Flood Threat Receding In Some Areas

By The Associated Press

Churning flood waters slapped against dikes, made murky ponds of thousands of acres of farmland and relentlessly rolled through countless homes in five states today.

Workers sandbagged and kept an around-the-clock vigil at dikes along the Mississippi River from the Twin Cities in Minnesota to Cairo, Ill., as the high, icy water menaced levees.

The U.S. Weather Bureau said some of the rivers had crested and were receding.

The Mississippi began dropping in Hannibal, Mo., after coming to within 2 feet of the record 24.1 feet set in 1947. Late Sunday the river had fallen to 22.9 feet.

A broken levee near Quincy, Ill., flooded from 7,000 to 11,000 acres of farmland Saturday night. The break eased some of the pressure against other levees down river.

The Weather Bureau said the river will begin rising again, swelled by waters of flooded rivers in Minnesota.

The governors of Illinois and Missouri — Otto Kerner and Warren E. Hearnes — planned an aerial inspection of flooded regions today.

The broken levee sent hundreds of persons in search of shelter.

Residents of two East Moline, Ill., housing projects have moved out. Rock Island, Ill., was untouched behind a new seawall, but sandbagging and earth-moving operations continued in Moline, East Moline, Rock Island and Davenport, Iowa.

More than 300 National Guardsmen patrolled river points in western Illinois Sunday as the first of an expected 5,500 evacuees began leaving their homes.

In Minnesota, the Mississippi and St. Croix rivers in St. Paul and Stillwater leveled off after the communities had battled the overflow for a week.

Joseph Strub, river expert for the Weather Bureau, said the 26-foot level of the Mississippi recorded late Friday in St. Paul appears to have been the crest. The river had backed off to 25.40 feet Sunday.

Downstream, Wabasha, a community of 2,500, is surrounded by water. About one-third of the population has been evacuated.

Winona, a city of 25,000, is braced behind nine miles of dikes 25 feet high awaiting a record 21.5-foot crest Tuesday. If the dikes burst, 80 per cent of the city will be under water.

Gov. Karl Rolvaag's office estimated damage at $40 million and the Red Cross said 21,000 individuals were homeless in Minnesota.

In Chaska, only the roofs of some of the 350 waterlogged houses were above the water.

In Wisconsin, Gov. Warren P. Knowles said he was prepared to ask President Johnson for federal disaster aid.

La Crosse, a city of 47,000, is cut in half by flood water.

In Iowa, Dubuque expected a record crest of 24 to 25 feet on the Mississippi by Friday.

Construction was pushed on a mile-long dike in Clinton, where flood waters could inundate 150 blocks.

President Salutes Late Sen. Johnston

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — President Johnson today led the praise for Sen. Olin D. Johnston, D-S.C., who died Sunday after 20 years in the Senate during which he supported most New Deal, Fair Deal and New Frontier proposals.

Johnston did disagree with Democratic administrations on foreign aid and civil rights legislation.

Condolences came from national and state figures for the 68-year-old South Carolinian who rose from tenant farm and cotton mill to the U.S. Senate.

Johnston died in a Columbia hospital of pneumonia after he appeared to be recovering from abdominal surgery.

The President called him "a man with a deep feeling for people, and a man who tried to help others."

The body lay in state today in the rotunda of the state capitol.

Johnston was chairman of the Senate Post Office and Civil Service Committee and a ranking member of the Agriculture Committee and the Judiciary Committee.

He was first operated on last Jan. 22, when surgeons intended to remove an aneurism, or blister, on the aorta, the larger artery from the heart. A cancerous intestinal tumor was found and removed, and the operation for the blister was postponed until April 8.

Easter Blizzard Hits

LONDON (AP) — Snow, gales and icy winds struck scattered parts of Western Europe today turning spring Eastertide back to winter.

Snow fell over England, Scotland and Wales.

THREE WERE INJURED in a mishap at the Old Lubbock Highway and US 84 by-pass north of town at 12:20 p.m. today. Lt. and Mrs. Atilla Papp of Dyess AFB were occupants of this car. Lt. Papp received arm and leg injuries; Mrs. Papp, chest and shoulder injuries. L. T. Carpenter, 2204 Forty-first St., occupant of the other car, a Plymouth wagon, was shaken up. A Texas Highway Patrol car (right picture) was en route to investigate when struck by a pickup driven by Willard Earl Bounds of Snyder, at Twenty-third St. and Ave. S. The truck turned over, but there were no injuries.

Planes Hit Red Convoy

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Viet Cong gunners shot down two U.S. Army helicopters and damaged another in a fight on the coastal plain north of Qui Nhon today, killing nine of the American crewmen.

The two felled helicopters exploded on hitting the ground and all the four officers and four gunners aboard them perished. Bullets hit another of the craft and killed its copilot, but the pilot got the copter back to Qui Nhon.

The roll of American combat dead in the Viet Nam rose to 343.

The operation was part of a continuing drive to clear Viet Cong holdings in Binh Dinh Province, 280 miles northeast of Saigon.

Fighter-bombers of the U.S. Navy and Air Force rounded out a week of daily attacks on Communist North Viet Nam with a series of strikes.

A 100-vehicle highway convoy on Route 15 was the target of a 3 a.m. raid. The extent of the damage to the convoy was undetermined.

Navy fliers from the carrier Hancock attacked eight to 10 barges on the Dia Giang River. They also reported a direct hit on one cargo-carrying river boat. The same group attacked the Phu Le army barracks, on the southern section of Route 101.

Air Force pilots flew armed reconnaissance missions over two east-west routes, 8 and 12. Though handicapped by heavy clouds, 10 F105 fighter bombers and an undisclosed number of support aircraft bombed and strafed various targets without opposition.

A spokesman said the results were not immediately available.

Eight U.S. Air Force F105s made leaflet drops this afternoon on seven North Vietnamese cities. The planes dropped more than a million leaflets containing excerpts from President Johnson's speech on Viet Nam and the Vietnamese government commentary on the speech.

A U.S. spokesman reported Communist guerrillas launched their first direct attack on the U.S. Marines based in the Da Nang area. They threw two grenades inta a Marine battery late Sunday night wounding two Marines. The Marines were reported in good condition.

U.S. war planes made their deepest penetration into Communist North Viet Nam Sunday night, probing within 60 miles of Hanoi. But four propeller-driven Navy fighter-bombers did not attack any targets and reported no encounters with Red aircraft.

Two other squadrons from the carriers Midway and Hancock made bombing forays into the North, and U.S. officials reported 32 air strikes in the South.

Fourteen Navy planes sank a ferry boat with cannon and rocket fire at Giap Tam, on the Song Troc River, about 60 miles north of the 17th Parallel frontier. Eleven others hit the Communists' Long Thanh army barracks in the same area.

In the South, U.S. planes hammered Red positions in the Mekong delta area. An American pilot was killed when a bomb he dropped over a Communist objective 120 miles west of Saigon exploded prematurely, sending his Skyraider to earth in flames.

LBJ Extends His Easter Vacation

Johnson, who flew to Texas last Thursday, has given no hint of when he will return to the White House. He must be back in his office by Tuesday afternoon, however, to meet with visiting Prime Minister Aldo Moro of Italy.

The President and Mrs. Johnson spent a relaxing Easter Sunday, driving 27 miles from their ranch home to services at the Episcopal church of St. Michael's and All Angels in the small hill country town of Blanco.

Johnson was conservatively dressed in black summer suit and black tie. Mrs. Johnson wore a two-piece sky-blue silk dress and matching straw sailor hat.

After services, the President took the wheel of his white sedan and, leading a caravan of pursuing newsmen, toured tiny Blanco.

He looked at some old houses and stopped at a nursing home to visit Percy T. Brigham, 87, a law partner of his grandfather, Joseph W. Baines.

The Johnsons then drove to Johnson City where the President dropped off his wife at the boyhood home which she is decorating and transforming into a museum.

Johnson then drove on to the nearby ranch of A. W. Moursund, longtime friend and business associate, for a private lunch.

Rioters May Face Troops

By C. S. CHIN

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — South Korea's government will use the army to quell student demonstrations protesting the talks with Japan if the police are unable to control the demonstrators, high Defense Ministry sources reported today.

The sources said defense authorities have reached an understanding on use of troops with the head of the U.N. Command, U.S. Gen. Hamilton H. Howze, who has operational control of the Korean forces.

Hundreds of police and demonstrators, mostly students, were injured last week in repeated clashes.

The government already has mobilized troops under the Capitol Security Command to help police guard such key government buildings as President Chung Hee Park's official mansion and the compound housing government ministries.

A spokesman for Howze said he had released additional troops to the operational control of the Korean army.

Demonstrations today were on a small scale and generally orderly although the day was the fifth anniversary of the 1960 student uprising which led to President Syngman Rhee's overthrown. The government and small groups of students held separate anniversary ceremonies.

Some 200 students of the Seoul National University marched silently from their campus for about two miles. Riot police blocked the march for a time but let it proceed when student leaders promised it would be peaceful.

About 500 high school students demonstrated in Taegu, 130 miles southeast of Seoul. Police dispersed them.

High Winds Batter Texas Coastal Areas

By The Associated Press

Battering weather struck isolated points in Central and far Southeast Texas before dawn today.

Winds which reached 56 miles per hour struck a damaging blow at Beaumont, smashing plate glass windows downtown and uprooting trees. It knocked down utility lines in some areas.

The wind lifted a portable house over a trailer house and smashed it.

Some damage also occurred at Port Arthur and Orange, near Beaumont. Thunder and lightning came with the storm but only light rain fell.

McNamara To Join Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara will join the Honolulu conference on South Viet Nam.

The Defense Department announced that McNamara, leaving today, will be in Honolulu for one day to meet with U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor and military officials "in order to review in detail plans for U.S. support of the expansion of the South Vietnamese military and paramilitary forces."

A Pentagon spokesman said there is no crisis prompting the meeting at Honolulu.

When Taylor was in Washington several weeks ago, decisions were made to expand the South Vietnamese military forces by about 160,000 men and to send in several thousand more American troops.

US School Children Lifted From Dalat

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A total of 116 American schoolchildren and missionary teachers were evacuated to Bangkok today from the South Vietnamese city of Dalat in three U.S. Air Force transports.

The children all were sons and daughters of missionaries of the Christian and Missionary Alliance stationed in seven Asian countries.

EYES NEW PATHS

Romney Blasts 'Great Society'

NEW YORK (AP) — Michigan Gov. George Romney declared today that the United States must blaze new paths in progress sharing to win world peace and end domestic economic deadlock.

The Republican governor called his twin programs "partnership through progress sharing." He said the consumer should regain the driver's seat at home and that cooperative private investments should replace certain government handouts abroad.

In remarks prepared for delivery to the annual meeting of The Associated Press, Romney called President Johnson's "Great Society" a "paternalistic cloak and a 'great government' that does not have answers to the nation's growing problems.

He warned that unless this country can "change the world's false notions of what we are, and share our principles and our progress with those who want, it will [illegible] with our enemies and destroy us."

Romney—a second term governor mentioned prominently as a possible presidential candidate in 1968—outlined this conceit of worldwide "partnership through progress sharing:"

"Our leadership must be based on example, persuasion and partnership, rather than on compulsion, exploitation and domination. Americans must learn, before it is too late, that other nations—whether they are relatively rich or objectly poor—do not want our domination or our handouts, and yet they desperately need our help."

Foreign operations, he said, should be put on a partnership rather than absentee-owner basis. "It is only right and reasonable that other nations consider their markets theirs, not ours."

He declared that "most of the economic development aid which flows from this country to the other nations of the world should be in the form of private investment, rather than government handouts."

Court 'Reluctantly' Bans Golf Playing In Towle Memorial Park

The Scurry County commissioners court this morning passed a motion prohibiting golf playing in Towle Park.

The commissioners said they passed the resolution reluctantly, since the park was a place for folks to play, but noted that there was considerable hazard to other park users involved from the golf balls.

Jay Ramsey, park superintendent, who met with the court to discuss the situation, also told the court that the opening date for the swimming pool has been tentatively set for May 30, Memorial Day.

In other business this morning the court discussed a welfare problem with Mr. J. C. Beavers who asked for help in taking care of an indigent person. The court assured Beavers that they felt it was a county case, and some arrangement would be made.

Philippine President Urges US To Remain In Islands

MANILA (AP) — President Diosdado Macapagal declared today the United States should keep its military bases in the Philippines and warned that withdrawal would "play into the hands of the Communists."

"As everybody knows, the Communists have been advocating, in and outside the United Nations, the elimination of American bases scattered all over the globe," Macapagal told The Associated Press in an exclusive interview.

"It is unfortunate that some opposition leaders have advocated such a step, but this does not reflect popular opinion or the official view of the Philippine government."

Recent incidents involving American bases here have touched off demands for removal of the military installations and the recall of U.S. Ambassador William McCormick Blair Jr.

U.S. Cards kills two Filipinos on the bases last winter, prompting protest rallies and attacks against the United States in the Philippine press.

A World War II Japanese mortar shell was thrown into the American schoolyard at Clark Base while 750 children were inside. Blair set off a furor with a statement that two Filipinos had tried unsucessfully to bomb the school.

Shooting incidents involving Filipinos led in 1956 to negotiations to revise the U.S.-Philippine military bases agreement. The negotiations have never been completed, but Macapagal said discussions are still going on.

"There are no irritants and misunderstandings between us that could not be resolved with satisfaction to both sides, the president said.

"The current talks to revise the military bases agreement are intended to promote this end."

Here is a partial text of the interview:

Q — The United States and the Philippines long have enjoyed cordial relations, but there have been indications of strain in recent times. Do you think that recent incidents which have aroused public protest have done any damage to these relations?

A—No, I don't think that recent incidents have done any damage to Philippine-American relations. So deep and abiding is the friendship and affinity of ideals between our two peoples that honest differences of opinion cannot possibly undermine it. As has been demonstrated so often in the past, there are no irritants and misunderstandings between us that could not be resolved with satisfaction to both sides. The current talks to revise the militasy bases agreement are intended to promote [illegible] end.

TO END RAIDS

Opponents Nix Fulbright's Plan

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen sided today with Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara against a proposal by Sen. J. W. Fulbright for a temporary suspension of U.S. bombings of North Viet Nam.

Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, made his proposal in an exclusive Associated Press interview. He said such a suspension would encourage the opening of peace talks.

The Arkansas Democrat said he supports President Johnson's course in Viet Nam, but added:

"Within the near future, before the escalation goes too far, a temporary cease-fire might be advisable in order to give the people a little time to contemplate the trouble.

"The daily bombings are inclined to keep the atmosphere very tense, and I think perhaps, to make the North Vietnamese dig in, and as in Great Britain where the Germans thought the British might sue for peace when they started bombing them in World War II. Well, it didn't work that way.

"No one knows, if a temporary cease-fire, just to give opportunity for reflection and possibly to go to discussions as proposed by the President, might be possible. Maybe there are reasons why this is not feasible, but I'm judging from the press reports, the action of the Russians, and some of the others, that would indicate that the prospects for discussions might be enhanced by a temporary cessation of bombings.

"We don't have to make any commitments. We could resume bombing at any time there is no response. I don't see where there would be any great, very serious loss of position on our part. Anway, it's something that I think could be considered."

Dirksen, who has strongly supported Johnson's course in Viet Nam, said he disagreed with Fulbright's views on a suspension of bombings. The Illinois Republican said the Communists have given no sign that they are willing to negotiate.

"I think we have to hold their feet to the fire," Dirksen said. "If we let up on them now we will lose face, our prestige will drop and that will make it more difficult to end the [illegible]."

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: We recently celebrated our 25th wedding anniversary, and I had a lovely wedding dinner dance for our friends. We sent out engraved invitations, but I went to my widowed mother's house and spent the evening with her and invited her personally to the party. She never came. Then she told my brother in tears that she was not invited! Now the whole family is angry with me. I can't understand it. Wasn't my personal invitation enough? Please clear up this matter.

IOWAN

DEAR IOWAN: A personal invitation to one's mother would seem more appropriate than an engraved one. Either your mother forgot that you had invited her personally, or she is looking for a reason to be angry with you. Something is wrong here. I would guess that the relationship between you and your mother was rather shaky to begin with.

DEAR ABBY: I am a man in my 60's who recently retired. I have been very successful in my life and my wife and I are living in Florida. Our eldest son married and gave us our only grandchild, who is now six. The marriage ended in divorce, so we invited our daughter-in-law to bring the boy and stay with us until she got her feet on the ground. She has her own car, a built-in baby-sitter (my wife), support money from our son, and she comes and goes as she pleases. She never had it so good. She's been with us for six months and has made no move to find a place of her own. My wife and I had planned a trip to Europe, but she became so attached to her grandson that she cancelled the trip. I can't throw my daughter-in-law and grandson out of the house, and my wife is not easy to reason with. So what should I do?

IN THE MIDDLE

DEAR IN: Your wife's attachment to her grandson and the convenient setup for your daughter-in-law have disturbed the tranquility of your home. It is unhealthy for everybody. Ask your wife to join you in a heart-to-heart talk with your daughter-in-law, who should be told gently, but firmly, to take her foot off the gas and get both feet on the ground. You and your wife should definitely go to Europe.

DEAR ABBY: A lady, whom I seldom see, lives in the same apartment house that I do. She came to my apartment one evening to visit with me. I was sewing. After she left I missed my gold thimble. I thought I had mislaid it, and used another thimble. Last evening this lady invited me to her apartment. I noticed a gold thimble on the sewing table near my chair. I casually picked up and examined it, and saw my initials on it. I wouldn't openly accuse her of taking it, nor would I make a big fuss about it, but I would like to know how I can get my thimble back. Please advise me.

NEEDS ADVICE

DEAR NEEDS: Call your neighbor and tell you you think she may have taken home your gold thimble by mistake. If she denies it, buy yourself another thimble and consider the first one gone for good. P.S. If your light - fingered friend ever visits you again, lock up everything she can lift.

Noted Singer Makes Final Appearance

NEW YORK (AP) — Stunning in an embroidered-satin scarlet gown, she stepped across the stage of Carnegie Hall.

The entire audience of 2,900 persons stood, applauding and cheering.

It was Marian Anderson's farewell concert Sunday, capping a legendary career that spanned 30 years across the United States, Europe and Asia, and transcended racial barriers.

A luxurious wide band of sable hemmed the neckline of her gown. Her eyes glistened. Her face looked more youthful than her 63 years.

The Negro contralto began singing Handel's "Tutta Raccolta Ancor." The audience sat captivated.

Then came her Haydn and Schubert medleys, a typical Anderson program.

Although she rarely turned loose the big contralto voice, her performance was relaxed and under perfect control. The jammed house, which overflowed onto the stage, could not get enough.

"Brava! Brava!" roared the audience.

In a generous gesture, Miss Anderson took special notice of the stage audience by turning her back to the house audience and singing two songs directly to the persons clustered behind the piano.

She came back for four encores.

After the two-hour recital, Miss Anderson returned to her dressing room to pose for pictures and receive congratulations of friends.

Impressario Sol Hurok, who introduced Miss Anderson to America in 1935 and had managed her ever since, said that while ending her recital career, she would continue making appearances on "extraordinary occasions."

Miss Anderson's husband, Orpheus Fisher, a retired architect, talked about trying to get her to their farm in Connecticut.

"I'm going to be a homemaker with a vengeance," said Miss Anderson with a smile. "And I hope to do something for children. I want to roll my sleeves up. I want to do something with my hands and heart and soul."

AP Blasts US' New Restrictions

NEW YORK (AP) — The Associated Press board of directors said in its annual report today it "deplores restrictions which have been placed on correspondents operating in Viet Nam, especially around the air base at Da Nang.'

"The board believes that security is not involved in these restrictions," the board said, noting that correspondents as a group "have agreed that they will publicize nothing about the air strikes until planes' return from them."

The report, read at the AP annual meeting, said:

"The Associated Press has said that it will of course honor any military censorship that may be imposed on grounds of security, but it believes that the sort of pseudo-censorship which keeps reporters away from the source of the news goes beyond anything that was found necessary in World War II or the Korean War."

The directors, in their comment on Viet Nam, said:

"Through a combination of regulations imposed by American and Vietnamese authorities, reporters have been unable to talk with fliers on their return from air strikes in North Viet Nam, with the result that newspaper readers and broadcast listeners can have only the most limited information on these activities.

"Regular access to ships of the U.S. 7th Fleet also has been denied to correspondents, with only two brief escorted visits to carriers permitted in the last six weeks. The result again is that little has become known of the air strikes that originate on fleet carriers.'

The report said the responsibility of The Associated Press to deliver an objective, accurate and fast news report in an era marked with war, elections, social revolution and other highly emotional subjects has become increasingly demanding and complex.

Mishaps Reported

The Snyder police department investigated a mishap at 1:45 p.m. Saturday at the Clairemont Road and the US 84 bypass.

A rear wheel on a 1963 Corvair, driven by Christine Adrean of Lubbock, reportedly came off the car, causing it to spin out of control and out into a field. The car did not turn over, and the driver was not injured. Damage was estimated at $100.

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated a mishap at 4:30 p.m. Saturday two miles south of Ira on the Big Spring Highway.

Involved were a 1955 Buick driven by Nina Faye Pinkerton, 1005 Twenty - third Street, and a 1958 Dodge truck driven by Rogell Herman Crawford, 3109 Avenue U.

Damage to the car was estimated at $100. The truck received only minor damage, and there were no injuries.

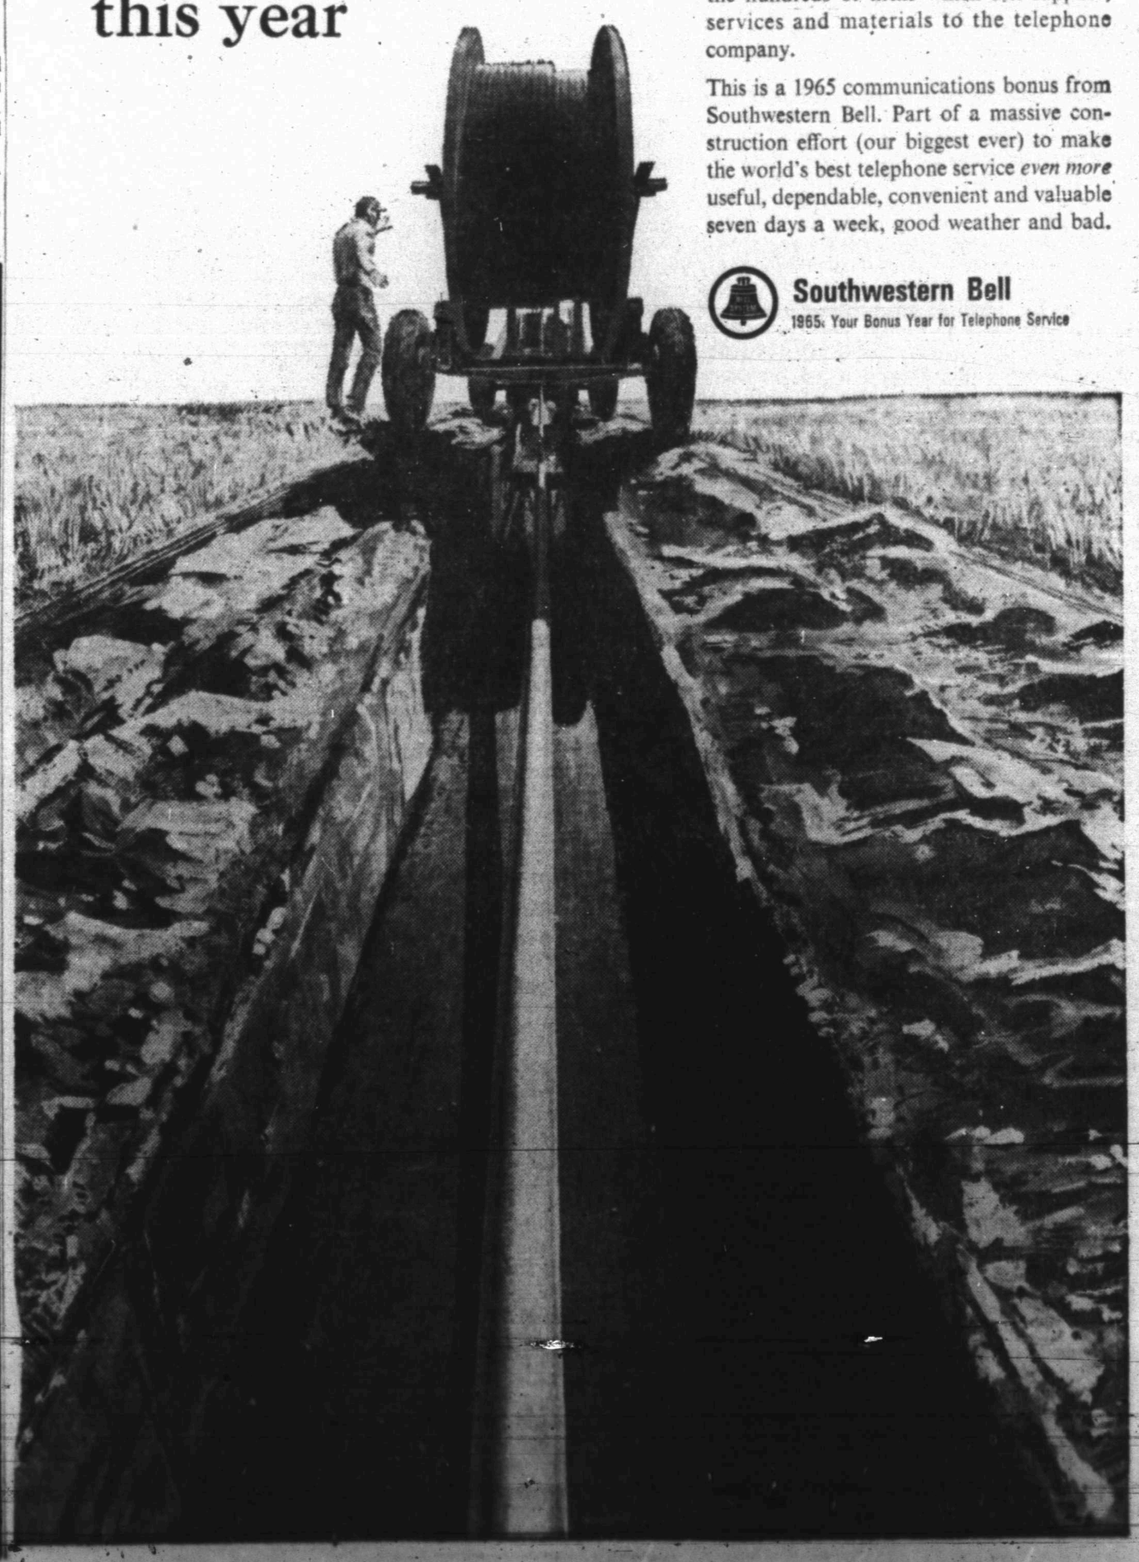
Buried cable:

$10,000,000 in new life insurance for your telephone this year



Put telephone wires underground and you've put them in a safe place. Safe from wind, rain, hot weather, cold weather, stormy weather. Safer from the slow death of ordinary weathering. Safer from man-caused damage, too. All around safer from the kinds of trouble which most often affect the talkability, hearability and dependability of your phone service.

That's why this year Southwestern Bell is spending $10 million burying hundreds of additional miles of telephone cable underground. In effect, buying life insurance for your telephone service.

There's another tangible benefit, too. Because of this buried cable construction program, new jobs will be created. Some in the telephone business (which already has 52,179 persons on the payroll), but most important, an estimated 500 new jobs among the hundreds of firms which sell supplies, services and materials to the telephone company.

This is a 1965 communications bonus from Southwestern Bell. Part of a massive construction effort (our biggest ever) to make the world's best telephone service even more useful, dependable, convenient and valuable seven days a week, good weather and bad.

Mrs. Kennedy Interested In Helping Unfortunates

EDITOR'S NOTE — Amid triumph and tragedy, the remarkable Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy daily carries another sorrow — that of her mentally retarded daughter, Rosemary. But there's no time for self-pity. Mrs. Kennedy is busy working to help the thousands of others afflicted as is Rosemary.

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy, looking youthful for all her 75 years, settled herself in an arm chair, and spoke of one of the many sorrows that have punctuated her remarkable life.

—A child among the several in her family who was tapped by misfortune.

—A young Kennedy whose very being called attention to and improved the welfare of a forgotten group, Rosemary, her mentally retarded daughter.

It was midmorning when Rose Kennedy entered the study of her husband, the former ambassador to Great Britain.

She sat in an unpretentious arm chair, and, having strained a tendon, rested one leg gently on a leather foot sling. In the small book-lined room around her were mementos of her famous family.

Over the fireplace just slightly awry was a framed copy of the inaugural address of her son, the late President John F. Kennedy. Atop the television set were snapshots of the ambassador in healthier days romping with grandchildren. There were also pictures of sons and daughters posed with their offspring.

Rosemary was not destined to have the kind of exuberant Kennedy family life pictured there.

"We don't usually talk about it," Mrs. Kennedy began hesitantly, focusing her clear blue eyes on some faraway spot. What she meant was that the family does not ordinarily elaborate.

The fact that the Kennedy family had not chosen to remain completely silent has played an important part in the growth of hospitals, institutions and research programs for at least some of the nation's six million mentally retarded.

Rosemary, now 46, was the first daughter and the third Kennedy born to Joseph Patrick and Rose Kennedy. Her elder brothers, Joseph and John, as well as the sister to come later, Kathleen, are now dead.

"Rosemary was one of a large family and so she ran and played and seemed a happy child, and we didn't notice anything wrong at first," said Mrs. Kennedy. "Oh, she would seem a little slow at times — but there is usually always one child in a large family who develops a little less rapidly than the rest."

But as the pretty, blonde child grew older, Mrs. Kennedy began to realize something was wrong.

"Then as she matured even more it got to be even more difficult. It is always more difficult for the parent, you know.

"Privileges were a problem too. Why couldn't she take a boat out alone when her brothers and sisters were able to do so? These were conflicts in the family, things she could not understand.

"Eventually, it was obvious that she felt more comfortable, was a great deal happier with youngsters like herself, and well, we placed her in this Catholic home."

The Kennedy family could afford trained help and institutional care. Mrs. Kennedy has always been keenly aware of this.

"When I was campaigning for Jack," she recalled, "people would come up and thank me for the Joseph Kennedy Foundation we established as a memorial to my oldest son. We did it because he was very fond of children, and because this business of retardation which was a problem to us had affected so many children."

Within a few years the Kennedy Memorial Foundation discovered that it could not possibly build hospitals and homes fast enough to care only for retarded children.

As a consequence the foundation now emphasizes research, public health education, all preventative measures.

Mrs. Kennedy appears occasionally at fund-raising benefits. Since her husband's stroke several years ago, she has been unable to attend as many as she would like. She describes his condition as "only fair."

Recently, she has made some television appearances to ease the minds of mothers of retarded children who may worry about the possibility of bearing still another retarded child. She said the chances are slim. In her speech Mrs. Kennedy points out that daughter Rosemary was one out of nine children. The other eight included a president and two U.S. senators.

"Was there a Divine reason for the seeming misfortune of Rosemary in the great Kennedy family?"

"I have often thought of it that way," replied Mrs. Kennedy.

Princess Cake

1 cup butter
2 2-3 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon vanilla
8 egg whites
pinch of salt
¼ teaspoon cream of tartar
1 2-3 cups sugar

Set oven at 350 degrees. Grease and dust with flour a 10-inch tube pan. Cream butter and half of flour until light and fluffy. Add vanilla. Beat egg whites with salt and cream of tartar until they hold soft peaks. Add sugar, a tablespoon at a time, beating well after each addition. Beat whites at least 5 minutes, or until they are very firm. Fold ¼ of the stiffly beaten egg whites thoroughly into creamed butter-flour mixture. Pour mixture back over remaining egg whites. Fold gently together while sprinkling in remaining flour. Be careful not to overmix. Pour into prepared pan. Bake about 1 hour, or until the cake is golden brown and pulls away from sides of pan.

Soak onion rings in milk before flouring and deep fat frying. The milk from which the rings are drained may be used for baking pork chops.

Can US Hope To Realize Lasting Peace In Viet Nam?

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson and his administration have not made clear whether they are talking about temporary or permanent solutions for South Viet Nam.

He says he wants peace there and a truly independent South Viet Nam, and he has promised the United States will clear out when that independence is fully guaranteed.

This could mean a neutralist South Viet Nam whose safety from attack is agreed to by a combination of larger powers. But in time it could be captured by communism without outside attack.

Two examples:

1. South Viet Nam's government might become so corrupt, unstable or tyrannical that the people would abandon hope for it and voluntarily welcome absorption by Communist North Viet Nam.

2. The same result, without outside attack, might be achieved through Communist intrigue or revolution.

For eight years under President Diem there was dictatorship. After his assassination one government after another was toppled. Without the American presence, South Viet Nam might have collapsed in chaos.

Johnson has said the people of South Viet Nam want their country independent. But how does he know? The South Vietnamese leaders with whom this country is dealing may truly want their country independent.

But recently, it was reported, only 42 per cent of the people support their American-backed government, 8 per cent support the Communist guerrillas and over 50 per cent, sitting on the fence, are indifferent.

With the United States withdrawn, South Viet Nam might truly collapse or wish to join with the Communist North. Would the United States attempt to go back in if this happened?

It would be interference then with South Viet Nam's internal affairs.

One thing is sure, Red China already is the dominant force in Asia. In a few years, when it has its own nuclear weapons, its power will be enormous and so will its self-confidence in dealing with the United States.

The history of China has been one of aggression and attempts to absorb its neighbors, particularly Viet Nam. There is no reason to expect a change under expansionist communism when China is in a better position to assert itself.

Would the United States be willing to risk war in Asia—for the sake of Viet Nam—if a truly strong, nuclear China in one way or another, short of direct attack, tries to absorb Viet Nam or make it totally submissive.

Johnson foresaw that when he recently said:

"There are those who say that all our efforts there (in South Viet Nam) will be futile—that China's power is such it is bound to dominate all Southeast Asia.

"But there is no end to that argument until all the nations of Asia are swallowed up." But that doesn't answer the question.

In this same talk two weeks ago Johnson also said: "We will always oppose the effort of one nation to conquer another." In this case "oppose" does not necessarily mean the United States would be willing to fight anywhere, any time to stop one nation's aggression against another.

It wasn't, for instance, willing to go to war with Russia to prevent the Russian intrusion in Hungary and its suppression of the revolt there in 1956.

Boyle Stops To Salute Secretaries

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — It's a wise boss today who scribbles a memo to himself:

"Take my Girl Friday to lunch. Send her a dozen roses."

For this is the week set aside to honor those darlings of the U.S. business world — the nation's secretaries.

The emergence of Tillie the Toiler as the glamor girl of commerce took a long time.

It began with the creation of her tools. A Frenchman named Pascal invented the adding machine in 1642. An Austrian named Mitterhoffer came up with the first typewriter in 1864. In 1892 an American named Duncan invented the Addressograph.

The era of the high stool and the quill pen was over. But, as late as the end of the 19th century, old-fashioned executives still thought woman's place was in the home.

Two world wars changed all that. Women play a major role in business now.

Today's Tillie the Toiler has become the right hand of her boss. She is trim, efficient, and as well-dressed as the average debutante. She can mix a martini, if necessary, as well as take a letter, and she may have an air-conditioned office of her own and command a salary up to $10,000 or more.

And her future looks even brighter.

"Automation is opening up more secretarial positions and bringing about more changes in the secretarial role than any innovation since the typewriter," said Robert E. Murray, vice president of the McGraw-Edison's Voicewriter division.

"Since 1950, the number of secretaries, stenographers and typists in the United States has increased by 45 per cent, making for a total of well over two million."

The average "Miss Typewriter" no longer is a teen-age girl trying to earn a little spending money while waiting to land a man.

"Over 50 per cent are married," said Murray, "close to 50 per cent are over 40, and a steadily increasing percentage are mature women with children in school or college, who are in the secretarial whirl the second time around."

That $10,000 a year salary, of course, may be only a golden goal to most secretaries, but the record shows that with increasing responsibilities their pay has gone steadily up.

The number making $100 a week or more jumped from 5 per cent in 1955 to over 28 per cent in 1964. Some 17 per cent now get three-week paid vacations, and 6 per cent get four weeks off.

As the computer age brings more responsibilities to secretaries, their employers are courting them with such new fringe benefits as office-built-in-kitchens, flower-decorated rest rooms and sun parlors, background music and even shifting wall colors to follow fashion trends.

Take a letter, Miss Zilch:

"You're a grand girl, and we couldn't get along without you. But if my wife drops in, please don't tell her who sent you the roses."

Junior Editors Quiz on SEASHELLS

QUESTION: How do seashells grow? What are they made of?

• • •

ANSWER: An empty seashell is only the hard covering of an interesting little animal which once lived inside. These soft-bodied, simple little creatures belong to the group called mollusks. Although certain mollusks, such as the octopus, grow to be large and formidable, many are so defenseless that they need hard shells to protect them. Some, the bivalves, have two shells, like the clam and oyster. Others, the gastropods, build a single, usually spiral shell as they grow, such as the snail and many of the shells we pick up on the beach. Newly hatched, tiny gastropods, called veligers, swim around freely, (1) but they soon sink to the bottom and begin to build a shell. The outer covering of the body, or mantle, is able to secrete carbonate of lime, which turns into the hard shell covering. The animal grows around a central axis in a twisting shape and as it continually adds more shell material, the shell takes this shape too (2). Extending the body outside and carrying the shell on its back, the animal is able to crawl along (3). If attacked, it can pull the body inside and cover the opening with a horny plate (4). We illustrate the rare and beautiful Glory of the Seas, a shell for which collectors pay up to $1,200. Mildred, left, thinks she's hearing the roar of the sea in an empty sea shell. Could this be really true?

• • •

FOR YOU TO DO: Cup your hand over your ear, scratch the back of your hand with the other finger nail. Notice how loudly you can hear this small sound. Move your hand away and you hardly hear the scratching. Mildred is hearing many small sounds magnified by the empty shell rather than the roar of the sea. 4/19

Record For Rookie Spoiled By 1 Shot

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Rudy May, who bounced around between seasons more than one of Dean Chance's billiard balls, has lost his opportunity to equal a 73-year-old record because of one well-placed shot.

May, Los Angeles Angel lefthander, allowed Detroit only one hit in nine innings Sunday in his first major league pitching appearance.

—The 20-year-old rookie, however, wasn't around for the finish as the Tigers beat the Angels 4-1 in 13 innings.

Bob Lee replaced the tiring May at the start of the 10th.

Charlie Jones of Cincinnati is the only pitcher ever to hurl a no-hitter in his first appearance in the majors, having accomplished the feat in a 7-1 victory over Pittsburgh Oct. 15, 1892.

May was on his way toward becoming the first modern Charlie Jones when he ran into Jake Wood with one out in the eighth inning. Wood, batting for rookie Ray Oyler, lined a shot to center field.

Angel center-fielder Jose Cardenal dived for the ball, but it fell several feet in front of him and bounced into left-center for a double. On the next play, pinch-hitter George Thomas hit a grounder through second-baseman Bobby Knoop's legs for an error and the tying run.

The Angels were the third team in less than two months to own May. The Chicago White Sox sent him to Philadelphia last Oct. 5, and the Phillies, in turn, threw him into the Dec. 4 trade that broke up the pool-playing combination of Chance and Bo Belinsky.

May, incidentally, received his first start a day early when Chance developed a blister on his pitching hand.

"I was really worried about starting," May said after the game, "because I didn't really think I was ready. I hadn't pitched anything but batting practice in the past two weeks. I sort of surprised myself out there."

In other American League games, New York whipped Kansas City 10-4, Boston trampled Baltimore 11-4, Minnesota defeated Cleveland 6-3 and Washington stopped Chicago 4-1 after losing 5-1.

In the National, Los Angeles knocked off Philadelphia 6-2, Cincinnati walloped St. Louis 8-2, Milwaukee defeated Chicago 9-6, Houston beat Pittsburgh 3-1 before losing 5-4 and New York whipped San Francisco 7-1 after dropping a 4-1 decision.

The Tigers broke up the Angel game with three runs in the 13th, Willie Horton racing home with the tie-breaker on catcher Bob Rodgers' passed ball.

Mickey Mantle slammed a two-run homer and a double in the Yankees' victory but suffered a bruised right knee sliding into second base in the seventh. The injury, however, was not reported as serious. Jim Gentile socked a three-run homer for Kansas City.

Tony Conigliaro and Bob Tillman each drove in three runs for Boston. Conigliaro finished with four hits, including a two-run homer. Boog Powell connected with two on for Baltimore.

Minnesota defeated Cleveland behind Jimmie Hall's two-run homer in the fourth and clutch relief pitching by Dave Boswell and Al Worthington. Boswell pitched out of trouble in the fourth and Worthington in the seventh.

Two errors by Pete Ward led to unearned Washington runs in the fifth and sixth innings of the second game while Pete Richert stopped the White Sox on seven hits in eight innings. In the opener, Danny Cater contributed three singles and a double to Gary Peters' second triumph.

Chi Chi's Crash Bid Barely Short

By MAX B. SKELTON
Associated Press Writer

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Juan (Chi Chi) Rodriguez saw his par-breaking effort to catch Bobby Nichols and win $12,000 in the $75,000 Houston Golf Classic fall short by one stroke, but the unpredictable Puerto Rican believes his comeback is well under way.

Nichols won his second classic in four years Sunday, but the gallery of 25,000 gave its loudest cheers and applause to Rodriguez and his final round seven-under-par 64.

Rodriguez had decided a 63 would overcome a seven-stroke advantage held by Nichols, the 1964 PGA champion.

The Puerto Rican cast aside a brace that had been protecting a badly injured left thumb and cut loose with the tournament's best round over the 7,233-yard par 71 Sharpstown Country Club course.

Nichols started the round in a tie with Bert Yancey and quickly jumped to a four-stroke lead. The margin dwindled under pressure from Rodriguez and Australia's Bruce Devlin to one stroke before he closed out with a 70 for a 72-hole 273 — 11 under par.

In boosting his PGA money for the year to $20,425, Nichols placed his 70 beside earlier rounds of 67, 69 and 67.

Rodriguez was tied for 67th place after Thursday's opening round 73, but his 69-68-64 comeback moved him into a tie at 274 with Devlin for the runner-up spot, worth $5,600 to each.

While keeping his injured thumb in a brace, Rodriguez had won only $915 last year, although he was the PGA tour's ninth leading winner in 1964 with $48,338.

"I wanted a 63, but the 64 convinces me I need not worry," Rodriguez said after watching on television as Nichols clinched the title by two-putting from 15 feet on the final green.

"I believe I'm on my way," Rodriguez added. "I didn't have a bogey the last 53 holes."

Rodriguez was never in serious trouble Sunday and got his seven birdies with putts of 6, 1, 10, 12, 4, 2 and 3 feet.

Nichols offset three bogeys with four birdies. His 72 holes included 19 birdies, 45 pars and eight bogies.

Devlin missed his chance to overtake Nichols by overshooting two back nine greens, but put his 68 beside early rounds of 68, 69, 69.

Tulsa Rookie Gets Off To Fine Start

By The Associated Press

No rookie ever made a finer start in the Texas League than did Wayne Granger, the right-hander from Massachusetts, when he pitched a three-hitter Sunday to send Tulsa to a 4-2 victory over Amarillo and a tie for the lead in the eastern division.

They had figured at Tulsa that the youngster was going to fit into the pitching plans because he hadn't given up an earned run this spring. He surrendered one in his professional start Sunday when Joe Christian stroked a homer. The other Amarillo tally came after an error set it up.

Tulsa pulled into a tie for the lead with Austin, which lost its first game. Dallas-Fort Worth, which had dropped two to the Braves, finally hit the victory column with a 6-2 decision powered by Chris Krug's two-run homer in the sixth inning.

Albuquerque took over first place in the western division by edging El Paso 9-8. The Dodgers scored two runs in the ninth to beat the Sun Kings with Lance Nichol doubling in the winning tally.

El Paso had pushed over two runs in the top of the ninth to take the lead 8-7.

There were 3,162 in the stands at Albuquerque while 3,412 turned out at Tulsa. Thus El Paso's 5,060 still is leading for opening day attendance and only Dallas-Fort Worth is left to surpass it. Dallas-Fort Worth doesn't play at home until next Friday.

El Paso is at Albuquerque, Amarillo at Tulsa and Dallas-Fort Worth at Austin tonight.

SETS RECORD — New Mexico's Clarence Robinson strains on a 26-foot, 2½-inch leap in broad jump to set a new Kansas Relays record at Lawrence, Kan., April 16. He bettered the old record for the meet by 8½-inches. (AP Wirephoto)

New Mexico Jumper Gets Top Award

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — New Mexico's Clarence Robinson set two meet records and was voted the Don Pierce Award as the outstanding athlete at the 40th Kansas Relays because the world's best high school miler, Jim Ryun of Wichita, Kan., wasn't eligible for it.

Robinson was outstanding with records of 25-2½ in the broad jump and 50-6½ in the triple jump. He overshadowed Randy Matson of Texas A&M, world record holder in the shot put, who set a meet record of 65-10¾.

Matson passed up the discus, in which he holds the collegiate record at 201-5½. His world shot-put mark is 67-11¼.

Ryun produced the best mile-880 double in KU Relays history, with a 4:04.8 mile and 1:47.7 half-mile. The tremendous half-mile effort led Wichita East High School to a national prep record of 7:42.9 for the two-mile relay Saturday. His mile Friday was just four-tenths of a second off his own national prep mile record.

Ryun, a senior, was on the U.S. Olympic team last year at 17. The best mile of his career, 3:59, was in a non-high school meet last year.

Texans Tops In Mexico

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Texas athletes, largely those of Texas Southern University, showed Mexico a lot about track Saturday and Sunday.

Texas Southern romped away with the annual Venados Club meet and set three records in the process.

Clyde Duncan ran the 200-meter in 20.5, Roy Hicks dashed the 110-meter hurdles in 13.6 and the 400-meter relay team ran a 40.1 for Texas Southern records.

Texas Southern rolled up 115 points. The Lone Star Conference, another Texan group, was second with 101.

K. C. Jones Shines As Celtics Win

By BOB HOOBING
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — "K.C. Jones played a whale of a game. They talk about Bill Russell and Wilt Chamberlain as the great ones, but he belongs in that class."

The tribute to his tormentor was paid by Los Angeles scoring ace Jerry West after Boston romped to a record 142-110 victory over the Lakers Sunday in the opener of the National Basketball Association playoff finals.

The best-of-7 series continues tonight at Boston Garden before the teams head for Los Angeles.

Neither coach was satisfied with the first game. The Lakers, already operating minus Elgin Baylor and with Dick Barnett hurting, apparently have lost Jim King for game No. 2 due to an ankle injury.

"Now we're one more man short," said Laker Coach Fred Schaus.

Boston's Red Auerbach gave his players tongue-lashing lectures on the dangers of overconfidence both before and after the victory.

K.C. Jones was the one positive factor hailed on all sides.

The Boston playmaker-successor to Bob Cousy, rated the best defensive backcourt man anywhere, was the chief reason West got only six points in the first half as the Celtics took a 64-49 bulge. West, who averaged 46.3 points in the Western Division playoffs, wound up with 26.

K.C. Jones got 11 of his 17 points, four of his assists, three steals, an interception and permitted West only two points in the first quarter as Boston took command 32-23.

"I've always had the highest regard for K.C.," said Schaus. "Next to Russell, I've always felt he is the most valuable player for Boston. Like Russell, nobody can replace him."

Sam Jones scored 25 points and John Havlicek 22 for Boston.

Belgian Eyes 3rd Victory

BOSTON (AP) — Belgium's Aurele Vandendriessche — unshaken by snow, cold and a record field of 444 entries — seeks a third consecutive Boston AA Marathon victory today concerned only about a sore right heel.

If the trade school study-hall master and physical education instructor from Anzegem wins the 26-mile, 385-yard grind from Hopkington to Boston's Back Bay, he may rate his tribulations trying to reach here much tougher than the race.

A surprise snowfall began in Boston shortly after Vandendriessche arrived and went promptly to bed. He had spent a sleepless Saturday night because a Brussels airport strike forced him to take a train to Amsterdam where he stood in the rain awaiting a flight to London.

"I feel much better than last year," said the ever - smiling Belgian despite his trials. Through an interpreter he added he feared no one in the race but said the runners to beat were the five Japanese.

Koufax To Learn Today If He's Pitcher Or Patient

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Sandy Koufax, the Los Angeles Dodgers' arthritic left-hander, learns today whether he's a pitcher or a patient.

Temporarily labeled for use only on Sundays, Koufax went to work for the first time this season against Philadelphia and admittedly struggled with his control despite allowing only five hits in a 6-2 victory over the Phillies and Bo Belinsky.

The 29 - year - old strikeout artist fanned seven but walked five men — an unusually high figure for him — and consistently ran out the count on many batters. Still, Koufax was satisfied with his performance.

"I was wild, but I've pitched only three innings since March 30," Koufax explained after Sunday's game. "I had no pain — no hitch in my arm. But my timing wasn't exactly right. I didn't have that good rhythm. I'll get it back with work."

Does that make Koufax a full time pitcher or a part time patient?

"If the elbow doesn't stiffen I should be able to make my next start in rotation, Friday," he said, pointing out he would have to wait before learning how his arm reacts to the strain of a nine-inning workout.

It was left to two relievers to turn in the day's top pitching performances — Bill McCool striking out all three batters he faced to preserve Cincinnati's 8-2 victory over St. Louis and Billy O'Dell hurling hitless ball for the final four innings in Milwaukee's 9-6 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

Elsewhere, Gary Kroll's four-hit pitching in a rain-shortened second game gave the New York Mets a 7-1 victory over San Francisco after the Giants had started the doubleheader with a 4-1 victory. Houston defeated Pittsburgh 3-1 before the Pirates took the nightcap 5-4.

An infield single by Tommy Davis that Bo Belinsky couldn't field opened the door for the Dodgers. John Roseboro followed with a single and Jim Lefebvre scored both with a triple. Ron Fairly's sacrifice fly brought in the final run of the inning.

That was enough for Koufax, who gave up the Philadelphia runs on a homer by Dick Stuart.

McCool came on for the Reds in the ninth inning with the bases loaded and preserved the victory for Sammy Ellis by proceeding to strike out the heart of the Cardinals' batting order — Bill White, Ken Boyer and Dick Groat.

Pete Rose and Frank Robinson each stroked three hits for Cincinnati, including a homer off Curt Simmons.

O'Dell, acquired from San Francisco, took over for the Braves in the sixth and retired all 12 batters he faced after Milwaukee had pulled ahead behind the heavy hitting of Eddie Mathews and Denny Menke. Each counted a homer among his three hits.

Jesus Alou stroked three hits for the Giants and figured in three runs in the opener. Jack Sanford pitched the first six innings for San Francisco and allowed only four hits.

Kroll, posting his first major league victory, also started the Mets' winning four-run rally in the 6½-inning nightcap with a single in the fifth inning. He scored the tie-breaking run on Ed Kranepool's double.

John Bateman drove in three runs with a pair of homers in support of Bob Bruce's six-hit pitching as the Astros took the opener from the Pirates.

Pittsburgh came back to win the nightcap, breaking a 4-4 tie in the eighth inning on a walk, Joe Morgan's throwing error and a single by Bob Bailey. Jim Wynn drove in three Houston runs with three hits.

Tigers To Host C-City On Tuesday

The Snyder Tigers will take a "holiday" in the District 3-AAA baseball race tomorrow, but they will remain active with a non - conference game on the Towle Memorial Park diamond.

The opponent for tomorrow's exhibition game will be a former conference foe and always one of the tough ones on the Tiger slate — the Colorado City Wolves.

The Colorado City team, which dropped back to Class AA competition this year in University Interscholastic League competition, does not have a conference baseball slate this year because the Wolves are the only aggregation in their district fielding a team. Consequently, they have been playing an exhibition slate with some of the better Class AAA and Class AAAA teams.

The Tigers are riding high atop the District 3-AAA standings with a record of 4 victories and no losses at the conclusion of the first round of conference play. Their latest conference action resulted in an 8-1 victory over Levelland at Levelland last Friday.

The Snyder team will begin second round play this Friday, and in doing so will go right back to Levelland to face the Lobos. District 3-AAA is determining its champion this year with a triple round robin slate, which means that each team must travel twice to the home field of two opponents. Snyder goes twice to Levelland and to Sweetwater, while Lamesa and Brownfield come to Snyder twice for district games.

SWC Near Showdown

By The Associated Press

Showdown time starts this week in Southwest Conference baseball, with the leaders battling each other.

Texas, on top with 6-1 record, meets Southern Methodist, fourth with 4-3, at Austin Tuesday.

Baylor, second with 5-2, takes on Texas in a brace of games at Waco Friday and Saturday.

Texas A&M, resting in third place with a 5-3 record, gets Southern Methodist at College Station Friday and Saturday.

Out of all this diamond strife should come a clear-cut favorite for the title.

Texas and Baylor currently are riding eight-game winning streaks, most of those victories being nonconference. In fact there were no conference games last week at all but the league cleaned up against the outside with 11 victories out of 12.

Southern Methodist was the week's only loser. The Methodists took a 10-7 drubbing from Dallas University.

Texas Christian and Baylor had the biggest week. The former won four games, three of them over fellow conference member Texas Tech. Tech is not competing for the championship, however, and these games were nonconference.

What's the catch?
There isn't any.

Plunk $1691 into a salesman's hand and he'll plunk you into the seat of a new 1965 Volkswagen Deluxe Sedan. (Give him $30 more, and you'll be plunked into a Volkswagen with matching leatherette upholstery.)

Of course, you'll have to buy license plates and pay local tax. But that is it.

Sound a little too simple? Perhaps. But then the Volkswagen is a simple little car.

International Trade System Is Fast Becoming Outdated

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The days when Goldfinger could either settle or upset the bookkeeping on the world's trade by a heist of gold from Ft. Knox may be gone forever.

All the gold in the world can't settle the world's international trading bills at one time. Also, the mechanics of trading between nations, and between blocs of nations, is too complicated now.

Beyond that, just figuring out how to balance the payment, or credit, for these transactions may be fast outgrowing the system in use before World War II, which seemed pretty complicated itself in those days.

Getting one nation's raw materials and finished goods to another country where they were badly needed, or at least could be sold, used to be a matter of salesmanship and shipping, of credit and of balancing accounts — with gold, U.S. dollars and British pounds as the units of accounting — or with other goods in barter deals.

Now there are not only single nations to be considered. There are trading blocs of nations, like the European Common Market, or fledgling groups in South and Central America and in the Middle East.

There are tariff barriers, import quotas, currency controls, purchasing agreements with favored nations, to keep such trade at specified levels. And these ground rules change with political fortunes as often as with economic needs.

Also, there are various international groups for specific commodities, such as sugar, coffee, tin. These supposedly protect producing nations on one hand without hurting consuming nations on the other.

Over all this there is GATT, charged with trying to whittle down such barriers when political and economic conditions permit. This General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade is tackling the problems right now, in a world so confused that the results of the parley are highly unpredictable.

And once the actual trades are effected, there is now the question of the ability of all nations now engaged in the criss-cross of world trade to pay. The new term is liquidity, where once the world talked in terms of gold and silver, later added the British pound as a medium of international exchange, and this century has enthroned the Yankee dollar as the chief reserve currency in most nations.

Sub Will Ride Gulf Stream To Probe Continental Shelf

PORT ST. LUCIE, Fla. (AP) — A leading explorer of ocean depths said today he plans to ride along the bottom of the mighty Gulf Stream all the way from Florida to Newfoundland.

One object of his trip by research submarine is to see whether the Russians are up to anything on the Continental Shelf, the sloping, underwater land mass beyond the visible coast; Dr. Jacques Piccard told The Associated Press in an exclusive interview.

The Swiss and eight companions also will observe and film marine life and study currents at depths as great as 1,000 feet during their projected six weeks voyage.

Piccard, 44, plans to make the cruise in the Auguste Piccard, a craft named for his late father, or in a modification of the vessel.

He calls the slender, instrument-packed vessel a mesoscaph. The 93-foot sub won't use its electric motors but instead will drift along in the one-to five-knot northward flow of the Gulf Stream itself.

Oceanographers, several members of Congress and high Navy officials have been invited to Port St. Lucie for a coordinating conference Thursday. It may fix a target date for Piccard's probe of the Gulf Stream.

Preliminary work is expected to start this week, using two-man submarines built by newspaper publisher John H. Perry and a 100-foot surface research vessel, the Seadiver, owned by Edwin Link.

Piccard, consultant for an oceanographic filming concern, in 1960 set the world's record for an ocean descent — 35,800 feet into the Pacific's Mariana trench. The craft he made the drop in was used later by the Navy to locate wreckage of its crumpled submarine Thresher.

Link, inventor of the World War II Link pilot trainer, designed an inflatable chamber that was successfully tested off the Bahamas last year as an ocean-floor laboratory for free swimmers.

BUSINESS and INDUSTRIAL NEWS

Allstate Insurance Office In Snyder Shows Marked Growth During 1st Year

"You're in good hands with Allstate."

This slogan of the Allstate Insurance companies is perhaps one of the best known slogans in the insurance business. And, for just over a year, the "good hands" in Snyder have been those of Derrell Parrish, Allstate agent for the Scurry County area.

Actually, Snyder is one of the smaller cities which can boast the services of a full-time permanent agent. The company's decision to place an agent here was based on the fact that the Snyder area had a good number of policy holders, and in order to give these policy holders the service which Allstate felt they should have, a resident agent was authorized here.

Parrish opened the office in the Sears store here on Mar. 28, 1964.

The company's confidence in the city of Snyder, and in Parrish, was apparently well-founded. In the past year, the number of policy holders has at least doubled, and, during this month of April, the local office is leading all others in the Dallas district in attracting new customers.

Starting in the depths of the depression, on Apr. 17, 1931, Allstate Insurance has grown to where it is now the world's largest auto insurance stock company. The idea of providing insurance protection directly from the company to the insured, and the elimination of the "middleman" to lower the premium cost, caught hold then, and is still one of the main features of the company's growth.

Many of us still think of the end of World War II as the relative recent past. It is revealing to note the size of the Allstate operation at the end of 1945. At that time, policyholders had reached 327,000 and premium volume, $12,030,000.

While those figures show a significant attainment in less than 15 years, the years ahead were to bring far more rapid growth. By 1963, the policyholder family of Allstate had increased to almost 7,000,000 and premiums from the fire and casualty operation alone exceeded $631,000,000.

Along with expansion in policyholders, the company has expanded also into the services offered. Starting with auto insurance only, Allstate has grown into all areas of insurance underwriting.

Offered now by the company are fire, life, hospitalization, theft, boat, commercial, and homeowners insurance coverages in addition to a widely-broadened auto insurance.

In addition to his being an agent for these insurance coverages of Allstate Insurance, Parrish is also the local agent for Allstate Enterprises. This is the organization which makes low-cost loans on new and used cars, and also is the parent company of the Allstate Motor Club.

The phenominal growth of the Allstate family is based on many things. Lower cost, of course, is one. But without the extra services of fast, fair claim adjustments, and a tradition of fair dealing, Allstate wouldn't have grown as it has.

Parrish will welcome the opportunity to discuss anyone's insurance needs or program. He may be reached at the Sears store at 608 East Highway, or by calling HI 3-6821.

THE EXPERIMENT of sales offices for Allstate Insurance in Sears stores, which was started in 1934, was a success, and has been constantly expanded since that time. Derrell Parrish, Allstate agent for the Snyder area, is shown in the Allstate sales booth here which is similar to those in hundreds of Sears stores all across the country. The agent has been a resident of Snyder since 1949, and is a four - year veteran of service with the U. S. Navy.

Springtime Special Featured Now At The Norge Laundry & Cleaning Village

Almost everyone is interested in a bargain. Almost everyone likes to save money.

And those are the reasons that the Norge Laundry and Dry Cleaning Village in the Highland Shopping Center is the popular place that it is.

For years, folks who are interested in savings have been using the coin - operated dry - cleaning machines. For just $2 they can do a big 8-pound load of clothing, and more and more money - conscious homemakers are realizing just what a savings this is!

But right now, on top of that regular savings, the Norge Laundry and Dry Cleaning Village is offering an even bigger saving.

For just $1.50 more, or a total of $3.50, a person can have a big 8-pound load of clothing professionally pressed as well as cleaned!

Operator of the steam press, and manager of the Norge Village is Mrs. Dora Vineyard. Mrs. Vineyard is an expert in the cleaning and pressing field with over 20 years of experience.

Mrs. Vineyard said she expects a number of people to take advantage of the special prices, especially since it's the time of year that folks are getting their summer wardrobes ready.

It takes a lot of summer cottons and "miracle" fabrics to make up eight pounds — and nothing will make them more ready for summer wear than a cleaning and pressing.

Those are the kind of clothes that need that bright, fresh, cool look. That look can be restored — especially if the cleaning is done at the Norge Village where "Fashion Finish" is incorporated into every load of cleaning.

"Fashion Finish" is the remarkable additive to the cleaning solution which gives clothes back their original colors, restores the body and drape to cottons, woolens, silks, blends and knits. "Fashion Finish" adds resistance to soil, and helps clothes keep their press. It's no wonder folks who are interested in looking their very best, and are also interested in bargains, are going to the Norge Laundry and Dry Cleaning Village for all of their laundry and cleaning needs.

The Village is located in the Highland Shopping Center between Whitfield's and Roe's.

THE SPOTLESS NORGE LAUNDRY & CLEANING VILLAGE features 34 washers, eight big commercial dryers, and even hair dryers along with the coin operated dry cleaning machines seen at right. Mrs. Dora Vineyard is seen near one of the double-load washers near the rear of the store. Eight pounds of cleaning and pressing can be done at the store for a limited time for just $3.50.

Family Has Tragic Easter

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — For Louis Leeth of nearby Puyallup, Wash., Sunday will always be "a horrible Easter."

Leeth, 34, was driving his daughter, Debra, 4, critically ill with tubercular meningitis, to a Tacoma hospital in the family car.

She was cradled in the arms of her mother, Anna, 37, when the speeding car was involved in a collision with another at a busy Tacoma intersection.

Mrs. Leeth was thrown from the car and killed.

Leeth hailed a passing motorist who took him and Debra the rest of the way to the hospital.

Police later told him Debra died shortly after arriving at the hospital.

At home later with his seven surviving children, Leeth said: "I still can't believe it."
