Air conditioning of local public school buildings almost got an endorsement from one of the oil company tax men Tuesday.

The hearing on the Snyder Public Schools budget for 1972-73 was held in the high school cafeteria, and at 7:30 p.m., the time set for the hearing, the building was somewhat furnace-like inside, despite the fact that evaporative coolers had been turned on in the early afternoon. Someone mentioned that funds for air conditioning school buildings probably would be included in any bond proposal the school district might bring to a vote later this year.

"I would almost help you work for it if I had to stay in this building much longer today," said Art Dimney, the Chevron Oil Co. tax man.

Now that summer is here, people in the Snyder area turn their attention toward July 4 and the annual community celebration in Towle Memorial Park. A lot of things will be going on throughout the day in the park, and the celebration will close with the traditional fireworks display.

Traditional? How did fireworks come to be a traditional part of the celebration of Independence day?

Well, John Adams, one of the founding fathers, is responsible, says the World book Encyclopedia. Adams reportedly declared that Independence Day "ought to be solemnized with pomp and parade, with shows, games, sports, bells, bonfires and illuminations from one end of this continent to the other, from this time forward for evermore."

And so it has and likely will continue to be.

On a related subject, there was an intersting item in the Saturday Review recently about the flag. It emphasized that it is wrong to sew a flag-like emblem into clothing, use it on trinkets, decals or bumper stickers (even those which say love America or leave it) and that it never should be used in connection with slogans. It should merely be flown with respect.

We Americans have been prone to bandy our flag and our national anthem about rather lightly. This was the reason cited when management of the Kansas City Royals major league baseball team suspended the playing of the national anthem prior to its home games. Too many people were ignoring it and not paying it the respect it should command. When it was taken away, however, there was a loud protest from fans, including, no doubt, those who had paid no attention to the anthem before.

Tornadoes Strike Amarillo, Dumas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Savage tornadoes and thunderstorms battered the Texas Panhandle-Plains sector during the night and this morning, and the violent weather spread into central and east parts of the state this morning.

Two of the twisters struck in Amarillo and one ripped the top floor off the Rodeway Inn in the southwest part of the city, injuring a woman slightly.

Another tornado laid waste the airport at Dumas, 37 miles north of Amarillo, while straight winds which by police account gusted up to 90 miles per hour did considerable damage in the town itself. A woman also was injured in Dumas.

While there was considerable destruction, no deaths were reported.

Four hospitals in Amarillo and one in Dumas received 23 persons injured in the storms, none seriously. Five remained under treatment today.

Authorities said the wind hit 100 m.p.h.—well above minimum hurricane force—in Amarillo, where the roof sailed off the Rodeway Inn onto a restaurant and loss was estimated at $150,000. There also was damage to the Travelodge motel nearby.

Twenty trailer houses were wrecked and two airplanes were destroyed at Dumas, and two motels were among other places battered by the winds.

The twisters, too numerous for accurate count, swept the length of the Panhandle-Plains section from near Dumas toward the south and east into areas near Lubbock and Childress.

Besides the Dumas and Amarillo tornadoes, the National Weather Service reported funnel clouds sighted at or near Stinnett, Panhandle, Hereford, Tulia, Groom, Silverton, Clarendon and Goodnight.

As the unruly weather persisted into this morning, menacing thunderstorms kept portions of North Central and Northeast Texas under siege. Skies were generally clear over the rest of the state except for almost clear conditions near the Rio Grande.

At the height of the storms, hurricane force winds were reported in several areas—up to 90 miles per hour at Dumas and 85 m.p.h. at a point between Groom and Clarendon, peace officers said.

Dumas' civil defense director Al Trimble said the only tornado in that area was one which nearly demolished the airport two miles west of town but damage from the mighty winds was extensive inside the city limits.

"We checked trailer houses first and they have been heavily damaged in every section of town," a Dumas police dispatcher said. "Some business buildings have been heavily damaged by the high winds and heavy rains."

State police reported one of their patrol cars was blown off a highway near Dumas, and high water for a time blocked U.S. 287 in that vicinity.

School District Split Barred

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today barred the splintering of school districts into smaller ones when the result is to perpetuate racial segregation.

The 5 to 4 ruling, in a case from rural Virginia, gives federal judges broad supervisory powers over the drawing of school district boundaries.

Although Justice Potter Stewart's majority opinion did not deal directly with cases other than the two before the court he gave out broad hints that strong actions by judges to break down school segregation elsewhere could be upheld.

In other actions today, the court:

—Held that convictions of white defendants are invalid if Negroes were systematically excluded from the jury.

—Ruled that a murder defendant's jailhouse confession to a policeman posing as a prisoner was "harmless error" and not enough to overturn his conviction.

Particularly, Stewart emphasized in the school district decision that the test of whether school boundaries are legally drawn was "the effect" upon the dismantling of racially separate school systems.

In a rare departure from virtual unanimity in school cases, the court split in barring the separation of Emporia, Va., from the Greensville County system.

The four Nixon administration appointees dissented in a bloc.

Bid To Suspend Rules Fails

By LEE JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The House, with barely a quorum present, failed by 17 votes today to ask Gov. Preston Smith to give lawmakers some work to do while budget writers deliberate a general appropriation bill for fiscal 1973.

Representatives voted 61-55 in favor of Rep. Lane Denton's motion to take up a resolution asking Smith to broaden the special session call.

But a two-thirds vote of those present, or 77 votes, was required to suspend rules and consider the resolution without its having been approved first by a committee.

Denton's resolution noted the legislature has been in session since June 14, with no action other than committee hearings on appropriations. That means that 129 House members and some of the 31 senators have had virtually nothing to do. Smith has refused to open the special session call until lawmakers pass an appropriation bill.

"It is appropriate the House of Representatives go on record and tell the people of Texas we are ready to do business," said Denton, a Waco lawmaker and member of the "Dirty 30" coalition.

Rep. Joe Salem of Corpus Christi said it was "a little late" to be asking Smith to open the session, when floor action on appropriations is expected early next week.

Denton's resolution asked Smith to open the call to repeal a trailer brake law passed last year, lobbyist control legislation, a financial disclosure act and a freedom of information bill.

After failing to take up the resolution, the House adjourned until Monday.

The House Appropriations Committee was finding it hard to be as tight-fisted as Smith's "no new taxes" edict demands. It continued item-by-item deliberations on the massive state budget.

Thunderstorm Mostly Noise

A crackling thunderstorm which moved into Snyder just before daybreak kept electric company crews busy replacing fuses and sent city firemen out twice, but produced little moisture.

Firemen were called to the 500 block of the East Highway at 5:25 a.m. where lightning had hit a utility pole. They responded to a similar call at 9:45 a.m. four miles out on the Clairemont Road.

Texas Electric Service Co. reported that several transformer fuses were blown by lightning during the thunderstorm, but power interruptions were of short duration. The storm consisted mostly of lightning and thunder. A drizzle produced .05 inch of water in the rain guage at the city water plant by 7 a.m. There were reports over the area of rainfall ranging from a bare sprinkle to around a quarter of an inch. There was only a light sprinkle at the Lake J.B. Thomas dam.

IRA Announces A Conditional Cease-Fire

DUBLIN (AP) — The nationalist Provisional Wing of the outlawed Irish Republican Army announced today a conditional cease-fire in its bomb-and-bullet campaign to unite Northern Ireland with the Irish republic. The cease-fire will start at midnight next Monday, the Provisionals said.

In London, the British administrator for the province said Britain will "obviously reciprocate" if the IRA wing calls a halt to the violence.

The Provisionals had said suspension of military activities would take effect from Monday provided its terms are reciprocated by the British army.

William Whitelaw, British administrator for the province, gave the government's initial answer to the cease-fire offer in the House of Commons.

He did so three hours after it was made and before even knowing the full terms of the military guerrillas.

The two developments, taken together, signaled a prospect for peace for the first time since the troubles started in Northern Ireland in 1969.

The IRA announcement did not give details and did not explain the terms. In the past the British army has ignored Provisional IRA cease-fire offers that were linked to demands for British troop withdrawals.

The IRA also did not say whether the truce would be indefinite or for a fixed time.

A British army spokesman in Belfast commented: "We are pleased that a cease-fire has been called. But we have not been told what the terms are or how long the cease-fire will last. We hope that between now and midnight Monday things will stay quiet."

The Marxist official wing of the IRA has been observing an indefinite cease-fire since early this month. The Provisional wing ignored this and continued its bomb and bullet campaign to expel the British from Northern Ireland.

A statement in Dublin by the Provisionals said: "The Irish Republican Army will suspend offensive operations as from midnight Monday, June 26, 1972, provided that a public reciprocal response is forthcoming from the armed forces of the British crown. The leadership of the republican movement believes that a bilateral suspension of operations would lead to meaningful talks between the major parties to the conflict."

Sources said that the IRA was sensitive to growing pressure from Northern Ireland's Catholics for an end to three years of communal strife that has left 375 dead.

Gun battles and sectarian rioting erupted in Northern Ireland during the night.

Roman Catholic and Protestant mobs clashed in Belfast with rocks and bottles. British troops separated the factions with volleys of antiriot rubber bullets.

The Marxist Officials and the extreme nationalist Provisionals split over political methods in December 1969. The Provisionals began guerrilla activities in February 1970 and since then have been more active than the Officials in pressing their attack.

Draftees May Opt For Guards

WASHINGTON (AP) — Men ordered drafted in early July were given a fresh chance today to beat the draft by joining the Reserves or National Guard.

They also were offered another chance to enlist in the regular forces for two years, instead of the usual three or more, and gain a wider choice of assignments than draftees.

Today's announcements reflect Selective Service moves to implement two new policies, one permitting men to opt for the Guard or Reserves after getting their draft notices, and the other permitting the shorter enlistment period.

The new rule says a man may not join a unit or enlist for less than three years within 10 days of his induction date. That would have left out most of those ordered to report early next month, but today Acting Draft Director Byron V. Pepitone eased the rule.

Pepitone authorized draft boards to grant a 15-day delay for men with reporting dates between July 1 and July 15 if they are actively being processed for Reserve or Guard appointment or two-year enlistment.

But he said this policy will not be extended to men who are on orders to report for Army duty this month.

The chance for men facing certain draft to join the Reserve or National Guard was opened up in hopes of filling some of the growing shortages in those forces.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird and Deputy Secretary Kenneth Rush recently expressed concern because the Guard and Reserves have dropped an estimated 40,000 below strength as draft pressures eased.

Pepitone said men who want to take advantage of the new policy must locate unit vacancies on their own and should request that their enlistments or appointments be expedited to meet the 10-day requirement.

A man is given 30 days notice to report or start hunting for a Reserve or National Guard slot.

Offices To Close

Offices at Western Texas College will be closed Friday afternoon due to scheduled repairs to central air conditioning equipment, it was announced.

Shooting Spree Baffles Police

By TOM CANNON
Associated Press Writer

CHERRY HILL, N.J. (AP) — Police say they are baffled as they search for a motive for the shooting rampage by a gunman who entered an office building armed with two sawed-off rifles and methodically pumped bullets into any man he encountered. Six men died, six were wounded.

Officials identified the gunman as Edwin C. Grace, 33, a uniformed off-duty guard for a security agency. He was hospitalized with what police said were self-inflicted gunshot wounds in the neck and head. Doctors said he had a good chance of pulling through.

A witness said the gunman kept reloading the .22-caliber rifles and that nearly 100 bullets were fired as he ordered women to get out of his way.

A worker in an employment office in the building, Heritage House, James Ashen, 24, of Blackwood, said:

"This guy walked in. He was a complete stranger. I never saw him before and he shot my boss in the head and he hit the floor. He shot the guy sitting in front of me a couple of times in the back.

"The other three of us grabbed chairs and crowded into the corner of a small room, begging him not to shoot us, but he kept firing and he kept saying, 'Don't move, don't move.' He was a maniac."

Three of the wounded men were in critical condition and a seventh man was injured seriously when he leaped through a window attempting to avoid the gunman. Victims interviewed by police said they did not know Grace and had not seen him previously.

The gunfire erupted about 3 p.m., and police said the gunman terrorized the building for several minutes. About 40 policemen surrounded it after being alerted by a wounded man who escaped.

Public Safety Director Wallace Lapeters said the officers fired tear gas cannisters into the building and that several policemen entered, but that no shots were exchanged with the gunman.

After the shooting stopped the gunman was carried from the building along with other wounded persons, and it was not until hospital workers found bullets in his pocket that police realized who he was.

Panel For 'Secrets' Proposed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate directed its Government Operations Committee today to consider establishment of a special bipartisan committee to make recommendations for the handling of secret documents.

The committee was directed, on motion of Sen. Roman Hruska, R-Neb., to make a decision by Aug. 7 or return the resolution to the Senate calendar for further Senate action. The motion was adopted by voice vote.

The resolution results from a an effort by Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, to make public a secret Vietnam war study drafted in 1969 for President Nixon's guidance.

Gravel forced two closed-door sessions of the Senate on May 2 and 4 to discuss the issue.

That prompted Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-NY., and others, to introduce a resolution for a special Senate committee of five Democrats and five Republicans to study all questions relating to the classification of government documents submitted to the Senate or obtained by individual senators.

Mother sulks on her day

By Abigail Van Buren

[© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.]

DEAR ABBY: I am 21 and have an 8-month-old girl. My husband's mother lives 90 miles from here and my husband is the only son she has left. [She lost a 19-year-old son in Viet Nam three years ago.] She has one daughter, 17, who is dying of leukemia. Abby, this woman is so brave and wonderful. With all her trouble she never complains.

Well, my husband and I decided to drive up to be with his mother on Mother's Day, but first we stopped off at my mother's so I could give her a Mother's Day present. We found her sulking like a child, and you should have heard her carry on. She said she was hurt that I chose to spend Mother's Day with my mother in law instead of with my own mother. Abby, my mother has three other children [all healthy and living nearby] and she had been invited to spend Mother's Day with them, but she stayed home instead, and told them all that I gave her a migraine headache! Now she's barely speaking to me. She says she could have forgiven me if it had been any day besides Mother's Day. Was I wrong?

HEARTSICK

DEAR HEARTSICK: No! Under the circumstances I think you did the right thing, and unless your mother isn't playing with a full deck, she knows it.

DEAR ABBY: I am 20 years old and have a 5-month-old baby, which makes me a mother, right? Well, as a mother I think I should be honored on Mother's Day, don't you? My mother doesn't seem to think so. She wants all her children to honor her, regardless.

Since this is my first Mother's Day as a mother, my husband planned to take me out for dinner. He bought me an orchid and everything. My neighbor said she'd watch my baby if I brought him over. Then my mother called and blubbered into the phone, "You mean you aren't spending Mother's Day with ME?"

When I told her of our plans, she said, "You have the rest of your life to spend Mother's Day with your husband. Who knows how many years you'll have me?" [Mother is 58 and in good health.] So I went to my mother's and had a miserable time. Never again! Should I have gone?

REGRETS

DEAR REGRETS: You should have done what you wanted to do. But once having made the decision, you should have put a smile on your face and tried to have a good time.

DEAR ABBY: My mother in law is a widow, but she is only 50 and she still likes a good time. Well, she told me that on Mother's Day she would keep my 5-month-old baby so my husband and I could go to my mother's who was making a big dinner, and having a houseful, and if I took my baby with me I wouldn't be able to help her.

Well, I later found out that at the last minute some man called my mother in law to go dancing, so she put my baby in a basket and took him to the dance! Imagine, Abby, a 5-month-old baby in a dirty, smoky hall with all that noise and a bunch of strange people breathing all kinds of germs into the air.

You don't have to answer this. I just wanted to get it off my chest.

FEELS BETTER

DEAR ABBY: For Mother's Day I received a lovely card signed, "Todd, Jennifer and Lauri," who are my grandchildren, ages 5, 3, and 14 months old. Their mother [my daughter] didn't remember me, however, and I was very hurt.

Please don't misunderstand, Abby, I love my grandchildren very much, but they are NOT my children, and even tho I am a proud grandmother, I am no less a mother.

I realize that my daughter bought the card which read, "To Granny on Mother's Day" and she signed her children's names, but it wasn't the same as receiving a sentimental Mother's Day remembrance from my daughter.

I would like your opinion.

SENTIMENTAL

DEAR SENTIMENTAL: Your daughter probably feels that the best gift she's ever given you are your grandchildren. And she is reminding you of it. I'd say you were "remembered," but you'd have preferred a sentimental remembrance from your daughter, which is understandable.

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 69700, L. A., CALIF. 90069 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

El Paso To Get Help Of CRMWD

The Colorado River Municipal Water District is willing to help El Paso finance an expansion of its sewage treatment and facilities.

Directors Tuesday afternoon, meeting at headquarters offices in Big Spring, authorized the president, P.C. Harbour, Odessa, and general manager, O.H. Ivie, Big Spring, to negotiate with El Paso Water Utilities and Public Service Board for a memorandum of agreement on $1,250,000 of backing. This would open the way for the district to issue approximately $1,250,000 in revenue bonds as part of the city's share to obtain maximum federal aid. The bonds would be repayable to the district at the end of completion of construction.

The district has provided similar financial aid to the City of Andrews and the City of Midland.

The board also approved a new chart of organization fixing potential salary to which staff members might progress on the basis of abilities and performance. The chart also is designed to utilize more fully supervisory personnel in spotting and encouraging promising talent within the ranks. Lyle Deffebach, Snyder, and H.S. Sampson, Odessa, members of the personnel committee, said they felt that the district had obtained sufficient stature and importance to the area that the organizational structure should be revaluated.

O.H. Ivie, general manager, said that the District would be represented in hearings by the U.S. Corps of (Army) Engineers and the governor's committee for the Colorado River Basin Water Quality Management study. He also reported that district lakes had gained about 3,500 acre feet of water during the past week.

Demo Panel Hear Calls For Peace

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor John V. Lindsay called on Democratic platform writers for a commitment to peace in Vietnam today, saying that the "long and immoral war" was the orverriding issue before the country.

Lindsay greeted a panel of the Democratic National Platform Committee with a call for an end to what he termed "global economic brinksmanship" and the loss of American prestige around the world.

Veteran diplomat W. Averell Harriman, saying that a prompt political settlement of the Vietnam war would be his party's goal, presided over the session.

The one-day New York session conducted by a panel of about 15 platform committeemen winds up the coast-to-coast phase of the public testimony-taking. Drafting of the 1972 platform starts Friday in Washington when the full 150-member platform committee meets.

Harriman's view that President Nixon's dramatic dealings overseas have alienated old allies and undermined confidence in America's reliability already is before the platform writers.

Harriman, former ambassador to the Soviet Union and Britain, and Paul C. Warnke, former assistant secretary of defense, prepared a report for the Democratic Policy Council which charged last month that the secret peace plan which Nixon advertised in his 1968 campaign "remains the best kept secret of his administration."

If a Democratic president is elected, the Harriman-Warnke report promised:

"American involvement in the war in Vietnam will be ended. A political settlement will be sought, not blocked by the unachievable condition of preserving the repressive Thieu government."

However, many witnesses at platform committee hearings from San Francisco to Boston demanded a more drastic solution with which the platform writers will have to deal—a complete, unconditional pullout of American forces.

The Harriman-Warnke report also promised a multibillion-dollar cut in defense budgets without sacrifice of security by eliminating what it called the "gold plating and and extravagant complexity" of costly weapons systems.

Lindsey, Bentley Approved

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Two men charged with helping to supervise Texas financial institutions were approved today by the Senate Nominations Committee.

The committee forwarded to the full Senate the appointments of James Lindsey of College Station to the State Banking Board and C.E. Bentley Jr. of Abilene to the State finance Commission.

Lindsey was appointed by Gov. Preston Smith to replace former State Democratic chairman Elmer Baum of Austin, who resigned. Baum's unexpired term runs to Aug. 22, 1973.

Lindsey was managing editor of the Midland Reporter-Telegram for 10 years and also worked for the San Angelo Standard-Times and San Antonio Express before becoming director of information and publications at Texas A&M University.

He was a director of the First Bank and Trust of Bryan at the time of his appointment.

Bentley, president of Abilene Savings Association, was reappointed by Smith to the building and loan section of the finance commission.

Wednesday, the nominations committee approved five appointees to the Texas Cosmetology Commission but withheld action on five nominees to the Texas Board of Private Detectives.

Campus Reforms Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's colleges and universities should move toward reform, but not for the purpose of hushing campus protest, the Carnegie Commission on Higher Education said today.

"Whatever changes are needed should be undertaken for the sake of the students and for the sake of society, not for the sake of peace on campus," the commission said in a report on campus trends.

The commission reached that conclusion after analyzing an opinion poll taken in 1969-70, the peak years of student unrest. The poll shows students and faculty generally satisfied despite some specific complaints.

Results of the poll involving 70,000 undergraduate, 30,000 graduate students and 60,000 faculty members were released in Chicago by Dr. Clark Kerr, commission chairman, in a 175-page report entitled reform on Campus: Changing Students, Changing Academic Programs."

Any reform, the commission said, should broaden the opportunities for students to find an academic environment and curriculum which improves the quality of their lives.

The report said the many forces pressing for change include:

—The impact of expanding higher education from the elite to the masses.

—Greater sophistication of entering college students.

—The explosion of new knowledge.

—The changing labor market and new social problems begging for solution.

"The task is to improve what is already good and to extend what is already excellent...," the report said.

Fines Assessed

In county action yesterday, Rayfield Cooks was assessed a fine of $25 plus court costs for the offense of opposing the arrest of another man on June 17.

Brenda Cain was assessed a fine of $5 plus court costs for cashing checks without funds.

NASA Turns To Earth Problems

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — The administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration says his agency is assisting this country in the area of foreign trade, aircraft noise abatement and development of solar power for pollution-free energy.

Dr. James C. Fletcher, speaking Wednesday night at the annual dinner of the American Society for Engineering Education, told the delegates that NASA is ready to apply the lessons learned in the space program to other areas of growing national concern, such as urban transportation.

NASA expertise should be helping in the areas of education on a massive scale through television satellite communications by 1975, he said.

Such a system will be tested for six months in the Rocky Mountains and Alaska and areas serving American Indians, Fletcher said.

The satellite then will be shifted to reach 50,000 villagers in India.

The space agency has moved from a decade of crisis response in space to a decade of highly rational space use, he said, and in the immediate future NASA will be applying its talents to earthbound problems.

It already is working with industry to help the United States maintain its dominant position in aircraft sales abroad, Fletcher said, by helping firms with advanced aeronautical research and development.

He said this program might need a speedup to prevent loss of overseas markets.

Fletcher said one problem in air transport is that time saved by faster aircraft is being lost to long ground rides between cities and airports.

"While new aircraft concepts that will permit the use of short runways, coupled with quiet engines and nacelle installations should permit us to accept the airplane of the future back into the communities it serves," he said.

The solution to the ground transportation problem is in new transportation modes that give the same flexibility and convenience of the family car.

C. V. Narasimhan, chief of cabinet in the United Nations secretary-general's office, told the 3,000 ASEE delegates and families attending a four-day session that there is no question that investment in human resources is worthwhile.

"This investment must produce, however, an output which is needed by the developing countries. Unfortunately this has not been the case. Developing countries have had imposed on them educational systems from metropolitan powers.

Independence Day Art Show Slated

The annual Independence Day Art Show will be one of the features of the July 4th celebration in Towle Memorial Park.

The art show, open to all artists of the region, will be held in the county barn in the park.

Artists should bring their paintings to the barn between the hours of 1 p.m. and 8 p.m. on Sunday, July 2. They may be picked up between 9 p.m. and 10 p.m. July 4.

There will be ribbons for first, second and third place and honorable mention entries. Also, there will be trophies for first place winners in all divisions, senior professional, senior amateur and junior.

Trophies donated by Bullard's Athletic Center and Bennett's Office Supply will be awarded to the "public choice" in the senior and junior divisions. Three traveling trophies will be awarded for the over-all best in the senior amateur, senior professional and junior divisions. Winners will keep these trophies for a year and then return them next year to be passed along to the next winner. If one person wins a traveling trophy two years in succession, he may keep it permanently.

Teachers and artists who have won recognition in any outstanding state exhibition will be considered professionals. Those who have not won such recognition will be considered amateurs. Students will be those in high school and below.

Classes will include landscape, still-life, portraits and contemporary art. Both copy and original work will be accepted in their respective classes and will be judged as such. Each artist may enter four paintings in each class and there will be an entry fee of $1 per painting in the adult divisions and 50 cents per painting in the junior division. Artists may price work for sale, with 10 per cent of the sale price going to the July 4 Art Show.

The art will be judged on the morning of July 4 and doors will be closed to the public during the judging. Insurance on paintings should be carried if desired by the artists themselves, since none will be carried by the show. All possible care will be used in handling entries.

All paintings must be matted or framed and wired for hanging and entries must not be over two years old and must not have won any awards in the past. Each entry must have a card attached to the back with the name of the artist, address, division and the price, if for sale.

Trophies will be on display until paintings are picked up at 10 p.m. July 4.

Further information on the show may be obtained by calling the co-chairmen, Mrs. Melvin Lee at 573-2754, or Joy McGlaun at 573-2414.

Mayors To Seek Suburbs Assist

By MICHAEL J. SNIFFEN
AP Urban Affairs Writer

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Milwaukee Mayor Henry Maier, who for three years led the now nearly victorious fight for revenue sharing, says the next goal for the nation's mayors is to force the suburbs to assist in caring for the poor.

"The next priority is to get the entire metropolitan area to assume the burdens of poverty by enabling poor people to live outside the center city," said Maier. "It is going to be very tough to get this recognized as a national necessity, but it's a fight we have to take on. I don't see any alternative."

This neat, pipe-smoking mayor may seem like a David before the Goliath of opposition to racially and economically open housing in the suburbs, but nine years ago in Palo Alto he coined a phrase at a mayors conference with his demand for "a reordering of national priorities." This year every candidate for president claims that he has done that or will do it.

"I know we face political impracticabilities in this fight, but ultimately that would be quicker and less costly than to have the poor rattling around in the sandbox of the center cities as we have now with no end in sight," Maier said.

Asked if he had heard any presidential candidates talking about open housing this year, Maier said, "No, but in nine years we have accomplished a goal. People are now thinking about reordering national priorities. Important institutions like the Urban Coalition and the Brookings Institution and even a presidential candidate are not just talking about it but actually writing alternative federal budgets."

And, Maier said, in 1963 the federal government spent $5.5 billion in programs that helped cities and now the figure is $33 billion.

For the last three years, Maier has been the chief advocate among the mayors for revenue-sharing, their No. 1 priority, a program to give cities federal aid without restrictions on its use.

As Maier stepped down Wednesday after a year as president of the U.S. Conference of Mayors, revenue-sharing passed a critical test in the House. The congressmen agreed to vote today on the bill without amendments that might have crippled it.

Wednesday, Maier predicted passage in the House and prompt attention in the Senate. Mayor Louie Welch of Houston, who succeeded Maier as president of the conference, said President Nixon had telephoned him to promise to use all his influence for a quick Senate approval.

Promethium, a rare-earth element once was named illinium, after Illinois, and was called Florentium by Italian scientists before the International Union of Chemistry decided in 1949 to name the substance for the Greek god Prometheus.

Smith To Present Awards

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Gov. Preston Smith was due here today to present awards for community improvement at the fifth annual meeting of the Beautify Texas Council.

Today's agenda also called for a keynote speech by State Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong before the 300 guests expected to attend.

In pre-convention business Wednesday, Maurice Acers of Beaumont, Austin and Dallas was elected president of the volunteer organization. He succeeds William Colegrove of Freeport.

Other officers elected for the coming year included Don Wright of Dallas, first vice president; Jack Jones, College Station, secretary-treasurer; and the following vice presidents for certain areas; Charles Alexander, Austin, for state and community coordination; Mrs. Ruth Jackson, Grand Prairie, for awards; Truett Latimer, Austin, for state agencies; Vic Mathias, Austin, for organizations.

Also, Dr. Irene St. Clair, Austin, vice president for youth; Tom H. Taylor, Austin, for public relations; Elo Urbanovsky, Lubbock, for beautification.

Nixon Puts On Display Of Personal Diplomacy

By LEWIS GULICK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon is putting on an unusual display of high-level personal diplomacy by jetting top aides to far-away places around the globe.

Friday is the next homecoming for security adviser Henry A. Kissinger, returning from his latest nonsecret Peking trip. Kissinger returned June 12 from Tokyo, after flying in June 1 from the Moscow summit.

Saturday is take-off day for Secretary of State William P. Rogers on a 16-day nine-nation swing around the world from Australia through East Europe. Rogers stopped in parts of West Europe on his way back from the Moscow parley.

At the airport the same day will be Arthur Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, heading south for a fortnight of talks with financial leaders in Argentina, Peru, Venezuela and Brazil.

These same Latin American lands have just been visited by former Secretary of Treasury John B. Connally, who is now in Asia on a globe-circling Nixon assignment. Connally, whose itinerary will include 18 countries by latest count, has been traveling since June 6.

On July 2, Nixon's science adviser, Dr. Edward E. David Jr., will lead a delegation to Moscow to work out scientific projects with the Russians.

Following David to the Soviet capital will be Secretary of Commerce Peter G. Peterson. His mission: to lay groundwork for expanding U.S.-Soviet trade.

Nixon critics are portraying this prominent to-and-fro'ing, all announced by the White House, as unnecessary razzle-dazzle aimed at keeping Nixon's foreign-policy efforts in the limelight as the presidential campaign heats up.

With Peking and Moscow spectaculars behind him, they suggest, the President wants to keep the public mindful of his dramatic foreign moves since he himself has no further overseas journey planned before November.

Administration supporters paint a different picture, lauding each of the V.I.P. missions as meritorious in its own right.

And they say that the direct, personal contact with foreign leaders adds a valuable dimension to what can be accomplished by more traditional lower-level diplomacy.

The facts of the current jet-tripping abroad by Washington notables do not appear to link into any single diplomatic master plan.

The initiative for Kissinger's visit to Peking, according to administration sources, came from the Chinese. Periodic visits by senior U.S. officials had been agreed on during Nixon's parley there last February.

Rogers' journey starts with the annual meeting of the South Asia Treaty Organization, one of the usual commitments for the secretary of state who already has logged 262,494 miles overseas since taking office 3½ years ago.

His East European stops at Belgrade, Bucharest and Budapest—the first ever by a secretary of state in Hungary—have been long proposed as part of the administration's undertaking to improve relations with foreign nations.

Burns, the White House says, was invited to visit Argentina by the head of the central bank there and felt it would be useful to go to some other Latin nations while on the trip.

Connally's month-long global tour was announced as devoted primarily to current economic issues. However, the former Treasury chief also will be in a position to discuss with foreign leaders international developments including Nixon's Peking and Moscow sessions, the announcement said.

The David and Peterson journeys to Moscow are follow-ups to Nixon's agreements with Soviet leaders on expanding a wide range of dealings between the two countries.

DISCUSS PROPOSED SENATE RULES—Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, left, and the man who will succeed him, Bill Hobby, of Houston, at a news conference in Austin Wednesday. A package of new Senate rules which could let the public view for the first time the full-scale debate on gubernatorial appointments and a proposal to reduce the number of Senate committees from 27 to 9 were among the new rules. Barnes said the full Senate may vote on the rules Friday. (AP Wirephoto)

Widow Testifies In Heart Suit

HOUSTON (AP) — Mrs. Shirley Karp, whose husband died in 1969 after an operation in which an artificial heart was placed in his chest, testified in a damage suit Wednesday that her husband came to Houston only for a heart repair operation.

Mrs. Karp, of Skokie, Ill., is suing famed heart surgeon Dr. Denton Cooley for $4.5 million in damages, saying the artificial heart given her husband was approved only for animal experimentation.

Karp was given the artificial heart on April 4, 1969, when a human donor heart could not be found, Cooley testified earlier. A human heart was transplanted three days later but Karp died on April 8 of pneumonia and kidney damage, an autopsy report said.

Mrs. Karp said she and her husband decided to seek medical help in Houston because "no matter where you turned you heard Dr. Cooley or Dr. (Michael) DeBakey.

"I thought we should get a surgeon's opinion about repairs to the heart," she said, adding their family doctor was an internist.

After talking with Dr. Cooley on the phone, Mrs. Karp said they came to Houston March 5, a month before the operation.

She said her husband had suffered 10 or 11 heart attacks in the last 10 years of his life.

Earlier, Dr. Arthur S. Keats, the anesthesiologist who helped in both operations on Karp, said that when Karp was brought into the operating room at St. Luke's Hospital he was unable to breathe properly.

"I was afraid he would expire in the hall," Keats said. "I sent word to Dr. Cooley (who was not yet present) that he'd better get on with it or he (Karp) wouldn't make it till surgery."

Keats told the jury how Cooley had to take out a large damged portion of Karp's heart and how the repaired heart would not pump blood.

"There wasn't enough muscle left to pump," Keats said. After futile attempts to get Karp's mended heart to work, Cooley implanted the artificial heart.

Mrs. Karp is due to resume testimony today.

Also named in the suit by Mrs. Karp is Dr. Domingo S. Liotta.

Liotta, who helped design the artificial heart and assisted in the surgery, now heads a heart research institute in Argentina and has not made an appearance at the trial.

Newspaper Warns

MOSCOW (AP) — The newspaper Trud, alarmed by 50 drownings in the Moscow area so far this summer, warned Russians today that those who drink like fish often can't swim like them.

More than half of the 500 persons drowned in the Moscow area last year had been drinking before they went into the water, the trade union paper said.

The warning was part of the government's current campaign to cut down on heavy drinking.

Taxpayers Asks IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

* * *

Q) Are contributions for the purchase of tickets to a political dinner or function eligible for a Federal income tax deduction or credtit?

A) Yes. The cost of the ticket will be eligible for deduction or credit so long as the dinner or function is clearly in the context of a campaign of an announced candidate and is not primarily a device to confer private benefits in the form of meals or entertainment to the contributor. Of course, you may not deduct more than $50 ($100 for married taxpayers filing jointly) or claim a credit of more than $12.50 ($25 for married persons filing jointly).

Q) Can an employer take a business expense deduction for wages paid in excess of those permitted by the Economic Stabilization Program?

A) No. Payments of wages, as well as of rents and prices, in excess of those permitted by the Economic Stabilization Program are not deductible as a business expense.

Q) My father pays my tuition at college. Can he include the cost of tuition in the amount of total support he furnished me when figuring out whether or not he can claim me as a dependent?

A) Yes. Total support includes expenditures for education. A scholarship, however, is not included in figuring total support.

Q) I'm a Federal employee. When are amounts I contribute to the United States Civil Service Retirement and Disability Fund taxable—at retirement or each year?

A) Such employee contributions are taxable in the same year they would have been included in income if they had been paid to the employee directly. Thus, the contributions are taxed currently instead of at retirement.

Q) How can I correct an error on my tax return?

A) Form 1040X is the preferred form to use to correct an error on your original return. The 1040X calls only for information that relates to that part of the original return which you wish to change. It is not necessary to include all of the information furnished on the 1040 which you filed.

Forms 1040X and instructions are available at your local IRS office.

Ruling Monday On Empire

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Circuit Court Judge William Barber says he will rule Monday on a motion by state Insurance Commissioner John Bookout to take over operation of the Empire Life Insurance Co. of American in Alabama.

Hearings were held Tuesday and Wednesday and the judge's ruling will be based on evidence presented during those two days.

Bookout said his motion to take over the insurance firm is based on an audit conducted by investigators in Alabama, Texas and South Dakota.

The audit, Bookout said, showed Empire Life's liabilities exceeded its assets by $6.5 million. The insurance commissioner estimated the firm's total assets at $30 million.

During the hearings, Dr. Richard B. Johnson, a professor of finance at Southern Methodist University, testified that he studied Empire Life's economic situation in 1968. He predicted that the firm would resume profitable operation and normal growth in the early 1970's if left under current management.

He said his prediction was based on the fact that Empire Life's assets involved one-twentieth of a trust set up by Libby Shearn Moody of Galveston, Tex., and American National Insurance Co., of the largest in Texas.

Local FB Sending Pair To Seminar

Two high school students from Scurry County will attend the 10th annual High School Students Citizenship Seminar to be conducted by the Texas Farm Bureau July 18-22 on the campus of Baylor University in Waco, according to Jimmie Joe Key, President of the County Farm Bureau.

Students selected to attend from this county are Vicki Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Jones, 1204 Twenty-ninth Street, Snyder, and Richard Gill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Gill, Rt. 1, Fluvanna. They will be among some 450 students from all over the state who will be entering the 11th or 12th grades this fall and have been carefully screened as to leadership ability and scholastic achievement. Attendance is not limited to students from Farm Bureau families, but is open to those who reside in towns or cities as well as rural areas. Their attendance is sponsored by the local county Farm Bureau.

Purpose of the seminar, according to Key, is to convey to the students a better understanding of our American heritage and the capitalistic private enterprise system "that has made ours the greatest of all nations. They will also be informed about some of the forces, both internal and external, that are eroding our way of life. The ultimate goal, " he added, "in addition to helping them to be better informed, is to cause them to want to pass on their experiences to others."

Several nationally-known authorities will be discussion leaders at the seminar. They include Dr. Clifton Ganus, president of Harding College, Searcy, Ark., who will speak on "Understanding and Preserving our American Heritage", "Moral Foundation of Freedom," and "Pyramid of Freedom."

Cleon Skousen, lecturer, author of "The Naked Communist" and other publications, and former FBI agent, of Salt Lake City, Utah, will speak on "History, Strategy, and Tactics of the Communist Party."

Tom Hollingworth, Tulsa, Okla., former member of the Green Berets, will discuss "Behind the Scenes in Vietnam." Dr. C.L. Kay, assistant president of Lubbock Christian College, Lubbock, will speak on "Freedom is on Trial" and "The Battle Ahead."

Peace Justice Free On Bond

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Peace Justice Lloyd Kirkpatrick was free on $2,500 surety bond today after a county grand jury indicted him Wednesday on a charge of misapplication of public funds.

Kirkpatrick, 50, a peace justice here since 1961, was indicted on a charge of withholding $3 of a $15 traffic fine in October, 1970.

Earlier this year, he paid the county $1,594 after County Auditor Charles R. Sanderson said a routine audit showed discrepancies between the actual fines and the amount reported collected in 248 cases, mostly traffic fines in Kirkpatrick's southwest Bexar County precinct.

The indictment charged Kirkpatrick with levying an $15 speeding fine, then reporting it in court records as $12.

Three-dollar gold pieces, coined until 1889, were introduced in 1854 to facilitate postal transactions when the letter rate was made 3 cents.

Blue Cross And Auto Insurers Waging Battle

NEW YORK (AP) — While a major battle is loudly waged between advocates of the present "fault" system of vehicle insurance and proponents of "no-fault," another battle is being fought between Blue Cross and auto insurers.

To say that the second conflict is a smaller one might cause one to misjudge its size. It too involves hundreds of millions of dollars, even billions, and eventually might set off just as many fireworks.

But in the present legislative context, it is the battle within the battle, the broader one being whether states should remain with fault insurance, in which payments are made by the negligent driver's insurer, or no-fault, in which the driver's own insurer pays, regardless of fault.

Blue Cross, which provides health insurance coverage for 75 million subscribers, feels that it should continue to be the primary provider under any state or federal no-fault plans.

Some automobile insurers feel differently. With big premiums at stake, they seek a major role in selling health coverage as part of the over-all auto insurance package.

So far, Blue Cross has been waging a less than successful battle, having won no clear-cut victory in any of the seven state plans that qualify, more or less, as no-fault. It is still fighting in other states and Washington, D.C.

The auto insurers, says a Blue Cross spokesman, are powerful lobbyists, but nonprofit Blue Cross still hopes to make a major impact on any federal legislation.

Although a federal no-fault law is unlikely in this session of Congress, there is a possibility that sometime in the next year or so Congress will at least set up guidelines within which the states must work.

Why does Blue Cross want the business? First of all, because it already has it.

In the view of Walter McNerney, Blue Cross president, auto insurers should supplement regular health care protection only if primary health coverage is inadequate to cover the cost of care.

If 75 million Americans are already covered by Blue Cross, he argues, why should they be forced to pay additional premiums for duplicate coverage by auto insurers?

And there is the matter of efficiency and cost. "Our overhead is only 7 cents on the dollar," says McNerney. "Theirs is 40 cents."

More than $1 billion in medical expenses will be paid because of automobile accidents this year. If these expenses were underwritten solely by auto insurers, McNerney claims, that bill would rise by $400 million.

By contrast, he adds, if Blue Cross and Blue Shield had sole responsibility for underwriting these expenses, administrative or operating costs would add only $70 million to the bill, or $330 million less.

Moreover, he adds, the nation's 74 Blue Cross plans are in a much stronger position to exert pressure on health care costs, which have been rising swiftly. He claims that Blue Cross is now geared to saving.

Junior Editors' Quiz on URANIUM

QUESTION: Where is uranium found?

* * *

ANSWER: Uranium, a rare metallic element, has been found in many sections of the world. There are rich deposits in the Congo and in South Africa. Large veins of uranium have been found in the Great Bear Lake area in Canada, and also in Czechoslovakia. In the United States, uranium has been found in Colorado, Wyoming, Utah, New Mexico, South Dakota and Washington.

Uranium is silvery white, slightly softer than steel and more than 18 times as heavy as water. It is never found in a pure state. It occurs in nature in combination with other elements. It is found chiefly in pitchblende and carnotite and other ores, and has been obtained from gold ores, as in the case of the discovery of uranium in South Africa. In 1789, the German chemist, Martin Heinrich Klaproth, discovered uranium and named this element after the planet Uranus which had been discovered by Sir William Herschel in 1781. It is important because it is the source of atomic energy, released through fission or splitting of the atom. Uranium is alloyed with steel to make tools and has many other commercial uses.

Pharr Seeking Police Chief

PHARR, Tex. (AP) — Newly elected Mayor A. C. (Beto) Jaime and his city commission got down to business promptly Tuesday after being sworn in by announcing they are accepting applications for a new police chief.

The acting police chief in the politically troubled Lower Rio Grande Valley city has been Joe Rosales since Chief A. H. Ramirez stepped down under orders from former Mayor R. S. Bowe.

Ramirez, like Bowe and his administration, came under criticism from various factions for a number of reasons. Ramirez was criticized for his handling of a demonstration which turned into a bloody riot in 1971.

Mayor Jaime said Ramirez is welcome to apply for the job, but said he would be treated just like any other applicant.

Jaime and his four "Pharr unity party" commissioners were elected a week ago to replace Bowe and the city commission after they resigned earlier this year.

Health 'Kick' Tiring

By WILLIAM L. CHAZE
Associated Press Writer

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — On the face of it, this business about building good body ecology looks all right.

But I've found that as a practical matter, it is an entirely different thing. It is wearing me out.

I felt fine until a couple of months ago when my [illegible]ty Ann, suddenly became a health food and vitamin pill freak. Now I'm tired all the time and feel lousy. Plus, I sometimes look funny.

Take last Saturday. I showered with this funny looking brown soap. It had little dark brown speckles in it and smelled familiar. There was something about the smell that reminded me of cold winter mornings.

I dried off and went outside. The neighbors looked at me strangely. Finally, one asked me what these flakes were all over my face. Did I have some disease?

Disease? Flakes?

I rushed back inside and, sure enough, I had scales all over my face. I yelled for my wife. It was nothing fatal, as it turned out. What happened was that the soap was made from oatmeal and some of the oat flakes had stuck to my forehead.

I've gotten used to the way the flakes look and so have my neighbors.

But there are more serious problems that strike directly at a man's fatigue threshold.

Like, for example, we were out of salt the other day and I volunteered to go get some. Betty Ann yelled as I walked out the door to get only sea salt.

Sea salt. I canvassed 11 stores before finally finding some.

And shampoo. We now use only a concoction of concentrated protein, oil of papaya, avocado, coconut and balsam. Nothing else will do. Never mind that stores stock it on a sporadic basis, at best, and sometimes you spend half a day fuming in traffic looking for it.

And how about dolomite toothpaste. Or oat cereal with prune flakes, and deodorant containing natural vitamins A, D and E?

I tell you, I'm exhausted.

US Turning To Knits

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — The United States fiber market is turning more and more from broad woven goods to knits, with last year's production of woven goods dropping to the lowest level since 1949.

In 1971, 11.1 billion yards of broad woven goods were produced, down from 11.5 billion the previous year and 12.6 billion two years earlier, the Department of Agriculture says.

The total included nearly 6.2 billion yards of cotton products, and 4.9 million yards woven from manmade fiber.

For cotton broad woven goods this is the smallest annual production in nearly 40 years. The record high was set in 1956 when cotton broad woven goods totaled more than 10.3 billion yards.

The decreases in the cotton sector in recent years, however, have been offset to a large extent by increases in the production of cotton knit goods.

Use of cotton yarn in knit goods has increased by about 50 per cent in the past decade. However, sharp increases in the use of manmade fiber knits goods have offset woven goods declines in that sector also.

Bryant Blanks Cubs, Giants Win

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

The way the San Francisco Giants are going this season, it was bound to happen. They've finally brought Manager Charlie Fox to his knees.

Defending National League West champions, the Giants have spent most of the 1972 baseball season buried at the bottom of their division. Tempers grow short in the kind of campaign the Giants are living through and last weekend Manager Fox and pitcher Ron Bryant exchanged angry words over what the left-hander thought was a quick hook.

"If Bryant brings in a shutout," said Fox before sending the lefty out to face the Chicago Cubs Wednesday; "I'll go out on my hands and knees to him."

With the manager's foot positioned neatly in front of his mouth, Bryant naturally blanked the Cubs 2-0 on a two-hitter. Fox came out to congratulate him and did a neat salaam, just as he had promised.

In other National League games Wednesday night, Cincinnati regained first place in the West, knocking off Montreal while the New York Mets were topping Houston 5-4. The Mets crept within five percentage points of first place Pittsburgh in the East race as the Pirates bowed to Los Angeles 5-3 in 10 innings. Philadelphia outslugged Atlanta 9-7 and St. Louis routed San Diego 14-3.

In the American League, Boston edged Texas 10-9 in 11 innings, Chicago ripped Milwaukee 9-3, Cleveland topped Minnesota 4-2, Detroit trimmed Oakland 5-2 and took over first place in the East when California knocked off Baltimore 6-3.

"The added pressure in this game probably made it the most important I ever pitched," said Bryant, who seemed embarassed by Fox' performance. The Cubs were embarassed by Bryant, managing only a leadoff single by Don Kessinger and an eighth-inning single by Billy Williams.

The Giants used consecutive singles by Dave Rader, Alan Gallagher and Tito Fuentes for a run in the second and added two more in the fifth on RBI hits by Ken Henderson and Dave Kingman.

The loss snapped a seven-game Cub winning streak.

Cincinnati spotted Montreal an early three-run lead and then bounced from behind to overtake the Expos and reclaim first place in the West.

Pete Rose tripled home two runs in the second inning and then triggered a three-run fifth with a leadoff single to spark the Reds' rally. It was his triple that got the Reds back in business.

"Scoring with two out picks you up and takes the steam out of the other club," the peppery outfielder said.

Los Angeles got a pinch single from Jim Lefebvre with two out in the 10th inning to drive in a pair of runs and beat Pittsburgh. Frank Robinson and Wes Parker had both singled with one out and after reliever Dave Giusti got Duke Sims on a bouncer, Lefebvre came off the bench to knock in the two runs.

Bob Robertson had a two-run homer for the Pirates.

The Mets pushed across two runs in the eighth inning to break a tie and relief ace Tug McGraw nailed down the victory for Jerry Koosman against the Astros.

Kossman and Tom Griffin had matched four-hitters over the first seven innings and the score was tied 3-3 when Tommie Agee snapped an 0-for-20 slump with a leadoff double in the eighth. Ken Boswell singled him to third and then he scored when Tommy Helms booted Dave Marshall's bouncer. John Milner singled home another run before the inning ended.

Marshall homered for the Mets and Doug Rader had a ninth inning homer for Houston.

Bob Gibson and Joe Torre both had three-run homers as the Cardinals bombed San Diego. Gibson allowed just three hits in the seven innings he pitched before retiring with a sore leg.

The victory was the 211th of his career for the hard-throwing right-hander, making him the winningest pitcher in St. Louis club history. He moved ahead of Jess Haines, who had 210 victories for the Cards.

Atlanta's Hank Aaron passed another milestone as the Braves lost to Philadelphia. Aaron had two singles, pushing his career hit total, to 3,313, No. 5 on the alltime list. He moved ahead of Eddie Collins, who had 3,311.

The Phillies, who broke a six-game losing streak, tied the score at 7-7 on Roger Freed's pinch home run in the seventh. Then, in the ninth, Philadelphia loaded the bases on three walks and Mike Ryan delivered a two-out double to drive home the deciding runs.

Willie Montanez and John Bateman homered for the Phillies while Orlando Cepeda connected for the Braves. Felix Millan had four hits and scored four runs for Atlanta.

Contact Is Lost With Crewman In Yacht Race

LONDON (AP) — Anxiety over the safety of Jean Yves Terlain, crewman of the biggest yacht in the singlehanded Transatlantic race, deepened today.

For the third straight day Wednesday the Frenchman failed to make scheduled radio contact with his base. And none of the boats which did report had any news of the race favorite.

The Observer newspaper of London, which is sponsoring the contest, thought Terlain's radio transmitter was probably out of action, but admitted "there is some concern."

Gale force winds and pounding seas have buffeted many of the nearly 50 yachts heading for Newport, R.I., since Saturday.

Terlain, who is manning the 128-foot Schooner Vendredi 13, has more of a handful than the other competitors. His yacht is twice the length of any challenger.

The bad weather has hit yachts taking the Great Circle northerly route across the ocean. These are mostly the monohulls, the multi-hulls heading for calmer waters further south.

Wrestling Will Come Saturday

Wrestling returns to Snyder and Scurry County Saturday, June 24th with four big matches, the first of which will begin at 8:30 p.m. in Scurry County Coliseum.

The main event will be an African death handkerchief match. Ciclon Negro will be going against the Lawman. This is only the third time this type of match has ever been held in wrestling. Anything will be legal, and the wrestler may do anything to his opponent. Negro is billed as one of the meanset wrestlers around. The popular Lawman is also known as one of the toughest fighters in wrestling.

The semi-final event will be Lord Al Hayes going against the Korean Assassin, Pak Song. The special event will be Moose Marowski and Bobby Duncum teaming against Salvador Dominquez and Eric Rommell. The opening match will be Bill Cody against Chief Little Eagle.

For reservations call or go by the coliseum.

Bob Grossman, Maryland junior right handed pitcher who hurled two no-hitters this season, was voted the player of the year in the Atlantic Coast Conference. He's a Salona Beach, Calif., native.

Summer Thinclads Run In Andrews

The 1972 edition of Snyder's boy's summer track team competed in the Andrews track meet on Saturday, June 17. The Snyder team made a fine showing, particularly in the intermediate division, bringing home 33 ribbons.

In the Bantum division, nine and under, Tracy Loyola finished second in the 50 yard dash with a time of 6.9 seconds. Richard Crayton and Randy Hodges finished fourth and fifth in the Midgets (10 and 11) 50 yard dash with times of 6.4 and 6.5 respectively, and Hodges also placed fifth in the 75 yard dash, covering the distance in 9.7 seconds.

The intermediates had a strong showing, winning four first place ribbons including two relays. The sprint relay of Greg Gafford, Larry Johns, Alvin Neely, and Welton broke the tape with a 44.7,then the same quarter combined to win the sprint medley relay in 3:57.9. Robert Ramariz captured the 880 with a 2:23.7 and three Snyderites placed in the century. Welton Cobb burned the track for first with 9.9 and teammates Alvin Neely and Larry Johns were third and fifth. Eight men ran the intermediate mile relay and finished fourth with a 3:45.7. Members of that relay were Terral Taylor, Ronnie Payne, Bernie Weems, Joey Hardin, Win Bunch, Jimmy Taylor, Roy Lee Carter, and Robert Ramariz. Carter also placed fifth in the intermediate hurdles with a time of 31.1.

In the field events for the intermediate division Carter threw the discus 139 feet for second place honors, and then put the shot for a fourth place ribbon. Ronnie Payne cleared 5'4" to finish fifth in the high jump and Bernie Weems vaulted 9'6" for a third place in the pole vault.

The Seniors finished fourth in the four man mile relay with the team of Greg Gafford, Larry Johns, Jimmy Taylor, and Welton Cobb. The crew covered the mile in 4:00.8.

The cinder men will travel to Seminole tomorrow for their next meet. Preliminaries are scheduled to begin at 9:00 a.m.

El Paso Gets New Manager

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — When the El Paso Sun Dodgers, the Los Angeles Dodgers' Class AA farm club, meet Alexandria in tonight's Texas League baseball game, they will be under a new manager.

Monty Basgell, 48, resigned as skipper of the Sun Dodgers Wednesday. He cited personal reasons for leaving the team.

Easgell's resignation meant a promotion for Stan Wasiak, 53, who came to El Paso to take over the club this morning.

Wasiak had been manager of Los Angeles' Class A franchise in Daytona Beach.

The Sun Dodgers, who lost to Alexandria 5-1 Wednesday, are in second place in the Texas League's Western Division.

SIGNS SCHOLARSHIP—Larry Hall, left, of Iraan has signed a scholarship with Western Texas College to become the newest member of Bob O'Day's, right, promising golf team. Hall was a four year letterman at Iraan and led his team to the 1972 Class A state championship.

Miss Softball America Opens League Games

Miss Softball America opened its season Tuesday night with two games.

The minor league teams of Rangers and Dodgers took the field in the first game and the Rangers came out on top by a score of 19-4.

The Rangers opened a six run gap in the first inning on singles by Sara Kincheloe and Suzanne Fisher, but also used the help of six walks for their game shattering inning. The Dodgers were scoreless in the first inning, but came through with two runs in the second on one hit, a single by Robbie Lamb.

The Rangers came back in the third inning to add seven runs on two hits to insure the victory and to send the Dodger pitcher, Kim Starnes from the mound. Latricia Pevehouse took over the pitching for the Dodgers, but could not pull the game from the fire as the Rangers scored three more in the fourth and three in the fifth.

The other Dodger runs came in the third and fourth innings and were the products of Rhonda Elliot's double and a pair of walks.

Suzanne Fisher was the winning pitcher for the Rangers and was the only Ranger to collect two hits. Shari Tyson, Sara Kincheloe, and Charlotte Pierce all had hits for the winners. Debra Littlepage hit for the Dodgers to add to the hits of Elliot and Lamb.

The older girls got into the action in the late game as the Blues beat the Reds by only one run, 3-2. The Reds scored first with two runs in the first inning, but the Blues tied it up in the third. It looked like the game might be a stalemate as both teams remained scoreless in the fourth, fifth, and sixth innings. The Reds threatened in the top of the seventh when Jean Payne reached second base, but could advance no further and then Pat Blackwell also moved into scoring position before the side retired. The Blues came to bat in the bottom of the finale and Karen Braziel picked up a base hit and then stole around the bases to bring home the winning run. Karen Blackwell was credited with the win after she relieved starter Sherry Freeman. Braziel was the leading hitter with a two-for-four showing. Kathy Weber was the losing pitcher, but she did a fine job, allowing only two hits and striking out 18 of the Blue batters. Jean Payne, Lisa Byrd and Teresa Rios all had base hits for the Reds.

The next games for the girls will be Friday when the Giants play the Cardinals and the Greens meet the Blues.

Weather Waits For Amarillo

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The weather was mighty kind to Amarillo's Scott Wolfe Wednesday night as he socked his first and second home runs of the year to help the Giants defeat Arkansas 6-4 in the Texas League.

Shortly after the game ended, tornadoes, high winds and rain struck Amarillo and the surrounding Panhandle area.

Alexandria got four straight hits in the fourth inning at El Paso to defeat the Sun Dodgers 5-1 and move into second place in the East.

Shreveport defeated Midland 5-4 in 11 innings and San Antonio beat Memphis 8-4 in other games.

WTC Adds Iraan Linkster To Team

Western Texas College has added another high school star to its fast growing galaxy of golf talent by signing Larry Hall of Iraan High School. Bob O'Day, WTC mentor announced the signing of Hall this week.

Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hal H. Hall, was a four year letterman for the Class A Iraan team that won the district championship in 1969, 1970, 1971, and again in 1972. In 1969 they finished fourth in regional play, third in 1970, and first in 1971 and 1972. Hall's junior year, 1971, Iraan finished second in the state, and this past year Hall guided his team to the Class A state championship, finishing as second state medalist and shooting the team's best score for 36 holes.

Hall has not limited his talents to the golf course. He was an active member of Iraan's Future Farmers of America, the school band, earned the rank of Eagle Scout in the Boy Scouts of America, and earned membership into that elite group, Order of the Arrow. Hall is a member of the Methodist church. He is tentatively planning to take a curriculum leading to some type of vocational degree.

"Larry is a powerful boy and probably hit the longest ball of any Class A boy in the state," said O'Day. "He consistently shoots in the mid-70's, and with a little work on his short game, should make a fine college player."

Hall joins five new schoolboy recruits, Danny Walter of Abilene-Cooper; Mark McCraney and Mark Peters, both of Big Spring; Joe Ziegler, Canyon; and Ricky Hopper, Sweetwater. These freshmen will join an already fine nucleus of returning lettermen in Tim Stuerzenberger, Blake Arnwine, and Max Tenorio, the nation's 28th best junior college linkster.

Kite Leads At NCAA Championship

CAPE CORAL, Fla. (AP) — Tom Kite, a rare short Texan, strutted to the head of the class as the NCAA Golf Championships began, and Howard Twitty, a most unconventional fellow from Arizona State, was closest in pursuit.

Kite, recently graduated from the University of Texas, shot a dazzling seven-under-par 65 Wednesday at the Cape Coral Country Club.

"I'll turn pro later this summer," said the 5-foot-9 Kite. "Sure, I'd love to make a lot of money.

Twitty is different. He's 6-feet-5 and 225 pounds. And the recent graduate from Arizona State is more interested in "earning as much as the top 15 men in insurance."

Orange Coach Fired Wednesday

ORANGE, Tex. (AP) — West Orange High School head coach Ted Gray was fired Wednesday night by a unanimous vote of the West Orange-Cove school district's board of trustees.

Earlier, Gray admitted during a public hearing that he had falsified receipts for meat used at an athletic banquet and turned in a travel expense voucher for a stay at a motel that does not exist.

The hearing was called by Supt. Paul Willis to consider a recommendation "that the coaches' services be immediately terminated."

Willis suspended the coach June 15 after the two incidents came to light.

Say Farm Controls To Stay

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Government farm controls will remain for a long time to come, because their removal would bring serious consequences, according to a specialist in agricultural policy.

Dr. Clive R. Harston, of the Agricultural Experiment Station at Texas A&M University, said he believes that "there will have to be a lot more mouths to feed before farm production can go unchecked by government income support programs."

"Ever since the Agricultural Adjustment Act in the New Deal days of the 1930's, farmers have been receiving some kind of income support payment from the government to keep them from over-producing and flooding the market with surplus crops and livestock," he explained.

"For almost and identical period," he said, "the programs have been sharply criticized for, as many have put it, paying farmers not to produce."

"Some are contending today that by releasing production restrictions, the inevitable drop in food prices would bring about a necessary adjustment—painful, but necessary. But such an occurence would also mean the combining of small operations, the elimination of the inefficient, and ultimately the survival of only the large-scale commercial enterprises."

"Of course," he continued, "only those who predict their ability to survive such an adjustment advocate the complete removal of price supports and supply control."

But even if such a step were taken, Harston said, the end result would make the need for farm production controls not less, but greater. Currently, there are 60 million acres—a fifth of the nation's total cropland—being diverted from production by various government income support programs. If these lands were put back into use, Harston estimated that total production might be increased by at least 10 to 12 per cent.

"And the resulting impact would not fall evenly over all farm produce, but would greatly affect only a few vital crops," he said. For example, while an end to support programs would do little to alter the price of beef, fruit, or vegetables it would drastically reduce the price of wheat, corn and cotton.

Until population pressures significantly increase, Harston said, agriculture's capacity to produce certain crops will continue to exceed domestic consumption.

Ends Crisis

ROME (AP) — Premier-designate Giulio Andreotti has succeeded in putting together a Parliamentary majority to end Italy's worst postwar government crisis. He is expected to announce his cabinet later this week.

US Jets Help Stop Attack

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese armor and infantrymen broke through South Vietnam's northernmost defense line above Hue at dawn Thursday, but field reports said the main thrust of the attack was stopped with help from U.S. jets.

Military sources said 16 North Vietnamese armored vehicles were knocked out, including at least nine tanks, on both sides of the My Chanh River which forms the northern defense line 20 to 25 miles north of Hue.

Initial reports from the Saigon command said one South Vietnamese soldier was killed and eight were wounded.

Military sources in the field said at least six tanks crossed the river, and fighting was reported northwest and southwest of a Roman Catholic church that is now a South Vietnamese command post at My Chanh. The area was heavily shelled during the night.

U.S. jets knocked out three North Vietnamese 130mm guns, which have a range of 17 miles, west of My Chanh with laser-guided bombs, military sources said. But North Vietnamese shells hit an ammunition dump at Camp Evans, a big South Vietnamese base camp six miles southeast of My Chanh, and the ammunition was still exploding at midmorning.

Another 14 tanks were claimed Tuesday and Wednesday by South Vietnamese marines who are making a sweep to the east of the paratroopers in the coastal region of Quang Tri province known as the Street Without Joy.

Two U.S. planes were shot down on the western side of Quang Tri province, on the Laotian border, but both pilots were rescued.

The U.S. Command said U.S. jets flew more than 270 strikes against North Vietnam Wednesday, and Air Force F4 Phantoms shot down a MIG21 interceptor in a dogfight 50 miles northwest of Hanoi.

The Command said American bombers gave a heavy pounding to the Haiphong region, wrecking supply depots, surface-to-air missile assembly areas, SAM launching sites, antiaircraft artillery batteries and bridges.

The Viet Cong announced today that it had released hundreds of South Vietnamese troops captured during the fall of Quang Tri and "helped them return to their homes."

On the southern front, the U.S. Command reported that six Americans have been killed since Monday in the stalled drive to reopen Highway 13 to An Loc, the provincial capital 60 miles north of Saigon that the North Vietnamese tried in vain to capture.

The dead Americans included two advisers to the South Vietnamese force that has been unable to break through to An Loc and four helicopter crewmen. Two U.S. helicopter gunships were shot down on Tuesday and one on Wednesday.

Hearing Set On Houston Plants

HOUSTON (AP) — Despite major clean-up efforts, the City of Houston's two largest sewage treatment plants are discharging more pollution than ever into the Houston Ship Channel, an official of the Texas Water Quality Board said Wednesday.

John Latchford, district chief for the TWQB, said two years ago the North Side and Sims Bayou plants were discharging about 40,000 pounds of biochemical oxygen demand (BOD) a day into the channel.

But by last March, he said, the daily BOD load from the two plants had spurted to 72,000 pounds. The two Houston plants by themselves are discharging more than double the 35,000-pound load limit which federal and state officials have set as the total daily quota for all industries and sewage treatment plants using the channel.

Latchford said city officials have been asked to appear next Tuesday before a water quality board hearing in Austin to explain the increase.

The increase came, Latchford said, despite a $3 million improvement to the North Side plant a little over a year ago.

A study of the North Side plant by the water board reveals more improvements are needed, he said.

"It looks to us like the North Side plant is at capacity right now. The city has to get going on plans for more expansion and improvement. If they dillydally around, they will be right back where they were two or three years ago," Latchford said.

The North Side plant, the city's biggest, has no reserve stand-by equipment at all for emergencies, he said, and right now a portion of the plant is broken down.

Johnson Escapes Again

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Escape artist James Kenneth Johnson has escaped court appearances here on a variety of charges — for at least three months.

It was learned Wednesday that Johnson, wounded by police March 30 at the end of his latest escape, is too ill to to travel to court.

The 34-year-old inmate, currently confined in the federal prison medical center in Springfield, Mo., is accused of bank robberies in Marlow, Okla., and Higgins, Tex.

He was taken into custody March 30 near Ardmore, his hometown, after fleeing from Dallas where he was accused of shooting a policeman and kidnaping a businessman. After treatment in an Ardmore hospital, he was transferred to Oklahoma City and underwent three operations.

W. H. Rauch, associate director of the Springfield facility, said Johnson has been in serious condition since he arrived April 19.

U. S. Atty. William Burkett in Oklahoma City said Johnson's doctor has notified him that the inmate's wounds are still draining and he will not be capable of appearing in court for from three to six months.

In addition to the bank robbery charges and the kidnaping and shooting charges in Dallas, Johnson is accused of escaping from the Oklahoma state prison at McAlester, the Springfield medical center and an Oklahoma City hospital. He is also accused of shooting an Oklahoma highway patrolman.

Archie Bunker Speaks Out In New Paperback

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — What do Chairman Mao and Archie Bunker have in common? Each has his own little book of sayings.

Mao's book is Red red. Archie's is a patriotic red, white and blue.

Mao's thoughts are revolutionary. Archie's are no less inflammatory but much funnier.

"The Wit and Wisdom of Archie Bunker," newly published in a paperback by Popular Library, is a compilation of Archie's outrageous remarks from CBS' "All in the Family."

The man who gave currency to "stiffle," "dingbat" and "meathead" speaks out on sex, race, politics, Women's Lib and many other subjects.

Much of the book records exchanges between Archie and other members of the cast, but here are a few short examples:

—"Wages and priees. It's what you call your spiral staircase."

—"If you're gonna have your change of life, have it right now! You got exactly 30 seconds ... change!"

—"Well, I'll tell you one thing about Richard Nixon. He keeps Pat home. Which was where Roosevelt should have kept Eleanor. Instead he let her run around loose till one day she discovered the colored. We never knew they was there. She told them they was getting' the short end of the stick and we been havin' trouble ever since."

—"When I wanna learn about pollution, it won't be from no millionaire actor who's got nothin' to do but sit on his duff and dream up causes. If he wants to unpollute something, let him unpollute the movies. All them nudies."

—"It's moments like this where the only thing that holds a marriage together is the husband bein' big enough to step back and see where his wife is wrong."

In some cases Archie's humor comes through more clearly than on the show because you can see in print his misuse of words. For instance: "You're taking it out of contest." "It's just a pigment of your imagination." "This political percussion is over as of here and now." "Smells like a house of ill refute, if you ask me."

Appointees To TCC Approved

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Senate Nominations Committee has approved five appointees to the Texas Cosmetology Commission but withheld action on five nominees to the Texas Board of Private Detectives.

The committee sent to the full Senate the names of James McMullen, Fort Worth; Herby Cohen, Marshall; La Vonne Daniel, Pasadena; Frank Joseph, Harlingen; and Harold Grace, Austin.

But the committee first got assurances the cosmetology board will keep a close watch on its controversial executive director, Garland Boles of Austin.

Sen. Jim Wallace of Houston said he had seen letters from Boles that were "most sarcastic and most discourteous."

The chairman of the board, Richard Ingram of Dallas, was absent. The board rescheduled a hearing on him on Tuesday, with the promise by Sen. Jim Bates of Edinburg to make a motion on the Senate floor to "bust him" if Ingram is absent again.

Sen. A. R. Schwartz of Galveston persuaded the committee to defer action on nominees to the detectives' board.

Schwartz said the board failed to act on a case in which information on Galveston millionaire Shearn Moody Jr. was illegally taken from Department of Public Safety files by a private detective, Red Morgan of Houston.

Schwartz, an attorney, represented Moody.

The board chairman, Mason Lankford of Fort Worth, promised action on the case within 30 days.

The other nominees are J. W. Golden, Richardson; Robert C. Taylor, Houston; Robert Crowder, Dallas; and George Bichsel, San Antonio.

A sixth nominee, Morris Ruebright of Houston, sent a telegram to the committee asking that his name be withdrawn, but the committee could not determine if Ruebright was resigning from the board or merely declining to appear before the committee.

VEE Warning Issued

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas Livestock raisers got bad news Wednesday from two different directions.

The Texas Veterinary Medical Association and the Texas Animal Health Commission sent out a warning that all horses vaccinated during the Venezuelan Equine Encephalomyelitis (VEE) outbreak a year ago should be re-vaccinated. About 2,000 horses died in the 1971 epedemic and about 90 human cases were reported.

State Agriculture Commissioner John C. White said that Mexico has threatened to halt the export of Texas livestock across the boarder at El Paso, Laredo and Brownsville unless adequate quarantine corrals are provided. White said quarantine facilities are under construction to Mexican government requirements at Del Rio and Eagle Pass.

White said he hoped Mexican officials "will bear with us until these problems can be overcome."

The warning about VEE said "Texas is a high risk area for a VEE outbreak and while it is hoped no impending threat is eminent, revaccination is further insurance for the public against this deadly form of sleeping sickness in horses." A spokesman said recent outbreaks of VEE in Mexico and the discovery of VEE antibodies in a dog and coyote found in Texas influenced the decision.

Texas is the only state that has ever had a VEE outbreak.

Suit Names 26 Attorney Generals

BURLINGTON, Vt. (AP) — Glenn W. Turner, millionaire Florida businessman, has filed a $500 million lawsuit charging that the attorneys general of 26 states conspired against him and three of his companies.

Filed in U.S. district court here Tuesday and made public Wednesday, the civil rights action asks the court to impanel a three-judge court to hear the case.

Among the defendants are the 26 attorneys generally as individuals, in their official capacities and as a class, and the state of Vermont and the Council of Better Business Bureaus.

The suit asks in part for $200,000 incompensatory and punitive damages from the council and an additional $200,000 from the attorneys general for allegedly issuing statements and inducing breaches of contracts involving the companies.

In addition, the suit alleges that Vermont's attorney general, James M. Jeffords, and his assistant in charge of the state's Consumer Protection Agency, promulgated a regulation that prohibits Turner and three companies from doing business in Vermont.

The Plaintiffs, in addition to Turner, include Turner Enterprises, Inc., Koskot Interplanetary, Inc., and Dare To Be Breat, Inc., all organized under the laws of Florida.

In addition to the attorney general of Vermont, the suit names the attorneys general of Alabama, Arkansas, California, Connecticut, Delaware, Idaho, Illinois and Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, Missouri, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Texas, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia and Wisconsin.

Sheik Shakbut, the former ruler of Abu Zaby who allowed slave-trading in his Trucial State until 1964, feared modernization would ruin his land and tried to refuse payment for oil found there. Forced to accept the money, he kept it under his bed where rats gnawed through a fortune in banknotes before he was deposed in 1966.
