COTTON COMING IN STEADILY AS HEIGHT OF SEASON NEARS

The Mikeska Gin yesterday processed a total of 107 bales which is the biggest day's run up to this date. The season's total on Wednesday morning stood at 1398 bales. This compares with 2520 bales at this time one year ago.

Weather has been ideal for hadvesting and the season will probably reach its peak in a short time.

A new development has taken place in the cotton market this year.

Several cotton buyers are making regular visits here each week as the height of the ginning season approaches and are buying cotton at a price which runs from $6 to $8 a bale more than the government loan price.

This enables the farmer to sell his cotton, take his check and "get it over with" in one brief transaction.

Putting cotton in the government loan involves a lot of paper work as well as freight charges for the farmer; and he has to wait for a while for his money.

Construction Under Way On Reynolds Road West Of Town

The Ford Allen Construction Company of Sonora have been at work for several weeks on road construction in the Reynolds area, where they have a contract for about six miles of new road on the Reynolds loop.

Most of their equipment this week was strung out along a new route which goes through the J. Tom Williams ranch. Grades have been built in that area and the caliche base has been laid.

The six-mile project starts at a point west of H. A. Belk's, goes on straight west through the Williams ranch until it connects with the Reynolds road near the Northern compressor plant, and then south until it connects up with the paved road near the Otto Sauer corner.

When this job is completed there will be a half-mile of construction within the city of Eldorado, and a 3-mile extension on the Bailey Ranch road.

Fisher To Address Lions

O. C. FISHER

Congressman O. C. Fisher of the 21st Congressional District, will speak at next week's meeting of the Eldorado Lions club, on Wednesday, October 25th.

Arrangements for his appearance were made by Ernest C. Hill, charter member of the Lions club and former Democratic Chairman of Schleicher county, for many years.

New Texaco Service Station Changes Hands

THIS TEXACO service station, which was built two years ago on the new Sonora highway, changed hands last week end. Jack Etheredge took over the

As we go to press, final preparations are being done on quarters in the Bob Page building for the dental offices of Dr. Robert A. Suhlter.

Mrs. Sybil Kinsler, who is to be his assistant, worked her final shift Tuesday night at the Sonora hospital.

Dr. Suhlter's office hours are to be 1 to 5 p.m. on week days. A telephone was installed in the office yesterday, and the number is 22381.

The office is to be open for business late this week or early next week.

In a North Texas town where this writer was located for 19 years, they told this story about the early day practice of dentistry: It was way back at the turn of the century. A dentist came to town to set up a practice and borrowed about $400 from a local individual by the name of Elmore, giving him a note and a lien on his equipment as security.

In due course of time the dentist failed and left town, leaving Elmore with a set of equipment and an unpaid note.

Elmore was not the kind to take his loss lying down, so he went off to a small dental college somewhere for six months and got himself a license—came back and re-opened the office and practiced dentistry until he was able to sell it out.

It was at least 25 years later that we came on the scene and Elmore was then serving as cashier in a bank. But the older folks there still called him "Dr. Elmore."

We just noticed that the month of November has five Thursdays in it this year, and we suppose there will be the usual controversy about which Thursday is going to be observed as Thanksgiving.

Our calendar marks the fourth Thursday—the 23rd—as the holiday.

The last time this came up, we remember that local schools took off one Thursday and the state colleges the other. The bank took one Thursday and other institutions the other.

And then there were a few independent outfits that made the classic observation: "Let's just take 'em both!"

Since we operate a weekly paper that comes out on Thursday we're not likely to get either one, but then, that's the way it has been for the last 35 years.

WORK STARTS ON HOUSE FOR MRS. V. G. TISDALE

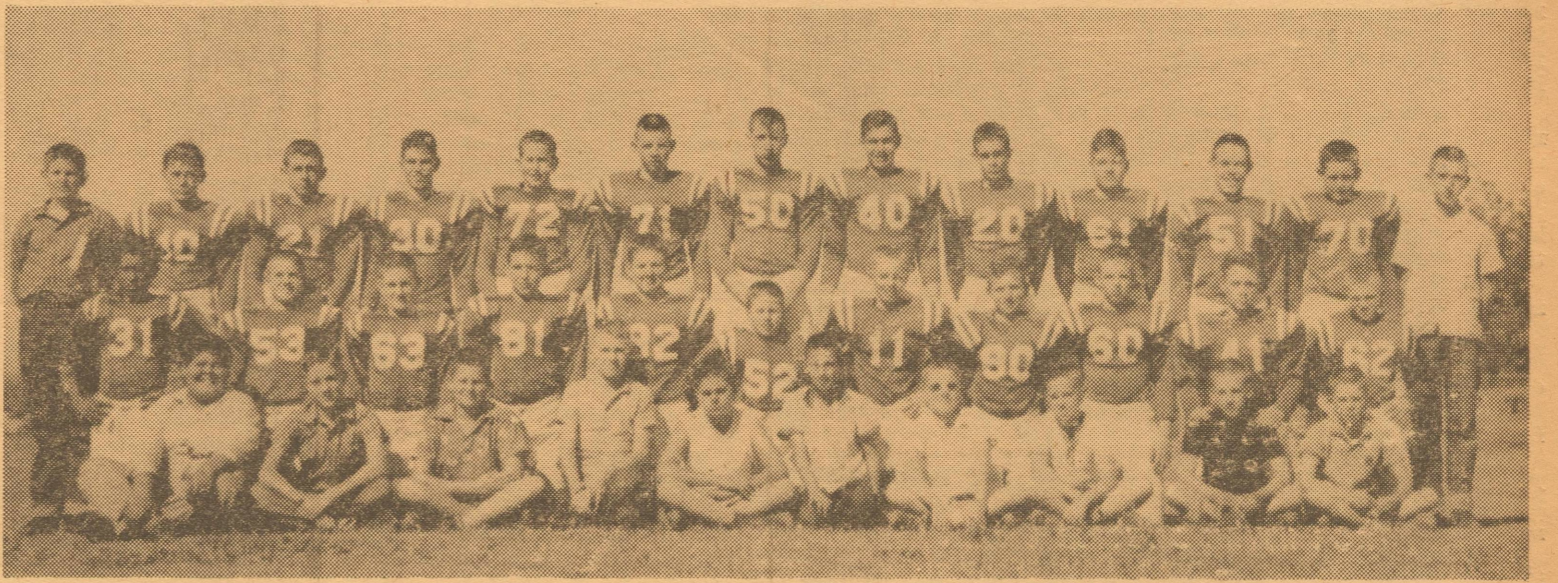

Workmen started yesterday to stake out foundation for the new house in Sunset Acres for Mrs. V. G. Tisdale. Stein Lumber Co., of Kingsland, with Bill McGee in charge of the work, is contractor.

Other building news: Walls are up and work is continuing on the addition to the Dick Preston house.

Finish work is being done on the new brick house for Lum Davis, in the south part of town.

Dixie Drive in Glendale is getting a new seal coat of paving. Other streets in that part of town are being patched.

Eldorado Defeats Junction In First District Game

The Junction Eagles arrived in Eldorado last Friday night, thirsting for fame and fortune—at the expense of Eldorado. But there was not quite enough of the commodity to go around—and besides that, the road was beset with many immediate difficulties in the persons of Messrs. Trackerson, Logan, Jurecek Brothers, G. Draper, Ballew, and others. In fact, strenuous objections continued each time past the place of origin for each discussion, principal objectors on down the field consisting of "Jolting Jim" Cheek, Gary Whitten, John McGregor, Sophomore Lynn Meador, Denzil Fisher, and others.

All during the first 12 minutes of play, the lads from Junction were diligent in their search for a passage to the place where the Eldorado Eagle had the "fame and fortune" stored; and Junction lads were equally diligent in guarding their own vital territory. Results were that the no-score situation developed considerable tension in the 1500 or more spectators present for the discussion.

But in the second period the Eldorado Eagles turned on the heat; and before the Junction lads could find the thermostat, Eldorado had piled up a big 29 points.

The Junction disaster occurred when "Jolting Jim" Cheek opened up his Air Transportation Service and began communicating with Pete Logan, John McGregor, and Denzil Fisher, each message costing Junction six points.

John McGregor's educated toe turned in perfect exam papers on three tries for extra point; but Jim Cheek decided to make it a little more difficult for Junction; so, when Big Donnie Holden who has been nursing a sore side rumbled over from seven yards out for a fourth touchdown, Cheek asked Gary Whitten to carry over for two more points.

Whitten gladly obliged as the Eldorado lads up front emphatically requested Junction linemen to move over.

When Junction rubbed the second quarter "fall out" from their eyes, the scoreboard recorded a whopping 29-0 margin against them.

It would be hard for any team to stay fired up for a whole game as the Eldorado lads were in the explosive second quarter unless the resistance were much greater.

The Junction band tried valiantly to make up for the "shellacking" their representatives had been absorbing in first half football discussion and turned in a fine performance with well-coordinated marching drills on the field.

The Eldorado band then turned in a sparkling performance and climaxed it with the coronation of Betty Humphries as Band Sweetheart by Band President Buren Whitten. Interesting fact is that the Sweetheart honor had been kept so close a secret that not even Miss Humphries knew that she had been selected.

When the football discussion was resumed in the third quarter, the dazed Junction lads had pulled themselves together and they came back and racked up their first down of the game, eventually going on to score in the final quarter on a 21-yard run. When the Junction quarterback planned to run the extra point try over for two points, Sophomore Lynn Meador voiced strong objection; so the score remained 29-6 against the Junction lads. Incidentally, Coach Earl Barnett of Eldorado employed the younger half of his roster of 18 boys almost the complete second half.

In the final minutes of the 4th quarter, the Cheek-Logan Air Express operated for a satisfactory 33-yard touchdown and McGregor's toe added the extra point to give Eldorado a convincing 39-6 in the 7A conference opener.

Also, Junction failed to upset the Eldorado Eagles; so poetic justice did not come to pass.

Statistic-wise, Junction made 10 first downs in the second half to Eldorado's 12 in the game. Junction ground out more yards on the ground than Eldorado with 179 to 112; but Eldorado gained 183 by air to Junction's 79. Eldorado ocmpleted eight passes while Junction completed 4; but Eldorado intercepted one Junction missile but Junction could not even the count.

Junction lost two fumbles and Eldorado lost none. Eldorado lost 40 yards on four penalties while Junction lost 35 with three penalties.

Eldorado's John McGregor out-kicked the Junction punter, averaging 36 yards with seven kicks to Junction's 35 yards average for six kicks. Incidentally, since conference play began, the old fashioned kicking game sees an occasional flashback.

The win put Eldorado up the first rung of the ladder on their quest for Conference 7A honors. Incidentally, the next rung is also crowded with Broncos and Owls and what not; so the next step may require some exertion.

Band and Football Sweethearts Honored At Game

JUDY HEXT

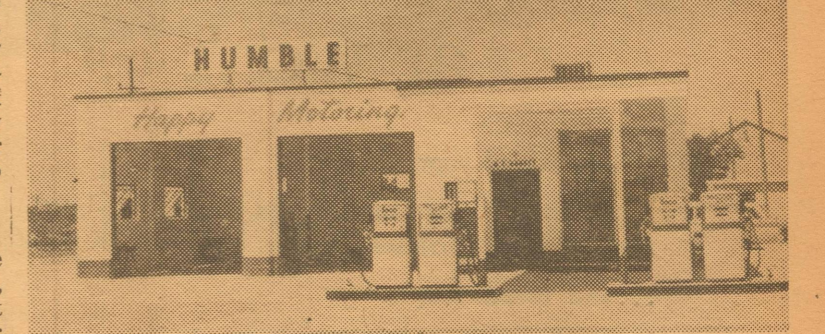

BETTY HUMPHRIES

Recognized at last Friday night's game with Junction were Judy Hext, football sweetheart; and Betty Humphries, band sweetheart.

Miss Hext was presented at the beginning of the game and received a bouquet of roses from Jim Cheek, team captain. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hext, and is in the Senior class. During the half-time presentation of the Eagle band, Miss Humphries was presented as band sweetheart, receiving an award from Buren Whitten. She is in this year's Junior class and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis T. Humphries.

Truck Rams New Harkey Station

DAMAGED by a truck at about 10 o'clock last night was this new Harkey Humble station on South Divide street, the new Sonora highway. The truck was a large one belonging to the J. E. Cox Company, rig movers. They were moving a rig to Henry Moore's.

Mr. Harkey announces that his Humble service operations will be moved back to the original station in downtown Eldorado. Repairs are expected to take several weeks.

Mr. Harkey new station was formally opened with an open house this past July 22nd.

Cub Pack Meeting Is Set For Tonight

Cubmaster Dan Sebesta announces that the first Cub Scout pack meeting of this Fall will be held tonight, Thursday, at 7:30, in the Memorial Building.

This will launch the Fall program of Cub Scouts and all Cubs, den mothers, parents, boys 8 thru 10 years of age interested in joining, and committeemen and others interested are urged to attend.

Sonora 8, Ozona 0

Last week while the two Eagle teams were battling in Eldorado, Sonora and Ozona were playing at Ozona. The score stood 0-0 for three long quarters, and then in the 4th Sonora finally pushed over a TD and ran the ball over for the extra point, leaving the score 8-0 at the end of the ball game.

With that kind of record to their credit, it might be well not to sell Ozona short at this early stage of the game. They will probably be in there fighting.

All five teams in this district are strong and the next three weeks are going to see some thrilling games.

The remaining games for the Eagles are—

Austin.—Year-round colleges, less work for the Attorney General and more realistic election laws could result from studies being undertaken by the Texas Legislative Council.

The Council, the Legislature's research arm, agreed to undertake eleven studies during the coming year. A total of 25 were proposed. List was trimmed down because there just isn't enough time or money to study them all.

Subjects selected for study include:

- Election Code Revision.
- Space Utilization by Institutions of Higher Education.
- Coordination of Health and Welfare Services of the State.
- Non-constitutional Duties of the Attorney General.
- Opinion Authority of the Attorney General.
- Laws Based on Population Classification.
- State Hospitals and Special Schools.
- Texas Utility Regulations.
- Discrimination in Employment Because of Age.
- Mentally Ill Children.
- Health, Accident and Hospitalization Insurance Claims.
- Findings will go to the 1963 session of the Legislature for the lawmakers' consideration.

Water Pollution

Governor Daniel will soon name the members of the new State Water Pollution Control Board. This new agency will operate to some extent as a branch of the State Health Department, in that its executive secretary and only full-time official will be the Health Department's director of water pollution control.

Many areas of Texas are having water pollution problems, and those who sought help in Austin went to four or five offices without finding much response.

So legislators set up a new agency, but did not give it any operation money. It authorized Governor Daniel and the Health Department to allocate part of their appropriations, if they can spare it, to the new agency.

Daniel will ask this winter's special session of the Legislature to make some improvements in the law and to provide some cash for the agency to begin a real attack on water pollution.

After November 7, no one can discharge any kind of waste into the waters of Texas without a permit from this board.

Sales Tax Time

Merchants who have been collecting the new state sales tax will make their first payments to the state October 31, covering collections for September.

Payments will then go on a quarterly basis. Collecting stores get to keep one per cent. If they make estimates and pay in advance for each quarter, they can take a three per cent discount. Advance payments on the fourth quarter of 1961 will be due by November 15.

Comptroller Bob Calvert issued some more interpretations of the new law. If you pay the sales tax to the state on credit sales, and then charge them off as bad debts, you can deduct the tax on the tax return for the quarter in which you gave up on collecting.

Unless seller keeps books to show clearly what part of a credit sale is for the item, and what part is for interest, carrying charges and insurance, he must collect the tax on the whole price of the sale.

Shirt boards and clothing bags are exempt from the sales tax when bought by a clothing store for selling new goods. But laundries buying the same items would have to pay the sales tax on them.

A bottler would pay the sales tax on soda pop bottles when he buys them from the factory. But when you put up a deposit on returnable bottles at the corner store, there's no sales tax on the bottles.

Paperbacks

Students in 110 classrooms in Texas will be using some paperback school books in January.

Legislators, looking for ways to save money, told the State Board of Education to test out paperback school books and report back by 1963 on whether tax money can be saved.

The board will adopt new books at its meeting November 13. It will vote to 27 books recommended by a teachers textbook committee. Protests have been made by Rancher-Writer J. Evetts Haley of Canyon, speaking for the Texans for America organization.

Tax Attacked

Three gas pipeline companies brought suit in Austin to try to knock out the new tax on production of gas under dedicated-reserve contracts.

This is merely a token tax, designed to find out whether this new approach to the taxing of natural gas is constitutional. Suit was expected.

Two previous efforts to levy an additional tax on gas have been knocked out by the courts. Rep.

Robert C. Eckhardt, Houston, devised this new method and believes it is valid despite some amendments he opposed on the ground that they would weaken the chance of standing up in court.

More G. I. Loans

Veterans Land Board advertised for bids for $25 million more in State bonds to expand the program of farm and ranch loans to Texas veterans.

Step up in the program was announced by Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler, who said tracts to be subdivided for sale to GIs will be appraised before the owner has surveys made.

Last Word

Some 7,700 Texans got checks from State Insurance Liquidator C. H. Langdeau which brought to 39% their recovery from the bankrupt U. S. Trust and Guaranty Co. This was the big insurance, investment and automobile sales firm which collapsed in 1955.

Langdeau has almost liquidated all the assets, but has pending a lawsuit in which he and Mrs. A. B. Shoemaker, wife of the president of the firm, are arguing as to whether a large Waco residence is her homestead or the company's.

So a proposition was made to the 9,000 creditors and claimants—settle for another two per cent, and charge off the rest of your loss on your 1961 income tax return. Or if you choose, hang on and perhaps get a little more if the state wins the lawsuit.

In all, 7,700 took the two per cent, but 1,300 said they would wait and see.

As it stands now, Langdeau found $7,100,000 worth of debts and deposits in U. S. Trust and Guaranty Company. He was able to scrape together only $2,800,000 to pay on the claims.

Fourth Term

Political newsmaker-of-the-week was Atty. Gen. Will Wilson. He walked into the State Democratic Executive Committee meeting to charge that Governor Daniel had made a deal with Sec. of Navy John Connally of Fort Worth by which Daniel would support Connally for governor and would himself run for lieutenant governor.

Wilson challenged Daniel to run for a fourth term (against Wilson), rather than to support Connally for the place "when he has barely got his seat warm in Washington."

Connally, in Texas making a speech, said he had no comment, that he had "quit reading fairy tales a long time ago."

Daniel said any fair-minded person "who reads the entire statement is bound to know it is false and a concoction of his imagination."

Candidacy Announced

Texas got the first announced candidate for the Democratic primary next May 5. He is a young

Church Young People To Have CROP Campaign Halloween

Under sponsorship of the Ministerial Alliance of Eldorado, the young people of local churches will have a C.R.O.P. program and conduct a canvass of the town Halloween night.

All of the youth of the city, junior high school age or older, are invited to meet at the First Baptist Church this coming Sunday afternoon, October 22, at 2:30, for a time of fellowship and preparation.

About CROP

CROP (Christian Rural Overseas Program) is the Community Food appeal of Church World Service. It serves only as a food collection agency for CWS who, in turn, takes care of overseas distribution. It serves 33 Protestant and Orthodox denominations. It serves many other Protestant denominations who may not be organically a part of CWS here in the U. S., but who take part in the distribution in many countries overseas. Some examples of these are: Southern Baptist, Church of Christ and Salvation Army. The distribution overseas will be made by local committees representing Protestant churches of the country in liaison with CWS-USA through the CWS representative.

Some CROP Accomplishments

In the Congo, when the Protestant missionaries saw that they were going to have to do something about relief, they formed the Protestant Relief Committee. This committee became the distributor of CROP and CWS aid in the Congo. Where there are emergencies, such as floods and earthquakes, CWS is ready to help immediately. It had aid in the Congo before the press had released its stories of what was taking place. It had responded with similar rapidity to relieve the needs caused by the Chilean earthquake. Now, in 1961, it is responding to needs created by tremendous floods in East Pakistan. In July CROP shipped a carload of wheat from Texas for relief in East Pakistan.

The United States has been richly blessed with abundance so that it has on hand a surplus of farm commodities. It gives a good amount of these to volunteer relief agencies, like CROP, for them to distribute. Foods given in this way have been flour, milk, cornmeal, corn, wheat, and occasionally rice and beans.

Where these are given to CROP and CWS for distribution there must be available funds to take care of the distributing, handling and transporting costs. These vary by countries and by handling and transporting means.

Program Halloween

The Halloween program of the young people of Texas helps to make it possible for CROP and CWS to take part in distributing surplus stocks released by the government for overseas distribution. Last year Texas young people numbering at least 14,000, in 200 communities, collected $55,400 for CROP at Halloween as their part in helping the needy people of the world. This made possible the distribution of 54,792,457 pounds of surplus food valued at $3,351,453. This was distributed by CWS to needy people in 29 countries.

This will be the first year for our local young people to participate in the CROP Halloween program.

Further details and specific plans for Halloween night will be given in next week's issue of the Success.

Bishop Dicus To Speak At Episcopal Church

Bishop Richard Earl Dicus, Suffragan Bishop of West Texas, will be speaker at St. Mary's Episcopal church this coming Wednesday night, October 25, at 7:30.

Bishop Dicus will speak and will celebrate the Communion Service. A reception will be held afterwards.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ray Donaldsons spent the week end visiting his parents, the E. G. Donaldsons. They are now living at Llano.

New Banking Service Provided At Iraan

The Iraan State Bank will start opening their doors for complete banking service on Thursdays from 4 p.m. to 6 p.m., according to President Travis B. Curtis. This service will start today, October 12.

This decision was made at a directors meeting Tuesday afternoon and it is believed that these extra hours will benefit many who can not come to the bank during regular hours from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m., Monday through Fridays.

Curtis explained that this extra service starting today would continue as long as a need existed. While all banking services will be available, it is believed that the loan department will benefit those buying cars, homes, appliances, or just doing their Christmas shopping early. —The Iraan News.

Stray Dogs Problem At Fort Stockton

City Manager Gene Higgins still is seeking a dog catcher to round up the strays and handle the frequent complaints of dogs at large with the city. Applicants should see Mr. Higgins at the City Hall.

City policemen give much time to the problem, but have not the facilities or continuous time to round-up the surplus canine population.

Latest victim of canine attack was Ray Carter, postman, who was bitten hard enough to break the skin. The attack occurred at 906 West Gallagher. —Fort Stockton Pioneer.

Booster Club Meets

The Booster club held their meeting Monday, Oct. 16, at 8:00.

A film of the San Angelo and Midland football game was shown.

We had hoped that we would be able to get a drive on for a field house, but because we did not have enough interested people at the meeting, we thought it would be best to drop the project until more people were interested in it. We would be very pleased if some other group would help get a field house started. If you want a field house, help get one started. Tell and help some group. The Booster club will be more than willing to help in any way we could to get one started.

The next meeting will be next Monday, Oct. 23. The film of the Eldorado Junction game will be shown. Meeting time is 8:00 p.m. —Reporter.

"Superb" . . . "luxurious" . . . "beautiful" . . . "brilliant"—there are many words that might be used to describe the new 1962 Cadillac car.

But if we were to select from the Cadillac vocabulary the one word that most completely captures the essence of this latest "car of cars"—we would choose "masterful".

For here is a motor car that has already established its mastery in everything that makes an automobile good and fine and desirable.

In appearance, it is clearly a Cadillac masterpiece—graceful, clean-lined and elegant.

In performance, it is a revelation. Its power plant is a reservoir of silken power—and the car rides and handles with an instinctive ease and sureness.

In safety, it is in a class of its own—with a host of exclusive features, including remarkable new side cornering lights.

In craftsmanship, it is simply without rival. Every 1962 Cadillac will undergo more than 1400 inspections to assure its quality and goodness.

On and on the list could go. But however lengthy, that list could never replace the experience of inspecting the car and driving it.

Your dealer will happily let you do both.

Once you have, you'll understand why the word has gone out so quickly that this is the finest motor car ever to bear the Cadillac name.

LET'S ALL BACK THE BOY AND GIRL SCOUT DRIVES NOW UNDER WAY IN ELDORADO

An Editorial

It seems that all is not going as well as could be in regard to the combined fund drive for the Boy Scout council and Girl Scouts, now being conducted in Schleicher county. Funds have been slow coming in because canvassers encounter resistance on the part of donors "because the money will go out of town."

Eldorado is a part of the 23½-county Concho Valley Council of the Boy Scouts of America. The headquarters is located in San Angelo. The executive board hires the professional staff, adopts the budget each year, sees to the maintenance and operation of Camps Sol Mayer and Fawcett, and in other ways tries to promote the Boy Scout program over the Council area.

No one denies the need of better local facilities for troop meetings, but it is also a duty of local citizens to support the Council in the drive now under way.

The Success will welcome a further statement from the Concho Valley Council's objectives from executive board members, from volunteer or professional Scouters, or any one else connected with Boy Scout work. The columns of this newspaper are always open to the promotion of worthwhile causes.

'The Last Sunset' To Be Seen Tonight, Tomorrow

"The Last Sunset," a western in color, makes its appearance tonight and tomorrow night at the Eagle Drive-In Theatre here in Eldorado. Show time is now 7:00 o'clock.

The story comes from the Howard Rigsby novel "Sundown at Crazy Horse," with the screenplay by Dalton Trumbo.

For stars, top billing goes to Rock Hudson and Kirk Douglas, with Dorothy Malone, Carol Lynley, Joseph Cotten, Irvine Brand and Regis Toomey.

Filmed entirely in Mexico, except for one added sequence later completed in Hollywood,

"The Last Sunset" was before the cameras for almost three months to record the drama of conflict between a gunslinger and a revengeful trail boss during a trouble-packed cattle drive from central Mexico to the Texas border. This is a true character role for Rock Hudson, who was seen here recently in the re-issue of "Giant." In "The Last Sunset," he is resolutely stalwart as the sheriff.

Dorothy Malone portrays the wife of rancher Cotten, but instead of the usual love triangle, romance gets cluttered up with a "love square." To keep from becoming romantically involved again with Kirk Douglas (he is the gunslinger who once had an affair with Miss Malone), she falls for Hudson. Douglas transfers his attentions to Miss Lynley, the daughter of Miss Malone, and the shattering denouement comes when he learns that the girl is his daughter.

All of this complicating does not mean that the cowboys have forgotten their guns. In fact, the original screen title was "Day of the Gun." There are Indian raids, Cotten is killed in a saloon brawl, and finally Douglas and Hudson meet in the traditional facing of who-can-draw-first.

Filming of this off-beat action story took place at Aguascalientes, in the exact center of Mexico on 8,000-foot plateaus, for the exterior scenes and at Mexico City, in the Churubusco Studios, for the interiors.

The producers went all out to create authenticity for the exterior shooting of their $3,500,000 project. A $200,000 western town, complete with 23 buildings representing homes, saloons, shops, office building, jail and hotel, was built near Aguascalientes.

Home Demonstration Agent's Column
By MRS. VIDA KREKUCW

It won't be long until one night you will hear a knock at the door and you'll answer it. Standing in front of you will be assorted sizes of goblins with shaky knees, squeaky voices and outstretched hands—all waiting for the treat that will keep them from playing a trick on you. Don't take a chance, be ready. Who knows what fierceness may be concealed by a dragging sheet?

There is no trick to making these raised gingerbread doughnuts and the one who gets the treat may be you. Better cut down on the size though for the spooky word gets around mighty fast and you could run out of doughnuts before you did spooks.

Raised Gingerbread Doughnuts

- 1 cup milk
- ¼ cup sugar
- ¼ cup very warm water
- 1 package or cake yeast
- 5 cups sifted flour
- 1 teaspoon ginger
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- ½ teaspoon nutmeg
- ½ teaspoon allspice
- ¼ cup shortening
- ¼ cup dark molasses
- ¼ cup brown sugar
- 2 eggs, beaten
- ½ teaspoon salt

Scald milk. Add white sugar; stir and cool to lukewarm. Measure very warm water into a large mixing bowl. Sprinkle or crumble in yeast; stir until dissolved. Add lukewarm milk. Sift together flour, ginger, cinnamon, nutmeg and all spice. Add 2 cups yeast mixture and beat until smooth. Cover and let rise about 1 hour in a warm place until light and spongy. Meanwhile cream shortening; gradually add brown sugar and molasses. Stir this into yeast mixture. Stir in remaining flour mixture, eggs and salt. Place in a greased bowl, cover and let rise until double in bulk, about one hour. Roll out ½ inch thick on floured board and cut with doughnut cutter. Leave on board or place on a cookie sheet. Cover with a slightly dampened cloth and let rise until double in size. Drop in deep, hot fat (360 F.), raised side down. Cook 2 or 3 minutes, a few at a time, turning once. Roll in cinnamon sugar mixture if desired. Makes two dozen large doughnuts.

The next meetng will be held the 2nd Thursday in January at 3:30 at Sonora. —Reporter.

me of a true story. A friend and her husband (they have no children or else this would not have happened) were sitting at home on a Halloween night and soon the spooks and goblins began to knock. Sadly—there were no treats to be had but that situation didn't last very long. My friend simply wrapped a sheet about her, combed the neighborhood, and it wasn't very long until she was at home serving treats just like everybody else on the block.

Let the youngsters make their own gay Jack-O-Lanterns for Halloween with packaged butterscotch pudding. Simply combine 1 package Instant Butterscotch Pudding an a pound box of confectioners' sugar with 1/3 cup each of soft margarine and evaporated milk. Tint to the proper color orange with drops of red and yellow food colors. Mix to make a smooth ball. Break off pieces of the mixture and shape between hands to make a pumpkin. The grooves along the sides of the pumpkin are made with a spoon handle. A bit of green gumdrop makes the stem and use bits of black gumdrop for the eyes and mouth. Refrigerate until served. Makes 7 Jack-O-Lanterns 2½ inches in diameter, or make them smaller if you wish.

Hurricane Damaged Cars Being Sold Over Texas

Purchasers of automobiles have been warned to be on the lookout for vehicles with salt water damage from Hurricane Carla.

H. C. Pittman, executive vice president of the Texas Automobile Dealers Association, said, "According to reports received in our office, scores of persons throughout Texas are being victimized by unscrupulous bargain promoters who have purchased automobiles in the Gulf area, after they have been totaled by insurance companies, and are reselling them in other parts of the state to purchasers who are unaware of the salt water damage."

TADA is a state-wide organization of franchised automobile dealers, with headquarters in Austin.

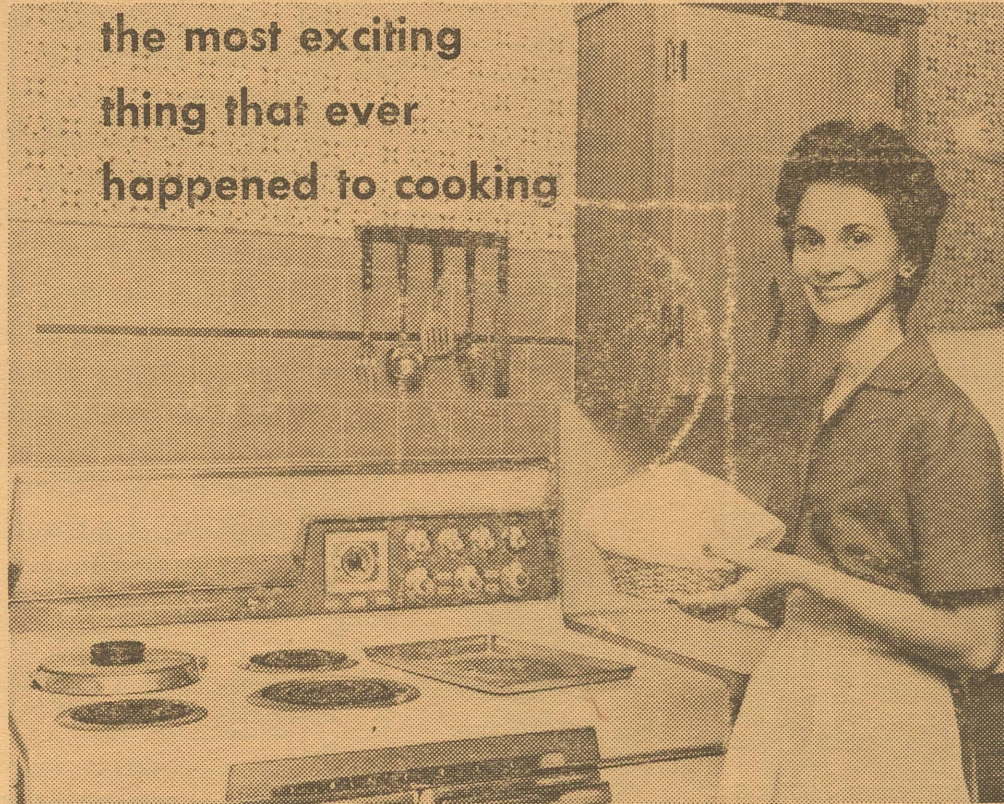

"We have received reports of persons who have made special trips to purchase quantities of these new cars," Pittman continued. "After cleaning them up and removing the factory stickers, they are selling them without advising the purchasers of the certainty of quick deterioration from salt rust. The public in the Gulf area is educated to this type of damage and therefore most of these cars are being sold in Central, North and West Texas.

"To protect themselves, from such losses, automobile purchasers should beware of suspicious bargains, and should buy their automobiles only from well-known, established dealers in their own communities," Pittman stressed. "No legitimate dealer would handle such a sale. This same type of unscrupulous activity cost many hard working families their life savings when they purchased automobiles brought in from Louisiana after Hurricane Audrey," he said.

The rich Civil War traditions of the city of Marshall in deep East Texas are given as reasons for the recent selection of Marshall High School band to represent the state next month at the dedication of the Texas Monument on the Vicksburg battlefield.

The selection of the band to be the state's official musical organization was suggested by George W. Hill, executive director of the Texas Civil War Centennial Commission, and made official by proclamation of Governor Price Daniel.

It is doubtful if any other town in Texas has as many Civil War ties as does Marshall for it not only made a greater per capita contribution to the ranks of the Confederacy, but was also headquarters for many military activities.

The city served as headquarters for the Trans-Mississippi Department, headquarters for the departmental Conscription Bureau and Post Office, and was for a time the temporary location of the surgeon-general.

But perhaps its most unusual claim to Civil War fame lies in the fact that it was the capital city of the Confederate government-in-exile of the state of Missouri.

The strange series of events which made Marshall the capital of Missouri began in 1861 when that state voted to remain in the Union. The newly-elected governor and lieutenant-governor, Claiborne Jackson and Thomas C. Reynolds, were pro-Southern and immediately fled the state, taking with them many important government documents and the official state seal.

With a contingent of Missouri soldiers, they set up governmental offices in Marshall where they established a "little capital of Missouri" with its own capital building and governor's mansion.

In spite of the fact that a convention had voted to keep Missouri in the Union and declared the acts of Jackson and Reynolds void, Jackson returned to his home state and at New Madrid declared the "Independence of Missouri." A few days later, a convention met at Neosho and declared the state a member of the confederacy.

Governor Jackson died while in Missouri and Lieutenant-Governor Reynolds became governor, a position he held until the end of the War.

The Confederate government fully recognized Marshall as the capital of Missouri and all his orders carried the stamp of the Great Seal of the State of Missouri.

Other Civil War ties are found in the stories of Lucy and Anna Holcombe, two young ladies of Marshall who became famous during the War. They were the daughters of Col. Lafayette Holcombe, the builder of Wyalucing, the stately plantation mansion that is now a museum.

Lucy, sometimes called the queen of the Confederacy and whose picture adorned Confederate $1 and $100 bills, was married to Francis Wilkinson Pickens, one-time U. S. ambassador to Russia and wartime governor of South Carolina. Pickens is credited by some with giving the order to fire the first shot of the Civil War at Fort Sumter on April 12, 1861.

It was said of Lucy that she sold her jewels to outfit a Confederate regiment which became known as the Holcombe regiment.

And it was reported in the more lurid papers of the North that Lucy's daughter, Russian born Duschka who was only two years old at the time, fired the first shot while held in the arms of Confederate General P. G. T. Beauregard. (Duschka was named by Czarina Catherine the Second of Russia who christened her Duschka Oliva Nevia Virginia Dorothea Pickens.)

Anna Holcombe married Elkanah Greer, who organized the regiment that later became the famous Third Texas Cavalry. Greer also served for a time as head of the Confederacy Trans-Mississippi Conscription Bureau with headquarters in Marshall.

And it was from the steps of Wyalucing, the old Holcombe home, that General Joe Shelby spoke when he announced the fall of the Confederacy to his troops. From that spot General Shelby and many of his men marched across Texas and into Mexico to escape capture by the victorious Union.

On The Screen . . . 'Tammy Tell Me True' Is On Sunday & Monday

A light, family-type of picture is "Tammy Tell Me True." This is Sandra Dee's characterization of the lovable Mississippi riverboat girl which comes to the Eagle Drive-In Sunday and Monday nights.

It is a wholesome, sentimental, family comedy about an idealistic backwoods girl who works miracles by passing out homespun wisdom to despairing grownups.

Tammy is a plucky backwoods girl who comes out of the bayou to enter college. She is admitted as a trial student. Immediately, she evaluates the sophisticated grownups and students about her and overcomes their haughtiness with psychic advice.

Although her personality clashes with organized society, there are individuals with whom she finds kinship. One such outwardly cantankerous old lady is portrayed by Beulah Bondi, who has been playing acidulous spinsters or kindly old matrons for 30 of her 69 years.

As Mrs. Call, she is the source of most of the interest and depth of plot. With ability gained thru some 117 screen assignments she blends the idiosyncrasies of the character and comes up with a glowing individual characterization.

Tammy also finds kinship with the college's dean of women, portrayed by Virginia Grey. Although we see Sandra Dee in 240 sequences, she is most realistic when she appears opposite Miss Grey. Both characterizations are enriched by this parallelism—Miss Grey projects a mature womanhood, made more noble by comparison with Miss Dee's idealism.

John Gavin portrays the personable college professor who finds Miss Dee refreshing.
