Meningitis Reported At Lackland

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A trainee at Lackland Air Force Base died of spinal meningitis Thursday night and three others were reported ill of the disease. The base began taking precautions to avoid spread of the illness.

The victim was Jerry Slagle, 19, of Akron, Ohio.

The base withheld the names of the three ill trainees.

A spokesman said the 16,000 basic trainees were restricted to the base.

Slagle had been in training here about 4½ weeks. The incubation period of the disease is 10 to 12 days.

One of the other ill men was sent to a hospital Tuesday. Slagle went to the hospital Wednesday and the others became ill Thursday.

The sick men came from two separate basic training squadrons. These squadrons were ordered isolated from others at the base.

Other precautions include the avoidance of all mass indoor formations and restriction of all basic trainees to the base. All flights have been isolated from each other.

Bases to which recent Lackland AFB personnel have been reassigned have been alerted. Special attention is being given to persons in sick bay.

The disease is spread by coughing and sneezing.

Civilian workers who live off the base are continuing in normal operations.

Special Session Called In Texas Vote Dilemma

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. John Connally answered a federal court ban on Texas' poll tax voting requirement with a call late Thursday for a special legislative session Monday to write a new voter registration law.

Texas legislators immediately began moving toward the state's Capitol, many of them leaving hot political campaigns already aggravated by legislative and congressional redistricting.

Senate and House employees worked late into the night notifying each legislator of a special session at noon Monday.

Connally is expected to make his recommendations for free voter registration to a joint session either Monday afternoon or Tuesday.

Lt. Gov. Preston Smith estimated the session would last at least two weeks.

Meanwile, Atty. Gen. Waggonor Carr and his staff prepared Texas' appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court from the Austin federal district court order.

The Wednesday order outlawed the state's 64-year-old poll tax as a requirement for voting on the theory it put a tax on the right to vote in violation of the U.S. Constitution. The order was effective immediately but gave Texas 14 days to request a delay from higher courts.

Carr stressed the need for immediate action at a joint news conference Thursday. He said "chaos" would result in many county and local elections scheduled the next few weeks, particularly in bond elections where a poll tax recepit is a direct requirement.

Carr said the appeal is being made directly to the U.S. Supreme Court because only that court can decide "whether it has been wrong in the past or the Austin Court is wrong now. On four previous occasions, the U.S. Supreme Court has upheld the right of a state to have a poll tax."

The Texas $1.75 poll tax actually is a "head tax' authorized by the state constitution and was collected for years before it was made a voting requirement. There will be no $1.75 refunds even if the poll tax receipt cannot be used for voting.

Connally told the news conference he would ask the legislature for a voter registration act that would do two things.

One part would declare the approximately 2 million persons who paid poll taxes before the Jan. 31 deadline could vote along with others who will register free in a period to be specified before the May 7 primaries.

Another part of the act would set up permanent voter registration procedures when and if the U.S. Supreme Court upholds the Austin court's ruling.

Connally said he had 'no plans" to open the special session to subjects other than voter registration.

At least three legislative districts will not be represented Monday. Sen. Walter Richter, Gonzales; Rep. Wayne Gibbens, Breckenridge, and Rep. Bill Parsley, Lubbock, have resigned to take other jobs and successors have not been elected.

US Pressures To Ease Red Demands

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is seeking to put diplomatic pressure on North Viet Nam to modify its demand that the Communist National Liberation Front — NLF — must represent South Viet Nam in any peace negotiations.

President Johnson has sent word to interested foreign governments that the demand made by North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh is wholly unacceptable and has created an obstacle to efforts to arrange a peace conference.

Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg, envoy to the United Nations, said after a two-hour meeting with Johnson Thursday that U.S. policy is flexible on the issue of an NLF role in negotiations. The NLF is the political arm of the Communist guerrilla forces.

"We will bargain on that at the conference table," Goldberg told reporters. But he emphasized that the demand which Ho made public Jan. 28 is unacceptable to the United States, and he made clear it would have to be modified if the issue is to be resolved.

Johnson briefed Goldberg on his meeting in Hawaii earlier this week with the leaders of South Viet Nam, then sent him back to U.N. headquarters in New York to renew his efforts with Secretary-General U Thant and members of the Security Council as well as representatives of other countries to find some way to bring the Vietnamese war to a close.

While Goldberg was meeting with Johnson, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee heard from George F. Kennan, former State Department Soviet affairs expert, in its inquiry into U.S. policy in Southeast Asia.

Both Kennan and Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., the committee chairman, expressed fears this week's U.S.-South Vietnamese declaration in Honolulu may have raised an added obstacle to a negotiated peace.

"It seems to me we have further committed ourselves to a point where any sort of a negotiated settlement, short of outright victory, could be called a betrayal of a commitment," Fulbright said.

Benefit Bill Awaits LBJ's Pen

WASHINGTON (AP)—A permanent GI benefits bill with an estimated eventual price tag of $500 million a year was on President Johnson's desk today after receiving final congressional approval.

Although the bill carries a higher price tag than the administration had proposed, the President was expected to sign it. It would take effect June 1.

The measure accents education and home-buying aid for all military personnel with more than six months of active duty since Jan. 31, 1955, the date benefits ceased under the Korean GI benefits measure.

Passed last year by the Senate and early this week by the House in different forms, the compromise bill scooted through the Senate Thursday by vote of 99 to 0 and was whisked to the President without a dissent after a voice vote in the House.

The administration had suggested that benefits be limited to men who serve in combat areas, instead of covering all personnel regardless of where they put in their military time. The estimated cost of the administration bill was $150 million a year.

The cost of the program is expected to level off at around $500 million annually after five years. Its first-year cost was estimated at $335 million.

Most of the money would be for educational benefits on the basis of one month of schooling for each month of service, up to 36 months or four normal years of college study. Beneficiaries could select their own school, within limits, and would not have to be high school graduates.

Unit Corners Elusive Cong

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. air cavalrymen caught up today with some Viet Cong elements they had chased from the central coast last week and quickly killed 19 and captured eight. The guerrillas were hit in a lightning thrust called Eagle's Claw.

Helicopters bore troopers of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division into the action 20 miles southwest of Bong Son. Rockets bombs and shells pounded the guerrilla hideouts. U.S. casualties were few, but one American helicopter was shot down.

In Saigon, U.S. forces reported another 184 Communists killed by troops and planes, pushing listed Communist losses in men beyond 2,000 in the last two weeks. An American spokesman said these were the highest Red casualty figures of the war.

American Air Force and Navy jets again pounded targets in North and South Viet Nam. A Navy Skyraider became the ninth victim of Communist anti-aircraft defenses since the United States resumed the air war on the North 12 days ago.

The plane was shot down 15 miles north of the 17th Parallel Thursday by heavy flak, an Air Force spokesman said. No parachute was seen by other pilots and the Navy airman was presumed killed.

The Viet Cong shot and killed an American civilian engineer operating tractor in a jungle clearing at a rock quarry 20 miles northeast of Saigon. His partner escaped when two guerrillas leaped out of spider holes and opened fire.

A U.S. 1st Infantry Division patrol later recovered the body. The engineer was not immediately identified. He was employed by the big American R.M.K.-construction combine.

The shooting occurred near the spot where the Viet Cong kidnaped two Americans, one Vietnamese and one Canadian employed by the firm in December. The Dutch-born Canadian was killed, but the three others were rescued by American troops.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, in the happy, outgoing mood of his campaign days, ventured five miles outside of Saigon to nspect a newly pacified village during a four-hour tour of government social and economic projects. He seemed oblivious to any possible danger to his life in an area where the Viet Cong roamed only a few months ago.

US Midget Subs Dive For Bomb

By EMILIO MOYA

PALOMARES BEACH, Spain (AP)—Submarine search for a missing nuclear bomb got under way today despite choppy seas from a storm which tore down telephone lines and gave U.S. Air Forcemen at base camp on shore a sleepless night.

The midget submarines Alvin and Aluminaut appeared from shore to be working the sea bottom where the lost nuclear device and other debris from a crashed B52 bomber were believed lying.

Winds hit a maximum of 67 miles an hour Thursday night. They dropped to just above 50 m.p.h. today.

The 22-foot Alvin and the 50-foot Aluminaut arrived Thursday to join U.S. Navy Task Force 65, which so far has located nearly 70 pieces of wreckage on the sea floor about 1,000 feet down.

The two subs are expected to use their underwater sound and television gear to guide them along the Mediterranean floor in search of the bomb and other wreckage missing since the collision and crash of a U.S. B52 bomber and its jet tanker Jan. 17.

The subs can either pluck the bomb from the bottom with mechanical arms or attach lines so a ship above can haul it up.

The Navy's 14-ton Alvin was flown to Spain aboard a C133 cargo plane from Otis Air Force Base at Falmouth, Mass. The 75-ton Aluminaut, which is owned by Reynolds Metal Corp., was shipped from Florida.

After testing at the U.S.-Spanish naval base at Rota, on the Atlantic Coast, they were loaded aboard the Navy LSD Plymouth Rock to join Rear Adm. William S. Guest's special task force.

Should the missing bomb not appear among the objects already located and marked by buoys, the search will have to be extended farther to sea.

LA Reports Landslides

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Hillsides continue to crumble in areas west of Los Angeles, following weekend rains that made the earth soft.

The latest slide, in exclusive Bel-Air, badly damaged a $250,000 home and tumbling boulders and earth forced evacuation of another dwelling Thursday.

The damaged home is in an area where actors Burt Lancaster and John Forsythe live. The actors' homes were reported in no danger.

Three other homes were damaged or destroyed in Pacific Palisades by slides Monday and Tuesday.

More Killed In Dominican Riots

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Mob violence continued in the Dominican capital for the second day Thursday and two more persons were killed.

A mob stabbed and clubbed a police sergeant to death, then scattered. An 18-year-old youth was killed by a policeman in a gun fight.

Police reinforcements turned back another mob, armed with clubs and rocks, as it marched on a police station. Young gangs reportedly attacked police in three cities in the interior.

A spokesman for the Inter-American Peace Force denied reports that Brazilian troops hurled a grenade into a crowd after a rock hit their jeep. The spokesman said someone in the crowd threw the grenade and it ricocheted off the jeep. A 4-year-old boy was gravely wounded.

The new violence began Wednesday, when two policemen, three students and two bystanders were killed after police fired bullets and tear gas during a Communist-led student demonstration.

The violence stems from the continued refusal of rightist armed forces leaders to obey a presidential order sending the three top leaders of the armed forces to diplomatic posts abroad. Top military leaders of the April revolution have already left the country in obedience to the order by provisional President Hector Garcia-Godoy.

Garcia-Godoy visited the rebel army camp in the eastern suburbs Thursday amid reports he was negotiating with the rebels to accept an armed forces proposal that only the armed forces minister be replaced in the high command.

Garcia-Godoy's original order Jan. 6 would have replaced two of the three chiefs of staff as well as the armed forces minister. During his visit Thursday, the president was accompanied by Col. Enrique Perez y Perez, named by authoritative sources as the most likely next armed forces minister.

The armed forces proposal carried with it a condition that Garcia-Godoy dissolve the rebel army, placing its members on temporary leave with pay until a new government to be elected in June settles their status.

POLITICAL ORGANIZATION

Peaceniks Unite As 'New Left'

By WALTER R. MEARS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Militant young foes of U.S. policy in Viet Nam—people who call themselves the new left—are working to shape a national political organization out of their protest and peace forces.

"This is what I call political guerrilla warfare," said California Rep. Jeffrey Cohelan, a Democrat and self-described liberal who has seen his Oakland home office besieged by demonstrators. "They've picked me as a target," he said.

Cohelan's sin, in the eyes of his challengers, a general support of President Johnson's policy on South Viet Nam.

Cohelan said in an interview he is "more dove than hawk," that escalation of the war would be "absolutely mad," but that the United States should not now withdraw.

Immediate withdrawal from Viet Nam is the new left rallying cry, but Paul Booth, a 22-year-old leader in the new political movement, said its goals go far beyond the war issue.

Booth, of Chicago, is national secretary of Students for a Democratic Society. He said the new political operation, built around that organization and others like it, will be called the National Conference for New Politics.

While its organizers said the conference has not yet pinpointed its election-day targets, Booth said his own organization is already at work for Robert Scheer, who has said he will oppose Cohelan.

"Even though Cohelan has a pretty good voting record," Booth said, "a lot of people on the left see the campaign as building an organization."

Booth added: "People on the left are saying to guys like Cohelan, it's not enough just to cast the right votes on some of these things.

"These programs, these welfare programs, are not really very exciting. They don't really solve the problem.

"It's more important to raise these political issues, and to build an organization. Maybe Scheer won't win, but in two years we'll be stronger, within the party."

Scheer, who advocates an immediate U.S. pullout in Viet Nam, has said he will run as an independent next November if he does not win the Democratic congressional nomination in the June 7 primary.

The national Democratic party is not worried about the new political movement, one official there said—but "that doesn't mean that there won't be friends of President Johnson who will step in if it is necessary."

Business Barons Talk Beef, Bible

NEW YORK (AP) — Around the luncheon table in an exclusive Manhattan club the topic was not of stocks and mergers but of the Bible.

The subject was "Is God Dead?" and the captains of commerce probed it at the beef-and-Bible luncheon as they would a particularly vexing business problem.

"Some people seem to think that God finished the Creation, then died or moved away or forgot it," said one man.

"But if you look here in verse 17, there is a continuity of Divine action. It says God has not left Himself without witness, in that He did good, and gave us rain from heaven, and fruitful seasons, filling our hearts with food and gladness.' "

One of the discussion leaders was Fred R. Esty, president of the United States Banknote Corp.

He said: "The Apostle Peter understood Jesus when he said to Him, 'Lord, to whom shall we go, for Thou hast the words of eternal life. And we believe and are sure that Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God.'

"The thing they want to do now is to separate Jesus Christ from a dead God and leave Him there just an earthly Jesus. But in Revelation 1:18, Jesus says, 'I am He that liveth, and was dead, and behold, I am alive for ever more, and have the keys of hell and death.' "

One of the 16 men around the table Thursday said, "Our forefathers were Bible readers."

"But that's old hat," another remarked.

"All right, then," the first man said, "let's start to make it new hat."

The Manhattan group is one of 700 across the nation that meets for discussions under sponsorship of the International Christian Leadership, an organization of laymen of all faiths.

Thomas B. Kenedy, editor of the official Catholic Directory for P. J. Kenedy and Sons, said of the luncheons:

'I find here a group of men who want to lead a total Christian life. It reminds me of what the early Christians must have done, coming together for support and strength and fortification in a hostile environment."

Charge Youth In Damage To Train

An 18-year-old Snyder youth, David Fraley, was charged in a complaint Thursday afternoon with destruction of personal property valued at more than $50.

The youth allegedly kicked out the front seal beam light on an RS&P Railway Co. locomotive. The charge was filed in justice court here since the incident occurred 7½ miles north of Roscoe in Scurry County.

The youth and a companion were forced off the train in the Snyder station Wednesday night, according to authorities, who said Fraley apparently reboarded the train.

According to officers, the youth walked along the top of the moving train, then swung over the front engine and kicked out the seal beam light. He also became involved in a fracas with the crew and was charged with aggravated assault in a Nolan County Court, officers said. He was fined $35 plus costs when he appeared on that charge.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a young widow with two children. Recently I had a home built and became very intimate with my builder while my home was under construction. He has what he claims is a "sick" wife, and says if I wait awhile he will leave her for me. After eight months of waiting, she still looks as healthy as I am. Do you think he just is leading me on? How much longer should I wait?

WAITING

DEAR WAITING: Your builder worked a bit of romance into your house plan, but it wasn't meant to endure. The house is finished and so is the affair. You shouldn't need a set of blueprints to know that the builder didn't go with the house. Forget him.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter is 23 and an only child. She was raised to appreciate the finer things in life and never had to suffer any hardships. Last June, after graduating from a university, she married a young art professor. They moved to Tampa, where he took a position as a commercial artist. Last month they moved to Miami, where he is doing free lance work. Our daughter has written that now she is pregnant and they are living in a MOBILE HOME!

I am so worried about her. Do you think, in her condition, they should be living in a TRAILER like a couple of gypsies? I want to write and tell her she should come home until her husband can provide a proper home for her, but my husband says it would be meddling. I would like your opinion.

UPSET MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: I think you have a smart husband. Don't assume that living in a "mobile home" is necessarily a hardship. Some modern mobile homes make a Park Avenue penthouse look like Tobacco Road. Leave your daughter alone, Mother, and keep yourself busy.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Yesterday I ran into a friend of mine and I told her how beautiful I thought her daughter's wedding had been. She said, "Thank you, but we sure didn't come out very well on it."

Not knowing what she meant by that remark, I asked her. She then replied, "We put a lot more into her wedding than she got back in gifts."

What do you think of a person like that?

SPEECHLESS

DEAR SPEECHLESS: Not much.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: What's the matter with women? They go to the trouble of putting their hair up in those big curlers, then they snarl it all up and spray it with glue. They take an hour painting their faces, and all for what? When their husbands pull them close for a little kiss or squeeze, they say, "Please, Harry, you'll muss my hair!" or, "Don't—you'll smear my lipstick or smudge my make-up." Isn't the idea behind looking pretty to make a woman more desirable, kissable and lovable? So why do they put out the bait if they don't want to catch the mouse?

LOVE-STARVED

DEAR LOVE - STARVED: Those women aren't interested in the "catch"—they just want to see if the bait still works.

Way Rich Were Painted

By MILES A. SMITH
AP Arts Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — It was the people in the pictures, not the artists, who were the focus of attention in an unusual art exhibition recently staged for the benefit of the Museum of the City of New York.

"Three Hundred Years of New York City Families," as it was called, consisted of 58 examples of family portraits and conversation pieces, many of which belong to the museum. The show was held at the galleries of Wildenstein & Co., art dealers.

The painters ranged all the way from an unknown artist who depicted a patron family about 1690, to one of the current advance guard, Larry Rivers. There were such famous art names as Eastman Johnson, Samuel F. B. Morse, John Singer Sargent and George Bellows.

But the subjects of these pictures —Astors, Vanderbilts, Belmonts and Rockefellers among them — were the real key to the show.

One of the museum's trustees arranged this exhibit and wrote the catalog — Louis S. Auchincloss, who as the author of "Portrait in Brownstone," Powers of Attorney" and his brand new "The Embezzler" has chronicled several generations of the fashionable New York scene.

As Auchincloss noted in his foreword to the catalog, the people in the pictures were from the "financially more fortunate classes," who were unlikely to have their portraits done by impressionists or abstractionists. They wanted "respectful realism."

In arranging the show, Auchincloss achieved his goal, "an illuminating pictorial history of prosperous New York's image of itself.

After all, if this was the way the leaders of fashion wanted to look to the world and to themselves, it must have been the way that thousands of their contemporaries wanted to appear also. The aspirations of the well - to - do tell us much of the greater society of which they were a part," he wrote.

The show's few examples from the 18th Century (the artists were Wollaston, Williams and Dunlap) could only be described as "quaint," and those from the Empire period demonstrated a classical ridigity that was pretty stuffy.

But from about 1850 to 1880 there were some interesting conversation pieces. Auchincloss leaned to a preference for Johnson's family groups of Blodgetts, Hatches and Burdens, shown in their best Sunday dress in their best parlors.

When Seymour J. Guy painted the William Vanderbilt family in 1873, he showed 13 members of the clan in a cluttered parlor of dull Victorian style. This was before the family had inherited the Commodore's fortune.

In contrast, the William Astor family, painted by Lucius Rossi in 1878, was posed like Dresden figures in the fussy, Italianate opulence of their famous ballroom.

Toward the latter part of the century, family pictures become a little less like corny tintypes and began to take on a more relaxed and candid style.

Then at the beginning of this century came some striking "mother portraits," with three particular examples in this show.

One was the 1905 painting of the Duchess of Marlborough (Consuelo Vanderbilt) and her son, an extreme example of the fashionable mannerism of Giovanni Boldini. Another was Sargent's pleasant portrayal in 1906 of Mrs. Henry Phipps and her small grandson Winston Guest. The third was a more subdued work by Cecilia Beaux in 1903, of Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt and her daughter Ethel.

Few of the visitors to the exhibit missed another conversation piece painted about a dozen years ago by Tatia Francetti — a sort of fluffy ruffle scene of the two Bouvier sisters, Jacqueline and Lee (Mrs. John F. Kennedy and Princess Stanislas Radziwill), playing a game of checkers.

Auchincloss told a reporter that "Jackie said she didn't like the picture at all, and I think she was kind to lend it, considering."

One family portrait was not a painting, but a tapestry, done in 1932 by Marguerite Zorach, showing Mr. and Mrs. John D. Rockefeller Jr. and their family at Seal Harbor, Maine — including Abby and their sons, John, Nelson and Laurance, Winthrop and David.

The association will hold their Spring Spaghetti Supper in the high school cafeteria on March 11.

Refreshments carrying out a Valentine theme were served to 21 members and one visitor.

'Smell Of War' Prompts Hedging Against Inflation

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP)—"There is a smell of war in the air," remarked Dr. Otto Eckstein, just - resigned member of the President's Council of Economic Advisers.

The smell of war brings the remembrance of inflation. The remembrance can make people behave as if inflation were already here.

So they may rush to buy, before prices go higher. They may hasten to build, before building costs go up. They may place big orders for materials, because no businessman dare be caught in an inflating market with his inventories down.

And union leaders—if they think the smell of war is strong enough—may demand big wage boosts before wages can be frozen.

It's all called hedging against inflation. It can make a big inflation out of a little one, or even start an inflation where there isn't any.

All the aspects of what scholars call "the expectation of inflation" probably were in Dr. Eckstein's mind when he made his remark about the smell of war.

For the economist was making the point that inflation really isn't necessary. He was participating as a private citizen—and a distinguished professor at Harvard—in a panel discussion on the hazards and prevention of inflation. Naturally his views coincided with those of his former colleagues on the President's council.

At the height of the planned Viet Nam buildup, Dr. Eckstein pointed out, military spending will take just 7.6 per cent of the national output instead of the 7.5 per cent it has been taking.

No civilian shortages are foreseen. Despite a tightening labor market, the stepping-up of draft calls still won't reduce joblessness to the long-sought minimum called "full employment." And there will still be a little slack left in manufacturing plant capacity.

Congress meantime is grinding out a short-term tax law to sop up excess buying power, and the money managers are squeezing down the money and credit supply.

And the administration has reaffirmed, as its underlying anti-inflation weapons, the voluntary wage-price guidelines. These have helped for four years to moderate labor's wage settlements and industry's price decisions.

In theory, one could hardly disagree with Dr. Eckstein's view that inflation needn't happen. Actually many do disagree, and some of them are economists every bit as distinguished as he.

One of the dissenters took part in this week's panel debate with Dr. Eckstein. He was Arthur F. Burns, who headed the President's economic advisers in the Dwight D. Eisenhower administration.

Said Dr. Burns, in effect:

The tax-boosting and credit-squeezing are correct moves, but they come too late to offset the mistake already made.

"We've been manufacturing money at a very rapid rate, and that is what has been pushing prices up," he said.

And the President's plan to wipe out the inflationary deficit in federal cash accounts is fine, too—except that this fiscal turnaround will come in fiscal 1967, starting next July 1. The big inflationary pressure of increased defense spending is right now, and over the next several months.

What of the wage-price guidelines, then? "They are being extensively ignored or defied," said Dr. Burns. And: "They are rapidly losing their voluntary character. I fear there will be agitation for a price review board, and a wage review board—if not for outright controls on wages and prices."

Lincoln Is Remembered Admiringly

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Of all the great captains of earth the one most affectionately remembered probably is he who was born in a Kentucky log cabin 157 years ago Saturday.

Success came late and death came early to Abraham Lincoln.

There is no explaining his genius. As did those other great captains of pen and sword, William Shakespeare and Joan of Arc, he sprang seemingly from nowhere to immortal fame.

Almost from birth Lincoln appeared likely to wind up an also-ran in life's race.

He was poor and had little formal schooling. He failed in business as a storekeeper. He was unlucky in both love and politics, it seemed.

His youthful sweetheart, Ann Rutledge, died. The first woman he proposed to, Mary Owens, turned him down and explained later:

"Mr. Lincoln was deficient in those little links which make up the path of a woman's happiness."

His subsequent marriage to Mary Todd proved a stormy one.

He lost more elections than he won. Anticipating defeat in his first race for a seat in the Illinois Legislature in 1832 — and he did lose — Lincoln wrote:

"If the good people in their wisdom shall see fit to keep me in the background, I have been too familiar with disappointment to be much chagrined."

When his business failed, leaving him debt-ridden, he became a village postmaster. Had he succumbed to his tendency to melancholy and self-doubt, young Abe might well have disappeared into the mists of history, just another obscure frontier failure.

But he persisted. He turned to the study of law and grammar. Slowly his star rose. In 1856 he remarked jokingly during a losing race for senator against Stephen Douglas:

"Nobody ever expected me to be president. In my poor, lean, lank face nobody has ever seen that any cabbages were sprouting."

But he was wrong there. Four years later he had become president. And less than five years later, only 56, he was killed by an assassin. But in that brief period he had become the indispensable human fulcrum that kept the American nation from teeter-tottering into ruin.

One of those rare men uncorrupted by vast power, Lincoln has been more written about than any other head of state with the possible exception of Napoleon.

But the thing that undoubtedly would please Abraham Lincoln most about his present status is that, of all the giant figures of mankind they read about in their history books, he is the one most loved by children.

Junior Editors Quiz on ANCIENT GREECE

QUESTION: Why was ancient Greece so important?

• • •

ANSWER: Ancient peoples called Ageans once lived on the peninsula of Greece. Beginning about 3000 B.C., waves of settlers from the north moved in and eventually wiped out the Aegeans. These incoming people became the Greeks. Since Greece has many mountains which enclose valleys, the people of the different valleys developed city-states which were independent of each other. Each state made its own adjustment to the difficult problem of living in a country where the soil was poor and in small amount. Sparta, in the south, worked out an austerity program and held the slaves who did the work under rigid control. Athens had developed as a shipping and trading center. A brilliant Athenian, Solon, revised the social structure and laws of this city-state in 594 B.C., establishing the right of citizens to share in government and so beginning the first democratic experiment in man's history. In 496 B.C., the powerful Persian nation attacked the Greek city-states, who united under the challenge and drove the invaders out in 480 B.C. Athens developed an amazing civilization based on a combination of health and culture. Athletes competed in the Olympic Games; great thinkers laid the foundations of science; literature, art, philosophy, reached heights which still inspire us after 2000 years.

• • •

FOR YOU TO DO: To realize the value of Greek influence in our times, think of the wonderful rendezvous in space between the Gemini 6 and 7 capsules. The Greeks did not invent these capsules for us, but they gave us the foundation of scientific thinking which made such a remarkable achievement possible. 2-11

Snyder Boys Take Ten Decisions

The Snyder Boys Club staged an exciting card here Thursday night with local boxers winning eight matches while losing only two against opponents from Lamesa and Colorado City. The Snyder team boxers broke even, winning two and dropping an equal number of decisions.

In one of the more thrilling bouts of the night, Junior Corrales, 116-pound Big Spring boy, fought Benny Brionez, 127-pound veteran. The Howard County youth battled the popular Lamesa boy right down to the wire before losing on a decision.

In other top matches, Fred Benitez (137) decisioned John Brionez of Lamesa (143), and Billy McClain took the verdict over Edward James in a battle of middleweights. James also is from Lamesa.

Belinte Brionez won a split decision over Carroll Marsh in another crowd-pleasing clash between two determined 113-pounders. The Dawson County boy won this one.

Other close matches were decided by split decisions. David Coy of Snyder edged Dennis Blum of Colorado City in a fast bout between junior lightweights. Raymond Flores of Lamesa took a narrow verdict over Junior Rios of Snyder in a battle of 85-pounders. The hand of Steve Phariss of Colorado City was raised in victory following his close nod over Snyder's Tommie Moore.

Johnny Vasquez, 95-pound Lamesa lad, scored the only technical knock out of the night winning over Colorado City's Charles Carney. Each boxer weighed in at just under 100 pounds.

Others winning verdicts: Ray Arguijo, Roy Arguijo, Daniel Campos, Ruben Delao, Felix Martinez, Richard Aleman, Joe Martinez, Pedro Martinez, Jimmy Magdellan, Gabriel Ornels, Ruben Esparza and Albert Demerson.

It's A Foul Odor?

By The Associated Press

Their nostrils filling deeply with the heady air of fifth place, the Boston Bruins have turned over the key to the National Hockey League cellar, permanently they hope, to the New York Rangers.

The Bruins, who have finished in the NHL basement for the last five seasons, climbed out of sixth place with a 2-0 victory over Montreal Thursday night while the Rangers were dropping their fifth straight, 6-2 to Detroit.

Ed Johnston's first shutout of the year stymied the Canadians, who find themselves in third place, two points back of front-running Chicago and Detroit.

Johnny Bucyk and Bob Dillabough got the Bruins' goals as Boston won its 13th game of the season, two more than the Rangers have managed. Boston has 31 points to 30 for New York.

Meanwhile, Detroit moved into a first-place tie with idle Chicago and dumped New York into the basement.

Stars Sign For $52,000 Average

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

What is the worth of a baseball player who batted .302, hit 24 home runs and drove in 88 runs last year?

About $52,000, say the Pirates, Braves, Reds, Indians and Red Sox.

That's the average estimated 1966 salary of five star outfielders who signed contracts Thursday — Roberto Clemente, Hank Aaron, Vada Pinson, Rocky Colavito and Tony Conigliaro.

The .302 average, 24 homers and 88 RBI represent their average performance in 1965, but individually they stood out even more:

Clemente, Pirates, won the National League batting championship for the third time and second year in a row, hitting .329. He also rapped 10 homers and drove in 65 runs.

Aaron, Braves, led the NL in doubles with 40 while batting .318, hitting 32 homers and knocking in 89 runs.

Pinson, Reds, finished the season with a 27-game batting streak, longest in the NL in 1965. During the streak he batted .372 and wound up at .305. He homered 22 times and drove across 94 runs.

Colavito, Indians, topped the American League with 108 RBI while hitting .287 and 26 homers.

Conigliaro, Red Sox, was the AL's home run leader, youngest ever in either league, with 32. He batted .269 and drove in 82 runs.

Conigliaro, at 21 the youngest of the five, accordingly will be the lowest paid of the five. He is expected to receive about $25,000 while Colavito's salary is put at $68,000, Aaron $65,000, Clemente $60,000 and Pinson $40,00.

Another slugger, Chicago Cubs outfielder Billy Williams, also signed his contract. Terms were not disclosed. Williams, 27, batted .315 and hit 34 homers last year. He had 18 RBI.

Several other notables signed for the 1966 season. Included were Baltimore's Wally Bunker and Sam Bowens, rookie stars of 1964 who slumped badly last season.

Bunker dropped from a 19-5 record and AL Rookie Pitcher of the Year to 10-8 while outfielder Bowens skidded from 22 homers and 71 RBI to seven homers and 20 RBI.

Dick Radatz, Boston's huge relief pitcher who also signed, also slumped last year. He won nine games and lost 11 for a 3.92 earned run average after compiling a 16-9 and 2.29 record the year before.

Boys Club Boxing Program Changed

The boxing program of the Snyder Boys Club was re-organized at a meeting held Wednesday night at the temporary headquarters in the old Snyder Bowling Lanes building in the 2400 block of Twenty-fifth Street.

Officials of the Club said there will be three main categories of boxers: intramural, advanced intramural and experienced.

The experienced group will be comprised of boxers of age 16 and over who have fought against outside competition in either the high school, novice or open divisions and are qualified for Golden Gloves competition.

The advanced intramural group is for boys of 15 years of age and under who weigh between 45 and 105 pounds. These boys are matched against each other according to age and experience. Although they are not beginners, boys in this group do not have as much experience as the group that is qualified for Golden Gloves competition.

The intramural group is for young boxers without prior experience. They are matched against each other according to ability. Boys in this group learn to abide by the decisions of referees and how to get along with others in their group.

Some 85 to 90 boys currently are engaged in the boxing program of the Snyder Boys Club. Later in the month local boxers will compete in the annual Golden Gloves regional tournament at Odessa. Also, some of the younger boys will compete in a "Silver Gloves" tournament at Abilene this weekend.

Herb Barnett is director of the Boys Club. Co-ordinator of the boxing program is Police Chief Chester Simons. Many volunteer instructors pledged their time and support of the program during Wednesday's meeting, including head boxing coaches Cliff Smith (beginners), James Bickel (advanced intramural), and Joe Brown (experienced and team).

Assistants are: (For beginners) — Bill Murray, D. E. McWhirter, Avon Rushing, Charles Fikes and Bill Zimmerman.

(For advanced intramural)— Howard Jones and Buck Byram;

(For experienced and team) — Jim Adams, Johnny Corralez and Ruban Gonzales.

Experienced team boxers will meet at 9 a.m. Saturday to begin practice for the regional. Thereafter, they will meet at 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. Mondays through Thursdays.

Athletic chairman of the Boys Club is Charles Freeman.

Snyder Basketball Team Ends Season

Sporting more impressive credentials, the Sweetwater Mustangs invade Tiger gym tonight as the Snyder Tigers close out their 1965-66 basketball season.

Four seniors will be playing their last game for Snyder High School: Bill Blum, Tom Duke, Ronnie Laster and Vernon Clay.

Sweetwater currently is in third place in District 3-AAA, and, although they are out of contention, the Mustangs still have a chance to knock off either one of the frontrunners: Levelland or Lamesa. They host Levelland Saturday night in a make-up game.

And, of course, Truitt Mobley's crew would like to pad its 14-7 season mark and 5-4 district record at the expense of the Tigers tonight. Tipoff in the "B" game is set for 6:15 p.m. with the varsity clash to follow.

Coach Ned Underwood was released from the hospital, but the Bengal mentor still is experiencing quite a bit of pain. He may not have to undergo surgery, but it will be some time before he is completely recovered. If he is unable to be at the game, Coach Bill Hartsfield again will take the reins.

Sweetwater has built its better-than-average record on the scoring ability of Randall Caussey, who ranks third in the district in scoring. His teammates are all adept at shooting and own one of the best team percentages in the district.

Guard Doyle Bradberry (5-9) and Randy Reed (5-10), low post man, both know how to put the basketball through the hoop as do Whittaker (5-11) and Nash (6-4), the rebounding ace.

Against Brownfield recently, Sweetwater hit over 70 per cent of its shots from the field. On the other hand, the Snyder boys seldom have been able to find the range on more than 40 per cent of their floor shots.

The visitors also will have an edge in experience, and depth.

Probable starters for the Bengals are guards Bill Blum and Tom Bullard, forwards Tom Duke and Eldon Woodward and center Ronnie Laster. Duke was impressive with his rebounding at Brownfield.

Overall, the Bengals are 6-17 for the distance and 1-10 in loop action.

Probable "B" team starters are Mickey Almond, Craig Bell, O. L. Cooper, Drake Snyder and Frankie Grimmett.

Draft May Get Cassius

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — It looks like heavyweight boxing champion Cassius Clay, the nation's most famous draft reject, may serve in the armed forces after all.

Clay, who was floored twice before by the mental test, said Thursday night that he had gotten the reclassification papers.

"Under new standards given us by the Army," said the chairman of his Louisville draft board, "I don't see any reason why Clay won't be acceptable for the draft."

The 24-year-old heavyweight champion, now training for a title bout March 29 against Ernie Terrell in Chicago, said:

"I don't know what all this stuff means. I just saw they said I was considered okay for the draft. I don't know what happens now.

"I just roll with the punches."

Clay could be called as early as next month. But J. Allen Sherman, chairman of Clay's draft board, said in Louisville:

"There's no way of knowing if Clay would be in our March quota. It would be pure speculation at this time."

The Louisville board meets against next Thursday to consider reclassification.

"The Army now says it will accept a high school graduate who scored more than 16 points (on the mental exam)," Sherman said. Clay meets both requirements," he said.

After Clay flunked the mental exam twice in January 1964, he was classified 1-Y and not eligible for the draft. But the increased demands of the war in Viet Nam have forced the Selective Service to lower its standards.

Thousands of others across the country who were previously in the 1-Y classification also are eligible now.

It is possible Clay might be in basic training by the time the date for the March 29 bout with Terrell rolls around.

Terrell could not be reached for comment Thursday night. He will be 27 in April and thus beyond the age limits of the present draft calls.

Signs With Tech

CLARKSVILLE, Tex. (AP)— Ted Lawson, 205-pound Clarksville High fullback who twice was All-District 13 AA team member, signed a letter of intent Thursday with Texas Tech.

The 1967 USGA Women's Open golf championship will be played over the Cascades course at Hot Springs, Va. The 1966 Curtis Cup matches will be held there July 29-30.

Indoor Meet In Cowtown

By MIKE COCHRAN

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — The Will Rogers Indoor Games opens the Texas track season tonight with the most impressive field in its six-year history.

Five Olympians, one of the nation's top collegiate hurdlers and a former Texas high school star head the assault on the record books.

George Aldridge of Dallas, now a University of Oklahoma freshman, will challenge five other outstanding collegiate entries in the 300-yard dash. As a high school junior, Aldridge ran the state's fastest 300, a 31.4.

Olympic high jumpers John Thomas and John Rambo will duel in one of several highlights expected to attract a crowd of 7,000 to Will Rogers Coliseum.

Rambo leaped 7 feet, 2 inches in the Los Angeles Invitational while Thomas, who has scaled the 7-foot barrier 174 times, has done a top of 6-10 this year.

Other attractions are the mile, featuring Jim Grelle, and the pole vault, with John Pennel.

Abilene Christian's 880 ace, Charles Christmas, is a good bet to lead Grelle to the fastest indoor mile time ever in Texas.

Grelle did the mile in 4:00.9 at Los Angeles and 4:02.8 in Seattle this year.

Pennel, the first man ever to vault 17 feet outdoors, said he is gunning for that same mark here.

He hit 16-9½ at Los Angeles, eclipsing the accepted indoor mark of 16-8½.

Ralph Boston, the world record holder in the broad jump, is the fifth Olympian in the field.

Dapper Dan Goes Lame

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Dapper Dan, beaten only by a neck in the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness last year, has been found lame in his stall.

He had looked like the favorite for the $100,000-added Widener Handicap after Roman Brother got hurt.

"It's nothing serious," said trainer Eddie Neloy, "but it's too early in the year to rush him and try to make the Widener." The Widener is Feb. 19.

Dapper Dan was to go in a prep for the race Thursday at Hialeah when he was found lame in his left front foot.

IF IRA WINS TONIGHT

'Sudden Death' Tilt Set Here

If Ira beats Loraine tonight, then there will be a sudden-death playoff for second place in the 70-B basketball district with the tilt to be held in Tiger gym at 8 p.m. Saturday.

Although tonight's clash will be staged on the Loraine court, Ira will be favored. The Bulldogs are 6-3 in district play while their hosts have won only one contest.

Should Ira win, the Bulldogs would be deadlocked in second place with Fluvanna. The Buffs are 7-3 in district. Regular play in the district ended Tuesday, but tonight's game at Loraine is a make-up affair.

The sudden death game here Saturday night would be the only one held. Winner of the contest would meet Westbrook next week in a playoff to decide the district champion. In District 70-B, the first place winner meets the second place team in a playoff following district competition.

Westbrook finished league action with an 8-2 record.

If Loraine should upset Ira, then Fluvanna would travel to Westbrook Saturday night for the first tilt in a best 2 of 3 playoff, and the sudden death game with Ira would not be necessary.

Probable starters for Fluvanna, if the sudden death affair is unveiled here Saturday night, are Henry Contreras, Victor Contreras, Bobby Hall, Joe Stansell and Joe Belew.

Regulars for Ira are Larry Holladay, Larry Wiggins, Ricky Sterling, Melvin Crawford and Jack Payne.

Geral Greene is coach of the Fluvanna Buffaloes. Jerry Miller is head mentor of the Ira Bulldogs.

Pro Golfer Forced To Abandon Tour

TORONTO (AP) — Al Balding of Toronto has abandoned the pro winter golf tour because he has not fully recovered from muscle injuries in his right shoulder.

Balding took treatments for the shoulder last summer but was troubled by muscle pains during three tournaments last month in California.

"I still have a lot of pain and the muscles just won't do what I want them to," he said Thursday.

Played Last Game

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Albert W. Manweiler, who played with the famed Buffalo Germans basketball team 60 years ago, died Thursday. He was 88.

Lehigh University leads arch-rival Lafayette in swimming victories 24-10-1. They first met in 1926.

STRICTLY 'NEW-HAT' EVERY DAY!

There's nothing brighter, fresher, newsier and more welcome than your daily paper. It keeps you current on world affairs, stimulates your mind, tickles your sense of humor, puts facts at your fingertips.

It's short-lived — but it grows old gracefully. Today's paper won't be dead tomorrow or even the day after that. So much that's in it is timeless as well as timely. Things like expert financial and medical advice, recipes, do-it-yourself hints, special features and stories, pictures — these are just a few of the ageless extras your daily paper gives you.

In this era of mass communications, your newspaper stands out as a tangible document. It's yours to read, put down, pick up and read again, clip and save.
