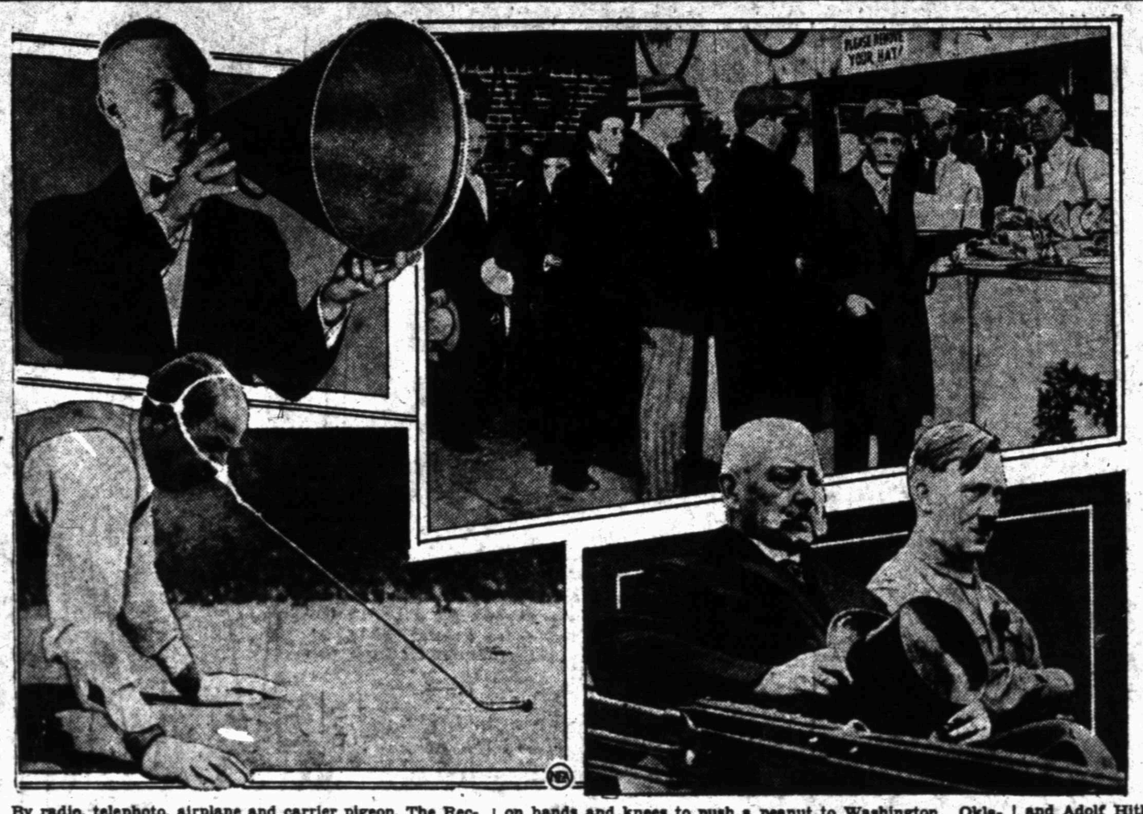
Cal Coolidge Croons; Mellon Joins Bread Line; Gandhi Hurdles—And They Say Camera Doesn't Lie



By radio, telephoto, airplane and carrier pigeon, The Record News and NEA Service have succeeded in gathering today's most amazing news in pictorial form. Constituting what would seem to be one of the most remarkable achievements of modern journalistic enterprise, the above photos of foreign and national events are right up to the minute . . . For instance, it was only this morning that a staff photographer in Northampton, Mass., snapped the megaphony picture at upper left, of Calvin Coolidge. He has taken up crooning—at the rate of $1 a word. "Bing" Coolidge, as he will be billed during his forthcoming vaudeville tour, has composed a new theme song called "Just Around the Corner" . . . Below you see Alfalfa Bill Murray, who has just started out on hands and knees to push a peanut to Washington. Oklahoma's acrobatic governor (he can stand on his head, too) is a veteran political showman who believes in keeping close to the soil. The homely expedient adopted here is calculated to get him to the White House by 1933 . . . The next picture, at the top, shows a breadline. And right at the front, receiving a hand-out, is the tattered figure of Andrew W. Mellon. What—you thought the former secretary of the treasury and ambassador to Great Britain was one of the world's richest men? Well, here's pictorial evidence that times are really tough . . . Two famous leaders in German affairs are shown below as they rode together through Berlin streets to acknowledge the cheers of delighted throngs. President von Hindenburg, left, and Adolf Hitler, "Nazi" chief, have patched up their differences and, when this picture was taken, were promising to vote for each other in the April 10 election.

The next picture, a stirring bit of action, shows a celebrated figure named Gandhi, who is in training for the Olympic games next summer. Only recently he was leading India's campaign for independence, but discovered quite by accident—while being pursued by one of his goats which had taken a fancy to his loin cloth—that he was a natural-born athlete. Here you see him, all three sheets to the wind, earning his new nickname of "Mahopma" . . . Below, the camera has recorded a significant turn in the American presidential campaign. Alfred E. Smith found an old brown derby among his souvenirs in the attic of the Empire State building and rushed to Washington to present it to Herbert Hoover. "You can't lose, Mr. Hoover," Smith was saying. "I shall use all my influence in your behalf" . . . Down in Florida, where his 92 years rest lightly on his brawny shoulders, John D. Rockefeller Sr., has taken to parachute jumping. "I got the idea from the stock market," the great man told reporters, to whom he passed out IOU's for 10 cents each. "The depression has made me feel very jumpy." Here you see Mr. Rockefeller as he landed at Ormond Beach for a round of golf . . . By this time you may have suspected that there isn't a vestige of truth in all this. Photographers, intending no offense to any one, compounded these pictures as an April Fool joke.

CHILD'S CRIES OF 'LET ME OUT' SPEED WORK

Boy, 3, Falls 20 Feet Down Abandoned Shaft Only 10 Inches Wide

STEAM SHOVEL USED

Efforts to Drag Infant To Surface With Ropes Prove Futile

PICHER, Okla., March 31. (AP)—Rescued from a cramped position he had occupied nearly 12 hours 20 feet deep in a mine drill hole, 3-year-old Gerald Collins was delivered safely to his mother's arms at 8:40 tonight, after miners and other volunteer workers had struggled with a stubborn rock ledge trying to save him.

Physicians at Hand

Two doctors went down into a 22-foot shaft sunk beside the drill hole at 8:30 o'clock, waited there until the workers dragged the little body loose from its rocky prison and carried it up a ladder to safety.

The mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Collins, leaned from the side of an ambulance that had been waiting at the scene nearly all day, and wept openly as the little boy's cry of "Daddy—Mamma" reached them.

The doctors carried the child into the ambulance and the driver quickly opened a way through the throng of several thousand spectators and hurried to the clinic of the United States bureau of mines here to render what first aid was needed.

Cavity 250 Feet Deep

Workers said the boy was found in a sitting position in the drill hole, which was just wide enough to catch his body and prevent it from falling to the bottom of the 250-foot cavity.

His knees were doubled up and his arms were pinioned above his head. He had been in that position since 9:30 o'clock this morning, when he tumbled into the hole while playing near the mine.

The father, a mine prospector, said the child had formed the habit of following him from the nearby home to the mine lease.

"He's a gritty one," the father said, when the cry arose that the miners had reached the boy.

Shortly after efforts to slip a noose over Gerald's body failed and the rescue workers found they could not drag him out of the hole, a pick and shovel brigade went to work sinking a shaft parallel to the hole.

A steam shovel was moved to the scene after the hand workers had gone down five feet, but soon this machinery was rendered inadequate by the rocky nature of the subsurface stratum.

Shifts Change Rapidly

Workers brought a compressed air drill and a dozen men, working in shifts of two or four, took turns at the task. They worked at such speed and with such energy that each shift had to be relieved at minute intervals.

When the shaft was sunk to a depth of 22 feet, shortly after dark, a tunnel was opened to the drill hole, about two feet away.

With the way opened, the men had to loosen the rocks and dirt that imprisoned the boy before they could lower him into the tunnel, move him to the shaft and then raise him to the surface.

When the workers were near the end of their day-long grind the father, a 25-year-old youth, went to the opening of the drill hole and called down:

"This is daddy, son. We're going to get you out in a few minutes now."

Immediately the little fellow responded:

"Hurry, daddy, take me—take me."

A few minutes after 8 p. m. the workers called down the shaft that they could see the boy's legs, and the cry was echoed from the hillsides around as a shout went up from the watchers.

Crowd Cheers Rescue

"He's alive," called a worker a moment later and the answer from the throng grew to a roar.

Electra Woman Dies When Car Overturns On Iowa Park Road

Special to The Record News

IOWA PARK, Texas, March 31.—Mrs. Homer Hollyfield, 25, was fatally injured and three members of her family slightly hurt when the automobile they occupied overturned a short distance from here Thursday afternoon while en route to Wichita Falls. The family resides in the Grayback field, in the Waggoner pasture, south of Electra.

Mrs. Hollyfield died shortly after being rushed to a hospital here. Mr. Hollyfield, his mother, Mrs. Josie Hollyfield, and his 4-year-old son escaped with minor injuries and were attended at the Wichita Falls Clinic hospital for lacerations and bruises.

Mrs. Hollyfield was driving. She apparently lost control of the machine when she pulled to the side of the road to allow a car driven by Mrs. H. E. Jenkins of Electra to pass. The Hollyfield car crashed into the ditch at the side of the road and turned over.

Will George of Iowa Park brought the injured woman to the hospital here. She died without regaining consciousness. She was an expectant mother.

The body was taken in charge by the Tanner Undertaking company here. Funeral arrangements were incomplete Thursday night, and were not expected to be made before Friday.

Mr. Hollyfield is an employe of the Stanolind Oil company of Electra.

TWO HURT AT MANKINS WHEN CAR OVETURNS

Special to The Record News

MANKINS, Texas, March 31.—Two men received painful injuries when their automobile overturned on the Seymour highway a quarter of a mile west of here early Thursday night. Four other men escaped with minor bruises.

The injured J. T. and M. T. Mauldin of Rule, Texas, were rushed to a Seymour hospital where their wounds were dressed after it was learned they were not seriously hurt. M. T. Mauldin sustained a broken nose and J. T. Mauldin received a deep gash on the head.

The six men were en route from Rule to Wise county when a spindle bolt on the machine broke to cause the car to overturn.

CHINESE AND JAPS CLASH

Civilian Riots May Bring New Fighting

SHANGHAI, March 31. (US)—The probably fatal wounding of a Japanese by a Chinese bomb in the French concession late tonight started anti-Chinese demonstrations by Japanese residents of Shanghai and renewed fears that warfare on the Shanghai front might be resumed at any hour.

French international police rushed the Japanese, T. Sotoyama, to a hospital, but his chance of living, physicians said, is slim. His death may halt the truce negotiations now at a deadlock, while the Japanese community may be worked up to such indignation that Tokyo forces here may be faced with demands for punitive measures.

Japanese residents, worked up over the number of assaults and "insults" recently, are highly indignant at the recalcitrance of the Chinese, and it is possible that the Chinese will force the Japanese army into action.

Meanwhile, firing still prevails on the front. An officer of the Chinese 19th route army said that the Japanese advanced on Taichang today and occupied the town, the Chinese defenders evacuating after brief resistance.

BOWIE MEN FOUND GUILTY IN BANK CASE

Court Defers Sentence; Several Counts Dropped By Judge Atwell

Charles C. Hutchison, Arthur J. Turner and Abe Anderson of Bowie were found guilty of misapplication of national bank funds and of making false entries upon books of a national bank by Judge William H. Atwell in federal district court Thursday afternoon after two days of trial. Sentence was deferred.

Nineteen counts in all were brought against the three men in the lengthy indictment returned by the federal grand jury last November. Charges were based upon alleged irregularities in the conduct of business for the City National bank of Bowie in 1929 and 1930.

After lengthy arguments by counsel both for state and defense, the court found Hutchison guilty on eight counts, Anderson guilty on five counts, and Turner guilty on one count. Turner was declared not guilty on 18 counts, Anderson on 14, and Hutchison on 11.

Entries Recited

Transactions covered by five counts upon which both Hutchison and Anderson were convicted dated from Sept. 21, 1929, to July 25, 1930. Four of those counts charged the

Search Goes on For Baby as Month Ends

HOPEWELL, N. J., March 31. (AP)—A month of searching throughout the world for the kidnaped Charles Augustus Lindbergh Jr. ended tonight with apparent proof of his safety and whereabouts still lacking.

Hope the blue-eyed boy still may be returned to his parents has been revived in the past week by statements of three prominent residents of Norfolk, Va., that they had made contacts with the kidnapers.

Rear Admiral Guy H. Burrage, spokesman for the Virginia group, said in Norfolk today no new move had been planned by the intermediaries; that no arrangements had been made for "a new contact with the kidnapers," and that it was impossible to answer a question as to whether there is any hope "negotiations with the kidnapers will be concluded within four or five days."

Parade Planned to Mark U. S. Entrance Into War

WASHINGTON, March 31. (US)—The 15th anniversary of America's entrance into the world war will be observed by a parade on April 6, under the auspices of the District of Columbia George Washington Bicentennial commission, in conjunction with the national commission.

The procession, requiring more than two hours to pass, will be reviewed by President Hoover from a stand in front of the White House and by members of congress at the capitol.

Budget Shows Surplus For 10th Straight Year

BELFAST, North Ireland, March 31. (UP)—For the tenth successive year the Ulster budget showed a surplus. The total revenue was 9,499,109 pounds with a surplus of 11,648 pounds.

Customs Court Judge's Resignation Accepted

WASHINGTON, March 31. (AP)—President Hoover today accepted the resignation of Israel F. Fischer as presiding judge of the United States customs court, and named George M. Young already a member of the court, to succeed him effective April 1. Judge Fischer was 74 years old upon his retirement.

HOOVER HOGS

South Texas Negroes Eat Armadilloes When Pork Gets Scarce

GRAPELAND, Texas, March 31. (UP)—Negroes living in the Trinity river bottom near here ate armadilloes during the winter when other meat was scarce.

A sleek, fat black, making his first visit to town since last fall, reported to his grocer that the community had "plenty of meat but pork was scarce." The grocer asked what was eaten.

"Armadillers," the black replied; "We calls 'em Hoover hogs."

Armadilloes, which bear a hard, inverted basket-like shell, are native to Southwest Texas but numbers of them apparently have migrated to East Texas in recent years, old residents said.

NEGRO PAYS FOR SLAYING

Aged Woman's Murder Leads to Death Chair

HUNTSVILLE, Texas, April 1. (AP)—Jake "Rockwall Slim" White, 45, Dallas negro, was electrocuted at the state prison here early this morning for the murder of Mrs. Sarah Gray, 66, of Garland, Dallas county, on Feb. 3, in a robbery at her home.

White, one of the largest men ever to die in the chair here, went to his death with a weak smile on his face. He talked freely of his crime and said "I'm getting just what I deserve."

His only concern was that his wife be given back his pistol which officers relieved him of when he was arrested.

He entered the chair at 12:03 a. m. and was pronounced dead at 12:11 a. m.

His execution date had been set for a week ago, but Gov. Ross S. Sterling granted a reprieve that he might not die on Good Friday.

"Now," said the negro late today, "I've got to die on April Fool's day. I don't reckon that's good enough for another stay."

War Department Names Service Bridge Expert

WASHINGTON, March 31. (US)—Bridge played at Fort Hoyle, Md., must be "according to Hoyle," the war department ruled today. Accordingly, it detailed its crack contract bridge expert to supervise the service tournament there.

He is Lieut. Alfred Maximillian Gruenther, one of the referees in the recent Culbertson-Lenz tourney.

Night Session Held In Fee Extortion Case

AUSTIN, March 31. (UP)—A session of 126th district court was held here tonight so that the lawyers might complete arguments to the jury in the trial of Former Sheriff H. H. Burns of Shelby county, charged with fee extortion.

PRODUCTION OF WICHITA FIELD IS UNCHANGED

East Texas Allowable Cut To 71 Barrels; Other Limits Fixed

The allowable production of the Wichita Falls (North Texas) oil field will remain unchanged at 57,000 barrels daily, the state railroad commission ruled Thursday after hearings held Wednesday at Austin for general changes in allowable and rules.

New proration orders will be "continuing," to remain in force until further notice, according to a dispatch from the Associated Press to The Record News. Heretofore orders have been issued to obtain until a given date.

East Texas Cut

The per well allowable of the East Texas field was reduced from 72 barrels to 71 barrels daily. The field top production will remain at 325,000 barrels daily. The new per well proration will become effective at 7 a. m. Friday.

The field is under an order fixing the top allowable for the counties of Smith, Gregg, Rusk and Upshur at 325,000 barrels, each well to contribute an equal amount to that total. Per well allowables are adjusted each 15 days, based on the number of producing wells and an-

Air Mail Pilot Killed in Crash

CLEVELAND, March 31. (AP)—Pilot Forrest Malick, 24, flying the night mail from New York to Cleveland, fell to death in a farmer's field early today.

He ran into a blinding fog, rain and snow.

Carrying 1,000 pounds of mail, he left the Newark, N. J., airport at 10:15 p. m. yesterday. At Bellefonte, Pa., he was told it was thickening, but decided he could make it through.

He was reported over the airport at Parkman, Ohio. Several hours later, his body was found in the wreckage of his plane. His parachute still was strapped on his back.

He saved the mail by switching off the ignition thus preventing a fire.

Gunman Slain On Tour of Revenge

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 31. (UP)—An East St. Louis gunman, who came here with the announced intention of killing the murderers of his friend, was shot to death today on a downtown street corner.

James O'Day, 40, was shot twice through the stomach with a shotgun shortly after he made a tour of speakeasies announcing he was here "to get the guys who killed my pal, Jimmie Howard."

House Completes Billion Dollar Tax Bill In Final Rush

WASHINGTON, March 31. (US)—With a final burst of speed the house tonight completed the new tax bill and reached its goal of building a measure which will balance the budget.

Tomorrow the bill will come before the house for final passage. It will be carried substantially as framed tonight.

The bill tonight carried a total of $999,000,000, just a million dollars short of a billion dollars.

A total of $255,500,000 was put into the bill today.

It was estimated that the billion dollar bill would be more than ample to accomplish the goal of both Republican and Democratic leaders—balance the budget.

Cuts in Expenditures

The exact figures to secure a balanced budget are $1,241,000,000. Cuts planned in federal expenditures, however, are estimated to total $243,000,000 and postal economies are estimated to cut another $29,000,000.

Thus if these savings are actually made there will be a surplus in the revenue produced by the next tax bill.

When the bill goes before the house for final passage tomorrow, record votes will be demanded on the Doughten amendment which killed the manufacturers sales tax, the Swing amendment which voted the super surtaxes into the bill, the oil and coal import taxes, stock transfer tax and the estate tax.

The record votes will be taken if one-fifth of the members present rise in favor of them.

New Levies Include Stocks

Today's action in winding up the amendments to the bill included:

Adoption of an amendment for a one-fourth of one per cent tax on the sale price of stock transfers, estimated to raise $75,000,000.

A five cent tax on each $100 of sales of cotton, grains and other commodities on the produce markets, estimated to raise $6,000,000.

A 50 cent tax on all conveyances over $500, estimated to furnish $10,000,000.

One-eighth of one per cent on all bond transfers, estimated to raise $13,000,000.

An 8 per cent tax on pipe line traffic, estimated to raise $15,000,000.

A 10 per cent tax on firearms and shells, exempting pistols and revolvers, raising $4,000,000.

HOLLYWOOD, March 31.—Frederick W. Beetson, executive vice president of the Association of Motion Picture Producers and head of the Will Hays' organization on the west coast, and pretty Mabel Johnson will agree to love, honor and obey the latter part of April.

Miss Johnson formerly held one of the responsible positions in the association. Before that she was with Paramount.

HOOVER'S BONUS 'VETO' FLAYED

Oklahoman Says President Showed 'Bad Taste'

WASHINGTON, March 31. (US)—President Hoover was criticised in the senate today for announcing he would veto the soldiers' bonus bill while the measure is still pending in congress.

Senator Thomas, Democrat of Oklahoma, author of a bill to pay the bonus immediately, declared:

"I hold it to be bad taste to criticise a bill not yet passed.

"The president vetoed the bill in advance, but the veto message was not sent to us. It was given yesterday to the press."

Thomas declared that demands for cash payment of the bonus arose only after congress had voted $2,000,000,000 to relieve the railroads and the big bankers.

Thomas added:

"The veterans can't understand why big business can get federal funds and the ex-soldiers can't.

"The president says the bill would unbalance the budget.

"If I had been chief executive during the last three years and found the treasury in the condition it is today, I would keep silent about legislation unbalancing the budget."

Times Were Much Worse In 450 B. C., Says Scholar

CHICAGO, March 31. (UP)—Times are not what they used to be, because they used to be worse, much worse, back in 450 B. C., according to W. H. Dobberstein of the American Oriental society.

Things were so bad in Assyro-Babylonia then, he told fellow orientalists today, that a citizen could not buy a bushel of dates without paying half a shekel, which was twice too much. If he wanted to borrow a little money for time payments on his chariot, he had to pay 40 per cent interest a year. Dobberstein learned all about the ancient depression by reading clay tablets found in the region. Internal difficulties of the Persian government were responsible, he said.

GEOGRAPHER DIES

NEW TAX BILL BRINGS BILLION

Final Passage Scheduled In House Today

Changes in the administrative section of the bill were estimated to produce another $100,000,000.

Upon motion of LaGuardia, Republican of New York, the house adopted an amendment to the stock transfer tax to make certain that persons in the United States, who give orders for purchases of sales of securities on foreign exchanges, shall pay the same tax.

The house stipulated that the stock transfer tax shall expire July 1, 1934.

Exchange Defended

Representatives from cities battled with those from the rural districts on this tax, with the Tammany delegation from New York City leading the battle against the levy.

Representative Loring Black, Democrat of New York, said:

"This tax will affect every employe of every stock office in the country. It will hit the 'white collared' workers, who make up a large part of the laboring classes.

"The New York stock exchange is the 'heart' of the business world. There will be less trading in the stock market as a result of this tax, because it is excessive. I call it a futile, short-sighted attack on the New York stock exchange."

Representative O'Connor, Democrat of New York, joined Representative Goss, Republican of Connecticut, in declaring that the stock market tax was an outgrowth of the wave of dissatisfaction over short selling. Goss contended short selling is necessary.

Representative Bacon, Republican of New York, predicted a 50 per cent decrease in stock exchange business as a result of the tax. In the long run the government will obtain less revenue than if the levy were more moderate, he said.

LaGuardia countered:

"This tax does not affect the issues of new stock. It only reaches sales on the stock exchanges.

Garner's Machine "Clicks"

"The opposition comes with poor grace at a time when the government is trying to balance the budget."

He called stock market traders "parasites."

It was after Representative Stokes, Republican of Philadelphia, and others who said the tax would drive business to Canadian and other foreign exchanges that LaGuardia offered his amendment to reach such traders.

Then the house laid a tax of 5 cents on every $100 worth of cotton, grain and other commodities sold on produce exchanges, estimated to yield $6,000,000 in revenue.

Farm belt representatives protested, but the bipartisan "steamroller" was working effectively and they were bowled over.

A tax of 50 cents on all conveyances of tangible property, such as real estate, where more than $500 is involved was next voted into the bill. This impost was figured to produce $10,000,000.

On all bond transfers a tax of one-eighth of one per cent, estimated to produce $13,000,000, was put on.

Discouraged by the effectiveness of the smoothly-working Democratic-Republican leadership since Speaker Garner delivered his patriotic appeal for a budget-balancing program, representatives from automobile-producing states decided to drop their fight in the house, with a view to laying siege when the bill comes up in the senate.

Anti-Hoarding Brings Up Half-Dime Dated 1805

CUERO, Texas, March 31. (AP)—An 1805 Liberty half-dime has been unearthed in the DeWitt county anti-hoarding campaign. The 127-year-old coin was spent in a Cuero store by a man whose name was withheld. It had been a family keepsake for more than 35 years. A flood of "blanket" size currency also has been put in circulation here recently.

BABY RESCUED FROM SHAFT

Okla., and Dr. Frank Merriwether, head of the bureau of mines clinic, were at the shaft opening from dusk until the rescue was completed. Dr. General Pinnell of Miami, also was present. The three gave first aid at the bottom of the shaft before the lad was brought to the surface and then were rushed with him to the clinic.

The mine where the accident occurred is about two miles from Picher, less than a fourth of a mile from the Oklahoma-Kansas line.

To aid the rescuers the Southwestern Bell Telephone company ran an emergency line more than a mile along the ground to the shaftedge, and lights were strung from the mine proper to the drill hole to aid in the night work.

Lights Keep Air Warm

During the day fresh air was pumped down to the child. Rescuers feared gas might have collected in the hole. As night drew near and the air grew more chill the fresh air was passed over a series of electric lights that kept it at 77 degree temperature.

Several times during the day the boy grew silent and the watchers were afraid he was dead or that he was unconscious from injuries. When fear grew strongest, however, a cry always arose from the drill hole and urged the rescuers to stauncher efforts. "Let me out! Let me out!" he would cry at intervals.

The entire mining community came to the scene during the afternoon and night, and hundreds volunteered to help. Only about a dozen were needed, though, because of the close quarters.

An area more than a half mile square was filled by the automobiles of the watchers.

Often in their eagerness the spectators pressed too close to the working area, and self-appointed marshals had difficulty pressing them back to give the rescuers working space.

Guard Against Caving

Shan Fisher, assistant Oklahoma mine inspector in charge of the Miami-Picher area, took personal command of the rescue squad. He was assisted by officials of the Commerce Mining company, which operates the Mary All lead and zinc operates the Mary Ann lead and zinc mine where the accident occurred.

Fisher said it was fortunate the child had caught in the hole where it did. It was impossible to say whether the drill hole, which ordinarily tapers from a maximum diameter of about 12 inches at the surface, had caved or widened through irregular drilling, he said.

There was some danger of the hole caving, also, and workers stood ready with an iron casing which they planned to run down nearly to the boy's body in case there was any sign of crumbling soil at the surface.

GREAT CROWD WATCHES DRAMATIC RESCUE

PITCHER, Okla., March 31. (UP) More than 10,000 persons from the tri-state mining area crowded about the Marry Ann mine near here early tonight to watch the rescue of 3-year-old Gerald Collins from a lead and zinc mine drill hole.

The tot tumbled into the 10-inch hole, about 250 feet deep, at 9:30 a. m., while at play. Picked mine crews, a steam shovel and a pulmotor responded to the call of his frantic parents.

His cries were heard plainly by the rescuers.

"Mama, I'm stuck. Where are you? Come and get me," came the faint call from the hole, cored out by the Commerce Mining and Royalty company months ago to test the quality of the lead and zinc ore before sinking a shaft.

At 5:30 p. m. the steam shovel shaft had reached the level at which the child was held fast. Workmen prepared to bring the child out.

The workmen encountered hard shale, however, and progress was slow. At 6:30 p. m. workmen reported it would be at least an hour before the child could be rescued. It still continued to cry at intervals.

Child Disappears

A compressed air drill was lowered into the excavation and the hard shale was chipped off. Then the steam shovel hoisted the debris to the surface. At least a foot of this materal had to be removed.

Many of the watchers bought lunches and rushed back to the mine to be on hand when the child is brought to the surface.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Collins, refused to leave the lease even for lunch. Collins is a mine worker, and it is not uncommon for his companions to be buried in rock walls. The thought of the child wedged in the test hole however, horrified the parents and captured the imagination of the community.

Gerald was romping about this morning while his nephew was digging postholes. Neither was aware of the abandoned hole. Suddenly, the child disappeared from sight.

Investigation revealed he had dropped down the drill hole. Aid was summoned. Expert rescue crews of the tri-state area responded, some coming as far away as Joplin, Mo.

Hooks Abandoned

At first it was proposed to rescue the child by aid of grappling hooks. This method was abandoned when it was learned the child's head was wedged between rocks. To pull the body forcefully upward for 16 feet probably would break its limbs.

Operation of adjacent diggings was suspended as workmen volunteered their services.

A steam shovel was brought up and began excavating a tunnel beside the drill hole. This would permit a miner to descend along the shaft and tunnel under the child.

An ambulance, a pulmotor and several physicians responded. They waited inside the fenced lease. An air pump was installed and kept a continual flow of fresh air in the hole. Such holes as well as mine shafts in this area are permeated with poisonous mine gas.

Refuses Food

Jagged rock, projecting from the sides of the narrow drill hole, continued to bite into the boy's tender flesh as he cried for rescuers to release him.

Food and water were lowered to the boy shortly before noon, but members of the rescue crew said he did not partake of either.

Jagged rocks within the hole defeated efforts to draw the child to the surface with a rope.

Once the workmen succeeded in snaring the child with a rope lasso and the crowds of onlookers, the parents and workmen stood with baited breath as the rope was drawn upward.

The tautness of the rope relaxed. The child had fallen. A piercing scream emanated from the shaft. Peering into the shaft with the aid of flashlights, the rescuers concluded the child had dislocated a shoulder.

The feeble, incoherent cries of the infant, added to the pathos of the situation, but it was in his audible proof of life in the underground prison that the crowd, now grown to thousands, placed its hope of returning the infant alive to the bosom of its grief-stricken mother.

The steam shovel set in place, gnawed into the earth.

Workmen with shovel augmented the effort of the huge machine as other members of the rescue party called words of encouragement to the baby whose only understanding was that he was hurt and wanted his mother.

Spectators compared the accident with that of the famous Floyd Collins entombment in Kentucky several years ago. Both had the same surnames.

PHYSICIANS GUARD AGAINST PNEUMONIA

MIAMI, Okla., March 31. (AP)—Bundled snugly in a room at the Baptist hospital here, 3-year-old Gerald Collins, who was rescued from a drill hole at the Mary Ann lead and zinc mine near Picher tonight drank a little water and ate a little food and tried to smile at his mother and father seated nearby. It was the first nourishment he had had since he tumbled into the hole at 9:30 a. m. while at play.

Dr. F. L. Wormington, Miami, one of the physicians who waited at the mine for the lad to be rescued and who administered first aid, said he would not be able to tell before morning the extent of the child's injuries.

Dr. General Pinnell, who with Dr. Frank Merriwether aided Dr. Wormington with the boy, said there was a possibility of pneumonia setting in as a result of the long exposure.

Bowie Men Found Guilty by Court

honoring of checks drawn by Abe Anderson, which allegedly amounted to overdrafts because the drawer's account was insufficient to cover the checks drawn. The government contended that deposits of drafts which later proved worthless were made at the time of such transactions, with knowledge of the two defendants, to give the Anderson account the appearance of being sufficient to cover the checks drawn.

Amounts claimed by the government to have been allowed the defendant Anderson on such transactions were as follows: Sept. 21, 1929, $3,576.29; Sept. 24, 1929, $4,644.94; Feb. 21, 1930, $4,222.62; and July 25, 1930, $8,840.68. On Feb. 6, 1930, the government contended, the two defendants caused a false credit entry of $5,000 to be made on the ledger sheet reflecting the Abe Anderson account.

Hutchison also was found guilty on charges based on transactions dated Sept. 24, 1929, and Aug. 26, 1930. The September offense, the government showed, consisted of showing upon the Abe Anderson account a deposit credit of $5,000 when no such deposit was made. The August transaction, it was charged, consisted of taking $113.17 from the City National bank of Bowie to pay interest for Anderson on a note held by a Fort Worth bank. The indictment charged that Anderson's account was on that date insufficient to cover such a debit item.

Two-Day Trial

The single count upon which Turner and Hutchison were found guilty charged that a false report was made to banking authorities with reference to outstanding loans of the Bowie bank. The formal report was said to have asked whether the bank had out loans to any person, firm or corporation in excess of 10 per cent of the bank's total capital stock and guaranteed surplus. The answer given was "no," according to the indictment, which charges that Anderson's debit balance of more than $38,000 at that time was far in excess of the 10 per cent limitation imposed by banking laws.

All three men were acquitted on the first six counts. Pleadings of the government on certain counts were insufficient, the court pointed out, to obtain conviction on the facts revealed. Judge Atwell said also that he gave Anderson the benefit of all "reasonable doubt as to false entries," and Hutchison and Turner the benefit of "all items which actually were credited to Anderson's account, since if an item was credited, it could not in truth be a false entry."

The trial opened Wednesday morning, having been continued from the November term of court.

SMITH SPEECH FAVORS BEER

Al Advances Tax Program To Balance Budget

NEW YORK, March 31. (AP)—Former Gov. Alfred E. Smith tonight called for four per cent beer and prosperity bonds to relieve the country's economic ills. He said he spoke as a "citizen once honored with the nomination for the presidency of the United States."

Smith spoke freely on national affairs. He advanced a tax program calculated to balance the federal budget and chided the federal government for what he termed an indifference toward the whole question of unemployment.

Smith, speaking over the radio, said his program would serve the dual purpose of relieving unemployment and balancing the budget at the same time.

He suggested an issue of prosperity bonds, "just as we issued Liberty bonds during the world war," to foster an expanded public works construction program.

Bonding the cost of the $520,000,000 public works program for 1933, he said, would eliminate one-third of the deficit.

Another third of the deficiency could be made up, he said, by a tax upon beer.

RADIUM KILLS STEEL LEADER

Water Used as Tonic Has Fatal Result

NEW YORK, March 31. (US)—Bottled "radium water," taken as a tonic, was held responsible for the death here today of Eben M. Byers, Pittsburgh steel manufacturer, former national amateur golf champion and turfman.

Mr. Byers, who died of radium poisoning at the Doctors hospital, was brought there a month ago, and his case attracted wide medical attention, since it was the first on record here of radium poisoning acquired through drinking radium water.

The wealthy manufacturer had been drinking the prepared water for about two years, because he was under the impression that it toned up his system and kept him in good physical condition. He was suffering from no particular ailment at the time he started taking the so-called health water, but took it merely as a tonic.

When the cause of Mr. Byers' illness became known, a sample of the radium water was examined, and it was found that that it contained a small quantity of radium salt, formed from the radium gas with which the water is charged.

Water of the type which Mr. Byers took cost $5 for a two-ounce bottle. He was accustomed to drink two or three bottles a day.

Mr. Byers, who was 51, had been for many years chairman of the board of E. M. Byers company, a Pittsburgh steel plant founded by his father.

Great Crowd Predicted For 50th Anniversary

Walter D. Cline, chairman of the chamber of commerce "golden jubilee" committee, predicted before members of the Rotary club Thursday noon that this city will entertain between 50,000 and 100,000 visitors Sept. 26-28 when Wichita Falls celebrates its 50th birthday anniversary.

Plans for the jubilee celebration were discussed by Mr. Cline, who asked the assistance of all Rotary club members in promoting a successful community party.

Music by the high school male quartet, composed of Quinn Holder, Leonard Baggett, William Huff and Ed Silk, entertained the gathering. Accompaniments were played by Miss Helen Smith.

Work of the Camp Fire Girls was discussed briefly by Miss Eldora Demots, assistant field secretary for that organization.

Former Quanah Woman Dies at Lubbock Home

Special to The Record News.

QUANAH, Texas, March 31.—Mrs. George Simmons, resident of this city for 15 years, died at her home in Lubbock at 10 o'clock Thursday morning following an attack of meningitis. She had visited friends here Tuesday. Funeral services will be held in Lubbock at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Simmons resided here while her husband was manager and superintendent for the Quanah Cotton Oil company. The family moved to Lubbock two years ago when Mr. Simmons was transferred to a position with the company's holdings there. Two sons, in addition to the husband, survive.

Patman Asks Information On Federal Reserve Aid

WASHINGTON, March 31. (AP)—A resolution to direct the secretary of the treasury to advise the house what steps "the federal reserve board has taken to assist member banks of the federal reserve system" was introduced today by Representative Patman, Democrat, Texas.

Baby Girl Rides Tornado

Lloyd Butler, 33, farmer living near Birmingham, Ala., was fighting to keep the door closed when the tornado that devastated a wide stretch through four southern states, swooped out of the south. His wife, holding Jewel, 22-month-old baby, with their other two small daughters clinging to her skirts, was behind. Then the house collapsed. That's the last thing Butler remembers. Puzzled farmers found Jewel nearly 10 miles away. They named her the "orphan of the storm." But a relative recognized the baby and got word to the parents who were in the hospital. The two other daughters were killed. How Jewel rode the storm remains a mystery. Picture shows Jewel, battered but cheerful, with the Butlers. They were unable to attend funeral services for the two girls.

Mexican Train Bandit Held by Authorities

MEXICO CITY, March 31. (AP)—J. Concepcion Rojas, who confessed he was one of the men who two weeks ago unsuccessfully attacked the Laredo, Texas, passenger train, has been captured today at Comonfort, Guanajuato, by the mayor of Comonfort and a state deputy.

The officers said he confessed he headed the detail that unspiked the rails. He gave the names of other members of the band.

SATURDAY NIGHT NO LONGER FEARED; CALOTABS A JOY

Week - End Liver - Cleansing And System Purifying Without the Slightest Unpleasantness or Danger—New Calomel Tablet Called "Calotabs."

Everybody is looking better, feeling better and doing better since Calotabs, the de-nauseated calomel tablet has come into general use. For biliousness, constipation and indigestion the new calomel tablet is a wonder—not the slightest unpleasantness yet all of the liver-cleansing virtues of the old-style calomel.

Calotabs is the easiest and most pleasant of all medicines to take. One tablet at bedtime, with a glass of water—that's all. No taste, no nausea or unpleasantness. You wake up in the morning feeling fine and with a hearty appetite. Eat what you please—no danger.

Coolidge Gives Check For $2,500 After Speech

ST. LOUIS, March 31. (AP)—An apology and a check for $2,500 received from former President Calvin Coolidge today stopped a $100,000 damage suit against the former president by Lewis B. Tebbetts, St. Louis insurance man, who claimed his business reputation was injured by one of Coolidge's radio utterances.

In a radio speech last October, former President Coolidge said:

"Beware of the so-called 'twister' and 'abstractor' or any agent who offers to save money for you by replacing your policy in another company."

Tebbetts said his reputation as "the leading advocate in the United States of the so-called term life insurance policies" was injured by the address.

J. Porter Henry, attorney for Tebbetts said Everett Sanders, the former president's attorney, conferred with Tebbetts last month and it was agreed to drop the suit if Mr. Coolidge would apologize and reimburse Tebbetts for his legal expenses. Today a check for $2,500 was received with the letter from the former president.

The New York Life Insurance company of which Coolidge was a director was jointly named in the summons. Tebbetts' attorneys said the summons against Coolidge would be withdrawn April 7, but a damage suit will be filed against the company then.

DeKoven, Ky., once the headquarters of the Ohio Valley railroad, is now without a railroad station.

'Lunnon' Wakes Star Of Court at 6 A. M.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 31. (US)—It was 6 o'clock in the morning when the telephone bell jangled today in the home of Mrs. Helen Wills Moody. Sleepily the tennis queen picked up the receiver and stifled a yawn.

"Hello there and good afternoon. This is Bruce Harris of the London Evening Standard," said a voice. "Are you coming over to Wimbledon this year for the tournament?"

"Hello, yourself," replied Mrs. Moody. "But do you know its early in the morning and I'm not out of bed yet? And besides, I haven't decided yet about Wimbledon."

"Tsk, tsk, tsk, my mistake," continued the voice, rather apologetic. "But I say, if you do come to Wimbledom will you wear shorts on the courts?"

Mrs. Moody blinked a bit at that one before she answered haughtily. "I don't think shorts are at all graceful. I prefer a short wide cut skirt."

"Righto, and well, cheerio." And the voice clicked off. But it will be a long time before Mrs. Moody forgets that when its 6 in the morning in San Francisco its 2 in the afternoon in deah ol' Lunnon.

We have just received a fresh shipment of Modart Foundation garments. Many new models—be fitted by an expert Saturday. P. B. M. Co.—Adv.

OUTRAGES DUE FOR PROBE

BUCHAREST, March 31. (US)—A Russo-Rumanian commission was appointed today to probe the recent Dneister river frontier outrages, in which Ukranian peasants fleeing to Rumania were massacred by Russian border guards.

COLOMBIA RIOT

BOGOTA, Colombia, March 31. (AP)—Unconfirmed reports from the province of Garcia Rovira today said 15 persons had been killed in a riot at the village of Cuaca, and this evening's newspapers said martial law might be established there.

SCIENCE TO AID U. S. RECOVERY

Speaker Says Conservative Companies Doomed

NEW ORLEANS, March 31. (UP)—The nation's research laboratories are filled with new and secret inventions that are going to pull America from the depression, Dr. E. R. Wiedelein, director of the Mellon Institute of Pittsburgh, declared here tonight.

In a discussion at the closing session of the 83rd meeting of the American Chemical society, Dr. Wiedelein explained his theories in simple terms.

The organization that is not making use of the depression to rid itself of poor plants, processes, machines, products and personnel, is doomed, he said.

The depression was caused "by attempting to operate a 20th century economic machine on the basis of an 18th century economic philosophy."

Remedy Advanced

It will be cured, "as soon as science has advanced the scale of our daily lives up to the level of our economics."

One company, by producing skinless weiners, has increased its business 40 per cent since the first of the year, he pointed out.

Another, with bonded, "ringless" metal, which is fused to felted materials, has found vast products.

A new industry is being established, making syrup and oil from corn.

"These times call for original thinking; for daring and adventurous thinking," he said. "There are 30,000 scientists in the United States who are doing just that. These scientists will provide the physical basis for a standard of living immeasurably superior to our present one."

Cafe Man Found Dead After Charges Filed

COFFEYVILLE, Kan., March 31. (AP)—Nicholas Theocleitos, 50, restaurant owner recently charged with receiving stolen property, was found shot to death in his place of business at 4 a. m. today.

Theocleitos and his partner, Steleos G. Vakas, were recently arrested on a charge of receiving stolen property. Their sleeping rooms were searched by officers who found $26,000 in money and securities. No suspicion, however, was attached to them because of the money found, which was merely "hoarded," officers said.

The restaurant men were said by officers to have named seven men from whom they had purchased goods which, officers said, had been stolen.

Cornell U. President Favors Dry Law Repeal

ITHACA, N. Y., March 31. (AP)—Dr. Livingston Farrand, president of Cornell University, today placed himself on record as an advocate of the repeal of the 18th amendment.

"In my judgment," said Dr. Ferrand, "there has been no social experiment in our late American history which has proven so disastrous a failure as has the 18th amendment."

He made his pronouncement in introducing former Senator James W. Wadsworth Jr., as the speaker at a luncheon gathering sponsored by the local branch of the women's organization for national prohibition reform.

Water Survey Completed In East Texas Fields

WASHINGTON, March 31. (INS)—An investigation to determine groundwater conditions in the East Texas oil field, with special reference to the effect of oil-well drilling and operation on the mineral character and sanitary conditions of the ground water, has been completed by the U. S. geological survey in cooperation with the Texas state health department, the interior department announced today.

The investigation was undertaken for the purpose of obtaining data to supplement a sanitary survey of the water supply in the oil field by the state health department and the medical officers of the Texas national guard.

La Grange Clergyman Elected Lutheran Head

DALLAS, March 31. (AP)—Rev. A. E. Moebus of La Grange was elected chairman of the tri-annual state conference of Texas Lutherans of the Missouri synod at the opening session today. Rev. A. E. Heckmann of Riesel was appointed vice chairman.

About 175 Lutheran pastors, instructors and laymen were in attendance. The conference will be in session four days.

Capone Syndicate Holds Beer Price To $55 Barrel Despite Depression

CHICAGO, March 31. (US)—The Capone syndicate is keeping its beer price inflexible at $55 a barrel in the Chicago downtown section in spite of the sharp decline in practically all other "necessities," according to underworld information today.

In some of the outlying sectors where competition with the independents is hot, it is said that the Capone high-pressure salesmen will shave the price a little if the saloonkeeper has a fair degree of sales resistance.

Explanation of the refusal of the Capone outfit to cut prices downtown is threefold. Here Capone has a virtual monopoly. Also, in spite of declining costs elsewhere, Capone has been put to huge expense.

Part of this is attributable to personal outlay in his long fight against conviction for income tax frauds and then his appeals to the higher courts.

On top of this, special agents of the prohibition department have been making life miserable for the Capone brewers, raiding one establishment after another, hardly allowing them to get well started.

'Padre of Volcanoes' To Visit Alaska Crater

SEWARD, Alaska, March 31. (US)—Father Bernard J. Hubbard, famous "glacier priest of Santa Clara university," and his expedition which has been exploring Mount Katmai, will board the steamer Starr at Katmai beach on April 11 for Hook bay, Chignik area, gateway to Aniachak. And from Aniachak, Father Hubbard will proceed to Mount Shishaldin, eruption of which has recently been continuing on a grand scale, according to word received here today.

This is the noted explorer's sixth expedition. Last summer he flew across Aniachak crater and made aviation history. This year, however, the "padre of the volcanoes" is using dogsleds for transportation.

Ford Plant at Houston To Put 1,400 to Work

HOUSTON, Texas, March 31. (AP)—F. S. Reinhardt, manager of the Ford Motor company plant here, announced today that "within the next few days" approximately 1,400 workmen would be re-employed at the plant.

"It will help more than 1,000 families," Mayor Walter E. Monteith observed, when informed of Reinhardt's statement, "and will certainly knock a big hole in our unemployment situation."

Reinhardt said more than 200 workmen already had returned.

Donna Murder Plot Case Scheduled for Inquiry

RIO GRANDE CITY, Texas, March 31. (AP)—A grand jury probably will consider the so-called Donna murder plot case the week beginning April 11. A number of men have been charged with conspiracy to murder several political leaders of Donna.

Baylor U. Trustees Announce Elections

WACO, Texas, March 31. (AP)—Dr. W. S. Allen, acting president of Baylor university for the past year, was today elected by the board of trustees to a new post of vice president of the university in Waco and dean of the college of arts and sciences.

He had been dean since 1924, until his election to the acting presidency following the serious illness and death of Dr. S. P. Brooks last spring. His election today was on the request of former Gov. Pat M. Neff, president-elect, who presided at the board meeting.

Mr. Neff announced he would assume his new duties some time after June 1.

Barton Koch, all-American guard in 1931 who will take his degree in June, was elected line coach for next year, succeeding Floy Crow, who was made director of the physical education program for men and of intramural athletics.

Head Coach Morley Jennings, Ralph R. Wolf, basket ball and track coach, and Freshman Coach L. N. V. Douglas, were re-elected.

Mexican Prelate Joins Colony of Exiled Priests

LOS ANGELES, March 31. (AP)—Archbishop Francisco Orozco y Jimenez of Mexico is the latest addition to the Los Angeles colony of exiled Mexican Catholic priests.

The prelate, who was named in a rumored abduction plot in San Francisco this week, arrived here from Santa Barbara late Tuesday night. Friends said he placed little credence in the report of the plot.

Protected by a police guard in San Francisco, the archbishop came to Los Angeles without an official escort. He was accompanied by Father J. Ramirez, pastor of a Catholic church here.

Friends said the exiled prelate's plans were indefinite. He declined newspaper interviews, believing his comment might antagonize the Mexican government.

Hurley Backs Oklahoman For G. O. P. Chairman

WASHINGTON, March 31. (AP)—Secretary Hurley announced today his support of William C. Skelly, Tulsa, Okla., oil man for re-election as Oklahoma's Republican national committeeman.

The announcement followed receipt of private advices from Oklahoma, his home state, that an effort might be made in some counties to give the committee position to Hurley.

"Mr. Skelly is an old friend of mine," the secretary said, "and I would not oppose him in any event."

The secretary's information from Oklahoma was that the efforts to give him the position would be designed to "confuse" the question.

It costs 22 cents per pupil per day to operate the public schools of North Carolina.

DIVORCE JUDGE BLAMES BRIDGE

Game Causes Husband And Wife to Disagree

CHICAGO, March 31. (UP)—The bridge experts finessed into a blunder when they invited Judge Joseph Sabath, famous divorce court jurist, to make a speech at a contract tournament.

"Bah, bridge," sputtered the judge upon being located at a Democratic luncheon at the Sherman house today. "That's the game that caused nearly as many divorces as mother-in-laws."

Promoters of the tournament had suggested that he introduce a series of speakers at the forthcoming Culbertson bridge tourney. Judge Sabath, who has issued more than 50,000 divorces, didn't think the invitation exactly complimentary. He turned it down and took it as an opportunity to issue the following statement concerning bridge tables, husbands and wives:

"If a husband and wife must play bridge, although I can't see why they should even want to, they should never be partners.

"They shouldn't even play at the same table. If they do, there's bound to be fireworks.

"I have seen countless cases of jangled nerves and serious disagreements result from bridge table arguments. It is my advice to married people not to play the game at all if they want to stay married.

Special to The Record News

FREDERICK, Okla., March 31.—Ninety per cent of the money borrowed last year by 555 Tillman county farmers from the seed loan office of the department of agriculture has been repaid according to W. A. Couch, field representative. Couch comes here each Wednesday to renew old loans and make new ones. Interest last year was at the rate of 5 per cent, this year it is 5½ per cent.

Moon Stuff Is Bunk, Woman Gardener Told

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 31. (AP)—Moonlight was made for other things than gardening, J. R. Spencer, assistant county agent told an Oklahoma City woman today.

But Spencer wasn't getting amorous; he was talking agriculture.

"I want to plant my garden when the moon is right," the woman telephoned.

"That moon stuff is all the bunk," replied Spencer, politely. "Last year I planted half a field in the light and half in the dark of the moon.

"I got the same yield from both half fields. You can forget it and you won't go wrong. Moonlight was made for other things than gardening."

The woman hung up.

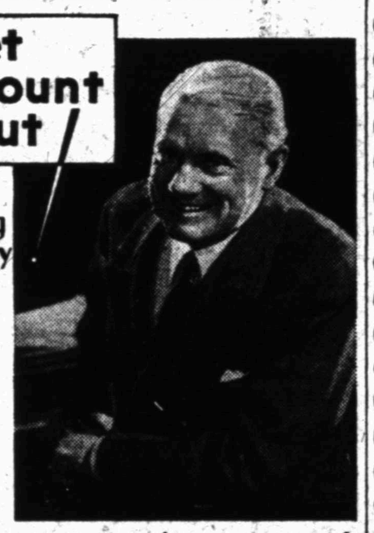
Don't let them count you out



A man is never whipped as long as he is physically fit—

If you don't feel your best when you awake in the morning... eager to eat... ready to go... you may be sure of one thing—the foundation of the "joy of living" is lacking. The reasonable answer is—

Build up your system—gain new strength

"A FEW MONTHS AGO overwork and worry caused me to neglect regular and proper eating... then unfortunately I caught a cold. It was not long that with the least exertion I felt exhausted—some days I was barely able to work—it began to look as if some disease was getting a foothold—I realized the importance of taking prompt precautionary measures.

"I couldn't afford hospital treatment or to go off to a health resort—my position was at stake... my family was dependent upon my earnings.

"I had sense enough to know that a 'lowered' blood count was the cause of my weakness and lack of resistance. Several of my friends had been benefited by taking S.S.S., and had suggested that I try it, too. Fortunately I did.

"Look at me now—I feel fine... my complexion was never better... I sleep like a child... and as for my appetite, I really enjoy my food and digest it with ease."

The reasonable way to health

Of course, it isn't fair to expect one to like work or to enjoy play when handicapped by a "lowered" blood count.

Without plenty of rich, red blood-cells there could be no strong, sturdy men and healthy, beautiful women. Unquestionably you appreciate the fact that red-blood-cells play a dominant role in maintaining health... and that dangerous consequences often follow the neglect of a lowered blood count.

It is very usual for a lowered red-blood-cell count to symptom itself in pallor of the skin, lessened vitality, boils, pimples, or other skin disorders, and in a general lack of bodily resistance to fatigue or disease.

In times like these you can't afford to be laid up... neither can you afford to be a "flop" at 4 o'clock.

S.S.S. gives New Strength

If you require a tonic you should by all means try S.S.S.—this long established medicine acts by stimulating the secretions of the stomach... reviving the appetite... aiding digestion... regenerating hemoglobin... restoring the red-blood-cells—and builds greater resistance against infection and disease.

S.S.S. helpfulness is illustrated by this fact—our records show that nearly one-half of those who have taken it, for the first time, do so upon the recommendation of some friend who has been benefited. Can there be any stronger recommendation for its merit and usefulness than this?

A distinctive thing about S.S.S. is that it is made from fresh roots, barks and herbs... it is readily absorbed by the system. Another thing is that its efficiency has been proved by scientific tests and by its use for more than 100 years. It is a safe Tonic to take.

S. S. S. is an economical way to health. Try it yourself. Get S.S.S. from any drug store. In two sizes: regular and double—the latter is more economical and is sufficient for a two weeks' treatment. It may be the means of bringing better health and happiness to you.

Garden Club Hears State President At Luncheon

That there is a spiritual significance in a garden and that the self expression o factive work is one of the most satisfactory elements in a woman's life was demonstrated by the delighted attention which greeted the address of Mrs. Henry B. Trigg, president of the State Garden clubs of Texas, at the Garden club luncheon Thursday at the Woman's Forum clubhouse. Mrs. Newton Maer, who introduced the speaker and who was charmingly presented by Mrs. J. C. Mytinger, the chairman of the local club, stated that since Christmas, Mrs. Trigg had traveled no less than 7,000 miles in her work of organization. Mrs. Maer's introduction was a beautiful tribute to a school mate who had been known all her life for her trustworthiness and application.

Stating that the Garden club work was comparatively new in Texas, Mrs. Trigg suggested taking her audience on a voyage that she had made and impressing them, as she was impressed, with the scenic beauty, the vast resources and the progress of development in Texas of the Garden club.

The first Garden club, Mrs. Trigg said, was organized in Dallas and it was organized for purely aesthetic purposes. Under the leadership of Mrs. G. R. Scruggs, she said, the Garden club federation was formed. Garden clubs in Dallas were stated to have iris shows that rival those of New York and Chicago and their annual flower shows are things of more than beauty.

She went next to East Texas, "the land of roses as well as of oil" and stated that roses were cultivated there for economical as well as artistic purposes. She told of going to a flower show in Chicago when a magnificent display of roses drew the comment from the authority escorting Mr. and Mrs. Trigg, "Smith county, Texas, is the best rose field in the world." They are grown under contract there to be sold to eastern markets.

Then she told of a rose lover in Fort Worth who sent his $5 for a special rose and received it wrapped in a Tyler, Texas, paper: whereupon, Fort Worth rebelled and launched a rose planting campaign.

The conservation of holly in East Texas was mentioned. Rare exotic, displayed in spacious rooms were described by the speaker who showed more enthusiasm for the displays of native flowers in vacant store rooms. "The desire to express beauty," she said, "Shows in so many exhibitors' faces."

In Fort Worth Mrs. Trigg said, the work is civic rather than aesthetic; she told of an alley cleanup campaign when 3,500 extra loads of trash were moved in one section and of the silver loving cup given the Garden club by the health department; the fire rates have been lowered as a result of the cleanup. Vegetable gardens are encouraged; vegetable seeds were given negro children and Jackbean seeds to Mexican children who made a beauty spot of little Mexico. Bird life, natural history and botany were taught children and prizes were offered for essays and posters. Through the junior garden clubs, she said, 100,000 members have been secured. The work done by the seven Garden clubs of Fort Worth was beautifully described.

Rock Garden Home

An amusing incident told by the speaker was of the home she and her husband bought on a rocky lot and how she decided to have a cacti garden and first removed all the rocks. "I will always remember a sermon I heard," she said, "And Rev. Fred T. Datson was speaker; his subject was "Ignorance Is the Unpardonable Sin." As a moral she said, "If you possess a rock garden, glorify it."

"In Weatherford," Mrs. Trigg went on, the women are studying wild flowers and the men vegetable gardens and their gardens were so beautiful that the chamber of commerce of Fort Worth had 500 charts made for men who wished to use them."

The work in Mineral Wells, where the citizens are transforming a mountain side into a cacti garden; in Breckenridge, where most excellent work has been done with poplar trees; in Abilene, where an expert has planned a lovely memorial lane to the aviation field, were all described. The speaker said she hesitated to leave San Angelo where the haciendas and Moroccan type homes were built on the high slopes of the Concho river, and where the garden club members plant only native flowers. She told of the cleanup of the banks of the river, which left one of the loveliest of cities.

Then, on to "west of the Pecos," where a carload lot of roses robbed people of their baths one year and died the next. But Mrs. Trigg said she went to Mexico City and found there the very thing for the desert country, the senecia, a shrub that remains green through torrid days and blossoms into pale pink to deepest purple in the autumn.

El Paso Gardens

El Paso, she stated, had through its garden clubs, rid the city of the tumble weed, which is very injurious to tubercular people; she said El Paso's dahlias rivaled those of Mexico; the city was beautiful with gladioli, which she stated was a desert flower, and with roses that rivaled East Texas.

The highway work that had been done near Brownsville was beautifully told; each owner of land, bordered his grounds with his favorite shrub, and aloes, hibiscus, hardy lantana and other blossoms make the drive a paradise.

In San Antonio, where she made a beautiful word trip next, she said the junior league girls had directed 240 workers who had been able to have opened to the public some of the loveliest gardens in the United States and requested any one visiting that city to see the miniature replica of the Alhambra grounds perfected by Dr. and Mrs. Atkinson.

The beautiful trees of South Texas were specially mentioned, also the mandina that makes Kerr county a beauty spot. The natural beauty of the state was the thesis on which the charming speaker formed her talk; the cactus forest of which few know save those who live in King county; the bluebonnet fields and the wild flower sanctuary established, all drew their meed of praise.

Perpetual Bloom

Mrs. Frank Timberlake talked on perpetual bloom in the garden and carried her audience from the earliest snowdrop in the spring to the red berried shrubs of the winter. The Yopah, she stated, is one red-berried shrub which the birds will not harm. Mrs. Timberlake, known as a generous and enthusiastic gardener, said that she tried always to keep fragrance as well a color in her garden for "a garden without perfume is like a human being without a soul."

Mrs. Timberlake told of flowers that must be watered early in the morning so they will not develop rust at night; white flowers, she said, were not often liked; they are not showy in a garden and not colorful on a table, but, she concluded, "when you come to think of it, they are the only flowers that may be seen at night; a bed of common white petunias is beautiful under the moonlight and starlight." Mrs. Timberlake concluded her talk with a lovely poem and immediately following her talk, when she received enthusiastic applause, Mrs. Trigg announced that she was requisitioned to tell the state council of so many things on which she had information.

Beautiful Table

Probably no table set for the Garden club has ever been so lovely. A central silver bowl on the speaker's table, was filled with assorted spring flowers from the gardens of Mrs. J. J. Perkins, who also furnished a lovely bowl of nasturtiums and a gorgeous vase of bougainvillea and queen's lace; a green bobnail bowl and another large vase were filled with exquisite long stemmed tulips from Mrs. Rhea Howard's garden; a silver bowl filled with spring flowers on one table was furnished by Mrs. C. J. Barnard also a blue bowl of sweet peas; and on the other a silver bowl was sent by Mrs. Stringer. The piano was gorgeous with antique silver vases of red bud from Mesdames J. B. Evans and Newton Maer's homes. Mrs. Ed Howard sent exquisite roses and Mrs. C. E. McCutchen a lovely bowl of tulips as well as two pots of hyacinths; Mrs. W. P. Ferguson, two exquisite pots of hydrangea that made the foyer lovely; Mrs. Charles Tucker a pot of hydrangea, and two bowls of double yellow tulips; Mrs. C. D. Shamburger, exquisite lilies; Mrs. Timberlake, orchid hydrangeas in an orchid bowl and Mrs. Newton Maer a silver bowl of mixed blossoms. The ivy that trailed the table came from the garden of Mrs. Charles Daniels who is in Japan. Through the courtesy of Mrs. Rhea Howard and Bebb's Floral company, little pots of red geraniums filled spaces on the tables and Bailey-Moline and Noble-Little furnished brass sprinkling pots and articles for use in spring and summer gardens to complete the motif. Mrs. Rhea Howard announced the donors of the flowers.

Hostesses who were members of the decoration committee and officers, were gowned in pretty smocks and wide garden hats. Mrs. Ivan Murchison was assisted in decoration by Mesdames Rhea Howard, Charles J. Tucker and C. J. Barnard; new officers included Mesdames Peyton Gwynn, chairman; J. C. Mytinger, vice chairman; Curtis Atkinson, recording secretary; Luther Wright, corresponding secretary; M. T. Chamberlin, treasurer; E. F. Bailey, publicity; Floyd Randel, Junior Garden club and E. B. Lehrack, magazine chairman.

Business Meeting

Mrs. J. C. Mytinger presided in the short business meeting opening the session when Mrs. McCutchen read the minutes and Mrs. Orville Bullington reported on work done on the Forum grounds. Mrs. J. W. Culbertson gave the beautiful invocation and thanks were expressed to Bebb Floral company for 300 hyacinth bulbs that are making the grounds beautiful now. At Mrs Mytinger's request, Mrs. Curtis Atkinson read "Darkness, Then Dawn," an exquisite poem which she was asked to give as the Garden club poem.

Covers were laid for members and guests including Mesdames Paul Donald, Glen Cunningham and L. H. Angove of Bowie; Mrs. J. M. Blankenship, Eagle Park, Calif.; Mrs. Steve Trigg, Amarillo; Mrs. Henry B. Trigg, Fort Worth; Mesdames P. H. Neville, St. Andrew Myers, W. H. Myers, Thelma Barker and B. P. Joint Zone Meeting Has Inspirational Program

Mrs. W. W. Cook, district secretary of the Wichita Falls Methodist Woman's Missionary societies, extended gracious greetings to more than 200 members who met Thursday in a combination zone meeting where 21 societies were represented. Mrs. George Thorburn led the morning song service with Mrs. J. E. O'Brien at the piano, and Mrs. E. B. Karstetter, leader of zone one, from Bellevue, introduced Mrs. C. R. Roberts of Henrietta, who gave the inspiring devotional. She stressed consecration and vision in life and urged a closer contact among people who desire higher things.

Mrs. A. C. Rippy of Electra, leader of zone three, introduced Mrs. C. W. Coffey of Electra, who gave the special musical number of the morning, accompanied by Mrs. Stella Mood.

Mrs. A. E. Basham of Electra offered the morning prayer after which the three zone leaders, Mesdames Rippy, Karstetter and Mrs. M. T. Clements of Wichita Falls were introduced and in turn introduced the presidents of the 21 societies represented.

Mrs. Cook requested extemporaneous talks from each auxiliary on the topic "What It Means to Be President of a Missionary Society."

Mrs. Austin F. Leach gave a marvelous address on her phase of work representing the North Texas conference as superintendent of children's work. The purpose of boys' and girls' clubs and world clubs were cited as training schools for the church of tomorrow and Mrs. Leach stated that through these organizations, children are learning about their mothers and sisters in the mission field. The World club, she said, last year sent an ant-proof piano to children in Africa, but she stressed the greatest project as "Training Children for Peace."

A splendid talk was given on the purpose of the "Missionary Voice," Dr. S. S. McKenney, pastor host, gave the spiritual address in the meditation hour, using the story of Mary and the alabaster box and stressing love and generosity as requisities of Christianity. The beautiful devotional was closed with prayer.

Mrs. Cook announced luncheon in the dining room of the new educational building, when members of the six Methodist societies in Wichita Falls were hostesses. Mrs. Finis Crutchfield dismissed the morning assembly with prayer.

Beautiful Tables

Green and white, the motif of the Easter season, was used for tathe decorations and Rev. Thomas of Byers, gave the invocation. Following the luncheon, the superintendent of children and zone leaders held separate meetings, after which the assembly reconvened with Mrs. Cook presiding.

Mrs. Stanley Raub, with Mrs. J. E. O'Brien at the piano, led the afternoon song service and Mrs. Raub sang a lovely solo number. A most impressive poem was read by Mrs. O. F. Coleman, who gave a short talk on "Be of Good Cheer," closing with prayer.

Mesdames Clements, Karstetter and Rippey gave itemized reports of work in the 21 groups. Mrs. R. L. Bounds, district superintendent of mission study, had been in each auxiliary and conference and council certificates had been given in most instances.

Mrs. S. E. Trevathan gave the closing prayer. There were 225 members present.

Those registering were as follows:

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

There's quite a prominent advertisement headed "What Every Girl Should Know," that goes warningly into 'halitosis."

◆ ◆ ◆

But it seems to us there are so many more important things a girl should know than that. Girls in their teens and those nearing the half century mark, for we were called a girl the other day.

◆ ◆ ◆

We've been reading some letters from a former Wichitan who has moved back to her old home in Pennsylvania. She has known ups and downs, but to our mind she is very much "up." But if every girl could grow into such a spirit, she would have learned the beauty of happiness that does not altogether depend on material things. And she would have found the definition of "friend."

◆ ◆ ◆

There's an adorable quality that should be cultivated of laughing at oneself. If girls could do that, they'd be so much happier. This charming woman starts a letter "First let me tell you that my typewriter spells badly and pays no attention to punctuation marks," which was no apology; only a mere statement. And do you not get tired of eternal apologies?

◆ ◆ ◆

A trip to see a grandson, "the handsomest child I ever saw," is a brief statement that came straight from a grandmother's heart, and that day was described in this way: "It was the most heavenly day one could remember, and the same old smells of spice wood and other trees made me homesick, but happy." "On our way home," she wrote, "we stopped up the mountain and bought old split bottom baskets and apple butter. How I love a cellar."

◆ ◆ ◆

How any one who has ever had a well stocked cellar loves one; you are never haunted by the fear of hunger.

◆ ◆ ◆

The manner in which she spoke of her mother-in-law was a thing we thought lovely. "She is now nearing 91," she wrote, "and is the best scout in the family." That's a lesson this old girl shall try to teach her "in-laws."

◆ ◆ ◆

Description of the work done on an apartment, the furniture kept and that discarded, the pretty coloring used, show both culture and artistry "Help," she wrote, "has not come down one cent; day women are $3.00; carpenters, $1.10 an hour and plumbers, $1.25. But it is grand to go to the spigot and draw a very cold drink of artesian water that never saw daylight before you drew it." We say nothing; comparisons are odious.

◆ ◆ ◆

"Louis," she writes of a member of the family or a friend, "spent part of the day with Panghorn, (this was after the arduous trip by aviators over Central Pennsylvania mountains) and says he is very quiet. My idea is that every one must needs be quiet when Louis blows in."

◆ ◆ ◆

"John" she says in another letter begs me to go back and correct my spelling, but not I. In fact I think I shall advance a theory that one should spell by sight instead of sound."

◆ ◆ ◆

She tells of lilac blossoms abloom; she writes "thank your lucky stars you live in a clean city. If one does not wash out the nostrils every morning, he is pot black, like two holes burned in a blanket; at least 25 times a day, it is imperative to scrub the hands."

◆ ◆ ◆

When she lived here, we have often heard her make remarks that tickled us to the soul; her humor will only depart with her breath. So one of the things this very mature girl has learned, is to follow up such an acquaintance until we have made her a friend. We thank Mrs. John Caldwell for just being what she is.

Lamar Baptist Women Have All Day School

The "School of Method" was held at Lamar Baptist church Thursday with Mrs. J. W. Tanner teaching the W. M. U. manual and other things that should be known by the missionary members.

The watchword, "Jesus Shall Reign" opened the meeting with prayer by Mrs. C. T. Walters. An interesting discussion on the manual was held until noon when Mrs. Beulah Rawls dismissed the meeting with prayer.

Luncheon was served to 30 members and afterward, Mrs. Tanner was again in charge of the study. Mrs. S. F. Martin gave an interesting discussion of young people's work and brought interesting recommendations from the state board meeting.

It was planned that each fifth Monday should be visiting day and Mrs. C. T. Walters gave the prayer dismissing 33 present.

COMFORT for COLICKY BABIES

with Castoria's gentle regulation

"The best way to cure colic," says a famous doctor, "is to prevent it." And the best way to prevent it is to avoid gas in stomach and bowels by keeping the entire intestinal tract open, free from waste.

But there's one thing to remember here. A tiny baby's tender organs cannot stand harsh treatment. They must be gently urged.

This is just the place Castoria comes to a mother's aid. Castoria, you know, is made specially for the delicate needs of babies and children. It is a pure vegetable preparation which is absolutely harmless. It contains no harsh drugs, no narcotics.

Children never fight Castoria. They like its taste and the relaxed comfort its gentle regulation brings.

For many years it has helped mothers through trying ordeals with colicky babies, with children suffering from digestive upsets, colds and other little ailments. Keep it on hand for your children. You can always tell genuine Castoria by the name Chas. H. Fletcher.

ATHLETE TO FACE CHARGES

Tunnel Under Abilene Bank Causes Arrest of Four

ABILENE, Texas, March 31. (UP)—Rupert (Butcher) Black, star athlete last year at the University of Southern California, will be arraigned here tomorrow with three other Abilene youths on charges of conspiracy to commit burglary of a bank and to violate the prohibition laws.

The complaints were filed today after discovery of a tunnel 48 feet long under a building adjoining the Citizens National bank and leading toward the bank vault. Black and the others charged deny they know anything about a plan to rob the bank.

The others are Edwin A. Rice, Malcolm W. Foster, half brother, and E. Oliver Black, cousin of Rupert Black. All are 23 years old except Foster, who is 27.

Denied Robbery Plan

Rupert Black and Rice were found in the building where the tunnel originated, when officers investigated yesterday. The others were arraigned with a truck they claimed was used to haul dirt from the building.

All were firm in a story that they knew nothing of any plan to rob the bank and simply were hired to dig the tunnel by an employer whom they said told them it was to be a liquor cache. Officers discounted the story, which connected a fifth man with the case, and questioned the quartet on the possibility of finding a liquor plan between them.

FIRE DAMAGES RESIDENCE

Flames of unknown origin resulted in damage estimated at $700 at a vacant residence, 508 Holliday, at 11 o'clock Thursday night.

A blaze threatening a gasoline pump at the M. H. Thomason super service station No. 2, 1400 Seventh, caused no damage at 5:45 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

Think Twice Before You Act Today

April Fools' Day Is Same World Over

Think twice, or maybe three times, before you pick up a lost purse, or run an errand for a friend Friday. For this is April 1.

When and if the sun rises Friday morning in the east, there will be no hoax about it. The wind will blow Friday, and there'll be no trick in that—it will be a genuine hang-over from Wichita Falls' traditional March wind. But all transactions of human manipulation must be looked at askance. It's open season on "April Fools."

If you search unsuccessfully for a "round square" for your carpenter in France, you turn out as "un poisson d'Avril,"—which is, being translated, an "April fish." The swain who returns from the bookstore in Scotland to report he could not find the desired "Autobiography of Eve's Grandmother" is just a plain gowk—in other words, a cuckoo. But in England and the United States, he who sinks his teeth into chocolate-covered soap is not described so figuratively—he simply becomes an "April Fool."

Because the practice of making suckers out of one's fellows on April 1 has spread to all countries, it has been concluded that the custom of is of very ancient origin. The most generally credited theory is that the practice has its origin with the Hindoos. That group includes in its religious fetes one known as "Huli," which ends on March 31. It concludes with a festival in which gullible folk are sent on urgent errands to fictitious individuals or to persons known not to be at home.

In America, the exercise of April Fool pranks has been limited more or less to juveniles. But adults are not immune. Particularly if life recently has seemed to offer less than a proper share of amusement. So, if a telephone message purportedly from your banker tells you Friday morning that your loan is now available, it might be well to see your friends first. This is April Fool's day.

SHRINERS TO ATTEND PARTY TONIGHT

Maskat temple Shriners and their ladies will observe "All Fool's Day" Friday evening with an entertainment program at the Maskat auditorium in the City National bank building. The program opens at 8:15 o'clock.

The play will be followed by dancing and bridge. The entertainment will be free to Shriners and their ladies, with 1932 cards and fezes and courtesy cards required.

150 Mechanics Attend 'Clinic'

More than 150 garage men and mechanics of Wichita Falls and cities in the local trade area were guests of the Russell Manufacturing company and the Wichita Falls Battery and Electric company Thursday night at a "brake clinic" at the Wichita club.

Kindel Paulk, president of the local company, was in charge of the "clinic." The entertainment period opening the program offered acrobatic dancing and stunts by the vaudeville team of Portia and company.

Advertising and merchandising tie ups in the Russell company program were presented in the first talk of the evening by C. H. Nugent, district manager. R. F. Jones, chief engineer of the company and in charge of "clinic" discussions, presented detailed and technical discussions of braking principles. He pointed out the specialized demands presented by new needs in brake servicing. The program included blackboard illustrations conducted by Mr. Jones.

Moving pictures, smokes and food followed the program.

About one-fourteenth of the entire body weight of a human is blood.

JUNIOR C-C. ARRANGES FROLIC

An entertainment program fully in keeping with "All Fool's Day" has been assured for Junior chamber of commerce members Friday at the organization luncheon at the Wichita club. Arrangements are in the hands of Bert Ripley, veteran ballyhoo artist, who has refused to release advance information on the program details.

An hour of comedy and merriment is scheduled with a full cast of "prominent" public characters in the starring roles. Music for the occasion will be furnished by O'Stafford's Chocolate Soldiers.

Soft Footing Delays Training for Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 31. (UP)—Only two Kentucky derby eligibles ventured out on the track at Churchill Downs today. The underfooting was still soft and trainers feared to risk their charges over the slippery course.

ticipated new completions. The new per well allowable cares for 4,632 wells.

According to the Associated Press allowables for other Texas fields, effective Friday, also were announced as follows: Yates, 65,000 barrels daily; Winkler, 35,000; Darst Creek, 18,000; Salt Flat, 10,000; Ector, 6,300; Howard-Glasscock, 25,000; Crane-Upton, 16,700; West Central Texas, 30,000.

Other Hearings

In each instance the current allowable was continued in effect, except in the Winkler pool, where it was cut from 40,000 barrels.

Hearings of operators for the Big Lake field and the gulf coast field were set for April 13 and April 15 at San Angelo and Houston, respectively. A hearing of operators in the Van field has been set for April 5. The Panhandle field is producing a maximum of 55,000 barrels daily under "continuing" orders issued some time ago.

MID-CONTINENT WAITS EFFECT OF DOLLOR OIL

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 31. (AP)—On the eve of the posting of a $1 price for crude oil in the mid-continent area for the first time in a year, leaders of the industry and laymen alike were guessing at the effectiveness of Continental Oil company's action in inaugurating the 15-cent increase.

Strong Market

Bolstered by speculation on the general increase, the gasoline and refined oil markets held their strength during the day but there was a scarcity of buyers in the market. Retail prices of gasoline were scheduled for a one-cent increase, which failed to materialize and seemed likely to await a general upturn in prices.

In Oklahoma the crude advance has been met only by the Sinclair and Barnsdall companies. In Kansas it was met by the Vickers Petroleum, Derby Oil and Golden Rule Refining companies. In Texas, only the Sinclair company met the increase. Other companies are not purchasers there.

Effective tomorrow, the Panhandle Refining company of Wichita Falls, Texas, was scheduled to return to the 85-cent top price after buying below the market for more than a month. Effective this morning, the Philtex Pipe Line (Phillips Petroleum) increased its prices in the Texas Panhandle 10 cents a barrel with a top of 73 cents for 40 and above gravity in Carson, Moore and Hutchinson counties; and 83 cents for 40 and above gravity in Gray county. Both schedules carry a two-cent differential downward.

Gasoline Prices

On the refinery side of the ledger, the lax buying was believed occasioned by the hesitancy to fill tanks because of the tax-payment period at the end of the month. However, during the last week, spot buying has been brisk and many jobbers have increased their stocks.

A price of four cents was being paid for the lowest grade octane, with but little of the product available at that figure. The range was upward to 4¾ cents a gallon in carload lots at the refinery, the strongest price since the military shutdown in Oklahoma last summer.

Kerosene prices took an upward turn for an eighth of a cent gain, with 41-43 gravity water white bringing an average of 3 cents.

Knob Knockers Fail To Open Clay County Safe

Knob knockers failed to gain an entrance to the postoffice safe at Buffalo Springs, Clay county, Wednesday night, according to reports received by Police Chief Dick Morris Thursday afternoon. The combination dial was knocked from the safe and the postmaster arrived with the strong box in Wichita Falls Thursday to have the door taken off and the combination repaired.

Loss of a Ford delivery truck was reported to police at 8 o'clock Thursday night by J. E. Nelson, Jewell Tea company salesman. The truck was taken from 2207 Jasper.

Lyons Pleads Guilty in Attempted Robbery of Iowa Park Postoffice

Two convictions were obtained by the government in federal district court before Judge William H. Atwell during a brief session held at 8 o'clock Thursday night. Sentence was deferred in both cases.

R. H. "Buddy" Lyons entered a plea of guilty to charges of having broken into the postoffice at Iowa Park on March 3, and of larceny of postoffice property on that occasion. When arraigned Thursday afternoon, he had entered a plea of not guilty and asked for a jury trial, supplying the federal district attorney with a list of defense witnesses to be summoned.

Ed Stanley, alias "Pipeline Blackie," was found guilty by the court on two of four counts in an indictment which charged the counterfeiting of silver half-dollar pieces and the passing of such counterfeit coins in three instances. The defendant conducted his own case, cross-examining two witnesses presented by the government. The offenses were said to have occurred at Bowie in June of last year. Melvin Williams testified to having sold the defendant a pint of whisky, receiving two of the counterfeit pieces.

J. N. Penney, government secret service operative, testified that a considerable number of counterfeit half-dollars were turned in from the Bowie community last June.

Prize Duroc Farrows 70 Pigs in 23 Months

LITTLEFIELD, Texas, March 31. (AP)—Comes now W. M. Cunningham, secretary of the Texas Certified Grain Sorghum Breeders association, who claims a high production registered Duroc-Jersey sow.

"I have a registered Duroc that farrowed 70 pigs in 23 months," Cunningham said. "I don't know of many records that will beat that."

Three of the litters were of 15 pigs each, one was a 13-pig litter and the other a 12-pig litter. Another litter is expected in the summer.

Darrold Kahn Named Junior C-C Director

Darrold Kahn was elected a director of the Junior chamber of commerce Thursday at a meeting of the board. He succeeds Paul Hines, whose resignation, occasioned by business duties, was accepted.

H. B. Dudley was named as chairman of the committee to make arrangements for a parade to inaugurate the Wichita Falls baseball season here April 15.

BRITAIN SHOWS CASH BALANCE

Nation Passes Financial Crisis With Victory

LONDON, March 31 (UP)—Great Britain achieved a notable triumph in modern governmental financing tonight when publication of the exchequer returns disclosed a balanced budget and a surplus of 364,000 pounds ($1,252,280) less than seven months after the nation was plunged into one of the most crucial periods of her history.

The balancing of the budget was a victory for all of Britain because the entire nation—down to the last unemployed miner—paid his share in the desperate drive to rehabilitate the government's finances.

It was a victory also for the coalition government, led by the Socialist Prime Minister J. Ramsay Mac Donald, at a time when other nations including the United States were struggling with their own financial problems.

The exchequer's figures showed a total revenue for the year of 770,963,000 pounds and total expenditures of 770,599,000 pounds, leaving a surplus of 364,000 pounds.

Coincident with publication of the budget figures, the treasury disclosed that it had repaid on Tuesday $30,000,000 of credit obtained in New York during the crisis last autumn.

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE SIMPSON

WASHINGTON, March 31.—Sheer drama stalked in the house when party leadership on both sides went down to crushing defeat in the sales tax battle.

JOHN N. GARNER

What may be the effect of that vote on party fortunes, of upon the political destiny of individuals who played the leading roles in that roaring, all but chaotic scene it would take a bold man to attempt to forecast.

Not since the clamorous sessions of more than 20 years ago that saw Speaker "Uncle Joe" Cannon stripped of autocratic powers by an alliance of Democrats and insurgent Republicans has the house known the like.

In that revolt against Republican leadership was written the foreword of the campaign of 1912 that swept the "grand old party" out of power.

Through Party Lines

Again in the sales tax fight in the house an alliance that ignored party lines smashed by an overwhelming vote the carefully laid plans of constituted leaders on both sides of the aisle.

Yet it is the hard-won, meager grip of the Democrats on house control that must bear the brunt of the defeat, the leadership represented by Speaker Garner, Majority Leader Rainey and Acting Chairman Crisp of the ways and means committee.

In risking the sales tax plan for balancing the federal budget, these leaders relied upon the action of the ways and means committee to carry it through.

Never had such non-partisan unanimity characterized a committee verdict on an issue as important as one involving the sources from which revenue to check an ever-mounting national deficit is to be drawn.

Of the 25 committee members, 15 Democrats and 10 Republicans, every one a house veteran of from six to 30 years' service, all but Doughton of North Carolina, fourth ranking Democrat, favored and fought for the sales tax.

"There are 24 stubborn men on that jury" was the way Rainey whimsically described the situation to the house.

Scolding the Stubborn

Yet the house itself roundly rebuked those "stubborn men," rejected their advice on every major item. And on everything but the sales tax the committee was unanimous, even Doughton joining his colleagues.

Since the house convened in December non-partisanship induced by the gravity of its economic crisis has characterized its every major action, if not its debates.

Non-partisanship marked its defeat of its constituted leadership on the sales tax, although the Democratic defection was far greater both actually and in its possible significance than the revolt on the Republican side.

What that may portend in the lively days of the presidential campaigning to come, or beyond that in its bearing on the two-party American system of government, is anybody's guess.

Boy Hikes From Detroit To Pay Employer $2.70

SAN ANTONIO, March 31. (AP)—A 15-year-old boy who left San Antonio last September with $2.70 belonging to a merchant who had stocked him with $5 worth of ice cream to peddle in a push cart, has returned to the city to make good his debt. He hitch-hiked all the way from Detroit, because his conscience bothered him so much that he had to return to make amends.

Ed Mabrito, Bexar county probation officer, said the boy was advised to go to the man whom he had cheated and tell him the truth. Now the man is going to give him another job.

Record News' Program for Wichita Falls

1. OIL—Place the Wichita Falls district on a parity with other centers in the marketing of both crude oil and refined products.
2. THE VALLEY—Systematic, vigorous development of the irrigated valley in keeping with its possibilities as Wichita Falls' greatest physical asset.
3. WATER—An ample, assured supply of soft water.
4. EDUCATION—Maintenance of a junior college in Wichita Falls to give opportunity for higher education to our youth—the highest standards in elementary schools.
5. THE LAKES—Full development of the recreational opportunties offered by the three lakes.
6. HIGHWAYS—Early consummation of a highway program covering all the main routes radiating from this city and all the local roads that serve its agricultural community.
7. DRAINAGE—Solution of the drainage problem in all three phases; first, in the irrigated valley; second, with regard to Holliday creek; third, in those portions of the city now inadequately drained.
8. GOVERNMENTAL ECONOMY—The adoption of such means as may be found most feasible to reduce the cost of local government by elimination of unnecessary offices and consolidation of others.

From its attitude at Geneva, you might gather that France is willing to meet any nation halfway on disarmament if the other nation isn't willing to go half way.

Grand Opera Losses

NEW YORK'S famous Metropolitan Opera company may have to suspend operations for next year. During the past season it averaged a loss of $3,000 on each performance, and it wound up just half a million dollars in the red.

This, of course, is due to the depression. And yet not all amusement enterprises have suffered that severely. Big league baseball last summer had only a small drop in income. Boxing still makes money, whenever a really good fight is presented. Hockey has been thriving, the wrestling trust shows a fat profit, and the girl-and-music presentations of such men as Ziegfeld, White and Carroll have done fairly well.

Grand opera, then, seems to be in a class apart as a money-loser; and beyond doubt we shall be hearing shortly that this is a distressing reflection of the nation's philistinism, a sad indication of its inability to appreciate good music.

Part of that, very likely, is true. Yet things aren't quite as bad as they seem.

The average American, when you get right down to it, is apathetic toward grand opera not so much because he is a hopeless lowbrow as because that particular art-form is, in this country, essentially an alien growth. It has been thrust on him from above. It is not related to anything in his background.

First of all, it is almost invariably delivered in a language that he cannot understand. You might note that in such opera-loving countries as Italy and Germany this is not the case. As dramatic entertainment, it rates a flat zero with the American—quite properly, when the emptiness of the "book" of the average opera is taken into consideration.

Secondly, opera is an utterly archaic mode of artistic expression, as far as the 20th century American is concerned. In a machine civilization it is as out of date as a coach-and-four. It is a product of an entirely different kind of society.

The Metropolitan doubtless will revive when good times come back. But it is to be doubted if grand opera ever really takes root in this country.

Strange Justice

THE strange way in which the machinery of justice occasionally works was never better exemplified than in the recent trial of Dan Nevins for murder in a New York court.

While the jury was deliberating, Nevins decided that the shadow of the electric chair was rather chilling. So he arranged to plead guilty to a charge of manslaughter and to accept a sentence of five to ten years in prison.

Meanwhile the jury, all unknowing, reached its verdict—and found him not guilty! The verdict, because of his new plea, was not accepted.

Among other things, one would like to know Nevins' reaction when he found this out. It would also be interesting to know how the jurors felt when they learned that the man they had acquitted had confessed his guilt.

The Irish Problem

HALF a dozen years ago it was popularly supposed that England had solved its "Irish problem" for good. The setting up of the Free State had been accomplished in good style, and it looked as if peace and harmony were to be the watchwords henceforward.

But today finds all of the old antagonism at the surface again. De Valera's government abolishes the oath of allegiance to King George; the British government retorts that the Free State lacks the legal authority to do so; and the old, old trouble is cropping out again, under overcast skies.

Yet it need not be particularly surprising. A great many years of oppression, bloodshed and bitter enmity went into the making of the "Irish problem." It was old a century ago. Is it to be wondered at if there is still friction?

An Evil of Mild Winter

AMERICA'S farmers are apt to have good cause, during the coming summer, to lament the fact that the past winter was unusually mild, according to a survey recently made by the department of agriculture's bureau of entomology.

The mild winter, it seems, left insect eggs and hibernating pupae in an unusually favorable position to develop. As a result, such agricultural pests as grasshoppers, coddling moths, sugarcane borers, cabbage worms and cutworm moths can be expected to be extremely abundant this year.

It's very nice to have a winter in which the weather is appreciably more pleasant than it is supposed to be. Evidently, though, we're bound to make up for it later on.

WALTER WINCHELL On Broadway

(Copyright, 1932, Daily Mirror, Inc.)

Portrait of a Man Talking to Himself

Very amusing story, at that . . . I mean the one that happened last week in New Jersey—where most of the baddies are really tough . . . Four of them were gathered in their hide-out, plotting things . . . When in ankled a coke-fiend—revolver in a shaky paw—and he pointed the gat at them . . . "Reach for the skies!" he commanded as his voice and hands trembled . . . And they almost touched the ceiling getting them up in the pronto manner . . . Then he ordered one of the foursome to "unravel" the jeans of his comrades as well as his own—and after depositing the coin—$400—on a table, the "charged" intruder swept up the loot and motored away . . . New Jersey is a difficult state to scram from—what with all those bridges . . . It's like being marooned on an island when your victims flash word to the gendarmes, for the first order is to keep the bridges lifted . . . And so the robber was cornered within an hour at a small town—and held until his victims came to inspect him . . . When they arrived—they told the officers that the arrested one was not the bandit, although he was—but they wanted the police to release him—so they would get back their coin—and thrash the life out of him . . . And so when they "failed" to identify him, he was let go—and his victims rode away with him . . . Then, after beating him in the ohmighad manner, they searched him for their money and found only $8 . . . "Where's our $400?" one of the burned-up outlaws yelped . . . "That's what I've been trying to tell you," he gasped. "Those cops robbed me!"

Roy L. McCardell is now lecturing . . . "Is Sex a Bore?" is the title of one of his talks . . . At his age, yes . . . Wonder why that noted attorney keeps writing me that he knows who killed Elwell? . . . When I finally met him and asked: "Well, tell me, who?" . . . He kept shaking his dome in the "you'd be surprised" manner, and only hinted "a friend of Elwell's" . . . All of which is nothing whittled down to a point . . . What can be interesting in seeing that secret door? . . . I mean, the one in Gramercy park at the old Tilden mansion—now the National Arts club . . . Where they tell you there is a hidden passageway through which old Gov. Sam Tilden used to make his getaway, when Tweed's assassins came to kill him . . . Wonder how many people know that their handwriting is a waste of time? And that all you do when their indistinct penmanship pains the orbs is sweep their missives onto the floor . . .

Of all stupid things: . . . In Syracuse, they would have me believe, a cop was tipped that a certain house there contained the Lindbergh heir . . . He telephoned the place . . . "This is police headquarters," he said. "We have a tip that you're holding the Lindbergh baby there. Is that true?" . . . The voice on the other end said: "No, it ain't". . . The cop, who has manners, replied: "Thanks very much," and hung up . . . The incident remained closed until a newspaper man decided that something ought to be done about it . . . He investigated thoroughly and learned that no policeman had even visited the spot . . . Reminds me of the time vaudeville was funnier because Duffy and Sweeney were in it . . . And after doing a bit of their act, they both would get weary and lie down under the piano . . . "How about doing the show?" Sweeney would indifferently say to Duffy . . . "Let's phone it in!" was the retort between yawns . . . I like Editor Golo's suggestion—a new word: "Hamitator," combining "ham" and "imitator."

Interesting note on how speakeasy cards and announcements are mailed . . . especially if in postcard form . . . They are mailed from New Jersey or outside of New York—because the local postoffice inspectors have orders to report from where they're mailed in town . . . Too bad about Frank Tannehill, who got weary of waiting for the better breaks and went to his heaven . . . The next day a fine radio offer came in the mail . . . Talk about places and things and people and happen into this—the tenth floor of a West 47th street bank building . . . It has an office eight feet square, but no windows . . . Yet, your booking agents labor in it—each with a desk—and all do a heavy trade in white flesh . . . The wine brick business has staled . . . One lad losing a fortune in it, trying to go "straight" . . . He is carrying a rod again, which is less dangerous, he says . . . And La Guinan says that she prefers appearing in the out-of-town theaters where the acoustics are so good she can hear the people in the rear rows talking about her.

Well, there is this comforting thought about the new income tax rate . . . Think of all the fun there must be in being out of work and not having to pay it! . . . Wish I could sing "Rockin' Chair" the way Mildred Bailey sings it . . . Paul Whiteman might have thinned down in a year from 269 to 189 but he looks too frail . . . Wonder what Ziegfeld meant to say in his long day letter . . . Gershwin's "Wintergreen for President!" is plenty contagious . . . Wish I could be in Hollywood for a while . . . To see if it is like Mary Pickford said . . . No wild parties and not much fun . . . That would be dandy—even fun becomes monotonous . . . Funny about that guy who cornered Hellinger in that W. 52 St. place . . . And sassed him . . . "Who, me?" queried Mark, dazed from this and that . . . Then shrugging his shoulders, Mark mumbled: "Don't even know him, he must be crazy . . . And as the drunk staggered away he said to a comrade: "I've been waiting for years to tell that Winchell that!" . . . Wonder what time it is in Syria? . . . Well, I'm glad I found out why people click glasses . . . It's an old German custom, significant of the fact that you're alive. You can see a drink, feel a drink, smell a drink and taste a drink, but you can't hear a drink . . . Therefore the click.

Hawaiian grass skirts can be bought cheaper in Milwaukee, where they are made . . . George Pease, the Columbia All-American ½-back is altar-bound . . . The Charles Oliver Kendalls are hoping for a Blessed He-vent . . . Has George Buchanan Fife been a secret groom since last July? . . .

The speakeasy industry, which destroyed the night club and restaurant hotel trades, now is suffering a violent ache . . . They sell apples in coin machines in Albany, five cents each . . . What! No street corners? . . . Master Edinson knows the cause of the delay in the opening of the new subway . . . A lot of men are being trained to give change and they're not slow enough yet!

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

THE TOWN THAT CHANGED HANDS 76 TIMES IN TWO YEARS—Winchester, Va., by reason of its location, was an important strategical point in the civil war and was hotly contested for by both combatant sides. Beginning with General Banks' successful race for the possession of the city against "Stonewall" Jackson, early in 1862, and ending in the final occupation of the city by the forces of General Sheridan on Sept. 19, 1864, the history of the city includes 76 military operations involving its occupational status between the two opposing armies of the conflict. On some days the town changed hands with bewildering rapidity. A good list of the successive operations involving possession of the town has been compiled by Miss Julia Chase, a resident of Winchester during the critical period, which served as the basis for my statement.

THE PRODIGAL SILVER COIN—Mr. Giamatteo received his silver quarter in Santa Domingo, Dominican Republic, and marked it for identification. The quarter was spent in Maracaibo, Venezuela, in 1925, and was recovered by its original holder six years later in the change received at the box office of a Freeport, L. I., theater. This remarkable coincidence illustrates again to what extent the whole world is a financially interrelated unit. With 1,800,000,000 people to circulate amongst, the mathematical probability of this coin returning to its original holder after six years was tremendously remote.

Tomorrow: Stunt rider.

The Story of an Unemployed Girl

By ETHELDA-BEDFORD Author of BROADWAY BRIDE

READ THIS FIRST

Lillian Abbott, 18-year-old sub-deb, raised in severe New England atmosphere decides she wants a career and answers an ad in a New York paper calling for girls to be trained for the movies. She secures a personal interview with Thomas Blane, head of the movie school company, at her home in Salem, Mass., and arranges to go with him to New York without notifying her parents and after drawing her savings, $2,000, from the bank. They arrive in New York and Blane takes her to an obscure hotel and enters her room with her.

Lillian removes her coat, hat and gloves, and Blane, seeing a diamond on her finger, takes it for safe keeping.

Then he attempts to give her a drink from his flask. Lillian refuses. From the window she can see the electric signs being turned on in the streets and is wondering where her career will take her when she turns and finds Blane close behind her, his arms outstretched.

He had turned on the radio and together they danced about the room. When they finish Lillian asks him to take her out that she may see Broadway at night, but he evades the question and attempts to make love to her. As he reaches for her she snaps on the light switch.

Blane asks Lillian to kiss him. She refuses, but he is insistent and it takes all her effort to keep him away. She chides him for awhile and then sits beside him when she sees he has become angry.

Lillian tells him that she is sorry and a few minutes later is sorry for having said it when he catches her in his arms and tries to kiss her. She escapes from his grasp this time by picking up his cigaret and pushing it against his hand. Blane becomes terribly angry, tells her to "get in touch with her folks" and leaves the room without even saying good-bye.

READ THIS FIRST

Lillian Abbott, daughter of a wealthy New England family, decides she is tired of the social whirl and wants a career. She decides on the movies and after an exchange of correspondence with the head of a movie employment agency, one Thomas Blane, runs away from home and accompanies him to New York from Salem, taking with her her savings. After registering in a New York hotel Blane leaves her taking with him her money and a diamond ring. She had repulsed his advances.

Now Go on With the Story

CHAPTER XIII

What does a girl do in New York without money? Lillian wondered, a little bewildered.

And although she realized she did not have as much as one dollar—Lillian did not sense the significance of the situation.

"I can charge anything I like," she reasoned. "I can sign checks for food and as long as I have luggage here there won't be any worry on the part of the hotel—"

She gave her little white hat another tilt, took up her gloves and decided to go through with her former plan to dine alone in the hotel dining room.

The merry tune of the radio still filled the room. And as worry was almost foreign to the naturally gay Lillian the problem of being without cash failed to take a hold on her then.

She was free. She was on her own. She could go down into the dining room, where an orchestra was playing, and she could order a dinner to her own liking. There would be no one there to remind her to eat salad or not to eat two desserts!

There was something positively joyous in locking her own door and pushing the key down into the cuff of her glove.

As she stepped into the elevator she was elated. She actually wished she might run into Blane in the hotel lobby . . . hoped she might see him sitting in one of the large upholstered chairs.

She smiled as she thought of what she would say. "Thanks awfully for having me come to New York. I never would have just come on alone. You really did me a favor, tricking me into coming."

He would look surprised. Rise and perhaps sputter.

Then she would smile and add: "You've probably tricked other girls, too. But I bet they weren't grateful—as I am."

But, of course, he wouldn't be there. He wouldn't be anywhere she might see him. He had stolen her money. He had her diamond ring, too.

Lillian had always been able to get as much money as she needed. She always had been able to charge anything in the way of clothes, theater tickets, flowers. Her father's name was as good as cash in any of the stores in Boston. Her mother had accounts everywhere and Lillian always had used them freely.

Money held little meaning. Even the knowledge that Blane had tricked her out of her ring did not make much of a dent on her consciousness.

She could hear the jazz orchestra in the dining room playing. She stepped from the elevator and followed in the direction of the gay tune.

She tripped down several red carpeted steps into the dining room, which was softly lighted, and which was centered with a small dance floor.

"No," answered Lillian. "I'm alone."

He bowed and smiled as if he had known that from the time she entered. "A small table by the orchestra perhaps?"

That suited Lillian exactly. And as he pulled out the chair for Lillian, who felt very happy and New Yorkish, the sleek-haired little man leading the orchestra looked over at her. His expression was one of pleasure, as if he were greeting Lillian. She might have been an old acquaintance.

She returned his glad look. Her heart beat a little faster. Her eyes sparkled. This was New York! Everybody is always happy in New York!

The orchestra turned its tune into one of Lillian's favorites: And one of the saxophone players put aside his brass instrument and lifted a megaphone.

He began to sing. His voice was croony. He faced Lillian, and his croony words reached across. It was funny, really, she thought how the words of his song seemed to fit the situation . . . almost:

". . . I got the ritz from the one I love—

. . . Oh, I got the big go-by . . ."

"Well," thought Lillian, "Blane certainly did give me the green light. The big go-by!"

But it seemed amusing, the whole thing. She scanned the menu which the waiter held before her.

She never once looked at the prices listed in small figures on the right side of the green and blue bordered card board. She never had allowed prices to influence her ordering. Certainly they had nothing to do with her appetite.

Through a fresh fruit cocktail, which she relished with bits of Melba toast and sweet butter, Lillian gave her entire attention to the orchestra. She applauded its tunes. And once she told the waiter to ask the boys to play "All the King's Horses" for her.

She was a little pleased, though, when the tune turned into something else. She realized that the other had reminded her somehow of Blane—and she did not want to be reminded of him.

When the golden brown squab was placed before her and the delicious aroma kindled her appetite she thought of Cyrus Abbott.

It was the first time she had thought about him since that afternoon when she discussed him with Blane.

Squab was his favorite dish. And this one was browned beautifully. Lillian Abbott usually thought of her parents because of things. Things they did, things they ate, things they said. She seldom thought of them because of their affection for her. They never had shown it enough to make her conscious that they had any great love for her.

The only time she ever hugged her father or mother was when they gave her a present. And even when she went away to school, or returned, they never kissed her. They patted her and touched their cheeks against hers. She never had cried when she left them. She never had felt particularly joyous on returning.

"So, they won't mind so much, because I've left home—really," she thought. "Father will be furious and do a scene in the library . . . with mother watching him."

"They'll think it's only a prank—and that I'll come back in a day or two," she imagined.

Lillian skipped salad. She had never liked it anyway. And she ordered pastry and ice cream, both. She concluded her meal with a bit of tasty, biting cheese and toasted crackers and demi-tasse coffee.

She nibbled the cheese and crackers, slowly. And allowed the waiter to fill the tiny cup with coffee three times. It meant staying longer in the softly-lighted, merry-tuned room. It meant not facing her problem . . . loneliness, solitude of her hotel room.

Now several couples danced on the tiny square of a dance floor. She watched them whirl about. And she was almost envious of a girl in a trailing black dress, all tulle and sheenless crepe. Lillian felt a little pang, purely feminine, because she was not in evening clothes, and did not have a handsome escort, one who danced as wonderfully as the tall blond fellow with the girl in the black dress.

Her attention was taken from the whirling couple by the waiter who pushed a check for her dinner under the saucer of her empty coffee cup.

Unconsciously she felt in her lap for her handbag. But, how silly, she thought. She had no handbag. No money! Why, she couldn't even leave a dollar tip for the solicitous fellow.

She looked at the check to hide her embarrassment. The scrawly writing of the waiter and the amount stamped on by some machine blurred and whirled.

"Oh, I'll just sign this," she said, with an aim at nochalance. "A pencil, please.

She wrote her name—then she grew panicky. She couldn't put her real name there. She didn't know how she was registered in the hotel. Blane had attended to that and he'd forgotten to explain . . .

A.—Melvin Alvah Traylor was born at Breeding, Adair county, Kentucky, in 1878. He has lived in Kentucky, Texas, East St. Louis and Chicago, and has been successively a school teacher, lawyer, and banker. He became president of the First National bank of Chicago in 1925. He is married and has three children, is a Democrat and a Mason, and golf is his favorite sport. He was president of the United States Golf association in 1928.

Q.—Which country normally has the largest number of nationals in Shanghai?—E. F. H.

A.—Upon a basis of five-year residence, there were 15,000 Japanese, 7,900 British, 3,000 Russians, 1,800 Americans, 1,400 Portuguese, and 3,000 other nationals in Shanghai before the present hostilities began.

Q.—Is a person who makes a bet a "better" or a "bettor?" I see that Bozeman Bulger spells it "better" and I always thought the other form was the correct one.—C. W.

A.—Webster's International says "better." A few dictionaries give "bettor" as an alternative form, but most of them prefer "better."

Q.—Is the Catholic church or Catholic university in Washington, D. C., developing a Cathedral community center similar to the Episcopal national Cathedral?—M. M.

A.—The Catholic University of America is such a center. It has a number of buildings in connection with it for educational purposes, also an immense gymnasium and a very large stadium. On the grounds also is a magnificent shrine of the Immaculate Conception (a national shrine) which will be one of the finest in the world when completed.

Q.—How high is the highest mountain in Hawaii?—A. H.

A.—Mount Mauna Kea, with an elevation of 13,825 feet, is the highest.

Q.—What is the name of the musical instrument which is commonly called "sweet potato?"—F. N.

A.—It is an ocarina. It is of Tyrolean origin.

Q.—Is voting compulsory in any country?—W. C. C.

A.—In 1893 Belgium passed a law making voting compulsory with penalties for failure. In Spain voting has been compulsory since 1908 with a tax increase for failure. Certain Australian provinces and Swiss cantons and, since the war, Czecho-Slovakia, Denmark, Holland Hungary, Luxembourg, Argentina, Honduras, Mexico, New Zealand, and Tasmania have had compulsory voting laws. Senator Capper has proposed a law adding 1 per cent to the income tax of persons failing to vote.

Q.—How many cities in the United States are named Madison, Monroe, Jackson, Jefferson and Sherman?—M. C.

A.—There are 26 cities by the name of Madison that have postoffices; 23 with the name of Monroe; 18 with the name of Jackson; 11 with the name of Jefferson; and nine with the name Sherman.

Q.—Has America a distinctive architecture of its own?—C. E. A.

A.—Philip Newell Youtz says that it has. Even in its colonial phase, old world designs were subtly changed to suit the new country. Today American architecture is an epitome of American life. The skyscraper, the modern factory, power house, grain elevator, railway terminal, school building, hospital, and theater are all examples of original American thought and design.

Q.—Where can birth records be obtained in Ireland?—J. McG.

A.—Birth, marriage and death records of Ireland may be obtained from the general register office in Dublin.

Q.—How much higher is the level of the Pacific ocean at the Panama canal than the Atlantic ocean?—R. P.

A.—The mean level of the Pacific at the canal is 8 inches higher than the Atlantic. The normal variation between high and low tide at the Pacific end of the canal is about 12½ feet with occasional ranges of 21 feet; while at the Atlantic end it is about one foot.

Q.—What is the attitude of Japan toward Christianity?—C. C. C.

A.—It is said to be that of toleration, mostly either antagonistic or mildly indifferent. It is estimated that there are more than 200,000 professed Christians at present on the island.

CANNED SOUND SHOW HELD

Development of Recording Demonstrated

By GOBIND BEHARI LAL

NEW YORK, March 31. (US)—Bottled sounds, from faintest whispers to thunderous city uproars, were presented to a thousand engineers here.

This happened today at the electrical association's meeting in Hotel Astor. The unbottling of electrically recorded sounds was done by John E. Otterson, president of the Electrical Research Products company, to demonstrate the tremendous advance that has been made during the 10 years past in this field of applied science.

Otterson played some disc phonograph records of 1922 vintage. You immediately recognized these 10-year-old antediluvian contraptions, by their "tin can" effects. Next, 1925 records, made electrically but reproduced mechanically with a special kind of horn, were demonstrated.

Lastly, and astonishing, were the 1932 electrically recorded and reproduced discs. The difference in the range of sounds handled was revolutionary. By the latest technic, sounds can be recorded almost to cover the entire band of frequencies that the human ear can feel and distinguish.

According to Otterson, the faintest sound heard by man is of about 50 cycles and the loudest of about 10,000 cycles per second. Today the acoustic engineer can record nearly the whole of this compass, 10 years ago only a "middle" band of narrow frequencies was recordable.

Five Hurt Near Matador As Automobile Overturns

Special to The Record News.

MATADOR, Texas, March 31.—Five persons were injured when a large sedan overturned on the Floydada-Matador highway Tuesday evening. The injured are Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Bourland, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Drace and Mrs. L. A. Stearns, all of Matador. The party was returning from Lubbock and according to A. M. Bourland, who was driving the car, the brakes locked causing the car to overturn. Most of the injuries consisted of minor flesh cuts and bruises; however, Mrs. Drace suffered a fractured thigh.

Olustee School Levy Carried in Election

Special to The Record News.

OLUSTEE, Okla., March 31.—C. W. Edwards was elected chairman of the Olustee school board Tuesday at the regular election.

The extra 10 mills levy carried by a large majority, which insures Olustee a nine months school.

Mr. Edwards has been a resident of Olustee for 25 years, and was prominent in school matters in Greer county before coming to Olustee.

E. A. Carter is the retiring chairman of the board. The board is now composed of C. W. Edwards, chairman, Fred Krappf, secretary and Ira Moreau.

Wool Marketers Ask Farm Board and RFC Aid

WASHINGTON, March 31. (AP)—Hoping to obtain additional loans to make higher advances on the 1932 wool clip, representatives of the National Wool Marketing corporation today called on the farm board and the reconstruction corporation.

The board already has agreed supplement primary loans obtained from commercial banks. This will amount to about 15 per cent of the 75 per cent advance made on current prices. The wool people, viewing the general situation, believe that higher advances should be made.

Adult Education Project To Be Studied at Texas U.

MINNEAPOLIS, March 31. (AP)—Adult education projects of five universities will be studied by a Minnesota educational psychologist under a Carnegie foundation grant.

Provision of $10,000 to survey methods and results was announced yesterday by Dr. R. R. Price, head of the University of Minnesota extension division.

Dr. Herbert Sorenson will be in charge. The institutions are the Universities of Minnesota, Texas, Virginia, Wisconsin and California at Berkeley.

$1.00 Stops Rheumatism

New Medicine Guaranteed to Free Your Muscles and Joints in Less Than a Week or Money-Back

Think of the joy of waking up in the morning without any rheumatic aches or pains—without stiff, swollen joints or sore, lame muscles.

And that joy should be yours—a $1 bottle of Ru-Ma is absolutely guaranteed to stop all misery in your bones, muscles and joints, caused by rheumatic poisons, in less than a week or your money back.

No long, discouraging wait while the pain goes on; Ru-Ma eases pain the first day. Magically your muscles and joints limber up, swelling vanishes, aches and twinges disappear, away go limping and hobbling, crutches and canes.

That is why Allison's Drug store and other local druggists invite every rheumatic sufferer to try Ru-Ma under an ironclad guarantee of money back if it does not completely stop your rheumatic misery.—Adv.

Indian Girl Pleads With Governor To Let Her Serve Brave's Sentence

PHOENIX, Ariz., March 31. (UP)—The traditional Indian idea of feminine inferiority made itself apparent in a note written by an Indian princess who seeks to serve the life sentence recently dealt Golney (Mac) Seymour for the murder of Henrietta Schmerler.

The note, written by Princess Ewatha White Eagle, Cherokee, living at Murray, Utah, was disclosed by Gov. George W. P. Hunt today.

"I am only a girl," she said in her plea that she be permitted to take Seymour's place in the state prison.

"I will give up my life," the note declared, "and go to prison to serve his term. Because the boy was not given the same chance a white man would have had. I believe him innocent.

"I am only a girl. I can endure the slow death. Please, dear governor, let him return to his wife and baby."

Governor Hunt, replying to the letter, explained that he had no power to intervene in federal court matters. Seymour was arrested by government agents, and tried and convicted in federal court.

The young Apache Indian range rider was found guilty of attacking and murdering Miss Schmerler, a Columbia university student, who was living among the Apaches last summer, studying their life habits as part of her college work.

FARMERS HOLD MEETINGS

JACKSON, Miss., (AP)—Mississippi farmers have begun a series of outlook meetings before starting 1932 operations, which will reach all sections of the state. Authorities will give farmers best available information on the supply, demand and probable price trend of various farm commodities.

Clinic Hears Cancer Treatment Defended

DALLAS, March 31. (UP)—The Coffee-Humber cancer serum treatment, now being tested in California, merits at least sympathetic and unprejudiced observation by the medical profession, Dr. Dudlet A. Smith, of San Francisco, noted protocologist, told the Dallas Southern clinic here today.

The American Medical association, through its journal, has conducted a severe arraignment of the treatment since it was worked out some time ago by Southern Pacific railroad surgeons.

The Coffee-Humber serum is based on an extract from the superrenal gland of a ram. Tests have shown that for some reason extracts from an old ram are better than those from younger animals. The serum is injected, usually into the arm.

"Personally, I refuse," said Dr. Smith, "after watching 90 cases of cancer go through the clinic (in San Francisco) to say that the treatment is the "bunk." I have seen two cases cleared up and I feel that the method has high therapeutic value in numerous cases of Hodgkins' disease."

PLAN TO REVIVE OLD PORT

CARTAGENA, Colombia. (AP)—A plan by the Frederick Snare corporation, an American concern, to clear the 400-year old harbor here of mud at a cost of $2,850,000 has been approved by the government. The contractors are to advance $850,000 and oil companies $1,000,000 more.

BUILDING TO BEGIN ON FAIR

Chicago Makes Ready For World Exposition

CHICAGO, March 31. (AP)—Five million dollars will be transformed during the next six months into palaces of steel and wood to welcome the world to Chicago's century of progress next year.

Thirteen buildings of bizarre design will go up before another winter. They will harbor many varieties of man's craftsmanship in many climes, gathered together by Chicago in celebration of its 100th anniversary as a city.

The drop of a pile driver on the foundation of a bridge spanning an artificial lagoon will signal the opening of the new building season in about two weeks.

By August 2,500 skilled laborers will be at work on the last of the major buildings and several special structures. They will include five pavilions to house exhibits of the minerals industries, graphic arts and industrial crafts; the agriculture building, Illinois host building, states building, the Lincoln group and the social science building.

The administration building, first to be completed, will be joined soon by the travel and transport building, the hall of science and the electrical group.

Rumanian Prince Given Ultimatum

BUDAPEST, March 31. (US)—King Carol of Rumania, the court circle grapevine reported today, has delivered an ultimatum to Prince Nicholas to return to Bucharest immediately or sacrifice his military privileges and emoluments.

Nicholas, now vacationing in France and Switzerland, wrote his brother recently promising to return in mid-April to take charge of the Rumanian army. The prince is also reputed to have bowed to the king's wish that he repudiate his Morganatic marriage with Mme. Jana Lucia Deletj, now accompanying Nicholas.

It is said the king's order to Prince Nicholas was dictated by Parisian bankers, who refuse to loan the king sufficient funds to avert national bankruptcy unless he takes drastic steps to curtail all "unnecessary" expenditures.

In line with the financial situation is the acquiescence of Her Royal Highness Helen, uncrowned queen of Rumania, to accept curtailed alimony payments from the king, whom she divorced when he fled the country with Mme. Magda Lupescu before returning to the throne.

CHARGED WITH MURDER

ARKANSAS CITY, Kan., March 31. (UP)—Louis Freeman, 25, today was charged with first degree murder in the slaying last week of Otto Schellenberger, grocer shot down by holdup men.

WHEAT HARMED IN PANHANDLE

Crop to Be 25 Per Cent Less Than in 1931

AMARILLO, Texas, March 31. (AP)—The Panhandle wheat crop in 1932 will be from 20 to 25 per cent less than the 60,000,000-bushel crop in 1931, Perry A. Burrus, president of the Burrus Panhandle elevators, said today after an inspection tour of the Panhandle.

"I found fields south and west of Amarillo that have been damaged as much as 40 per cent by severe freezes, drouth and wind," Burrus said. "The damage is much less north and east of Amarillo. No one can say now what the damage as a whole will be, but the yield is certain to be spotted.

"With normal weather conditions between now and harvest, the Panhandle crop should run 40 to 45 million bushels."

Report on Hawaii Probe Due for Senate Monday

WASHINGTON, March 31. (AP)—Attorney General Mitchell today announced he will report to the senate on law enforcement in the territory of Hawaii Monday.

He commended the work of assistant Attorney General Seth W. Richardson, who headed the force making the inquiry ordered by the senate after a series of sensational cases, including attacks on women.

"They did a very thorough job," Mitchell said. "They went at it hammer and tongs."

RECIPES

Planked Ham and Eggs

Broil good-sized slice of ham for about 10 minutes, turning frequently. Place on a plank and put a fancy border of mashed potatoes around the edge, using a pastry tube. Put plank in oven until potatoes brown slightly. Fry egg in muffin rings so that they will be uniformly round in shape. Peel and core apples cut in quarters. Cook until tender, but not too soft, in a syrup made by boiling together one cupful of sugar and one-half cupful water. Arrange eggs and apples on the plank with the ham and potatoes and serve very hot.

Casserole of Chicken

Four and one-fourth pounds roasting chicken.
One-fourth cupful shortening.
One cupful chicken stock.
One stalk celery.
One small onion, stuck with three cloves.
Two cupfuls fresh mushrooms (30 small ones).
One cupful cream.
Two and one-half tablespoonfuls flour.
Two tablespoonfuls cream.
One egg yolk.

For Stock

Neck, back and giblets of chicken.
Six cupfuls water.
One bay leaf.
Nine celery leaves.
Nine parsley leaves.
Two teaspoonfuls salt.
One-fourth teaspoonful black pepper.

Clean the chicken and cut in pieces as for frying. Make a stock with the neck, back and giblets, cooking them with the water and the seasonings listed above.

Rub the breast pieces, legs, second joints and wings with the shortening. Place these in a casserole 12 inches long, eight inches wide and two and one-half inches deep; cover tightly and cook in a hot oven (500 degrees F.) without adding any liquid, for 40 minutes, until the chicken is well browned. Add one cupful of the stock, the celery, and the onion stuck with cloves and continue cooking tightly covered, for 35 minutes, with the temperature of the oven reduced to moderate (360 degrees F.).

Then, if the chicken is tender add the mushrooms and the giblets, cut into small pieces, and cook for 10 minutes longer. Blend the flour with the cupful of cream, add the stock from the casserole and cook on top of the stove in a saucepan until it is smooth and thickened—about five minutes. Add egg yolk mixed with the two tablespoonfuls of cream, stir well, and return the sauce to the casserole. Heat for about 10 minutes and serve hot.

The egg yolk may be omitted but it gives the sauce the color and texture characteristic of the French casserole sauce for chicken. Serves six.

Mock Parkerhouse Rolls

Sift together one and one-half cupfuls flour, one and one-half teaspoonfuls baking powder, one-half teaspoonful salt and one tablespoonful sugar; chop into it three tablespoonfuls butter; add one well-beaten egg yolk and enough milk to make a soft dough—about one-third cupful. Roll out on a floured board; brush with butter; cut; fold over like parkerhouse rolls and brush with butter. Bake in a hot oven about 10 minutes. Loaf sugar may be soaked in orange juice, cut in half and placed in the fold before baking if a sweet tea roll is desired. Makes about 18 rolls.

Date, Nut and Marshmallow Pie

Remove the stones from a package of dates and cut each date into six pieces with your kitchen scissors. Cut up enough marshmallows to make a cup, and add the same quantity of very finely chopped pecan or almond meats. Hydrate a tablespoonful of gelatin in one-fourth cup of water, dissolve in a cupful of half milk half cream, heated nearly to the boiling point, add one-half a cupful of maple sugar, let cool, beat with an egg beater until frothy, add the dates, nuts and marshmallows and pour into an already baked pastry shell. Do not use until the filling is cold and firm. This is especially well adapted to the rusk or crumb pie crust given below.

Rusk or Crumb Pie Crust

Put a lot of dry rusks on your moulding board, gently pound them with a rolling pin, then roll them, pressing hard as a steamroller, until they are as fine as meal. To make sure of their fineness sift them through a wire strainer, and roll over again all that won't go through. Proceed in this way until you have two cupfuls of crumbs.

Stale slices of bread, dried out in a cool oven until faintly brown, may be used instead of rusks, but do not omit the drying out in an oven.

Next, mix the rusk crumbs with one-half a cupful of brown sugar, and use three-fourths of a cupful if there are bread crumbs. Then add one-half a cupful of melted butter, and line a greased pie plate with the mixture and bake. If a custard or a cream pie filling is to be used save a generous half cupful of the crumb mixture and sprinkle over the top and bake

Ginger Ale Salad

Three-fourths cupfuls diced, canned pineapple.
Three-fourths cupfuls chopped grapefruit pulp.
One-third cupful blanched shredded almonds.
One-fourth cupful seeded grapes.
One cupful ginger ale.
Two tablespoonfuls gelatin.
One-half cupful cold water.
Few grains salt.
Few grains paprika.
Mayonnaise.
Lettuce.

Soak the gelatin in the cold water for five minutes, then dissolve it over hot water. Add one-fourth cupful of the ginger ale. Combine the diced pineapple, grapefruit pulp, grapes, shredded almonds, salt and pepper and then add the remaining three-fourths cupful of ginger ale. Add the gelatin mixture, stir thoroughly and pour into individual molds which have been dipped in and out of cold water. Chill thoroughly, unmold and serve on lettuce leaves, garnished with mayonnaise. Serves six to eight.

Domino Sandwiches

Brown bread.
Butter.
Two tablespoonfuls chopped dill pickles.
White bread.
One cupful chopped tongue.
Three tablespoonfuls mayonnaise.
Swiss cheese.

Cut brown and white bread in one-eighth inch slices and spread with softened butter. Season the chopped tongue with the dill pickles and mayonnaise. Spread this mixture on slices of white bread. Over this put brown bread, then thinly sliced Swiss cheese. Repeat, having four layers. Trim off the crusts evenly, put under a weight and let stand several hours in a cool place. Cut crosswise in thin slices and serve.

Chocolate Charlotte

One and one-half cupfuls thick cream.
One-half cupful sifted powdered sugar.
One-half teaspoonful vanilla.
Chopped nuts.
One tablespoonful gelatin.
One-half cupful cold water.
Sponge cake or lady fingers.
Three tablespoonfuls cocoa.

Line a serving dish with slices of sponge cake or lady fingers. Beat the cream until thick and add the powdered sugar and vanilla. Soak the gelatin in the cold water and dissolve over boiling water. Add to the whipped cream gradually, beating constantly. To one-half of the whipped cream mixture add the cocoa and pour in the cake-lined dish. Over this pour the rest of the whipped cream. Sprinkle with chopped walnut meats or browned almonds. Chill and serve.

Winter Vegetables in New Array

Appetites are somewhat like fashions for they precede seasons and create tastes which often exceed the limitations of our budgets. As the winter draws to an end, and the family has tired of the heavy meat dishes, and the cold weather vegetables are about gone it is sometimes a problem to find something with which to vary the daily menu.

The choice summer fruits and vegetables are not yet available cheaply or in quantity so it is up to the hostess to prepare winter fruits and vegetables in new appetizing ways.

The following recipes are particularly suitable for this difficult in-between season and will make interesting and flavorsome dishes.

Asparagus Milanaise

Drain one can or one bunch cooked asparagus and arrange in a shallow baking dish in rows with tips visible. Sprinkled with grated Swiss cheese, pour over four tablespoonfuls butter which has been melted and cooked until light brown. Put in very hot oven, 450 degrees Fahrenheit, until brown on top and heated through. Sprinkle with paprika and serve at once. (The asparagus should be cooked in salted water.)

Mashed Potatoes With Peanut Butter

Six medium-sized potatoes.
Two tablespoonfuls butter.
About one-half cupful hot milk.
One and one-half tablespoonfuls peanut butter.
One teaspoonful salt.
One-eighth teaspoonful pepper.

Boil, mash and beat to a cream the potatoes, adding salt and pepper, one tablespoonful butter and milk. Heap in a hot buttered baking dish. Blend the peanut butter and remainder of the butter, dot over the potatoes and brown in a 500-degree Fahrenheit oven.

Cabbage Salad

Two cupfuls shredded cabbage.
Two canned pimientoes, diced.
Two tart, ripe apples.
One-fourth cupful nutmeats.
Mayonnaise and lettuce.

Combine the shredded cabbage, apples which have been pared, cored and cut into matches, the diced pimientoes and the nut-meats coarsely chopped. Mix lightly with mayonnaise or cooked salad dressing, lay on a bed of white lettuce leaves, mask with a little more of the dressing, ornament with more diced pimientoes and a few quartered nut-meats and serve at once. Do not prepare this salad until needed. Either white or Chinese cabbage may be used. Serves six.

Lima Beans With Chops

One-half pound of dry lima beans.
One teaspoonful of salt.
One tablespoonful of sugar.
One tablespoonful finely chopped onion.
One-fourth cupful tomato catsup.
One-fourth teaspoonful of mustard.

Cook lima beans until they are almost tender, season with salt, sugar, mustard, onion and catsup. Pour into a large flat baking dish. Add liquid, if necessary, to cover

NEW HIGHWAY READY IN MAY

Wichita to Join Dallas In Celebration

A meeting to plan a celebration early in June on completion of state highway 114, between Dallas and Rhome will be held in Dallas at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon at the chamber of commerce offices. The hour for the meeting was set Thursday afternoon following a telephone conversation with Dallas officials by Manager John Boswell of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce.

The Dallas-to-Rhome highway, is one of the major road projects of the state and is known as the Northwest highway. It will shorten the distance between Wichita Falls and Dallas by 15 miles, and inasmuch as this 15-mile portion lies in the congested traffic area of Fort Worth, the Fort Worth to Dallas pike, and Oak Cliff, the motorist will save from 30 minutes to an hour's time between this city and Dallas.

Wichita Falls highway enthusiasts have taken a leading part in the Northwest highway, listed as a $2,500,000 project. The late J. A. Kemp was a leader in the move to secure the route. The roadway ranges from 20 to 40 feet in width and all grades and curves have been eliminated or cut down with the result that the motorist is not required to slacken speed.

A celebration is planned at Grapevine, on the route, and this city will probably be represented at Dallas Monday to assist in planning the party.

The Northwest highway offers an airline route for Wichita Falls dairymen and truck farm operators in reaching the metropolitan area. The route is now open with the exception of three miles east of Rhome, to be completed late in May.

The Northwest highway enters Dallas on a "super" traffic artery, routed between two railway lines, without a grade crossing and taking the motorist within three blocks of downtown Dallas.

In addition oil men of the Wichita Falls area using the route may also miss the congested traffic areas of Dallas with a short cut, leaving No. 114 at Bachman's dam, northwest of Dallas, and traveling around the city and S. M. U. entering U. S. highway 80 at Buckner Orphans home, 10 miles east of Dallas.

For the first time in the history of Germany, the hunting season in one part has been suspended because of an epidemic of foot-and-mouth disease.

Moratorium Granted

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, March 31. (AP)—The government today granted an application by officials of the Kreuger and Toll companies for a one-month extension of the moratorium granted immediately after the death of Ivar Kreuger.

To Stop Itching In Two Minutes

This formula for skin diseases is astounding the most skeptical in the marvelous way it heals severe cases of eczema, tetter, ringworm, itch and athlete's foot. The minute it touches the sore you feel a cooling, soothing sensation; in a few days you marvel at how your skin has healed. If you suffer with skin diseases of any kind, get from any druggist a 60c box of Tetterine, and get relief or get your money back. Shuptrine Co., Savannah, Ga.—Adv.

the beans. Then place the pork chops, which have been cut through the fat edge to prevent curling, on top of the beans. When the pork chops have browned on one side in the hot oven, turn them over and reduce the oven to low heat. The slow cooking of an hour to an hour and a half develops a delicious flavor.

Carrots With Bacon

Four slices of bacon.
One quart carrots, cubed.
One-half teaspoonful salt.
One tablespoonful minced parsley.
One cupful meat stock or water.
Two tablespoonfuls flour.
One-half tablespoonful sugar.

Cut the bacon into narrow crosswise strips and brown it slowly until crisp. Add the carrots, salt, sugar and parsley and just enough boiling water to cover. Cook until carrots are just tender and the water is nearly evaporated. Stir in the paste made of the flour and cold meat stock or water, and cook five minutes until clear.

Parsley Turnip Balls

Two cupfuls of turnip balls.
One-fourth cupful butter.
Two teaspoons lemon juice.
Three drops onion juice.
One-half tablespoon minced parsley.

Cut turnips into balls, cook them in boiling, salted water until just tender. Drain and heat in the butter to which has been added the lemon, onion and parsley.

Baked Sauerkraut en Casserole

Eight frankfurters.
Two tablespoons butter.
Four to six cupfuls mashed potatoes.

Boil the frankfurters for 20 minutes and heat the sauerkraut. Line a buttered casserole with the freshly mashed potatoes; fill it with the hot sauerkraut and frankfurters. Cover with a layer of mashed potatoes, dot with butter and place the casserole uncovered in a hot oven until the potatoes are lightly browned. Serve at once.

Luncheon Corn

Two cupfuls of canned corn.
Two eggs.
One cupful of chopped walnuts.
Three-fourths cupful of grated parmesan cheese.
One tablespoon of butter.
Four slices of fried bacon.
One cupful of milk.

Add the beaten eggs to the corn and walnuts, which have been mixed together; add the milk and melted butter. Season well with salt and pepper and paprika and a few grains of cayenne. Lastly, add the cheese and crumbled bacon. Dot the top with butter and minced parsley. Bake in a casserole or individual baking dishes, which have been greased with fat.

PHONES IN LAPP TENTS

STOCKHOLM, (AP)—Tents of the nomads of Swedish Lappland, a grazing district about the size of Great Britain, are to be equipped with telephones. It is believed they will enable the Lapps to overcome some of the ennui of their lonely lives.

$500 STARTED PENNEY CLIMB

Store Here Observes 30th Anniversary

Thursday, April 14, will be the 30th anniversary of the founding of the J. C. Penney company, that being the date in 1902 when Mr. Penney opened the store in the mining town of Kemmerer, Wyo., which ultimately became the mother store of an organization now covering every state in the union, according to J. F. Luke, manager of the local store.

Mr. Penney's original invested capital was $500, which, together with his unsecured note for $1,500, bought for him a one-third interest in the one-room shop operated under the name "Golden Rule Store." The other two-thirds interest was owned by Johnson & Callahan with headquarters in Evanston, Wyo.

The plan of allowing store managers to acquire an interest in the stores they operated was a growing one in the West at that time. It was largely due to the fact that there was little money.

As a partner, a manager was likely to exert himself more than as an employe, and he also became responsible for his share of the operating expense of the store.

In 1907, Mr. Penney acquired full ownership of three stores in the Johnson & Callahan group and immediately set his avowed plan of operation into effect.

The plan was simple in its objects. It put the possibility of a store partnership before every male associate in the company. The man who through his own ability could qualify got a store of his own. In modified form, the same general plan is still working today, 30 years later.

In 1931 sales were close to $180,000,000 and the organization had undisputedly won its position as the largest single distributor of dry goods, clothing, and footwear, directly over the counter. This from a beginning of $500 in capital.

Sleeping Sickness Fight Awaits Explorer's Return

SAN FRANCISCO, March 31. (UP)—A new battle awaits Dr. Arthur Torrance, "death fighter" and explorer, when he arrives home from Manchuria next week.

Dr. Robert V. Herter of Durban, South Africa, will meet Dr. Torrance and seek to enlist the scientist's aid in demonstrating a new theory for the control of sleeping sickness.

Dr. Van Herter was expected to ask Dr. Torrance to head an expedition into South Africa.

$51,000 ASKED IN SUIT HERE

Mildred Pope Seeks Damages for Injuries

Miss Mildred Pope brought suit in district court Thursday afternoon against L. E. Whitham for $51,121.15 damages as a result of a traffic crash which occurred on the Iowa Park highway just outside this city on Oct. 12, 1931.

The petition alleges severe permanent injuries to the plaintiff, setting out that numerous bones were broken, lacerations occurred, and a severe nervous shock imposed when the light car in which she was a passenger was allegedly struck and demolished by a heavy car driven by the defendant.

Miss Pope was in a car with relatives coming to Wichita Falls, the petition recites, on the day of the accident. Just outside the city limits, she alleges, the automobile in which she rode passed two or three other cars which were coming to a stop, and had returned to the right side of the highway. At the moment, the plaintiff contends, they were struck by the westbound defendant's car, carried about 75 feet, their vehicle demolished, and serious injuries inflicted upon the occupants.

The petition was filed by C. J. Brannan and Luther Hoffman, attorneys for the plaintiff.

Public Works Merger Approved by House Group

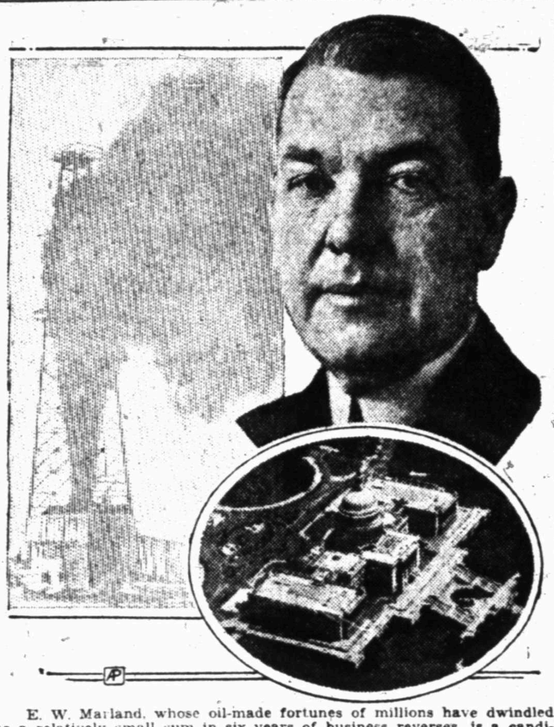
WASHINGTON, March 31. (AP)—The house expenditures committee today approved a bill to consolidate under a new administrator all federal public works save those done on rivers and harbors by army engineers.

In line with a recommendation by President Hoover, it would merge many government activities including lighthouse construction by the commerce department and postoffice construction by the treasury department.

OFFERED PRESIDENCY

ST. LOUIS, March 31. (AP)—Federal Judge Charles I. Dawson of Louisville, Ky., was expected to arrive here tomorrow to confer with officials of the Missouri State Life Insurance company, of which he has been asked to take the presidency, by State Superintendent of Insurance Joseph Thompson. Judge Dawson was elected president several months ago.

From Oil Field To Washington



E. W. Marland, whose oil-made fortunes of millions have dwindled to a relatively small sum in six years of business reverses, is a candidate for congress for the eighth Oklahoma district. He favors unemployment insurance, close supervision of large corporations and is a "big navy" man.

E. W. Marland, Once Rich Oil Man, Bids For Oklahoma Congress Seat

PONCA CITY, Okla., March 31. (AP)—From the palatial home representing virtually all that is left of his once immense oil fortune, E. W. Marland has emerged to ride in a race for congress.

The hand that guided the Marland Oil company to a point where its worth was estimated at $65,000,000 now is clenched in vehement gesture as Marland attacks the liquor question and declares it is a matter of state's rights.

First Political Venture

Marland, making his first venture into politics a congressional contest in the eighth Oklahoma district, has decided views also on unemployment, banking and antitrust laws.

He has entered the campaign as a Democratic candidate for the nomination in the coming primary with the same vigor that characterized the drilling of his first oil well on the famous "101" ranch here in 1908 with the late George Miller, one of the owners of the ranch, as his partner.

First Well Was Dry

The first well was a dry hole, but the undaunted spirit of the Pennsylvania youth who had obtained a law degree at 19 urged him on. His next well brought oil.

From that start he acquired thousands of acres of oil properties, built refineries and developed a wide market. Several years ago he built a mansion, estimated to have cost a million dollars.

Within view of it is the statue of the "Pioneer Woman," his $100,000 gift to Oklahoma two years ago.

But now, from its high mark of six years ago, Marland's fortune has dwindled to a point where his home comprises virtually all of it. Yet he has started again with a small stake.

His experiences have given him more sympathy with the unemployed, and he has his own idea as to the way to end their fears.

"We should have a form of unemployment insurance instead of the revolting Hoover idea of meeting the situation with charity," he said.

He also is for a change in banking laws and a substitute for the present gold standard. He advocates a big navy. He thinks antitrust laws should be stricter and mergers of large corporations should be watched carefully.

"The lending of money at interest should be strictly controlled by the government," he believes.

Marland, now nearing 60, is married to his former ward, niece of the first Mrs. Marland, who died in 1926.

Pioneer Baptist Minister Succumbs at Mangum

Special to The Record News.

MANGUM, Okla., March 31.—Funeral services were held at the First Baptist church Wednesday for James M. Wileman, 72, pioneer Baptist minister of Mangum.

Mr. Wileman taught school and studied law at Bonham, Texas, when a young man.

NEGRO CONFESSES

HOUSTON, March 31. (AP)—Sheriff T. A. Binford announced this afternoon Johnnie Williams, negro bootlegger, had confessed to the slaying of H. L. Bennett, 72, former real estate man, at the latter's chicken ranch near Houston on Nov. 17.

We have just received a fresh shipment of Modart Foundation garments. Many new models—be fitted by an expert Saturday. P. B. M. Co.—Adv.

Ex-Governor of Oklahoma Gives Opinion on Mooney

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 31. (UP)—Another former Oklahoma governor today added his voice to the Tom Mooney defense plea. Mooney is serving a life sentence in California for the San Francisco Preparedness day bombing in 1916.

"I would not hesitate to grant a full and complete pardon to Tom Mooney," former Gov. William J. Holloway wrote. His letter was at the request of the Oklahoma Mooney Defense league, and today was forwarded to Governor Rolph of California. Former Governors Lee Cruce and Jack Walton already had made similar expressions, as had Acting Governor Robert Burns, State Treasurer Ray Weems and other state officials.

WCTU Head Warns Drys 'Arouse From Lethargy'

CHICAGO, March 31. (AP)—A warning that prohibitionists must be "aroused from lethargy," if they want a dry president and vice president elected next fall has been sounded by Mrs. Ella A. Boole, national president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union.

Speaking before delegates to a W. C. T. U. conference yesterday she endorsed President Hoover for another term as a man "whose brain is clear of the fumes of liquor" and declared a dry victory in the presidential election would serve to stem "the tide of the wet attack."

Youth Gets Life Term For Death of Pair

ST. IGNACE, Mich., March 31. (AP)—A sentence of life imprisonment in solitary confinement in the Michigan branch prison at Marquette was passed on Leonard Minor, 25-year-old Chippewa county youth who shot and killed his chum and a girl companion.

Minor was charged with shooting Harold Martindale, 25, and Miss Lennie Selby, 14, as they sat at an organ in a farm home near Rexford Mackinac county last Sunday night. Rivalry with Martindale over the girl's affections led to the shooting, officials said.

AUTO TAX PROTESTED

LANSING, Mich., March 31. (AP)—A resolution protesting an excise tax on automobiles was adopted by the Michigan state senate today. It was introduced by Senator A. H. Gansser of Bay City, who described the tax as confiscatory.

Head of Carter Oil Resigns, Effective Friday

TULSA, Okla., March 31. (AP)—Richard M. Young, one of the most widely known figures in the oil industry today, resigned as president of the Carter Oil company, Standard Oil of New Jersey subsidiary, effective March 31.

C. H. Lieb, president of another of the Standard subsidiaries, Standard Oil of Venezuela, and vice president of the Creole Petroleum corporation, becomes the new head of Carter oil.

NOT MUCH CHANGE

Albert S. Osborn, handwriting expert, has figured out mathematically that the chance of two people writing exactly alike, without any distinguishing traits to tell their hands apart, is one in 68,000,000,000,000.

What is said to be the world's only school for explorers has been opened at Harvard university.

The Star-Spangled Banner was legally made the United States national anthem in March, 1931.

GIRLS TESTIFY ABOUT PASTOR

Immoral Conduct Charged Against Rector

LONDON, March 31. (UP)—Miss Sylvia Harris, 22 years old, pretty and blonde, raised her voice to a high, tremulous pitch in consistory court at Church house today when she declared she had been "warned" against the Rev. Harold Francis Davidson, on trial for immoral conduct while "rescuing" girls from a life of vice in London.

Despite the warning, Sylvia told the court that Dr. Davidson had pestered and "made a fuss" over her and had attempted to visit her at her place of employment.

She also said the rector of Stiffkey had repeatedly called Miss Barbara Harris, the 17-year-old sister of Sylvia, such endearing names as "darling, queen of my heart." Dr. Davidson was charged with immoral relations with Barbara, who had testified previously.

Other Names Enter

The name of Rosie Ellis, whom Dr. Davidson was charged with taking on a trip to Paris, was brought into the trial today and it was indicated that about 60 witnesses would be called in the next two weeks, which are expected to produce more sensational details of Dr. Davidson's social service.

Several witnesses so far have been friendly toward the rector, one druggist, who knew him well, saying that he never saw anything improper in the rector's actions. But Percy Malyon, fiance of Sylvia, told in detail of the rector's attempts to caress Sylvia, who remarked that "it was enough to get me the sack." She is a domestic servant.

Earlier in the day, Barbara had completed her testimony by saying that she usually called the rector "uncle" and that he had "many other nieces."

75,000 MINERS GO ON STRIKE

Suspension of Work Follows Wage Disagreement

CHICAGO, March 31. (AP)—Approximately 75,000 members of the United Mine Workers in the bituminous operations in Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and part of West Virginia will be jobless tomorrow.

Midnight tonight was the hour for suspension of operations in the entire unionized Illinois field, throwing between 43,000 and 46,000 men out of work. Failure of the joint scale conference of miners at the Illinois Coal Operators association to agree on a new contract brought the suspension.

In Indiana, the deep vein operations centered in the western part of the state around Terre Haute and Linton met the same fate. The scale difference was adjourned two weeks ago and neither side since then made any moves. Four thousand or so miners gain livelihoods in the deep shaft mines.

The union scales in Illinois and Indiana have been at the top of scales in unionized fields. In these states, the basic pay is $6.10 a day. In the recent conference, Illinois miners sought an increase to $7 a day with a five-day, six-hour day week. Refused by the operators, the diggers turned down a counter proposal and the impasse resulted.

Fall From School Bus Fatal for Child, 7

COLORADO, Texas, March 31. (AP)—James Marion Lewis, 7, was killed when he fell from a school bus in which he was riding home from classes in Conoway community, 15 miles southwest of Colorado. The bus ran over him. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Lewis. Funeral services were held today.

Burns Prove Fatal For Megargel Child

Special to The Record News

MEGARGEL, Texas, March 31.—Burns received Wednesday when her home was destroyed by fire proved fatal at an Archer City hospital today for Fannie Teague, 10-year-old daughter of Sam Teague of Megargel.

Funeral services probably will be held Friday morning at 10 o'clock. She is survived by her father, several brothers and a sister.

The child was burned when she attempted to revive a fire at the home with the use of kerosene. Flames from the kerosene ignited her clothes. The blaze spread and she was carried from the burning home by a brother.

Rails Ask Rate Hike On Texas Fruit and Truck

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas, March 31. (AP)—Testimony regarding a proposal by southwestern railroad carriers that rates on fruits and vegetables be increased was reviewed today at the Interstate Commerce commission hearing.

He was supported by F. L. Gordon, assistant general freight agent of the Southern Pacific; and J. C. Winnfield, assistant general freight agent of the St. Louis Southwestern.

Under the proposed schedule the rate on spinach to Chicago from the Rio Grande section would be increased from $1.23 per 100 pounds to $1.78, and to New York, from $1.55 per 100 pounds to $2.24.

Grain Executive Freed On Futures Violation

CHICAGO, March 31 (AP)—Charges that Eugene V. Maltby violated the grain futures act while vice president and manager of the defunct Rural Grain company were dismissed today by Federal Judge George T. Page on motion of the government.

Maltby disappeared in June, 1930, when the government undertook an investigation of his operations. The inquiry resulted in a charge that he bought and sold grain without recording the transactions.

Trade Commission Cancels Order for Pay Roll Cut

WASHINGTON, March 31. (AP)—The federal trade commission has canceled orders for placing 100 of its employes on leave without pay.

Congress failed to appropriate funds to cover a $70,000 deficit in the commission and the employes were to have been furloughed April 1.

House leaders, however, assured the commission sufficient funds would be made available to permit their being carried on the pay roll until the new fiscal year begins on July 1.

Prison Riot Bill Passes House Judiciary Group

WASHINGTON, March 31. (AP)—The Sumners bill designed to strengthen the federal arm in preventing and combatting prison riots was approved today by the house judiciary committee.

Under it, all prison employes must accept status as prison guards, may be prosecuted for refusing to help in the suppression of riots, for aiding in the smuggling of firearms or weapons or for knowing that the smuggling is being done and not reporting the fact.

Aviation Trophy Given To Packard Motor Co.

WASHINGTON, March 31. (AP)—In the presence of a gathering of aviation leaders, President Hoover today presented the huge bronze Collier trophy to the Packard Motor Car company for its development of the Diesel aircraft engine.

The trophy, given annually as the highest award in American aviation, was presented to Alvan Macauley, president of the Packard company. With one hand resting on a full size Diesel engine with propeller attached, Macauley said to the chief executive its development had "only well started us on our way, much still remains to be done."

Train Cars Leave Rails And 13 Passengers Hurt

HOLDREGE, Neb., March 31. (AP)—Several cars of the Burlington road's passenger train, the Aristocrat, left the rails a half mile west of Axtell at 6 a. m. today, injuring at least 13 persons, several seriously. Trainmen said a broken rail was responsible for the accident.

Most of the injured were taken to Holdrege where they were treated for cuts and bruises.

Mystic's Experiment Puzzles Scientists

LONDON, March 31. (US)—A spirit hand, conjured by Rudi Schneider, 23-year-old Austrian medium, was lifelike enough tonight to affect infra-red rays and set a bell ringing in a test conducted in the national laboratory for psychic research.

The fact that the spirit hand, the finger nails of which were plainly visible to the group of scientists observing the experiment, was capable of setting off the alarm guarded by infra-red rays was puzzling to observers, who will conduct further investigations.

Martial Rule Ordered For Mexican Elections

MEXICO CITY, March 31. (AP)—The entire republic will be under military control for 12 hours next Sunday during the primary elections for the selection of party candidates for the general elections July 3.

Upwards of 500 candidates are seeking the 158 federal deputy posts that must be filled this year. About 18 federal senators will be chosen, and state officials in most states.

Ex-Treasurer of School Charged With Embezzlement

IOWA CITY, Iowa, March 31.—Warrants were issued today for the arrest of W. J. McChesney, former treasurer of the University of Iowa, and Charles A. Brown, former university labor foreman, on information filed by County Attorney Floyd B. Olson.

McChesney, former president of the First National bank and Farmers' Loan and Trust company, was charged with embezzlement and Brown with forgery and uttering a forged instrument.

Heath and Diet Advice

Author of "The Fast Way to Health"
By DR. FRANK McCOY

Questions in regard to health and diet will be answered by Dr. McCoy who can be addressed in care of this paper.

(Copyright, 1932, by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

SUGGESTED MENUS

Dr. McCoy's menus suggested for the week beginning Sunday, April 3.

Sunday

Monday

Tuesday

Lunch—One pint of buttermilk with 10 or 12 dates.

Wednesday

Lunch—Stewed corn, cooked lettuce, ripe olives.

Thursday

Friday

Dinner—Tomato and celery broth, baked white fish, cooked turnips with tops, salad of small green peas and chopped celery molded in gelatin, raspberry whip.

Saturday

*Stuffed Cucumbers — Select cucumbers of medium size, peel, and cut into halves lengthwise. Scrape out seeds and place shells in a pan with enough water to simmer for about five minutes. Drain, and fill the shells with a stuffing made of chopped mushrooms and tomatoes. Sprinkle with melba toast crumbs and bake until tender in a moderate oven, about 40 minutes. Serve hot with piece of butter on each and chopped parsley.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Trichinosis

Question—Mrs. VanC. writes: "I have had an examination and the doctor advises I have trichinosis. I am in a very run-down condition and seem to be slipping back. The doctor did not tell me to do anything except to eat everything."

Answer — Trichinosis is usually caused from eating pork which has not been thoroughly cooked. Practically all cases of this diseases can be traced to the eating of raw sausage or improperly cooked pork. The eggs develop in the intestines and finally reach the muscles, where they may be found in the form of small worms. By cooking all pork thoroughly the danger of such infection is avoided. If you are troubled with this disease, it is important that you obtain plenty of sleep and you should use a fasting and dieting regimen. Hot baths with a temperature from 104 to 110 degrees Fahrenheit are beneficial.

Straightening Toes

Question—I. J. asks: "Will you tell me how I can straighten my feet? The great toe on each foot has grown toward the other toes until the large joint below protrudes out in a great bump. I thought of putting a non-flexible rod inside my shoe and bending large toes with rod, but wanted to ask your advice first. Would this do more harm than good?"

Answer — Most chiropodists will be able to fit you with a brace similar to the one you describe. You can wear these braces at night, and, if you wear sensible shoes, there is a chance for your toes to return to their natural shape.

Iodine

Question—Mrs. C. asks: "Is it all right to use iodized salt in our food?"

Stubborn Hog Delays Cross Country Bus

MIAMI, Okla., March 31. (AP)—One driver of a transcontinental bus is going to ask the management to equip his machine with a prod.

One of the buses came to a sliding stop on Main street here early in the morning. Two night patrolmen and a garage mechanic heard the commotion and investigated. They found the driver attempting to shoo a 200-pound sow out of the street.

The owner has not yet been found and the mystery of how the sow got on Main street, two miles from the nearest farm, has not been solved.

District Business Women To Convene at Vernon

VERNON, Texas, March 31. (AP)—West Texas cities in the first district of the Texas Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs will be represented at the annual district meeting here April 2 and 3.

Speakers will include several of the state officials. Miss Mary Jane Higgins of Fort Worth, past president and director at large for the six districts in Texas, will preside. Miss Mary O. Lilyerstrom of Beaumont, state president, Mrs. Faye Gordon of Amarillo, second vice president, and Mrs. Jack Eldridge of Amarillo, state treasurer, will be active in the meeting. Mrs. Irene Huber, president of the Vernon club, will be hostess.

Luling Man to Judge Plainview Dairy Show

PLAINVIEW, Texas, March 31. (AP)—Jack Shelton, manager of the Luling foundation, Luling, Texas, has been named as the judge of the fifth annual Texas Panhandle-Plains Dairy show to be held here April 11 to 14. Judging of cattle will start on Tuesday, April 12.

He has a wide experience as a judge, having judged at the Panhandle South Plains fair at Lubbock, Texas State Fair at Dallas, Fort Worth Fat Stock show, and at Oklahoma, Louisiana and other state fairs.

SQUEEZE PLAY AND BASE STEALING STRESSED IN CAMP TILT

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED THOMPSON

Double Tough

The Spudders this year made many rookies bear part or all of the expenses incident to the training season, but the regulars, as usual, received transportation to camp. So much cannot be said for some other class A regulars, notably those of the Wichita, Kan., club in the Western league.

Tank Horton of this city was a regular catcher for the Kansans last year and expected to return this season, as he still was under contract. But when they wired him to pay his own way to camp he changed his mind.

Horton, who trained with the Spudders a while, struck out for Louisiana and, we hear, is now with a Cotton States league club.

New League Planned

We have it on good authority that President Gardner of the Texas league is behind a movement to organize a class D Central Texas league. It would include such towns as Tyler, Kilgore, Longview, a few other towns in the Proation belt, and other points to the south and west.

Gardner is one of the nation's baseball lords who in extraordinary session up East recently agreed that formation of more class D leagues was necessary to save baseball from extinction. They all said they would get to work and organize some small leagues right away.

Well, Lord Gardner has really rolled up his sleeves and put some of the oratory into action. Gardner recently was over on the Atlantic coast boosting a lower class league, and now we hear of him beating the bushes of Central Texas for backers of another loop.

A Central Texas league built on a firm foundation is badly needed in this state, to absorb the leavings from the class A circuit and keep them handy for future use. But it must be a league that will stick; not a grand fizzle like the East Texas league of 1931.

First Baseball Glove

The other day we read of the death of a man claimed to have invented the safety razor.

Next day a dispatch said Alexander C. Smith, 76, said to have designed the first baseball glove, passed on.

The fact that both of these men succeeded in getting their names in the paper only by the unhandy method of dying is about as typically American as their contributions to this country's comfort and entertainment. The name we hear most often associated with the safety razor is not that of the deceased inventor, which escapes me at the moment, but Mr. Gillette. And the most popular name connected with the baseball glove is Al Spaulding, not Alexander C. Smith.

It would be difficult to think of two articles more typically American than a safety razor and a baseball glove. A Rotarian and a chamber of commerce secretary would run them a pretty close race, but the razor and the glove would triumph, we believe. A Rotarian can make a speech about our wondrous civilization, but a good shave is a shave, and that's that. And the c-c secretary can quote mottoes and slogans hours on end, but Bob Fuss lifting that old glove up for a one-handed, running catch is a lot more fun.

Yet the men who gave us these things are unhonored and unsung. The laurels, and the spondulicks, went not to the men who invented them, but to the men who exploited those inventions. In this country an inventor or creator of any kind must have a good sales manager or out he goes, like the rookie who struck out on a throw to first, as Bugs Baer says.

Rochester Tracksters Prepare for Tourney

Special to The Record News.

ROCHESTER, Texas, March 31.—Members of the Rochester track and field squad are being put through daily drills by Coach Ligon in preparation for the Haskell county interscholastic league meet. Rochester's chances this year repose with a hard-working and energetic squad, including three of last year's class B champions, T. J. Murphy, captain.; James Wyatt and John Wyatt. Others include Frank Greer, Aldene Hudson, William Hudson, Charles Gauntt, Bill Alvis, Granice Harcrow and Aubrey Shaver.

Red River Valley League Meets Tonight

Special to The Record News.

CROWELL, Texas, March 31.—The schedule for the six teams in the newly organized Red River Valley Baseball league will be completed in a meeting at the courthouse in Vernon Friday night of this week, according to Amos Lilly of Crowell, president of the league.

The following towns in the new circuit will have representatives at the meeting: Quanah, Oklaunion, Chillicothe, Crowell, Electra and Frederick, Okla. The first official games in the league are to be played on April 17.

Playoff for Amateur Billiard Title Tonight

NEW YORK, March 31. (AP)—Edmond Soussa of Egypt upset the defending champion, Albert Poenagen of Germany, 400 to 101, in the final match of the world's amateur 18.2 balkline billiard championship tournament at the New York Elks club tonight, forcing a playoff for the title between Poenagen and Adolphe van Belle of Belgium, tomorrow night.

Los Angeles Swimmer Sets World's Record

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 31. (AP)—Clarence (Buster) Crabbe of the Los Angeles A. C., set a new world's record tonight to win the national senior A. A. U. championship in the 300-yard medley swim. His time was 3 minutes, 36 2-5 seconds, two-fifths of a second better than the old mark.

REGULARS BEAT ROOKIES, 19-6

Skipper Hank Makes Camp Game Debut

The squeeze play and base stealing received major attention in the Spudder camp yesterday as the squad, divided into Yannigans and Regulars, went through a nine-inning practice game.

It was a lop-sided hitting spree, the Regulars making 18 hits count for 19 runs, while the Yannigans, subdued for five hitless innings by John Valsoano, broke out in the eighth and ninth to score six runs off Rebel Byram of Ringling, Okla., and avoid a shutout.

Special attention was devoted to the squeeze play, and it was put on whenever the opportunity was afforded. Base running in general, with the players practicing newly-learned signals, was a constant subject of conversation and demonstration as the team brushed up on fine points of the national pastime.

In the department of base stealing Debs Garms, center fielder, and Bob Fuss, right fielder, led the parade. Garms swiped second twice and third twice for a total of four bases, while Fuss committed second base thievery twice. Euller and Bejma beat the throw to second once each.

Severeid in Game

Manager Hank Severeid made his first appearance of the season in a camp game during Thursday's contest, working the first four frames behind the plate for the Regulars. In three times at bat the skipper reached second on an error, was called out on strikes, and walked. Rounding third base in the first on Valsoano's single, Manager Hank stumbled and fell; otherwise the Regulars would have scored 20 instead of 19 runs.

Behind the plate the skipper worked to perfection, and handled the throwing of Valsoano in a manner that was more than up to expectations. Valsoano's pitching was so good that opportunities for attempted base stealing on the part of the Yannigans were few and far between, so the skipper's whip to second was not demonstrated during the actual game; but in the infield drill preceding the contest the arm displayed plenty of fire and accuracy.

Definite plans for today's drill were not announced, but it is unlikely that another camp game will be staged in view of the two-day St. Paul series opening here Saturday. Secretary Airey announced Thursday the team would journey to Frederick, Okla., next Tuesday and Wednesday for games with the Des Moines Demons, in training there. The Demons will return the favor the following week-end. Meanwhile, a second Spudder team will play the Demons in Frederick Sunday while another meets the saints here.

Valsoano Stars

Valsoano was the pitching star of yesterday's game, his five-inning no-hit, no-run performance being far better than that staged by any of the three other hurlers. His successor, Byram, continued the good work in the sixth, allowing no hits, and predictions of a complete rout of the Rookies were going the rounds, but in the seventh Roy Sabine smacked a clean single to left. That was the beginning of the Rebel's downfall. In the next frame Gragg, Olney second baseman, poled a double down the left field foul line and Walker Taylor followed with a double to right to drive in the first Rookie run. In the ninth they fell on the Rebel for four more hits, including a second blazing double down the left field foul line by Gragg, and five more runs. In the rally Sabine also got another hit. Gragg and Sabine were the only Rookies to get two hits each. In all, the Rookies got seven.

Frank Smiley was the victim of the terrific cannonading of the Regulars. He yielded 16 of the Regulars' 18 hits, and 16 of their 19 runs, in addition to walking eight. Paul Spencer was a little better but he left wading around in hot water. The last out saved his hide, for the bases were loaded, and the boys had already served warning they hadn't had enough hits, for Red Badgro had just socked one over the right field fence for the only home run of the game.

Hatchery Sends Trout To Hoover Fishing Camp

NASHUA, N. H., March 31. (AP)—A consignment of 320 fully grown trout was shipped today by the United States fish hatchery here to the Rapidan river camp of President Hoover in Virginia.

The trout will be released for the enjoyment of the president and his guests during their occasional week-ends at the camp.

JUST A BREEZE

Each Winner to Be Record Holder in First Swim Meet

AUSTIN, March 31. (AP)—The winner in each event in the coming Southwest conference swimming meet will establish a conference record, and no records will be broken.

It will be the first conference swimming meet ever held. Each winner of first place automatically will become holder of the conference record.

The meet will be held tomorrow and Saturday at the University of Texas.

Rice, Southern Methodist, Texas and Texas A. & M. have entered teams. Texas Christian university and Baylor also were expected to compete.

DEMONS PLAY BEARDS TODAY

Grover Cleveland Alexander Slated to Pitch

Special to The Record News.

FREDERICK, Okla., March 31.—The Des Moines Demons, champions of the Western league last year, will go into action for the first time this season Friday afternoon when Grover Cleveland Alexander, former major league pitching star, brings his bewhiskered House of David team here for an exhibition game.

The last missing Demon had put in his appearance at the Des Moines training base in Frederick today, and despite a brief setback this week due to bad weather, the squad was in fine condition and anxious to blast the lid off the exhibition schedule. Sunday the team meets a detachment of the Wichita Falls Texas league Spudders, and Tuesday and Wednesday they journey to Wichita Falls for two more games. The Spudders play here Saturday and Sunday, April 9 and 10.

Advance notices stated Grover Cleveland Alexander, erstwhile Cardinal pitching ace, will start for the House of David team in the Friday game.

Another House of David aggregation will play the Demons here April 16. On April 17 Des Moines will play the Oklahoma City Indians at Oklahoma City. The Indians will play here later, but the date for the game has not been set. Other games are planned with Fort Sill.

E. Lee Keyser, president of the Des Moines club, arrived here early this week.

HOW'D THIS 'LINEUP' SUIT YOU, GROVER?

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 31. (US)—The manager of the House of David baseball nine, which played the Yankees here yesterday afternoon, neglected to send along the names of his players, much to the disappointment of the scoreboard man who operates at Water Front Park. But a little thing like that was not enough to stop this energetic vender. He was on deck at game time with an "official scoreboard," and the fans read the following lineup besides the inning boxes, if they cared to keep score:

Whiskers	cf	Moustachio	ss
Sideboard	3b	Flowing Locks	c
Goatee	rf	Vandyke	lf
Spinach	1b	Trade Smith	p
Beard	2b	Mark Smith	p

Umpires—Combs and Shears.

On the other side of the "official" card was the lineup and batting order of the Yankees, listed properly. They had sent in the lineup in advance.

Rice Netter Beats New Orleans Star

HOUSTON, Texas, March 31. (AP)—Frankie Parker of New Orleans was the victim today of the daily upset in the second annual Houston invitation tennis tournament, falling before Jake Hess of Rice institute in three sets, 3-6, 8-6, 6-4.

Hess was the last player to qualify for the quarter finals.

Fortune was kind to the other favorites.

J. Gilbert Hall of New York, seeded number 4, Canadian indoor champion, defeated Arthur Trum of Houston, 6-4, 6-2.

Junior Coen of Kansas City, seeded No. 5, had difficulty in winning over Hal Surface, Texas university, in three sets, 6-3, 4-6, 7-5.

"Red" Thalheimer of Dallas came through a stiff match with Charles Sloan of Houston, winning 7-5, 6-4.

Hall, Coen, Stoeffen, Thalheimer and Hess joined Wilmer Allison of Austin, Texas, seeded No. 2; Jimmy Quick of Dallas and Kari Kamrath of Texas university, both unseeded, as quarter finalists.

Memorial Services For Knute Rockne Held

SOUTH BEND, Ibd., March 31. (AP)—Knute Rockne's spirit marched on in double quick time at Notre Dame today, the first anniversary of his tragic death.

Memorial services were held after which his successor as head football coach, Hartly Anderson, assembled Notre Dame's 1932 football army, 250 strong, for the first spring practice.

The entire student body arose at dawn and attended a solemn requiem high mass at the Church of the Sacred Heart, where Rockne's funeral services were held.

ROOKIES CRASH MAJOR LEAGUES

Score Earn Berths as 1932 Regulars

NEW YORK, March 31. (AP)—The ranks of the baseball rookies, although already rapidly dwindling as the big league teams start homeward, apparently have produced at least a score of players who will make the regular pay rolls for the first time.

For every one who seems to have negotiated the sharp grade, however, at least a half dozen either have been cut adrift or will be shipped back to the minors.

Of those due to start their first major league season as regulars, the brace of kid infielders obtained by the Yankees and Cubs look to be the cream of the crop. The New York club plans to open the campaign with Frank Crosetti and Otto Saltzgaver as its keystone combination while the Chicago outfit goes to the wire with Billy Herman on second and Stanley Hack holding down third base. The performances of all four have been among the spring's big sensations.

Sens Get Pitcher

The New York Giants will start with Leonard Koenecke, the rookie slugger from Indianapolis, in left field and Jim Mooney, pitching sensation from Bridgeport, taking a regular turn.

The Athletics present a solid front of veterans to the rookie challenge, but Connie Mack has determined to keep four new men, Pitcher Merritt Cain, Outfielder Ed Coleman, Catcher Ed Madjeski and First Baseman Oscar Roettger for utility purposes.

The Brooklyn Dodgers appear to have only one sure-fire prospect, Van Mungo, one of the pitchers who helped Hartford spread-eagle the Eastern league last year. The St. Louis Browns likewise have a fine mound prospect in Louis America Poili, purchased from Milwaukee.

Harris at Pittsburgh

Until he became ill this week, George Stumpf, an outfielder from Quincy, was believed to have clinched a job with the Boston Red Sox. The Braves of the same city are counting on Fritz Knothe, from Portland, to hold down third base.

The best Pittsburgh rookie is Bill Harris, a right-hander who came up from the Texas league late last season to pitch four games and win two of them by shutouts. The Detroit Tigers apparently picked a good one in Bill Lawrence, outfielder from Seattle, and the Cleveland Indians are sweet on Bruce Connatser, the New Orleans boy, even though he has failed to knock Eddie Morgan off first base.

George Davis, a heavy hitting outfielder purchased from St. Paul, is expected to give the Philadelphia Nationals added punch. Pitchers Ed Holley and Roy Hansen and Al Todd, a scrappy catcher, from Dallas, are expected to stick with the Phils.

Reno And Moran Wrestle Tonight

Marquis of Packing House rules will prevail tonight when Sailor Moran of Chicago meets Joe Reno, Kansas City, in the main event of Whitey Grove's wrestling show. Both men are rough, the promoter declared. Reno met Tistu Higami in a previous match here, while Moran has defeated Jack Fields and Kid Murdock before local fans.

Joe Kopecky will meet Joe Boyd in the semifinal, and there also will be a preliminary in which Kid Jo Jo of Dallas will appear. Jo Jo also will act as referee in the other bouts.

Training Camp Chatter

SPORTS 2, CHISOX 3

SHREVEPORT, La., March 31. (AP)—Shreveport stopped the winning streak of the Chicago White Sox at nine games by handing the major leaguers their first defeat of the spring campaign today, 9 to 3.

Willis, rookie southpaw for the Sports, allowed only two hits without a run until the eighth inning, when three runs were made off him. The Sislermen hopped on Southpaw Erickson in the sixth and scored eight runs, driving him to the showers.

RED SOX 7, REDS 3

SAVANNAH, Ga., March 31. (AP)—The Boston Red Sox today swamped the Cincinnati Reds, 7 to 3, in the former's first major league clash of the training season. Pete Donohue, veteran right-hander, and Bob Kline pitched great ball for the American leaguers, who clinched the game by pounding Owen Carroll for seven hits in the last three innings.

"MOST IMPROVED TEAMS"

CHICAGO, March 31. (UP)—The New York Yankees and Chicago White Sox are the two most improved teams in the American league in the estimation of President Will Harridge who has just returned from a tour of the training camps.

"I rate the Athletics and Yankees about on par," said Harridge. "The Yankees seem to have landed the best young player of the year in Shortstop Frank Crosetti and their pitching staff appears considerably stronger than last year. The Athletics are certainly not going to make a runaway race of the American league this season, and it wouldn't surprise me to see the Yankees beat them out."

Next to the Yankees, Harridge rates the White Sox, who finished in last place in 1931, as the most improved club he saw in training. He visited every American league camp except that of the Detroit Tigers, who trained in California.

"I rate the White Sox about 1-2-3 in pitching and around sixth in fielding and hitting," said Harridge. "I expect the White Sox to prove a big surprise and they may battle Cleveland for fourth or fifth place."

CATS 7, COLUMBUS 3

FORT WORTH, March 31. (AP)—A pair of youthful members of the Fort Worth Panthers burst forth with a bombardment of base hits this afternoon that had Columbus of the American association seeking shelter. And because of the surprise attack, launched and manned by Alex Hooks and Ulmont Baker, the Panthers were able to score a 7-3 victory, their first of the spring exhibition games against professional competition.

REDWINGS 10, STEERS 1

DALLAS, March 31. (AP)—The Rochester Redwings, 1932 Little World series champions, slapped hits all over Steer stadium today to beat the Dallas Steers, 10-1. Manager Southworth in centerfield and Pepper, Leftfielder, led the attack with three hits each.

ST. LOUIS CARDINALS

BRADENTON, Fla., March 31. (AP)—Gabby Street and his world champion Cardinals entrained for Atlanta at 5:10 p. m. today.

They embarked on a northward barnstorming trip that will end in St. Louis Thursday night, April 7.

Their first engagement will be with the Crackers at Alanta tomorrow. Jim Lindsey, a new member of the corps of starting pitchers, will take the mound.

ST. LOUIS BROWNS

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 31. (AP)—The St. Louis Browns broke camp today after 30 days of training under a Florida sun. After changing trains at Jacksonville tonight the team will pull into Montgomery, Ala., tomorrow for the first of three games with the Minneapolis club of the American association.

DODGERS 10, ORIOLES 3

GULFPORT, Miss., March 31. (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers won a loosely played game from the Baltimore Orioles 10 to 3 today.

Waite Hoyt, who pitched the first five innings for the Dodgers allowed only two hits, both of which paved the way for runs. Bill Clark finished the game which was called at the end of the eighth to allow Baltimore to catch a train.

CUBS 8, PIRATES 3

LOS ANGELES, March 31. (AP)—An inclination of some of the Chicago Cubs toward home runs made a nice showing for them today under the eyes of their new "boss," P. K. Wrigley, son of the late William Wrigley. The Cubs' 8 to 3 victory over Pittsburgh was due largely to the hitting of Gabby Hartnett and Vince Barton.

In the sixth inning, Hartnett hit a homer to tie the score and in the seventh drove a single scoring two runs, giving Chicago a 5 to 3 lead.

The climax came in the eighth when Vince Barton bludgeoned a home run with two men on bases.

Rain Postpones Play In Women's Golf Meet

PINEHURST, N. C., March 31. (US)—The semifinals of the 20th annual women's North and South golf championship were postponed today because of rain.

Maureen Orcutt, defending champion, opposes Mrs. O. S. Hill of Kansas City, tomorrow when play is resumed while Margaret Maddox of Atlanta clashes with Mrs. S. F. Wadsworth of Pittsburgh.

HANDBALL CHAMP

DALLAS, March 31. (AP)—R. D. Fielder of Houston today annexed the Southern A. A. U. singles handball championship by beating his fellow townsman, C. L. Anderson, in the finals here, 21 to 13 and 21 to 8. Both represented the Houston Y. M. C. A.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, March 31. (AP)—Yesterday's rallies were followed by renewed weakness in cotton today, with prices yielding under comparatively small offerings while buying seemed to be restricted to scale down orders.

Prices made new low ground for the movement on most positions with May selling off to 6.02 or 30 points net lower and closing at 6.10, with the general market closing barely steady at net declines of 2 to 22 points.

Two private reports on acreage intentions were issued, one pointing to a decrease of 7 per cent and the other to a reduction of 9.3 per cent.

Liverpool cables reported liquidation and selling on the early advance in sterling and said there was a moderate demand for cotton cloth from South America and Africa.

Futures closed barely steady, 20 to 22 points lower. Spot quiet; middling, 6.20.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW YORK, March 31. (AP)—Cotton was fairly active, particularly in the afternoon, and prices fluctuated within a range of 30 points, but closed only a little over a dollar a bale down. After opening 5 to 6 points down and recovering most of this initial loss right after the start, prices turned easy and before the decline culminated had dropped 30 points from the highs. The weakness was mainly due to the decline in stocks. The market recovered 9 to 10 points at the end on covering and the close was nervous and erratic at net declines for the day of 21 to 22 points.

Liverpool is due tomorrow on New Orleans 8 to 9 penny points down.

Port receipts 34,573, for week 97,513, for season 9,100,920; last season 8,508,184. Exports 47,859, for week 140,548, for season 6,755,478, last season 5,476,133. Port stock 4,418,812. Last year 3,806,527. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 156,632, last year 112,744. Spot sales at southern markets 7,099, last year 7,170.

Futures closed nervous and erratic at net declines of 21 to 22 points:

DRY GOODS MARKET

NEW YORK, March 31. (AP)—Efforts are being made to increase curtailment of production in print cloth mills following continued slow business.

Finished goods are moving in moderate volume. Rayon production is contracting steadily due to light demand. Quiet conditions continue in first hands silk and wool fabrics markets.

Action of Markets Disheartening As Rally Gives Way to Declines

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, March 31 (US)—Despite almost universal expectation of at least one day of technical influences favorable to the market, stock prices suffered sharp depreciation today. Bond quotations, too, yielded substantially.

An early spurt of strength in shares, presumably in response to initial "calling" of borrowed stocks in anticipation of the new lending rule of the stock exchange, gave way to a persistent selling wave.

Toward the close the downward movement was accelerated and resulted in especially severe declines among a long list of issues.

Public utilities, in particular, were subjected to severe pressure, suffering larger net losses on the average than either industrials or rail shares. The latter, however, were not far behind utilities in average net declines. Both groups descended to new lows for the bear market. The industrials are not far from their previous "bottom."

It was a day of intense psychological depression for Wall street, not so much because the market was declining but because of the absence of surface explanation.

Short-selling hardly could be blamed for the general weakness, although in a few instances such pressure may have caused the price slump. Volume totalled 1,500,000 shares.

Initial cause of the decline was renewed nervousness over the Missouri Pacific April 1 maturities. Why there should be any immediate worry over the Missouri Pacific situation is difficult to understand, since the bankers and the reconstruction finance corporation are making available to the road sufficient funds to tide it over at least the next six months.

The intense weakness in the Missouri Pacific bonds had all the earmarks of genuine distress selling not directly related necessarily with the actual present status of the road.

The bonds' weakness, however, upset the entire railroad bond market, especially the lower-grade issues and the influence also was felt in the rail share market.

Stock of the Atchison, which certainly ranks, if any, as a staunch railroad property, suffered a severe sinking spell which closed it down 7 points net. Immediately the entire railroad list followed the decline. Atchison's weakness reflects expectation of a dividend reduction.

Selling of rails seemed stemmed for a while with official announcement that the reconstruction finance corporation had "finally approved" the advances to Missouri Pacific.

But the utilities continued to feel the effects of persistent offerings which forced various large-capitalization issues to new lows.

Electric Power & Light was under particular pressure as were other members of the electric bond and share group, along with North American and virtually the entire utility section.

Most of the selling was attributed to Canadian insurance sources, despite persistent denials that this was so. It is definitely asserted by well-informed individuals that one of the largest banking houses in the United States has been acting as agent in such liquidation.

The 10 per cent drop in electric power output was a fundamental explanation for the utilities' weakness, and of course another prime influence is the necessity for unravelling the vast, complicated and overburdened capital superstructures imposed on utilities during boom days. This oversupply of capitalization is probably the major influence in the weakness of many of the utilities.

A contributing influence in the day's weakness was the approval by the house of representatives of a ¼ of 1 per cent tax on sale of stocks. Apparently the market feared that this action may dampen trading in such a manner as to make much more difficult the consummation of such operations as still are essential to the return of stability. The psychological influence of the market on public sentiment must be recognized in any revival campaign.

When the market closed, Wall street was still as much confused over the new "borrowing" rule as ever. A scramble, described as "wild as the selling scramble before the close," developed in many prominent stocks in the "loan crowd" as attempts were made to borrow stocks.

This means that shorts who are borrowing these stocks pay $50 per hundred shares each day to the stocks' owners. It is an enormous penalty and demonstrates above all other facts that, from confusion or actual shortage of loanable stock, there was today a tremendous demand for borrowing stocks, proportionate to the supply available. It may be that with the passage of another day or two these fantastic premiums will be reduced or eliminated. Certainly, such attractive bonuses for lending stock are bound to bring offerings, especially since there are outstanding over 8,000,000 shares steel common, 2,500,000 Westinghouse shares, and 18,000,000 American Telephone shares.

In all 31 stocks commanded premiums. One-quarter charge was made for borrowing Allied Chemical, Auburn and Case. Smaller premiums were demanded on Sears-Roebuck, steel preferred, and Western Union, all ¼; Allis-Chalmers, Kreuger & Toll, Peoples Gas, Sinclair, Adams Express and Kresge, 1-256; American Can, Royal Dutch and Bethlehem, 1-16; American Foreign Power, Goodyear, Harvester, Borden, North American, Union Carbide, General Electric, Atchison, Paramount, Electric Power and Light, Western Maryland, 1-128; American Tobacco "B" 1-64; and Union Pacific 1-32.

The long premium list is most unusual and may bring in covering by frightened shorts. But the market depends for lasting recovery on more than short-covering.

The Pacific coast markets were strong after New York had closed.

Grain

TEXAS CASH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, March 31. (AP)—Demand for all commodities except wheat continued very good today on the cash grain market here.

Quotations ranged as follows, basis carloads, freight paid, delivered Texas gulf ports, export rate, and Texas common points: Wheat—No. 1 ordinary hard milling 55½@56½c; No. 1 hard, 13 per cent protein 56@57c; 14 per cent 58@59c; 15 per cent 60@61c; 16 per cent 62@63c. Barley—No. 2 nominally 40@41c. Sorghums—No. 2 milo, per 100 pounds 69@70c; No. 2 kaffir 70@71c.

Delivered Texas common points: Oats—No. 2 red 24@25c.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, March 31. (AP)—Sudden tumbling of grain values late today accompanied congressional voting of heavily increased taxes on exchange dealings in securities and agricultural commodities.

Price setbacks much more than offset earlier advances, and were apparently regardless of broader North American wheat export business estimated at 1,250,000 bushels, largely hard winter wheat from the United States. The overturn of cereal values was also in the face of continued unfavorable domestic wheat crop advices from the Southwest and West.

Closing indemnities—Wheat, May 52½@⅝, 54⅝@⅞; July 55@55⅛, 58⅝@½; Sept. 57⅛@⅝, 59⅝. Corn, May, 35⅝@⅞, 36⅝@⅞; July 38⅝@39, 39⅝; Sept. 40⅝, 41⅛@¼.

PIT NOTES

CHICAGO, March 31. (US)—Private reports on condition of the United States winter wheat crop are to be released to the trade tomorrow morning. The government report is to be issued April 8. Traders expect that reports will reveal improvement in condition in most areas, but poorer conditions in western sections of the belt.

So far, 25 "guesses" on winter wheat production in the United States have averaged 475,000,000 bushels, Broomhall says. This compares with a harvest of 787,485,000 bushels a year ago.

During the past 10 years the condition of wheat from Dec. 1 to April 1 has improved only four times, while it has declined six times. The net decrease averaged for the period is 4.9 per cent.

102. LEGAL NOTICES

TO ALL PERSONS holding claims against the defendants, Atlantic, Pacific & Gulf Oil company, Atlantic, Pacific & Gulf Refining company, Pennsylvania Petroleum company, Plass Engineering corporation, Orient Petroleum Company of Illinois, Inc., and Pennsylvania Consumers Oil company. You are hereby notified that on the 4th day of March, A. D., 1932, in the cause of Dean O. Howe vs. Atlantic, Pacific & Gulf Oil company, a corporation, et al, No. 277 in equity, the following order was entered in the United States district court for the northern district of Texas:

"This day came on to be heard the application of Nelson E. Johnson and Leslie Humphrey, ancillary receivers, for an order requiring the filing of claims with said receivers and limiting the time for presentation thereof; and the court after considering the same is of the opinion that said application should be granted.

"It is, therefore, ordered that all persons, firms or corporation having claims or demands against the defendants, Atlantic, Pacific & Gulf Oil company, Atlantic, Pacific & Gulf Refining company, Pennsylvania Petroleum company, Plass Engineering corporation, Orient Petroleum Company of Illinois, Inc., and Pennsylvania Consumers Oil company, are required on or before June 1, A. D., 1932, under penalty of thereafter having such claims disallowed, to file the same with Leslie Humphrey, one of the receivers herein, at 910 City National bank building, Wichita Falls, Texas, which claims or demands shall be supported by affidavit and shall set out the amount and nature of any security or lien held by the claimant or to which the claimant is entitled, and also any claim to preference in payment from the assets in the hands of the receivers or the earnings therefrom in priority to any other creditors of the defendants.

"It is further ordered that the said Leslie Humphrey, ancillary receiver, shall report to this court the claims so filed, and his approval or rejection thereof for further consideration by this court.

"It is further ordered that said receivers shall, as soon as they can conveniently do so after the 5th of March, A. D., 1932, publish each week for four consecutive calendar weeks in a newspaper published and of general circulation in Wichita Falls, Texas, a copy of this order, and shall also give notice by mail to all creditors and claimants of whose names and addresses the records of said corporation reflect.

"Wm. H. Atwell, judge.

"March 4, 1932."

You are to take notice of said order, and will file with Leslie Humphrey, one of the ancillary receivers, at his office at 910 City National bank building, Wichita Falls, Texas, proof or your claim as required by said order, under penalty of having same disallowed unless you file same in compliance with said order.

Nelson E. Johnson, Leslie Humphrey, ancillary, receivers.

KGKO to Give Mass Written By Wichita Woman

Radio station KGKO will include in its broadcast next Sunday, April 3, at 2 p. m., the "Festival Mass" written by Mrs. Charlene B. Underwood of this city and sung at high mass at the Sacred Heart church on Easter Sunday morning, it was announced Thursday.

Arrangements for broadcasting the mass were made, it was explained, because of numerous requests for its presentation made by persons who were unable to attend the 10 o'clock service at the Catholic church on Easter morning.

Singing of the six movements in the service will require about 30 minutes. The musical setting completed by Mrs. Underwood utilizes a variety of voice combinations, and has numerous short solo passages. With Mrs. Carl Edwards as accompanist, the mass will be sung by Mrs. Elliott Burlew, Mrs. George Kelly, Mrs. M. M. Bates, sopranos; Misses Frances Oeschsner and Lillian Buchanan, contraltos; J. S. Minton, W. L. Underwood, tenors; Nick Oeschsner and James Williams, basses. The choir will sing under the direction of Mr. Underwood, at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Girl Pens Note to Lover Before Taking Poison

DALLAS, March 31. (UP)—A Dallas girl who wrote a farewell note to her sweetheart, directed disposal of her insurance money and then drank poison may recover, although physicians say the dose she took was large enough to kill five persons.

Apparently it was intended to be discovered today. It read in part: "Good-bye sweetheart; I said goodbye last night, but you didn't seem to think I meant it." Other sections enjoined relatives not to "spend too much on me."

Fabulous Movie Salaries Untrue, Nagel Declares

CHICAGO, March 31. (US)—Reports of fabulous salaries paid the movie stars in Hollywood mostly are the bunk, Conrad Nagel said today in an address before the Chicago Association of Commerce. In a charity relief campaign he related he had access to the pay rolls of the 25,000 employes in Hollywood.

"Of all this number," he said, "only 23, or less than one-tenth of one per cent, were receiving anywhere near the colossal salaries we hear discussed."

Textile Workers Strike For Better Pay and Hours

LANGLEY, S. D., March 31. (INS)—Assured their action has the approval of the American Federation of Labor, approximately 400 textile mill workers remained on strike here today in an effort to obtain more satisfactory wages and working hours.

Paul Fuller, educational director of the American Federation of Labor, told the workers their strike had the approval of officials of his organization.

Film Celebrities Wed After Tia Juana Flight

TIJUANA, Mexico, March 31. (AP)—Greta Nissen and Weldon Heyburn, both film players, flew here from Hollywood and were married late today in a civil ceremony by Judge Ricardo Gibert of the Mexican civil court, in the bridal suite at a popular bar and hotel.

HABEAS CORPUS PASSED

SAN ANTONIO, March 31. (AP)—Habeas corpus hearing for H. C. Patterson, charged with murder in connection with the killing of Fred Valdes here Monday night, was passed in District Judge McCrory's court today.

The hearing was postponed because Louis Schlesinger, attorney for the defendant, was engaged in another case.

Series Of Thefts Reported To Police

Charges of burglary were filed Thursday afternoon in state court here by city police against Rich Cole, negro, arrested Thursday shortly after an automobile casing and mechanic's tools were reported missing from a garage operated by John White, negro, 110 Park. The loot was recovered.

Burglars who forced an entrance into the office of the Shamburger Lumber company Wednesday night failed to open the company safe after wrecking the combination dial. Company officials reported nothing missing from the office, police said.

Loss of a camera, valued at $12.50, was reported to police Thursday by Mrs. F. N. Bittick, 2007 Elizabeth. Ed Painter, 408 Humphreys, told police Thursday 75 feet of brown garden hose had been taken from his residence.

An all-negro private war at 9 o'clock Thursday morning on Lake street sent an entry to the Wichita General hospital for treatment of several knife wounds, and the other to the city jail, pending filing charges of assault.

The injured man closed the battle with a dash through a negro cafe, grabbing a pistol and firing twice in the general direction of his opponent. Neither shot hit its mark.

Three C-C Committees Hold Meetings Today

Three Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce committees will meet Friday. The program committee of the business council will convene at 9 o'clock Friday morning to complete programs for council luncheons for the period prior to July 1.

The civic activities group will meet at 3:30 o'clock Friday afternoon to plan a coordinated program for the city-wide spring cleanup, April 3-9. All local civic organizations will be enlisted in working with the U. S. department of labor employment service and using the American Legion man-a-block plan.

A meeting of the taxation group will be held at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon. The meeting was previously set for Thursday afternoon.

Muskrats in Oregon Threaten Dikes and Dams

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., March 31. (US)—An appeal was made to the state game commission today to enact the role of a modern Pied Piper and rid Klamth basin of hordes of muskrats said to be attacking dikes and levees and threatening with floods thousands of acres of agricultural lands.

Muskrats already have caused 28 breaks on Rock Creek ranch on upper Klamath lake, flooding 1,800 acres of agricultural land, menacing barriers and canal banks in the Klamath project of the United States reclamation service, where thousands of acres of land lie below the dikes and canals.

WOMAN WINS $13,000 SUIT

Court Enters Judgment For Mrs. Tedford

Mrs. Pearl Tedford was awarded a judgment against the Wichita Falls Traction company Thursday morning for $13,000 by Judge W. W. Cook in the 78th district court.

Entering of judgment for Mrs. Tedford follows almost two years of litigation upon her claim. The plaintiff charged that she received serious and permanent injuries when an ambulance in which she was being carried as a patient in July, 1930, collided at Thirteenth and Holliday streets with a street car.

Mrs. Tedford won a verdict for $15,000 damages in the first trial before Judge P. A. Martin in the 89th district court. The court later set aside that verdict. A second trial of the case resulted in a hung jury. Carried to the 78th district court, the action was tried a third time, and a jury awarded the plaintiff $13,000.

Within a short time after that verdict was rendered, the court of civil appeals found for the traction company in ruling on the Jeter case from this city, in which a similar question was involved. Upon the basis of that decision, Judge Cook set aside the judgment for Mrs. Tedford. On a motion for rehearing the appellate court reversed itself, and Judge Cook accordingly set aside the judgment rendered for the defendant; and again granted Mrs. Tedford a judgment for damages.

Junior C-C to Seek Big Vote April 5

Plans for political education with a view to increasing the nation's voting strength in 1932, adopted by the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce, were endorsed Thursday by board members of the local junior chamber at the regular luncheon at the Wichita club. Chairman Sam Gibbs of the political education committee is now active in planning a record vote at the local polls for the city election April 5.

Reports on plans for the Spudder opening day game, April 18, regional conference work at Oklahoma City and ratification of a national plan to design membership emblems were discussed in the business period.

Scholastic Census Ready in 10 Days

A check of the scholastic census for the Wichita Falls public school system is expected to be completed within 10 days with the close of the census period Thursday, Supt. H. D. Fillers said Thursday afternoon. Checks of preliminary census returns are now under way but no indication of what the total figure will be could be made by Mr. Fillers. The census was taken under the direction of principals of the city schools.

An added impetus for pupil assistance in listing scholastics for the 1932-33 period was used by principals who offered toothpaste awards to students securing names not listed in the regular census.

MARCH SETS COLD RECORD

Temperature Takes Wide Range in Month

A minimum temperature record of 18 degrees on March 10, established a March record for low thermometer readings in Wichita Falls since operation of the Texas Electric Service company bureau starting in 1924. The mean temperature for the period was 52.58 degrees, higher than for March, 1931, when the average was 50.68, while the minimum for March, 1931, was 19 degrees on the 27th, the bureau said Thursday in its monthly report.

The maximum temperature of 90 degrees on March 20 and 25, exceeded all other records for the month since 1924 with the exception of 1928 and 1929, when the maximum was 96 and 95 degrees, respectively.

Precipitation for March, with .29 inches, was lower than any March record since 1925, when the total was .14 inches. Three days of the 31-day period had precipitation of .01 inches or more as compared with six days in 1931. March, 1932, exceeded the same period in 1931 for clear days with 13 as compared with 12. Both March, 1932, and 1931 had seven partly cloudy days with 11 cloudy this year and 12 in 1931.

A light frost was reported March 22, 1932, but March, 1931, had frost on five days. Three sandstorms were recorded for this year on March 20, 21 and 30, with none in 1931. No hail or sleet was recorded either year. Precipitation for March, 1931, totaled 3.18 degrees, with 1.5 inches on the first day of the month while the one-day record this year was .24 inches on March 27.

The greatest daily range in temperature this year was on March 21, when the thermometer revealed a variation of 47 degrees as compared with a variation of 34 degrees on March 4, 11, 12 and 27 in 1931. The mean maximum temperature for the past month was 67.16 degrees as compared with 62.55 degrees a year ago. At the same time the mean minimum temperature dropped slightly under that of a year ago with 38 degrees as compared with 38.81 in March, 1931.

Grocer Fined $25 On Health Law Violation

Pleading guilty to a charge of having offered for sale adulterated foodstuffs, a grocer in this county was fined $25 and costs by Justice of the Peace O. L. Gibbs Thursday afternoon. The complaint was filed by a state health officer, and was taken by Otis E. Nelson, assistant county attorney.

A man was fined $1 and costs Thursday morning by Judge Irvin J. Vogel in the county court at law on a plea of guilty to drunkenness.

C-C QUESTIONNAIRE

Statistics on organization of chamber of commerce in towns of the Wichita Falls area in North Texas and Southern Oklahoma will be sought in questionnaires to be distributed soon by the trade area development service of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce. The statistics will reveal information about all commercial organizations in the area and if no such organization exists, if the public desires one. Plans for the questionnaire were outlined Thursday at a meeting of the service committee, Chairman Julian Montgomery said.

Nelson Chides Curlee On 'Publicity Itch' And Cites Opponent's Record

Charges that Walter Curlee, candidate for mayor, "worked in the interest of the gas company" during his term of office on the city council and that Mr. Curlee left the city under a "staggering load of debt" accumulated during his service were made by Mayor Walter Nelson Jr. in a statement issued Thursday.

Mayor Nelson issued his statement in answer to one appearing in The Record News Thursday morning and chided Mr. Curlee on an alleged "itch for publicity." His statement follows:

"Mr. Curlee, in his itching for publicity, has recently given three statements to the press. In his first statement, which was made just prior to his announcement for the office of mayor, he endorsed the fine work done by the city council in no unmeasured terms, and at the same time said that while he had been urged to make the race for mayor, he would not do so if the present mayor was a candidate.

"Soon after his announcement he gave to the press, another statement in which he made an attack upon the city council and me, charging that we were playing politics in the gas situation, to which I made a short reply saying in effect that the gas controversy would not have arisen but for the fact that Mr. Curlee, when he was a member of the city council, sponsored the cause of the gas company and made the motion to raise the gas rate to the present price.

Gas Rates and Eggs

"Because I called attention to this official act upon the part of Mr. Curlee he seems to have become infuriated, and as a result, in The Wichita Falls Record News of March 31st, writes a lengthy statement in personal criticism of me, but since he made no attack on my official record as mayor of Wichita Falls, I assume that it is satisfactory even to him. At least he said it was in the first statement he gave to the press.

"When driven to the necessity of admitting that he worked in the interest of the gas company in foisting upon the city of Wichita Falls the oppressive gas rate they are now compelled to pay, he tried to justify himself by saying that in the winter of 1919-20 the gas supply was low and that eggs were high; he could not say that the margin of profit the gas company was making at that time was not all it should have had, and in this connection it is interesting to note that Mr. Curlee remained a member of the council until April 10, 1922, and during all of that time made no effort to correct the wrong that he had done to the people he was supposed to serve, and even as late as March 31, 1932, says "I am proud of my action at that time." In the light of this statement no other conclusion can be drawn than that he still thinks, and is proud of it, that the present price should obtain.

On City Building

"He boasts that when I was wearing knee pants he was a city builder, but if he was then the city is to be pitied, for aside from his activities for the gas company, he went out of office leaving a staggering load of indebtedness on the city which has been almost too heavy to bear. Mr. Curlee says in his last statement that he asked the members of the council to take up with other public utilities (not the gas) the matter of rate reduction, and that the council has reduced the cost of current for power and street lights, which will probably save $8,000 or $10,000 per year, but that the mayor has withheld this announcement for political purposes. I never heard of any suggestion of this kind coming from Mr. Curlee to the council, but it is a fact that the present council is working on this problem, and when any negotiations have been completed the citizens will be told just as in the gas situation. The council used ever effort to get the gas company to reduce the price, and when they failed in that they passed the ordinance reducing the rate, and the record will show that I have done everything in my power to put the rate into force.

"He closes his statement by saying that if he is elected that "for once the small home owners and the working men will be represented on the city council. If so, he will be a different man from what he was when he served as a councilman, for then he put the city in debt, created the highest tax rate it has known, raised the gas rate, and now says, 'I am proud of my action at that time.'

"Walter Nelson Jr."

Firemen Squelch Blaze On Bank Building Roof

Chemical extinguishers were used in controlling a minor fire without damage at 1 o'clock Thursday afternoon on the roof of the City National bank building when roof patching materials ignited. Trucks of the fire department answered the alarm.

Wichita Boys to Appear In National Musicale

William Huff and Art Davis, representatives of Wichita Falls' schools, will leave Friday for Cleveland, Ohio, where they will take part in vocal and musical programs before the National Music Supervisors conference next week. Both youths will be accompanied by their mothers, Mrs. William E. Huff and Mrs. Art Davis.

William Huff will take part in a national high school chorus of 500 voices and Young Davis, a violinist, will take part in a national school orchestra. Programs of the conference will be broadcast by a nationwide system. It is an exceptional honor for the students to be invited to take part in the programs as requirements are high, Supt. H. D. Fillers said Thursday. Huff has memorized 17 songs while Davis has memorized 54 pages of music for the occasion.

TO THE VOTERS OF WICHITA FALLS

For the past two years the undersigned members of the Wichita Falls city council have worked with Mayor Walter Nelson Jr. and feeling that our friends will be interested and are entitled to know what we think of Mr. Nelson as a public official we are making this statement.

This Is a Part of the Record Made by the Present Administration

On Jan. 1, 1931, land values were reduced an additional 10%.

On Jan. 1, 1931, fiscal improvements were reduced in value for tax purposes 10%.

This Represents an Annual Saving in Tax Payments of $85,429.00

The budget for city expenditures has been reduced during the past two years 33 1-3%, or an annual reduction of $250,000.00.

Wichita Falls in comparison with other Texas cities is in a strong financial condition and will close the fiscal year with more cash on hand than it had at the beginning of the year.

We are now cleaning the water mains which represents an estimated savings of $50,000.00 resulting in increased volume and pressure on our water mains for domestic consumption and fire protection.

Total Annual Savings and Reductions in Budgeted Expense to the Taxpayers Shown Above Is $348,929.00

Negotiations have been undertaken with the public utilities serving this city and while the necessity of litigation is faced, in some instances we have under consideration material reductions in the cost of utility service to this city which when consummated will be given the public.

Under this administration we have cooperated with the local welfare and unemployment agencies, giving money and employment when possible.

Based on the above and many other accomplishments and after two years of intimate association and work with Mayor Walter Nelson Jr. we wish to notify our friends in Wichita Falls that in our judgment the very best interests of our community and citizens can be served by re-electing Walter Nelson as mayor of Wichita Falls April 5th.

We urge our friends who are interested in the honest and economical administration of the city's affairs to take an active interest in Mr. Nelson's behalf and express their approval of the present city government by their vote.
