Times Says Manpower Is Short

NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's armed services have almost exhausted their trained and ready military units, with all available forces spread dangerously thin in Viet Nam and elsewhere, the New York Times said today.

Hanson W. Baldwin, military affairs expert of the Times, wrote that this is the conclusion of a study he made of United States Regular and Reserve forces.

The story also said in part:

Virtually all the combat-ready units in the United States have been committed to Viet Nam. And except for a few Army and Marine battalions and a few squadrons of the Tactical Air Command, no more units will be fully trained and equipped for a number of months.

In addition to the shortages in trained military manpower and in field-grade officers, there are major existing shortages in uniforms and clothing, and actual or potential shortages of various types of ammunition and equipment that are causing the services concern.

The commitment of more than 200,000 men to Viet Nam, supported by strong air and naval forces, and the maintenance of two divisions in Korea, more than five in Europe and of smaller units elsewhere, including the Dominican Republic, have reduced the forces in the United States to a training establishment.

The experience level of the Atlantic Fleet and of all other commands has been reduced to provide the needs of Viet Nam.

According to the services, the "squeeze" appears to be becoming worse instead of better.

Viet Cong's Hard Core Hit By Massive Attack

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Calvary troopers and B52 bombers teamed up today in tear gas and bombing attacks on the suspected hiding place of a hard-core Communist regiment on South Viet Nam's central coast. A U.S. Navy destroyer poured shells into potential havens along the shore.

The massive nontoxic gas, air and naval attacks hit areas where U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division troops, U.S. Marines and South Vietnamese forces are tracking down several regiments of well-trained enemy troops.

With the Marines and South Vietnamese pressing an enemy force of between 900 and 1,000 in the Phuoc Valley about 300 miles to the south near Bong Son.

The cavalrymen launched the attack by spraying the area with tear gas from helicopters.

Then the superbombers flying from Guam saturation-bombed the target area.

After the air attack, troops of the cavalry division's 5th Regiment donned gas masks and flew into the target aboard helicopers. Their mission: assess damage done by the B52s and wipe out any Viet Cong survivors. But dusk prevented any survey.

In the air, the United States lost a jet bomber and two helicopters.

The U.S. 7th Fleet destroyer Orleck joined the ground assault by blasting the coast of Quang Ngai Province with 309 rounds of five-inch shells, either wrecking or damaging more than 100 buildings in an area the Viet Cong have used for rest camps.

The air war continued in North and South Viet Nam.

Below the 17th Parallel frontier, heavy Communist groundfire struck two B57 Canberra tactical bombers flying tight support of South Vietnamese troops closing in on 40 to 50 Viet Cong in an open area.

One of the twin-engine jets crashed with its rear fuel tank ablaze but the pilot, Capt. J. T. Stanley, 34, of New Boston, Tex., and the navigator Capt. Henry S. Jorgren, 36 of Lisbon Conn., were picked up uninjured by an Army helicopter after bailing out. The other Canberra limped back to Da Nang, 45 miles south of Hue.

Two U.S. Army helicopters collided Sunday about 10 feet off the ground at Bien Hoa, 20 miles northeast of Saigon, killing five Americans. Twelve were injured, a U.S. spokesman said.

U.S. Air Force and Navy pilots returned from missions over North Viet Nam Sunday with reports they hit bridges, roads, storage areas, two radar sites and some staging areas. The heavy bombardment is aimed at slowing the supply of men and arms to the south.

The Strategic Air Command's Guam-based B52s pounded Bing Duong Province near the Cambodian frontier about 35 miles northwest of Saigon.

U.S. spokesmen did not mention any losses of aircraft.

The U.S. Marines reactivated Operation Double Eagle, while the U.S. 1st Cavalry (Airmobile, Division continued with Operation White Wing to the west in an effort to trap the Communist regiment. The destroyer was called in to make a Viet Cong retreat to the coast as costly as possible.

In an offshoot of Operation White Wing, the 1st Cavalry reported it had killed 34 Viet Cong 13 miles southwest of Bong Son, headquarters for the Allied coastal campaign 300 miles nort of Saigon. Since White Wing began, the cavalrymen report they have killed 1,072 Viet Cong, captured 246 and seized 202 weapons.

The Canberras were strafing Viet Cong positions while South Vietnamese regiments were reported in heavy contact with the Communists. The B57 caught fire on the second pass.

Within seven minutes, an Army helicopter piloted by Maj. Golbert R. Hickenbottom of Sacramento, Calif., and WO Theodore Dexter of Fayetteville, N.C., picked up the two airmen.

Loud Leftists Heckle HHH

By GEORGE MCARTHUR

MANILA (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey arrived tonight to discuss American Viet Nam policies in the Philippine capital where left-wing demonstrators shouting "Humphrey go home" besieged the U.S. Embassy only a few hours before.

The airport was cordoned off by an unusually large number of security forces.

Humphrey in an airport statement said he would talk to president Ferdinand E. Marcos Tuesday on the Viet Nam situation.

Humphrey arrived from New Zealand as the Philippine Congress began debates on Marocs' proposal to send a 2,000-man combat engineer unit to Viet Nam.

This was the proposal which drove demonstrators into the streets about 1,000 of them marched from the presidential palace to Congress and then to the U.S. Embassy.

The demonstrators, opposing not only Humphrey's visit but U.S. policies in Viet Nam, dispersed about an hour and a half before the vice president's arrival. But they said there would be another demonstration Tuesday.

The demonstrations by students, civil servants and farmers were called to oppose a $4-million bill in the Philippine Congress that would finance the sending of 2,000 combat engineers to Viet Nam.

Earlier today Humphrey conferred with Prime Minister Keith J. Holyoake of New Zealand at Parliament House in Wellington. A handful of demonstrators stood silently outside with signs denouncing the Viet Nam war.

During his arrival in Wellington Sunday from Canberra, Australia, Humphrey's car was rushed by a sign-swinging demonstrator who was hurled back by police. In Canberra the previous day about 150 demonstrators called Humphrey a "warmonger."

During the vice president's Australian visit, Prime Minister Harold Holt said his government may soon announce a decision whether to send more Australian soldiers to Viet Nam. There are now 1,500 Australians supporting U.S., South Vietnamese, Korean and New Zealand troops.

Mr. Gillum was married to Miss Sallie Hudson on April 13, 1921 at Hermleigh. Mrs. Gillum preceded her husband in death in 1958.

Rescuers Reach Lad

CACHE, Okla. (AP)—A high school junior was rescued today from a ledge on 2,293-foot Elk Mountain in southwest Oklahoma. He was stranded since Sunday afternoon.

The boy apparently was in good condition.

Julian Howard, manager of the Wichita Mountains Wildlife Refuge where the peak is located, said rescue crews who worked through the night managed to get Ronnie Wathen, 17, of Lawton off the dangerous shelf.

TEXAS VOTE BILL

Sponsors Drop Mail Restriction

By LEE JONES

AUSTIN (AP)—House sponsors of Gov. John Connally's annual voter registration bill agreed today to pull out a highly controversial proposed restriction on registration by mail.

Before the Senate and House convened to debate the bill, Rep. Gene Fondren of Taylor, distributed copies of an amendment he planned to offer that would restore mail registration to virtually its present form.

His amendment would allow all to register by mail but would require such voters to sign a statement that they understand false registration is a felony.

Lawmakers received a deluge of mail, telegrams and telephone calls over the weekend protesting the bill's original provision, which would have allowed only ill and disabled voters and persons temporarily outside their home county to register by mail.

Liberals readied a last-ditch effort to persuade a majority of their colleagues to swing away from the governor's bill, which would require registration each year between Oct. 1 and Jan. 31, to a system of lifetime registration.

Administration forces were confident that two-thirds of each house would stand behind the governor's bill, which would become effective only if either the U. S. Supreme Court or the state's voters knocks down the poll tax as a voter qualification.

The registration issue, brought on by an Austin three-judge federal court's decree that the poll tax requirement is unconstitutional, could be settled quick'y if either house accepts the other's bill without changes.

Failure to do this, however, would throw the writing o f a final bill into a joint c onference committee.

In any case, legislative sources expect the registration issue to be out of the way by Wednesday.

Wilson In Moscow For Viet Nam Talks

MOSCOW (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson came to Moscow today for three days of talks with Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and other Soviet leaders. Viet Nam and disarmament are expected to top the agenda.

According to reports from London, Wilson will try to persuade the Soviet Union to use its influence for peace in Viet Nam. He also probably will try to break the deadlock over a treaty to halt nuclear proliferation.

Sadistic Daydreams Revealed By Cross

By ROBERT HEARD

AUSTIN (AP)—An Austin psychiatrist testified today that James C. Cross Jr. experienced daydreams of a "sadistic nature" prior to the slayings last July of two pretty University of Texas coeds.

Cross is on trial for murder in their deaths.

Dr. Richard J. Alexander said the "daydream or fantasy" was recurring and that Cross told him he would get "quite worked up."

Dr. Alexander quoted Cross as saying during an examination Aug. 22:

"I've sort of began to know I was going to do something like this. . . I thought I could control it."

Alexander was summoned to the stand today as the third defense witness for Cross, who is accused of the July 18 sex and strangulation slayings of Dallas sorority sisters Susan Rigsby and Shirley Ann Stark.

"I knew this thing was going to happen." Alexander quoted Cross as saying when the two campus beauties appeared at his apartment that hot Sunday afternoon in July.

The psychiatrist testified Cross told him "he wanted something to interfere" with him as he stood outside the bedroom and bathroom where the two women were showering and changing clothes. He indicated Cross meant he hoped someone would appear to prevent him from harming the young women.

Much of Alexander's testimony followed closely a written statement by Cross that he strangled the young women and hid their bodies in a bedroom closet.

Alexander said his notes were vague at points but "I think the patient told me his motives were not entirely sexual in nature.."

He said Cross told him that he later had "one thought...to survive and cover this thing up."

Alexander quoted Cross as saying, "I knew what I had done. . . " The psychiatrist said, however, the defendant was able to push the incident to the back of his mind.

He said Cross was of the impression that investigators "were not in a position to prove he strangled the girls. . . but were very suspicious."

Alexander noted, however, that when Cross saw his father, he said, "Dad knew I was hiding something."

He said Cross then told him he "knew he had to pay for what he did..."

Alexander said in his preliminary remarks to the jury that Cross has a "schizoid personality pattern disturbance."

He followed two witnesses who testified Cross was withdrawn as a child.

Renowned Percy Foreman Begins Powers Defense

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The state rested its first-degree murder case today against blonde Candace Mossler and her strapping nephew, Melvin Lane Powers, in the 1964 slaying of her aging multimillionaire husband, Jacques Mossler.

The defense was ready with the presentation that is hand-tailored to fit the courtroom talents of Powers' chief attorney, Percy Foreman, a colorful Texas lawyer. His will be the final plea in the case.

With direct prosecution testimony at an end, Dade County Circuit Judge George Schulz confronted routine midtrial defense motions — for a directed verdict of acquittal, or dismissal of charges for lack of evidence.

However, he is expected to continue the trial, now in its sixth week, with the all-male jury rendering the final judgment. The maximum penalty facing Mrs. Mossler and Powers, if convicted as charged, is death in the electric chair. The state has described them as illicit lovers, driven by lust and greed into a premeditated design to kill Mossler, 69.

Mrs. Mossler entered a local hospital during the weekend for treatment of an old neck injury, aggravated since the trial began Jan. 18 by a fall. She also is subject to migraine headaches, which have interrupted the hearing on occasions.

Neither the tiny, attractive Mrs. Mossler, who lists her age as 40, nor the 6-foot-3 Powers, 29, is expected to take the witness stand. The defense estimates it will call about 25 witnesses and take a week or more to put in its case.

To take advantage of Florida law, Powers' defense team does not plan to introduce any witnesses or submit any evidence in his behalf. Actually, some of Mrs. Mossler's witnesses will be testifying for both defendants.

This legal maneuver will give Powers' lawyers the right to open and close the final arguments in the case. Thus the jury members will enter their deliberations with Foreman's resonant words still ringing in their ears.

Front Drops New Snow On Texas

By The Associated Press

Light snow fell in the Panhandle and South Plains today behind a cold front that brought temperatures down to 22 degrees at Amarillo and Dalhart.

Childress, in the southeast corner of the Panhandle, reported an inch of snow by dawn.

The cold front then had reached a line from Dallas to San Angelo to Fort Stockton and was moving southward.

The Weather Bureau predicted the snow would spread a little farther southward over the South Plains and the country east of the Pecos and eastward along the Red River during the day. Light rain was expected farther south.

Moderate snow fell at Wichita Falls after daybreak. Bridges and overpasses became sick and dangerous. Northerly winds of 25 miles an hour drifted the snow.

The Wichita Falls Weather Bureau office forecast accumulations of one to four inches of snow.

The snow band stretched from Texas into the lower Ohio Valley. Anadarko, Okla., reported 7 inches had accumulated and Hobart, Okla., 5.

Radar about 9 a.m. showed an area of light rain, sleet and snow along and 40 miles northwest of Mineral Wells to 50 miles north of Sherman.

The local Dallas and Fort Worth weather forecasts called for possible snow during the afternoon and a part of the night.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I felt so sorry for that poor man who couldn't keep his trousers on in the house because the heat brotherhed him. My son had the same problem. He is allergic to heat and high humidity. That man should see an allergist or the trousers worn in HIS house will be worn by his wife—to work, because her husband won't be able to wear anything on his lower extremities. And there are very few jobs to which a man can wear a sarong.

My son took his military in the National Guard. The six months in winter and fall were fine but the two weeks in summer were intolerable. He couldnot keep his pants on. The Army doctor gave his C.O. a written statement saying he was not to assign my son to any duties that would make him perspire. Now he works in an air-conditioned office and goes home to an air-conditioned house.

HIS MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: I would like to know what kind of duty a guy can draw in the service that would guarantee him no sweat.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: This friend of mine has been going around with a married man for the past two years, off and on. The only time it was really "off" was when his wife and her parents found out about it. Now that things have cooled off, she has started to see him again. My problem is that she tells her parents that she is with ME when she is really with HIM. I have asked her not to involve me in this because I do not approve of this sort of thing, but it doesn't do any good. Should I tell her parents or the man's wife?

JUNIPER

DEAR JUNIPER: Skip the parents and the wife, but Do tell your friend that you won't cover for her any more. So she'd better either straighten up and fly right or find herself another patsy.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: "NERVOUS AND AFRAID's" letter brought back memories of those terrible days when I, too, was nervous and afraid. Nervous about every new situation, and afraid to face people. I had doubts about my sanity, but wouldn't admit that I needed psychiatric help because I thought I might bring "shame" on my family. Finally I had to be committed to a psychiatric hospital. It was only for a short time, but during my stay there every shameful act, every reason for guilt feelings that haunted me was brought out into the open and I was cleansed and reborn again. This I did with the help of a psychiatrist. Later I received help from my clergyman (A rabbi) and a social worker.

Let no one try to tell one who suffers from deep depressions that "it is all in her head." It is very real. There is nothing imaginary about a mental illness. Denying it only prolongs the agony and delays the cure which comes from psychiatric treatment. So tell "NERVOUS AND AFRAID" that she must get help. She owes it to herself, her husband and her children.

Sincerely,
"BEEN THERE"

DEAR ABBY: If I had read that letter signed "NERVOUS AND AFRAID" four years ago, I might be well today. I was exactly like the person who wrote that letter. I was so afraid to face people I couldn't even go into a store! I felt so alone. I wouldn't admit to myself that I was having a nervous breakdown because I was afraid I would be "sent away." It's nothing like that. I am seeing a psychiatrist and am living at home with my family. My doctor said if I had come to him earlier it wouldn't take so long to cure me. Too bad I didn't have the luck to see a letter like that four years ago, Abby. Just knowing there was one more person in the world with a problem like mine would have helped a lot.

3 Mishaps Are Logged

Texas Highway Patrolmen investigated two traffic mishaps Saturday night and another this morning, with the weather listed as a factor in the latter.

Robert Hart Thomas Jr. of Albuquerque, N. M., escaped injury when his 1961 Comet skidded on icy pavement and overturned at 8:40 a.m. today 19 miles north of Snyder on U.S. Highway 84. Thomas was headed north and Highway patrolmen said his car overturned into the median and skidded into the southbound portion of the road, damaging the vehicle heavily.

A 1957 Chevrolet driven by Michael Van Meador and a 1961 Buick driven by Larry Keith Davis were in collision at 10:45 p.m. Saturday two-tenths of a mile south of town on the Round Top Road. Both vehicles were damaged considerably, but there were no personal injuries, officers reported.

At 11:40 p.m. Saturday, a 1959 Pontiac driven by Airman Richard Wayne Pate of Dyess Air Force Base, ran under the left rear corner of a 1959 Chevrolet truck driven by Hugh G. Porterfield of Amarillo 2.3 miles south of Hermleigh on U.S. 84. Porterfield, who had recently undergone surgery, was taken to Cogdell Memorial hospital in his own truck by an employe. His injuries were not believed to be serious. There was no damage to the truck, but the automobile had a broken windshield.

DeGaulle Hints NATO Withdraw

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle said today any foreign troop elements in France after April 4, 1969 will have to be under French command only. That is the date when members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization can choose to leave NATO.

In the first news conference of his second term in office, the French president declared NATO no longer is adapted to present-day needs. He said France intends to "progressively modify dispositions now in force."

This was taken to mean that he would continue to withdraw French elements from NATO but in such a manner as to permit the 14 other NATO allies to adjust to it.

The United States now has about 20,000 troops in France, running supply and other bases. In addition, the French president's statement that foreign troops would have to come under French command threw into question the status of such big Allied installations as NATO headquarters near the Bois de Boulogne in Paris, and the rambling Versailles headquarters of supreme headquarters of Allied powers in Europe.

De Gaulle told nearly 1,000 newsmen and officials in Elysee Palace: "It is the will of France to dispose of her own fate."

He said this in connection with the announcement on French command of foreign troops on her soil after April 4, 1969.

He declared the United States has been in conflicts such as Korea, Lebanon and Viet Nam, and that such conflicts could be escalated into general conflagration. He said France, of necessity, would be involved because her territory is used for communications facilities, air bases and other military installations.

De Gaulle declared the United States has established a protectorate in Europe under cover of NATO.

Appointed To Board

In a brief session this morning, the county commissioners court appointed Raul Rosas to the County Child Welfare Board.

The appointment was made to fill a vacancy and came after two members of the board, Fred Davis and Bentley Baize, recommended the appointment.

Prison Probe May Widen

MCALESTER, Okla. (AP)—A grand jury investigation of the Oklahoma penitentiary showed signs today of spreading into the administration of the prison and the agencies which supervise its operation.

A close look at the prison's management seemed assured Sunday with the announcement that a subpoena had been issued to J. P. Bryan, a Stillwater auto dealer who was fired from the State Board of Affairs in 1963 after he delved into activities at the prison. The board supervises the prison.

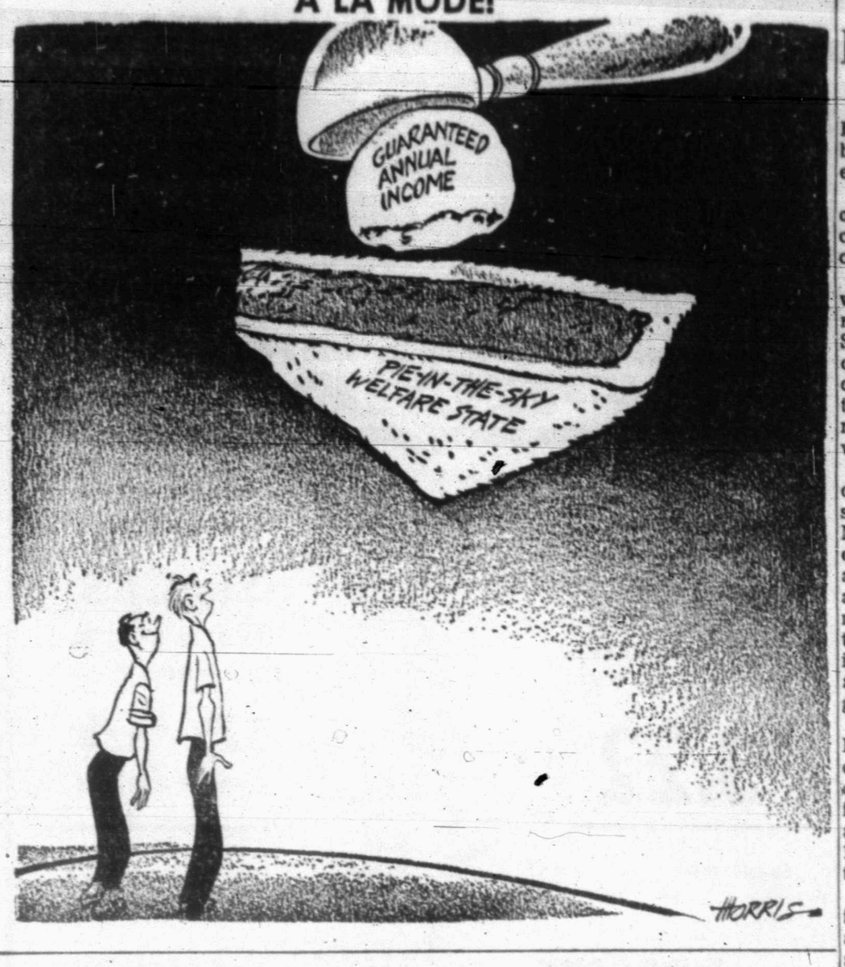
A LA MODE!



Confused Stock Market Has Experts Disagreeing

By SAM DAWSON . . .
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — A confused stock market has been swinging impulsively under the impact of contradictory news

Most reports still point to boom days ahead. But a handful of gloomy interpretations of some recent statistics has many a stock trader wondering.

Some pundits tell him that the signs all indicate inflationary growth of the economy, may already be under way — meaning stocks could be a good buy.

Others say the signs of a slowdown are beginning to appear, if not quite as obvious as the statistics that show the economy has risen even higher than first thought meaning caution in stock buying may be a good bet.

Personal income is an example. The government reports that the total has just risen again, as usual and as expected. But it also reports that the rise was smaller than in previous months, trimming the impact of this strong rally of prosperity. The slowdown also was expected, because of the big increase in withholding from pay checks for Social Security.

Yet despite the slowdown in the pace of personal income gains, retail trade is still flourishing. Even the onslaught of bad February weather hasn't trimmed the total sales by much.

From this the puzzled stock trader can deduce either that consumers are bent on spending more, even if that means saving less, or that they haven't yet reacted to the smaller paychecks.

Confusion is added by the predictions that wage increases this year will be substantial and that the government's guidelines for holding them down will be challenged by powerful unions. With employment high and rising, the total of personal incomes could spurt again with the higher wage scales.

On that issue, stock traders can guess either way.

Housing starts also have turned down sharply. This could mean that the home building industry is in for slim pickings and that would-be home buyers are turning cautious. Or it could mean nothing more than that the weather has been foul in many places and that spring could bring the usual seasonal pickup in construction.

Orders for durable goods are still rising and the backlog on manufacturers' books is $9 billion higher than a year ago. This could mean that both consumers and businessmen are still expanding their spending.

But inventories also are rising sharply. And some stock traders have interpreted this to mean that businessmen fear inflation is under way and are stocking up to beat price rises. This could make corporate securities look good. But some pundits are pointing out that inventories historically have risen sharply just as the business cycle was reaching its peak and that the big stocks on hand cut into future orders to add impetus to the ensuing downturn.

This time the situation has a new confusing element. The economy has been on the upswing so long that many believe that government and business have found ways to lick the old cycle and to prevent any downturn of importance. Some old hands in the stock market are highly skeptical.

So, while all hands argue, the market is liable to quick swings up and down with each important corporate announcement, or even with each unsubstantiated rumor. And, as always, each individual stock has its own set of factors making it look momentarily good or bad.

Trade With Viet Reds Irks Solons

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House is brewing up some trouble for the administration's foreign policy.

The developing tempest is over a matter that has been of continuing irritation to Republicans and Democrats alike.

The issue is continued trade with North Viet Nam by foreign nations friendly to the United States. While the administration claims this trade has slowed down in recent months and has taken some steps to curb it, many members of Congress want an outright ban.

Several bills have been introduced to close U.S. ports to ships which carry cargoes to North Viet Nam. Cargoes loaded in American ports generally are not of military value and are unloaded in ports of friendly nations. However, proponents of the legislation claim, the ships involved visit American ports after having unloaded other cargoes in North Viet Nam.

Rep. Charles E. Chamberlain, R-Mich., who has waged a long campaign against the practice, claims that 401 ships flying flags of non-Communist nations arrived in North Viet Nam in 1964. In 1965, Chamberlain said, the number dropped to 119.

Chamberlain got his figures from the Defense Department and they deal only with unclassified information.

"The true figure is more than double what we are being told," he said, "and it amounts to more arrivals by free world ships than by Communist ships."

Most of the ships, he said, are chartered to Communist nations and carry Communist goods which the Defense Department claims are not vital to North Viet Nam's war effort. But, he emphasized, they release Communist ships to carry war material.

More than half the non-Communist ships that visited North Viet Nam ports in 1965, Chamberlain said, were registered under the flag of the United Kingdom.

Sponsors of the bills to close U.S. ports to ships trading with North Viet Nam aren't too optimistic about winning their fight in that field. But they have another plan which they believe will work.

They are going to offer amendments to the annual foreign aid and Defense Department appropriation bills to cut off U.S. financial assistance to any nation that allows its ships to continue the trade.

They almost succeeded with that move last year when the House approved an outright ban against aid to those nations. The Senate refused to go along with a strict ban and voted to allow the President to decide whether continued aid was in the best interests of the United States. The House backed down by a vote of 174 to 164, a margin slim enough to be overcome in a congressional election year like 1966.

Five harness drivers won more than 200 races during 1965. They are Bob Farrington, Billy Haughton, Del Insko, Ron Feagan and Gilles Lachance. The latter two are Canadians.

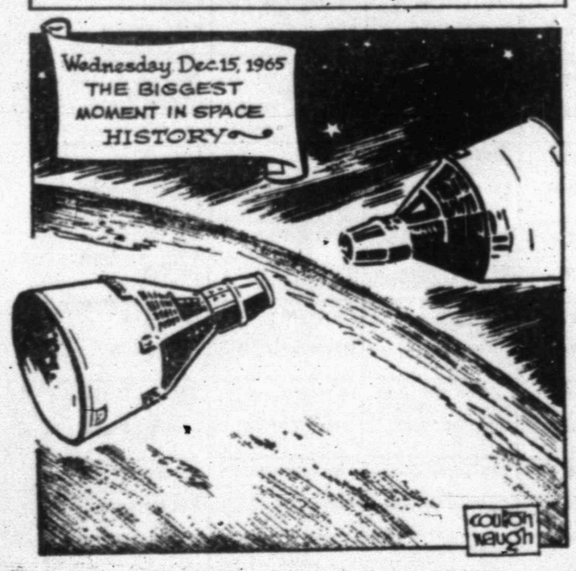
Junior Editors Quiz on ATMOSPHERE



QUESTION: Since there is no air in outerspace, how can the atmosphere be hot or cold?

• • •

ANSWER: Besides answering, we decided to illustrate the moment of man's greatest adventure in space, when Frank Borman and James Lovell in the Gemini 7 spacecraft (left) manoevered their ship close to the Gemini 6 spacecraft (right) which had Walter Schirra and Thomas Stafford aboard. It was a triumph for America in space.

If, as our questioner rightly says, there is no air in space, there can be no atmosphere there either, for air is atmosphere. The sun's rays can travel through space, but they do not heat it up, because there is nothing in space itself to get heated; it is a vacuum. When there is something there, however, such as a planet or moon, the sun's rays will heat it very much. On the moon, sunlight would boil your blood unless you were protected. In the shadow of a big rock, you would freeze. This is because there is no atmosphere around the moon. Our atmosphere around the earth protects us by absorbing some of the heat by day and preventing the warmth from radiating out at night. If we journey outside our atmosphere, we must carry some kind of heating apparatus with us, such as the Gemini capsules had on their historic rendezvous flight.

• • •

FOR YOU TO DO: This picture and article will help you to remember some of the facts about the rendezvous flight. Clip them out and put them in a scrap book. 2-21

RECORD SETTERS — Two of the fastest gunners in the country shot it out in Yost Field House at Ann Arbor, Mich., as Michigan played Purdue. Dave Schellhase, with ball, came out on top as he continued to hold his national scoring lead by setting a Big Ten record of 57 points, to overshadow Michigan's Cazzie Russell, right, who had only 28. But Cazzie had help from his teammates to set a few records, too, as Michigan set a new Big Ten scoring record of 128 points, to beat the Boilermakers, who had only 94. Champion Quintets Face Playoff Rounds

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's time once again for Duke and Davidson, two of the better college basketball teams in the country, to find out if they once again will be the two best nonchampions in the country.

Davidson has held that status for the past two years while Duke strayed into that area last year.

In the case of these two teams, a nonchampion is one that finishes on top of its league in regular-season play but which loses in the league's postseason tournament, thereby missing out on the championship and a berth in the NCAA tournament.

Davidson, loser of only one of 12 Southern Conference contests this season, opens its bid Thursday for the championship that has eluded it the past two years.

Duke, the nation's second-ranked team, has clinched top seeding in the Atlantic Coast Conference tournament with an 11-1 record. The Blue Devils complete their regular schedule this week with league games against Wake Forest and North Carolina.

In the opening Southern Conference game, the Wildcats take on the Citadel, a team they've already beaten twice this season. But based on recent history, that should be no indication of the outcome this time.

Two years ago Davidson lost in the semifinals to Virginia Military 82-81 after stopping VMI twice earlier in the season. Then last year West Virginia, a two-time loser, edged the Wildcats 74-72 in overtime in a semifinal game.

Duke fared only slightly better in the ACC last season, winning two tournament games before losing to North Carolina State 91-85 in the final.

In this year's tournament, March 3-5, the Blue Devils could open against South Carolina, the only conference team to beat them this season.

Both Davidson and Duke won Saturday night, the Wildcats bringing their record to 17-5 with a 77-64 triumph over The Citadel and the Blue Devils making their mark 19-2 by trimming Maryland 74-69.

Unbeaten Kentucky, the nation's No. 1 team, won its 21st, edging Mississippi State 73-69, while unbeaten Texas Western, No. 3, nipped Pan American 65-61 for its 20th victory and fifth straight squeaker.

All of the other teams in the Top Ten won with No. 10 Michigan bombing Purdue 128-94 despite Dave Schellhase's 57 points.

Chicago Loyola, No. 4, avenged an earlier defeat by Wichita, downing the Shockers 94-77. Fifth-ranked Vanderbilt remained two games behind Kentucky in the Southeastern Conference with an 89-86 triumph over Florida.

No. 6 Providence knocked off Seton Hall 77-57, seventh-ranked Kansas overwhelmed Oklahoma State 80-47, St. Joseph's, No. 8, outlasted Creighton 96-90 and ninth-ranked Nebraska whipped Missouri 71-53.

In various conferences races, Michigan took a two-game lead in the Big Ten when Wisconsin nipped Michigan State 78-77; Cincinnati tightened its hold on the Missouri Valley lead by downing Tulsa 88-75; Penn held its one-game Ivy lead with an 84-66 victory over Cornell.

Oregon State lost to Southern California 70-60 but still has a two-game lead in the Pacific Athletic Conference, and Utah State kept a one-game lead in the Western Athletic, beating Arizona State 92-76.

Crucial Battle In SWC Set In Dallas

By The Associated Press

Texas A&M meets Southern Methodist at Dallas Tuesday night in the most crucial game of the Southwest Conference basketball stretch run. It could mean the championship for the Aggies; it might mean at least a co-championship repeat for Southern Methodist.

The Aggies righted themselves from two straight defeats to beat Texas Christian 96-91 Saturday and cling to a one-game lead over the second place Methodists.

Southern Methodist edged Arkansas 67-66 for its sixth straight triumph and threw a mighty challenge to the Aggies, who a little more than a week ago were leading by three games and thought they might just coast in with the title.

The race enters its final two weeks with three teams in the running. The Aggies are 8-2, Southern Methodist is 7-3 and Texas Tech, in third place, is 6-4.

The Aggies are through with Texas Tech, getting a split, but Southern Methodist and Texas Tech have yet to meet each other. And the Red Raiders might well slip into the championship that was predicted for them before the season started.

Tech plays Baylor at Waco Tuesday night. In other conference games Texas and Rice clash at Houston, and Texas Christian visits Arkansas at Fayetteville.

Friday night Arkansas and Texas Tech tangle at Lubbock, while the Aggies host Rice, which won its first game of the season last week to halt a 28-game losing streak. The Owls beat Baylor 89-70.

Saturday Southern Methodist and Texas play at Austin in a day televised game that could be a stumbling block to SMU's title hopes. Baylor and Texas Christian meet at Fort Worth in another conference struggle Saturday.

John Beasley of Texas A&M holds a long lead in the scoring race. He has 536 points for the season to 439 for second place Gary Turner of Texas Christian.

In conference scoring Beasley has 297 points. Dub Malaise of Texas Tech, now on a spree that netted him 133 points in three games—50 against Texas Saturday to tie the conference record—is next with 247.

Volleyball Teams Look Good At C.C.

The Snyder High School volleyball girls gave a good account of themselves at the Colorado City tournament this weekend.

The varsity girls lost to Big Lake in a clash for the Consolation trophy while the "B" girls lost to Lamesa in a battle for first place in their division.

Saturday games saw the varsity top Midland, 15-8 and 15-4, then defeat San Angelo, 15-0 and 15-4. In the Consolation finals, Big Lake turned back the locals, 15-9 and 15-3.

The Snyder "B" team beat Stamford 15-8 and 15-12 in the second round, then lost 5-15, 15-7, and 10-15 to Lamesa for the title. The varsity lost to Colorado City in the opening round Friday while the "B" team tripped the same foe in the "B" competition.

Patsy Rainwater was named to the All-Tournament team from the varsity, and Mary Kitchens made the "B" All-Tournament team.

Coach Janet Wesson's girls will host Sweetwater in Tiger gym tonight. The "B" game begins at 6:30 p.m.

Quarterback Felix Bazzi of West Babylon, N.Y., wears No. 13 with the Navy football team. He's No. 3 quarterback for the Midshipmen.

They start eliminating down to the state tournament teams this week in the Texas schoolboy basketball race.

All district champions—170 of them—have been determined and bidistrict games begin tonight. All will be finished by midweek and regional finals will be played Friday and Saturday to determine 22 teams for the state tournament at Austin next week—four in each of the A classes and six in Class B.

Class AAAA doesn't have a defending champion and there isn't a big standout in the 16 teams left to fight for the four spots. Dallas Samuell might be the best. This outfit has a 27-3 record and has won 23 straight.

El Paso Austin, Abilene, Lubbock Monterey, Hurst Ball Fort Worth Paschal, Garland, Tyler, Houston Waltrip, Houston Memorial, Beaumont French, Texas City, Austin McCallum, Corpus Christi Carroll, San Antonio Lee and San Antonio McCollum are the others left in Class AAAA.

Class AAA doesn't have a defending champion either and here too, it will require the layoffs this week to determine the most likely team to win the title. It might be Waxahachie, which was the runnerup last year.

Canyon, Andrews, Levelland, Coleman, Fort Worth Brewer, South Garland, Kilgore West Orange Huntsville, Wharton, Clear Creek, Belton, San Antonio Sam Houston San Antonio Marshall and Donna are others in the Class AAA playoffs.

This is the only class in which a regional tournament will be held instead of bidistrict playoffs. In region 1 Canyon plays Andrews and Levelland meets Coleman in the first round, then the winners meet for the tournament spot.

Classes AA, A and B have defending state champions in the field.

Lake Worth of Fort Worth is defending titlist in Class AA. Runner-up Port Acres was eliminated in the district race.

Class A returns West Sabine, which, however, doesn't look as strong as last season. For the first time in years, West Sabine lost some games inside the district. Runner-up Woodsboro is back.

Snook is defending champion of Class B and should be an overwhelming favorite to repeat. Snook has won 71 straight games.

Wildcats Won In Southland

By The Associated Press

Abilene Christian is the unbeaten champion of Southland Conference basketball and expects to compete in the NCAA college regional tournament at Jonesboro, Ark.

But the Wildcats haven't yet been invited. It seems a team has to finish the season before it gets the bid.

Abilene Christian closes out Saturday against Trinity at San Antonio and can then look for an invitation to compete at Jonesboro in March.

The Christians lashed Arlington State [illegible] and Lamar Tech 70-66 last week to sew up the title tighter than a jug. They are 7-0 with one game to play, while Arkansas State, in second place, is 3-3 with two games to go.

Trinity and Arlington State, fighting to see which or if both finish in the cellar, tangle at San Antonio Tuesday night. Arkansas State and Lamar Tech battle at Beaumont Saturday night.

Grambling Is Favored

By The Associated Press

The Southwestern Athletic Conference closes its season tonight with Grambling, the nation's second-ranked small college team, certain of at least a tie for the championship.

Grambling can win the title by beating Jackson State. If Grambling loses and Alcorn A&M and Texas Southern win their games, there will be a three-way tie for the top spot.

Grambling won its 20th victory of the season Saturday night by beating Southern University 110-94.

In other games, Prairie View beat Arkansas AM&N 95-88, Texas Southern downed Wiley 83-75 and Jackson State dumped Alcorn A&M 93-67.

Tonight's schedule: Grambling at Jackson State, Alcorn AOM at Southern, Prairie View at Wiley and Texas Southern at Arkansas AM&N.

Five Snyder Boys Eye Gloves Titles

The Snyder Boys Club Golden Gloves team has five boys going into action for finals bouts tonight in the annual regional tournament at Odessa. The gong sounds at 8 p.m.

Two local boys have their sights set on titles in the open division. Rudy Benitez will take on John Hernandez in a battle for the 188-pound championship, and Fred Benitez goes against Benny Briones for the 126-pound title.

Hernandez, an Odessa boy, won the 112-pound class in the high school division last year while Rudy won the same class in the open division. So, it should be a close fight.

Briones, of Lamesa, is an up and coming boy while Freddy is highly regarded in this area.

The other three Snyder boys still in the competition will be battling for high school division titles. They include Eloy Benitez (118), Billy McClain (165), and Curtis Clay (175).

Snyder still is in the running for the team trophy.

Tigers Trip Ponies In Net Doubles

Although the hosts won five of seven matches, Snyder High School's boys tennis team managed to defeat Sweetwater in a couple of matches for the first time in many years Saturday.

Mickey Almond and Jerry Bell decisioned Sweetwater's Wickham, 6-3, 6-4; and Sandy Wellborn and Wayne Anderson teamed up to trim Sweetwater's Woody Cunningham and Delbert Dowdy, 6-1, 6-3, giving Snyder a sweep of the doubles matches.

Snyder did not take a girls team to the matches Saturday and the boys team was performing without its No. 1 member, Gordon Stokes.

The two victories in the doubles matches establish the local twosomes as definite contenders in the district tournament, which will come up later in the season.

In the singles matches Saturday, all won by Sweetwater, Randle Romine defeated Bell, 6-1 6-3; Sissom defeated Almond, 6-2 6-4; Cunningham defeated Wellborn, 1-6, 9-7, 6-2; Dowdy defeated Anderson, 6-2 6-4; and Wickham defeated Gary Sanders 6-4, 6-3.

Snyder Tennis Coach Ken McAllister, said the locals had shown their greatest improvement during the past week or so. Although no long-time records had been checked, nobody could remember off hand the last time Snyder had won a tennis match from Sweetwater.

The Snyder team will go to Fort Stockton for matches Saturday.

Runs Mile In 3:58.2

BERLIN (AP) — The first sub four-minute mile indoors in two seasons belongs to Jurgen May of East Germany.

May ran the mile in 3:58.2 Sunday night and in so doing set an unofficial indoor record of 3:41.9 for 1,500 meters, the East German News Agency said.

ADN also said May's mile time was an unofficial European record. The world indoor mark of 3:56.4 is held by Tom O'Hara of Chicago, who also ran the last sub four-minute mile, in 1964. The best previous indoor effort this season was a 4:00.9 by Oregon's Jim Grelle.

Oops! Look Who Won 3-AAA Berth

The Levelland Lobos, who nudged Lamesa, 61-60, Saturday night to earn the right to represent District 3-AAA in the basketball playoffs, will face Coleman, District 4-AAA champion, in the first round of the regional tournament.

The tournament to determine a Region I representative for the state tournament will be held at Lubbock, beginning Thursday evening.

Andrews, District 2-AAA champion, will meet Canyon, District 1-AAA titlest, at 7 p.m., with Levelland and Coleman clashing at 7:45 p.m.

Levelland and Lamesa finished in a tie for the District 3-AAA crown and the Lobos won the playoff game Saturday night at Seminole to advance to regional competition. Arrangements for the regional tournament were made Sunday by representatives of the four champions of the region.

Sees More Food Control

BRACKETTVILLE, Tex. (AP) —The possibility of tighter government controls on the food injury was discussed Sunday by Congressman Graham Purcell, D-Tex. Purcell told of the possible controls at a meeting of Texas Retail Grocers.

Purcell is a member of the National Commission on Food Marketing. The commission has completed an 18-month study of the food industry in this country is expected to make public its findings July 1.

He said three basic alternatives face the commission. They are to move further in the direction of free open competition, leave the situation as it is, or for the government to step in and exercise stricter controls.

He said the report would be "neither a whitewash job nor a witch-hunt."

He told the 200 grocers that he was proud of the food industry's ability to place food on the American dining table at a smaller portion of take-home pay than any other country.

Wife To Be Quizzed

EL PASO (AP) — Officials hoped to question the wife of shooting victim Lt. Cmdr. Virgil R. McLerran today.

McLerran, commander of the U. S. Naval Reserve Training Center here, was found dead Saturday night on the front porch of his home.

Mrs. McLerran was being treated for shock at an El Paso hospital and officers hadn't been able to talk to her.

Officers said McLerran apparently was shot at close range by a 12-gauge shotgun.

A neighbor, Robert F. Collett, was quoted by police as saying he was awakened by a shotgun blast, heard a scream and looked out his door. Mrs. McLerran and her son, Danny, were standing by the victim's body, Colett was quoted by police as saying.

Thousands of stones bearing curious Viking inscriptions are scattered throughout Scandinavia. They bear testimony to the exploits of the seafaring Norsemen and offer examples of the first written Germanic language.

Reds Feel Pinch In Supply Lines

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Big U.S. and Allied military operations are beginning to crimp the Viet Cong supply system for the first time.

The most notable success came during Operation Van Buren, which threw nearly a division of American, Korean and Vietnamese troops into the Tuy Hoa rice bowl. Their job was to make certain the fertile coastal valley's 48,000 tons of rice wound up in government storehouses instead of Viet Cong caches.

In the past, large Viet Cong units moved into the 200-square-mile valley during the harvest and controlled more than half of it. Now, for the first time in several years, Phu Yen Province will export rice instead of importing it.

U. S. military officials said this year three regiments — two Viet Cong and one of North Vietnamese regulars — began converging on the valley 23 miles northeast of Saigon just before the harvest began a month ago.

The American 101st Airborne Brigade, the Korean marine brigade and two battalions of government troops swept the valley clear of the enemy. By the official count more than 500 Communist troops were killed.

"If any army marches on its stomach, old Charlie is in the hurt locker," a U.S. adviser in Phu Yen Province said. Charles is an American nickname for the Viet Cong.

"The Viet Cong supply system is too good to strangle with what we have now, but taking that much rice away means real trouble for the Viet Cong highland units," said a U.S. source concerned with trying to block supplies to the enemy.

U.S. Marines near Da Nang and U.S and government troops operating in Binh Tuy Province carried out smaller operations earlier that brought in nearly 10.00 tons of rice.

U.S. troops operating north of Saigon have run into hundreds of Viet Cong rice caches, big and small. Hundreds of tons of rice were destroyed or brought back and placed under government control.

Last year, the national police seized nearly 3,000 tons of rice at checkpoints set up to control the flow of goods from government to Viet Cong areas. They are doing even better this year.

Although Viet Nam has been fighting a civil war for years, there is no food rationing and no control over the sale of such key items as medicine and light machinery which can be used in Viet Cong arms factories.

The first tentative effort at resources control did not come until October 1964 when the national police were ordered to stop the flow of strategic goods into Viet Cong hands.

At the time there were only about 20,000 police in the country. They were still suffering from bad morale and lost reputation from the days of ex-President Ngo Dinh Diem.

Today the police are 54,000 strong and their ranks are expected to swell to 72,000 by the end of the year. A major share of the new men will be thrown into the resources control program. This type of program aided the British in crushing a Communist guerrilla uprising in Malaya.

The effectiveness of the police has increased in past months, and apparently the Viet Cong are worried. They have increased attacks on police posts and checkpoints, some on the outskirts of Saigon.

Session May Face New Issues

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Gov. John Connally said Sunday he was considering extending the special legislative session's call to include appropriating new money for an institute of living culture at San Antonio.

The governor also predicted that the legislative session would settle the question of voter registration before this week is out. If it did, he said he would attempt to more than double the $4.5 million appropriation for the permanent museum proposed for San Antonio.

Gov. Connally asked Texas daily newspaper publishers to support his effort to double the appropriation.

"I can justify the spending of $10 or $12 million for a permanent exhibit. We should do it forthwith," he said. "I ask your help now," he added.

He said the bill appropriating $4.5 million for the museum contained restrictive language such that the funds could not be used for contracting or for administrative personnel.

The structure, as described by the governor, would have 300,000 square feet with one-half of this area devoted to museum type displays.

The museum grounds would cover 18 to 20 acres after the close of HemisFair, an exposition planned to mark the 250th anniversary of San Antonio in 1967.

Gov. Connally said he felt the proposed project merited the support of the newspapers.

He said a group of San Antonio businessmen asked last week that he extend the call of the session for the museum appropriation proposal.

Gov. Connally spoke at the 45th annual three-day meeting of the Texas Daily Newspaper Association which opened Sunday.

M. Kallison Dies Sunday

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Morris Kallison, who amassed a fortune of $20 million but kept his office in a cubbyhole at a country store, died Sunday.

The 70-year-old Kallison, son of a Swedish harness-maker, built more than 30 buildings and acquired and remodeled 200 older buildings in the last 20 years.

His father, Nathan, moved here from Chicago in 1898 when Morris was only three, and opened a harness-making and saddle business.

Kallison started work at the age of 7 doing odd jobs, quit school in the ninth grade and worked 12 hours or more a day almost until his death in a hospital Sunday where he had gone with a cardiac condition.

He had a sentimental attachment for his father's store and maintained his main office for Kallison Enterprises.

Proposed Sahara Superroad May Crowd Out The Camel

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH

ALGIERS (AP) — The camel, historic desert cruiser, may soon give way to the automobile on the ancient caravan route across the Sahara, if plans go through for a superhighway across the world's greatest wasteland.

Eight African governments hope to construct an asphalt span from the Mediterranean Coast to the Niger River that would enable a motorist to make the 2,000-mile trip in a few days.

Trucks with special tires and survival equipment have been venturing across the Sahara for some time. The trip is hazardous and uneconomical for large-scale freight movement.

An asphalt highway exists from Algiers to the oilfields around Hassi Messaoud, a distance of 500 miles. Beyond that, an ill-defined track winds for 1,500 miles across the virtually uninhabited, sandblown wasteland.

Drivers have to undergo special desert training, carry compasses, snake serum and heavy equipment to dig their vehicles out of the sand. Water and gasoline are available only at outposts hundreds of miles apart.

At many points, there is no track at all, but only a trace of parallel tire marks in the sand. In some sections, progress is less than 40 miles a day.

The new highway would make a substantial contribution to the development of the Sahara region and change the habits of nomadic tribes hitherto barely touched by civilization.

Morocco, Alberia, Tunisia, Mali, Mauritania, Chad, Niger and the United Arab Republic hope to raise $127 million to build the road and to supply about $4.25 million a year to maintain it.

Construction would take at least 12 years. Preliminary surveys are being made by the United Nations Special Fund, which is expected to contribute to the over-all cost.

A modern trans-Sahara communications link was long the dream of French colonial administrators. They actually built two rail lines several hundred miles into the desert. The farther advanced, however, the more formidable the difficulties became. The project finally was abandoned.

It is estimated that 25,000 trucks and passenger vehicles would use the road every year. The cost of freight movements from Algiers to the Niger would be cut by more than half and the time for the trip reduced by 80 per cent.

President To Receive Bronze Head

By LARRY FRIEDMAN

NEW YORK (AP) — "I was struck with the extraordinary political and facial similarities of President Johnson and Abraham Lincoln," says Leo Cherne, who has just completed a bronze head of Johnson.

The sculptured head, somewhat larger than life — 15 inches on a 7-inch black Belgian marble base—will be presented to Johnson in New York Wednesday night.

The President will be given the sculpture as the recipient of the Freedom Award from Freedom House.

Cherne, 53, a political economist, is director of the Research Institute of America, chairman of the International Rescue Committee, and Executive Committee chairman of Freedom House.

But he still finds time to sculpt and quite well indeed. His works are in the White House and Smithsonian Institution.

He estimates he spent seven months on the Johnson project. He took less than an hour each at three visits to the White House and said he felt guilty about it.

"I was keenly aware that the President is an extremely busy man," Cherne said in an interview. "He is heavily burdened, and the weight of the office he carries is real and evident.

"With anyone else I would not hesitate to take up his time, but with President Johnson I definitely felt guilty," Cherne explained.

At one point, Cherne recalled, the President said: "How long will this take? There is so much I must do."

Cherne, who has sculpted heads of Russian author Boris Pasternak, Albert Schweitzer and Lincoln, said the Johnson assignment had come about after the President had accepted the Lincoln work at the White House.

In his presentation to Johnson, Cherne said, he will tell the awards dinner:

"I hope I have captured something of the weathered flesh and eyes narrowed in their protected encounter with the elements bright and bitter. Perhaps, you will find as I did in the deeply etched grooves of the face, the furrows in the brow some of the lifetime's imprint of care and concern, of hope and frustration, of disappointment contained, high purpose strengthened."

Cherne said Johnson's left profile is "strikingly similar to the man he (Johnson) admired most —Franklin D. Roosevelt."

Of the similarities to Lincoln, Cherne said: "The Johnson I tried to sculpt is the Johnson I see in the frame of Lincoln. Like Lincoln, I believe, Johnson is doomed to less than adequate understanding while in the White House."

When an old - fashioned recipe for quick bread, cake or cookies calls for sour milk, just use commercial buttermilk.

City's Gravedigger Now 90 Years Old

CHIPPEWA CITY, Minn. (AP) —Scores of townfolk turned out the other day for George Noreen's 90th birthday party, and the next morning he was in a cemetery.

Noreen, you see, is the town gravedigger, just as his father Frank Noreen was before him. His father lived to be 97.

"I've dug every grave in these cemeteries for the last 40 years, and managed to get out of every one of them alive," says George.

In summertime, he also tends a half-acre garden and eight lawns.

Unions Plan Stiff Grilling For Labor Secretary Wirtz

By NEIL GILBRIDE
Associated Press Labor Writer

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz is due for a grilling by the nation's top labor leaders on President Johnson's efforts to hold down wage demands which the White House considers inflationary.

AFL-CIO officials, who have long denounced White House wage guidelines, reportedly will charge that the Johnson administration used a racial discrimination suit in an effort to pressure high-wage construction unions into moderating pay increases.

Wirtz, who has had no known preliminary talks here about growing labor complaints against Johnson, told a newsman he would talk about anything the AFL-CIO Executive Council wants to bring up.

Wirtz appears today before the opening session of the council, the policy-making body of the politically potent labor federation which has more than 13 million members in 129 affiliated unions.

Wirtz said his closed-door discussions with the 29-member Executive Council will be informal.

AFL-CIO President George Meany and other council members also will discuss with Wirtz their demands for an increase in the federal minimum wage from $1.25 to $1.40 this year, $1.60 next year, and $1.75 in 1968. This is one subject on which the labor leaders feel Wirtz agrees with them.

Federation officials fear Johnson may follow the recommendations of his Council of Economic Advisers for raises to $1.40 this year and $1.70 in 1970, which AFL-CIO sources said would kick off a major war between labor and the Johnson administration.

The touchiest questioning Wirtz will face is the construction unions' charge that a federal civil rights suit filed against several building trades unions in St. Louis was part of a move to force them into a formula proposed by Wirtz to limit wage increases. The presidents of 18 construction unions flatly rejected it last week.

The charge by President C. J. Haggerty of the AFL-CIO Construction and Building Trades Department linking the racial discrimination suit to the wage proposal reportedly prompted the White House to assign Wirtz to placate the labor chieftains.

President Johnson reportedly is worried about the possibility of losing much of his Democratic majority in Congress in this year's elections, and lack of political support from labor would increase the chance of big Democratic losses.

The AFL-CIO contributed heavily to Johnson's landslide election victory and that of many other Democrats in 1964.

The St. Louis civil rights suit charged AFL-CIO construction unions there with violating the equal employment section of the 1964 Civil Rights Act by walking off a project when a Negro contractor and two Negro plumbers were hired.

The Negroes belong to the Congress of Independent Unions, and AFL-CIO officials heatedly insist that the dispute was a routine jurisdictional squabble with no racial overtones.

The civil rights suit came after the National Labor Relations Board had filed a charge against the AFL-CIO unions on grounds that the walkout was a secondary boycott banned by federal labor law.

The dispute involves construction of the St. Louis Arch, a memorial being financed with federal money.

Rabbi's Condition Said Worsening

DETROIT (AP)—Doctors say the condition of Rabbi Morris Adler, shot by a member of his congregation during Sabbath services eight days ago, has worsened slightly and they "are not encouraged." The hospital today reported no change in the "critical" condition of the 59-year-old rabbi.

Rabbi Adler, shot in the arm and head by Richard Wishnetsky, 23, who then fatally shot himself, has undergone brain surgery twice.

Debut Set For Saturn

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The 22-story Saturn 1B rocket, the most powerful built by the United States, makes its launching debut Wednesday as Project Apollo's first step on the long trip to the moon.

The rocket is to drill an unmanned Apollo ship 300 miles into space and drive it back through the atmosphere at a speed up to 18,000 miles an hour.

The ballistic flight, which will last only 39 minutes, is the first of a long series of Apollo launchings which must precede the landing of American astronauts on the moon by 1970.

Recovery will be attempted when the cabin section, to hold future astronauts, drops by parachute into the South Atlantic 5,300 miles southeast of Cape Kennedy.

The launch is the first of three unmanned tests for the spacecraft and the rocket before three astronauts step inside the Apollo for an 8- to-14-day earth orbital journey late this year or early 1967.

FLEET ADMIRAL NIMITZ

Death Claims Last 5-Star Admiral

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The late James V. Forrestal, while secretary of the Navy, once asked his chief of naval operations whether an officer convicted by a court-martial ever had risen to flag rank.

"You're looking at one," replied Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, who commanded the most powerful fleet in history during World War II.

As a young officer, the soft-spoken Texan had indeed been found guilty and reprimanded by a Navy court — for running a destroyer aground in Manila Bay.

The admiral, who died Sunday at 80, commanded a thousand ships and two million men during the battles leading to the surrender of Japan. He was the last of the five-star admirals.

Despite holding awesome power, the admiral disliked pomp. On his 75th birthday the Navy staged a big party for him and he remarked:

"Am I looking forward to this? I'm looking forward to the end of it. I feel the same about it as the man who bought himself a small boat. His two happiest days were when he bought it and when he sold it."

The admiral's first experience with a small boat was not pleasant. Born in a landlocked town, he never had seen an ocean until he arrived at Annapolis and became seasick on his first voyage — in a small boat there.

Nimitz, whose career at sea spanned two world wars and the birth of the atomic age, died of what a Navy spokesman called "complications following a stroke" suffered Jan. 3.

With him at his home on Yerba Buena Island Naval Base in San Francisco Bay were his wife, Catherine, one of his daughters and a grandson.

Burial will be Thursday in Golden Gate National Cemetery just south of San Francisco.

In Washington, President Johnson paid tribute to Nimitz as a man of "quiet courage and resolute leadership." The President said Nimitz had earned "the undying gratitude of his countrymen and an enduring chapter in the annals of naval history."

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower said: "Admiral Nimitz was one of the most distinguished officers of World War II. The entire nation will always owe him a debt of gratitude for his brilliant service in World War II. He was a good friend whom I admired and respected deeply."

Nimitz was jumped over 24 senior admirals to become commander in chief of the Pacific fleet after the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor Dec. 7, 1941.

His high command spanned the Navy's greatest days — at Coral Sea, Midway, Guadalcanal, Leyte Gulf and finally the Japanese surrender in Tokyo Bay, where he signed the agreement as U.S. representative.

The battle off Midway, Jan 3-6 1942, in which the Japanese lost four carriers and a heavy cruiser, was the turning point of the Pacific war, in the admiral's opinion. The Japanese offensive power sank with those carriers.

His decorations included 30 medals, ribbons and badges, 13 of them from foreign countries.

A native of Fredericksburg, Tex. — 20 miles from President Johnson's ranch — Nimitz said of his ocean-going profession, "It was a career by chance." He failed in a bid to get an appointment to West Point.

His naval career began, as it ended, on San Francisco Bay. He shipped out in January 1905 aboard the battleship Ohio, which became flagship of the Asiatic fleet.

Brown's Victory Scars California Demos

By BILL BOYARSKY

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown survived a walkout of angry delegates and won the California Democratic Council's endorsement, but his victory left scars of intraparty conflict.

Hard feelings, touched off by debate over the Viet Nam war, were evident Sunday as about 200 delegates left the hall when Brown asked the convention of the nation's largest volunteer political group to back his bid for a third term.

The protesters, a minority of the 1,860 present, were objecting to the Democratic governor's support of a successful move to force the resignation of council president Simon Casady, a critic of the Johnson administration's Viet Nam policy.

Most delegates remained, and their cheers of, "We want Brown" echoed through the convention hall.

Brown won their support, but got only 874 votes. Dr. Carleton Goodlett, a San Francisco Negro newspaper publisher who hasn't even declared his candidacy, received 289 votes. Officials said 630 delegates abstained.

The battle showed the unpredictability of the 14-year-old grass roots group, with a membership of more than 30,000.

After denying Casady a vote of confidence Saturday, members replaced him with a San Francisco attorney, Gerald Hill, 36, who favors negotiations in Viet Nam with the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front "under United Nations auspices."

The convention shouted approval of a policy statement favoring such talks.

Plans For Deep-Sea Village

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)— A scientist says an undersea living project housing 50 oil workers at depths of 1,000 feet could be built at once at a cost of about $6 million.

Leon Danforth, 29, a hydrodynamicist with Northrop Nortronics, said Sunday his proposal is for a starfish-shaped seafloor village called "habitat."

Danforth made public a paper for an offshore exploration conference next week. He said he has drawn detailed plans for a three-level metal capsule which would house the village's instruments and equipment.

Extending from the capsule, he said, would be five arms containing living and working quarters for the men. Also running from the capsule would be tubes in which the men could walk to watertight domes over wellheads.

Danforth said well - drilling tools would be lowered through the domes from a vertically-floating vessel on the surface that would serve as a drilling platform.

He said the Navy's recent Sealab 2 experiment proved the feasibility of his plan, assuring that men could live and work at great depths.

Attacks Fatal To Woman And Husband

SOUTH WHITLEY, Ind. (AP) —Mrs. Earl Shaffer, 65, went out to the barn to call her husband to supper and found him dead of heart attack.

The distraught woman rushed back to the house to telephone for help but died before she could make the call.

Police said Shaffer, 73, and his wife were both victims of heart ailments.
