Texas has a big variety of wildlife, possibly more diverse than many people in other regions can imagine.

A lot of Texans must have been surprised when, during a recent television special about wolves, it was claimed that wolves now exist in their natural habitat in only two northern states besides Alaska.

Texas has wolves and they have increased in number considerably in the past quarter-century. I personally observed one crossing a highway in front of my car three years ago in East Texas near Lake Of The Pines, and residents of the area said that wolves had become a problem to poultry farms, etc. These wolves looked exactly like those on the television special.

Texas also has some wildlife in unlikely places. One instance, cited recently by the Parks and Wildlife Dept., is a colony of fox squirrels in Bentsen-Rio Grande State Park. There are no trees there of the type usually required by squirrels, such as oak, pecan, walnut, etc., but the park superintendent says the squirrels get by on mesquite beans, berries and other available food and they are not above seeking handouts from visitors in the park.

Various groups become concerned about threats to wildlife and the recent furor over the insecticide DDT stemmed partly from such threats, although the threat to human beings really put sparks in that issue.

Experience has shown that some species of wildlife find it difficult to make a comeback once their numbers have been decimated by civilization. The big whooping cranes, for example, almost did not make it and they are not yet out of danger. Thirty years ago, conservationists could find only 15 of them. Today, with maximum protection and a lot of coddling over a period of many years, there still are less than 60 whooping cranes accounted for.

Historically, man has made it more difficult for wildlife that appeared to be plentiful than any other. The slaughter of the American buffalo is a case in point. More recently, the alligator, which long had infested swamps and bayous of the South land in what were thought to be inexhaustible numbers, suddenly began to decrease at an alarming rate. Recent reports indicate that the alligator situation got attention early enough to keep them plentiful.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Friday, December 5, the 339th day of 1969. There are 26 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1933, 13 years of prohibition ended in the United States as Utah became the 36th state to ratify the 21st Amendment repealing the 18th Amendment to the Constitution.

On this date:

In 1776, the first scholastic fraternity in the U.S., Phi Beta Kappa, was organized at the college of William and Mary in Williamsburg, Va.

In 1782, the eighth American president, Martin Van Buren, was born in Kinderhook, N. Y.

In 1848, President James Polk announced the discovery of gold in California, paving the way for the gold rush of '49.

In 1941, Britain declared war on Finland, Rumania and Hungary.

In 1934, 66 persons were executed in Russia after being charged with plotting against the regime of Joseph Stalin.

In 1943, Japanese warplanes made their first daylight attack on Calcutta, India during the Pacific war.

Ten years ago— Guatemala accused Cuba of helping Communist groups prepare an armed invasion of Guatemala.

Five years ago— Pope Paul VI returned to Rome after a triumphant visit to India.

One year ago— A 24-hour strike by workers and students paralyzed Rome.

OF TWA JET HIJACKED LAST AUGUST

Syrians Free Passengers

By PHILIP DOPOULOS

ATHENS (AP) — Two Israeli passengers of a TWA jetliner hijacked to Damascus by Arab commandos last August were released by Syria today and flew to Athens on the same hijacked plane. In exchange, Israel freed 13 Syrians.

Minutes after their arrival here, the two men, Schlomo Samueloff, a university professor of physiology, and Salah Muallem, a travel agent, boarded another TWA jetliner for Tel Aviv.

The two Israelis, accompanied by the Israeli diplomatic representative in Athens, Yaacov Caroz, walked briskly from one plane to the other.

TWA international vice president, Richard W. Wilson, who accompanied the two men on their flight to Athens, also flew with them to Tel Aviv.

Before boarding the plane, Wilson told airport newsmen the men were in "very good health." He said they had told him that they were "very happy to be on their way home."

He quoted the two Israelis as saying that they had received "reasonably good treatment during their imprisonment."

The two men were among 113 persons aboard the jet the Arab commandos seized Aug. 29 on a flight from Rome to Athens and Tel Aviv. A bomb set off by the commandos shortly after the plane landed in Damascus damaged it heavily but it had been repaired.

The Syrians released most of the passengers and the crew the day after the hijacking but kept the two Israeli men and four Israeli women passengers. The Syrians let the women go six days later but never explained why they kept the men.

The pilot of the plane, Capt. Dean Carter, remained in Syria in an attempt to get the men freed.

The United States, several legislators, and such groups as the Air Line Pilots Association, the Red Cross and the International Civil Aviation Organization joined the campaign.

The president of TWA, F.C. Wisor, said in New York this morning that TWA had "spent many long hours and worked with many organizations in attempting to free the two men."

"Of necessity, most of our efforts had to be conducted in secrecy. Our dealings were further complicated by the fact that we do not serve Syria, have never been authorized to serve Syria, and the United States does not maintain a diplomatic relationship with that country," Wisor said.

In Tel Aviv, the Israelis released 13 Syrians in exchange for the two Israeli passengers. The Syrians included two pilots held since their plane flew into Israel last year through a navigational error, and 11 others.

The Syrians crossed into Syria near Quenitra in the occupied Golan Heights an announcement said.

The exchange was expected to stir opposition among many Israelis. Officials had hitherto ruled out any form of swap, for fear it would encourage further hijacknigs.

The last exchange of this sort took place last year, when Israel released a group of Arab saboteurs in return for the Israeli crew of an El Al airliner hijacked by Palestinian commandos to Algiers.

Nixon's Hunger Measure Backed

By JOHN B. LENGEL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's White House hunger conference has told him in effect what has been done for the nation's hungry is not enough and what should be done should be done now.

The 3,000 delegates from all walks of life shouted acceptance of a statement calling on Nixon to declare a national hunger emergency, the government to guarantee an annual income floor of $5,500 and free lunch and breakfast programs for poor children.

A delegation of six participants planned to meet with the President today to stress the concern of the conference.

"There is a hunger and malnutrition emergency in this country today," the conference statement said Thursday. "Therefore, the President must immediately declare that a national hunger emergency exists, and under existing authority must now free funds and implement programs to feed all hungry Americans this winter," the statement said.

As an interim measure only all present food programs should be reformed and expanded, said the statement. This will be part of hundreds of recommendations to the President on virtually every conceivable aspect of food, nutrition and health.

The statements also cited what many antihunger crusaders consider congressional obstruction. All food programs should be switched from the Agriculture Department to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare with correspoding shifts in congressional committee responsibilities, it said.

The President's conference chairman, Dr. Jean Mayer, said there was "an escalation of concern for the poor" at the conference, and "I am perfectly satisfied with the results."

Before the conference closed, Mayer said the President had decided to give priority to establishing food stamps in 307 U.S. counties without them and upping the allowable purchasing power of food stamps from the current $65 to $106 a month for a family of four.

Caucuses of blacks, Puerto Ricans, Appalachian whites, Indians and Mexican-Americans said the President's action was not enough, that free food stamps should be given to all the poor immediately. They doubted the President had existing legal power to expand food stamps and said the Agriculture Department already announced the increased allowance.

At the close of the general conference session a poor group coalition said the conference remained in order and would do so until the President made free food stamps available.

But the delegates left the coalition with a group of some 20 people milling in the lobby of the conference hotel.

In a windup speech, Sen. Walter Mondale, D-Minn., told the delegates "We have flattered the hungry with everything except food."

College To Open Temporary Office

The Scurry County Junior College has established temporary offices in the Snyder Savings and Loan Association Building, M. L. Broman, president of the board of trustees, announced today.

The board, meeting Tuesday night, had authorized Broman and board secretary George Patterson to arrange temporary offices for the college and to employ an office secretary.

Broman said that Mrs. Mavis Brumbelow had been employed as the secretary, thus becoming the first salaried employe of the new Scurry County Junior College District.

The Snyder Savings and Loan Association offered the college district the use of a room adjacent to its community room and also its board room for holding meetings of the board of trustees. This offer was accepted, and the junior college office will be opened Monday.

The college also has acquired a post office address and hopes to obtain a telephone by Monday. The mailing address of Scurry County Junior College is P. O. Drawer D, Snyder, Tex.

The college board of trustees has another meeting set for Monday night, which will be its regular December meeting. That meeting already has been designated to be held in the Snyder Public Schools board room at the school administration building. Future meetings of the college board, however, likely will be held in the Snyder Savings and Loan Association board room.

Service For Miss Kuss

Miss Jane C. Kuss, 30, of 309 Thirty-sixth Street, died Thursday at 8 p.m. in Hendricks Memorial Hospital at Abilene. Miss Kuss was born Aug. 28, 1939, and spent most of her life in the Hermleigh area. She was a licensed vocational nurse at Cogdell Memorial Hospital the past 11 years. She was a member of St. Elizabeth Catholic Church.

Mass will be at 10 a.m. Saturday at St. Elizabeth Catholic Church, with Father Cyril Lange officiating. Burial will be in the Catholic Cemetery in Hermleigh under the direction of Bolger Funeral Home. Rosary will be at 7 p.m. Friday in Bolger Funeral Chapel. Lunch Saturday for the family will be served at the Hermleigh Community Center.

Pallbearers will be J. C. Schwartz, Dale Meynig, Cyrus Miller, Edwin Kuss, John Roemisch Jr. and Truett Bruns.

She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Kuss, Jr., of Hermleigh and three brothers, Danny E., with the Air Force in Korea; Leonard J. and Charles S., both of Hermleigh.

The family has suggested donations to the Cancer Fund for those who desire.

Goodfellows In Operation

Goodfellows are now accepting contributions of supplies at the old Parkway grocery building near the Y on the north highway.

Telephone number of the Goodfellow headquarters is 573-7403.

Volunteer workers also are needed to help at the headquarters and also to receive contributions at the two banks, said the Rev. John Gordon, who heads the Goodfellow organization this year. Anyone who can contribute time to work at either place may contact Rev. Gordon at 573-3920, after 4 p.m., or call the Goodfellow headquarters.

Troop Reduction Talks Agreed On

By CARL HARTMAN

BRUSSELS (AP) — Fourteen foreign ministers of the North Atlantic Alliance agreed today to challenge the Soviet bloc to discuss mutual troop reductions as a demonstration that the Communists are really serious in proposing a European security conference.

France was reported holding aloof because it is not part of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's unified military command. The French government believes, therefore, that it can have no part in a program of NATO-Warsaw Pact troop reductions.

The decision to renew the 18-month-old offer to talk troop reductions emerged at the windup session of the NATO Council of Foreign Ministers. The ministers were completing a joint declaration on East-West relations and on the Soviet bloc call for a Pan-European security conference in the next six months.

Foreign Minister Maurice Schumann of France also objected to a West German proposal that the alliance reject the Soviet bloc demand at its Moscow summit meeting Thursday for international recognition of the East German regime. Schumann said such a rejection would imply acceptance of the principle of negotiations between two blocs, and France opposes the division of Europe into blocs.

NATO first offered to negotiate mutual reductions in armed strength in June 1968, before the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia. Moscow ignored the offer.

Instead, the Soviets and their allies proposed a big European security conference. After some hesitation, they acknowledged that the United States and Canada could also take part. Criticized for not proposing anything specific for the conference to talk about, the Communists came up with two suggestions: renunciations of the use of force, and more cooperation in trade and science.

At the NATO meeting Thursday, U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers contended that the sole purpose of the Soviet proposal was to perpetuate Moscow's rule in Eastern Europe.

Walter Scheel, West Germany's new foreign minister, expressed doubt that Germany could take part soon in a security conference because the country is still divided. He proposed that the United States, Britain, France and the Soviet Union get together with the two German governments in the meantime and make some temporary settlements.

French Foreign Minister Maurice Schumann favored a security conference, but only after long and patient preparation. He warned against turning down the conference proposal outright, and against accepting it too quickly. He had little interest in troop reductions.

U.S. Jobless Rate Drops

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's unemployment rate took its sharpest monthly drop in 10 years in November, declining five-tenths of one per cent to 3.4 per cent of the labor force, the Labor Department said today.

However, most of the sharp drop was accounted for by workers leaving the labor force and "this doesn't really represent a turnaround" in the economic slowdown, a government spokesman said:

The report showed a small rise of 45,000 to a total of 78.7 million employed Americans.

"There is a continued slowdown in employment growth," said Howard Stambler, chief of the Division of Employment Analysis.

The civilian labor force declined 83,000 as many so-called "secondary" workers—teen-agers, women and young men—left the labor force, Stambler said.

The drop in unemployment counterbalanced September's jobless rise of five-tenths of one per cent, which had been the sharpest jump in about 10 years.

Viet Cong Wants 3-Day Truces

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — The Viet Cong announced today that its forces would observe Christmas and New Year's truces of three days each, two days longer than those proclaimed Thursday by the Saigon government.

The Viet Cong radio said the Christmas truce would start at 1 a.m. Dec. 24, 12 noon Dec. 23 EST, and end at 1 a.m. Dec. 27. It said the New Year's truce would run from 1 a.m. Dec. 30 to 1 a.m. Jan. 2.

President Nguyen Van Thieu proclaimed 24-hour cease-fires to start at 6 p.m. Christmas Eve and 6 p.m. New Year's Eve. The U.S. Command said American forces would join in the truce proclaimed by Thieu.

The U.S. Command said today it had received reports for the first time in the war that North Vietnamese army officers executed at least a dozen of their soldiers who tried to desert.

In a special memorandum to newsmen, the command said armed guards to prevent desertions were reported accompanying North Vietnamese units infiltrating into the South. Desertion has been a problem in the South Vietnamese army for years.

The U.S. Command said its reports came from three North Vietnamese defectors who escaped last August and September.

Two of them said they were privates, both born in Ha Tay Province and both with the North Vietnamese army's 3rd Division.

One, 17 years old, arrived in South Vietnam last March. He reported that "a number of men from his battalion deserted in North Vietnam while moving south and that 10 soldiers who attempted to desert were shot by the unit's officers," the U.S. statement said.

The other private, 32, said he arrived in the South last April and that his unit was under guard on the way down because 35 men had deserted.

The third defector, a 16-year-old guerrilla, told interrogators that he saw the bodies of two soldiers who had deserted from their unit near Hue in September and were captured by a North Vietnamese sapper battalion.

"The sapper battalion commander ordered them shot when they refused to return to their unit," the U.S. memorandum said.

The guerrilla "further stated that the North Vietnamese army cadre have increased their supervision to combat desertions while on operations in base areas and on food-gathering missions.

Meanwhile, more fighting was reported along the Cambodian border west of Saigon.

American helicopters landed more than 100 South Vietnamese troops into a border region 103 miles west of the capital Thursday. The militiamen made contact with the North Vietnamese two miles from the border, but the only enemy casualties reported were 17 killed by U.S. helicopter gunships. The U.S. Command said one helicopter was shot down and four Americans were wounded, while in the ground fighting three of the South Vietnamese were killed and 34 wounded.

Three more South Vietnamese were killed and 15 wounded in two enemy attacks in this area during the night.

American bombers attacked North Vietnamese troops inside Cambodia Wednesday and Thursday in retaliation for enemy artillery and infantry assaults on South Vietnamese border posts, but there were no reports of air strikes inside Cambodia today.

The U.S. Command said it would have no comment on charges by Cambodia that U.S. and South Vietnamese forays into Cambodia since 1962 have killed more than 300 Cambodians and wounded 700 others. Cambodia made the charge Thursday in a white paper issued at U.N. headquarters in New York.

Texas Due More Rain

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rain pelted a broad expanse of Texas today as temperatures stayed on the mild to warm side for this season.

Forecasters expected the damp spell to last for a couple of days.

One belt of light rain extended up and down the Texas coast and inland as much as 150 miles this morning. It was moving slowly toward the northeast.

At the same time showers soaked into much of Central Texas and northward past the Red River.

Intermittent moisture was predicted in all sections of the state through Saturday.

The Weather Bureau issued a high wind warning through tonight for the Upper Texas Coast and inland bay area. Winds in excess of 40 miles per hour, with gusts to 50 m.p.h., were predicted. The Weather Bureau cautioned marine and aviation interests to take immediate action against the winds.

Early today, skies were clear only in the upper Texas Panhandle around Dalhart.

Warnings against snow and hazardous driving were out for Northern New Mexico and mountain areas of that state as a new cold front moved in. Official observers looked for this front to push into the Panhandle by Saturday, but no big temperature drops were indicated.

Top temperatures across the state Thursday went as high as 78 degrees at Brownsville on the south tip of the Rio Grande Valley. Amarillo's high of 41 was the coolest.

Readings near dawn today ranged from 34 at Dalhart up to 72 at Brownsville.

Heart Seminar For Nurses Held

A seminar on coronary nursing was held yesterday at Cogdell Memorial Hospital. It was jointly sponsored by the Scurry County Division of the American Heart Association and the Licensed Vocational Nurses of Scurry County.

The day-long seminar included speeches and a film, "Prescription For Life."

Dr. Elliott Mendenhall, a thoracic surgeon from Abilene, spoke on problems in coronary care. Mrs. Cleo Wilson, supervisor at Baptist Memorial Hospital in San Angelo, spoke on the psychological effect of the heart attack. Mrs. Mary Szpiech, staff nurse in the intensive care unit at Shannon Hospital in San Angelo spoke on the nurses role in coronary care.

Mrs. Ethel Wadleigh, assistant director of nurses at Cogdell Memorial Hospital, discussed special problems concerned with coronary nursing.

The welcome was given by Wilson Bright, president of the American Heart Association, Scurry County Division.

Most of the Snyder licensed vocational nurses and several registered nurses attended the seminar. Also present were Earl Palmer, of San Angelo, regional director of the American Heart Association, and Barbara Richards, an in-service instructor at Shannon Hospital in San Angelo.

Friends Describe Manson

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Black magic" . . . "He believes that he, and all human beings, are God" . . . "There is no crime, there is no sin" . . . "The women were the key to everything."

Three friends of Charles M. Manson used those words Thursday to describe him and the way they say he ruled a clan of nomadic hippie-types on a commune near Death Valley.

Prosecutors say they will seek an indictment charging Manson, 35, with conspiracy to commit murder. Several members of his clan are accused of slaying actress Sharon Tate and six others.

The three friends—miner Paul Crockett, 50; guitar player Paul Watkins, 19; and Brooks Poston, 21—gave their descriptions in an interview with the Los Angeles Times.

"The whole thing was held together by black magic," said Watkins, who has followed Manson since they met two years ago in the Haight-Ashbury district, then the hippie haven in San Francisco.

"You don't believe it? Well, it really exists, and it is powerful," Watkins said.

"He (Manson) believes that he, and all human beings, are God and the devil at the same time. He believes all human beings are part of each other," said Poston, a Manson follower for two years.

"You see what that means," Crockett said. "It means that human life has no value. If you kill a human being, you are just killing a part of yourself. So it's all right."

"And you couldn't eat meat," said Watkins, "because you were killing an animal. It was crazy."

Manson's talent as a musician—he played the guitar—and his slow, deliberate and moody way of moving gave him a sort of hypnotic power over women, the three men said.

"This sort of power takes a long time to work an effect," Crockett said. "Motions are tied to emotions. Certain motions create certain responses if you know how to use them."

"The women around the place were always his property," Watkins said. Poston added: "You were always welcome to share them, but then you became his property too."

"He needed to have some men around. There was a limit to what any man can do. But then, you see, the women held power over the other men," Watkins said.

"That way," Crockett said, "the women were the key to everything."

Rotary Hears Governor

Judge Charles L. Reynolds of Childress, District Governor of Rotary District 573, made his official visit to the Snyder Rotary Club at its weekly luncheon meeting Thursday. Judge Reynolds, who had met with local Rotarians in an assembly the previous evening, spoke briefly at the luncheon about the objectives of Rotary.

Arlie Eicke, student rotarian, was introduced. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Seabourne Eicke.

Other guests included Bill Hooks, visiting Rotarian of Sweetwater; E. G. Gilmer, visiting Rotarian from Slaton; Earl Palm, visiting Rotarian, and Dennis McDaniel, both of San Angelo; M. L. Broman, Leonard Gallegaos, Leslie Buller and Frank Taylor, all of Snyder. Frank Miller, vice president of the club, presided.

Prince Philip's Mother Dies

LONDON (AP) — Prince Philip's mother, Princess Andrew of Greece, died in her sleep at Buckingham Palace early today. She was 84 and had been in poor health for some time.

The cause of death was not announced.

Born Princess Alice of Battenberg, Princess Andrew was a Briton by birth, a great-granddaughter of Queen Victoria, a sister of Earl Mountbatten of Burma, the wife of a prince of Denmark and Greece, and a sister of the late Queen Louise of Sweden. After her marriage in 1903 to a younger son of King George I of Greece, she was known by her husband's name, according to the Greek custom.

WELCOME HOLIDAY guests with this simple but effective candy cane sandwich tray. Miniature sliced party breads and canned meat spreads are the festive go-togethers.

Plan Ahead For Holiday Guests

Sometimes the simplest ideas are the most effective. Everyone knows the miniature party breads — pumpernickel, rye and cheese. But how many have thought of filling them with handy canned spreads and arranging them in the shape of a Christmas wreath or candy cane?

This year welcome your holiday guests with a sandwich tray that says "Christmas!" as surely as cards over the mantle or carols from the stereo. The candy cane sandwich tray shown here makes an excellent centerpiece. It may be used as part of a buffet or simply passed as an evening snack.

Sandwiches may be all one kind or mixed. Just fill the little oval slices with the tasty fillings given below. Stand them on edge in the shape desired. Secure ends with garnished toothpicks, and wait for the compliments! Sandwiches may be made ahead and covered with clear plastic wrap or aluminum foil.

CANDY CANE SANDWICHES
SWEET HAM SPREAD

1 4½-oz. can deviled ham
2 tbsp. chopped parsley
¼ cup orange marmalade
30 party pumpernickel slices
softened butter

CHICKEN CONFETTI SPREAD

1 4¾-oz. can chicken spread
¼ cup chopped pimiento-stuffed olives
2 tbsp. mayonnaise
30 party rye slices
softened butter

CREAMY PATE SPREAD

1 4¾-oz. can liverwurst spread
3 oz. cream cheese
2 tbsp. chopped scallions
30 party cheese slices
softened butter

Combine first three ingredients. Spread bread with softened butter. Spread half of bread slices with meat spread mixture; close sandwiches with remaining slices. Each recipe makes 15 sandwiches. Arrange sandwiches, on edge, in shape of candy cane. Secure ends with toothpicks garnished with parsley and a whole cranberry. These recipes make 2 candy canes of approximately 22 sandwiches each.

Mrs. Stoker Entertains Union HD

Mrs. Guy Stoker entertained the Union Home Demonstration Club with a Christmas luncheon in her home recently.

After a most delicious lunch, Mrs. Sam Fleming entertained the group with a Christmas poem and a couple of letters to Santa, written by an elder person, and a cowpuncher. Mrs. O. P. Tate Jr. led in games for recreation, and Mrs. R. N. Casey received the hostess gift.

Members present were Mms. M. A. Pennington, R. J. Rosson, W. A. Vaughan, Sam Fleming, H. J. Schulze, O. P. Tate, Jr., R. N. Casey, Walter Littlefield, George Gibson, I. T. Huckabee, Guy Stoker and four visitors, Miss Ruby Butts, Mmes. B. M. DeLoach, M. A. Boyd and Billy Huddleston. Mrs. Tate was Santa for an exchange of gifts.

Mrs. Walter Littlefield will be hostess at her home for the next meeting on Jan. 7.

Beef Onion Pie In Flaky Crust Pleases Tastes

Hearty winter appetites readily cheer a Beef Onion Pie as you carry this culinary triumph to the table, all steaming with come-and-get-it goodness.

Meat pies are favorites for this season, but this one is different. It's crusted with the tenderest, flakiest pastry, and a unique and savory filling stars ground beef, sliced onion, green pepper and sour cream.

BEEF ONION PIE
Pastry

2 cups sifted enriched flour
1 teaspoon salt
½ to ¾ cup lard
4 to 6 tablespoons ice water

Mix flour and salt. Cut lard into flour until crumbs are about the size of small peas. Add ice water, a little at a time, mixing quickly and evenly through flour with a fork until dough just holds in a ball. Use as little water as possible. Roll out one-half of the dough to ⅛ inch thickness. Line a 9-inch pie pan, allowing ½ inch crust to extend over edge.

Beef Filling

1 pound ground beef
1 cup thinly sliced onions
1-3 cup chopped green pepper
2 tablespoons large or drippings
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon paprika
1 cup dairy sour cream
2 eggs, beaten
2 tablespoons chopped parsley

Cook ground beef, onions and green pepper in lard or drippings until ground beef is lightly browned. Pour off drippings. Stir in salt, pepper, flour and paprika and cook 2 minutes. Combine sour cream, eggs and parsley and add to meat mixture. Mix well. Pour into pastry-lined pie pan. Roll out remaining pastry, making several gashes to allow for escape of steam. Place over filling. Crimp edges. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees) 45 minutes or until pastry is browned. 6 servings.

FETTUCINE WITH KING CRAB — Great for lunch, regular supper or a late evening supper for guests.

You'll Like Pasta With King Crab

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

If you like pasta as much as the tasters at our house, chances are you'll be delighted with this recipe. It rings a delicious change.

For this superb fettucine is cooked and drained; then butter, lemon juice and garlic are heated wih canned or frozen Alaska king crab and mixed with the fettucine along with Parmesan cheese and parsley. So quick and easy to put together for a luncheon or supper dish for six pasta devotees. Or for a formal dinner, this Fettucine with Crab may be used as a first course; in this case the dish will serve 12. Fettucine with Crab is also a perfect dish to serve for a late evening party supper after the movies, TV or theatre.

To complete, the menu for any of these occasions, you need add only a crusty loaf of hot Italian or French bread and a salad of tossed greens with an olive oil and wine vinegar dressing.

King crab, canned or frozen, is always tendon-free and needs only to be heated through. Its snowy-meat, edged in crimson, is both succulent and delicate.

FETTUCINE WITH CRAB

2 cans (each 7½ ounces) king crab or 1-pound frozen king crab
2 packages (each 8 ounces) fettucine
¼ pound (1 stick) butter
Juice of one-half lemon
1 large clove garlic, crushed
½ cup grated Parmesan cheese
2 tablespoons minced parsley
Extra grated Parmesan cheese

Drain and slice canned crab. Or if frozen crab is used, defrost, drain and slice.

In two large saucepots or one extra-large saucepot boil both packages of fettucine at one time, using the amounts of water and salt called for on packages; cook just until tender—this may be a few minutes less than package directions call for; drain.

Meanwhile in a saucepan over low heat melt the butter; add crab, lemon juice and garlic; heat gently; do not boil. Add to fettucine with the ½ cup Parmesan and the parsley; toss well. Serve at once; pass extra grated Parmesan.

Makes 6 main-dish servings.

WOMEN

O-Harry Bars

¾ pound (1½ sticks) butter
½ cup granulated sugar
½ cup firmly packed dark brown sugar
½ cup dark corn syrup
1 tablespoon vanilla
4 cups quick-cooking rolled oats
1 package (6 ounces or 1 cup) semi-sweet chocolate pieces
2-3 cup creamy-style peanut butter

Butter a 13 by 9 by 2-inch baking pan.

In a medium mixing bowl cream butter and sugars; beat in corn syrup and vanilla; stir in oats. Moistening hands to prevent sticking, pat mixture over bottom of prepared pan.

Bake in preheated 350-degree oven until bubbly and browned—about 25 minutes. Cool slightly.

Meanwhile in a small saucepan over low heat, stirring constantly, melt chocolate and peanut butter. Spread half the chocolate mixture over slightly cooled bake layer. Set aside other half of chocolate mixture at room temperature.

Cut layer in half lengthwise and crosswise — making 4 sections — but leave in pan. Refrigerate until frosting sets.

Loosen edges with wide spatula, remove each section and place, frosting side down, on foil. Frost bottoms with remaining chocolate mixture — it will remain spreadable for 4 hours. Chill.

As needed, cut each section into 8 bars. Tightly wrap any leftover bars and store in refrigerator.

Makes 32 bars.

Corn And Egg Scramble

4 large eggs
¼ teaspoon salt
1-16 teaspoon white pepper
¼ cup milk
½ cup drained canned whole-kernel corn
1 tablespoon butter

Beat together the eggs, salt and pepper just until yolks and whites are combined. Add milk and beat to combine. Stir in corn. In an 8-inch skillet over moderately low heat melt the butter; add egg mixture. As egg mixture sets, use a spatula to lift from bottom of skillet; cook until as firm as desired. Serve at once. Makes 2 large servings.

Minted Pears

1 can (1 pound, 13 ounces) Bartlett pear halves
½ cup sugar
¼ cup cider vinegar
1 teaspoon mint and peppermint extract
¼ teaspoon green food coloring

Drain pears in a strainer set over a medium saucepan. To the pear syrup in the saucepan add sugar and vinegar; bring to a rolling boil; remove from heat. Stir in extract and coloring; turn pears into a container and pour syrup mixture over them; cool. Cover and chill for several hours or overnight. Drain and serve as an accompaniment to roast lamb. The amount of food coloring given will make the pears a bright, strong green; for a paler color use less food coloring.

Ever remove the old finish from a piece of furniture only to discover that some spots of color remain imbedded in the wood?

Bleaching the wood is often the solution to this discouraging problem. It has the extra advantage of providing an even, light surface to which stain can be applied in the expectation of getting a uniform result. In fact, old-time wood finishers used to bleach all wood preparatory to staining it, even when the ultimate goal was a dark color.

Although bleaching was practiced hundreds of years ago, it did not come into prominence in the United States until recent years along with the popularity of blond furniture and novelty finishes. Various kinds of home-made bleach mixtures were offered in do-it-yourself publications, but it is now generally recognized that commercial bleaches, available in hardware, paint and building supply stores, do a better job. For one thing, they assure mixtures that have precise amounts of the necessary chemicals.

While the commercial bleaches are essentially the same, there are some slight differences according to the brand purchased. It is important that the directions on the container be followed, especially those which the wood surface should be washed after the bleach has dried. This rinsing guards against any possible adverse reaction of the bleaching material, which might continue to work chemically after the final finish has been applied and which might produce tiny bubbles.

About 24 hours after the bleaching and when the rinsing has been completed, the surface of the wood should be sanded lightly with a fine grade of paper. This is to remove any fuzziness or grain-raising that might have occured. (For Andy Lang's helpful booklet, "Wood Finishing in the Home," send 25 cents and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Know-How, P. O. Box 477, Huntington, N. Y. 11743.)

The chemicals in bleaches make it necessary that all work be done while wearing rubber gloves. Work slowly and cautiously and, if any mixing is to be done, use glass or earthenware containers, never metal cans or pails.

Bleaches do not work on an old finish. They can be used only on raw wood or wood from which the original finish has been removed. And be sure to remove all hardware from the object being finished.

There are some products on the market which do not bleach the wood but lighten it without obscuring the grain. One of them may enable you to get the tone you desire.

Q. — We have owned a lot for several years and now are planning on having a house built. Can you tell us how much an architect charges and what he does for his fee?

A. — The architect will get your ideas on the kind of house you want, draw preliminary sketches and then, when you have decided definitely and more precisely what your needs and desires are, will prepare the working plans from which the contractor will proceed. Usually, he will also advise on various other aspects of the job, such as analyzing the bids if you decide to obtain estimates from more than one contractor. How much else you want him to do is up to you. He can take over complete supervision of the project, including personal inspections to determine whether the contractor is fulfilling his obligations and meeting specifications. Obviously, then, his charge will be based on the services you wish him to perform over and above that of designing the house. It can be 10 per cent of the total cost of the house. It can be more. It can be less. Or it can be a set fee reached by negotiation. A signed agreement between you and the architect should explain everything in detail.

Q. — When we bought a house four years ago, the living room was badly in need of a painting, and we did the job ourselves. There were dirt marks along the ceiling joists and we cleaned these off before painting. About a year later the marks began to return. We have washed them off twice since then. Now we want to paint again. Is there anything we can do about these marks along the joists?

A. — It appears that the living room is under the attic and that there is insulation between the joists but not on them. As a result, the warm, moist air in the living room is depositing dust along the cooler surfaces where the joists are. The solution is to insulate the joists and/or to reduce the humidity in the living room.

NAM Names Indian Chief To Be New Chairman

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Tsu la westa nehi, 61, became chairman today of the National Association of Manufacturers, a voluntary organization of industrial and business firms with a popular reputation as curator of conservative values.

Tsu la westa nehi, Principal Chief of the Cherokee Indian Tribe, believes that minority groups must win their place in society by performance rather than by violence or charity. He feels, of course, that he is living proof of the wisdom of this viewpoint.

"Anthropologists look upon me as an Uncle Tom," the chief said, "but we old Indians believe violence is not the answer. Those who advocate we use violence, well I think that's just a lot of stuff."

When he "puts on my white man's hat," which he does most of the time, the chief is W. W. Keeler, conservatively dressed, soft-talking but firm-minded chairman of Phillips Petroleum Co., Bartlesville, Okla., a rancher, 33rd Degree Scottish Rite Mason, holder of honorary degrees.

Keeler, whose grandmothers were Indian but who says of his grandfather Keeler, "if anybody kissed the Blarney Stone he did," discussed his interest in Indian and minority groups at the annual meeting of the 13,800-member group.

The NAM has a fulltime president, W. P. Gullander, who is the chief administrator. Keeler's job, therefore, may depend largely on his personal commitment. He must preside over four board meetings a year, but beyond that he can exert considerable influence through example, speeches, congressional testimony.

Quite naturally, Keeler hopes to influence businessmen by his views on minority employment. Some of the difficulty of minorities, he feels, might result from unintentionally unfair corporate regulations. He explained:

"During World War II, I was vice president in charge of manufacturing. I needed workers badly, and in order to get them we had to begin waiving the rules. First we did away with the rule that a worker must be a high school graduate.

"Next we waived the ruling that you couldn't have a record with the F.B.I. We broke that policy, and still we needed people but the personnel department said: 'Bill, we just can't find them.'

"I told them to get some Cherokees; I knew they needed and wanted work. They were given an intelligence test that we used then. I think they had to get 17 or so to pass.

"The personnel man called me up. 'Bill,' he said, 'we're awfully embarrassed but these Cherokee boys just didn't pass.' Some of them got only 2 and 3. Well, I knew that despite the test they were intelligent and so we hired them.

"I tested two of these Cherokees later and both scored more than 20. Some of those we hired became chief operators in complex chemical operations, and the first one to retire did so just a while ago."

The test, Keeler feels, probably did accurately measure a white man's intelligence. But the Cherokees had grown up speaking their native tongue. They weren't used to tests, especially one worded in another language.

The mere necessity to take tests apparently came as a shock to them. They were given physicals for the first time in their lives and they were shaken up. "If those boys had known what was ahead of them they never would have done it."

Junior Editors Quiz on SABBATH

QUESTION: Why did Christians change the original Sabbath to Sunday?

ANSWER: In the Bible, Exodus 20, verse 8, we read: "Remember the Sabbath day, to keep it holy," and further on, "thou shalt not do any work" with this explanation given in verse 11: "For in six days the Lord made heaven and earth . . . and rested the seventh day, wherefore the Lord blessed the Sabbath day and hallowed it." Our quotations are a part of the 10 commandments given to Moses to transmit to the Jewish people. Jews regard their Sabbath as a day of spiritual rejoicing. By abstaining from everyday tasks, they can more fully concentrate on religious and intellectual ideas. By 313 A.D., Christianity had spread far beyond its obscure original beginning. The Roman Emperor Constantine procured toleration for it by the edict of Milan, and in 336 A.D. he moved the seat of the empire to the ancient city of Byzantium, which he renamed Constantinople. A convert to the new faith, he spread its influence far and wide. It was following this time that Christians, desiring to preserve the idea of the Lord's Day, decided to Christianize it by transferring it to Sunday, the day of the resurrection of Jesus. Soon all the Christian world adopted Sunday as its own Sabbath.

Artists Find Paradise On Earth

By KEN HARTNETT
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The year before, Marta spent each day yawning and for her husband, Jim, anger was a way of life.

They were in the city then, two struggling artist-radicals—young, vaguely in love, and talented.

But, he hated the fawning patrons who came to judge and occasionally—only occasionally—buy their paintings. He hated the bills and the bill collectors. He hated the television set and the concrete cubicle that was their apartment.

And, most of all, he hated his job with its formalities and routines.

And she feared the competitiveness of her work against his and feared that his seething anger would sooner or later seize on her. And she also hated the city with its congestion and rules and distractions. So, she yawned and he hated her yawning.

So one day, this past summer, he quit his job. She quit hers. They gathered the possessions they loved, which were few, and packed them into a rented pickup truck and headed for the great forests of the Pacific Northwest.

They found a little cabin by a remote lake. The owner rented it to them for a fraction of what they had been paying in the city and they settled down.

She began baking bread and learned how to clean the trout that he found in the lake. And he began cutting lumber for their wood stove.

He let his hair grow long so that it tumbled down his shoulders and he threw away his razor. His muscles grew hard. He stopped smoking cigarettes.

Their few neighbors let them alone or when they dropped by did so to drop off a grouse or a pheasant. No one seemed to care that they wore their hair long or decorated their home with musty old portraits and pop bottles or that his only job was pumping gas down on the highway when a few dollars could come in handy.

They know it can't last, that sooner or later the population surge will find them, their cash reserves will run out completely or they may even get bored.

But, they don't care about what will happen, only what's happening.

And they say that for now they have found paradise on earth. He isn't angry anymore and she yawns only when she is tired.

Salk Predicts Cure For Multiple Sclerosis

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The developer of the first vaccine against polio predicts that another crippling disease, multiple sclerosis, can be conquered.

Dr. Jonas Salk says he does not know how soon the cure for multiple sclerosis will be found but that research has uncovered promising leads and these need to be investigated thoroughly.

The developer of the Salk polio vaccine was in Houston Wednesday to help open the local segment of a $10-million national drive to support the research through 1973.

Dr. Salk, director of the Salk Institute for Biological Studies in La Jolla, Calif., said scientists can learn a vital lesson from the way the United States was able to land men on the moon before 1970.

Bronte, Sundown To Decide B Regional Title Tonight

This is as far as they go.

Tonight's collision between the Bronte Longhorns and the Sundown Roughnecks will determine the Class B Regional football championship. Kickoff is on tap for 7:30 p.m. in Tiger Stadium. The regional crown is the highest diadem a Class B team can hope for since teams in this classification don't compete for a state title.

The contest matches two powerful teams with balanced attacks.

Bronte is no stranger to the playoffs. The Longhorns of Coach Cecil Toliver won regional here a couple of years ago. This year, the 'Horns have a 10-1 record and have scored 368 points while holding its foes to 75. Six of the 10 victories have been shutouts. The only loss is an opening 39-6 setback by strong Class A Eldorado. In bi-district Bronte nudged Ft. Hancock 7-0, but the contest was held in the snow with several Longhorns victims of a virus attack.

"We've had some good workouts this week," said Toliver, "and we've sustained no new injuries. The boys will be ready."

Sundown has a 9-2 record, losing only to Sudan (20-0) and to Wilson (13-12). Last week, the Roughnecks clipped Wilson in bi-district. Sundown has tallied their second meeting, 34-8, in bi-district. Sundown has tallied 390 points while holding the opposition to 112.

The Longhorns have an edge in size and probably will have the tougher defense since the Roughnecks have only one shutout to their credit.

Bronte operates with a 5-man front and a 4-man spoke defense while Sundown uses a 4-5-2 and sometimes a 6-man front.

The Roughnecks may have an edge in speed, but both teams can run or pass.

"We've had good teamwork this year," said Sundown Coach Bill Dendy. His basic Slot T attack will feature the running of halfback Eddy Eberhart, a 155-pound senior, and the throwing of Robert Edwards, a 150-pound junior. Rounding out the backfield are left half James Hays, a 160-pound sophomore, and fullback Jesse Perez, a 154-pound senior.

Bronte will counter with a winged-T attack that features the running of left halfback Nicky Arrott, a 160 - pound senior, and the throwing of quarterback Keith McCutcheon, a 168-pound senior. McCutcheon has thrown 19 touchdown passes this year, and Arrott has scored 137 points. Other backs are right halfback Randy Barbee, a 186-pound senior, and fullback Bobby Skelton, a 145 - pound sophomore. Alternate fullback is Jerry Graves, a 165 - pound sophomore.

The Longhorn line will be led by Roger Graves, a 177-pound junior, Dana Sowell, a 175-pound junior, and James Vaughn, a 190-pound senior. All three are double duty men. The blocking of David Scott, 188 - pound senior tackle, and the play of defensive end Willie Zuniga, a 195 - pound senior, also has been outstanding.

Would you believe Bronte by a 28-21 count?

Lamar 9th Wins 58-50 In Overtime

Boy howdy, that was a thrilling basketball contest between Lamar 9th grade and Travis 9th grade in the high school gym last night. The score was tied 42-42 at the end of regulation play, and it was knotted again, 48-48, after the first overtime. Then, Lamar took the lead and managed to hold on for a 58-50 victory in the second overtime.

The Texans played a good game defensively, but Travis held the advantage under the boards until the overtime action began.

"Our boys were tired and that must have helped them relax more," said Coach John Gary. "Anyway," he added, "they did a better job of rebounding in overtime. We pressed some and managed to make a few steals to get ahead."

Lamar outscored Travis 10-2 in the last overtime.

Tommy Washington of Travis was high point man for the game, sinking 24 points. His teammate, Gary Brooks, netted 16. For Lamar, Fred Liner and Jim Waters were outstanding on offense, getting 17 and 14 points respectively.

Lamar 9th meets Sweetwater at 7 p.m. today in the first round of the Big Spring Tournament. Travis 9th meets San Angelo Edison at 5:30 p.m. today. Both tilts were to be held in the Big Spring High School gym. Over in the Goliad gym, Lamar 8th is slated to tangle with Sweetwater at 7 p.m. today after Travis 8th battles San Angelo Edison at 5:30 p.m.

LAMAR 9TH (58) —Waters 5-4-14; Liner 7-3-17; Dyess 1-7-9; Hartsfield 3-1-7; Holder 2-4-8 Burleson 1-1-3; totals 19-20-58.

TRAVIS 9TH (50) —Washington 9-6-24; Brooks 6-4-6; Jones 3-2-8; Anderson 0-0-0; Price 1-0-2 totals 19-12-50.

SHS Teams In Tourneys

Snyder's varsity and junior varsity basketball teams are entered in tournaments that begin today.

The Tigers of Coach Ned Underwood and Jerry McLeod meet Richardson at 5:30 p.m. today in the first round of the Irving Tournament. If they win, they'll play the MacArthur-North Dallas winner at 1 p.m. Saturday. If they lose, they'll play at 9 a.m. Saturday. Other teams in the tourney are Abilene Cooper, Paris, Irving and Denison.

The Kittens of Coach Bill Bundy meet Big Spring at 8 p.m. today in the Tiger gym. Other first round pairings in the JV tournament pitted Cooper against Lubbock at 3:30 p.m., Plainview against Seminole at 5 p.m., and Midland Lee against Monterey at 6:30 p.m. Games are scheduled Saturday at 8 a.m., 9:30 a.m., 11 a.m., 12:30 a.m., 5 p.m., 6:30 p.m. and 8 p.m.

Dinner For Ski Enthusiasts Set

A buffet dinner for skiiing enthusiasts will be held at 7 p.m. today Dec. 5, at the Snyder Country Club.

Jointly sponsored by the McKenzie Mountain Ski Club and the Snyder Country Club, the dinner will be part of a program that also includes a talk by a representative of an area ski resort and a style show in which ski fashions will be shown. A movie on skiing also will be shown. Tickets cost $2 per person.

A swap table will be provided for exchanges in equipment and clothing.

President Nixon Has His Tickets

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) —All is ready for college football's Game of the Year.

The synthetic grass at Fayetteville has been vacuumed.

President Nixon has his tickets.

A national television audience estimated at 50 million is waiting.

Texas vs. Arkansas, No. 1 vs. No. 2.

The game pits Texas, averaging more than 44 points a game, against Arkansas, with the best defense in the land against scoring.

The winner earns the Southwest Conference championship, a spot in the Cotton Bowl opposite Notre Dame and the inside track to the national championship.

The loser goes to the Sugar Bowl in New Orleans and a far less glamorous date with a 7-3 Mississippi team.

Arkansas coach Frank Broyles says Texas' execution of its relative simple offense will be the Razorback's biggest problem.

"They are exact in what they do," he said. "Faking is the big problem. They have their bread and butter plays and they come at you with them.

"What you have to do in defending against the triple option kills your pursuit," Broyles said. "You must commit a man to each hole, even though you'd rather not. If one man misses, there'll be no help until the ball carrier gets to the safety. And they've got blockers cracking at safety."

And, as Oklahoma found out, the Longhorns can pass.

The Sooners massed nine men on the line of scrimmage, jumped off to a 14-0 lead and then succumbed when quarterback James Street began finding split end Cotton Speyrer.

Arkansas, however, has not conceded.

As one coach put it: "We've got a contract to fulfill. We'll be there."

The Razorbacks can score themselves. Utilizing the pro-type attack, Arkansas has averaged more than 35 points a game and has not scored less than three touchdowns in any game.

Ira Wins First Round

IRA — The host Bulldogs opened their basketball tournament on a happy note, turning back Blackwell, 70-47, in the first round here Thursday night. Flower Grove also was a first round victor, besting Hobbs 50-38.

Ira took a 19-6 lead in the first period and things got worse for Blackwell after that as Joe Williams poured in 23 points to pace the Bulldogs. Ricky Hester also was in double figures, getting 12 points. James Thompson led Blackwell scorers with 14 points.

Flower Grove could never get more than a 6-point lead until the fourth quarter when the Dragons began to pull away. F. Cruz and R. Lueb were high point men with 17 and 15 points respectively, and R. Williams put in 14 to pace Hobbs. Mike Hull contributed 10 points to the Panthers' cause.

Today, the Flower Grove girls were to meet Blackwell at 5 p.m., and their boys' teams were to tangle at 6:30 p.m. Ira's girls meet Hobbs at 8 p.m., followed by a 9:30 p.m. contest between the boys.

Sonora, Clarendon To Vie For Quarterfinals Crown

It should be quite a game when the hosses battle here Saturday night. The hosses are Sonora's Broncos and Clarendon's Bronchos. They'll be tangling for the Class A Quarterfinals crown. Kickoff is set for 7:30 p.m. Saturday in Tiger Stadium.

The match features a strong defensive team against a strong offensive team.

"We're stronger defensively this year than we were last year," said Sonora Coach Jerry Hopkins, in his 10th year at the Red and White helm. That defense last year must have been pretty good for the Broncos won the state championship in 1968. They also won it in 1966 under Hopkins' guidance.

Sonora has a 10-2 record. The only losses were early in the season — 14-34 to Big Lake and 0-25 to Ballinger. But the big Red has shut out eight foes this year and has gotten extremely tough in the playoffs. They have six shutouts in their last seven games, including a 35-0 decision over Van Horn in bi-district and a 37-0 upset triumph over Seagraves in regional.

That's a pretty good record for any country school, but Clarendon can more than match Sonora's credentials. They've won all 12 of their contests and have scored 508 points in the process. In bi-district, the Maroon and White Bronchos thumped perennial power White Deer 41-15. In regional, they flailed Petersburg 35-14. Clarendon has four shutouts to its credit.

"We like to run more than we pass," said Coach Clyde Noonkester. His quarterback, Jim Moore, a 160-pound senior, has tallied 169 points this season. He's scored 28 touchdowns rushing and thrown nine TD passes. That's more points than many teams score in a season.

Tailback Charles Lewis also knows something about lugging the leather. He has 1,470 yards rushing to his credit this year, and he's crossed the goal line 20 times. Louis is a 164-pound senior. Fullback Bennie Reese, a 167-pound senior, has 78 points to his credit, and he's gained over 600 yards rushing. The wingback, Ike O'Neal, 158-pound senior, is a strong blocker and a talented pass receiver. However, another senior—Bobby Leeper, a 138-pound senior end — was described as the best pass receiver on the squad.

Noonkester, in the 6th year at the Clarendon helm, has had most of his success from the Slot I attack, but the Bronchos often employ a pro slot attack. Clarendon uses a 5-man front on defense with a monster and three men in the secondary.

Moore, the quarterback, has 9.8 speed and can really put the pressure on a defense with bootleg plays and the sprintout option.

Sonora also has a competent quarterback in David Wuest, a 170-pound senior. Although the Broncos are primarily a running team, they've resorted more to the forward pass in the playoffs. Last week, Wuest threw four touchdown passes.

Sonora uses a Winged-T offense most of the time, but they also operate with efficiency from a pro set. Defensively, Coach Hopkins' crew uses a 5-2-4.

Kerry Joy, a 180-pound junior fullback, is Sonora's bread-and-butter runner. The halfbacks also are juniors — James Noel (140) at left half, and Scott Jacoby (150) at right half. Complete statistics on the Big red runners aren't available, but the team has scored 293 points while yeilding only 92 points. Clarendon, on the other hand, has given up 139 points.

Thus Saturday's showdown features a strong defensive team against a strong offensive team. Both clubs appear to have good balance.

Mike Taylor, a 150-pound junior end, and Erasmo Lumbreras, a 190-pound senior end, are Wuest's favorite targets. Anything could happen, but we think Clarendon will slip past the state champions 21-14 in a wild affray.

Probable starters:

SONORA

Lamar 8th Rallies For 30-28 Win

A bad third quarter by Travis enabled Lamar 8th grade to take a 30-28 decision here Thursday night in a Jr. High basketball contest held in Tiger gym.

Travis led 5-2 after one period and 13-12 at halftime, but Lamar rallied and took a 20-17 margin in the third period and held on for the victory.

Lamar had only one more field goal than Travis, but the Texans did a better job of shooting, both from the field and from the free throw line. The Texans dropped in 6 of 20 free throws while Travis hit 6 of 25. Travis connected on only 26 per cent from the floor.

Richard Gorman sparked the Lamar attack with 13 points while John Miller was high point man for Travis with eight.

TRAVIS 8TH (28) — Braziel 1-4-6 Smith 0-0-0; Miller 4-0-8; Robinson 0-0-0; Ramirez 3-0-6; Emerson 1-0-2 Gonzalez 2-1-5; totals 11-6-28.

LAMAR 8TH (30) — Boren 2-0-4; Byrum 1-1-3; Gorman 5-3-13; Jones 0-2-2; Underwood 4-0-8; totals 16-6-30.

Brand, McKay On All-America

NEW YORK (AP) — Although their 22-game winning streak was snapped by Michigan in the season's finale, the Ohio State Buckeyes placed three players on the 22-man All-American College Football Team as selected by The Associated Press.

Fullback Jim Otis, middle guard Jim Stillwagon and cornerback Jack Tatum may be the best at their positions in Ohio State's glorious football history.

Three teams each had two representatives on the all-star team—defensive tackle Mike Reid and linebacker Dennis Onkotz of Penn State, offensive guard Chip Kell and linebacker Steve Kiner of Tennessee and tight end Jim Mandich and defensive back Tom Curtis of Michigan.

One apiece came from top-ranked Texas-offensive tackle Bob McKay—and runner-up Arkansas—center Rodney Brand.

The rest of the offensive unit consists of split end Walker Gillette of Richmond, tackle John Ward of Oklahoma State, quarterback Mike Phipps of Purdue and halfbacks Steve Owens of Oklahoma—the Heisman Trophy-winner and all-time major college rushing champ — and Bob Anderson of Colorado.

Others on defense are ends Jimmy Gunn, Southern California, and Phil Olsen, Utah State; tackle Mike McCoy, Notre Dame; linebacker Don Parish, Stanford, and back Buddy McClinton, Auburn.

Kiner and Onkotz are the only repeaters while Kell, Stillwagon and Tatum are the only juniors.

Owens wound up his career with 3,867 yards and led the nation this season in rushing and scoring with 358 carries for 1,523 yards and 23 touchdowns. Phipps set all sorts of Big Ten offense records as he completed 169 of 321 passes for 2,527 yards and 23 touchdowns.

Coach Eddie Crowder calls Anderson, who switched from quarterback to halfback after two games, "the most complete football player in the country."

Travis Blue, White Teams Triumph

Travis Blue whipped Lamar Red 37-18 and Travis White ripped Lamar Grey 42-16 intwo important 7th grade basketball contests held in the Travis gym yesterday.

The Blue boys, paced by Welton Cobb, who netted 29 points, held only a 15-11 lead at halftime, but they outscored Lamar 8-2 in the third stanza and 14-5 in the last period to win going away.

Travis White took a 11-2 lead in the first period and took a commanding 23-10 lead at halftime. The White team also held the upperhand in the second half, shutting out the Gray in the fourth period.

Larry Johns and Robert Alderete paced the White attack with 15 and 10 points respectively. Howell was high point man for the Gray with six points. Bunch and Carter each tallied eight points for the Red.

TRAVIS BLUE (37) — Cobb 13-3-29; Vargas 1-0-2; Gafford 2-0-4; Grant 1-0-2; totals 17-3—37.

Speed Reading Classes Set For Snyder Area

The famous Cutler Acceleread method of speed reading, created by Dr. Wade E. Cutler, who holds a doctorate in psychology, will be taught here in both day and evening classes.

The average person today reads some 200 words per minute with about 60 per cent comprehension - a rate inadequate to cope with today's reading demands in school, college, and business.

This widely acclaimed course guarantees its graduates will read at least 1,000 words per minute with a definite increase in comprehension.

Many graduates of the nine-week program far exceed the guarantee and complete with rates of 2,500 and more words per minute with far better comprehension.

Concentration, recall, study and test-taking skills show a remarkable degree of improvement.

Such achievement means that a person can read books of average length in 45 minutes or less, and understand, remember, and enjoy them better than ever.

This remarkable accelerated reading and study course is offered here exclusively by Accelerated Education Schools with locations in major cities in Texas, New Mexico, Louisiana, and Oklahoma.

This professionally conducted course boasts over 10,000 successful graduates due to its common sense approach to better and faster reading, and to its staff of professionally qualified master teachers.

This course has been approved for two Semester Hours Credit in the Snyder Public School District's Professional Growth Program.

A series of meetings has been scheduled for those in the Snyder area who desire to know how they too may learn to read with greater speed, power, and efficiency.

At these free one-hour orientations, full details about speed reading and the unique Cutler Acceleread Method will be given to those forward - looking persons attending.

Since there is no cost or obligation by attending, you owe it to yourself to attend the time most convenient for you.

Drop in and find out how you can make 1970 a more successful year.

All meetings are open to the public, and will be conducted as follows:

Thursday, December 4th. at 6:30 and 8:30 p.m.

Friday, December 5th. at 5:30 p.m.

Tuesday, December 9th. at 6:30 and 8:30 p.m.

Meetings will be held in the Community Room of Snyder Savings and Loan, 2605 Ave. S, Snyder, Texas.

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I'm sure you get a lot of letters from kooks, and this one will probably go into that pile, but believe me, this inquiry is sincere.

My husband is a large man and noticeably overweight. He is particularly flabby in the region of his chest. To get to the point, Abby, he could use a brassiere!

Is there a place where they sell brassieres for men? I am not going to mention this to him until I can find one. He is aware of his problem, Abby. He's not an unreasonable man and I think if I brought one home he might wear it. Please don't use my name or town as my husband is the mayor. Thank you.

MRS BLANK FROM BLANK

DEAR MRS. BLANK: Sorry, but I'm blue in the face from looking in the yellow pages, and I can't find a shop which sells ladies' lingerie for gentlemen. Buy a large brassiere in a women's shop, and if "His Honor" doesn't have a "fit," alter it to fit him.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for 22 years to a woman who is 43 and here is my problem. Three years ago she had all her teeth removed and was fitted with dentures. She wore them home from the dentist's office and promptly removed them, and placed them in the medicine cabinet where they have been ever since.

She refuses to wear her dentures, and she won't go back to the dentist who made them although he has said that he would MAKE them fit. She is a pretty woman and would look 20 years younger if she would put her teeth in.

She says she doesn't care how she looks. I have begged and pleaded with her, and even threatened to refuse to be seen with her until she puts her teeth in, but still no results. Can you help me?

L IN IDAHO

DEAR L: If she refuses to go back to the dentist who made them, insist that she see her physician for a thorough check-up (mental and physical). Her trouble could be higher up. Three years is a long time for a pretty 43-year-old woman to remain toothless.

DEAR ABBY: I am 19 and Rusty is 25. We've gone together for a year and plan to marry in a couple of years when we can afford it. I have a good job and so does Rusty. He is on the road for four nights a week.

Two girl friends and I are planning to move into an apartment the first of next month. We've found an ideal place in a good neighborhood near where we all work.

My problem is that Rusty is dead set against it. He says if I move from my parent's home before we are married, we are finished. Abby, I want experience in budgeting, cooking, housekeeping and many domestic things I could never learn any other way. Even my parents are all for it. What should I do?

Why is Rusty so stubborn? He knows he can be 100 per cent sure of me.

RUSTY'S GIRL

DEAR GIRL: Rusty may be 100 per cent sure of YOU — but he's not sure of himself. Move into the apartment. If you and Rusty are finished for this reason, you're better off without him.

At the close of the evening service, the ordainance of Baptism will be observed for those who are waiting.

Be still

"I complained and my spirit was overwhelmed." Psalm 77:3.

It's an irritating habit and drives one's friends away:
To inventory aches and pains
in detail every day
With a "lone, lorn creature" attitude that takes a secret pride
In dwelling so persistently upon the darker side.
And though it is a sacrifice,
perhaps we can refrain
From ever and eternally wanting to complain!

WILL CURTIS

East Side C-C

Bill Minick will be the speaker at both services at East Side Sunday. He will also be the speaker on the 8:15 a.m. radio program "Give Me the Bible." At the 10:25 a.m. worship service his sermon subject will be "Restoring the Church Through the Living Word." Heb. 4:12-13. Judge Suggests Beach For Nudists

KAHULUI, Maui, Hawaii (AP) — Judge Sam King has an answer to the problem of nude sunbathing on the island of Maui.

The Family Court judge from Honolulu suggested that a beach be set aside for nudists and that signs be posted informing the public that it would be unlawful to wear clothing there.

Woman Elected Council President

DETROIT (AP) — Cynthia Wedel first women elected president of the National Council of Churches, says, "My hopes and plans are only to be as open as possible to ideas and people."

Mrs. Wedel, 61, an Episcopalian, said she could not plan beyond this because "we don't know what new crisis will arise tomorrow or next week."

The blue-eyed, brown-haired psychologist was elected Thursday to head the 20-year-old organization which represents 33 Protestant and Orthodox denominations with 42 million members.

She won 387 to 93 over the Rev. Dr. Albert Cleage, a Negro and pastor of Detroit's Church of the Black Madonna.

Mrs. Wedel is the wife of a noted theologian, the Rev. Dr. Theodore O. Wedel. They live in Alexandria, Va., where she is associate director of a psychological research institute, the Center for Volunteerism of the National Institute of Applied Behavioral Sciences.

She is a long-time ecumenical leader, both in the National and World councils of churches, serving in their assemblies in this country and abroad. Mrs. Wedel also has served as a National Council vice president and has been a member of various presidential commissions including one on the status of women appointed by President John F. Kennedy.

Mrs. Wedel said her policy of openness applies particularly to "the young, the blacks, the poor, the oppressed."

"Our old way of doing things are not adequate. There must be big changes, and they must be made faster than we think possible," she said.

"I'm quite sure that God, along with the young, the blacks, and the others, cares very little for our traditions, our accustomed procedures."

She suggested that perhaps there should be special pressure groups serving as constant prods to the council—a youth caucus, a woman's caucus, an Indian caucus, a Spanish-American caucus, a laymen's caucus.

Although she allied herself here with women pressing for more woman power in church establishments, she said she was not personally militant about the issues "because I was alway one of the few lucky women who happened to be in positions of some power."

But she said she understands "how frustrating it is for many women" seeking consideration on a basis of ability rather than sex.

Santa And The Dumbbell

By LUCRECE BEALE

Synopsis: Booby Bobby tries to mail a letter to Santa asking for a friend for Christmas. Stanley the Ghost appears and says he wants a new place to haunt. They decide to take their request to Santa.

CHAPTER FOUR
THE PUPPET PRINCESS

"I DON'T want to hurt your feelings," Stanley the Ghost said to Booby Bobby. "But I am tired of haunting houses like yours."

"My mother says it is a good house," said Booby Bobby, "It's warm and compact and easy to clean."

"That's the trouble with houses nowadays," complained Stanley. "They have no attics. No nooks and crannies. Stairs are carpeted so boards don't creak. Doors don't even have keyholes anymore! How can I be a proper ghost in such a place?"

"Maybe Santa will let you be a haunt in Santa Land!"

"I shall ask him," said Stanley. "But I must get some sleep now. All this talking has exhausted me."

With that he collapsed in a heap in the middle of the rug. Booby Bobby was too excited to sleep. He dressed in his boots and coat and lay down to wait for Stanley. Suddenly it was morning and his mother was in the room exclaiming, "My gracious! Why are you sleeping in all your clothes? And what on earth is this dirty old sheet doing here? You get up while I put this in the machine with the rest of the wash."

Booby Bobby leaped up shouting, "Don't do it, mother! It's not a sheet. It's Stanley. He's a Ghost!"

"Tch, tch," said his mother in exasperation. "Will you never make sense?"

She bundled up Stanley and marched to the laundry room and flung him into the whirling washing machine with the rest of the wash.

"Now you hush up," she said sternly to Booby Bobby who was wailing and wringing his hands. "I'm going next door to borrow milk for breakfast."

As soon as she left, Booby Bobby opened the machine and pulled out the Ghost. Stanley was dripping and dizzy and blinded with soap. "That's what I mean about your modern house!" he sputtered. "It's no place for a ghost."

Booby Bobby offered to put him in the drier but Stanley said he wouldn't stay in that house another minute. He shook himself angrily, like a dog who has fallen in a pond, and stalked out the back door.

"How do we get to Santa Land?" asked Booby Bobby, running to catch up.

"Just keep going until we get there," said Stanley gruffly. "But we will have to look sharp or some other housewife may want to hang me on a line to dry."

"We can pretend you're a boy still wearing his Halloween costume," said Booby Bobby.

"A sensible idea," agreed Stanley.

He strode boldly along as if it were the natural thing to do and no one they passed thought it strange at all to see a ghost walking through the town.

They traveled until they came to a small village where a puppet show was being given in the square. They sat down to rest a while and watch the show.

It was very sad.

A beautiful Puppet Princess was captured by a wicked ogre who swore to keep her a prisoner forever unless she agreed to become his bride. The princess was kept in a dungeon and fed nothing but butterfly wings and soybeans shells but she refused to give her consent. The ogre grew impatient and said, "Tomorrow you will be my bride or die." And the curtain came down on the second act.

Booby Bobby jumped from his seat and cried, "This is terrible! We've got to save her!"

TOMORROW: The Chase.

Students Lose First Round

AUSTIN (AP) — The "San Marcos 10" have lost the first federal court round in their fight to be reinstated as students at Southwest Texas State University.

Federal Dis. Judge Jack Roberts denied the students' application for a temporary restraining order Thursday.

Mark Levbarg, American Civil Liberties Union lawyer representing the students, said he would appeal to the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans.

Roberts said he turned down the application because there was little chance the students would win a trial on the merits of the case.

The school suspended the students Nov. 13 when they refused to break up a silent demonstration against the Vietnam War.

Dean Floyd Martine testified Nov. 28 he warned the students not to hold the demonstration. He admitted they sat on the grass, did not impede sidewalk traffic, did not chant, sing or make any noise. But he said they asked for police protection before the demonstration. "I do not believe they would have done this if they had not expected a disruption," he said.

The students said all the noise was made by a group of "cowboys" from the school's rodeo association. The "cowboys" heckled them and called them communists and traitors, they said.

Levbarg said university rules that authorize demonstrations only in a designated "student expression area" at certain times—12 p.m. to 1 p.m. and 5 p.m. to 7 p.m.—were unconstitutional. "That means you are cut off from your freedoms (of speech and assembly) at any other time," he said.

Senate Prepares Tax Reform Rider

WASHINGTON (AP) — Acting Senate Republican Leader Robert P. Griffin said today attaching an increase in Social Security benefits to the tax reform bill will increase the chances of a presidential veto.

Griffin, who indicated he was speaking for the Nixon administration, said he "wouldn't bet against" a presidential veto that would send both tax reform and Social Security increases "down the drain."

The Michigan Republican commented before the Senate began debate on an amendment to the tax reform bill that would increase Social Security benefits 15 per cent after Jan. 1.

The Democrats took action Thursday to get the rider into position for adoption today. This came as GOP senators were believed planning a similar move.

The vote on the rider was set for after consideration of another amendment to knock out of the tax reform bill the provision inserted in the Senate Finance Committee ending the tax exemption privilege for private, grant-making foundations after 40 years.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., chairman of Finance, said there was no question the Senate would approve the Social Security rider.

Long and Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., chief sponsors of the amendment said they were convinced this procedure was the best way to assure passage of the Social Security boost before the 1969 session ends.

The rider is identical to the Social Security bill approved Wednesday by the House Ways and Means Committee.

Sponsors of that measure hope to get it passed in the House by next Thursday. But they were understood to have agreed it could be handled as an amendment to the tax bill rather than as separate legislation.

The amendment to delete the 40-year limit on the life of foundations was sponsored by Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., who said the provision amounted to "a death sentence for all existing private foundations by 2010.

"The 40-year rule makes no distinction between foundations which have made vital contributions to the nation and to our society and those which serve individuals as tax shelters only," he declared.

But Gore, one of the authors of the limitation, answered that "this is no death sentence."

"It is time we put some reasonable limit on this tax exemption," he said.

Long agreed and said that future congresses could extend the life of foundations doing good.

The Senate continued to add to the revenue losses of the massive tax bill Thursday.

It adopted 46-41 an amendment of Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif., to restore full deduction of medical expenses of persons 65 and over and of such expenses paid by children for dependent parents 65 and over.

Since 1963, old persons have had the same deductions in this area as all others.

Long said the amendment would cost $225 million a year and would benefit chiefly old persons in high income brackets.

The Senate has voted previously for similar amendments, but they have been rejected by the House in conference.

California To Tax Church Businesses

SACAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — California starts taxing some church businesses on Jan. 1—but no one in the state government or the churches themselves seems to know exactly who will be taxed, where they are, or how much money will be raised.

A law passed by the 1969 legislature and signed by Gov. Ronald Reagan extends the state's corporation tax to businesses directly operated by religious organiations but unrelated to their spiritual function.

Church and state officials alike say they cannot at the moment think of a specific business which isn't taxed now but will be under the new law.

Such things as cemeteries, publications, old-age homes and other activities directly associated with church functioning won't be considered unrelated income. They will remain tax free.

INFIXED

... in the little animal is the inherent, industrious characteristics of self preservation. A delight to the eye in its graceful movements, but behind its moves, more than the childish eye can see ... a desire to keep her bin full of food to guarantee her survival.

We, like the squirrel, must prepare for our future and for those who depend upon us. But human needs reach beyond food, and house and clothing ... beyond the physical and the material. We are persons, we are spiritual, our concern is for the mind — the soul — the spirit.

We are social persons whose deeper needs may be satisfied in a church which majors in fellowship and prayer and builds us into a group of good people with common loyalties to God and things of the spirit.

Come with me to church.
