The Connecticut legislative railroad committee has agreed to report the bill providing for the examination of railroad employees for color blindness and defective vision, the examination to be conducted by a board of examiners for each road, composed of the president, master mechanic and a reputable physician.

It is not unlikely that New Mexico will before long demand admission into the Union as a state. The territory has of late increased very rapidly in American population, and the extension of the great railroad systems is opening up for industrious work large tracts hitherto inaccessible or very difficult to reach.

During the snow blockade in Milwaukee coal was $12 a ton, or $1 for two bucketsful, and wood was scarce at $9 a cord. The most singular circumstance, however, was the refusal of the coal dealers to sell more than a very limited amount to any one person. It was a good thing to husband the supply, and thus prevent unnecessary suffering, but such humanity has been rare since the days of Joseph and the Egyptians.

Senator Edmund's propensity to propose amendments is well known. The Waterbury American, alluding to it, says that not many months since a distinguished senator from New England, being a little annoyed by one of senator Edmund's proposed amendments, remarked to a brother senator that he would bet fifty dollars, if the truth could be known, that when senator Edmund's mother first taught him the Lord's Prayer he bowed up on her knees and offered an amendment to it.

Officers of the secret service bureau of the treasury department have arrested in New York City fourteen of a dangerous gang of counterfeiters. More arrests are to follow. Pantier Sullivan alias Scotty, Samuel Baker alias James T. Barker, Robert Kelly, Robert Smith and Wm. Burns, counterfeiters, have been arrested. Martin Leonard, Ann McCormick, Dick Fields, Wm. Saunders, Edward King, Charles J. Wilson, Edward Graham, David Angels and James Murphy were also arrested. The entire gang was engaged in the manufacture or circulation of all silver coins of the United States.

Beecher as an Evangelist.

New York, March 10.—Henry Ward Beecher's revival continues every day. This afternoon many requests were made for prayer. No converts are sought and no mourner's bench is used, but Mr. Beecher says he expects to make converts all the same. The meetings are largely attended and Mr. Beecher weeps copiously at the afternoon service. There are no other ministers to help him in his revival. Talmage is to begin one in his tabernacle next week, but he will conduct it on a wholly different plan, and will have some outside help. There is an awakening of interest in the other churches also.

NATIONAL CAPITAL NEWS.

The Senate Still Locked on the Question of Organization — Nominations, Etc., Etc.

Senate.

Washington, March 16.—The senate organization resolution was called up, whereupon Mr. Cameron, of Pennsylvania, moved to adjourn, but yielded to Mr. Vest to offer a resolution requesting the president to communicate to the senate correspondence and accompanying documents between the government of the United States and Mexico during the years 1859 to 1861, inclusive, in reference to proposed trade between said governments, and also correspondence during said years between the state department and the United States minister at Mexico in reference to any proposed convention or treaty between the two governments. Adopted.

Davis, of West Virginia, offered a resolution directing the committee on public buildings and grounds to take into consideration the condition of public buildings in Washington City, looking to the future needs of the government, and report at the next session of congress. Laid upon the table for action when the commissioners shall have been appointed.

The motion to adjourn was lost by yeas 28, nays 35, Mahone not voting, and was followed up with a motion to proceed to the consideration of executive business, which was also lost by yeas 32, nays 34, Mahone voting in the affirmative.

Another dilatory motion having been voted down, Mr. Cameron, of Pa., called attention to the fact that there were appointments on the table which should be acted upon immediately, and he therefore moved to go into executive session.

Groom suggested that nominations could not be acted upon for want of commissions.

Farley said there appeared to be a disposition on the other side to do no business whatever.

Mr. Dawes asked the senator from California to inform the country on whose motion the senate adjourned yesterday.

Farley replied that the record would show the fact that a dilatory motion had been made, and it had become evident that the republican side did not intend to do any business.

Mr. Salisbury thought the remark made by Dawes was unjust, and the senator knew it to be unjust upon the democrats in this chamber. He knew that the democrats had been attempting to organize the senate, so as to proceed to public business. He, Salisbury, referred to the action of the republicans in the last congress, who he said had interposed dilatory motions against consideration of nominations which had been sent in by a man who had been elected without right to the presidency.

Cameron, of Pennsylvania, asserted that the republicans desired to proceed to work as much as the democrats, and that therefore he had moved to proceed to executive business.

The motion was lost.

Beck said, as there was a republican president, backed by a republican house, it might be better for the democratic party that he also had a senate at his back, and had the credit of all that was good and the responsibility of all that was bad. Therefore he, Beck, was not attempting to hold on to the privileges, and he thought that the senate might as well adjourn, and made a motion to that effect, which was, at 1 o'clock, agreed to.

Garfield's Private Secretary.

Washington, March 16.—J. Stanley Brown has been appointed private secretary to the president. Brown is a young man about twenty-four years of age, and was formerly stenographer to Major Powell, of the Smithsonian institution, and went with Gen. Garfield in the same capacity while the latter was still in the house of representatives. He was at Mentor during the campaign, and has been acting as the president's secretary since the inauguration, although Col. Rogers has nominally held that position.

Nominations.

Washington, March 16.—Among the nominations sent to the senate to-day were the following: L. P. Horton, of Ohio, to be secretary of the commission on the part of the United States to attend the international monetary conference at Paris; postmaster Robt. A. Milner, at Newnan, Georgia; collector of Beaufort, North Carolina, Thomas F. Black; Thomas M. Broadwater, district of Vicksburg, Mississippi; surveyor of customs, Joseph L. Gaston, part of Chattanooga.

[Special Telegram to the News.]

Washington, March 15.—Texas republicans, here seeking office, are still in agony, as none of them have been appointed yet.

The senate will reorganize on Friday, and, by Mr. Mahone's vote, will be republican. This will leave out all democratic employes, and those living in Texas will likely start for home within the next week. The republicans will control the committees and organize the senate to suit themselves.

The democrats held a caucus to-day, but some senators refused to enter it, and declared themselves as disgusted with the unstable course of the party in determining a policy as heretofore, in caucus, and then backing out in the senate. The indications are that when the republicans show a majority the democratic senators will accept the situation; however, some are not disposed to yield without a contest.

Hon. Web. Flanagan dined to-day with senators Oakley and Platt, discussing Texas and her future.

There seems to be no disposition to remove the present federal officials in Texas. It is likely that many will hold on until their commissions expire, or until summer.

Col. A. P. Foster, special mail agent, leaves to-night for Texas.

FROM DALLAS

Examining Trial of R. C. Welch, Supposed to be One of the Bass Gang, for Stage Robbery.

Special Dispatch to the DAILY EXPRESS.

Dallas, March 16.—Deputy U. S. Marshal N. M. Norton arrived here recently with and lodged in jail R. C. Welch, whom he had arrested near Jefferson City, Mo., on the charge of being accessory to the robbing of the U. S. mail and placing in jeopardy the lives of the carriers at Hutchins, on the Texas Central, in March, 1878. The government officials are inclined to the belief that he was connected with the notorious Bass gang, or cognizant of the movements of the band. Welch was formerly a resident of this county and afterwards moved to Missouri, where he resided up to the time of his capture. His examining trial before U. S. Commissioner Burford began to-day, by consent of counsel. The witnesses on either side not being present, the examination of other witnesses was postponed until next Saturday, Maj. C. W. Helm represented the government and Col. D. A. Williams the defendant. It is rumored that other arrests for the same robbery will shortly follow. Ex-Sheriff Moore, of this county, was the only witness examined.

The hearing of the application of the Texas Express company for an injunction restraining the Texas & Pacific and International railroads from charging excessive rates for carrying express matter, was begun before United States district judge McCormick to-day and continued until to-morrow. A large number of railroad officials are interested in the case, which promises to be an interesting one.

The Late Capt Lewis, United States Navy—Sketch of His Career.

Correspondence Baltimore Sun.

Annapolis, Md., March 7.—Intelligence of the death of Captain Robert F. H. Lewis, of this city, which occurred at sea on February 28, was received here with regret. Captain Lewis was appointed to the navy from Missouri in October, 1841, as midshipman. He participated in the Mexican war, and was in the bombardment of Guaymas. He was at the capture of Monterey, and in the relief party that raised the siege of San Jose, Lower California, when beleaguered by Mexicans and Yokee Indians. Capt. Lewis was detached and ordered to the naval academy in 1855, and the next year was promoted to a passed midshipman. In 1858 he accepted service in the Collins line of steamships, and made several voyages. In 1859 he was ordered to the United States sloop Preble, at Annapolis, Maryland, and in 1860 he was promoted to master and afterwards to lieutenant. At the beginning of the late war he assisted in the blockade on Pensacola harbor, commanding a division of boats in the reinforcement of Fort Pickens in that harbor under the guns of the confederate Fort McRae. In 1861 he was ordered as executive officer of the steamer De Soto, of Farragut's fleet, of the West Gulf Blockading squadron, and in 1861 was promoted to lieutenant-commander. In 1862 Capt. Lewis captured two prizes while in command of the Itasca, on the Mississippi river, during an engagement with a battery at Velasco, on the coast of Texas. He commanded several other vessels of Charleston, S. C., and, serving in the ironclad Nahant, now lying at Annapolis, he took part in an engagement with the confederates on Sullivan's island. He was ordered to the naval academy in 1865 as senior instructor in seamanship, and served afterwards as officer in charge of the naval academy grounds. He was made a commander in 1869 and captain in 1876.

LATEST NEWS BY CABLE.

More Details Regarding the Assassination of the Czar—Startling Disclosures From a Nihilist Source—House of Commons—Irish News—Etc., Etc.

First Cotton.

London, March 16.—The Times, in its financial article to-day, notices the first arrival of a cargo of cotton at Garston, Lancashire, consisting of 1076 bales from New Orleans, per bark Proto. The importance of this arrival consists in the fact that Garston's port charges are nearly nominal, and the spinners will save upwards of ten shillings per ton as compared with the port charges at Liverpool.

Increase of Crime in Ireland.

London, March 16.—Justice Fitzgerald, in opening the Kerry assizes to-day, said that 403 crimes have been reported during the last seven months, which was seven-fold record during the same period in the previous year. There was, however, he said, some decrease in the record of crimes for the last week.

Privileges Granted to Exiles.

St. Petersburg, March 16.—A decree has been published granting to persons departed to Siberia, with loss of civil rights, permission to engage in commission or professional pursuits, after three years good behavior, the same privilege to be accorded to political exiles subject to the approval of the minister of the interior.

Statements of a Nihilist.

Paris, March 16.—The Intransigent publishes a letter addressed to M. Rutherfort by a Russian refugee in Geneva, stating that the nihilist committee had warned the czar on the 3rd inst., of the peril he would incur if freedom was not granted the people, and asserting that the bombs which were thrown on Sunday night were manufactured in St. Petersburg by women. The letter also states that no one by the name of Rousakoff figures on the list of their members.

New York, March 16.—A special from Paris says Rutherfort and Oliver Payne left for Geneva yesterday to obtain authentic details of the emperor's assassination from the nihilist correspondent man who signs an initial "D." Fresh communications from this mysterious person are published today in the Intransigent, which warns the public against attaching too much credit to the telegrams from St. Petersburg, and declares positively that the young man, Rousakoff, cannot have been the first bomb. The real criminals were, according to "D.," inside of one of the mansions bordering the Rue Millione. But Russian officials found it convenient to think the supposed shells were thrown by persons in the crowd. None of the assassins, adds "D.," have been arrested. The natural inference, drawn from this strange statement, is that the emperor was murdered by members of the Nihilist fraternity holding some official position. "D." further affirms that the bomb was not enclosed in glass, as stated, and only five seconds elapsed between the two explosions. If this is correct, it would seem to dispel the story of the czar's getting out of his carriage to attend the wounded Cossacks.

A High Tribute to the Late Czar.

London, March 15.—In the house of commons to-day, Mr. Gladstone, in moving the address to the queen, said the assassination of a great sovereign would, under ordinary circumstances, supply a fitting occasion for expressing the sentiment of the house, but the present occasion was exceptional. Mr. Gladstone dwelt on the noble forgetfulness with which the czar, after the first attack on him, lingered to see to the wounded. The crime showed the degree of ingratitude. There might be cases for criticism and censure in the great empire over which the czar ruled, but there was little room for the sole labors of his defeated life was to improve his inheritance for the benefit of his subjects. His reign would be regarded as illustrious and memorable, and he had caused one of the greatest benefits to mankind which had ever been peacefully accomplished when he liberated over 20,000,000 of serfs. He had established free local government and trial by jury.

The Eastern Question.

London, March 16.—A dispatch from Constantinople to the Reuter Telegraph Co. says it is stated in well informed circles that Turkey has declared, that in view of opposition of ambassadors to the line of frontier proposed by Turkey, the porte had altered the terms of its proposition and has offered to cede Crete, ceding on the other hand considerably less than the territory in Thessaly.

House of Commons.

London, March 16.—In the house of commons to-day, Gladstone, in committee of supply, moved a vote of five hundred thousand pounds for Afghan war expenses. Gladstone explained that the government would not involve any question of the Afghan policy.

Sir Stafford Northcote assented to the vote of money, but asked for reserving the right to discuss the principle involved at a latter stage of the proceedings.

The vote of five hundred thousand pounds was then carried, without discussion; as was also a vote on account of two months' supplies for civil service to be included in the next year's budget.

Confesses His Complicity.

St. Petersburg, March 15.—A special supplement of the Official Gazette contains a statement from the minister of the interior that one of the chief organizers of the attack on the czar, who was arrested on March 11th, confessed his complicity in planning the deed, and denounced Rousakoff in person. Rousakoff, on being shown the corpse of the individual who evidently threw the second bomb, and who was mortally wounded, recognized his accomplice. The house from which Rousakoff obtained his bombs has been discovered. As soon as the police appeared the male occupant of the house shot himself, but a woman living with him was arrested. The police found there a number of grenades. This morning a young man entered the house and was immediately arrested, but not until he had fired a revolver six times, wounding three policemen.

The New Emperor of Russia.

London, March 15.—The Paris correspondent of the Times says the new Emperor of Russia is almost entirely ignorant of the affairs of state. He will probably speedily set aside his father's advisers for Privy Councilor Pobedonosseff, who, it is said, will bring with him a line of narrowness such as would not allay internal or foreign disquietude. As to the domestic policy, neither the czar's personal capacity nor his friends and advisers, nor the circumstances of his accession, point to the inauguration of a more conciliatory or liberal course. All indications are that he will adopt repression.

Letter of Condolence.

Rome, March 16.—The Pope has sent an autograph letter of condolence to the czar.

Friendly Feeling Unchanged.

London, March 16.—A Berlin dispatch says the czar has sent a special letter to Emperor William, assuring him that Russia's friendly feeling toward Germany is unchanged.

Ottoman of All the Cossacks.

St. Petersburg, March 16.—The new czar, Nicholas, has been appointed Ottoman of all the Cossacks.

Change for the Better in Ireland.

London, March 16.—A Dublin Times' correspondent says: As evidence of the change which has come over the minds of the people in the west of Ireland since the repressive action of the government, when the relief party of landlords arrived at Carrickmore to work for Canon Fleming, protestant rector, the laborers who had previously refused to work asked to be reinstated.

Skobeloff Recalled—Turcomans Submitted.

St. Petersburg, March 16.—Gen. Kaufman, who arrived here on Monday, with Gen. Skobeloff's report, says that in consequence of the assassination of the czar, Gen. Scobeloff will be summoned to St. Petersburg.

Intelligence is published here that the Tekke Turcomans, without exception, have submitted to Russia.

Another Dynamite Mine.

St. Petersburg, March 16.—The authorities were informed that a mine had been layed in the small street which enters the new slay prospect, nearly opposite Anitchoff, the palace residence of the new emperor. A detachment of Sappers accordingly began exploration from the small shop at which they appeared. Three days ago the street was barricaded at both ends to prevent the public from approaching. The Sappers, on opening up the ground and searching the cellar, discovered a mine in the above mentioned shop. The mouth of the mine was in the shoop-keeper's dwelling room, concealed under an ottoman. The mine passes under the street leading to the riding school.

Eight more arrests have been made and a quantity of explosives have been discovered.

The Agence Russe says the grief felt for the emperor of the Russian nation is inconsolable. If their required proofs of immorality of their loss, it would be forthcoming in the evidence of condolence which pour in from sovereign governments and national republics of the whole world.

The public will be admitted to view the body without distinction of class.

Senator From Maine.

Augusta, Me., March 16.—At noon both branches of the legislature went into joint convention and declared Wm. P. Frye elected United States senator.

Constitutional Amendments Adopted.

Indianapolis, Indiana, March 16.—The vote on the constitutional amendments yesterday, was very light. Enough returns have been received to insure the adoption of all amendments by over a two-thirds vote.

FROM AUSTIN.

Titles of Various and Sundry Bills Passed by the Senate and House Yesterday.

Adjutant General Jones Seriously Ill—District Court.

Special Dispatch to the DAILY EXPRESS.

Senate.

Austin, March 16.—The bill amending the charter of the city of Galveston passed.

The bill validating certain notorial acts passed.

The joint resolution to increase the terms of state officers was taken up and lost, it not receiving the necessary two-thirds vote.

House bill for advertising tax sales three weeks in a weekly paper and allowing twenty-five cents as the fee for each insertion passed.

The bill creating the county of John Upton was taken up and discussed at some length. It was laid on the table.

The bill authorizing towns and villages to incorporate themselves for free school purposes passed.

The bill changing the time of holding district courts in Gonzales county passed.

Buchanan introduced a bill amending sections of the code relating to inspection of railroads.

The bill reducing the civil jurisdiction of the county courts in Bosque, DeWitt and San Patricio counties passed.

The bill validating sales of county real estate in Coleman county passed.

Terrell introduced a bill to provide means by which counties may build or buy bridges.

The deficiency bill was received from the house and two hundred copies ordered printed.

The report of the committee on conference on the general revenue bill has reduced the general revenue about $220,000; the ad valorem tax to forty cents, occupation taxes was scaled in many particulars, and the poll tax left at one dollar.

House.

Stewart introduced a bill to empower railroad companies to consolidate their stock.

The finance bill, as passed by the senate, was considered in the house.

The finance committee are reducing salaries and allowances in almost every department.

The bill providing that counties where a change of venue comes shall pay the costs passed.

The bill for relief of W. M. Harrison and L. A. Ellis passed.

The bill which fixes penalties for gambling was reported adversely and the report adopted.

The new tax bill exempts nursery-men from the drummer's tax, and makes the tax a personal one. Each person engaged will have to pay a tax of fifty dollars.

District Court, Etc.

In the district court to-day the case against H. O. Rogers, which has been on trial two days, was dismissed. The indictment proved defective. He is still held on other charges connected with land matters.

Adjutant-General Jones is seriously ill.

FROM GALVESTON.

New City Officers—The Mayor and a Minority of the Board Produce a Sensation.

Fisher's Action Severely Criticised—Court of Appeals, Etc.

Special Dispatch to the DAILY EXPRESS.

Galveston, March 16.—Sharp at 4 p. m., the city council met. Mayor elect Fisher and six newly elected aldermen were sworn in.

Fisher, on assuming the chair, read a brief address defining his policy, but stating that he would on some future occasion.

Appointments of committees being in order, alderman Crawford moved that the council proceed to the election of the same.

The mayor opposed this, claiming he had the right to appoint Committees.

The question was submitted to the council.

Alderman Crawford was sustained by a vote of seven to five.

Alderman Barry rose to a point of order, claiming that seven did not constitute a quorum, and was sustained by the mayor.

A majority declared the point of order not sustained by the rules governing the council which states a plurality of votes shall prevail.

Mayor Fisher hereupon declared the council adjourned, abruptly leaving the council chamber followed by Aldermen Barry, Wagner, Levy, Heffron, and Jacques.

Aldermen Crawford, Cotton, Marlow, Mensing, Pearce, Richard and Sweeney organized by electing Aldermen Marlow presiding officer, and adjourned for fifteen minutes for return of absent members.

At the expiration of the time, the mayor and absent aldermen not appearing, they adjourned until 7 to-night, and the clerk was requested to notify the mayor and aldermen that the council would meet at 7 o'clock sharp.

The council met at the hour named.

The presiding officer asked the clerk if the mayor and delinquent aldermen had been notified.

Being answered in the affirmative, he stated that the nomination and election of the various standing committees for the ensuing year was in order.

These being elected, the council composed of a plurality, adjourned action.

Mayor Fisher and the minority of the board have produced a sensation, and he is sharply criticised.

The proceedings of the majority of the board is sustained by the city attorney.

Speculation is rife as to the result of the split.

Mayor Fisher was serenaded to-night.

The court of appeals decided the following cases from West Texas: John Eckford & Co. vs. B. Langley, Bexar, affirmed; E. A. Braley vs. James W. Bailey, Gonzales, reversed and remanded, opinion by Hurt, J.; Isiah Walter vs. the state, Gonzales, affirmed, opinion by Hurt, J. This is an appeal from the judgment convicting appellant of murder in the first degree and assessing the death penalty. The court will hear no more oral arguments at this term, and will adjourn on the 30th inst.

George W. Wilson, for attempting to rape little Katie Green, was fined $15 and costs by the recorder this morning for disorderly conduct.

It has been decided to have the saengerfest on the 21st and 22nd of May.

Motion for New Trial Denied.

New Orleans, March 16.—In the criminal court to-day Judge Roman overruled the motion for a new trial in the case of the DeRiance brothers, convicted of manslaughter and strongly recommended to the mercy of the court, for killing Edwin C. Mix, Jr., on the 20th of last August. The court then, addressing the prisoners at the bar, said: In consideration of the verdict of the jury, and in consideration likewise of the strong recommendation for mercy made to the court by said jury, the court sentences each of you to a fine of $5 and imprisonment in the state penitentiary for a term of five years. An appeal to the supreme court, returnable in ten days, was taken by the counsel for defense.

Tennessee's Debt.

Nashville, Tenn., March 16.—The low tax democrats, in caucus this morning, resolved to oppose the passage of the bill to settle the debt on the basis submitted by bondholders.

Hanged by a Mob.

St. Louis, March 16.—A special dispatch from Kansas City says the Gordon desperado, who killed the city marshal of Socorro, N. M., a few days since, but escaped and fled to Albuquerque, was arrested there on Friday last and taken back to Socorro, where he was hanged to a water tank by a mob of between 500 and 700 men.

Divorce Suit With Sensational Features.

McLeansboro, Ill., March 9.—The case of Jacob H. Ribblet against Fannie J. Ribblet for divorce and custody of child was called for trial in the circuit court yesterday evening and occupied the attention of the court until about 3 o'clock to-day. From the position of the parties the case excited unusual interest. Ribblet graduated at West Point in 1872, and held a position in the regular army at Fort Dodge for about one year, when he resigned. Mrs. Ribblet is a young woman, of a prepossessing appearance and possessed of a high degree of intelligence. She is connected with some of the most respectable families of Swanectown and is a daughter of John T. Jones, deceased, a wealthy real estate owner, who was formerly a resident of that place. She was worth in her own right over $40,000 when she married, and now has nothing. The bill charges adultery. She filed a cross bill charging adultery and cruelty.

The only witness examined to support the bill was Ribblet, who testified that she had confessed her guilt to him several times. Mrs. Ribblet then testified. For more than three hours she denied all guilt and confessions of guilt. She was accompanied by a large retinue of witnesses from her home, many of whom are the most respectable citizens of Shanectown, and they all testified that her reputation was above reproach.

The court held that there were no grounds for the bill, but that the cross-bill was fully sustained, decreeing the divorce on the cross-bill and giving her the custody of the child. A low murmur of applause that could hardly be suppressed pervaded the court-room.

School Book War.

Sedalia, Mo., March 9.—The school book war between the publishing houses of D. Appleton & Co. and Bragg, Van Antwerp & Co., is at fever heat here. Some days ago the school board ordered that Appletons' books be replaced by the McGuffey series. This was done, but the former's agents got out an injunction and the case was decided before Judge Strother at Marshall to-day in favor of the Appletons. This will necessitate another change in books, as the McGuffey books are now in use. This afternoon, before the injunction case had been decided, Jos. Kingsley, agent for the Appletons, visited Washington school and succeeded in exchanging his books for McGuffey's in one room. Before he could visit the other rooms a deputy sheriff appeared and stopped further proceedings. The end is not yet.

ST. PATRICK'S day in the morning.

THE election of the board of directors of the A. & M. college has been postponed to the 25th inst.

DALLAS is excited over another religious fanatic. We are pained to observe that no one save fanatics seem much affected with religion about Dallas.

A PROPOSITION has been prepared by a commission and will be submitted to the next congress to fund the debt of Mexico in three per cent. bonds.

POSTMASTER GENERAL JAMES has startled the republican household already by objecting to the appointment of his son-in-law to office, simply because he is his son-in-law.

A GRAVE question as to who was drunkest at the last meeting of the Texas Press association, is now being discussed. Is it possible that a Texas editor can be induced to imbibe to excess?

THE legislature should pass a law defining more thoroughly the duties of peace officers. It seems to be the duty of no one to arrest highway robbers as long as the said robbers don't molest the officers.

MEMBERS of the legislature continue to introduce bills just as though there was danger of running out of work before the day of adjournment. The greatest danger the people have to fear from now on is the "omnibus."

THE relief committee of Kansas is still at work, and says there are sixty thousand more negroes in that state, who emigrated from the south, than can find employment and does not, therefore, want any more to come.

THE coinage executed at the United States mints during February included 40 double eagles, 406,460 eagles, and 629,680 half eagles, the total value of which was $7,214,000. Silver dollars were coined to the number of 2,307,000.

THE Waco Telephone has already presented the name of Judge Fleming as a candidate for congress when the new apportionment takes place. The north Texas papers will have their hands full filling the congressional offices after they are multiplied.

IF Kate Claxton had, during the death and closing scene of Fron-Fron, the other night, survived long enough to make cold corpses out of the orchestra with a shotgun, she could have found a jury in San Antonio to acquit her before breakfast next morning.

THE Brenham Banner says: "The editor of the Houston Post, himself a school teacher and a former resident of Galveston, says that that city has lost hundreds of valuable citizens from the lack of public school advantages. The public schools have built Brenham up, and the stoppage of them would cause a regular exodus of good families from our midst.

WE are in favor of arming the members of the legislature and starting them out in search of the long man and the short man. Even north and east Texas should be willing to accord this much to the southwest, as the people of those sections would at least rest easy while the hunt was going on. The members could make speeches around the camp fires at night, and serve the state about as well as if in Austin.

THE Chicago tenantry are in trouble over a rapid appreciation of rents, and the matter is becoming serious to them. They find themselves confronted with the double dilemma of very much higher prices for their present location and the impossibility of doing better by moving, while many who have thrown up leases because of the rapacity of landlords, find themselves unable to secure any new quarters whatever.

A BOMB or two accidentally falling in the midst of the crowd proposing to hold a meeting in New York last night, to rejoice over an assassination, would not be entirely devoid of good results, if it succeeded in laying out a few of those New York communistic idiots. We would not like to see a bomb thrown with murderous intent, but we could bear up under an accident of the kind suggested with a remarkable degree of fortitude.

IT is said that all the roads leading south from the Ohio river are blocked with corn, wheat, pork, hay and other articles, destined for southern consumption, all of which should have been produced in the south itself. The very fact of the blockade is a sad commentary upon the agricultural enterprise of the south. The railroads cannot supply us with articles that our own soil would gladly produce if it was tickled with the plow and the hoe.

THE attempts made to introduce into western Australia the cultivation of the mulberry tree, with a view to the production of silk, are stated to promise success, several persons, as well as the government, having prepared land, and commenced work in earnest. Samples of cocoons from the colony have been pronounced to be of first-class quality; and there is thought to be little doubt that, as regards soil and climate, few places are so well adapted for the establishment of this industry.

THE U. S. government and state refusing or failing to protect the people of El Paso county by subduing insurrection and preventing invasion in 1877, the people were compelled to arm themselves and devote their time to that purpose, which they did by authority of the government; and in remuneration they asked for the modest sum of $2,000 for doing what the state should have done. This was refused, one reason given being that some of the items were considered exorbitant. When the tax collector comes around some of the people of El Paso county may consider some of his items exorbitant.

A DALLAS dispatch to the Galveston News says: "Mrs. Tabitha McKinney, an aged and infirm widow, is working her way on charity to Austin to claim the escheated estate of her father, Christopher Wells, said to be valued at $1,000,000. She hails from Winchester, Va. Her story is not believed here, but the old lady is evidently firmly convinced that the estate has been advertised by the state. A purse was raised, to pay her traveling expenses to Ennis where she expects to get on the track of some of her husband's relatives. She is decrepit. She is 74 years of age, but still has a strong mind. She has documents proving up her birth and marriage."

THE NEEDS OF SAN ANTONIO.

If anybody is under the impression that San Antonio is not growing, and growing rapidly, let the doubter look, not only at the improvements going on in the business portions of the city, but also take a ride into the suburbs, in any direction, and such an impression will be at once removed. Business is unusually good in nearly every department of trade, money is plenty, strangers are pouring into our city in crowds daily, and everything looks very encouraging for a grand stride towards metropolitan greatness. But it remains in the hands of our own people whether our present prosperity is to be fostered and increased, or whether our progress is to be hampered notwithstanding the favorable circumstances now surrounding us. We look to the outside world to increase our population, business and wealth. We must, therefore, do all in our power to attract outsiders here, and to retain them or their trade after they come. We must cease thinking and acting from an over-grown village stand-point. We must form our calculations upon a city basis; must have streets and sidewalks on which a city's business can be done, instead of lanes and cow paths. We must see that our city is made healthful and attractive. We must improve our educational facilities. Our school term must be lengthened and greater facilities provided, not only to meet the needs of our present population, but to induce other people to come here. First-class schools are one of the greatest attractions a city can possess; deprive any city of them and you destroy it. Our city council must try to realize that they are representing a live, progressive young city, and not a sleeping country town, and the people must come promptly to the support of the council with their means and influence. Rough and unpaved streets and broken and uneven sidewalks do not present the appearance of thrift or prosperity, and are more calculated to turn people away than to encourage them to cast their lot with us.

The greatest need of the city now is a large and first-class hotel; one with all the modern improvements and kept in a style that will recommend it to the traveling public. Our present hotels are entirely too small, and are incapable of being made what the public demands. We want a hotel that will attract and satisfy the great class of wealthy people from the north who seek pleasant resorts for the winter. A grand source of wealth to San Antonio is to be found in turning this class of people here, and that it can be so turned by providing means for their accommodation, there is not a shadow of doubt. Many representatives of that class have already visited us and without exception they have declared that with proper hotel accommodations they would return, and would also induce their friends to come. It is estimated that 14,000 northern people, most of them of the wealthier class, visit Jacksonville, Florida, each winter, and it is confidently believed that as large, if not a larger number, can be brought to this city every winter, for the eyes of pleasure and health seekers are longingly turned in this direction. Just imagine the effect of an addition of even 5,000 wealthy people to our population for several months during the year, with nothing to do but spend money with us! Every branch of business would be benefited directly and to a very great extent. Placing their expenses even as low as three dollars per day each—about the cost of their board—and that number would add fifteen thousand dollars every day to our circulating medium; all of which would come from abroad and be expended mainly for what we produce ourselves. Those who have studied the migrations of the people of the north during the winter months, and made themselves acquainted with the climate and attractions of San Antonio as a winter resort, are satisfied that the building of one $200,000 or $250,000 hotel here would be followed in less than five years by the erection of three or four more large and elegant hotels, and that they would be needed for the accommodation of our visitors. The erecting, then, of a large and first-class hotel building is of the greatest importance and promises the greatest returns, and our leading business men and property owners should unite in an effort to secure it. If they cannot build it themselves, they can, by unity of action, do a great deal towards inducing capitalists to embark in the enterprise. Every day's delay made in this respect is a large sum of money out of the pockets of the people of this city.

THE STATE CAPITOL LANDS.

Another bill has been introduced in the senate in relation to the price at which the state capitol lands shall be sold, this time fixing the minimum price per acre at fifty cents. If there is not sufficient honesty in the party in power to provide a means of selling these lands at a fair valuation and protecting the interests of the state in it, it should go into bankruptcy and retire from business. If we cannot place the disposal of these lands into the hands of honest men who will attend to the business like honest business men, and sell the lands at a fair valuation, we deserve to be swindled. Some of these lands are worth more than fifty cents per acre and many of them are worth much less; and to attempt to force the payment of more than we know the poor lands are worth, is simply to force them from the market. An attempt to sell these capitol lands has already failed because the would-be purchasers selected the good lands only, not being willing to take any of the poor lands at the valuation placed upon them: and any man possessing common business sense must know that if good and poor lands are sold together, if we insist upon an exorbitant price for the poor, we must take less than the good lands are worth. Let the legislature simply provide that honest men, with a knowledge of the duties to be performed, shall sell these lands at a just valuation or not at all, and rely on those in charge to fix the prices. To say that none of these lands shall be sold for less than fifty cents per acre is simply to say that they shall not be sold for years to come, or that we must sell other valuable lands for much less than they are worth to get rid of the poorer lands to the same purchasers.

MEXICAN CABLE TELEGRAPH RATES.

The Mexican Commercial Telegraph Co., advertises its tariff rate by the cable just laid to Vera Cruz. The rate from the City of Mexico to Brownsville, Texas, is $4.41 for ten words, and 58 cents for each word in excess; to all other points in Texas and Louisiana, $5.41 for ten words, and 52 cents per word in excess; to all other parts of the United States, $6.01 for ten words and 57 cents for each word in excess. The rates for Great Britain and the continent range from $1.24 to $1.50 per word. These rates almost place an embargo upon the business of sending dispatches over this line, and we expect to hear of the cable being a financial failure. The people cannot patronize a line that make such exorbitant charges, and the cable company will ascertain the fact at a great loss to themselves.

GENERAL EDUCATION.

The increase of education produces a higher civilization, and a higher civilization enlarges the industrial necessities of man. The educated few will find no demand for their superior intelligence and skill in a market of the ignorant masses, nor can ignorance and barbarism supply the wants of civilized life. As well might we expect a skillful architect to find remunerative employment among the Comanches in rearing wigwams, as to find them able to supply him in return with carpets and furniture and books.

Hence the need of general education. To make it general, the state, for its own safety and prosperity, must provide for it, since there is no power within its domain that has the means or the authority to do it. When the art and cultivation of one can find a ready exchange for the commodities of another, the sphere of man's activities will be constantly enlarging to form a social state where idleness and crime will be almost unknown, and peace, comfort and prosperity reign supreme—where knowledge and skill will shorten labor and give leisure for the adornment of home and the refinement of life.

A POINTED PROTEST.

The board of trade of Dallas and citizens adopted the following at a meeting held Monday last:

Whereas, the city and county of Dallas are profoundly interested in the advance and maintenance of the railway lines now building and in process of building in Dallas county and throughout north Texas; and whereas, it is desirable to invite capital to Texas, to induce its investment among our people; therefore be it

Resolved, by the board of trade and the citizens of the city of Dallas, that it is the opinion of said board and the citizens at large that the railway legislation contemplated by the bill now pending before the house of representatives for the appointment of commissioners to control the railways of the state, is, at present, injudicious, ill-timed and impolitic, and is calculated to imperil the material interest and prosperity of the state.

Resolved, that our legislators be requested to vote against the same.

A TRIP TO MEXICO.

The Plaza de Mayor, The Alameda and Paseos—Where and How the People Take Their Evening Recreation.

One of the most beautiful, and also one of the most interesting, spots in the city of Mexico, is the Plaza de Mayor, or main plaza of the city. Immense volumes could be written of the buildings and grounds within almost a stone's throw of the centre of this park, for on one side is the vast and magnificent cathedral of Mexico, and on the other the National palace, and on this ground have stood Aztec temples and many other edifices of historical interest and renown. Beneath the foundations of the cathedral are said to be buried many relics of the ancient Aztec temples, and the Aztec calender, well known to historical readers, is cemented in the walls of the cathedral itself. This stone is of black basalt, eleven feet in diameter and weighs twenty-five tons. It is supposed to date back to 1279. It is divided into 365 days, with an intercalation of thirteen days for each cycle of fifty-two years. A book could be written in description of this cathedral. A cathedral was erected on this spot in 1530, but proving too small it was demolished, and the body of the present edifice was commenced in 1573 being finished in 1661, at a cost of $1,762,000, the money being furnished by the king of Spain. The towers were begun in 1791 and cost $194,000 additional. An idea of its extent may be found in the following statement of its dimensions: Length, 426 feet; width, 206 feet; height of roof, 175 feet; height of towers, 200 feet; height of statues from the ground, 126 feet. The front is very elaborately carved, and is ornamented also with many statues of Christ, the apostles, saints, etc. The interior decorations are on the most magnificent scale, silver and gold entering largely into the decorations, and in addition to a most elaborate display of statuary and life-sized paintings of Christ, the Virgin Mary, and numerous saints, nearly all the notable events in the life of Christ, and other biblical history, are presented on canvass, the cathedral being a wonderful gallery of art as well as a house of worship. There are five naves, fourteen chapels, and six altars. The jewels of the cathedral are marvelous in their richness, many of the pieces being embellished with almost countless diamonds, rubies and other precious stones, and cost more than a king's ransom. A pix, or little box in which the consecrated host is kept, is described as weighing 104 ounces of gold, covered with 1676 diamonds. The principal censor is said to measure a yard in height, with 5872 diamonds on one side and 2,653 emeralds, 106 amethysts, 44 rubies, and 8 sapphires on the other, and weighing 704 ounces, or nearly $12,000, in gold. It may not be necessary to state that the visitor casually dropping in though curiosity, does not get to handle these gems; few get a sight of them, and I have only hearsay evidence of their present existence. The probability is that the church needs means, now, more than such costly jewels. There are no seats for worshippers, who kneel or sit on the stone floor. At all hours when the cathedral is open, and that is nearly all day, throngs of people can be found there kneeling before some favorite saint, praying for a favor either in the way of forgiveness for some sin or to have some particular desire gratified. The cathedral is on the north side of the plaza, while on the east side, extending the full length, is the National palace. It is a huge pile, but presents no remarkable, and I might say no particularly attractive, feature of architecture. It is devoted to the use of the president, cabinet and other government officials. The other sides of the plaza are devoted to business pursuits. With the exception of a wide avenue on each side, the plaza is highly ornamented with trees, fountains, statuary, rustic iron seats, threaded with innumerable serpentine walks, handsomely paved and bordered with grasses and flowers. In the center is an imposing pagoda, used by the government band, an excellent musical organization which performs each evening from 7 till 11 o'clock and on Sundays from 10 till 2. Thousands of people of all classes visit this park daily, and especially in the evening is the crowd dense, moving round and round or reclining on the seats, listening to the music, or gossipping with friends and neighbors, quiet and good order always prevailing. Some come early and go early, but others take their places, and the crowd is large until the band ceases to play. The place is also a great resort during all parts of the day. On one side is a handsome pagoda devoted to the use of the flower-sellers, and it is a very attractive feature, the displays being fairly gorgeous in their beauty. An artistically constructed and handsomely arranged bouquet of flowers containing perhaps half a hundred varieties, and large as a peck measure, costs about 25 cents. This delightful park and flower stand are the gifts of Maximilian. He found the plaza a barren spot, simply paved, and transformed it into a little Eden.

While I was in Mexico, Mr. somebody's "Great American Circus" tent was pitched in one corner of this plaza, and adjoining the cathedral, whose doors and walls, which are freely devoted to bill posting purposes, bore flaming circus posters. The enterprising proprietor of this circus had special bills printed and distributed freely among the people, announcing that "for the especial benefit of ladies and children, three performances will be given on each Sunday, the first to begin immediately after the conclusion of the 10-o'clock mass."

The next favorite resort for pedestrians is the Alameda, distant about eight blocks. The street leading from the main plaza to the Alameda is the "Broadway" of the city. The stores are small, but the goods are rich and elegant, and handsomely displayed. The displays of costly jewelry and fine European goods of different descriptions cannot fail to attract the attention of Americans. The principal hotels and restaurants of the city are also to be found on or near this street, and it is the busiest of all the busy thoroughfares of Mexico, if we except the market streets during market hours. The origin of the Alameda dates back to about 1592. It measures 700 by 1350 feet, and is thickly planted with large trees. It contains seven fountains, thirty avenues and thirty-four garden plots. It has lost some of its popularity of late years, the main plaza being the great favorite, and has somewhat the appearance of neglect, but it is a delightful resort nevertheless, and the government has just instituted some further improvements.

A short distance west of the Alameda and reached by a broad avenue, stands an imposing equestrian statue of Carlos IV., the work of a native Indian artist, and from this verges several boulevards, or paseos, the most notable now being La Reforma, or Reform road. It is a broad thoroughfare, well watered and kept in good repair, its borders being lined with trees and walks and ornamented seats for pedestrians. The handsomest ornament upon it, however, is the statue of Columbus and his advisers, an imposing and costly work of art standing in the centre of the paseo and about midway between the city and the castle of Chepultepec, to which the road leads in a perfectly straight line, and which forms a most charming background to the perspective view of the thoroughfare. It is here fashion resorts when fashion takes a drive, and that is, to a large extent, every afternoon from about five o'clock till dark. The scenes here each evening are of the liveliest and most interesting description, for from two hundred to even as high as a thousand vehicles and equestrians can be seen; a moving mass of handsomely dressed people, riding, many of them, in the gayest of turnouts, or on the most gaudily caparisoned steeds. Here we find the dashing caballero in all his glory—decked from sombrero to heel in jingling silver, and with saddle and bridle ornaments richly wrought with gold and silver. A richly ornamented revolver buckled to the waist, and a sword, with hilt and scabbard also ornamented with silver and gold, depending from the saddle seem necessary to complete the dazzling attire. Mounted sentinels are posted at intervals along the paseo to assist in guarding against accident or infringement of the rules concerning riding and driving, which are very strict, and trouble or disorder of any kind seldom occurs. When the drive is at an end the stream pours into the city, the majority going down the street mentioned as running from the Alameda to the main plaza, and at this time the scene on that thoroughfare is unusually exciting, and the strong force of police are kept in a lively state of activity to protect the pedestrians. A view of this paseo when at its gayest is almost worth a trip to Mexico. There are several other of these paseos leading from the city, but La Reforma is the great favorite. It also was the work of Maximilian.

It is on these plazas and on these avenues the Mexican population take their usual recreation, the people of all classes seeming to take greatest delight in evening walks and driving especially.

A young lady in Wabash, Ind., tried to bleach her hair with some stuff, and the poison in it killed her. A few hours after she died her hair and face turned perfectly green.

THE GENUINE

are not recommended as a remedy "for all the ills that flesh is heir to," but in affections of the Liver, and in all Bilious Complaints, Dyspepsia, and Sick Headache, or diseases of that character, they stand without a rival.

ACUE AND FEVER.

No better cathartic can be used preparatory to, or after taking quinine.

As a simple purgative they are unequaled.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

The genuine are never sugar-coated. Each box has a red-wax seal on the lid with the impression, McLANE'S LIVER PILL. Each wrapper bears the signatures of C. McLANE and FLEMING BROS.

Insist upon having the genuine DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, prepared by FLEMING BROS., Pittsburgh, Pa., the market being full of imitations of the name McLane, spelled differently but same pronunciation.

MALARIA!

Holman's Pad.

CURES WITHOUT MEDICINE. SIMPLY BY Absorption

TRADE MARK.

THE only true MALARIAL Antidote.

DR HOLMAN'S PAD is no-guess work remedy—no female imitative experiment—no purloined hodge-podge of some other inventor's ideas; it is the original and only genuine curative Pad, the only remedy that has an honestly-acquired right to use the title-word, "Pad," in connection with a treatment for chronic diseases of the stomach, liver and spleen.

By a recently perfected improvement Dr. Holman has greatly increased the scope of the Pad's usefulness and appreciably augmented its active curative power.

This great improvement gives Holman's Pad (with its adjuvants) complete and unfailing control over the most persistent and unyielding forms of Chronic Disease of the Stomach and Liver, as well as Malarial Blood-poisoning.

Holman's Pads have cured—and are daily curing—diseases of so many kinds, that the list is well-nigh interminable. It includes Malarial Poison of every type, from aching bones and low fevers to chills and dumb ague; Stomach Diseases, such as dyspepsia, indigestion, sour stomach, chronic diarrhoea, flatulency, heartburn, etc.; etc.; Liver Diseases, like biliousness, bilious colic, dangerous fevers, torpid liver, etc, etc. Well does this mighty remedy justify the eminent Prof. Loomis' high encomium: "It is nearer a universal panacea than anything in medicine."

The success of Holman's Pads has inspired imitators who offer Pads similar in form and order to the genuine Holman Pad. Beware of these bogus and Imitation Pads, gotten up only to sell on the reputation of the GENUINE Holman Pad.

Each genuine Holman Pad bears the Private Revenue Stamp of the Holman Pad Company, with the above trade mark, printed in green.

For sale by all first-class druggists, or sent by mail post-paid, on receipt of $2.00.

Liniment Iodide Ammonia.

CURES ALL PAIN IN MAN & BEAST.

Giles Liniment Iodide Ammonia cures Neuralgia, Face Ache, Rheumatism, Gout, Frosted Feet, Chilblains, Sore Throat, Erysipelis, Bruises, and Wounds of every nature in man and animal. The remarkable cures this remedy has effected classes it as one of the most important and valuable remedies ever discovered for the cure or relief of pain.

I had twelve strokes of paralysis. My leg, tongue and arm were useless; was obliged to use a catheter every day. Dr. Giles' Liniment Iodide of Ammonia has cured me. Will answer any inquiries so that all afflicted may know of it. John Apgell,
North Bradford[illegible] sonn.

My wife suffered with prolapsus uteri, fluor albus, complicated with other female troubles. Her life was miserable. Rev. Guy S. Freeman of the Methodist church advised me to try Giles' Liniment Iodide Ammonia and Pills, he telling me of the wonders it had performed on his wife, who was a martyr to such troubles, and is now well. I obtained the Liniment and Pills, and my wife is cured.
Charles R. Jones, editor Observer, Charlotte N. C.

Write to Dr. Giles, at 120 West Broadway, New York, who will cure all female troubles (thou r pay.

Read the following: Salt Rheum Cured. I had Salt Rheum on my hand for two years; I tried every doctor I could hear of. The salves, ointments and soaps without number; nothing benefited me. A 50c. bottle of Giles' Liniment Iodide Ammonia cured me in less than a week. A. Romaine, 162 West Thirty-second street, N. Y.

Habitual Costiveness, the cause of so many troubles, Lowness of Spirits, Dizziness of the Head, Loss of Memory, Bad Breath, Flatulence, Beating of the Heart, Nervousness, all these are cured by Giles' Improved Mandrake Pills.

Giles' Liniment and Pills are sold by all Druggists throughout the world. Trial bottles, 25c., Pills, 25c.

Beware of counterfeits; the genuine has a fac simile of the inventor's signature, WILLIAM M. GILES, over the cork of each bottle.

The Liniment in white wrappers is for family use, that in yellow wrappers is for the stable.

I have watched the use of the medicine now known as "Swift's Specific" for over fifty years, and have never heard of a failure to cure when properly taken. I commenced the use of it on my slaves between 1850 and 1854, and so did a member of my neighbors and in every case that came within my knowledge it effected a cure. In 1855 Geo. Walker bought at auction a slave not warranted. After the purchase it was discovered that he had been diseased for twelve years. His head was without a hair on it. He treated him with this remedy, and in four weeks he was sound and well, and in a short time had as fine a head of hair as was ever owned by a negro. He owned this slave many years, and he never had any return of the disease, nor lost a day's work. H. L. DENNARD.

MANUFACTORIES.

The Advantages to be Derived From Them—How to Secure Them.

AUSTIN, March 15, 1881.

Austin received say 12,000 bales of cotton, worth about $550,000, and if made into plain cloth would sell for $1,800,000. It would leave here more than $1,200,000 for the pockets of this city, for this one material, and her wool, hides and beef would bring that amount if handled in a like manner.

Now the true plan is to squeeze what you have as long as there is a cent to squeeze out and then let it go.

But it is said we have not money to do this. I think we can show that we have; for we do, with the aid of our banks, purchase it all as it comes, but we do not have the money to manufacture it. We have that also. Do not the merchants of Houston purchase and sell one million dollars worth of cotton, and an amount of the other goods almost equal to the amount of our materials? Then they have paid for the cost of manufacturing, and they collect it from the consumer, who is the party who really furnishes the money for all. Can they not supply the money to purchase as well the staple from the factory here as at the north, and let them make the goods, and instead of selling this cotton for $500,000 sell it for $1,200,000, leaving our people to reap the difference for the additional value?

Cannot our dealers in real estate build a factory to rent or lease as well as stores, hotels and dwellings? Our people are not expected to turn spinners, weavers or other factory men, or are we to expect these operatives to quit their trades and turn brokers, carpenters or masons? Let each in his pursuit do his share, and soon our population will swell, property enhance, business flourish, immigration pour in like magic, and this land will flourish and blossom like the rose. But each must be expected to perform in his peculiar line what good business and common interest dictates.

Now, by manufacturing these several articles of raw material into goods, we will give employment to about ten thousand people, thus drawing to us a fair share of immigration that now goes west or north. It is folly to suppose that people will come here unless they can get employment. The people who are well fixed and in good business with means in the old counties are not the people who emigrate. It is those who want work. It is folly to send out men to tell of wide prairies, rich valleys, etc., to men who have not the means to farm and do not know how if they had. Most immigrants are men hunting employment, and go where it can be had suitable to their trades or callings. Now, look at some prominent western paper, and you see wanted men and women to work at every possible calling. Did ever anyone see hands wanted for any kind of factory, foundry, mill, or anything else, in a Texas paper? What inducements are our immigrant agents to offer any kind of mechanic in Texas? We have no cotton, woolen, paper or other mills; no foundry, wagon, hardware or implement shops, and if immigrants inquire where we get these necessary things, they must say north and west, New York, Cincinnati, Chicago, or St. Louis. Well, that is the place to get the employment to make them, and Texas agents send the immigrants west to one here. But, says the agent, it can be made cheaper in Texas, for we save freight at least one way, if not both; we have fine weather, land, health, etc., and it is therefore more profitable. If that is the case why do not your people manufacture them. It can be done then in the same time it takes to ship and purchase them west or north.

Texan—That is just what we want. Experts to purchase our lands and build factories to make this business profitable.

Emigrant—But I am a spiner, machinist, or weaver, as the case may be. I am not an expert real estate broker or builder of houses, and if I embark in a business like this I am liable to fail, so I must go where factories are ready to give me work, and are advertising for hands in my trade.

Then let Texas hunt a man of capital and press all the advantages above enumerated and say we want you to go to Texas and build up factories to rent or lease, while I send you good operatives to run them. We can get plenty of hands if we had factories.

Capitalist—Well, sir, that is asking of me too much. I have a factory here from which I sell Texas one hundred thousand dollars worth of goods yearly, and make a clear profit of $25,000 cash, with a fine growing trade there, and the amount will surely build up a factory here to supply it. If I start up a factory there it will ruin my factory, and it cannot help me.

Now, with these obstacles in the way, it is not probable that immigration agents will do very much to increase the flood of immigration to Texas. But I will now submit a plan that is, I think, possible, and will do much for the state, as well as Austin.

The first step is to organize a board of trade, composed of bankers, capitalists, merchants, real estate brokers and mechanics, or any others who feel an interest in these matters. Have a committee of finance, building, machinery, location, trade, etc., whose duty it will be to give information to the secretary of the board, that will enable him to inform all persons who come or write for the price of houses, goods, material, and, if necessary, contract for construction, lease, or sale of property suitable for factories, foundries, labor, etc., the terms of bank accommodations, the amount and price at which our merchants will handle his goods; and also to show and introduce prospecting parties who come here for opening factories.

Now, if the real estate owners will furnish the houses at a fair rent, the banks will furnish the money for material on the terms they now do for northern firms, and draw bills of lading attached on the goods as they do on the raw material, and the merchant will purchase, at the price and terms, all they can sell of each industry for the same the northern factory can lay them down here. It will not be five years before Austin will have plenty of capital to raise this city to a flourishing city of 50,000 population, and all the railroads that run west will only open up for her an increased field for her enterprising manufactories. Yours truly,

B. F. CARVER.

A Socialist View of the Czar's Death.

Chicago, March 14.—Paul Grattkane, editor of the Arbeitere Zeitung, socialist organ in this city, said to a News reporter this morning: "I can not believe that the assassination of the czar originated with the nihilists, however deveutly it was wished by them, but by the instigation of his successor. It will be hailed with rejoicing the world over. The effect will be a more liberal measure of reform for a short time, and then a relapse into the oppression of the past, as was the course of the dead czar himself. Otherwise, the effect will be to so alarm the European powers that they will bear more heavily upon us than before, in order to intimidate us. The sentiment of the porte at the czar's death will be one of rejoicing."

The Cleveland Leader contains a description of a remarkable electric light, manufactured by the Brush company to the order of and for use in the British navy, and successfully tested in that city. It has a 100,000-candle illuminating power; is 50 times greater than the ordinary electric lamp for street lighting, and it is believed to be the largest and most powerful light ever made with human hands. It is designed to be used in night attacks and to scrutinize the sea for torpedoes. A forty-horse power engine is required to produce the light. The carbons used are two inches and a half thick. The intensity of heat generated between the carbon points is a half million degrees, one-nineteenth estimated of the sun. It is calculated that with the ordinary reflector a beam of light can be cast so powerful that a person 18 miles away can see to read by it.

The smaller a state is the more laws she needs. The recently adjourned legislature of Nevada, the rotten borough state with 60,000 inhabitants, passed 300 laws, or one to every 200 inhabitants, and did not half get through business. At this ratio, the New York legislature would have to grind out 25,000 laws and congress pass bills at the rate of 2500 every day of its session.

Press Comments on Mahone.

Richmond, March 15.—The Dispatch of tomorrow, in its leading article, will contain the following in regard to Gen. Mahone's position, as defined by himself, on Monday in the senate: "The regular democrats of Virginia will hereafter have no reason for hoping to detach Gen. Mahone from his colored fellows in Virginia." The Petersburg convention of Monday was enlivened and encouraged by the telegram from Washington, announcing that he had voted with the republicans. A majority, a large majority, we suppose, of the negroes in attendance on that convention openly and exultantly declared it to be their purpose to act with the readjusters in the state election, and because of their confidence in Mahone. Gradually our democratic friends, who have strayed off into the readjusters' party, will become republicans. That is the expectation. The people of Virginia will not follow Gen. Mahone, even into a temporary alliance with the republican party. His claim that he is independent and will vote as he pleases, will be understood as a claim that he has the right to vote with the republican party. It has not been made perfectly clear what issues are to be in the gubernatorial election of this year, but enough has been done by our opponents to make it manifest that the debt question is the controlling consideration only with the white readjusters; the negroes have entirely different objects in view.

The Whig will contain the following: It was a striking scene in the senate, a historical drama indeed, in which the great Virginian was the central figure, and well did he act his part. Even his enemies must acknowledge that he was equal to the occasion, and that he snatched new laurels from the very circumstances prepared to intimidate or to degrade him. Rising to the height of the emergency, he bravely and grandly proclaimed his mind far above partisan ties and partisan aims. With the fire of scorn of the party, and the sectional lash wielded by the Georgian blunderbuss, he reminded that whipper-in that he was not elected as a democrat but as a readjuster. He had been chosen to represent the liberal and reading Virginians against the marshaled and combined influence of both parties, their allies and their machine in and out of the state. Our contemporaries are too apt to understand or misinterpret men and the significance of their deeds, but he must be truly a poor student of the times who can not comprehend that William Mahone, on Monday last, in the senate of the United States, performed an act of heroism, patriotism and statesmanship which wins him a high niche in the American pantheon, and which enrolls his name forever among the most illustrious sons of Virginia. As Patrick Henry lives in the revered immortality as the great Virginian who put the ball of revolution in motion, so will Mr. Mahone appear as the great Virginian who dared to take the first step to the pacification and union of the estranged and embittered sections of the country.

Texas Twins that Rival the Siamese.

Special Telegram to the Galveston News.

Texarkana, March 15.—On Sunday morning Dr. P. C. Burke delivered Mrs. L. R. Blackstone, wife of J. F. Blackstone, of this city, of a pair of Siamese twins, both girls, perfectly formed in all respects, but were connected from the navel to the top of the breast-bone by a seven-inch connection. They are face to face, and the ribs of each connect with the ribs of the other. Their heads measure four inches around; their combined weight was fifteen pounds. Both died at birth. Mrs. Blackstone, the mother of the wonderful twins, is a native of Atlanta, Ga., and is a small woman, weighing 110 pounds, and has been married several years, but without children. The father is a native of Louisiana, a little below medium size, and is believed to be a carpenter. Dr. Burke has secured photographs of the twins, which will be sent to the medical institute in New York for the benefit of science, and has also obtained the privilege of preserving the bodies of the twins. Mrs. Blackstone is doing as well as possible, and although her situation is critical the doctor thinks she will recover.

The "resonator" is the name given by Signor Bach to his new invention for increasing the power and volume of the human voice when singing. This appliance is based on the office, performed by the hard portion of the palate, which acts as a kind of sounding board when the mouth is open for singing, and it is for the purpose of increasing the efficiency of the palate in this respect that the resonator has been designed. It consists of a gold plate fitted to the roof of the mouth, close above the upper teeth, much in the same way as the gold plate of a set of artificial teeth—the plate having attached to it another gold plate which is convex downward in both directions. A hollow sounding board, as it may be termed, is thus formed, and is said to have a remarkable effect on the volume of sound producible by the person wearing the instrument. It is also stated that the apparatus has no prejudicial effect upon the distinctness of articulation, and that it can be used without the slightest inconvenience after moderate practice.

N. Y. Tribune: The gentleman who had a telephonic connection made between his house in this city and the stage of the Academy of Music, during the last opera season, has an imitator in Edinburg, where a sick man had a wire stretched from his house to the Presbyterian church of which he is an elder. "Sounding measures" are placed on either side of the pulpit, through which the voice of the preacher is conveyed, while, by means of another chamber in the gallery, the singing of the choir and and congregation is dehamanized. The sound alike of preaching and worship, although traveling over three miles of wire, are distinctly heard, not a word being missed; and other disturbances, such as the coughing of the congregation, are also given to the invalid.

Daily Review of the San Antonio Market.

OFFICE OF DAILY AND WEEKLY EXPRESS, Wednesday, March 16, 1881.

General business is unchanged since our last report, though in some of the retail lines the threatening weather had a depressing effect. Freight receipts by rail were fully up to the average, and the export freight by rail shows a marked gain, especially in the shipments of live stock, as will be seen by our detailed report at the conclusion of this article.

Hides continue in active demand and several sales are reported to-day, but at private terms, which are understood to be above our highest quotations. Receipts are comparatively light and all the buyers are brought into direct competition for each lot offered on the market.

Cotton continues weak and in nominal demand and receipt.

The Shoe & Leather Reporter of the 10th, in reviewing the Philadelphia wool market, says: "But little of importance in the way of demand or sales has taken place since the last report, manufacturers, both at home and from other localities, refusing to operate on any extensive scale, limiting their purchases to the class of wools required. Values are weakening, and particularly on fine fleece wools, on which holders willingly make reductions so as to relieve the market; this may be traced to the uneasiness manifested in financial and monetary matters in relation to the funding bill. Holders anticipating lower rates, sold out at concessions, and on account of the approaching season for new wools. There is nothing warranting the belief that pulled wool will resume anything like its former steadiness, as the sales are small, and each fresh disposal is consumed at a decline."

The live stock boom continues, and as a rule the demand is in excess of the supply. Our report of the export freight by rail shows that San Antonio is fast becoming the leading live stock market of this section of the country. The International railway has not yet completed its arrangements for shipping live stock, and as soon as this is done the daily shipments will be largely increased.

Country produce is in better demand than supply, and prices continue very strong at our quotations.

Grain is in good demand and prices are firm at the old figures. Receipts are not large.

Since our last report the receipts of freight by the International railroad have included twenty-nine carloads of mixed merchandise, one of oats, one of ties, twelve of lumber, one of flour, one of beer, one of wheat, and two of corn.

The receipts of freight by the Sunset railroad during the past two days included three carloads of salt for Labatt & Co., one of cement for L. Schelhagen, one of oranges and lemons for C. M. Aiken, three of government freight, six of general merchandise, nineteen of lumber for the G. H. & S. A. R. R., eight of ties for the G. H. & S. A. R. R., one of lumber for F. J. Reitel, one of wood for the G. H. & S. A. R. R., one of lumber for H. M. Newland, one of hardware for H. M. Newland, one of fish bar plates for the G. H. & S. A. R. R., three of rails for the G. H. & S. A. R. R., two of horse car materials for Aug. Belknap, one of flour for George Dudley, two of bottled beer for A. B. Frank & Co., one of beer for Paul Wagner, and one of produce for J. F. Lockwood.

Among the out freight by the Sunset road today we note six carloads of cattle to Galveston by Borden & Arnold, one carload of cattle to Houston by the same shippers, two carloads of horses to St. Louis by Geo. Dugan, two carloads of sheep to New Orleans by L. Piaget, one carload of sheep to Galveston by M. Ryan, one carload of horses to St. Louis by E. W. Orr, one carload of horses to Sherman by W. M. Morris, one carload of horses to Sherman by J. E. Burch, one carload of hides to Buffalo by Lasseur & Mandelbaum, 200 pounds of wool to New York, and 4000 pounds of mixed merchandise to various points down the railroad.

—Is you are going east, north or southeast be sure and take the "Star and Crescent route," Houston to New Orleans, all rail, no changes, making close connection at New Orleans with all through lines. By the "Star and Crescent" you avoid the disagreeable midnight transfer at Little Rock.

J. L. A. THOMAS,

mch16-4t. Texas Passenger Agent.

—Chicken stealing still continues unabated, and the thieves, who certainly have the power, are controlling the market, if in no other way, by increasing the demand. There are certainly a number of persons engaged in this business, for the heavy depredations in different quarters the same nights could not be accomplished by one or two or even three persons.

AN OLD FEUD BEING REVIVED.

Cattle Men of Dewitt County Arming for a Battle.

From indications and statements that are given the reporter by various persons, it appears as though there is to be another feud in the county of Dewitt, southeast of us, between cattle men. Many readers of THE EXPRESS will remember the days of the Taylor-Sutton troubles, when one large portion of the people of this county were arrayed in the most bitter hostility against the other. In all the annals of Texas history, there is not recorded a local feud which was characterized by a greater degree of animosity and hatred, and which was as extensive in the adherants of the opposing factions as the war between one party headed by the Taylor boys, and the other by the Suttons, in the county of Dewitt. Much blood was spilled, the happiness of many a home was blasted, uncompromising enmity was engendered, and thousands of dollars were lost.

More to destroy the existence of this feud, than for any other purpose, Capt. McNelly's company of state troops was organized and sent to that section of the country, where, after a number of arrests, and a vigilant and fearless discharge of duty, quiet was again restored. The county is rich in land and grasses, is thickly populated, and has been on the high road of general prosperity. It was hoped that the old grudges of its citizens had been buried and forgotten, but recent indications and statements given the reporter, are calculated to destroy such impression. A few days ago, parties residing in Dewitt came to this city and purchased arms and ammunition, stating that there was serious trouble ahead. The basis for it again seems to be a misunderstanding over some stock transaction, and John Taylor is said to be at the head of one faction and Alf Alice at the head of the other. Alice and adherents are said to have been given a certain time to leave the county, under penalty of death, and they positively refuse to budge an inch. Both parties are reported to be about equally strong, and both are constituted of daring and determined men. A conflict between the parties is daily expected. What the authorities are doing to check the purposes of the belligerents, and prevent blood-shed, the reporter could not learn.

GIRAUD'S MISTAKES.

What They are Entailing Upon The Tax-Paying Community.

The late city engineer, Louis Giraud, made a great many most unpardonable mistakes in giving lines to property. The case of Mr. Haskell is likely to fall upon the city for indemnity, while the International contractors have not only already been put to great trouble and expense because of the mistakes of the engineer in giving them the lines for their road, &c., but now find that the engineer made another huge mistake in the vicinity of where the company will locate its stock yards. Giraud's incompetence, and the indifferent manner in which he discharged the functions of his office, are just beginning to receive attention from the city authorities, though these same errors were mentioned and the attention of these authorities called to them by THE EXPRESS months ago. Now, Giraud is in Mexico, and his bondsmen are free, and the city will be called upon to take the tithes of the people and with them settle these mistakes.

Death of Thomas Newton.

LAFERNIA, Texas, March 15, 1881.

Mr. Thomas Newton, who resides one mile and a half east of this place, went off to Lockhart, Caldwell county, on a visit to his wife's mother, about the first of this month, and a week or ten days days after his arrival at Lockhart, he was taken seriously ill with typhoid pneumonia, and departed this life on Friday, the 11th inst. He leaves a wife, two children, four brothers and many friends to mourn his unlooked-for and sudden demise.

Notaries Public.

The following appointments as notaries public for this county have been made: W. G. M. Samuel, John Rosenheimer, W. W. Herron, B. I. Boone, J. H. Copeland, Reagan Houston, J. E. Ochse and Edward Miles. There are probably others, but their names were not obtained.

Seriously Ill.

Mr. Toutant Beauregard, the aged father of our fellow-citizen, Maj. A. J. T. Beauregard, is seriously ill with influenza. Mr. Beauregard last winter suffered very greatly from the same affliction. His friends fear he will not recover.

THROUGH THE MILL.

Good Haul by Officer Schwartz—Something About the Trials.

There was a very large attendance of individuals wearing hard faces and of general repulsive aspects before the recorder yesterday. The mob embraced men and women, boys and girls who were there for violating the laws of the city, and perpetrating outrages upon the social quiet of the community, or as witnesses for or against the violators. It seemed that a few nights ago, at a late hour, a youngster by the name of Taylor, accompanied by two females named McNabb, and a girl by the name of Sarah Lowe, who had driven to Galloway's saloon, in a hack, conducted themselves very badly. Officer Schwartz, being in the vicinity, watched for an opportunity to take in this crowd, but when they came out and got into the hack, which is driven by one Darland, the hackman encouraged and abetted their conduct and escape by refusing to stop when the policeman first called upon him. The officer finally, however, took the load into his custody, including also the hackman. The man, Taylor, was yesterday fined $25 for carrying a pistol, the three women were fined on a charge of vagrancy, the hackman was fined $5 by a jury, and Galloway, the saloon keeper, was fined $20 for keeping a disorderly house. One of the females fined, Sarah Lowe, is a girl of sixteen or seventeen, very small in stature and of unoffending mien. She has parents residing in the country west, and for quite a while has been employed as a servant in respectable families of this city. Her counsel stated that she would soon be returned home by her parents, who would call for her. The girl has been recently living in a house of ill fame.

Hardly Fair.

Men doing business about Military plaza and its vicinity, complain because of the frequency with which they are summoned to serve as jurors in the recorder's court. The court building being on the plaza, policemen sent to summon jurors take those who are most convenient. Yesterday, two gentlemen of the same firm were summoned, and no one was left in their establishment to attend to business. The Military plaza men say they are willing to do their share of jury service, as good citizens, but think that the east-siders should be called on occasionally to relieve them. In plain terms, they object to doing all the jury service for the city.

U. S. District Court.

In the U. S. district court yesterday, Henry and Max Dresch, August Dugiel, and C. R. Fittman, all citizens of the post oak section of this county, were tried for violating the election laws. It seems that the parties induced and advised an unnaturalized resident of their neighborhood, by name, John Drzymala, to vote the democratic ticket. The defendants were represented by M. G. Anderson and Eckford & Minter, U. S. district attorney Evans prosecuting. The jury was out when court adjourned, and it is doubtful whether an agreement will be reached.

Francis Deschane, a soldier charged with stealing government blankets, was also tried, but the jury has not yet agreed. They were evidently hung on a question to the sanity or insanity of the man when he stole the blankets.

Castroville Items.

Special Correspondence of the DAILY EXPRESS.

Castroville, March 16.—We are having a little rain this morning—more would be welcome.

Castroville has a tall and short man—they are unsuspected.

Railroad hands and engineers—mostly of the Sunset road, are peopling our streets every day.

Fishing is the order of the night.

Sheriff Niggli returned after a busy tour summoning the parties who have to attend our next district court, beginning March 27th.

The nearest things to perpetual motion are the Castroville billiard and Jenny Lind table balls.

Death of Mrs. Adela Blair.

Died, at 5 a. m. yesterday, Mrs. Adela Blair, consort of E. S. Blair, aged 29 years. The funeral will take place at 4 o'clock this evening from the family residence, Rusk street.

Deceased was a daughter of our fellow-citizen, Thomas Dunbar, her husband being the chief clerk in the medical department at this military post. Mrs. Blair was raised in San Antonio, and was beloved by a host of friends and acquaintances. She leaves a devoted husband, bowed in great grief because of his irreparable loss, and also two affectionate little ones to mourn their deprivation of a loving mother.

Completely Exonerated.

A private telegram received in this city yesterday conveyed the information that the charge recently preferred against Colonel C. M. Terrell, chief paymaster U. S. A., of this department, had been ignored by the secretary of war, and that the Colonel had been in every respect exonerated. The Colonel is still in Washington, and it is said his chances of being appointed paymaster-general were greatly improved by the unwarrantable and futile attempt to break down his official character.

Growth of Stock Shipments.

The recent increase in the shipments of live stock from this point is very great. Yesterday there were shipped, via the Sunset, six carloads of cattle to Galveston and one to Houston, three of horses to St. Louis, two of horses to Sherman, two of sheep to New Orleans and one to Galveston. In all, fifteen cars of stock rolled out yesterday.

The Texas Room.

Mr. Philip Cross, just back from an extended visit to New York, says Texas and Mexico are looked to by the people of the north as the two great coming countries, where opportunities to invest money are now in order. Mr. Cross says he talked Texas up wherever he went, and found a common response to his sentiments. Several important enterprises are to be established here shortly, among them an extensive wool press.

—The International railway company should not be permitted to uncouple cars from the engines, and allow them to run down its track, and across streets, unless an alarm can be given. The cars without the engine are as dangerous when in motion as the engine without the cars, or both together, for that matter, and yet the bell of warning ever rings on the engine, when moving, while the loosed cars roll gently and almost noiselessly down the grade, with but a brakeman to watch the track and control them.

—Mr. C. Schasse, druggist, yesterday showed the reporter an elbow of a water pipe, placed in the ground about a year ago, which was almost entirely eaten away by acetate of lime. The pipe was enameled, but the enamel afforded no protection. It is thought by some that the mains of the waterworks company will not stand the pressure of the water longer than five or eight years.

—The celebrated New York clothing house of Devlin & Co., have made Mr. Ross, of 45 Commerce street, their San Antonio agent, and have placed with him samples representing a larger line of goods than is carried by any house in the state. An opportunity is given in this way by having clothing made in the latest style, in a superior manner, at New York prices.

FROM TILDEN.

By-Laws of McMullin College Adopted—A Barbecue to be Given—Prisoner Escaped—Miscellaneous Notes.

Special Correspondence San Antonio EXPRESS.

Tilden, Texas, March 14, 1881.—For the last two days our town has been enlivened by quite a number of very interesting events. During Saturday, (the 12th,) last, the board of trustees of McMullen college held a meeting at which the by-laws were adopted, the necessary working committee appointed, a corresponding secretary elected, etc. The corporation is now full-fledged and in complete working order. The school is in fine condition, and now has room for forty or fifty more students.

There was a mass meeting of the citizens of Tilden and surrounding country, held at the court house on Saturday evening, the 12th inst., the object of which was to take into consideration the propriety and expediency of having a barbecue at Tilden. It was unanimously received to have a barbecue in the early part of May, next. The necessary committees were appointed, and the public will be duly notified of the time, etc. I understand it is the intention to extend a universal invitation. The matter is an educational movement, and the subject will be ably discussed.

On yesterday evening, (Sunday,) just about night, we were surprised to hear that the prisoner in our jail had escaped. It seems that some one had succeeded in furnishing the prisoner with a six shooter, probably through the grates of a window, and when the jailer opened the door to feed the prisoner he was confronted by a presented pistol, and politely invited to walk in, which he did. The prisoner then stepped out, closed the door, and turned the key, and further deponent sayeth not.

Our town is still improving. The health of the country is good. The stock are all doing well. The country is needing rain. We see quite a number of strangers among us almost every day, and among others we were favored with a call at our office on the 12th by Rev. Leonard Ames, of Louisville, Ky. Mr. Ames is looking after his landed interests here, and probably with a view of locating. We heartily welcome all such men. More anon.

OBSERVOS.

Suicide of Gen. Upton.

San Francisco March 15.—Brevet Major-General Upton, U. S. A., was found dead in his bed this morning, having shot himself through the head some time during the night. When discovered the revolver was still grasped in his hand. Nothing to indicate the cause of the act has yet been discovered. The general impression seems to be that grief at the loss of his wife prompted the suicide.

From the appearance of Gen. Upton's room this morning, he must have sat up till late writing, destroying manuscript and burning many papers. He left two letters—one to his sister, dated the 13th, but apparently written last night, in which he intimated something might happen; the other, which was unfinished, was addressed to Capt. Dyer, in which Gen. Upton expressed the opinion that his revised tactics would be a failure. The letters will not be published till after the inquest to-morrow. Among the army friends of the deceased, his suicide is attributed to a fear that by the failure of his work on tactics he would lose reputation.

Shiloh's Consumption Cure.

This is beyond question the most successful cough medicine we have ever sold. A few doses invariably cure the worst cases of cough, croup and bronchitis, while its wonderful success in the cure of consumption is without a parallel in the history of medicine. Since its first discovery it has been sold on a guarantee, a test which no other medicine can stand. If you have a cough we earnestly ask you to try it. Price 10 cents, 50 cents and $1. If your lungs are sore, chest or back lame, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster Price 25 cents. Sold by C. Schasse, druggist, 15 Commerce street, San Antonio, Tex.

A Card.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, free of charge. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the Rev. Joseph T. Inman, Station D, New York city. nov26d&w6m
