Baboon liver

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Doctors aren't certain why a baboon's liver that was transplanted into a man has deteriorated, a University of Pittsburgh Medical Center spokeswoman said.

The 35-year-old patient may be experiencing some unknown form of organ rejection, spokeswoman Susan Manko said Thursday. But she said doctors so far have no reason to believe that's the case.

"If it is some kind of rejection, it's a kind of rejection that they've never seen before," she said. "There are a lot of question marks in their minds."

A biopsy taken Monday showed no sign of liver rejection.

"Marginal"

JERUSALEM (AP) — Most Jewish settlements in the occupied lands are only of "marginal" importance and contribute almost nothing to Israel's security, Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin said in remarks published today.

Rabin also said he was ready to meet "any place, any time" with Syrian President Hafez Assad and acknowledged that Israel has been negotiating indirectly with the PLO in Middle East peace talks.

The prime minister's partial freeze on building in West Bank and Gaza Strip settlements has angered the settlers, who fear for their future if the peace talks lead to Palestinian self-rule in the occupied lands.

Scurry BCD oks using funds for 'fact-finding' trip

Scurry's Board of County Development granted a funding request of $3,100 from the governmental affairs committee, with three members voting for the proposal and two choosing not to vote.

Chamber Manager Ricky Fritz presented what he called an amended request due to a misunderstanding in the total cost for a fact-finding trip to study three cities which have shown recent economic growth.

Committee members originally requested that the BCD fund half of the amount needed, or $2,750, for the trip. After checking costs of travel with other companies, the committee checked again locally and found that the trip would cost $2,470 for both Fritz and Joel Hook to travel to Pueblo, Colo., Coeur D' Alene, Calif. and Palm Springs.

In addition to the $2,470, committee members requested $630 to cover the cost of tax on travel expenses and meals with the understanding that any money not used on the trip would be returned to the BCD fund.

Committee members had proposed that the other half of the funding come from the city hotel/motel tax fund. At Thursday's meeting, however, the BCD was asked to fund the entire amount due to concerns from Mayor Troy Williamson.

Williamson told board members that according to state law, hotel/motel tax funds cannot be used for economic development.

Governmental affairs committee member Randy Perkins said that the committee had proposed the trip as a way to increase both economic development and tour-

Bryant files as write-in for constable

Marshall Bryant Jr., 38, of Hermleigh filed this morning as a Democratic write-in candidate for county constable of Precinct 2 — a post which has been vacant since 1977.

According to county records, no one has held the post since Jim Farr was elected as Precinct 4 constable on Nov. 2, 1976. He died in office in August of 1977. The position, which has since been changed to Precinct 2, was never filled.

"I see this as a way of making a committment to my community," said Bryant. "There are many elderly people living in Hermleigh, and I feel they need someone to call if they need help."

Bryant has lived in Hermleigh for the past three years and is employed as a correctional officer with the Texas Department of Criminal Justice Price Daniel Unit.

Car/train wreck probed

Department of Public Safety troopers are investigating a car-train accident which occurred early this morning.

Police received a call from the sheriff's office at 4:37 a.m. advising them that a vehicle had been struck by a train at U.S. Highway 84 and Farm Road 1611. Snyder EMS and DPS units were sent to the scene.

According to preliminary reports, a search was made of the vehicle and the surrounding area, but no one was located. DPS troopers speculate that the vehicle, a 1991 Chevrolet owned by Delton Drum Sr., may have been abandoned on the tracks.

Drum filed a report for unauthorized use of a motor vehicle this morning. Troopers were interviewing several people in an effort to complete the investigation.

In a separate investigation, a hit-and-run which took place Thursday morning was cleared up when a man came to the police department to say he had left the scene of an accident.

Agastin Ornelas of 3105 Ave. I, told police at 7:50 p.m. that he had

Directors re-elected for Midwest Electric

Mickey Sterling, Bobby Gruben and Jerry Upshaw were re-elected as directors Thursday evening at the annual Midwest Electric Cooperative membership meeting and barbecue.

Sterling defeated Tim Huddleston of Snyder for the Place 5 seat by a vote of 249 to 178. Sterling and his wife, Joanne, live west of Ira near Lake Thomas and are involved in farming.

Gruben, who ran unopposed for Place 6, was re-elected by acclaimation of members of the cooperative. Gruben, a farmer, lives at Rotan.

In the Place 7 election, incumbent Jerry Upshaw received 247 votes, defeating Brad Stuart of Roby who had 159 votes. Upshaw is involved in farming in the Roby area.

The banquet was highlighted by presentations from Bryce Moore of Roby and Charles Sweatt of Hermleigh, who participated in a 13-day youth tour this summer along with 75 other participants representing various rural electric cooperatives.

Robert Bryant, president and general manager of Golden Spread Electric Cooperative, was guest speaker for the evening. Cindy Nix provided musical entertainment for an estimated 1,800 members and guests who attended.

Guilty plea nets man 45 years in state pen

A 37-year-old man was sentenced to 45 years in the Texas Department of Criminal Justice Correctional Division after pleading guilty Wednesday to charges of burglary of a habitation and unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

Ricky Lee Shoemaker was charged with breaking into a trailer house 1½ miles north of Highway 84 on the Polar road on June 24. A 1979 Ford LTD, parked at the residence, was stolen. Nothing was reported missing from the trailer, which is owned by Marie Scrivner.

The vehicle was recovered later that same day in Angleton, where Shoemaker was taken into custody by the Brazoria County Sheriff's Department.

According to reports, Shoemaker was an escapee from a private prison facility in Dickens County.

Shoemaker received a 35-year sentence in connection with the burglary charge, and was sentenced to an additional 10 years for unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

Jaycees to work rest stop

Keeping tabs on our neighbors:

Gene Dow, in the Seminole Sentinel, wrote about his appreciation and concerns for the Olympics.

"I love the Olympics, but not when taxpayer dollars are used. I'm not happy about the U.S. Postal Service being an Olympic sponsor.

"Although the USPS is touted as an independent corporation, it is till run and controlled by the government, at taxpayer and postal patrol expense.

"Isn't it strange that we got the last postage increase just in time for the post office to be an Olympic sponsor and to pay for some of those quarter of a million dollar, 30-second television ads?

"If private corporations can make big profits and contribute big bucks for Olympic sponsorships to boost their production sales — that's one thing.

"But for the post office to spend my stamp money — and I can't buy them anywhere else — that's another."

The editor in Andrews had a question of his own, "What do you expect from an outfit that polls six million people trying to figure out which Elvis picture to use on a stamp?"

O.G. Nieman, in the Hereford Brand, says we shouldn't worry about things over which we have no control. Seems like a lot of people offer that admonition these days.

Said Nieman, "The wise man doesn't expect to find life worth living. He has to work to make it that way."

Nieman had some other good stuff:

Nieman also told about lawyer who was questioning a hostile witness. The lawyer said, "You seem to have plenty of intelligence for a man in your position."

"If I weren't under oath, "I'd return the compliment," responded the witness.

Clinton trying to take some of credit for Bush proposals

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Bill Clinton suggests President Bush is making promises with the taxpayers' money to win re-election, but he's not opposing the president's proposals.

Indeed, he's trying to take some of the credit.

Clinton in a speech to the AFL-CIO on Thursday said Bush was doing "flip-flops" and supporting a host of new items in the past few days, most of which would pour money into important electoral states.

After opposing the aircraft for years, Bush is supporting the V-22 Osprey, which means jobs in Texas and Pennsylvania. Vice President Dan Quayle announced in Michigan that "the administration had flip-flopped" and now supports production of more tanks made there.

Bush was now supporting the sale of F-16s to Taiwan, another boon for Texas. And Bush "promised the farmers he would expand the export subsidy program that on Aug. 6 he recommended be eliminated."

"Now, I'm a Baptist so I believe in deathbed conversions but this is amazing," Clinton said. "I'll tell you one thing — no matter what happens our campaign has done some good for some people in this country.

"I think the American people are smart enough to see politics as usual," he said of the president's actions.

And Clinton argued that the long list of promises Bush has made at the Republican National Convention — and since — would require deep cuts in cherished programs.

"He'll be forced to cut, even to gut, Medicare and Social Security," he said.

Bush has said repeatedly he would not touch Social Security.

Clinton didn't mention in that speech the president's promise to give maximum federal aid to Florida for the rebuilding after Hurricane Andrew. Instead, he flew to the Miami area himself, toured the wreckage, and said he would make the same commitments the president had.

"I do not come here for any political purpose," he said. "What I want to do is just make it clear to the people of Florida that if I am elected, I will be there," he said.

The commitment from the federal government could be from $5 billion to $15 billion, including up to $1.5 billion to repair Homestead Air Force Base, which was leveled.

Although the shrinking Pentagon budget is already forcing the government to shut some military bases, Clinton said he believed Homestead still had a mission as the closest air base to Cuba and an ideal site for anti-drug flights.

"I also was moved by the statements today about the economic importance" of the base, which is a major employer in the most-destroyed area, Clinton said.

Florida Gov. Lawton Chiles said Clinton ran the risk of being seen as taking political advantage of the disaster, but "it's a political season."

Clinton passed up the opportunity to criticize Bush on the relief efforts, which were slow at first.

Care Packages Sent to Gulf Are Better Late Than Never

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1992 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I am currently in the U.S. Air Force, serving temporary duty in the Persian Gulf. Yes — some of us are still over here, enjoying the 100-degree-plus weather. Sorry I cannot be more specific about my location.

My job here is dealing with moving freight. We recently received a large shipment of freight that had been delayed at a water port for almost a year and a half! This shipment contained numerous "care" packages sent by caring people from Michigan, Indiana, Ohio, Iowa, and a few other Midwest states.

Although these "care" packages were sent for troops during the war, they have been distributed, and are being thoroughly enjoyed by those of us who are stationed here now.

Abby, please print this to let people know that their packages were received, and greatly appreciated.

AIRMAN IN THE GULF

DEAR AIRMAN: I will spread the word to my readers. And yes, I am aware that you cannot be any more specific about your location for security reasons. Thank you for writing, and God bless every one of you men and women, and return you home safely.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Since you have introduced limericks in your column, I can wait no longer. I am enclosing a limerick written many years ago by my father, George D. Vaill, a former Yale University historian, renowned humorist and prolific author. His contention was that a limerick, by definition, is naughty in its connotation.

In the May 1979 issue of Reader's Digest, his limerick was selected as the winner from among 12,000 entries in a national limerick contest sponsored by Mohegan Community College in Norwich, Conn. I believe my father collected $50 (in pennies!) for his winning entry. I hope you will consider it a worthy addition to your collection.

GEORGE D. VAILL JR.,
WINCHESTER, MASS.

DEAR GEORGE: I do. And here's the limerick:

The bustard's an exquisite fowl,
With minimum reason to growl:
He escaped what would be Illegitimacy
By grace of a fortunate vowel.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I enjoyed your column in which you advised, "If you are curious about a person's nationality — ask." Here is how I stuck my foot in my mouth:

In 1977 I was traveling by train in France. Seated in my compartment was a nicely dressed elderly Oriental gentleman. Carefully enunciating every word, I asked, "Do they drive as poorly in the Orient as they do around here?"

He replied in perfect English: "Beats me. I'm from San Francisco."

LEROY MC VAY, SEATTLE

DEAR ABBY: My problem may seem petty, but it's important to me. I have a lovely set of wind chimes hanging from a tree in my yard that is equal distance from my neighbor's house. Yesterday morning I noticed that my wind chimes had been taken from the tree and placed on a lawn chair in my yard with a note from my neighbor: "Sorry, but your wind chimes make it impossible for me to hear the birds sing."

What is your reaction to this very rude act?

LIKES MY WIND CHIMES

DEAR LIKES: Your neighbor was presumptuous to have taken down your wind chimes. She should have spoken to you immediately on discovering that your wind chimes were a nuisance.

Saddam avoids showdown...

Allies focus on ground activity

ABOARD THE USS INDEPENDENCE (AP) — U.S., British and French pilots have flown across southern Iraq for a week without being challenged by Saddam Hussein, and now are turning their attention to what's going on on the ground.

Since last Thursday, when President Bush threatened to shoot down any Iraqi warplanes flying below the 32nd parallel, no flights have been reported over the zone by Saddam's estimated 150 operational combat aircraft — all the Iraqi president has left from a pre-war fleet of some 700 jets.

Western officials claim that before Bush declared the no-fly zone, the Iraqis had been flying an average of 30 sorties a day against the dissident Shiites Bush wants to protect.

Air Cmdr. Bruce Latton, who oversees British planes patrolling the skies of southern Iraq, said Thursday that as the "no-fly" zone entered its second week, he expected the focus to shift from the skies to the ground.

"We haven't seen anything that we would describe as abnormal on the ground, but it's early days yet, and I think that we've got to ... have a good look in there with our reconnaissance aircraft," Latton said at a news conference on this carrier in the Persian Gulf.

Opposition groups say as many as 200,000 people are in the marshes, defended by about 10,000 lightly armed rebels. Many fled there after the Iraqi army defeated a Shiite uprising following the Persian Gulf War, and tens of thousands of people were reported killed.

Latton said British pilots flying reconnaissance missions in Tornado fighters had seen nothing to support reports that the Iraqis had set fire to the marshes in an attempt to drive out the Shiites.

He said the pilots also were unable to confirm claims by Baghdad that there had been a serious clash in recent days along the Iran-Iraq border. Iraq said residents of the southern city of Al-Qurnah repelled Shiite rebels attempting to cross from Iran.

Iraq appears to be studiously avoiding confrontation, but has not been inactive.

Travelers from Iraq who were interviewed in Jordan and Cyprus said Saddam had sent his defense minister — known as "the butcher" for poison gas attacks on Kurdish guerrillas — to southern Iraq.

Hurricane victims won't leave homes

MIAMI (AP) — Nearly 12,000 additional federal troops heading here will fan out across flattened suburbs to sell the reluctant on the idea of leaving unsafe homes for the relative comfort of tent cities, the military said.

"They will go out into the community to each block and neighborhood so they can put their arms around people and tell them it's OK," Lt. Col. Bill Reynolds, a spokesman for the military information center in Miami, said Thursday.

The first of the 11,600 additional troops were to arrive this morning, said Maj. Ed Larkin, a spokesman at Forces Command in Atlanta, which is responsible for all U.S.-based Army troops.

They will join 16,000 other troops and 6,000 members of the Florida National Guard in the area.

Residents of devastated southern suburbs have so far been reluctant to leave their homes and what few possessions they have left to sleep on cots in one of five tent cities.

As of Thursday night only about 300 people were living in the makeshift camps, which so far have room for 3,800. The Army has enough tents and cots on hand to sleep 35,000 people, if necessary.

The weather made it worse for people living in damaged homes. Rain poured through broken windows and swelled sagging ceilings and beams on Thursday, and a tropical wave — a spinning storm system of rain, thunder and lightning — was expected to arrive Saturday.

On Thursday, building inspector Ida Mesa pleaded with a woman to leave her house with its damaged roof, darkened rooms and contaminated water. It would be safer, she said, to enter one of the tent cities.

"I don't want to lecture you. I just want to tell you that you have choices. You have children here. There are other ways to live," Ms. Mesa told Kellie Kortright, who stood by her battered four-bedroom yellow house, home since the storm to seven adults and four children.

Ms. Kortright was unimpressed.

"We're comfortable here," she said. "The water's no good, but we can shower. There's no electricity, but that's OK."

Administration claims Trade pact on track

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Bush's announcement three weeks ago that a North American free trade treaty had been concluded was premature, congressional and labor sources say, charging that agreement has yet to be reached in some areas.

But a spokeswoman for U.S. Trade Representative Carla Hills called the claim "just plain wrong" and said any changes in the still-classified text are occurring as part of the legal review process.

Congressional sources close to the treaty talks said Thursday that the United States, Mexico and Canada hadn't concluded negotiations on several fronts, including investments and government procurement.

"There are still substantial negotiations in those two areas," a Capitol Hill source said, speaking on condition of anonymity.

"It's one thing to have to go back in and clean up and dot the I's and cross the T's, but when you still have substantial disagreement remaining it's quite a different thing."

A Senate aide concurred. "They said they were doing cleanup. Cleanup doesn't smack of substantive revisions."

But Assistant U.S. Trade Representative Kathy Lydon said that assessment was a "cheap shot."

The work being done on the 2,000-page text is "cleanup work," Ms. Lydon said. "These are minor details."

Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, the Texas Democrat who chairs the Senate Finance Committee, said Wednesday that it was clear the administration didn't have an agreement completed when it was announced Aug. 12. "And (they) still don't today," he said.

Bentsen, whose committee oversees trade matters, appeared angered by President Bush's attacks on Democratic rival Bill Clinton. In recent campaign appearances, Bush has charged that Clinton has "hemmed and hawed" over his support for a trade accord.

Clinton has said he supports the concept of free trade with Mexico, but wants to make sure environmental and wage standards are addressed before endorsing an agreement.

Bentsen and other congressional Democrats said it would be ill-advised for Clinton to ratify a trade pact he has yet to see in full.

But White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater, in a briefing Thursday, said: "I guarantee you there's enough out there they can decide whether they're for it or against it."

The text will be made public by Tuesday, when Hills is scheduled to outline details of the proposed treaty for the Senate Finance Committee, which will hold the first of what surely will be many congressional hearings on the pact.

Capitol Hill sources said one area of disagreement remaining involved the baseline year for deciding the value of Mexico's government contracts that can be excluded from U.S. or Canadian companies. The question is whether the $1 billion set-aside should be indexed from 1990 dollars or 1994 dollars.

Ms. Lydon said that issue is properly being resolved by lawyers examining the agreement.

"Should the (trade) ministers ... have decided such a thing?" she asked. "Who would ever have dreamed they would want to use a year other than '94," which is when the pact would take effect if ratified by all three nations' legislatures.

Congressional Democrats and labor officials contend political considerations forced a rushed conclusion to the agreement.

Pair indicted on S&L fraud charges

By The Associated Press

A federal grand jury in Dallas has indicted a two Dallas businessmen on conspiracy and bank fraud charges in connection with the 1984 takeover of an Albuquerque savings and loan, the FBI says.

Delwin W. Morton and Charles J. Wilson could each face 45 years in prison and fines of $4.5 million if convicted, the Dallas FBI office said Thursday.

The two defendants led seven other Texas investors who took over Sandia Federal Savings & Loan in 1984. Morton and Wilson served on the Sandia board and owned about 76 percent of the company's stock, the indictment says.

The nine-count indictment also charges unlawful participation in bank transactions and aiding and abetting false entries on the books and records of a federally insured financial institution.

They are accused of plotting to buy Sandia, then using its assets for their own benefit and that of a Dallas thrift, Vernon Savings & Loan, which failed in 1988 at a cost to taxpayers of $1.5 billion.

Sandia was once the second-largest thrift in New Mexico. It failed in February 1989, and the indictment says it was set up to take millions of dollars in losses by Morton and Wilson through "disadvantageous transactions for the benefit of Vernon Savings."

The indictment says the defendants conspired with two unnamed individuals, who controlled Vernon, to borrow $11.8 million from Vernon to buy control of Sandia.

The deal included a profit participation agreement that promised Vernon half of any profits from sale of Sandia within five years, the indictment says.

The Sandia case is part of the Dallas Bank Fraud Task Force's three-year probe of Texas savings and loan collapses. So far, 198 defendants have been charged as a result of task force investigations and 147 have been convicted.

"Bullet" train may get derailed

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas High-Speed Rail Corp. should be given a chance to prove that a "bullet" train can work, says a spokesman for the group.

"There was a time when everybody said, 'Let's don't have cable television,' ... And yet, cable television is an integral part of the communications system today," said Glenn Biggs, chairman of the Texas High-Speed Rail Corp.

"What we have got to show to the people is that this is going to work, and if it doesn't work, I agree with (Railroad Commissioner) Bob Krueger: Cancel the deal. But my God, give it a chance," he said at a Thursday meeting of the House Subcommittee on the High-Speed Rail.

Krueger said the state should quickly "pull the plug" on the high-speed rail project if it can't be shown to work properly and pay for itself.

"I think very often the charitable thing, if somebody is really in a terminal situation — and I had it with my own mother — the charitable thing is finally to pull the plug," he said.

Krueger serves on the Texas High-Speed Rail Authority, which oversees the proposed "bullet" train franchise awarded to a group of French and American investors.

Rep. Ed Kuempel, R-Seguin, said he's ready to take such action and suggested that the Legislature be given a second chance to look at the project during the 1993 session before the authority takes any further action.

"If indeed we have a problem, before we have a bigger problem, I would certainly like for the Texas House of Representatives and the Texas Senate to look at this to make sure that we don't have a fiasco on our hands," Kuempel said.

A number of lawmakers believed the project would follow existing railroad routes more closely than it apparently will, Kuempel said.

The proposed 200 mph train would link major Texas cities. Rural residents have complained about the land being carved up for the fenced-in rail lines.

Although current Texas law forbids state money from being spent on the train, several lawmakers said they fear they may be asked to step in and finish the project if it gets started and private funding stalls.

Lawmakers noted there's been talk that franchise holders will ask for an extension of the Dec. 31 deadline for coming up with $170 million of the estimated $6 billion-plus project cost.

Biggs acknowledged that odds are against meeting that deadline but noted that the corporation has not asked for an extension.

Biggs said a ridership study started later than scheduled. The company, called the Texas High Speed Rail Corp., won't have enough time to review the study with investment bankers before the financing deadline, he said. The study is not expected to be ready until mid-November.

If you have read Allan Falk's "Spingold Challenge," you will know what to expect from his latest book, "Team Trial" (Zookeeper Publishing, $9.95, 212-866-5860). You are faced with 64 difficult problems covering all facets of the game. After each set of 16, you find out the results of your teammates and can see how you scored.

The book has drawbacks. You always know when the key play has to be made, which makes finding it easier; and if you read a lot of bridge literature, you will recognize most of the deals. However, if you study the deals and review the analyses, your game will improve.

Today's deal, taken from a 1974 article by Terence Reese in The Bridge World magazine, is one of the easiest in the book. Against your contract of four hearts, West leads the heart 10. You win with the queen and cash the heart king, East discarding a low spade. How should you continue?

North's three diamonds was a transfer bid. Three no-trump offered a choice of games; you selected four hearts.

You have 10 tricks: one spade, five hearts, three diamonds and one club. But you must retain control while drawing trumps and knocking out the diamond ace. The answer is to duck a club after cashing the heart jack. If East wins and returns a spade, you finesse the jack. Later, you ruff your second low club in the dummy, draw West's final trump and play on diamonds. You have all suits under control and must end with 10 tricks.

Readers are invited to send card-play questions to Phillip Alder, in care of this newspaper. They can be answered only through the column.

Breast cancer requires follow-up

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I recently suffered sporadic bleeding from my left breast and was advised to have a biopsy. I was found to have a polyp and lobular carcinoma-in-situ and underwent excision at the site. What can you tell me about my condition, especially in regard to the frequency of exams and mammograms?

DEAR READER: You must follow your surgeon's and/or gynecologist's advice; I cannot recommend appropriate follow-up. Here's why.

You had a breast cancer removed. It evidently had not spread but was clearly a malignancy. Depending on its size, location, depth and certain chemical characteristics, you will need follow-up care that is highly individualized.

For example, lobular carcinoma-in-situ has a favorable prognosis, but the tumor has an unfortunate characteristic: It tends to spread undetected in the affected breast and appear unannounced in the opposite breast. Therefore, your doctor may choose to examine you quite often (every couple of months) for the first year or two, then taper the frequency of your visits as you remain disease-free. Plan to sit down with your doctor to discuss this.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Breast Cancer and Disorders." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm a 25-year-old female. Two years ago I had my left ovary and Fallopian tube removed because of a large cyst. My doctor says I'm a low risk for ovarian cancer, despite the fact that my grandmother died from it at 55. What kind of test or procedure would determine the risk involved?

DEAR READER: The easiest, safest and cheapest way to make sure you're not developing ovarian cancer is to have periodic ultrasound examinations. Using these tests, your gynecologist can monitor the size of your remaining ovary.

Given your age and previous surgery, I'm sure your doctor wants to spare your ovary in the event you wish to get pregnant. Therefore, perhaps the less done to you, the better. I believe the ultrasound exams would tell the doctor what he needs to know, as well as reassure you that everything is OK.

Bird strike kills pilot

WICHITA FALLS (AP) — A 27-year-old jet trainer pilot was killed when the T-38 he was flying struck a bird.

Officials at Sheppard Air Force Base identified the pilot as 1st Lt. David A. Wyatt. He was an instructor pilot for the 90th Flying Training Squadron, according to the base.

The pilot died of "massive head injuries and a possible broken neck," according to Taylor County Justice of the Peace Sam Matta.

Another pilot in the jet's back seat landed the plane safely Thursday afternoon at Dyess Air Force Base in Abilene. The U.S. Air Force jet's second occupant was not injured.

The plane sustained damage to the windshield.

Kid robbed of lunch money

DALLAS (AP) — A 14-year-old girl has been taken into custody in the beating and robbery of an 8-year-old student as he walked to school, a police spokesman said.

Dallas Police Sgt. Jim Chandler said the girl was apprehended Thursday morning and has been released to her parents.

"Detectives will be talking to the parents and determining exactly what went on," Chandler said.

Bennie Valentine, a third-grader at Charles Rice Learning Center in South Dallas, was taken to Parkland Memorial Hospital Wednesday after being hit in the face and head by a female assailant, said assistant principal Clifford Logan.

Logan said the youngster told authorities that a young woman stopped him, asked if he had any money and then pulled him into a vacant house where she took his lunch money and beat him.

Firms aid Fair Park renovation

DALLAS (AP) — State and local officials on Thursday unveiled the second phase of a joint public-private effort to restore a 1936 art deco building at Fair Park.

Three Dallas companies have provided $145,000 this year in financial and in-kind donations to the project restoring the Food and Fiber Pavilion.

Lone Star Gas will offer a test kitchen for the Pavilion, while Dr PepperSeven-Up Bottling and Minyard Food Stores will sponsor an educational exhibits program. Proceeds from the exhibits program will go toward the restoration.

Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry and Dallas Mayor Steve Bartlett said the corporate commitments would help keep the pavilion's restoration on schedule.

"This effort is a perfect example of what can be done when the public and private sectors work together," Bartlett said.

Demos plan Pinocchio award

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas Democrats say they will fight the Republican "September Storm" campaign against Bill Clinton by giving Pinocchio Awards for the biggest lie about the Democratic presidential candidate.

"This election is too serious to be determined by the mud, and the slander, and the lies of the September Storm campaign," Ed Martin, state Democratic Party Executive Director, said Thursday.

"They've already admitted that their claim that Bill Clinton raised taxes 128 times is a lie, but they say they'll use it anyway because it works," he said of the Republicans.

The GOP responded that Clinton should set the record straight on his draft status during the Vietnam War.

Candidate criticizes Sharp

AUSTIN (AP) — Republican Railroad Commission candidate Barry Williamson has lashed out at State Comptroller John Sharp for defending Railroad Commission Chairwoman Lena Guerrero.

"You are violating the public trust by inappropriately mixing partisan political activities with the duties of your office," Williamson said Thursday in a letter to Sharp.

Andy Welch, a spokesman for Sharp, said, "Mr. Williamson is just trying to escape his own embarrassment."

On Wednesday, Sharp asked Williamson to stop misleading the public about the results of an audit of the Texas High-Speed Rail Authority.

Williamson has said the audit shows mismanagement by Ms. Guerrero. But Sharp said the expenses occurred before Ms. Guerrero was made chairwoman of the High Speed Rail Authority, and that she urged the audit be done.

Dead woman wrote of fears

AUSTIN (AP) — A 67-year-old Austin woman found stabbed to death this week had written a letter about two years ago to a Houston-area police agency saying she feared her daughter would kill her, investigators say.

The body of Elaine Claire Brooks was found at her home when police answered an alarm called in Tuesday by neighbors.

Her daughter, Claire Denise Greenwood, 41, was charged with intentional murder and was jailed under a $750,000 bond.

Homicide Sgt. Scott Cary said Ms. Brooks had 23 "chopping" wounds to the head and had been stabbed 16 times in the torso and legs. Cary said witnesses told officers that they had seen the real estate agent being beaten with a shovel and stabbed by a second woman.

Cary said the slaying does not surprise him in light of previous incidents involving both women. "There was reason to believe this could occur. But I don't know that it could have been prevented," he said.

He said Ms. Greenwood, whom he described as a "renowned musician," had been questioned in the 1988 slaying of her grandfather, Fred Sommers, a livestock firm manager in Missouri City, a suburb of 36,000 people south of Houston. Sommers, who had been struck in the head and shot several times, was Ms. Brooks' father.

Bodies pulled from air crash

SARAJEVO, Bosnia-Herzegovina (AP) — A U.N. search and rescue team today pulled the bodies of four Italian flyers from the wreckage of a relief plane and looked for clues to the cause of the crash.

U.N. officials quoted witnesses as saying they saw two missiles fire at the plane on Thursday. But the officials stressed they did not know yet whether it had been shot down.

U.S. helicopters sent to search for the plane were shot at, the Pentagon said.

The crash came Thursday, a day that brought at least one encouraging sign: a U.N. relief convoy carrying nearly 100 tons of food and medicine safely reached the embattled city of Gorazde, southeast of Sarajevo. The convoy returned safely to Sarajevo today, delayed overnight by mined roads.

Mortar shells fell on the Bosnian capital this morning and late Thursday, breaking a two-day lull in shelling. There were no immediate reports of casualties.

Marrack Goulding, U.N. undersecretary-general for peacekeeping, had said Thursday there were no signs of Serb fighters turning heavy weapons over for U.N. supervision as their leader promised Wednesday.

More than 8,000 people have died — some estimates say up to 35,000 — and tens of thousands are missing in Bosnia's civil war. An estimated 2 million people are refugees.

Serb forces have seized about 70 percent of the country since fighting erupted after majority Muslims and Croats voted for independence Feb. 29.

U.N. officials suspended humanitarian flights to Sarajevo pending an investigation of the midday crash of the Italian twin-engine turboprop. It was the first crash involving the airlift, although other planes have been shot at.

Izumi Nakamitsu, chief of the U.N. High Commissioner for Refugees' operation in Sarajevo, said the search team found the bodies of the plane's crew in the hard-scrabble countryside of western Bosnia early today.

The aid plane crashed on a mountain 21 miles west of the besieged Bosnian capital, said Nakamitsu. It had been carrying nine tons of relief supplies.

"There are some local people on the ground who said they saw two rockets fired at the plane," Nakamitsu said. "We will not know the full story until there is a full and thorough investigation."

A U.N. rescue team that arrived at the crash site after dark found a hole in the wrecked Italian fuselage and pieces of what could be an anti-aircraft missile, she said.

It is unclear who controls the territory from which a missile would have been fired. There are scattered Serb positions, but most of the area is controlled by Croats, Muslims or a combination.

Two of four U.S. helicopters sent to search for the plane also came under ground fire, the U.S. military said in a statement released in Washington Thursday.

Texas anti-gang laws proposed

AUSTIN (AP) — State lawmakers hoping to stem the growth of gangs have rejected a proposal to tax bullets and use the revenue to help children at risk of joining gangs.

Instead, a legislative subcommittee Thursday recommended 30 other ways to reduce gang activity, including increased penalties for drive-by shooting and the establishment of drug-free and weapon-free zones around schools.

Rep. Eddie de la Garza, D-Edinburg, said the subcommittee report, which the House Criminal Jurisprudence Committee will consider next week, would have a "major impact" on reducing crime.

Cost of the plan has not been determined, but providing a couple of the recommendations would be about $40 million, de la Garza said.

He said many of the programs could be funded through fees on persons convicted of crimes. Twenty-five percent of money forfeited by criminals could be diverted to a special fund to reduce gangs, he said.

Stiff opposition from the public and the National Rifle Association met the proposed bullet tax.

Currently there are about 13,000 gang members in the state's eight largest cities, lawmakers said.

Gang activity has also spread to many suburban and rural areas, according to state Rep. Parker McCollough, chairman of the Criminal Jurisprudence Committee.

Other recommendations by the subcommittee include:

— Setting up alternative schools for expelled students.

— Making gang areas eligible for enterprise zones.

— Dispersing grants for programs such as mentoring, recreation, job training, parenting skills classes, and educational needs.

— Increasing communication among police, courts, and schools concerning violent juveniles.

— Allowing violent juvenile offenders' criminal records to follow them into adulthood.

— Starting a long term study of the juvenile justice system.

Not-guilty heard before ex-convict heads to prison

HOUSTON (AP) — Only minutes after an ex-convict pleaded guilty to a robbery charge in return for a 15-year sentence, he was acquitted by a jury in the same case.

He got to hear the words "not guilty" shortly before he was led back to jail.

"I don't know what to say," Ronnie Charles McBride, 33, said just before he returned to jail.

It all stemmed from an Aug. 13, 1991, episode where an apartment worker said a 6-foot-1, 230-pound man tried to rob her at knifepoint. She hauled out a shotgun and he ran away.

But when McBride went on trial, defense attorney Dennis Spurling established that his client is 5-foot-8 and weighs 160 pounds. McBride contended he was buying clothes for his children when the incident happened.

Confused jurors in state District Judge John Ackerman's court first sent out a note saying they were divided 8-to-4 on McBride's guilt or innocence.

That led prosecutor Mark Vinson to approach McBride with a plea-bargain offer of 15 years in prison on a plea of guilty.

With 10 months in jail under his belt while awaiting trial, McBride faced only five more months in custody if he accepted.

Six-man squads begin '92 season

Area six-man football teams begin the 1992 season tonight as defending District 6 champion Ira hosts Aspermont, Borden County, runner-up in the loop a year ago hosts New Home and Hermleigh, under new coach Mark Minor, travels to Sands.

All three non-district contests kick-off at 7:30 p.m.

Aspermont at Ira

The Bulldogs begin defense of their 1991 title against an Aspermont team picked to finish third in District 9 after an 8-2 campaign last year.

The Hornets return three offensive starters, including standout quarterback Kirk Page, and fullback Travis Martin.

The 'Dogs finished last season 6-5 and are 1-9 in non-district games in the last two seasons, in spite of a pair of playoff appearances.

Hughes accounted for about 1,600 yards of offense for Ira last season between his passing and rushing, and Luna, also a standout linebacker, was in on 131 tackles in 1991.

New Home at Borden County

In spite of relatively small numbers (just 14 out for football in Gail) BCHS head coach Bobby Avery is looking for this game to be a springboard for success in'92.

Borden County's revamped offense will be led by new quarterback Cody Cox. Cox replaces last year's starter Clint Wills, who has moved to running back, but will often have a run-pass option. Joining Wills in the backfield is former end John Paul Harris, who will be a prime target for Cox and Wills out of the backfield.

New Home returns eight lettermen, including three offensive and two defensive starters, from last year's 8-3 playoff team.

The Leopard's top weapon figures to be running back Blaine Fullingim who rushed for almost 900 yards and 16 touchdowns in 1991.

Hermleigh at Sands

The Cardinals, under the direction of enthusiastic first-year head coach Mark Minor, will begin their season facing a state semifinalist from a year ago.

Sands, in spite of losing coach Randy Roemisch to Meadow and eight lettermen to graduation, is picked to finish second in District 5.

Though Hermleigh is picked to finish in fifth place in District 6 this year, Minor's enthusiasm, and the fact that the Cardinals, who number 25 strong this year, are coming off two preseason scrimmage wins, could make this game closer than it would appear at first glance.

The Cards are led by returnees Chris Velasco, an end on both offense and defense, quarterback-cornerback Chris Roemisch, and 6-4, 300-pound lineman Lance Price.

Tigers host Ponies in opener

Sweetwater invades Tiger Stadium for 1992 grid debut

By PHIL RIDDLE
SDN Sports Editor

Snyder head football coach David Baugh knows his team is going to have to face a pair of outstanding runners when the Tigers take the field against arch-Sweetwater in tonight's season opener at Tiger Stadium.

"They've got two real good backs," he said, "Hines and Moore. They'll alternate those two at tailback. They're both good strong runners with good speed."

Chris Hines, a 5-10, 190-pound talent, is listed as the Mustangs' starting tailback. Hines, an All-District 3-4A selection in 1991, rushed for 1,227 yards and 13 touchdowns last year. He was a preseason choice on the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal's recently released Super Team, as well, joining fellow 4.5 sprinter James Moore on the squad.

Moore is listed as Sweetwater's first-team flanker, but the 5-11, 175-pound speedster will also spell Hines at tailback and is the Ponies kick returner.

Moore accumulated almost 900 yards in returns as a junior in '91, making him a threat as a pass reciever, a running back and a return specialist.

"They like to run a lot of sweeps," Baugh reported. "They'll hit the fullback up the middle and they'll pass a little.

"The main thing we've got to do is stop their sweep. They've got a bunch of big old linemen who play good and steady," reported the SHS coach. "Those two tailbacks are the ones you have to stop, though."

Baugh sees time of possession as a big factor in tonight's contest.

"We have to control the ball," he said, "shorten the game, keep the ball away from them and keep those backs on the sideline. That'll be real key for us to win.

"We can't make any gosh-awful mistakes," he continued. "We can't turn the ball over deep in our territory, give up an interception, something like that."

Tiger starting quarterback Matt Cave will be looked to for some success in the passing game.

"We have to be able to throw and catch the ball well enough to keep them backed off us," Baugh said. "Hopefully, we can do that and find something that our backs can break. Our line has to protect our passer," he added. "They've got a good pass rush."

Cave, drawing the start following spirited competition for the first-stringers' job with fellow junior Jim Pat Griffin, will share the backfield with senior fullback Wayland Harrison, who led the Tigers with 760 rushing yards in '91, senior wingback Michael Fields, who picked up almost 200 yards last season, and senior tailback Ben Wilson, who has been impressive in Snyder's two preseason scrimmages.

Sweetwater returns just one defensive starter, noseguard Steven Bredemeyer, from last year's regional semifinal squad.

Bredemeyer, a 6-2, 220-pound senior, takes over as the lone returning starter following all-district linebacker Toby Stephens' broken jaw suffered in last Friday's scrimmage against Lubbock Coronado.

Stephens, also the Mustangs' No. 1 fullback, will be out for most, if not all, the 1992 campaign.

The Tigers' defense will be led by all-district returnees Charlie Richardson, a senior linebacker, and Todd Iglehart, a senior tackle.

Both SHS standouts joined Hines and Moore on the Lubbock A-J Super Team.

The two teams have not played in the regular season since 1989 when Sweetwater claimed a last-second 18-15 victory.

The two teams faced off in the area round of the 1990 Class 4A playoffs in Mustang Bowl, where Snyder took a 17-3 decision.

Kickoff time is set for 8 p.m.

U.S. Open...

Maleeva upsets Navratilova

NEW YORK (AP) — Throw another hat into the ring.

In a summer during which women's tennis went searching for a dominant player, the most dominant player in history suddenly and unexpectedly was booted out of the U.S. Open.

"I am glad she is the last one," Martina Navratilova said of her second-round conqueror, 17-year-old Magdalena Maleeva of Bulgaria, the youngest of three sisters playing the tour. "I guess I will be one of the players who have lost to all of them."

Maleeva's shocking 6-4, 0-6, 6-3 victory Thursday was Navratilova's earliest exit from the U.S. Open since she was upset by Janet Newberry in the first round in 1976.

In a late match in a schedule turned topsy-turvy by sporadic rain showers, 16th-seeded John McEnroe pulled his game together midway through the second set and defeated Italy's Diego Nargiso 4-6, 6-3, 6-0, 6-2.

Besides Navratilova, two other seeds were ousted Thursday. Brad Gilbert staved off three match points to upset 11th-seeded Michael Stich of Germany, the 1991 Wimbledon champion, 5-7, 6-3, 3-6, 6-3, 7-6 (7-0), while in women's play Amanda Coetzer of South Africa shocked No. 12 Nathalie Tauziat of France 6-0, 6-0.

Three other seeds won: No. 1 Jim Courier, seeking his third Grand Slam tournment title of the year, downed Andrei Chesnokov of Russia 4-6, 6-3, 6-3, 6-1; Graf, a two-time U.S. Open women's champion, the last time in 1989, stopped a surprisingly tough Pam Shriver 7-5, 6-3 and No. 14 Zina Garrison defeated German Silke Meier 6-2, 2-6, 6-4.

Tiger JV tops Ponies, 20-0

SWEETWATER — Eddie Martinez scored three times and Snyder's defense staged three goal-line stands in Thursday's 20-0 Tiger shutout of Sweetwater in junior varsity action.

Asked to name key defensive players in the win, SHS coach Tommy Doyle said, "We couldn't pick anybody over anybody else. Everybody did a good job.

"This bunch had never beaten Sweetwater, so we were real proud they got cranked up and played them like they did. We can't say enough about the way they played."

Martinez hit the end zone on runs of 30 and 70 yards and scored on a 40-yard pass from QB Lee Idom.

Mark Love also caught an Idom toss for a two-point conversion.

The Tigers had three TDs and a run inside the Sweetwater 5-yard line called back on penalties.

Snyder, now 1-0, will be on the road again next week when they visit Monahans.

Baugh tourney tees off Saturday

The First Slingin' Sammy Baugh Snyder High School Golf Tournament, to benefit the SHS golf program, will begin with 8:30 a.m. and 2 p.m. shotgun starts Saturday at Western Texas College.

The tournament, to be played in a four-man scramble format, boasts a full field. A total of 144 golfers, 36 teams, have made their reservations.

Tournament prizes include over $1,000 in merchandise gift certificates and autographed footballs from Baugh.

Also included in the prizes, is a 1992 Ford Ranger pickup, donated by Wilson Motors, for the first hole-in-one on Hole No. 6.

Every entrant will receive a cap and will be eligible for prize drawings.

Between rounds of the tournament, An autographed Washington Redskins jersey, donated by Baugh, will be sold at auction. Closed bids, beginning at $2,500, are being accepted through today by writing SHS golf coach Bob O'Day at 4502 El Paso.

Baugh, a charter member of the NFL Hall of Fame following a 16-year career as a quarterback and safety for the Washington Redskins, will be on hand from 2-4 p.m. to sign autographs.

Autographs will not be limited to golfers, but will be available to anyone free of charge.

A Sam Baugh Room will be set up in the WTC Pro Shop Saturday featuring memorabilia from Baugh's football career including a painting, plaques and awards won by the former NFL quarterback, a scrapbook and photos.

In addition, a movie serial made by Baugh will be shown all day.

The SHS Golf Booster club will be selling Sam Baugh autographed footballs for $50 each and autographed tournament caps for $20 apiece on Saturday.

JV, freshmen spike tourneys set

The Snyder JV and Freshmen Volleyball Tournaments will be held Saturday with the junior varsity event being played at SHS and the freshman competition set for Snyder Junior High.

Snyder's JV Lady Tigers are currently 7-1 on the season. Coach Matt Garrett's squad will tangle with Colorado City in Saturday's 9 a.m. opener.

Other first-round JV games include Water Valley vs. Big Spring at 10 a.m., Plains vs. Sweetwater at 11 a.m. and Levelland vs. Monahans at noon.

Coach Robin Turner's freshmen teams begin tourney action at 9 a.m. Saturday, as well.

Snyder A faces Abilene Cooper B in the opener, followed by Sweetwater against Levelland at 10 a.m., the 11 a.m. Cooper A-Plains matchup and Snyder B battling Big Spring at noon.

Irvin, Cowboys come to terms

IRVING, Texas (AP) — Pro Bowl receiver Michael Irvin says he got a great deal from the Dallas Cowboys.

Irvin signed a three-year contract with the Cowboys late Thursday night and was expected to practice today.

Financial figures were not released.

"I'm happy to be back with the team and happy to be back at Valley Ranch," Irvin said. "This is a great deal for myself and my family, and I'm very pleased with the agreement."

Irvin, whose 1,523 yards led the NFL in receiving last season, is expected to play in Monday night's season opener against the Washington Redskins.

Baseball owners want Vincent out

ROSEMONT, Ill. (AP) — After months of rumors, it's finally clear that an overwhelming majority of baseball owners want Fay Vincent to resign.

The owners voted 18-9-1 Thursday for a no-confidence resolution against the commissioner, urging him to quit. Vincent immediately repeated he had no intention of leaving office before his term expires on March 31, 1994.

The meeting was adjourned to Wednesday in St. Louis, where owners will have to decide the next step. The Major League Agreement provides no mechanism for firing a commissioner, but the disenchanted owners say they have legal opinions that Vincent can be dismissed.

"We did not discuss what we're going to do if he's not going to resign," said Chicago White Sox owner Jerry Reinsdorf, a leading Vincent opponent.

Vincent, elected to a 41/2-year term on Sept. 13, 1989, remained in New York, saying the purpose of the meeting was unlawful under the Major League Agreement, the contract that governs baseball.

"I believe strongly that a baseball commissioner should serve a full term as contemplated by the Major League Agreement," Vincent said. "Only then can difficult decisions be made impartially and without fear of political repercussions."

Gundy passes OU to victory

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — The 15th-ranked Oklahoma Sooners are showing their high-flying offense is no passing infatuation.

The Sooners left most in disbelief last year after throwing, not running, their way to a 48-14 demolition of Virginia in the Gator Bowl.

Thursday night, it was nearly a replay, as quarterback Cale Gundy threw for a school-record 341 yards and two touchdowns and also ran for a score as Oklahoma defeated Texas Tech 34-9 in the teams' season opener.

"They threw a bunch of quick stuff and we didn't give our line a chance to get to him (Gundy)," said Tech safety Tracy Saul. "I don't care who you are, it's just hard to stop that kind of passing game."

Saul had one of the few highlights for the Red Raiders when he halted an Oklahoma drive by intercepting Gundy in the end zone midway through the second quarter.

It was Saul's 21st interception, breaking the Southwest Conference career interception record set last year by Texas A&M's Kevin Smith.

Netters host S'water, Lake View Saturday

Snyder's tennis Tigers will attempt to keep their momentum following last week's team tennis victories over Monahans and Pecos when they host San Angelo Lake View and Sweetwater in matches at Snyder Junior High Saturday.

The Tigers' weekend wins were led by the SHS boys' singles entrants, who swept eight matches from Pecos on the way to a 14-10 victory, and won all but one against Monahans in a 12-all tie that wound up a win for SHS by virtue of more games won, 249-238.

Top seed Jason Warren posted a 6-1, 6-4 win over Brett Hollon of Pecos, then teamed up with doubles partner Chris Gayle to drop Hollon and Jesse Riggins, 6-0, 6-0.

Warren and Gayle also knocked off Joseph Garza and Trent Gray in doubles play in the Monahans match.

Snyder's lone girls' singles winner in the Pecos tilt was Katie Thornton, who notched a 6-4, 6-4 win over Suzanne Carrasco. She also was a doubles winner, combining with Amy Herrera to down Susan Castillo and Anna Rodriguez, 6-4, 7-6 (11-9).

Action begins Saturday when the Tigers face Lake View at 9 a.m. The Sweetwater match is set to begin at 2 p.m.

Snyder will take next weekend off then will begin defense of their two straight District 2-4A titles when Frenship visits Sept. 19.

U.S. employment down 2nd month

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's unemployment rate dipped slightly in August to 7.6 percent, the second consecutive decline, but the improvement came from a special summer jobs program for teen-agers, the government said today.

The rate, which hit an eight-year high of 7.8 percent in June before declining to 7.7 percent in July, could well soar again in September with the expiration of the jobs program financed by Congress after the Los Angeles riots, analysts warned.

Labor Department officials estimate 75,000 youths found jobs under the program in July and 100,000 in August.

Meanwhile, a separate survey of employers' payrolls showed that even with the youth program, there were 83,000 fewer non-farm jobs overall, the worst decline in nine months.

In advance, economists were looking for an increase of around 150,000 jobs.

The August decreases were concentrated in retail trade, down 71,000, and manufacturing, down 122,000, the steepest in 18 months.

Today's report was likely to become political fodder in the presidential election race, with President Bush focusing on the improvement in the rate and Democratic nominee Bill Clinton focusing on the second drop in payrolls in three months.

Payrolls had risen 177,000 in July and fallen 76,000 in June.

Bush's re-election effort has been plagued with voter dissatisfaction with the virtually stagnant economy. Although the gross domestic product, the total of all goods and services produced in the United States, has been growing slowly for five consecutive quarters, the unemployment rate has continued to rise in most months.

Local offices to be closed for Labor Day

Scurry County citizens should be aware that schools, financial institutions, and county and state buildings will be closed Monday in honor of Labor Day.

Snyder, Ira and Hermleigh public schools, and Western Texas College, will take a holiday.

Scurry County Museum, Senior Citizens Center, library, health clinic and courthouse will all be closed. Commissioners have moved their weekly 10 a.m. meeting from Monday to Tuesday next week, when county facilities resume normal operations.

The county library, normally open Saturdays, will be closed this Saturday and will reopen on Tuesday.

No mail will be delivered Monday, and all financial institutions will be closed. The Agricultural Stabilization & Conservation and Soil Conservation Service offices will be closed.

Also closing will be City Hall and the chamber of commerce.

Ornelas, who does not speak English and spoke with officers through a Spanish-speaking police dispatcher, said he fled the scene because he was in the United States on a work permit. He did not have papers with him at the time of the accident and was afraid he would be taken back to Mexico.

He was issued a ticket for fleeing the scene.

Ornelas was driving a 1984 Chevrolet pickup owned by Albert Presley of 2506 26th St. Also involved in the 7:53 a.m. accident were a 1969 Ford pickup driven by Timothy Davis of 202 32nd St. and a 1988 Ford pickup driven by Barbara Gilbert of 210 38th St.

In other police activity, officers began an investigation into a burglary at Dee's Burrito Shop at 4 a.m. today. A check of the business did not turn up anything missing. Police have filed an offense report for burglary of a building.

Officers arrested a 30-year-old man on a warrant for criminal mischief at 6:19 p.m. Thursday in the 700 block of 26th Street.

At 9:32 a.m. Thursday, police were notified that a swing set had been stolen from the Noah Project. The swing set had not been erected and was still in its box. A report for Class B theft was filed.

Jobless rate in Texas is also down

DALLAS (AP) — The state's unemployment rate dipped to 6.9 percent in August, the second consecutive decline and the lowest figure this year, the Labor Department said today.

"Both the direction and size of these minimal movements ... were fairly typical for the month of August," said Labor spokesman Nic Santangelo.

The rate, compared with 6.6 percent in the same month a year ago, was down from 7.2 percent in July. About 606,000 Texans were out of work in August, 18,000 fewer than in July.

Last month's Texas figure was a full-point decline from June. Labor officials said a rate of 8.2 percent in that month was a statistical anomaly.

Aside from the June figure, the Texas jobless rate hasn't fluctuated far from the 7.8 rate in January.

"There are some positives in that bit of data," Santangelo said. "We've basically seen a flattening in the rate of unemployment since about February and March. The unemployment rate has been relatively consistent."

But, he added, "We really don't want to make too much of that until we get September's figures."

The Texas civilian labor force expanded 2.8 percent during the past 12 months to a level of 8.73 million.

August's three-month average, considered a better measure, was 7.4 percent, up from 6.4 percent during the same three months in 1991.

The national jobless rate also dipped slightly in August to 7.6 percent, down from 7.7 percent in July.

Happy Anniversary Patsy

Twenty-one years ago September fourth
I made this girl my bride,
And since that sunny Saturday
She's been right here by my side.

Through kids, dogs and canaries
And one garage sale cat.
Ten moves we've made in all these years
But no matter where we are at...

She's been my inspiration,
The reason that I try.
I'll love her till the end of time,
There's countless reasons why.

Now babe I have a surprise for you
And in this poem I'll give,
The first sign as too where to look
Is right there where we live.

Go to the southern bookcase.
Look under something blue
And there you'll find a capsule,
That will give you your first clue!

ism. Williamson said that if the the request came before the city council, it would be considered.

BCD member Tim Riggan questioned whether a trip to the specific cities chosen would be beneficial to Snyder. He suggested questionnaires should be sent to the top 25 cities that have shown significant growth.

"I think a trip is a great idea. We have got to find out why these guys are growing and Snyder is not," said Riggan. "I think we should collect more data and find out where it would be most beneficial to go."

He added that as far as retirement prospects, Snyder could not be compared to Palm Springs. "I am not sure we are ready with the data we have collected," said Riggan.

"I think we need to consider how we can use the information," said Fritz. "No matter what we find out, if we are not willing to change it is not worth it."

Pete Hester, Mark McCormick and Max von Roeder voted in favor of the proposal. Riggan and board chairman Jack Smartt did not vote.

Discussion continued on the duties of each of the committees and boards currently involved with economic development.

Mayor Williamson said that the new Development Corporation of Snyder is being used as a means to finance activities and growth, but does not intend to go in search of economic development opportunities.

Both the mayor and the board agreed that they need to insure that neither group is doing a job that there is another committee set up to do.

Riggan said he would like to see guidelines set for the board to clarify what requests should be handled by the BCD. He said he believes the board should be geared more toward activities that present long-term promise for the city such as the AJRA rodeo.

In other business, board members set Oct. 24 as the date for the Texas Department of Criminal Justice Appreciation Day.

Poverty in America goes beyond statistics

EDITOR'S NOTE — Associated Press writers Jim Anderson of Los Angeles, Jocelina Betts of Jackson, Miss., and Denise Lavoie of Stamford, Conn., contributed to the following report.

By The Associated Press

The statistics are striking enough: By government count, more Americans were mired in poverty in 1991 than in any year since 1964.

Those officially categorized as poor — less than $13,924 in earnings for a family of four — numbered 35.7 million, equaling 14.2 percent of the population, up from 13.5 percent in 1990, the Census Bureau reported Thursday.

But behind the numbers lies a still more sobering story: The reality of living poor.

Less than a year ago, she regularly held lavish dinner parties at her home in Stamford, Conn. This week, Mrs. Loews and her three children have eaten plain pasta every night.

Mrs. Loews, who asked that her first name not be used, fell from middle-class living into poverty when she and her husband separated last November.

The hardest part, she said, is telling her children they can't have designer clothes, bicycles and other luxuries that ordinary children take for granted in Connecticut, the state with the nation's highest per capita income.

"They're in the middle of a bakery and they can't touch the cake," Mrs. Loews said.

Mrs. Loews has worked since she was 16, mainly as a saleswoman and graphic artist. She went on welfare when it became clear her job would not bring in nearly enough money to pay the bills.

"It's degrading. You're in this position you never thought you'd be in," she said.

She lives on $1,054 a month — $842 from Aid to Families With Dependent Children and $212 in food stamps. She said her husband refuses to pay child support, but she hasn't gone to court demanding it.

Mrs. Loews said she is trying to get off welfare. She went back to school in May, and hopes to complete a paralegal course in about a year.

For now, she said her parents make her $275 monthly car and insurance payments and her landlord dropped her rent from $1,000 to $400. She relies on social service agencies and her church for clothing — and sometimes food.

Jacqueline Hopkins of Raymond, Miss., was once turned down for welfare because her husband made too much money. She sees no reason to try again now that she has been laid off as a part-time cleaner at a community college.

"I'd rather work than get that little money they give you," she said. "Those people at the welfare department won't help nobody."

Her situation isn't unique in Mississippi, the state with the nation's lowest per capita income.

Mrs. Hopkins, 33, said she, her husband, Wilbert, 34, and their five children, ages 5 to 16, get by on a $200 weekly paycheck from his construction job, as well as food stamps.

They live in a four-bedroom red brick house in the small town about 20 miles southwest of Jackson.

Holding her 16-month-old granddaughter as she sat on her faded, brown sofa, Mrs. Hopkins said she is not bitter about her life.

"It's not that hard to me," she said. "If you do what you can for (the family), you can make it. There's no need in complaining. You just live and deal with it."

For months now, Gloria Leon of Los Angeles hasn't received child support from her ex-husband. She doesn't know where he is. And she doesn't expect to find a job soon.

Mrs. Leon, 47, a mother of three, gets by each month on a welfare check of about $550 and food stamps. Her eldest daughter left school at 14 to get a job and help the family.

Since 1981, she has raised her children alone in a one-bedroom bungalow that costs $425 a month. At first they slept on the floor. Sometimes she had nothing but tortillas, milk and beans to feed the kids.

She occasionally receives free food from a South Central Los Angeles relief agency where she volunteers 10 hours a day, five days a week.

"I feel better because I'm helping other people. But I'm tired," Mrs. Leon said. "There are too many hungry people. Too many come here."

She once worked as cashier, but has no job training.

"Maybe I'll go look for a job again," she said softly. "Maybe I'm too old. I don't know."

Houston lottery winner to buy car, send daughters to college

HOUSTON (AP) — Jesse Almaguer almost gave it all away.

He had a lottery ticket that gave him a shot at becoming a finalist for the million-dollar drawing, but he didn't think he had that kind of luck. He considered giving it to his brother-in-law, but didn't.

A lucky move.

On Thursday, the 40-year-old Houstonian beat the odds and six other finalists to win the Texas Lottery's grand prize — $1 million, or $800,000 after taxes.

"I feel great!" Almaguer exclaimed moments after he becoming the state's 12th million-dollar winner. He was quickly overcome with emotion, wiping away tears as his family rushed to hug him.

After almost giving his ticket away, he was skeptical again when he got the call saying he was a finalist. He said he thought the caller was a bill-collector or a sales person.

It seemed to be finally sinking in the day before the drawing.

"I'm real nervous," he told reporters Wednesday. "I don't think I've slept for the whole week."

And when he pulled open the safe with the grand prize, he was stunned.

"I didn't believe it, you saw me crying," Almaguer said.

Besides Almaguer, the finalists were Deborah Orlandi, 42, of Temple, Jose Lopez, 39, of Garland; Teresa De La Rosa, 60, of San Antonio; James A. Wharton Jr., 60, of Mexia, Jim Davis, 29, of Kilgore, and Marco Martinez, 23, of Seguin.

Ms. De La Rosa and Mrs. Orlandi each won $10,000, Martinez and Lopez each got $15,000 and Davis' take was $25,000. Wharton won the runner-up prize of $50,000.

Almaguer, a technician at Gulf Environmental Inc., said he planned to buy a car for his daughters, ages 19 and 18, so that they can use it to attend college, which he now can afford. He also has a 12-year-old son.

He also plans to go with his wife to Japan to visit her family, which she hasn't seen for 15 years.

And immediately?

"I'm going to have a couple of beers, sit back and relax."

Your Birthday

Sept. 4, 1992

If you adopt the adage, "Waste not, want not," by this time next year, you could find yourself in an exceptionally secure financial position. Try it and see.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Trying to bluff your way through an important situation you're unsure of could produce undesirable results today. To be on the safe side, play everything straight. Get a jump on life by understanding the influences governing you in the year ahead. LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Philosophical or political discussions could take on serious overtones today — if the debating parties are not careful. Neither is likely to be receptive to the other's views.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) What worked for someone else might not necessarily work for you today. This could be especially true in your financial affairs. Don't try to play a role for which you're not suited.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Before you erupt today, consider the source from which the unpleasant information or situation stems. Logic will soothe your feelings and subdue your response.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) A lack of patience could create problems for you today. Be extra careful and safety conscious, especially when you're performing a distasteful task.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Avoid cliques today that include individuals you dislike. You might be even more impatient with them than usual, and a confrontation could result.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Usually, your sense of humor is displayed in good taste, but today could be an exception. There's a possibility you may say or do something others will find offensive.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You might be a bit more temperamental than usual today and inclined to blow infractions out of proportion. This could create problems for innocent parties, as well as for yourself.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) It's best not to jump into financial situations today without thoroughly investigating them, regardless of how rosy the presentation might be.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You cannot expect others to act in a reasonable manner today if you fail to do so yourself. Strive to think logically, instead of emotionally, when evaluating events.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) The only sure path to successful achievement today is to roll up your sleeves and do all the critical assignments yourself. Depending on others could be a mistake.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Strive to be democratic today and work with the will of the majority. If you're too insistent upon having your own way, serious problems can result.

Rotan church slates revival

ROTAN — Rotan Foursquare Gospel Church has planned a revival from Sept. 12-16. Services will begin nightly at 7 p.m. Rev. Carol Hall will be the evangelist.

Hall and her husband, Gregory, natives of Australia, pastored churches there until they moved to the Dallas area with their two daughters in 1981.

Mrs. Hall's ministerial experience includes extensive travel in the U.S. as a conference speaker and she has also conducted several revivals at churches.

She was the host of her own radio talk show, "Carol Hall Show," for five years. She spends a portion of each year overseas in mission work and has established several churches among the Moslem people of Central Africa. Mrs. Hall includes Great Britain and Europe in her regular ministry.

Health of female veterans studied

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nine thousand women from the U.S. military went to Vietnam and one question still haunts many of them: What's the price to their health for having served their country?

And just as important, What's the price likely to be for other women in future conflicts?

The Department of Veterans Affairs took a step Thursday toward finding these answers by authorizing a study of reproductive histories among female Vietnam vets.

The available data shows cause for concern.

Though their numbers were small, female Vietnam vets had twice the death rate from cancer of the pancreas and uterus as women in the military who hadn't served in Vietnam, one study found.

There are indications of health problems among female vets generally.

A 1985 VA-commissioned survey found that female veterans — not just those who served in Vietnam — have twice the rate of cancer than the general adult female population.

Subsequent studies suggest female veterans have five times the rate of ovarian, cervical and uterine cancers, a finding that John F. King of the Vietnam Veterans of America calls "extraordinary."

"It has all of us concerned, and we need answers," King said.

In the planned study of female Vietnam vets, "we're going to look at the incidence of stillbirths, miscarriages, birth defects, cancer and other diseases," said the VA's Dr. Susan Mather, assistant chief medical director for environmental medicine and public health.

The project is part of a congressional mandate. It stemmed from concern over Agent Orange contamination in Vietnam and "the effects of military service in often-exotic lands," Mather said.

"The point is it's important to find out if Vietnam had an influence on women's health so the VA can formulate programs to deal with it," says Shirley Menard, who chairs the VA advisory committee that will monitor the work.

"We're making strides, but we've got a long way to go," said Mrs. Menard, now an assistant professor at the University of Texas nursing school in San Antonio.

A bill pending in Congress would require the VA to furnish services such as Pap tests, breast examinations and general reproductive health care to any female veteran eligible for hospital care.

Mrs. Menard and her husband were the first married military couple to serve together in Vietnam — she as a field hospital nurse and he as a mess sergeant.

They have a child who is healthy, but with a learning disability.

A private company to be selected by the VA will interview thousands of nurses and other female veterans in an attempt to pinpoint the reproductive health consequences of serving in Vietnam.

Veterans Affairs Secretary Edward Derwinski hopes the study "will provide answers to some of the questions women Vietnam veterans have."

Facts About The BIBLE

BY JOHN LEHTI

MORE "WOMENS LIB" IN THE BIBLE!

THE MAIDEN WHO KILLED A GENERAL....

ALTHOUGH WOMEN, IN BIBLICAL TIMES, WERE TREATED AS CHATTELS OF THEIR HUSBANDS—OWNED OUTRIGHT JUST LIKE SHEEP, CAMELS, AND OTHER PROPERTY—MANY TIMES THEY ACTED INDEPENDENTLY, LIKE DEBORAH, QUEEN ESTHER, AND MOSES' SISTER, MIRIAM. SUCH A ONE, ALSO, WAS JUDITH, HEROINE OF THE BOOK OF JUDITH, ONE OF THE APOCRYPHAL BOOKS OF THE OLD TESTAMENT.

THE ASSYRIAN GENERAL, HOLOFERNES, ATTACKED THE JEWS, BESIEGING THE TOWN OF BETHULIA, WHERE THE PEOPLE DESPAIRED OF EVER BEING SAVED. JUDITH TOOK IT UPON HERSELF TO VISIT HOLOFERNES IN HIS CAMP, WHERE HE WAS IMMEDIATELY SMITTEN WITH HER BEAUTY! AFTER ENTERTAINING HIM FOR THREE DAYS AND NIGHTS IN HIS TENT, JUDITH, AT THE FIRST OPPORTUNITY, CUT OFF THE GENERAL'S HEAD AS HE SLEPT!

AS A RESULT, THE ASSYRIANS FLED—CUSTOMARY IN THOSE DAYS, WHEN AN ARMY LOST ITS LEADER—AND JUDITH WAS PROCLAIMED, FROM THAT DAY ON, THE FINEST EXAMPLE OF A PATRIOT BY THE ENTIRE JEWISH NATION.

NEXT WEEK: WHEN THE BIBLE HELPED WIN A MODERN WAR CAMPAIGN!
