The rainy season in August made it a touch-and-go situation as to whether Scurry County would have a bale of cotton ginned this fall before the annual Scurry County Fair.

Cotton put on lush growth during the August rains — that which didn't drown, and speculation on the ultimate yield still is uncertain. There's going to be plenty of stalk, but some of the huge plants may not put on a big crop of bolls. And a lot of it will be late, regardless, which means that the date of the first killing frost will have something to do with determining the turnout of this year's crop.

Anyway, the first bale, produced by Jerry Smith, did just make it to the gin before the fair which was moved up a couple of weeks on the calendar this year.

Speaking of cotton, the National Cotton Council is concerned over the fact that the carryover from previous crops is expected to be about 4.1 million bales this year. That is a carryover cushion that would be insufficient if next year's crop should fall short of demand.

So, the council is pushing for incentives to increase production. A crop that merely meets the expected demand for a year is dangerous to the industry, it was pointed out, because a single unfavorable crop year could wipe out the reserves. This, in turn, would undoubtedly stimulate more interest in substitutes, which could permanently hurt the market.

Webb Air Force Base has forwarded word that the famous U.S. Air Force Thunderbirds will put on an exhibition there on Oct. 1. The Thundersbirds are coming to the base at Big Spring to help celebrate the opening of the new base hospital, which also will be combined with "Career Day" activities. They hope that a lot of high school students will attend the event, during which Air Force opportunties will be explained, including specialities ranging from pilot to nurse and from aircraft mechinic to photographer. The $2½ million hospital at Webb will replace a World War II facility.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Tuesday, Sept. 14, the 257th day of 1971. There are 108 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1901, President William McKinley died from gunshot wounds eight days after being attacked by an anarchist in Buffalo, N.Y. Theodore Roosevelt became president.

On this date:

In 1628, the Salem, Mass., settlement was chartered by John Endicott.

In 1778, Benjamin Franklin was sent to France as an American minister.

In 1812, Napoleon Bonaparte entered Moscow as a conqueror.

In 1923, heavyweight champion Jack Dempsey defeated Luis Angel Firpo of Argentina in a New York fight although Dempsey had been knocked out of the ring in the first round.

In 1940, Congress passed the first peacetime military draft in U.S. history.

Ten years ago: Foreign ministers of the United States, Britain and France began talks in Washington on problems involving Berlin, Laos and the Congo.

Five years ago: A West German training submarine sank in the North sea, with a loss of 20 lives. A British trawler picked up one survivor.

One year ago: Israel freed 75 of 450 Arabs being held hostage until passengers of hijacked airliners were released by Palestinian guerrillas.

McGOVERN PINNED DOWN IN RIOT

Senator Requires Rescue

Order Restored At Attica

By BEN DeFOREST and BRIAN KING

ATTICA, N.Y. (AP) — Officials set about the task of putting Attica State Prison in order today after bloody clashes in which a battery of peace officers and National Guardsmen was pitted against the baseball bats, knives and gasoline bombs of rebellious inmates. Thirty-seven men died.

Nine of the dead were hostages—part of the group of 38 guards and prison employes held for four days by the convicts inside the prison walls.

It was a dark, rainy but quiet day today in this western New York village where the sound of gunshots, helicopters and exploding tear gas grenades were heard Monday.

Officials were trying to identify the dead inmates, piece together an account of what led to the bloodshed, and put the prison system back on its routine. Relieving guards and other personnel who had been on extra duty during the long hours of trouble, securing adequate supplies and preparing meals were priority considerations, they said.

4 'Copters Shot Down

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — Sen. George McGovern was rescued by U.S. military police and Marines tonight from a hail of rocks and firebombs hurled against a church where he was meeting with South Vietnamese students and dissidents.

McGovern, a leading antiwar critic, was trapped in the Roman Catholic church with several associates for about half an hour. He emerged shaken but unhurt under the protection of the U.S. troops summoned to the scene.

The identity of the rock and fire-bomb throwers was not immediately established. One witness described them as young South Vietnamese motorbike riders often called "cowboys."

The South Dakota Democrat is on a three-day visit to South Vietnam. He went to the church to talk with South Vietnamese about political prisoners and alleged abuses in Vietnamese prisons.

The senator returned to his downtown hotel under an armed escort.

He said he didn't know who the attackers were.

"I really don't now what it was all about. I was there as a guest of the group seeking prison reform," he told newsmen.

"Shortly after we arrived the fireworks started. I had no way of knowing whether the people outside knew whether I was there or not."

The incident began with the firebombing of a Jeep some 20 yards from the church entrance, witnesses said. The meeting then was disrupted by the shouting youths who hurled rocks and flaming bottles of gasoline at the church.

McGovern and the others withdrew to a church office where, according to one witness, they were pinned down for about half an hour.

During that time, according to McGovern's press secretary, Frank Mankiewicz, they telephoned the U.S. Embassy for help.

The outburst at the church appeared to be part of a new surge of anti-American sentiment, which flared to the surface in other demonstrations in Saigon and Hue.

On the battlefield, the U.S. Command announced four U.S. helicopters were shot down and a fifth crashed from unknown causes in the Mekong Delta.

Court To Hear Mauzy

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Supreme Court agreed today to hear Dallas Sen. Oscar Mauzy's request to force the legislative redistricting board to draw new districts for House members.

The court set a Sept. 23 hearing.

Mauzy also asked the court to require that the board's proposal include single-member legislative districts.

The court acted quickly after the five-member board overrode the lone opposition of Speaker Gus Mutscher and extended it had no authority to compose a new house redistricting plan.

Three Are Indicted

A Scurry County grand jury returned three criminal indictments this morning.

Indicted on a charge of assault with intent to commit murder was Dwight Davis. He allegedly fired a shotgun at Buford Thompson in the southeast part of Snyder last Sunday night.

Jesse J. Crawford was indicted for theft over $50. He allegedly took some copper from American Magnesium Company.

Donnie Chambless was indicted for giving a worthless check.

Crawford was released on $5,000 bond. Davis and Chambless are at large. Bond for Davis was set at $5,000 and bond for Chambless was set at $2,000.

The grand jury was in session Monday and this morning.

BAIZE NAMED TO BOARD

Needs For Additional WTC Buildings Eyed

Trustees of the Scurry County Junior College District last night named Bentley Baize to fill a vacancy on the board and discussed plans for pushing ahead to completion of the first phase of campus construction.

Baize fills the vacancy left on the board when M. L. Broman resigned. The board already had named Dr. Robert Hargrove, former vice president, to complete Broman's term as president, and Bill Wilson to fill the vice president's post. However, appointment of a new board member was delayed until last night.

Baize, manager of Von Roeder Seed Farms, is a former president of the Snyder Chamber of Commerce, and has been identified with many community activities. His term will expire in April of 1974.

BENTLEY BAIZE

Dr. Robert L. Clinton, president of Western Texas College, reported that WTC is moving out of temporary facilities at Trinity United Methodist Church where the college had been renting some space. He said that so far as is known now the administration building on campus will be ready by Sept. 25, the fine arts building will be ready by Nov. 1 and other buildings now under construction will be ready by

Nixon Summons Farm Leaders

By MICHAEL J. REILLY
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, after hearing business opposition to any post-freeze wage board without government participation, has called farm leaders in to discuss his economic program.

The President says he will consult with all concerned factions about what will follow the wage-price-rent freeze. He already has had separate sessions with labor and business leaders, and will meet with congressional representatives Friday.

Businessmen, who spent two hours in conference with Nixon Monday, rejected the position set forth last week by labor that anti-inflation controls be supervised by a board of labor, business and public representatives.

James Roche, chairman of the board of General Motors, told newsmen he and the 10 other business leaders who met with Nixon do not want such a nongovernment board.

George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, meanwhile was telling the House Ways and Means Committee of his support for the tripartite panel. He also renewed his stand favoring an excess-profits tax and criticized most of Nixon's new tax proposals and plans for an investment tax credit renewal.

"The proposal before you," Meany said, "is a giant raid on the federal Treasury that would transfer billions of dollars in public funds into the private treasuries of big business."

Big business was given a note of caution Monday, when Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connally suggested businessmen not enter blindly into long-term contracts for goods and services to be delivered after the 90-day freeze ends.

Jail Riot Erupts In Baltimore

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — About 200 inmates barricaded themselves in the City Jail cafeteria today and police forced them out with tear gas.

The men were returned to their cells. No injuries were reported.

The uprising occurred just one day after a rebellion was put down at a state prison in Attica, N.Y., where 37 persons were killed. Inmates there had held 38 persons hostage since Thursday.

According to Baltimore police, inmates took possession of the cafeteria about 7:15 and refused to come out.

Police said they moved in with tear gas about one hour later. Some 50 police said the inmates had no hostages.

EEC Agrees On Monetary Policy

By OTTO DOELLING
Associated Press Writer

BRUSSELS (AP) — Closing their ranks for negotiations with the United States, the six Common Market countries have agreed on a uniform monetary policy including a call for Washington to devalue the dollar.

The stand is expected to have considerable impact on Wednesday's meeting in London of the group of 10 leading industrial nations and the Sept. 27 meeting in Washington of the 118-member International Monetary Fund. The United States will take part in both conferences dealing with President Nixon's new economic policies.

Differences between France and West Germany had blocked previous attempts by the Common Market finance ministers to agree on a uniform policy.

The ministers' communique Monday night represented a compromise. The West German economics and finance minister, Karl Schiller, rejected an initial draft on grounds it was too elaborate and should be devoid of references to the dollar.

But the ministers made clear their intention regarding dollar devaluation when they called for a realignment of major world currencies, "including the dollar."

French satisfaction at the meeting's outcome was expressed by its finance minister, Valery Giscard d'Estaing, who said: "It does not befit a delegation to express its particular satisfaction by affirming that its thesis has won. But now it has become a community viewpoint."

The Common Market is composed of France, West Germany, Italy, the Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg.

In Washington, President Nixon's deputy press secretary, Gerald L. Warren, had no comment on the action. He said Treasury Secretary John B. Connally "is going over there and I am sure he will adequately describe the administration's view."

The six-point package adopted by the ministers included proposals from the Common Market Commission to replace the dollar as the basic currency of world exchange linked with special drawing rights to the International Monetary Fund.

But the ministers said "International liquidity should continue to be based on gold and to a growing extent on instruments collectively created and managed on an international scale. This implies adapting and developing a system of special drawing rights while decreasing gradually the importance of national currencies as reserve units."

The package also called for stricter curbs on monetary speculation, equilibrium in international payment relations, an end to the U.S. 10 per cent surcharge on imports and a strengthening of authority of the International Monetary Fund.

UF Plans Special Event

The Scurry County United Fund, which is preparing to open its annual drive, has announced plans for "Information Day" Oct. 2.

All United Fund agencies will have booths set up at the Scurry County Coliseum. Refreshments will be served and all area citizens will be invited to visit the booths and learn more about the agencies which are supported by the United Fund here.

The campaign for funds will be kicked off at 7 a.m. Sept. 28 at a breakfast session at the First Baptist Church.

"Work Day" has been set for Oct. 4-8. This will be a period in which all workers in the annual United Fund campaign will be urged to make their contacts and turn in their cards.

The Scurry County United Fund hopes to raise $43,800 this year to support 10 participating agencies. Ernest Sears and Bill J. Hood are co-chairmen for the fund drive.

Enteries In Fair Due To Arrive

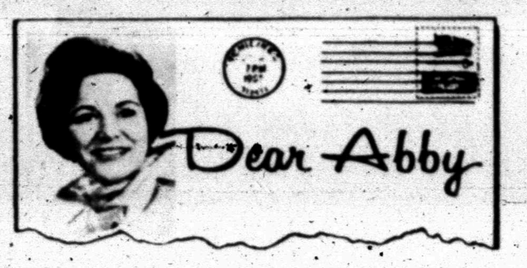
Entries in the Scurry County fair will begin arriving tomorrow afternoon in the exhibit buildings in Towle Memorial Park.

The fair is scheduled to begin its three-day run on Thursday morning.

The Towle Park Barn and the National Guard Armory, where exhibits will be housed, will be open to receive entries beginning at 1 p.m. Wednesday.

Judging of the fair entries will begin at 9 a.m. Thursday. The exhibits will remain on display until Saturday night.

There will be all types of agricultural and livestock exhibits, women's division exhibits, educational exhibits and commercial exhibits. There also will be a flower show, with the Snyder Twilight Garden Club in charge, and an art show, with the Snyder Palette Club in charge.



Husband refuses to have pictures hung

By Abigail Van Buren

(c 1971 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: We are in our sixties and have been married only three months. [This is my second marriage, and his, too.] We have a lovely apartment, however, mirrors and pictures are still on the floor, resting against the walls because my husband refuses to have them hung. He is afraid if the large mirror is hung on the wall it will come down on his head. He refuses to let me put up the usual decorative things around, removing them to a corner of the dining room on the floor! I have made several attempts to put these things out, only to find that he has removed them, so I have just given up. A beautiful rubber plant was thrown out because it was an "eyesore."

What sort of problem do you think I have on my hands, Abby? And how would you cope with it? He wants me to invite people over, but I am reluctant because the place looks as tho we moved in only last week.

DESPERATELY UNHAPPY

DEAR UNHAPPY: If your husband is hung up on hanging things for fear they will come down on his head, assure him that there are professionals who can hang them safely.

If he still refuses, add this to his refusal to keep decorative objects in sight where they belong, and consider the possibility that his mind isn't functioning properly. All big problems were once small. Get your husband to his doctor for a checkup.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter was recently married at a beautiful church wedding, and this is what happened:

We planned on 210 guests for a sit-down wedding dinner. We engaged a fine catering service and had placecards for everyone. Well, 44 extra guests showed up!

Thirty had received invitations but failed to reply to our R. S. V. P. to let us know they were coming. And we had 14 children who were not invited but were brought by their parents.

Of course there were no places for 44 extra, but some stayed anyway and ate in the kitchen, and some got mad and left in a huff.

Abby, when an invitation is addressed to Mr. and Mrs., don't they know their children are not included? And shouldn't people know enough to respond to an R. S. V. P. invitation? Please print this. A lot of folks need educating.

LOVELY WEDDING—DISASTROUS DINNER

DEAR LOVELY: R. S. V. P. invitations are ignored out of laziness—not ignorance. And those who take their uninvited children along are beyond educating.

DEAR ABBY: "UNDER 25" in Loma Linda stated in his letter that he could not have gotten his master of science degree without free clinics, government loans and food stamps.

Since I am a part of the government body which helps subsidize these various handouts, may I point out that many of us who are over 25 did not expect the taxpayers to be so full of "brotherly love" to keep us publicly endowed with food, medical care or schooling. Many of us worked very hard to get an education and a business.

"Under 25" also suggests that some of us are not very tolerant of their sloppy attire, long hair and love beads. We who wear "beads" of perspiration from working for a living, care not that others choose to dress differently.

If "Under 25" wished to place a raisin in his navel and disguise himself as a cookie, we couldn't care less. However, we DO object to having to pay for the raisins. Sign me

GM Plant Shut Down By NAG

By STEPHEN WILDSTROM
Associated Press Writer

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — Chanting "we will not be bused" and "power to the people," opponents of school busing for integration shut down the General Motors' Fisher Body plant in Pontiac today.

Several hundred pickets, many of them representing the antibusing National Action Group, NAG, paraded in front of plant gates as the 4,100-worker facility was due to open.

Many workers congregated on sidewalks across the street from the plant but few entered.

The demonstration had been called by NAG to show its "clout", in a running battle to undo court-ordered busing to achieve racial balance in schools in this suburban Detroit city of 85,000.

NAG was unsuccessful last week in attempts to prevent buses beginning their rounds for the opening of schools Tuesday and in demonstrations aimed at shutting them down after they were opened. Disturbances resulted in 48 arrests.

Despite threats of discipline from the United Auto Workers and General Motors, the company said more than 60 per cent of the day shift failed to report for work.

"I knew it would work," said a jubilant Irene McCabe, chief spokesman for NAG.

She promised her group would be back in the afternoon to attempt to prevent the second shift from reporting for work.

Several workers who crossed the picket line to report said they did so "because I have to earn a living."

Charles Warren of Pontiac, a black Fisher Body worker, said the picketing "is something you can't do anything about. I accept it."

Al F. Platt, Fisher Body plant manger, declined comment on what action GM might take to end plant-shutting demonstrations, but there were reports a court injunction against them might be sought.

Several black Fisher Body workers said they believed predominantly white NAG picketed their plant because it has fewer black workers than most in the area. Platt said there were approximately 15 per cent blacks.

Jan. 1.

Dr. Ben Brock, dean, said that enrollment at the college now stands at 616. This does not include the area vocational school for high-school level training, which has between 30 and 40 now enrolled, nor community service courses. The 616 all are taking courses for college credit. Although exact figures have not been computed, it is estimated that current enrollment in the academic division includes some 350 to 375 full time student equivalents (15 semester hours or more per student). Vocational-technical loads are figured on contact hours and totals are not yet available on these. However, the head count, as well as the student load, is above earlier projections.

Dr. Hargrove said he felt that the board and administration should begin looking now at the possibility of constructing the student center and physical education facilities which were deleted from the original construction package. The board expressed general agreement that the administration should confer with architects and determine estimated costs. The college already owns plans for most of the additional work, since it was included in the first proposals for campus construction.

Food service facilities of the student center will be urgently needed, it was predicted, when the dormitory complex is put into use. Also, it was pointed out that the physical education program will be the only segment using off-campus facilities within a few months and that the need for getting these facilities on campus will increase as the enrollment moves upward.

Board members George Patterson and Bill Wilson were named to work with the administration in negotiating for some paving work on parking areas and one road way on the campus, and board member Edwin Parks was asked to work with Van Rigby, the college rodeo coach, and the Scurry County Rodeo Association, on arranging for facilities for horses and also the use of rodeo arena facilities by the college rodeo team. Parks also was asked to oversee clearing of brush around the edges of the campus lake in preparation for raising the elevation of the spillway.

Catalog changes deleting deadlines for dropping courses were approved by the board. Most colleges are doing away with penalties for withdrawing from courses, Dr. Clinton said, and in many cases it enables students to continue successfully with courses which they are uncertain of at the outset. The fee for changing a schedule also was altered. It was listed in the catalog at $5, but has been reduced to $2.

New personnel formally approved by the board included the following: Mrs. Hattie Simpson, library technician; David Hiltpold, instructor in electromechanical technology; Jim Wells, part-time EM instructor; John Propst, part-time data processing instructor; Janis Tyson, receptionist; Kay Case, secretary at Child Development Center; Ann Thompson, part-time English instructor; Dorothy Rosson, part-time English instructor; Margaret Bishop, part-time teacher aide in English; Ann Rigby, part-time book store employe; Carol Cullar, part-time art instructor; Billie Smith, secretary in counselor's office.

Snyderite's Mother Dies

Funeral service was set for 2 p.m. today at Memphis Avenue Church of Christ in Lubbock for Mrs. Ethel Bentley, 80, mother of Mrs. J.M. (Speedy) Moffett of Snyder.

Mrs. Bentley died at 9:30 a.m. Monday at Ray's Hospitality Home in Lubbock. She lived in Lubbock for the past five months.

Others survivors include another daughter, Mrs. Rebecca Hildebrand of Flagstaff, Ariz.; two sons, Jack and E.C. Bentley, both of Lubbock; 15 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Graveside rites and burial were to be at 5:30 p.m. today at the Benjamin Cemetery.

Walter J. Reinhard, 66, Largo, Florida, sustained minor facial injuries when his 1966 Model Volkswagen camper went out of control and overturned on U.S. 84 about 12 miles southeast of Snyder at 1:25 p.m. Monday. There was considerable damage to the vehicle. Highway Patrolmen investigated the mishap.

Flood Damage High On Coast

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) — Water still lapped at curbs and doorsteps in rural towns near here today as weary flood victims began drying out their homes.

Early damage assessments placed the toll in the millions across a wide swath of the Texas Coastal Plains, including possibly $5 million at Sinton alone.

A Small Business Administration (SBA) official estimated 7,000 homes and 1,000 businesses suffered some damage within a 50-mile radius of Corpus Christi as a result of tropical storm Fern.

Longtime residents of nearby Robstown and Sinton claimed Fern flooded the towns worse than Hurricane Beulah in 1967.

Except for areas near the Nueces River, Corpus Christi suffered little damge from Fern, which moved inland from the Gulf of Mexico last Friday.

Water that reached depths of up to four feet began receding at Sinton, Robstown and other points such as Driscoll.

But foot-deep water was reported Monday night at Falfurrias, about 50 miles southwest of here. More than 400 persons were forced from their homes.

Flooding contaminated the city well at Driscoll and officials said drinking water was trucked into the community of 700 persons Monday. About 200 persons were evacuated there.

U. S. 77 was open late Monday at Driscoll, where only a day before the flood waters were "washing loaded tractor-trucks off the highway," a deputy sheriff said.

Sinton officials took steps to guard against looting. Policemen were dispatched from nearby cities to assist local officers.

More than 800 persons were still in shelters at Sinton Monday night, City Manager Bill Cox said.

"Every family in Sinton had some damage," he said. He said about 90 per cent of the 2,000 houses in the area were affected in some way by the flood.

Cox said Fern left at least $5 million in over-all damage at Sinton. "That is very conservative," he said. "If there had been any wind with this one, we would have been wiped out."

The southwest side of Robstown, population 12,750, was still flooded late Monday and workmen toiled for hours sandbagging a broken levee to block a steady flow of water.

Mayor B.D. Berryman said an SBA official estimated Robstown suffered $1.5 million in damage, mostly from flooding. "Many men way older than I am said there was more water here than they've seen in 50 years," Berryman said.

At least 600 persons were in Robstown flood shelters late Monday, officials said.

The SBA announced all parts of Texas affected by Fern are eligible for long term loans. However, many persons may be out of luck.

Health Program Is Presented To Sorority

Henry Ward Beecher said, "God made the human body, and it is by far the most exquisite and wonderful organization which has come to us from the Divine hand. It is a study of one's whole life." With these opening words, Mrs. Raymond Hall presented a program on "The Body Beautiful" to members of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, Tuesday evening, at the Snyder Savings and Loan Community Room.

Mrs. Hall was assisted in the program by Mrs. C. D. Gray, Jr., and Mrs. J. W. Womack, all of the Le Charme Health Spa, Inc.

Mrs. Hall told the group about the different times in history which influenced beauty development of the human body. Such influences were Greek, Italian Renaissance, Egyptian, and the Late Hellenistic period. She also said, "Never before have Americans been so conscious of their bodies. Good health, and a youthful appearance have now become part of our national goal."

Following the history of beauty influences, Mrs. Gray gave a demonstration on exercises for different parts of the body. Mrs. Gray Emphasized that exercise should be a daily routine for people and especially for those who are on weight-reduction diets.

Mrs. Womack then told the group about how proper nutrition is the key to real beauty. She explained that the human body breaks down if nutritional needs are not met.

The program on "The Body Beautiful" was summed up by Mrs. Hall when she told the group that to be physically attractive, one must have a disciplined healthy mental attitude.

Mrs. Bill Early, President of Beta Sigma Phi, conducted the business meeting. Mrs. Early announced the appointments of Mrs. Blake Forehand to First Vice President, Mrs. Truss Farquhar to Second Vice President and Mrs. Lanier Campbell to Extension Officer. Following the meeting, refreshments of cake and coffee were served by hostesses Mrs. John Billy Koonsman and Mrs. Howard Limmer.

Members attending were Mmes. Andrew Killian, Bill Early, Truett Bryan, Carson Clayton, David Palmer, Howard Limmer, Eddie Floyd, John Billy Koonsman, James Heffnerman, Bud McClanahan, Rex Mitchell, Troy Scott, Albert Mack Taylor, Lynn Jackson, Charlie Pace, Geneva Burleson, Blake Forehand, and Lanier Campbell.

Stanfield P-TA Meets

Plans for a spaghetti supper Friday night in the school cafeteria were discussed and a $50 contribution to help sponsor the Lubbock Symphony Orchestra was approved last night at the first meeting of the current school year of the Stanfield Elementary School P-TA.

Also, it was announced that school pictures will be made on Sept. 28.

All teachers at the school were introduced and the room count was won by the sixth grade room of Mrs. Sandra Johnson. The P-TA officers also were introduced.

Dr. Jim Morrow, president, presided over the meeting, Mrs. James Vincent read the minutes of the last meeting and Mrs. Betty Hunter gave the treasurer's report. The flag ceremony was presented by Girl Scout Troop No. 327.

TOPS Club Plans Booth For Fair

The Snyder Toperettes met Aug. 31 for a salad supper and white elephant sale. Members bid on items with play dollars, earned by attending meetings and weight loss.

At the Sept. 7 meeting plans were made to have a booth at the Scurry County Fair. Cold drinks and homemade cookies, cup cakes and candy will be sold.

The TOPS Club meets at Stanfield Elementary on Tuesday at 7 p.m. Visitors are welcome.

Planners Ease Strain On Pulse And Purse

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Now is the time to be thinking of Christmas shopping, income taxes and vacations.

Absurd, you say. But it isn't if you count your dollars and your comfort.

The person who does his Christmas shopping now instead of in December will avoid crowds in the stores, won't have to worry about catalog-ordered goods arriving late and well might avoid higher prices, too.

This is just one of the techniques used by a minority of Americans who plan ahead, reducing in the process the surprises and tensions of last-minute moves but easing the strain on pulse and pocketbook.

Right now some stores are selling golf clubs at reduced prices. Same for summer clothing and other seasonal goods.

In many stores you can obtain low prices on appliances and television sets because of model changeovers. But try getting the same prices next January when the football bowl games and festivals are being shown.

A season for vacations? Certainly. Who says the season ends on Labor Day? Certainly not nature, whose equinox isn't reached until Sept. 23.

Many vacation areas drop their prices sharply immediately after Labor Day, which means that parents whose children are grown and parents whose kids aren't of school age can enjoy themselves peacefully and parsimoniously.

And taxes? The way to reduce taxes is to increase deductions. And the way to raise deductions is by taking losses on investments or incurring added expenses, preferably through planned investments.

Millions of stockholders wait until December to review their portfolios and cut out the dried husks of stocks that never bloomed. Their intention is to reduce their April 15 tax bill.

But, in waiting until the final few days or weeks to get rid of stocks that have had a bad time of it and which aren't likely to rise for a while, they are almost assuring themselves of even larger losses than they need to take.

Instead of waiting, why not determine which stocks show little prospect of rising from their depressed level and sell now? Wait until December and the selling pressure from people with similar motives might push the price down even more. It generally happens.

And one other suggestion: Why wait until Jan. 1 to make your New Year's resolutions? Resolve now to plan ahead. Pluck the plums that go to the man who lives by a different calendar.

1,700 DVs Ask For Free Plates

AUSTIN (AP) — The Veterans Administration has received only 1,700 requests for the free 1972 license plates to be issued to disabled Texas veterans.

Jack Coker, VA regional director in Waco, said records show 14,150 Texas veterans qualify for the free plates by having 70 per cent disability or more.

The plates were approved by the 1971 Legislature. Forms are available in VA offices, from Veterans Affairs Commission county service officers, tax assessor-collector offices and Texas motor vehicle district offices.

Coker said veterans should complete the veteran status portion of the form and send it to the regional office in Waco. The VA will certify the degree of disability and return the form to the veteran. The veteran then presents the form with $1 for handling to the Texas motor vehicle division.

'Bible Lady' Scores Victory

OWENSBORO, Ky. (AP) — The "Bible Lady" has scored another victory in her battle to get "the word of God back in the public schools."

On each teacher's desk in the Owensboro school system is a copy of the King James Version of the Bible. The school board approved the plan at the insistence of Mrs. James E. Howard.

No teacher is required to read from the Bible, although at least one does.

Not long ago Mrs. Howard succeeded in having framed copies of the Ten Commandments hung in 15 school libraries.

The Supreme Court has held that required Bible reading in public schools is unconstitutional but, says Mrs. Howard, "I still feel that we can get the word of God back into the schools, and maybe we are showing it here in Owensboro."

Junior Editors Quiz on SANDWICH

QUESTION: Who invented the sandwich?

ANSWER: The sandwich was named for the Earl of Sandwich, an English nobleman of the early 1700s. While playing cards, he ordered a servant to bring him two slices of bread with a piece of roast beef between them. It was the Earl of Sandwich who made the English people sandwich-minded and gave the world a habit-forming luncheon. The sandwich became popular, because it is real food served in a convenient form and it is not necessary to use knives and forks.

Sandwiches are as old as bread and cheese. The Danes, Saxons and Normans ate them from one end of England to the other. The sandwich, since the Earl of Sandwich's time, has appeared in many forms. It is served toasted, grilled and hot or cold.

There are many varieties of filling and garnishes for sandwiches. Meat, vegetables and even fruit are found in sandwiches. There are three-decker, club and hero sandwiches. Many supply the nourishment of a well-balanced meal. There are also the tea sandwiches, made with thinly sliced bread and are usually dainty. Many people use small sandwiches cut in various shapes as appetizers.

Child's Curiosity Boundless

By D. M. KREISHER

NEW YORK (AP) — For those parents whose infant is just starting to mumble those first precious words, a warning: Don't encourage him too much.

For every time you say to each other, "Oh, how cute it will be when Julius can talk" you'll probably wish later for a return to those days of goo and ga-ga.

Reason enough is the fact that one of the first things a child learns to say is: "What's that?" This, or some reasonable facsimile usually is accompanied by a vague wave of the hand or insistant point of a finger toward some animate or inanimate object just within sight.

From first awakening to final "night-night," it comes like a scratched record: "Whas at? Whas at?," taking in everything in the house, at least twice, and most of the things visible out the window. It also covers most major and many minor sounds that resound into his tiny world.

His curiosity is boundless, but his memory is short.

It's a bit unnerving to have this chip off the old block on whom you lavished so much attention only last night greet you on awakening with a pointing finger jabbing and a surprised "Whas at?"

And your long, patient explanation of what you're doing covering your face with cream and slashing yourself with a razor will be rewarded the next morning with a wide-eyed stare and a breathless "Whas at?" when you lather up again.

If you are one of those souls who can't quite get going until after the second cup of coffee you may not enjoy these post reville games of "20 questions." And how many different ways can you explain those dribbles of blood on your chin.

If the questions aren't enough, the second part of the little one's vocabulary usually is a demand. His first full sentence may well be: "I want that!" again with a gesturing hand that may indicate any number of things, or nothing at all he could concievably want.

The "Whas at?" and the "I wants" may alternate so fast you can't remember whether you're explaining smething or fending off his latest demand.

Father may think it is tough enough to stand the brunt of these elementary conversations during his limited time at home, but mother gets it full time.

And those wondrous moments of relief, nap time or bedtime, don't come as easily anymore because now this talking, reasoning little creature must be given the opportunity to express his desires on such matters. It's a lucky mother who can get a yes to a question like, "Do you want to go to bed?"

Positive answers are slow in developing in the newly talking tyke, but "no" comes early and increases in frequency. It is usually about this time that parents find themselves using the same word more frequently in their dealings with their offspring.

Which makes you wonder, who is teaching the language to whom?

Gandhi Will Visit Russia

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The Indian government says Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's fall travel schedule will include a trip to the Soviet Union.

Mrs. Gandhi will visit Russia for three days starting Sept. 27, the government said Sunday.

The Prime Minister also plans October and November visits to Austria, Britain, the United States, France and West Germany.

Robinson Clouts 500th Home Run

By GORDON BEARD
Associated Press Sports Writer

BALTIMORE (AP) — "Drink up, men," Frank Robinson needled his Baltimore teammates, "some of you won't be around for the next 500."

With that, the 36-year-old outfielder took a sip of champagne that had been iced in the Orioles' clubhouse for the express purpose of celebrating Robinson's 500th home run.

Robinson slammed No. 499 in the first inning of Monday's twinight opener, and then reached the magic milestone in the ninth inning of the nightcap when Baltimore rallied to give him another time at bat.

The drive off Detroit's Fred Scherman into the left field bleachers enabled Robinson to become the 11th player in major league history to hit 500 homers.

The ball was caught by Leo Resop, 21, of Baltimore, and turned over to Robinson in exchange for another ball and a bat, both autographed.

"I'm not very sentimental about keeping things," Robinson said, "but I do want to keep this ball.

"I have some in a drawer at home in California — not on display. I may have the ball I hit for my 300th homer and one I asked Stan Musial to sign the year he retired. Stan was one of the greatest hitters I've ever seen, and the only autograph I have of any player."

Robinson entered the season tied with Musial at 475 homers. He tied the late Lou Gehrig at 493 on Aug. 13, then hit two more on Aug. 20 before becoming stymied.

However, Robinson hit four in his last four games to reach No. 500.

The first game homer helped Baltimore to a 9-1 victory as Dave McNally chalked up his 19th pitching triumph, but the Tigers won the nightcap 10-5.

"Reaching 500 didn't bug me too much," Robinson said, "but the fans kept reminding me every time I went to the on-deck circle. That was the only way pressure was put on me."

"I wasn't conentrating the way I should, but I don't think I was overswinging."

Asked about his past homers, Robinson said, "I don't want to sound corny, but they were all important. Naturally, the ones that stand out in my mind were the first one and those I hit in the World Series."

"This one was not the most important, but it was the most difficult," he said. "Now, I can concentrate on straightening myself out for the playoffs and the World Series."

Robinson, who hit his first major league homer off Paul Minner of the Chicago Cubs on April 28, 1956, includes teammates Pat Dobson, Pete Richert and Dick Hall among his more than 200 victims.

"If I hadn't been that bad," Richert reminded Robinson, "you'd still be looking for No. 500."

Frank hit 324 homers during 10 seasons with the Cincinnati Reds and 176 since joining Baltimore in 1966. He hit 176 out of Cincinnati's old Crosley Field and has 100 in Baltimore's Memorial Stadium.

"I don't know if anyone will reach 500 again," Robinson said. "The players nowadays, at least the real accomplished ones, don't think about playing 16 years—the way I have.

"If I play two or three more years, I may as well go four more so I can play 20 years," he said.

TCU Has Half-Wish

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Knute Rockne had the Notre Dame box, Dutch Meyer popularized the spread formation at Texas Christian and Darrell Royal made—the wishbone a household word at Texas.

Now comes Jim Pittman and the "half-wish."

The new TCU football coach has taken what he feels are the best points of a tight formation, the wishbone, and a loose one, the pro set, and interwoven them.

The result, he says, is the half-wish.

TCU fans will get their first glimpse of the formation here Saturday night when the Horned Frogs open the season against the University of Texas-Arlington.

In the half-wish, the fullback and one halfback are aligned as in the regular wishbone. The other halfback is flanked outside the tight end. On the other side of the field, the end is split wide.

"My idea was to get our receivers out wide yet still retain a big percentage of our running game without teaching another set and without giving our passing game away," Pittman said.

The Frogs had installed the regular wishbone during spring drills so it was only natural to innovate it some to Pittman's liking.

"We first went to the wishbone because it's a tight formation. When a new coach comes in he wants to see who will hit and who won't. The best way to find out is to get them in tight. Then they won't have to go very far to strike a lick if they've a mind to," he said.

"But in the regular wish, you give up much of your passing game. And when you have a quarterback like Steve Judy, you are not using him to his top potential if you don't throw at least 40 per cent of the time.

"With the half-wish, we have a wide formation yet can still keep the defense honest with the inside running attack. You have to have both to make any offense go.

"Sure, it has some disadvantages. Any time you split some people out you take away from the running game. But with this offense you can run both play-type passes, dropback passes and sprint-out passes."

Pittman says he is not sure this is a new set," adding that "no one invents offensive formations anymore." He does not even take credit for the name.

"Our assistant coaches just started calling it the half-wish and it stuck," he grinned.

Full Grid Slate Set

Another full schedule of football games involving local teams is on tap this week.

The busy week begins Thursday with Lamar 8th grade hosting Runnels at 6 p.m., followed by a clash at 7:30 p.m. between Lamar 9th grade and the Brahmas. Travis 8th will meet Goliad in Big Spring at 6 p.m., followed by a 7:30 p.m. contest between Travis 9th grade and the Toros.

Varsity Tigers host Andrews at 8 p.m. Friday in their first home game. The junior varsity Bengals host Colorado City at 7:30 p.m. Saturday.

On the area scene, Gail will be at Threeway, Hobbs visits O'Brien, Ira hosts Paint Creek, Fluvanna entertains Union Terry and Hermleigh hosts Benjamin in Friday night skirmishes.

Tiger Booster Club To Meet

The Tiger Booster Club will meet at 7:30 p.m. today in the high school cafeteria to see films of last week's game with Stamford and hear scouting reports on Andrews, this week's opponent.

Del Hirst, club president, urged everyone to attend.

Teacher Wins Seed Spitting Trophy

PARDEEVILLE, Wis. (AP) — A teacher from Chicago spat a watermelon seed 37 feet, 4 inches Sunday to win the seed-spitting trophy at Pardeeville's annual watermelon eating contest.

The winner, Frank Granger of Deerfield, Ill., an industrial arts teacher, was the runner-up in 1970.

The event drew an estimated 5,000 persons, including the "watermelon queen," Lynette Loesselman, 20, of St. Louis, Mo.

WTC Club Asks For Drawings

The Westerner Booster Club of Western Texas College met this morning at the Steak House and voted to ask local artists to submit drawings for club emblems that will appear on decals. Drawings should be submitted to the Western Texas College athletic department.

Bob O'Day, coach of the golf team, announced that the WTC golf team will participate in a tournament at Clarendon Junior College this Friday. The team will leave Thursday and play 27 holes of golf Friday.

It was announced that the Club has reached its goal of $6,500. Club memberships, however, are still available.

Joe Williamson is president of the Club.

FCA Huddle In Session

The Snyder High School Huddle of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes held its first meeting of the school year last night in the high school cafeteria.

Mike Dennis, president, introduced this year's officers. In addition to Dennis, these include Joe Bullard, vice president; Bubby Preston, secretary; Jackie Hartsfield and Jim Fred Liner, huddle leaders.

The club voted to sponsor a "Quiet Time" at 8:15 a.m. bi-weekly in the high school auditorium for interested students. The Rev. Wallace Kirby presented the program as the new year's work was launched.

Attending the session were 5 members and their adult leaders, Bill Shield and Roy Carter.

Manning, Rookies To Lead New Orleans

By JERRY ESTILL
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Only four years old and already in a "rebuilding" program the New Orleans Saints are depending on rookie quarterback Archie Manning, a handful of proven players and a host of young unknowns to aim them in a winning direction.

Manning has superstar potential and there may be some gems hidden among the younger players, but the established talent is sparse.

Fans are not likely to need more than two or three fingers to keep up with Saint victories.

Based on their preseason performance, whether the Saints win at all will depend on Manning staying healthy and being able to perform the same magic in the National Football League he worked in college.

The big redhead from Mississippi runs as well as he passes and the Saints are gearing their offense to take advantage of his talents.

Manning can drop back and pass, but he's most dangerous, when he rolls out. And he can go to the right or left with equal effectiveness.

Along with Manning, the Saints have an outstanding punter, adequate receivers, a slashing but injury-prone running back ... and little else.

The team had lost 11 straight going into its final preseason game after struggling to a 2-11-1 record last year.

Coach J.D. Roberts is in his first year as coach since replacing Tom Fears who was fired midway through the 1970 season.

Roberts has traded away last year's starting quarterback and the Saint's No. 1 draft choice in 1970.

In return he got offensive tackle Glenn Ray Hines and fullback Hoyle Granger—both of whom probably will start—and an assortment of unproven young players and draft choices.

"We knew when we embarked on our build-with-youth policy that the progress could be slow and painful," says Roberts.

"There's no doubt that a great deal of improvement is necessary but the situation isn't hopeless and individual progress is being made.

"We've just got to put everything together one of these days-but it can't be accomplished without a lot of hard work, patience and the inevitable defeats that are pinned on a team in this stage of its development," said Roberts.

As many as 11 rookies are good bets to stick on the Saints 47-man roster. Only 20 of the veterans on the 1971 team were on the roster at the beginning of the 1970 season.

Among the established players still on hand are receivers Danny Abramowicz, who led the conference in 1969, Al Dodd and tight end Dave Parks.

Julian Fagan led the conference in punting in 1970 and appears ready to take up where he left off.

Granger and Tony Baker are quality runners, but Granger lacks outside speed and Baker seems constantly hobbled with injuries.

Safeties Hugo Hollas and Doug Wyatt and Cornerback Delles Howell were regulars last year as rookies and will be joined this season by rookie cornerback D'Artagnan Martin. Their presence should make the secondary the Saint's strong suit.

Nebraska Leads National Poll

By BEN THOMAS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Nebraska's back on top and Coach Bob Devaney says it's a nice feeling.

But he's still more concerned about the end of the college football season ... not the beginning.

The Cornhuskers, following their 34-7 conquest of Oregon last Saturday, vaulted past Notre Dame Monday in the first weekly Associated Press poll. It was the same position that Nebraska held at the end of the 1970 campaign, following their Orange Bowl triumph.

"It's nice to be No. 1 but it doesn't mean much at this stage," Devaney said in Lincoln, Neb., where his team is preparing for Saturday's game with Minnesota.

Notre Dame was No. 1 in the preseason rankings and Irish Coach Ara Parseghian let it be known then he didn't give a hoot about polls until the end of the season. He wasn't available for comment Monday. Notre Dame was idle last Saturday, opening this weekend at South Bend, Ind., against Northwestern.

Nebraska garnered 31 first-place votes from the nationwide panel of sports writers and sportscasters. Notre Dame got 10 votes for No. 1 with five going to third-ranked Texas and a pair each to No. 4 Michigan and No. 7 Auburn. The Cornhuskers got 931 points to 829 for Notre Dame.

Devaney called his team's showing against Oregon "as fine an opening game as we have ever had since I've been at Nebraska."

At Minneapolis, Coach Murray Warmath of Minnesota said his scouts concur with the consensus.

"They deserve to be rated No. 1," said the coach whose team tangles next with Nebraska. "All they have to do now is show it on the field."

After Nebraska, Notre Dame, Texas and Michigan came Ohio State, Arkansas, Auburn, Tennessee, Alabama and Oklahoma. The second ten is composed of Georgia, Colorado, Stanford, Penn State, Syracuse, Arizona State, Southern California, Michigan State, South Carolina and Houston.

The Top Twenty teams, with first-place votes in parentheses, records and total points. Points tabulated on basis of 20-18-16-14-12-10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1.

1	Nebraska (31)	1-0	931
2	Notre Dame (10)	0-0	829
3	Texas (5)	0-0	672
4	Michigan (2)	1-0	630
5	Ohio State	1-0	546
6	Arkansas	1-0	541
7	Auburn (2)	0-0	437
8	Tennessee	0-0	364

Tough-Yankee-Trader Stance Urged By Panel

By BILL NEIKIRK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A presidential commission has urged the United States maintain a "tough-Yankee-trader stance in an effort to tear down barriers to its exports and drive the world toward complete free trade within 25 years.

In addition, the 27-member Commission on International Trade and Investment Policy told President Nixon Monday in a three-volume report, the nation must embark on a vigorous export drive during the next decade with the use of government incentives.

The commission called for international negotiations at the highest political level aimed at moving the world toward free trade, tearing down trade barriers, achieving monetary reform and working for a "more equitable sharing" of defense costs by other nations.

While the panel strongly favored free trade, it said it is time for the nation to face up to the "new realism" of international economic life—that Japan and Western Europe have strong, viable economies in direct, effective competition with the United States.

"The United States, still the largest and most attractive market in the world, should more than in the past use its bargaining power in the defense of its economic interests," the commission said.

That commission officials said is what President Nixon did when he cut the dollar loose from its tie with gold and imposed a temporary 10-per-cent surcharge on imports. The commission urged a surcharge in its report, which Nixon's aides saw at least a month before the President announced his new policy Aug. 15.

The Nixon administration already has embraced many of the panel's 147 recommendations.

The commission directed specific criticism at the European Common Market and Japan for trade restrictions and preferences and urged the administration to insist on negotiations that would dismantle them.

It said it is time for reform of the international monetary system, a policy sought by the administration in its move to cut the dollar loose from its tie with gold.

Lease Sale Gets Little Opposition

By MAX B. SKELTON
AP Oil Writer

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A public hearing produced a minimum of opposition to the Interior Department's plans to open new areas of the Gulf of Mexico to oil and gas explorations with a December lease sale.

A preliminary environmental impact statement prepared by the department's Bureau of Land Management also gives indication an order for the sale can be expected to be released in November.

A review of the hearing's testimony could cause some adjustment among the proposed 86 tracts to be offered but President Nixon's June 4 call for an acceleration of outer continental shelf lease sales also underscores the probability of a minimum of changes.

The draft of the impact statement that is to be finalized in October says delay of the sale would result in retarded development of needed resources and contribute to a national energy shortage.

"Since basically safe technology is available, provided its application and use are properly regulated and controlled, there appears to be no advantage in the postponement of the proposed sale," the preliminary study states.

Numerous witnesses at the hearing agreed with the document's assertion that no one has proven that oil spills and such have had adverse long term effects on the coastal ecology.

The regulations under which further development would occur are the most stringent ever promulgated," the statement continues.

"With strict enforcement of these regulations and their possible further improvement, and with improved management of the outer continental shelf resources, the possibility of adverse effects for the proposed operations can be minimized."

The document acknowledged the sale could be withdrawn from consideration on the basis of possible environmental impact but adds that if such a decision should be made new domestic sources of clean energy would need to be developed.

"In the long run, new technology must be made available to produce clean energy at a cost that might offset the critical need for oil and gas," the document states. "In the short run, few alternatives exist and the ones that do exist are of questionable practicability."

Possible alternatives listed were the elimination of import quotas, increased onshore operations, development of oil shale, increased nuclear energy development, increased utilization of low sulphur coal and the desulphurization of cola, development of coal liquification and fasifaction, development of geothermal resources and the development of tar sands.

"While the elimination of oil import quotas could be an alternative to continued development of offshore oil and gas, such a determination involves complex factors and concepts, including national security," the document states.

"The remaining alternate energy sources should best be considered as supplements, not true alternates, in the short run.

The impact on the energy supply will not likely be felt until after 1980 and will depend on environmental safeguards and technological developments."

Acts Of Mercy Spare 3

ATTICA, N.Y. (AP) — Acts of mercy spared at least three hostages during the violence Monday at Attica Prison.

"The man behind me was an inmate I had known for some time," said guard Ricgard Fargo, who was a hostage for 98 hours.

He was recalling the moment Monday morning when leaders of the rebelling prisoners ordered the slaying of hostages before state troopers, prison guards and sheriff's deputies closed in.

"He whispered in my ear that I would not be hurt. He was supposed to stick a knife between my ribs. He stuck the knife just to prick the skin and said, 'Now don't tell them I didn't kill you.' Then he threw me backwards and covered my body with his," said Fargo.

It was the prisoner's last act.

"When it was over," said Fargo, "he was dead."

The executioner assigned to guard Elmer Huehn told him: "I don't have the heart to do it. I'm only going to prick you."

The executioner drew blood and then fell on top of him to hide him from other convicts. "This wonderful Puerto Rican saved my life," said Huehn, but he mourned other hostages who were killed. "The others didn't have help and they're lying dead."

Philip Watkins, another guard who was a hostage had a similar experience. "The guy had time to kill me, but he didn't."

Watkins said his captor threw him on the ground and fell on top of him as cover. Some prisoners were picked off by police sharpshooters as they tried to kill their hostages.

Phyllis Ready For Blue Jeans

DENTON, Tex. (AP) — Miss America 1971, Phyllis George, came home Monday with bright eyes and a desire to wear blue jeans.

Phyllis, who relinquished her crown Saturday night in Atlantic City, told a reception in her honor: "I'm all cried out."

"I have no more tears," she said, adding all she wanted to do was "put on a pair of jeans and just be Phyllis again."

Phyllis, 22, said she plans to move to Dallas Oct. 1 and live with three of her sorority sisters from North Texas State.

"After being on your own for a year, it's impossible to move home again," she said.

She said she plans to return to North Texas State in January, where she will be a senior in elementary education and speech.

A welcome home message from Gov. Preston Smith was read to Phyllis at the public reception on the North Texas State campus.

University President C. C. Nolen kissed Miss George on the cheek and she quipped, "He thinks he can do that now that I'm not Miss America."

Attica Riot Worst Since 1930

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

In violence and bloodshed, Monday's clash at New York's Attica State Prison was far the worst in recent American penal history.

The death toll of 37—nine hostages and 28 inmates—topped the breakout attempt at San Quentin in California Aug. 21 when three guards and three prisoners died.

Five inmates were killed during a riot of 400 prisoners at a prison in Raleigh, N.C., April 17, 1968, the high figure for inmates in modern compilations.

Three convicts were killed at Hawaii State Prison Dec. 29, 1965. On May 24 that year, three convicts were killed during a disturbance at a prison in Parchman, Miss.

Four convicts were killed in a riot at the prison in Jefferson City, Mo., Sept. 22, 1954, and another on Oct. 23.

One prisoner was killed and 46 injured in rioting at Pendleton, Ind., Sept. 26, 1969; an official was killed at Montana State Prison on March 16, 1959; a convict killed at Trenton, N.J., State Prison Oct. 10, 1958; a convict shot at Florida State Prison on May 17, 1956, and a convict killed at Washington State Prison Aug. 20, 1953.

Several prison riots occurred during these years, but few deaths resulted. Probably the most serious was at Raiford State Prison in Florida on Feb. 16, 1971 when guards opened fire on 600 rioting inmates. Twenty-six were injured.

In 1930, three inmates irritated at work assignments set a fire in a new construction area of the Ohio Penitentiary. The blaze spread, killing 320 inmates and injuring more than 100.

Horse Drowns In Living Room

SINTON, Tex. (AP) — When E. V. Saenz returned home after flood waters receded here, he had to go back to town for some strong rope to get rid of an unwelcome visitor.

A horse had wandered into his living room and drowned during tropical storm Fern.

His was one of many oddities found after Fern left.

Ronald Goldman said he returned to his home by boat Sunday to find a pig in the bathroom—where the animal managed to keep his head above water by standing on the toilet and the lavatory.

Teachers' Raises Ruled Out

AUSTIN (AP)—Only teachers who were working before Aug. 15 or who obtained advanced degrees can get salary increases during the wage-price freeze, State Education Commissioner J. W. Edgar said Monday.

Edgar said Arnold R. Weber, director of the U.S. Cost of Living Council, had informed him Texas must abide by the CLC's Sept. 3 ruling on teacher salaries.

Last Friday Edgar received a telegram allowing raises for teachers under contract as of Aug. 15, but Weber rescinded the telegram later in the day.

A Texas Education Agency spokesman said there was no way to know how many teachers would be entitled to raises, but the number likely will be small since few teachers work in the summer.

Until the 90-day freeze ends, teachers must be paid the salaries they received during the 1970-71 school year, Edgar said.

A teacher who obtains a master's degree can get a raise, Edgar said, but the new salary must be the amount the teacher would have received if he had held the degree last year.

John Paul Jones was the first U.S. Navy officer to reach the rank of admiral, but he attained that rank while in the service of the Russian Navy. He resigned from the U. S. Navy while a 1st lieutenant.

US Birth Rate Drop Puzzles Census People

WASHINGTON (AP) — The number of births in the United States dropped in the first six months of 1971, puzzling and surprising population experts at the Census Bureau.

Census officials had expected the number of births this year would easily exceed those of 1970. Now they're not so sure. And, although it's too early to say, they're wondering whether an important new trend is developing in population statistics.

Figures published by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare show births from January through June totaled 1,755,000, a drop of 17,000 from the same period of 1970.

The Census Bureau had expected births to rise, because the number of women of prime childbearing age, 20 to 29, is going up at the rate of 4 per cent a year.

Last year, the statistics bore out that expectation, with the birth rate showing the strongest rise in nearly 20 years—to 18.3 per 1,000 population. But the fertility rate, which measures the size of families, remained stable, about 2.4 children per woman of childbearing age.

"The stability of the total fertility rate shows that the (1970) increase in births of the past two years is not due to an increase in basic fertility rates, but rather to the rapid increase in the number of women in the prime childbearing ages," the bureau said of last year's report.

But the six-month figures for 1971 will change that view if it continues, for both the birth rate and the average size of families will show a statistical decline.

Census officials are wondering whether basic attitudes toward a family are changing, whether abortion has changed the picture, or whether the economic climate had something to do with the drop.

The figures parallel a recent report by the Washington Center for Metropolitan Studies, using the 1970 Census, showed the number of children under 5 years of age declined by 15.5 per cent from 1960 to 1970—largest drop during the 120 years statistics have been kept.

The study said the decline could reduce births to a level where they would be exceeded by deaths within a few decades.

Governors Are Given Gifts

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer

SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP) — It's a far cry from the sets of matched luggage and the color television sets of the past, but participants in the 63rd National Governors Conference will take home some handsome gifts from Puerto Rico.

The bounty extends to Vice President Spiro T. Agnew who spent two days at the conference, President Nixon who hasn't shown up, as well as the press and other participants.

In keeping with a decision two years ago to limit the gifts, most of the mementoes are local products—and all of the clothing was made in Puerto Rico. The gift committee was under orders to keep the gifts local, in good taste and to a minimum.

Each governor is receiving a deep blue sports jacket, double-breasted and hand-stitched in white with red lining, plus a pair of loafers. Their wives are receiving a china tea sets featuring San Juan 450th anniversary seal.

Other gifts for the governors include a folder of paintings, records featuring a local singer, a billfold, rum, fruit and maracas.

Agnew received a handmade cuatro, a guitar-like instrument that took a month to make. Mrs. Agnew, who accompanied him here, got an orchid print gown from fabric that reportedly cost $80 a yard.

Nixon's present, prepared before he decided not to come, was a burgundy velvet smoking jacket with quilted black silk lapels and cuffs, plus a carving of the three wise men.

Mrs. Nixon received an off-white hostess gown.

Aides to the governors got wallets, and their children got several presents including Puerto Rico sweatshirts.

Members of the press received Puerto Rican rum, cigars and a local shirt known as a "guayabera." Press kits also contained raffle tickets offering the chance to win a guitar, a color television set or day's trip to nearby St. Croix in the Virgin Islands after the conference ends.

Opinions Divided On Attica

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Public officials penologists and private citizens reacting to the bloody end of the inmate insurrection at Attica Prison have divided sharply over whether the use of force was necessary.

President Nixon, in a telephone conversation with Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, expressed support for the governor's response to the four day rebellion that ended with nine hostages and 28 inmates killed.

Nixon particularly supported Rockefeller's refusal to grant the prisoner's demand for complete amnesty for any criminal acts committed during the uprising, aides to the two men said.

One authority on prisons, Dr. Vernon Fox, who once spent four days "talking down" a riot at Michigan State Prison, charged that new York officials mishandled the situation.

"What happened at Attica was despicable," said Fox, now a criminologist at Florida State University. He called the move "an appalling massacre."

"The state was legitimizing murder," he said. "There was no reason to kill anybody. Another 24 hours of talking wouldn't have done any harm and it might have saved the lives of 28 inmates and nine guards."

"The primary reason for the use of force is always to create an image for the public," said Fox, author of "Violence Behind Bars," "Introduction to Correction" and the forthcoming "When Prisoners Riot."

Mayor Kenneth A. Gibson of Newark said, "The use of coordinated, organized violence in overcoming the inmates at Attica State Prison stands as one of the most callous and blatantly repressive acts ever carried out by a supposedly civilized society on its own people."

Cancer Takes Toll

LONDON (AP) — Deaths from cancer rose in Britain in government report showed cancer killed 115,732, up 2 per cent from 1969, and 20 per cent of all deaths recorded.

TAX ANSWERS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

★ ★ ★

Q) I'm in a National Guard unit that meets one weekend a month at an armory several miles from where I live. Can I deduct transportation expenses from my home to drills and back?

A) No. When meetings are held within the general area of what is considered your home for tax purposes, the cost of transportation from your residence to Guard meetings is a commuting expense and may not be deducted. However, if the meetings are held outside the general area of your tax home, transportation costs are deductible.

If a guard meeting is held after work, you may deduct no more than the cost of going directly from your regular place of employment to meetings.

Q) I own a farm and each year I permit my church to use a portion of my land for a picnic. Can this be considered a charitable contribution?

A) No. Merely permitting a charitable organization to use your property, as opposed to making a gift of the property, does not give rise to a deduction.

Q) What do I do about sending in Social Security taxes for the gardener I employ?

A) — If you pay him cash wages of $50 or more during a calendar quarter, you are required to file a Form 942, Employers' Quarterly Tax Return for Household Employees, pay social security taxes, and pay Federal income tax if he has requested you to withhold it and you have agreed.

Q) Why don't the withholding rates provide for enough tax to be taken out of my salary to cover my tax liability?

A) The withholding rates and tables have been formulated to accommodate the great majority of wage-earners and they do. Also, although there are 25 tax rate brackets, only six withholding rates are used because IRS studies indicate that a greater number could not be handled by some accounting machines and computers used in industry payroll accounting.

However, you can adjust your withholding to approximate your tax liability by filing a withholding exemption certificate, Form W-4, with your employer, claiming fewer exemptions and, if necessary, asking that additional dollar amounts be withheld.

Ex-Convict Charged In Robbery

FORT WORTH (AP) — The FBI arrested an ex-convict in Dallas Monday and charged him in the $1,200 robbery of the Fort Worth National Bank. The money was recovered.

John Allen Gibbs, 31, Fort Worth, was charged before a U.S. magistrate with bank robbery and with placing the life of a bank teller in jeopardy.

Gibbs was held in lieu of $20,000 bond while investigators questioned him concerning the robbery last Thursday of the Union State Bank of Fort Worth. Less than $500 was taken in the first robbery.

Bank teller Sybil Shaw said a well-dressed man handed her a note shortly after the bank opened Monday and told her, "I want your money. Whatever you have there will do."

Mrs. Shaw said she did not see a weapon but that the man kept one handed concealed in a coat pocket. She said she handed him two money packets and he walked away.

Gibbs was arrested after arriving in Dallas by taxi. The taxi driver told investigators he picked up Gibbs at a lounge two blocks from the bank.

Homicide Lt. Oliver Ball said Gibbs was released from a federal penitentiary little more than a week ago.

Grants Authorized For Airport Study

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Aviation Administration authorized Monday grants for planning studies for four airports in Minnesota, one in Kansas and one in Texas.

The grants in Minnesota, Worthing $22,000; Fairmont, $20,000. Thief River Falls, $20,000, and Albert Lea $21,500; Wichita, Kan., $56,000; Cox Field, Paris, Tex., $5,650.

The grants represent two-thirds of projected cost of the studies with local authorities to provide the remainder.

It's people power that makes Reddy Kilowatt run.

You take dependable electric service pretty much for granted, of course. And for good reason. Your electric service has become so commonplace, so much a part of your everyday life, that you have no occasion to give it a second thought.

But did you ever wonder what makes Reddy Kilowatt run, so that you take him for granted?

Reddy runs because of the people and things behind your electric switch. Technically-trained, experienced and dedicated people who work in power plants and substations, in offices and outdoors, with complex equipment such as computers and microwave communications systems. Their job is to assure that when you flip a switch in your home or where you work, electric service is produced at that instant — at the moment of use. Electricity, unlike other things you use, cannot be stored. You decide when you want it, and Texas Electric provides it — right there and right then.

It's all part of a Texas Electric style of service we call "People Power." It helps all of us do a better job of serving you, our customers.

On the other side of your electric service switch, there's a whole world of people committed to helping you live better. Texas Electrically. It's what we mean when we say we're "at your service."

Hector Comes Back Home

VENICE, Fla. (AP) — Hector, a grand old alligator, was trucked from his lakefront home to a spot 140 miles away two years ago when his human neighbors got leery of swimming with a 300-pound reptile.

Guess who's back.

Hector was on hand six years ago when Paul Trier built the first home on Lake LaGorce in this Gulf Coast community about 70 miles south of Tampa.

The Triers and Hector got along famously, but soon other homes began to dot the lake and the new residents grew wary of the thick-skinned pioneer.

So one day Hector found himself bundled in a Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission truck and on his way to Myakka State Park.

Recently, however, Trier said he heard a familiar bellow on the lake and went to investigate.

"There was Hector calling to us, just as he used to when we were late with his breakfast. He came swimming toward me, pushing a large wave under his chin.

"I'll swear he was as excited to see me as I was to see him," said Trier.

Trier is sure the old gator, estimated to be in his mid-60s, is the same old Hector.

The two worked out a breakfast ritual years ago. At first Trier coaxed him with dog food and then began feeding him marshmallows from a wooden spoon.

When Trier was late with the goodies, Hector voiced his displeasure with a most authoritative roar.

The same roar is heard now until Trier floats a dog food-smeared piece of bread out to the hungry reptile.

After wolfing down the soggy repast, the gator whips into his old snoozing nook beneath Trier's dock. He even swims in close for an occasional pat on the head.

Hector's return to the Sarasota County lake was something of an Everglades odyssey. He had to fight swamps, thickets and drainage most of the way.

And while the return was Herculean, his manners best be timid.

Donald Love, Sarasota County wildlife officer for the game commission, said Hector probably can stay "unless the complaints get pretty strenuous."

Then its off to Myakka again.

Cuban Shrimpers Remain Aground

PORT ARANSAS, Tex. (AP) — Four Cuban shrimp boats remained hard aground at this fishing town today after attempts failed to tow them off the beach.

A representative of the U. S. State Department and an official from the Czechoslovakian embassy in Washington arrived Monday to assist the shrimpers. They refused to talk to newsmen.

Melvin Littleton, owner of a salvage firm struggling to free the boats, said his crew was unsuccessful Monday because the surf was too rough.

Asked when the salvage work will resume, he said late Monday, "We'll wait until the weather subsides. It's too dangerous now."

The boats ran aground here near Corpus Christi Saturday night after they were slapped to the Texas coast by tropical storm Fern.

Three other Cuban boats were allowed into port for repairs. Two of them were fixed Monday and stood by in the Gulf of Mexico while work continued on the others, the Coast Guard said.

Cmdr. M. H. Eaton of the Coast Guard said the boats will be allowed to return to their home port in Havana, Cuba, when the repairs are completed.

Meanwhile, the 70-man crew was kept aboard the boats. Armed Coast Guardsmen patrolled roped off area where the grounded boats lay.

A Coast Guard vessel with a machine gun mounted on the front was docked near those boats that came in for repairs at the Corps of Engineers dock here.

The Czech embassy representative refused even to give newsmen his name. M. D. Smith, the State Department official, would say only: "I am under instructions that I cannot be quoted on any information."

Woodsy To Help Smokey

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration will unveil a barnyard center for the performing arts Wednesday, for one performance only.

Agriculture Secretary Clifford M. Hardin is expected to preside at the show, actually a news conference called to formally introduce "Woodsy Owl" — a character created by the U.S. Forest Service to help veteran Smokey the Bear watch over the Woodlands. A member of the department's staff plans to dress up like an owl for the occasion to portray the new character.

Officials have been in a dither for weeks on when and how to unveil Woodsy, a fat, feathered friend of forest do-gooders who voice the bird's motto, "Give a hoot . . . don't pollute."

The project has been in the works for months, with the main decision on exactly what Woodsy looks like and wears still undecided. Now, the Forest Service is ready to model the final version of its owl, a symbol to be used by the agency to help boost tidier use of national forests.

Woodsy will join Smokey Bear in the Forest Service menagerie. Smokey, a familiar symbol for many years, is primarily concerned about preventing forest fires.

The official announcement also signals the determination by the Forest Service to proceed with an ecological symbol different from the Bureau of Land Management in the Interior Department, the other giant federal landlord for public lands.

Ringo Goes Into Business

LONDON (AP) — Beatle Ringo Starr has gone into the furniture business.

In collaboration with designer Robin Cruikshank and the British Steel Corp., the musician displayed his wares Monday before a buying public confined to those with money.

The prices at the exhibition at London's fashionable Liberty's department store ranged from $36 dollars for chromium plated weights to $2,976 for a coffee table supported by two Rolls Royce auto radiators.

The show is described as "linear futuristic" and Ringo has promised electronic music to match.

Farm Labor Force Drops

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's farm labor force dropped seasonally in August to a total of 5,251,000 workers, about two per cent fewer than in July and a year earlier, says the Agriculture Department.

The work force included 3,569,000 farm operators and unpaid family helpers, plus 1,682,000 hired workers, the Crop Reporting Board said.

Officials said harvest of small grains, including the record wheat crop, was rapidly nearing an end by the survey week of Aug. 22-28.

Corn harvest in the major producing areas was not yet under way on a large scale.
