Track Team Is 2nd In State

The Eldorado Eagles mile relay team consisting of Richard Self, Jim Runge, Ray Lewis Ballew, and Lynn Meador, won first in mile relay for Class A schools last week end in the Interscholastic state meet, Austin.

Eldorado was just two points under Rotan's 30 points at the Class A state track meet in Austin last Saturday. Anahuac chalked up 28 points also, the same as Eldorado. Sonora tied for 5th place with 20 points.

Mike Holmes of Big Lake swept to both the 100 and the 220 yard dash titles, breaking the conference century mark and tying the 220 record in the process.

The final event of the day was the mile relay. Sonora and Eldorado fought it out all alone in the rubber match of their series. Eldorado had won district but Sonora had turned the tables in regional and Saturday's battle was bitter. Sonora gained the lead in the second lap when Primo Gonzales passed Ray Ballew, but Jim Runge, trailing Sonora's anchor man, Buck Bloodworth by about 10 yards at the final handoff, closed the margin on the stretch and won by about 4 yards. The clocking was 3:26.5, compared to 3:27.4 for Sonora.

Runge also helped his club with a second in the quarter mile, winding up behind Morris Kysor of Parland, who set a new conference record. Runge's time of 50.2 tied the old mark.

There were three conference marks broken in Class A and two more tied.

Post Script

In last week's pre-election issue of the Success, we were half-way right in our prediction of which two would emerge as tops in the campaign for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

There is only one local level run-off, with Grat Edmiston and Gene McCalla top two in the race for Commissioner of Precinct 2.

What's in a name?

With Don Yarborough and John Connally emerging as top Democrats for governor, their names sound familiar to large groups of voters who are unable to explain exactly why.

Don Yarborough is no relation to Ralph Yarborough, our present U. S. Senator who ran unsuccessfully for governor of Texas several years ago.

John Connally is the third candidate named Connally to come before voters of southwest Texas. The first two were: Tom Connally, former U. S. Senator from Texas; Sam Connally of San Saña, who ran unsuccessfully against O. C. Fisher for Congressman of the 21st district, back in 1954.

In the run-off June 2nd, a few voters may scratch one of the names Connally or Yarborough from force of habit.

On page 3 in this issue appears a long formal-looking notice from the First National Bank in which they are advertising unclaimed bank accounts, which have remained unclaimed for seven years.

This notice is published in compliance with the new State escheat law which was passed last year, and if the accounts are not claimed after they are advertised, they will eventually be turned over to the state.

As far as the local bank is concerned the state will not reap much of a windfall, since most of the accounts here are for very small amounts—one and two dollars. Also the bank will be allowed to subtract the advertising expense, which in this particular case comes to about $20. It all amounts to quite a lot of additional paper work. The publisher has to make out four copies of a sworn affidavit testifying that he did publish the notice on such-and-such a day. We don't have any idea how many affidavits the bank has to fill out. We're sure they are not very enthusiastic about the new set-up, but at least the printer gets a little extra business.

Evidently it takes some hot local races to bring out all the votes. That is the only way we can account for the light vote in Schleicher county last Saturday. As near as we can figure it out, there were only about 650 votes cast. There were no county-wide contests to create local interest.

We looked up some figures in our files. The success in its issue of July 31, 1952, shows that there were just about twice as many people voting at that time as there were here last week. In the county judge's race at that time, Craig received 633 votes and his opponent 617. There was also competition in the county treasurer's race. The incumbent at that time got 831 votes and her opponent 421. The total vote at that time was a little over 1250, as compared with 650 here last week.

Now consider the school trustee election held about a month ago. It was a county-wide election and what did it bring out? Only about 230 citizens took the trouble to go up and cast a ballot.

There may have been a few more people here in 1952 than there are in 1962, but the census figures don't show it that way.

There was more hustle and bustle here than there is now and when everyone is busy they are more likely to be interested. When things are quiet we are prone to get apathetic.

I'll be darned if I don't think it would be a good thing to bring on a beer election, just so we could have something to fight about. Of course it wouldn't pass, but I bet it would get the vote out.

A wise old publisher told me one time about 40 years ago: "Harmony is a desirable thing, if it doesn't lead to stagnation."

VIGOROUS CAMPAIGN PROMISED IN DEMOCRATIC RUN-OFF FOR GOVERNOR

JOHN CONNALLY

DON YARBOROUGH

John Connally of Fort Worth, former Navy Secretary, led the field in his bid for the Democratic nomination for Governor in last Saturday's election with over 391,000 votes credited to him in Sunday's tabulation. He was followed by Don Yarborough of Houston, the out-and-out liberal and New Frontiersman in the six-man race, who ran up a total of over 287,000 votes. These two will now square off for a 4-week drive for votes which will culminate in the run-off election on Saturday, June 2. Both have promised they will wage vigorous campaigns. Governor Daniel, seeking an unprecedented fourth term, conceded defeat last Sunday. He came in third with about 59,000 votes less than Yarborough.

Telephone Company Asking More Raises

In their regular meeting Tuesday night the City Council said "NO" to a request from the General Telephone Co., for an increase in rates.

The proposed rate increase has to do with such things as extension phones, etc., and the city dads and the phone men have been having it around and around for some time.

In this last meeting, the council members voted unanimously to reject the increase, but that may not be the end of the story. The phone company has a way of never quitting until they get what they want.

Women's Baseball Getting Under Way

Women's baseball games last year were something that created a great deal of interest and the program is now being inaugurated again. The girls are now working out two days a week—on Monday and Thursday at the Little League park, from 5:00 to 6:30 p.m. On Monday, May 21st they will hold a meeting to officially organize at least two teams.

In order to provide overall authority that the women will have respect for, it has been deemed necessary to draft the services of two men as managers of the league. They will be Bob Hartley and Bailey Rogers.

It will be necessary, the managers say, to have a small sum of money for equipment, and each player is going to be asked to contribute the sum of 25c for this purpose. The public is promised a continuing program of free entertainment as the season advances.

Mrs. Bernice Sweatt Receives 15-Year Pin

A pie and coffee party was held on Thursday, May 3 by the personnel of the local ASCS office, at which time Mrs. Bernice Sweatt was presented with a pin and certificate in honor of 15 years' service. The presentation was made by R. J. Cardwell, acting office manager.

The employees of the Schleicher County ASCS expressed their appreciation to Bernice for her patient and helpful service as chief clerk and joined in wishing her many more years of service.

Senior Edition Is Coming On May 17th

Most of next week's issue of the Eldorado Success will be given over to the Senior class for the annual Graduation Edition, in which all 28 grads will be pictured with a write-up on each.

In addition there will be ads from public-spirited local merchants congratulating the classmen as they bring to a close their years of local schooling.

This keep-sake edition is put out every year by the Success at graduation time. The crew have been at work on this special edition for a number of weeks.

Summer Activities Are Coming Up Soon

With the close of the school year just about 10 days away, attention will soon be focused on summer activities.

Jack Montgomery and Douglas Jung are to manage the county swimming pool. They report that as soon as the pool can be drained, it will be cleaned up and put in shape for the upcoming season. It is hoped that it can be in operation a day or two after school closes. Arrangements will be made for swimming and life saving classes.

Jack Bell will teach the driver education course during the summer months. Shifting of this instruction to the summer is a change in the school curriculum.

Mrs. Bell will have charge of the summer recreational program for the grade school age children.

Guy Whitaker announces that Little League will get under way on June 4th.

Further details on all of these summer activities will be announced in the Success later.

Mr. and Mrs. Granville Hext and Deanna attended the wedding of Mignon Roger of Mozelle and Ray Armstrong of Dublin, which was held at the Concho Baptist Church in Coleman last Friday night. They also visited Mrs. Bob Johnson while in Coleman.

Election Results

In the Democratic Primary election held last Saturday, Schleicher county followed the state-wide trend by giving its biggest vote to John Connally and second high to Don Yarborough. But from that point on the similarity changed. This county gave Gen. Walker more votes than Daniel—putting Will Wilson in 3rd place, Walker in 4th, Daniel in 5th, and Formby on the bottom.

In the state-wide race Daniel holds 3rd place, followed by Wilson and Formby, and with Walker at the bottom.

'The Mask' Calls For One

Showing tonight and tomorrow night at the Eagle Drive-In theatre is "The Mask," which is a horror opus, peopled with unknowns, that begs for attention only through a 3-D viewer mask that each patron is handed on his way inside.

Like the "Thirteen Ghosts" of a while back, the 3-D viewer is used only at specific times during the film—when the actors put on an ancient tribal mask that sends its wearers into paroxysms of frenzy eventually leading to murder.

The audience is then allowed to see wild dream fantasies of shooting fireballs, floating coffins, girls turning into skeletons, etc.

The weak of heart, of course, may lower their 3-D viewers.

Sammye Mayo Elected To Student Congress

Waco.—Miss Sammye Mayo of Eldorado has been elected to the Student Congress at Baylor University.

She is completing her Freshman year, is majoring in speech and minoring in psychology.

Miss Mayo is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Mayo and will spend the summer with them.

On Tuesday they went to Buchanan Dam, accompanied by Mrs. Jeffrey and Pearl, and then went on and toured the Longhorn Caverns. On the way home they came through Llano county and stopped at a cemetery between Llano and Valley Springs where Mrs. Jeffrey's husband and an infant are buried.

Mike Gaunt of Iraan visited his grand parents Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Bradshaw last week end while his parents Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Wilson were in El Paso where Mr. Wilson played polo. He is a member of the San Antonio polo team and they competed against Mexico City in El Paso.

To Attend Science Meet

Eldorado High School has been selected by the University of Texas as one of ten schools in the area served by West Texas Utilities Company to send a student and a teacher to the 2nd annual atomic energy symposium to be held in June at the University of Texas in Austin. Selection of schools receiving invitations to attend was made by members of the University faculty. The manner of determining the name of the science student and her instructor was left to the discretion of local school officials. Frank G. Kemble, high school principal has announced that Genelle Edmiston, student, and Robert L. Jay, science instructor at the high school, have been chosen to attend the symposium.

The 2nd annual atomic energy symposium for high school students will be conducted under the joint sponsorship of the University of Texas and the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation.

The Foundation is a non-profit organization composed of eleven investor-owned electric utility companies operating in Texas. It was formed for the primary purpose of conducting the world's first and largest major research program in the field of nuclear energy. Currently, the Foundation and General Dynamics Corporation are jointly sponsoring a program in nuclear fusion research aimed at controlling thermonuclear reactions for the production of electric power.

The purposes for which the Foundation was formed, however, are broader than the fusion research program alone. It is the desire of the Foundation and WTU to assist in advancing the knowledge of nuclear science in Texas schools and to bring students and teachers a realization of the scientific discoveries in the field of nuclear energy present.

In line with these objectives, the Foundation and WTU will again sponsor the three-day nuclear science symposium at the University of Texas. The lecturers will be chosen from among top men in their field. They will come from various universities and colleges and General Dynamic's John Hopkins Laboratory in San Diego, California.

This nuclear science symposium is designed to broaden the mind, encourage the study of nuclear science for peaceful purposes, and give qualified students their first taste of university life.

Spring...Time for Breakfast Buffet

According to the calendar, Spring is here. However, a glance out the window most of these mornings is ample proof that Old Man Winter doesn't give up too easily. A wonderfully cozy brightener for such a dreary day is a party that comes at the time you need it most, a Breakfast Buffet. Planned either as a weekday Kaffeeklatch for just the girls, or as a weekend party party with husbands also included, you'll find that it will be a very successful and novel way of informal entertaining.

A definite characteristic of a morning party such as this one is that your guests are inclined to be far more relaxed than at an evening affair. Consequently, you, the hostess, should be too. First of all, plan your menu in advance, as you would for any other party, so that you won't be caught at the last moment with a vital item missing. Make it a simple menu, but not a dull one (after all, breakfast is a meal, not just a nutritional necessity, even when it's not a party.)

Another help to being a charming hostess is to set your table with the new attractive Sheffield paper plates and cups. That way, your enthusiasm isn't dulled by the thought of clean-up time. A very pretty breakfast table can be achieved through the use of paper in the sparkling hues of brown that remind one of Grandmother's heirloom china. Along with your favorite flowers and silver, the effect is a charming one. For the menu, our vote is for the following combination: Citrus Glow, Eggs on a Nest, Sour Cream Nut Bread and steaming hot coffee.

- Citrus Glow
 1 can (6-ounces) quick-frozen concentrated orange and grapefruit juice
 3 cans water
 2 cups bottled cranberry juice
 Mint leaves (optional)
 Combine orange and grapefruit juice, water and cranberry juice, mixing well. Add sugar to taste—about 2 to 4 tablespoons. Pour into cold drink cups, chill, and garnish with mint leaves before serving. Makes about 5 cups.

- Eggs on a Nest
 5 tablespoons butter or margarine
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 1/2 teaspoon sweet basil
 2 cups spoon-size shredded wheat cereal
 8 eggs
 Salt and pepper
 1/4 cup chopped parsley
 1/4 cup grated American cheese
 Melt 3 tablespoons butter or margarine. Stir in salt and basil. Add the cereal to the butter and stir until cereal is well coated with herb-butter mixture. Continue to cook over low heat, stirring constantly until cereal is toasty brown, about five minutes. Remove from pan to hot serving platter. Melt remaining butter in skillet. Beat eggs well. Stir in salt and pepper and cook, stirring constantly, until eggs are softly scrambled. Spoon on top of browned spoon-sized shredded wheat cereal. Sprinkle cheese over the eggs immediately. (You could make this in a chafing dish at the table and not have to leave your guests.) Makes 4 servings.

- Sour Cream Nut Bread
 2 cups sifted flour
 1 teaspoon baking powder
 1 teaspoon baking soda
 1 teaspoon salt
 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
 1/4 teaspoon cloves
 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
 1 egg, beaten
 1 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
 1 cup dairy sour cream
 1 cup broken nut meats
 Sift flour, baking powder, soda and spices together. Beat egg. Add sugar and mix well. Stir in sour cream carefully. Add dry ingredients, stirring only enough to moisten them. Add the nut meats. Pour into a well buttered pan and bake in 350° preheated oven for 1 hour. Good served warm or cold.

Another juice idea you might try is Lemon Surprise. This is not only an unusual breakfast beverage, it's a delicious way of including eggs in the menu in a different form.

Lemon Surprise
 1 can (6 ounces) quick-frozen concentrated lemonade
 Cold water
 3 eggs, beaten
 Crushed pineapple, strawberries, or other fruit
 Mix concentrated lemonade with cold water as directed on can. Add the beaten eggs, mix well, cover, and chill thoroughly. To serve, put a spoonful of fruit in each cup and fill with lemonade mixture. Makes enough for six-ounce servings.

Still another breakfast idea, which is quick to prepare as well as delicious, is Baked Apple-Cereal dish. To prepare it, put 3 cups of spoon-size shredded wheat biscuits in a shallow baking dish. Spoon over the contents of a pound can of sliced apples. Sprinkle a cinnamon-sugar mixture over the apples. Be generous with the sugar mixture. Then bake in a 375° F. oven for 15 minutes. Serve warm with milk or cream. Makes enough for 4 people.

They took Mrs. Anderson to Del Rio, Old Mexico and visited Brackettville where the movie, "The Alamo" was made. They then went to San Antonio. The following week end they went to Dallas to visit Mr. Rountree's parents and while there they saw "Six Flags Over Texas," and many other points of interest as this was Mrs. Anderson's first trip to Texas. She left Dallas Monday morning for Chattanooga, and the Rountrees returned home Monday.

The Van Dusen circle of First Baptist church met in the home of Miss Mary Bruton for a Royal Service program. Mrs. Montgomery had charge of the meeting. Refreshments were served to six.

Austin. — Annual payments of corporation franchise taxes helped knock down the enormous deficit in the state's general revenue fund in just 12 days.

On April 24, State Treasurer Jesse James reported a deficit of $90,341,045. Twelve days later, the overdraft was down to $28,053,885. James noted that the deficit was markedly lower than the $96,000,000 peak reached a little more than a month ago. But he did not state when the next big payment will be made out of the revenue fund—which might make the deficiency soar again. However State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert said the state will send more than $34,000,000 to public schools early in the summer.

State Wins Escheat Suit
Texas' general revenue fund will reap $3,665 as a result of the state winning its first judgement under the new escheat law. Although the judgement by the 53rd District Court at Travis county was for $103,665, the State general fund benefits by only $3,665. Reason is that the first $50,000 escheated must be kept in the treasury in case owners are located. Another $50,000 annually must be allocated to pay for the cost of administering the program.

Funds were placed in the treasury under an old law which had no provision for disposition. But the escheat law passed in 1961 paved the way for use of the money. Attorney General Will Wilson immediately started seeking more escheat money. He asked the U. S. Supreme Court to determine whether Texas, Pennsylvania or New Jersey has the right to escheat $37,853 that Sun Oil Company owes to more than 1,800 people whose whereabouts are unknown.

Texas claims the money because the transactions were made here. New Jersey filed suit because Sun Oil was chartered there. Pennsylvania wants to attach it because the company headquarters are in that state.

Imported Steel To Be Banned
District Judge Herman Jones of Austin has given notice to both sides of the case of the Texas Association of Steel Importers, Inc. versus the State Highway Department that he will uphold the Highway Commission's authority to order a ban against imported steel in constructing state highways. Importers challenged this authority when they brought suit in January. A five-day trial in March ended in a hung jury. Highway Commissioner Herb Petry Jr., testified that some imported steel was found to be inferior and stated that wasn't worth the risk.

Judge Jones concluded that the importers had failed to show the invalidity of the highway department's order. He is expected to enter judgement for the state next week.

Adopt Teacher Service

The Texas Employment Commission has undertaken a new statewide program to answer the problem of placing teachers for the state's 2,500,000 school children. TEC Administrator R. L. Coffman announced that the commission will run a placement service as a clearing house for applications from teachers. Also they will list vacancies. New plan is expected to afford teachers a wider selection of teaching opportunities and provide school administrators with a choice of instructors from all over the state.

Local offices of the employment commission are stocking application forms, which also may be secured from the Austin office.

UT Leases Up For Sale

Some 35,000 acres of oil and gas leases owned by the University of Texas will be offered for sale at a public auction in the Commodore Perry Hotel in Austin on June 26. All of the 101 leases on West Texas land parcels, ranging from 82 to 343 acres, will be sold for a term of five years, or as long as the oil and gas on the lands is produced in paying quantities.

Big difference in this 45th public auction is that the royalty from gross production has been raised from the one-eighth charged previously to one-sixth. Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler insisted on the change since state public school lands long have been sold on a one-sixth basis.

Short Snorts

The New York Stock Exchange made a survey of security transactions in Texas and reported that the number of stockholders in the state zoomed from 160,000 in 1956 to 375,000 in 1959, with one Texan in every 26 a shareholder.

State Highway Department is arranging with Civil Defense officials to make departmental buildings available as public fallout shelters in the event of enemy attack.

Twenty-one inspection stations were closed by the Department of Public Safety as it began a crackdown on stations suspected of improper inspection of motor vehicles.

Albert B. Fay of Houston, Republican national committeeman, asked Gov. Price Daniel to proclaim May 26 "Republican Day" in Texas.

Governor Daniel saluted the 176 livestock markets in the state and designated the week of May 7-12 as "Livestock Market Week."

The Sense of History

Rome.—During my stay here, Rome has celebrated its 2,715th birthday. According to an interesting mixture of myth, legend and history, the Eternal City was founded on the River Tiber on April 21, 753 B. C. It is believed that Etruscan kings ruled the city from 753 B.C. through 509 B.C., but the events of that remote period are somewhat obscure. All are agreed, however, that this famous city has had a continuous life of deep historical interest and cultural achievement for more than 2500 years. This fact alone is enough to make a Texan gasp in wonder and amazement!

Evidences of this long history appear on every side. There is a weathered look, what craftsmen call a patina, on almost all of the buildings. (A new section of homes or business houses stands out in sharp contrast.) It is not difficult as one walks along an ancient street to imagine the men of Caesar's day walking these same paving stones in their togas, or to see in the mind's eye the proud Roman legions as they streamed south along the Appian Way.

All this is what makes the American tourist feel, as never before, the sense of history. It makes him see and know how young is our own nation. It makes him grateful for the cultural heritage which has been created and treasured here, in which we, too, may share. Perhaps this also explains a certain wisdom and maturity one finds in the Italians themselves. To live in the Eternal City is to acquire a measure of eternal perspective.

The sense of history is more than the recollection of certain events of the past, or a knowledge of dates and periods. It is a way of thinking or an approach to life. It means a kind of humility before all that has been done by people of many races before we of today were ever born. It includes an earnest effort to learn the mistakes of the past that we shall not make them over again. It awakens a desire to be a part of good causes today that will make a lasting contribution to the future.

Such thoughts as these become especially vivid in one's mind in this city during Holy Week. One remembers how often the Church of God has been threatened and in danger. It has been truly said the Church is an anvil which has worn out many hammers. Truth crushed to earth rises again. God has moved in a mysterious way to overcome the sins and follies of His human agents. It is infinitely comforting to believe that He still reigns, and that His purpose cannot be thwarted.

Success Office

By Dayton Kelley

The battle fought just 100 years ago was to go down in history as the bloodiest ever fought on the continent of North America up until that time. More than 23,000 casualties in dead, wounded and missing were counted on both sides—more than were lost in the Revolutionary War, the War of 1812 and the Mexican War combined.

Among those killed was General Sidney Johnston, acclaimed as one of the ablest soldiers of the Confederacy.

The battle was the first of real significance in the western campaigns of the Civil War and was to become known in the North as the Battle of Pittsburg Landing and in the South as the Battle of Shiloh, a name it took from a little log church used as a forward command post just before the encounter between the 44,000 Confederates which General Johnston commanded and the 40,000 Union troops of the Army of Tennessee, commanded by General U. S. Grant. General Johnston, placed in command of the Confederate forces in Kentucky and Tennessee, had been forced to withdraw to the south the previous February when Forts Henry and Donelson fell before the invading Grant. He had concentrated his forces at Corinth, Mississippi when word came that General Grant's army was at Pittsburg Landing only 22 miles away. Word also came that Grant was waiting for 20,000 more troops under General Don Carlos Buell, and that as soon as they arrived, he would attack the outnumbered Confederates.

The Confederates immediately set out to force their way between Grant's army and the river, a movement which would cut the Federals off from their base of supplies. Johnston hoped to destroy Grant and then turn on Buell before the two armies could come together.

During the battle which began on Sunday morning, April 6, 1862, General Johnston was struck in the leg by a Minie ball while sitting astride his horse directing a charge by his reserves. The ball severed the large artery in his leg and Johnston died a few minutes later from loss of blood. Gen. Pierre G. T. Beauregard, the hero of Fort Sumter and First Manassas who was also on the field, immediately succeeded to command of the Confederate forces.

In spite of the loss of Johnston and the heavy casualties they suffered, the Confederates thoroughly mauled Grant's army that first day, but when night came the Federal troops still had their backs to the river. This was exactly opposite the maneuver Johnston had planned.

During the night, about 25,000 fresh Union troops from General Buell's army and General Lew Wallace's division, joined Grant's weary troops and on the morning of the seventh, 34,000 weary Confederates faced 54,000 reinforced Yankees. All during that day the thin Confederate line was forced ground and by mid afternoon Gen. Beauregard ordered his men to withdraw back to Corinth.

The two-day battle cost the North 13,000 men while the total loss to the South was about 10,000. The lessons in warfare that were learned those two days around the little log Methodist church were lessons that commanders and men of the opposing armies never forgot.

For a long time there has been need for an account of Texas' participation in the Civil War and the Confederacy. Now the Texas Civil War Centennial Commission has brought out such an account in "Texas in the Civil War" a booklet dedicated as a memorial to all Texans who served in the armed forces of the Confederate States of America. The manuscript for the booklet was prepared at no cost to the Commission by Dr. Allan C. Ashcraft of Texas A&M College and the art work was contributed by James Wikins of Tyler.

In addition to the account of Texas in the Civil War, the booklet also contains a chronology of events compiled by a special committee under the leadership of Prof. John T. Duncan of A&M.

Copies of the booklet may be ordered for $1.02 from the Texas Civil War Centennial Commission, 112 East 18th Street, Austin.

Walter E. Long, the eminent Austin historian, is chairman of the Commission and George W. Hill is executive director.

Summer a hundred years ago saw the spotlight of war swing slowly from Union successes along the Mississippi River in the western theatre to what at first appeared to be more of the same in the Peninsula campaign of the eastern theatre.

Union General George B. McClellan was a long time getting his Peninsula campaign underway, but once it started it appeared that nothing could stop him from taking the Confederate capital city of Richmond. Embarking at Fort Monroe on the toe of the York-James Peninsula, the Union Army moved slowly inland toward Richmond. On May 4, the Confederate first line of defense at Yorktown was abandoned, Williamsburg was taken and within a few weeks Union troops had moved far enough up the Peninsula to hear the clocks of Richmond toll the hours. During those weeks Confederate troops under Gen. James Longstreet fought a successful rear guard action at Williamsburg, Gen. J. E. B. Stuart made his famous four-day reconnaissance ride around McClellan's army, and the James River Squadron of the Navy along with the CSS Merrimack stood off attacking Federal gunboats at Drewry's Bluff below Richmond. The Union fleet was forced to retire downriver, but the Merrimack, a ship loved and admired by all Southerners, had to be burned to keep her from falling into enemy hands.

In spite of minor successes, the Confederates were forced to give ground and it looked for a time as though Gen. McClellan's campaign would engulf Richmond. And without the sons of two Revolutionary War heroes, the Confederacy may well have lost the War in mid-1862.

The two were Robert E. Lee, the son of Light Horse Harry Lee, and Joseph E. Johnston, son of Peter Johnston. The two fathers had soldiered together in the Revolution 80 years previously and now their sons were working together in another "revolution."

Gen. Robert E. Lee was military advisor to President Jefferson Davis and Gen. Joseph E. Johnston was commander of what was coming to be called the Army of Northern Virginia.

As McClellan's plan became clear to Gen. Lee, Gen. Johnston's army was moved into position between Richmond and the invading Federal forces and during the following weeks, names such as Longstreet, Jeb Stuart, "Prince John" Magruder, and a 30-year-old brigadier from Kentucky who answered to the name of John Bell Hood became household words.

At the battle of Fair Oaks or Seven Pines, General Johnston was severely wounded and Gen. Lee became the commanding general of the Army of Northern Virginia. Gen. Stonewall Jackson's troops were moved out of the Shenandoah Valley to reinforce the Confederate defenses around Richmond.

The ensuing fighting came to be known as the Seven Days Battle and showed for the first time the real military genius of Robert E. Lee. When the fighting ended, McClellan was in retreat with his army, General John Pope's newly organized Union Army of Virginia was in flight from the Second Battle of Manassas or Bull Run, and Maj. Gen. Henry W. Halleck was the new commander of all the Union armies.

And the South had a new hero—Robert E. Lee. General Johnston the man whom Lee replaced as commander of the Army of Northern Virginia, said of Lee: "The shot that struck me down is the very best that has been fired for the Southern cause yet. For I possess in no degree the confidence of our government, and now they have in my place one who does possess it."

Unions Uncontrolled Says Cong. Fisher

The steel-price controversy, coupled with plans announced by Jimmy Hoffa to weld together an empire of all transport workers in the country, has aroused renewed interest in the need for more effective controls over labor union monopoly activities.

A good example of the present imbalance is the steel industry. If U. S. Steel should decide to close down its plants tomorrow, actions would be taken to prevent it because of competitive and legal reasons. But the Steel Workers Union can shut down 90% of all steel plants at one time, and has done so several times. That is because of the monopoly which that union exercises not only over the workers in U. S. Steel, but over the workers in practically all the other steel plants. The same goes for the Automobile Workers' Union. And scores of other industry-wide union combines.

If, by contrast, several steel companies conspire to control any phase of their business, they subject themselves to heavy penalties through the vigorous enforcement of the antimonopoly laws. They will be indicted and prosecuted.

How can there be free and responsible collective bargaining and any hope for industrial peace in this country so long as that one-sided situation is permitted to exist?

Our antitrust laws specifically exempt labor unions. That was enacted back in 1914 when unions were struggling and insecure. But times and conditions have changed. Today the highly organized unions are in fact big business themselves. They no longer need nor should they expect to be coddled and wet-nursed. They are grown up and they should be made to act accordingly.

I have introduced legislation a number of times to achieve this objective. Recently Senator McClellan has introduced a similar bill. And others have been introduced. But labor legislation is but rarely advanced unless there is a groundswell of public interest and demand on the part of the people.

It will be recalled that when the Taft-Hartley Act was approved, the House version of that law placed unions under anti-trust laws. But the Senate struck that provision out, and a compromise Taft-Hartley Act left it out. If the public interest is to be protected, it is highly necessary that something be done about this weakness in our present laws—and promptly.
