STIMSON HURLS 'TREASON' AT SEN. WHEELER

Japan Denounced As Aggressor By U.S.

WASHINGTON, July 24 (AP)—The United States government strongly denounced Japan today as an aggressor in French Indo-China and declared the move there menaced American security and endangered American territory and interests in the Far East.

Sumner Welles, acting secretary of state, issued a formal statement that Japan's action was primarily in preparation for further "movements on conquest in adjacent areas."

Welles said the substance of his statement was given last night to the Japanese ambassador during a half-hour conference.

The statement contained no hint of steps planned by the United States to counter the Japanese move.

It did declare that occupation of French Indo-China or establishment of further military bases there "endanger the peaceful use by peaceful nations of the Pacific."

These steps also, Welles said, jeopardize American sources of vital defense materials such as tin and rubber—an allusion to the rich Netherlands East Indies.

"The steps which the Japanese government has taken," Welles declared, "also endanger the safety of other areas of the Pacific, including the Philippine islands.

"The government and people of this country fully realize that such developments bear directly upon the vital problem of our national security."

"Present developments relating to Indo-China provide clear indication that further changes are now being affected under duress.

"The present unfortunate situation in which the French government of Vichy and the French government of Indo-China find themselves is, of course, well known. It is only too clear that they are in no position to resist the pressure exercised upon them."

WASHINGTON, July 24 (AP)—The United States and Great Britain were reported poised today for swift and drastic counter-action against impending Japanese occupation of strategic air and naval bases in the south of French Indo-China.

Indications both here and in London were that the American government stood ready to impose sweeping economic restrictions on Japan, paralleling possible British military action to offset the threat against their Singapore naval base and the Netherlands East Indies which would be created by establishment of Japanese bases in southern Indo-China.

That the occupation was imminent if not actually underway already was indicated by dispatches from Saigon, French Indo-China.

Well-informed sources there said Japanese warships had appeared off Cap St. Jacques and Camranh bay and that 12 Japanese transports were en route to Saigon from Hainan, Chinese island off the Indo-China coast.

Camranh bay is a naval base on Indo-China's southern coast and Cap St. Jacques dominates the mouths of the Saigon river by which ships reach Saigon.

Foreign consulates there said today their representatives in Hanoi had been advised by the Indo-China government of a French-Japanese agreement granting the Japanese certain naval and military concessions in the southern part of the colony.

The Saigon sources also said the agreement had been reached July 19. Apparently this was an agreement in principle on the concessions to be made but one which left details to be worked out, presumably by representatives of the two powers in Hanoi.

Diplomatic quarters heard, meanwhile, that a formal announce-

Texas Set To Give Crude To Britain

AUSTIN, July 24 (AP)—The Texas Railroad Commission today flashed the go ahead signal on a plan for Texas oil operators to donate one day's production of crude—estimated at about 2,000,000 barrels—to Great Britain.

The agency which regulates the flow from the state's 97,000 wells designated August 10 as Texas-Oil-for-Britain-Day.

Previously, August 10 had been stipulated as one of several statewide non-producing days but by terms of the commission's announcement wells may flow and pump that day and any operator will be privileged to assign his production to Britain's war cause.

The plan, conceived by John F. Camp, San Antonio oil operator, recently won the approval of federal petroleum co-ordinator Harold Ickes.

Because the one day's production is in addition to that regularly authorized for August operators desiring to contribute oil for British defense will be required to present a production report to the nearest commission district office together with an assignment on the oil to President Roosevelt or any agency the President designates.

Commissioners Jerry Sadler and Olin Culberson, who announced approval of the plan, said the day's production would be approximately 2,000,000 barrels, provided every operator contributes his full allowable for the designated day.

The commissioners added in a statement:

"It is the sincere hope of the railroad commission that every oil operator in Texas will cooperate in this plan.

"One of the greatest needs of Britain has been for oil to produce fuel for airplanes and motorized units. Texas wants to do its share because we know that so long as we furnish supplies for England we are doing our utmost to strike down and crush the greatest menace the modern world has ever known—that of Nazi dictatorship and greed.

"There is nothing compulsory about the plan and any operator who assigns his oil to President Roosevelt or any agency disignated by him and files that assignment with the commission's district office may then give outright the production from his wells for the day of August 10.

"The need for this oil cannot be emphasized too strongly and the commission is going to cooperate in every way possible in behalf of Britain and the nation's defense program."

Windows Bombed Out Of Envoy's House

MOSCOW, July 24. (AP)—Windows on two sides of the residence of United States Ambassador Laurence A. Steinhardt were blown in by a bomb during the third successive night of German air assault on Moscow last night.

The raid, carried out in relays, again lasted five and one-half hours, but Russians declared today that it, like its predecessors, was a failure.

No officers of the United States embassy were in the ambassador's residence, Spasso house. Four American newspapermen who were there at the time were unhurt.

Curtains were ripped and rugs were showered with glass.

Texas Engineers On Way To Maneuvers

BROWNWOOD, July 24 (AP)—The 111th Engineer Regiment of the 36th Division left Camp Bowie yesterday for Mansfield, La., to make ready a bivouac area to be occupied by the remainder of the division when big army maneuvers begin later this summer.

DERBY THRILLS RECALLED AS 1941 WINNERS RECEIVE AWARDS TODAY

These scenes, taken at the third annual Pampa News-Pampa Lions Club Soap Box derby, were recalled at noon today as the Lions formally presented the M. E. Coyle trophy, symbol of the city championship, to Bobby Gayle Dedmon, 12, 1941 Soap Box derby champion. The presentation was at the Lions club luncheon, when medals were presented to winners of the first three places in Classes A and B, and other special awards to the boys who had the cars with the best brakes, upholstery, and design. Scenes above were taken on Friday night, July 18, at the conclusion of the third annual derby held at Derby Downs, three miles north of Pampa on the old Miami road.

Back of him, left to right, other contestants, Raymond Hernandez, Wesley Geiger, Mark Cagle, Lewis Stallings, Donald Gray, Ardell Seeds, Roy Cone, Frankie Yates, (Yates was not a contestant this year, but made an exhibition run, driving the car of Mark Bratton, 1940 champion, the car that took the award for the best designed racer in the U. S. in the national finals at Akron, Ohio), and Gehn A. Farlow of Panhandle.

Cards Urged Soldiers To Oppose War

Secretary Says Montanan Guilty Of Subversiveness

WASHINGTON, July 24 (AP)—Secretary of War Stimson said today that Senator Wheeler (D.-Mont.) had mailed post cards to army officers and men urging them to oppose American entry into the European war.

"I think this comes very near the line of subversive activities against the United States, if not treason," Stimson told a press conference.

The cards went out postage free, Stimson said, under the frank of the western senator.

A million of the cards had been printed in the government printing office, Stimson said, but were labeled "Not printed at government expense."

The war secretary said only two such cards had been seen by the war department and added he did not know what proportion were sent to officers and men.

When such appeals are addressed to soldiers, he said, the action "crossed the line of what General Marshall called sabotage."

General George C. Marshall, the chief of staff, yesterday termed "sabotage" attempts to have officers and men oppose extension of their active duty.

Marshall said it was against army regulations for a soldier to attempt to influence legislation.

Stimson exhibited cards bearing Senator Wheeler's frank which he said were forwarded to Marshall by a staff sergeant at Fort Benning, Ga., and a first lieutenant at Fort McIntosh, Tex.

On the side bearing the address, was this plea in boxed type: "Write the president today at the White House, Washington, that you are against our entry into the European war."

On the reverse side were excerpts from speeches or statements by President Roosevelt, former President Hoover, Senator Wheeler, Senator Nye (R.-N. D.), former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy, and Charles A. Lindbergh.

Army regulations provide that "except as authorized by the war department, efforts to procure or influence legislation affecting the army or to procure personal favor through legislation are forbidden."

One post card was forwarded by Staff Sergeant William L. White, company C, 8th Infantry, Fort Benning. The other came from First Lieutenant Alfred T. Hearne, post adjutant at Fort McIntosh.

Wheeler told reporters that he had sent out approximately 1,000,000 cards to "a cross section of citizens" all over the country "in an effort to hold the president to his pledge to keep this country out of war."

Some of the cards "naturally reached officers and men in the army," the Montanan continued, "but they were not directed primarily to that group."

"I don't think that is subversive to quote the president of the United States or any of the other men quoted on the card," Wheeler added.

As to Simpson's statement about the nearness to subversive activities and treason, the senator asserted:

"Of course, no one should be too hard on the old man (Stimson). He is in his second childhood, and sometimes acts a little ga-ga.'

O'Daniel Proclaims Aug. 12 Pioneer Day

AUSTIN, July 24 (AP)—Governor W. Lee O'Daniel today proclaimed August 12 Texas Pioneer day and asked citizens to honor the memory of the state's early settlers.

He suggested pioneer picnics and old settler reunions as fitting celebrations.

The last general session of the legislature designated the annual day at the request of the Sons of the Republic of Texas and requested that all succeeding governors publicly proclaim it.

'Don't Say No To The U.S.O.' Monday

"Don't say no to the U. S. O."

That's the slogan on the poster now seen in many Pampa show windows, and that will be the idea back of the county-wide campaign which will start intensively Monday.

Reason for the drive is to raise $2,000 as Gray county's part in doing a valuable service for American soldiers, sailors, marines, and defense workers, by maintaining service clubs the government will build, for their recreation, comfort, and to provide for uplift in their morale.

Civilians' Duty

Back of the United Service Organizations campaign to raise $2,000 in Gray county is just what?

That's the question a lot of persons may want to know, rather than definitions of what the U. S. O. is, how it will operate, how much it will cost, and the service it will perform.

County Judge Sherman White, chairman of the campaign in Gray county, explained the background by saying:

"We Americans are building a fighting machine that must equal the world's best—but battleships and tanks are not enough. Man does not live by bread alone, nor does he fight by armor plate alone.

"As Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson has said: 'The most serious danger to our defense today is that the average citizen is not sufficiently aroused to his own personal responsibility.'"

Soldiers Swim In Nude In Dallas Lake

DALLAS, July 24 (AP)—Officers and men of the 120th engineers pitched camp on the shores of White Rock lake yesterday, and, as park officials had promised, took a swim in the nude.

They rolled out today to begin preparing camps for two batches of 4,000 men each of the 45th division that will follow them next week from Camp Barkeley on the way to Louisiana maneuvers.

The soldiers were given exclusive use of the municipal bathing beach. Traffic in the area was blocked off.

100 Rotarians Attend Schools Of Instruction

A hundred Rotarians, representatives of 11 clubs in the Top O' Texas, attended the first district assembly of its kind ever held in Pampa yesterday.

The purpose of the meeting was to hold schools of instruction for program chairmen, secretaries, and club presidents. Cal Farley of Amarillo, district governor, presided at the assembly sessions, held in the city hall auditorium.

Registration opened at 9 o'clock in the city hall. After the morning meeting, and lunch at noon, the assembly divided into group meetings for the three officers sections, then convened again in a body later in the afternoon in the auditorium.

Every club in this section, except Wellington, was represented. A severe storm near Wellington the preceding night was mentioned at the luncheon as the probable reason for Wellington not being represented.

Clubs sending delegates to the session were: Amarillo, Borger, Canadian, Canyon, Childress, Dalhart, Memphis, Pampa, Panhandle, Perryton, and Shamrock.

Delegates Attend Luncheon

At noon the Pampa Rotarians and the district assembly delegates had luncheon at the First Methodist church, Wednesday being the regular day for the weekly meeting of the local club.

The program included the regular noon news broadcast of KPDN, given

Scouts Pile Trucks High With Aluminum

Trucks and pickups piled high with Victory aluminum were being unloaded at Sheriff Cal Rose's office in the courthouse this afternoon as the zero hour for donation of the white metal neared.

Boy Scouts, four to a collection vehicle, began making a house to house canvass of the city today. It will be resumed tomorrow. Cub Scouts were helping.

The street by street drive was delayed from 9 o'clock this morning until one o'clock on account of rain. Hundreds of Pampa housewives placed their aluminum donations outside their front door early today. They are asked to take it in tonight if it is not called for today, but put it out again tomorrow.

If the collection vehicles don't get around to it by tomorrow night, residents can call the sheriff's office, or the office of Rep. Enis Favors, collectors will go out after it. However, Sheriff Rose suggested, it would be the patriotic thing, the grateful thing, for residents simply to bring their aluminum to the sheriff's office in the courthouse.

"One of the good features of this aluminum drive," the sheriff said, "is that it shows the people are united on their determination to defend America, destroy Hitler and build planes for both U. S. and Britain. Of course the aluminum is needed, but if it wasn't the mere fact of unified giving for patriotic motives is enough to justify the drive."

Failure To Give Medical Attention Caused Death, Grand Jury Reports

That "one death possibly occurred by failure of prompt medical attention being extended" was one of the points contained in the final report of the 31st district court grand jury for the June term as it adjourned here Wednesday afternoon. The jury's comment was in connection with an investigation of the death of Eddie Childress, negro who was stabbed to death, it was understood.

Th grand jury report claimed that "we as citizens and the citizenship of Gray county" have faltered in "a debt to society along matters of this course."

Establishment of "a fund for the treatment of emergency cases where such treatment becomes a matter of life or death," by service organizations or "the proper authorities" was recommended.

There was no specific case cited in the report.

The grand jury also suggested that pool halls and domino parlors close at midnight on all week-days.

Attention was directed by the jurors to "some elements who proposed to reopen gambling in Gray county," in another part of the

FCC Chairman Tangles With NAPA Counsel

WASHINGTON, July 24 (AP)—The Federal Communications commission refused today a request of the American Newspaper Publishers' association to terminate its investigation of newspaper ownership of radio stations stating brusquely that the petition could not be considered seriously.

After releasing this formal decision, the commission proceeded to open its inquiry with a statement from Chairman James L. Fly on the background of newspaper-in-radio.

"It seems inconceivable to us that an argument could be seriously advanced against the inherent right of any administrative agency, endowed by statute with power to hold hearings, issue subpoenas, etc., to conduct hearing of the type involved here," the board order said.

At the outset of the commission session, Fly refused to allow either Elisha Hanson, general counsel of the ANPA, or Thomas D. Thatcher, counsel for the Newspaper-Radio committee, to argue on behalf of the ANPA petition.

Hanson, however, was permitted to say that he had advised four persons who had been served with subpoenas not to appear on the ground the investigation was "illegal."

Before he was cut off by Fly, the ANPA counsel, called the commission's refusal to hear arguments on legal questions "high-handed and arbitrary." He said the action was similar to previous actions by an administrative agency and had been "vigorously condemned by the courts."

This over, Fly reviewed past discussions in congress and elsewhere concerning the question of newspaper ownership of radio stations.

Because of the large number of newspaper applications for frequency modulation stations, Fly said the commission took the view that a general inquiry was advisable rather than individual decisions.

The chairman added that the commission had reached no "conclusions or opinions" and that counsel for newspaper interests would be given an opportunity to argue legal points before the commission undertook any action discriminating against newspaper applications.

Youngsters And Mothers Work In Fields Over U. S.

CHICAGO, July 24 (AP)—Farm mothers and youngsters are working the fields in increasing numbers in many parts of the nation to help the head of the house realize on the best farm cash income prospects in 12 years.

They are driving tractors, running combines, or tending hogs—as well as their customary work of raising chickens, cooking and milking—because so many skilled farmhands have gone off to work for fancy wages in defense factories or train for Uncle Sam.

President Edward A. O'Neal of the American Farm Bureau Federation today called it "a widespread farm labor shortage" in the midwest, the east, the south and the far west, especially in the agricultural areas adjacent to large industrial centers.

Dairymen in the milk sheds of Chicago, New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, and Detroit are having a particularly tough time of it, he said, because they can't afford to meet the competition for labor offered by defense industry wages of $5 to $10 a day.

Compared with such scales, the average monthly farm wage in Illinois, for example, is $42 with board, $52 without, and day rates are $2.50 with board, $2.75 to $3 without, for a long farm day of 10 hours or more against the factory's 8 hours or less.

National draft officials have left the matter of deferring needed farm youths largely up to local boards, he said. The commander of Fort Sheridan, Ill., however, granted a 30-day furlough this week to Private John V. Prochaska, a selectee from Azalia, Mich., after his neighbors at home pleaded he owned and operated the only threshing machine in the community.

A number of draftees at Camp Robinson, Ark., also were given leaves to help with the harvesting at their homes in Kansas and Nebraska.

Hitler Compelled To Withdraw Many Planes From Russia

LONDON, July 24 (AP)—Unprecedented opposition from increasing hundreds of Messerschmitts which are rising daily to counter the RAF'S incessant daylight sweeps over northern France was cited by informed quarters today as "conclusive evidence" that Germany has been compelled to withdraw substantial air forces from the Russian front.

"They are proof the sweeps are achieving the major objective of preventing the luftwaffe from concentrating all its power for the destruction of the Soviet air force," these sources asserted.

Nevertheless, since dawn today, relays of British bombers and fighters have been shuttling across the channel in attacks against Nazi-occupied territory.

Informed sourres dismissed German reports of having destroyed 54 RAF planes yesterday as "the same old Goebbels stuff" and asserted that their own acknowledgement of 15 planes lost against 11 German planes destroyed "tells the whole story."

Industrial objectives at Frankfurt and Mannerheim were attacked last night, an authoritative source reported.

Parents And Pupils Open Louisiana School On Own Hook

OAK GROVE, La., July 24. (AP)—The kids didn't throw a party to celebrate when the school board closed Oak Grove school.

Instead they argued their parents into reopening it as a private institution. Then they pitched in and cleaned up the building so classes could start on the dot today.

And 66 of them registered for the term, which in Louisiana's strawberry and truck belt, begins in July and ends at the spring harvest season.

Nine unpaid volunteer teachers, all accredited, were on hand.

Meanwhile, Louisiana's supreme court is considering an application for an order forcing the Ascension Parish (county) school board to resume support of the century-old institution.

Louisiana's first agricultural high school, it had long been the pride of the neighborhood. District residents voted a special tax on themselves to improve it.

So when the school board announced Oak Grove would be closed because of declining attendance and availability of other schools nearby, the citizens called indignation meetings.

A group of parents asked the district court to enjoin the board from carrying out the closing, lost their case and appealed.

Then Mavis Broussard, 18, spoke right out in meeting, "I've been talking to some of the other kids. We want to go to Oak Grove. Why not open it ourselves?"

The school board agreed that the building might be used, at least while the supreme court considered the case.

Mavis organized a squad of pupils who went to work with brooms and mops. Parents laid out routes along which private automobiles would pick up the children.

The faculty met yesterday, arranged classes and distributed textbooks.

Marshall Rejects Taft's Proposal

WASHINGTON, July 24 (AP)—General George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, turned thumbs down today on a proposal by Senator Taft (R-Ohio) to limit the maximum active service of selectees, national guardsmen and reserves to 16 months.

In a formal statement filed with the senate military committee, General Marshall said that Taft's plan "has great merit, but only as a long range plan for peacetime procurement and training purposes."

The present limit is 12 months but the army wants to make the length of service indefinite.

Marshall said:

"The present grave international situation prompts me again to request that congress remove, by joint resolution or some other form of legislation, the restrictive clauses in the present law affecting the reserve components and selectees, in order that the war department may have the maximum flexibility to meet any situation which may rise."

Committee attaches said they expected Marshall's statement to be followed later in the day by the submission of a war department proposal that congress declare a full emergency, in which the army could be placed on a war-time footing.

Market Briefs

NEW YORK, July 24. (AP)—Specialties held the buying edge in today's stock market while many leaders drifted into the background after an early mild rallying attempt failed to draw a following.

Prices were at their best in the forenoon, gains ranging from fractions to a point or so for favorites. Advances were reduced or converted into losses in many cases later and, at the close, trends were a shade ragged.

Transfrs for the full proceedings approximated 600,000 shares.

The indecesive movement of the list was blamed largely on the growing far eastern crisis with Acting Secretary of State Welles' warning that Japan's move on Dutch possessions in the south was a threat to the Philippines and to United States supplies of tin and rubber.

Among stocks managing to touch new 1941 tops—some eventually wavered—were Pathe Film, Savage Arms, McKesson & Robbins, American Sugar Refining, Standard Oil (NJ) and Texas Corp.

Bonds were uneven. Most commodities tilted forward. At Chicago wheat was up to ⅞ to 1½ cents a bushel and corn ¼ to ½ higher. In late trades cotton was up around $1 a bale.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, July 24. (AP)—Renewed buying of wheat attributed to mills and dealers fearing possible crop damage due to the heat wave lifted prices more than a cent a bushel today.

Some buying also was associated with easing of the local grain storage situation following release of about 750,000 bushels of space originally intended for government corn. Southwest reports indicated a good flour business was under way in some markets.

Wheat closed ⅞-1½ cents higher than yesterday, September $1.06⅛-¼; December $1.08⅞; corn ¼-½ up, September 75⅝-½, December 78; oats ⅝-1 higher.

RAF Claims Bombers Sank Three Ships

CAIRO, Egypt, July 24 (AP)—The RAF reported today that its bombers sank at least three ships from the Axis convoy off the Italian island of Pantellaria, in the channel between Sicily and Tunisia, Tuesday.

(The Italian high command, reporting four British ships sunk in a Fascist air-naval attack on convoy in the central Mediterranean yes-Fascist air-naval attack on a convoy ian ship had been sunk Tuesday by the British.)

One of the Italian destroyers escorting the convoy of four medium-sized merchant ships, also was hit by an air launched torpedo and damaged heavily at the stern, the RAF communique said.

Two bombs were seen to hit a 7,000-ton ship and set it afire and the vessel later was observed submerged with its stern up while two destroyers stood by picking up survivors, the communique added.

Two hits also were scored on a 6,000-ton vessel, it said and a 5,000-ton ship "which apparently was carrying munitions was hit by three bombs and immediately blew up and disappeared below the surface of the water."

Fleet air arm planes followed up the bomber attack later in the day when the convoy consisted only of one 7,000-ton tanker and another merchant vessel, the RAF reported.

Two torpedoes hit the tanker, making it a total loss, it said, and another damaged the escorting destroyer.

Defense Guard Plans More 'Snap' Tonight

Pampa's "unpaid army"—the local company of the Texas Defense Guard—will put just a little more snap than ever before into its drill tonight.

For every man of the company is going to show his appreciation to the members of the American Legion and the V.F.W., who plan an entertainment for the guardsmen following the next drill on Monday night, July 28.

From the most seasoned veteran of World War I—and there are several in the guard—down to the rawest, youngest rookie, from the captain to the top-sergeant right down to the fledgling corporals—just a little appreciation of their work goes a long way.

Members of the company do not get a penny for their work. They drill two hours a week, one hour on Monday night, one hour on Thursday night.

Non-coms, and acting non-coms and guides, besides their regular drill, devote an extra half-hour to the non-commissioned officers class, held following each drill. Second of these classes was held following the drill last Monday, with Captain E. J. Dunigan, Jr., as the instructor.

Drill regulation definitions and the proper way to give commands were the subjects of Captain Dunigan's talk.

The area given over to farming in Russia is larger than France, England and pre-war Germany combined.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN
Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

JAPAN

ment of the agreement would be made next Monday. At that time, it was expected, the nature and extent of the concessions probably will be known officially.

Such concessions have been regarded as possibly foreshadowing Japanese military expansion southward toward Singapore and the East Indies, with their rich resources of rubber, tin and oil.

The Chinese military intelligence officer at Chungking, China, told foreign correspondents that 30 Japanese troop transports convoyed by three warships were observed sailing southward past Hongkong, on July 18, in the direction of Indo-China. In addition, he declared seven heavy Japanese warships, three aircraft carriers and 55 destroyers were sighted moving southward from Japanese waters Tuesday.

At Shanghai early today foreigners who had booked passage for Japan on the Kobe Maru were halted at the gangplank and told that travel had been stopped for an indefinite period. However, 500 Japanese were permitted to go aboard. A similar ban also was invoked at Dairen—apparently to prevent foreigners from seeing Japanese ship movements.

Singapore circles heard reports that authorities at Hanoi had ordered all French merchant ships to remain in Indo-Chinese ports or proceed there immediately.

As for demands made, Vichy admitted only that the Japanese had asked the right to take military measures because of alleged military developments along the British colonial and Chinese frontiers of Indo-China, which Japan has guaranteed to defend.

London, meanwhile, disclosed far-flung military preparations at Singapore and other British Pacific outposts, readying them for any eventuality with reinforcements of Royal Air force units. British sources expressed confidence, moreover, that as a result of continuing close consultation the London and Washington governments were prepared to take any measures necessary.

While gravely concerned state department officials in Washington watched the situation without public comment they were known to have planned for several months economic measures for use when and if Japan went against repeated United States protests and warnings to further upset the status quo in the Pacific.

Among these measures, one or more of which might be applied, were freezing of Japanese assets in this country just as the assets of other Axis powers have been tied up, embargoing shipments of oil and other vital materials to Japan, imposing restrictions against Japanese imports, halting purchases of Japanese gold and expediting increased military aid to China.

Complete Statement

The complete document, signed by J. R. Posey, foreman, and submitted to District Judge W. R. Ewing, reads:

"We, the grand jury, duly impaneled as such for the June term A. D. 1941 for Gray county, respectfully submit the following report:

"We have made a thorough investigation of all matters brought to our attention and find that crime, as it is legally known, is at a low ebb in Gray county. This is shown by the fact and number of indictments returned were under the motor fuel division law involving hauling of gasoline under false manifest.

"In process of deliberation we have considered a number of reports and after due consideration of said reports we make the following recommendations:

"That all pool halls and domino parlors close at 12 o'clock midnight on all week days. We have brought this recommendation to the attention of all law enforcement agencies in Gray county and made such recommendation to them and further call upon the owners and managers of said pool halls and domino parlors to cooperate and assist with the law enforcement bodies in fulfilling such recommendations.

"In the process of deliberation we found that one death possibly occurred by failure of prompt medical attention being extended to the injured party. As a body of representative men and citizens of Gray county and as members of various service clubs and organizations of this and adjacent communities we point to the fact that we as citizens and the citizenship of Gray county has faltered in a debt to society along matters of this course.

"As a matter of suggestion we make the recommendation that service organizations or proper authorities consider this matter and establish a fund for the treatment of emergency cases where such treatment becomes a matter of life or death.

"We found some elements who proposed to reopen gambling in Gray county and we make the recommendation to all citizens and to law enforcement bodies that any gambling, regardless of amount, be severely restricted.

"Finally, we have found that Gray county is well policed and wish to compliment all law enforcement agencies of Gray county in their diligent enforcement of the law and recommend that such enforcement continue as it has in the past.

"This, then being our final report, we respectfully submit and ask the honorable district judge that we be discharged on this, the 23rd day of July, 1941."

An incredible maze of tunnels has been bored into the rocky hills about Chungking, China, for air raid protection.

Jap Army Reported En Route To Saigon

(By The Associated Press)

Adolf Hitler's invasion of Russia is slowing down if it has not entirely halted, authoritative London quarters said today, while at Russia's back door there were unconfirmed reports that Japanese and Soviet troops had clashed on the Manchoukuo-Siberia frontier.

In the far east, Japanese warships were reported off Cape St. Jaques and Camranh bay, southern French Indo-China, after the French were said officially to have yielded to Tokyo demands for air and naval bases in the French colony.

Dispatches from Saigon, Indo-China, declared also that 12 Japanese troop transports were en route to Saigon, less than 700 miles by air from Britain's key naval stronghold at Singapore.

Meanwhile, as Premier Mussolini's high command claimed a smashing attack on a British convoy in the central Mediterranean, with four ships sunk and seven others damaged, the authoritative Fascist editor Virginio Gayda asserted there was a "suspicion more than well-founded" that United States submarines were operating with the British fleet in the Mediterranean.

On the Russo-German war front, violent fighting continued without a decisive turn in the conflict.

DNB, the official German news agency, aserted that a large Russian force encircled at Nevel, north of Vitebsk on the central front, had been smashed by Nazi troops "with extraordinarily heavy losses."

The agency said 13,000 Soviet prisoners were captured.

Hitler's high command, once more acknowledging "strong local resistance" by Soviet troops, declared:

"The operations of the German armed forces and of their allies are taking their planned course on the entire eastern front in spite of difficult roads."

German bombers attacked Moscow for the third successive night the Nazi war bulletin said, pounding "vital military objectives."

The Russians said that the raiders, 150 strong, inflicted some casualties in another five and one-half hour assault, but that no military objectives were hit.

Few details were immediately available on the reported clash between Japanese and Russian troops in the east.

Dispatches from Shanghai said the fighting was reported to have started last evening in the vicinity of Changkufeng, the scene of a Russo-Japanese "vestpocket war" in the summer of 1938.

There was no immediate confirmation of the reports, which were said to have come from sources close to the Japanese military, and Japanese army press headquarters in Shanghai said they had "heard nothing" of such fighting.

Far east dispatches in recent days have indicated that Japan would probably attack Russia from the east, along the Siberian frontier, if and when Russia's Red armies in the west collapsed under Nazi invasion blows.

London advices, picturing the German onslaught as having lost its momentum, declared there had been no re-grouping of Nazi armies for a third assault in the 33-day-old conflict—such as might explain the present slowdown.

The Soviet high command reported that bitter fighting raged throughout the night in the three main theaters of action: on the Porkhov (Leningrad) front, the Polotsk-Nevel and Smolensk (Moscow) front, and the Zhitomir (Ukraine) front.

This would indicate that there was again no change in the long battleline stretching from the Baltic to the Black sea. Nor did the Germans claim any specific gains, declaring broadly that Nazi troops were battling fiercely in the Smolensk sector, 230 miles west of Moscow, and in another fierce struggle 100 miles to the rear—apparently the Polotsk-Nevel sector—where masses of Russian infantry were said to have been split by the Nazi Panzer drive up the Napoleonic road to Moscow.

On the southern front, where the Germans are striking toward Kiev, the capital of the Soviet Ukraine, Nazi dispatches said heavy rainstorms had turned the highways into gluey mud, impeding the movement of trucks, heavy artillery and other essential equipment.

Meanwhile, the London radio reported that 5,000 Serbs had risen up against the German conquest in Yugoslavia, attacking Nazi garrisons and outposts. In one foray, 200 Serbs were said to have swooped down from mountain hiding places, attacked a garrison and returned to the hills with prisoners.

In the far east crisis, Japan appeared to have won her reported demands for key naval and air bases in southern French Indo-China, stirring fears of a possible Japanese thrust southward toward Britain's great naval base at Singapore and the rich Dutch East Indies treasure-house of rubber, tin and oil.

Dispatches from Saigon, Indo-China indicated that Japanese occupation of bases in the colony was imminent if not actually underway.

These dispatches said Japan's eyes were fastened chiefly on a naval base at Camranh bay, only 800 miles across the Gulf of Siam from Singapore, and just across the South China sea from British and Dutch Borneo. Also, it was said, the Japanese wanted Saigon airport, less than 700 miles air line to Singapore.

Washington dispatches said the United States and Great Britain were ready to take swift and drastic counter-action:

1. Sweeping economic restrictions on Japan by the United States, possibly including a "freeze" order on Japanese assets in this country, an embargo on oil and other vital materials, the halting of U. S. purchase of Japanese gold, and increasing military aid to China.

2. Possible military action by Great Britain.

Saigon sources reported that Vichy had agreed to military and naval concessions on July 19 but details appeared to have been left to be worked out at Hanoi. Diplomatic sources said in Washington that formal agreement was expected to be announced Monday when details would probably be made known.

British bombers continued their offensive against western Germany and dropped bombs and incendiaries. Berlin said there were a few casualties.

Shortly after dawn today more British aircraft swept across the channel to renew their pounding of German objectives.

German bombers attacked northwest England and Scotland during the night but were reported to have caused little damage.

Italy's role in the war, almost completely overshadowed since the fall of Greece last April, gained attention with reports of an Italian victory in a fierce air-naval battle in the central Mediterranean, lasting from dawn to darkness yesterday.

Premier Mussolini's high command declared that Fascist warplanes and light naval units attacked a big British convoy and sank two explosive-laden steamships of 15,000 and 10,000 tons; torpedoed a 10,000-ton cruiser and an 8,000-ton cruiser; bombed a battleship, a cruiser, a destroyer, a heavy steamer and "another unspecified unit," and sank a destroyer and another large ship.

Simultaneously, the authoritative Fascist editor Virginio Gayda asserted there was "suspicion more than well-founded" that United States submarines were operating with the British fleet in the Mediterranean.

Besides the introduction of assembly delegates there was the introduction of other guests, including George Parks of Houston, E. T. Land, and C. J. Lyons, both of Childress, Charles Everett of Ardmore, Okla., Leroy Land and Dr. R. Malcolm Brown, both of Pampa.

Others introduced were Bob Malar of McPherson, Kas., a past district governor, who made a brief talk; as did O. B. Sellers, Fort Worth, past district governor, and Cal Farley, Amarillo, 127 district governor.

Walter E. Rogers, president of the Pampa club, presided at the luncheon. The program was arranged by Sid Patterson, program chairman.

A transcription of "Stuttering Sam's" comedy talk to a Rotary club was an entertainment feature of the program.

county that does not welcome a chance to do its bit in meeting so vital a need?

Although the collection of aluminum is the primary purpose of the campaign being waged in every city, town and village in the U. S. men and women directing it are hoping that as millions hand over their scrap they will have a new awareness of the need for everybody to lend a hand to a bigger job than this country has ever had to face.

Big and rich and vigorous as our nation is, it is in peril. If the American people carry through on the drive on a great wave of enthusiasm there will be consternation in Berlin, for a few hours at least. As leaders of the aluminum drive await its result, others are watching it, Hitler, Goering, Goebbels and Company.

Miami Pastor To Study In Denver

Special To The NEWS

MIAMI, July 24—The Rev. E. Lee Stanford, pastor of the Methodist church, with his wife and two daughters, Arva Lee and Dorothy Sue, left yesterday for a three weeks' trip to points in western states. Two weeks will be spent in Denver where Rev. Stanford will enroll in a Denver university for work on his doctor of divinity degree.

En route the Stanfords will stop in Santa Fe, N. M., for a few day's visit with the Rev. Stanford's mother.

U. S. O.

General George C. Marshall, chief of staff comments:

"If you could see my daily mail . . . from women all over the country who have boys in the army, you would realize how vastly important it is that we do something and do it quickly. We can manage the thing on the military reservations, but we very urgently need your assistance . . . to help matters off the reservations."

The $2,000 asked of Gray county will pay all the expenses of care and operation of one standard U. S. O. club for one month, and leave $500 over for some of the equipment. It takes $4,700 to take care of the program expenses in a standard club for one year.

Not bragging, mind you, but I'm the most popular carhop at our place. That's why I have had to roller skate to cover all the customers who now call my number.

You see, it was just a month ago my great idea dawned. I began to tell folks how grand-tastin' Grand Prize Beer really was. Because of my salesmanship, customers tried this beer the first time. Now they always specify Grand Prize by name because one bottle of this grand-tastin' beer brings folks back, begging for more. Yes, and when they return, they always ask for me.

Now, if you enjoy deep mellowness, intriguing aroma, and lively sparkle in the beer you drink, call for Grand Prize next time you are thirsty. Bad Roads Hamper Nazis' Red Invasion

BERLIN, July 24 (AP)—Strong Red army resistance and bad roads are hampering the German invasion of Russia, the high command conceded today, but it reported progress on the whole eastern front nevertheless.

Again, the communique from Adolph Hitler's headquarters gave no detail of the vast operations, but DNB, the official German news agency, reported the defeat of a large, trapped Red army force at Nevel, north of Vitebck, with "extraordinarly heavy losses."

It said 13,000 prisoners were taken and declared Russian losses were high because Red army political commissars compelled their troops to continue hopeless resistance.

Another 5,000 captives were said by informed Germans to have been taken in the Mogilev sector, on the south side of the Smolensk salient, after German troops had smashed local resistance.

Booty, these sources said, included weapons, war material and equipment for an entire division.

Again, the communique from Adolph Hitler's headquarters summed up the vast land operations in the one sentence:

"The operations of the German armed forces and of their allies are taking their planned course on the entire east front in spite of difficult roads and strong local resistance."

Of the Luftwaffe's third successive night assault on Moscow, the communique said: "Strong bomber formations last night again dropped explosives of all calibers on vital military objectives in Moscow."

Informed sources said the Soviet air losses yesterday were 111 planes. German lossed were not stated specifically but were described as "hardly one-tenth" of that.

While German armored units battled fiercely on the road toward Moscow, Nazi infantry almost 100 miles to the rear was said to be locked in an equally fierce struggle with masses of Russian troops split by the Panzer drive.

The Germans announced also that the Luftwaffe had sunk eight Russian transports filled with troops on Lake Peapus, on the Russian-Estonian boundary south of Leningrad.

The report said nearly all the Russians drowned.

Ohioans Outnumber Texans At Randolph

Texans are outnumbered by Ohioans at the West Point of the Air, Randolph Field, located at San Antonio.

The reason is that Texans, along with Californians, are being trained at other centers. Texas and California, usually heavy contributors, are well down the list now at Randolph.

Out of the newest class of flying cadets to report at Randolph, one-fourth, or 80, are from the Buckeye state, according to a letter received here by Corporal Harvey M. Gist, U. S. army recruiting officer.

Michigan sent 33 men, Indiana 31, Iowa 24.

Flying cadets spend 10 weeks at Randolph before transferring to advanced training schools for their final phase of training before becoming commissioned officers in the army air corps.

843 Texans Die In Traffic Accidents First Six Months

Special To The NEWS

AUSTIN, July 24—With 140 traffic deaths reported for June, state police statisticians today announced a seven per cent increase in Texas fatalities for the first six months of 1941.

In the first half of 1940 there were 787 deaths; this year the toll for that period rose to 843, an increase of 56.

Worst record was made by towns of under 2,500 population, where fatalities jumped 29 per cent, from 38 to 49.

Poultry Raisers Headed For Record Egg Production

CHICAGO, July 24 (AP)—Spurred on by a government supported market, the nation's poultry raisers are heading for a record egg production year, which, however, will have little comparison with next year's expected bumper output, trade experts said today.

Government appeals to increase egg production for the food-for-defense program, under which the government already has purchased more than 80,000,000 dozens of eggs since January, together with 9 cents a dozen higher prices than a year ago have resulted in a concerted effort by poultry raisers to get the most out of their egg layers as well as to increase their flocks to the limit.

Egg production for the first five months totaled 1,714,583,500 dozens, an increase of 0.3 per cent over last year's record output for the period. Since then egg production is being maintained at a level above a year ago, traders estimated.

In the meantime, however, during May and June commercial hatchery production of baby chicks exceeded the same period of 1940 by 98,329,000 chicks, the largest increase ever recorded, traders said.

Town Of 346 To Be Condemned For Dam

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 24 (AP)—Curtis P. Harris, federal land attorney, said the beginning of the end for Woodville, a town of 364 population in the basin of the Denison, Tex., dam, would begin officially next Wednesday with the filing of a condemnation suit.

Woodville will be the first town to be condemned by the government for inundation by Red river waters caught by the Denison dam.

The suit will seek to condemn the 160 acres comprising the incorporated limits of the southern Marshall county municipality, Harris said.

Other towns to be eliminated later are Aylesworth, also in Marshall county, and Hagerman, across the river in Texas, both of less than 500 population.

To date about 40,000 acres in the Denison dam area have been acquired by the government on the Oklahoma side and more than 100,000 acres are yet to be acquired, Harris said. On the Texas side about 50,000 acres will be purchased by the government.

Today's War Analysis

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Japan would appear at long last to have fulfilled her burning ambition to establish military control over French Indo-China—a base of vast strategic importance and an economic asset as well.

Japanese officialdom is cloaking the maneuvers of this coup with silence, but confirmation of the development will mean that Nippon has made another great advance in her program for the establishment of hegemony over all eastern Asia.

It will mean the creation of a potential military threat of great dimensions to both American and British interests in the Far East.

Development of that threat, I should say, would depend mainly on the progress of the European war. That is, Japan will play an opportunist game, taking advantage of British weakness if the Germans should be successful in their conquest of Europe. Allied success might be expected to restrain Tokyo.

This Japanese move is no bolt from the blue. Its approach has been clearly evident for months. The Washington and London governments therefore have had no surprise flung at them, and presumably have determined the courses they will pursue.

Observers on both sides of the Atlantic anticipate the application of heavy economic sanctions against Japan by America and Britain. There also is unofficial talk of British military action, but one must regard with much reserve any reports of the employment of force at this junction.

The way things look at the moment there would seem to be little reason why the Japanese shouldn't get clean away with this seizure of French Indo-China (if indeed they haven't actually done so already), just as they did in the case of Manchuria. The French can scarcely be expected to defend themselves, especially since Hitler undoubtedly has put the screws on Vichy in order to foster a distraction in the Far East.

A wholesale American embargo would be a terrible blow to Japan. She is dependent on the United States for a heavy percentage of her essential supplies, especially those necessary for the conduct of war. Many important imports also come from the British empire, though those undoubtedly have fallen off since the beginning of the European war.

However, there can be small doubt that Japan fully expects the application of sanctions. She has weighed this contingency in the scales and has decided to take a chance. I should say their reasoning may be that the gamble is justifiable, since a few weeks may show how the European war is turning.

DownThe Mississippi

NEW ORLEANS, July 24 (AP)—Fritz Braatz, 21, and John McAfee, 18, students at North Texas State Teachers college, Denton, Tex., arrived here today after a 2,000-mile trip down the Mississippi river, most of the way by canoe.

The pair left the headwaters of the Mississippi at Lake Itasca, Minnesota, June 9, and paddled their canoe 1,400 miles to St. Louis. They came from there by steamboat to New Orleans.

Birthday Dances Netted $2,104,460

Sweeping high above all former records, the 1941 celebration of the President's Birthday to raise funds for the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, produced a net total of $2,104,460.33, President Roosevelt was told Wednesday.

This was $697,214.70 more than the $1,407,245.74 raised in 1940, the previous high mark, according to a letter received here from Keith Morgan, New York, national chairman.

In Gray county, a total of $429.20 is in the treasury of the local chapter, after remittances had been made to the national committee on the birthday balls held here in 1939, 1940, and this year.

For 1939 the gross here was $220; $300 in 1940; and $340 this year.

As the committee for the celebration of the President's Birthday closed its books for the 1941 campaign, officials of the national foundation were engaged in an extensive study of the present infantile paralysis situation. Outbreaks of the disease generally occur during the warm weather months.

Last summer infantile paralysis epidemics swept a dozen states from West Virginia in the east to Washington on the Pacific coast. There were 9,768 cases reported in 1940, an especially large number.

The epidemic battle so far this year appears to center in the southern states. Outbreaks have already occurred in Georgia, Alabama, and Florida. The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis is prepared to use all of its resources in combating these and any other epidemics which may occur during this summer.

Bets Infuriate President Of PGA

CHICAGO, July 24 (AP)—Tom Walsh, president of the Professional Golfers Association, has tacked up a "not welcome" sign for bookmakers at future tournaments sanctioned by the P. G. A.

Walsh's blast against gambling grew out of a book made and advertised at the Chicago Open last week-end. P. G. A. officials were infuriated to see a sign—"Place Bets Here"—near the ninth green.

"Baseball had to employ Commissioner Landis and pay him $65,000 a year after gamblers hurt the sport," Walsh said. "We of the P. G. A. will not allow the gambling element to take a foothold in golf."

Walsh said he would present a motion to the P. G. A.'s executive committee designed to bar all such books from pro meets.

O'Daniel Vetoes Bill Making Sabotage Punishable By Death

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, July 24 (AP)—Measures making sabotage punishable by death, tightening liquor law enforcement, revising the optometry act and requiring cosmetic tax collections by stamps were dead today by virtume of Governor W. Lee O'Daniel's veto.

On the last day permitted by law, the governor yesterday also swung his veto axe on a resolution requesting congress to combine Mother's and Father's Days but he approved bills to:

Appropriate $300,000 a year for the biennium beginning Sept. 1 as the state's contribution to firemen's pensions under a 1937 law applying to a large number of cities;

Appropriate $147,000 to pay some claims against the state;

Authorize the attorney general to sue New Mexico over division of the Pecos river waters unless an agreement is reached, and,

Exempt newsboys, student nurses, labor union secretaries and chamber of commerce sercetaries making less than $45 monthly from unemployment compensation payments.

O'Daniel said his veto of the sabotage bill was based on conscientious objection to the death penalty and because research had shown such property damage could be punished under 21 state statutes and 11 federal laws.

"As a safeguard, however," he continued, "and in order to show my appreciation of the motives of the Texas senators who sponsored this bill, and show my desire to cooperate wtih them by endeavoring to give it nationwide application instead of only application in one state I intend to carry a copy of the bill with me to Washington and introduce it in the United States senate, changed only to the extent of providing a maximum penalty more severe than the death sentence."

An advocate of substituting a life sentence for the death penalty, the governor later explained that what he meant was "an irrevocable life sentence at hard labor."

O'Daniel declared he disapproved the liquor bill, which contained "provisions which I should be glad to approve on their own merits," because he believed its definition of the open saloon would legalize "the existing beer and wine saloons in Texas . . ."

Asserting he favored some of the provisions in the optometry measure, the governor objected to it because it limited advertising by optomestrists under pain of license revocation.

"I consider honest advertising," O'Daniel stated, "to be one of our great democratic rights, guaranteed by the constitution . . . and no legislation should be enacted which will attempt to take away these rights of free speech and free press."

Among other bills which O'Daniel signed were measures to:

Require teachers in tax-supported schools to take the same oath prescribed for state officials and require foreign visiting teachers to swear they are not members of the Nazi, Fascist of Communist parties.

Place primary election contests directly in the courts instead of party county executive committees.

Extend for five years the primary term of certain oil, gas or mineral leases thrown into litigation.

Revise the weights and measures statutes.

Make stock of building and loan associations eligible as security by depositories of public funds.

Provide an educational director for prison farms.

Regulate life insurance company reports.

Authorize Texas A. & M. college to establish a dairy and poultry experiment station in the Texarkana state senatorial district.

Helsinki Spends Almost All Night In Air Raid Shelters

HELSINKI, Julyy 24 (AP)—Inhabitants of Helsinki spent almost all last night in shelters as one long air alarm followed another and were back in shelters again this morning under new alarms.

Distant explosions were heard throughout the night, but official reports said anti-aircraft fire held off Russian planes trying to attack the capital.

Other southern Finnish cities also were raided, including the port of Turku. Incendiaries fell there, but the damage was said to have been negligible.

Five Russian planes were reported shot down.

Writer Sees "Yoo-Hoo" As Milestone Of Progress Today

By RUTH MILLETT

Girls, we've come a long way in our struggle for equality. Only a few years ago (and don't say you can't remember that far back if you are twenty-five) if a girl, by wearing shorts where she could be seen from a highway, had been whistled at by a passing man or men—it would have been the girl's fault.

And if her Papa had found out about it—there would have been trouble and plenty of it. Even Papa would have believed that it was his daughter's own fault, "for running around with practically no clothes on"—as men used to say in the old days.

But you know what happened when that very incident recently occurred. The young men, who happened to be soldiers, were punished and the girls went right on playing golf, as innocent of starting anything as any girls could be.

That's coming quite a way from the days of the Bloomer girls, when it was considered any man's right—almost his bounden duty—to let out cat-calls and make personal remarks at any woman seen wearing that unfeminine, "revealing" form of dress called bloomers.

MAY BE ON ROAD TO TRUE EQUALITY

It's sort of nice to look back and see just how far we've come on the long road to equality.

Maybe in our own lifetime we will see the man branded as rude and a bore who makes fun of women's hats, says "that's a woman for you" about a woman driver, or thinks that the fact that a woman is pretty and is alone after dark gives him the right to pick her up.

And that, girls, will be true equality—so far as the verdict of public opinion has anything to do with it.

Shop For Grooming Aids—In Furniture Department Of Store

By ALICIA HART

The top-ranking beauty experts always are saying that pleasant surroundings—a home that pleases—make it easier for any woman to maintain a high standard of good looks.

And, right now during midsummer furniture sales, department stores and furniture stores are making refurnishing the home a pleasant, as well as a money-saving venture.

If you know good and well that a dressing table would inspire you to do your face oftener during the day, this is the time to get one. If there is no full-length mirror in your house, look for one during August furniture sales. Being able to look at feet and hat at the same time is a rule with smartly turned out women.

Closets will be neater and shoes will stay new-looking longer if you have an adequate supply of shoe racks or miniature chests, especially designed to hold shoes.

SHOULDER-SHAPED HANGERS ARE GOOD INVESTMENT

In housewares departments and probably on notions counters as well, you'll see wood shoe trees and shoulder-shaped coat hangers of wood. These are a worthwhile investment for any household. Suits hung on shoulder-shaped hangers do not have to be pressed so often.

It might be a good idea to pick up one of those day-and-night mirrors and, by so doing, solve once and for all a great many of your makeup problems.

A makeup box in which to keep all of the cosmetics you use every day will prove to be a time-saver. And boxes with partitions for gloves, stockings, handkerchiefs and such will simplify keeping dresser drawers in good order.

HOLLYWOOD STYLE SCENE APPEARS VERY DARK

Veronica Lake likes this two-piece dress of black crepe, accented with scalloped, embroidered, white faille. Over her arm is the matching jacket with wide revers of the same white faille.

MIDSUMMER FINDS STARS TAKING TO BLACK INDEED

White and gray printed scrollwork frosts the top of Claudette Colbert's first "summer black," which she took from the wardrobe Irene designed for her next picture. The skirt is very straight and narrow and the matching jacket features touches of the same printed scrollwork.

BY DEE LOWRANCE

Black is midsummer madness. And heat makes no difference. The first blacks to be seen on style-wise stars stress the narrow silhouette, dressmaker detailing and sharp accents—harbingers of Fall.

Lunching at the Derbies, teaing by the Beverly-Wiltshire pool, cocktailing at the smartest bars and in private homes, the new blacks rule. And it's a shopping must—a brand-new black dress to beat the season.

Shining, lustrous summer satin, cool jersey, crepes of all varieties, sheers alone or combined with lace, all have their place in emphasizing the pencil-thin line—if they are black.

In-between necklines are out—they must be either very high and severe or daringly low. Peplums and tunics have an important place in the accepted trend. So, too, do hip drapes and softly moulded bodices.

Claudette Rushes the Season

Claudette Colbert rushed the season by buying one of the costumes Irene designed for her to wear in "Skylark"—making it her favorite suit of the moment. Crisp, white scroll printing frosts the bodice top of the slim black crepe dress and is repeated along the collar and button-front of the long, matching black jacket. With this suit, Miss Colbert wears a shiny black straw sailor—largish—and long white suede gloves.

Irene Dunne's new summer black is wool of the lightest weight, fashioned into another slim style with a sunburst of inverted pleats at the waistline, stitched to mould the hips. Never a "flashy dresser," Miss Dunne eschews the favored contrasts, highlights her blondeness with disk earrings in jet and a big, black patent handbag. Her black suede belt and gloves are banded in a geometric embossing.

Helen Vinson walked off the "Among the Living" set in the costume she was wearing the other day—it was so fashion-right for the very formal cocktail party she was to attend and she hadn't had time to shop for her new black. High-necked and long-sleeved, her dull black crepe dress featured a narrow skirt and bloused-in-the-back bodice. With it she wore a striking toque in pastel pink feathers.

Youngsters Like Black

The younger generation is always the first to run to black—if parents permit. Deanna Durbin's trousseau included the black jersey with sharp white accents she is wearing to all the little dinner parties of her set right now. Young Helen Parrish has three slim black sheers she alternates, wearing them everywhere, while young Judy Garland was recently spotted dining out in black satin.

Another young star with a fondness for white-accented black is Veronica Lake who has just finished her second starring film, "Sullivan's Travels." Her two-piece black crepe dress has a jumper blouse, long-waisted with scalloped, eyelet-embroidered, white faille at the high, round neck and edging the short sleeves.

On her matching jacket the same white faille makes the wide revers. The slim-line skirt has gathers grouped at the center front for easy fullness.

And watch black stockings—as sheer as sheer. They are just beginning to be seen around and the stars adore them.

BRA-TOP SLIP

If you wear any size from 34 to 52, here's a slip which will be grand for your figure. It has panties to match, flat in front with tiny pleats and gathered on an elastic band in back. A clever four gore construction does the job of making this one of the smoothest fitting slips you ever made for yourself. The top is just as simple—yet it goes together as a figure-controlling brassiere section.

Pattern No. 8995 is in sizes 34 to 52. Size 36 takes 3½ yards of 39-inch fabric, 1 yard ribbon for shoulder straps. For built up shoulders, size 36 takes 3½ yards. Panties require 1¼ yards.

Low Incomes Take Rap In New Tax Bill

WASHINGTON, July 24. (AP)—A $3,529,200,000 tax bill—biggest in the nation's history and designed to make both individuals and corporations dig deeper than ever to help finance the defense program—headed toward house consideration today after approval by the ways and means committee.

Culminating three months of work, the committee stamped its final aproval on the measure last night after a number of last-minute changes, among them inclusion of unprecedented levies on radio broadcasts and billboards.

New surtaxes on individual net incomes starting at five per cent on the first dollar of taxable income and ranging up to the present maximum of 75 per cent on incomes over $5,000,000 would virtually treble the payments of persons in the lower and middle brackets. For instance, a married man with two children and $3,000 of net income who now pays no tax would pay $11 under the proposed levies. A man with the same number of dependents and a $5,000 net income who now pays $74.80 would pay $202.40 under the new schedule.

The tax on broadcasting, estimated to produce about $4,500,000 annually, would be levied on the net time sales of a station, in excess of $100,000 annually. The rates would start at five per cent on sales of $100,000 to $500,000, increase to 10 per cent on those from $500,000 to $1,000,000 and reach a maximum of 15 per cent on all above that sum.

Persons engaged in renting billboard space to others would be required to pay an occupational tax of $5 yearly on every bill board of 300 square feet or less; $8 on those between 300 and 600 square feet and $11 on those larger. It was estimated this levy would yield $7,000,000.

The measure was scheduled for committee introduction in the house today and administration leaders planned to take it to the floor Tuesday for three days of debate under a tight, special rule which would prohibit all but committee-approved amendments. The rule is to be debated Monday. Passage of the measure next week in approximately its present form was virtually assured, leaders said. Major changes might be made, however, when the bill reaches the senate.

The treasury estimated that the new individual income sur-taxes would produce $1,152,000,000 of the new revenue and that $1,322,900,000 of the balance would come from corporations. The higher estate and gift taxes were counted on to yield about $151,900,000 and new or higher excise levies on almost two-score commodities or services for the remaining $902,400,000.

About $300,000,000 of the individual income tax revenue was estimated to result from a provision of the measure requiring that husbands and wives with separate incomes make joint returns. Present law permits separate returns. Joint returns were expected to force the total taxable income of many families into the high surtax brackets.

In boosting the corporation taxes, the committee concentrated chiefly on excess profits, hiking the rates which now range from 25 to 50 per cent to 35 to 60 per cent and revamping the method of computing such profits.

"TO THE VICTOR"

Just like some Pampa boy will have to win the local derby this week, so Tommy Fisher, 12, had to win the Detroit derby before he could compete—and win—the 1940 finals at Akron, O. Shown above is the happy champion reaping the reward of victory in the All-American Soap Box derby. Tommy holds the plaque that assures him of a four-year scholarship to the college or university of his choice, presented by Chevrolet, co-sponsor of the derby with the nation's leading newspapers. In his arms are cradled the trophies for victory in the All-American race and the fastest heat of the day, while the toastmaster, C. P. Fisken, Chevrolet Motor Division, presents him with the emblem of victory in the international race. Clifford Hardesty, White Plains, N. Y., winner in 1939, helps Tommy manage the glittering array of awards. The presentation is made annually at the Champions' banquet, final event of the derby week-end.

Reduction In Car Output Would Cause Unemployment

WASHINGTON, July 24 (AP)—William S. Knudsen, director of the OPM said today that an arbitrary 50 per cent reduction in automobile production would cause unemployment, and "we will have to go about it in a cooperative way with the industry."

"You can't just chop off 50 per cent," Knudsen said at a press conference, "or you will have a lot of people walking the streets."

Knudsen said that Leon Henderson, administrator of price control and civilian supply, had not conferred with him before announcing last week a tentative program for curtailment of auto output which would approximate a 50 per cent reduction.

The cut will be discussed by an industry advisory committee and the details will be worked out by negotiation, Knudsen declared.

He said that the industry committee probably would work out a schedule by August 1 for auto production during the first three months of the 1942 model year. The year begins August 1.

Italy Claims Large British Warship Sunk

ROME, July 24 (AP)—The Italian high command today reported that Fascist warplanes and naval units had sunk "a large unidentified British warship," a destroyer and two munition-laden steamers in the attacks on a convoy in the western Mediterranean.

The Italians also reported they had torpedoed a 10,000-ton cruiser of the Southampton class and another 8,000-ton cruiser, and said a battleship, a cruiser, a destroyer, a large steamer and another unidentified ship had been damaged by aerial bombs.

Seven British planes were shot down during the operations, a communique said, while three Italian planes were reported missing. Crews of other Fascist planes were said to have returned wounded.

The action was said to have begun at dawn yesterday when Italian scouting planes spotted the heavily-protected convoy moving in an easterly direction. Fascist torpedo-carrying planes were said to have moved at once to the attack, "defying imposing anti-aircraft reaction" and numerous fighting planes sent up from the aircraft carrier.

In a running fight that apparently lasted most of the day, one steamer of 15,000 tons and another of 10,000 tons were reported to have been blown up after being struck by aerial torpedoes.

Also struck by aerial torpedoes during this phase of the engagement, the bulletin said, were a 10,000-ton cruiser of the Southampton type, and an 8,000-ton cruiser.

"Bombed and hit," the high command added, "were a battleship, a cruiser, a destroyer, a steamer of heavy tonnage and another unspecified unit."

After dusk Italian light naval units were reported to have joined the assault upon the convoy. Two Fascist torpedo boats were credited with sinking "a large unspecified unit" and a destroyer.

"All our ships succeeded in getting away and returned to their bases with very slight damage," the communique said. "Rescue of survivors of the sunken enemy ships is under way."

The Italians also reported that one of their submarines had torpedoed "a large tonnage ship" in the some convoy Tuesday night.

The Italians acknowledged that British planes had sunk one of their steamers Tuesday, but said the crew was rescued.

If she can identify Oscar, Miss Castle will ask the council to pass a duck bill.

Rural School Aid Committee Drafts Rules, Regulations

AUSTIN, July 24 (AP)—A joint legislative committee working in an advisory capacity for the administration and equalization of rural school aid today completed drafting rules and regulations for interpretation of the recently enacted law.

The legislature authorized expenditure of $16,808,380 over the current biennium. The state funds supplement local revenues for teachers salaries, high school tuition and transportation of children to schools by buses.

The 10-man legislative committee, headed by Senator Olan R. Vanzandt of Tioga, decided on rules governing expenditure of the state funds beginning Sept. 1.

School superintendents will be mailed copies of the rules and forms for application of funds within a few days.

The committee decided to meet again Aug. 4.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE—"I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation indivisible, with liberty and justice for all!"

The Effective Phase Begins

There have been three phases of the defense program since the President called for the building of effective defense in May, 1940.

From May until that autumn there was a great scurrying to pass appropriations, to let contracts, to draw plans; everything was on paper. It had to be so.

From last autumn through this spring and summer, there was a period of "tooling up"—of providing the specialized tools necessary before producaion could begin, of building factories from the ground up.

Now at last we enter a third phase—when production in effective volume is beginning to roll. Now we begin to get the stuff, and from now on the stream of that production must continue to rise in heightening crescendo until the world comes again, as it will some day, to peace.

Watch the needle flicker across the face of the arms production gauge!

Now it reads "More than 1500 new-model rifles and sub-machine guns are coming off the production lines every day."

Now "The thousandth Hudson bomber is already on its way to England."

Now "Shells will begin to roll off the production line of the Army's $20,000,000 munitions plant at Milan, Tenn., on Aug. 10. Six months ago this plant was a hayfield."

Now "Every naval ship under construction is far ahead of schedule."

Now "Three tank plants are simultaneously getting into actual production on medium tanks, the type the Army has needed most urgently, since light tanks are already in quantity production, and are good enough to have been most helpful to the British in Libya."

Each of these is only a small flick of the needle, but together they show how the defense effort is entering the productive stage. It has been a weary strain to wait month after month, plugging ever harder at the job, with so little apparent result. Now the results begin to come.

With actual tangible guns, tanks, and planes in sight, it should be easier to redouble the effort that will keep them coming in an increasing stream. In that lies the best hope for the American future.

Exploding Rivets

There's plenty of Yankee ingenuity left.

Here's how it solved one problem: One of the time-consuming processes in building an airplane is the endless riveting together of sheets of metal; 40,000 rivets in a fighter plane, 500,000 in a bomber.

First conceived by an American back in 1921, refined by German designers, and now further refined and put in practical use, is the process of explosive rivets. A minute explosive charge is built into the shank of the rivet. It is inserted in its place, and then heat is applied to the rivet head. That explodes the charge in the shank, which expands with the explosion, firmly setting the rivet. It is an invaluable time-saver, especially on blind riveting, since the rivet may be inserted and exploded from the accessible edge of the work.

The only improvement we can think of at the moment would be to shoot the rivets in with a machine gun. We suppose they'll be doing that next.

Taking A Look At The War Situation

According to most commentators it is the belief of the President that this country can take many a belligerent step without formally becoming a participant in the war. Judging by recent German statements, that belief seems to be well-grounded. Hitler's spokesmen denounce the United States and its foreign policy, but they still say that Germany will not be forced into declaring war on us, by "overt acts." In short, Hitler's legions are busy enough now without taking on a new foe.

If Hitler had wished, he could obviously have construed the U. S. military occupation of Iceland as an act of war. Iceland is less than a thousand miles from Germany, and could be developed into a major air base for use against the Reich. Whether or not Iceland is actually a part of the western hemisphere is a highly debatable question. The little island lies across the 20th meridian, which is generally considered the dividing line of the two hemispheres. Two-thirds of the country is east of that line. However, the one-third which is west of the line includes Reykjavik, the only large Icelandic city and port.

The reasons for occupying Iceland are clear enough. First, the American occupation has released numbers of Empire troops for service elsewhere—the bulk of them will probably be sent to Africa, where Britain has just won a decisive victory over France, and where there are rumors of German action to pull Vichy's well-burnt chestnuts out of the fire.

Second, the American occupation of Iceland makes it possible for us to patrol and dominate the greater part of the Atlantic ocean. Thus, British men-of-war need only to protect the convoys from Iceland to English ports, which involves a distance of about 700 miles.

Third, the American occupation of Iceland has made it clear to the world that, as the President said, we will recognize no fixed geographical boundaries in carrying out our policy of protecting this hemisphere from aggressors. It is the government's position that the airplane has made all previous ideas of hemispheric defense more or less obsolete and that our military outposts must be far-flung indeed.

Fourth, the American occupation of Iceland may have been designed as a move to pave the way for future occupation of other foreign possessions in our part of the world, notably Dakar, in French Africa, and the strategic Cape Verde islands.

Theoretically, our navy is not convoying British shipping. It is simply patrolling the Atlantic. In actuality, many authorities believe, there is little difference between a convoy and a patrol. It has been announced that an American destroyer dropped depth charges over a German submarine. And American ships are at sea now, warning the British whenever they come on a Nazi raider. The American navy, in other words, is pretty much in the war.

Furthermore, American aid, though many still feel that it is not great enough, is becoming a real factor in the conflict. Some of the great bombers which have been blasting at German-occupied areas on the continent, are of American make. British dreams of air equality and eventual superiority have not yet been realized, but they are coming closer in actuality. And at this time, with a large part of the German strength mobilized in the eastern front, British power, relatively speaking, is undoubtedly greater by far than in the past.

The recent statement by a British general to the effect that American manpower will be eventually necessary to lick Hitler, caused much speculation in this country. The British position, as stated by Mr. Churchill, has always been that the Empire needed only materials of war, not men. Whether that position will be changed, remains to be seen. Right now, there would be no small chance of Congress authorizing another A. E. F.

In U. S. military circles, it is felt that the Russians proved tougher than the Germans expected. In these same circles, it is also felt that Germany will probably defeat Russia's European armies in the long run, though at a fearful cost in Nazi troops and material.

However, European Russia is only one part of that vast country. Asiatic Russia also has great armies and important industrial centers. The authorities are convinced that Hitler cannot stop until he has destroyed Russian miliary power in total, and caused an overthrow of the Communist regime. Not until that is done can Hitler feel that he is safe from attack from the east.

That explains the belief in some quarters that Hitler may come to disaster in Russia. The size of Russia alone presents the invader with tremendously difficult problems, and Russian soldiers have always been fine defensive fighters. Stalin's "scorched earth" policy is said to be producing results.

Forty-Seven Are Safer

One element of complete defense is the know-how of the defense of cities against air attack. The United States need not yet develop anti-aircraft defenses on the British scale, but knowledge of the know-how is a first step.

Police and fire department officials from 47 east coast cities are sending representatives to Edgewood Arsenal, New Jersey, to take a course in methods of combating bombing attacks; similar representatives of 40 cities have just completed a course set up by the chemical warfare section of the army in combating demolition and incendiary bombs and poison gas. Similar courses for cities along the Gulf and Pacific coasts, and later the central states, will be given.

Of all preparedness measures, such as these are the most purely defensive, and a country whose cities know in advance what to do in case of an air attack is a less vulnerable country.

LOWERING THE DRAFT AGE LIMIT

(Chicago Tribune)

The draft act was, as The Tribune said when it was pending before congress, a fraud on the people of the United States. Its primary objective was not to strengthen national defense but to promote war hysteria for the benefit of the third term.

Now that the administration of the act has been turned over to the army, which is interested in defense but not in politics, it has been necessary to strip it of some of its fraudulent features in order to adapt it to military necessity. That is the meaning of the reduction of the maximum draft age from 35 to 27 years, proposed by Brig. Gen. Hershey, the selective service director, and approved by the senate military affairs committee.

The economic absurdity of drafting men in their thirties, when the majority of them have married and are advancing toward responsible positions in business and industry, was made clear when the original draft bill was pending. The only object in retaining the high age limit was the political one of spreading the hysteria as widely as possible. The original propagandists for the draft had suggested a 45 year limit. Now the army says it wants young soldiers.

The amendment proposed by Brig. Gen. Hershey is commendable. If it is subject to any criticism, it is that it does not lower the maximum age enough. Twenty-three years would be a better maximum than 27, with the minimum age also dropped to 18 years. A draft liability period from 18 to 23 should, within a year or two at most, satisfy the needs of the army, and it would be much more satisfactory to the draftees themselves.

It is orten a considerable sacrifice for a man to give a year to the army at 26 or 27. Often, by that time, he has married. He has usually got a start in his life work. From economic, physical, and educational standpoints a year in the army could hardly be called a sacrifice to a boy who has just finished high school.

He rarely has financial responsibilities. He is capable of strenuous work, yet still at an age when that work will benefit him physically for life. If he intends to go to college, a year in the adult world under army discipline will enable him to take far better advantage of his later educational opportunities.

Whether the draft is to become a permanent institution in the United States depends largely on whether our national policy demands a mass army. If we avoid the folly of foreign crusades—such as the one now being urged upon us—there is sound military opinion that we do not need such an army. But if we do have one, the younger we take the draftees the better it will be for both them and the army.

EXCELSIOR

(Pittsburgh Post-Gazette)

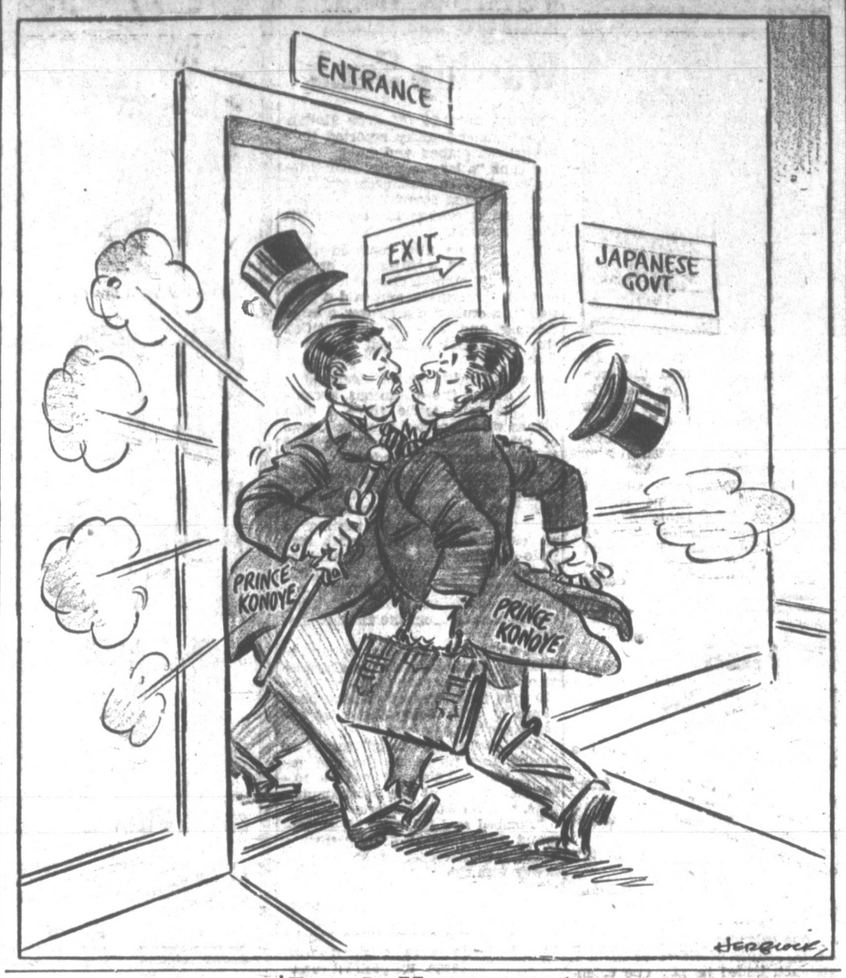
One is compelled to admire the sterling optimism with which the new collector of internal revenue at Pittsburgh enters upon his task.

For years and years the government and various collectors have been trying to get the $4,165 in back income taxes Senator Guffey has owed since along in 1923.

Does the new collector give up? Does he hedge, does he falter, does he temporize? Not a whit. He expresses confidence that some day, somewhere, the senator will settle up with the United States, when by scrimping and saving and depriving himself of the pleasures that other senators enjoy he manages to save $4,165 out of the meager $10,000 salary he draws at Washington.

That's the spirit! Never say die.

"OOPS! BEG MOST HONORABLE PARDON"



Around Hollywood

BY PAUL HARRISON

HOLLYWOOD, July 24—If you were looking for a eulogy of Hollywood, you'd probably never think of going to aminister for it. This certainly isn't a godless town, but neither is it a devout one. The goodness that is here is found mostly in such humanities as charity and kindness and honesty, rather than in ceremonial reverence.

So I was surprised reading some of the things—all favorable—that Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, of the Collegiate Church on New York's Fifth Avenue, said about Hollywood when he addressed the International Christain Endeavor Convention at Atlantic City recently. The clergyman had been working several weeks in Movietown as technical adviser on Warner's filming of "One Foot in Heaven," a biography of a small town parson.

He really made a job of it. There were a few in the company who'd have been a little more comfortable if he had been less zealous about earning his money. Dr. Peale was on the set all the time and was conscientious about offering plenty of advice.

BETTER THINGS OF LIFE

When he got back east Dr. Peale called Hollywood "the hardest-working place I ever saw. It is more than a money making industry, for its leaders find satisfaction in getting over a message of Americanism and the better things."

He said of the people: "The handful of actors who have bad reputations, the few irresponsibles, do not represent Hollywood. The people are not blase and sophisticated, but wholesome, friendly, home-loving folks. They are learning that they need not drag in a drinking scene to fill up a dull spot."

WATTS DISSENTS

About the time Dr. Peale was delivering his panegyric, a New York critic, Richard Watts of the Herald-Tribune, was writing a very different estimate of Hollywood following a visit here. He said:

"It does more to bring cheapness and degradation to those who come within its malign influence than any mechanical invention since the colored light. It softens intelligence, breaks down integrity, destroys sensitivity and cheapens most of the things and people it touches.

"Hollywood has not simply been taken over by men and women inherently lacking in taste and intelligence. It has captured people who have possessed those qualities to splendid degree and then has proceeded to destroy both of these virtues."

Obviously Dr. Peale and Mr. Watts didn't get around with the same crowd. Obviously, too, neither of them knows too much about the place and its people, but the fact that two such completely opposite opinions can be so confidently voiced is evidence that Hollywood can't be classified or analyzed. It is fine and filthy, brave and craven, rich and poor, hard and sentimental, and all the other contradictory adjectives you can think of.

It's a place where many people are hoping to be discovered, and many others are hoping they won't be. It's a place to which Broadwaymen love to come to be homesick. Here beauty is often synthetic, but bow legs and big ears are okay of you've got that certain spark. It's a place where a kid may earn more than the president of the United States and then be washed up at the age of 12.

The international agreement regulating the treatment of war prisoners was signed by 47 nations, including Britain, Germany and the United States.

PM says that no mention of Goering has been in the German press or radio for four weeks where his activities used to be reported daily. Hitler is said to have called Goering a coward. Says PM, "as for cowardice, no brief is held for Hermann in this quarter, yet it does not seem to be on the record that he flopped in the nearest gutter when the shooting started in the Munich Beer Putsch, as did a certain Guttersnipe we could name. . . Of course there is the possibility that Hermann could not find a gutter the right size . . . If Hermann were gone there would at least be more room in Germany and that would be a partial solution of the Lebensraum problem that has had poor Shicklgruber in tears so often. Of course about 750,000 German boys who marched to the Russian adventure won't take up room any more in the Fatherland.

MARINE DISASTERS

The number of marine disasters always rises during a war, when the dangers of the sea are multiplied by the destructive devices of man. Here is a set of questions about sea tragedies in time of peace and war.

1. What was the first U. S. ship sunk in World War II?

2. Which of these vessels were lost, due to war, and which due to nature's action at sea; Lusitania, Athienia, Morro Castle Galway Castle, Titanic?

3. What three nations lost submarines in diving disasters the summer before the present war began, and what were their names?

4. What two huge battleships were recently lost by Britain and Germany with practically no survivors?

5. What was the last ship sunk as the result of action in World War I?

● THE LOOKING GLASS

THE NUDE

By Stella Halt

Under the strong light of the studio Diette Dowling posed in the nude. She was quiet and immobile as a splendid Grecian marble. A group of artists worked intently, more concerned with the shaping of clay than with the model. The instructor went through the class, complimenting and criticizing. One student was not getting at all the fine proportions of the Dowling bust. A young girl was constructing a ballet dancer. No matter who modeled this girl's figure was always the same, the ballet dancer she would like to be. A sour man was battering his clay into a figure that looked more like a stallion than a woman.

The Greek with the furrowed brow was making his clay a miniature of the sweetly proportioned Diette, her firm ample breasts, her long thin torso and finely proportioned legs. Diette's flesh was the ivory color he had often seen in priceless classic marbles of his native land. He worked feverishly lest he wake and find that no such model had existed.

After work he went to a nearby cafeteria and with his mind still on his masterpiece he almost crashed into an elegantly gowned woman. Upon offering apologies he was delightfully surprised to see that it was Diette, in the flesh no longer, but in the clothes, beautiful slinky black silks and dripping silver foxes. She was so beautiful a man could look at her all evening without tiring. The Greek asked if she could honor him by taking coffee. She could.

She took one sip and then sighed that she was terribly tired. There were so many men pursuing her.

"Most women would envy you," offered the Greek.

She smiled sweetly and went on. "The men have chased me all my life. I married at 17. That man ran away with a rich blonde. Then I married again and went to Alaska. I was buried alive there so I divorced him. Then I went to stay with a married couple and the wife went away and left me with the husband. She named be as correspondent in her divorce. I have a couple of boy friends but I don't like them much. Men are just interested in one part of a woman. I want to know somebody like you. You are serious and you come from a foreign country. You know how to talk to women."

The Greek had no opportunity to talk at all. He listened. She had only taken half her coffee and they were already very far advanced in the relation. He'd have to be more careful about inviting people to have coffee.

"Do come and see me. I want to know you much, much better," said Diette turning on a look she believed led to conquest.

She saw one of her boy friends and with indecent haste ran towards the front of the cafeteria. The Greek looked after her and saw that she was still nude. Her physical nudity had dignity and grace, but when she threw the garments of her soul aside there was no beauty there. Her soul was petty, and grasping, and cheap.

Behind The News In Washington

BY PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON, July 24—If the class in dizzy arithmetic will now come to order, an effort will be made to explain why the wheat farmers in Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Illionis, Indiana, Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Virginia—to mention just a few states—are now holding indignation meetings, petitioning congress and screaming in anguish over the 49-cent-a-bushel wheat penalties slapped on by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

To understand this simple little problem, all you have to do is take the case of one farmer who has exceeded his triple-A acreage allotment this year, and see what can happen to him:

Making it easy, suppose Farmer Friend has a wheat acreage allotment of 100 acres. Don't ask who decided Friend's allotment was only 100 acres, or how or why it was fixed at 100 acres, for that would only add to your confusion. Just take it that a representative of the man with the whiskers came around and told Farmer Friend that he could grow wheat this year on only an even hundred acres.

Farmer Friend, however, figured rightly that there would be a good market for wheat this year, decided to grow wheat on 125 acres.

AN EXPLANATION, PLEASE

Friend's average yield on wheat has been, say, 10 bushels to the acre, but this year, what with too much rain, his yield was only five bushels to the acre. Instead of getting a normal 1000 bushels on his allotted 100 acres, he gets only 625 bushels on 125 acres. You might think that since his total is still under his normal yield, it wouldn't make any difference, but it isn't that easy.

The government told him he could grow wheat on only 100 acres. So, he is permitted to sell without penalty only wheat grown on those 100 acres, or 500 bushels. The other 125 bushels is what causes him the trouble.

AAA recommends that Farmer Friend store this 125 bushels. If he stores it under seal on his own farm, the government will pay him 7 cents a bushel the first year, plus 5 cents more the second year. If he stores until April 30, 1943, the government will pay him 12 cents a bushel, or $15, just for keeping his own 125 bushels of excess wheat off the market. If a shortage should develop before the expiration date, the government might permit him to sell it.

In storing the 125 bushels, the farmer has to put up a personal cash or security bond or get a couple of his neighbors to go on his bond guaranteeing the wheat won't be sold. If he gets the neighbors to go on his bond and then sells, the neighbors may be stuck. The amount of the bond in this case is fixed at 49 cents a bushel, or for 125 bushels, it would be $61.25. If Farmer Friend sells, he forfeits bond.

Supposing Farmer Friend is a little hard up and wants to borrow money in his surplus 125 bushels. Well, his big-hearted Uncle Sam will extend him a loan at 3 per cent interest calculated in this simple little manner: The AAA national loan rate average on wheat for this year is 98 cents a bushel. Again, don't worry about how they arrived at that figure. Just take it, and don't ask silly questions. Anyway, the government will loan up to 60 per cent of that amount, which is 58.8 cents per bushel. On 125 bushels the Farmer Friend's sad case, this amounts to a loan of $63.40.

Supposing Farmer Friend says to heck with all this red tape. Well, maybe he can bootleg it and get away with it, but the chances are he can't for every farmer, just before harvest time, gets his "market card." Without the market card, the farmer can't sell to an elevator or to any first buyer. And all first buyers are checked by AAA inspectors to see that there's no cheating.

FINE THING, THIS FINE

To sell legitimately, Farmer Friend must pay a penalty on this 125 bushels of surplus wheat he grew on the 25 surplus acres, and that penalty amounts to one-half the national loan rate average of 98 cents a bushel, or 49 cents a bushel. For 125 bushels this would be $61.25, which is a pretty steep fine to pay for growing too much wheat, in anybody's court.

Supposing the farmer decides to outsmart 'em by feeding this excess wheat to his stock. That's all right, says the government, as long as he doesn't sell the stock. But if he is selling the stock, it would be illegal for him to feed his own hogs with surplus wheat grown on his own surplus acres.

From this last point it might be concluded logically that the farmer could grind his own wheat into his own flour for his own wife to bake into his own bread to feed his own children—provided he didn't intend to sell the children.

Anyway, the foregoing is offered as evidence of why one farmer in Michigan burned his whole crop. That was, perhaps, the easiest solution to the whole matter.

MURDER IN CONVOY

BY A. W. O'BRIEN

COPYRIGHT, 1941, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY: Greg is dancing with Joan the following night, when the spotlight shines on Joan's hair and Rollins suddenly remembers where he saw her before. He leaves her abruptly. Later that night, he hides behind a lifeboat on "A" deck. He sees some figures, hears a shot. Leaping from his concealed position, he covers one of the figures with his revolver. It is Joan. The other, Miley, is sprawled out on deck—dead. Rollins turns Joan in to the colonel, explains that he first saw her in the German Embassy office in Ottawa before the war.

READY FOR ATTACK

CHAPTER X

"WARSHIPS on the horizon!"

From mouth to mouth, shortly after daybreak the next day—fourth morning at sea—the cry swept excitedly through "T 9." No alarm was felt among the troops because the warships escorting the passenger liners and freighters were not making any move in the direction of the newcomers—this must be the Atlantic rendezvous point where a heavy naval force from the Royal Navy was to bolster the already large escort and allow a number of Royal Canadian Navy warships to return to home patrol.

Aboard "T 9" there was an unbelievable silence about Lieutenant Miley's murder the night before.

Rollins, Captain Murdoch, the medical officer and two sentries who had first-hand knowledge of the tragedy were summoned before Colonel Stephenson within a half hour after Rollins had taken the girl into custody. All were ordered, under severe penalty, to keep absolute silence about the happening "until the court martial convenes upon arrival at our destination."

In the morning Rollins brought a written statement to the colonel.

"My compliments to you, Mr. Rollins, on a most complete report. I have not yet decided whether we shall file this statement with the court martial. Instead, we feel rather inclined to file a laudatory report on your excellent work in bringing this investigation to a successful close."

Rollins was obviously taken aback. "But, Sir, I deliberately . . ."

"I know what you are going to say, Rollins," interrupted the colonel, "but neither Murdoch nor I have the least doubt about your motives, and while you may have been led temporarily astray by urges not uncommon to young officers, you vindicated yourself by acting like an officer conscious of his duty when the crisis came.

Airplanes appeared over the convoy, ready to help the troop-filled boats.

"For that reason, I am not willing to lose the services of a capable subaltern, even for the few weeks demanded by court martial red tape, while we have need of his services in training activities. After all, there is a war on and commanding officers are allowed some discretionary powers—unofficially, of course."

Rollins broke the silence. "Thank you, Sir, and I do appreciate your generosity. But, under no conditions, would I wish for any commendation for any service I may have rendered. If it is possible, please do not mention my name in any special role. You see, Sir"—his voice came perilously near breaking—"I feel enough like a Judas as it is, and although the evidence against Nurse Davaar seems absolutely—"

The colonel stood up, his hard face melting into surprisingly soft lines. "This is a cruel world, my boy, especially for the young. Don't make it worse by sickening your soul with undeserved self-accusation, or an unfortunate amour. We have a big job ahead of us—you and I—and that's all that must matter. Good morning, Rollins."

ABOARD the battle cruiser commanding the convoy, Captain Leedscourt, V. C., was fingering a "sideboard" as he stood on the bridge reading a decoded message flashed a few minutes before from one of the newly arrived destroyers. His face lighted with pleasure as he read the name at the bottom of the signal.

"Reply, also in code because the party to whom it is directed is sailing incognito, to the effect that I extend my compliments and shall raise a toast to his success."

He turned to his first officer. "Admiral Romely himself is commanding the new flotilla. The old seadog only casts off from his red leather chair at the Admiralty Office in London when a fight is scented."

The first officer made a feeble attempt to conceal his eagerness. "And how about us, Captain? Are we likely to see any fun?"

Captain Leedscourt stamped hi feet on the cold deck. "Not thi trip, curse the luck. Call Ryder and Linton to report to my quarters immediately—with yourself, of course."

In his quarters, Captain Leedscourt stretched a map across the table.

"I have just received a command from Admiral Romely to make preparations for an all-out assault by the enemy, likely within 600 miles of our destination which is here"—he pointed to a Scottish port on the map—"and although it is practically certain that he shall draw the attack in a decoy maneuver, which I shall explain presently, we must nevertheless be ready."

Captain Leedscourt carefully broke the seal on an envelope stamped all over with: "Sealed Orders," "His Majesty's Royal Navy," "Secret."

Based upon reports from British Secret Service sources, there was every indication that the enemy would make a major attack on the troopship convoy.

The convoy would carry on and invite the enemy attack, but—Captain Leedscourt beamed as he read with obvious satisfaction—the enemy would encounter major opposition unhindered by accompanying troopships.

That night, as soon after sunset as Captain Leedscourt deemed advisable, he was to have the nine troop-carrying liners drop from the main convoy and together with his original escorting force veer off into a northerly route.

A fast destroyer, acquainted with his route, would bring fresh orders when the time came to return to the original course.

A junior officer rapped on the captain's door and stepped inside, saluting smartly. "Beg pardon, Sir. There's one of our aircraft carriers accompanied by a battle cruiser to port, also approaching from the southeast!"

Captain Leedscourt, V. C., sniffed audibly. "Getting rather crowded out there. Romely is growing unbecomingly cautious in his waning years."

Soldiers Invited To 'Yoo-Hoo' At Co-Eds Of NTSTC

Special To The NEWS

DENTON, July 24—One hundred and ten soldiers from the intelligence corps of Camp Wolters in Mineral Wells were entertained on the North Texas Teachers college campus Saturday afternoon and night by 125 co-eds who served them a picnic supper, attended the college stage show with them, and tagged them at a no-stag dance.

Four pretty girls met the soldiers at the forks of the Dallas-Fort Worth highways with Frederick Eby of the NTSTC education faculty at 5:30 Saturday afternoon to officially welcome them to NTSTC. At the gates of the recreation park the soldiers were greeted by a reception committee and escorted to the various facilities of the recreation park by the group of waiting co-eds.

Some skated, some swam, and others played games on the volley ball, badminton, miniature golf, and croquet courts, but all joined in the barbeque supper at 6:45.

Floyd Graham and his Aces of Collegeland dedicated the regular Saturday night stage show to the soldiers, invited them to "yoo-hoo" at all the "short-clad" co-eds and featured three vocalists from the camp on the stage show.

Immediately after the dance the orchestra adjourned with soldiers and co-eds to the recreation park concrete slab where they played for a girls-tag-dance until 12 o'clock. Soldiers escorted girls of their choice to their dormitories, sorority houses, and halls.

Tonight co-eds from NTSTC will attend the regular Friday night dance at Camp Wolters and are already planning to entertain Camp Wolters soldiers on the NTSTC campus again Saturday, August 2, with another picnic and dance.

Borgans Will Also Be Here Friday Night

A hard-fighting bunch of ball players will come back to their home diamond tonight after a week's tour on the league circuit, when the Pampa Oilers return home to play the first of a two-game series with the Borger Gassers.

It's easy to cheer for the team that is always on top of the ladder, but it takes real sportsmanship not to yell quits when the going is a bit rough. That's why Pampa fans should turn out in big numbers at 8:30 o'clock tonight at the local ball park and show the Oilers they are behind them, win, lose, or draw; for the Oilers are always giving the fans their best.

The Oilers took two games on their trip, winning one against Borger, the team they will play tonight, and one against Big Spring. Last night's game against Lamesa was rained out.

Either Montgomery or Glab will probably pitch for the Oilers tonight and the batting order will likely be Haralson, ss; Matney, rf; Hale, 3b; Scott, lf; Frierson, 1b; Phillips, 3b; Reynolds, c; Smith, cf; and the pitcher. Harold Miller, co-owner, said today

On Monday night the Oilers will play the Wichita Falls nine at the local diamond, and Lubbock will be here Tuesday night.

The Oilers have lost 13 games and won five since Sammy Hale took the manager's position on July 5. However, as Mr. Miller, co-owner of the team pointed out, five of these losses have been by only one run, and three of the losing games have been in extra innings.

Snipe Conley To Make His Second Start

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

DALLAS, July 24 (AP)—Stout-hearted old Snipe Conley, who at 49 won his comeback pitching effort in the Texas league, makes his second start here Sunday.

Opposing him will be another ancient of the diamond, 48-year-old Oscar Tuero, also making a comeback but under different circumstances.

Behind oCnley's courageous battle the night of June 25 is a dramatic story. It's about a fellow who returned to baseball after 13 years to hurl the Dallas Rebels to a victory that sent the club toward the top of the Texas league.

There's no doubt but that Conley's unheard of exploit inspired the Dallas team. That night Dallas was in seventh place and giving every indication of going lower.

But Conley pitched and won his game and with every pitch the Rebels took on life. Observers said it was the first time they had really looked like a ball club all season.

"What he can do we can do," the players said grimly. Today Dallas is in third place and waging a mighty battle for second. Virtually certain to get into the Shaughnessy championship play-off, the Rebels have won 24 of their last 35 games.

Conley has waited a month to pitch again. Meanwhile, he has been doing road work and working with a semi-pro club to get in shape for nine innings.

Baseball's oldest rookies will be opposing each other Sunday. Tuero, out of pro ball for eight years, had been pitching in batting practice for Shreveport. The Sports signed him for five days to fill a breach caused by injuries to two hurlers. When the ailing returned he was released. But now he has been signed again and will start against Conley.

Both Tuero and Conley are rookies under Texas league rules although the Cuban was in pro baseball for 19 years and Conley 17 before they retired the first time.

Brooklyn Gives Riddle First Beating Of Year

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Brooklyn Dodgers have solved the Riddle, heretofore known as Elmer, the Unsolved, and given the Cincinnati Reds their biggest shock since the New York Yankees swept the 1939 World Series in four straight

The young righthander had won 11 games without a defeat this season and became a symbol of hope for the beleaguered National league champions.

Last night, while a crowd of 30,000 at Crosley field whooped in glee, Riddle gained a 4-0 lead over the groggy Dodgers in the first five frames and looked unbeatable. Then with two resounding salvos Brooklyn came from behind to crush him 5-4 and continue the first place deadlock in the senior circuit.

Frank McCormick, last year's most valuable player in the National league, was knocked out by one of Kirby Higbe's fast balls which struck him on the head, but an examination at the hospital showed he had received only a mild concussion and might be able to appear in the lineup tomorrow and preserve his "iron man" string of 549 consecutive games.

The victory checked a Brooklyn skid just in time, for St. Louis Cardinals nosed out the New York Giants 5-4 in a 12-inning thriller in an effort to gain exclusive possession of first place.

Lon Warneke held the Giants to two hits for eight innings, but the New Yorkers caught up with him in the ninth and tied the score. However, the Redbirds punched across the winning tally in the 12th on a pair of singles to give Ernie White, working one inning in relief, credit for his second victory in two days.

Vince DiMaggio doubled with the bases loaded in the fourth inning of a night game to boost the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 5-2 decision over the Phillies.

In the other National league game, Dick Errickson's seven-hit hurling brought the Boston Braves a 6-1 triumph over the Chicago Cubs.

The New York Yankees conquered the Cleveland Indians again 3-2 to draw nine games out in front of the American league pennant race, so called. Marius Russo limited the Indians to five hits and Joe DiMaggio and Charley Keller each hit home runs.

The Chicago White Sox went on a rampage and whipped the Boston Red Sox 10-4 with a 17-hit bombardment, led by Taft Wright and Myril Hoag, each with four hits.

A two-run homer by Frank Hayes helped the Philadelphia Athletics nudge the St. Louis Browns 5-4 and move within one percentage point of the fifth-place Detroit Tigers, who were humbled for the 10th time in 14 meetings by the Washington Senators, 6-1. Both were night games.

Kellam said that of the total, a majority of whom were placed in permanent work through the Texas State Employment service, 1,124 obtained jobs in June.

Mulloy Eliminates Lanky Frank Kovacs

SEA BRIGHT, N. J., July 24 (AP)—The path to a fourth singles championship in the Sea Bright tennis tournament has been smoothed considerably for Bobby Riggs—thanks to a player who never has beaten Riggs and who thinks Bobby still is the top man in the business.

The helpmate is Gardnar Mulloy, who practices law, teaches economics at the University of Florida and still finds time to play first-class tennis. He scored the biggest upset thus far in the 54th annual tournament yesterday by eliminating lanky Frank Kovacs.

Kovacs was Riggs' opponent in last year's final, and the former national champion had to play exceptional tennis to win the five-set battle.

Mulloy now is considered a strong favorite to reach the semi-finals. Today he meets Ladislav Hecht, the former Czechoslovakian Davis Cup star, who gained the quarter-finals at the expense of the veteran Bitsy Grant.

Riggs will face young Jack Kramer. If all goes well, Riggs and Mulloy will lock horns in the semi-finals.

The other men's quarter-finals today pit top-seeded Don McNeill against Ted Schroeder and Frankie Parker against Wayne Sabin.

Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Cooke, Helen Jacobs, Dorothy Bundy and Helen Bernhard are the semi-finalists in the women's singles.

Plan of the meet is much the same as it was last year. Trophies will be offered in five divisions; senior men, junior men, midgets, senior women, junior women. Besides the trophies for high point scorers in each division there will be medals and other awards for event winners, according to J. H. Nail, News-Journal sports editor.

Medleys, dashes and low and high board diving for all classes are on the tourney schedule.

Inquiries should be addressed to News-Journal sport department or Wade Stroud, Hillcrest pool, Clovis, N M. The meet will be run according to A.A.U. rules in compliance with regulations when the official sanction was granted recently.

Bob Pastor Hands Turkey Thompson A Bad Beating

LOS ANGELES, July 24 (AP)—Bob Pastor may have earned himself a money-bout with Billy Conn next fall when he handed Turkey Thompson of Los Angeles a bad beating in 10 rounds last night in the Hollywood ball park.

Mike Jacobs, a witness at the one-sided contest stepped over after the decision and said:

"I'm trying to make a match between Pastor and Conn for next November."

Jacobs obviously was impressed with Pastor's win over the dangerous, but ineffective Thompson. The ex-New York university collegian captured seven rounds, with two to Thompson and one even, in Referee Abe Roths book. The Associated Press card gave Pastor nine rounds, with one, the eighth, to the 21-year-old

Houston Beats Cats In Doubleheader

(By The Associated Press)

San Antonio's Missions stirred from the cellar for a 4-2 victory which halted the Dallas Rebels' winning streak at eight straight in Texas league games last night while Oklahoma City nudged into fifth place through a 3-1 win over Beaumont.

The loop-leading Houston Buffs continued their serene bowling over of all opposition in taking a doubleheader 2-0 and 7-6 from Fort Worth's Cats and Shreveport nosed out the Tulsa Oilers 4-3 in a ten-inning battle.

Pitcher Joe Demoran of the Rebels was kept from notching his seventh victory in a row as the Missions hit him for 13 safeties.

Freddy Martin registered his 17th victory of the season in the opener against Fort Worth, gave up only three hits, but needed the three bingles in the seventh by the Buffs to edge the Cats' Jackie Reid. Glenn Gardner outlasted three Fort Worth pitchers in the nightcap.

The Indians could fete big Stan Goletz for their triumph. The huge southpaw, chalking his 11th win of the year, smothered the Shippers with a five-hitter and belted 2 for 3.

Tulsa's runs were unearned against the Sports, who won in the tenth when Vernon Washington singled and Murrell Jones belted a one-bagger to score him.
