factor in President Nixon's plans for future withdrawal of U.S. troops.

Mideast Fighting

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Low-flying Egyptian fighter-bombers today attacked Israeli military positions along the northern sector of the Suez Canal. The Egyptians claimed "direct hits." The Israelis said there were no casualties and made no mention of damage.

An Egyptian military communique said all planes returned safely.

The Syrian Arab News Agency said Israel has installed U.S.-made ground to air Hawk missiles on the Golan Heights near Mt. Hermon following increased Syrian military activity against Israel.

Lead-Free Gas Plans Announced

NEW YORK (AP) — Five petroleum refiners have now announced plans to market lead-free gasoline in an effort to cut air pollution.

The latest are Standard Oil Co. of Indiana, Union Oil Co. and Standard Oil Co. of California, who said Tuesday they will sell the fuel as soon as auto makers produce engines that can use it.

Similar announcements were made last week by Atlantic Richfield Co. and Getty Oil Co.

"Consumers will have to share the cost of improved air quality through somewhat higher fuel prices," said John E. Swearingen, chairman of Standard of Indiana.

He said some estimates place the additional cost at three or four cents a gallon.

The modification of refineries and distribution facilities will require new capital investment of hundreds of millions of dollars, he said.

Lead is one of various additives used to give gasoline higher performance.

The nation's largest three auto manufacturers have indicated willingness to modify their engines to run on lead-free gas. Lead, they said, interferes with pollution removing devices.

France Expecting More Avalanches

By GEOFFREY ATKINS
Associated Press Writer

VAL D'ISERE, France (AP) — A new avalanche of snow rushed down on a convoy of vehicles at neighboring Bourg-St. Maurice today, damaging some of the vehicles; but there were no reports of death or injury. Meanwhile, Val d'Isere's mayor ordered skiers to stay in their hotels as blizzard winds threatened another snowslide like the one that killed 39 persons here Tuesday.

Ambulances, bulldozers and snow plows rushed to the scene of the new slide 20 miles from Val d'Isere. Rescue workers said persons living in the area had been ordered to evacuate Tuesday night.

Mayor Jean Machet said the danger was too great to allow tourists on the streets. A number of hotels were evacuated, and vacationers poured into inns and private homes considered to be in safer locations.

The valley town was cut off. Roads were blocked by drifting snow piling 12 feet high in some places. All planes and helicopters were grounded.

There were no coffins for the bodies which were lined up in a hall. Trucks that were to have brought coffins here from Bourg-St. Maurice never started the trip. Identification of the victims remained incomplete since few were carrying any papers at the time of the accident.

The official government weather forecast said, "The risk of avalanches remains serious." One man died in another avalanche Tuesday in the French Alps near Ugene.

Interior Minister Raymond Marcellin, sent to the disaster scene by President Georges Pompidou, announced a full investigation commission would be set up.

French newspapers criticized the lack of a central avalanche warning system in France, and the lack of funds for Alpine research work. They charged there is a haphazard system of issuing building permits for avalanche-prone regions in the current ski resort building boom.

The building hit Tuesday was a low-cost ski center for persons under 30. Some 70 of the guests were having breakfast on the ground floor when the mass of fresh powder snow struck.

Many of the 31 injured were recovered after they were buried unconscious for periods of up to two hours. Police and soldiers brought in snow probes, trained dogs and clearance equipment.

Four persons were killed last Wednesday at nearby Tignes when an avalanche swept across a main road, and a busload of passengers dug out unhurt after they were buried for 30 minutes.

Avalanche warnings also were issued today for most of Alpine Switzerland.

Col. Marlowe Not Called To Testify

FT. BENNING, Ga. (AP) — Defense counsel for Lt. William L. Calley Jr., in a surprise move today, announced it would not call his former commanding officer to testify on the question of "command influence" in the decision to charge the young soldier with murdering 102 Vietnamese civilians.

Col. Lon D. Marlowe Jr., 55, who retired last Nov. 1 had been called to testify and was outside the courtroom waiting to appear when George Latimer, Calley's chief defense counsel, made his announcement.

"The reason we didn't call Col. Marlowe is because I didn't think we needed him," Latimer replied.

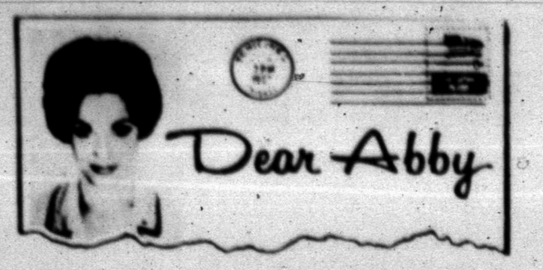
Marlowe was Calley's commanding officer at the time charges stemming from the alleged massacre at My Lai in March 1968 were being investigated and prepared for filing by the Army.

Latimer is seeking in pretrial arguments before Military Judge Reid W. Kennedy to have the charges thrown out on grounds that command influence from President Nixon down through the Department of Defense played a role in the decision to try Calley.

Court Takes No Action On Hall

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Supreme Court took no action and made no comment today on the pending effort by Sen. Ralph Hall, Rockwall, to run for governor in the Democratic primary.

State Democratic Chairman Elmer Baum refused Feb. 2 to accept Hall's $3,000 filing fee on the grounds the state Constitution said that legislators are ineligible during their current terms for posts which were created or whose salaries were raised during their tenure as lawmakers.



She's 'victimized' by generous in-laws

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1970 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I have a very unusual problem—my mother-in-law loves me. My husband, my child, and I are constantly showered with unnecessary and unsolicited gifts, barraged by two or three phone calls each day, given helpful but unsolicited suggestions, advice, etc.

It has been difficult to accept her "love offerings" graciously since I feel that both my in-laws unconsciously want my husband and me to be indebted to them forever.

We both have high-paying jobs and are financially independent, but my husband is still so emotionally attached to his mother that he asks her to make his dental appointments for him.

When we had out first child the gift giving situation became even more pronounced, which makes MY parents look unloving and stingy, which they certainly are not.

I know that if this is the biggest problem I ever have I'll be lucky, but in the meantime, I would like your advice on how to tactfully handle this situation with Mom.

DAUGHTER-IN-LAW

DEAR DAUGHTER-IN-LAW: As I see it, you are "victimized" by generous in-laws who give you presents, and show by their constant attention that they have not forgotten you. I don't know what is in need of "handling"—unless it could be your inability to graciously accept that which is undoubtedly offered in good faith.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are newlyweds and we are both very fond of pets. We have two dogs and three cats. (I had a poodle before we were married and Jim had a German shepherd, and the cats are strays.)

We are furnishing a small home and I want a bright green carpet in the living room. Jim says, "No, anything but green. The pets will think it's grass and you know what will happen to the carpet."

Is this true? I asked our vet and he just laughed, so now I'm asking you.

LIKES PETS

DEAR LIKES: I'd be inclined to laugh, too. A well-trained pet will respect a carpet, regardless of the color. But how one can presume to "know" what an animal "thinks" is beyond me.

DEAR ABBY: I am still burning from the letter a 19-year-old girl wrote to you, saying she didn't think she should pay any room and board or help her mother with the housework.

Abby, I completely agree with you. She should grow up. I am 23 years old, and am in the United States navy. When I go home on leave I pay room and board because I don't expect my parents to feed me for 30 days. Their responsibility ended when I joined the navy.

RESPECTFULLY,
G. R. A. [Viet Nam]

CONFIDENTIAL TO "WORRIED AGAIN" IN EVANSTON, ILL.: Sorry, but I can't help you in the manner that you suggest. It might be in the interest of society to put the Pill into vending machines and require a prescription for cigarets.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Pakistan Traffic Progressing

By ARNOLD ZEITLIN

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) Pakistan has reached a new plateau of progress: The cops in Karachi are handing out traffic tickets.

"People prefer them," says Mohammed Sami Khan, ebullient police superintendent in charge of traffic for this port of three million people.

He means they prefer tickets to the old system which forced transgressors to spend at least a half day in a jammed courtroom waiting to plead guilty and to pay a 10-rupee fine. That's $2.

Traffic policemen now write tickets at the scene. The motorist pays a 20-rupee fine at his nearest branch of the government-owned National Bank of Pakistan, much as he pays his telephone or gas bill.

Ticketing is new, and if it works out, will be expanded in West Pakistan to such major traffic centers as Lahore and the capital area of Islamabad, Rawalpindi.

Sami says vehicle traffic, since the partition of British India in 1947 created Pakistan, has increased fifty-fold in Karachi alone, from 2,500 vehicles to 127,000. The city's population in the same span has increased about 10 times.

Karachi has unique traffic problems. For one, the space not taken up by motor vehicles is filled with carts pulled by camels or donkeys or oxen.

"Give way to the animals!" warns item No. 1 of a traffic bulletin distributed by a private company as a public service.

Karachi also has an ancient trolley car running through the center of the business district, operating the wrong way on a one-way avenue. Oldtimers are used to it. Newcomers are unnerved trailing a trolley, they realize suddenly it is about to descend upon their vehicles.

"The tram was completed before one-way streets," said Sami. As for the animal carts: "They are the means of livelihood for thousands of people. We can't throw them out. We have no problems.

Sami said direct payment into a bank prevents the corruption of policemen issuing tickets.

Not all officers share the view.

Hijacker Surrenders To US Officials

MADRID (AP) — An American who says he hijacked a Delta Air Lines jet and 108 people to Cuba two years ago arrived in Madrid unescorted today and turned himself over to U.S. Embassy officials.

The man claims to be Lawrence M. Rhodes Jr., 30, of Welch, W. Va., who also is wanted for a $12,000 payroll robbery in West Virginia.

The embassy said that if Rhodes' story checks out, the U.S. government probably would ask for his extradition. But Rhodes indicated he would waive extradition, telling a Spanish newsman in Zaragoza: "I am ready to return to the United States. Twenty or 30 years (in prison) I don't care. All that's over, because I'm not bad and some day I will get out. I love my wife and child very much."

New Wheat Variety Is Unveiled

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP) — A new wheat variety, discovered in 1950 but only recently tested, was unveiled today by the Oklahoma Agricultural Experiment Station and the crops research division of the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture.

The variety known as "Danne," was named for the late Joseph E. Danne, a self-taught plant scientist who developed the nation's most-used wheat, Triumph.

Danne died in 1959 on the farm near El Reno where he conducted his plant breeding experiments but the new variety lay untouched in his Canadian County farmhouse until 1960.

The wheat was described as a hard red winter variety, similar to Triumph in its maturity date, test weight per bushel, winterhardness, straw-strength and reaction to diseases and insects.

The announcement said Danne outyielded Triumph by 15 per cent in 34 tests in Oklahoma from 1964 through 1969. It also was described as having better milling and baking qualities than Triumph.

The only apparent weakness in comparison to Triumph is a tendency toward slightly lower protein content in the kernel, the announcement reported.

The new variety apparently is a cross between two wheat developments made in 1950 by Danne. It was one of 1,624 wheat selections bequeathed to the Oklahoma Agriculture Experiment Station and the Agriculture Department.

Oklahoma State University agronomists planted the seed in 1960 and about 10 per cent of it germinated. Yield tests began in 1964 after agronomists had enough of the wheat in hand to plant several rows.

The announcement said an estimated 1,500 pounds of Danne seed will be made available for fall planting if this year's harvest is good.

Woman Killed In Grocery Robbery

DALLAS (AP) — A woman grocery store operator was shot to death today, the fifth woman clerk to be shot to death in the Dallas-Fort Worth area within three weeks.

The woman, Mrs. Martel Wesley, 54, had just opened the Wesley Foot Store in the Fair Park area of Dallas when two men rushed inside.

A clerk, Johnny Sweet, 25, told investigators that one of the men pulled a gun and ordered him to lie on the floor behind a counter.

"I heard the shot and started to raise up to see what had happened," Sweet said, "and the man with the gun on me told me not to raise up. He told me he meant business."

Sweet said one robber yelled, "I shot her. Let's go!"

Mrs. Wesley died of one gun shot wound in the head.

Investigators said the bandits took the money from the cash register and also stole Mrs. Wesley's purse. It is believed a third man waited outside the door as the robbery took place.

The amount of cash stolen was not determined at once.

'Ski' Group Assembles

BOSTON (AP) — Hundreds of youths assembled in the Boston area today amid reports they were headed for Cuba to harvest sugar cane for Fidel Castro.

Those who would talk with newsmen said they were en route to a ski holiday at Saint John, N.B., as members of a group called the "Ski Masters."

They were heavily burdened with knapsacks and sleeping bags, but no skis were in evidence. Moreover, the Saint John area is not noted for winter sports facilities.

In Saint John, N.B., Gerald Elkin, an agent for Cuban shipping, said shipping officials in Montreal told him the Cuban freighters, Luis Arcos Bergnes, was to be boarded there by 500 Americans bound for Cuba.

Elkin said he understood that 212 American students who went to Cuba last November to harvest sugar cane were returning aboard the same freighter.

While in Cuba, the students reportedly cut 12,000 tons of sugar cane.

In Brooklyn, N.Y., the All State Bus Corp. said the "Ski Masters" had paid "more than $20,000" to charter buses from San Francisco, Seattle, Chicago, Madison, Wis., Cleveland, Detroit, Washington and New York City.

The American Friends Service Committee took on the chore of finding temporary housing for them.

Goodwin Draws Life Imprisonment

LUFKIN, Tex. (AP) — A nine-man, three woman jury returned a verdict of guilty and a sentence of life imprisonment Tuesday in the murder trial of Norris J. Goodwin.

Goodwin was charged in the shotgun slayings of four persons last June 30.

In the trial which ended Tuesday, Goodwin was convicted of murder in the death of Ruby Joyce Guinn, 16.

The other victims were Mr. and Mrs. Jay Vardeman, Goodwin's mother-in-law and father-in-law and the girl's mother, Mrs. Estelle Guinn.

Goodwin told the jury in his testimony that he couldn't remember anything that happened "that afternoon from noon on."

All four persons were slain in the Vardeman's home in nearby Redtown.

Radioactive Plutonium Found In Soil

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — An investigative group says radioactive plutonium has been found in soil samples from land outside the Rocky Flats nuclear weapons complex 20 miles northwest of this metropolitan area of more than 1 million population.

The investigation was carried out by the Colorado Committee for Environmental Information, made up mainly of scientists in the local area, whose chairman gave a guarded account of the finding Tuesday.

One committee source said the soil samples were taken in an area ranging up to 10 miles from the nuclear plant and commented that if contamination continued it could prove "a serious threat to the health and safety of the people of Denver."

The population within 10 miles of the plant ranges from dense to sparse. Some of the land is farmed.

Dr. Edward A. Martell of Boulder, the committee chairman, would say only that the samples came from "within to beyond a few miles" from the plant.

"There is a considerable amount of plutonium out of the plant area," Martell said, but added:

"The amounts found are of debatable significance. I think we have to do a lot more looking before we can say whether it is harmful or not."

Rogers Wings To Ethiopia Today

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH
Associated Press Writer

TUNIS (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers flew from Tunisia to Ethiopia today for meetings with Emperor Haile Selassie and Yugoslav President Tito and a major policy speech to the Organization of African Unity.

The flight to the southeast took Rogers out of the Arab world, but the Arab-Israeli conflict was high on the agenda for his conference tonight with Tito.

The Yugoslav leader also is touring Africa, and Rogers requested the meeting about a week ago when he learned that the two of them by coincidence would be in Addis Ababa at the same time. This gives Rogers the opportunity to explain the Nixon administration's Middle East policy to Tito, who consistently has favored the Arab cause and is close to Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

Tito leaves Addis Ababa Thursday to visit the Sudan, Egypt and Libya, three militant Arab states whose relations with the United States are cool or nonexistent. The Yugoslav president presumably will pass on to their leaders what he gleans from Rogers and his assessment of it.

Addis Ababa is the third stop on the American secretary's 10-nation African tour. He will stay two days.

Rogers also spent two days each in Morocco and Tunisia, the only Arab countries on his itinerary. Both governments gave him reassurances of their friendship for the United States and their gratitude for American aid. But both disagreed with American policy in the Middle East, which they regard as unduly favorable to Israel. Rogers denied any bias and said the United States is trying to steer a middle course in the Arab-Israeli conflict.

Tunisian Premier Bahi Ladgham said he sees no solution to the Middle East problem for at least a generation, but he stressed the view that in the end Israelis and Arabs will have to learn to live together "in justice." This meant particularly recognition of the rights of Palestine Arabs.

Throughout much of Tuesday, several thousand university students demonstrated in downtown Tunis against U.S. support for Israel. Steel-helmeted police, troops and firemen were deployed at strategic points and American installations. There were a few scuffles but no one was hurt seriously.

Rogers cancelled an appearance at the American-built university campus, and the students called the cancellation a "victory for the Arab cause."

In a television broadcast Tuesday night, Ladgham accused the students of violating the rules of politeness and hospitality and said such demonstrations would not be tolerated in the future.

Reduction In Ships Creates Problem

AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — An economy drive that has put more than 100 ships into dry-dock means longer, more frequent voyages for many sailors and officers and poses a possible recruiting problem for the Navy.

Navy officers are fearful the new demands on their personnel will lead to difficulties in holding on to seasoned enlisted men and will prompt many officers to resign.

The Pentagon so far has announced the laying up of 132 vessels of many types for economy reasons. This budget pressure leaves the Navy with about 760 ships to carry out missions in Vietnam, the Mediterranean, the Caribbean, the Korean area and in other sensitive spots.

"We can meet all our commitments as they are levied on us right now," said one senior naval source. "But we just don't have the flexibility we used to have and we have had to dig hard to support necessary operations."

The vital 7th Fleet involved in the Vietnam war and operations in the Korean area is being kept up to its normal strength of more than 70 ships.

The 6th Fleet, an important factor in the Mediterranean, also is maintaining its usual strength of nearly 50 ships.

But to do this, and fulfill other responsibilities, the Navy has had to reduce the "turn around" time of ships in their home ports.

This means that instead of spending a year in home waters between overseas deployment, naval vessels will be sent to foreign stations more frequently.

This, in turn, means less time at home with wives and children.

Old Greece Comes Alive

THE FLOWERS OF ADONIS. By Rosemary Sutcliff. Coward-McCann. $6.95.

The author is a first rate historical novelist. The fact that she is a woman does not mean that she writes hearts-and-flowers costume dramas for the feminine trade; on the contrary, her stories contain plenty of gutsy action and her male characters ring true.

Such was the case with her previous novel, "Sword at Sunset," a tale of King Arthur's time, and it is true of the present work, which deals with the Peloponnesian War.

The story's chief protagonist is Alkibiades. This military hero of Athens was accused of heresy; defected to Sparta and masterminded a devastating attack on the Athenians; returned to Athens to save it; was exiled again, and finished out his life trying to help his homeland.

Miss Sutcliff's technique is to alternate the narrative among a host of figures who were close to Alkibiades. Among them are his fleet pilot, a marine lieutenant and a former slave girl who becomes his woman. It is a long (nearly 400 pages) and complex story with more than three score characters.

The author portrays her hero as a chaismatic individual with driving urges that sometimes led him into contradictory situations. In her hands, he becomes far more than a name in history.

As is true of many historical novels, the book is a bit more than the casual reader might care to indulge in. But with anyone with a taste for historical fiction, this novel is a major work, a fine tale that brings the ancient days to life.

FOR GOURMET CLUB

Rare Dishes Lure Members

By TOM HOGE
Associated Press Writer

The coat of arms of the International Gourmet Club is a poised knife and fork; its members believe the way to a man's mind is through his stomach.

"We try to interest our members in faraway lands by introducing them to the culinary mysteries of those countries," explains Pierre Furst, dapper Parisian who is president of the New York City-based gourmet club.

It started 16 years ago when Furst and a few friends in New York got together every few weeks for a congenial evening of good food and wine.

The group gradually broke up as members left the city to take new jobs. But the memory of those dinners lingered. Then in 1966, Furst formed the Gourmet Club.

Every two months, the 70-odd members gather in some noted foreign restaurant to sample the national delicacies.

Since this pleasant custom began, they have partaken of Japanese "aphrodisiac" mushrooms, Lebanese sheep stuffed with rice and pistachio nuts and a Canadian meat pie known as tourtiere.

Last March, at an unforgettable luncheon, the faithful feasted on mignon de boeuf en croute washed down with Chateau de Terrefort 1966.

Two month later, members were tasting Korean appetizers garnished with a torrid relish named Kim Chee. This was followed by Kal Bi Gui which, as any Korean knows, is ragout of beef with pine nuts and sesame.

During the summer, club members drove to an inn nestled in New York's Catskill Mountains to learn something about French culture—a lavish luncheon of pate maison, beef with green salad and creamed cabbage was washed down with Alstin wine and fruity Beujollois.

One of the high points of the club gastronomic explorations was last year's Christmas party given at the United Nations church center.

The club provided the room and appropriate wines out of its $3 annual dues. Members were asked to cook a favorite dish of their native land and bring it along—in the style of a church supper.

In a mellow Yuletide mood, members and their guests circulated among the tables, sampling such dishes as American-style caviar mousse, an Indian meat ball specialty called Navgisi Koftas and a Sicillian cheese, shaped like a pineapple with butter in the center, called Manteca.

"It was a great evening," recalled Furst, with a gleam in his eye.

When Furst isn't shepherding club members to New York's better feeding and watering spots, he likes to tickle his taste buds by thumbing through old cookbooks. At the moment, he is perusing a French number brought out in 1897.

"It's got some really good recipes," he said. Look at this one for boeuf miroton."

Here's the recipe, couched in the quaint language of the 1890s.

BOEUF MIROTON

2 large white onions
1 soup spoon fat (corn oil or olive oil could be used)
2 cups bouillon
1 teaspoon flour
1 cup white wine
1 teaspoon vinegar
1 clove garlic
½ teaspoon salt
1 bunch parsley, cut fine
1 pound cold beef that has been boiled to make bouillon
1 soup spoon crumbled white bread (omitting crust)

Boil saucepan of water and drop onions in; cover and wait two minutes. The onions will peel easily "and not make you cry." Cut them up and chop in a wooden bowl.

Heat fat in a casserole. Add bouillon. Drop onion pieces into it and stir til golden. Slowly add flour and wine. When mixture comes to a boil add vinegar, garlic cut into small pieces, salt and parsley. Remove from fire after couple of minutes.

Cut beef into thin slices and place in a buttered roasting pan. Pour the sauce over and place bread crumbs atop. Place in oven at about 350 degrees, preheated (this was not in original recipe). Ten minutes later turn the meat. Continue turning at five minute intervals until meat is ready to serve.

The chef, Auguste Colombie, notes cryptically that pepper may be added to taste, or a teaspoon of mustard for those who prefer it.

Here's How

Many people are being persuaded to put unrealistic prices on houses they plan to sell.

"I'm not averse to making a profit," said one house seller, "but I don't want to sit around for years waiting to sell my house just to please the real estate agents."

His attractive two-story house in the country with two acres of land does have a great deal of charm, and let's say the posh area is another asset. But the almost $100,000 price tag seems a bit much—especially since the house cost him a third of that figure a decade ago.

"I'm embarrassed to tell people the price," he says.

The idea is to keep prices high in this tight money market, but the owner should think of himself. Will it work to his advantage?

"Because we planned to retire a year from the time we put our house on the market, we set a pretty big price thinking we had plenty of time to sell," explained one woman. "Now we must reduce the price, and act quickly . . . ."

Another couple set a price, but delayed advertising, so that a friend could raise enough money to buy the house. They decided to help him by requesting a variance, which later would enable their friend to sell part of the lot.

"After our appearance at the town hall, we were besieged by real estate people, who begged us to keep the selling price high —even though we intended to sell the house without an agent."

These sellers could have waited a year or more to sell their home at a bigger figure, they believe, but in the end they might have gotten stuck. Meanwhile, they would be paying taxes and maintenance of two places—they had already purchased a retirement home—and they might be better off to invest the money that they would realize on the sale of the house.

How can you set a realistic house price, so that you can unload, quickly, your house at a top figure.

Answers to this dilemma depend entirely on individual situations.

What kind of house is it? Where is it? How much land does it have? How old is it? How desirable is it?

One appraiser explains that desirability may be the most important key to the situation. In some areas, high tax rates are curbing the influx of people with young children, people who are likely to buy four-bedroom homes. Such homes should be advertised to reach people interested in special features—a home work shop, a dog kennel, a big screened-in porch, a swimming pool. He may not need four bedrooms, but he will pay a good price to get the other features. The house should be worth far more to him than to the person who is merely interested in the number of rooms.

If you can appeal to that special features buyer, you can get a top price. If you have confidence that your house is good for a particular individual, you should try to hold out until you reach him. Someone disinterested in the outcome of the sale should set the selling price. This may be a local architect or an appraiser. Real estate agents too can help you set price, but you must stress that you are anxious to sell, if you are.

Small Investors Have Been Dumped By Stock Brokers

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The small investor has had an awful fight for survival during the past year or so. That he survives with something of his old spirit remaining is a tribute to his guts.

He was doing all right in the stock market, or at least as well as some of the supposedly more talented professionals. But then brokers all over the country began turning down his business, even though he paid cash on the line.

The reason, as we know now, is that brokers suddenly discovered they weren't making money on small business. They began penalizing their own registered representatives for bringing in small orders.

And so, after a decade of hearing himself acclaimed as the line soldier in the battle for free enterpise, the small guy was dumped. All those ads about owning a piece of America ceased abruptly. The romance was over.

This was the first hint to the little guy that he really wasn't wanted in the high finance game. He had seen interest rates soar to the highest in a century and he saw a lot of big lenders grow rich on loans.

He couldn't take advantage of the situation though. Federal laws kept the rates on his savings account at 4 per cent in a commercial bank and 5 per cent in a savings bank. This left him with a return barely adequate to keep even with the erosions of inflation.

Early this year the Federal Reserve did permit commercial banks to raise passbook interest to 4.5 per cent from 4, and up to 5.5 per cent if the depositor was willing to leave his money in the bank at least one year. Savings banks kept the 5 per cent rate on passbooks and went to 5.75 per cent on one-year deposits.

If that was a victory it wasn't a profitable one. Inflation had taken a rocket burst late in the year and that extra one-half of one per cent return on commercial bank savings didn't keep pace. He was told, in effect, to try to be happy in his misery.

When he went to borrow for a house—or, to put it another ways, to invest in a house—he found a different situation existed. Interest rates in housing were breaking right through the old usury laws and heading toward 9 per cent.

Still, the small investor is the kind of a person who doesn't expect any favors. He makes do, shifts for himself, and tries to make the best out of difficult situations. He found ways to deal with his problem.

For loans he went to his life insurance company, where by law he is entitled to borrow the cash value of his policy for 5 or 6 per cent. By late in the year life insurers had $12 billion out on such loans.

He also discovered such esoteric investments as Treasury bills and was familiarly calling them T-bills by the end of the year. Usually the big investors got these, but if the U.S. government was paying 8 per cent, then the little guy wanted some of them too.

He should have known that the T-bill avenue would be blocked. It hasn't yet, but there's speculation that it is about to be closed. It's quite a story.

Nobody has announced the move yet, but some Treasury people won't deny that they're considering raising the smallest unit of T-bill from $1,000 to as much as $10,000. That's like raising the net in a basketball game.

What in the world will the little investor do then? It's not clear right now, but you can bet that somehow he'll make out, asking no favors and being offered none.

Junior Editors Quiz on FINGERPRINTS

QUESTION: When were fingerprints first used to identify people?

* * *

ANSWER: Emperors in ancient China used to sign documents with a pressure of the thumb, so they must have known something of the value of fingerprints. But it was not until the late 1800s that the full usefulness of fingerprints for identification purposes was realized. Although many people may have the same measurements and tatoo marks may be duplicated, it's a remarkable fact that no two sets of fingerprints have been found which are exactly alike. Realizing this, the FBI has made a collection of more than 150 million fingerprints. To do this, printer's ink is spread on glass, the person's fingertips pressed on the ink and then rolled from side to side on paper. In criminal cases, unseen prints are frequently left on guns, safes and so on. By chemical means, detectives can get clear pictures of such prints which can be checked against the prints of suspected persons. The three main fingerprint patterns are the arch (A) with three lines going across, the whorl (B) with lines which go round a center, and the loop (C) where the lines make a horseshoe shape.

SOLUTION OF YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE

Commuting A Task For New Yorkers

By JOY STILLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — For those who earn their living in New York City, getting there isn't half the fun—it's twice the work.

Whatever onerous tasks they are required to perform once they reach their destination, it's like a vacation compared with the ordeal of journeying to their jobs.

Just pushing your way onto a subway during rush hours is an achievement akin to eating only one peanut. Once in, your entire attention must be devoted to breathing in counterpoint to fellow travelers. Should everyone happen to exhale at once, the steel walls of the car would be forced outward.

New York City subway riders are known as straphangers, but there are a few fallacies in this designation: 1. The metal loops are accessible only to those of basketball-playing proportions; 2. The ratio of straps to standees is somewhere in the vicinity of 1 to 30; and 3. It isn't necessary to hang onto anything-there's no room to sway with the lurches of the train, let alone actually fall.

While under some circumstances staring into a man's eyes can be romantic, an orb-to-orb confrontation in a jammed subway car is only embarrassing. After 15 minutes of such intimacy I feel that when we part I should at least mutter some pleasantry like, "Nice seeing you." But it's a bit difficult to say anything, since he shoves me in the mouth in his effort to maneuver his way through the door.

What I do to pass the time is to play a little game called "guess who's getting off first." With the proper mixture of cunning, courage, clairvoyance and willingness to cause a few casualties, I can perhaps get a set. The trouble is, I always stalk the wrong prey.

"This fellow's a stockbroker type," I reason to myself. "He will stay on until Wall Street." So I turn my back on him and concentrate on the girl who has just packed all her belongings neatly in her shopping bag, tied a scarf around her head and turned her attention to the door, apparently determining the quickest exit route.

My "stockbroker" friend gets off at the very next station, but a more gifted guesser, fleeter of foot and more aggressive of nature, has grabbed his seat. My ready-for-flight candidate is still perched for a fast getaway when I reach my stop.

I used to get a great deal of sympathy from my coworkers who traveled in comparative comfort by rail. But recently trains bringing them in from Connecticut, Westchester and Long Island have been suffering too from the run-down, slow-down, break-down syndrome.

Now they've joined me as participants in the Fun City Commuter Follies.

City Pays Bill

NEW YORK (AP) — A Brooklyn woman who billed the city for 66 cents because of a 90-minute subway delay has received full payment—from the pocket of City Comptroller Abraham D. Beame.

Miss H.G. Geller listed 30 cents for three telephone calls to her family and transit officials, 30 cents for the extra token required to reboard a train after the calls, and six cents for a stamp to send the bill.

Beame said he sent the 66 cents himself as a "symbolic gesture" but pointed out that the Metropolitan Transportation Authority runs the subways.

ON PROGRAM — Pettis Norman, the outstanding tight end for the Dallas Cowboys, will be one of the sports personalities present for the Banquet of Champions to be held here at 7 p.m. Saturday in the Scurry County Coliseum. The banquet will be the highlight of the Weekend of Champions sponsored by the Fellowship of Christian Athletes with the cooperation of 17 local churches.

Champions' Banquet To Begin At 7 p.m.

Thursday is the last day for making reservations to attend the Banquet of Champions Saturday night in the Scurry County Coliseum. It will be held in conjunction with the Weekend of Champions observance planned here by the Fellowship of Christian Athletes — a non-denominational organization — with the cooperation of 17 local churches.

Tickets to the banquet can be secured by contacting Les Francis Chevrolet Co., Bullard's Athletic Center or any of the 17 participating churches. Thursday also is the deadline for making reservations to participate in the activities Saturday at Lamar Junior High. Local or area students who wish to compete in the Dogpatch Olympics or join in the other activities may make reservations by contacting Roy Carter at Snyder High School.

The time for the banquet has been changed from 6 p.m. to 7 p.m. Saturday to allow more time for transportation. Connie Alexander, the "voice of the Southwest," will be the master of ceremonies for the banquet.

The program also will include entertainment by Bunny Martin, world's yo-yo champion; and Ray Hildebrand, former Howard - Payne athlete who now is a member of the FCA's national staff. Other FCA staff members, John Westbrook, and Bill Krisher, the area director, will be at the banquet along with Grant Teaff, former Snyder schoolboy, who is head coach at Angelo State; Rev. Logan Cummings, former basketball star at Texas Tech, who now is pastor of the First Baptist Church at Brownwood; and several outstanding athletes.

Professional football stars Pettis Norman, John Niland, and Dave Manders of the Dallas Cowboys and Kent Kramer of the Minnesota Vikings will be here along with several collegiate stars from many schools in the Southwest.

Tickets for the banquet are only $2 for students and $3 for adults. Participation in the activities at Lamar Saturday also costs only $2, and this includes a meal at noon.

The weekend activities begin Friday with visits to local and area schools by the out-of-town personalities. The activities will conclude Sunday morning with appearances at worship services in many of the local churches.

Norman, the Cowboy tight end, is considered one of the best blockers in professional football. He stands 6-3 and weighs 225. He was a standout as an end at Johnson C. Smith College, where he graduated in 1961. He runs the 100 yard dash in 9.7.

Born in Lincolnton, Georgia, Pettis grew up in Charlotte, North Carolina, and is married to the former Margaret Clinkscales of Charlotte. They are parents of two daughters — Shareen, 5, and Sedonna, 2. Pettis lives in Dallas during the off-season, and he is a vice-president in the loan department of South Oak Cliff State Bank.

WITH 100-57 TRIUMPH

Tigers Clinch Berth In District Tourney

Dominating the boards and hitting with uncanny accuracy, Snyder's Tigers thumped Colorado City 100-57 here last night to grab a berth along with Lamesa in the district basketball tournament to be held next week.

The Tigers hit a fantastic 71 per cent of their shots from the field during the first half and controlled the boards like they owned them throughout the affray. On the other hand, the Wolves were colder than left over coffee, hitting only 30 per cent in the first half and 38 per cent in the second half. Snyder found the range on 46 per cent in the second half and finished overall with a 56 per cent accuracy average, compared with the visitors' 33 per cent.

Snyder took 54 rebounds while the Wolves could claim only 23. Ronald Ward was especially effective under the boards, taking a total of 10. Jim Patrick and Wesley Bishop each grabbed nine rebounds and Jeff Stewart collected eight.

Four Tigers hit in double figures as the hosts built a 26-10 lead in the first quarter and extended it to 46-25 at halftime. They continued to dominate the action in the last half and sent the reserves into the affray after building a 72-44 lead going into the last quarter.

Wesley Bishop was high point man with 22 points. Patrick netted 18 points, Ward netted 15, and Lee McNair posted 13. Jerome Hopkins was Colorado City's most consistently accurate shooter. He scored well on the inside and finished the night with 18 points. His brother, Willie, roped 11 points.

Snyder scored about equally well inside and out during the first half, but the Tigers really got to the Wolves on the inside in the second half. The reserves clicked well together as a team in the fourth quarter, scoring more points in the closing frame than the regulars did in any of the previous quarters.

The Wolves got rough before the game ended and committed several fouls. Snyder dropped in 18 of 34 free throws in the last quarter alone.

The junior varsity Kittens won another lop-sided victory, putting down Colorado City's B team 107-43. The young Snyder lads outscored their opponents in every quarter and breezed to victory with four Kittens hitting in twin figures. Dub Preston, who had a fantastically good night, roped 42 points. Ronnie Morse canned 16 while Sammy Baker and James Hood put in 14 points each.

Elsewhere in the South Zone last night Lake View bested Sweetwater 53-44 while Slaton bashed Littlefield 91-56 in the North Zone and Lamesa socked Lubbock Christian 96-51.

Snyder will host Lake View Friday in the regular season finale.

UP AND IN — Snyder's Wesley Bishop drives in for a layup after stealing the ball during the District 3-AAA, south zone, clash with Colorado City here Tuesday night. The helpless defender is Robert Bender while Lee McNair and Jim Patrick stand behind him in Indian file. The Tigers won 100-57 and qualified for the district tournament to be held next week.

Tech Guard Is Suspended

LUBBOCK (AP) — A security guard who handcuffed a Texas Christian University player after a fist fight during a Texas Tech-TCU basketball game Tuesday night was suspended indefinitely today.

Texas Tech officials said the guard, Henry Jackson, would remain suspended until an investigation was completed.

Officials said Jackson handcuffed Evans Royal of TCU after the player was in a fight with Jerry Turner of Texas Tech.

Both benches emptied and several fans joined the fray, which erupted with 37 seconds remaining in the game. Texas Christian won the Southwest Conference contest 75-60.

TIE FOR 10-B TITLE

Ira Bests 'Cats In 2nd Overtime

WESTBROOK — Ira's Bulldogs were put to the supreme test here last night but passed it with flying colors with a come-from-behind victory, 86-84, over the host Wildcats in overtime to tie Loraine for the District 10-B basketball title. Representatives of the two schools — Ira and Loraine — were to meet today to determine the time and site of their playoff.

The District 10-B teams will meet in a district tournament next week, and the winner of the tournament will meet the winner in regulation play for the championship.

Ira trailed the 'Cats 11-18 after one period and 29-34 at halftime. They were still seven points behind, 49-56, going into the last quarter but rallied to tie it up at 71-71 at the end of regulation play. The score was still tied 77-77 after one overtime period. Westbrook took a one point lead in the second overtime with 30 seconds remaining. But, the Bulldogs went ahead on a field goal and Ricky Hester dropped in a free throw with one second left to sack up the victory.

Hester was outstanding for Ira, getting 32 points. However, Westbrook's Bo Jackson was the leading scorer with 34 points. Ricky Cox added 28 and Obie Crawford contributed 16 points to the Ira cause while Denson pitched in 13 and Rich 16 for the Wildcats.

Ira's girls previously had won the District 10-B crown and will meet another team — probably Meadow — in bi-district at a time and site to be determined.

IRA (86) — Williams 2-2-6; Payne 2-0-4; Hester 10-12-32; Cox 10-8-28; Crawford 6-4-16; totals 30-26-86.

WESTBROOK (84) — Jackson 11-12-34; Ritchey 2-0-4; Matlock 4-0-8; Denson 5-3-13; Rich 7-2-16; Reyes 1-0-2; Anderson 3-1-7; totals 33-18-84.

Pilots Are Still Flying

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Seattle's franchise in the American League appears assured for at least another year on a shaky financial basis which baseball's owners still are trying to solidify.

They were to meet again today to try to iron out the details.

The owners' after a day-night session Tuesday, reached agreement that the hard-pressed Pilots should get another year of reprieve.

The decision came after efforts of a Seattle civic-minded group, headed by hotel executive Edward Carlson, pledged $6-million cash and credit goal and renegotiation of a $3.5-million bank loan.

Joe Cronin, American League president, said: "We are bending over backwards to keep the franchise in Seattle."

But Cronin was somewhat reluctant to say how many votes were taken Tuesday on the issue.

Meanwhile, Cronin said any potential shift of the franchise that was discussed favored Milwaukee over Dallas-Fort Worth.

"Milwaukee was discussed. Dallas-Fort Worth wasn't," he said.

WANT ADS WORK WONDERS

Filmmaker Fought To Make His Dream Come True

AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Wally Welebit had a dream; no, an obsession.

He wanted to make a film. For more than two years, his every waking moment was devoted to that.

He trained for it, like a boxer "While making the film, I never led a more Puritanical life," he recalled. "I ate right. I gave up coffee. I exercised daily. I gave every ounce of my energy to that film."

Welebit is just beginning to come out from under that total immersion in his project. Yet he still talks of it—nonstop—with a youthful exuberance which belies his age. At 50, he bucks the Age of Aquarius trend, and jousts with the windmills of an industry blowing up a storm of youth. At 50, he begins what he hopes will be a new career—feature filmmaking.

The idea for the film, "Children's Games," was his own. It came from a dinner conversation about politics, hypocrisy and people. "I usually stay out of politics. I'm such a cynic. I don't even talk about it." But this discussion intrigued him. It turned from politics to the broader problem of society versus the pressured individual, suicide, "games" of life.

From this came the germ of a story, an outline, a rough draft—"I didn't tell anybody; I was ashamed; I kept it quiet"—and eventually nine investing partners, and a decision to go ahead and film it themselves as a full-length feature.

Welebit, a native of Milwaukee who spent much of his adult life in Yugoslavia, was a still photographer before he got into the business of making television comercials—Italian airlines, skiing—industrial and documentary films. (He still remembers reading the instructions on "how to use the camera" on his way to making his first filmed commercial.)

"Like a bunch of kids," he and the others formed a corporation to make "Children's Games," with Welebit serving as coproducer (with Susan Hall), director, screenwriter and generally loving mother who looked over the shoulders of editors and cameramen, too. Money, of course, was a problem, as it is with nearly every independent effort; production was held up for a time until financial circulation could be restored.

Welebit used his own studio for the set, and did the outdoor filming on the streets of New York.

The actors—costars Michael Baselleon and the non-professional Margaret Warncke, along with Michael Del Medico and Verna Bloom ("Medium Cool") —deferred their overtime pay to help out. Film processing laboratories too deferred some payments.

When the dust finally settled, Welebit had an investment of $210,000, numerous debts and a 90-minute film—a unique, stark cinema effort involving the disillusionments and frustrations of a young man incompatible with contemporary society.

Then he wrote to various foreign film festivals, putting it naively: "I'd like you to see my film" To his most pleasant surprise, the prestigious Venice Film Festival accepted the offer last September; it was the only American movie at the festival.

"It was all worth it when I got that call from Venice," Welebit remembered with glee. "I was like a kid."

He got excellent foreign reviews, but less enthusiastic reactions from American critics there. It has not yet been shown commercially in the United States.

Whatever happens next, his marriage to feature filmmaking is complete. "I never want to do anything else," he says. "I never need to do anthing else."

But, as he carries his film under his arm, trying to sell it to distributors, he can't wait to start his next one.

"I have this idea..."

Humble Gives Up Offshore Oil Lease

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (A) — One of the major oil companies operating in the Santa Barbara Channel says it has given up a $45-million oil lease covering nine square miles offshore because the wells did not meet expectations.

Humble Oil and refining Co. said Tuesday it had notified the federal government last December that it was discontinuing payments on the tract and relinquishing claims to the property.

A company spokesman said public criticism of the massive oil blowout in the channel last year from Union Oil Co.'s nearby tract had nothing to do with Humble dropping its lease.

He said the company had drilled two exploratory wells and discovered that the tract had "less potential than our geophysics indicated before we bid on the lease."

There are 71 leases from the federal government for drilling in the Santa Barbara Channel.

Mens New Fashions

PARIS (AP) — Fire broke out in the workrooms and storage area of Pierre Cardin's boutique for men's fashions today, destroying a large part of the spring-summer collection.

Cardin looked pale and haggard as he surveyed the scene. "I have nothing to say, but it's serious," he said.

Bibliomania, a word meaning "book madness," is the desire to collect books because of their rarity, rather than for their content.

5 Arab Countries Threaten US Oil Holdings Liquidation

By ELIAS ANTAR
Associated Press Writer

BEIRUT (AP) — The Arabs should kick out American oil companies unless the United States stops helping Israel, said five Arab countries at their mini-summit conference in Cairo, but nobody knows better than the Arabs that they would be hurt most.

The communique issued by Egypt, Syria, Jordan, Iraq and Sudan after their meeting over the weekend declared: "The Arab nation refuses to see its resources and wealth being exploited and converted into assistance and weapons for Israel. The continuation of such exploitation should be considered an act of imperialism which must be liquidated by the Arab countries."

After the 1967 Arab-Israeli war, the Arabs decided to cut off oil shipments to Britain, the United States and West Germany. The Arabs soon realized they were suffering more than anyone else, and oil started flowing again.

The three Arab states that have most of the oil did not attend the Cairo conference. Saudi Arabia and Kuwait already have made it clear that they do not intend to cut their own economic throats, and even the new revolutionary government of Libya is not likely to choke off the goose that lays a golden egg worth a billion a year.

Of the countries at the confrontation summit-so called because the five nations are those with troops actively engaged against Israel—only Iraq is a big oil exporter. American interests comprise about 23 per cent of the Western-owned Iraq Petroleum Co., which produces Iraq's oil.

It would be impossible to hit the U.S. holdings without affecting the whole operation. This in turn would jeopardize an annual income to Iraq of $500 million.

Syria is a minor oil exporter and does most of it all on its own with some help from Russian experts.

Egypt's growing oil production depends heavily on the know how and investment of independent American oil companies in partnership with government concerns. Thanks to fields the Americans are developing, Egypt hopes to double its present production by 1975, probably becoming an important exporter in the process.

If the Arab governments will not or cannot strike out at the American oil interests that produce most of their wealth, who was the call really aimed at?

The answer woulid seem to be the Palestine guerrillas who can operate as free agents because they are responsible for no one and to no government. But if they start sabotaging American oil installations, they are not only going to hurt the oil countries, they are going to hurt the three biggest have-nots of the Arab world—Egypt, Jordan and the guerrillas themselves.

From their oil wealth, Saudi Arabia, Kuwait and Libya are contributing $228 million a year to Egypt and $96 million to Jordan. And at the Arab summit conference in Morocco in December the oil states agreed to give the guerrillas' Palestine Liberation Organization $19 million.

Saudi Arabia has warned its financial aid could not continue if its oil income was stopped, a warning prompted by three sabotage attacks by Arab guerrillas last year on the pipeline that carries Saudi oil to the Mediterranean. Like Saudi Arabia, Kuwait and Libya have no source of income but their oil, and Algeria and Iraq, the other Arab oil states, aren't giving their oil money to anybody.

Air Controllers Strike Threatened

By VERN HAUGLAND
AP Aviation Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Air traffic controllers have served notice they may start restricting some services next Sunday —a move the Federal Aviation Administration says would be an illegal strike.

The threat disclosed Tuesday by the Professional Air Traffic Controllers Organization—PATCO—is the latest round in a dispute over working conditions stretching back for more than a year.

PATCO, which represents 7,800 of FAA's 8,500 journeymen controllers, claims its members now do more than required by their work contract and by government regulations. They say, for example, they allow flights to land more frequently than called for by the contract and rules.

This, coupled with inadequate manpower and antiquated equipment puts too heavy a strain on the controllers, the organization says.

Similar complaints have led to slowdowns at the nation's airports in past months that tied up air traffic for hours and left thousands of passengers stranded at terminals.

The latest effort to settle the dispute floundered when the FAA and PATCO officials could not agree on a meeting.

FAA Administrator John H. Shaffer turned down a request by Michael Rock, PATCO board chairman, for a session with Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe.

Shaffer said it would be difficult for him or Volpe to meet with PATCO officers in view of public statements by Rock.

In a Jan. 23 telegram, Rock told Volpe the PATCO directors had resolved that as of Feb. 15 "all optional air traffic services rendered by our membership, above those required by contract and by regulations," would be withdrawn.

The resolution said the withdrawal referred particularly to "services of the many controllers who are in a condition of fatigue" and "are entitled to a period of respite for reasons of health."

Shaffer replied to Rock's telegram by saying that withholding services would be a disservice to PATCO's members.

The FAA chief said the controller has the most to lose from a slowdown. He said it would be most unfortunate if those workers would have to bear the brunt of legal actions proposed by the PATCO officers.

But he also said it is impossible for Volpe or him to discuss issues of overtime work with PATCO representatives because of a court suit brought by the organization.

PATCO asked the U. S. District Court Jan. 13 for an injunction to prevent the FAA from working weary traffic controllers overtime or under conditions of strain.

Meat Imports Exceed Estimates

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department has published a report showing that 1969 meat imports exceeded estimates by nearly 50 million pounds.

Officials had told a reporter two weeks earlier that imports had missed the estimate mark of 1.035 billion pounds projected by Agriculture Secretary Clifford M. Hardin during the year.

The official figures were in the department's Livestock and Meat Situation report published Tuesday showing that a gross weight of 1.086 billion pounds of quota-type meat, mostly beef, entered the United States last year.

There was no reference to Hardin's earlier estimates of 1.035 billion pounds.

Actually, about 13.5 million pounds were rejected by U.S. inspectors and were not included in the 1969 import net total. This left about 1.07 billion pounds counted at meat imports, or around 35 million more than Hardin had estimated quarterly last year.

Hardin's estimate for 1970 is 1.061 billion pounds—or less than actually came in last year. Anytime the secretary's estimate, made every three months, exceeds a "trigger point" 10 per cent above a basic allocation, strict quotas must be imposed.

The trigger point for 1969 was 1.086 billion pounds and for this year, allowing for upward adjustments because of increased U.S. output prescribed by the law's formula, is 1.098 billion pounds.

Quotas have been avoided since late 1968 through voluntary agreements among the foreign suppliers—mainly Australia, New Zealand and Latin America—to hold down shipments to below the trigger levels.

Title Sets Off Controversy

COSTA MESA, Calif. (AP) — Writer Ed Miller decided he wanted to name his history of this Orange County community of 73,100 residents "Goat Hill."

That name for this seaside city was dropped years ago and Miller's choice set off contreversy Tuesday at City Hall. Samples:

Vice Mayor Robert M. Wilson —"It's a hayseed title. Can you see me walking up to President Nixon and saying, 'Here's a complimentary copy of a book about Goat Hill?' "

The Western White House is only a few miles south of Goat Hill—pardon, Costa Mesa.

Councilman Will Jordan—"How About 'Angora Heights?' "

Mayor A. L. Pinkley, whose pharmacy stocks reading material—"Regardless of title, they aren't going to come in and buy it off the shelf like they did 'Fanny Hill.' "

US Troop Strength Lower In Thailand

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — U.S. troop strength in Thailand has dropped by 4,200 men since September as part of President Nixon's policy of reducing overseas forces, the U.S. Embassy said today.

The embassy said there are now 43,800 American troops in Thailand. Another 1,800 men are scheduled to be withdrawn by June.

The spokesman said 3,300 of the men withdrawn since September were Air Force personnel.

Vets Land Board Stops Applications

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas veterans who were waiting just a little longer to buy land under the veterans' program have missed their chance—at least temporarily.

The veterans Land Board announced Tuesday it will not accept any more applications because of the tight money market and the reluctance of the state's voters to raise the 4-½ per cent interest rate on the bonds which fund the program.

The board said in a news release it has enough money to cover the more than 1,000 applications already on file but will return any other applications until more money is available.

The board said the last issue approved by Texans was for $20 million in bonds, and $30 million were sold in 1967 and another $30 million in 1968. "The average rate of the two issues was 4.31 per cent," the board said. "Since the 1968 sale, the prime interest rate has risen three times to its present 8-½ per cent, and the money market has tightened to the point that investors in government bonds have simply put their funds elsewhere."

Last August Texas voters rejected a proposed amendment to the state constitution which would have removed the 4-½ per cent ceiling and would have allowed the legislature to set the interest limitation.

"This action presaged, at least temporarily, the end of the program; and today the bottom of the barrel was in sight. Changes in either the constitution or the money market must come before the program can be resumed," the board said.

The board said under the veterans program it has approved 41,200 contracts involving 3,275,212 acres of land.

Minister Issued Gun Permit

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — The sheriff's office has issued a permit to carry a pistol to a minister whose home in a rural section of Wake County was hit by shotgun fire in December while his daughter entertained white and black youths at a Christmas party.

But the Rev. J. Wesley Shipp declined to say Tuesday whether he had purchased a pistol or intended to carry one.

Shipp, who is white, said he wanted to be on the safe side in case some of the guest preaching he has been doing in the area has aroused animosities.

No one was hurt in the Christmastime shooting.

MITCHELL SAYS

Airport 'Trapped' By Gangsters

NEW YORK (AP) — The air freight industry at one of the nation's largest airports is "trapped" by gangsters, U.S. Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell says.

He did not say which airport, but his remarks Tuesday recalled charges made two years ago by the New York State Investigation Commission that organized crime had infiltrated the freight trade at Kennedy Airport.

Mitchell said thievery was rampant at the airport he was thinking of. Losses from thefts at Kennedy Airport have run into the millions in recent years. Only a month ago five men were arrested in the theft of $200,000 in jewelry, coins and watches.

Mitchell told 400 New York Bond Club members Tuesday that the freight trade at the unidentified airport "is trapped between a racketeer-dominated trade union on one hand and a racketeer trade association on the other."

Mitchell said gangsters who had infiltrated the trucking business could watch shipments and steal anything of value. He said his office was investigating.

He also said organized crime had begun to operate "with a great deal of efficiency and profit" in stealing stocks and bonds. He said $45 million in securities had been lost or stolen in the first nine months of 1969 alone.

Mitchell said the Justice Department was negotiating with the New York Stock Exchange to set up a permanent $250,000 fund that would be used for undercover men to purchase stolen stocks as evidence.

Chemist Killed In Shooting

WACO, Tex. (AP) — A Houston chemist died Tuesday while undergroing treatment for a gunshot wound at a Waco hospital.

Reports said Mark Nathan Arnold, 41, lived long enough to tell police the details of the shooting which eventually claimed his life.

Arnold said he left his room at the Tam-O-Shanter Motel to get something from his car and when he returned to his room there was a man there who shot him.

Official ruling in the death is being withheld pending the outcome of an autopsy report ordered by justice of the Peace John Cabiniss.

Arnold was en route to a funeral in Weatherford when the shooting occurred.

Police have no leads concerning the identity of Arnold's killer.

what job would you like to see explored in this column?

"Will you please write a column about Army nurses? I want to be a nurse. My sister Carol is in the Army Nurse Corps and she likes her job."

A. – There's a critical shortage of nurses everywhere, and here's an opportunity to let the government pay for your education.

If you become an Army nurse you're a commissioned officer – guy or gal. And as an Army officer you have all the rights and privileges of officers anywhere, including good pay with periodic raises, food allowances, officer housing, free medical and dental care and 30-days paid vacation.

You wear uniforms only while on duty, and your leisure time is your own. You may even live in civilian housing.

WHITE-CAP TRAVEL. There are approximately 400 Army posts all over the world, and the Army Nurse Corps tries to send you where you want to go. Assignments include some of the best-equipped and best-staffed hospitals anywhere, located in Italy, Germany, Japan, Hawaii, Korea and elsewhere. More than 800 Army nurses are presently serving in Vietnam.

DESIRE BUT NO DOLLARS? If you've thought about nursing but just don't have the funds, the Army offers a number of really helpful scholarship programs.

These include a full-tuition, four-year course leading to a bachelor's degree in nursing, as well as financial help for those already in schools of nursing or in colleges that offer nursing degrees. In return for the scholarship aid, you spend from two to three years serving your country. Here are the options . . .

WRAIN – Walter Reed Army Institute of Nursing – is a full-tuition college program which also includes room and board, and a monthly living allowance. About 170 of these scholarships are available each year. You attend the accredited college of your choice for two years, and the last two are spent at Walter Reed in Washington, D.C. You receive a bachelor's degree and a commission as a second lieutenant, then serve three years as an Army nurse. Initial pay, with tax free allowances, comes to about $8,000 a year.

HOSPITAL SCHOOL STUDENTS and those enrolled in collegiate schools of nursing can get $292 a month plus fringe benefits during their final year. These students will be commissioned second lieutenants and serve on active duty for two years.

COLLEGE STUDENTS in institutions granting nursing degrees can obtain aid for up to 24 months prior to graduation. This includes full tuition, fees, and $292 per month in pay and allowances. Six months before graduating, the student is commissioned a second lieutenant and pay is increased to $519 per month. Students who receive 12 or less months of aid serve two years as Army nurses; those who receive aid for a longer period of time serve three years.

RN'S (Registered Nurses) now studying for a bachelor's or master's degree can be commissioned as an officer in the Army Reserve, placed on active duty at his or her school and receive pay and allowances for a period of up to 24 months. The commissioned rank is commensurate with experience and education.

Swiss Banks Are Used As Tax Evasion Loophole

By EDMOND LEBRETON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Use of secret foreign bank accounts probably constitutes the biggest single loophole in the entire field of tax evasion, according to a veteran investigator of hidden-funds operations involving overseas banks.

"Switzerland is a tax haven, no doubt about that," Robert Morgenthau told the House Banking Committee Tuesday. "It isn't only for United States citizens—South Americans, Arab leaders, all are using Swiss banks for tax havens."

The former New York federal attorney who was recently fired by President Nixon criticized the administration for what he called its withdrawal of support for a regulatory bill to curb use of secret foreign bank accounts by criminals and tax cheats.

Treasury officials have said the administration favors the bill's goals but fears it is so broad that it would do more harm than good.

The measure would require record-keeping and reports by persons maintaining accounts in foreign banks protected by secrecy laws, and by couriers who transport cash or securities to such foreign banks.

The Treasury's doubts apparently center on requirements for U.S. banks to keep detailed records, including microfilms, of checks cleared.

But Morgenthau said record-keeping provisions of the bill are essential for enforcement. He voiced concern over what he views as success of some large domestic banks in undercutting support for the legislation.

In response to Morgenthau's testimony, a Treasury Department spokesman summoned reporters and conceded that bankers had met with Treasury officials, but protested implications the bankers had forced the department to change its position.

Morgenthau said proliferation of branches and subsidiaries of U.S. banks overseas is linked with the rapid expansion of the market in Eurodollars—dollars held abroad and traded there.

"A portion of this growth is undoubtedly the result of illegal uses of foreign bank accounts," he said.

"But in many instances," he added, "these Eurodollar deposits are the result of tax loopholes that might well be plugged through legislation if the Congress had the information necessary to formulate and back up tax proposals."

Frank A. Bartimo, assistant general counsel of the Defense Department, told the committee legislation that would help enforcement agencies get information about bank accounts could result in a tapping of money, otherwise subject to U.S. tax laws, which now escapes to numbered foreign bank accounts.

GOP Leader Predicts More National Defense Cutbacks

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — House Minority Leader Gerald R. Ford says before President Nixon completes his first term in office, the government will be spending more on development of human resources than on national defense.

Ford said Tuesday night the public can expect a cutback in the Defense Departments's share of the budget from 41 per cent this year to 34 per cent in 1971, with even further reductions in the future.

The Michigan Republican listed a stepped up Vietnamization of the war and encouraging arms talks with the Soviets in Helsinki as two reasons that this country might continue to reduce its spending on national security.

"However, I think it would be unwise to make defense reductions unwisely," Ford said in a speech before the Menswear Retailers of America. "I believe that the cutbacks can only be achieved if Defense Secretary Laird demands that our armed forces can still do a good job."

The GOP leader said Pesident Nixon is vitally interested in accelerating human resources programs on the home front and will likely use new found funds from the military cutbacks to develop these programs.

Ford said the administration under Nixon has done a good job in streamlining a federal welfare program which he termed "unbelievably overlapping and duplicating."

"In the past, families would stay on welfare for generation after generation," he said. "An incentive plan that encourages them to get off the welfare rolls and onto the payrolls hopefully will bring an end to this."

In a press conference following his speech, Ford blasted opponents of the nomination of Judge Harold Carswell to the Supreme Court for their "dirty tactics."

"Some of these ultra-liberals who are working so hard to discredit Judge Carswell are in fact really discrediting themselves," he commented. "I don't believe I have ever seen rougher attacks than the one on Judge Haynesworth and now on Judge Carswell."

Ford said President Nixon has intentionally selected more conservative jurists to replace outgoing Supreme Court justices because he believes it fits the mood of the public.

The Republican leader said he has been encouraged by political signs in recent months and cautiously predicted that the GOP could gain control of Congress in elections next Fall.

SAYS SPACE SCIENTIST

Other Planets Resources Vital

By PAUL RECER
AP Aerospae Writer

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Man's survival on Earth, "the garden spot of the solar system", depends on his ability to use the resources of the moon and the other planets, a space scientist said here Tuesday.

"This planet is unique in the solar system," said Dr. Krafft A. Ehricke, "and has to stay the garden spot of the solar system.

"The primary purpose of interplanetary travel is to keep this planet alive," said the scientist. "Man will die if he continues in solitary confinement on just one planet."

Dr. Ehricke, scientific adviser to North American Rockwell Corp., made the remarks during an interview Tuesday. He was the main speaker Tuesday night at a banquet held in connection with a seminar on Aerospace Medicine.

He said man should first fully develop the uses of Earth orbiting space stations which would help man to overcome some of the problems he is battling on Earth.

Such services from orbit, he said, would include air traffic control; a search for minerals; weather surveilane; communications and even beams of light for warmth and night time illumination.

Dr. Ehricke said reflectors thousands of feet across could be placed into orbit to reflect sunlight. This light could illuminate cities at night and warm Florida citrus groves when they are threatened by frost.

From Earth orbiting stations, he said, man coulld develop systems to mine the resources of the moon and finally moving Earth factories to the lunar surface.

This ability, he said, would lead smoothly into exploiting the resources of Mars, Venus and other planets in the solar system.

Perot States Views On Tonight Show

NEW YORK (AP) — Texas billionaire H. Ross Perot said Tuesday he believes the North Vietnamese want an end to the war but they also want the country stripped of foreign influence.

"With them, the communist ideology is secondary," the computer tycoon said on NBC's Tonight Show.

Perot has turned over medical supplies and other aid to North Vietnamese prisoners of war in South Vietnam and Cambodia. Earlier he was refused by North Vietnam in an attempt to airlift similar aid to American prisoners of war.

He said the North Vietnamese are very sensitive to criticism.

"They want their standing too, their proper place in the community of nations—all countries want to be considered a first class nation,' he said.

Jackie's Letters Stolen Before Sale

NEW YORK (AP) — Four old letters from Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis to former Deputy Defense Secretary Roswell Gilpatric were slated for sale at auction March 12 but were withdrawn when Gilpatric said they were stolen, autograph dealer Charles Hamilton disclosed today.

Hamilton said the letters probably would have brought anywhere from $2,000 to $4,000 if they had been auctioned as planned.

But, he said, he learned Monday that they might be stolen and telephoned Gilpatric, who verified that the letters had been taken from the files in his law office.
