US Personal Income Rises In October

By G. DAVID WALLACE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Increases in the pay and benefits for federal employes helped push up the growth of personal income in the United States at a faster pace in October, the government said today.

The Commerce Department said personal income grew at an annual rate of $10.2 billion, or 9.2 per cent, to $1,401.9 billion. That contrasted to an annual rate of $6.2 billion, or 5.5 per cent in September.

On a per capita basis, the department said personal income for October climbed to an annual rate of $6,502, up 7.8 per cent from the same month last year.

The growth means Americans will have more money to spend in the near future, somewhat counterbalancing some of the government's recent negative economic statistics.

Those statistics showed that retail sales have remained virtually stable for four months, unemployment increased by one-tenths of a per cent in October, and industrial production marked its second consecutive month of decline.

October's consumer price index, or inflation rate, hasn't been reported yet. But consumer prices rose four-tenths of a per cent in September.

Personal income consists of all wages, salaries, Social Security payments, dividends and other income received by individuals after deduction of Social Security taxes.

It does not take into account other tax payments or inflation.

The Commerce Department said pay raises for civilian federal employes and military personnel accounted for $2 billion of the October increase, and a cost-of-living adjustment in veterans' benefits contributed another $500 million.

Middle and lower-level federal employes have gotten periodic cost-of-living raises. Their salaries presently start at $5,800 in grade GS1 and go to $39,400 in the top step of grade GS15.

Earlier this month, Robert E. Hampton, chairman of the Civil Service Commission, urged a "very sizable pay increase" for top-level federal personnel. He said pay for top government executives has gone up only 5 per cent since 1969.

One of President Ford's last decisions in the White House will be whether to raise salaries for the new Congress, federal judges, Cabinet members and appointees to be named by President-elect Jimmy Carter.

Some 2,400 persons would be affected directly, and a ripple effect could affect an additional 18,000 persons. Some current annual pay scales for the top salaried employes include $63,000 for Supreme Court justices; $44,600 for member of Congress and $63,000 for Cabinet members.

The Commerce Department said farm income declined during October for the fourth month in a row, but at the slowest pace in four months.

Gilmore Improved

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Convicted murderer Gary Gilmore, who took a sleeping pill overdose in an apparent suicide pact with his girl friend, was improved today and in fair condition at a Salt Lake City hospital.

But the girl friend, Nicole Barrett, remained in critical condition and comatose in a hospital at Provo, 40 miles to the south.

Gilmore, 35, who says he prefers death before a firing squad to languishing in prison, and Mrs. Barrett were found unconscious Tuesday morning after taking overdoses of sleeping pills. He was found in his prison cell and she at her apartment.

Gilmore's dose of 10-20 tablets was described as sublethal, and the effect may have been to postpone further legal proceedings that could have led to the speedy execution he said he wanted.

Russia Increases Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—Russia is increasing military aid to Rhodesian guerrillas even while white and black African leaders in Geneva are trying to negotiate a peaceful solution, according to U. S. intelligence reports.

Intelligence sources say a Russian ship unloaded 18 heavily-gunned armored vehicles and ammunition in Tanzania in recent days. Tanzania has served as a relay point for Soviet arms bound for the black Rhodesian guerrillas, the sources say.

This report followed another intelligence dispatch last week saying that a Tanzanian ship had delivered Russian 122mm multiple rocket launchers and armored vehicles to Mozambique, a staging area for guerrilla attacks into white-ruled Rhodesia.

Shark Said New Species

HONOLULU (AP)—"Megamouth," a huge deep-sea shark caught by accident and thought to be a new species, has the jaws of a movie star. But scientists say his feeding habits probably would make him less than fearsome.

The 12-foot, 1,500-pound shark was hauled in from the Pacific Ocean depths—500 to 1,000 feet down—just off Oahu this week. He had become entangled in the anchor lines of a Navy research vessel and apparently suffocated because he could not move enough to provide respiration.

"It was just a fortunate circumstance for us," said Leighton Taylor, director of the Waikiki Aquarium at the University of Hawaii. "An unfortunate one for the shark, however."

Ford Honors Connally

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Ford honored former Texas Gov. John Connally at a White House reception Tuesday night as the outstanding GOP fund raiser of the year.

Connally, a former Democrat, campaigned vigorously for the President, but his home state went to Jimmy Carter.

At the private reception in the state dining room, the Republican National Committee presented Connally with a large painting of an eagle for raising more than $3 million for the party this year.

IT WON'T BE LONG NOW—Snyder firemen are putting up downtown Christmas decorations this week. The Chamber of Commerce, which shares in providing the decorations for the central business district, had asked that the decorations be ready for the lights to be turned on by Monday, Nov. 22. This is a week earlier than last year, but later than many other cities, Chamber spokesmen said. G. L. Autry, left, and C. F. Shuler are shown wrapping one of the metal poles on the square.

King's Men Crush Seige

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — King Hussein's shock troops today crushed a four-hour siege by gunmen in Amman's Intercontinental Hotel that took seven lives, a Jordanian spokesman said.

Three terrorists, two hotel employes and two soldiers were killed in the siege, the spokesman said. The fourth gunman and four other persons were wounded. One of the wounded was identified as an American of Jordanian extraction.

The spokesman said the gunmen identified themselves as members of a Palestinian group called "Black June." The group was formed to protest the Syrian invasion of Lebanon last June. Its members staged a similar attack on a Damascus hotel in September in which five persons died and three surviving gunmen were executed.

King Hussein personally ordered a final attack on the gunmen, who were holed up on the fourth floor of the hotel with an unknown number of hostages, the spokesman said.

"The king ordered that the operation be conducted with the minimum possible of losses in lives, especially among the hotel guests," the spokesman said.

None of the hotel guests was killed, the spokesman said.

The four gunmen ran into the Amman hotel's lobby at 9:50 a.m. firing automatic weapons "to seize the hotel and hold guests hostage," Radio Amman said earlier.

Sources said that two cars were blown up during the first minutes of the attack.

Special troops of the Jordanian armed forces stormed the hotel lobby and pushed into the second and third floors, forcing the terrorists into the fourth floor, where they blew up two rooms, the sources said.

All streets leading to the hotel compound were blocked by military vehicles, and pedestrians were barred from the area, they said.

The rattle of rifle bullets and muffled explosions were heard throughout the four hours, until the Jordanian troops staged the final assault, they added.

Earlier reports had said the gunmen might be Iranians. Empress Farah of Iran is in Amman, attending celebrations marking the 41st birthday of King Hussein.

Two Share Week's Prize

Two contestants share the prize money in last week's Snyder Daily News football contest.

Missing five selections each to divide the first and second place prize money were E. E. Palo, Route 3, Box 144, Snyder and Paul Fagin, 2709 Thirty-fifth Street.

A large group of contestants missed six selections each last week, which put them just one step out of the money.

Another contest begins today, and the list of games may be found in sponsors' advertisements on the football contest page of this issue of The Snyder Daily News.

County To Take Lead In Travis Demolition Work

Scurry County, poised to launch construction on a new county jail at the Travis Junior High School site, is taking over negotiations to complete demolition of the surplus school buildings there.

Snyder School trustees, in a special session Tuesday, approved a motion to authorize the county to pursue the project which has been at a standstill since last summer. Earlier, the county commissioners court had agreed to take bids for completion of the demolition. These will be opened on Nov. 29 and will serve as the basis for a new contract in the event one is needed. The bids also could help establish figures pertinent to any damages claimed if there should be litigation on the original contract.

The Travis demolition story began over 13 months ago when the school awarded a contract to Bost Construction Co. of Big Spring to demolish the Travis building. The successful bid was $4,100, with the contractor to have salvage rights to certain materials. The project was to have been completed in 120 days. Subsequent delays kept pushing the project back and finally work was halted altogether the past summer.

The school board and commissioners court had reached an agreement for the county to acquire title to the Travis property, which it wanted for a site for a new county jail. The school offered the property to the county for free coliseum rental for school athletic teams. This proposal was rejected by the county, and ultimately it was agreed that the county would pay the school district $37,500 for the property, making a payment of $2,500 per year for 15 years. The school agreed to let a contract to demolish the main building on the Travis campus, with the county to assume the expense.

In recent weeks, County Attorney George Killam and Dan Cotton, school attorney, have been negotiating with the original contractor's bonding company in an effort to get the demolition work completed.

In the action this week, the county agreed to take the lead in pursuing the project. In its action Tuesday, the school board agreed to become a party to any legal action which might ensue, with the county to bear all expenses involved.

The county hopes to be ready to launch its jail construction project soon after the first of the year.

December Oil Demand Rises

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas oil users think they will buy 3,989,270 barrels of crude oil daily during December, the Texas Railroad Commisstion said Tuesday.

The December field nominations represented an increase of 26,078 barrels daily from total November nominations.

The commission meets Thursday to set the December production allowable at the monthly statewide oil and gas proration hearing.

The November allowable was set at 100 per cent of market demand for the 56th consecutive month.

The SDN Column

Nearly every time you look up someone brings out another plan for financing public schools in Texas.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe came out with his school financing proposal a couple of weeks ago. He suggests that the state take care of 90 per cent of the public school expenses and the local districts take care of 10 per cent.

Now, a special legislative committee appointed for that purpose has come up with a proposal that the state take it over completely. At present, the foundation program pays 75 per cent of a minimum program, with local districts responsible for the remaining 25 per cent.

The main objective of new proposals, it seems, is to equalize the resources available to the various school districts. The joker in the deck, of course, is that the more the state finances, the more authority it will have over the school program. The state has set minimum standards for many years, but up to now, local districts have been able to add to the minimum as they desired and were able and willing to finance.

There is even talk now of limitations on additions, or enrichments that local districts may initiate for themselves. When that time comes, if it does, they might as well put all of the pupils in uniforms and complete the process of duplication of personalities down to the last detail.

★ ★ ★

But, while all of these new proposals for school financing are being developed, nobody is mentioning the budget-balanced districts. At present, those who have enough resources of their own do not participate in the minimum foundation program, but instead finance their own programs from local funds.

★ ★ ★

We are told that peanut butter was one of the commodities purchased by the federal government and channeled into the school lunch programs for many years, but none of this commodity was bought this year. Predictions are that this is likely to change when the new administration takes over in Washington next Jan. 20.

Panel Studying Local Housing

A Chamber of Commerce Steering Committee on Housing plans to investigate several possible avenues for providing additional living units here, expecially rental property.

This decision was reached during a meeting Tuesday at the Chamber office.

One relatively new source of financing for housing units was discussed at the committee's first session. It is the Farmers Home Administration, an agency that once was limited to financing in rural areas, but now is able to participate in multi-family projects in cities below 20,000 population.

Following the committee meeting Tuesday, it was announced that the committee would look into several possibilities, the first being the private sector. If private developers are interested, it is hoped that arrangements can be made for a project here, particularly for low income occupants.

Projections made recently by the West Central Texas Council of Governments indicate that Snyder will need a total of 164 living units per year from now through the year 2000, and that 88 of these should be low income units. Of the totals, the projections show a need of 45 units per year in additional new construction, 74 rehabilitated units and 45 replacement units. The low income projection indicates a need of rehabilitation of 39 units per year, replacement of [illegible] units per year and 14 additional units in new construction per year.

Zavala Grant Ruling Affirmed

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — The 5th Circuit Court of Appeals Wednesday affirmed a lower court decision that the State of Texas has the right to review a federal grant requested by the Zavala County Development Corp.

A federal judge in Austin had issued a restraining order for 60 days last Oct. 28 after the State of Texas argued that the grant had not been reviewed by the state.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe had publicly charged that the grant was to be used for the creation of a "Little Cuba."

Corporation officials said the grant was to be used for the formation of a farming co-operative and other businesses. They said Briscoe opposed the project because he did not want competition for his land holdings in the area.

The lower court ruling in effect prohibited the corporation from using any of the $1.5 million granted by the federal government.

Corporation officials said the result of the restraining order would be to kill the project which is already under way.

Young Love Has Role In Musical

Young love will play a major role in the "Sound of Music."

Sophomore Bryan Lewallan and junior Jeanne McCormick are cast as Rolf Gruber, a young Nazi soldier, and Liesel von Trapp, one of the older von Trapp children. They are deeply in love, and their relationship is an additional feature in the show.

Bryan has appeared in Snyder High School productions since he was five. His credits include "South Pacific", "Music Man", "Bicentennial Follies" and "No, No Nanette".

Jeanne began her SHS dramatic career last year in "No, No Nanette".

Both are interested in choir. Jeanne was selected for the Area choir recently, while Bryan is an All-Region singer.

The male is actively involved in Forensics. As a freshmen, he won the Hardin-Simmons University Speech Tournament in poetry reading.

The "Sound of Music" will run Friday and Saturday nights starting at 8 o'clock in the SHS Auditorium.

Ticket prices are $3 for reserved seats and $2 general admission. General admission tickets may be purchased at the door or from any choir or drama student.

Higher Beef Prices In 1977

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consumers who have seen beef prices fall steadily from last year's highs can expect to pay record prices to put beef on the table in 1977, an Agriculture Department economist predicted today.

Retail beef prices soon will begin climbing and probably will cost a record average of $1.49 a pound next year, Richard J. Crom of the department's Economic Research Service said.

That is 10 cents above the estimated 1976 average of $1.39. Last year's record average was $1.46.

The reason that beef prices will swing back up is that cattlemen, who are enduring severe financial losses because of a glut of beef this year, have reduced their herds sharply, Crom said.

One consolation is that pork prices will be down in 1977, he said, although beef accounts for about two-thirds of the meat consumed by American families. Meat is the biggest item in food budgets.

"Look for beef prices in 1977 to average about 10 cents per pound higher than this year's average, while pork prices may average five cents lower," Crom said. "Retail pork prices likely will be lowest this winter, while beef will peak seasonally in the summer months."

Pork was $1.35 a pound in 1975, and climbed another penny to a record of $1.36 this year.

Crom made his analysis in a speech prepared for the department's annual outlook conference.

Retail food prices over-all are expected to rise 3 to 4 per cent in 1977, about the same as the 3 per cent increase now estimated for this year, the department announced earlier this week. A spokesman said the prospective jump in 1977 beef prices was included in that estimate.

Beef prices traditionally peak in the summer. In July 1975, they hit a record monthly high of $1.61 a pound before turning down. By last September, store prices were about $1.34 a pound, measured on an all-cut basis.

Retail beef prices have fallen 4.8 per cent this year, Crom said.

WESTPORT, Conn. (AP) — Fanne Foxe, who splashed into Washington's Tidal Basin and the national news media in a 1975 incident involving retiring U.S. Rep. Wilbur Mills, was hospitalized and released after taking an overdose of pills, her press agent says.

Bomb Threat Evacuates 1,000

By GEORGE A. KRIMSKY
Associated Press Writer

MOSCOW (AP) — A bomb threat reported by Soviet officials today forced the evacuation of about 1,000 Russians from the U.S. Bicentennial exhibition in Moscow's Sokolniki Park and effectively closed it for the day. U.S. officials were angered by the incident.

No bomb was found in the huge pavilion housing the exhibit, which includes American photographs, copies of historical documents and film showings. Since it opened last week, the exhibit has attracted throngs of intensely interested Soviets.

It was nearly four hours before a Soviet bomb squad arrived at the evacuated pavilion, as several thousand Russians hoping to see the exhibition waited in line outside in near-freezing weather.

Soviet police then told those waiting that for "technical difficulties" the exhibit was closed and instructed them to go home.

American exhibition guides went along the half-mile line of Russians telling them that the exhibit was closed not for "technical reasons" but because of a bomb scare.

The line dispersed, effectively closing the exhibit for the day.

"This is the first time in 41 shows that something like this has happened," said Frank Ursino, the exhibit's American director.

A top Soviet official informed Ursino that the reason for the lengthy delay in the bomb squad's arrival was that the authorities had no experts in plastic explosives.

The bomb threat, according to Soviet officials, came in a phone call from an unidentified man at 12:24 p.m. who said a plastic bomb would go off at 12:30.

Grigori Kuzmenko, the Soviet director of the exhibition, remained in his office making phone calls during the evacuation of the Russian visitors. The evacuation was orderly, without any sign of panic. Most of the visitors were not told why they were being led outside.

The Bicentennial exhibit was an instant hit when it opened last week, and many Russians have been turned away because of overcrowding. A half-mile-long line of about 8,000 persons had lined up before the exhibit opened this morning. It has a daily capacity of about 9,000.

The U.S. Embassy in Moscow was evacuated twice last March after telephoned bomb threats, but no bombs were found.

The embassy threats came after shots were fired into an official Soviet residence in New York City and the Soviet airline office there was bombed by Jewish extremists protesting the treatment of Jews in the Soviet Union.

There have been no comparable anti-Soviet incidents recently in the United States.

Fisher Plans To Battle Boll Weevils

ROTAN—Due to an estimated 2.2 million dollar loss from cotton yields from boll weevil damage, a diapause weevil program has been planned for Fisher County, according to Richard Spencer, County Extension Agent.

The program is being governed by 28 producers elected from seven gins in Fisher County. Officers for the Association are: Stanley Nowlin of Rotan - chairman, Garland Moore of Roby - vice-chairman, Artis Stephens of Longworth - secretary, and Morris Guelker of Busby - treasurer.

The group anticipate a cost of $1.50 per ground acre per spraying. Six sprayings will probably be required which will run the total bill to $9 per ground acre. The group is shooting for 10 per cent participation of cotton producers. Sign up forms have been placed in all the gins for producers convenience. All producers are urged to go by their gin and read the pledge and sign it.

The board will require a third of the total cost by May 1, and the remainder to be paid by July 15, 1977.

Someone at the gins will be able to answer additional questions about the program, according to Spencer.

High-Fiber Diets Don't Cut Cholesterol Levels

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A new study shows that high-fiber diets do nothing to reduce the high blood cholesterol levels that are thought to be a warning sign of heart disease, a group of researchers said today.

Proponents of the diets argue that a higher than normal intake of natural fibers found in grains and some fruits and vegetables helps to remove cholesterol from the body.

The high level of cholesterol, a fatty material that accumulates in the blood, is a major element associated with heart disease.

But a group of researchers from the University of Oregon, in a report prepared for delivery at a meeting of the American Heart Association, say new studies show that the high-fiber diet has no effect on blood cholesterol levels.

Thomas L. Raymond and other researchers at the university Health Sciences Center in Portland said they attempted to verify claims made for the diet by comparing diets with and without high-fiber content in a group of men and women, aged 19 to 67.

One group of volunteers had no cholesterol for eight weeks and no fiber for the first four weeks of the study, the report said. During the second four weeks they received 16 grams of high-fiber daily, three times the normal amount.

An identical group was fed a diet rich in cholesterol for eight weeks. The diet included daily consumption of four egg yolks rich in the fatty material. The volunteers also ate no fiber for four weeks and high fiber for the rest of the study period.

"Feeding a diet without cholesterol to the first group of subjects lowered the level of cholesterol in the blood," the report said. "Addition of fiber to this diet failed to further lower this level of blood cholesterol.

"Feeding four egg yolks per day significantly raised the blood cholesterol level, but no decrease in cholesterol levels occurred when fiber was added."

The other researchers were William Connor, D.S. Lin and S.L. Connor.

Southern Glossary In New Book

WASHINGTON (AP) — Will it be socially correct in the new White House to tell the president you consider him "wild as a peach orchard boar?"

Not hardly. In fact, that type of running off at the mouth could get you branded as a fellow who's about three pickles shy of a barrel, or somewhat less than prudent.

"Wild as a peach orchard boar" is an old Southern expression for a man intent on having his way with the ladies. It is definitely not the type of subject to bring up in polite company, according to a new book called "You All Spoken Here."

The book was written by Roy Wilder, a sometime newspaperman and ad writer from Raleigh, N.C. Wilder thinks there could be quite a market for a glossary that defines what Jimmy Carter and his fellow Georgians mean when they get to "carryin' on" in their mother tongue.

Washington hostesses, for example, have been reportedly nervous that they won't fit into the Carter family's White House social circle.

They'll know what it means if one of Carter's Southern friends refers to him as "the big dog in the meathouse." That's been a Georgia term for top banana ever since baseball great Ty Cobb used it to describe a top player back at the turn of the century.

Carter became the top dog in the meathouse by beating President Ford, even though he didn't exactly "blow his doors off." Blowing someone's doors off is what the driver of a fast stock car does to the driver of a slow one when he passes him. It's synonymous with trouncing.

Others recall his promise never to lie. If he fails to keep that promise, they'll be able to say, "His mouth ain't no prayer book."

Such fluency in the language might could help avert a pink slip from the incoming Carterites, which would cause those still employed to say of the departed, "He got flatted."

The "School Crises Counseling Project" provides a teacher's walk-in clinic and a 24-hour, seven-day-a-week hot line for teachers with problems.

Dr. Esther Rothman, a psychologist and principal of the Livingston School, a school for disruptive students here, is the project leader.

Opening lead — J ♥

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Here is a hand that helped decide the finals of the 1945 Spingold Cup. Both teams reached six spades on identical bidding and the same opening lead was made.

At trick two a low trump was led. The winning declarer rose with his king of trumps plucked West's queen and made his slam. The other one played the jack and was one down.

After the match the losing declarer complained about his bad luck, but it wasn't bad luck. It was bad play.

This 1945 complaint would not have been made today. At least, not by an expert.

This particular single-suit play is too well known. When you find yourself in dummy for one time and one time only, you have to make the best of your one lead.

The king play was the best chance. Consider all cases where West holds a singleton. The jack play is never going to win. The king play will win if that singleton is the queen.

Now suppose there is an extra entry to dummy. Then it's quite different. The king play will win against a singleton queen only, but will lose against a singleton ace, seven or four in West's hand.

An Arizona reader wants to know what you should respond to partner's one-club opening bid when you hold:

♠ 10 8 7 6 5 ♥ A K J 3 2 ♦ 5 4 ♣ 2.

The correct response is one spade. You plan to bid hearts next unless your partner raises spades. The important thing is to bid your five-card suits in natural order.

CB Convac

Hugh Hefner and the CB

By Ink Dipper

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Ink Dipper (KYZ-3916) is the handle of the editor of The CB Times-Journal.)

Once again, the national media has blown a small thing out of proportion without noticing a more important event.

Case-in-point: The November edition of Playboy magazine.

All you heard about was Jimmy Carter's interview. Did anyone mention the Playmate of the month? It was like there wasn't even a centerfold.

What was the significance of the Playmate? She was a CBer.

Hugh Hefner has jumped on the bandwagon—one more influential American giving the CB radio a place of legitimacy.

There she was in bed, wearing as much as most centerfolds, and on the bedside table was the trusty CB. It was a nice one. The radio, that is. An expensive model with a gold-plated desk microphone.

Playboy isn't the only place where CB has gained acceptance.

Country music, of course was first, but then it always is. Whether it's a landing on the moon or Patty Hearst galavanting off with the SLA, some country writer will be selling a song about it.

After C. W. McCall's "Convoy" jumped high on country and pop charts, a passle of other CB songs followed. Red Sovine's "Teddy Bear" was also a big hit.

McCall and Sovine appeared on the Country Music Association's awards show, broadcast nationally in October, and did a brief CB-related skit. And even though they didn't win any awards, their songs were among the nominees for Best Single of the Year.

And "Hee-Haw," that syndicated touch of television corn, has also cranked out CB jokes and routines.

But CB has gone past country. It's left the trucker's cab and invaded the living room and kitchen.

A CB radio was like a separate character on a recent fourpart episode of television's "One Day At A Time." Snyder, the rascal of building super, used his CB to try to find his favorite tenant's run-a-way daughter.

Snyder, going by the handle Super Stud, contacted Beer Belly and other truckers along the interstate.

"Mary Hartman, Mary Hartman," the controversial syndicated soaper, also has ears. A CB will be in Mary's kitchen breaking the scripts with jargon.

Finally, we have a CB radio going to a dog. Not just any dog, though. Charlie Brown's dog, Snoopy.

In one Sunday strip, Charlie Brown was awakened by a telephone call from an irate neighbor. Charlie walked out to the dog house to inform Snoopy that his CB radio was too loud and keeping the neighbors up.

The CB blasted away smokey reports. Before he went back to bed, Charlie Brown walked over to Woodstock's nest to tell the little, yellow bird to also switch off his CB.

All of this attention to CBing boils down to one thing. At one time, people thought you were crazy to have a CB radio, but if Hugh Hefner and Woodstock think CBing is good, clean fun, then it must be here to stay.

Baptists Urge Action On TV Violence, Sex

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — A concentrated effort to let the television networks know which programs have too much sex or violence would get results, a Southern Baptist committee has been told.

The Christian Life Commission of the Southern Baptist General Convention is holding hearings at Arlington this week by on ways to stop violence and sex on television.

William Hill, director of production of commercials for the Bloom Agency in Dallas, told the commission that network television shows are "extremely sensitive" to public opinion.

"The networks and sponsors live and die on audience," he said. "If the ratings are there, the programs remain."

The way to influence the sponsors, he added, "is to hit them in the billfold," and to select individual programs and let the network and sponsors know they are offensive.

Other hearings on the subject are scheduled for Montgomery, Ala., next month; Richmond, Va., in January and San Francisco in February.

Mrs. Gayle Taylor of Dallas said she was concerned about profanity and sex and the "subtle way sexual values are being interjected into many so-called family shows."

"I believe that if my children see enough pre-marital and extra-marital affairs on television, like with violence, they will come to accept this as beneficial behavior."

Forrest Smith, a Dallas attorney and former chairman of the Texas Youth Council, said the effect of television on children and adults constitutes "a clear and present danger to our society."

But, he added, the major reason for the problem is "because much of the adult audience is on a violence trip of its own either at the movies or on television."

Smith said "Americans have, throughout history, been violence-prone and love to watch violence."

Price Pritchet, a Dallas psychologist, said it was "hypocritical" for television to have spent countless hours of air time to expose legal and ethical violations during the Watergate scandal while breaching ethical behavior themselves by seducing the American people into violence and sex.

Truett Myers of the Radio and Television Commission of the BGC said "the final responsibility for television morality rests with the individual and family viewing public. Producers will not produce material and networks will not air it unless there is a public out there watching."

(His) Self-control Is On His Mind

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: The letter about the woman who kicked her 24-year-old brother-in-law out of the house because she didn't want to leave him alone in the house with the 13-year-old sitter prompts this letter.

When our children were small many years ago, my husband and I had sitters occasionally, and no matter what time we came home my husband made ME drive the sitter home while he stayed with the kids. He always said, "No young punk with hot pants will ever have the chance to say that I made a pass at her!"

Abby, maybe I was dumb, but the thought that one of our sitters would unjustly accuse my husband of such a thing never even entered my mind. Nevertheless, he refused to drive a sitter home. But the fact that I, his wife, was driving alone after midnight didn't seem to bother him.

How do you figure it?

STILL ANGRY

DEAR STILL: I can't say what was in the minds of those sitters, but it's obvious what was on your husband's mind.

DEAR ABBY: I see in your column that readers are submitting names for couples who are shacking up together. Well, you can quit searching. I have the perfect name. "Newlybeds."

JACK DENTON

DEAR JACK: "Friends" is still my choice, unless the Quakers object to being confused with those who are feeling their oats.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter, Nell, who lives 200 miles from here, was divorced last year. She has a 4-year-old son, Terry, whom I love very much. Nell used to call me on the phone and tell me (not ask me) to meet Terry at the bus and keep him for the weekend. Naturally I always did.

Last week when Nell called to tell me to meet Terry at the bus, I told her I couldn't do it as I had made plans to go away for the weekend myself. I could tell she was irritated.

Well, yesterday she sent me a telegram telling me to meet Terry at the bus again! I tried phoning her to inform her that I was going away again, but I couldn't reach her. Now I'm stuck.

How can I get out of being a weekend sitter for my grandchild when it's not convenient? With her sending telegrams and not answering her phone, I'm over a barrel.

BOILING IN LA JOLLA

DEAR BOILING: Tell your daughter that she is NOT to send any more telegrams instructing you to meet her child at the bus. And furthermore, she should phone you and give you a fighting chance, or she'll lose her free sitting service permanently.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Luci Felt Trapped

DYERSBURG, Tenn. (AP) — Luci Johnson Nugent says she felt trapped when at age 16 she became the first teenager in 50 years to live in the White House.

The younger daughter of the late Lyndon Johnson described life in the President's home to 600 persons in a seminar on American First Ladies at Dyersburg State Community College.

"At first I felt trapped by the confines of the White House," she said. "I was shocked at the attention of the Secret Service and the news media.

"I was ignorant of the history of the White house, but as I grew to know it, I grew to love it. I was an actual witness to history."

Mrs. Nugent, 29, the mother of four children, said she had interviewed her mother, Lady Bird Johnson, about her life as the President's wife and she passed on Mrs. Johnson's advice to other First Ladies.

"Exercise regularly. You have to be healthy to stand up to the job, and keep priorities in mind."

As important legislation, Mrs. Johnson counted the Highway Beautification Act and the Land and Water Fund of 1968, which provided for purchasing land for the public good.

Eternal Flame Due Facelift

FLINT, Mich. (AP) — This city's eternal flame — snuffed out by overzealous hot dog roasters - is headed for a facelift.

The flame, originally lighted in McFarlan Park on Memorial Day 1970 and supposed to burn forever on natural gas, became a favorite for barbecuers and fell victim to hot dog drippings about a year ago.

Last Thursday, it was relighted for Veteran's Day and was renamed the Freedom Flame.

Now Genesee County officials are lifting the base of the flame about eight feet — partly to honor the county's war dead but mostly to get it eternally free of the reach of outdoor cooks.

Powerful Baylor Team Downs Dusters, 98-61

WACO—"This is the worst game a Duster team has ever played," declared Coach Sid Simpson after his Western Texas College women's basketball team was beaten, 98-61 by a strong Baylor University squad here last night.

Baylor leaped into an 18-6 lead early in the game and led all the way.

"They dominated us in every way," declared Simpson.

Baylor hit 54 per cent of their shots while the Dusters hit only 21 of 69 for 30 per cent. Baylor led in rebounds 39-33.

"Those rebounds are deceptive," said Simpson, "They got all of the key rebounds."

Baylor was led by Susie Snider, who pitched in 32 points.

"She's the best athlete we've played against, and probably will make All-American," said Simpson.

Three other Baylor girls hit in double figures. Karen Aulenbacher posted 16 points, Bobbette Metcalf roped 12, and Patti Kirchmeyer put in 10.

Two Dusters hit in double figures. Debby McIvor roped 16 points, and Temi Baker pitched in 15 points. The Dusters' Brenda Jurecek, one of the tallest girls on the squad, fouled out in less than 3 minutes of play.

The Dusters will meet Angelo State at 8 p.m. Friday in the Scurry County Coliseum. The game will be preceded by the Slaton-Albany game at 6 p.m. Fans who come early to see the high school girls play will have to purchase a high school ticket. However, those fans wishing to see only the Duster game and have a free pass may get in free for the college game.

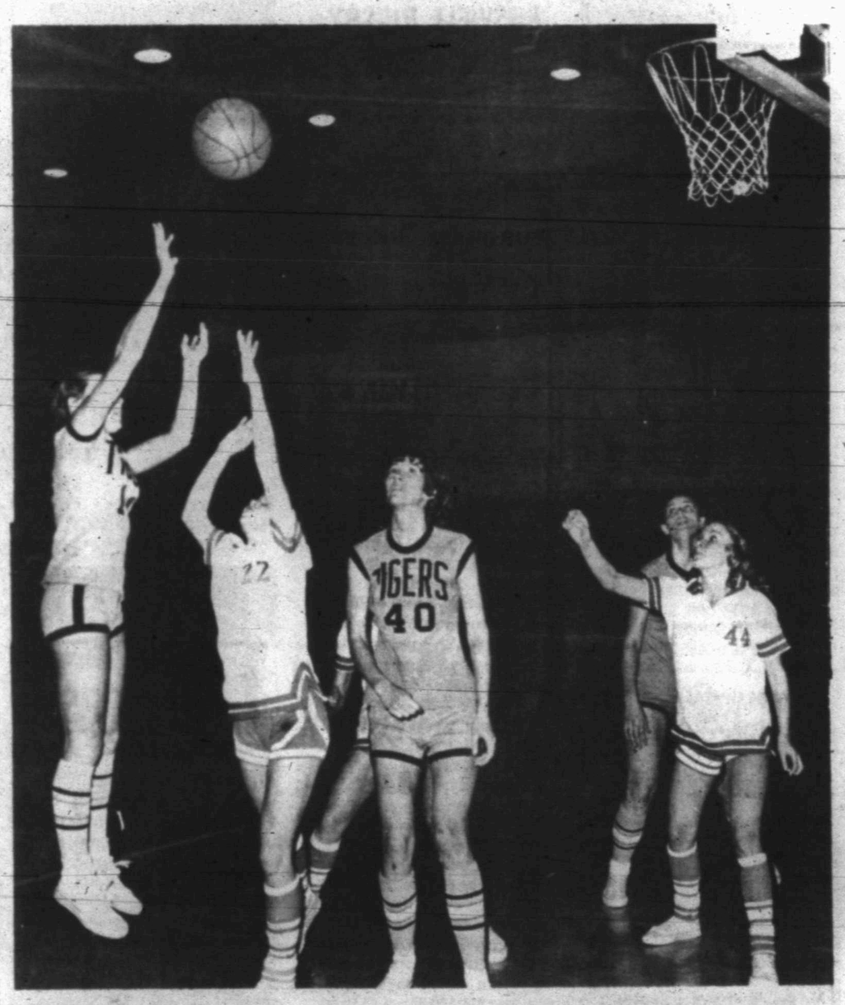
Lemon To Head Sox

CHICAGO (AP) — Bob Lemon, a Hall of Fame pitcher who did a "creditable" job in his only stint as a major league manager, is the new manager of the Chicago White Sox.

The announcement was made Tuesday by Bill Veeck at a news conference held in Illinois Masonic Medical Center, where the White Sox president is scheduled to undergo cervical spine surgery to relieve pressure from his neck nerves.

"Bob Lemon did a creditable job when he managed the Kansas City Royals," said Veeck, propped in a wheelchair and wearing a brown robe with gold polka dots.



TAKES SHOT—Snyder High School's Debbie Newman (14) takes a shot at the basket while teammate Carrie Taylor (40) looks on. Defending on the play for Rotan are Linda Copeland (22) and Sue Hill (44). The visitors won in Tiger gym, 42-33.

Rotan Girls Win Two Basketball Contests

Rotan's varsity girls defeated the Snyder High School varsity girls basketball team, 42-33, here last night.

Rotan was ahead 16-12 after one quarter, then fell behind 27-23 at halftime. They rallied in the third quarter for a 35-30 lead, and outscored Snyder 6 to 3 in the final frame.

Robert Jackson To Miss Game

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Texas A&M says middle linebacker Robert Jackson will miss this week's Southwest Conference game against Texas Christian because of a strained hamstring muscle.

Michigan, S. Cal Slight Favorites

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — How important are the remaining games in the college football season?

"Well," says UCLA's Terry Donahue, "my wife served me Mylanta for breakfast and I think I'll have Gelusil for dinner."

Let us ring in a couple of guest selectors and hear how they pick the UCLA-Southern Cal Pac-8 Rose Bowl showdown.

Washington's Don James: "A tossup. I think if they played 10 times it would come out 5-5. They're that close."

Oregon State's Craig Fertig: "The team that wins will be decided by the quarterback who gets the hot hand. I think USC is bigger and stronger on defense but UCLA is faster. I think they are even on offense."

So for the Rose Bowl...Southern Cal 28-21.

Last week's score was 50 right — including Kentucky's upset of Florida — and 19 wrong for a .724 percentage. On the season, it is 481-196-11 — .710.

Michigan at Ohio State: "I always feel good going to Ohio State; we have never played badly against them," says Michigan's Bo Schembechler...Michigan 20-10.

Houston at Texas Tech: A funny thing happened to last year's Southwest Conference tri-champs. First Texas A&M foundered, then Texas, then Arkansas. And now unbeaten Texas Tech...Houston 31-24.

Iowa State at Oklahoma State: What are these two losers doing battling for a possible Orange Bowl berth? Playing good football, that's what. If Iowa State wins, they have got to hope Nebraska beats Oklahoma. The only way Oklahoma State can go — possibly — is for Kansas State to upset Colorado — unlikely — while Nebraska and Oklahoma battle to a tie. Got it? We got...Oklahoma State 34-24.

Colorado at Kansas State: Colorado is ranked 15th with a 7-3 record, including victories over Oklahoma, Oklahoma State and Iowa State. Kansas State has dropped nine in a row after beating Brigham Young in its opener. This has been such a crazy conference, let's try the Upset Special of the Week...Kansas State 24-20.

Miami, Fla. at Notre Dame: Miami's patsy schedule has sent the Hurricanes against the likes of Colorado, Nebraska, Pitt and Penn State, with "only" Notre Dame, Florida and Houston left...Notre Dame 28-14.

Kansas at Missouri: Missouri has beaten four of the top 15 teams in this week's ratings, but the Tigers are no better than sixth in the Big Eight...Missouri 27-17.

Colgate at Rutgers: The Scarlet Knights match their basketball team and complete a perfect regular season...Rutgers 35-6.

Kentucky at Tennessee: If Tennessee should somehow manage a bowl bid, it would automatically extend Bill Battle's contract by a year, and wouldn't that come as a blow to his unwarranted critics? Tennessee 24-14.

Texas at Baylor: How the mighty have fallen ... Baylor 28-21.

Wyoming at Air Force: Now that the Cowpokes have clinched a berth in the Fiesta Bowl, why not a letdown? Second Upset Special ... Air Force 24-21.

Yeoman Will Play Anwhere

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Cougar Coach Bill Yeoman disputes the old coaching theory that playing on an opponent's field is a disadvantage.

Any suitably marked parking lot will do fine for a Cougar team, thank you, Yeoman says.

Snow? Bring it on. How about a good hurricane and the four horsemen for good measure?

Yeoman's ninth ranked Cougars proved his point two weeks ago when they marched into University of Texas' Memorial Stadium and boxed the Longhorns to a 30-0 upset, marking the first time since 1967 Texas had lost at home.

Now Yeoman has extended his theory to the elements, including snow, if it is present when the Cougars face fifth ranked Texas Tech at Lubbock's Jones Stadium in a Southwest Conference showdown.

"I don't care if it snows," Yeoman said Tuesday. "That would be of no consequence. If you get to thinking about snow, it just gives you an excuse."

Milk Production Up 3.7% In 1976

WASHINGTON (AP) — Milk production this year is expected to total about 119.8 billion pounds, up 3.7 per cent from 1975 for the sharpest year-to-year gain since 1953, an Agriculture Department dairy economist says.

But unlike some previous years of milk production increases, consumer demand for dairy products has also risen so that prices paid to farmers also have been up.

Charles N. Shaw of the department's Economic Research Service today warned, however, that, "market conditions have weakened and the potential for surplus" milk in 1977 is large.

Last year milk output was 115.5 billion pounds, about the level it held to in 1973 and 1974. During those times, milk prices failed to keep pace with spiraling feed costs and other expenses, forcing many dairy farmers to trim their herds severely.

With the huge 1975 grain crops and some easing of feed costs, dairy farmers stepped up production. Shaw said that the momentum will carry over at least into the early months of 1977.

His remarks were in a speech prepared for USDA's annual outlook conference.

"One of the more dramatic developments in 1976 was a substantial expansion in the demand for dairy products," Shaw said. "Despite the much higher retail prices, total dairy sales (including fluid milk, butter and cheese) this year could be up two per cent from last year and a record high."

Looking ahead, Shaw said that what happens after the first few months of 1977 will depend to a large degree on prices of feed, cull dairy cows and the general economy.

"The greatest uncertainty is whether or not the expected lower milk prices and the return to surplus conditions in the dairy industry will substantially slow the increases in milk output," he said.

DISCUSSING NEW MOVIE—Actor James Almanzar discusses the movie "Pony Express Rider" with Claudia Melton at the Snyder Chamber of Commerce. Almanzar, who has the role of Puddin in the family movie, came here Tuesday with Ace Reid on a tour to promote the movie, which opens Friday at the Cinema in Snyder. They appeared at noon Tuesday at the Snyder Lions Club.

CARTOONIST-TURNED-ACTOR—Ace Reid, the Cowpokes cartoonist, is greeted by LaVerta Lovell at the Snyder Chamber of Commerce as he arrived Tuesday to help promote interest in the motion picture, "Pony Express Rider," a family movie (G rated) by Doty-Dayton Productions, which opens Friday at the Cinema here. Reid has the role of Bullfrog Fry in the movie.

Representative Of Bullock Due Here

State Comptroller Bob Bullock announced he is sending a representative from his Abilene office to Snyder on Thursday, Nov. 18, to assist local taxpayers and answer questions about state taxes.

Bullock said Enforcement Officer Tom Soto will meet with local taxpayers at the Scurry County Courthouse in the jury room from 8 a.m. to noon.

"If Snyder-area merchants, or anyone else for that matter, have any questions about state taxes or need help in preparing tax forms, Mr. Soto will be there to assist them," Bullock said.

"We're trying to cut the red tape in this office and we believe these face-to-face sessions with taxpayers help do just that," Bullock added.

Bullock reminded those taxpayers who are unable to meet with his representative tomorrow that they can still get their questions answered quickly by calling his toll-free tax information number in Austin. That number is 1-800-252-5555.

The Abilene office, headed by James W. Martin, serves Taylor, Brown, Callahan, Coleman, Comanche, Eastland, Fisher, Haskell, Jones, Mitchell, Mills, Nolan, Scurry, Schackelford, Stephens and Stonewall Counties.

Prinze Charged

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Freddie Prinze, star of the "Chico and the Man" television series, has been charged with driving under the influence of drugs.

Prinze, 22, was arrested Nov. 5 by a highway patrol officer who said he observed the actor driving erratically on the San Diego Freeway.

Officer Richard Ripley said he found a two-ounce prescription bottle which contained a small quantity of methaqualone, a tranquilizer, in Prinze's shirt pocket.

Witness Implicates Nacol

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Clyde T. Burns, one of two star prosecution witnesses in the theft trial of Wichita Falls jeweler Adam S. Nacol, testified Tuesday that Nacol was the only outlet through which an alleged major burglary ring in Wichita Falls sold stolen goods.

Nacol is charged in connection with the burglary of two Wichita Falls residences. He is charged with exercising control over certain property allegedly stolen in the burglaries.

Admitting to nine burglaries in which he said he, James F. Lebus, and Alton W. Fanchier Jr., were involved, Burns said, "All of the jewelry at that time was going through James Lebus and through Lebus to Nakey." Burns said Lebus called Nacol "Nakey."

Most other testimony by Burns concerned an arrangement where Lebus would set up the burglaries and Burns along with others would burglarize stores and residences. Burns said he did not personally have any direct dealings with Nacol, because he said Nacol "didn't want to see us."

Burns and Fanchier have pleaded guilty to several burglaries and have received concurrent prison terms. Burns also has pleaded guilty to murder in the shotgun slaying of Clay County rancher Jim Keith and was sentenced to 20 years in prison.

Repeated objections by defense attorney Joe B. Goodwin of Beaumont for hearsay testimony were overruled by State District Court Judge Stanley Kirk. Kirk recessed the jury until 9 a.m. today.

Earlier in the day, victims of the alleged burglaries testified they found several items taken in the thefts in the Wichita Falls jewelry store of Nacol.

Farmers To Plant As Much Wheat

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department continues to project tentatively that farmers will plant about as much wheat for the 1977 harvest as they did for this year's near-record crop.

James J. Naive of the department's Economic Research Service told an outlook conference today that "on balance, plantings for the 1977 wheat crop will likely total near the 80 million acres of 1976."

But Naive cautioned that "weather will still be influential for spring wheat and, perhaps more importantly, for how many acres of winter wheat will be harvested."

The department will announce on Dec. 22 how many acres of winter wheat farmers planted this fall for harvest next summer. That will give the first solid idea of how the 1977 wheat crop is shaping up since winter wheat accounts for about three-fourths of the total U.S. wheat output.

Some experts say, however, that farmers in some areas where corn and other crops can be grown may reduce winter wheat plantings because of lower grain prices and the huge supply. That, they say, may mean two or three million fewer acres of wheat for the 1977 harvest than in 1976.

Naive also said that high soybean prices may attract more land next year, meaning that 1977 acreages of corn and other feed grains could be down about four million acres from the 129 million planted in 1976.

PREPARING US FOR FEARED WAR

A-Bombs Tested At White Sands

By ROBERT LOCKE
Associated Press Writer

WHITE SANDS MISSILE RANGE, N.M. (AP) — A nuclear bomb explodes into a raging maelstrom with temperatures of more than 20 million degrees.

Fires consume almost everything that will burn for miles around. A shock wave spreads destruction in an ever-widening circle — ear drums burst and buildings collapse. A light far brighter than the sun blinds those who see it. Winds grow until they dwarf the mightiest hurricanes.

Gamma rays, neutrons, beta particles — the whole exotic and deadly gamut of radiation — inundate the surrounding area immediately, then linger dangerously for weeks.

That catastrophic litany is duplicated, one item after another in varying degrees, at an innocent-looking complex in the southern New Mexico desert.

The busy Nuclear Weapons Effects Laboratory at White Sands Missile Range bombards hardware ranging from a single transistor to armored tanks with the products of a nuclear holocaust.

The results, officials hope, may help the equipment and those who operate it survive if the time ever comes — if The Bomb is ever dropped.

Since the Limited Nuclear Test Ban Treaty of 1963, the awesome spectacle symbolized by a mushroom cloud is barred from the surface of the earth and the atmosphere above it, at least among the signatory nations.

Test explosions, as required by the treaty, are conducted deep underground, and usually after expensive legal attacks and widely publicized opposition.

But the arsenals remain. Bombs are pointed at America. America's bombs point back.

And the fear remains. Someday the bombs may be released.

If that day ever comes, the military warns, America must be prepared. It must know what to expect.

So they come to White Sands — the agencies with their missiles and tanks and radar and weapons and almost everything else that's used to fight America's wars.

The equipment is bombarded with neutrons and gamma rays from a small nuclear reactor. Massive capacitators build up a huge electric charge that's released in a burst of electromagnetic radiation. A solar oven concentrates the sun's heat into a beam of several thousand degrees that's aimed at armor plating. A linear accelator pumps out gamma rays and electrons in a high-energy stream.

And, on rare occasions, hundreds of tons of high explosives are detonated out in the desert. The shock wave breaches concrete bunkers and snaps jet fighters.

"Our job," said laboratory director Armando de la Paz, "is to provide the environments and testing program to meet the specifications of various distances from a nuclear blast."

"We don't try to simulate actual ground zero conditions," said the lab's Don White. "Nothing's going to survive there anyway.

"We try to simulate some reasonable distance at which (at least some of the equipment) will survive the blast and the thermal, and then we try to produce the same amount of radiation and so on that it would be subjected to."

The laboratory complex is made mostly of concrete walls ranging in thickness, depending on the type of radiation that's being contained, from about a foot to six feet. At the touch of a button, concrete and steel doors slide slowly about, accompanied by the dull hum of electric motors.

De la Paz said the U.S. Army-operated facility, built over a period of years, cost something in the neighborhood of $16 million.

It handles experiments for the military services, the Energy Research and Development Administration, other American agencies and allied nations.

The tests range from a single component, such as a transistor, up to the complete system, such as communications devices or missile guidance apparatus.

The normal routine, said De la Paz, is to test each component in each of the various environments. Then you would test the entire system. "if you've got a problem with a single transistor or a whole card of transistors, they'll want to change it until they find one that will stand up," he said.

In other words, each component might be run through each of the seven separate tests. Its performance would be checked before and after each test. If the part fails after any of the operations, a substitute would be tried, then perhaps another and another until one survives the formidable onslaught.

The invisible radiation can produce myriad problems, especially with communications and radio-controlled equipment. Missiles might refuse to budge or, once airborne, might defy their guidance commands and devastate friendly cities.

The intense heat, of course, would produce fires combustible equipment and people.

But farther away, said Richard Hays, who operates the solar furnace, the thermal blast might burn the needles and plastic dials off radios and similar equipment. Even the writing — directions and meter settings — could be seared off the surface. The result might be equipment that essentially is intact, but virtually useless because its operator cannot adjust it.

The furnace, two giant banks of mirrors that focus through a Venetian blind-type setup, concentrate about 5,000 degrees within a four-inch square.

That, Hays said, will burn through stainless steel a quarter-inch thick in 29 seconds — "the thermal effect can be quite damaging."

If there were no test ban, if all these effects could still be produced in a single cataclysmic explosion on the ground, would the lab go out of business?

"Well, it probably would ... simply because of the fact that it would be the real thing," White said. "And yet, if there was an outdoor blast, it wouldn't provide all this information."

And, added De la Paz, for the repetitive testing done at the lab, "I'd say this would be better than an actual blast (especially) from the standpoint of economics."

Hypnosis is no cure-all

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB—My husband and I are heavy smokers. We have now reached the point where we can feel the ill effects from smoking so much and have tried a few times to stop but always ended up smoking again.

We have heard of hypnosis being an answer to our problem. We would like to have your opinion on how effective hypnosis is and if there are side effects. Would you recommend hypnosis as a possible solution? We are looking forward to your response.

DEAR READER—Hypnosis may help but it won't cure you. The people who are cured of smoking from hypnosis are ones who really want to quit-not those who just think they want to quit. Motivation is everything.

Hypnosis may help a person cut down on smoking, but too often the person who seeks help really does so to please his mate or for some similar reason and deep down really doesn't want to stop the habit. In these circumstances the effort is usually wasted.

I think if you understand that you have to provide the willpower and realize that hypnosis is only a help and you have to do the rest it might be helpful to you.

Another solution that helps some people is to get away from their everyday environment that is associated with smoking. A vacation with your husband with an agreement that neither will smoke is a good idea. Try to plan something that will keep you busy and not associate you with friends you are used to smoking with. That may help you get started. Don't be discouraged; most people who quit try it several times before they are finally successful. Remember the old adage, if at first you don't succeed try, try again.

DEAR DR. LAMB—I would like to know what causes gallstones and why we have to have our gall bladder taken out. What are gallstones really made of?

DEAR READER—Gallstones come in different varieties. Some are made mostly of the bile pigments and are hard stones that one can see on a routine X ray of the abdomen. Others are made of cholesterol, which is concentrated in the bile. Still others are a mixture of cholesterol and pigment with other chemicals.

Gallstones are most likley to form when the gall bladder has become inflamed just as your appendix can. They also tend to form when there is an abnormal ratio of bile pigments, cholesterol and substances that help to maintain solubility of these in the bile. The material settles out and forms small grains which grow to larger stones.

The gall bladder is usually removed when stones are present because of the very present danger of an acutely inflamed gall bladder which can rupture and lead to serious complications, or because the small stones may lodge in the bile ducts and obstruct the liver. There is also a higher incidence of cancer of the gall bladder in patients with stones.

The decision whether to take a gall bladder out or leave it in is often based upon the age and medical condition of the patient in relation to these dangers.
