Three American Crewmen Killed

By JOHN T. WHEELER

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — Viet Cong gunners shot down four U.S. helicopters today in a savage fight in central Viet Nam. Three American crewmen were killed and 15 wounded.

The action was one of four major operations of the day, carried out as U.S. Embassy personnel returned to their bomb-shattered offices in Saigon under the protection of tigher new security measures.

About 45 American and Vietnamese fighter - bombers attacked four radar stations in North Viet Nam. A military spokesman said one U.S. Air Force F100 jet was shot down, but the pilot parachuted and was rescued uninjured.

In a related action, U.S. Navy jets from the carriers Coral Sea and Hancock attacked the radar station at Cape Ron and a military complex at Vinh Son.

A Hanoi dispatch broadcast from Peking declared 12 of the raiders were shot down.

South Viet Nam's official press agency announced the fourth operation — a strike by 100 U.S. and South Vietnamese bombers at a munitions depot and training center of a Viet Cong regiment at Boi Loi, 55 miles northwest of Saigon.

"The Boi Loi area was engulfed in a sea of fire," the agency said in a broadcast dispatch. "Pilots reported all planes taking part returned safely to the Bien Hoa Air Base."

Twenty-five American helicopters and elements of a Vietnamese government regiment were heavily engaged by Viet Cong forces three miles north of Viet An, a strategic center south of Da Nang Air Base.

Two U.S. Marine helicopter men died in their craft and 16 were wounded, one fatally.

Of 19 Marine helicopters in the action, all were reported hit by ground fire. Six Army helicopters also were engaged in the fight, which still raged at dusk.

The targets were all in the area of Vinh, a coastal city about 160 miles north of the 17th Parallel and the same distance south of Hanoi.

South Vietnamese troops appeared to be engaged in another major battle with the Communists for the hilltop redoubt at Viet An, commanding the approach to Tam Ky, capital of Quang Tin Province.

One Marine and two Army helicopters were knocked down as an armada of 19 Marine helicopters guarded by six armed Army helicopters landed 170 South Vietnamese troops about three miles north of Viet An. All the Marine helicopters were reported hit by ground fire.

Two Marine crewmen were killed. Fourteen Marine crewmen and two Army crewmen were wounded.

Reports from the scene 350 miles north of Saigon said the helicopters made three lifts into the battle zone despite the intense fire from automatic weapons and rifles. One source said the Viet Cong may also have used 57mm recoilless rifles and mortars against the landing zone, indicating an ambush for the airborne mission had been laid.

In Saigon, U.S. Embassy personnel returned to their bomb-battered offices under the protection of tight security measures. Only about half of the embassy staff was at work, and many of those were heavily bandaged.

Two more Vietnamese died of injuries suffered in Tuesday's Communist terrorists' attack, bringing the casualty toll to two Americans and 18 Vietnamese dead; 65 Americans and nearly 100 Vietnamese wounded.

Eleven Americans were under treatment in the U.S. Navy Hospital. Seven other Americans, either seriously wounded or requiring specialists' care, were flown to Clark Air Base in the Phillippines.

51 Killed In Crash Near Tangier

TANGIER, Morocco (AP) — A twin-engine Iberia Airlines plane plunged into the sea today a few minutes before it was scheduled to land in Tangier and 51 of the 54 persons aboard apparently died.

A fishing vessel picked up three badly injured passengers.

Three Spanish fishing boats picked up 47 bodies, said a report from Gibraltar, across the Strait from Tangier.

The pilot called the Tangier control tower shortly before the crash. At that time nothing out of the ordinary was mentioned. He was supposed to call back but did not.

The Convair plane carried 49 passengers and five crew members.

Iberia officials said it was believed the passengers included 36 Swedes, 11 Germans and 2 Britons.

The Convair had flown from Malaga, a mecca for Swedish tourists on the southern coast of Spain. It was preparing to land at Tangier, on Morocco's northern coast.

The Spanish trawler Virgen de Carmilo gave the alert soon after that the plane had dropped into the sea about three miles off Cap Espartel. The trawler reported later it had picked up three survivors and that they had been burned.

New York Newspaper Crisis Ends

NEW YORK (AP) — A New York City newspaper strike was put off indefinitely today.

A walkout had been scheduled at 2 a.m. agaainst one or more newspapers in a contract dispute centering on automation and wages.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner announced at 4 a.m. after a lengthy City Hall conference with negotiators that printers and photoengravers, who had threatened the walkout, consented to continue negotiations.

The mayor said an understanding was reached that 24 hours notice be given of any new strike deadline.

Beyond that, there was no clue as to how long the unions would be willing to talk.

Wagner, instrumental in settling a 114-day newspaper strike in 1963, conferred with negotiators for the union and the Publishers Association of New York City, representing seven newspapers.

Athens Shaken By Strong Earth Tremor

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — A strong earth tremor hit Athens today, frightening thousands and shaking upper floors of downtown buildings.

The tremor began at 11:49 a.m. and lasted about five seconds.

Police had no reports of casualties or serious damage.

Chile Begins Grim Task

SANTIAGO, Chile, (AP) — Earthquakes are part of the way of life in Chile, and the Chileans know what to do after a quake strikes. Today they are doing it with a vengeance.

Newsmen who flew Tuesday over the areas hit hardest by Sunday's quake saw work crews swarming over roofs, walls, bridges and roads, clearing away debris and starting repairs and reconstruction.

The exception was in El Cobre, the mining town of 400 persons wiped out by a dam break triggered by the quake.

In El Cobre there was nothing to rebuild or repair.

There, grimy work crews continued to dig into a 5-mile-long mass of earth, trying to reach the wreckage of the miners' houses and to bring out the dead.

By Tuesday night 45 bodies had been recovered. More than 300 were believed still buried.

The armed services set up tents, field hospitals and field kitchens in disaster areas to serve the injured or homeless.

The tents and equipment were donated by the United States after earthquakes and a tidal wave smashed much of southern Chile in 1960.

The Chileans stockpiled them on the assumption they would be needed again. The quake which struck Sunday was the third disastrous earthquake within the lifetime of some adult Chileans. The first was in 1939.

President Johnson offered any U.S. aid needed after Sunday's quake. But President Eduardo Frei said Chile would not ask for outside help — "We will do it with our own hands and with our own strength."

"Chile cannot ask for outside help every four years when this country is on the floor," he declared.

In La Ligua, 100 miles north of Santiago, a long line of adults and children waited at a field kitchen set up on a school athletic field.

A tent city sprang up in Llay-Llay, a road and highway junction in which most of the adobe and brick homes suffered heavy damage. Dozens of families clustered around an air force helicopter which flew in medical supplies.

Between Llay-Llay and San Felipe, repair crews dug into a massive landslide covering the main highway between Chile and Argentina.

In Santiago, a city of two million, most of the debris that fell from walls and roofs had been cleared away.

In El Cobre, the handful of people who survived the landslide were not talking of reconstruction. Some watched silently as soldiers, national police and volunteers dug into the mass of drying mud and wreckage.

Occasionally a group broke into wails as a body was brought out and identified.

Just Loves French Food

LONDON (AP) — Once or twice a month Mrs. Peter Eton pays $9.80 for a round-trip plane ticket from Britain to France and takes a five-hour shopping trip across the English Channel.

"I simply love fresh bread and vegetables," said the 36-year-old housewife, "and going to France is the real way to get them."

"I don't go through this routine because the food is cheaper in France. In some cases it is, but the quality is always better," she said.

"The real point is that I have a jolly good time without rush-hour worries, drudgery, boring train journeys and off-hand from British shop assistants."

Mrs. Eton lives five miles from Lydd Airport. An air ferry runs from there to Le Touquet, the French seaside resort 50 miles away. Britain and France don't require passports for one-day round trips between Channel ports.

US Diplomat Arrives Indonesia

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Veteran U.S. diplomat Ellsworth Bunker arrived today to look into deteriorating U.S.-Indonesian relations.

Bunker called on Foreign Minister Subandrio and is to meet with President Sukarno Thursday. He is expected to be here for about two weeks.

LBJ Seeks New Saigon Embassy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson may forward to Congress today his request for authority and funds to build a new American embassy in Saigon.

There is no reason to doubt that Congress will do what the President wants — swiftly comply with his request.

Johnson announced his intention in a statement issued late Tuesday afternoon, about 18 hours after terrorists' explosives heavily damaged the embassy in the South Viet Nam capital.

"The terrorist outrage aimed at the American Embassy in Saigon shows us once again what the struggle in Viet Nam is about," the statement said.

"This wanton act of ruthlessness has brought death and serious injury to innocent Vietnamese citizens in the street as well as to American and Vietnamese personnel on duty."

It is not known if the presidential statement is the extent of the American response to the attack.

Informed sources discounted any immediate attack on Hanoi, the capital of North Viet Nam. Officials said the statement indicated no special retaliatory action was being planned.

Before it was issued, Johnson conferred for 2½ hours with Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and McGeorge Bundy, special assistant to the President for national security affairs. The four meet every week, and their luncheon session had been scheduled in advance of Monday night's explosion.

Late today Johnson is expected to confer with Maxwell D. Taylor, the American ambassador to Saigon who has been in Washington for consultation since last Sunday.

Before Johnson's statement was released, White House press secretary George E. Reedy said when asked about the possibility of retaliatory air strikes: "I wouldn't speculate on the future right now."

The embassy, a five-story building that sits on a corner flush with the street, has been a favorite target of antigovernment insurgents since American warplanes began a series of bombing raids against North Viet Nam Feb. 7. The 14th attack was staged Tuesday.

The explosion at the embassy punched a gaping hole in the building, shattered every window and left an enormous crater in the street.

Lubbock Man Held In Pittsburgh Death

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A 38-year-old supervisor for the Edgar Tompson Steel Co. was found dead today on the fifth floor ledge of the Hilton Hotel.

First reports said Alfred Price Jr. of Monroeville fell from a ninth floor window.

However, homicide detectives said they found another man in the room, his clothing covered with blood, and wrecked furniture.

Detectives said Jan Ronald Guy of (3608 42nd St.) Lubbock, Texas, was asleep in a bed in room 933. He was held for questioning. No charge was immediately filed.

FBI Assists In Probe Of Klan

By HARRY KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — An extensive congressional investigation aimed at ripping the white cloaks of secrecy from the Ku Klux Klan was under way today, presumably with a big assist from the FBI.

The formal investigation was launched immediately after the House Committee on Un-American Activities voted unanimously Tuesday that a probe was needed.

Committee Chairman Edwin E. Willis, D-La., and Rep. Charles L. Weltner, D-Ga., the committee member who originally demanded the investigation, estimated it would take several weeks of spadework before hearings.

"It's going to require intensive and extensive investigation to prepare for the hearings," said one source.

"We want to know who they are, how many there are, where they are, what's their objectives, what's their allegiance."

At Natchez, Miss., E. L. McDaniel, grand dragon of the Mississippi Realm of the United Klans of America, said he welcomed an investigation of the KKK." He said he hoped Willis "has not formed an opinion before investigating the truth."

President Johnson, in suggesting congressional investigations of the Klan, promised help from the FBI, Justice Department and other government agencies.

The committee already has approached the Justice Department and a committee source said the length of the investigation may depend on how much help the Justice Department, the FBI and other agencies may be able to give.

Thus, while the President was getting in short order the investigation he asked for, the Justice Department was facing up to the difficulties of coming up with legislation he requested to control Klan activities.

Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach told some Negro students about it Tuesday. "It's difficult to get any meaningful legislation against the organization. It would be better if we could make it easier for the federal government to prosecute individuals for specific crimes, possibly with heavier penalties than we now have. But we haven't made any decision yet."

Plans Memorial To Ernest Hemingway

KETCHUM, Idaho (AP) — Plans were announced today for a memorial to novelist Ernest Hemingway in the rugged Sawtooth Mountains he loved.

The monument will be built in the Wood River campground 10 miles north of Ketchum, where Hemingway was found dead on a self-inflicted gunshot wound in his hunting lodge in 1961.

Floyd Iverson said it will be financed by private contributions.

GOPs Seek To Broaden Vote Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional Republicans are taking the lead in attempting to broaden the impact of the pending voting-rights bill.

Although Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen told a news conference Tuesday that efforts to speed the bill through Congress are bipartisan, he and other GOP members are in the forefront of those seeking broader coverage.

As it now is drawn, the measure aimed at eliminating racial discrimination in voting would affect Alabama, Alaska, Lousiana, Georgia, Mississippi, South Carolina and Virginia, plus 34 counties in North Carolina and one county each in Maine, Idaho and Arizona.

This is because the bill's provision for appointment of federal registrars would be triggered automatically in states and counties where less than half the adult population was registered or voted last november.

Dirksen rejected a suggestion by Leander H. Perez, Plaquemines Parish, La., before the Judiciary Committee that "it is not by coincidence" that some of the Southern states affected by the bill "registered a large vote" against President Johnson last year.

GOP presidential nominee Barry Goldwater carried Louisiana, Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi, South Carolina and Arizona in an election in which party officials figured 96 per cent of the Negro vote went against him on a national basis.

Dirksen, who drafted the bill in cooperation with Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach, said "There was never a word in that field — partisanship didn't enter into consideration of this measure."

Despite this disclaimer, Dirksen has overshadowed any Democrat in his efforts to get enacted legislation which would give the Negroes the right to vote that they have demonstrated lack in Alabama.

Britain Ends Year Deeper In Red

LONDON (AP) — Britain suffered a deficit of $2.086 billion in its balance of payments with other countries in 1964, the treasury reported today.

By the end of the year the nation's gold and hard currency reserves had fallen the equivalent of $341.6 million, and the treasury had borrowed a billion dollars from the International Monetary Fund and $0.448 million from overseas central banks.

Tensions Ease In 'Bama Hot Spots

MONTGOMERY Ala (AP) — Some evidence of a change for the better in the racial climate appeared in the cities where the voter rights march began and ended and where services were held for a civil rights worker slain by night riders.

State troopers and sheriff's possemen were not in evidence Tuesday as black-robed women walked behind black-draped wooden caskets bearing the names of persons killed in the civil rights struggle.

There were no incidents. Only a few white spectators watched in Selma and Montgomery.

Ten empty caskets were placed on the sidewalk at the bottom of the steps leading to the state Capitol in Montgomery when Mills Cowling, head of the department in charge of state property, ordered a halt.

There they remained during a prayer and some talk. The marchers' parade permit expired at 6 p.m. and they left without the caskets. A city truck carried them away.

In Selma, two civil rights leaders called off mass meetings and demonstrations for the rest of the week. They urged the time be spent in preparing for the opening of the Dallas County voter registrar's office Monday.

An Associated Press newsman in Selma said there appeared to be much less tension and the city of 29,000 was like many another Southern community enjoying warm spring weather.

Wilson Baker, the public safety director, was in his office at City Hall. Sheriff James G. Clark also worked in his office. Mayor Joseph Smitherman was out of town.

The civil rights workers mourning the death of Viola Gregg Liuzzo of Detroit went from Selma to a tiny church near Lowndesboro not far from the place where she was shot to death. Then they completed the 50-mile drive to Montgomery and walked the last short distance to the Capitol steps.

There wasn't any trouble, and again the racial atmosphere seemed improved. Police Chief Marvin Stanley and Police Commissioner L. B. Sullivan kept firm control while state troopers remained out of sight inside the Capitol.

Humphrey Urges Mayors To Seek Voice For Cities

By BOB HORTON

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey urged the nation's mayors and other city officials today to throw their support behind the proposal to give cities a voice in the President's Cabinet.

America's ever-growing cities are facing a "time of great decision," and need such a voice, he said, in a speech prepared for a legislative conference of the National League of Cities.

As he spoke, hearings were under way in the Senate on an administration-backed bill which would create a new department of housing and urban development. This would be done by raising the status of the existing federal Housing and Home Finance Agency.

"Almost every group in this country has a voice at the Cabinet level in this government: but not the city," Humphrey said. "That is wrong. I ask you to exert your influence in support of this bill."

Humphrey pointed up the problems confronting the cities, mainly a result of burgeoning growth. He said the suburbs must swell to absorb another 30 million people in the next 10 years.

The growth rate has forced state and local governments to go heavily into debt — more than doubling in 10 years — to pay for services and facilities, the vice president said.

"But we still have over nine million homes that are run down or deteriorating," he said. "And we have more than four million homes without running water or plumbing."

Forces of growth and decay are converging on cities, Humphrey declared, and require not only building but better education, higher incomes and a lifting of "oppression" used "to deny some of our citizens their rights."

"American cities today are at a time of great decision," Humphrey asserted. "We can be crushed by their unchanneled vitality if we do not impose civilizing controls."

Director Resigns Pure Oil Position

HOUSTON (AP)—J. R. Parten has resigned as a director of two Pure Oil Co. affiliates but denies this is connected with his move, with four others, to put a new man on the parent firm's board.

Parten resigned Tuesday from the boards of South Saskatchewan Pipeline Co. and Minnesota Pipeline Co. He was a founding director of both in 1954.

At the same time he and four associates filed notice with the Securities and Exchange Commission that they will solicit votes from Pure Oil stockholders to place at least one additional man on the board of the Palatine, Ill., company.

Parten said he remains a member of the parent firm's board and he merely resigned as a consultant to the company. It was a consultant that he served on the other boards, he said.

Mishap Reported

The Snyder police department reported a minor traffic mishap at 11:20 p.m. Tuesday in Towle Park.

A 1961 Plymouth driven by Aleta Ann January, 3733 Avondale, struck a steel post, causing only minor damage to the car.

Pioneer Oilman Dies In Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — A. S. Crutcher, 62, who sold the equipment for the Middle East's first oil pipeline, died Tuesday at Methodist Hospital.

He had advanced only last week from president to chairman of the board of Crutcher-Rolfs-Cummings, one of the most widely known pipeline equipment firms in the world. His son Carey became president.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am 20 and practically engaged to a boy I'll call Bill. He is overseas in the service right now. Before he left, he said I could date if I wanted to. I didn't date at all for the first month, then this boy I'll call George started asking me out. I went out with him because it was better than sitting home, but I told him from the start that we could only be friends, as I had a boy friend in the service I was waiting for. He said he understood, but he also told me on our third date that he was in love with me. I don't want to stop dating George because he is a nice guy and a lot of fun, but I don't want him to get hurt, either. My mother says I shouldn't be dating at all, but I don't see any harm in it as long as I don't lead anyone on. What do you think about all this? I don't want to hurt anyone.

WAITING FOR BILL

DEAR WAITING: I think that YOU think you are "in love" with Bill. But if you really were, you wouldn't mind "sitting home." George may be a nice guy and a lot of fun, 'but he regards you as more than just a friend, and given the time and opportunity (which you are allowing him) he could change your mind about him. Don't worry about "hurting" George. I have an idea he can look after himself.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a 50-year-old so-called society woman, who tells everyone that the life - sized painting of a nude woman hanging in her drawing room, is her?

CURIOUS

DEAR CURIOUS: If the nude is not she, she is an exhibitionistic liar. If it is, she is merely exhibitionistic.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: My experience with people who never knock, but just walk in, beats the one you had printed in your column recently. Back in 1947 we had a neighbor woman in Hammond, Indiana, who always walked into our house without knocking, and she'd walk into any room of the house the same way. She didn't know whether or not my husband was home. (He traveled.) So to make a long story short, she came into my house and went hunting for me in all the rooms. I happened to be out in the back yard emptying the garbage pail. Well, she walked into the bathroom just as my husband was stepping out of the bathtub. She fainted dead away and when my husband went to catch her, he slipped back into the tub and broke his leg. The lady cracked her head on the doorknob and fractured her skull. I had to call TWO ambulances!

Retirement Of McLeod Announced

E. W. McLeod, an employe of Humble Oil and Refining Co. for over 35 years, is retiring effective tomorrow.

He was honored at a luncheon recently at Snyder Country Club, at which time R. R. McCarty, area production manager, presented him with a billfold, retirement certificate and various other awards which Humble presents on such occasions.

Other out-of-town guests at the luncheon included Richard Peters, Hartman McCall and Dean Holdise of Midland, and R. G. Tonkin, J. P. Roach and C. E. McDonald of Andrews.

McLeod was first employed by Humble as a laborer at Powel on Nov. 7, 1924. He worked at Luling, at Wortham Gas Plant and Yates Gas Plant before transferring to Humble Pipe Line at McCamey. In 1931 he transferred to Arp as roustabout, but came back to West Texas in 1932 as roustabout at Chalk. Since that date he has worked at various occupations in West Texas. He was promoted to Field Maintenance Foreman in 1945 at Hobbs, and then was promoted to Field Superintendent in 1950 at Snyder.

Dancers Attend Jamboree

Over the weekend the Shirts 'n' Skirts Square Dance Club took Snyder's name over nearly 300 miles as well as having lessons.

Friday night the club held lessons at the armory to polish up for the Jamboree at Levelland Saturday. As well, members attended the Big Spring teen dance at Cosden Country Club called by Bill Wood. Robert Wanner and Neal Henry helped with the calling and afterwards the group went to the Red Barn for a social hour.

Saturday night the club went to the Seventh Jamboree of the Levelland Teens. The bus was met at Ballard's where members put the banner on and departed at 3:30 p.m.; arriving in Levelland about 6 o'clock. A police escort took them into the city where they met the groups from Levelland and Big Spring to eat. The group they went to the Woman's Club building to change clothes for dancing.

Al Mallory, well known to Snyderites and Big Spring dancers called.

Squares at the jamboree were from Lorenzo, Snyder, Fort Worth, Morton, Lubbock, Plainview, Odessa, Big Spring and Levelland. More than 300 persons attended.

Friday will again be the night for lessons, and an open invitation is extended to all interested people. High school and junior high students are especially welcome.

Saturday night the Country Cousins will be holding a dance at the armory with club members calling.

Sunday will be the club's business meeting at 2:30 in the basement of Snyder Savings and Loan.

Good with tomato juice: neat pieces of dried beef stuffed and rolled with seasoned cream cheese. Serve as a first course.

Lobster King Of The Sea

Welcome this royal seafood to your dinner table during this Lenten season. Succulent pieces of lobster combined with savory herb - seasoned stuffing, then spooned into plump green peppers and baked, make a delicious meal for family or company. Packaged herb - seasoned stuffing with its special blend of herbs and spices, provides a quick and easy way to prepare these superb stuffed green peppers.

Lobster Stuffed Peppers

4 green pepper
¼ cup butter or margarine
¼ cup minced onion
½ cup chopped celery
1 cup canned or cooked lobster meat
1½ cups herb - seasoned stuffing
2 eggs, slightly beaten
¼ cup water
½ teaspoon salt
Dash pepper

Cut off stem end of peppers and remove seeds. Cook in boiling salted water (1 teaspoon salt to 1 cup water) for 5 minutes, or until tender - crisp. In saucepan, melt butter or margarine and saute onion and celery over low heat, until tender. Add lobster, herb - seasoned stuffing, eggs, water, salt, and pepper; toss together. Fill peppers and bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 20 to 30 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

Easy way to top a cake-mix cake, is to allow the cake to bake about 15 minutes and then sprinkle the top with a combination of cinnamon and sugar plus finely chopped walnuts or pecans. Keep the cinnamon - sugar mixture on hand for such cake use, for topping French toast and for making cinnamon toast.

Sure there's a difference between the luxury '65 Chevrolet and expensive cars
You can put most of it in your savings account

Maybe you've only seen them on the street so far. If so, come on in and see a Jet-smooth '65 Chevrolet right in our showroom. We think you'll do a double-take when you get up close enough for a look at that price sticker. Most people do. Because the major difference between this one and cars that cost quite a bit more is simply—price.

Take room, for example. Chevrolet has more of it than many expensive cars do. You get extra foot room with the new frame and forward engine design. And those handsome curved side windows are one reason for all of the extra shoulder room, front and rear.

And there's plenty of luxury. The smartly functional instrument panel is easy to read, puts everything at your fingertips as well. Color-keyed interiors feature tastefully rich fabrics and vinyls, foam-cushioned seating and plush deep-twist carpeting. And even the low-cost Bel Airs and Biscaynes include these luxury touches.

There's a great choice of power, from Chevrolet's economical, spirited 140-hp Turbo-Thrift Six on up. And that famous Jet-smooth ride is even better this year. A new Full Coil suspension, new wider tread and over 700 sound and shock absorbers work together to give you the feeling there's a foot of air between you and the road.

You can tailor the car exactly to your taste, too. Our catalog lists nearly 200 ways to do that—and our salesmen can show you how easily your present car and realistic monthly payments will have you driving a beautiful '65 Chevrolet nearly as quickly as you've read this message.

MORE DEVASTATING THAN THE GAS ITSELF!

Rival Klan Groups Based In Corruption, Subversion

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — When Congress investigates the Ku Klux Klans -- there are at least 14 — it will find they are too split by bickering and rivalries to form a single national organization under one leader.

The total membership is probably not over 15,000 although they spread across the Southern states and some leaders have made fantastic claims about numbers. The members in general are not credited with very high intelligence.

The fact that in this free and open society so many men would find it necessary to hide under a hood necessarily raises questions about their stability and their purpose.

They proclaim their patriotism but their main target is Negroes, with Catholics, Jews and the foreign-born secondary targets. They have added a new target in recent years: the "Communist conspiracy."

Klansmen live in a childlike world of hoods, robes, symbols, secret membership and passwords, and the kind of titles that would be more appropriate in a fairy tale than in the kind of grisly world klansmen see.

But the actions of some of them are not at all childlike, as Chairman Edwin E. Willis, D-La., of the House Committee on Un-American Activities pointed out to reporters Tuesday after the committee unanimously voted to examine the Klans.

He said preliminary inquiries indicate that "shocking crimes are carried out by highly secret action groups within the Klans' known as "knockout squads" or "holy terrors."

The actions of these goon squads are disclaimed by Klan officials when they are caught. Willis said, "to protect those Klan leaders who are parties to the crimes committed and to mislead Klan membership and the public."

So far there is no public evidence that Klan leaders knew beforehand of any of the crimes charged to klansmen or that klansmen in general knew. But the Klans have had, and still have, a vicious history.

Corruption was piled on top of murder in the past. As late as 1955 five Klans — no longer in existence, at least under their old names — were on the attorney general's list of subversive organizations. No new list has been issued in the past 10 years.

Klans vary in size. The smallest — the Mississippi Knights of the Ku Klux Klan — reportedly is a one-man Klan operating on the Mississippi Gulf coast. The largest, with about 5,000 members, is the United Klans of America, Inc., with headquarters in Tuscaloosa, Ala. It has members in eight Southern states.

Here are some of the names and titles in the Klan world:

Invisible empire — Supposedly covering the whole country; a realm — one state; province — a county or several counties; a klavern or den — a local chapter and thus the smallest unit.

Imperial Wizard — Ruler of his whole group; Genii — the wizard's cabinet of a dozen or more officers; Grand Dragon — boss of a realm; Hydras — assistants to the great titan; Exalted Cyclops — head of a klavern; Terrors — assistants to a cyclops.

Klaliff — deputy boss of the whole Klan; Klokard — lecturer or teacher; Kludd — chaplain; Kligrapp — secretary; Klabee — treasurer; Klexter — guard; Klokan — investigator; Night Hawk — custodian of the fiery cross; and Kleegle — organizer.

A convention is an "Imperial Konvokation" and the executive committee is the "Imperial Kloncilium." Klans have seven significant symbols although whether all use them is questionable: a Bible, fiery cross, an American flag, a sword, a robe, a hood, and a container of water signifying usefulness and purity.

Funds are raised through a rich patron in the background or through initiation fees — $10 to $25—and dues—$6 to $24 a year — or meeting-donations collected in buckets.

Otto Isn't Bothered By Critics

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Sticks and stones may break Otto Preminger's bones — but being called names doesn't seem to hurt him.

Or, if it does, he doesn't show it.

The controversial film producer is admitted even by most of his critics to be a genius. But as a result of his caustic tantrums and his ability to reduce both stars and underlings to resentful pools of jellied ego, he sometimes is called a tyrant and such nicknames as "The Terrible-Tempered Mr. Preminger" and "Otto the Sweet."

Otto himself is icily noncommittal.

"It makes no difference. What people think of me personally doesn't interest me. I'm not running for public office or engaged in a popularity contest.

"I never object to what people say about me. I'm interested only in what they think of my work."

The theater and films have been the passion of Preminger's life since he abandoned a law career in Vienna as a youth. He has worked as actor, writer, director and producer, and now prefers the lone wolf role because it satisfies his strongly independent nature.

"I produce and direct my pictures" he said, "because if the producer and director have a fight I always win — since I am both.

"I don't have to do what other people tell me. This is a great joy, for to me life means self-expression."

At 58 Otto, a man with iceberg eyes, a Hapsburg lip and a pink head shaven like Yul Brynner's, has made his devotion to his work pay off. He likes luxury and surrounds himself with it.

He has a gourmet's taste for fine food and wines, lives in a showplace home on the East Side here, collects expensive modern art.

Now he makes about one picture a year and plans it as methodically as a general going into battle. He likes to people his pictures with stars.

From script to final cutting every aspect of the picture bears his individual stamp.

Most of his films have made money, a fact which interests Otto because he gets a share of the profits plus a fee of around $400,000 for each picture.

"I am a relatively happy man, however," Otto said, "because I have educated myself not to become too overjoyed by success or too depressed by failure.

"Success is only important because it gives you the means to continue your work; failure, because it makes you take another look — to improve your work.

"But you must keep a sense of perspective and realize that what is important to you may not be a problem to the whole world. Most tensions in life come from overrating the importance of yourself and your problems. A sense of humor is better than any psychoanalyst."

Junior Editors Quiz on WHALE TEETH

QUESTION: Do whales have big teeth?

• • •

ANSWER: Whales are such huge creatures—up to 111 feet long—that one might reasonably expect them to have very large teeth. Our artist drew the upper picture thinking of how one might imagine whales' teeth to be if one hadn't checked up on the facts. This picture is entirely false. It's a whale with false teeth! Actually, the largest whales, called baleen or whalebone whales, have no teeth at all. They live by straining small sea creatures from the water, using horny plates of whalebone, which hang down inside their mouths, for this purpose. The biggest whales with real teeth are the sperm whales, monsters which in the old whaling days could crush boats in their mouths like kindling wood. But it was the big lower jaw which gave them such power; the teeth themselves were quite small for their size (notice the size in relation to Jerry who is examining one) and are rounded in shape rather than sharp. These teeth, however, are just right for biting off pieces of cuttlefish or squid which are the sperm whale's favorite food.

• • •

FOR YOU TO DO: See if you can find out what 'scrimshaw' means. A broad hint: it is connected with the designs of ships and ladies cut in the whales' teeth which Jerry is looking at. But who put the designs there and why? 3/31

(Peter Furmanick of Worcester, Mass., wins today's combined prize of Compton's Illustrated Science Dictionary plus $10 cash, for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper.)

Cooper Wins In 11th; Bengals To Tourney

The sun was sinking low, a chilling wind was sweeping the diamond, and coaches had agreed that the 11th inning would be the last.

Then, things began to happen on the base paths for the first time since the second inning. When the top of the 11th was over, Abilene Cooper had scored three runs, enough to insure themselves a 4-1 victory over the Snyder Tigers.

The score was deadlocked from the second inning at 1-1 as J. N. Wall matched a trio of Cooper hurlers stroke for stroke. In fact, Wall appeared to have the advantage until the 11th when Cooper got three of its seven hits, which, coupled with a pair of walks, produced the winning rally.

Meanwhile, the Tigers had missed sewing up the contest in the second inning by a gnat's eyelash. Three successive singles, two of them bunts, by Leslie Brown, Kenny Gay and Jay Williamson loaded the bases with nobody out. David Cadena promptly socked a tremendous line drive that Truitt Roberts miraculously pulled down in front of the scoreboard in deep leftfield. It was far and away the most prodigious blow of the ball game, but, due to Roberts' heroics, the Tigers were able to get only one run from it, with Brown scoring from third after the catch.

The Cougars had scored a run in the first with the aid of two Snyder errors and one hit.

After the Tigers got their run in the second, neither team got a runner past second base until the decisive rally by Cooper in the 11th.

Wall went the full 11 innings on the mound for the Tigers. He struck out 8 and walked 5, and had an amazing four-hitter thorough 10 innings.

There wasn't an extra - base blow in the game. Drew Bullard and Leslie Brown got two singles apiece for the Tigers, both of Brown's and one of Bullard's coming on bunts which they were able to beat out rather easily.

The Tigers will leave at noon Friday for Eunice, N. M., where they will participate in an invitational tournament this weekend. The tournament will be the last action before district play is launched next week. The Bengals will open the District 3-AAA race at Sweetwater on Tuesday afternoon.

Their first tournament action at Eunice will find the Tigers involved in a sort of "rubber" game with the Andrews Mustangs. They'll tangle with the Ponies at 8:15 p.m. (MST) Friday.

Snyder and Andrews have divided a pair of doubleheaders in previous action.

Other teams in the Eunice tournament include Portales, Big Spring, Monahans, Kermit, Lovington, and Eunice. The tournament is a single elimination event, but with a consolation bracket to assure two games for each team.

Finley Mum On Team's Future

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The question of the day in Kansas City was:

"Will Charles O. Finley move his mule, peacocks, bird dog, rabbits and American League baseball club to Milwaukee at the end of the 1965 season?"

The question was asked repeatedly by newsmen Tuesday after Frank Lane, Finley's one-time general manager, said he'd bet all the tea in China that Finley is "drooling at the mouth" and planning to move the A's to Milwaukee after the Braves move to Atlanta.

Finley never gave a flat yes or no answer twice, saying, "I don't wish to add any dignity to any silly, idiotic statements by Mr. Frank Lane."

He said this after an hour-long meeting with the baseball committee of the Chamber of Commerce. Earlier in the day, at a press conference which Finley had called to introduce his new mascot, Charley O., a handsome mule, the A's owner replied:

"There's nothing to answer."

Prodded again, he said:

"That's what makes me mad about you guys, we came out here on a nice day to show you the mule. I told you the mule would answer questions."

The trainer, at Finley's behest, asked the mule the Milwaukee question eight times — for benefit of photographers. Its answers were inconsistent, at best.

After the closed meeting, John Latshaw, president of the chamber, sat beside Finley and told newsmen, the A's owner stated in the meeting "he has not talked to Milwaukee directly or indirectly nor has any of his representatives or theirs been in contact with him."

Finley said he had asked for the meeting with the chamber a week ago to offer help for the season ticket drive, which is lagging.

After the mule press conference, Finley told a luncheon club the A's would jump from last place to fifth this season.

Finley and the city signed a four-year contract in February, 1964 after long and bitter lease negotiations during which he attempted to move the club. Lane settled his back salary suit against Finley last year for $113,000 during a federal district court trial in Chicago.

Junior High Meet Here

Teams from six schools are scheduled to compete here Thursday afternoon in a 7th and 8th grade track meet on the Snyder High School track.

The activity is due to get underway at around 4 p.m.

In addition to Travis and Lamar Junior High 7th and 8th grade teams, contestants are expected from Colorado City, Post, Big Spring Goliad and Fluvanna.

Ed Spiezio Leads Cards Past Yanks

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ed Spiezio, one of the few St. Louis Cardinals who didn't torment the New York Yankees last October, is an accredited Yankee-killer today.

Spiezio, who got into 12 games last season as a Cardinal first-year player and sat out the World Series triumph over New York, beat the Yankees 4-3 with a ninth-inning triple Tuesday in the clubs' first spring meeting.

Johnny Keane, who quit as manager of the world champions to become the Yankee field boss, watched with mixed emotions as Spiezio's 430-foot, run-scoring drive scuttled Keane's new club for the 12th time in its last 14 exhibition starts.

The game-winning hit, Spiezio's 13th in 21 spring at-bats, boosted his batting average to a dizzy .619. The 23-year-old infielder from Joliet, Ill., went 4-for-12 as a pinch hitter last year for a .333 mark.

Spiezio entered the game in the sixth inning, replacing Ken Boyer at third base after the National League's MVP was hit in the face by a drive off the bat of his brother Cletis, the Yankee third baseman.

The Chicago White Sox, considered the top threat to New York's five-year American League reign, won their fifth in a row, blanking the Dodgers 2-0 despite pitching ace Sandy Koufax's second straight route-going effort for Los Angeles.

Koufax, beaten 3-2 by Detroit last week in his first complete game, allowed four hits and struck out 10. He was touched for a run in each of the first two innings. Rookie Chicago pitchers Bruce Howard and Greg Bollo stopped the Dodgers on three hits.

In other games, the Chicago Cubs downed Cleveland 12-9, Baltimore whipped Houston 5-1, San Francisco shut out Boston 6-0, Cincinnati topped Minnesota 7-3, Milwaukee clubbed Kansas City 12-5, Pittsburgh's Willie Stargell drove in six runs—four on a grand-slam homer—in the Pirates' 12-7 victory over Washington, and the Los Angeles Angels beat their Seattle farm club 5-1.

Tennis Team Splits With Seminole

Snyder's tennis team and Seminole netters split, 5-5, in matches played here Tuesday afternoon.

In boys No. 1 singles, Gordon Stokes of Snyder defeated Bobby Malone, 6-1, 7-5. In other boys singles matches, Jimmy Nix lost to Seminole's Ronnie Dulaud, 6-1, 6-3; Gary Blacksher lost to Marvel Bailiff, 7-5, 6-1; Sandy Wellborn defeated Bobby Malone, 6-4, 6-3; and in a freshman singles match, Mickey Allmand lost to Bailiff, 6-0, 6-2.

In boys No. 1 doubles, Ronnie Detrich and Milton Kellner defeated Charles McClead and Gene Cornwell, 10-8, 6-4, while Jimmy Nix and Aubrey Jones lost to Barry Hill and Ronnie Dulan, 6-3, 6-4. In another doubles match, Gordon Stokes and Milton Kellner were deadlocked at 5-7, 7-5, with McClead and Cornwell when play was suspended.

In No. 1 girls singles, Emily Kincaid defeated Seminole's Kathy Thompson, 6-1, 6-2, and Jackie Tidwell defeated Nancy Billips, 3-6, 6-4, 6-4. In girls doubles, Jackie Tidwell and Mary Wilson lost to Thompson and Billips, 6-1, 6-3.

Snyder's record for the season now shows three victories, one loss and one tie. Next action for the locals will be at Sweetwater next Tuesday.

Aggies Have Trouble Getting Their Drills

COLLEGE STATION (AP)—Texas A&M is having all sorts of trouble getting in spring football training.

The Aggies had to cancel out entirely Tuesday because of rain. They will try to resume training today. In a week's time they have gotten in only three sessions.

Cards Rate Slight Favorite

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

The National League Green Book, guide to the senior circuit's 10 teams, boasts on its cover that just three clubs have managed to repeat as pennant winners in the last 20 years. Let that be a warning to the World Champion St. Louis Cardinals.

The Cards, who emerged from baseball's tightest pennant race ever with their first flag in 18 years last season, must rate as favorites for 1965, but five other clubs shape up as strong threats.

Philadelphia, Cincinnati and San Francisco, who, along with St. Louis, all had a shot at the pennant going into the final frantic weekend of play last year, figure to stay near the top this season. Los Angeles, with baseball's strongest pitching staff and Milwaukee, with considerable power, also rate consideration.

Only Chicago, Pittsburgh, New York and Houston seem out of the pre-season pennant picture.

The Cards, Phillies and Reds all were active on the winter trade market.

St. Louis moved to bolster its pitching staff, picking up Tracy Stallard, a 10-game winner with the Mets last year and Bob Purkey, who won 11 for the Reds. Utility man Tito Francona, acquired from Cleveland, strengthens the bench.

Philadelphia, which missed by a whisker after leading all season long, swapped pitcher Dennis Bennett to Boston for slugging Dick Stuart, whose hitting they could have used down the stretch last year.

The Phillies also picked up Los Angeles Angel problem child Bo Belinsky and veteran pitcher Ray Herbert from the Chicago White Sox. Manager Gene Mauch needs a tightened defense, especially at third base where Rookie of the Year Richie Allen led the league in errors.

Cincinnati grabbed pitcher Roger Craig and outfielder Charlie James in the swap with St. Louis for Purkey.

The Reds have a problem at third where Manager Dick Sisler has been experimenting with Deron Johnson, who batted .273 with 21 homers. If Johnson can't make it there, Steve Boros, a lighter hitter, or Chico Ruiz will get the job and Johnson will play first.

San Francisco has Willie Mays, Orlando Cepeda and Juan Marichal and any club with that kind of talent should be in the race all the way.

The Giants, under new Manager Herman Franks, need comebacks from shortstop Jose Pagan and outfielder Willie McCovey as well as bullpen help.

Milwaukee has a strong young pitching staff, the best catcher in the league in Joe Torre and one of the last year's top rookies in Rico Carty, whose .330 average was second best in the league.

The Braves, playing their last year in Milwaukee before next season's move to Atlanta, hope infielders Frank Bolling and Eddie Mathews can come back. They also need a quick recovery from ankle surgery by slugging outfielder Hank Aaron to take the pennant south with them in 1966.

Los Angeles, with Sandy Koufax seemingly recovered from last year's arm trouble, has the top pitching in the league with Don Drysdale, an 18-game winner, and left-hander Claude Osteen, who won 15 for Washington last year.

Pittsburgh's batting champion Roberto Clemente was slowed by a bout with malaria this spring and the Pirates need his bat to be a threat. Pittsburgh picked up journeyman shortstop Andre Rodgers from the Cubs and catcher Del Crandall from the Giants in winter trades.

Freshman Manager Harry Walker is a bit thin in pitching but he has Bob Veale, the major league's strikeout leader with 250 last year.

Wichita Youth Runs Record 4:04.4 Mile

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — A tremendous burst of speed in the last 440 yards carried Jim Ryun of Wichita East to a national high school record-shattering 4:04.4 mile run Tuesday night in an outdoor invitational track meet.

He unleashed a 56-second final quarter mile to eclipse the previous mark of 4:06.0 set last season by Gerry Lindgren of Spokane, Wash.

I Want Cassius, Torres Bellows

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Boxing's comeback boom found a new and exciting tiger today in Jose Torres, the piston puncher who hammered his way to the light-heavyweight championship — and threw down the gauntlet to Cassius Clay.

"I want Muhammad Ali," the 28-year-old Puerto Rico-born New Yorker blurted after he had given the master boxer, Willie Pastrano, an unmerciful beating and had been named winner by a technical knockout in the ninth round.

Pastrano lost his 175-pound title while sitting — bloody and battered — on his stool between the ninth and 10th rounds, a decision of mercy by referee Johnny LoBianco.

The champion's handlers let out a loud and bitter protest but Pastrano said huskily in his dressing room: "It was a just decision. I took a terrible beating. I may never fight again."

The abrupt and controversial ending climaxed an unprecedented title doubleheader at Madison Square Garden that earlier saw Emile Griffith successfully defend his welterweight crown with a unanimous 15-round decision over the rugged but outclassed Jose Stable.

A crowd of 18,112 paid $239,556 for the twin bill of fare — a record gate for the musty midtown arena — and sigraled a continuing boom for the sport that once was believed on its death bed.

Most of the cheers were for Torres, a superbly built, olive-skinned athlete of 28 who had banged around the middleweight and light-heavy ranks for a half-dozen years without a chance, and who was a 6-5 underdog against Pastrano.

Using a peek-a-boo fighting style and lashing out with a left that was like an adder's strike — and almost as deadly — he gave the classy Miami Beach fighter an awesome beating.

In the fourth and fifth rounds he brought blood with savage bolts to the head, and in the sixth he unleashed a left that sent his glove crashing into Pastrano's ribs.

Never before in 13½ years of fighting had any man knocked Pastrano to his knees.

A look of agonizing pain, and surprise, came to the champion's face as he slumped to his knees and sagged into the middle strand of the ropes. The New York Athletic Commission doctor, Dr. Harry Kleiman, rushed into the ring and looked anxiously at the fallen boxer.

Pastrano rose shakily at the count of nine and hung on. He lasted the rest of the sixth round, then three more before he wobbled to his corner at the end of the ninth.

Referee LoBianco gave the champion one look and then waved that the fight was over.

Unsung Hero Sparks Win For Bullets

BALTIMORE (AP) — Kevin Loughery hardly deserves to be called the unsung hero of the Baltimore Bullets. Not any more.

The 6-foot-3 playmaker has been a take-charge guy in the National Basketball Association playoffs, capping his surge with 31 points and six assists Tuesday night as the Bullets whipped the St. Louis Hawks 109-103 and advanced to the Western Division finals.

Baltimore polished off St. Louis 3-1 in the best-of-5 series, after finishing eight games behind the Hawks in regular season play.

The Philadelphia 76ers have a chance to accomplish the same feat in the Eastern Division semifinals. Philadelphia finished third, eight games behind Cincinnati, but the 76ers take a 2-1 series edge into tonight's fourth game in Philadelphia.

Loughery, in his first full season as a starter, was the fifth high scorer on the Bullets with 1,024 points and he was chosen the unsung hero in a ballot conducted near the end of the season.

In the playoffs, he leads the Bullets with 16 assists and his 87 points in four games is only one less than club leader Don Ohl.

Loughery, who equaled his NBA one-game high, said, "I was really up for this game . . . sky high. I was yelling at my wife all day."

The Bullets open their best-of-7 series in Los Angeles against the Western Division champion Lakers Saturday night.

$1691
What's the catch? There isn't any.
Plunk $1691 into a salesman's fiand and he'll plunk you into the seat of a new 1965 Volkswagen Deluxe Sedan. (Give him $30 more, and you'll be plunked into a Volkswagen with matching leatherette upholstery.)
Of course, you'll have to buy license plates and pay local tax. But that is it.
Sound a little too simple? Perhaps. But then the Volkswagen is a simple little car.

The team, which has already qualified to compete on the state level, will go to the state contest May 15.

Lapland Is Still Land Of Reindeer Roundups, Races

By PRESTON GROVER

ROVANIEMI, Finland (AP) — There are 250,000 reindeer in Lapland — and 220,000 people who wish the world thought of them as something other than reindeer herders.

I came up here, beyond the Arctic Circle, to have a look at this part of Finland, for while reindeer raising is one of the least important of Finnish industries, it is the most colorful. It is Finland's equivalent of the U.S. Wild West.

When I faced a group of city officials and reporters in this Lapland provincial capital, the first thing they wanted to know was what I expected to find in Lapland. I told them that when the word Laplander is mentioned in America it conjures a picture of a man in furry leggings and beribboned hat racing over the snow behind a pair of antlers. That was the picture in my schoolboy geography.

"We hope you will help correct that impression," said one reporter, a bit austerely.

Then they talked about Lapland, and especially about Rovaniemi. Before the war the city had 8,000 population and was secure and happy. During the war, after the Finns sued for an armistice with the victorious Russians, the German army backed out through Finland into Norway. In retaliation against the Finns for getting out of the war, they burned almost every settlement in Lapland. This city didn't have a house left. Now it has been rebuilt and the population has climbed to 26,500.

The biggest industries in Lapland are forestry and mining, but people do that everywhere in Finland. Only in Lapland do they have such fantastic things as reindeer roundups, reindeer races and almost everything "Wild West" but a reindeer rodeo.

Of the whole population of Lapland, only 3,000 are true Lapps, a people as different from the Finns as Chinese are different from American Indians. Once there may have been a connection, but it was long, long ago. Finns and Lapps don't speak the same language.

The Lapps own about a third of the reindeer in Lapland and that is their main occupation. Reindeer raising is a $4-million industry. The reindeer rove in bands across the roads and plunge into the deep snow on either side looking for the moss and lichens which make up their winter food. A band of them blocked our car for several minutes making a road crossing. One had been hit and killed by an earlier car.

Normally one person can have only 80 reindeer, but families may have 500 and in special cases 1,000. The number has to be limited. There isn't enough grazing.

The Lapps in Finland are only a small part of the 30,000 scattered in the arctic. Most live in Sweden and Norway. The Soviet Union has about 2,000.

Sweden and Finland get along so well that their Lapps range uncontrolled across the frontiers with their herds. Not so with the Soviet Union. Some 400 miles of fence have been built along the Finnish-Soviet frontier to keep the reindeer in Finland.

All this was related by Yrjo Alaruikka, head of the Reindeer Association and usually known as the "reindeer czar." He fitted me out with a Lapp costume, bright red, green, yellow and blue, with reindeer skin leggings and shoes. He had me drive a reindeer for about half a mile. The reindeer was accustomed to tourists and tried to dump me out in a snow bank. The fact that I avoided it and got back still in the canoe-like sleigh won me a reindeer-driver's license. The license says you can be arrested for drunken reindeer driving. It is all part of the fun at the reindeer and ski camp at Rohtimolampi, near the Lapland capital.

I was surprised that reindeer are so small. Antlers and all, they reach about to your chin. They have big feet with hairy fringes to help them get over the snow. Reindeer meat has a fine flavor, with a smack of the wild. It smokes well, but unless it is cooked properly, it can be tough as a shoe sole.

From Rovaniemi, I drove 200 miles north of the Arctic Circle to visit a little village called Raatama. It has about 150 population, of whom 72 vote regularly in the elections, mostly far left, a few Communist. It is that way in Finland. The poor vote against the rich.

Postmaster Abiel Autti said the people were relatively happy with their lot, but not well off. They own 2,000 reindeer, and their men spend much time working in the forests.

It was 22 below zero.

"In winter we have three hours of twilight," the postmaster said. "We don't have electricity, so things slow down in the winter. It is hard to work at handicrafts by lamplight."

Back at Rovaniemi, it is different. The provincial capital has regular city-style shops, a full supply of everything. A fine little hotel has an orchestra specializing in Italian pop music. On Saturday night the dining room is jammed with well-dressed diners and dancers.

Next morning early I went to the Lutheran church. The place was jammed, and most of the people were 40 or under. Over 95 per cent of the people in Finland as a whole are registered church members, although fewer attend services regularly.

Cold Keeps Casals Home

DALLAS (AP)—Cellist Pablo Casals couldn't attend a performance in his honor here this afternoon, but 60 cello players decided to go on with the concert anyway.

A chest cold kept Casals at his home in Puerto Rico.

Casals Day was being observed at the conventions of the American String Teachers Association and the Music Teachers National Association, Inc.

The cello players rehearsed two Casals compositions Tuesday—"The Three Kings" and "Sardana." Bernard Goodman of Urbana, Ill., led the rehearsal and planned to conduct in Casals place.

"Just to get this many cello players playing together is pretty unusual," said Gabor Rejto of Los Angeles, a former Casals student who helped plan the tribute.

Smugglers Arrested

REYNOSA, Mexico (AP)—A Texan and two Mexicans were charged here Tuesday with smuggling merchandise into Mexico.

Customs officials arrested them in a ranch a week ago and seized about 4,000 pounds of contraband fabric, a truck and an airplane used to move the goods. A pilot escaped in another plane.

The men are Ernest Nagy, 43, of Pharr, Tex., Emilio Fernandez Iramagueti, 35, of Tamaulipas, Mexico, and Rene Porras Marquez, 32, of Mexico City.

Panel Nixes Constitution Revise Plan

AUSTIN (AP) — A measure called a solution to problems of revising the Texas Constitution got a cold shoulder Tuesday night from the Senate Constitutional Amendments Committee.

After brief debate it sent to a subcommittee a measure that would let the legislature propose amendments affecting more than one section of the Constitution at a time.

"This is the only way the legislature can rewrite parts of the Constitution," said Sen. A. R. Schwartz of Galveston.

"This is backed by the Texas Legislative Council and it is something the Texas League of Women Voters have worked for for years. . . You are not going to achieve any Constitution revision without this measure."

The committee approved for floor debate a proposed Constitution change that would phase out the state ad valorem tax, which brings in $42 million annually. The plan, recommended by Gov. John Connally, calls for abolishing five cents of the tax in 1967, two cents in 1969 and the remaining 35 cents in 1971.

The group also cleared for debate a measure that would take half the two cents of the ad valorem tax that goes now to the Confederate pension fund and put it into a state parks fund.

Police Indict Texas Man

NEW YORK (AP)—Eddie R. Neal, 25, who said he came here from Amarillo, Tex., was indicted Tuesday on robbery charges. Police said he led a gang which committed 20 to 25 Manhattan holdups.

Grand jurors also indicted two other suspects, refused to indict a young woman accused of being a "lookout" and cleared five more young men held in the case.

Police said Neal was asleep with a loaded carbine in his bed March 5 when they broke into his room at a midtown hotel. Officers said the others occupied two hotel suites where they in effect had been held prisoners.

Neal pleaded innocent to charges of robbery and violating weapons laws. His bond was set at $15,000.

Indictments also named Richard Rockliffe, 19, of Springfield, Mass., and Robert Jordan, 23, of New York. They likewise pleaded innocent.

Antipoverty Funds Furnish A Way To Leave Arkansas

By JOHN R. STARR

JASPER, Ark. (AP) — The leaders of Arkansas' poorest county welcome President Johnson's antipoverty program as a means of training their people to do better what they have always done — depart.

Newton County, which has the lowest per capita income — $549 annually — in the state, has been steeped in poverty for decades and has little hope of joining the affluent society.

"Our problem is education and training," said W. H. Haddock, superintendent of schools and head of a committee coordinating antipoverty work in Newton County.

"We've got to keep these children in school until they can learn a job," Haddock said. "They need the skills that will enable them to obtain employment when they leave."

The government designated Newton County as one of 182 counties in the nation too poor to pay the local government's 10 per cent share of the cost of the program. The federal government will pay the entire cost.

"We just have enough county revenue to operate regular services," said County Judge Roy Raulston. "If any area is entitled to help, our little county is."

The primary Newton project is a neighborhood Youth Corps to be operated through the county's four school districts.

The budget for the project is $116,000. Newton County's share would have been $11,600.

"There just wasn't any money," Raulston said.

Newton County is in north Arkansas, locked in a beautiful Ozark Mountain area. The Buffalo River, one of the nation's last free-flowing streams, runs through the county of 6,000 residents.

Jasper, the largest town with about 300 residents, isn't on a major highway. The only other incorporated town in the county is Western Grove, population 150, on U.S. 65.

The only available employment is in timber, marginal mining, a few small sawmills and marginal farms. The young have to leave because there is no employment for them.

Industry won't touch the area because of shipping problems.

Viet's Searing Jungle Heat As Dangerous As Viet Cong

By HORST FAAS
AP Photographer

TAY NINH, South Viet Nam (AP) — Red ants marched across Sgt. Roger McAllister's face and down his heaving chest.

McAllister, from Milford, N.H., didn't even try to brush them off.

A sprig of leaves had fallen across his face. His helmet had tipped from his head into the jungle foliage. His body oozed sweat.

McAllister was the victim of an enemy that had proved more dangerous than the Communist Viet Cong. He was cut down by the searing, all-pervading heat of South Viet Nam's jungles.

Fifteen minutes later, McAllister stirred. His eyes flickered and his voice rasped; "Just imagine, there's snow now in New Hampshire."

Then he slid back into a semi-coma.

Scores of Vietnamese troopers were scattered around the jungle floor near McAllister, in almost as poor condition. Their water was gone, and the intense heat had sapped their strength.

There was virtually no place to bring in a helicopter to pick up McAllister and the Vietnamese who were in the worst shape.

Thirty-six hours earlier a helicopter had dropped McAllister into the jungle 12 miles north of Tay Ninh as a pathfinder for a helicopter-borne force.

With Capt. Joseph T. Elliott of Greenwood, S.C., he located a grassy landing zone, laid out markers for the troop- carrying helicopters and called in fire from armed helicopters against snipers.

Led by a Viet Cong defector, the battalion moved south through deep, treacherous jungle. The men scrambled under bamboo and through spiny bracken and dodged mines and grenade traps on trees and in bushes.

The whole area was burning because of earlier air strikes.

By midday most of the men had drunk their water. Maps showed numerous streams in the area. All had dried up earlier in the dry season.

As dawn broke the next morning, there was a desperate air among the troops. Water became more important than the Viet Cong.

McAllister, with a radio strapped to his back, began to waver. A big man, he had to crawl on his hands and knees to get through the undergrowth. The advance troops marked the mines and traps with white paper, but the U.S. adviser could hardly see the pieces in the shimmering heat.

The heat built up to over 100 degrees.

"The river's just a thousand meters ahead," one soldier cried out. It was a dry stream.

They reached a muddy water hole. Several Vietnamese soldiers drank from it. They came down with cramps.

McAllister showed signs of distress. Someone offered to take his radio.

"I can carry on," he said. "I've been through jungle schools before I came over here."

A little while later he collapsed. Scores of Vietnamese soldiers collapsed with him.

Elliott called up the L19 spotter plane overhead by radio. It told him a helicopter might be able to land about 500 yards away to pick up McAllister.

Staff Sgt. James E. Pippin, from Lauderdale, Miss., volunteered to find it. He disappeared into the jungle with his radio. A Vietnamese officer poured a little of the precious remaining water over McAllister's forehead.

Pippin found the clearing and collapsed. But he made radio contact with the helicopters, the spotter plane and the men left in the jungle.

He guided in an armed helicopter, the only one available.

The Vietnamese carrying McAllister to the landing site on a stretcher collapsed. Elliott took over.

The helicopter landed. One of the pilots, Lt. David H. Price of Columbus, Ga., waded into the jungle to carve a path. He, Sgt. Leonard Peala of the Philippines and Elliott dragged McAllister to the landing zone.

McAllister's weight made the helicopter too heavy. It had to drop its rocket pods into the jungle so it could take off. Those left on the ground had to form a human wall and push down the towering elephant grass.

"Bring us back some water," shouted Elliott as the helicopter departed for nearby Tay Ninh. He and the others crawled on the ground, expecting a Viet Cong attack.

Twenty minutes later the helicopter returned and threw off seven cans of water. They set off a celebration.

The Americans and the Vietnamese filled their helmets and poured the liquid over themselves, their spirits rising. The helicopter men looked on in silent amazement, then flew off.

Next morning the battalion discovered a formidable cache of Viet Cong weapons. They also found a river with water in it.

Houston Man Is Arrested

GALVESTON (AP)—A Houston man has been charged with kidnaping and severely beating a part-time model.

James Robinson, 29, was identified from photographs, police said, by Dorothy Weir, 21. He was arrested Tuesday.

Miss Weir was reported in serious condition at John Sealy Hospital with a broken nose, broken bones in both hands and multiple cuts and bruises on the head and face.

She told police Robinson stuck a pistol to her back as she was entering her boy friend's sports car after work Monday.

Robinson ordered her into the passenger's seat, drove to a lonely beach, repeatedly pistol-whipped her and tried to rape her, the young woman told officers.

She said she fought him off and he finally abandoned her on the beach.

Bomb Threat Delays Committee Hearing

AUSTIN (AP)— A telephoned bomb threat interrupted House committee meetings Tuesday afternoon for 30 minutes. Searchers found no explosives.

The Capitol was emptied after a similar threat less than two weeks ago.

GUARD'S NEW LOOK

Reservists May Need Uniforms

By LEE JONES

AUSTIN (AP)—Army reservists in Texas shouldn't be too quick to hang up their uniforms because of the projected merger of reserve units with the National Guard, the state's top guardman says.

Maj. Gen. Thomas Bishop, Texas adjutant general, told newsmen Tuesday that although reservists can't be ordered to join the guard, there are ways of getting certain obligated reservists into guard units.

"We can ask the Army commander to 'force assign' him to a guard unit that needs filling out and discharge his obligation," Bishop said. This applies only to part-time soldiers with uncompleted reserve obligations—mostly junior officers and low-ranked enlisted men, he stressed.

Bishop said an obligated reservist who is "force assigned" would only be attached to a guard unit and would not actually switch to the National Guard unless he volunteered.

Throughout the briefing on Texas plans, Bishop emphasized that the marriage of guard and reserve is tentative and hangs on congressional approval. A House armed services subcommittee opened hearings on the merger this week in Washington.

"The proposal is just that—a proposal," he said. "Naturally it cannot take place without congressional concurrence."

The Pentagon plan calls for taking 4,600 reservists and guardsmen off active training status and reducing the current 367 units to 212. Texas' 36th, 90th and 49th divisions would be reduced to brigades.

A big question mark in Bishop's planning is the reserve enlisted man. State plans call for 52 high-priority reserve units to shift to the guard intact, if members agree to transfer.

Bishop said the number of Texas enlisted reservists who would agree to transfer has not been determined

"It is only 3 per cent in some units and as high as 90 per cent in others," he said. "I think this is natural. Where a man comes over and is faced with a severe retraining problem, he may decide it isn't worth it."

Bishop said Gov. John Connally has approved the state merger plan but will ask Washington to give Texas more guard units, particularly in smaller towns.

Losing guard units are Belton, Breckenridge, Canyon, Carrizo Springs, Cisco, Cooper, Colorado City, Crockett, Electra, Jacksboro, Monahans, Olney, Palestine, Pecos, Rusk, Santa Anna and Whitney. One-unit reserve towns losing their units are Boerne, Uvalde and Pleasanton.

In the 17 towns losing units the guard payroll was $368,499 last year, Bishop said.

The guard brigade replacing the 90th Infantry Division of the Army Reserve would be located in South Texas, with headquarters in San Antonio.

The 49th Armored Division of the guard would be replaced by a brigade with headquarters in Dallas and troops located generally in North and East Texas.

A brigade replacing the 36th Infantry Division of the guard would have headquarters in Austin and units in Central and Southeast Texas.

Four Hospitalized By Blast, Fire

WICHITA FALLS (AP)—Four persons were hospitalized Tuesday night after an explosion and flash fire wrecked a residence.

Owner L. D. White, 32, said his family had just moved in. Neighbors were visiting.

Hospitalized were two daughters of the Whites, Deborah, 12, and Donna, 5; Mrs. Linda Jarvis and her son Michael, 2. All suffered severe burns.

White said he installed appliances and smelled gas Moments later the explosion blew out two walls of the house.

Navy Copter's New Orders Come From Fourth-Grader

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Jeff Donofrio, Craig Lestmann and Mike Hadsall, fellow fourth-graders at Central Baptist Day School in Anaheim, ran outside at recess to play with Craig's walkie-talkie.

A helicopter flew overhead. On its fuselage was the legend: "U.S. Marines 708."

Suddenly Jeff heard a voice say: "This is 708 calling Central."

Quick as a wink, Jeff answered: "Go to San Francisco."

"Shall I call Peterson or will you?" the voice said.

"You call," Jeff answered.

"Okay," said the voice. And off buzzed the helicopter.

Next day — Tuesday — the school secretary became concerned when she noticed the same helicopter hovering over the schoolyard. She called nearby Los Alamitos Naval Air Station to find out what was going on.

"Oh, that aircraft is investigating ground interference with our radio channels," a voice told her.

The report, relayed to the inquisitive school children, ultimately reached the apprehensive ears of Jeff, 9, Craig, 10, and Mike, also 10.

Fearing the worst, Jeff surrendered himself to school authorities and confessed that he had ordered the helicopter on the unauthorized mission.

A Navy spokesman exonerated the boy, however, explaining that the helicopter was investigating radio interference caused by a metal garage door nearby.

The pilot had exchanged calls with three radio cars on the ground the day before and talked with no one else, the spokesman said. Although Jeff heard the pilot and thought the pilot was responding to his orders, the pilot's replies were simply coincidental, said the Navy.

He never heard Jeff, the spokesman said, and never went to San Francisco, either.

But he didn't say if Peterson ever got that call.

Itasca Man Indicted For Theft

HILLSBORO, Tex. (AP) — A grand jury Tuesday returned two indictments charging a young Itasca, Tex., car dealer with theft of $152,185.

Hill County grand jurors were called into session to probe a complaint filed against Jesse Neagle, 25, by Robert Cowan, president of the Covington (Tex.) State Bank.

They handed Dist. Judge Sam Johnson an interim report and recessed until April 12.

Neagle, free since Saturday under $10,000 bond, was arrested soon after the grand jury's report. He was accompanied by two Waco lawyers, Vance and Bill Dunnam.

Judge Johnson set bond at $10,000 on each of the two indictments.

Tuesday's jury session culminated a series of events including visits to Covington and Itasca by representatives of the State Banking Department, the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp., the FBI and finance firms.

A spokesman in the Austin office of State Banking Commissioner J. M. Falkner said efforts were being made to effect a merger of the Covington bank with Itasca's First National Bank.

C. H. Stubblefield Jr., president of the Itasca bank, appeared at Tuesday's grand jury session. He refused to discuss reports of a merger, telling newsmen: "Anything about that will have to come from the FDIC."

Neagle was charged with fraudulently taking $52,565 and $69,620 from Cowan. The indictments did not go into details.

Authority Granted For Pipe Line

WASHINGTON (AP) — Authority for building natural gas pipeline facilities to cost about $18.3 million was granted a Houston firm Tuesday.

Conservationists Back New Bill

By JACK KEEVER

AUSTIN (AP) — A water conservation official discussed 28 years of frustration over pollution problems Tuesday night and concluded: "What we've been working for all these years is embraced in House Bill 785."

J. E. Sturrock of the Texas Water Conservation Association was one of several witnesses testifying before a House committee on the proposal, which would give the Texas Railroad Commission exclusive jurisdiction over regulating oil and gas field wastes.

Oil and gas industry representatives supported the bill strongly.

The 75-year-old commission has held power since 1925 to control disposal of oil field brine but has shared that authority wince 1962, when an attorney general's opinion took the view that the new Texas Water Pollution Control Board also had jurisdiction.

"That leads to a chaotic condition in the oil and gas industry," said Bill Abington of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association.

Abington, testifying for the bill by Rep. Gus Mutscher of Brenham, said the commission is charged by statute to regulate oil and gas field disposals and to protect Texas' fresh water supply.

"To give another agency veto power over the commission's regulation in effect gives that agency control over the oil and gas industry," he said.

"The commission is making great strides toward preventing pollution. . . It's done a good job and we'd like control left with them."

Sturrock said Texas began trying in 1937 to coordinate agencies working to hold down water pollution but has enjoyed little success.

"This bill," he said, "puts the monkey on the railroad commission for controlling oil and gas wastes. You can point the finger directly at them if they don't get the job done."

The measure also would increase the size of the pollution board from six to seven, adding the chairman of the railroad commission and a public member and dropping the current oil and gas representative.

The pollution board also has supported the measure.

Abington, Sturrock and Julian Martin of the Texas Independent Producers & Royalty Owners Association, who supported Mutscher's proposal, also opposed four bills by Rep. Henry Fletcher of Lockhart to cover pollution-control in oil and gas fields.

The commission and board would share jurisdiction over oil and gas field wastes under one of Fletcher's proposals while another would give the board exclusive authority.

All five measures were sent to a House oil, gas and mining subcommittee.
