MANY LOADS of trash had been hauled early this morning by workers in Snyder's annual cleanup campaign headed by the Junior Chamber of Commerce. The Jaycees and Chamber of Commerce, with aid of other civic clubs, arranged for the hauling and volunteer labor for trash pickup today.

Goldfine Won't Testify About Uncashed Checks

WASHINGTON (AP)—Bernard Goldfine refused today to tell House investigators why he issued two checks totaling $178,982.64 last year. The congressmen threatened to subpoena his books.

Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark) of the House subcommittee hearing Goldfine for the fourth day gave the Boston industrialist a choice—either answer the question or have his books subpoenaed for committee inspection.

"On advice of counsel, I can't answer," Goldfine said.

He was still standing on that position when Harris recessed the hearings for lunch, to reconvene again at 2 p.m. (EDT).

The checks in the controversy were one for $83,385.35 issued March 28, 1957, and one for $95,597.29 issued April 30, 1957, to the Yale Wool Waste Co. by one of Goldfine's textile mills, the Northfield firm.

Rep. John B. Bennett (R-Mich) said the Yale Co. was under investigation in 1957 on a mislabeling charge. He said Yale had sold some of the goods involved in the investigation to Northfield at a lower price than usual.

He demanded that Goldfine say whether the checks were issued to pay Yale for any goods supplied to Northfield.

Goldfine said the checks were never used. He said they were deposited back into the bank by his Northfield firm. Therefore, he argued, they could not have been used for any purpose.

Bennett insisted that Goldfine say whether they were intended, when issued, to be used as a line of credit.

"I respectfully decline to answer," Goldfine replied. He said the question was not pertinent to the committee's investigation of Federal Trade Commission activities.

But Bennett insisted that it was pertinent. He asked Chairman Harris for a ruling.

Harris said he had no way of deciding whether the question was relevant or not if Goldfine refused to reply, and he added:

"It will be the purpose of the chairman to issue a subpoena for your books."

Harris said "a lot of things could be done to clear the air." One of them, he added, would be a look at Goldfine's books to see how he treated the checks, so the investigators could determine why the checks were issued, even though not used.

Harris chided Goldfine for what he called "a ridiculous attitude" in refusing to answer committee questions on grounds it was none of the committee's business.

He said it was a "lack of cooperation . . . and an unreasonable attitude to take."

The Congress members have some doubt in their own minds as to how far they can pursue the matter of $777,000 in checks, some as old as 1941, that were still outstanding on Pilgrim Trust Co. (Boston) records as of May 7. They have ordered a legal study of the point.

Subcommittee counsel Robert W. Lishman has been asked to study Supreme Court opinions on what congressmen may and may not properly ask.

The court in one major opinion on that point a year ago ruled that a committee must show the witness that its questions are pertinent to the inquiry. That opinion, which set aside a contempt of Congress conviction, quoted another opinion that a congressional investigation into individual affairs "is invalid if unrelated to any legislative purpose."

Goldfine, limiting the extent to which he would answer questions yesterday about his business affairs, contended many queries were not pertinent.

Expressing interest in more study of the question of pertinency were Reps. John Bell Williams (D-Miss), John E. Moss (D-Calif), John B. Bennett (R-Mich) and Peter F. Mack (D-Ill).

Questioners were trying to show that the gift-giving Goldfine got favored federal treatment through his friendship with President Eisenhower's top aide Sherman Adams. Both Goldfine, a Boston textile and real estate millionaire, and Adams have steadfastly denied the charge.

Mack brought out from subcommittee files an investigative report that Goldfine, now 67, was indicted in 1909 on a charge of concealing assets in a bankruptcy case. Goldfine was then 18. The charge was dismissed, apparently for lack of evidence.

Goldfine reddened, and shouted "I didn't know Mr. Mack was going to try to blackmail Goldfine or I wouldn't have come here." The Boston industrialist is here technically as a voluntary witness.

Subcommittee Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark) ruled that this "is going a little too far" and ordered Mack's and Goldfine's words stricken from the record.

Then Bennett wanted Goldfine to tell why he had issued a Nov. 7, 1955, check to his brother-in-law Louis Goldblatt for $45,407.61. The question was one of a number asked as the subcommittee sought to determine the reason for nearly $777,000 worth of cashier's and treasurer's checks bought by Goldfine's companies and not cashed.

As he had on the others, Goldfine conceded the existence of the Goldblatt check but refused to say why he bought it. He said that was not the committee's business. That was his stock answer under daylong interrogation.

Harris, over Bennett's protest, ruled the question went beyond the committee's stated authority to inquire into how federal regulatory agencies are carrying out the law.

Returned Flier Says Reds Threatened To Execute One

By JOHN BAUSMAN

WIESBADEN, Germany (AP)—Soviet civilians threatened to hang one of nine U.S. airmen shot down in Soviet Armenia, and roughed up others, a U.S. Air Force colonel said today.

Col. Dale D. Brannon of Chardon, Ohio, senior officers aboard the unarmed transport plane that was shot down in flames June 27, said Maj. Bennie A. Shupe of Miami, Fla., narrowly escaped being lynched.

"The rope was attached to a telephone pole and the noose was being placed over his head when he managed to convey to them the fact that he was an American," Brannon told a crowded news conference.

"The group then paused for a discussion. It was at this time that the Soviet military police arrived and took him into custody."

Brannon said five of the nine airmen aboard the transport received rough treatment from the local population after they bailed out of the burning plane.

"My hands were tied behind my back and I was beaten in the face by fists and later kicked in the body when placed aboard a truck for transport to the local village," Brannon said.

The four crewmen who landed with the plane and were picked up by Soviet soldiers were not molested, he said.

Maj. Shupe said he was badly beaten up by the peasants who captured him.

He added: "Later when they tried to hang me on a telephone pole I shouted 'New York-Chicago' to make them understand I was an American. While hanging preparations were still going on, one man shouted something, I don't know what, but it stopped them."

The five airmen who were roughly treated by Russian civilians said they were in the hands of the peasants for two to three hours before being handed over to military authorities. Those who received rough treatment in addition to Col. Brannon and Maj. Shupe were:

Maj. Robert E. Crans of Macon, Mo., A.2.C. Earl H. Reamer of St. Louis Park, Minn., and A.2.C. Peter N. Sabo of Chicago.

Sabo said the peasants tied his hands despite painful burns suffered in the flaming aircraft on his right arm.

The airmen who landed with the plane were the pilot, Maj. Luther Lyles, Capt. James T. Kane, the navigator, 1st Lt. James N. Luther of Waseca, Minn., also a navigator, and T. Sgt. James G. Holman of Vivian, La. Capt. Kane has two sisters living in America—Mrs. Rosemary McKenna of Farmingdale, N.Y., and Miss Margaret Kane of Lindenhurst, N.Y.

The abuse by civilians of the other five stopped as soon as they were turned over to Soviet authorities, he said.

Col. Brannon added that the "over-all treatment by local authorities was considerate."

The plane, a C118 attached to this big American air base in West Germany, was on a routine flight carrying cargo assigned to U. S. diplomatic and military missions in Iran and Pakistan.

It strayed over Soviet Armenia in bad weather and was attacked by MIG fighters. The nine hagard crewmen were released to an American representative on the Iranian frontier last Monday.

They were flown back to Wiesbaden, headquarters of the U. S. Air Force in Europe, for medical observation and consultations with Air Force officials before appearing before the press today.

Col. Brannon said one of the crewmen — Maj. Bennie A. Shupe of Miami, Fla., was threatened by the population with hanging.

"The rope was attached to a telephone pole and the noose was being placed over his head when he managed to convey to them the fact that he was an American," Brannon said.

"The group (of Russian civilians) then paused for a discussion.

"It was at this time that the Soviet military police arrived and took him into custody."

Brannon denied that the flight over Armenia was an intentional violation of Soviet territory. In order to avoid a turbulent thunderstorm, the plane steered slightly north off course, he said.

The crew did not realize it was over Soviet territory until they noticed two jet fighter aircraft approaching and criss - crossing around them, he added.

Rescuers Abandon Hopes For Miners

SOPHIA, W.Va. (AP)—Rescue officials abandoned hope today that any of the three miners entombed by a coal mine explosion early Wednesday would be found alive.

Rescuers had worked to within a few hundred feet of the affected area.

The rescue workers found evidence of "excessive violence in the immediate area of the explosion."

The trapped men were identified as:

Herbert Cline, 42, foreman; Sam Sawyers, 54; and Walter Moore, 38.

Officials said the rescue workers, using self-contain chemical breathing apparatus, had encountered considerable methane gas and there was some evidence of carbon monoxide.

There was no indication what set off the explosion, apparently caused by ignited methane gas.

The accident occurred in the No. 1 mine of the Slab Fork Coal Co., about five miles from Beckley in southern West Virginia.

A. L. Walker, general manager of the mine, said the men had been hired to set pumps in the mine.

The No. 1 mine, one of two operated by Slab Fork, was scheduled to reopen next Monday.

Walker said the explosion was caused by gas igniting about two miles from the entrance.

A mine rescue unit from Oak Hill was trying to reach the entombed men. Other units from Welch and near Mullens were on their way to the mine.

L. J. Neal, chief electrician at the mine, said a search team reached within 1,000 feet of where the men had been working and discovered the blast area.

The noise of the explosion was not heard on the surface, Neal said.

Guard Unit Awaits Word On Its Fate

The Snyder National Guard unit today was awaiting word on its fate, following an announcement in Washington that the National Guard in Texas would be cut in line with a general reduction over the nation.

An announcement from the Adjutant General's office in Austin said Texas had been ordered to relinquish the 112th Cavalry regiment, which includes units in Snyder, Pecos, Monahans, Midland, Lamesa and in the Rio Grande Valley.

Maj. Bill Schiebel, battalion executive officer, said the Snyder unit, Co. B, had heard nothing officially. Meanwhile, he said the 112th Cavalry is continuing with plans to go to summer encampment at North Fort Hood.

We've already sent one man ahead to learn to cook, and we have received no word on any change in plans," Schiebel said.

He said no official word about the 112th being "relinquished" to the National Guard Bureau in Washington had been received, and that battalion officers did not know what effect such a move would have on the regiment.

Meanwhile, Adj. Gen. K. L. Berry planned to go to Washington to "thrash this thing out." Gen. Berry planned to confer with Gov. Price Daniel before making the trip.

1,041-Pound Man Dies In Trailer Home

BREMEN, Ind. (AP) — Robert Earl Hughes, 32, possibly the heaviest man in medical history, died today in his trailer home parked beside Bremen Community Hospital.

Mrs. Mary Harris, hospital administrator, said uremia evidently was the cause of the 1,041-pound man's death.

He became ill while traveling with a carnival and was brought to this northern Indiana town Sunday, suffering from a variety of ailments, including measles and a heart condition.

He could not be taken into the hospital building because of his massive bulk, too great for any standard bed. He remained in his traveling house, built on a truck bed, and nurses climbed a ladder to attend him.

Otho Huff, Bremen undertaker, embalmed the body on Hughes' trailer bed, built of two-by-four boards. He said it probably would be necessary to leave the body in the trailer while it is taken to Emden, Mo., for funeral services.

Guy B. Hughes, brother of the big man, said he would order a special coffin but it probably would be too large to be taken into the Emden Baptist Church for the funeral. Burial will be in a cemetery at Binville, Ill. Definite times were not set immediately.

Hughes was 10 feet 2 around the waist, 40 inches around each upper arm, and 6 feet tall.

Guy, his wife, and his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Demis, gave personal care to Robert Earl during his illness.

Ike, Diefenbaker Agree On Continental Defense Panel

OTTAWA (AP) — President Eisenhower and Prime Minister John Diefenbaker agreed today to establish a joint U.S.—Canadian Cabinet Committee on continental defense.

A statement issued by the two leaders said the new body will supplement, but not supplant, existing joint committees and boards, such as the Joint Defense Board.

The decision was reached at a final session this morning. As a result of earlier talks, the North American neighbors had agreed to cooperate on the question of trade with Red China and means of preventing a surprise attack.

Tomorrow Eisenhower returns to Washington. He will stop at Massena, N.Y., for a look at the St. Lawrence Seaway project — another symbol of Canadian-American cooperation.

The President and Prime Minister announced that their governments will consult fully from now on in attempts to resolve, as they come up, differences arising over conflicting export policies and laws.

Such conflict exists on commerce with Communist China. The United States bans all trade with the Chinese Reds; Canada embargoes only sales of strategic goods.

Canada apparently won something of a concession.

The point of dispute has been application of the American embargo to Canadian subsidiaries of American firms, the Ford Motor Co. of Canada in particular. Feelers from Red China for purchase of 1,000 cars were turned down by Ford of Canada after consulting the parent company in the United States.

With Canada hit by unemployment, the matter became an issue in the Canadian election campaign last spring.

Nobody was saying whether Ford of Canada would now be allowed to sell cars to the Chinese Reds. But Eisenhower noted in his speech to Parliament yesterday that American-controlled Canadian industries are subject to Canadian law. And after the agreement was announced, Canadian Finance Minister Donald M. Fleming passed the word that the intention is that Canadian law and Canadian law alone would prevail over persons or corporations carrying on business in Canada.

Major Earthquake Jars Alaska Area

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP)—A major earthquake struck a wide area of southeastern Alaska Wednesday night. Several fishing boats were reported in trouble in Lituya Bay on the Gulf of Alaska.

The Coast Guard dispatched two rescue boats to Lituya Bay about 50 miles northwest of Cape Spencer.

A Coast Guard official said one reported recovering a capsized cabin cruiser carrying four persons.

Dean Goodwin, a Juneau bush pilot, said he received a radio report that several persons had been injured but he said the report was garbled and he could not say where or how the injuries occurred.

Goodwin's radio message came from Goodmund Winther, captain of the trollER L.C.D., who asked that the injured be picked up at Pelican, about 85 miles west of here.

The Coast Guard asked Goodwin not to fly there because of unfavorable weather conditions.

Goodwin also said that Winther told him of a tidal wave in Lituya Bay after the quake.

Dr. Don Tocher, seismologist at the University of California at Berkeley, said the quake was a major one and had its center in the Gulf of Alaska.

Dr. Charles Richter of the California Institute of Technology Seismological Laboratory at Pasadena said that had the quake occurred in a populated area it would have been a disaster.

The first severe jolt was recorded at Sitka, 100 miles southwest of here, at 10:17.18 p.m. Two sharp aftershocks followed minutes later.

The U.S. Coast and Geodetic Survey in Honolulu called off an alert early today after an expected tidal wave failed to reach the Hawaiian Islands.

A "red alert" was called when reports received here that a strong earthquake in the Gulf of Alaska had generated a massive sea wave.

Teitelbaum Balks At Probers' Quiz

WASHINGTON (AP)—Abraham Teitelbaum, once the Al Capone family lawyer, balked today at answering any questions before the Senate Rackets Committee.

The only question Teitelbaum answered was when asked his name.

Teitelbaum cited four amendments to the constitution—the 1st, 5th, 6th and 16th. Committee Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark) promptly overruled his objections except as to the Fifth Amendment which protects a witness against self inerimination.

The committee, looking into alleged infiltration of unions and legitimate business by hoodlums, wants to find out about an alleged 1954 gangland plot to kill Teitelbaum.

Teitelbaum demanded that he be allowed to make a statement before being sworn in as a witness, but McClellan turned him down.

"We are not here to hear speeches," McClellan said. "We are here to get evidence."

But before taking the oath, Teitelbaum managed to get in much of what he had to say.

He said that as a result of a voluntary appearance before a House subcommittee investigating income Tax Bureau scandals in 1951 he had become an innocent victim.

He said that after his testimony before the House committee he went through two income tax indictments. For 15 years, he shouted, "the Internal Revenue Department has been hounding me."

Teitelbaum argued that he did not receive "certain immunities and protection" from the House committee.

When finally placed under oath, Teitelbaum gave his name, but said he could answer no further questions.

Ralph J. Gutgsell, first of the day's witnesses, testified that he had been fired from his job as lawyer for the Chicago Restaurant Assn. because he failed to prevent picketing of another restaurant.

Adm. Wright Checking On 30 Captives

GUANTANAMO, Cuba (AP)—Adm. Jerauld Wright, commander of the U.S. Atlantic fleet, flew into the U.S. Navy base here in a jet plane today to make a first hand check on the delay by Cuban rebels in releasing 30 captive U.S. servicemen and a Canadian.

(In Havana, hopes ran high at the U.S. embassy that some of the servicemen would be released shortly.)

Fidel Castro's rebels released two more American civilians Wednesday as they continued their bit by bit release of the 50 North American hostages taken since June 26.

Adm. Wright immediately went into conference with Rear Adm. R. B. Ellis, the base commander here, and planned to return later to his headquarters in Norfolk, Va. It was possible Wright would go to Washington Friday for a direct report.

Man Takes Political Opinions To Grave

NEW YORK (AP) — Adolph J. Heimbeck held tight to his political opinion—right to the grave.

The will of the lawyer, 84, filed Wednesday for probate, cut off his sisters because they disagreed.

"I leave nothing to my sisters, Hazel and Katherine, as they revere Franklin Delano Roosevelt, and the taxes caused by him have more than equaled their share," the testament read.

A nephew, David H. Harris, of Huntington Park, Calif., was named principal beneficiary.

Total value of the estate was not estimated.

TAKES 6,000-MILE RIDE IN MISSILE

Mouse's Chances Are Good

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Preliminary reports today indicated that the chances are good for recovering a live mouse hurled through space in the advanced nose cone of a Thor-Able rocket Wednesday night.

The Air Force announced 15 minutes after what appeared to be a perfect launching that preliminary data showed the missile performed satisfactorily.

It still was too early to tell, however, whether the towering two-stage rocket was the first U.S. ballistic weapon to travel 6,000 miles or more through space.

The mission was to recover the nose cone and its live passenger if they survived the fiery plunge through the earth's atmosphere from outer space.

A successful test also would prove the performance of the two stages which reportedly will play a key role in three Air Force moon probes. A three-stage version of the Thor-Able probably will be used in the first lunar shot expected in a month or so.

The same Douglas Aircraft Co. team which handled Wednesday night's launching will control the first Air Force flight toward the moon.

A fleet of Air Force telemetry ships was stationed near Ascension Island off the African coast to spot the nose cone as it dropped into the depths.

Only the Snark, a jet-propelled missile that travels only at 600 m.p.h., has covered the intercontinental distance up to now. It is not a space weapon, however.

The test rocket — a Douglas Thor intermediate range missile coupled with a modified Vanguard second-stage vehicle — streaked into the starlit Florida sky with an ear-splitting roar and a flash of yellow flame.

The rocket appeared to function normally during the three minutes it was in view to press observers a mile and a half from the launching site.

If he survived the 30-minute trip, the tiny white mouse would be a prize patient for researchers studying the problems of manned space flight.

The mouse was nicknamed "Mia II", for "Mouse in Able."

The original "Mia" died when the first Thor-Able rocket became lost in space and apparently plunged into the Atlantic last April 23.

Rocket experts believe that the intermediate range re-entry problem was solved when an Army Jupiter nose cone was recovered intact from the ocean after it plummeted back from space at a speed of 9,000 m.p.h.

The nose cone, which may spearhead the missiles of tomorrow, was equipped with special gear to help pinpoint its location at sea.

An automatically released parachute helped the cone glide gently to the water. Then a radio transmitter, blinker lights and a dye marker would lead searchers to the scene.

The Thor-Able, which stands more than 80 feet tall, uses about 160,000 pounds of thrust to put the nose cone toward its ballistic course. Then it soars through space under its own power.

SCOUTS from Duluth, Ga., near Atlanta, set up camp and spent the night in Towle Memorial Park here last night. This was one of their stops on an extensive two-week tour of the South and Southwest. There were about 20 boys, who were Explorers, Boy Scouts, and Cub Scouts, while leaders and parents made up the remainder of the 35 in the party. They had camped at Vicksburg, Miss., and Dallas before coming here. From here they were going to Carlsbad, El Paso, back to Van Horn, Sonora, San Antonio, New Orleans, Pensacola, and then home. The boys took a dip in the park's swimming pool yesterday afternoon.

Action On School Case Is Due Soon

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The U.S. Court of Appeals here has indicated it will act promptly in deciding whether Little Rock's Central High School will be racially integrated next year.

A hearing may be set for Aug. 4, the date suggested by the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People.

Chief Judge Archibald Gardner has named three judges to hear an NAACP appeal from an order by Judge Harry Lemley at Little Rock. Lemley's order would block integration of Negro and white students at Central for 30 months.

Judges who will decide the issue are John Sanborn of St. Paul, Minn.; Martin Van Oosterhaut, 58, of Orange City, Iowa; and Harvey Johnsen, 63, of Omaha.

At Little Rock, Wayne Upton, president of the school board which—asked suspension of integration, said the board would not try to speed up the action. "After all, it's their appeal, not ours."

Judge Lemley said he suspended integration to provide a peaceful interlude in Little Rock, where violence erupted last fall when Central was integrated.

Judge Ronald Davies of Fargo, N. D., ordered integration while temporarily sitting in the federal court at Little Rock.

Texas Politicians In Home Stretch

By WHITEY SAWYER
The Associated Press

Texas politicians barrelled toward the home stretch Wednesday with candidates for both major offices — governor and U. S. senator — exchanging long-range salvoes.

William Blakley, candidate for the Senate, challenged Sen. Ralph Yarborough in a 12 - station telecast from Houston. He asked Yarborough to explain his Senate votes on civil rights and to affirm or deny that he is the candidate of the "labor bosses headquartered in Detroit, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, New York and elsewhere."

Yarborough, speaking in Wichita Falls, said if Blackley criticizes his vote in the Senate he is challenging the vote of the Democratic Party.

The senator said he and Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas cast identical votes on 23 separate issues and that his own vote was in line with those cast by Democratic Sens. John McClellan of Arkansas and John Kennedy of Massachusetts.

"I want to ask my opponent if he would have deserted the Democratic Party," Yarborough asked.

He said he thought Blakley's stand put him in the Republican camp.

Gov. Daniel said charges by two of his opponents that he was lining up lobbyists' support were "vicious and false."

Mrs. Daniel, their four children and the governor's sister, Miss Ellen Daniel, were to hit the road Saturday in a station wagon, campaigning for Daniel.

State Sen. Henry Gonzalez, who opposes Daniel, said at Beeville he challenged the governor to "tell the people who were all those men whom the governor invited to his home and what commitments they got and on what basis."

Daniel, Gonzalez said, is "the man who will claim the special session was needed to pass a lobby bill but who only last week called leading lobbyists into his office, asking for money to support his campaign."

W. Lee O'Daniel said at Abilene "the governor kept me from campaigning by keeping my name off the ballot for 41 days. If you can get away from this petty politics he (Daniel) is playing down there and get down to business, Texas can become the greatest industrial empire on the face of the earth."

Suspect Arrested In Hobbs Today

John R. Chisum, charged in county court here yesterday afternoon with aggravated assault, was arrested in Hobbs, N. M., this morning but refused to waive extradition, Sheriff Earl Abercrombie said.

The charge alleges that Chisum assaulted his wife and left her in a field near Hermleigh yesterday morning.

Mrs. Chisum walked to a house about a mile away and called relatives in Roby. She is now in in a hospital at Rotan for treatment.

George Killam, county attorney, is beginning extradition proceedings. He said an extradition hearing is set in New Mexico for Aug. 19.

Was Pearl In Oyster Stew?

DALLAS (AP)—Did J. W. Owen find a pearl in his bowl of oyster stew? That's the question Mrs. Owen wants answered.

Owen decided on a bowl for a late snack last Sunday and bought a 36-cent can at a neighborhood store.

When he poured the stew into a bowl, he heard something solid rolling along the side of the can. "Must be a rock in this can," he said to his brother, J. H. Owen, as he fished out the object.

90 American Debutantes To Enter Society In France

By NADEANE WALKER

PARIS (AP)—Ninety American debutantes will be presented to French society tomorrow at the first private ball in Versailles Palace since the time of the French kings.

Organizers hope that the Franco-American Debutantes' Cotillion will become an annual highlight of the social season. Among American sponsors are Gen. and Mrs. Nathan F. Twining, Gen. and Mrs. Randolph McCall Pate, and the treasurer of the United States, Mrs. Ivy Baker Priest.

Although the American debs will be outnumbered by French girls more than 2-1, they will be queens of the day, showered with gifts and honored and feted for a whole week. Sixty girls picked from debs' registers throughout the United States are arriving on special plane, to be joined by 30 more American debutantes living in Europe.

A beautiful American deb, Miss Gloria Kent, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Kent of Hampton Falls, N. H., is being tipped in Paris as probable belle of the debutantes' ball.

About 550 eligible young Frenchmen will be waiting to dance with them. To make the Americans feel at home, GIs will join the stag line.

Beneficiaries of the ball are the Committee for the Restoration of Versailles, the travel bureau which is hauling the American debs and their parents over for a week's tour and a number of French and American firms which are sweetening the kitty for the publicity they'll get.

Mrs. Montague Price, who organizes deb affairs in Washington, came to France to make plans with a French committee including Ambassador Herve Alphand, the Duchess de Maille and the Duke de Brissac, Princess de Broglie and a score of titled sponsors.

The Duke and Duchess de Maille will entertain the American girls in their country chateau.

The list of those coming from America includes:

Kathleen and Virginia Arbuckle, Quincy, Mass.; Mary Caroline Blackwelder, Lenoir, N. C.; Fredericka Baggs, Palm Beach, Fla.; Sarah Stuart Bohannon, Charlotte, N. C.; Barbara Buchenau, Beverly Hills, Calif.; Nan Carter, Allentown, Pa.; Mary Frances Connell, Raleigh, N. C.; Carolyn Marie Crooker, Somerville, Mass.

Also Marian Joy Desmoni, Bronxville, N. Y.; Deborah W. Dorsey, Alexandria, Va.; Jolyne Fournier, Lawrence, Mass.; Jessica Griess, Washington, D. C.; Josephine Giuliano, Brookline, Mass.; Stefanie E. Gulden, Rumson, N. J.; Joan Griffin, Greenwich, Conn.

Also Stephanie Kroeck, Chicago; Margaret Panill, Martinsville, Va. Alice Caldwell Schmidt, Alexandria, Va.; Rita Sellar, Unionville, Chester County, Pa.; Margery Shuford, Hickory, N. C.

Also Nancy Gail Smith, Pelham Manor, N. Y.; Mary Elizabeth Weed, Palm Beach, Fla.; Ursula C. and Moira A. Weglein, Garden City, N. Y.; Bonnie Adele Wilkie, Santa Barbara, Calif.; and Elaine L. Wilson, Richmond, Va.

Chili powder gives good flavor when used in flour seasoned with salt and pepper for coating meat or poultry to be pan-fried.

Banana custard pie is always popular, but doubly so when it is topped with a ruffle of whipped cream and shaved chocolate.

IT FIGURES—Upside down or rightside up, the figure of Carli Palermo is proof that gymnastics doesn't necessarily make a girl musclebound.

Calculating Carli Deals In Figures

By PHIL GUNBY

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — You might call Carli Palermo a calcuating young woman.

This estimation could be based on any or all of three factors:

1. She's a mathematics major at the University of Akron, where she's a sophomore.

2. She's active in gymnastics, and it certainly hasn't done her figure any harm.

3. She figures to qualify for the 1960 U. S. Olympic gymnastic team.

Now 19, Carli has won eight trophies, ten medals and nine ribbons in four years of competition. In 16 gymnastic meets, she has never failed to place.

She became interested in the art of mind-and-muscle coordination at Goodyear Junior High School here, where Larry Dessart was her first coach.

Carli is now working with Joe Toth, a YMCA physical education director, who says she may enter the Pan American Games at Chicago next year — if she's ready.

Although she has outside coaching, Carlie's interest in gymnastics is a family matter. Both her father and mother, with whom she lives in nearby Barberton, were gymnasts.

Vows Exchanged In Home Here

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. McGlaun, 1200 Twenty-fifth Street, have announced the marriage of their daughter, Clarice McGlaun Worley, to Jack Goodman.

The wedding took place July 9 at 6 p. m. in the home of the bride's parents.

Glen Pace, minister of the Twenty-fifth Street Church of Christ read the doublering ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street-length dress of sea green silk chiffon, with a bandeau of tulle leaves. She carried a nosegay of white gardenias, surrounding an American Beauty rose.

Following the ceremony a wedding supper was held, then the couple left for Dimmitt, where they will make their home.

The bridegroom is associated with Killingsworth Construction Co. of Dimmitt.

Woodmen Circle Has Meeting

The Thanksgiving Grove of the Woodmen's Circle met Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Ethel Eiland, 2806 Avenue U.

Out-of-town guests here for the meeting were Mrs. Leanmae Harris, district manager, Mrs. Katie Kidwell, state reporter, and Mrs. Margaret Davis, all of Abilene.

A routine business meeting was conducted with nine members present. Refreshments were served.

The next meeting is set for Aug. 9 in the home of Mrs. C. L. Banks.

Vanishing Kimono In Japan Merely Victim Of Economy

By FRED SAITO

TOKYO (AP)-It's sad but true: The kimono is vanishing.

Fewer and fewer girls are seen on the streets of Tokyo now wearing the long, lovely figure-hugging garment.

"The kimono is no longer the normal Japanese dress," Mrs. Yoshiko Sugino recently told newsmen.

Mrs. Sugino is an expert. She supervises 700 dressmaking schools throughout Japan with an enrollment of 100,000, exclusively concerned with teaching girls how to sew Western clothes.

"It is not a matter of fashion," she added. "The Japanese mode of life has been changing and now necessitates Western clothes which are more suitable for active work.

"The economy is another reason. During the war, many cities were bombed out and untold quantities of kimono were destroyed. In the post-war days, we simply could not afford to buy new kimono. As the Japanese economy was restored to the pre-war level some well off people began buying expensive kimono-but only on a very limited scale."

Backing up Mrs. Sugino, the Ministry of Education disclosed there are now 4,510 dressmaking schools in Japan, with an enrollment of 474,222 women and 817 man.

"I understand only about 10 per cent of the dressmaking schools are now devoted exclusively to kimono," said Mrs. Sugino. "About 40 years ago, the ratio was just the reverse."

One of the biggest factors in the rise of Western clothes is that more and more girls have had to go to work in the post-war years-girls who wouldn't ordinarily have had to seek employment in previous years. These girls find it easier to work in Western clothes.

The same thing applies to schools, where there has been a rising enrollment of girls who find Western clothes more comfortable in which to attend classes.

Some sociologists say the demise of the kimono, actually began Dec. 17, 1932.

On that day fire broke out on the fourth floor of a department store here. Thirteen persons were killed and 126 injured, the majority of them kimono-clad sales girls.

As is customary with the kimono, the girls wore nothing, or at least very little, underneath.

And when they came climbing down the fire ladders, many became anxious about their appearance and fell to the ground.

Afterwards, the manager ordered all the sales girls to wear underclothes.

A year later all the girls switched to Western clothes-and so did tens of thousands of other Japanese women.

CHOCOLATE MARBLE CAKE IS GOOD TRAVELER

Sunshine, Cool Breezes Add Zest To Menus For Picnics

If the family wants a picnic at the beach, lake or park for the Fourth of July, the menu possibilities are many.

Homemakers often fall into a culinary rut when it comes to picnics. Whatever the standard fare is, fried chicken or make-your-own sandwiches, it can be varied for the holiday.

There are many tasty sandwich fillings for the homemaker who vetoes cooking on hot days, even if it is over a campfire or a portable grill. And the variety is unlimited for those who plan to cook their dinner at the picnic site.

Why not treat hamburger-loving family to a one-dish dinner, to be cooked over campfire coals? Or surprise a family accustomed to cold chicken with cheese-burger dogs.

BARBECUE BUNBURGERS

Shape 2 patties to the pound of ground beef chuck; patting them to 1-inch thickness. Place on rack or grill 4 to 5 inches from glowing coals. Broil one side about 15 minutes, turn and season.

Spoon barbecue sauce on top of patties. Broil second side 5 to 6 minutes for rarer, about 10 minutes for medium-rare and about 15 minutes for well done.

Just before patties are removed from grill, heap freshly shredded Cheddar cheese on top. Toast buns on grill at the same time meat is cooking.

To make barbecue sauce, combine ½ cup catsup, 2 tablespoons each vinegar, water and chopped onion and 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce. Add 1 tablespoon brown sugar, 1 teaspoon dry mustard and 4 drops Tabasco sauce.

CHOCOLATE MARBLE CAKE

2 cups sifted cake flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ cup shortening
¾ cup sugar
2 eggs
¾ cup chocolate milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 1-ounce square unsweetened chocolate, melted

Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Cream shortening. Gradually add sugar and beat until light and fluffy.

Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Add sifted ingredients alternately with chocolate milk. Blend well each time.

Add vanilla and blend well. Divide batter in half. Add chocolate to half the batter and blend well.

Spoon plain and chocolate batters alternately into a greased and floured 8-inch square baking pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 50 to 55 minutes, or until cake tests done. Cool slightly. Turn out on cake rack and cool thoroughly. Frost as desired.

ONE-DISH PICNIC DINNER

1 slice tomato, medium thick
1 thick slice onion
1 thick hamburger patty
1 slice bacon
Frozen baby lima beans thawed
Diced raw potatoes
1 teaspoon soy sauce
1 teaspoon salt
Pepper to taste

Line a 1-lb. coffee can with heavy weight quilted aluminum foil. Place ingredients given above and put lid on can. This makes one serving.

Let campfire burn down to coals. Put cans on coals for 30 to 40 minutes. Remove lids and lift food out by foil ends. Eat right from foil plates.

Buttered rolls or buns can be heated in a separate foil package at the same time. Turn occasionally for even heating.

GERMAN POTATO SALAD

4 lbs uncooked salad potatoes
¾ cup water

Place unpeeled potatoes and water in saucepan. Cover. Bring to the boiling point at high heat. Turn to a low heat. Cook 25 to 30 minutes longer or until potatoes are tender.

Drain. Run cold water over potatoes immediately. Let stand about 5 minutes before peeling. Peel. Cut in thin slices. Combine with sauce.

For sauce:
3 slices bacon
½ cup bacon drippings
½ cup sugar
3 tablespoons flour
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon black pepper
1 cup cider vinegar
1 cup water
4 green onions, diced

Cut bacon in small pieces. Brown, remove from drippings. Add enough more bacon fat to make ½ cup drippings.

Blend sugar, salt, flour and pepper together. Add to bacon drippings.

Stir to make a smooth paste. Add vinegar and water. Boil 2 to 3 minutes. Stir constantly. Combine hot sauce, sliced potatoes, and onions.

Let stand at room temperature 3 to 4 hours. Sprinkle with pieces of bacon just before serving. Makes 10 to 12 servings.

CHEESEBURGER DOGS

1 lb. ground beef
2-3 cup rolled oats (uncooked)
2 tablespoon minced onion
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon monosodium glutamate
1-3 cup milk
2 to 3 drops liquid smoke (optional)
8 strips (4½x½x½ inch) American Cheese (¾ lb.)

Combine ground beef, rolled oats, onion, sat, pepper, mosodium glutamate, milk and liquid smoke and mix thoroughly. Chill in refrigerator 15 minutes. Divide into 8 equal portions. Roll each portion of meat with rolling pin between 2 sheets of waxed paper into a piece 6 by 5 inches.

Remove top sheet of waxed paper. Place cheese strip at wide edge of meat and roll cheese up in meat. Seal ends and edges well. Wrap each in a sheet of aluminum foil or transparent wrap and freeze. Carry frozen cheeseburger dogs to picnic, letting them defrost on the way. Grill cheeseburgers over glowing coals turning as necessary to brown on all sides. Serve in long sandwich buns. Makes 8 cheeseburger dogs.

TASTY SANDWICH FILLINGS

Here are unusual fillings for picnic sandwiches:

Simmer ½ lb. skinless frankfurters. Meanwhile, blend 2 tablespoons softened butter or margarine, ½ cup pineapple cottage cheese, 2 teaspoons prepared mustard and 1 tablespoon chopped sweet pickle or relish.

Put cooked frankfurters through a food chopper and blend into mixture. Serve on thick slices of pumpernickel.

Mash ½ lb. braunschweiger sausage after removing cellulose casing. Blend with ½ cup crumbled Bleu or Rocquefort cheese, and 2 tablespoons mayonnaise. Spread on crusty French bread. Top with lettuce and tomato slices.

Split-cooked skinless frankfurters lengthwise. On half of a bun, place half of a frank, spread with mustard of thin sliced, pared cucumbers. Cover with remaining frankfurter half and top of bun.

Broken Window Leads To Commendation

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Six boys who knocked out a window in an abandoned city fire engine house here while playing baseball will receive a letter of commendation from the city law director this week.

The boys didn't run away after the damage. They reported the incident and said they were sorry. They offered to pay.

Robert Calhoun, public properties superintendent, asked city officials to forget the cost.

The letter by Law Director Richard Wehler reads in part: "Character of ... (your) sort never leads to juvenile delinquency—and we are certain that if you maintain this attitude through your later life, you shall all make citizens worthy of any city."

Heavy Rains Continue In Mexico Areas

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Unusually heavy rains continue to inundate widely scattered parts of Mexico. No relief is promised.

The highway between Tuxpan and Poza Rica on the Gulf Coast has been closed. A four-day rain has virtually isolated both cities.

Texcoco, near the capital, was flooded Tuesday and several small houses collapsed. Others were evacuated. There were no injuries.

Far to the north, heavy rains hit Monterrey, causing some damage to homes and highways. Several suburbs of Monterrey were said to be under water.

Mexico City has received torrential rains daily for two weeks with one exception: It didn't rain Sunday, election day. Rains here caused disruption of light and power in some areas, short circuited telephone lines, and caused some damage to streets.

Highway police said last night traffic over the highway between Monterrey and Reynosa, on the Texas border, has been interrupted because water is over it in places.

It had been raining in Monterrey and other parts of the state of Nuevo Leon for thirty-six hours.

Monterrey police said the more intensly travelled highway to Laredo, Tex., was still open but warned drivers to be cautious. They said some bridges had been damaged and may go out.

Signs Lure Wanted Man

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The Police Department recently got authorization to hire an additional 100 patrolmen.

In its search for applicants, the department painted bright red signs on its white patrol cars advertising the jobs.

Among others, the sign attracted 26-year-old John Scott Timmons, a 220-pound ex-insurance salesman.

Yesterday, two policemen and an FBI agent picked up Timmons at his hotel room. The FBI said it had been looking for him since May 11, 1957, on a charge of deserting the Marine Corps at San Diego.

A check of Timmons' fingerprints, taken as a matter of routine when he applied for the policeman's job, gave him away.

Total U. S. capital now invested in Cuba is about 825 million dollars.

BUCKIN' THE LINE

By BUCK FRANCIS
News Sports Editor

THIS BUSINESS OF picking all-star teams, be it Little League or major leagues, is a tremendous task indeed.

There never has been, quite probably, an all-star picked that there wasn't some disagreements voiced by various fans.

You perhaps noted in Tuesday's edition of the News the all-star selections of three of our kid leagues here, the two Little Leagues and the Pony League.

We've already heard via the "grapevine" that the selections didn't meet the approval of all. Well, this isn't nothing to get disturbed over since it's an impossibility to pick an all-star team that would suit one and all.

In most cases where fans complain about the selections, they are biased toward some boy who they thought should have been selected.

Serious Consideration Taken

In connection with the all-star selections of the local leagues, we might add that serious consideration was taken by all of the managers of the respective leagues.

Although we didn't sit in on this year's all-star picking confabs, we have attended some of the meetings in the past and we can assure you that each boy in the league is given serious consideration toward making the all-star team.

As in the case of the Little Leagues here, 14 boys must be chosen out of 60 boys while it's 15 out of 60 in the Pony League.

Most of the time, there are 25-30 boys deserving of all-star recognition from this number but unfortunately only 14 in LL and 15 in Pony can be chosen.

You can feel reasonably sure that the managers here have and always will be fair in selecting all-star teams.

It's pretty important to them to get the best boys because they, like anyone, like to have a winner. The boys chosen may not win but the fellows in charge still like to feel they had who they thought were the best boys.

We hope the fans here will accept the all-star selections gracefully and go out and support them in the coming playoffs.

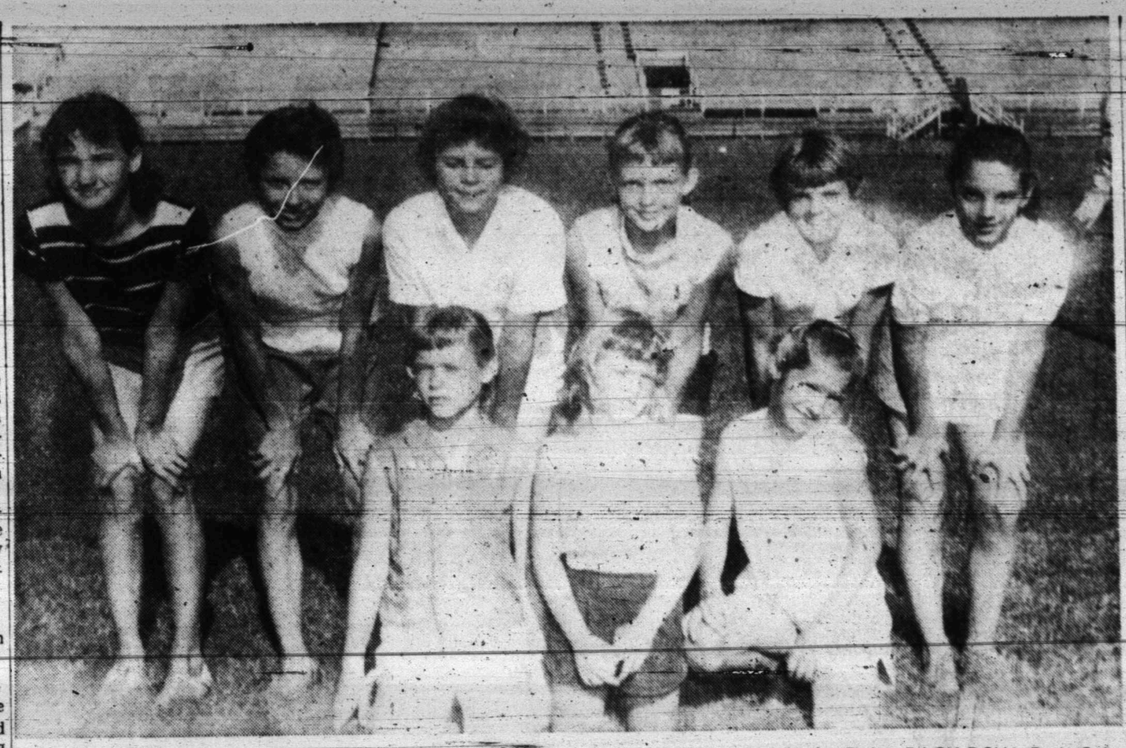
Activity Heavy At Boys Club

This coming weekend is going to be a busy one for the Scurry County Boys Club.

Two baseball teams are leaving today for San Antonio where they will participate in the state Boys Club tournament. Snyder will be represented in both the Junior and Senior Divisions.

Then about 50 boys and girls representing the local Boys Club will compete in the Regional Little Olympics tomorrow and Saturday in Abilene.

All this in addition to the daily activities at the club will be in the offing for our youngsters this weekend.



GIRLS TO COMPETE, TOO—Snyder, for the first time, will send both a boys and girls team to compete in the Little Olympics in Abilene tomorrow and Saturday. The Little Olympic teams are sponsored by the Scurry County Boys Club. A portion of the girls team is pictured above. Odessa Golf Starts Today

ODESSA (AP) — The $10,000 Odessa Pro-Amateur golf tournament starts today with a record field of 109 teams and the favorite's tag on the combination of Bo Wininger and amateur Bobby French, both of Odessa.

There were nine touring professionals in the field, including the national open champion, Tommy Bolt, who is playing with a newspaper man, Bruce Koch.

Others from the tour taking time out to shoot for the $2,000 first money were Mike Souchak, Billy Maxwell, Ernie Vossler, Don January, Max Evans, J. C. Goosie and Jerry Robison.

Vossler and Rex Baxter of Amarillo also are back.

MAKEUP GAME SET IN CITY TONIGHT

The high school and Blue Sox will meet in a makeup game in the City League tonight at Towle Park.

Tonight's game will follow the Pony League All-Star game. The Pony game starts at 7 and the City tilt will begin at about 9.

All Good Skippers About Even--Lane

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Frank Lane, Cleveland Indians' general manager who has quite a reputation for trading ballplayers and second guessing managers, finally has admitted he thinks all good managers are about even.

Lane, who came here with the Indians after the All-Star Game, was sadly discussing some repercussions of his firing Bobby Bragan as the club's manager last month.

He was sad mainly because a writer had asked a few questions about specific incidents leading up to Bragans dismissal and Lane's frank replies, when they appeared in print, made Bobby look bad as a manager and Lane look extremely critical.

It was, in fact, only the second time in Lane's 11 seasons as general manager of three major league clubs that he had dropped a manager in midseason.

"When they asked me the reason at the time I let Bobby out, I said it wasn't any one thing but a lot of little things," Lane said. "It still is a lot of little things and there's no purpose in rehashing them now.

"The truth is I think most good managers are about on a par. Al Lopez could win with the Yankees the same as Casey Stengel. Its the ones who aren't quite so good who have trouble."

That indicated Lane apparently classified Bragan as one not quite so good and the general manager confirmed it by mentioning Bobby's "immaturity of thinking" and his handling of players.

"I think Bragan probably will come back as a big league manager," he said. "He probably learned something from his experiences here and at Pittsburgh. He has a good baseball future ahead."

Lane thought it over a moment longer then added: "They say Bragan did as good a job as he could under the conditions and with the players he had. I think he didn't do the job he is capable of doing. The truth is we have a pretty good ball club and when Herb Score gets back it will be settled."

OU's Recruiting Being Probed--Paper Says

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Times Herald said today the NCAA is investigating the recruiting of Texas high school athletes by the University of Oklahoma.

An investigator for the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. was here yesterday.

It was reported that the investigator plans to check Oklahoma's recruiting of Bobby Boyd, Garland; Gene Burks, Royse City; and Karl Milstead, Athens.

The investigator may also go into the case of Mike McClelland, star Stamford back who played freshman football at Baylor last fall and then quit Baylor with the intention of entering Oklahoma.

Bud Wilkinson, Oklahoma football coach and athletic director, refused to give McClelland a scholarship last mid-term, but indicated he would do so in September if the boy still wanted to attend Oklahoma.

The NCAA investigates all bona fide complaints regarding alleged violation of recruiting and other rules. Apparently someone has entered a complaint against Oklahoma, making a probe necessary.

Boyd, an all-state back at Garland, signed a letter of intent with SMU, but only a few weeks before enrollment date switched to Oklahoma. He is now a junior and is slated to be the Sooners' No. 2 quarterback this fall.

Burks, star guard at Royse City, signed a letter of intent with Texas A&M this spring, but later decided to enter Oklahoma this fall.

Milstead, Athens' all-state guard, was courted by every major school in the Southwest, but elected to enter Oklahoma as a freshman this fall.

Excessive entertainment and a high-paying oil field job are under scrutiny in two of the recruiting cases involving Texans, it was learned.

The NCAA placed SMU on probation for obtaining what it called a "tailor made" oil field job paying $300 a month for Glenn Gregory, Abilene back, last summer. Gregory will be a sophomore at SMU in the field.

In all, Oklahoma recruited 10 Texas high school football players this spring. The last available count showed 21 Texans on Oklahoma's varsity football roster for the 1958 season.

'Harris Day' Set In Conroe

CONROE, Tex. (AP) — They're coming to Conroe by the thousands today to pay tribute to Roy Harris, their favorite boxing son who, to hear these Texans tell it, is going to take care of heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson Aug. 18. It's Roy Harris Day.

There'll be an excursion to Cut and Shoot, the little community where the Harrises have been fighting it out with each other for years. Harris lives there, teaches school and boxes on the side. He never has been licked in the ring.

Last night, a flock of Eastern writers, television and newsreel men, came in to see what makes Roy Harris tick and partake of Texas hospitality. They had a little celebration here upon the arrival of the 28 men from the East. Mayor Bill Newton of Conroe introduced them all as 1,800 people crowded around a swimming pool at the local hotel.

Most of the Harris family, except for Roy, who's at Cut and Shoot training for his bout with Patterson at Los Angeles, were introduced.

The excursion to Cut and Shoot will be at noon today and the writers will see Roy do some sparring. Some 3,000 Montgomery County residents are expected to attend a big barbecue here tonight.

FOR AREA TOURNEY HERE

National LL Draws First Round Bye

The Snyder National Little League All-Stars drew a bye into the Area Tournament finals in a meeting of district officials last night at Sweetwater.

The area tournament will be played here, July 21-22. Colorado City and the Snyder American League, the only other two teams in the area tournament, will vie July 21 with the winner to meet the Snyder Nationals July 22 for the title.

Starting times for both area tournament games will be 7:30.

Winner of the area tournament here will qualify for the district tournament, also to be held here. The district tournament will be held July 24-25.

Four area champions will vie for the district title here. Pairings for the district tournament were also drawn last night. The first round pairings for the district tournament are as follows:

Area 1 (Snyder Tournament) vs. Area 2 (Abilene Dixie), 5 p.m., July 24.

Area 3 (Abilene Western) vs. Area 4 (Hamlin Tournament), immediately following Area 1-2 game.

Championship game in the district tournament will pit the winners of the first round game at 7:30 p.m. July 25.

Nine Snyderites attended last night's meeting at Sweetwater, headed by Mutt Herod, coordinator of the local Little Leagues. Representing the National Little League were president Dan Cotton, manager Mutt Thompson and assistants Fred Bullard and Buck Logan.

Representing the American League were president Bentley Baize; vice-president Geral Greene; manager Charlie Morrow and assistant manager Preston Nokes.

Giants Put Lead On Line

The league leading Quarterback Club Giants will be out to protect their one-game lead in the National Little League race tonight when they meet the cellar dwelling Kiwanis Braves.

The Giants have won 10 of their 15 starts to date to lead the Lions Cubs by a single game. The Cubs are 9-6.

Over in the American League, the newly crowned champion Trinity Methodist White Sox will meet the Von Roeder Seed Indians tonight. The White Sox lead the pack by four games with only three left to play and could lose all their remaining games and still be the league champ.

The Giant-Braves game opens tonight's card at 7, to be followed immediately by the White Sox and Indians.

Following are the league standings:

NATIONAL LEAGUE

TEAM	W	L	PCT.
Giants	10	5	.667
Cubs	9	6	.600
Cardinals	6	9	.400
Braves	5	10	.333

PONY ALL-STARS IN PRACTICE TILT

The Snyder Pony League All-Stars will meet the "alternates" in a practice game tonight at Towle Park.

Game time will be 7:00 p.m.

Regular season play ended Monday night in the Pony League. The all-star team will play Colorado City, probably next week, for the area title.

3 TL Club Officials Blast Negative Remarks By Prexy

DALLAS (AP) — Officials of three clubs were critical today of Texas League President Dick Butler's statements on the future of the league but Marvin Milkes, San Antonio president, defended him.

Allen Russell, owner of the Austin club, created a furore yesterday when he charged Butler was making negative statements when he said the Texas League couldn't operate next year as now constituted and that the major leagues would have to take over the minors.

Jimmie Humphries, owner of Corpus Christi, said Butler's thoughts were "inopportune. They were merely wild guesses and he could better have left them unsaid."

Derrest Williams, general manager at Victoria, said he agreed with Russell, added that "the Texas League is in better condition now than it was at any time last year. That's the main trouble with baseball today—too many people taking a negative attitude. We need more optimism and particularly when there is nothing to cause a gloomy picture."

But Milkes, who said he was present in Baltimore when Butler was talking with newsmen and made his statements, declared Butler had no intention of going against the best interests of the league and that at no time during the conversation did he find Butler's attitude or statements harmful to any Texas League member.

Moreover, Milkes said, Butler's comments were misconstrued by the newsmen and that pertintent parts of what Butler had said were left out.

"Butler, in answer to a question, said the Texas League would need some financial changes next year, a different type setup perhaps or maybe the majors would have to show more responsibility or full responsibility," Milkes said. "He then added that unless some sort of changes were made the Texas League may fold next year."

He added that the writers omitted a great deal of the conversation and "picked out just enough to make it appear a more important story."

Butler declined to answer Russell's blast, saying he "didn't want to argue in the newspapers," but he did say that while he was quoted correctly by the writers, it was what was left out that caused a misconception.

"For instance, Dallas will have to have a working agreement with a major league club to operate next year," Butler explained. "Tulsa wants a change for the better in its working agreement with the Phillies, and so forth. I did not mean that the Texas League as presently constituted as to members would not be able to operate next year. I explained what I meant but that wasn't used in the story."

Bums Lick Braves; Tribe Raps Yanks

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gobbling up second-division teams with regularity is the common behavior among front runners in the major leagues.

But that's not the way it's working with the first-place Milwaukee Braves and the last-place Los Angeles Dodgers.

Last night the Dodgers knocked down the Braves for the eighth time in 10 meetings this season. The score was 10-3.

This was the only game in the National League. In the American League's only action, the Cleveland Indians belted the New York Yankees 12-3.

The Braves will be here again tonight. Pittsburgh will be at Chicago, Philadelphia at St. Louis and Cincinnati at San Francisco.

The heroes of last night's piece were Steve Bilko and Stan Williams.

Bilko, a local idol when he played in the Coast League for the old Los Angeles Angels, made his first starting appearance at home since his recent acquisition from Cincinnati. He slammed a three-run homer in the first inning. The big first baseman drove in another run later with a sacrifice fly.

Williams, a rookie right-hander, pitched a pretty four-hitter and picked up his fourth victory in seven decisions.

He walked three in the fifth inning and two in the eighth. The Braves nicked him for a run in the fifth on Eddie Mathews' sacrifice fly, but he got out of the eighth-inning jam by getting Hank Aaron to ground into a double play.

Right behind Bilko in run production was rookie catcher John Roseboro, who drove in three with a double and a single. He scored twice himself, once after tripling.

Carlton Willey, the Milwaukee starter, was consigned to the showers after the first inning and took his second loss of the season. Gene Conley, Bob Trowbridge and Ernie Johnson followed him to the mound.

Gordon Beams Over Beating NY In Debut

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Joe Gordon held forth at second base for the New York Yankees for many a year, but nowadays he's strictly an enemy of the Bronx Bombers.

And, as an enemy will on occasion, he did a little gloating today.

"Boy," he laughed, "I'll bet they felt strange last night after getting rid of Power, Held and Hunter."

He was referring to last night's 12-2 slaughter of the Yanks — the first time he's come up against them as manager of the Cleveland Indians. He took over for Bobby Bragan two weeks ago and the Tribe has won 7 of 11 since.

Vic Power, Woody Held and Billy Hunter all were laborers for Casey Stengel in recent years, but the Yanks couldn't find a spot for them. Last night, they really went to town against Whitey Ford and Virgil Trucks. Power had five hits, Held two and Hunter two.

The game was the only one scheduled in the American League last night. In the only National League game, the Los Angeles Dodgers defeated the first-place Milwaukee Braves 10-3.

The Tribe collected 19 hits off Ford and Trucks. It was the worst barrage the Yanks have been subjected to this season.

Actually, it was a close battle between Ford and Cal McLish for seven innings. But in the eighth, the Indians scored seven runs. McLish was lifted for a pinch hitter during the uprising, which prompted Gordon to comment: "Imagine making your last pitch with the score tied 1-1 and finishing up the winner of a 12-2 ball game."

A dozen Indians batted in that eighth inning. Included among the hits were a homer by Mickey Vernon and doubles by Held, Bobby Avila and Billy Harrell. The Tribe scored four more in the ninth, but by that time they were getting tired.

2 Local Teams To Santone

Two baseball teams representing the Scurry County Boys Club will participate in the state Boys Club tournament in San Antonio Friday and Saturday.

The Junior Division will play Houston tomorrow at 10:30 a.m. The Snyder seniors drew a first round bye.

Both teams were scheduled to depart today at 2 p.m. for the Alamo city.

The complete rosters of the two teams had not been worked out as of this morning.

Relief pitcher Herb Moford of the Detroit Tigers pitched 24 innings in 14 games for the 1955 St. Louis Cardinals. He had a 1-1 record.

Pursuers Gain On Idle Cats In TL

By The Associated Press

Rain gave Fort Worth's pursuers a little boost in the Texas League Wednesday.

The Cats were rained out at Victoria and Austin. Corpus Christi and Tulsa moved up a little through victories over San Antonio, Dallas and Houston respectively.

Austin whipped San Antonio 6-5 to climb within seven games of Fort Worth. Don Schultz walked a man with the bases full in the ninth to furnish the margin of victory.

Corpus Christi moved 8½ games away from Fort Worth by trimming Dallas 6-1. Dick Sovde pitched a steady 8-hitter.

Southpaw Ron Mrozinski yielded only five hits as Tulsa beat Houston 2-1. Charley Harrington singled in the winning run in the eighth.

FURR'S

OUR VIEW

An Amazing Deduction

THE HOUSTON CHRONICLE:

Amazing is a mild word for describing one paragraph of a letter Internal Revenue Commissioner Russell G. Harrington wrote to the Assn. of American Physicians and Surgeons in denying them tax exemption for their freedoms program.

Harrington wrote:

"Opposing socialization of the medical or other segment of the economy or supporting the principles of individual liberty and freedom of individuals in the medical profession or elsewhere, the dissemination of information on the advantages of our American free enterprise system, or the support of the principles enunciated in the Constitution and Bill of Rights are not, in our opinion, per se educational functions or objectives."

It is Harrington's choice of language, more than the denial of the tax exemption, which is so shocking. If he does not believe that "support of the principles enunciated in the Constitution and Bill of Rights" is a proper educational subject, then what does he think is proper with regard to the Constitution and the Bill of Rights?

Does he consider these principles controversial and, therefore, school children and others should not be taught their advantages?

The Harrington statement becomes even more difficult to understand in the light of the claim by the doctors that the American Assn. for the United Nations was granted tax exemption. Doctors contend that this association, in some cases, teaches the very opposite of what is enunciated in the Constitution, or directs public opinion to opposing ideas.

Congresional investigations already have touched on tax exemptions which are enjoyed by groups advocating socialism, internationalism and other ideas alien to traditional Americanism. But it's hard to find a tax exemption being granted any group fighting to retain the tradltional principles of American government.

Congress should make a thorough investigation of the tax exemptions which have been granted and those which have been denied. It is unlikely that this will be done unless the public demands it. If citizens would write to the congressmen, demanding a full and open investigation, there probably would be action by Congress.

It appears that such an investigation would turn up some interesting facts.

Uncle Sam Keeps 2 Sets Of Books

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The recession-hit economy will get a bigger boost from Uncle Sam in the next 12 months than the federal budget indicates.

The budget, according to expert estimates, will be 10 to 12 billion dollars in the red for the 1959 fiscal year that began July 1.

That much deficit spending — spending of borrowed money, in effect — can add a good bit of zip to the business outlook. But that's only part of the deficit story.

Uncle Sam keeps still another set of books, and government experts are now guessing that these will show a deficit one to two billion dollars bigger than that in the regular budget.

The second set of books is kept on a cash flow basis. That is, it records the amount of money the government receives from the public, balanced against federal payments to the public.

Economists say cash flow is a good measure of the impact of federal financial operations on the income of the public as a whole.

For example, if the cash figures show a 12-billion-dollar deficit in the current fiscal year, the government in effect will be adding roughly this amount to the public income.

A fiscal transfusion on that scale would prove a potent prop under the economy. And if the recession has already touched bottom, as some economists believe, it could give business a big push upward.

It's also significant that the effect of the deficit will be greater in the first half of the fiscal year, through Dec. 31, than in the second half. This is so because government revenues are scanty in the July-December period. Corporation tax payments are heaviest in the second half of the fiscal year.

The cash flow figures ordinarily show a smaller deficit than the budget statistics. For fiscal 1958, for example, some government economists estimate the cash deficit will be about a billion dollars less than the budget deficit.

The cash accounts include Social Security and highway trust funds and some other items that aren't part of the regular budget.

These special funds have shown a surplus in recent years. In fiscal 1959, however, more money will be paid out of these accounts than will be taken in.

That's why the cash figures this year will add to the economic impact of the budget deficit, instead of blunting its effect.

A lot of Americans who normally don't like red ink spending by the government may say it could not have happened at a better time — particularly if they are among the 5½ million unemployed.

Frozen Custard Is Brussels Fair Hit

NEW YORK (AP) — America has scored an unexpected culinary triumph at the Brussels International Exposition with — of all things—frozen custard.

"The Europeans have gone crazy over it," said David Berge, executive vice president of the Brass Rail restaurant chain.

"Last Sunday they bought 7,800 cones."

As supervisor of dining facilities in the American pavilion at the fair, Berge met nothing but headaches at the start.

"It seemed for a while like we had almost as many critics as customers," he remarked.

Berge found himself in the soup —literally—when he put Manhattan clam chowder on the menu. An indignant chorus from Connecticut to Maine immediately demanded equal billing for New England clam chowder.

Typical was an editorial comment by the famous "Vineyard Gazette" of Martha's Vineyard, Mass.: "It may be sometime demonstrated that Manhattan clam chowder is the main cause of juvenile delinquency. When the relaxation of old standards and principles begins, anything can happen."

Berge, a man who likes to keep everybody happy, bowed this week to regional pride.

"Starting this week we're putting both chowders on the menu."

But Berge sturdily has fought back at native critics who thought his emphasis on such items as hamburgers and hot dogs were beneath the dignity of a mighty nation.

"We asked people who'd been abroad what things they missed most while away from home," he said. "They mentioned things like clam chowder, cheesecake, hamburgers, hot dogs, roast beef, corned beef, apple pie, American coffee, malted milks and ice cream sundaes."

Some critics sniffed at the quick lunch atmosphere of the American restaurant.

"But that's just what the mass of people at an exposition want," said Berge. "Most of them can't afford the $4 to $15 a meal it costs to eat the Continental style restaurants at the fair. That's for the luxury trade.

"At the American restaurant they can get a lunch consisting of a hamburger, apple pie and coffee for $1. Dinner costs $2 or less."

The U.S. restaurant is serving approximately 20,000 persons a day, said Berge.

"The French and Italians go most for frozen custard. The size of the double-dip 20-cent cones seems to fascinate them.

"The West Germans like our American coffee and cheesecake.

"The English, Scots and Irish find our barbecued chicken an adventure.

"Every nationality likes to try the hamburgers and hot dogs."

As a final rebuttal to his early critics, Berge rubbed his chubby hands together, and observed cheerfully: "You know, the chefs from the Hungarian pavilion and the guards at the Russian pavilion now eat in our restaurant whenever they can."

Recovery Signs Are Reassuring

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Those who hold that the economy can and will heal its own recession wounds without direct government cure-alls have some reassuring figures today to back them up.

Factory employment rose in June after slipping for 18 months. The factory work week lengthened in May and June for the largest two-month gain since the war. This helped boost the average weekly wage in manufacturing industries by $1.27 to a record high of $83.10.

Since most of this betterment in the industrial areas was without direct stimulation by the government, the let-business-alone advocates are having an inning.

But another current improvement is traced to government action last March aimed at easing the slump in home building. Mortgage terms were changed to stimulate that industry and money for such projects was made easier to come by.

As a direct result perhaps, the Federal Housing Administration reports that mortgage insurance applications rose in both May and June, foreshadowing greater building activity ahead. The Veterans Administration reports increased requests for appraisals and GI mortgages.

This can be cited by those who think the government should manipulate the economy in its own best interests.

Debate between these conflicting points of view has slackened a bit since Congress accepted the administration stand that the slump was leveling off. But will the truce hold during the summer lull when the figures may be far less reassuring?

And if recovery doesn't come as fast as some predict, if the fall pickup is weaker than expected and the fourth quarter doesn't live up to advance billing as the start of a new boom, the clamor for new government measures may revive fast.

This is what the economists of the Guaranty Trust Co. of New York fear. In their July survey they see little "hope that public opinion as a whole has awakened from the dream of perpetual boom under governmental auspices."

Like many in the banking fraternity they hold that government shot in the arm measures tend to do business more harm than good in the long run.

"If business is now on the high road to recovery, as the optimists hope, there is obviously no need for politically administered stimulants," the Guaranty survey holds.

"If the rise proves to be less rapid than might be desired, the temptation to intervene will continue and may become irresistible. Yet, in the long run, the economy will be healthier and more prosperous if the temptation is resisted and business is given time to recover under its own steam.

"Spontaneous recovery is the only true recovery."

Caution against overoptimism now is added by the First National City Bank of New York in its July letter. It sees prospects good for a moderate increase in business activtiy after the summer lull.

LAW QUIZ

QUESTION: Why are there 12 persons on a jury?

* * *

ANSWER: For hundreds of years, Americans and Englishmen have regarded the right to be tried by a jury of one's peers as an important guaranty of liberty. The U.S. Constitution provides that every person accused of crime shall have the right to be tried by an impartial jury in the district where the crime was committed. Many European and South American countries also have adopted the jury system.

The forerunners of today's juries were the inquisitions in France in the 800's. The inquisitions were called to get information and to decide the rights of the crown. The decisions were made by a varying number of the king's representatives. These are not to be confused with the religious inquisitions of the Middle Ages which were designed to seek out heresy and punish heretics.

The Norman invaders brought the inquisition form of trial to England in 1066. Previously, the English had a system of 12 men who determined whether accused men should be freed or forced to submit to trial by ordeal or combat. By 1400, the English had combined the inquisition and 12-knight methods into a legal jury system similar to that which we have today.

Post Office Report Heard By Kiwanis

Kiwanis Club members got a report on postal service at their regular luncheon meeting Wednesday in The Village Restaurant.

Speaker at the session was Dawson Moreland, Snyder postmaster.

Moreland referred to efforts to get a new post office building here, commenting that new facilities were unlikely to be provided before the lease on the present building expires on Aug. 31, 1960.

He said the Post Office Dept. probably will send a man from its real estate staff here early next year to begin preparations for providing new quarters.

The building now in use has alightly over 4,000 square feet of space. Moreland estimated that between 8,000 and 10,000 square feet will be needed to provide suitable facilities for the next 10 years.

The postmaster also reminded that new postal rates on first class mail go into effect Aug. 11. On that date, letters will require four-cent stamps, instead of three-cent stamps, while post card rates will increase from two cents to three cents and air mail letters will be hiked from six cents to seven cents.

Moreland also touched briefly on the dog problem which faces postmen. He said city postmen here now have instructions not to deliver mail to houses where they are threatened by dogs. Instead, the postmen return the mail to the post office and report to the postmaster, who in turn, contacts the owner of the dog. In every case, owners have been cooperative in making efforts to protect postmen from their pets, Moreland said.

He estimated that the local post office has no carriers who have been employed as long as six months without being bitten at least once by a dog.

Trial Defense Is Exploded

CHICAGO (AP) — The courtroom defense for Mrs. Lillian Williams blew up with a bang yesterday.

Mrs. Williams, who operates a grocery in suburban Glenview, appeared in Arlington Heights court on a charge of illegally selling fireworks.

"They aren't illegal, judge," explained Mrs. Williams, 47, referring to what she called a harmless bag of 10 torpedoes, otherwise known as "crackerballs." "They were left over from last year. I placed them on the counter to get rid of them."

Justice of the Peace Walter Dahl asked to see the crackerballs.

Dahl tore open the cellophane bag and one of the torpedoes exploded, shaking the magistrate and leaving a slight powder burn on his hand.

Queen Elizabeth Planning Cruise

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II, still suffering from sinus trouble, is going on a cruise next month to get away from Britain's summer dust and pollen.

The 32-year-old Queen will cruise around the rugged west coast of Britain 11 days. With her aboard the royal yacht Britannia will be her husband Prince Philip and their two children, Prince Charles and Princess Anne.

CANYON FALL VICTIM—The body of William E. Garver, 38-year-old New Mexico University auditor, is draped over the lead horse of a pack train returning to Antonito, Colo., from a rugged canyon where Garver died in a fall. Garver and a companion, John Sanders, 35, plunged off the canyon rim while returning from a wilderness area fishing trip. Sanders survived and efforts were successful to remove him from the shelf of the canyon wall.

Man Rescued From Ledge Is 'Too Keyed Up' For Sleep

ALAMOSA, Colo. (AP) — The terrible ordeal was over, but husky John L. Sanders shook his head at doctors.

Sleep, he said, was the last thing he wanted. He was too keyed up.

Sanders, 35, had been rescued a few hours earlier Wednesday from the tiny ledge on a canyon wall where he had spent five days and nights. During the first 48 hours, he slept not at all for fear he would fall 300 feet as his friend and fishing partner had done last Friday.

William E. Garver, 38, auditor for the University of New Mexico, died in the plunge down the face of Conejos Canyon northwest of here. His body was recovered Tuesday.

Sanders, an Albuquerque businessman, clung to his three-by-four-foot rock shelf, alternately shouting and praying, for three days. He was spotted Monday, given his first food Tuesday, rescued by Army mountaineers shortly after noon Wednesday.

They lowered him by litter to the base of the 800-foot rock wall. From there, the 6-foot, 200-pound man walked three miles and rode a horse another mile to a waiting ambulance and his wife Carolyn.

Sanders was taken to Alamosa Community Hospital, where physicians said he survived the ordeal in surprisingly good condition.

Doctors barred reporters. They said later they finally prevailed on Sanders to take a sedative.

Outside Room 12 at the hospital, Mrs. Sanders said her husband had fought sleep during all his long hours on the ledge. He told her that when he began to doze Monday, his third day, he removed the laces from his boots, put his feet around a tree beside the ledge and tied them together.

"He was afraid he might fall asleep and fall from the ledge," she said.

The brunette mother said her husband related that he and Garver fell from the canyon lip about 6:30 p. m. Friday while returning from a fishing trip in the primitive mountain country near the Colorado-New Mexico border.

"He said they both fell and rolled about 300 feet and landed against some gnarled trees. John said he saw Bill about 30 yards away and yelled to him 'Don't move. Hold on to the tree.' But Bill apparently tried to get a better footing and fell again.

"'He must have known when he fell that it was over,'" Mrs. Sanders quoted her husband, "'because he didn't make a sound.'"

To attract the attention of any searchers who might have approached from above, the New Mexico businessman fashioned a crude kite from his undershirt and string from a sleeping bag he had with him. He threw the kite into the air time after time.

It was his cries for help that first attracted the attention of a search party Monday, however.

Sanders had no food with him. He collected some rain water Sunday night in a portion of the sleeping bag.

'The Drunkard' In 9,225th Showing

By HUBBARD KEAVY

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—This is a report on that Methuselah among melodramas, "The Drunkard," by one of its oldest living patrons.

How well I remember — thanks to some clippings — July 9, 1933. "The Drunkard" was then three nights old. Last night I saw performance No. 9,225 — the silver anniversary show, plus three.

Neely Edwards is the only member of the original cast still in "The Drunkard." I saw Neely again last night, for perhaps the 30th time. He was as spry as ever, although he's 74. He was a mere 49 when he first became the father of the girl who is tearfully wronged.

In 25 years, Neely Edwards has missed only about 50 performances.

"The Drunkard" became a musical five years ago and now is called "The Wayward Way." It is pretty corny stuff, but it was taken seriously as a dramatized temperance lecture when P. T. Barnum produced it in the 90s. The current cast plays it very broadly indeed.

The audience sits at tables and drinks free beer and eats free pretzels and hisses the villain. Very freely. They cheer and applaud, always a little more loudly by about the fifth act, when the heroine escapes from the clutches of the leering you-know-who.

Neither the drama nor the moral explains the success of "The Drunkard." It's the sociability, the fun, the taking part in the performance that have attracted 2½ million. July 6 is the actual anniversary, but that date fell on Sunday, when there never is a performance.

"The Drunkard" has more figures than the Bureau of Statistics. If all the empty beer bottles — an average of three per adult customer — were laid end to end, it would take forever to pick them up. If all the pretzels fell on you, they'd crush you.

But it wouldn't be as big a crush as some of us have on the play that has broken all theatrical records.

Feline Purrs Under Hood

IRVINGTON, N.J. (AP) — George Franks motor purred rhythmically yesterday but George knew his car engine wasn't running.

Franks lifted the hood and reached for a cat hiding between the motor and the fire wall.

But it wasn't as easy as all that.

The cat scampered to the safety of the chassis cross bar.

While a crowd gathered and offered advice, George crawled under the vehicle and shooed the cat away. But the cat took up a position between the splash pan and a crossbeam under the fan.

Police came; also more and more kibitzers. They couldn't get the cat out but found they could operate the car without injuring the animal.

The party transferred operations from in front of Franks' house to a service station down the street.

The service station mechanic put the car on a lift, removed the splash pan, tugged on something else and out came Mr. Cat.

He charged Franks $1.

Antique Cars In Production

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Antique car enthusiasts need no longer snoop through rural garages for old modles. They can buy them fresh off the assembly line.

Dyer Products Co. of Canton is producing an almost exact replica of the Surrey—a horseless carriage that was all the rage in 1903. It comes complete with a tiller instead of a steering wheel, polished brass headlights, bulb horn and spoke wheels.

A 4.8-horsepower motor can propel the Surrey at a top speed of 35 m.p.h.

A few concessions are made in the interest of modern comfort and road safety. The 1958 version has a self-starter, turn indicator and tail lights. But otherwise she's every inch the auto granddad used to court grandmother.

The list price is $1,095, or $895 for the assemble-it-yourself addict.

Flood Date Still Mystery

BAGHDAD (AP)—The date of Noah's flood still is a mystery.

That is the conclusion of a team of German archaeologists who have completed two years of excavations in southern Iraq. They have been working in Uruk, where nearly 5,000 years ago a Sumerian epic poem was written describing a flood.

The hero of the epic was Gilgemish, a king who reigned in Uruk around 2800 B.C. Dr. Heinrich Lenzen, head of the Baghdad German Archaeological Institute, says the date of Gilgemish's reign has been fixed almost exactly, but the date of the flood remains a mystery.

Lenzen explained that Gilgemish, in the poem, actually hears of the flood from an ancestor. The problem is to find out when this ancestor lived and when he built his ark. His story is so similar to Noah's that they probably refer to the same event.

Letters, Parcels Go To Prisoners

BERLIN (AP) — The American Red Cross Wednesday turned over to the East German Red Cross 17 more letters and 8 parcels for delivery to the nine U.S. Army prisoners held in Dresden.

An American Red Cross delegate also will inquire about mail from the prisoners to their families.

The Red Cross said so far only one delivery of mail has been received from Dresden.

The men have been held since their helicopter got lost in a thunderstorm June 6 and ran out of gas over East Germany. The East German Communist regime has refused to hand over the men.

Jayne Is Expecting Child In December

LONDON (AP)—Actress Jayne Mansfield said today that she is going to have a baby.

The curvy American film blonde said the birth is due in December. She and muscle man Mickey Hargitay, 29, were married last Jan. 13.

Miss Mansfield, 24, is making a picture in London. She has an 8-year-old daughter, Hayne Marie, by her first husband, public relations man Paul Mansfield of Chattanooga, Tenn.

Yugoslavia Is Warned

BERLIN (AP)—East Germany's Stalinist boss Walter Ulbricht today warned Yugoslav leaders they may suffer the fate of the executed leaders of the Hungarian revolt if they persist in independent communism.

Opening the East German Party Congress in the presence of Soviet Premier Khrushchev, the East German party chief angrily Kremlin's name for independent communism — in Yugoslavia as "an open attack on the Socialist bloc."

Hungary's puppet party chief Janos Kadar sat listening as Ulbricht made his reference to the execution of former Premier Imre Nagy and Defense Minister Pal Maléter.

Marshal Is Not Welcome

SAN PEDRO, Calif. (AP) — Guards wouldn't let a deputy county marshal aboard the yacht Angelita when he asked to see Gen. Rafael Trujillo Jr.

Several pinup girl types giggled up the bangplank and boarded the palatial four-master yesterday as Lt. George H. Gordon waited and waited. He had a summons.

An aide assured Gordon the general, son of the Dominican Republic's strongman, would see him as soon as he awakened. At 6 p.m. Gordon got discouraged and left.

The summons resulted from a suit filed against the general by Hollywood actress Lyn Heyburn. She asked $10,000 damages because, she said, two of Trujillo's pals dunked her in the swimming pool of the general's rented mansion while she was fully clothed.

Planes Push Radio Signals

By RENNIE TAYLOR
Associated Press Science Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Some planes now can go fast enough to push radio signals out of their allotted frequency channels, says an electronics expert.

This can mean danger for men in supersonic aircraft because it reduces or in some cases can prevent effective communication during fleeting moments when warnings or other information are vital, he said.

The best way out of the problem, the specialist said, is to establish artificial radio relay stations in satellites thousands of miles above the earth.

The expert, R. W. Parkinson, of the Ramo-Woolridge Corp. Los Angeles, described the problem in an address prepared for delivery today at the Institute of Aeronautical Sciences. Ramo-Woolridge is a research organization holding extensive government contracts.

Two planes closing in on each other and each traveling at 2½ times the speed of sound get a speedup in their commonly used voice communication band, Parkinson said. After they pass each other the frequency is slowed down by the same amount.

The effect is basically the same as the rising and falling notes of a train whistle or an automobile horn when a car on a highway passes a train going in the opposite direction. Scientifically it is called the Doppler effect.

This variation may crowd the signal clear out of the band to which it is allotted, Parkinson declared. Unless the receiving plane retunes its set to compensate for this, it may get only part of the message or may miss it entirely.

One answer to this and other shortcomings of present radio communication, the specialist added, is the establishment of two or three satellites 22,000 miles above the earth with instruments for relaying short-wave signals.

These satellites would have the same speed as the rotation of the earth, so they would seem to be stationary in the sky. At the same time they would reflect signals not just to one part of the earth but over nearly half of its surface, Parkinson said.

A satellite relay system could carry thousands of channels simultaneously and relieve the congestion of the present radio spectrum, he reported. The system also could make long-range or evenworldwide television possible, he added.

Existing electronic equipment is capable of producing such a system, he said. The main unsolved problems, he added, are a booster rocket that could get the moderate-sized satellite to the 22,000 miles level, and a means of furnishing it with power to operate its relay equipment.

He guessed such problems will be solved in 5 to 10 years.
