Keeping tab on our neighbors:

There is an agency going out of business, believe it or not. The latest Bicentennial News, distributed by the American Revolution Bicentennial Administration in Washington, advises that "this agency will start phasing out rather rapidly after the July 4th weekend for we have accomplished the mission set by Congress."

Now, if a few more of the larger and more expensive agencies would phase themselves out as soon as they accomplish the missions set by Congress, it would be a great thing.

Of course the Bicentennial Commission did accomplish its mission. There were more celebrations going on over the July4th weekend than ever before in this country.

Farmland News passes along a timely quotation from Richard E. Bell, assistant secretary of Agriculture: "For the past couple of years, media people have been inordinately fascinated by sales of U.S. grains to the Soviet Union. Some play a game in which they try to relate these sales to retail food prices in this country. They pay little attention to the grain sales—much larger—that go to other buyers throughout the world. And they pay virtually no attention to the changes in labor charges involved in food marketing.

"Nowhere did I see a story explaining the impact on retail food prices of the recent labor package negotiated by the Teamsters Union. Yet the rise in teamster wages and benefits will undoubtedly have a much greater impact than selling a few additional tons of grain to the USSR or some other export destination."

Walter Buckel of the Lamesa Press-Reporter reports that a retired citizen of that community was astonished when he saw a woman in a checkout line at a grocery store pay for a couple of baskets of the most expensive canned meats and assorted goodies with food stamps. Since these were items that he could not afford as a retiree, he planned to write his Congressman and Senators about it. He was upset over the fact that food stamps can be used to buy caviar while folks with only money shop prudently and with some degree of cost involved in family shopping.

"Even with food stamps, how could anyone eat caviar when good ole bologna and ground hamburger meat is available for the common folks," asks Buckel.—WACIL McNAIR

Today In History

Today is Friday, July 16, the 198th day of 1976. There are 168 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1945, the Atomic Age began as the first atomic bomb was exploded over the desert in New Mexico.

On this date:

In 1790, the District of Columbia was established as the seat of the U.S. Government.

In 1918, Russia's Czar Nicholas II, his empress and their five children were executed by the Bolsheviks.

In 1951, King Leopold III of Belgium abdicated and was succeeded on the throne by his son, Baudouin.

In 1957, Marine Maj. John Glenn established a trans-continental speed record when he flew a jet from California to New York in 3 hours, 23 minutes.

In 1965, Ambassador Adlai Stevenson, who had died in London, was given a national funeral in Washington.

In 1974, Archbishop Makarios, who had been deposed as president of Cyprus, was on his way to New York to plead his cause before the United Nations.

Ten years ago: India's Prime Minister Indira Gandhi ended a visit to Moscow with a promise of $1 billion in Soviet aid for her country.

Five years ago: The Nationalist Chinese government on Taiwan expressed dismay at the announcement that President Richard Nixon would visit Communist China.

One year ago: It was disclosed that the Soviet Union had made a deal to buy vast quantities of wheat from two American grain export firms.

26 Children, Bus Driver Vanish

By JOE BIGHAM
Associated Press Writer

CHOWCHILLA, Calif. (AP) — Twenty-six children and the driver of their school bus who vanished on their way home from a swimming outing apparently are the victims of a mass kidnaping, the Madera County sheriff said today.

Deputies and police searched the San Joaquin Valley farmland through a windy, rainy night split by lightning and thunder for some clue to the whereabouts of the children, who ranged in age from 5 to 15.

The bus in which the children had been riding was found in a dry canal Thursday night.

"It appears to be an abduction," Sheriff Ed Bates told reporters. "We are waiting to be contacted."

Bates said his investigators found two sets of tracks superimposed on the bus tracks, suggesting that an abduction "would have to be planned, it seems to me." The tracks showed that "somebody left the area after the bus was parked."

The bus, which was to have returned the children from the Chowchilla fairgrounds, was found abandoned in a dry canal during a search from the air. It was hidden in a heavy stand of bamboo in the flat farmland about 35 miles northwest of Fresno.

The sheriff said he couldn't "think of any other possibility" but a kidnaping. "There's no blood, no evidence of foul play at the bus. I'm at a loss for words about this one. I absolutely can't figure it. We can't find anybody who has a motive."

Bates said the FBI has been called in.

The children are students at the Dairyland Unified School, which school district secretary Nita Hansen described as "just a little country school."

She said the bus driver, 55-year-old Frank Edward Ray Jr., was "very reliable" and had been driving for the school for 28 years.

"You couldn't ask for a nicer guy," Mrs. Hansen said. "He was born and raised here."

Sheriff Bates, who set up a command post at the Chowchilla Police Department, speculated that there were five possibilities: a "deranged guy" who had kidnaped the entire group; a "personal revenge, somebody who wants to make the parents suffer;" a kidnaping "for money;" a "terrorist" plot plea some older kid on the bus took command by force."

Shortly before dawn Bates discarded as a clue reports that a white van seen the last two days near where the bus lets children off might be involved in the disappearance. The vehicle turned out to be a "dental van" which has been assigned to the area, he said.

The sheriff's office said it received calls from anxious parents beginning about 4:15 p.m. Thursday. At that time, the bus was two hours overdue.

Investigators towed the bus out of the canal and began a search, roping off the area around the bus. At one point, 30 officers from several jurisdictions were assigned, including a force detailed to a door-to-door search south of the town.

Officers recovered two towels and items connected with a childrens' ceramics project, Bates said. The key was missing from the bus's ignition, he said.

The bus had made three stops, letting off three groups of children, but it never made its fourth and last stop, Bates said.

Prior to Bates' announcement that he suspected an abduction, Sam Baretta, the father of Lisa Baretta, 12, one of the missing children, said:

"It seems so damn strange. There must be a logical explanation. I haven't faced reality yet."

Carter Warns Democrats Against Overconfidence

By DON McLEOD
AP Political Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Democratic presidential candidate Jimmy Carter warned party leaders against overconfidence today before returning to Georgia to map plans for capturing the White House in the Nov. 2 election.

Carter said he did not intend to rest on his laurels and told members of the party's national committee and its fund raisers he expected them to work equally hard to register voters and raise funds in order to preserve the momentum of his giant-killer campaign from obscurity to the nomination.

Drawing a parallel with the campaign of John F. Kennedy in 1960, Carter said his success in November and, after that, in keeping his promises depends on party efforts to get out the vote, give him a strong mandate and solid support in both houses of Congress.

During the morning after their acceptance speeches at the closing session of the party's national convention, Carter and his running mate, Sen. Walter F. Mondale of Minnesota, met with the party's finance committee and its national committee.

"There can be a very serious mistake made if we are overconfident," Carter said in his first meeting with the national committee. "We have a good chance to win, but it is is not a sure thing."

He recalled that Kennedy was perceived as a handsome, dynamic candidate running against Richard M. Nixon. Despite that, Kennedy won by the narrowest of margins and as a result his administration suffered from a lack of "national purpose" around the country and in the Congress, Carter said.

The former Georgia governor told the state party leaders that not since 1960 have the Democrats had a good voter registration drive. He said his staff had already begun work with party chairman Robert Strauss on a major drive to get out the vote this fall.

Carter urged the party regulars not to sit back and wait for a phone call from him or Strauss before working hard for the election of the full Democratic ticket.

Earlier he had urged members of the party's finance committee to contact 100 persons each to finance voter registration and get-out-the-vote campaigns in the fall.

"I can't keep the promises I've made to the American people or will make this fall — and I intend to keep everyone of them — unless I have a solid base of support in both houses of Congress, unless I get a good mandate in the fall, unless we're able to keep a substantial portion of the unity and common purpose that was exhibited last night in a moment of high tension and high emotion and high commitment," Carter said.

"I would like to ask you not to go back home to California, or to Kansas, or Indiana or Texas and relax and say, 'Well, I've done my part,'" Carter said. "We've got a strong, aggressive, dynamic campaign ahead of us ... but we can't do it with you sitting back ... admiring what others do."

Mondale also spoke to the finance and national committees, telling the fund raisers that "I've never been through a meeting that was more thrilling and more hopeful, not just for the Democrats, but for the whole country, than I went through last night."

At the national committee session, Carter called Strauss "the greatest national party chairman I have ever known," although the nominee acknowledged for the first time today that he knew Strauss had thought someone else would head the Democratic ticket. Carter has asked Strauss to remain as chairman through the election.

Carter and Mondale planned a lunch here before they returned to Georgia and Washington this afternoon, having closed the convention with their acceptance speeches Thursday night.

More Americans Being Evacuated

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The U.S. Embassy in Beirut announced today it is ending most of its operations and arranging another evacuation of Americans, as Palestinian leader Yasir Arafat postponed a reconciliation meeting with Syrian President Hafez Assad.

Fighting continued along the no man's land between the Moslem and Christian sectors of Beirut and in northern and eastern Lebanon. Security sources and hospitals reported at least 129 persons killed and 134 wounded during the night.

The embassy announced in newspaper ads and English-language broadcasts that it is arranging an evacuation Sunday and strongly urged all Americans still in the country to leave.

It said it is closing down "the majority of its functions including consular services" on Monday "because of increasing difficulties of operating in Beirut" and it "will no longer have the capability to effectively provide protection for the American community."

The announcement said the evacuation would be open to other foreigners. The British Embassy urged British citizens to join up.

"The mode of transportation has not been determined," said a State Department spokesman in Washington. But it was assumed a U.S. Navy ship or a motor convoy to neighboring Syria would be provided.

It will be the second American evacuation since the murder of U.S. Ambassador Francis E. Meloy Jr. and his economic counselor on June 16. Four days later, President Ford sent a Navy ship and urged all Americans to leave, but only 110 U. S. citizens and 157 other foreigners heeded him.

Embassy records show more than 1,000 American citizens still in Lebanon. However, a diplomat said most are of Lebanese birth and have dual Lebanese and American citizenship.

There was no indication how many embassy personnel would leave. The staff has been reduced since the start of the civil war 15 months ago from 200 persons to about 50.

Arafat had been scheduled to meet with Assad in Damascus today, but the joint command of Palestinian and leftist Lebanese Moslem forces accused Syria of more attacks and "purposely delaying a pullback of its intervention forces."

A communique said a promised withdrawal of Syrian troops from Sofar, 12 miles east of Beirut, did not materialize Thursday. And it said despite a pledge of a 40-mile withdrawal of all Syrian forces threatening Sidon, the Moslem port 25 miles south of Beirut, an infantry battalion and a tank column remained at Jezzine, 10 miles east of Sidon and within range of the city.

Economy Better Than Expected, Say Ford People

By G. DAVID WALLACE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Ford administration said today that the economy will perform better than originally expected during 1976, providing Americans with about 379,000 more jobs and diminishing the erosion of inflation on peoples' buying power.

"The President believes his economic policies are the major reasons for this improvement," said White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen.

Revised administration projections on the nation's unemployment, inflation and production capacity must be sent to Congress later this month under the new budget-making procedures.

The President's top economic and budget advisers released their projections at a briefing. They attributed the estimates of the stronger-than-expected economic performance to developments which already have taken place.

Alan Greenspan, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, said a crucial factor in the improved economic picture has been greater confidence by consumers and businessmen. Greenspan said the confidence has been gaining even faster than expected and has been translated into faster economic growth.

Nessen said the President is determined to stick to his economic program and get the budget back into balance by 1979, if posible.

The latest projections, released by the Council of Economic Advisers and the Office of Management and Budget, were the first solid economy projection figures since the administration's initial forecast in January.

The broad economic projections expect an average of about 6.9 million Americans will be unemployed this year instead of the 7.3 million originally estimated. Unemployment currently stands at 7.1 million.

The average income of wage earners for the year is expected to be $4,135 instead of the $4,149 originally estimated. But the loss will be more than recouped through a projected lower inflation rate, so that a package of goods of services originally expected to cost $176.11 at year-end will instead cost cost $174.62.

The average income of wage earners currently stands at $4,053. That same package of goods and services currently costs $169.20.

Over-all volume of goods and services produced in the economy is expected to grow by 6.8 per cent for the year rather than the 6.2 per cent originally expected. That growth in Gross National Product compares to expansion at an annual rate of 8.7 per cent in the first three months of the year, with significantly slower growth when the figures for the second quarter are announced next week.

The rise in consumer prices over the year is expected to be 5 per cent instead of the 5.9 per cent originally expected. Consumer prices are currently 6.2 per cent ahead of a year earlier.

The unemployment rate, now 7.5 per cent, is expected to average 7.3 per cent for the year, rather than the 7.7 per cent estimated in January.

Viking Eyes Landing Site

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Viking 1 will take some photographs Saturday of its Martian landing site, scientists say, and a decision might be made then where to scout for a landing zone for Viking 2, the sister ship that is nearing a Martian rendezvous.

Scientists at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory also said they expect Viking 1's lander will detect some "interesting things" after it lands about Martian weather and maybe marsquakes or volcano rumblings. The landing is scheduled for Tuesday.

"We wouldn't be surprised to see a cold front pass by, and we would be delighted if a dust devil passed over the lander," said Dr. Seymour Hess.

Measurements of wind velocity, temperature and atmospheric pressure over a long period of time are expected to help scientists attack the mystery of Mars' atmosphere.

ALL ABOARD!—About 25 persons were on hand this morning to begin a promotional tour of area towns to herald the 41st annual Scurry County Rodeo to be staged here July 21-24. The group of rodeo enthusiasts left the coliseum shortly before 9 a.m. today to begin their one-day, 12-town tour. They are expected to return about 7 p.m.

When to Tell Men About Breast Surgery

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1976 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am 28, unmarried and have just had one breast removed (cancer).

When I meet a man who is not aware of the surgery I've had, do you think I should tell him about it or not? I've discussed it with several people. My mother says, "Don't tell him until you are engaged to marry him."

My physician says, "Tell him as soon as you think he could become seriously interested in you."

My best friend says, "It is best to tell a man early in the friendship because it might make a difference in the way he feels about you, and it's unfair to hold it back."

I would like your opinion and the opinions of men who may have had some experience with this problem. Thank you.

HAVING DOUBTS

DEAR HAVING: I vote with your physician. Readers?

DEAR ABBY: I wear a wig sometimes, but not all the time. I have this friend who, no matter who is present—men, women or strangers— will walk up to me, lift up my hair (or wig) and even tug on it and ask, "Is that a wig you're wearing or is that your own hair?"

Abby, when she does that, I get terribly embarrassed. How can I tell her in a nice way, so I don't offend her, that whether I'm wearing a wig or not is nobody's business but my own?

WIG-WEARER

DEAR WIG-WEARER: Tell her in plain language. And if she embarrasses you in this manner again, give the same consideration to HER as she gives to YOU. (Like practically none.)

DEAR ABBY: I am very much in love with a wonderful man and we are planning to be married just as soon as my divorce comes through, which should be within the next few months.

My fiance wants to give me a diamond engagement ring right now. Would it be proper for me to wear an engagement ring while I'm still legally married? I don't really feel married. I've been separated from my husband for over a year.

IN LOVE AND CONFUSED

DEAR IN: Until you're divorced, you're married. Cool it until your divorce is final.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "HEARTSICK IN HURON, S.D.": Tell your husband you found the letter and give him a chance to explain it. Don't prejudge him.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Veep Selection Hard On Losers

By DAVID C. MARTIN
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — For Muskie, Glenn, Church, Stevenson and Jackson it was the night that might have been.

The five losing finalists in the sweepstakes for the Democratic vice presidential nomination were cheered by the Democratic National Convention Thursday night as they were called to the podium in a show of unity.

a freshly painted green posters all read Mondale, and Secret Service agents cleared a path through the crowd for Mondale, not for them.

They claimed a mixture of relief and disappointment that they had not been chosen by Jimmy Carter to be his running mate. They all expressed undaunted enthusiasm for Carter's choice of their Senate colleague, Walter Mondale of Minnesota.

But in one camp at least there was some private grumbling about Carter's leak-proof strategy of disclosing the name of the man he had chosen — a strategy one loser's assistant described as "inconsiderate" and "shabby."

None of the six finalists heard from Carter until the last moment.

Even then, only Mondale knew he was the one. The others were only told they weren't.

Sen. Edmund Muskie of Maine, who ran for the vice presidency in 1968, said his telephone conversation with Carter went like this:

"Hello?"

"Ed?"

"Yes."

"I just called to tell you I selected someone else."

Frank Church of Idaho was shaving when the call came.

John Glenn of Ohio had just finished breakfast. Glenn compared the wait for the phone call with the countdown for his blast-off as the first American to orbit the earth 14 years ago.

Adlai Stevenson had spent a restless night waiting for the call that all the candidates were told would come shortly after 8:30 a.m. Despite an elaborate code worked out to put Carter directly through to the senator, the phone rang in the wrong room.

Both Church and Henry Jackson, of Washington, the two among the finalists who had run against Carter in the presidential primaries, said they were sure it would not be them before they got their calls from Carter.

Carter said he told his wife at 8:30 a.m., right before calling the six senators.

Leasing Is Slated Off East Coast

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interior Department is preparing to begin leasing offshore drilling sites off the Atlantic coast. It will open the eastern U.S. coast for oil and gas drilling for the first time.

The department said Thursday it would begin leasing the sites on Aug. 17. The department said it also is beginning procedures to resume leasing off Santa Barbara, Calif.

Scheduling the sale of petroleum leases off New Jersey and Delaware, Interior Secretary Thomas Kleppe refused a request for a delay sought by Rep. John Murphy, D-N.Y.

Murphy, chairman of a House committee on the Outer Continental Shelf, had asked Kleppe to delay the sale until Congress could act on legislation aimed at revising the offshore leasing program.

The Interior Department announcement said Kleppe told Murphy "it would not be in the national interest" to postpone the beginning of the lease program.

Meanwhile, the department's Bureau of Land Management invited the oil industry and the public to propose areas for possible leasing off the Southern California coast, including the Santa Barbara area where drilling was restricted following a massive oil spill in 1969.

The department sought comment on the possible leasing of some 13.2-million acres south from Point Conception and extending as far as 190 miles out to sea from the mainland.

A sale of leases off Southern California last Dec. 11 brought bids totaling more than $417 million for some 310,045 acres.

Kleppe has tentatively planned further offshore leasing, probably next year, in federal waters off New England and off the southeastern Atlantic coast states.

Benefit Steer Roping Is Set

GAIL—A benefit steer roping will be held Sunday at the rodeo arena in Gail for the Justin Cox Trust Fund.

The steer roping will begin at 2 p.m. Entry fee will be $16 for two head, and a person can enter three times. All proceeds will go to the Justin Cox Trust Fund. Individuals will be given an opportunity to make a donation at the gate, and anyone wishing to contribute but who cannot attend may send donations to Brent Murphy, Borden Gray Jr., James McLeroy, Ralph Miller, Roy Lee Beaver, Shorty Farmer, or Wanda Smith.

Justin Cox, the infant son of Rex and Teresa Cox, is now in the John Peter Smith Hospital in Fort Worth. He is expected to be hospitalized until September.

Williamson Rites Set

Mrs. Lillie Mae Williamson, 88, mother of two Scurry County residents, died Friday in a nursing home at Marble Falls.

She was the mother of Mrs. Louise Vest of Hermleigh and Roy Williamson of Snyder. Also surviving are two other daughters, four other sons, 27 grandchildren, 54 great-grandchildren and five great-great-grandchildren.

Funeral service will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday at the Clements Funeral Home in Marble Falls, and burial will be in the Marble Falls Cemetery.

Alcoa Payment Is Disclosed

By KENNETH J. FREED
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Aluminum Company of America paid at least $25,000 to Jamaican political parties and officials in 1971 and 1972 after U.S. Ambassador Vincent DeRoulet suggested the firm contribute to a shadowy educational fund, U.S. officials say.

These sources say DeRoulet, who died last year, solicited the contributions at a time he was attempting to prevent Jamaica from nationalizing American bauxite mining interests.

Alcoa, as the world's largest aluminum company, has a critical interest in bauxite, a vital element in the production of the metal. Jamaica is among the world's largest sources for bauxite. Alcoa obtains about 10 per cent of its needs from the Caribbean island.

The disclosure came with American industry already under criticism for trying to influence foreign political campaigns with payments and other forms of pressure.

First word of the Alcoa incident came when the firm filed a statement with the Securities and Exchange Commission saying an unidentified U.S. ambassador to an unnamed country had suggested to a senior company official that a payment be made to the educational program.

Subsequently, Alcoa said, company officials decided to respond to the solicitation. A certified check for $25,000 was written, but it was made out to the ruling party of the country.

That was followed by four more checks totalling $25,000 written to various officials of the involved country. Alcoa, in disclosing the four checks, did not make a link to the ambassador's solicitation.

The U.S. sources later identified the nation as Jamaica and the ambassador as DeRoulet, who was appointed in 1969 by President Richard Nixon.

In a statement released from its Pittsburgh headquarters Thursday, Alcoa said, "The ambassador was only incidental to the event. We have no reason to believe the ambassador thought the grant was to be used for any other purpose than the education fund.

"We in no way said we were pressured or coerced by a U.S. ambassador into making a contribution," the company said.

The sources said the party receiving the money was the People's National Party, headed by Michael Norman Manley. The identity of the officials who received checks remained undisclosed.

In a statement to the SEC, Alcoa acknowledged that no proof was ever uncovered of the existence of the educational fund. The firm said the books of its Jamaican subsidiary showed the payment as a miscellaneous expense.

Government officials added that their investigation has not found any Jamaican education program and they did not believe such a fund existed.

Army Finally Getting Rid Of 'Lethal Scrap'

By JAKE BOOHER
Associated Press Writer

DUGWAY PROVING GROUND, Utah (AP) — After seven years, the Army's chemical warfare test station here finally is getting rid of some lethal scrap — rockets with warheads containing nerve agent.

The nerve agent, GB, is better known as nerve gas, though Army scientists insist it really isn't gas. It's in warheads of partially destroyed M55 rockets that Dugway began burning — the approved method of disposal then — in 1967.

The work was halted in 1969 when the Army declared a moratorium on open air release of toxic chemicals. Lethal chemicals were blamed the year before for the death of 4,500 sheep.

The 36,000 rockets, all burned at least once, have been in unsealed pits since then, and the Army estimates 569 still have warheads intact, each containing 10.5 pounds of nerve agent.

The rockets, designed for offensive, antipersonnel warfare, became obsolete with United States policy against offensive use of chemical and biological weapons. As post-Korean War hardware, destruction was required because time corrodes warheads and makes seals imperfect.

Dugway officials say some of the six-foot rockets have had minor leaks of nerve agent, but that constant monitoring has shown no effect on the environment.

A new disposal technique was worked out and cleared through federal environmental channels after the Army formed its Chemical Demilitarization and Installation Restoration Office in 1972.

One by one, the 61 pits, each about 100 feet long and seven feet wide, are being sifted and cleared, the land restored. Crews working from airtight armored personnel carriers use long, movable arms to lift the rockets piece by piece for examination.

If a piece contains nerve agent, it is set aside to be neutralized, or "demilitarized," by soaking 24 hours in steel tanks containing a sodium hydroxide solution.

Army spokesmen acknowledge civilians around Dugway were not generally aware the rockets were in open pits awaiting destruction. But there was no reason for them to be, an Army spokesman says, because the "monitoring system confirmed that off-post population need not be concerned."

The tiny town of Callao, 27 miles to the Southwest, is nearest the disposal area. The area's population density is extemely low.

Cost of the cleanup, scheduled to be completed by Oct. 31, is estimated by the Army at $4.3 million.

After the operation is complete, Dugway still will have disposal work to do. There are 1,560 nerve agent bomblets clamped in steel chests yet to be disposed of, and about 60 dud rounds that did not go off during the open air tests halted in 1969.

Two Thefts, Three Mishaps Are Reported

Two thefts and three traffic mishaps topped police reports for Thursday.

Rayburn Galyean reported to police officers a $210 theft that occurred at a rent house he owns in the 3800 block of Muriel Street. Taken in the theft, officers said, were an air conditioner valued at $200 and two boards with a total value of $10. The theft occurred between 1 p.m. and 8 p.m. Thursday.

Andy Maldonado told policemen Thursday evening that a $20.76 check had been stolen from the mail box at his residence in the 1000 block of Twenty-eighth Street. Officers reported that the name and date on the check had been altered and the check then cashed at a local drive-in grocery store.

A 1972 Ford driven by Apolonia Gonzales Pesina collided with a house owned by Merle Wilson at 2300 Avenue I. Only minor damages were reported to the car, but damage to the house was set at $1,000. Officers reported that the porch and a stone foundation of the house had been struck. The mishap occurred Thursday at 8 a.m.

A hit and run mishap occurred, officers said, at 9:28 p.m. at 4500 College Avenue. Marc Johnson told officers that his parked 1972 Detomaso Pontera had been struck by another vehicle which left the scene. Only minor damages were reported to the Johnson car.

The intersection of Thirty-second Street and Avenue F was the scene of a minor traffic mishap when a 1973 Chevrolet driven by Robert Dupuy collided with a 1967 Chevrolet driven by Dan Thompson. The accident occurred Thursday at 3:22 p.m.

New Postal Rates Effective Sunday

The new permanent postal rates, which include 13-cents for first class mail, will become effective Sunday, July 18, the Postal Service's Board of Governors announced today.

This action followed approval by the Governors of the permanent rates recommended by the Postal Rate Commission June 30.

While current first-class postage of 13 cents and the nine-cent post card are not changed, there are a number of departures from the existing temporary rates and fees.

There are decreases for regular bulk third-class and increases for second-class publications and most special service fees.

In third class the permanent bulk regular rates will be 7.5 cents for pieces in excess of 250,000. These minimum per piece charges contrast with the current temporary rates of 7.7 and 7.9 cents, respectively.

The pound rate for bulk third class regular advertising, and books and catalogs will be 36 cents and 30 cents, respectively, instead of the 41 cents and 32 cents under the temporary schedule.

For second-class matter, the average increase in the permanent step 5 rates will be two per cent more than the current temporary rates.

During the month of July there will be two rate changes for those classes of mail entitled to a phasing of rates, such as second-class publications, books and records and the nonprofit classes. On July 6 the temporary postal rates were adjusted upward from step four to step five. On July 18 the permanent rates become effective.

For a typical weekly news magazine, postage will be 5.1 cents, on the average, after July 18. Under the former step five of the temporary rates the cost was 5.0 cents.

Postage for a single-piece, third-class letter will be 14 cents for the first two ounces instead of the old-13 cent rate.

The fees for nearly all of the Postal Service's domestic special services will also be increased. The charge for a Special Delivery letter goes to $1.25 from 80 cents, the minimum money-order fee will be 50 cents instead of 30 cents, and the address correction charge will be increased to 25 cents from the present 13-cent level. Certain international special service fees will also increase substantially.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

West's three-heart bid was correct because he trusted both his partner and his opponents. He trusted that his partner wouldn't suddenly decide to go on and bid four hearts. This wasn't too much trust. If East had any interest in playing four hearts, he would have bid three hearts over North's two spades.

As for trust in his opponents, West knew that they had stopped at two spades and neither one was going to decide to go to game after that first decision.

What other chance did West take? He might get doubled but who was going to double? He, West, had good trumps and his partner had bid the suit first.

What could West gain? He could get his opponents to three spades and maybe beat that contract one trick.

South really should have passed and watched three hearts get set, but he did bid three spades. He also might have made three spades, but he managed to lose one spade, two hearts, a club and a diamond so West's three-heart bid really paid off.

Women Feel They've Made Political Progress At Democratic Convention

By PEGGY SIMPSON
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Many women left this year's Democratic convention convinced they are coming of age politically and with a new appreciation of the art of compromise.

"Women delegates this year were much more politically mature about when to negotiate and when to be part of the system," said Carleen Waller of Nashville, Tenn., an alternate delegate.

"They have learned political accomodation, in the finest sense, and how to get what they want politically. You can't read this in a book. Women haven't lost their ideals but they've learned how to tie them into practical politics."

For the first time, women put together a cadre of their foremost feminists, including Rep. Bella Abzug of New York and Pennsylvania Secretary of State Delores Tucker, to negotiate directly with a presidential nominee about their concerns.

They accepted a compromise with Jimmy Carter over their demand for 50-50 representation at future conventions after winning a pledge that the party would lead the fight for equality and that Carter personally would campaign for the Equal Rights Amendent in 16 states which haven't ratified it.

The delegate selection compromise puts the party on record as "promoting" rather than "requiring" an equal male-female delegate split at future conventions.

Women also were successful in making sure that an abortion rights plank which they considered acceptable was included in the platform. The plank opposes a constitutional amendment banning abortion.

Women comprised 34 per cent of the delegates this year, compared with 40 per cent in 1972 and 13 per cent in 1968. They led 10 delegations. And they were more evident among convention speakers than ever before, with Rep. Barbara Jordan of Texas delivering a thunderously applauded keynote speech and Rep. Yvonne Braithwaite Burke of California giving a nominating address for Sen. Walter Mondale.

Even so, some women said there has been little substantive progress.

"It's going to be a lot harder than we thought," said Texan Frances "Sissy" Farenthold, who in 1972 became the first woman nominated for the vice presidency.

She said women got "visibility" at the 1972 convention but haven't been able to trade that for concrete gains.

Anne Zill, director of the Women's Campaign Fund, said, "Women are nowhere near the mainstream of politics and won't be for hundreds of years. Women are given cultural training that is devastating and women in politics will have an uphill battle for years."

But feminist Gloria Steinem said women are making strides. In 1972, she said, "they didn't have to be listened to because they didn't have their own constituency. It's different this time."

Martin Reunion Held

The 36th annual reunion of the descendents of Enoch and Jap Martin, early Central West Texas settlers, was held July 10-11, 1976 in Towle Park Barn, Snyder, Texas.

Visitation, games and other planned activities were enjoyed by those who attended. At the business meeting, presided over by Finis Martin in the absence of President Jack Martin who was in Fort Worth at the bedside of his mother Mrs. A.C Martin, Dale Johnston was elected to serve as president 1977-1978. The date of the next reunion will be August 27-28, 1977 in Towle Park Barn. R.I. and Wanda Ross, Corpus Christi, traveled the fartherest. Sam Martin, Snyder, was the eldest in attendance, and Shelly Lynn Helms, Midland, was the youngest.

A picnic lunch was served Sunday to the following: Enoch and Lottie Martin; J.D. and Florine Martin, Sandia; Fred, Lue and Pete Martin, Roswell, New Mexico; R.I. and Wanda Ross, Corpus Christi; Gary, Stephanie and Amanda Martin, Lancaster; Artie, Bobbie, Tonya and Sonja Hammock, Del Rio; Bill and Jo Martin; Delbert Martin, Abilene; Emmitt and Johnnie Martin, Lovington, New Mex.; Butch and Sybil Martin, Big Spring; Mrs. Jerry Brockman and two daughters, Coahoma; Mr. and Mrs. Zeb Sumpter, Breckenridge; Belvin Nall; Wayne, Tonya and Shelly Helms; Finis and Katherine Martin; Lewis, Carla and Scotty Deel; Marsha Hite; Elmer and Allie Martin; Bobby and Rosita Love, and Becky Winkler, all of Midland; Ray, Mary, Danny and Jerry Martin; Rusty and Janelda Davis; Mr. and Mrs. Randy Davis; Sam and Ruth Martin; Coriene Mahurin; Joe and Juanita Ellington; David, Jennifer and Cory Fisher; Randy, Deborah, Robin and Scott Rodgers, and Dale and Virginia Johnston; all of Snyder. Also, two guests from Snyder, Owen Miller and Jason Johnston.

Knit Combination Bridges The Seasons

By JUDY LOVE

Time to get in the fashion swim. Today's winner is a quick-to-crochet sleeveless tank top and matching pulldown hat.

This kind of work really whirls along so you'll have this set turned out in no time. It's perfect for warm summer days. In cooler weather simply slip the smart topper over a long sleeve shirt or blouse.

Incidentally, both the newsy tank top and roll-brim hat can be packed for travel. They unpack smooth and ready to go for weekend travelers.

To make our sleeveless slipover and hat we've chosen two shades of J. & P. Coats "Knit-Cro-Sheen." We've used three strands held together throughout the topper, changing the combination of colors every two rows to achieve the stripe pattern. Both the tank top and hat are done in a single crochet stitch.

To make the slipover and hat you will need 9 balls of white for size small, 10 for size medium and 11 for size large; 4 balls of a contrasting color for size small, 6 for medium and 7 for large. You also will need a size G crochet hook and 24 inches of white round elastic.

You can get easy to follow instructions for making the vest and hat in sizes small, medium and large by sending just 50 cents to Stitchin' Time, care of this newspaper, Radio City Station, Box 503, New York, NY 10019. Ask for leaflet No. 451 and be sure to enclose your name, address and zip code.

GREAT TRAVELERS—Crisp yarn holds shape through countless wearings and packings making tank top and pull-brim hat great travelers.

KNIT KNACKS

Dear Judy Love: I found a skirt pattern that I'd like to knit for fall but it requires a circular needle. I've never used one and when I went to buy one it looks so complicated. Is it harder to work with than regular needles? — D.J., Texas.

Dear D.J. — Knitting with a circular needle isn't any harder than using regular needles. The main thing you must be careful about is that your work doesn't twist, especially when you join that first stitch to the last to begin the next row. Once you've gotten a couple of rows on the needle you will not have the problem of the work twisting. The result of knitting on a circular needle is that you will, of course, not have a seam and you will have that same smooth fabric of a stockinette stitch you obtain by knitting with four needles.

You also will find a circular needle easier to work with when you are finishing off a neckline, cuffs or any other small, round edge than when you use a number of straight needles. Once you've used a circular needle I'm sure you will find other uses besides the one you bought it for. Keep knitting. Judy Love.

Truffles Soar In Price, Growing Remains Mystery

By TOM HOGE
AP Newsfeatures Writer

The gathering of truffles has always been more an art than a science, intertwined with tradition and superstition. In fact, some truffle buffs insist that the best specimens are found by the light of the moon.

Be that as it may, the truffle, which caused tongue clucking when it sold for $40 a pound a few years ago, has now soared in price to $200 a pound and there are plenty of takers.

Many fine food lovers cannot resist these "black diamonds of the kitchen." The fabulous fungi remain a vital ingredient in the highest cuisines of France, Italy and other countries, including our own. Their piquant fragrance adds a touch of elegance to even a simple omelet.

The truffle is a small black fungus with an aromatic flavor that endears it to epicures. In Italy they grow a white variety, which is still more costly. Truffles have never been exactly cheap, but the price has rocketed in recent years because production has dropped sharply in France and Italy, the major producers.

No one is sure just how to boost the output because truffle growing remains a mystery. The truffle, which is related to the mushroom, grows in clusters about six inches below ground level. Microscopic filaments attached to the roots of trees, usually oaks, are believed to supply nourishment, but attempts to raise the yield by injecting truffle spores among oak roots have failed.

The fungus is capricious, it seems, in choosing a host tree and it is impossible to tell which tree will be hospitable.

A truffle grower needs a dog, a pig or a goat to sniff out the fungus, a recent report by the National Geographic Society noted, because humans can rarely detect the heady perfume. The French hunt with trained pigs, the Italians with dogs and the Sardinians with goats.

A good sniffer can spot a bed of truffles at a distance of 20 feet and pigs must often be restrained from eating their find.

Here's a recipe for chicken breasts with pate de foie gras and French truffles.

4 chicken breasts, boned but not skinned
2¾ to 3-ounce can pate de foie gras
Salt and pepper
Flour
1 egg white (not beaten)
1 cup fine French rusk crumbs
¼ cup butter
3 1-3-ounce can Sauce Perigeux (French truffle sauce)
2 tablespoons Madeira wine
1 small can chopped black French truffles

With flat knife or spatula spread pate between skin and meat of each chicken breast. Salt and pepper them. Sprinkle lightly with flour. Dip into egg white, then rusk crumbs. Saute in butter, skin side down first, till golden brown. Reduce heat and cook covered over low heat 10 minutes, adding more butter if needed. Empty sauce into pan and warm over low heat. Blend in Madeira but do not boil. Pour sauce over chicken, sprinkle with 2 tablespoons truffle bits. Serve with dry white wine, chilled. Serves 4.

JUDY'S POT ROAST

It's made in a slow-cooker.

3-pound chuck beef for pot roast
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 teaspoons dried dillweed
¼ cup dry red wine
1 tablespoon red wine vinegar
1 cup sour cream
3 tablespoons flour blended with 3 tablespoons water

Rub a mixture of the salt, pepper and 1 teaspoon of the dillweed over the beef; place in an electric slow-cooker. Stir together the wine and vinegar and add. Cook, covered, on low until tender — about 9 hours. Remove beef. Pour hot meat juice in slow cooker — there will be a generous pintful — into a 10-inch skillet. Gradually stir sour cream into flour-water mixture, keeping smooth; stir into skillet with remaining dillweed; cook gently, stirring constantly, until thickened and boiling. Slice meat thin (this is easiest to do if it is chilled); add to sauce and reheat. Serve with noodles. Makes 6 servings.

Palmer Says He's Merely Agreeable

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

Jim Palmer would like to set the record straight.

"I never called Darrell Johnson an idiot," said Palmer, one of a number of top American League pitchers who were not selected by the Boston manager to participate in Tuesday night's All-Star Game.

"Someone else said it — I just agreed with him."

As if to underscore the error of Johnson's ways, the 30-year-old Baltimore ace blanked the California Angels 4-0 Thursday night on three singles, becoming the first 12-game winner in the American League.

After a slow start, Palmer — the Cy Young Award winner two of the last three years — has won six of seven decisions since June 15. His record is up to 12-8, his earned run average down to 2.89.

In other American League night games, Detroit edged Oakland 3-2 in 11 innings, Minnesota beat Cleveland 5-2 and Chicago defeated Milwaukee 5-3 in 10 innings. In two twinight doubleheaders, the New York Yankees swept Texas 7-6 and 6-4, the second game in 10 innings, and Kansas City split with Boston, winning the opener 12-5 but dropping the nightcap 2-1.

Palmer was overpowering against California, giving up just three singles — and two of those runners were erased on double plays. Reggie Jackson drove in three runs, two of them on his 10th home run of the season, and Al Bumbry scored three runs for Baltimore, which has won its last five outings.

Afterwards, Palmer said it's no surprise the National League has won 13 of the last 14 All-Star Games.

"I'm sick and tired of losing to the National League, but it's understandable," he said. "They take their best players and we don't — and it doesn't just apply to pitchers."

Yankees 7-6, Rangers 6-4

Carlos May's three-run homer and Mickey Rivers' three hits and two runs batted in powered the Yankees to victory in the opener despite a shaky seventh inning during which relief ace Sparky Lyle faced three batters and walked them all, forcing in two runs. But with the bases loaded and New York's lead down to one run, Dick Tidrow came on and got Roy Howell on an inning-ending grounder.

Tidrow also picked up a save in the second game, coming on in the 10th inning to get the final out after Sandy Alomar's two-run homer — his first home run of the season — put the Yankees on top.

Tigers 3, A's 2

A's center fielder Bill North dropped his second fly ball of the game with the bases loaded and two out in the 11th inning, allowing pinch-runner Mickey Stanley to score with the winning run.

The Tigers loaded the bases in the 11th on a hit batsman and two walks. Oakland relief ace Rollie Fingers got Alex Johnson to bounce into a forceout and then struck out Aurelio Rodriguez. Pinch-hitter Dan Meyer lofted a fly ball to center and North — who dropped one in the third inning to let in one run — midhandled it as Stanley came home.

Twins 5, Indians 2

Twins infielder Roy Smalley, who went into Thursday night's game with a .212 batting average and just 14 runs batted in, collected three hits and knocked in three runs. He cracked a two-run triple in the second inning and squeezed home another run with a bunt in the fifth as Minnesota dealt Cleveland its ninth loss in the last 10 games.

White Sox 5, Brewers 3

Ray Sadecki relieved Milwaukee starter Jim Slaton with two out in the 10th inning and Pat Kelly greeted him with a two-run homer to the upper deck in right-center, giving Chicago the victory in a game in which all the runs came in on homers. Earlier, Chet Lemon had a solo shot and Jack Brohamer a two-run blast for Chicago while George Scott hit a three-run homer for Milwaukee.

Royals 12-1, Red Sox 5-2

Bob Stinson drove in four runs and Jaime Quirk knocked in three in the opener as Kansas City pounded four Boston pitchers for 16 hits.

The Red Sox came back to take the second game, scoring both their runs in the sixth inning and then hanging on behind the pitching of rookie Rick Jones and Jim Willoughby.

Weger Anxious To Play For Houston

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Strong safety Mike Weger, one of the new faces in the Houston Oilers roster, says he wanted one chance to play in the Super Bowl and that's why he played out his option at Detroit and came to the Oilers.

That, and the reputation of Coach O.A. "Bum" Phillips.

"Houston was the talk of the league last year," Weger said. "I'd heard how Bum runs his camp and how he treats his players. Everyone seems to be a vital part here, from the guy who cleans up the dressing room to the stars.

"You've got to credit his philosophy. He knows how to handle men."

Weger, 31, was the first veteran to report to the Oilers' training site here, where he'll try to beat out former Lions teammate Willie Germany for the starting position.

Weger said he had not unresolved problems with his former team. He said the Lions aren't headed toward the top anytime soon and the Oilers are.

"That's why I came here," the 6-2, 200-pounder said. "I wanted one real shot at the Super Bowl."

"With Detroit, I considered retiring in what I felt was the prime of my career because I wasn't having fun," he said. "It wasn't a question of money. I simply didn't feel they were doing all they could to build a winning team. They had chances to make changes—and didn't."

While Weger is delighted to be in the Oiler camp, stalwart defensive, end Elvin Bethea, who earned $90,000 last season, says he may play out his option and move to another team in 1977.

"Right now, we're so far apart nobody could get us together," Bethea said Thursday. "I'm offering my experience and my ability for what I consider a fair price."

Bethea, a five-time Pro Bowler, says he's gotten nowhere in talks with Oiler assistant General Manager Tom Williams.

"I've asked twice to go downstairs (to Oiler owner K.S. "Bud" Adams' office) but so far I've only been able to talk to Tom."

If Bethea doesn't sign a 1976 contract, he would become a free agent May 1, 1977.

Lesley Top Cage Coach

FORT WORTH (AP) — Bobby Lesley of El Paso Eastwood was a runaway choice for High School Basketball Coach of the Year in balloting by members of the Texas Sports Writers Association.

Lesley coached El Paso Eastwood to the State 4A championship. He gathered 627 points and 35 first place votes in the preferential balloting. His team finished with a 37-3 record.

Keith Thompson Odessa Ector, whose team won the 3A state championship, was runner-up with 463 points and eight first place votes. His team compiled a 25-10 record.

Royce Franklin, whose Tyler John Tyler team lost in the 4A state finals to El Paso Eastwood, finished third with 460 points and six first place votes. His team posted a 34-4 record, best in the school's history.

Gene Ridling, coach of the 2A state championship Mart team, followed with 409 points and six first place votes. His team won 34 straight games after losing its season opener.

Other nominees for Basketball Coach of the Year were Boyce Honea of Houston Milby, Jack Aldridge of Waxahachie, Bill Shaw of Richards, whose team won the state Class B title, Ted Willcock of Morton and Bill Gaston of Brookeland.

Mickey Lolich of the New York Mets broke into baseball in 1959. That season he pitched for Knoxville in the Sally League and Durham in the Carolina League for a combined 4-8 record.

Americans To Compete

MONTREAL (AP) — The clouds cleared from Montreal today and two facts stood out bright and clear. The Olympic Games will go on and the United States will compete in them.

The Americans abandoned their idea of possibly pulling out in sympathy with the Taiwanese. One of the first to hail the decision was C.M. Yang, coach of the Taiwan team.

"I would have felt terrible if the United States had pulled out, because it would be such a disappointment to all their athletes, and all because of us," Yang said.

The Taiwanese problem still was not finally solved. The International Olympic Committee (IOC) still had to persuade the Taiwanese to drop the name "Republic of China" in the opening parade, though the Canadian government has now backed down and said they can use their flag and anthem.

But the decision by the United States to go ahead and compete removed a fear that the Games might disintegrate.

Philip O. Krumm, of Kenosha, Wis., 69-year-old president of the U.S. Olympic Committee, who has been at the center of the Taiwan crisis all week, announced the decision to keep the team in the Games.

Krumm has been the peacemaker between the idealistic IOC, iron-willed Canadian Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau and the proud Taiwanese delegation. He backed the IOC to the hilt in its defense of the Olympic charter, but tried to persuade the Canadian government and the Taiwanese to give a little.

More than 40 Taiwanese have been held up in the United States, denied entry visas because they would not bow to the Canadian demand to drop their name, flag and anthem.

For two days Krumm thought his mission was heading for failure. Neither the government nor the Taiwanese would give an inch.

But Trudeau, after weeks of refusing to change his position, suddenly gave way Thursday and said the Taiwanese could use their flag and anthem.

Krumm had been holding a club over Trudeau, saying the U.S. team might pull out if the Taiwanese were not allowed to take their place in the Games.

It was a strong weapon. Nobody can picture an Olympic Games without the United States taking part. There were fears that if the Americans pulled out other countries would follow, and the Games, which Montreal has planned for six years at an estimated cost of $1.5 billion, could fall apart.

Four Teams Put Up Money

NEW YORK (AP) — Although merger talks "are not going as well as we'd hoped," four American Basketball Association teams have placed $1 million each in escrow accounts as a first step towards admission to the National Basketball Association.

"The merger talks are not going as well as we'd hoped but as well as expected," said Indiana Pacers executive Bill Eason, but he added, "We have met the NBA requirement for the $1 million. That is, it is in the bank."

He said he hoped for a final agreement within a few days.

The deposits Thursday were strictly paper transactions for the New York Nets, Denver Nuggets, San Antonio Spurs and Pacers.

A second payment of $2 million each is due Sept. 15.

There were unconfirmed reports that one of the ABA teams had experienced some problems in raising sufficient funds for the initial payment.

Finalizing of the merger agreement has been slowed because of problems with the settlement with owners of the ABA Kentucky and Utah teams, which were disbanded, and the final settlement of the NBA Players Association suit, which still must be signed by both sides.

NBA Deputy Commissioner Simon Gourdine said, "No date has been set for the dispersal draft of former ABA players and we are still waiting for formal signing of the merger agreement and settlement of all court actions that have been blocking the merger."

He indicated that he did not expect the dispersal draft to be held any earlier than July 26.

STAR SOFTBALLERS—Shown are Snyder's Miss Softball major league all-stars. The female softballers begin their area tournament tonight at 6 p.m. against Sweetwater in Towle Park. Pictured are, kneeling: Anne Beverlein, Shari Cotton, Suzanne Fisher, Sharon Halford, Connie Weber, Billie Owens, Kayla Weems and Pam Gray; standing: Kim Harlin, La Ronda Cain, Jill Kidd, Latricia Pevehouse, Josie Rios, Belinda Fuentez and Normia Garcia. Not shown is Sherry Stewart. Coaches are Dave Harlin, Naomi Harlin and Nada Cotton.

8 Under Par Is Not A Big Deal

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
AP Sports Writer

HARRISON, N.Y. (AP) — Carlton "Slugger" White and David Graham would figure to be breathing easy today after shooting eight-under-par 63s in Thursday's first round of the $300,000 Westchester Golf Classic.

No such luck for the 27-year-old White, a comparative unknown on the Professional Golfers Association tour, and Graham, a five-year veteran who hasn't won since 1972.

Instead of a three-or four-stroke margin, White and Graham went off in the second round with just a one stroke lead over Tom Watson and Mike Wynn, and only two strokes ahead of Mike Hill and Bruce Listzke.

The pros just ate up Westchester Country Club's 6,603 yard course. Of the 168 starters, 23 played in par and 55 lowered the 36-35—71 regulation figures. The scorers almost ran out of red numbers to indicate birdies. There were two at 66, one 67, seven 68s and sixteen 69s, in an incredible round of shooting.

The Westchester tournament is a PGA designated event, which means all the tour's stars have to play. So all but the ailing Lee Trevino are in the chase for the $60,000 first prize in the 72 hole test. The field has the appearance of a U.S. Open, although obviously they are not playing an Open course.

Three strokes off the pace in the second round were 44-year-old Gay Brewer, who shot a 34-32—66, that included nine birdies and four bogeys, and Fuzzy Zoeller, low qualifier in the 1974 PGA school, who finished a 34-32—66 with five birdies.

Hubert Green, who has won three tournaments this year and leads the money winners with $187,427, shot 33-34—77, carding four birdies and the rest pars.

Johnny Miller, who last week won the British Open, shot par 77, missing two putts inside three feet.

"I'm not tired, but there is a definite letdown," said Miller. "For a player, the hardest round to play is the first round you play after you win. This time zone is hard too, coming back from over there. My body is a little mixed up."

Arnold Palmer shot a two under 69, and said he felt he was playing much better. He was encouraged by his putting.

Jack Nicklaus was at par 71, and expressed the opinion that despite the 63s and 64s, the tournament was far from over. He said he was playing well, but in recent weeks has been unable to put his game together. He lamented about a lost stroke here and a lost stroke there.

Other tour leaders still in the chase were Ben Crenshaw and Al Geiberger at 69, Hale Irwin and J.C. Snead at 70, and Don January in at 71.

Five Players Cut By Bears

CHICAGO (AP) — Five players, including three linebackers, have been cut after tryouts with the Chicago Bears of the National Football League team.

Linebackers Jack LeVeck, Andre Jackson and Wayne Womack, place-kicker Tom Klaban and running back Jim Pooler were released Thursday, a spokesman said.

Miss Softball Playoff Opens

Weather permitting, the Miss Softball Area III tournament opens play in Towle Park tonight.

Snyder, Sweetwater and Rotan have entered the double elimination event.

Snyder's and Sweetwater's major league All-Stars clash in the first game at 6 p.m. The winner will go up against Rotan at 10 p.m.

Saturday, the first two games' losers play at 9 a.m. with the winner advancing to the finals against Friday night's second game victor.

Tournament To Resume

Rain may stop them again, but the Snyder Flames have rescheduled last week's tourney's finals for this weekend at Winston Park.

Snyder's Flames, Odessa's VFW and Midland's Chargers are the three survivers of the softball slugfest, held amid rain and wind.

The Snyder fems take on the Odessa crew at 2 p.m. tomorrow at Winston Park. The winner faces Midland for the championship.

To earn the championship trophy, a team must win two out of three games.

LET'S JUST PRAISE THE LORD.

Jury Reflects Fed Up Feeling

FORT WORTH (AP) — A Fort Worth jury that gave the maximum prison sentence to a man convicted of burglarizing a car in order to steal a Citizens Band radio reflects the "fed up" feeling of the community, a prosecutor says.

Jurors in criminal district court here Thursday assessed a 10-year prison sentence to Roy L. Choice, 34, who had been charged with burglary of a motor vehicle with intent to commit theft. The maximum sentence under the law is 10 years and a fine up to $6,000, but Choice was not fined.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Marvin Collins said, "I think this verdict is a reflection of two things. One, it's a reflection of the policy of this office to really get tough on CB thieves. And secondly, jurors are representative of the community and this verdict represents the attitude the community has come to regarding CB thieves. They are completely fed up with them."

Collins said a Fort Worth detective who worked on the case testified that as many as 30 CB thefts occur here daily.

Biggest GPO Store Opens

HOUSTON (AP) — The nation's largest Government Printing Office (GPO) bookstore has opened in a Houston shopping center.

Thomas F. McCormick, public printer of the United States, said Thursday the store, with room for 3,500 government publications, is the largest of the GPO's 24 bookstores scattered across the nation.

Other stores in the network, including five in the Washington, D.C. area, are in federal buildings. The only other bookstore in Texas is in Dallas.

The Houston facility, in College Center on the busy Gulf Freeway, has 5,000 square feet of floor space.

McCormick said the objective of making the store more accesible to the public could cause some older stores to be relocated.

"If the results of the Houston venture turn out well, it may influence whether we will relocate some existing bookstores and where new ones might be situated," he said.

Texas Exposure Law Is Upheld

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — A three-judge federal panel upholding Texas indecent exposure laws has prompted at least one nude dancers' club owner to cover up his employes, but the statewide effect of the decision is uncertain today.

Ted Robbins, owner of the Lubbock club whose dancers were involved in a suit challenging the law, said Thursday he still thinks his dancers have the right to dance totally nude but there will be no more bottomless or topless dancing at the club.

"I plan to go strictly by the law," Robbins said. "We are not going to try to appeal this ruling."

Robbins said he feels the opinion will set a precedent statewide. He said cities may cite the opinion to stop nude performances at places where no alcoholic beverages are sold.

In addition to calling the state's indecent exposure law constitutional, the judges also lifted an injunction which had allowed six dancers to continue their line of work without clothing or fear of arrest by police since the case was filed in November.

The opinion was filed late Wednesday by U.S. District Court Judges Halbert O. Woodward of Lubbock and Robert W. Porter of Dallas and 5th Circuit Judge Thomas Gibbs Gee of New Orleans.

The judges' opinion only dealt with contentions by just one of eight plaintiffs that the state's penal code dealing with indecent exposure is unconstitutional and that local police's arrest procedures "created a prior restraining and chilling effect" on the right of free expression.

Joyce Prisk is the only one of the plaintiffs who does not have legal proceedings still pending from incidents that prompted the suit against City Atty. Fred Senter, police chief J.T. Alley and Luke E. Robinson, then administrator of the Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission.

The other plaintiffs except Prisk may still claim the state's law is unconstitutional as a defense in their respective municipal proceedings, according to the judge's opinion. The judges could not rule on the other plaintiffs while their cases were pending in municipal courts.

But the decision has virtually ruled out their opportunity to challenge the law in federal court other than the U.S. Supreme Court.

The Texas statute is aimed primarily on "conduct," the opinion said, and only has incidental impact on "speech."

Alley was pleased by the opinion of the panel. "We always felt that the law was a good one. I'm glad that it was upheld by the panel," he said.

The police chief said his officers will make a concentrated effort to observe night clubs in other places in the city to see if the law is being violated.

Oriental Woman Is Governor

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — California had its first Oriental woman governor — for a day — while Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. and three other top officials were out of the state.

Secretary of State March Fong Eu took Brown's place Wednesday with the full powers of the office, signed an extradition order and a declaration making the week of July 19 Pet Pride Week.

Brown and the next three state officers in line of succession, Lt. Gov. Mervyn Dymally, Senate President Pro Tem James Mills and Assembly Speaker Leo McCarthy, were out of the state. All but Dymally, who was to return from Nevada Thursday, were at the Democratic National Convention in New York.

Four Killed In Collision

HARLINGEN, Tex. (AP) — Four motorists died and four suffered serious injuries as two cars collided Wednesday night on U.S. 77 in Harlingen. Officers said a vehicle driven by Jack Reinhardt, 32, of Markham apparently tried to make a turn around a median and a second automobile operated by Sammy Genovese 30, of Santa Rosa struck it broadside.

All four of those killed were among seven persons in the Reinhardt car. They Jackie Reinhardt, 30, the wife of the driver; Aubrey Ray Carroll of Three Rivers, and Jimmy Lee Wilkerson, 33, and Karen Loretta Williams, 29, both of Harlingen.

The injured were taken to Valley Baptist Hospital in Harlingen and all were said to be in serious condition. They are the two drivers, Marilyn Carroll,23, of Three Rivers and Robin Reinhardt Wilkerson, 29, of Harlingen.

When Gen. Eisenhower was inaugurated as President he wore a homburg instead of the traditional top hat. But President Kennedy re-instituted the top hat tradition for his inauguration, according to the American Formalwear Association.

New way to split double milk sugars

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB—I have been reading your recent columns on diarrhea caused by milk. I have this problem, too, and would appreciate having some information.

Is it possible for an individual to make a lactose-free product in the home, and if so, will you please send me the instructions or recipe? Will the same procedure work for regular homogenized milk, the lowfat milk and the reconstituted dry milk?

Does the soy bean milk contain lactose? If not, how does it compare in calories, fat and cholesterol with regular homogenized milk. My husband thinks boiling the milk may be the answer but he does not have any idea of how high the temperature should be brought to or for how long.

DEAR READER—I am happy to tell you and all my other readers who have gas, cramps and diarrhea from milk intolerance that there is now a way to have low lactose milk. The double sugar, lactose, can be split into single sugars so it can be absorbed rather than causing gas, diarrhea and cramps. You can get packets of the enzyme and information about the process from SugarLo Company, P.O. Box 1017, Atlantic City, N.J. 08404.

You can mix the powder into your milk and let it stand in the refrigerator for 24 hours and the enzyme will do what your normal enzyme system is supposed to do to digest milk. You can use the powder for regular milk, homogenized milk, skim milk, fortified skim milk or reconstituted milk using dry milk powder. You cannot use it for buttermilk because the different acid characteristic will inactivate the enzyme. Commercial buttermilk does contain a lot of lactose.

Soybean milk contains no lactose and no cholesterol. It does contain fat, from soybean oil, about the same amount found in whole milk. The triple sugars from beans found in the soybean milks, though, can cause gas and discomfort for some people if a considerable amount of the product is used.

Boiling milk will not convert the double sugar lactose into single sugars. You will need the effect of the enzyme. I am told SugarLo plans to make the process of converting milk to low lactose milk available to dairies so they can market milk and milk products that are low in lactose and ready for use.

DEAR DR. LAMB—I have read so much about ACTH but I have never read what ingredients are in ACTH. I'd like to know what it contains and if any vitamins could stimulate the adrenal cortex as it does?

DEAR READER—It is a hormone so it is a single ompound itself rather than being made of several ingredients. Since hormones are proteins it is formed by the complex union of amino acids. This is done in the small pituitary gland just under your brain.

The letters ACTH stand for adrenal cortex stimulating hormone. Its action is just that - to stimulate the cortex (the outer shell) of the adrenal glands that are located above each kidney (also called the suprarenal glands.).

There are no vitamins or other food substances that you can take that will stimulate the adrenal cortex in the same way.

For information on food poisoning send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope with 50 cents for The Health Letter number 6-2. Send your letter to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Be aware of your priorities. Look out for the family and those under your wing at work. You'll find more luck and appreciation in these quarters.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Some pesky stumbling blocks can be thrown in your path today. They could deter you unless you keep a positive attitude and overcome them.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Prospects for enhancing your well-being are excellent today, but only if you keep Johnny-come-latelys out of the action and your sympathy.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) A rather unusual day is in store. Goals you thought to be important won't be. Others you thought were insignificant will be of real value.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Without being sneaky, keep your motives to yourself today. People seeking your confidence actually want to feather their own nests.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Keep faith with one you're closely associated with. He has your best interest at heart. Another may try to lead you to believe otherwise.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Even though conditions around you may be in a turmoil today, your innate sense of fair play will keep things on an even keel.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) The intestinal fortitude you display in standing up for co-workers will be remembered if you're ever in the same boat.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Taking a flyer will appeal to you today, but don't expect all your long shots to pay off. However, a wisely-calculated risk might.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) There could be some dissension among the children today. Try to show them sympathy, but support your mate in a showdown.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Though others try to poohpooh your innovative ideas, stick to your guns. Are they jealous because they didn't think of them first?

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) This day should be a profitable one, but you must keep a close accounting. You could bargain overzealously.

The lofty goals you set for yourself are attainable this coming year. Your only problem could be impatience at moving more slowly than you desire.

Soviet Historian Begins His Exile

AMSTERDAM, The Netherlands (AP) — Soviet historian Andrei Amalrik began his exile in the West with a challenge to his homeland and a desire to return.

The dissident writer told an airport news conference that he had "very complicated feelings," including sadness about his exile.

He also said the West was showing "too much indulgence" towards the Soviet Union and called the policy of detente "a kind of cunning" which Soviet leaders use as "a sort of sleeping pill to keep things quiet."

HE SIGNED . . . AND COMMITTED HIMSELF

In the Bicentennial mood, I reexamined the Declaration of Independence. I could not avoid the impact of the signature of John Hancock. His name was four or five times as large as the script of the document itself. I asked myself why—personal temperament, style, pressure of the moment? None of these satisfied me as an answer.

I've signed letters at times, which contained decisions of significant importance. In almost every instance I found myself using a bolder stroke than I normally use. The document before Mr. Hancock represented commitment—"my life, my fortune, my sacred honor." Struggle and death were involved. This was no time for weakness or indecision. No wonder the term "my John Hancock" has become a household word.

This man did two things simultaneously: He signed and he committed himself. So should we with bold strokes, commit ourselves to God.

—Paul M. Stevens
