Palestinians Give Up Effort In Iran

By The Associated Press

A Palestinian delegation many regarded as the best hope for winning freedom for the U.S. Embassy hostages in Tehran gave up its efforts today and left the Iranian capital, a Palestine Liberation Organization official announced in Kuwait.

Word of the PLO's apparent failure to end the 5-day-old impasse came as Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini's regime and the Moslem militants holding the embassy and 98 hostages reaffirmed their determination to face down the United States in the tense confrontation.

Tehran Radio said the Iranian people, heeding the call of the student militants, began a five-day hunger strike today to press the Iranian demand for the extradition of the deposed Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi from the United States.

The official radio, monitored in London, also reported that Khomeini's Revolutionary Council had met and discussed the possibility of U.S. military intervention or economic reprisals to end the embassy standoff.

In another move, Iran's new foreign affairs chief, Abolhassan Bani Sa'ir, summoned all foreign ambassadors in Tehran for a meeting today and urged that their governments pressure the Carter administration to extradite the shah, an Iranian Foreign Ministry spokesman said.

PLO sources reported over the weekend that the three-man delegation sent by PLO leader Yasser Arafat was engaged in intense talks at the Foreign Ministry with Iranian officials and representatives of the students.

But Salah Khalaf, No. 2 man in Arafat's Fatah guerrilla group, told reporters in Kuwait today that the delegation had left for Damascus, Syria.

He said the PLO envoys had told the Iranians that "despite the fact that we side with the Iranian revolution on any confrontation or battle, and despite our high regard for the Iranian revolution, we believe America cannot be fought through occupation of its embassy but rather through a serious and radical confrontation."

Khalaf did not say how the Iranians responded to the PLO's efforts.

It was not known whether the three Tehran ambassadors from Moslem countries - Pakistan, Syria and Turkey - who PLO sources said took part in weekend negotiations were still pursuing them.

The hostages are 62 Americans and 36 non-Americans - believed to be mostly Pakistani and Indian employees of the

Oil Profits Tax Debate May Kick Off Tuesday

WASHINGTON (AP)-Eleven of the 20 members of the Senate Finance Committee want to strengthen the "windfall profits" tax that they voted earlier to chop in half.

But, as the Senate prepares to begin debate on the tax, oilstate senators are drafting amendments to reduce the tax bite even further.

The Senate is likely to start debate late Tuesday on the tax, which would finance Carter's long-range energy program and aid to lower-income Americans struggling with rising fuel costs.

The House has a light agenda this week. Both chambers were in recess today for Veterans' Day.

Assuming its Rules Committee grants clearance, the House will consider late in the week a version of Carter's plan to hold down hospital costs. The president views that legislation as a major component of the fight against inflation.

Two months behind schedule, the Senate will decide sometime during the week whether to give up its fight for additional spending cuts and agree to the compromise 1980 budget passed by the House.

The House has rejected Senate demands that committees be forced to slash spending by an additional $3.6 billion. Sen. Edmund Muskie, D-Maine, chairman of the Senate Budget Committee, has not disclosed whether he will surrender and thus end the battle over the $547.6-billion budget.

The "windfall profits" tax on the oil industry is expected to tie up the Senate for a least a week.

Carter proposed the tax to soak up about half the extra money that will flow to the oil industry over the next decade as a result of his decision to phase out federal price controls on crude oil produced in this country.

The House changed the

GM Recalling 1.2 Million

DETROIT (AP)-General Motors Corp. is recalling 1.3 million full-size passenger cars for replacement of two front seat-belt anchor bolts, the automaker announced Monday.

The No. 1 automaker said that under stress, it is possible for the bolt heads to fracture on the front seat belt anchors.

The recall involves the 1979-model Chevrolet Impala and Caprice; Pontiac Catalina and Bonneville; Oldsmobile Delta and Ninety-Eight; Buick LeSabre and Electra, and Cadillac Fleetwood and DeVille. Also involved are some 18,000 1980-model Oldsmobile Delta and Ninety-Eight models. The bolts will be replaced at no charge to owners, GM said.

Texas Senators Want Action

WASHINGTON (AP)-Both Texas senators have called for strong action in response to the takeover of the American Embassy in Iran.

"If we are to be subject to this sort of international intimidation, I can think of no better reason to mount whatever effort is required to secure this nation's energy independence," Sen. John Tower, R-Texas, said.

"There is no way we can send back the shah," Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, said.

"We cannot bow to this kind of blackmail. Americans would be hostage around the world."

Bentsen proposed severing diplomatic relations and cutting off arms sales to Iran. He also said any Iranian students who demonstrate illegally in the U.S. should be deported.

Tower said the Iranian situation "shows the disdain with which this administration is held...We must appear especially vulnerable to a government which is currently supplying a significant portion of our energy requirements."

He said the Carter administration should act quickly, but responsibly, to free the hostages.

Farm Income May Fall 20%

WASHINGTON (AP)-If any doubts persist about the effect of inflation on farmers, take a look at the government's latest predictions about farm income next year.

And keep in mind that farmers, unlike automobile manufacturers and many others in the U.S. economy, for the most part are unable to set the prices they get for grain, soybeans, cotton, cattle, hogs and other commodities.

In 1980, says the Agriculture Department, farm income could fall by as much as 20 percent from this year's projected $31 billion, perhaps down to around $26 billion.

Pipeline Explodes

WEST MONROE, La. (AP)-A natural gas pipeline exploded, digging a crater 70 feet wide and 20 feet deep, and forcing the evacuation of three sub-divisions in this northern Louisiana city of 14,000.

The pipeline was the only object heavily damaged and no injuries were reported, officials said, adding that the explosion occurred near the spot where a pipeline ruptured eight years ago.

Iranian Held In Shooting

DENVER (AP)-While the governor urged Colorado residents to "stay calm," District Attorney Dale Tooley said it could be Wednesday before he decides what charges, if any, to file against an Iranian held in the shooting death of a 15-year-old high school boy.

Two other youths, who police said were looking for "some Iranians to hassle," were wounded in the shooting Sunday, which followed several days of demonstrations in Denver and Boulder over the seizure of American hostages at the U.S. Embassy in Tehran.

Grand Jury Gets Variety Of Cases

Cases ranging from shoplifting to drunken driving were scheduled for presentation this morning before a Scurry County grand jury.

The shoplifting cases date back to last month when police arrested four women and charged them with shoplifting clothes from 10 local stores. The price tag came to between $1,100 and $1,200. Charged with theft in the incident were Angelita Ruiz, 31, Norma Vidaurre, 25, Mary Vidaurre, 34, and Alice Valderaz, 41, all of Slaton.

Also to be presented to the grand jury was a charge of interfering with child custody filed against two persons. Named in the charge were James Alexander Faulkner and Sue Wood. They are alleged to have abducted 6-year-old Auda-Marie Alexis Faulkner from West Elementary School Nov. 1. Faulkner is the child's father and Ms. Wood is the paternal grandmother of the girl.

The aggravated assault case against Jeanette Newby, 35, 2103 Ave. O, was also to go before the grand jury. Ms. Newby was charged with attacking her 16-year-old daughter, Medae Calmese, with a knife last month. The daughter was cut on the hand.

Luther Williams, 100 East 37th St., is charged with forgery by passing and that case, too, was scheduled to be presented to the grand jury. Williams is alleged to have passed a check forged for $12 on the account of Anita Anderson last month.

Gilbert Martinez, 805 27th St., and Lorenzo Rodriquez, 2111 Ave. X, are both charged with burglary of a vehicle. The charge alleges they broke into a car owned by Alfonso Juarez.

Drunken driving cases going before the grand jury this morning included Antonio Garcia Velasquez, Juan Armando Hernandez, Earnest Forest, Ramon Lopez Valadez, Ollie Pike, Pedro Torres Jalomos, and Rogelio Cantu.

Rosalynn Rated Third In Influence

NEW YORK (AP)-First lady Rosalynn Carter may be "the most powerful woman in the country today" but she only ranks third in a listing of the nation's 25 most influential women.

Washington Post owner Katharine Graham is No. 1 on the newest list by the World Almanac, and actress Jane Fonda is in second place.

New Course At WTC On Agenda

Scurry County Junior College District trustees will consider a new course in the occupational education and technology division of Western Texas College at their regular meeting this evening.

The meeting is set for 5:45 p.m. in the board room in the WTC administration building.

Dr. Gene McClurg, dean of occupational education and technology is scheduled to present information on a proposed new program in landscape technology. At the same time, Dr. McClurg will discuss a proposal to revise the WTC golf and grounds program in conjunction with the new landscape technology program.

Also up for consideration will be bids for the purchase of lumber for the college's apartment building program and for copy machine paper. Ratification of a contract for publication of the college's 1980-81 catalog also is on the agenda.

The board is scheduled to hear a report on the recent meeting of the Texas Junior College Board Members-Administrators Association in Austin and discuss plans for the WTC 10th anniversary celebration.

Ask Us

Q--I saw a story about an automotive course for women at WTC in your paper Sunday. Can men enroll in this class?

A--Yes. Powder Puff Mechanics will be offered as a community services course at WTC in classes meeting from 7-9:30 on Tuesdays from Nov. 20-Dec. 11. The course will cover the basic fundamentals of auto mechanics; maintenance and repair and while its content is aimed more at women unfamiliar with the subject it is open to everyone. For details call 573-8511 ext. 240.

Three Apply For Ambulance Pact

Three formal applications have been submitted and several others have indicated an interest in the contract to operate ambulance service here, according to John Gayle, city manager.

Under consideration will be applications to succeed Tommy Galyean as operator of the ambulance service. Galyean announced several days ago that he planned to give up the contract to become associated with another local business.

At a meeting last week attended by officials of the city and county, the city agreed to seek a new contractor.

Gayle said plans are under study for changing the level of service and that these will be discussed informally with county officials after which they will go to the city council and the county commissioners court for approval.

The city manager said he hoped that a contract could be approved early next week. Galyean, who originally said he planned to give up the service Nov. 10, agreed to continue until Nov. 21. The city and county share in the subsidy for the ambulance service here, with the city serving as the contracting agency.

If America is to avail itself of a coal-conversion process and thus lessen the energy crisis that has shaken and all but impoverished the nation, the key to the riddle will come out of Texas.

According to the Popular Mechanics Magazine, the United States had left untouched for more than three decades a blueprint for the process. Four years ago, however, with the shock of the Arab oil embargo of 1973-74 still fresh, a team from Texas A&M University began searching for and collecting Germany documents captured in Germany in 1945 — documents describing in precise detail the establishment and successful operation of Germany's coal-liquefaction plants, which lay untouched, untranslated in depositories in this country and in Great Britain since the great war.

In total, 500,000 pages dealing primarily with coal conversion techniques were brought back to Texas for translation, summation and indexing. Still more are to be retrieved. Furthermore, no more than ten per cent of the pages have thus far been studied.

The magazine says that the significance of that unused treasure can hardly be over-emphasized. Germany lacks natural petroleum resources but did know how to obtain petroleum from its abundant coal. Without synfuel (synthetic fuel), the report says, Germany would have been brought to its knees long before 1945 and there are some scholars who believe that, lacking such a capacity, which gave his army and air force gasoline made from coal, Adolph Hitler never could have started World War II.

Popular mechanics quotes Dr. Kurt J. Irgolic, associate director at Texas A&M's Center and Mineral Resources:

"There has never been a similar opportunity in modern history to investigate the industrial synthetic-fuel records of any country, much less those of a country with such advanced scientific and industrial expertise. Much of the knowledge contained in these records is available at a time when we so urgently need it."

The Nazis created one of the most monstrous and depraved governments in the history of the world, a regime that was morally bankrupt from the time it invented excuses to march into the Sudenland. What irony it would be if that same conspiracy left as a legacy the greatest industrial achievement of the 20th Century.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — At one time or another, every journalist who covers national politics for a living harbors a gnawing curiosity about the view from the other side of the fence.

No matter how diligent we are as reporters, or how skilled, we never learn more than a fraction of what goes on inside the White House, the Congress, or the campaign organizations of those who seek such offices. We know that, and we are forever wondering what we are missing.

This year, I am going to find out. By the end of this month, I will be working the other side of the fence as deputy press secretary in the presidential campaign of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy. This is my final column, for months if not years, and it is exceedingly painful to write.

I have been a journalist for 16 years, my entire professional life, and I have relished every minute of it. A press card is an admission ticket to the great public dramas of our times, events few people ever have the chance to witness in person, and the thrill of knowing "I was there" never wears off.

We in the press "pay" for our tickets with our reports to you on what we see and hear from our privileged vantage point, but the truth is there is never space or time enough to share everything we have learned. No matter how hard I have worked over the years, I have always felt that I gained more than I gave.

Washington is full of press secretaries and public relations types who used to be reporters. Some are supurb at what they do, performing their advocacy roles skillfully and effectively without compromising their own integrity. Others are little more than shills.

Some became "flacks" because they needed more money than they could earn as journalists, others because they were consumed by the curiosity I mentioned earlier to see what the "inside" view is like.

Until now, I have never been the slightest bit tempted to join their ranks, and even as I prepare to do so I remain deeply ambivalent about the move. I feel a little as though I am surrendering my virtue; I am edgy and hypersensitive about the ramifications of becoming "a spokeswoman for Senator Kennedy." Fortunately, my new boss understands.

"I won't lie for you," I declared rather belligerently, when offered the job. "Of course not," Kennedy replied gently. "I would never ask you to." I believe he means it. If he doesn't, I'll be back on these pages sooner rather than later.

During the past decade, have covered nearly all the major Democratic and Republican candidates now seeking the presidency. Some I know better than others; some I like better than others. None is perfect by a long shot, including Ted Kennedy, but none is stupid or evil either. The country will be perfectly safe no matter who wins.

That is not to say I would have accepted a job offer from any of the others. I would not have, regardless of the urge to see what a campaign looks like from the inside. I said "yes" to Kennedy because I honestly believe he would make the best president, and because my personal background makes it impossible for me to say "no".

I am part of a whole generation of Americans who became involved in politics and government because of John F. Kennedy. He was my high school graduation speaker 20 years ago. I campaigned for him the following year as a college freshman. I took it as a personal challenge when he delivered his famed inaugural line: "Ask not what your country can do for you — ask what you can do for your country." I took it as a personal loss when he was killed. And when Robert F. Kennedy was assassinated five years later, I thought I would never care again about who got elected president.

I realize now I was wrong. I do care. That's what Ted Kennedy, like his brothers, mean to me — caring, caring about government, about politics, about people. I think the country needs that in a president; and I will do all I can to help him reach the White House.

Your Birthday

November 13, 1979

Your popularity and prestige are ascending. You'll have a strong influence on your peers this coming year. Many new acquaintances will come and go, but several will become lasting friends.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) No matter what we have, there is always someone who has more. If we permit this to bother us we only hurt ourselves, so don't let it worry you today. Find out more about yourself by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter which begins with your birthday. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You might feel that someone prevented you from getting recognition you rightfully deserve. Even if this is so, keep your feelings to yourself. The truth will come out.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Your pensive mood today could cause you to think that everything is against you. Wait until tomorrow, you'll see how wrong you were.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) If you discover today that someone you thought to be your friend really isn't, don't fret. The loss is theirs, not yours.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Something could happen today that might cause you to fear it will affect your reputation. Everything will blow over if you don't panic.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) It's good to set high goals and want nice things, but don't kid yourself as to what can practically and realistically be done.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) This is one of those days where all may not be what it appears to be. Investigate thoroughly before accepting anything important at face value.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) People don't generally mean to be unkind, but sometimes their small, selfish desires lead them astray. Don't judge too harshly loved ones who might fall prey to this.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Stick to your own way of doing things today if you want to be productive. Well-meaning persons could mess you up with their suggestions.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) If you're not careful today, you could get caught up in the foolish pursuit of trying to keep up with the Joneses. Spend only what you have and for what you need.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) A sense of well-being at home today with the family can be achieved if you don't let one member's sniveling ruin your mood. Tune this person out.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Your feelings could easily be hurt today, yet you possess the mental discipline to forget it. Utilize it. You'll enjoy the rest of the day.

Okay, women of America. If we don't do a blessed thing all year, we've got to put our shoulders to the wheel and get Prince Charles married off.

The kid is 30 years old, hangs out at the castle a lot, and his best friend is his polo pony. Now don't tell me his mother isn't worried sick about him.

The trouble with the Queen is she knows nothing about the Jewish Mother syndrome. This includes: (a) sighing every three hours and asking your son why he is trying to kill you; (b) marking an X on the calendar each day and announcing loudly, "Another day without grandchildren," and (c) offering finder's fees to anyone who can uncover a girl with straight teeth who knows her place.

Frankly, I don't think royalty knows anything about making a match. Let's examine Prince Charles' habits. What does he do for a living? He goes to funerals. Is that any place to meet girls? Maybe if he took a few informal classes or dropped in at a Thank God It's Friday, things might look up.

Another drawback is the Queen. Who wants a mother-in-law who expects her son to live at home after he's married?

All I know is if Prince Charles doesn't get off the dime — and soon — all the goodies will be gone.

Debbie Boone would have been perfect but someone picked her off a few months ago.

Marie Osmond would be great. She's a smiler and a waver, but Prince Charles must have a disciple of the Church of England and Marie is a Mormon. Besides, there wouldn't be room in Westminster for the bride's entire family.

Gloria Steinem is out because she's too militant to walk behind the Prince and call him "Sir" for the rest of her life. (Besides, her philosophy of "If a man's home is his castle, let him clean it" might be unpopular.)

Ladies, I think we're looking for a unique woman from English background who is decorative, subservient, has a good sense of humor, can embrace Protestantism, be comfortable in gowns and jewels, be non-threatening to the Queen, and have international appeal.

Good Lord! I have just described Miss Piggy!

Couple Notes 70th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. A.S. Traweek of 125 Beach, Hereford, recently celebrated their 70th wedding anniversary with a reception held Nov. 18 in Hereford. The couple was married in Snyder Nov. 14, 1909 by a Methodist minister. They lived in Snyder until 1915 and the following years they resided in Slaton, Muleshoe and Lubbock. They recently moved to Hereford to be near their children. Traweek was in the farming business before retiring.

The couple's children and their families hosted the reception. The children are Aubrey and Mrs. Gerald McCathern of Hereford and Albert of Jacksonville, Tex. The Traweeks lost one son, Emmitt, in World War II. Traweek was born Nov. 18, 1886, and Mrs. Traweek was born Feb. 20, 1889. The couple has five great-grandchildren. They still enjoy their flower and vegetable gardens at their home.

Weekend Bridge Winners Told

Mrs. Skipper Joyce and Mrs. N.R. Clements won first place in Friday's Duplicate Bridge game held at the Snyder Country Club. There were five tables playing, Howell Movement with Mrs. B.L. McKinley directing. Others winners were Mrs. Vernon Miller, Mrs. J.R. McCrary, second; Mrs. B.L. McKinley, Mrs. Prentis Bass, third; and Mrs. L.B. Thompson, Mrs. Bill Zimmerman, fourth.

Sunday four tables played Howell with Mrs. A.L. Bethel directing. Winners were Mrs. McCrary, Mrs. Merle Newton, first; Mrs. Scott Casey, Mrs. Thompson, second; Mrs. Douglas Hill, and Mrs. McKinley, third.

The club championship game has been set for Nov. 30 at the country club.

Automation Changes Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP) Most people expect automation in the working place will force many employees to change jobs if they want to keep working, according to a recent study.

A survey by the American Council of Life Insurance shows that "56 percent of the respondents agree with his notion, while 16 percent disagree and 26 percent express no strong opinion."

Oswald: The national charity game of the ACBL will be played Tuesday, Nov. 20. These games use computer-dealt hands and are played simultaneously at hundreds of sites.

Alan: The hands are normally dealt and no attempt is made to make them interesting or unusual. Here is a simple one from a previous game.

Oswald: Left to themselves most pairs will reach four hearts. If East throws a three-club monkey wrench into their machinery, they should still reach that easy four-heart contract.

Alan: East will take his ace of clubs at trick one. If he leads the suit back, South will get to discard his deuce of spades and make an overtrick. If he shifts and West is smart enough to grab his ace of hearts the first time the suit is led, South will be held to four.

Oswald: Four bid and made will be above average because many pairs will get to five hearts and go down one, no more than compensate for the few lucky ones who score the overtrick.

IS YOUR PROPERTY MORE VALUABLE THAN YOUR AND YOUR FAMILIES LIVES? & HEALTH?

Snyder and Scurry County have effective and efficient fire protection and law enforcement, however we are a bit behind the times in respect to our Emergency Medical care abilities.

Added personnel will be necessary to provide the standard of service to which every citizen is entitled. Our governmental agencies simply lack manpower, training and ability to perform this task.

In order to justify an adequately staffed and well trained emergency ambulance service we must use these people and their skills often, have a minimum of "domino time" between calls. This dead time is not only wasted but dulls the skills and leads to a gradually decreasing interest in becoming proficient at more complex medical procedures at the scene and in-transit.

Let's keep ambulance personnel in practice and growing in knowledge and experience by utilizing them on shift in the hospital.

The Emergency Medical Service telephone would be answered by an emergency department nurse. She would have training and ability to either go with the ambulance or dispatch the personnel, equipment and vehicle at the speed she deemed appropriate for each individual call.

The first, and continuously thereafter, medical care administered could be by (and in harmony with) the further treatment given by the agency directly responsible for patient recovery: Cogdell Hospital.

Ambulance personnel could be a private contractor's employees, or better, present and-or new hospital staff members since very little additional training would be required to provide excellent medical care to the patient.

This system would be "self-policing" in that those doctors and nurses responsible for patient care would have a direct say in the on-scene and in-transit treatment provided. A separtely based service could dump the victim on emergency room personnel in any state of treatment (or none at all) and in any condition, return to it's quarters only to be responsible to say, the city council who frankly aren't all qualified to set performance standards for this service to the citizens.

We are fortunate indeed to have already on staff at Cogdell hospital an individual with the training, experience, ability and interest in operating this very program. She has as much experience in setting up and operating this type service as anyone in the state today. Let's use her before we lose her.

City and county could share the expense. The city could furnish vehicles and fuel and the county pay the personnel, or the city could provide county-wide fire protection while the county, emergency medical care.

However administered, let's combine resources to obtain the best system as efficiently as possible.

Thank you for your time and interest.

Sex Detours Bridal Path

By Abigail Van Buren

1979 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 32-year-old reasonably successful man — never married, but very much in love with a beautiful young woman with a Southern mountain background. My hangup is that I have a strict New England heritage, and am accustomed to dating girls who would not even consider kissing a fellow on a first date. This girl I'm in love with admitted that she let every guy she ever dated have his way with her.

She says that all young girls "in those hills" were raised that way, and it wasn't until her family moved to a major city that she learned "right from wrong."

So here I am, a man who has always dreamed of marrying a virgin, in love with a girl who can't even remember when or how she lost her virginity. (She "thinks" she was 12 or 13.)

I would like to convince myself that I can forget her past and marry this ex-tramp and live happily ever after.

What are the odds, Abby? I am desperate for some professional advice.

SOUTHERN GENTLEMAN

DEAR GENTLEMAN: As long as you view this girl as an "ex-tramp," I would estimate your chances for a happy marriage are zilch. The poor girl has already been the victim of an amoral upbringing; spare her the added burden of a "holier than thou" husband.

DEAR ABBY: I feel kind of weird writing to you, but here goes. You see, there is this real cute guy at school who follows me in the hall, pulls my hair and socks me on the arm. He has tried to trip me, grab my jacket and shove me into the lockers. He kicked me on the bus once and hit me in the head with his books.

All the kids say he likes me. So why does he act this way?

LIKES HIM IN ANAHEIM

DEAR LIKES: It's his way of making YOU notice HIM. If you react, you'll probably lose him. Ignore him and you'll drive him wild.

DEAR ABBY: I am 17, and I don't like to brag but I guess you could call me a "popular" girl. I have a good reputation and don't want to spoil it, but here is my problem:

After a fellow has taken me to a movie or a dance, and somewhere afterwards to eat, I hate to turn him down when he wants to make out.

I never go too far, but I feel sort of cheap afterwards. I guess it's because in a way I am really trying to "repay" him for what he's spent on me.

I'm not serious with any of these guys, Abby, they're just dates. But after a guy has spent his hard earned money on me, how can I turn him down?

ALLENTOWN

DEAR ALLENTOWN: It's easy. All a guy is entitled to on a date is the pleasure of your company. And unless you want to lose your hard-earned reputation, don't feel obligated to give him his "hard-earned" money's worth.

If you need help in writing letters of sympathy, congratulations or thank-you letters, get Abby's booklet "How to Write Letters for all Occasions." Send $1 and a long, stamped (28 cents), self-addressed envelope to Abby: 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Cotton Fire Extinguished

A cotton fire was doused Sunday afternoon by city firefighters.

The cotton belonged to Wayne Beck, reports show, and firefighters were alerted to the blaze about 2:05 p.m.

The fire occurred about eight miles north of Snyder, on the Clairemont Highway.

Than 10 Years Ago...

Americans Earn More, Make Less

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Americans are earning more and making less than they were 10 years ago.

That's the conclusion of a new study which shows that the after-tax, after-inflation median income for a typical family is smaller than it was in 1969.

The study was conducted by the Tax Foundation Inc., a non-profit research group with headquarters in Washington, D.C.

The foundation said that from 1969 to 1979, the median income for all families with a single, full-time wage earner almost doubled, going from $9,277 to $18,467.

The group figured out how much federal income tax and Social Security would be due on the median income for a married couple with two children filing a joint return. It calculated that the after-tax income for the family went from $7,947 to $15,546.

Next, the foundation adjusted the 1979 figure for inflation, as measured by the Consumer Price Index, and it found that the "real" income — in terms of 1969 dollars — was only $7,800, almost $500 less or 2 percent less than it was a decade earlier.

These statistics don't even take state and local taxes into account and they have been rising even faster than the federal levies in most places.

Since then, federal income taxes for the family used in the foundation calculations rose 82 percent; Social Security taxes went up 142 percent; and prices increased 75 percent. It all adds up to an 8 percent drop in actual purchasing power since 1972.

Tax bracket creep is one reason that earnings don't keep pace with inflation — even when paychecks go up. As your income increases, so does the bite taken by the federal government as you are pushed into a higher tax bracket.

Several proposals have been made to cure tax bracket creep by a system called indexation which links taxes and the inflation rate. It's easier to understand if you look at some hypothetical figures.

Suppose your income is $15,000 a year. Assume you pay 10 percent in taxes — $1,500 — for an after-tax income of $13,500. The Consumer Price Index goes up by 10 percent and so does your salary. You now earn $16,500 a year.

Without indexation, you are automatically boosted into a higher tax bracket. Let's say you pay 11 percent or $1,815. You are left with $14,685. Your 10 percent raise has just shrunk to 8.7 percent — less than is needed to keep up with the 10 percent boost in prices.

With indexation, your tax bracket would remain the same. You would still pay 10 percent — $1,650 on a $16,500 salary. You would be left with $14,850; your 10 percent raise would leave you 10 percent more money — enough to at least keep pace with inflation.

Opponents of indexation say it is better to adjust for inflation with periodic tax cuts. They say indexation costs the government money; the amount of taxes collected does not automatically increase with inflation. They also say that individual tax cuts are more effective for helping specific segments of the population.

Woman Hurt In Mishap

A Snyder woman was injured when the car she was driving struck a guard rail Saturday afternoon near Hermleigh.

Stella Silva, the driver of the 1974 Pontiac, was picked up by Galyean Ambulance Service and taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital where she was treated and released.

The mishap, said troopers of the Department of Public Safety, occurred about 1:30 p.m. Saturday, approximately four miles south of Hermleigh on U.S. Highway 84.

Heavy damage was reported to vehicle.

Rig Count Rises Again

Drilling activity climbed again last week in Permian Basin oilfields, wiping out the record it had set the week before.

The Reed Rock Bit Co. weekly survey showed 308 rigs running in the Basin. The county last week was 303, and a year ago at this time, there were 275 rigs in operation.

Lea County, N.M., the leader, reported 39 rigs making hole. Pecos County was the West Texas leader with 21.

Scurry County had four rigs in operation last week, compared to one the week before. Figures for other area counties, with last week and the week before in order: Borden 4 and 5; Dawson 8 and 8; Garza 5 and 5; Howard 9 and 7; Kent 0 and 1; Mitchell 1 and 1.

Forgery Count Is Filed Here

A forgery by passing charge has been filed against Luther Williams.

Williams, 100 East 37th St., is alleged to have passed a forged check drawn on the account of Anita Anderson. The check was drawn for $12, and the incident is reported to have occurred Oct. 20, according to the felony charge worked up by investigating deputy sheriffs.

Williams has been taken into custody and remains in the Scurry County Jail in lieu of bond.

'Imperial' Favored

AURORA, Ill. — The largest manufacturer of yo-yos, Duncan Toys, says its all-time favorite model is the "Imperial," introduced in 1960 as the first yo-yo constructed of plastic. Previously all yo-yos were made of wood, but now they use K-Resin plastic. The company, which now has 10 models, has sold more than 500 million yo-yos.

Doctor Believes Body Of Oswald Buried In Grave

SEATTLE (AP)-Despite an author's claims to the contrary, the body in Lee Harvey Oswald's grave is that of the man accused of assassinating President John Kennedy, says the doctor who performed the autopsy on Oswald.

"There is overwhelming circumstantial evidence that it was Oswald," said Dr. Earl Rose, chief medical examiner in Dallas in 1963 when Jack Ruby shot Oswald. But Rose said he would not object to exhumation of the body to verify the identity.

"It's the American way, to explore every possibility," he said.

Rose, in Seattle on Saturday to attend a meeting of the National Association of Medical Examiners, said Oswald's wife and mother identified the body.

British lawyer-author Michael Eddowes has written a book in which he claims the Russian secret police substituted a look-alike for Oswald when Oswald was in Russia prior to the Nov. 22, 1963, Kennedy assassination. The writer was granted permission to see Oswald's medical, dental and X-ray records.

Eddowes also has filed suit in Fort Worth asking that Oswald's remains be exhumed to recheck the identity.

Rose said he measured and X-rays and took full length photographs of the corpse.

"I received the body after surgery had been done in an attempt to save Oswald. I was to check the cause of death and also any possibility of police brutality, which, by the way, I did not find," Rose said.

"There was some talk that Oswald could have been saved. I certainly don't think there was any chance. The bullet had severed two major vessels, the aorta and the vena cava, and the liver and spleen were damaged.

"He had bled heavily, mostly internally. I recovered the missile and turned it over to police."

He said there is some controversy about the height he reported and that he did not find a scar from a mastoidectomy - removal of a projection of the temporal bone behind the ear - which others claim Oswald had.

Problems with medicines

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have three small fibroids in my uterus. They were discovered during a D and C to stop the bleeding. The doctor told me I shouldn't wait more than six months before having surgery.

My problem is I'm one of those in a thousand who's allergic to medications. I mean everything. So what can I do? I've been sitting here crying and am depressed and afraid of having it done for fear that I will not make it through surgery. I get so deadly sick whenever they try anything new. They also think I have one bad ovary.

When I think about it I just get cold sick to my stomach because I know there's no way out except surgery. Isn't there anything they could give for allergic people? How about the cut? Couldn't they put medicine on it so I wouldn't need so much medicine for pain afterwards?

DEAR READER — There are people like you who have enormous problems taking almost any medicine, including antibiotics. The best thing you can do is tell your doctor about your history and give him a list of all the things that you know that you're allergic to.

Yes, there are lots of things that can be done to help people with such problems, including medicines to block the allergic reaction. Of course, the best treatment of all is to avoid the things that a person is allergic to.

I presume you're going to have a hysterectomy and probably have your ovaries removed as well in view of the comment about having one bad ovary. That might also depend on your age. In some cases the doctor can do a vaginal hysterectomy which leaves no scar on the abdomen at all. However, the pain after most such surgery isn't limited just to the incision through the abdominal wall but is related to the overall surgery inside the abdominal cavity. People have different levels of pain thresholds and maybe you'll be fortunate enough not to require much medicine for that problem.

Talk to your doctor about how disturbed you are about this and the fact that you've been crying and depressed. It might be that you would be helped with some professional counseling before surgery. There are lots of things that can be done to help people who are depressed. Again, removing the cause is a big help and, in your instance, the anticipation of surgery is certainly a precipitating cause. No one looks forward with joy to having surgery.

Because you expect surgery and will have changes that are associated with the menopause, I'm sending you The Health Letter number 5-12, Menopause. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Other readers might want to know that not all fibroid tumors of the uterus need to be removed. It depends a lot on the size and whether they are causing symptoms or not. Excessive bleeding can be caused by fibroids and that is one reason why they must sometimes be removed. Sometimes the fibroid tumors get smaller after the menopause.

Aid Available

NEW YORK — Don't let high costs discourage you or low costs urge you to choose a college that's low on your priority list. Blue chip universities usually have more financial aid available than bargain basement institutions, reports S. Robert Freedman, author of "Cash for College."

His firm, Scholarship Search, has a computerized data bank here with $500 million worth of available scholarships.

Candidates Planning Appearances In Texas

AUSTIN (AP) — Presidential politics in Texas so far has been mostly the homegrown variety with Republicans John Connally and George Bush furnishing most of the action.

Times seem to be changing shortly, with most of the major players announced or scheduled to take the step.

Most of the active Republican candidates are expected in Austin Nov. 18 for the national Republican Governors Association meeting where they will make their campaign appeals to 21 GOP governors.

President Jimmy Carter expected in Texas on Dec. 8 as part of his first campaign tour after officially announcing. Plans include a fund-raising brunch for the big givers and public reception in the municipal auditorium.

Backers of Sen. Ted Kennedy hope he will be in San Antonio the same day.

Favorite sons Connally and Bush have made numerous appearances, including some very successful fund raisers, in Texas during the past year.

Former California Gov. Ronald Reagan, Sen. Howard Baker and some of the lesser known GOP candidates have paid Texas brief visits recently.

California Gov. Jerry Brown has made two trips to talk with Texas Democrats and Rosalynn Carter has attracted Texas crowds twice in recent months.

Some of the campaign organization, particularly for Connally and Bush, began almost a year ago, but others are now getting underway.

Connally has a state campaign headquarters in Houston plus another office in Austin. Jim Campbell of Pampa is his state coordinator.

Bush also has his state headquarters in Houston with Hal DeMoss, Houston, as state campaign manager.

Reagan set up his state office in Austin long before his announcement. Midland Mayor Ernest Angelo is state campaign coordinator.

Carter, Kennedy and Brown have not announced state headquarters or campaign managers.

Democratic and Republican leaders are split on Carter-Kennedy support with at least two of the state's nine members on the National Democratic Committee openly supporting Kennedy. They have accused State Democratic Chairman Billy Goldberg of being partial to Carter.

Presidential races will attract most of the attention from now until November 1980, but there are also three statewide races on the May primary ballot.

Railroad Commission contests in which John Poerner is challenged by Buddy Temple and Jim Nugent faces challenger Jim Hightower are already underway. All are Democrats but Republicans promise they will field a candidate later.

The state's newest Texas Supreme Court justice, Will Garwood, a Republican, is expected to draw Democratic opposition in the general election.

Also on the general election ballot will be eight proposed constitution changes, including such firecracker issues as legalization of bingo, electronic banking, property tax appraisals and bugetary power of the governor.

One-hundred and fifty Texas House seats will be on the 1980 ballot along with 16 state Senate posts.

All 24 Texas congress seats will be before the voters also. Rep. Ray Roberts of McKinney is the only one to announce, so far, that he will not seek re-election.

The filing deadline for all primary and independent candidates is Feb. 4, 1980. The primary elections are May 3 and the general election Nov. 4.

Mark those dates on your calendar.

Theft, Vandalism Cases Reported

Police investigated a reported theft, a criminal mischief, complaint, and several traffic accidents during the weekend.

Reporting the theft was Barry Tubb. He told officer Kerry Fritz he was missing a belt buckle he won during the national finals of the American Junior Rodeo Association.

The criminal mischief was reported by Roy Bennett. He told police a door to a concession stand at a baseball field in Towle Park had been kicked in. Damage was estimated at $100. The report was taken by Buddy Kinney.

The first traffic accident was reported at 10:44 a.m. Saturday in the 2500 block of College Ave. It involved a 1979 Chrysler driven by Ruby Sellars and a parked 1978 Ford owned by R.D. Whetsel. The accident was investigated by Kerry Fritz.

Don Cheek investigated a wreck at 1:38 p.m. Saturday in the 4100 block of College Ave. Involved in it were a 1978 Chevrolet pickup owned by Donald Fisk and a vehicle which fled the scene.

A hit and run was also reported at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in the 2300 block of Towle Park Road. Reports show a 1974 Plymouth owned by Sraita Lazcano was struck by a vehicle which left the scene. The accident was worked by officer Buddy Kinney.

A two-vehicle wreck was investigated by officer Tony Whittenburg at 1:10 a.m. Sunday on Farm to Market Road 2763. It involved a 1969 Chevrolet driven by Juan Delacruz and a 1969 Ford driven by Richard Dupree.

The final accident of the weekend was reported about 2 p.m. Sunday in the 1000 block of 25th St. and was worked by Don Cheek. It involved a parked 1978 Ford owned by David Martinez that was struck by a vehicle which left the scene.

Only minor damage was reported in the collision.

Burning Plane Delays Traffic

By The Associated Press

DALLAS (AP) — Traffic was halted on a major freeway for a time Sunday night by an unusual obstruction - a burning airplane.

The pilot, George Reynolds, told police he and his son, Jeff, were on a return flight from Houston when the plane's engine failed.

Reynolds, 45, told officers he was able to regain power briefly, but when the engine quit a second time he began looking for a place to land.

"He saw an open spot with no traffic on R.L. Thornton Freeway (Interstate 20)," said police spokesman Ed Spencer. "When he banked to his right, the left wing clipped a light pole. He landed on the freeway but as the plane came to a stop the left wing was on fire. He and his son got out of the airplane and then the thing burned up."

Neither Reynolds nor his son was injured.

(Agnes Hall lost 36½ pounds and 59¾ inches.)

Agnes Hall made a marvelous new start in her life when she slimmed down to a trim, attractive size 10 on Pat Walker's proven program of weight reduction. Her story:

"I'd been overweight for so long I was beginning to think I was just naturally a fat person.

"Even when I got married 40 years ago, I weighed 160 pounds—not what you'd call a slim bride. Over the years, my weight crept up to 175, and I found myself wearing size 16. That's when I decided something had to be done.

"I tried a health spa, but I didn't like undressing or mussing my hair or going in the water—and I couldn't do floor exercises because of back problems. I heard some women there talking about Pat Walker's, and since I'd already seen some ads, I thought . . . well, why not?

"Two, sometimes three, treatments a week on Pat Walker's passive exercise unit have gotten me down to—would you believe it?—a size 10. I've lost 36½ pounds and 59¾ inches, and I've kept my figure firmed and toned the whole time.

"My friends are amazed. One of my bowling partners says that almost everyone she knows who's lost the pounds I have has gotten bags and sags, but I haven't . . . I look and feel better than I have in at least 10 years. I may be 63, but I'm a new person."

Find a lovelier you

You can believe in Pat Walker's program: its benefits have been confirmed repeatedly during a distinguished 27-year history of success throughout the world. And in our quiet comfortable salon, professional counselors work with you from your very first visit, giving you the advice and encouragement that make your efforts more rewarding.

Whether you've been battling excess weight a long time or find the need to reduce a fairly recent development, you can reach your weight goal at Pat Walker's—safely, pleasantly, without rigid diets or strenuous exercises. You'll enjoy these important benefits:

- personalized program tailored to your needs
- sensible eating plan based on your food preferences

Pokes Have 2-Minute Offense Ready To Fire

By Denne H. Freeman
AP Sports Writer

IRVING (AP) It has long been a mystery to the Dallas Cowboy front office and coaching staff why more National Football League teams haven't gone to the Cowboy two-minute spread offense.

"The other teams know you are going to pass so there is no surprise element," says Cowboys special assistant Ermal Allen. "The quarterback has an extra second to read the defense. We set a goal for our team of scoring at least 40 percent of the time by a field goal or touchdown. I'd hate to see where we would be without our two minute offense."

The Cowboys spend long, dreary practice days with quarterback Roger Staubach set back in the Shotgun Offense orchestrating the team downfield against the clock.

"It's no accident when good things happen to us because we work so hard on the two-minute offense," says wide receiver Drew Pearson. "Maybe we ought to be in it all the time."

Dallas beat the New York Giants last Sunday out of the two-minute offense. The Cowboys downed St. Louis in the season-opener and tripped Chicago in the final 120 seconds using the spread.

Without a productive two-minute game Dallas could be 5-5 instead of 8-2.

"You have to have a mobile quarterback like Roger for it to work," says Allen. "And you have to work on it all the time. Teams are always trying something new to defense it. Still I'm surprised other teams haven't started using it."

Pittsburgh had good success blitzing the Cowboy two-minute offense, two weeks ago.

"We like for teams to blitz it because that gives us one-on-one coverage," says Allen. "We had seven dropped passes in that game. That will take care of any offense."

The Philadelphia Eagles hope they can get far enough ahead Monday night so the deadly Dallas two-minute offense can't catch them.

The Eagles are 10-point underdogs in what amounts to a "must" game for them if they hope to catch Dallas in the race for the National Conference Eastern Division flag.

Dallas has a two game edge over the Eagles going into the game and Washington was two back going into their game Sunday against St. Louis.

The Cowboys have beaten the Eagles nine consecutive times and Philadelphia has never won in Texas Stadium.

Title Clinched By McNeese

By The Associated Press

McNeese State has clinched at least the co-championship of the Southland Conference and will make its second trip to the Independence Bowl in Shreveport on Dec. 15.

McNeese can claim the SLC title outright this Saturday by defeating Southwestern Louisiana in Lafayette, La.

Should McNeese stumble, then Texas-Arlington or Lamar University, both who are 3-1, could gain a co-championship depending on their game Saturday at Arlington, Texas.

McNeese is 4-0 and 10-0 overall.

Sophomore tailback Theron McClendon carried the ball a record 46 times while picking up 212 yards to set a league record for McNeese in a 41-7 rout of Louisiana Tech. The 5-foot-8, 158-pound speedster scored three touchdowns.

UTA upped its overall record to 7-2 by whipping Southwestern Louisiana 24-10.

Quarterbacks Joe Ferguson of Buffalo and Bert Jones of Baltimore both were highschool stars in Louisiana and both fly their own airplane.

Irwin, Mahaffey Lead Americans

ATHENS, Greece (AP) - Hale Irwin and John Mahaffey helped the United States win the team and individual trophies for the second consecutive year at the 27th World Cup Golf Championship.

Irwin shot a 69 for a final total of 285 and won the individual title by two strokes over Scotland's Sandy Lyle and West Germany's Bernard Langer. Mahaffey scored a par-72 and finished at 290.

The U.S. won the team title by five strokes over Scotland, 575-580.

Sunday Was Fine Day For Pro Place Kickers

By HAL BOCK
AP Sports Writer

Alex Karras wouldn't have appreciated the goings-on in the National Football League Sunday.

Karras was the monstrous Detroit defensive tackle who frowned on place kickers trotting on the field at the last moment with clean, fresh uniforms to decide the outcome of games.

But those kickers turned around three NFL games Sunday. Washington's Mark Moseley and Mike Woods of San Diego booted last minute field goals to secure victories, the Redskins edging St. Louis 30-28 and the Chargers topping Cincinnati 26-24. But Toni Linhart missed two usually routine extra points and that was the difference in the New York Jets' 14-12 loss to Buffalo.

In Sunday's other games, it was Houston 31, Oakland 14; Seattle 29, Cleveland 24; Miami 19, Baltimore 0; Tampa Bay 16, Detroit 14; Pittsburgh 30, Kansas City 3; Chicago 27, Los Angeles 23; New Orleans 31, San Francisco 20; Green Bay 19, Minnesota 7; New York Giants 24, Atlanta 3; and Denver 45, New England 10.

Philadelphia plays at Dallas tonight.

Redskins 30, Cardinals 28

St. Louis erased a 27-7 deficit with three fourth quarter TDs, but Moseley's 39-yard field goal with 36 seconds to play salvaged the victory for Washington.

The winning three-pointer came despite a bad snap from center which was salvaged by holder Joe Theismann.

Chargers 26, Bengals 24

San Diego hung on to its share of the American Conference West lead by overcoming an early 14-0 deficit to overhaul the Bengals. Woods kicked field goals of 22, 42, 34 and 32 yards, the last one with 19 seconds left, for the Chargers' victory.

Bills 14, Jets 12

Linhart, cut earlier by Baltimore after missing some short field goal tries, cost the Jets dearly against Buffalo. Both teams scored two TDs, but the Bills got the game's only extra points from Nick Mike-Mayer.

"It finally comes down to Buffalo's kicker made his two and our kicker didn't," said Jets Coach Walt Michaels.

Bucs 16, Lions 14

Tampa Bay stayed two games in front of Chicago in the NFC Central, rallying in the final 3½ minutes to erase a 14-6 deficit.

First Neil O'Donoghue kicked his third field goal of the game, a 28-yarder, and then Doug Williams threw a 23-yard TD pass to Larry Mucker, following Dana Nafzinger's recovered fumble for the deciding points.

Oilers 31, Raiders 14

Earl Campbell became the first runner in AFC history to rush for more than 1,000 yards in each of his first two seasons. The Houston star carried 32 times for 107 yards, pushing his season's totals to 245 for 1,039.

Dan Pastorini combined on TD passes of 55 and 35 yards with Ken Burrough to hold second-place behind Pittsburgh in the AFC Central.

Steelers 30, Chiefs 3

Terry Bradshaw threw three TD passes and Matt Bahr kicked three field goals as Pittsburgh won its fourth straight game.

Seahawks 29, Browns 24

Seattle, limited to minus seven yards in total offense a week ago, erased that memory with a 427-yard game against Cleveland as Sherman Smith rushed for three TDs.

The loss dropped Cleveland into third place in the AFC Central, two games back of Pittsburgh and one behind Houston.

Dolphins 19, Colts 0

Miami moved into a first place tie with New England in the AFC East, bottling up Baltimore while Bob Griese tossed TD passes of 18 and 14 yards to Nat Moore.

Broncos 45, Patriots 10

Denver rolled to a 38-7 half-time lead and just coasted against New England. The victory kept the Broncos tied with San Diego for first place in the AFC West and dropped New England into a first-place tie with Miami in the AFC East.

Craig Morton passed for two TDs and Denver turned two Patriots fumbles and a blocked punt into three other scores.

Saints 31, 49ers 20

New Orleans took over first place in the NFC West, rolling past San Francisco as Chuck Muncie rushed for 118 yards and three touchdowns. Archie Manning hit 15 of 21 passes for 153 yards for the Saints.

Bears 27, Rams 23

Virgil Livers intercepted rookie Jeff Rutledge's pass, setting up Walter Payton's winning touchdown, a 2-yard run with 1:12 left, as Chicago overhauled Los Angeles, which led 16-0 early.

Packers 19, Vikings 7

Terdell Middleton rushed for 135 yards and David Whitehurst passed for a pair of TDs in Green Bay's victory over Minnesota. It was the Vikings' first loss to the Packers since 1974.

Giants 24, Falcons 3

Terry Jackson returned a blocked punt 47 yards for the game's first TD and New York won its fifth game in the last six weeks, beating Atlanta.

Volleyballers Go For Title Tuesday Night

The title goes on the line in the varsity match and the junior varsity goes after a perfect record Tuesday night at Lamesa when Snyder High and Lamesa High volleyball teams take the court.

The junior varsity clash is set for 6:30 p.m., with the varsity match to follow at 7:30 p.m.

If Coach Joyce Elrod's charges can win this one, it means another outright district championship. If they should stumble, the Snyder and Lamesa teams would be forced into a playoff to determine this year's District 8-AAA champion.

Snyder's junior varsity is undefeated this year and hopes to close out a perfect season at Lamesa.

A victory tomorrow night would mean a fourth consecutive district title for the Snyder varsity and enable them to close out their regular season this year with six victories in a row.

Cotton Bowl Host's Spot Still Wide Open

By DENNE FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer

The Cotton Bowl committee can sign a guest team Saturday, but the way the Southwest Conference race is going they aren't going to have a host until after Thanksgiving and maybe just three weeks before Christmas.

Everybody predicted a competitive SWC football chase this autumn, but nobody thought it was going to be THIS wild.

Right now Arkansas is in high cotton IF the Razorbacks beat Texas A&M in College Station Saturday, no gimmie by any means, then whip Southern Methodist in Little Rock on Nov. 24.

Arkansas, Houston and Texas are atop the SWC standings with one loss each thanks to the Longhorns' 21-13 victory over the Cougars Saturday night in the Astrodome and Arkansas' 29-20 thriller over Baylor.

If it ends this way, Arkansas goes to the Cotton Bowl because both Texas and Houston have been to the New Year's Day Classic since the Razorbacks.

"This is such a tough, screwy conference," said Texas Coach Fred Akers. "You just can't tell what's going to happen. All I know is that every team had better take care of business every week.

"This gives us new life, but we can't let up. We've got three more games and we'll have to be ready for each one."

Houston Coach Bill Yeoman was philosophical in the Cougar's first loss of the year.

"So we didn't get this one," he said. "You get some and you don't get some. A loss hurts anytime, but unless I'm mistaken we're tied for first now, right? Arkansas still has A&M and Tech to play.

"Texas still has Baylor, A&M and TCU to play, and we still have Rice and Tech to play. So now maybe the fans will buy up all the tickets to the remaining games ... there's some excitement left in it now."

Then he added, "That's why we did all this tonight, to keep the excitement in it."

In other games Saturday, Texas Christian tied Texas Tech 3-3 and Southern Methodist defeated Wichita State 34-0.

Rice is at Baylor, Texas Tech is at SMU and TCU is at Texas this week in games other than the Arkansas-A&M meeting.

Houston Destroys Oakland's Book

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ
AP Sports Writer

HOUSTON (AP) - Prior to the arrival of Earl Campbell, the book on how to stop the Houston Oilers read the same each week: stop the Dan Pastorini-to-Ken Burrough bomb and you stop the Oilers.

Then Campbell came along last year and led the National Football League in rushing his rookie season and the cry became stop Campbell and you stop the Oilers.

Now the Oakland Raiders are ready to throw away the book and start over.

The Oiler took a page from their history book Sunday when Pastorini and Burrough reformed the old demolition team for touchdown bombs of 55 and 35 yards en route to a satisfying 31-17 victory over the shocked Oakland Raiders.

The victory boosted Houston to an 8-3 record and kept them one game behind Pittsburgh in the tough American Football Conference Central Division race. Oakland dropped to a 6-5 record, their fifth loss in six road games this season.

Pastorini, with one of the worst quarterback ratings in the AFC, had been ineffective in mounting a strong passing game most of the season. But the Raiders felt the sting of Pastorini's judicious use of the forward pass. He passed only 13 times but completed eight for 208 yards and made each pass count.

"We thought we had to concentrate on stopping their running game and the passing game would take care of itself," said linebacker Phil Villapiano. "I thought we did a good job on Campbell, but we didn't know they were going to move the ball that well."

The Raiders didn't really stop Campbell, who rushed 107 yards on 32 carries and became the first player in AFC history to gain more than 1,000 yards in his first two seasons in the league. Campbell has 1,039 yards this season.

Our customers ask us:

"HOW MUCH NATURAL GAS DO WE HAVE LEFT?"

We believe the gas industry's future has never looked brighter. Encouraged by rising prices, many producers are drilling deeper and in more inaccessible places to find new sources of gas.

Now, under the spur of new technology, old gas fields that were believed to be nearly depleted are producing more gas. And new fields often can be made to produce at faster rates.

Lone Star's modern pipeline system extends to eight of the nine major gas basins that are estimated to contain about 50% of the remaining onshore gas reserves in the United States.

Our pipeline system will give us excellent opportunities to buy the gas you'll need in decades to come. We'll buy selectively, of course, and negotiate hard for terms favorable to you.

Gas. It's plentiful, efficient and right for the times.

OBITUARIES

Curtis C. Cox

Custis C. Cox, 76, who lived at 305 34th St., was dead on arrival at Cogdell Memorial Hospital at 3:45 a.m. Sunday.

Funeral service was set for 2 p.m. today in the Bell-Seale Funeral Home Chapel. Cline Paden was to officiate and burial was to be in the Dunn Cemetery, under direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

A retired farmer, Mr. Cox had lived in Scurry County since 1923.

Surviving are his wife, Ila; a son, Ernest Cox of Snyder; six sisters, Ella Nichols and Esther Allen, both of Stephenville, Willie Bunch and Zilpha Holdren both of Snyder, Freda Amos of Angleton, and Aleta Garrard of San Angelo; a brother, Edward Cox of Snyder, and three grandchildren.

R.D. Benton

Funeral service has been set for 2 p.m. Tuesday at the Grant St. United Methodist Church in Wichita Falls for Ralph D. Benton.

Mr. Benton, the father of Mrs. Mairl McFaul of Snyder, died Sunday morning in Methodist Hospital at Lubbock.

Other survivors include another daughter, Mrs. Norma Barnett of Richardson, and grandchildren, Robert McFaul of Fort Worth, Patricia McFaul of Snyder, Larry and Bryan Barnett of Richardson and two sisters and a brother.

E. U. Bullard

Ernest U. Bullard, 90, who lived at 3606 Avenue U, died at 3:15 p.m. Sunday in Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

The funeral service has been set for 10 a.m. Tuesday at Colonial Hill Baptist Church. The Rev. Miller F. Robinson will officiate and burial will be in the Snyder Cemetery, under direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

Surviving are four daughters: Fay Devers of Portales, N.M., Florine Merritt of Snyder, Merle Turner of Abilene and Vivian Helms of Rotan; three sons: Floyd Bullard of Houston, Fred Bullard of Snyder and Charles Binion of Agana, Guam; 13 grandchildren, and 31 great-grandchildren.

Mr. Bullard was married in November of 1919 at Memphis, Tx., to Cora Kitts. She preceded him in death in 1967.

Mrs. Moore

Funeral service was held Nov. 6 in Clifton for Mrs. Cecil Moore, who died Nov. 4.

She was born April 16, 1922, in Hamilton, and was married in 1942 to Cecil Moore. She was a Presbyterian.

Surviving are her husband; a son, Kent Moore of Bryan; her mother, Mrs. A.J. Barron of San Angelo; three sisters, Mrs. Stanley Odstrcil of San Angelo, Mrs. Ted Kirby, of Kerrville and Mrs. Luke Wyatt of Garden Grove, Calif.; and three grandchildren. The family has suggested memorials to the American Cancer Society.

Mrs. Powell

Funeral arrangements were pending this morning for Mrs. Willie Mae Powell, 65, who died at 6 p.m. Sunday in the University of Colorado Medical Center in Denver.

Mrs. Powell, the wife of Ennis Powell, lived at 509 35th St.

embassy. Foreign diplomats who saw them Saturday said they appeared to be in good health.

State Department spokesman Hodding Carter said the Carter administration continues to hope that efforts by nations, individuals and agencies would have "a cumulative effect" that would impel Iranian authorities to release the hostages.

Motel Association In Session Sunday

Several items were discussed Sunday at a meeting of the Snyder Motel Association at the Beacon Lodge.

Catherine Williams of TraveLodge reported that this year's Snyder ad for the "West Texas Fun and Adventure" map will be larger than that of the previous year. It will feature the Diamond M Museum, after featuring the Scurry County Museum the past two years. Few places can boast such an outstanding collection of paintings and sculptures, the group was told. The ad also will feature the distinctive shape of the welcome sign on the La Mesa Highway.

Jim Davis, operator of Beacon Restaurant, asked about brochures promoting local motels and restaurants, advising that he had some historical photos which could be used. Art Feinsod, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Tourism Committee, reported that Steve Floyd, a student at Western Texas College, was taking photographs of Snyder which will cover activities ranging from the July 4th celebration to the tree lighting ceremony at WTC and rodeos. All of these pictures will be used to advertise Snyder, Feinsod said.

Following the business session, James Patterson showed the group remodeling work that has been done at Beacon Lodge.

Attending were Davis, Art and Helen Feinsod of Purple Sage Motel, Patterson, Joe Patel of Travel Inn, Peter Patel of Ponderosa Motel, Jay Ranchod of Snyder East Motel, and Arlie Jackson, a guest.

tax slightly in June and passed a version that from 1980 through 1990 would bring in close to the $298 billion Carter had asked.

The Senate Finance Committee, concerned that a too stiff tax would rob the oil industry of money needed for exploration and production, exempted several categories of oil, cutting the revenue projection to about $138 billion.
