'62 CORVAIR MONZA

NEW FACE, SAME SPORTING HEART

We might as well tell you straight off: Corvair's the car for the driving enthusiast. Think that lets you out? Maybe. Maybe not.

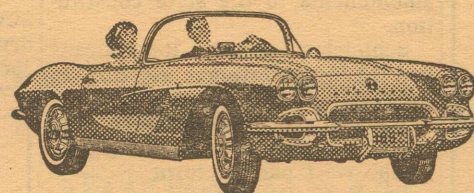

Until you've driven one, you really can't say for sure, because Corvair's kind of driving is like no other in the land. The air-cooled rear engine sees to that. You swing around curves flat as you please. You whip through the sticky spots other cars should keep out of in the first place. (Especially this year, now that you can get Positraction as an extra-cost option.) You stop smoothly, levelly with Corvair's beautifully balanced, bigger brakes.

Corvair's found other new ways to please you this year. A forced-air heater and defroster are standard equipment on all coupes, sedans and both Monza and 700 Station Wagons. So are dual sunshades and front-door armrests and some other goodies. You'll note some new styling, inside and out. Nice. And safety-belt installation is easier, too, and cheaper.

So you can see we haven't really done much to Corvair this year. Why on earth should we? If this car, just as she is, can't make a driving enthusiast out of you, better take a cab.

A New World of Worth

And here's America's only thoroughbred sports car, the '62 CORVETTE. We warn you: If you drive a Corvette after your first sampling of a Corvair, you may well end up a two-car man. And who could blame you?

See the '62 Corvair and Corvette at your local authorized Chevrolet dealer's

Highlights and Sidelights FROM YOUR State CAPITOL

Austin.—City officials in Texas got a warning from Chief Engineer John Vanderulip of the State Board of Engineers. He said Texas had better get moving on its water projects. Vandertulips staff has just completed a water study outlining ways in which Texas cities and industries could meet their water needs for 1980. Sales Tax Modification State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert thinks it's time to change the oil tax plan just adopted by the Legislature. Constitution allocates the new sales tax on motor oil to the State Highway fund for road building. Consequently the corner service station man must keep books on this tax separately from sales taxes he collects for the State's general fund. Calvert plans to suggest to the Legislature that this oil tax be levied at the jobber level, same as gasoline sales taxes. This will simplify bookkeeping and collecting. Speaker Jas. A. Turman agreed that there are inequities in the new sales tax which the Legislature should correct.

Mrs. Mund Is Here After Treatment At Gonzales

Mrs. Frances Mund of Eldorado was discharged October 22 from the Texas Rehabilitation Center, Gonzales Warm Springs Foundation.

She is now a member of the Former Patients Association, made up of the more than 3,000 persons who have undergone rehabilitation treatment at the Center. This is the only such organization in the United States.

In comprehensive rehabilitation at TRC, a skilled medical staff seeks to treat the entire person. An individual program is prescribed for each patient, utilizing the types of therapy suited to his needs. The goal is maximum rehabilitation—physically, emotionally, and socially—so the person can live and work to the best of his abilities.

The Texas Rehabilitation Center depends mainly upon public contributions to maintain its program of treating persons left handicapped by such diseases and accidents as cerebral palsy, multiple sclerosis, polio, muscular dystrophy, spinal cord injuries, arthritis, & strokes.

Any Texan who can benefit from TRC's medical program is eligible for admission, regardless of age, race, or beliefs.

B. E. Moore Completes 20 Years With S. C. D.

After having served 20 years as a Soil Conservation District supervisor, B. E. Moore, Eldorado farmer and stockman, was re-elected to serve another five year term in an election held Tuesday, October 3rd, at the Bearce ranch.

Mr. Moore was elected as supervisor of this district in the spring of 1941 when it was organized. He has served as supervisor continuously since then. Upon finishing this newly elected term he will have served the community for a quarter of a century as a soil conservation district supervisor.

Soil conservation districts have come a long way, Mr. Moore says, since this district was first organized and he was first elected. Now districts blanket the nation which includes about 95 per cent of the farms and ranches and more than 90 per cent of the agricultural land in the United States.

Each district has a conservation program and plan to fit its local problems. Districts are an effective means for both individual and community action to deal with local soil, water, and plant conservation problems. Districts are not branches or agencies of any Federal department.

All districts are based on the principle that local land owners and operators should take the initiative and responsibility in directing conservation programs aimed at solving local soil and water problems.

The Soil Conservation Service has the major job of providing technical assistance to farmers and ranchers in planning and doing soil and water conservation. The SCS has a supplemental memorandum of understanding with each district stating the kinds of services to be provided under the conditions under which they are to be used.

The main objective of all soil conservation districts is to have a complete soil and water conservation program in effect on every farm or ranch within its boundaries. As each land user takes care of his own acres the goal of community-wide conservation is approached.

The district enters into co-operative agreements with farmers and ranchers who are willing to participate in such a program.

Present supervisors of the Eldorado Divide Soil Conservation district include Merton Shurley of Christoval, zone 1; Doyle Johnson, route 1, San Angelo, zone 2; B. E. Moore, Eldorado, zone 3; Ben Hext, Eldorado, zone 4; and J. Forrest Runge, Christoval, zone 5.

TELLING AMERICA ABOUT THE BUSINESS AND INDUSTRIAL ADVANTAGES OF THE . . .

"Center of the Southwest"

We call our service area the CENTER OF THE SOUTHWEST, because that is a literal description of it.

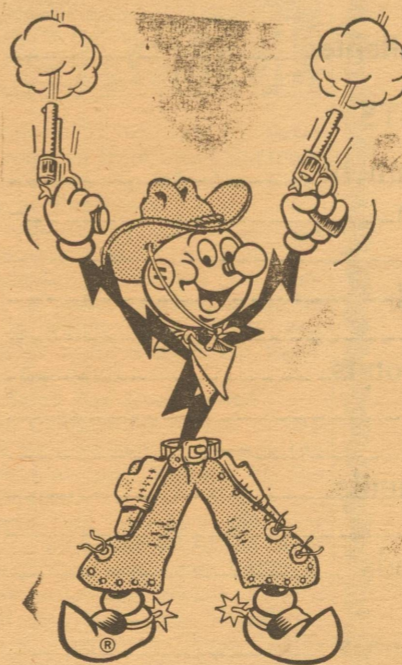

In a two-gun campaign, our industrial development program capitalizes on this fact.

We tell expanding industry by mail and in our national advertising that the fast-growing Southwestern market can best be served from the heart of the region.

In addition, our area development representatives tell the same story in personal contacts with business executives in large industrial centers.

West Texas Utilities Company believes in the business and industrial advantages of the CENTER OF THE SOUTHWEST.

And, we are telling America about them.

C.R.O.P. Worthy Cause

If, next door to you, your neighbor's child were slowly starving, if your neighbor were without food for his family, would you share a meal with them? Would you give them a few pounds of flour or rice and a cup of milk to help keep them alive and have strength to rebuild their lives after a disaster? You do have neighbors in just such a need. In today's world our doorstep stretches across continents and spans oceans. When violence destroys life and liberty in Tibet or the Congo, what happens to the common man and his family there affects us, also.

Give to the Halloween CROP appeal in your community. CROP collects wheat, peanuts, rice and cotton in Texas for shipment to overseas distribution points. Cash donations are used to purchase non-contributed items in economical bulk lots or to provide for the distribution of U. S. Government surplus foods.

When the young people of your community call on you at Halloween, give generously to help a neighbor. Fight hunger by giving to CROP.

Jerry Doyle, Alvin Atkins, and Don Ashley, all of San Angelo college, spent the week end in the Claude Doyle home.

Santa Fe hauls 2.3 million bales of western cotton to markets

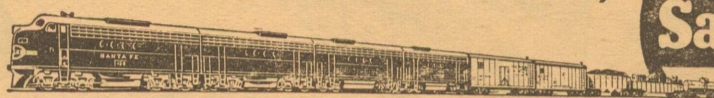

King Cotton has moved west.

In 1945, only 36% of the nation's cotton was grown in the West. Today over 62% of it comes from states served by Santa Fe.

This year Santa Fe will haul over 2,300,000 bales of cotton to markets in 34,000 box cars—enough box cars to make up a train 284 miles long.

Hauling cotton and other important crops, materials and products from where they are grown or made to where they are needed is another example of how Santa Fe is meeting the transportation needs of a growing America.
