

Marshall's Appointment Is Speedily Confirmed

Senate Demonstrates Its Unified Support Of Foreign Policies

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8. (AP)—The Senate unanimously confirmed today President Truman's nomination of Gen. George C. Marshall to succeed James F. Byrnes as secretary of state.

The speedy action came in a Republican-directed move to demonstrate foreign policy unity.

The Senate acted within 55 minutes after the nomination of the war-time Army chief of staff was sent to Capitol Hill by the president, who accepted Byrnes resignation last night with regret.

Previously, in a 12 minute session arranged by Chairman Vandenberg (R-Mich) the 13-member foreign relations committee had placed its indorsement on Marshall as the man to carry forward the policies laid down by Byrnes in American dealings with foreign nations.

Appointments Presented To The Senate

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8. (AP)—President Truman today nominated D. C. as United States representative on the United Nations trusteeship council.

The nomination of Sayre, long a diplomatic advisor and most recently attached to UNRRA, was submitted to the Senate with a long list of appointments made during the congressional recess.

The president nominated Vice Adm. Louis E. Denfeld to the rank of full admiral during the period of his service as chief of naval personnel, the post he now holds.

The president formally nominated O. Max Gardner, former North Carolina governor, to be ambassador to London, and named A. L. M. Wiggins of Hartsville, S. C., to succeed Gardner as undersecretary of the treasury.

Other nominations included: Carroll Miller of Pennsylvania for reappointment to the Interstate Commerce Commission for a new term expiring Dec. 31, 1953.

Richard F. Mitchell of Iowa, nominated for the ICC to serve out the remainder of the term of Claude R. Porter which expires Dec. 3, 1949.

Among the recess appointees whose nominations went to the senate were those of W. Averell Harriman to replace Henry A. Wallace as secretary of commerce and Gordon R. Clapp as chairman of the Tennessee Valley Authority, succeeding David E. Lilienthal who now is chairman of the atomic energy commission.

Frank Creedon, housing expediter, and Raymond M. Foley, National Housing Administrator, both received recess appointments following the resignation of Wilson W. Wyatt from both jobs.

Dillon S. Myer of Ohio, administrator of the U.S. Housing Authority.

William L. Thorp of Connecticut, assistant secretary of state.

John D. Goodloe of Kentucky, George E. Allen's successor as a member of the Reconstruction Finance Corp. board of directors.

Fire Destroys N. York Piers

WEEHAWKEN, N.J., Jan. 8. (AP)—A general alarm fire, fanned by high winds, roared through two freight export piers of the New York Central Railroad today, blanketing the Hudson river waterfront opposite midtown Manhattan with dense clouds of smoke.

Damage was expected to run into several millions of dollars, a railroad spokesman said.

Five railroad employees were injured when the blaze started on pier 3, a quarter mile north of the west shore railroad passenger terminal. Pier 3 was destroyed. Cause of the fire was not immediately determined.

Thousands of New York-bound commuters of the west shore railroad watched the billowing smoke and spurts of orange flame shoot hundreds of feet into the air.

No Trace Yet Of Missing Fliers

ABOARD THE USS MT. OLYMPUS, Jan. 8. (AP)—A third search flight has failed to turn up any sign of the nine fliers missing for 10 days from the navy's antarctic expedition.

The flight was made yesterday by two seaplanes from the seaplane tender Pine Island, now standing outside the Ross Ice pack. They were forced back by fog and sleet after 2 1/2 hours in the air.

Vandenberg stepped down from the presiding officer's chair of the Senate to urge speedy disposition of the nomination, a move he said would demonstrate to the world that the United States has "a continuing and effective foreign policy."

Byrnes' resignation, due to health considerations, was announced by Mr. Truman last night. General Marshall's nomination to the secretaryship was sent to the Senate this noon along with scores of other appointments, most of which were announced during the congressional recess.

The wartime chief of staff is to replace Byrnes this Friday or as soon thereafter as he is confirmed by the Senate.

First, however, he is expected to vacation for a few days with Mrs. Marshall enroute from his diplomatic assignment in China.

At 60, Marshall is stepping into one of his most difficult and critical tasks. As Army Chief of Staff he did much to design the strategy of Allied victory. As Secretary of State he will have possibly a greater responsibility—that of working with the foreign ministers of other major powers to complete the structure of peace.

Byrnes, only little more than a year older than Marshall, attributed his resignation to doctors' advice early last year that he had to "slow down." He said he could not remain Secretary of State and do that.

Byrnes first asked last April 16 to be allowed to resign on July 1, expecting the European satellite peace treaties would be complete by then.

This was revealed in an exchange of correspondence with President Truman made public with dramatic suddenness by the White House last night.

When the treaties were not finished in mid-1946 Byrnes agreed with Mr. Truman to see the job through. It was finished in early December and on the 19th Byrnes restated his desire to quit effective Jan. 10 or as soon as his successor was qualified.

Accepting the resignation, the president gave his old friend a "well done" and "the thanks of the nation" for the achievements of his long public career.

This had carried him through both branches of Congress, to the Supreme Court, into a wartime job as war mobilizer under the late President Roosevelt, and finally to the State Department.

Amarillo Named To Federal Bench

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8. (AP)—President Truman today nominated Joe B. Dooley of Amarillo to be federal judge for the northern district of Texas, succeeding James C. Wilson, retired.

Dooley long has been prominent recommended by Senator Tom Connally. Senator W. Lee O'Daniel had recommended either of two Fort Worth judges, Atwood McDonald or Frank Culver.

Dooley long has been prominent in Texas legal circles. In 1944 he was president of the Texas Bar Association.

TOP INCOMES FOR PRIOR YEARS—

Movie Moguls Make Most Money

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8. (AP)—The film industry got its usual top billing today on a treasury list of 122 leading money-makers of 1944 and of business fiscal years ending in 1945.

Movie people held more than one out of every four spots on the partial list of over $75,000 earners and led it with the comedy team of Bud Abbott and Lou Costello. They took in $469,170 jointly—$234,585 each if they split it evenly.

Hollywood also furnished eight of the 12 persons on the list who received more than $200,000, but yielded top individual place to a businessman, Thomas J. Watson of New York, president of International Business Machines Corp.

Watson's gross was $425,548. Even so, he was a fair second to movie producer-director Leo McCarey, whose $1,113,035 earnings, set out in an earlier listing of 593 persons, kept him high money-maker for the 1944 and into 1945 period.

Second to Watson on the new list and leader among the women for 1944 earnings thus far reported was Deanna Durbin, who got $310,728 singing and acting in movies.

The No. 3 individual spot, and last in the over-$300,000 bracket, went to Walter Wanger, Universal Pictures producer. He took in $301,127. Fourth was Harry Cohn, president of Columbia Pictures, with $278,900.

Movie Actress Irene Dunne finished second among the women with $245,000.

JAMES F. BYRNES

Byrnes' Move Surprising To Other Nations

Surprise at the resignation of Secretary of State James F. Byrnes and overwhelming approval of Gen. George C. Marshall as his successor was expressed in foreign capitals today.

In London, a well informed official source said the appointment of Marshall came as "complete surprise," but that the general was a man highly esteemed in Britain.

His great abilities are thoroughly appreciated," he added.

German political leaders expressed regret over Byrnes' decision to resign. Leaders of the social democratic party said that he had "won the hearts of the majority of the German people with his Stuttgart speech which gave them hope of existence."

They said his resignation was bound to give the people a feeling of insecurity, especially in view of the approaching peace conference in Germany.

The Rome press reflected surprise over the resignation, one newspaper saying it had been received "with bewilderment."

In China, Generalissimo and Madame Chiang Kai-shek were unaware of his new appointment as they bid Marshall good-bye. He was returning from more than a year in China where he had tried to affect a peace between conflicting Chinese elements.

After the appointment had been announced, Chinese government officials expressed deep satisfaction, saying President Truman had selected the American best informed on China's complex problems. Chinese communist quarters withheld comment.

19 Cars Derailed

BROWNWOOD, Jan. 8. (AP)—Nineteen freight cars were derailed near the Leon River bridge between Comanche and Dublin today. No one was injured.

The cars, enroute from Fort Worth to Lubbock, included mix of merchandise. One car contained liquor.

Traffic on the Fort Worth-Brownwood Santa Fe line has been detoured through Temple.

Three-Way Race For Top Senate Position

AUSTIN, Jan. 8. (AP)—A three-cornered race for the presidency pro tempore of the senate was in prospect today.

Receptive of the post were senate veterans C. Chadick of Quitman, Ben Ramsey of San Augustine and Kyle Vick of Waco. Chadick said he was not actively seeking the post. Outgoing Senator W. C. Graves of Dallas was the last holder of the office.

The president pro tem presides over the Senate in the absence of the lieutenant governor, and is next in line for the acting governorship after the lieutenant governor.

Truman Asks Equitable Wage-Price Balance

Jew Extremists Reportedly Favor Truce In Violence

JERUSALEM, Jan. 8. (AP)—Eighteen Jews were officially reported arrested in a police-military search of Rishon Le Zion early today and reliable sources said five were prominent in Irgun Zvai Leumi, Jewish underground organization.

Seven others, these informants said, were members of Irgun Zvai Leumi. There was no immediate identification from police.

Rishon Le Zion, a town of 12,000 persons and the center of Palestine's Jewish wine industry, was the scene 10 days ago of one of three flogging incidents in which a British major and three sergeants were whipped by persons who said they were Irgun Zvai Leumi members.

The arrests came within hours of unconfirmed reports that the two most extreme Jewish underground groups had declared a 60-day truce in their campaign of violence in order to ease tension surrounding continued negotiations for a peaceful solution of Palestine's problems.

A Jewish agency spokesman said that "all-out efforts to bring an end of terrorism have been made in recent weeks and all kinds of efforts are continuing now."

There were widespread rumors in Jewish circles in both Jerusalem and Tel Aviv that Irgun Zvai Leumi and the so-called Stern gang had acceded to a demand from Haganah, the more moderate underground group, that violence cease while the possibility of a peaceful, diplomatic solution remained in the Jewish quest for a national home in Palestine.

In London a government source said the British cabinet would consider at a meeting tomorrow a recommendation from Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and Colonial Secretary Arthur Creech Jones that Palestine be divided into independent Arab and Jewish states.

This source said Bevin and Creech Jones had "decided in principle" that the only hope of bringing peace to the Holy Land lay in partition — the creation of separate states. The cabinet also is expected to consider whether to order British troops to smash the underground groups which have kidnapped, flogged and killed British troops in their attacks.

The underground organizations, however, have been comparatively quiet since Thursday night, when they launched one of their biggest simultaneous attacks on British military installations, using homemade flame throwers, mines, automatic weapons and grenades. The assaults cost the life of a British officer and wounded a score or more other persons.

To Confer On AAF Buildings

City officials and representatives of several Big Spring civic organizations were to attend a conference in Midland this afternoon with R. E. White, head of the War Assets Administration's real estate division in the Dallas region.

City Manager Herbert Whitney said the conference was arranged for local interests to obtain an outline of required steps to be taken in acquiring property at the Big Spring Army Airfield. The WAA already has advised the city that 168 buildings are being set aside for property restoration negotiations. In addition, city schools, the Howard County Junior college, the American Legion and the Howard County Fair Association have expressed interest in various buildings at the field.

January 15 Date Must Be Observed By Some Taxpayers

Farmers excused from estimating their 1946 tax early last year, business and professional people who have not paid the final installment on their declarations and those wage earners who, in addition to their salary, had more than $100 income from other sources must respect the Jan. 15 deadline for filing, amending and paying the Declarations of Estimated Income tax.

Other tax payers have been cautioned by the Collector of Internal Revenue not to confuse that date with the usual March 15 deadline, when final income tax returns will have to be made.

Treasury Department officials estimate that only about one out of every five taxpayers in this district are required to file their report Jan. 15, since this date concerns only those tax payers whose tax is not substantially paid up by withholding from wages.

Greenville Man Gets Federal Tax Post

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8. (AP)—President Truman nominated Herbert E. Arnold today to be internal revenue collector for the Texas second district.

Headquarters for the second district are in Dallas.

Arnold was nominated to the place made vacant by the death of W. A. Thomas last year.

Arnold is from Greenville, Texas.

Bill Offered To Outlaw The Closed Shop

Ball Proposes Restrictions On Labor

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8. (AP)—Senator Ball (R-Minn.) today introduced legislation to bar all labor contracts which make either membership or non-membership in a union a condition of employment.

The bill would outlaw: 1. Closed shop contracts. These require a worker to join a union before he can be hired.

2. Union shop agreements. Under these an employer may hire a non-union man, but he must join within a certain period.

3. Maintenance of membership contracts. Under such contracts, no one is compelled to join a union, but those who do join must maintain membership during the life of the contract, or lose their job.

Ball's bill also would specifically prohibit the so-called "yellow-dog" contract, under which employers make non-membership in a union a condition of employment.

Actually, these contracts already are banned under the Norris-LaGuardia Act of 1932. They also are classified as an "unfair labor practice" under the National Labor Relations Act of 1945.

Ball said in a statement that 90 days after enactment of his bill any person "hereafter entering into or attempting to enforce" any of the agreements declared to be outlawed, would be guilty of a misdemeanor punishable by a maximum penalty of a $5,000 fine and a year in jail.

A&M Regents Re-Appointed

AUSTIN, Jan. 8. (AP)—Gov. Coke R. Stevenson today reappointed three members of the Texas A&M board of directors and three members of the board of regents of the state teachers colleges, whose terms expire Jan. 10.

Renamed to the A&M board were H. J. Brees of San Antonio, Rufus Peebles of Teahuacana, D. S. Buchanan of Alton.

Reappointed to the board of regents of the teachers colleges were Dr. M. C. Eldson of Austin, Walter Woodull of Houston, R. L. Thomas of Dallas.

Subject to senate confirmation, they will serve six year terms on the respective boards.

Today's action completed Gov. Stevenson's slate of appointments to offices which became vacant in the last few days of his administration, with one exception.

The term of Dr. Thomas Taylor of Brownwood on the State Board of Public Welfare expires before Stevenson leaves office. He said today he had made no decision regarding it.

No Defense Offered In Football 'Fix'

NEW YORK, Jan. 8. (AP)—The defense, without calling a witness, rested today in the trial of Alvin J. Paris, charged with attempting to "fix" the Dec. 15 championship professional football game between the New York Giants and Chicago Bears.

Three minutes after Paris was brought into the courtroom before general sessions Judge Saul S. Street and a jury, the defense rested.

The state, which completed its case yesterday, had read a purported confession by Paris and brought out testimony from Merle Hapes and Frank Filchok, Giant backfield players.

Hapes and Filchok testified about a round of parties at Paris' apartment and night clubs which they said preceded the bribery attempts. Several of the city's leading nightclubs, including Copacabana, Martini and Copacabana, were among the places visited, Hapes said. He said Paris first mentioned the alleged "fix" at Copacabana.

Highlight of yesterday's developments was the testimony of Patrolman Joseph L. Jove, who told of tapping Paris' telephone beginning Dec. 3 in connection with a gambling investigation.

Outlines Economic Program To Keep Nation Prosperous

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8. (AP)—President Truman told congress today that for greater prosperity America needs lower prices and labor ought not to press wage demands which will keep them from dropping.

He sent the legislators a message in which he also said that for the nation's economic health they should (A) continue taxes at present wartime levels, (B) extend rent controls, (C) increase social security benefits, (D) boost minimum wages, (E) extend the wage-hour law to new groups, (F) start a long-range housing program and (G) enact new labor laws.

Mr. Truman's message was his first economic report under the Employment Act of 1946. That law requires that he and his economic advisers send congress a report early in each year on prospective business and employment conditions in the following 12 months.

The main points he emphasized to the Republican-held, economy-minded congress were these: The country should produce 5 percent more goods this year than last and keep employment at its record-breaking level.

But the purchasing power of the people may not support those goals unless wage and price adjustments are quickly made.

A major approach "must be through reduced prices."

Rent ceilings should remain beyond mid-1947, because "a large increase in rents would substantially reduce consumer purchasing power."

"Business can and should reduce prices wherever possible in order to bring about the necessary increase in consumer purchasing power to bolster markets."

Wage changes also are necessary and management must recognize that greater productivity in some cases will permit bigger pay checks as well as lower price tags; also that pay should go up where it has lagged behind living costs or where wage rates are substandard.

But labor "should refrain from demands for excessive wage increases that would require price increases or prevent price reductions."

"Wage adjustments, like price adjustments," Mr. Truman declared, "need to be made with a discriminating regard for individual situations throughout the economy."

In effect, that appeared to be clear notice that the White House has swung away from the support it was giving a year ago for general, industry-wide patterns of wage boosts.

Mr. Truman's long economic report, based on recommendations of his council of economic advisers headed by Dr. Edwin G. Nurse, opened on a note of high optimism.

"As the year 1947 opens America has never been so strong or so prosperous. Nor have our prospects ever been brighter."

It went on: "I reject, and I know the American people reject, the notion that we must have another depression. I am not referring to minor detours and bumps in the road."

Would Change Crop Insurance

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8. (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Anderson suggests the federal crop insurance on wheat and other insurable crops should be sold by an "independent" staff of salesmen headed by an experienced insurance executive.

At present, this insurance is sold through state and local AAA farmer committees. Anderson contends this method is too expensive.

Anderson has made no changes in the program although he could under existing authority.

Other changes he suggested might include: 1. Exclusion of some areas from the insurance program, particularly areas where farmer participation is sparse.

2. Upward revision of premium rates in high risk areas to assure a balance between premiums and losses.

3. Adjustment of losses by "trained adjustors" instead of by AAA farmer committees.

4. Placing of more responsibility upon farmers to carry out good crop management practices designed to minimize losses from acreage abandonment or neglect.

5. Limiting maximum coverage to a percentage of the farmer's actual expense on the insured crop rather than a guarantee of a certain yield per acre.

6. Collecting premiums and pay losses in terms of dollars rather than in terms of bushels of wheat.

Officials said that none of these changes, if made, would become effective before the 1948 crop year.

Truman

road ahead — these we know we shall have."

Taxes should be kept at present levels, Mr. Truman said, because in periods when "employment is high and the total income is large," the rule of sound public finance "calls for surplus in government revenues over expenditures."

Mr. Truman broke his recommendations down into what he termed "short-range" and "long-range" programs.

On the "short-range" for which he asked immediate attention were:

Raise the minimum wage above its present 40-cent base, and extend the Fair Labor Standards Act to classes of workers now excluded.

Increase old-age benefits and survivors' insurance under social security; extend aids to the blind and dependent children beyond 1947.

Launch a long-range housing program designed "to reduce the cost of housing on all fronts" and help start 1,000,000 new dwellings this year.

Pass the "non-punitive" labor legislation recommended in the State-of-the-Union message—aimed mainly at jurisdictional strikes, some secondary boycotts, and disputes arising under existing contracts.

"In order to build an enduring prosperity," Mr. Truman declared, "x x we must and we shall solve the problem of making necessary adjustments in wages and working conditions without round after round of crippling and futile halts in production."

On prices, he argued that if the country attempts to support purchasing power by wage boosts alone, the effect may be to cripple industry's production or start a new wage-price spiral.

This situation points to the other method of balancing buying power with production, the president said: A lowering of prices.

Would-Be Robbers Abandon Auto In Sweetwater

No new developments have turned up in the attempted burglarizing of Pinkie's liquor store early Tuesday morning, which was frustrated when Special Deputy C. C. Arnold fired four shots at two men who fled the scene in an automobile.

The vehicle, which had been stolen from a downtown street in Sweetwater sometime Monday night, was found in Sweetwater yesterday morning. Its perforated rear-end betraying evidence that all four of the slugs from Arnold's gun had taken effect.

The occupants of the machine, however, had disappeared. The pair had kicked in the front door of the package store and then returned to their automobile to see if the noise had aroused the curiosity of anyone in the neighborhood. Arnold was on duty in that vicinity at the time and rushed to the scene.

The US Weather Bureau forecast mostly cloudy for this afternoon, tonight and Thursday but with little change in temperatures. Freezing level was about 100 feet above ground Wednesday morning, accounting for the light rain turning to mushy sleet, which melted almost as rapidly as it fell.

Today's reading of 29 made 11 consecutive days that sub-freezing temperatures have been recorded.

British Food Less Than During War

LONDON, Jan. 8. (AP)—Great Britain began its eighth year of food rationing today with Britons getting less of most commodities than in the bleak war days of 1940.

STARTS AS JUROR, ENDS AS WITNESS

HOUSTON, Jan. 8. (AP)—S. V. Smith, 50, Harris county cattleman, entered district court here yesterday as a prospective juror for a murder trial but before the day was over he was a prosecution witness.

During examination of the special venire, Assistant District Attorney John Meyers asked Smith if he knew anything about the case of Cleveland Boone, 44-year-old Negro charged in the stabbing of Nezzie McGhee, another Negro.

Smith replied that he did and added, "I saw it."

Later in the day Smith took the witness stand, after being excused as a juror.

Boone was found guilty and received a five year suspended sentence.

The Force that Holds Up the "Goblet of Venus"... OIL-PLATES Your Engine!

Strange phenomenon of nature is the "Goblet of Venus"! Stranger still is the tremendous force of molecular attraction that enables the stem to support the huge bowl!

Utilizing this mighty force of molecular attraction, a special ingredient in Conoco Nth motor oil is attracted to working surfaces of your engine. In fact, so strong is this attraction that cylinder walls and other parts are OIL-PLATED.

And because molecular attraction holds Conoco OIL-PLATING up where it belongs... prevents it from all draining down to the crankcase, even overnight... you get these benefits:

1. added protection during the vital periods when you first start your engine
2. added protection from corrosive action when your engine is not in use
3. added protection from wear that leads to fouling sludge and carbon
4. added smooth, silent miles

That's why you'd be safer to OIL-PLATE your engine now... at Your Conoco Mileage Merchant's. Look for the red triangle. Continental Oil Company

Office Supply Items Coming On Market
Hester's Adds Philco Line To Local Stock
 During the past year supplies and production of office equipment have improved a hundredfold at Hester's office supply store, Boone Horne has revealed, and he expressed his appreciation to the store's patrons for their patience in waiting for hard to get items and their enthusiasm for new lines which have been featured during the past year.
 In 1946 supplies of office equipment and materials were increased considerably, and the shelves began to resume a normal appearance.
 To augment the appliance stock, Hester's has added the Philco line of electrical products, including record players, radios, refrigerators, stoves and washing machines. If it's made by Philco, Hester's will have it, whatever the appliance, when manufacturing is increased.
 At the present time, paper supplies used in most business offices, are as short as they were during the war, but Horne declared that the future looks brighter, and even now, local stocks are adequate to meet most demands.
 Bond letter paper and colored stationery supplies are in abundance at Hester's, and the selection is varied. Hester's is equipped to offer the personalized touch by imprinting names or initials on the sheets. The supply of inks in numerous shades to match or contrast with any paper is complete at the store's stationery department.
 The most difficult item to obtain is office furniture, Horne declared. Desks are for the most part unavailable, but the picture was brightened when word was received of a shipment of steel filing cabinets expected at any time.
 Hester's stock is improving continually, and the personnel promises even better service for 1947. Whether it's a typewriter or a pen point stop at Hester's, 114 East Third, first.

WHERE TO GO—When considering plans for flowers and fruiting vines around your home, Caroline's Flower Shop, 1510 Gregg, is the place to go for the answer to your problems. As in the past, Caroline's carries a stock of early spring flowering bulbs, such as daffodils and gladioli. Continuing a long established policy, these will be well formed, hearty bulbs capable of producing sturdy plants and luxuriant blossoms. Besides these, there still will be a wealth of tomato and pepper plants ready for transplanting when danger of the last frost is over. These are services provided by Caroline's in addition to service in cut flowers and pot plants.

Runyan's Skilled Workmen Ready To Meet Emergencies
 Sub-freezing weather brings in normal sequence visits from the plumber, especially when temperatures begin to rise to normal warmth. When a pipe bursts the home owner wants a plumber to remedy the situation immediately, and efficient quick service is assured when he calls 535, the Runyan Plumbing company.
 Although materials in the plumbing trade continue to be on the scarce side, Runyan's corps of trained workers can do a great deal to alleviate the watery situation caused by broken pipes. The number of plumbing jobs this time of year is large, but Runyan's can assure reasonably prompt service.
 The Runyan supplies for home comfort now include adequate stocks of fuel furnaces for constantly warm and healthfully heated rooms, regardless of the weather outside. Such heating facilities provide constant, regulated warmth, reducing as far as possible colds which can result from wavering temperatures. The new wall furnaces provide all of the warmth of the floor furnace, yet require considerably less space.
 Although the bathroom and kitchen plumbing fixtures are still hard to obtain, Runyan's have good stocks of fine quality kitchen sinks. For an abundance of hot, pure water at all times, Runyan's also have a large, complete stock of water heaters, which can be installed quickly and easily.
 Whether you need repair service in a hurry, or its installation of new plumbing, call at Runyan's for expert service.

Desired Home Appliances Are Appearing At BS Hardware Co.
 A variety of home appliances which measure up to early predictions concerning post-war industry are now on display at the Big Spring Hardware company, 117 Main street.
 Local residents can get their first look at a new dual-temp refrigerator now being exhibited on the Big Spring Hardware floor. The multiple purpose unit contains a freezing locker capable of accommodating about 80 pounds of food. The control for the freezing locker can be adjusted for any temperature down to 15 degrees below zero. The refrigerator section of the unit has a separate control. The box uses the moist wall type of refrigeration and requires no defrosting.
 There is also a Maytag deep freezer on display, which will maintain a constant temperature of 0 degrees, regardless of outside conditions. The unit will maintain freezing conditions for food stuffs up within 15 inches of the top even with the lid off. It is constructed to fit in with other kitchen appliances and furniture, and the unit itself may serve as a handy and attractive table.
 One of the most outstanding displays now being exhibited, however, is the Maytag Dutch Oven range. The oven cooks by retained heat, and the walls are skillfully insulated. Surface burners are made of stainless steel, instead of the conventional cast iron, and they may be removed and washed. Burner valves are installed out of children's reach, and a perfect heat and time control system is included. There is a grill below the oven, also of stainless steel, which can double as an attractive serving tray.
 Washing machines by Maytag also are arriving more frequently and in larger quantity.
 In addition, the Big Spring Hardware is offering several other nationally known appliances. Roger Ranges will be coming through in 34 models, with selections to fit every purse and every type of use. They will range from the small apartment stoves up to $1,000 super models with varied burner arrangements and finishes.
 Big Spring Hardware is distributor in this area for American Central steel kitchens, and one is on the floor for display now. It has spacious cabinet space, a sink and streamlined faucets and vegetable sprays. It is constructed of steel and finished in white enamel.
 Delivery of Bendix washing machines is beginning to speed up, and Big Spring Hardware has several Speed Queen washers which can be purchased from the floor now. The delivery problem on Chambers ranges also is improving, and although supplies still are short, Big Spring Hardware expects Zenith and Admiral radios to begin coming through more rapidly in the near future.

 There are only 40,000 Germans war prisoners still in Poland. Five thousand are being used in the reconstruction of Warsaw. Five thousand are working on Polish farms, and 30,000 are employed in the mines. The Germans are housed in 10 separate camps.

George D. Clark, manager of the San Angelo office of the Social Security Administration, Federal Security Agency, has announced. The San Angelo area includes 31 West Texas counties, including Howard.

Clark said he had no way of knowing the total of permanently insured workers in this area, but more than half have gained that status through the completion of 10 years of work in commerce and industry by the end of 1946. The past year was the first in which it was possible for them to attain fully insured status under the 10-year coverage provision, since the old-age and survivors insurance program completed its 10th year of operation on Dec. 31.

Benefits for the nation increased from 1,288,000 at a monthly rate of $23,801,000 at the end of 1945, to an estimated 1,655,000 at a monthly rate of $31,360,000 at the end of 1946.

On Dec. 31, 1945 the San Angelo area had 1,180 at an annual rate of $213,813, while Howard county had 138 at $26,620 a year. The estimate for Dec. 31, 1946 for the area was 1,645 at $302,820, and for Howard county, 215 at $44,055.

About 4,800,000 workers in the United States, including about 800,000 women, will have completed the necessary 10 years of service in covered jobs this year and thus will be insured permanently,

Clark said. In addition, about 1,600,000 men and 200,000 women will be fully insured for life—under another provision of the law—because they will have worked in covered jobs for a time greater than half that between the end of 1936 and the date when they will be 65 years old, Clark explained. All members of this group will reach 65 before 1957.

The other persons who will be insured permanently include about 1,400,000 men and 200,000 women who have gained fully insured status and are now 65 years old or older. About half of them are now drawing monthly benefits.

Workers who are insured permanently will have at least minimum insurance protection for life, regardless of their future work history. Workers who are fully insured, but not insured permanently, can maintain their status by continued work in jobs covered by the Social Security Act. When their records show 10 years of such employment, they will be insured permanently. The covered employment does not have to be continuous, Clark pointed out.

Clark emphasized that even though a worker has acquired fully or permanently insured status his wages are still taxed at the current rates. At any time a worker holds any job covered by the Social Security Act, his employer is required to deduct social security taxes.

Jack Calvert, a field representative from the San Angelo office, visits Big Spring on the first and third Monday of each month, Clark said. Persons desiring information concerning the social security program and its benefits may contact him on the designated dates at the Texas State Employment Services, 112 West Second street.

WEATHER STILL FIRST—

Commuting Public Finds Plenty To Talk About Other Than War

By WACIL McNAIR

Maybe President Truman didn't act on such good authority as this when he declared that hostilities were at an end, but the war definitely is over.

How do I know? I checked the pulse of the public, perhaps by an unorthodox method according to standards employed by such pulse checkers as Dr. George Gallup, Joe Belden, et al, but my system holds significance for me, anyway.

To begin with, no questions were asked during this sample of the goings on within the hearts and minds of people. I just listened—listened to conversation among that inevitable group which forms on the front seats of a bus traveling on a night schedule. You know the situation. Two or three men, and maybe a woman or two, who have no intention of trying to catch a few winks sleep while en route to various destinations. The bus drivers love it, because it helps them keep awake and alert. Some of them even contribute to the conversation occasionally, as did the driver of this particular bus. The others involved: two salesmen, another man whose vocation was not learned (Mr. X on the official pulse report) and a girl from Canada—her presence should give this report international significance.

For some strange reason, the weather was the first major topic. Maybe a temperature reading of about nine degrees had something to do with it. The report didn't gain much at this stage, except to tabulate a statement by the Canadian lass to the effect that she was suffering more from this Texas weather than she did from 30 below temperatures in Alberta.

To a man whose last travel by public conveyance was before Japan's surrender, this appeared to be a bad beginning. They should have started by anticipating Gen. Whoosis' next move against the Japs in East Cellophane. But I suddenly remembered that Gen. Whoosis probably was back in the states and attired in civvies by now.

The talk didn't suffer from a shortage of topics, however. After covering the weather they barged into sports. Although, like the war, it already was recorded in history, the Texas High School football final was passed right up to the front. Finally Mr. X said he believed gamblers were taking over high school and college sports.

"These gamblers are even printing little cards with the point margins listed now," Mr. X told his startled cohort. "They'll take money over the counter if you want to bet, too."

The subject silence caused Mr. X to glance across the aisle toward the salesman. The salesman's lips had dropped apart and they were incapable of anything but stares of incredulity. I don't know what they were selling.

The girl from Canada brought them out of it by launching a discussion of food. Black-eyed peas tasted like plain mush as far as she was concerned. This brought the bus driver's tongue into action. If black-eyed peas tasted like must they apparently had not been prepared correctly, and furthermore they must have been dry peas, not green peas. He continued with a 15-minute discourse, covering everything from turnip greens and onions to T-bone steaks.

By this time, I could see that such weighty discussion would never permit entry of any war talk. Molotov and the atomic bomb didn't get a look-in. So take heed,

Hans Von Kaltenborn, Elmer Davis, Gabriel Heatter, etc. the war is over.

School Funds Show Balance

With four months of the fiscal year gone, the Big Spring schools have expended $27,129 less than they have received.

Financial statement of the district, approved by the board of trustees Monday night, showed receipts of $178,664 and disbursements of $151,535. Approximately 75 per cent of current taxes are covered by the report, although around $35,000 remains with one month of the current tax collection period remaining. An additional $90,224 from the state scholastic apportionment is outstanding. To date a total of $132,084 has been received from 1946 taxes and only $39,992 from the state apportionment.

Chief item of cost has been for instructional service, around $103,500 of the total disbursements having gone for this requirement. Janitor salaries have added $6,159, capital outlay for alterations and equipment $6,809, $2,069 for insurance, $8,408 for debt service.

Cash balance as of Dec. 31, 1946, was $104,110, occasioned in no small measure by a carry-over balance of $76,000 at the beginning of the fiscal year on Sept. 1, 1946. Of the total, $84,127 is in the general fund and $20,983 in the interest and sinking fund.

Basis For Constructive Cooperation

Perhaps one of the best evidences of the soundness of President Truman's State of the Union message to congress lies in the fact that extreme liberals and conservatives alike will not like it.

Fundamentally, the President followed a moderate course in his message to the congress. While his left of center views were reflected in some parts of his recommendations, these were tied up basically with constitutional and fundamental rights. These were on such a foundation that there can be little dispute of them.

The accounting of his stewardship as head of the nation was heartening, particularly because it rose above the realms of partisanship and because it established the basis upon which the Republican dominated congress can work with the democratic president.

His appeals for dealing with the labor question were temperate. So were his recommendations against undue tax reductions without first achieving governmental economy; his suggestion that there be action to insure action against monopoly and unfair business practices; his request for some type of compulsory military training.

Yet, none of these lacked in pointedness as was the case in the announced determination to continue a policy of firmness for right in international dealings. There is nothing lacking in clarity on this point.

The President wisely called attention to the pressing problems of the day, cautioned against punitive action, reminded that intolerance and bigotry are still to be contended with. But he left up to Congress and its committees the problem of working out the laws which would implement these suggestions. There is ample latitude along with sufficient notice of the bounds by which he will be constrained in passing judgment upon the labors of Congress.

Although no one seriously expects a republican congress and a democratic administration to indulge in a prolonged honeymoon, President Truman has given rise to great hope that the impasse brought about by similar circumstances in our recent history need not necessarily be repeated.

For all the criticism which has been heaped upon him, Harry Truman emerged in his State of the Union message as a man who has walked from the shadow of his inheritance into his own. He spoke indeed as the President of the United States of America, and we believe that the majority of the people are aware of that fact.

Being Ready When The Time Comes Favorite Quips

If warming temperatures haven't already done it, we suggest that a general sidewalk cleaning—and particularly downtown—is entirely in order.

Some of the general public negligence in this direction can be charged off to the fact that seldom do we have such conditions of prolonged ice and snow in this country. However, after a week, it does seem that passage for pedestrians could be made more tolerable.

Many residents and a few businessmen made it a point to clear sidewalks right after the first heavy snow fell and as a result there was no slipping and falling in front of their premises. Others were not afflicted by such industry and consideration, and as pedestrians packed the snow and slush, it froze into a regular ice pan. In a few places it is still there—and it is still hazardous.

The city was slow to cope with the situation, too, and as a result traffic conditions were abominable downtown. There were spots where the ice shelf grew to proportions of six inches or more, and consequently will be days in dissipating.

By now the weather is accomplishing the clearing process by degrees, but we suggest that if such a condition does come again this season that there be more attention given to handling it. It is inconceivable that businessmen who invite the public's support would be so thoughtless of the public's safety and comfort in failing to at least attend to the muck and mess at their own doors.

NEW YORK.—My favorite W. C. Fields quip was the one about the time a Hollywood friend asked the comic genius if he wanted a drink of water. "Water," replied Fields in his most effective haughtily belligerent fashion, "is not a drink!"

Georgia Sothorn, whose renown is mostly among the burlesque theaters of the country, where she is an acknowledged peer at her neo-cultural trade, billed herself during her most recent undraping tour as "Senator Claghorn's favorite actress."

Will Morrissey, the shoestring producer who boasts he ran his famous shoestring into a crowd of pursuing deputy sheriffs, turned down an offer to work on a musical based on the almost unbelievably ridiculous story of his humorous career. "A man of my aspiration," said the irresponsible William, "can not afford to be associated with a hit!"

Morrissey, whose red-linked escapades with productions would fill a book of wonderfully daffy legends, was sitting in a midtown salon, or saloon if you will, with his great friend Joe Howard, singer of Gay Nineties ballads, and each was telling all in earshot of their undying mutual devotion.

"Will," said Howard, putting his arm affectionately about the shoulders of the permanently young Morrissey, "I want you to know that even in death we won't be separated."

"And don't worry about dying broke. I just spent several thousand dollars for a beautiful mausoleum, and on the front will be inscribed: 'Here lie Joe Howard and Will Morrissey—together in life and death.'"

Morrissey turned abruptly, his face contorting from amiability and good fellowship to mock anger, swept his drink from the

Crack The Little Problems First

WASHINGTON, (AP)—President Truman stepped very carefully in telling Congress what to do about labor and management.

Briefly, he told Congress: crack down right away on the little problems but don't rush on the big ones.

Start here:

The greatest single cause of strikes is the failure of labor and management to agree when bargaining about a new contract.

Mr. Truman recognized the right of workers to strike or employers to shut down a plant when they can't agree on a new contract.

But he recognized this right only in a general way. That's because strikes over a new contract are of two kinds:

1. Where the public doesn't suffer much.
2. Where the whole country suffers, as in a nationwide coal, oil, or steel, or railroad strike.

As to strikes where the public doesn't suffer much—Mr. Truman did not say they should be forbidden.

He simply said the government should try to get labor and management to settle a dispute over a new contract without a strike.

But as to nationwide strikes where the whole country suffers, Mr. Truman took a different, although cautious, course.

He said congress should set up a 20-man commission to study the problem of trying to prevent a nationwide strike over a new contract.

If congress tried to outlaw nationwide strikes, the right of workers to strike would be taken away. And any law which prevented workers from striking almost certainly would take some freedom away from employers—freedom to shut down a plant or an industry.

So Mr. Truman told congress to be pretty careful about what it tried to do on this one.

But on some of the "unjustifiable" things done by labor or management, Mr. Truman told congress:

Go right ahead and pass laws to stop them.

Here are the points on which he told congress to go ahead:

Jurisdictional strikes, some secondary boycotts, and strikes or plant shutdowns caused by a dispute over a contract after it has been agreed to and is in effect.

Art For Industry

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., (AP)—Art has been put into harness in many modern factories.

Paul Rudin, a 43-year-old Swiss of many talents, is an example of how the creative eye and imagination to the sculptor can provide time-saving short cut for industry.

Paul is an intense and sensitive artist and writer who wanted to be an engineer in his youth but gave it up because he was a pacifist.

"I felt that engineering in Europe only led to war," he said, "and I thought that through art and literature I could do more for peace."

He came to New York in 1920 after study in Paris where fellow artists accused him of "shooting at the moon" because he worked for the development of a United States of Europe.

When war broke out he joined other artists and professional men who sought factory employment. His supervisors at the Chance-bought Division of United Aircraft here were at first hard put to find an outlet for his special skill. A sculptor seemed about as valuable to them in building airplanes as a veterinarian.

Paul found his own place. He noticed that it took months to make and experiment with wooden models for the new shapes of airplane engine and mounting parts being involved by engineers. Sometimes scores of shapes had to be tried before the one most efficient was found.

"I asked to try to reduce the time by making plaster models," he said. And somewhat dubious supervisors gave him the chance.

Plan engineers found almost at once that Paul was the answer to their prayers. With the sculptor's instinctive sense of form he was able in a few hours to model the designs they formulated, designs so intricate they could not even be shown in line drawings.

Rudin eventually found a way to make his plaster models so strong that engineers could test them and improve the designs without bothering even to make metal castings—another time-saver.

I asked him if making plaster models of other men's designs satisfied him and he grinned and said:

"There are some things in a sculptor's soul we shouldn't go into."

But he has proved sculptors have a place in industry. The factory here has hired three more.

Lobbyists Block Newspaper Probe

WASHINGTON.—Seventy-one-year-old Senator Jim Murray of Montana, Democrat, let loose some fighting words at younger Senator Kenneth Wherry, Nebraska Republican, when the latter confronted him with the flat announcement that the Republicans had called off the Senate small business probe of the newspaper and newspaper monopoly.

A month earlier, when Wherry delayed the investigation, thereby getting in wrong with certain Nebraska newspaper constituents, Murray had come to his Republican colleague's rescue. Together they issued a joint statement that the news probe would definitely be held January 7. This compromise statement was made early in December, when the Democrats still controlled the Senate and when Murray could have proceeded on his own. However, he relied on Wherry's word that the hearings would be held in January—even though the Republicans then would be in control.

Last week, however, after whispered conferences with GOP king-makers Taft and White, Wherry abruptly strode across the Senate floor to inform Murray.

"You will not begin hearings on Tuesday morning. The whole thing is off."

"You — — —!" Exploded the tall Montana senator.

However, he was helpless. With the Republicans in the majority, there was nothing he could do. Accordingly, about 40 scheduled witnesses, some en route from various parts of the country, were called off. Among them was Secretary of the Interior Krug who planned to propose that Alaskan forests be open for American newsprint—if Congress gave him the proper authority and cooperation.

TOO MANY READERS FOR NEWSPRINT

Working at cross-purposes regarding this investigation were two sets of circumstances and lobbyists. One was the fact that there now are 1,000,000,000 people in the world who can read. And the greater the number of people who can read, the greater the demand for newspapers and newsprint. Russia, with only 25 per cent of its people literate, now is 75 per cent literate. Education also has increased in Latin America, Europe, Asia and the United States. Thus the problem of newsprint is serious and will become more so.

Simultaneously, the big magazines, especially Time, Life, Fortune, the Saturday Evening Post, the big trade journals, such as Iron Age, and some of the big newspapers such as the Chicago Tribune, New York News, and New York Times have cornered many of the pulp mills of the United States and Canada. This has left scores of smaller papers out in the cold.

Approximately 1,000 of these smaller papers had written to Senator Murray urging that the Senate Small Business Committee probe the news monopoly. On the other hand, the big newspapers, magazines and trade journals were dead opposed. One of their lobbyists, William L. Daley of the National Editorial Association (actually a lobbying front for the big trade journals), was busy as a bird dog trying to kill the investigation.

Another probe opponent was Senator Taft, whose family owns the prosperous Cincinnati Times-Star, and who gets enthusiastic political backing from his close friend Henry Luce, publisher of Time, Life and Fortune.

Another thing which worried the big boys were certain facts which the Small Business Committee planned to expose regarding post office subsidies to big magazines. The committee was planning to show, for instance, that Time, Life and Fortune received an annual subsidy from the U.S. Post Office Department of $3,500,000 a year, while most daily newspapers get only a pittance of post office subsidy from second-class mailing privileges.

Another thing that worried the big moguls was the Senate committee's discovery that the post office department had never made any analysis of the statements of news paper and magazine ownership filed with it quarterly in order to enjoy second class rates. The Small Business Committee was digging into these files in order to ascertain how many magazines and papers were owned by the copper companies (as in Montana) how many by the railroads and other big interests.

This embarrassing curiosity apparently was too alarming for Senators Wherry, Taft and White; so Wherry's previous pledge to Senator Murray was thrown overboard.

NOTE 1—If the Republicans later go ahead with a face-saving probe, it will be only after ousting the inquisitive investigators who dug up so much embarrassing dirt for Chairman Murray.

NOTE 2—It was the monopoly of the news channels which molded public opinion which allowed Hitler to become supreme in Germany.

BILBO'S FRIEND IN RADIO

Although the Senate refused to seat Senator Bilbo of Mississippi, the Federal Communications Commission last month awarded a new radio station to friends of the senator.

The new station was given to the Rebel Broadcasting Company of Jackson, Miss. Its officers are: Allen Lacey, who makes Bilbo's office a constant place of call while in Washington; and Charles Russell, a leader of the Mississippi delegation which nearly walked out of the 1944 Democratic convention in Chicago because Franklin D. Roosevelt won the presidential nomination. The company's lawyer is Forest Jackson, who represented Bilbo last month before the Kilgore Committee.

THE STRATEGY ON BILBO

It was Senator Vandenberg of Michigan, with backstage support from Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon, who forced the closed-door GOP Steering Committee to take a definite stand for the immediate barring of Senator Bilbo.

Senator Bob Taft of Ohio had proposed that the fight on Bilbo be deferred until after the president's message to the state of the union. Fearing such a move, Morse had talked things over beforehand with Vandenberg, as well as with Senators Knowland of California and Hickenlooper of Iowa. All agreed that the best Bilbo strategy was for the Senate to stay in continuous session. Senator Chapman Revercomb of West Virginia, however, was ready to follow Taft's proposal. He wanted to hear the President's message, he said, and he thought his colleagues did too.

"I find myself in complete disagreement with the senator from West Virginia," countered Vandenberg, thereby diplomatically passing over the fact that he was also in complete disagreement with Taft.

"I don't want to hear any message from the President before this Senate is organized," he said. "I remember that the last time the President addressed a joint session he asked us to do something unconstitutional and it was rushed through the House and we had a lot of trouble holding it up here. (Truman's proposal to draft railway strikers.) For all I know, the President may ask something unconstitutional again, and I for one want to know that we are in position to organize to block any precipitate action for which we will be sorry later."

Finally, Taft yielded and word was passed around that the Republicans were prepared to sit it out indefinitely. This decision was a major factor in the Democratic compromise to keep Bilbo from his seat for two months. (Copyright, 1946, The Hill Syndicate, Inc.)

Texas Today—

Too Much Money For One Bull

By JACK RUTLEDGE
Associated Press Staff

The El Paso Times carried a headline that read "$15,000 paid for Texas bull" and Editor H. W. Hooten got the following letter:

"Evidently something has gone wrong with the famous law of supply and demand in Texas. Considering its abundance, this commodity is definitely overpriced. In fact, so far as this region is concerned, the market on Texas bull can be said to be way overproduced."

The letter, reproduced in Hooten's column, was from R. L. Barrett of Mesilla Park, N. M.

And Gilbert "Gib" Sandefer of Abilene, reading about the Rockefeller offer to the United Nations of an eight million dollar block of New York real estate for their headquarters, came up with what he figured was a better deal.

He offered them eight acres of land near Maryneal.

He said there was so much bull tossed by the United Nations delegates, they ought to feel more at home out in Texas, where bulls are appreciated.

In Waco, though, dogs make headlines.

A News-Tribune paper carrier had to outrun a pack of dogs and complained to the police. He was on his bicycle, and had to set a new record to escape, he said.

The police investigated, and the owner told them:

"They're just country dogs. They aren't used to seeing boys ride by on bicycles, and they don't like people coming into the yard. They run out and snap at them."

Pudgy of Denison is lost. Pudgy is a white Pekinese, believed to be one of the few white pekinese in the United States.

Bert Cornelius brought it home from London, gave it to his two-year-old daughter Glenda. It ran away.

And Dr. Hubert Shull of Texarkana wants to put on the dog—a dog show. He said there were 114 different breeds of dogs registered nationally, and that Texarkana had at least 60 of the breeds.

In Hollywood—Bob Thomas

Changes His Mind

HOLLYWOOD, (AP)—Lew Ayres has decided that "message" pictures are not for him.

When Lew got out of service a year ago, he told me that he wanted only to do films which had an underlying purpose. Like many an underlying purpose, Lew's ideas have changed.

"In these times I think movies should be designed for entertainment," he said on the set of "The Unfaithful," his second post-war film. "No matter how good or bad a picture may be, if it affords the public entertainment, it is doing an important job."

Lew said going to the movies is like a doctor's prescription in these troubled times.

"Yes, even if they are pure escapism, they are beneficial," he declared, "because it gives us a chance to get away from our problems. As a result, we can face tomorrow with more strength."

He admitted that a message can be included in an entertainment film, but it should be a simple one, such as living right, being tolerant etc. The danger in serious pictures, he pointed out, is in overplaying one view point against another, which has no chance to make an answer.

Lew returned from the war looking gaunt and worn, but a year of civilian life has done wonders for him. He has added 10 pounds and is looking more like his old self. I asked what impressed him most about being out of the army. His answer:

"To appreciate the simplest things, the things we take for granted every day. Like having a lamp over your bed, having the time to read a book, and being able to switch on the radio."

Yes, Lew is one guy who is thoroughly "rehabilitated."

Bob Hope was one of those who cleaned up on the Rose Bowl game. He had seen Illinois play Northwestern and that convinced him to pick up the UCLA dough. . . . I note that Joan Crawford announces she is going to campaign for Olivia de Havilland in the academy race. Do you suppose this has anything to do with the fact that they both have the same press agent? . . . Frank Sinatra now plans to take his first vacation in years starting Jan. 8. He wants to hop in his car and start driving, stopping at motels or any place beside the road. . . . Jose Turbi is lining up his 1947 concert tour. The itinerary: Mexico, Cuba, Venezuela, Brazil and Argentina. He shows off in February and has already sent three pianos ahead. . . .

Hawks Tangle With Wayland Five Tonight, Meet Amarillo Friday

On the road today for an evening debate with Wayland Junior college in Plainview, the Howard County Jay-Cee cagers return home Friday night to do battle with the Amarillo Badgers at the High school gymnasium. Game time is 8 o'clock.

DICK WIGGINS ... Badger Co-Captain

The Jayhawks are the decided underdogs in the Plainview contest, having dropped a one-sided decision to the Jackrabbits several weeks ago.

Leon Bush's forces may be out-gunned in the Amarillo encounter, too, since the Panhandle club will bring a good record to town.

The Amarillo team is coached by R. P. Carter.

Bush has indicated he will start his usual lineup. His offense is built around rangy Tommie Elliott, who is pacing the quintet in scoring. Others who are ticketed for action include Jimmy Pedan, John Griffin, John Rundeseal, Lad Smith and Wesley Deats.

Both tonight's game and the one Friday evening will count in Western zone standings.

MIDLAND, Jan. 8.—Surging from behind with two field goals in the last minute and a half, the Big Spring Steers nosed out the Midland Bulldogs in a District 3AA basketball thriller here Tuesday night, 40-39.

John Malaise's hustling Bovines trailed all the way until Capt. Horace Rankin stuffed in a two-pointer in the final moment. The Canines led at the end of the first quarter, 10-7; were out in front at half time, 20-19; and managed to hold that one-point advantage at the termination of the third period of play, which ended 29-28.

Eddie Houser had five field goals and three free tosses to grab off high scoring laurels for the evening.

Stanton Routs Forsan, 41-13

FORSAN, Jan. 8.—Stanton's powerful Buffaloes swept a doubleheader from the Forsan quintets here Tuesday night, with the Buff "A" aggregation coasting to a 41-13 triumph and the "B" team winning 21-17.

Billy Ray Avery paced the Buffalo "A" scorers, accounting for 14 points. Louis Stallings was a close second with 12. The Buffs led at the half 18-0.

Guy Henson sparked the "B" attack for the visitors, with 14 points, and Prater was high man for Forsan with seven.

Kimbrough May Get Tempe State Job

TEMPE, Ariz., Jan. 8. (AP) — Frank Kimbrough, who recently resigned as football coach at Baylor university, Waco, Texas, is among the candidates for a similar position at the Tempe Arizona State college, officials of the college have revealed.

The officials, who requested their names be withheld, stated that there have been "two movements from different sources" to obtain the assignment for Kimbrough.

Solden Shines As Legion Wins Over Coahomans

COAHOMA, Jan. 8. — Paul Solden couldn't miss the basket as the American Legion cage quintet rolled to a 49-23 victory over the Coahoma Independents here Tuesday night.

Solden, working smoothly with his mates, collected a total of 26 points to more than equal the combined scoring of the opposition.

The Big Springers were held on fairly even terms until the third period when they broke the traces. Pete Farquhar's brigade boasted an 11-5 edge at the termination of the first stanza. Coahoma cut the advantage to 15-11 at half time but the Legionnaires unshackled their offense in Round Three to lead by 29-16.

Frank Hardesty and his 11 points were also a big factor in the Legion attack. Others who tallied and their point total included: Smith 5; Davis 4; Gartman 2; and Bell 1.

Hezlie Read was the central part of Coahoma's attack with eight points while Dixon, Marshall, Thompson and Hunter also found the range at one time or another.

S'Antonio Club May Not Move

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 8. (AP) — Chances that the Texas league will open the 1947 season with the same clubs that went through a record-breaking campaign in 1946 were considered bright today.

For a while it appeared San Antonio, charter member and holder of the all-time mark in home attendance, would either become an orphan or have to operate its franchise in some other city.

"Baseball or transportation" was the title of the skill.

Tech field, which had been used by the St. Louis Browns in operating its Texas league franchise here, was sold to the San Antonio Transit Co. attempts by the Browns to purchase land for a park field and the Civilian Production Administration turned down an application by the city for erection of a $300,000 plant.

So the Browns started shopping around for a location elsewhere. The latest city to be considered was Wichita, Kansas.

BASEBALL PLANS PROGRESS

Committee To Name Directors For Game's Financing Drive

Dr. W. B. Hardy, T. B. Atkins and Ira Thurman were named to a committee whose job it will be to select five directors for a campaign to promote a baseball stadium here at last night's open session of fans in the court house.

The trio will make public their selections at another open conclave Friday evening, at which time an all-out drive for funds to finance the project will be launched.

Lou Baker, acting as chairman of the Tuesday session, estimated that it would require between $12,000 and $13,000 to assure the city a lighted park. No site has yet been selected, Baker said, but the North Ward campus, site of the old high school football stadium, is the most likely spot.

School board officials voted Monday night to lease the ground to the party promoting the plant. Persons putting money into the plant would be repaid their investment on a percentage basis over a ten-year period, Baker said. At the end of ten years, the plant would become the property of the school.

Among those who made impromptu talks during the parley were Hal Steck, who said the American Legion was solidly behind the venture; George White, Hub Rutherford, Joe Langston, Thurman, Pepper Martin and Pat Stasey.

SWEETWATER, Jan. 8. (AP)—The Sweetwater club of the Class D Longhorn League signed a working agreement today with the Shreveport Sports of the Texas League, Pete Starnes, local club president, announced.

Hub Northen, Shreveport scout, was in Sweetwater yesterday to complete arrangements for the tie-up.

Cage Tourney Begins Thursday In Stanton Gym

STANTON, Jan. 8.—Boys teams from Loraine and Courtney will launch the Stanton High school's invitational basketball tournament with a contest booked for 8 p.m. Thursday.

The tournament, a consolation affair, includes brackets for both boys and girls teams.

Stanton and Coahoma will be the principals in the second boys' game when they tangle at 8 p.m. Thursday. Other boys' games are Knott vs. Stanton "B" at 1 p.m. Friday and Union vs. Ackerly at 4 p.m. Friday.

In the girls bracket Stanton will meet Loraine at 7 p.m. Thursday. Friday contests are Highland vs. Knott at 3 p.m. Courtney vs. Ackerly at 5 p.m. and Union vs. Coahoma at 7 p.m. Sparenburg drew a bye in the first round.

Change In State Hunting Laws Is Urged By Body

FREDERICKSBURG, Jan. 8. (AP) State legislative approval of a universal hunting and fishing license law and legalization of killing of deer on a ranch-by-ranch basis have been asked by landowners and sportsmen of twenty counties of the Texas hill country.

At a meeting here yesterday to study proposed game legislation, approximately 300 landowners from the areas centering in the heart of "Texas" turkey and deer country also urged adoption of a tag system for bucks to conserve the number and prevent road hunting, an increase in the number of the state game commission membership from six to nine, and empowering the commission to secure sites for fishing and hunting reserves.

Other proposals adopted included legalization of sale of raw and cured deer hides, prohibition on killing spike bucks and hunting deer and turkeys with .22 caliber rifles, adoption of heavier fines for road and headlight hunting, and restoration to game wardens of powers to arrest persons for trespassing on unauthorized property.

The group favored the shooting of does on a ranch-by-ranch basis with the consent of the landowners and the game commission, with a tag system to prevent slaughter of does where no overabundance exists.

The landowners and hunters recommended that ranchers set aside tracts of land as wildlife sanctuaries for wild turkeys and also that counties establish game protective associations where none now exist.

Veteran Guard Lost

DALLAS, Jan. 8. (AP)—The Southern Methodist university Mustangs, who open their Southwest Conference basketball schedule here Saturday night against Texas A&M, will be without the services of Coach Whitey Baccus as revealed.

Martin reinjured a bad knee last Saturday as the Mustangs were defeated by the powerful New York university five at Madison Square Garden in New York City.

Coahoma Edges Sterling City

COAHOMA, Jan. 8. — Little Wayne DeVaney meshed a field goal with less than 30 seconds left to give the Coahoma Bulldogs a 12 to 11 decision over Sterling City high here Tuesday night.

Both teams relied on stiff defenses, and neither team gained a lead of more than three points at any time. Sterling City held a 5-7 edge at half-time, and maintained a two-point margin until the final minute.

The Bulldogs tangle with Stanton Thursday night on the Buff's home court. The contest will be a first round encounter in tournament play and also figure in the 21-B title chase.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

Some years ago, when L. D. Chrane of Our Town was making his way as a professional wrestler, a McMurry collegian by the name of Newby Pratt — later head football coach at Colorado City — approached the blond-headed athlete in Abilene in quest of help.

He wanted, said he, to learn all there was to know about the ring game because he was planning on entering an amateur wrestling tournament in Lubbock. Furthermore, he added, he had to have the complete course telescoped into a few lessons, for the meeting was but a week away.

After Chrane recovered from the shock brought on by such an odd request, he informed Pratt he'd be delighted to teach him all he knew, but—in a week's time? It would be nearly impossible to learn anything in a week. That sort of business took months, even years, to absorb and one never masters all there is to know about the game.

Nonetheless, the young collegian was determined to try his luck at Lubbock, even though he was a rank novice at the catch-as-catch-can sport, and prevailed upon Chrane to devote his free time toward giving him the bare fundamentals for the next seven days. That, Blondy did, obligingly, all the time advising Pratt not to take on anyone who looked too tough.

Time passed. The tournament became history. And Chrane was destined not to cross Pratt's path until some weeks later. Chrane of course, hastened to ask of Pratt's fortunes in the Lubbock show.

"Well enough," replied Pratt. "I won my first two matches and felt pretty good until I saw my opponent for the third match. He was a legged looking party from Oklahoma and it developed that he was just as rugged as he looked. My victory string ended right there."

Pastor Killed In Crash, Second Hurt

DENTON, Jan. 8. (P)—The Rev. C. G. Cearley, about 30, pastor of the Methodist church at Valley View, Cooke county, died Tuesday in a Denton hospital of injuries sustained in a car-truck collision on the Gainesville highway a mile north of here.

Coke Will Ranch And Mend Fences

AUSTIN, Jan. 8. (P)— Gov. Coke Stevenson will ranch and repair fences "for a while" after he relinquishes his high state office, he said today.

Asked at his press conference about his personal thoughts on "releasing the reins of government," Stevenson replied: "I think you're using a figure of speech. We're just sort of being riding it hackamore."

He said he was happy, however, to go back to private life and ranching for a while so he could get his fences repaired which had suffered during the war years.

"How about that senatorial fence?" he was asked. "I haven't ridden that fence lately," Stevenson replied. "There might be some gaps down."

At any rate, he said, it's too early to think about it.

Churchill became Prime Minister when he was 69 years old.

End Racial Discrimination, Urges Winner Of Peace Prize

WACO, Jan. 8. (P)— Frank E. Burkhalter of Baylor University, in accepting a $1,000 first prize from the C. E. Palmer Foundation, has called for an end of discriminations against foreign born and religious and racial minorities and urged the yielding of our Pacific island bases to the United Nations.

Burkhalter received the award here yesterday at a luncheon of the Waco Rotary Club. The prize was offered for an essay presenting the best plan fostering principles of the golden rule and world peace.

The foundation was endowed by Palmer, Texarkana newspaper publisher. Palmer was unable to attend the luncheon.

In an acceptance address, Burkhalter said application of the golden rule should enable world leaders to find solution to dilemmas now confronting them.

"With peace treaties still unwritten, hundreds of millions beset by fear and hunger, the United Nations faced with seemingly insurmountable difficulties, it is obvious that no purely earthly solution can be found and we must look elsewhere," he said.

"Some one nation must first give practical demonstration of what principles can accomplish. The United States can do this best, for it is the greatest and richest, with freest press and best education system and, until recently, greatest prestige of any nation. It first must put its own house in order," Burkhalter said.

Most Of Truman's Military Program Doomed To Defeat

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8. (P)— At least two-thirds of President Truman's tentative military program appears to be headed for defeat in the Republican-controlled 80th Congress.

A survey among congressional leaders who will have much to say about such matters indicates that: 1. There will be no universal training legislation enacted this year.

2. The chances are about even that the army and navy may be merged into a single service.

3. The present wartime draft law, expiring March 31, won't be renewed.

In his state-of-the-union message yesterday Mr. Truman asked for unification of the armed forces, said development of a trained citizen reserve "can best be accomplished through universal training," and — while withholding a decision on extending the draft — declared that basic needs of the army are not being met by voluntary enlistments.

Chairman Andrews (R-N.Y.) of the new House Armed Services Committee said he has not changed his position in favor of universal training and the army-navy merger. But he added that he doubts whether the committee will get around to considering either for some time.

Two top Democrats on the committee, Reps. Thomson of Texas and Vinson of Georgia, favor universal training but say they aren't optimistic about its chances.

'Hiya Toots' Is A Good Start

Court Warns On Dumping Trash

Members of the county commissioners' court, meeting in special session at the court house, issued a warning that persons guilty of dumping trash along public roads and highway are liable to heavy fines.

"Certain people have grown careless in their methods of disposing of their refuse within the past several weeks," County Judge Walton Morrison said. "As a result, some of our thoroughfares are being cluttered up by garbage."

From the meeting came another warning to subscribers of the Howard County library who have overdue books. One commissioner said he indorsed the proposal to publish a list of the persons who refused to return the borrowed volumes.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

A good cover of grass is to a range like an overcoat to a man during sub-freezing temperatures, reports Allen Sheppard, Ranch Conservationist, with the Soil Conservation Service. Observations made during recent sub-freezing weather on the A. & B. Fisher ranch, six miles south of Big Spring, revealed that the grass afforded protection to the soil surface.

With an atmospheric temperature of 20 degrees, the soil surface temperature on closely grazed range was mEa.345 across the fence fifty feet away the soil surface under a good cover of Side Oats Grama grass registered 34 degrees, two above freezing. Thus a cover affords much protection to winter winds and grasses thereby aiding nature to furnish year long feed for livestock Sheppard points out.

Freeman Denton, who lives just south of the Cosden Refinery, is planning to terrace all his cultivated land.

"I didn't think much of terraces for a long time," he says, "but the farm adjoining me which used to wash badly has a set of terraces that hold all the water that falls on it. It convinced me that terracing really pays in saving soil and water."

The pasture land on the Frank Moffat farm northeast of Coahoma has been terraced, with the large, broad-based terraces built. It is planned to sow Texas Spear Grass on some of the terraces to provide a quick cover. This will not only provide earlier and better grazing but will protect the terraces from washing during the time required for native grass to grow back on them.

While Howard County has never been recognized as a small grain producer, farmers who planted small grain this last fall are well repaid for their efforts. Perhaps little of it will be harvested next summer, but its value as a cover crop in preventing washing and blowing and the grazing benefits are worth thousands of dollars to the county. Abruzzi rye and vetch which were introduced as winter crops for sandy land have done amazingly well in most places.

George Glass and A. G. Bohannon, two of the twenty-one rancher cooperators with the Martin-Howard SC District in Midland county, have improved their range land as much as 25 per cent as a result of applying conservation measures. A. T. Jordan, Range Conservationist with the SCS reports. This improvement is shown in the increase of desirable range grasses such as side oats grama, black grama, blue grama, and buffalo grass.

One of the main reasons for improvement has been as justment of stocking rate to forage produced. In addition, both Bohannon and Glass have applied a system of deferred grazing which gives their pastures periodic rests to promote growth and reseedling of the good forage plants.

The improvement of the range is also reflected in increased beef production. Average calf weights are up 100 pounds and calf crops have increased 10 to 15 per cent.

Rooney To Appear On Crosby's Show Tonight Over KBST

One of the most brash young men in Hollywood, Mickey Rooney, will lend his confident presence to the radio as the guest of Bing Crosby when the program is heard over KBST tonight at 9 o'clock. The Groaner's legions of admirers, however, need have no fear that he will be bested by his fast-talking young guest. The two will even collaborate on a song called "Until The Next Time," accompanied by John Scott Trotter and the orchestra.

Bing's other guest, blonde Peggy Lee, will join the musical party with a ballad titled plaintively "What More Can a Woman Do?" Cheering up somewhat Peggy will team up with Bing to sing "It's A Good Day."

Crosby's remaining numbers include two with the Charlotiers, "Zip-A-Dee-Doo-De" and "Gal In Calico," a partnership with Pianist "Skitch" Henderson on "Gotta Get Me Somebody To Love," and a final number with the orchestra "For You, For Me, Forevermore."

In Travancore, a state in India, the heads of the state are men but succession is always through the female line.
