ACQUISITION OF PLANT SITE TO PROCEED

AM? American Magnesium!

Firm Name Announced

If you are one of the hundreds who are "In For A.M.", the mystery of the initials has been cleared away.

"A. M." stands for American Magnesium Company, a firm now taking bids for constructing and equipping an industrial plant in Scurry County.

Name of the firm was revealed late Thursday at a meeting of the Scurry County Indistrial Development Corporation's board of directors. During the session the board quickly authorized Bill Wilson, president of the development corporation, to finalize acquisition of land for the plant site.

The announcement, which had been awaited with community-wide interest for more than a month and a half, fulfilled a promise made at a community meeting July 3 when Wilson and Harry Reed, representing the industrial development board, told local citizens that an announcement could be expected by Sept. 1.

It also was announced at Thursday's session that some officials of the company had advised they would be here during the week beginning Sept. 3 to confer with the local industrial board.

At that time, Wilson said, perhaps more details of the plant would be available. It is known that the firm plans to produce magnesium from salt water.

Wilson and Reed reported that in contacts with officials of the company this week they had been advised that the firm is seeking bids associated with the project.

The "I'm In For A.M." fund raising campaign, which has been in progress here since the July 3 community meeting, is continuing and the board expressed high hopes that any funds received which are not required for this projet would be needed for others in the future.

As of Thursday afternoon, the "I'm In" drive had produced $14,305.60. Wilson said this would finance the purchase of the land for the American Magnesium Company plant.

'Over $13,000 of this came in $10 bills, and I think that is remarkable," Wilson declared.

At the July 3 meeting the industrial corporation had asked that an effort be made to raise funds to buy the site via individual contributions of $10 each. Each contributor receives a "Progress Unlimited" certificate from the corporation.

The Scurry County Industrial Development Corporation, which was organized 10 years ago, adopted a policy some time ago of furnishing plant sites for any industrial firms which might want to locate in Scurry County.

Originally, a capital funds campaign resulted in contributions totalling $23,078.50. As of Thursday, this original fund had grown to $27,769.95, which does not include the "I'm In" funds. No other campaign has been conducted, but the funds have drawn interest during times when they were not needed.

No firm dates have been set for construction of the industrial plant here, since the firm still is in the process of seeking bids. Once started, the construction of the plant and installation of equipment will require many months, some unofficial estimates running at around 1½ years.

Suspected Sniper Held In Miami

MIAMI (AP) — A man, whose only revious brush with the law was for traffic violations, stood charged today as a roving sniper whose potshots blazed a trail of bloodshed through Miami streets.

Three motorists were wounded. A fourth man was cut by glass shattered by a bullet. Two others said bullets missed them.

Police arrested Candy Michael Hughes, 23, of Keego Harbor, Mich., in a motel several hours after the shootings Thursday.

"I didn't do anything wrong," arresting officers quoted Hughes as saying. "I was just having a little target practice."

Hughes was charged on four counts of assault with intent to murder.

"I didn't shoot any of those people," he said.

Metro Lt. Stanley Hartles said Hughes told him he was despondent over family problems.

Police said the shootings begain about 2:30 p.m. Thursday when K. D. Orr, 34, driving a school board truck, was cut by flying glass. A bullet had shattered his truck windshield.

Ten minutes later Thomas York, 46, was paralyzed from the waist down when a bullet slammed into the cab of his truck and lodged in his spine.

Levi Anderson, 48, in pain from his wounds, could not talk.

The fourth victim was Calvin Joyner, 29, who was nicked once when a man in a car pulled beside him and blasted three shots into the auto.

"He had kind of a smile on his face," Joyner said. "He looked like he was getting a kick out of it."

THROUGH FFA PROGRAM

Ag Students Earn Degrees

Several Snyder High School agriculture students have won degrees for outstanding accomplishment in the Future Farmers of America program.

They include John Zalman, Emmitt Hataway, Lynn Fuller, Bill Taylor and Dennis Laster.

Zalman won the American Farm Degree that annually is presented to only one-half of 1 per cent of students across the state who participate in the FFA program. He will receive his degree at the American Farm Convention (national) in Kansas City in October. The other students received State Farmer Degrees following the state convention in Dallas in July.

Taylor and Laster graduated from Snyder High School last spring. The other students are still in high school. Taylor will attend Texas Tech this fall, and Laster will be a student at Howard County Junior College.

Billy Bob McMullan, agriculture teacher at the high school, said he was proud "of the accomplishments of these fine students."

He listed the requirements for receiving an American Farmer Degree as follows:

1. Have in operation an outstanding program of supervised farming. Projects must show comprehensive planning, continuation, growth and increase in crops with records to substantiate such accomplishments.

2. Candidate must have earned by his own efforts from farming and other agriculture work and have deposited in a bank or otherwise invested at least $1,000.

3. Show outstanding ability as evidenced by his leadership and cooperation in student, chapter and community activities, and have a satisfactory scholarship record certified by the local school superintendent or principal.

Requirements for the State Farmer Degree:

1. Outstanding program of supervised farming.

2. Demonstrate proficiency in parliamentary procedure.

3. Be able to lead a group discussion for forty minutes.

4. Must have earned by his own efforts from farming or other agriculture work at least $500.

5. (Same as 3 above for the American Farmer Degree).

Showers In State Again

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thundershowers popped up across Texas today from the Eastern Panhandle to the Gulf Coast in the wake of heavy downpours Thursday in the Lower Rio Grande Valley that caused flooding and damage to what was left of the unharvested cotton crop.

Harlingen caught almost two and one-half inches of rain, sending water swirling into stores. Police barricaded some streets to protect motorists.

Lightning struck a tower at KGBT-TV and damaged a downtown business.

Cotton officials said most of the Valley cotton crop was harvested, but the heavy rains either wiped out what was left or damaged it.

A five-day forecast for the period through next Wednesday predicted scattered thundershowers with temperatures an average of 6 degrees below normal.

A cold front was pushing toward the Panhandle and forecasters estimated it would reach the northern portion of northwest Texas Saturday morning.

Rainfall measurements for the 24-hour period ended at 7 p.m. Thursday included McAllen 1.03, Brownsville .55, College Station .33, and Corpus Christi .43.

VIETNAM MILITARY

Big Shakeup Is Reported

SAIGON (AP) — A major shakeup was reported under way today among high-ranking generals of South Vietnam's armed forces.

One account from reliable sources said five generals would be relieved of their duties.

Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu, the chief of state, told newsmen that the nation's military rulers are discussing a plan that will "go from generals to second lieutenants." He denied that any generals had been fired yet, adding, "We have not taken any decision, but it's our plan."

Qualified unofficial sources reported that Maj. Gen. Linh Quang Vien, the minister of security, and Maj. Gen. Nguyen Van Vy, the chief of staff of the joint general staff, would be relieved of their military duties and sent abroad as ambassadors.

These sources said Maj. Gen. Tran Ngoc Tam, South Vietnam's coordinator with the Free World Forces Command, and Maj. Gen. Bui Huu Nhon, commander of the Thu Duc military school would leave the army.

A fifth general was relieved of his duties, the sources said, but his identity could not be learned.

Mother Of Six Adds 4

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A 34-year-old mother of six children gave birth early today to quadruplet boys in DePaul Hospital.

Dr. Nicholas C. Correnti, the attending physician, said the mother, Mrs. Richard Kahrenkrog of St. Louis County, and her sons were in good condition.

The first child was delivered, Correnti said, at 1:03 a.m., and weighed 5 pounds, 2 ounces. The second arrived at 1:42 a.m. weighing 4 pounds, 7 ounces; the third at 1:45 weighed 4 pounds, 3 ounces, and the fourth at 1:47 weighed 5 pounds, 1 ounce.

The Kahrenkrogs' other children—three boys and three girls—range from one to nine years of age. The father is an electrical engineer.

Correnti said, "The father predicted that they would all be boys, but we thought there would be at least one or two girls. We tried to call Lloyds of London and make a bet on this hunch, but we waited too long."

A. M. Brownfield Is Dead At 90

BROWNFIELD, Tex. (AP) — A. M. Brownfield, 90, whose father, M. V. Brownfield, named this city in the 19th Century, died Thursday. Services were scheduled for 6 p.m. today.

Brownfield was a rancher and had other business interests. He had been ill but active for some time.

Applications For 'Head Start' Due

Operation Head Start applications are now being accepted and processed at the Child Development Center of Snyder Public Schools, located at Thirty - fourth Street and Avenue K.

The program, which is familiar to local residents, will continue on virtually the same basis as in the past. School officials said that no services had been curtailed and that any changes would be with a view toward bettering the project.

The Head Start project is an anti-poverty program. To qualify, a child should be from a family with an income not exceeding the following: Non-farm household — one person, $1,500; two persons, $2,000; three persons, $2,500, etc., adding $500 for each additional person in the family. Farm households—one person, $1,050; two persons, $1,400; three persons, $1,750. etc. adding $350 for each additional person in the family.

An additional requirement is that a child in the Head Start program must have reached his fifth birthday on or before Sept. 1 this year. That means the child must be five years old and will not be six until Sept. 2 or later.

A birth certificate is required for proof of age. However, other proof will be accepted if no birth certificate is available.

One exception to the regulations is that one of every 10 children may come from a family which exceeds the listed income schedule. Eight candidates in this category will be selected by lot on Monday, Aug. 28.

Head Start Classes will not begin before Sept. 25. The program depends on an appropriation of funds and if the appropriation should fail to materialize, the program will not begin. However, local officials are confident that the funds will be available.

Those who have questions concerning applications or eligibility may call HI 3-7583, or go to the Child Development Center and confer with J. M. Kayser.

Ky Sees Majority For His Ticket

By BARRY KRAMER

HOA HAO, Vietnam (AP) — Premier Nguyen Cao Ky said today he believes his military presidential ticket will get more votes than all the civilian tickets combined.

The military is running Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu for president and Ky for vice president in the election Sept 3 against 10 civilian tickets.

Ky spoke to newsmen while standing on the deck of a Vietnamese navy river patrol boat cruising through An Giang Province in the Mekong delta. The premier was campaigning among some of his staunchest supporters, the Hoa Hao religious sect.

In the town of Hoa Hao, seat of the sect's estimated 700,000 members, Ky told their national convention:

"Maybe I am still not a good politician, maybe I talk too much and too directly because of my young age, maybe I deserve criticism. .. but I think that nobody can question my attachment to the people."

Ky is thought to have solid control of the 400,000 Hoa Hao votes.

Ky told the nesmen in An Giang, he would be satisfied if his ticket got 35 to 50 per cent of the vote but added that he expects more.

Meanwhile one of the civilian candidates declared in Saigon that enough U. S. troops are fighting the war and no more should be sent. He said better use should be made of South Vietnamese troops.

RED TERRORISTS IN HONG KONG

'Human Torch' Dies

By FORREST EDWADS

HONG KONG (AP) — Hong Kong Chinese radio comedian Lam Bun died today, a day after Communist terrorists turned him into a human torch, and a terrorist group boasted it had executed him for ridiculing Red rioters and agitators.

Lam's murder was a warning to "others committing similar crimes," said Hong Kong Communist newspapers, quoting the "underground traitor-executing onslaught headquarters."

Lam's brother was reported near death. The two men were riding in a car Thursday when terrorists, pretending to be highway workers, waved their car to a halt, threw in a bomb, then doused the brothers with gasoline and set them afire.

Lam, who conducted a radio program of biting satire, was the third terrorist fatality this week in the British colony on Red China's southern coast. A bomb killed two Chinese children Sunday.

The government has offered separate rewards of $9,000 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the terrorists involved in either case. Lam's radio station added an $18,000 reward for his killers.

Lam's wife and three small children were taken to a hideout under police guard.

At the border, British Gurkha troops used tear gas for the second straight day to drive back Chinese mobs at the Man Kam To crossing point. The mobs tried twice to remove a wire barrier on the Hong Kong side. Then about 100 Red Chinese troops moved to the border to keep the groups in check.

However, loudspeakers along the 17-mile border carried a warning from Red Chinese soldiers that Chinese peasants must be allowed to continue crossing freely or "action will be taken." They did not say what action.

The loudspeaker announcement said British authorities must "clear away all obstructions on the Hong Kong side and protect the peasants who cross to work in their fields." It was made in the name of the "Shum Chun Peoples Liberation Army unit."

Chinse peasants have crossed the border freely for years to work in fields on either side. Hong Kong authorities erected barbed wire barricades two weeks ago after a series of attacks across the border by Chinese mobs.

The official border crossing point at Lowu station remained open and British authorities made their own loudspeaker announcement: "The bridge at Lowu is open as always for farmers and workers to cross and work in peace."

Peasants crossing the bridge Thursday suddenly turned on guards at the Hong Kong immigration post, and a group later burned the post roof with gasoline bombs. But the Gurkhas drove back both attacks with tear gas and smoke bombs.

In London, black smoke and charred paper came from chimneys at the Red Chinese legation Thursday, raising speculation that the staff was burning documents in preparation for a break in diplomatic relations in the wake of the Chinese mob attack Tuesday on the British legation in Peking.

DEAR ABBY: I am 17 and overweight. Everyone tells me I have a pretty face, but very few boys bother to look any further. I've had only two dates in my life and was so self-conscious I was miserable. You just can't imagine how much I'd like to be popular and have dates.

One night at a party one of the most popular boys in school took an interest in me. I was in heaven. He took me home and we parked on the way and kissed. It was my first kiss. It was wonderful. We kissed a lot and finally I got scared and called a halt.

He said he wanted to see me often, but next time he wasn't stopping at a kiss. He told me to get wise, that any fat girl can be popular if she will just give in a little. I was shocked and demanded that he take me home at once.

He told me to think it over and call him when I changed my mind. That was two lonely months ago, and I've been thinking. O Abby, what shall I do? I don't want to be a bad girl, but I want to be one of the crowd. Shall I pay the price?

FAT AND LONELY

DEAR FAT: The "price" might be more than you're prepared to pay. The boy is clearly thinking only of himself and his selfish gratification. "Fat girls can be popular," he says, "if they will just give in a little." Brilliant! So can THIN girls, with the kind of boys who use girls for all they can get and then go on to fresher game.

He is not for you. And neither is any boy who hands you that kind of line. Don't be surprised if HE thinks it over and calls you to tell you that he has changed his mind. Some boys use this technique to "test" a girl, when he's lookin' for one he can respect as well as love.

DEAR ABBY: My mother bought an old beat up upholstered davenport from an antique dealer. She paid $45 for it and sent a truck to haul it to her home. It sat in her basement for nearly a year. She started pulling it apart in order to reupholster it herself and she found $1,600 in bills in a yellowed envelope in one of the cushions.

She hasn't told anyone but me about this. Does she have to return the money to the antique dealer or does it belong to her?

NAMELESS IN NEW ORLEANS

DEAR NAMELESS: The money belongs to your mother, unless and until someone turns up and proves that the money is his and that he had hidden it in that davenport. In the meantime, your mother has a pretty soft cushion.

CONFIDENTIAL TO DEE: Generalizations are unfair and unjust, so I will not say that ALL 14-year-old girls are too young and immature to date 18-year-old boys. I shall be more specific: ALL 14-year-old girls whose parents think they are too young and immature to date 18-year-old boys, ARE!

Fairbanks Gets Ready For Winter

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP) — After the deluge comes the reckoning—and the race to tidy up before the subzero temperatures of mid-September.

Last week this city of 30,000 wore a dirty brown blanket of water up to ten feet deep, spread out of its flooding Chena River. Half the population had fled for their lives. Seven were dead. Damage totaled $150 million to $200 million.

Today most of Fairbanks looks like a giant backyard, where residents are drying rugs, mattresses, furniture and wearing apparel on clotheslines, fences, posts and rooftops.

Lloyd Teel stood outside his home in the Aurora subdivision and held his hand four feet up the muddy wall from where his feet sloshed in the muck.

"I'm gonna rebuild," Teel said. "And this time the floors are gonna be up here where my hand is, and I'm gonna have walls two feet thick, reinforced with steel."

He was one of thousands who have been returning to the sodden ruins of homes and businesses this week while the devastating floodwaters ebbed away.

A man in the Westgate district, his basement still flooded, was in despair.

"I'd be better off to leave," said Pete Dunn. "I have $10,000 worth of equity, but I also have $10,000 worth of damage. I figure I'll fix the thing up and move on up a hill."

Many residents, with furnishings and clothing lost during the week-long nightmare, flocked around stores which offered water-soaked merchandise at bargain prices. One shop was selling shirts for 25 cents each and you could buy a pair of work pants for $2.

As the people began the huge cleanup, many found their houses and shops almost a total loss.

Only a scant five per cent or so were reported to have flood insurance.

Shipping Lane Identified As What War Is All About

Porter Randall, world traveler and well-known radio broadcaster from Fort Worth, said the real reason we're in Vietnam in the Strait of Malacca — a 600 mile long, 60 mile wide shipping lane through which pass 85 per cent of the trade ships to the Orient.

He spoke to about 200 persons in Snyder High School auditorium Thursday night in a program sponsored by the Home Demonstration Clubs of Scurry County. Mrs. Lillian Ashley, representing the clubs, introduced the speaker.

According to Randall, loss of this strategic waterway would enable the Chinese Reds to take over Thailand and Malaysia and would put them "within striking distance" of Indonesia, Australia and Japan.

Loss of these countries would put 35,000,000 people into the Communist bloc and rich mineral deposits into the hands of the Chinese, he said.

Randall, who is planning five tours to various parts of the world the remainder of this year, said that Vietnam and the Strait are the keys to the future safety of Southeast Asia as well as "The Pacific, Western Hemisphere and the United States."

He said we must stand firm in Vietnam despite internal political and economic difficulties that make the situation there confusng.

Red China seeks control of rice-rich Southeast Asia, he said. Dominance of Malaya would give them rubber, oil and tin. They covet Burma's gold, copper and silver and other minerals in the Philippines and Australia.

Randall called the Korean War "the first thrust" of China towards control of Japan. "They failed there," he declared, "but they still have designs on Japan — the 4th ranking industrial country in the world. Ships, iron, tools — modern industry and the productive genius of the Japanese would fall into Chinese hands unless we oppose Communism.

"China could blockade Japan if it controlled the Malacca Strait," stated Randall. "They could shut off her oil and bring her industry to a standstill and force Japan to deal with them," he added. He called Japan "our best friends in the world."

Despite Chinese aims, Randall feels that the United States has sufficient strength of arms to thwart their plans of conquest if we stand firm. He called Red China a "paper Tiger" and said the country, despite its statements to the contrary, is vulnerable to nuclear war because most of its industry is concentrated in a few cities.

The United States suffered setbacks early in the Vietnam War because we began with only a few advisers, said Randall, but now we have sufficient numbers of troops there to prevent conquest of that strategic country.

"We must convince the Vietnamese that we don't want to take over their country," declared the speaker. "They know that China aims to conquer them and they don't seem to realize that we have no designs on their country."

Randall said Southeast Asians resent "the overbearing attitude that we are superior to them." We must try to understand them although the situation in Vietnam is confusing, he said.

Collapse of the colonial empires at the end of World War I, the depression of the 30's and early defeats in the Pacific during World War II "shattered the illusion of the victorious white man," stated Randall. He added that the Communists seek to capitalize on existing conditions of poverty, instability and superstition.

"They (the Asians) are trying to accomplish overnight what it took the Europeans centuries to accomplish," said Randall, "and they need our expert guidance."

Randall and his wife presented slides taken on a tour of Southeast Asia. He said he hopes that the slides contribute to "a better understanding of the situation there."

WORLD TRAVELER — Porter Randall, lecturer and broadcaster from Fort Worth, discussed "Why we are in Vietnam" during a program held in the Snyder High School auditorium Thursday night under the auspices of the County Home Demonstration Clubs.

Cong Confesses Defections

By ROBERT TUCKMAN

SAIGON (AP) — In a captured enemy document released today, the Viet Cong acknowledged many defections to the allied side and said some defectors killed their comrades before surrendering.

"Many cases have resulted in disastrous consequences," the document said.

The paper was seized by the U.S. 25th Infantry Division in an operation last February.

It was released by the U.S. mission here, apparently to illustrate the effect of allied propaganda and psychological warfare on the Viet Cong.

The mission said the document "appears to reflect concern of the enemy leaders" about the allied propaganda and especially of the Chieu Hoi—open arms—program aimed at luring Viet Cong defectors. So far this year, 20,800 Viet Cong adherents have swung to the allied side.

The U.S. Military Command announced some North Vietnamese soliders surrendered from caves in the last two days, and said they were poorly clothed and hungry.

Citing one incident, the command said that units of the 1st Air Cavalry Division captured three North Vietnamese privates Wednesday in caves near South Vietnam's central coast near Phu My.

The privates attempted to talk the remaining North Vietnamese into coming out of the caves. After this proved futile the cavalrymen exploded hand grenades at the cave opening.

"The trapped enemy then began to trickle out," the U.S. Command said. "One 25-year-old North Vietnamese private said he surrendered because he was tired and the Americans were strong. Those that surrendered were in all stages of dress. Some were barefoot. Others wore only undershorts and fatigue shirts. They were all hungry and some begged for water."

The captured document, as released by the mission, said in part:

"A number of our soldiers have been influenced by the enemy's deceitful propaganda. Defection occurs frequently in various armed forces. Many cases have resulted in disastrous consequences. Some defectors have killed our cadre—political agents—and soldiers, destroyed weapons and stolen secret documents before surrendering to the enemy.

"Our cadre still underestimate the value of the enemy's propaganda. Our men still listen to the enemy broadcasts and read enemy magazines and newspapers. The political views of our troops are still insufficient and loose due to their ignorance of the enemy's cruelty."

The document went on to say that "the mission of countering the enemy psychological warfare must be considered as an immediate task to be fulfilled in order to provide conditions for our troops to accomplish the mission entrusted by the party."

Cotton In Valley Hurt

WESLACO, Tex. (AP) — Unharvested portions of the best Lower Rio Grande Valley cotton crop in six years have been wiped out or downgraded by week-long rains, a spokesman for the Texas A&M agriculture experiment station said Thursday.

An estimated 3-4 inches of rain fell in the four-county area during the past week. The moisture came after the 1967 cotton crop harvest reached the 300,274 bale mark and had exceeded last year's total harvest of 229,654 bales, according to the Lower Rio Grande Valley Chamber of Commerce.

Tom D. Longbrake of the experiment station here said most of the crop has been harvested. He said remaining cotton was either wiped out or downgraded by the rain.

Fall vegetable planting, Longbrake said, was halted by the rainfall and will result in a "gap" during the fall vegetable harvest.

One Dead, Four Hurt In Collision

JEFFERSON, Tex. (AP) — A San Antonio resident was killed and four others injured, at least one critically, Thursday night in the collision of a pickup truck and a moving van.

The accident occurred 13 miles east of this Northeast Texas town.

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Protesting the release of members at Nacogdoches and Austin, the Communications Workers of America said Thursday members voted to strike Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. The union also alleged harrassment of Waco CWA members.

Hippies On Wall Street

NEW YORK (AP) — Hippies can hardly be regarded as big spenders—they eschew work and begging is their thing—but Thursday they were throwing money away in, of all places, the New York Stock Exchange.

Startled clerks, runners and stockbrokers looked up at the visitor's gallery shortly before noon as a shower of dollar bills came floating to the floor. They cheered and scrambled when the bills landed.

"We just want to make a loving gesture to these people," said one of the 15 hippies. "They don't know what money is. They deal in stock certificates."

"I think they're nuts," said a woman tourist from Warren, Ohio.

The hippies also tore several $1 bills to shreds and burned a $5 bill.

One of the hippies said $1,000 was thrown away, but observers could count only 20 or 30 bills sailing down.

After a few minutes, security guards hustled the hippies out, to cheers and applause from the floor.

Jayne's Estate May Be A Million

LOS ANGELES (AP)— Jayne Mansfield's estate may approach $1 million in value, a Superior Court hearing has disclosed.

In a settlement reached Thursday, her last two husbands, Matt Cimber, 31, and Mickey Hargitay, 41, disclosed that Miss Mansfield carried a double indemnity insurance policy of $100,000. The policy will yield $200,000, and other estate assets are believed to be at least $750,000.

Hargitay is to receive $180,000 from the policy and Cimber $20,000 from the policy and one-sixth of the estate. The remaining five-sixths of the estate will be divided equally among Miss Mansfield's five children.

CARROT PIE — It's easy to strain the cooked carrots called for in this interesting recipe when you use a convenient food mill.

Carrot Pie Is A Rare Treat

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

RECIPES FOR CARROT PIE are rarely seen in cookbooks. Nevertheless, this pie, in our opinion, is well worth baking. We offered Carrot Pie, made from the following recipe but without naming it, to six enthusiastic tasters. Of course they wanted to know what was in it. Only one taster guessed that carrots were the main ingredient.

This pie is reminiscent of pumpkin pie, and it's deliciously spiced. It's an economical dessert because undiluted evaporated milk, instead of heavy cream, is used in its filling — but you'd never know it.

One interesting point we must bring up. This Carrot Pie is temperamental. A friend of ours baked it four times; one time out of the four, its top cracked—just the way cheesecake sometimes does. We hasten to say that this cracking — should it happen when you try the pie—doesn't affect the eating quality one bit.

CARROT PIE

1 plastic bag (1 pound) carrots
1½ cups water
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup sugar
1 tablespoon flour
1 teaspoon ginger
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
⅛ teaspoon cloves
1 can (6 ounces) exaporated milk, undiluted
4 eggs
1 nine-inch unbaked pastry shell, fluted rim

Cut a small slice from each carrot top and discard. Wash and scrub carrots; do not peel; cut into 1½ inch lengths. Into a medium saucepan turn the water, carrots and ½ teaspoon of the salt. Bring water to boil; reduce heat, cover and simmer until carrots are tender — about 20 minutes. Drain, strain through food mill — there should be 1½ cups.

In a medium mixing bowl, stir together the sugar, flour, remaining ½ teaspoon salt, ginger, cinnamon, nutmeg and cloves. Stir in evaporated milk. Add eggs and beat until combined. Stir in the carrots. Pour into pastry shell. Bake in a hot (400 degrees) oven until a knife inserted in the center comes out clean — 45 to 50 minutes. Serve warm or cold topped with whipped cream.

Note: To strain carrots, place food mill over a bowl and spoon cooked carrots, a portion at a time, into mill. Turn the handle of the mill three or four times clockwise, then reverse and turn counterclockwise for a turn or two. Continue until the carrots are strained.

Museum Of Modern Art Reviews 1960s

By MILES A. SMITH
AP Arts Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — The Museum of Modern Art is reviewing painting and sculpture of the 1960s this summer, using only objects already in, or promised for, its own collections.

"The 1960s" will be on exhibition through Sept. 24. Actually the dates have been stretched a little to include a few items from the 1950s, among the 127 works.

About two-thirds of the objects have appeared in the museum's earlier shows, but there are 32 new acquisitions and more than a dozen items that architect and collector Philip Johnson has promised to give.

It is among these newer paintings and sculptures that the viewer will find unfamiliar names, and some of the new acquisitions fill a few gaps in the museum's coverage of the current scene.

The works are grouped to show recent trends. In the first group are the neo-dada examples, which include a Rauschenberg "combine painting" of 1961 (miscellaneous junk fastened to a huge board) and of course the usual crumpled automobile fenders.

Among the assemblages are a Bauermeister (stones and pebbles mounted on plywood, rather than the more familiar clusters of glass lenses) and two examples by Samaras (pins; needles and blades stuck in a book.)

Then come some trick color field paintings by such familiar artists as Poons, Reinhardt and Stella.

The Op Art group contains typical eye-twitching works by Riley, Agam, Vasarely and Anuskiewicz.

The galleries devoted to Pop Art are full of well-publicized subjects — soup cans by Warhol, Oldenburg's plastic hamburgers, Indiana's road signs, a plaster figure by Segal and Lichtenstein's comic strip people. Rivers, Wesselman and Marisol are there too.

One addition to this array of Pop specialists is Rosenquist's "Marilyn Monroe No. 1" (1962). It has just arrived at the museum as a part of the recently announced gift of the Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Janis collection.

There are a number of foreign entries in the selection of motorized constructions (kinetic art), but there also is a Mallory (untitled — blobs of mercury moving between panes of glass) and a Seawright (titled "Eight" — electron tubes, flashing numbers and a tiny loudspeaker that croaks the word "eight" every 15 seconds). Both are recent acquisitions. Another addition is a Kienholz contraption.

The exhibit is not very strong on the trend sometimes called "minimal" or ABC art — constructions or painted constructions on the borderline between painting and sculpture, that play everything in a low key, merely suggesting a shape or an idea. And perhaps because of space limitations, the environmental "walk-in" is not represented.

Only a few examples of the recent experiments with light are shown, but they include one minimal object which consists simply of an 8½ foot pink fluorescent tube standing in a corner.

The sculptor Alexander Calder recently gave the museum a number of his larger and smaller creations, and one of the larger ones is included in this show. It is "Sandy's Butterfly" (1964), more than 12 feet high. It is cataloged as a mobile — stabile, as the upper part is mobile and the lower part stabile.

When the MMA presents a review of this type from its own collections, it usually reminds its visitors of what Alfred H. Barr Jr., its director of collections, said back in 1942:

"The museum is aware that it may often guess wrong in its acquisitions. When it acquires 10 recent paintings it will be lucky if in 10 years three will still seem worth looking at, if in 20 years only one should survive. For the future the important problem is to acquire this one: the other nine will be forgiven — and forgotten."

And by the 1970s and 1980s, what of these 127 items?

Slit Skirt Sensational In 1913

Girls, fortunately for you, fashions and attitudes towards them change. If you think criticism of your miniskirts has been too harsh, then consider the furore that resulted when a young woman wore a "slit skirt" in 1913, (if you'll pardon the expression) as revealed in a news story which appeared in the Hill County Review at Penelope in 1913.

Hold onto your skirts. The story follows:

"$25 FOR WEARING SLIT SKIRT.

"RICHMOND YOUNG WOMAN WILL MOVE TO NEW YORK AT ONCE.

"Richmond, Va. — A young woman paid a $25 fine for wearing a slit skirt and declared she intended to go to New York at once, "where people are not prudish."

"She was charged with indecent exposure. The skirt, slit knee high and held by the police as evidence, was restored to the young woman on her promise to sew up the slash or not to appear again in the streets of Richmond without a petticoat.

"The young woman's lawyer argued that the sale of the skirt by a licensed department store permitted her to wear it.

"The judge replied that a city license for the sale of firearms did not authorize murder.

"After an inspection of the offending skirt, the judge blushingly fined the defendant, who paid with the retort that 'Richmond was a most illiberal city.'

"The court was packed with the most select audience it had ever had."

What's Cooking On A Rainy Day?

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

THERE'S SOMETHING comforting about baking a meat loaf on a gray, rainy day. Somehow that homespun eating is likely to cheer things up.

But not any old meat loaf — one made Spanish-style, redolent with the fine flavor of olive oil and teamed with savory vegetables. A friend of ours brought this recipe back from Spain. Just wait till you taste that great combination of tomatoes, potatoes and onion accompanying the meat!

Spanish Style Meat Loaf And Vegetables

2 eggs
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ cup minced parsley
3 tablespoons fine dry bread crumbs
1¼ pounds ground lean beef
¾ pound ground pork
¼ cup olive oil
1 can (1 pound) solid - pack whole tomatoes
12 medium - small long white potatoes, pared and each cut lengthwise into eights
1 large onion, thinly sliced

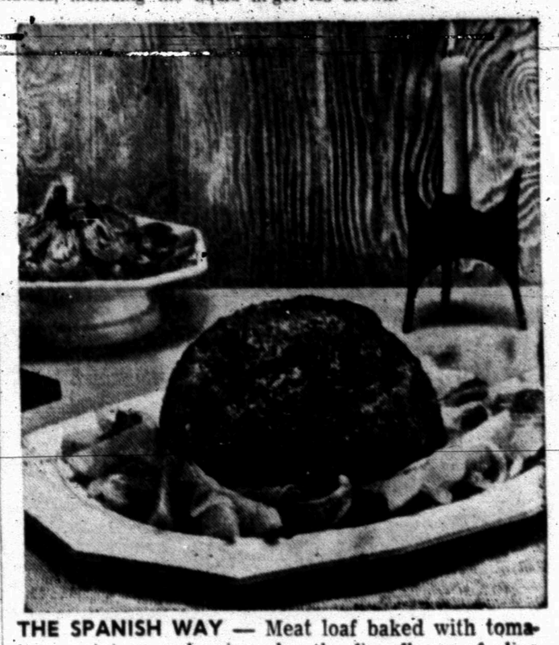
Turn oven to extremely hot (500 degrees) to preheat.

In a 1½ quart mixing bowl beat the eggs slightly; mix in the salt, pepper, parsley, bread crumbs, beef and pork. Shape into a round about 3 inches high.

Use 2 tablespoons of the olive oil to coat liberally an oblong glass baking dish (13½ by 8¾ by 1¾ inches). Turn meat into center of the pan. Spoon the tomatoes, including the liquid in the can, around the meat. Place the potatoes and onions around the meat. Dribble the remaining 2 tablespoons olive oil over the potatoes, onions and meat.

Reduce oven temperature to hot (25 degrees) and place pan in oven. Bake about 1 hour or until meat loaf and potatoes are cooked through. Makes 6 hearty servings.

Note: If you like crispy brown potatoes, when the meatloaf is done, remove potatoes to oiled foil or broiler pan and broil; turn and watch so they don't get too brown.



THE SPANISH WAY — Meat loaf baked with tomatoes, potatoes and onion plus the fine flavor of olive oil.

EXCALIBUR FOR A DANGEROUS DEMAGOGUE

LBJ-RFK Relationship Is Continuing On A Frigid Note

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Never a nasty word between them. They're playing it cool. But the relationship between President Johnson and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy looks cool enough to be freezing.

The New York Democrat has been careful not to make any frontal assaults on Johnson and has even praised him, perhaps to pacify the President in case he thought Kennedy was out to get his job.

But to Johnson, always sensitive to criticism, having Kennedy around must be like being nudged by a hot poker. The senator has been generous with his criticism of the Johnson administration and with advice, too.

In 1965, less than a year after going to the Senate but while his fans were thinking of him as a candidate for something in presidential 1968, Kennedy went out of his way to brush off the idea.

First, and he repeated it, he said he had no intention of running for the vice presidency in 1968 (Johnson had banned him from that berth in the 1964 elections), only expected to seek re-election to the Senate in 1970, and had no plans to seek the presidency in 1972.

Later he said he would support Johnson for re-election in 1968, adding: "I have great admiration for what the President has done here in the United States and in our relationships with countries overseas . . .

"I have great respect for him and I think we agree on by far the larger percentage of major issues . . . he has been an outstanding President . . . and I look forward to campaigning for him in 1968."

But while Johnson has gone to great pains to get the South Vietnamese to hold elections Sept. 3, Kennedy recently said those elections looked like a fraud to him.

Over a year ago Kennedy said he favored elections in Vietnam but suggested international observers should be there to see what happens. Kennedy wasn't the only recent critic on the elections. Now Johnson is sending observers.

Critics, and Kennedy was one of them, jumped all over Johnson for sending U.S. troops into the Dominican Republic in 1965 when the President said he feared Communists might try to take over.

Kennedy said he thought such a move would damage relations with the rest of Latin America. Later he said the Dominican elections which this country sponsored "rectified the damage."

Kennedy has been a constant critic of Johnson's handling of the war in Vietnam, and a constant adviser.

He said in 1965 Johnson should consult with Congress before sending any more troops there; urged the cease-fire at Christmastime that year be extended (Johnson extended it for a month afterward); was critical of the "escalation" of the war; called for a halt in the bombing coupled with peace negotiations within a week (this was disregarded); and thought the Viet Cong should take part in the peace talks (the administration has never agreed to that yet).

Last year Kennedy complained the administration proposal to cut funds for domestic programs made him wonder if the nation had learned anything from the Negro riots. By way of comment on that the White House said Johnson was doing all he could within the limits of "realism."

And Kennedy has made a number of proposals: that the United States develop an Asian policy "based on the reality and diversity of today's Asia"; that the United States drop its opposition to the admission of Red China to the United Nations, on the condition that Nationalist Chna be allowed to keep its seat there; that this country double its foreign aid to developing nations over the next few years; that there should be a massive rebuilding program in the nation's slums, complaining that more has not been done.

After all this Johnson probably doesn't feel that Kennedy, who gets great glee from shooting fast water in a raft, has done much to make him feel gleeful.

Letters Of A Type Most Desirable

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Letters we'd like to get but rarely do:

"Recently my associates and I acquired and modernized the famous resort, Glumville-by-the-Sea. In going over the records we noted that you and your wife were the first honeymooners to register at the opening of the resort just 25 years ago this month. To celebrate this historic anniversary we'd like you to be our guests for two weeks. Everything will be on us, naturally. Just bring along your wife and a bathing suit. If you don't have the same wife, bring any wife of your choice."

"You may have thought it was a joke to send to our art gallery the pictures which your daughter painted in kindergarten. However, the child has genius in her fingertips. She is what we class as a postcubist, preimpressionist, transcendental original modern primitive of the first water. Artists of that type are, as you may conjecture, extremely rare. We sold her first 12 paintings for $6,000. Have you any more? We strongly recommend that you keep that kid chained in kindergarten for at least five more years."

"As the fund to build a concrete wishing well on the campus of our beloved Alma Mater has already been oversubscribed, I am returning uncashed your check for $1.35. But it is heartwarming, indeed, to list you among the hundreds of loyal alumni who responded so faithfully to our appeal. As a token of gratitude we are enclosing you free tickets to all our home football games this year."

"As one father to another, I know that my daughter must have talked your son into the elopement. Now that it's done, however, why don't we make the best of it? I'd consider it a privilege if you let me pay the bills for their last year in college, and also take your boy into my firm when he graduates. Incidentally, if you're not completely happy in your own job, I have a $25,000 executive post empty in my organization which I'd be glad to offer—."

"By the way, Joe, remember Daphne, that gal in our high school class who jilted you and latter married the guy we voted most likely to succeed? Yesterday I saw her peddling can openers door to door trying to raise enough dough to bail her husband out of jail, where he's locked up as a chronic drunk. Two of their three kids are in reform school, and the third one just got a dishonorable discharge from—."

"It appears that my dumb nephew got the sales tags mixed up and the coat your wife bought is made of chinchilla not rabbit fur. Of course, legally she is entitled to keep it, but if you are open to a reasonable offer, I'll be glad to—."

Junior Editors Quiz on YAWNING

QUESTION: Why do we yawn?

• • •

ANSWER: As our picture suggests, yawns seem to pass from person to person, probably because we tend to imitate what another person is doing. Scientists do not know the whole story about yawning. For example, they are not sure what section of the nervous system controls it. They tell us it is an involuntary reflex, something you do without consciously meaning to. Once started, it's difficult to stop. You can close your mouth but the contraction of muscles goes on. The purpose of yawning presumably is to get more air into the lungs. It seems to be a warning signal that you need sleep and also a safety measure to keep you awake until you get the sleep you need. It is also thought that the stretching of muscles tends to awaken a person and make his blood circulate better. People do not look very pretty when they yawn. Probably because of this knowledge, we tend to cover our yawning mouths with our hands. Let's hope we haven't put you to sleep with this article.

Hot Dodgers Clip Cool Reds, 4-3

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Billy McCool hesitated and the Cincinnati Reds were lost.

McCool, working in relief in the 10th inning against Los Angeles Thursday night, waited a moment too long before deciding what to do with Jim Lefebvre's sacrifice bunt and the Reds wound up on the short end of a 4-3 score.

Gary Nolan was working on a three-hitter and leading 3-0 going into the ninth innig against the Dodgers. But three straight hits by Lefebvre, Al Ferrara and Wes Parker followed by two errors tied the score for Los Angeles.

An inning later, Lou Johnson opened with a double. Lefebvre bunted and McCool fielded the ball, looked towards third, hesitated, and threw to first. But Lefebvre beat the play.

An intentional walk to Ferrara loaded the bases and after Parker popped out, Bob Bailey singled Johnson home with the winning run.

In the only other National League games played Thursday, Houston edged Atlanta 5-4 in 10 innings and St. Louis blanked San Francisco 2-0. Pittsburgh's game at Philadelphia was rained out.

The Reds nicked Dodger starter Don Sutton for a pair of first inning runs and added another in the third. With Nolan breezing, the margin looked safe, and until the ninth, it was.

But Lefebvre opened with a single and Ferrara doubled. Parker's hit brought one run across and Lee Mays high throw on the relay allowed another to score. Then Tony Perez booted a grounder as Parker carried the tying run across.

Doug Rader drove in three runs with three hits and a sacrifice fly for Houston but the hero was Sonny Jackson, whose 10th-inning single scored Ron Brand with the winning run.

Brand had been hit by a Jay Ritchie pitch with two out and raced to third on Julio Gotay's double. Ramon Hernandez relieved for the Braves and Jackson singled the winning run home.

Bob Tolan and winning pitcher Dick Hughes stroked ninth-inning singles that drove in the winning runs for St. Louis against SSan Francisco and Ta at Gaylord Perry.

Tim McCarver singled opening the Cardinal ninth and moved to second on a sacrifice. Julian Javier was intentionally walked and Tolan and Hughes followed with their hits.

Hughes, 13-4, hurled a four-hitter and was never in trouble against the Giants.

Tigers Set For Tough Drill Tonight

It should be a pretty good practice for the Tigers tonight.

They're scheduled to scrimmage Odessa Ector — title favorites in District 2-AAA — beginning at dark in Odessa.

Coach Wayne Tyrone's Tiger squad has been working in earnest since the beginning of practice last week, and the twice daily drills are beginning to pay off.

Most of the candidates are beginning to block and tackle a little sharper, and the running plays seem to click with more finesse.

The offense is the big question mark of the Tigers. Only one letterman back returned from last season's squad — Mitch Rambin — and he's out for the year with an injury.

Whether the green troops can make the offense work is a question that has been uppermost in Coach Tyrone's mind since the beginning of drills. Several inexperienced lads from the "B" team and Junior High will get a chance to show what they can do tonight. Included among these are quarterback candidates David McGinnis and Steve Holder. Both are juniors of 5-10 height.

Sophomores Merce Hernandez and Ricky Glasscock are vying for running back berths with juniors Efrian Cervantez, Joe Greer and Raymond Rios and seniors Ronnie Shields, Dwaine Boydstun, Mike Flynn and Randel Hollis.

The Tigers appear to have most of their strength at the end position where regulars Craig Bell and Frankie Grimmett return. Other senior wingmen include O. L. Cooper and Chris Headstream.

Interior linemen aren't overly large, but several of them were tested under fire last year and gained valuable experience. Included among these are Jerry Rains, Larry Wadzeck, Bobby Clayton, Tim Mebane and James Merritt.

Drake Snyder has returned after missing action last year due to an injury. Injuries have hampered the style of David Wilson and Jack Greene in early drills, yet these lads could figure prominently in plans for this year. Newcomers who seem to have plenty of enthusiasm are Robert Sadler, Tommy McDorman, Valvin Garcia, Joe Simpson, Vincent Loyola and Frank Jackson.

Late Surge Saves Astros

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The Houston Astros had to come from behind twice but they finally made it in the 10th inning—they edged Atlanta's Braves 5-4 Thursday night.

Sonny Jackson got the job done. It was his two-out single that drove in Ron Brand with the winning run.

Atlanta scored twice in the first inning as Joe Torre doubled in a run and then scored himself on wild pitches by Bo Belinsky.

Doug Rader drove in three runs with a double and sacrifice fly and scored himself to put the Astros ahead but the Braves tied it up in the seventh on singles by Hank Aaron and Torre.

In the 10th Brand was hit by a pitch and went to third on Julie Gotay's double. Jackson then lined his hit.

ATHLETICS MANAGER WITH NEW MANAGER — Charles Finley, left, owner of the Kansas City Athletics, walks with Luke Appling, the newly named interim manager of the A's. Finley has fired manager Alvin Dark and given first baseman Ken Harrelson his unconditional release. (AP Wirephoto).

NICKLAUS 1-OFF PACE

Colbert, Rudolph Share Rye Lead

By BOB—GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

RYE, N.Y. (AP) — Jim Colbert, a bright-eyed young Kansan, took a long, hard look at his position in the $250,000 Westchester Classic Golf Tournament, gulped once and admitted: "I feel a little uncomfortable."

Mason Rudolph squinted through his thick glasses, added up his scorecard again and said: "I feel like I ought to play a couple of more holes. I'm not used to stopping at 66."

The 26-year-old Colbert, who went to Kansas State on a football scholarship and abandoned it for golf, cut out a careful 66, six-under-par, for a share of the first round lead Thursday with Rudolph and South African Gary Player.

They had a one-stroke lead on U. S. Open champion Jack Nicklaus, Bob Charles of New Zealand and John Schlee, all at 57.

Locked at 68, just two strokes back, were Lee Trevino, a club pro from El Paso. Tex., steady Frank Beard of Louisville, Ky., who went 84 holes before getting a bogey, Dave Hill and 55-year-old Sam Snead.

As usual, however, most of the gallery of 17,031 charged and screamed after Arnold Palmer, the all-time leading money winner. And their biggest cheer came when the muscular slammer from Latrobe, Pa., saved an indifferent round with a birdie-eagle finish that got him home with a 69.

In all, 68 of the field of 154 matched or bettered the par 72 at the compact, 6,573-yard Westchester Country Club course, even though a number of them —including Nicklaus—complained that the grass in the fairways was too long.

Rudolph had five birdies, a bogey and an eagle, reaching the par five fifth in two and running in a 35-foot putt.

Player confined his six birdies to a string of eight holes and didn't have a bogey.

Colbert, a pro for only two years, also had six birdies—two on putts of more than 5 feet—and didn't have a bogey. He just missed on three more birdies, with putts spinning out of the cup on the fifth, sixth and seventh holes.

Tower To Speak

UVALDE, Tex. (AP) — Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., will be the featured speaker Oct. 19 when his aide, former Cuero editor Kenneth Towery, is honored at the first citizens assembly of Southwest Texas Junior College.

Tennessee's Ron Widby led the nation in punting last season, booting 48 for an average of 43.83 yards. Oregon State's Gary Houser was second with a 43.80 yard average.

Sonics In Tailspin?

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Just why Amarillo's Sonics can't seem to win a game any time these days—they now have dropped eight in a row—is something the Sonics would like for somebody to tell them.

And if they lose their third straight double-header tonight there's going to be wailing and gnashing of teeth. Because such a thing could cut the Sonics' Texas League lead to one game.

It was trimmed to three Thursday night when Albuquerque whipped Amarillo 8-4 and 4-1 and there are two clubs tied for second by that margin.

Albuquerque advanced by taking a double-header for the second straight night; El Paso gained a half-game although it lost to Austin 2-1.

In the other contest of the night Arkansas shut out Dallas-Fort Worth 2-0 and the latter now is only four games out of the cellar where Arkansas rests.

Albuquerque scored eight runs in the third inning to take the first game over Amarillo Thursday night. In the second game Mike Kekich held the Sonics to four hits. Ted Sizemore, Bill Sudakis and Mel Corbo got hits that drove in three of the Dodger runs. The other scored on an error.

Joe Cisterna struck out 15 in pitching Austin to its triumph over El Paso but at that still had to have relief help from southpaw Don Arlich in the ninth. Clarence Gaston drove in both of the Austin runs.

Sal Campisi tamed the Dallas-Fort Worth bats with a brilliant three-hitter. Art Deras singled in one Arkansas run. The other came in on an infield grounder.

It's Albuquerque at Amarillo for a double bill, Arkansas at Dallas-Fort Worth and El Paso at Austin tonight.

Wreck Fatal To Mike McKeever

MONTEBELLO, Calif. (AP) — Mike McKeever, former football star at University of Southern California, died Thursday night in Montebello Convalescent Hospital.

McKeever, 27, had lain unconscious and in critical condition since he was injured in an automobile accident Dec. 3, 1965.

Trojan football Coach John McKay described McKeever as "the best defensive lineman I've seen at USC. A tremendous football player."

Mike's twin, Marlin, was a star end of the Los Angeles Rams pro football team. Survivors included Mike's widow, Judy.

Both McKeevers, after their junior year at USC were designated All America in 1959. Marlin was a first team linesman; Mike, a guard, was picked for the third team.

Yanks Blank White Sox, Solons Fall

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Eddie Stanky doesn't need Hubert H. Humphrey. And he can get along without Bill Monbouquette, too

The Chicago White Sox manager held forth at great length after his club was blanked on five hits by Monbouquette Thursday and lost to the New York Yankees 5-0. The defeat dropped the Sox into a virtual tie with Boston for the American League lead.

Earlier this month, Stanky barred the clubhouse door in Bloomington, Minn., after a game with the Twins, thereby unwittingly keeping out the vice president, who, though a Twins' fan, wanted to pay his respects.

Stanky sent a telegram of apology, but when asked about the incident Thursday, said, "Humphrey can't hit. What do I want with him?"

The White Sox couldn't do much hitting either against Monbouquette, who, after being released by Detroit in May, spent three weeks frustratingly trying to catch on with every major league team before the Yankees took a chance that has been paying off handsomely ever since.

Monbouquette has pitched well in relief, but in making his first start against Chicago, he was superb. The league leaders managed only five hits and only one of them went out of the infield.

In other American League games, the Red Sox beat Washington 7-5, Minnesota took Detroit 4-2 and Cleveland edged California 2-1. Baltimore and Kansas City were not scheduled.

Charley Smith, the man who came when Roger Maris went to St. Louis, blasted two two-run homers for the Yankees.

Elston Howard hit his first homer in a Boston uniform, a three-run shot in the seventh inning that led the Sox to within a point of the league lead. Chicago's percentage is .561 to Boston's .560.

Jerry Adair and Jim Landis also homered for the Red Sox who won 10 out of 12 in their current home stand. The Senators scored three times in the ninth before John Wyatt came in to get the final out.

Harmon Killebrew's 34th home broke a tie in the eighth inning and the Twins scored again in the ninth on Ted Uhlaender's run-scoring single to cement th evictory and sole possession of third place, half a game behind Chicago and Boston. The Tigers are in fourth, 1½ games out.

Chuck Hinton hit a homer in the fourth inning for the decisive Cleveland run and Sam McDowell protected it, giving up just six hits to the Angels and striking out nine.

Eckert To Act Later

NEW YORK (AP)—Baseball Commissioner William D. Eckert, promising "appropriate action at a later date," has stepped into the squabble between the Kansas City Athletics and their volatile owner, Charles O. Finley.

Eckert acknowledged Thursday that he had received a request from the Major League Players Association that he hold a hearing on the dispute which has resulted in the firing of Alvin Dark as Athletics' manager and the release of first baseman Ken Harrelson.

Eckert said, "I am gathering appropriate data on the subject and will take further appropriate action at a later date."

The letter was sent by Marvin Miller, executive director of the players association.

The Athletics, in the meantime, returned home to Kansas City Thursday and were met at the airport by about 1,000 fans, many carrying signs criticizing Finley and backing the players.

The confrontation arose last week when Finley suspended pitcher Lew Krausse for a drinking incident on a plane. The players released a statement criticizing Finley and, in the aftermath, Dark was fired and Harrelson was released.

Krausse was later reinstated and Finley's demand that the players retract their statement was refused.

U.S. Netmen In Semifinals

BROOKLINE, Mass (AP) — Clark Graebner and Marty Riessen, American's last hope to return the national doubles tennis championship to the United States, took a well-earned rest today before resuming action in the 87th annual tournament at Longwood.

The top-seeded Davis Cup veterans powered their way into the semifinals by defeating India's Ray Mukerjea and Mexico's Rafael Osuna 14-12, 6-3, 17-15, in a 2½ hour duel Thursday on a scarred court with the quarterfinals staggered over two days.

Australians John Newcombe and Tony Roche, the tournament favorite as the No. 1 foreign seed, breezed to a 7-5, 6-3, 6-4 victory over third-seeded Americans Jim Osborne, 22, and Jim McManus, 25, of Honolulu.

That left four other foreign teams battling for semifinals berths today. Thirdseeded Roy Emerson of Australia, who won the U.S. title with Fred Stolle the last two years, and Brazil's Ronnie Barnes faced unseeded South Africans Cliff Drysdale and Ray Moore for the right to play Newcombe and Roche.

Aussies William Bowrey and Owen Davidson, seeded second among foreign entries, took on Mexican crowd-pleasers Joaquin Loyo-Mayo and Marcelo Lara for a berth against Graebner and Riessen.

Texas Amateurs Tee Off Today

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Texas had two players in the first round of match play today in the Western Amateur golf tournament.

Earl Stewart Jr. of Dallas and Marty Fleckman of Port Arthur qualified with 290 for the four rounds.

In match play Stewart plays Bob Barbarossa of St. Cloud, Minn., who qualified with 294. Fleckman meets John Seehausen of Palatine, Ill., who had 295 and won a playoff for the final spot.

Purdue, Big Ten runnerup in football last season, has lost 27 lettermen, top figure in its conference.

BRONCOS HAVE NEW IMAGE

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

DENVER (AP) — Apparently, whatever Lou wants, Lou gets.

Lou is Lou Saban, the new general manager-coach of the Denver Broncos, and just three weeks ago he said:

"Sid has what I want."

Less than two weeks later, Saban had what Sid Gillman, general manager and coach of the San Diego Chargers, had and what Lou wanted — quarterback Steve Tensi.

Saban wanted Tensi because neither of his quarterbacks, Scotty Glacken and Max Choboian, had convinced him that they were ready to solve the quarterback problems of the Broncos who had a 4-10 record last year.

Saban had to give Sid Denver's No. 1 draft choices for the next two years, but the Bronco boss already has lot of youngsters, and he needed a quarterback to become competitive with the rest of the American Football League's Western Division.

That Tensi can assist Saban as a junior partner in miracle making became obvious only three days after the third-year pro joined the Broncos.

Coming off the bench, Tensi fired the Broncos to a 14-9 triumph over Minnesota, their second victory in two games against National League opponents No other AFL team can make that statement.

Tensi is part of the new image Saban has been working on since he returned to the AFL after a year's hiatus at the University of Maryland.

"We had to create a new image," Saban said. "They've had problems here, and they haven't been able to win. We may not win any more, but we're not going to lose with the same faces."

That's for sure.

Since taking over, Saban has dealt away nine players while acquiring 13.

Gone are such faces as receiver Lionel Taylor, running back Abner Haynes and linebacker John Bramlett. Choboian also was released. Arrived are other faces such as Cookie Gilchrist, Dave Costa, Rec Mirich and Ernie Park.

Other additions include the best rookie crop the Broncos ever have had — Floyd Little, Pete Duranko, Tom Beer, George Goeddeke and Mike Current, among others.

Little is battling Charlie Mitchell for the running back spot, while Gilchrist, a fullback for Saban when they were at Buffalo, could win that job from Wendell Hayes.

Beer takes over at tight end which was left vacant when Al Denson switched to flanker.

Mirich, Current, Park and Goeddeke could become fixtures in the interior of the offensive line, and Costa, Duranko and rookie, John Huard will help the defense whic halso includes returnng backs Lonnie Wright, Goldie Sellers and Nemiah Wilson.

Saban is particularly concerned with the lines.

"You can't throw passes, and you cant stop anyone from throwing passes unless you have the lines," he said. "We went to the lines first. That was the reason for some of the trades.

"But we're also counting on our young players. We're start-in with them, and we'll stay with them. If we find something better, we'll make a change."

Saban, however, is mostly interested in making a change in the fortunes of the Broncos.

Henry J. Kaiser Dies In Honolulu

HONOLULU (AP)—Henry J. Kaiser — founder of a billion-dollar industrial empire spread over 40 countries—died in his sleep Thursday. He was 85.

Kaiser was at his oceanfront estate about 10 miles from Honolulu when he was stricken by a circulatory and heart condition.

At his side were his wife Alyce, whom he married after the death of his first wife in 1951; his son Edgar and Edgar's wife.

Kaiser was born May 9, 1882, at Sprout Brook, N.Y., one of four children of German immigrants. He started his career as a $1.50-a-week clerk in a Utica, N.Y., dry goods store after leaving school at 13 to help support his family.

Kaiser never longed for the "good old days." While celebrating his last birthday, the founder of the $2.7-billion complex said, "Yesterday is past . . . I always want to live this day to the fullest and to plunge into tomorrow's job."

There was almost nothing Kaiser did not have a hand in: giant dams such as Hoover, Bonneville, Grand Coulee and Shasta; famed Liberty ships of World War II; the familiar Jeep; the Kaiser health centers; cement; aluminum; steel; chemicals; aircraft and missile components and electronic equipment; radio and television stations; hotels; and the latest, a new community of Hawaii-Kai in Honolulu with projected population of 60,000.

Pink Kaiser cement trucks carry a slogan, "Find a need and fill it."

This Kaiser did—in Kaiser pink. He chose a coral-purple color as a Hawaiian trademark, putting it on speedboats, catamarans, outrigger canoes, jeeps and even his clothing.

"Pink makes you feel good," he said.

About the only venture in which Kaiser didn't achieve the success he sought was in making cars. For 10 years, 750,000 Kaiser, Kaiser-Frazer and Henry J rolled off the assembly lines. But competition was too stiff. Kaiser withdrew to concentrate on the Jeep—utility vehicles of all times.

Henry Kaiser's success began in Lake Placid, N.Y., where he worked for nothing in a photographic shop on condition that if he doubled business he would get a half interest. The business tripled, he became a partner at 22, bought it out a year later and added three stores in Florida and Nassau.

But the West held dreams of which his life was to be made.

He moved to Spokane, Wash., in 1906 and went to work at a hardware firm for $7 a week. In 1912 he began managing road-paving contracts.

In 1914, at the age of 32, Henry J. Kaiser Co. Ltd., was formed at Vancouver, B.C., and the first job was two miles of road paving in the Canadian city.

Kaiser made his entry into California by jumping off a train which slowed down at Redding to drop off the mail. He won a bid for a 30-mile road between Red Bluff and Redding and in 1921 set up headquarters in one room in Oakland.

Headquarters is still in Oakland—but in the 28-story Kaiser Center.

A 200-mile, 500-bridge highway project in Cuba in 1927 pointed the way for bigger things. The young contractor visualized the joint venture concept which evolved into partnerships and associations of contractors for giant projects.

One such combine called Six Companies, Inc., with Henry Kaiser as executive committee chairman, built Hoover Dam on a bid of $48,890,000 and finished it in four years, two years ahead of schedule.

Be still

"For the price of wisdom is above rubies." Job 28:18.

Oh wisdom is a gift of God —
a virtue often rare,
While knowledge with all learning does not its merit share.
Knowledge can destroy the world by a button it can press,
But knowledge does not change a fool who creates such distress.
Yet wisdom needs no volumes as it teaches how to live
Primarily for others with a quickness to forgive.

Tower, Dick In Conference

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., said he and former Vice President Richard Nixon talked about world affairs and a little politcs in a meeting Thursday.

They conferred for about two hours at a luncheon meeting. Tower said he also has met in recent months with Gov. George Romney of Michigan, Gov. Ronald Reagan of California and some other Republican leaders.

Reagan has said he would be a favorite son candidate for president when the GOP selects a presidential nominee in Miami Beach net year. Tower could be in command of 56 Republican ronvention votes.

Tower, Reagan and Gov. Claude R. Kirk Jr. of Florida are known to have discussed privately the value of flexibility in making their voting strength count at the convention. They agreed such "flexibility" would exert more influence in the choice of a nominee.

East German Ships Barred From Port

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—The U.S. Coast Guard told Brownsville port director Richard Schultz East German ships would not be allowed to pick up Mexican citrus at this South Texas port, Schultz said Thursday.

Schultz said he requested entry for vessels of the communist nation after an orange importer from East Germany told a Mexican citrus exporter he wanted the citrus carried in his country's ships.

The port director said the Coast Guard declined to tell him why the ships couldn't come to Brownsville, saying such regulations are classified.

Schultz said the shipments would increase port traffic and make more work for longshoremen. He said the port might handle 25,000 tons of East Germany-bound citrus each year. He said small amounts of Mexican oranges are currently hauled to East Germany from Brownsville on ships from other nations.

After the Coast Guard told him the port was out of bounds to the Communist ships, Schultz said he talked by telephone with Rep. Eligio de la Garza, D-Tex.

Schultz said he could not understand the ruling because "we are 150 miles from any military installation."

The Basic Side

IT'S that time again... the time that challenges anew an army of vigorous American youth to the task of preparation in basic education that will equip them with know-how for their tomorrows. Here young minds fresh from their bowl of wheaties, assemble for classroom and playground training. Dear Teacher, responsibility lies heavy on your shoulders. Don't forget that along with reading and writing and airthmetic — lessons in how to live God's way are needed. Teachers and students alike have God to honor and your country to save right there in your classrooms. Always remember, "A word fitly spoken is like apples of gold in pictures of silver." Proverbs 25:11. Blending of the academic with the spiritual lessons of Jesus, the greatest teacher, offers a moral and spiritual constitution possessing all the qualities basic in life.
