SMITH AND M'ADOO RUSH ON TO DEADLOCK

Prairie Oil Gas Co. Will Pro-Rate Crude Runs

ORDER INCLUDES NORTH TEXAS, OKLAHOMA AREA

Company Announces It Will Purchase Only Marketable Oil.

KANSAS INCLUDED TOO

Over-Production Named As One Cause For Action.

By The Associated Press.

INDEPENDENCE, Kans., June 30. Prairie Oil and Gas company announced today that effective tomorrow it will curtail its purchases of crude oil in all fields in Oklahoma, Kansas and North Texas, by pro-rating runs from wells.

The company states that because of its decreased sales to refineries, its storage has been steadily increased from month to month, and that it cannot continue to purchase and store such a large proportion of the mid-continent production. The need for the pro-ration is due not only to the increased production in the field, but to the fact that under present marketing conditions many other purchasers for some time have not been taking from producers as much oil as is taken by them under normal conditions, the statement says.

The Prairie is unable to state now just how much its purchases will have to be decreased. Its plan is to make a substantial general curtailment in order to bring its total daily purchases more in line with its daily sales of crude.

The Prairie wishes the producers to know that it will endeavor to run every barrel it possibly can consistent with its policy of purchasing only such oil as it can market currently.

Payment on all checks endorsed by the store has been stopped at city banks, and the store requests that patrons who gave them checks Saturday bring duplicates to the store to prevent loss.

DEMOS WARNED THEY MUST NOT WET WHISTLE

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 30.—By way of warning to delegates and visitors to the convention, Prohibition Commissioner Haynes today announced that patrons found in cafes serving liquor would be arrested with the proprietors and unless they could furnish bond, locked up as material witnesses.

The announcement was the result of a raid on a restaurant patronized, prohibition officers said, by convention delegates.

CUT ON WATER AGAIN DELAYED

Council Disagrees Over How Much To Reduce Charge.

Another debating session that ended with sidetracking the matter again took up considerable time at last night's city council meeting when the proposed water rate reduction came up for attention. The commissioners went into the matter in considerable detail and finally pushed it aside for another week when it was seen that no agreement could be reached.

Disagree On Amount.

The troublesome question of how large a cut to make, and how it shall be applied, is blocking the thing at present. The council is almost unanimous in agreeing that a reduction of some proportions should be made, but it is widely divergent on other points. Health and Park Commissioner Patton is the only one who has expressed himself as opposed to a slice in the rate card, and even he is not fighting it vigorously. Oddly enough, he sided in with Police Commissioner Young last night when he did take a hand in the discussion, and Mr. Young is holding out for a greater reduction than any one else. Mr. Patton is opposing the reduction on grounds that the city cannot afford to reduce its income.

Are To Agree

Commissioners Shepherd, Clifford and Curd are in favor of a cut, but they cannot reconcile their own views with those of Mr. Young, Mr. Patton, Mayor Collier and Superintendent Lawton of the water department.

Sets of figures showing the income from present rates and that to be expected from the various rates under consideration were presented in profusion. In the end, however, the question was tabled until next week when more figures will be available.

FALL, SINCLAIR, DOHENY, BILLED

Federal Grand Jury Indicts Two In Oil Scandal.

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—Criminal indictments were returned by a federal grand jury here today against Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior; Harry F. Sinclair and E. L. Doheny, Sr., oil operators and E. L. Doheny, Jr., as an outgrowth of the leasing of the naval oil reserves.

Four Indictments

Four indictments were returned. The first named Fall, Doheny, Sr., and Doheny, Jr., charging them with conspiracy to defraud the government in connection with leasing of the California reserve.

In the second, Fall and Sinclair were accused of conspiracy to defraud in connection with the Teapot Dome lease.

The third indictment charged Fall with accepting a bribe of $100,000 for using his official influence in the California lease in behalf of Doheny, Sr.

The two Dohenys in the fourth indictment were charged with inducing Fall, in behalf of the Pan-American Petroleum company, by the "unlawful and felonious" payment of $100,000 to take an unlawful action.

COOLIDGE TALKS ON ECONOMY TO HIS COLLEAGUES

Tells Administration Heads They Must Come Up To Test.

REDUCTION OF TAXES

To Start By Cutting Wages Of Government People To Bone.

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—President Coolidge called upon the administrative heads of the government tonight to measure up "to the full test of our national character by giving efficient administration so that further reduction in taxes for all the people may be accomplished."

Speaks to Over 1,000.

Speaking before more than one thousand executive officers at the seventh semi-annual meeting of the business organization of the government at the close of the fiscal year, the chief executive outlined his policies for the future with the declaration that all of his subordinates must enter into them in spirit as well as in practice.

"I am for economy," the president said. "After that, I am for more economy. We must give the people relief from the excessive burden of taxation."

Mr. Coolidge's program contemplates cutting expenditures to the bone. He wants to continue even more drastically the three-year-old economy program. To do so, he enjoined those responsible for spending the government's money that every administration effort be carried on with the absolute minimum of expense.

Must Reduce Payroll.

That means, he asserted, that the government payrolls must be reduced.

The president's broad outline of his views was expanded by Director Lord, of the budget bureau, who warned that those who failed to function sympathetically or who obeyed the chief executive's instructions in half-hearted manner may as well feel that they are not desired in the government machinery. He added that disloyal ones have no place in the organization. The director explained that the bureau's agents were cognizant of all activities in the government and said he would not fail to call shortcomings to the president's attention.

The speech was the first by Mr. Coolidge since the republican party selected him as its presidential candidate and he chose in this utterance to review the financial accomplishment of the administrations for the past three years. In this period he said there was net reduction in the great public debt of more than $2,720,000,000 and a consequent saving to the people of more than $120,000,000 annually in interest alone.

Shows Progress Made.

"What progress we have made in ordering the national finances is easily shown," Mr. Coolidge said. "A comparison of our receipts and expenditures for the last four years illustrates conclusively what has been accomplished during the three years of the budget system.

"For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1921, the last pre-budget year, our expenditures were $5,538,000,000 and our receipts $5,624,000,000. For the succeeding three years, which includes the year which ends today, our expenditures were $3,795,000,000, $3,697,000,000 and $3,497,000,000 respectively.

"Here we show a progressive and consistent reduction in expenditure. On the other side of the ledger our receipts for 1922 were $4,109,000,000, 1923, $4,007,000,000 and 1924 $3,995,000,000. Analysis of these figures show that in the face of a progressive reduction in receipts we have still achieved a substantial surplus at the end of each of the fiscal years—$314,000,000 for 1922, $309,000,000 for 1923, and $498,000,000 for 1924."

Gas Leak Forces Maughan Back On Return to N. Y.

By The Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 30—Lieut. Russel L. Maughan, one-day coast-to-coast flyer, was forced to return here an hour after he hopped off for New York today when a leak developed in his emergency gasoline tank. He will attempt to leave later in the day. Maughan had nearly reached Sacramento when the leak developed.

STORM DEATH LIST MAY GROW

Expect To Find Many More Bodies In Theatre Ruins.

By The Associated Press.

LORAIN, Ohio, June 30.—Fears that Lorain's death list as the result of the tornado late Saturday afternoon may increase to over 100, were expressed today by Coroner Perry and Fire Chief David Hatt. The total of 39 bodies recovered last night was increased to 70 today with recovery of 11 more. City officials are of the opinion that many bodies will be found in the State theatre. Twenty bodies were taken from the ruins and ten injured. However, only the lobby, the stage and about the first eight rows of the building have been cleared.

May Find Other Bodies.

Officials believe that under the tons of brick and steel that cover the main floor from the eighth row to the lobby are other bodies. Coroner Perry said their estimate was conservative.

"The vaudeville performance was over," he said, "and the moving picture was being shown. Although there were 314 paid admissions for the last show, many of the patrons were known to have left after the vaudeville performance which concluded just before the storm struck the city. There may be 100 bodies still in the ruins.

There may be 200 and there may not be any. We will not know until the building is cleared of wreckage. We have all available men working there now."

RETAIN COURT HOUSE KEEPER

Two Commissioners Vote For Groundsman, Two Silent.

With two of the commissioners voting affirmatively and two declining to act one way or the other, the county commissioners court Monday ordered J. D. Johnson reinstated as custodian of the court house grounds. The action overruled Superintendent Harley Snider who had discharged Mr. Johnson and placed another man in charge of the grounds.

Commissioners Jackson and Kuntz voted in favor of Mr. Johnson's retention, while Commissioners Haynes and Kunutls did not vote either way.

The court's action was taken after a petition had been presented signed by a large number of court house officials asking that the ground keeper's services not be dispensed with. Mr. Snider appeared before the court and set forth his reasons for wishing to make a change, but after hearing both sides of the case the court ruled that Mr. Johnson should be retained.

McAdoo Has 479 Al Smith 305.5 At Adjournment

Democrats Wage Battle of Ballots Until Past Midnight But Recess Until Today With No Nomination on Fifteenth Attempt.

By The Associated Press

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK, June 30.—At 12:03 eastern daylight savings time, the democratic national convention after 15 unsuccessful ballots adjourned until 10:30 tomorrow morning. (8:30 a. m. Wichita Falls time).

The result was announced this way for the fifteenth ballot:

Underwood 39; Robinson 20; McAdoo 479; Smith 305.5; Davis of West Virginia 61; Ritchie 17½; Cox 60; Bryan 11; Governor Davis 11; Harrison 20½; Glass 25; Brown 9; Ralston 31; Saulsbury 6; Walsh 1; Baker 1.

Totals, 1,098.

Eager to Adjourn

As midnight approached the democratic national convention had completed its fifteenth ballot and a nominee still was being sought.

Twelve hours of balloting had served merely to advance McAdoo and Smith in a steady gradual movement and to bring neither one within striking distance of a nomination. If it established anything it established that each of them has a one-third vote on the other. Smith, although he ran second, made the most gain during the balloting. Although he started with 240 in the first ballot he had gone to 305.5 at the close of the fifteenth.

McAdoo starting at 431 on the first ballot, had climbed to 479.

John W. Davis of West Virginia, starting at 31 on the first ballot, had advanced to 64.5 and was in third place.

File Out Quickly

At the conclusion of the announcement of the fifteenth ballot, Chairman Kremer of the Montana delegation, a McAdoo floor leader, moved an adjournment until 10:30 tomorrow morning. The convention didn't even wait for the motion to be put and carried. It merely piled out while it was being done. The band struck up, "Home, Sweet Home," and the convention hall was emptied quicker than it would have been if a troupe of the elephants which often sojourn there had suddenly cut loose. Some changes were predicted for tomorrow's balloting. Whether there would be a nomination or not was anybody's guess.

One politician remarked: "The ice is 12 inches thick; there isn't a crack in sight."

None the less all the rival candidate managers went out smiling and remarking that everything was as they had expected, quite as they had predicted and that nothing about the whole day's balloting showed anything hostile or unfavorable to their cause.

As the democratic national convention re-assembled tonight probably for a long drawn out session and to plunge into the balloting again, the score stood this way: Smith 278, McAdoo 444 6-10, J. W. Davis 63, Underwood 45 1-2, Ralston 30 1-2, Cox 60, Governor Davis of Kansas 32 4-10, Glass 25, Robinson 21, Silzer 28, Ritchie 17 1-2, Harrison 20 1-2, Brown 8, Saulsbury 6, Governor Bryan 15, Houston Thompson 1, William J. Bryan 1.

Three favorite sons had been eliminated altogether.

Senator Ferris of Michigan, Governor Sweet of Colorado and Senator Kendrick of Wyoming.

The McAdoo and Smith forces expressed their satisfaction with the standing of the score and declared the balloting had come close to their estimates.

Each pointed out that they had an irreducible minimum of one-third which would prevent the nomination of anybody without their consent.

New Jersey's 28 votes suddenly slid to Governor Smith in the tenth ballot of the democratic convention tonight.

The 20 from Kansas had slid to McAdoo just previously and the Smith managers handed it back with the movement from New Jersey.

Both movements were attended with great demonstrations.

The eleventh ballot in the democratic national convention brought no agreement on a candidate but it did bring rumblings of doings ahead with changes forecast and elides of votes predicted. At the end of the eleventh ballot the leaders stood this way:

McAdoo 476 3-10.
Smith 303 2-10.
John W. Davis 59.

This was a gain of 4 7-10 for McAdoo and a gain of 3 7-10 for Smith.

The leaders were surging ahead toward the predicted deadlock.

The obvious truth of the situation was that the field which holds the balance of power in the fight was laying back waiting for the break which might indicate the winner and the signal for the band wagon movement.

The first tangible evidence of the breaks and cracks to come appeared when Governor Jonathan Davis of Kansas, arriving on the convention floor just before the night session was resumed, released the twenty from Kansas to McAdoo.

The same good natured patient lot of delegates which had balloted all day—in contrast to the angry, bawling which run riot in the garden last Saturday night, came back with full stomachs for the night session, feeling happy and stimulated by the tinkling of lively tunes by the band while they were waiting for Senator Walsh to drop the envel.

Walsh Opens Session.

At six minutes after eight chairman Walsh began gavelling and the delegates began to sit down.

Prayer was offered by Father Duffy, the idolized fighting chaplain of the fighting sixty-ninth, a national figure on his own account, probably as well known as any politician in convention and a fighting man welcome in the company of soldiers, irrespective of their religious persuasions. The prayer over, the calling of the roll of states was ordered and the story of the ballots was taken up again with the beginning of the tenth ballot.

Kansas Slides to McAdoo.

The big whoop came with Kansas as forecast earlier. Under the unit rule the sunflower state transferred her twenty from Governor Davis to McAdoo. It was the first slide of any proportions to anybody and the McAdoo managers probably had saved it up to start off the night session.

It produced the first parade of the standards to start during the balloting. It gathered force slowly because the band leader was slow taking his cue, but when he opened up and began blaring out a march, McAdoo delegates with states' standards began piling out into the aisles bawling, whooplas and whah-hoos. The demonstration probably would have become greater, noisier and rougher if more delegates had been in their seats. Chairman Walsh stood at his desk and calmly surveyed the first show of real enthusiasm developed during the balloting. While it was going on Norman E. Mack and George Brennan got their heads together under the Illinois standard.

Despite a good many delegates in the aisles shouting for McAdoo, whole blocks of them were in their seats. It was time for business again now.

New Jersey's 28 slid to Governor Smith when that state was reached. It was the reply of the Smith managers to the strategy of the McAdoo people which only a few minutes before had delivered the 20 from Kansas to the McAdoo standard. There was another howling, dancing parade of frenzied partisans.

There was no decision on the tenth ballot.

The leaders in the race stood this way:

McAdoo 471.6; Smith 299.5.

On the roll call this was a gain of 27 for McAdoo and Smith gained 21 1-2 net.

Once more the clerk went at it for the eleventh time.

Texans Hold for McAdoo.

Oklahoma and Texas stood fast for McAdoo on the tenth and eleventh ballots.

All down the list the lines of the voting were virtually unbroken.

There was no nomination on the eleventh and the clerk was ordered back to the job of calling the roll for the twelfth time.

As the call of the states droned on, it was again obvious there was no nomination.

After Smith had gained several votes on the thirteenth ballot, the galleries, helped out by the band, went into a paroxysm of "Smith, Smith, Smith." When Ohio announced its 48 for Cox the galleries evidently misunderstood it, Smith, and went off into a riotious demonstration. The reading clerk bawled "Ohio 48 for Cox," in the hope of disappointing the galleries. He finally got it over and the galleries appreciating the joke on themselves made as much racket laughing as they had made cheering.

Harrison Loses Vote.

John W. Davis gained one in Pennsylvania which still was splitting her vote among the field.

The vote Davis took in Pennsylvania was Pat Harrison's—the only one the senator had outside of Mississippi. The figures of the thirteenth follow:

Underwood 40 1-2, McAdoo 477, Robinson 19, Smith 303 1-2, John W. Davis 64 1-2, Ritchie 17 1-2, Cox 60, Bryan 10, Governor Davis 11, Harrison 20 1-2, Glass 27, Brown 9, Ralston 31 1-2, Saulsbury 6, Walsh 1, Grebs 1, Baker 1. Total 1,098.

The total effect of the balloting had been to increase the totals of McAdoo, Smith and John W. Davis. It failed to bring either of the leaders, Smith and McAdoo, within striking distance.

The totals of the leaders on the fourteenth ballot stood: McAdoo 475.5; Smith 306.5; John W. Davis 64.5.

These figures showed a loss of one and one-half votes for McAdoo.

Smith gained three and Davis was unchanged.

The band played "After the Storm." The word went around that an adjournment had been agreed upon after the fifteenth ballot.

The McAdoo men had set their goal at 500 for tonight after which they proposed to ask for an adjournment.

June Building Program In Wichita Falls Shows Many Residences

PROFITABLE YET BELOW APRIL

New Projects Number 82, Valued At Near $200,000.

June proved to be a profitable month from a building standpoint in Wichita Falls, despite the fact that the value of new structures started here was below that of April.

Building permit records at the city clerk's office show that during the period 82 new projects were launched, these having a combined value of $176,268.00. As is usually the case, the bulk of this is accounted for by new residences.

The new grandstand of the Wichita Falls Baseball association, filed as being valued at $18,000, was the largest structure started. Three $20,000 buildings were got under way, one a garage being put up by Stodtlik and Baber on Lamar avenue and the other residences being constructed at 907 Travis and Tenth and Garfield. The first is the new parsonage of the First Christian church and the second is a home being erected by A. C. King.

A noticeable feature of the month's record is the large number of additions, such as sleeping porches and wings, being constructed. Repairs on existing buildings also appear in numbers.

Baggage Car On W. F. & S. Train Jumps Track

The baggage car of train No. 24 of the Wichita Falls and Southern railroad due in Wichita Falls at 12:30 p. m. left the track near Jim Kearn Monday morning at 9 o'clock and was approximately an hour late arriving in Wichita Falls. The accident took place between two switches and little delay resulted in the accident as the baggage car was merely detached from the rest of the train and left for a wrecking crew. The baggage was transferred to another coach. The derailed car was placed on the track by noon and the afternoon train was on time. No one was injured.

AUSTIN MAN IS NEW ENGINEER

Ed Mattox To Succeed D. M. Puckett In This Division.

Ed Mattox of Austin has been named division engineer for the Wichita Falls district to succeed D. M. Puckett, who resigned two weeks ago to accept the position of Clay county engineer, according to a telegram received here last night by Mr. Puckett from Gibb Gilchrist, state highway engineer. Mr. Mattox is expected to arrive in Wichita Falls today or tomorrow.

With Austin Office.

The newly appointed highway engineer for this district, comprised of 14 counties, has been connected with the designing department of the state highway commission at Austin for some time, and recently was on special duty at Marshall, Harrison county.

Mr. Puckett, out-going incumbent, has held the position since the establishment of the office here last November. The district composes the counties of Hardeman, Feard, Knox, Haskell, Throckmorton, Baylor, Wilbarger, Wichita, Archer, Young, Jack, Clay, Montague, and Cook. It is the duty of the engineer in charge to look after the maintainence of all state highways in this division receiving state and federal aid, and to inspect personally each project under construction at least once a month, according to Mr. Puckett.

Puckett To Move.

Mr. Puckett expects to move his family to Henrietta as soon as possible, he states. A part of the survey work on the 34 miles of highway to be constructed across Clay county has been completed, he declares, and a contract is expected to be let for the first project within the next three or four months.

Reduction Made In Tax Schedule For Pipe Lines

Several reductions on the taxation schedule of large-size pipe lines in Wichita county were made by the county commissioners court Monday morning. The original schedule for the lines, as well as for production and other oil items, was fixed late last week.

Under the terms of the new schedule, six-inch pipe lines will be taxed on a basis of $1.750 per mile instead of $2.000; eight-inch lines will be $2.500 instead of $3.000 and 10-inch lines will be $3.500 instead of $4.000.

The cut will affect a considerable saving in taxes to pipe line companies in the county.

In all of the cotton manufacturing districts of France it is customary for employers to grant special financial aid or benefits to workers with families, the extra remuneration being based on the number of children in the family, but the basic pay is small.

S. A. VETS TELL OF EARLY DAYS

Commander and Mrs. Hale Say Experiences Were Stormy.

Commander and Mrs. Hale, veteran Salvation Army workers, gave an account of their experiences in the days when no police protection was afforded the workers at the meeting in the hall last night.

The account of their jail experiences was preceded by an "old time" meeting at which the old war songs of the Salvation Army were led by Commander Hale. He recited to a refrain with a strong rhythm.

After an experience meeting the commander told of his 30 years with the Salvation Army.

In Kansas where the family held services the collections amounted to about $1.50 a week at times, though he said that food and rent was very cheap.

Knocked Down

In Winfield, Kansas, he was knocked down by "brass knucks" when he protested against a ruffian jeering and throwing rocks at the hall. A negro rescued him from the attacker, who was jailed. The commander talked to the man afterwards and heard that he asked forgiveness the day Mr. and Mrs. Hale left town.

Taxed

At Hutchinson, Kas., the Army was told that the street meetings must be discontinued. When they refused an ordinance was passed taxing them a dollar for every march. Jailed once for refusal to pay the fine and released on a technicality after a night in jail, the workers were jailed again. The higher courts finally decided that it was the right of any man to worship God as he pleased and that churches could not be taxed in Kansas.

Again when he protested against a man disturbing a Christmas dinner Mr. Hale was attacked. As long as he did not defend himself the police did not interfere, but when he held off his attacker they took him to jail and fined him $7.50. This was paid by friends.

Chunked

In other towns rocks, rotten vegetables, cats, chickens and other things were thrown into their chapels, and the police did not interfere.

In Sedalia, Mo., Commander Hale said that a boy threw a whiskey bottle threw a window and several of the audience were cut by glass. Mrs. Hale was struck beneath the eye.

The drummer chased the boy until 3 o'clock in the morning before he caught him, and then they interposed and prevented the boy from going to the reformatory.

Commander Hale is leaving here today. He said that he will come to Wichita Falls again this spring for an "old fashioned Holy Ghost revival time."

Lightning Bolt Strikes Home Of Judge Sartin

County Judge B. D. Sartin narrowly escaped serious injured or worse early Sunday evening when a bolt of lightning drilled a hole in the roof of his home, 1707 Monroe street, put the lights out of commission and filled the entire house with a sheet of flame.

The judge was in the living room playing with one of his youngsters at the time. The flash came and was past almost before he knew what had happened.

Damage caused by the bolt consisted of burned out wiring and a hole in the roof.

THREE MORE BLOCKS TO BE PAVED HERE

Another three-block paving project was put under way Monday night with presentation to the city council of a petition for the improving of Taylor street between Avenues H. and K. Bids were called for after the petition had been presented.

The Plains Paving company was awarded a contract for paving of Giddings street from Avenues C to G, this improvement to be a Wilhite surface on a composition base.

STONE WANTS LA FOLLETTE.

Warren S. Stone of Ohio is the head of the Brotherd of Locomotive Engineers, he is head of their great k in the city of Cleveland, and he is one of the most uential labor spokesmen in the civilized world.

This veteran leader of organized labor believes that h of the old parties will be drowned in oil in the ning presidential election and hopes to have the optunity to support Senator Robert M. LaFollette at the d of a third ticket.

Warren S. Stone until this year has never favored a rd party. This was his startling declaration at the e of a labor address in the city of New York: "I ieve you may see an independent candidate for the sidency. Perhaps this man will be Senator Robert M. Follette, although I am not sure and have no authority speak. I hope to live long enough to have an optunity to vote for him myself."

Now why should LaFollette, the master of the erican congress and the maker of its laws, head a rd party. If he is to be the supreme boss of the ate and the house, posing as a republican, why should throw it away on a slim chance?

LaFollette has scant respect for President Coolidge. has scant respect for the leading democrats who are didates for presidential nomination. His friends say t he will lift the pressure and make known his intens at an early date.

Should he become the leader of the third party movent he will have the backing of the farm labor party Oklahoma. Under which flag will the farmer labor ty of Texas line up after all the nominations have n made.

A RECORD WORTHY OF PRAISE.

Few cities the size of Wichita Falls can boast of as ch freedom from crime and criminals as can Wichita ls. The people of Wichita Falls have grown so accusned to this sort of a record that they think little of it, it is a thing that often is remarked about by visitors to city.

This sort of a record is a credit, not only to the peace icers of the community, but to the spirit of the citiry and the type of citizenship that is to be found re.

The police blotter in Wichita Falls shows that not one rder has been committed in this city within the past elve months. Certainly that is a record to be proud of. hat other Texas city of size can say as much? There y be others, but certainly they are few.

Lesser crime, too, is unusual rather than the usual and pected thing here. There is an occasional robbery, but e records of other cities suffer by comparison. The ichita Falls police, although there are not enough of em, are on the job. If they weren't and if Wichita lls wasn't naturally a peacful sort of a town they ould be working overtime. And it is quite likely that e officers are called upon to spend more time trying to force the traffic laws than they have to spend in purit of criminals.

Wichita Falls is a poor stopping place for the criminal d the ne'er-do-well.

GAME OLD SOLDIER.

Congressman Isaac R. Sherwood of Ohio has filed titions for re-election to congress. He is 89, he has rved nine terms in congress, he is the oldest member of at body, he was an officer in the Federal army in the ng ago, and he is a newspaper writer who swings the sty pen. Ohio democrats love the old warrior, and any republicans vote for him without regret. Uncle e has retired; Uncle Isaac is still with us. Although e is 89 he never ran away from a fight and never odged an issue.

Private bankers in New York have been put out of usiness by the lawmakers. Hereafter a person conucting a private banking business must invest $100,00 of his own funds and place the same in the hands of e secretary of state. No more rich pickings.

PANTOMIME -:- By J. H. Striebel

AS D'NIG SEES IT.

The Florentine Dagger

"I was convinced at the moment," he explained, "that I killed poor Victor."

"I love you so," she murmured, "and I know there was something like this. And I tried to utilize it to save her."

They left the cab and entered De Medici's apartment.

He gave instructions to his man. Ten minutes later they were sitting happily over their emptied tea cups.

"Well," Florence began, "it goes back to long ago. I remember none of it. But the story is familiar. Poor father—I still must call him father—told it to me at least a dozen times. It was in London before I was born. There was a man named Bandoux, a Frenchman. He and Victor Ballau were rivals for my mother's love."

"Old Fanny was right," De Medici smiled as she paused, "but otherwise the story is the same—to that point."

He told her briefly of his adventure with the wardrobe mistress and the candlestick.

"I don't remember her," Florence went on. "Well, father, that is, Victor Ballau, was in charge of the Goldsmith theatre at that time and mother was playing the leads in the repertoire bills they put on. Things were going nicely, and apparently poor mother had forgotten the hell she'd been through with Bandoux before she married father.

"Then one day father had to leave London on business, and in his absence the leading man fell ill. The manager in charge dashed around frantically in search of some experienced repertoire man to take his place, and found —Bandoux. Bandoux played in the cast that night. Oh, he was a scoundrel! Everything that has happened, all the tragedy that haunted poor Victor Ballau's life, came from him and his rottenness. The play that night was Sardou's 'Tosca.'

"And when the murder scene arrived, poor mother went out of her head. She raised the dagger to kill Baron Scarpia as she had so often done in other performances. But this time she screamed and hurled herself at Bandoux. He was almost taken by surprise but managed to defend himself and escaped with a slight wound. Mother fainted. There was pandemonium and the curtain was rung down.

"For a month she lay completely insane. Her mildest moments were spent in weeping. The rest of the time she lay crying out that she wanted to kill Scarpia, who had betrayed her. The theatre was closed and father devoted himself to her. He was a wonderful man, the finest man that ever lived.

"He did his best," Florence continued. "And gradually the active mania left her. She became what we grew to regard as normal. All memory of the past had been wiped out.

"Father took us both away to a place in the north of England and we lived there for some time. He did everything that could be done to restore her. But it was futile. He tried for a time to convince her she was his wife. This fact, however, struck her as preposterous."

CHAPTER XXIII
The Truth at Last

"And he was afraid," Florence continued, "of talking too much to her about it, afraid of bringing on her insanity again—I mean the active part of it. The result was that he finally hit on the plan of convincing her that she was his housekeeper, and nobody ever suspected.

"As I grew up I became aware of all this and of what was going on. Father made no secret of it. She was my mother. Somehow his quixotic devotion inspired a similar affection in me. She was more than a mother—an unfortunate to be protected and watched over. But there were times when Floria returned, the same Floria who had screamed for months in the London hospital. I remember the first time I saw her. It was about 12 years ago. I came home from school and found mother, that is Jane, dressed in a ball gown and talking to father in a voice I had never heard before. She was playing the part of La Tosca. When I arrived father was in tears. We both managed somehow to quiet her and after an hour she fell asleep. When she woke up she was Jane again.

"After that, father discovered that if he indulged her for a few minutes and played the part of the Baron, if he let her dress herself as Tosca, the Floria obsession would collapse of itself."

"On the night he was killed," she resumed; "the same thing happened that had happened frequently before. Floria returned. Father told me briefly over the phone that she was in one of her spells.

"I got home in a few minutes. I had a key and let myself in. Father had set the little scene as he frequently had done before. He had even put on the black beard that he wore when he played Scarpia for her. He had found that these details served to convince mother of the reality of the scene and to shorten the awful thing. I . . . I opened the door. He was sitting in a chair with his back to me as I entered. I saw mother raise the dagger and strike him, screaming at the same time. I stood still. I thought for the moment it was another one of the awful make-believes I'd witnessed so often. And I waited for father to stand up. He did. He stood up slowly and turned and saw me and nodded with a smile. The dagger was in his heart and he stood smiling at me. The act was over for him, the terrible scene that he had so often played. It was over forever this time. And as he fell he snatched at the thing on his chin and tore it off.

"I still failed to realize what had happened. He had smiled so kindly. I could hardly believe it was anything but a minor accident. But gradually it came to me. I stood horrified and watched mother approach the body on the floor and place the candle at his head and the crucifix on his body. Then she turned and saw me. I thought of one thing only. That I must have her. I knew he would wish it that way. I remembered how he had looked when he stood before me with the dagger killing him.

"She walked to me and collapsed in my arms. I dragged her to the bedroom and removed the costume. She lay in a heavy sleep for a few minutes. I washed the rouge from my face. My mind, as you can imagine, was not entirely clear. I didn't know what to do with things. I was obsessed only by the desire to protect her, to save her. And I must have thrust the ball gown out of the window on the fire-escape, but I didn' remember doing it when you came. She She lay sleeping and I knew she would sleep for at least 10 minutes. I went into the library and then I must have lost my head. I had an idea fixed in my mind of misleading the police with false evidence. All I could think of was to make it look as if a terrible fight had taken place. I pulled a lot of books down, cut a few pictures, and turned over some chairs. I remember blowing out the candle and seeing the beard in father's hand. I was going to remove it, but thought it would be better to leave it there because it would increase the mystery and baffle the police. I thought, too, that the police would figure out he'd been attacked by a man and had torn the false beard from his assailant's face. I didn't think of the gum mucilage that might show on his own chin.

CHAPTER XXIV
Explanation

"You see now, Julien, why I couldn't tell you anything, why I had to keep still and lie and muddle things up. It was for his sake. I kept feeling how he would feel if anything happened to her—if exposure overtook her. I was desperate and the thought that it was you who seemed intent upon unmasking the thing we had kept so hidden for so long drove me wild."

"I understand," De Medici nodded.

"After I'd fixed up the library," Florence continued "mother awoke. I told her that she'd fainted, and she said yes, she knew she was subject to dizzy spells. She got dressed and went out to the kitchen to go on with her work, and I went into the library and screamed. She came running to me and I told her father had been murdered. She remembered nothing, of course, of what had happened. I impressed upon her that I had just come in and found her fainting, but that she should not tell that to the police because it would look bad for her; that she should just tell them I had come in and screamed. You recall the first story she told. And the time Lt. Norton asked her whether she had seen anybody else in the apartment, and she said yes, she had seen a man with a black beard, I was standing just outside the door. For a moment I thought it was all over and that the lieutenant had hypnotized poor mother or something and was going to learn the secret from her. But she evidently recovered herself and the Floria that almost spoke in the library that time remained hidden.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

A mule sees a spirit. I am going to prove by the Bible, the same book which tells you about the Great Red Dragon and the Firey Furnace that a mule saw a spirit and here is my proof.

Take your Bible, open it up and read Numbers 22, where an Angel opposes Balaam, verse 23: "And the ass saw the angle of the Lord standing in the way and his sword drawn in his hand; and the ass turned aside out of the way and went into the field and Balaam smote the ass, to turn into the right way." Verse 24: "But the angel of the Lord stood in the path of the vineyards, a well being on this side and a well being on the other side and when the ass saw the angel of the Lord standing there she thrust herself into the wall, and crushed Balaam's foot against the wall."

Nowhere in the Bible is it ever said that a devil ever sent an angel. These angels have always been sent by God. "And I shall send my ministering angels unto you."

More Truth Than Poetry

BY PROXY

It's not the clout of the long line drive
That makes me love the game,
Nor the joyful shout that goes ringing out
When the bleachers see the same.
It is not the runs that are mounting up
As the breathless lads come in,
Nor the thrill of pride in my tense inside
When I know that the team must win.

It is not the wonderful running catch,
Nor the magical fielding stunt,
Nor the jeering howl at a quick-copped foul,
Which was meant for a foxy bunt.
It is not the steal of the second bag,
When the pitcher was winding up,
Nor the savage swat that the shortstop got,
Which fills with content my cup.

It is not my joy in the pitcher's craft,
As he fans 'em one by one,
Nor his mighty skill with the twisting pill
Which holds 'em without a run.
It is not the marvelous inside ball,
And the teamwork so swift and keen,
That make me sit still till the final hit,
With a soul that is quite serene.

Day after day to the game I go,
And sit in the shady seat,
While the players run through the blazing sun
In the withering summer heat.
And this is my joy in the grand old game,
As the spectacle fills my eyes;
The boys out there in the open air
Are taking my exercise.

What Is to Become of This World?

Statesmen and political spokesmen are given more these days to viewing with alarm than to pointing with pride.

The ponderous editor vies with the excited soap-box orator in showing us we are on the verge, on the verge.

Preachers and literary folk demonstrate that ruin is just ahead.

In fact, a good part of the energy of our instructors and entertainers seems to be devoted to scaring the daylights out of us.

Meanwhile the world goes lumbering on. The ocean heeds the apostrophe of W. S. Gilbert:

"Never you mind—roll on!"

Little children are playing marbles in the street, the cook is busy peeling potatoes, the young lady and her June-spice are holding hands in the parlor, pa is busy selling nails at the hardware store and grandma is knitting on the front porch.

Only here and there one of us gets heated up in our mind and feels the world is wobbling.

What of it? Suppose we hang into a comet tomorrow? Suppose the bolsheviks blow us up and the Japanese grab the pieces, and the trusts and capitalists devour us, and all the labor unions strike, and the baby chokes on a quarter, and the Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse come loping over the hill, and there's a panic, and the end of the world comes the fifteenth of next month and the devil flies away with us?

What are you going to do about it?

In spite of our fits of despair the world is getting better all the time. The poorest among us have comforts and luxuries that even kings did not have a few years ago.

God is attending to the universe. And even if you don't believe in God, you must admit that you are not running it.

Time stalks on. Evolution continues to evolve. Destiny has its own plans, and is mighty close-mouthed about them.

All our life is an adventure. Nobody, outside of the graveyard, is safe. Sin was in the world long before little Johnny began to cry over it, and will probably still be on hand long after he has wiped his eyes and gone to bed.

All we can do is each, in his small corner, to play his part and be as happy as he can.

We'd as well be happy. Why not? For whether we be glad or sad, the universe rolls on, as aforesaid.

The Creator made the world. It's His, not ours. And neither the little boy at school nor grown-ups who ought to know better accomplish anything but their own undoing when they play God.

WHAT TODAY MEANS TO YOU

By MARY BLAKE

CANCER

The aspects of today are neither good nor adverse; they improve, however in character towards the evening. During the day, it is advisable to devote your time and attention to duties of a routine character, and plans can be carefully thought out for future action, but no such plans or ideas should be put into immediate execution. In the evening, conditions are propitious and especially favor social activities.

A child born today will, unless great care is taken and constant vigilance exercised, experience more than an unusual share of infantile ailments. During the period of adolescence, it will outgrow its former physical weakness and will develop into normally healthy maturity. Its character will, in the same way as its physical condition acquire strength with passing years, but above all things, it must, in early childhood, have instilled into its mind the benefits of decision.

Is today your birthday? You are of a naturally retiring disposition, and your character is not a strong one. This is the explanation of your present condition of only mediocre success. You have convictions, but lack the courage to express them either in words or in deed. You possibly realize that in some other line of endeavor, or by some change of conduct, you would get better results than those achieved by your present efforts; you, however, have not the grit to break a way: you lack moral courage.

Moral courage characterizes the highest order of manhood and womanhood—the courage to seek and to speak the truth: the courage to be just; the courage to be honest: the courage to resist temptation: the courage to do one's duty.

Although success is the guerdon for which we all toil, we, nevertheless, have often to labor on perseveringly, without any glimmer of success in sight.

The greater part of the courage that is need in the world is not of a heroic kind. There needs the common courage to be what we really are and to know what we are capable of becoming.

SOILS AND SOIL PHYSICS.
Plant Diseases Carried in the Soil.

Many diseases of farm plants are caused by bacteria or other micro-organisms which exist in the soil.

Quite often these diseases are not strictly speaking caused by organisms that exist in the soil itself, but which live from year to year on the roots of plants or on dead animal or vegetable matter in the soil. However, from a practical standpoint they can be considered as existing in the soil.

Potato scab which affects Irish potatoes, is generally considered as being a soil organism. On soil which has never been infected with this disease potatoes can be planted which have the scab and this will so infect the soil that future crops from good seed still have the scab. One way of ridding the soil of this disease is to cease growing potatoes on it for a period of years.

The Texas root rot of cotton is another soil disease which not only affects cotton but other farm plants and many varities of trees.

Recent investigations have shown that the root rot is not really a disease of the soil, but that the spores exist only on the roots of living plants and that it is spread mainly by the roots of one plant coming in contact with the roots of another.

However, as it exists below the surface of the ground and propogates itself there it is generally considered as a soil disease.

Diseases of plants caused by soil organisms are generally distinguished by the fact that they are rather more difficult to eradicate than most other plant diseases. The method of ceasing to grow any crop that can be attacked is the one ordinarily the most successful.

Announcements of four weddings of interest to citizens of Wichita Falls especially, as well as to those of other cities, are made in today's paper.

A wedding of interest to many Wichitans took place Saturday afternoon when Miss Karin Yeager, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Yeager, became the bride of J. L. Randel, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Randel of this city. The young people accompanied by the bridegroom's brother, Floyd Randel and Miss Beulah Lane, drove to Chillicothe, the former home of the groom, and were married by the Rev. C. E. Lancaster, pastor of the First Baptist church there.

Mr. Randel is a young business man of the city, holding a position with the City National bank. He came to this city from Chillicothe where he was reared. He graduated from the public schools there and later attended Simmons college at Abilene.

The young people will be at home to their friends, 1501 Kemp Boulevard.

Jones-Harris.

Mrs. H. G. Harris announces the marriage of her daughter, Miss Viviene, Sunday, June 29, to C. L. Jones of Los Angeles, the wedding taking place at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Cecil E. Wells, at Vallejo, Cal.

Mrs. Jones was reared in Wichita Falls, and her marriage takes away one of the attractive young women of the city, for she will make her home in Los Angeles. She was educated in the public schools here, and was active in the young people's work in the First Methodist church, south.

Mr. Jones was formerly engaged in work in Dallas but was well-known here.

The young people will be at home to their friends in Los Angeles.

Warren-Long.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Alta Long, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Long, and Harry Warren of Fort Worth, the marriage taking place Thursday, June 26, at the Floral Heights Methodist church, with the Rev. S. A. Barnes officiating.

Today's Poem

THE WOMAN NEXT DOOR

The woman next door has separated from her husband;
She has thrown off the irksome bonds
of wedded life,
And alimony takes its place. She rises late
And breakfasts when she wills. She goes to lunch
And matinees, or reads on her front porch afternoons
In cool pink ginghams while I mend
the children's stockings.
But in the growing dusk when I arise and hurry in
To build a glowing fire and light the candles,
And set the table, her eyes follow
me wistfully.
And when the best part of my day
comes up the walk
Whistling some tuneless song, and fills my doorway,
Tired and bundle-laden, and eager-
eyed,
She goes within her empty house with frightened, running steps,
Not looking back, and does not light
the lamp at first.....
I think she cries....

GIRL SCOUTS AT CAMP NO. 27

Daily Program Includes Pioneering, Hiking, Swimming.

Twenty-seven girl scouts went to camp early yesterday afternoon under the leadership of Mrs. Jess McLarry, director and first lieutenant, and Miss Ruth Beggs, captain.

Four sponsors are on the camp, completing the official personnel.

Have Regular Program.

The program is about the same as that of the Boy Scouts on the camp. Morning will be diveded between Girl Scouts instruction and pioneering, the latter under the direction of Scout Executive Creighton.

After dinner the girls will rest until 2 o'clock and then between that time and the swimming hour short hikes and similar activities are planned.

Delayed Monday.

The hour for the girls to leave the camp was 9 o'clock yesterday morning, but the truck got bogged and they did not get away until early in the afternoon.

Roster.

The sponsors are Mrs. L. W. Proctor, Mrs. C. G. Merritt, Mrs. W. K. McCaleb and Mrs. Lanford. Mrs. Jess McLarry is lieutenant and director, Miss Ruth Beggs is captain.

The girls attending the camp are Genevieve Hancock, Leon Bolin, Helen McPherson, Margaret Philips, Evelyn Carr, Lucile Criswell, Marian Proctor, Elizabeth Massier, Clara Massier, Clara Haines, Verdie Mae Williams, Ethel Harris, Lon Hamric, De Lois Graves, Jane Thompson, Annie Craig, Lula Knight, Clara Bodkins, Maurine Ward, Myrtle Lafferty and Fannie Evelyn.

Color Cut-Outs

The Trick Rider.

The girl who hung by her teeth went out of the ring, while some clowns did flip-flops. When she came back she was a lady bareback rider. She hopped on her pony's back and managed to stand up for almost a second, while the pony trotted around the ring. She couldn't do any other stunts, but the audience was satisfied, because she looked so pretty, dressed up like a regular barebacs rider in the circus.

Color the lady bareback rider's ruffled skirt pink and make her stockings pink to match. The hairband is pink also, with a little pom pom of pale green. The pom pom on her shoulder is green also.

Tomorrow you can cut out the pony for her to ride on.

Should a Delicate Girl Marry to Be Cared For?—Why Do Married People So Often Warn Single Girls Against Taking Fatal Step? —Can Dead Love Be Revived?

Dear Miss Dix—I am a girl twenty-three years of age, very much in love with a splendid man of twenty-eight, who wants to marry me. But I am delicate, and doctors warn me against marriage. Knowing this, my sweetheart insists on marrying me. He says he wants to care for me and work for me; that I spur him to higher things, and that my ideals make his life worth living. In every way this man shows the sincerity of his affection for me, and when I give him no hope he becomes morose, sad and almost desperate.

Of course, there is nothing that I desire so much as to marry him, but have I a right to chain such a man to a wife physically weak? I love him too well to be a burden to him.

UNHAPPY SWEETHEART

Answer: "Better fifty years of Europe than a cycle of Cathay." Better a year or two of perfect happiness with the man you love than a long lifetime of dreary, heart-broken spinsterhood. So marry your man, I say, and take your chances.

Besides, you never can tell about health. I have the utmost respect for the medical profession, but they are not infallible. I know a dozen persons in their seventies who were told by their doctors when they were in their twenties that they were doomed to an early grave. I know dozens of big, fat, middle-aged women who were such frail and fragile girls that no one expected them to live.

The real elixir of life is happiness. There is no such tonic as joy. Hope and interest and determination to live will work miracles, and unless you actually have some fatal disease there is no reason why you should not get well and strong if you accept the goods the gods present, and take intelligent care of yourself. When you make up your mind unalterably that you will get married, and you won't be an invalid, you are well on your way to recovery.

Nor need you be a burden on your husband. The reason that most sickly women are a drag on their families is because they let themselves get peevish, and whiney and complainy and spend their time telling their symptoms. Naturally, they make home a place of torment and everybody flees from them. But I recall one bedridden invalid who met her affliction with such courage, who was so brave and cheerful and serene and wise that her couch became a shrine to which her family and friends came for inspiration and comfort.

Women help men in many different ways, and just the fact that you are delicate and frail and have to be taken care of may bring out all that is best in your husband. And his desire to protect you and keep you safe may spur him on to achieve great things.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Dorothy Dix—I am engaged to be married. I am employed in a business house and am associated with business men, most of whom are married and have families. Will you please tell me why it is that these married men speak so discouragingly of married life, and almost raise their hands in horror when they learn that I am about to take the fatal step?

READER.

Answer: I suppose these gentlemen follow the example of Puck, whose advice to the man about to be married was, "Don't."

After you are married, Reader, you will find out that marriage is one of the things that you can neither do with nor without. Most persons who are married are unhappy, and virtually everybody who is unmarried is unhappy, so there you are.

Marriage being a human institution and dealing with imperfect human beings is necessarily a very imperfect institution. It is full of disillusions and drawbacks, of sacrifices, of aggravations, of nagging and slavery, of things that rasp the nerves and try the temper.

When the average husband and wife think of how much they have to endure from each other, of how much they have to give up for each other, of how much they are bored, of how monotonous domestic life is, and especially when they contemplate the freedom of the unattached, they think that any one is a fool who runs his or her head into the matrimonial noose and takes upon himself or herself the burdens and obligations of a family.

But let these very persons who have so railed at matrimony regain their liberty and they are miserable. They have got back all for which they have pined. There is nobody to nag them, nobody to call time on them. They can come and go as they please. They can spend their money on themselves. But also there is nobody to fuss over them, nobody to care whether they ever come home or not, nobody who has a vital interest in them, nobody to love them.

Virtually every widow and widower who can remarries. So don't take too seriously the advice of those who warn you against entering the holy estate. If their wives should die, they would be out hunting for No. 2 within a year.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—You said recently in this colum that love can be killed by indifference and coldness. If this has happened, can it be brought back to life and made as good as new?

ONE VITALLY INTERESTED.

Answer: No. You cannot make the heart beat again that has been stopped by death. You cannot bring back again life to a corpse. What is dead is dead. It is final.

A man may kill his wife's love by faithlessness and neglect. He may repent his wrong in bitterness and tears, and be willing to almost give his life to inspire in her again the devotion she once felt for him. The wife may yearn unspeakably to wipe out the memory of what has happened, and feel toward her husband as she did when she came to him a bride. But it cannot be. Love lies dead between them, and they have no magic by which they can conjure it into life again.

For love is not a thing of volition. We cannot rule our hearts. We cannot thrill to order. We cannot trust the one who has betrayed us. We cannot believe the lips that have lied to us. We cannot bring back the illusion that has been torn into shreds. We cannot regain the interest that we have once lost.

What it is in a certain individual that appeals to us we do not know; but when that allure is gone, it is gone forever.

You could as easily bring back the freshness to the trampled rosebud as you could fall in love again with the man or woman for whom you have ceased to care.

When love is dead, it is the deadest of all dead things. That is why we should be so careful to keep it alive

DOROTHY DIX.

RUN-DOWN WEAK, NERVOUS

Benefited by First Bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Lancaster, Pa.—"After I was married I became terribly run-down and was weak and nervous. My sister-in-law told me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My husband got me a bottle at once, and it did me so much good that I kept on taking it. I began to feel well and strong again and was able to do my housework up to the time my baby was born—a nice fat little girl in the best of health. I surely am recommending the Vegetable Compound to my friends when they have troubles like mine, and I am perfectly willing for you to use these facts as a testimonial."—Mrs. Frank H. Grimm, 533 Locust Street, Lancaster, Pa.

Women should heed such symptoms as pains, backache, nervousness, a run-down condition and irregularity, as they indicate some form of female trouble. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a dependable medicine for all these troubles. For sale by druggists everywhere.

Extra Supply Of Bonus Blanks Fail to Arrive

The new supply of adjusted compensation applications which were ordered from Dallas by Post Adjutant Claypool to be distributed to ex-service men here did not arrive yesterday.

They are expected today, Mr. Claypool said, but if they do not come no more applications will be available at his office. A supply of 200 was exhausted in two days, and the demand seems to be increasing, all races and conditions of men applying, from professional men who are getting the compensation "just because its coming to me" to prisoners in the county jail.

CHINA DECLARES LEGATION RIGHT

Maintains Diplomats Have No Say About Soviets.

PEKING, June 30.—A reply by the Chinese foreign office to the refusal of the diplomatic representatives of foreign powers in Peking to surrender the Russian legation except upon direct application by the Russian soviet government disputes the right of the diplomats to dictate and contends that the duration of their custody of the Russian legation depends on China's decision to restore relations with Russia. The repuly, issued today, asserts that the legation quarter, although it is placed under the control of the foreign diplomatic representatives by treaty, is still Chinese territory, and that the Russian legation, although situated in the legation quarter, is not subject to the control of the other powers.

The note declares that following the re-establishme o diplomatic relations between China and Russia, the Chinese government is the natural channel for arranging for turning over the legation property to the soviet representatives, arguing that the government is in a better position to know who is the authorized Russian agent and entitled to receive the custody of the legation than are the diplomats

Will Ask League of Nations For Naval Withdrawal.

Clarendon College Boosters Register 1000 Miles In Two Trips

PLAN TO MAKE THREE OTHERS

Advance Registration At College Is Record.

CLARENDON, Tex., June 30.—The Clarendon College Booster club which has been delegated by the Clarendon chamber to do publicity work in interest of the college returned Saturday after a 400-mile tour. The trip completed is the second round made by the band this summer and brought the total mileage traversed by the boosters up to a thousand.

The first trip included 12 towns in Texas and New Mexico. The second trip included ten villages and the Adobe Walls celebration. More than a thousand posters were stuck up in the different towns and several thousand pamplets descriptive of Clarendon college were handed out at the historical celebration on the Adobe battleground. Thus was the Panhandle's oldest college distinguished in the Panhandle's oldest settlement before the Panhandle's oldest people.

Three more Booster trips remain on schedule. Having adopted the slogan of "A thousand students for Clarendon college in the fall," the Clarendon chamber of commerce have gone to work to attain that goal. Secretary Burris states that there is little doubt but that this goal will be reached and says that advance registration for the fall term has already smashed all records.

KIWANIS HEAR OF BIG MEET

Delegates Tell Of Spirit Of Service Stressed There.

Informal reports of delegates to the Kiwani's international convention at Denver recently were heard at the local club's luncheon at the Kemp hotel dining room yesterday. The idea of service was stressed at the convention, according to the reports of all the delegates.

As one, Dr. Felix R. Collard, expressed himself, "The idea of the convention as expressed in all their actions and resolutions was that the Kiwanis club is not a luncheon club, but a service club, a service club for all the community."

Harding Monument.

The action of the convention in providing funds for the erection of a bronze monument at Vancouver, British Columbia, in honor of the late Warren G. Harding, was told of, and it was brought out that Mr. Harding was a charter member of the Marion, Ohio, Kiwanis club. Erection of the monument will be withheld until after the November elections so that any political party will not be able to use it for any ulterior purpose.

No Kiwaniettes.

The action of the convention in deciding against "Kiwaniettes," or any similar Kiwani organization for women was expounded to the club.

District Lieutenant Governor Kenneth Bobo called the attention of the club to the election of Sam Cummings of Dallas as international trustee, and told how the local delegation to the convention had been instrumental in putting the election over.

Other delegates making short talks were Walter Robbins, Homer Sanderford, Boyd Dooley, Frank Quiesser, Dave Shepherd, and Kenneth Bobo.

E. C. Huckabee led the club in a unique and entertaining sing-song, and a general spirit of pep and friendly quip toward one another made the meeting one of the most enjoyable that the club has had in a long time.

Musser, depending on his condition, may receive the call from Skipper Tanner today to climb the hillock and assume the tossing burden in the final Exporter-Spud tilt. Beaumont is one up on Wichita Falls, having garnered the first game of the series Sunday by a 3-1 compilation. Monday's embroglio was completely rained out, leaving the Skipper diamond similar in appearance to a Red River bottoms quick sand plot.

Rearing to Go.

It was announced by the local baseball management more than a week past that the deal had been put through with Wichita for the services of Musser, and that the spitballer would join the Spudders immediately. But Musser balked. Didn't show any desire to come to Texas. Negotiations were again opened Sunday. Musser himself was got in touch with and talked to. He finally came to the conclusion that a berth in the Lone Star circuit wouldn't be so bad, after all. So the veteran is now with the home clan and is rearing to disport himself at the expense of other Texas league nines.

Wright Passes.

Lefty Johnny Wright came back to the city yesterday, making way for the new arrival. The bringing of Musser to the Tannermen necessitated the cutting down of the throwing detachment of the organization. Up to late yesterday no disposal of Wright had been made. Whether or not Coloney Harvey, Spudder boss, will retain Wright for future use, sell him outright, or send him away with strings attached, is not known at present.

Last season with Wichita, Musser sallied forth in 39 contests. He capped 15 games and was defeated in 12 for a percentage of .556. He walked 117 batters and struck out 127, allowed 246 hits, 136 runs and twirled 240 innings all together. Musser hit eight batters.

'Twas No Ill Draft That Blew Burke Into Tigers' Camp

DETROIT, June 29.—Persons in most walks of life are warned to stay out of drafts. Baseball moguls, however, are not only immune to the danger therefrom but seldom miss one.

And from now on Detroit will grab the windiest place near the door whenever another draft is expected. For they drew Leslie Burke, now the sensation of the team, in one of these playful winds.

Burke was shining at second with the Richmond team in the Virginia league when the big league scouts were looking over new timber last season. The Tiger sleuths gave him the O. O. and reported him as a "comer." But two or three other big league agents sized him up the same way. So, when the annual draft lists were made up two or three clubs had filed a claim on Burke.

When the names were pulled out of the hat last fall Detroit drew Burke's ticket. This spring they sent him one—a railroad ticket.

Cobb was impressed with the possibilities the youngster showed when he appeared at the Augusta camp but did not figure him seriously in trying to dope out the Tiger infield situation. Burke was slated to develop on the bench for a season or so.

Ty is frank enough to admit now that he didn't know Bthtaruekmfcw that he didn't know that Burke could deliver the goods when he sent the lad in to replace Derrill Pratt at second.

"I didn't tell Burke that, however," says Cobb.

And, having seen the way Burke delivered over night Detroit fans are looking forward to the next baseball equinoctial storm. "It's an ill draft that blows nobody good," say they. "And the last draft certainly blew us something good."

Detroit got Leslie Burke as a "comer" and he delivered the goods as second baseman.

BLONDY CROSS

Lucky for those Exporters, Beaumont-Wichita Falls game was rained out yesterday. Spuds quite beligerent all of a sudden, are are out for real red blood. Reports out of the Shipper town Monday were to effect that entire Spud clan is reared back on hind feet and snarling.

Spudders still running high and dry in third place today. Would have been there even if Dallas had managed to slip under Houston yesterday instead of breaking even in double bill.

Bud's mad, awfully mad. The Spudder skipper, all ired up, talked to Club President Harvey over telephone from Beaumont yesterday, and Buddy was so peeved that he stuttered.

Yep, it was that affair Sunday which was lost to the Beaumonters, 3 to 1, a tough defeat for Frederick Fussell, who hurled a very good game. Declared Bud, the ousting of Coombs and Locker from the park during the early portion of the contest is what beat the Spudders.

According to Tanner, the Spudder pair was chased by the umps for absolutely nothing. And, said Bud, if these two had been there when needed in the pinch, the final tabulation of the embroglio would doubtless have been for different.

Five-year-old women strolled into the office yesterday; approached one reporter for a donation, but found him too hard boiled. She then cast her optics in the direction of a sorely pressed sport scribe, and advanced her plea a second time.

Becoming quite confused before feminine gaze, impecunious scribe queried "whaddaya want?" "All you have," quoth fair one. She got it—ten cents. Starting mighty young, but so like a woman, so like a woman.

Paul LaGrave, Fort Worth club secretary, proved the past week-end that his heart's in the right place. Believing that the Cat-Spudder series of July 5, 6 and 7 would have to be transferred because of the burning of the Spudder grandstand Sunday before last, LaGrave offered to play the series at Fort Worth with Wichita Falls taking the home club's end of the gate receipts just as if the series were being run off at Spudder park, while the Panthers would draw the visitin' club's percentage of the money.

LaGrave's offer proves that professional athletics are not always as mercenary as pictured, and that there is still a real sporting instinct connected with professional sports.

Legion boxers romped through their paces Monday in preparation for the Friday night exhibitions at fair stadium. The Denton-Rich 15-rounder is doned by the wise men to be the best glove battle of the year here.

The two fought a ten-session draw. Fifteen cantos should be a long enough route in which one could prove his supremacy over the other.

Permits Granted Three Gas Stations

The gasoline filling station business thrived at the city council Monday night, permits being for three new "drive-in" stations.

The Gulf Refining company applied for and received permission to erect a new station at Eighth and Brook street, directly across the street from the general hospital. A second permit was given to R. J. Yax for a station at 3120 Grant street, and the third went to J. R. Warren, who is to build one at 101 Broadway. This latter is just at northern end of the Burnett street river bridge.

The Gulf's new station at Eighth and Brook, it is understood, will be of ornamental design and will be one of the most attractive in the city when completed.

Biggest "Blowout" of Year at Muny Club Wednesday

SECOND MIXED GOLF TOURNEY OF 1924 SCHEDULED FOR AFTERNOON

Lawyer Members of Club to Put on Huge Program of Entertainment for Family Night

The biggest blowout ever staged at the Municipal Golf club.

That's the schedule for Wednesday afternoon and night, according to Charles Keirsey, president and local barrister.

The lawyers of the club are handling the affair. They compose quite a large entertainment committee, with Judge Cummings acting in the capacity of chairman.

The afternoon card calls for the second mixed two-ball foursome competitions of the year. Last week a similar tourney proved quite a success and great sport, according to the participants. Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Fisk captured first honors. Fisk will work up the matches for this week's play.

Sing, Dance and Orate.

There are 11 lawyers on the committee, and all 11 will take part some way in the entertaining, said Keirsey, either speech-making, singing or dancing. The list is as follows: Judge Cummings, Harry Bunnenberg, John Davenport, E. E. Fisher, W. E. George, J. A. Hankerson, Charles Keirsey, Tommy McMahon, Edgar Munn, Cedric Taylor and E. G. Thornton. In this group are a number of WON-derful songsters, and quite a few light-stepping dancers, it is said. And of course, it's not necessary to mention that some of the foremost speakers of the country are also included in the party; this has already been shown.

Barber Shop Quartet.

A barber shop quartet—principals not selected yet—will perform. And as a side attraction, R. R. Fisk by special request will warble either "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep," or "Sailor Beware," basso profundo, or words to that effect. He is to be accompanied on the ukelele by Mrs. Fisk.

Harry Bunnenberg, as one of the leading speakers, will give an address taking from several angles "My Slice."

The committee at present is working on the remainder of the program.

And said, Keirsey, "there'll be all we can eat at the party, too."

WIMBLEDON, June 30.—Mlle. The French girl won by the score of 6-2, 6-8, 6-4.

Watson M. Washburn, and R. Norris Williams, America, defeated G. W. Hillyard and D. M. Creig, England, 6-3-6-3,6-2.

Francis T. Hunter and Vincent Richards, America, defeated S. Okamoto and K. Hoohiye, Japan 6-4, 6-2, 7-5.

THREE FINES FOR BOOZE VIOLATIONS ASSESSED MONDAY

Three fines ranging from $25 to $250 were assessed by Federal Judge James R. Wilson Monday against defendants who entered pleas of guilty to charges of violating the national prohibition laws. All three were arraigned in court Monday morning when the special term opened.

A fine of $250 was assessed against George Reynolds charged with possession and manufacturing of choc beer. Previous good conduct and the fact that he was supporting an invalid sister and daughter prompted the court to assess a light penalty, he said.

Clarence McGowen, a negro, was fined $50 on a charge of possession of liquor and O. Champer was fined $25 on a similar charge.

Greatest Sport Event of Entire Year Pulled Off Here Monday

The biggest sport event of the year was staged Monday. If not the biggest of all sport events, it was the biggest in the boy world of Wichita Falls.

And it certainly became a heated contest when nearly half a hundred young busines men of this city were turned loose with one signal into the arena. 'Twas every man for himself, and also a pie for every man, for The Record News newsboys squared off in a free-for-all pie-eating contest, one of the features of a regular newsboys picnic held in the mailing room of the paper.

And a mad scramble it was, each contestant with hands tied behind him, tearing into his pie with eyes, ears, nose and mouth was nearly counted out. His pie went to the floor, so did he, winding up flat on his back, but still in the running.

Alfred Blakney captured first honors. Young C. P. Burgess came second, Joe Myers third and Clovis Biggs fourth. Each received a prize.

The list of the warring pie eaters was Johnnie Penn, Billy Robertson, C. P. Burgess, D. I. Docus, Todie Robertson, Joe Myers, Arlong Charles, Marvin Farris, Butch Lewis, Herbert Britton, Ed Maupier, Carl Smith, Alfred Blakley, Buster Long, Leonard Lewis, Jodell Farris, Dalton Carr, Thurston Scarbrough, Tass Hubbard, Aubrey Tarkington, Clovis Biggs, J. B. Blakney, Newton Tarkington, W. V. Aguinn, Bill Lewis, Guy Lewis, Harrell

Receiver Relinquishes Control of Red River Bed Disputed Lands

NEW OPERATION STARTS TODAY

Secretary of Interior Assumes Full Control Of Oil Properties.

The department of the interior of the United States government takes over the Red River bed disputed lands north of the Texas boundary this morning. Officials of the department have been here for several days getting things in readiness for their operation, and will this morning assume full control. H. B. Hill, deputy supervisor of the bureau of mines, department of the interior, with headquarters at Dallas, has been placed over the entire area, and has arranged for offices in the City National bank building, adjacent to the offices of Frederic A. Delano, retiring receiver. H. W. MacFarren, of Washington, mineral examiner for the bureau of mines will collaborate with Mr. Hill, spending part of his time here and part at Washington.

No Changes Contemplated.

No changes are contemplated either in the operating and directing personnel, the methods of operation or in the policies of the administration. As Mr. MacFarren expressed himself yesterday, "The only change that we hope anybody will notice is that payments will be made in checks on the United States treasury instead of by checks on the receiver as heretofore."

The department of the interior will operate a few wells south of the boundary line for the receiver, it was announced yesterday. It was made plain, however, that the operations of the bureau will have nothing to do with applications for leases and permits now before the department, which applications the department has promised to give their early consideration.

The policy of the government, it is understood, will be to place only experienced and practical oil men of the petroleum section of the bureau of mines at Washington in charge of the work in the field. Mr. Hill, who will have charge, will spend most of his time here, although his headquarters are in Dallas. Mr. Hill had supervisory charge of the government leases in the Salt creek field of Wyoming, before being transferred to the Dallas office. He has also had extensive experience in the California fields.

Mr. MacFarren, his asistant, has been identified with the leasing of government oil lands, both at Washington, and in the field, since the passage of the original leasing act.

Eventual Disposal.

The operation of the disputed territory by the department of the interior will continue until such time as the secretary of the interior shall be able to determine the rightful owner of the properties and dispose of them as he deems just.

The receiver's control, over the land south of the south bank of the river will end, when his accounts shall be finally approved and he is discharged by the supreme court of the United States when it again meets in October. Mr. Delano has stated that he believes all of his claims will be in order with the exception of those involved in counter claims by the last of August or the middle of September.

Atlantic Has But Two Rigs Working Now

The Atlantic Oil Producing company has shut down all of its rigs with the exception of two, these located on the Murray lease in the Roberts and Hill district on their No. 4, a north offset to the recently completed well of Cullum and associates on the Peeler land, and No. 1-A, a twin well to the No. 1. These tests are expected to be completed by the end of this week.

The entire lease is being developed in co-operation with the Electra Gulf company and Cap McDannald.

SUNSHINE STATE SETS CASING IN LIME IN TEST NE OF G-F POOL

The Sunshine State Oil and Refining company has set casing in the lime at about 1,570 feet on its test south of the Maxwell and Jones dry hole northeast of the Green-Flowers pool, J. M. Key land, block 58, Harris subdivision of the Club ranch, Archer county, and is equipping to drill in with cable tools.

SUPERIOR DRILLING DEEPER KINDER TEST

The Superior Oil corporation is drilling deeper in its test on the Kinder ranch, east of Archer City.

Following a test of the 1,290 foot sand in this well failed to make a producer, was drilled to 1,339 feet with a small bit. Casing was then pulled and the small hole reamed down. The well is now being drilled deeper.

CASING SET ON TEXHOMA BURNETT

The Texhoma Oil and Refining company has set casing on its No. 4, Burnett, section 5, SARMGHR survey, Wichita county, north offset to Maerkuntforth-Gwynn, No. 2, and expects to complete today.

LOCATION MADE FOR NORTH BAYLOR CO.

Baldwin, Taylor and McGregor have made a location on the F. Haggard Estate A, BBaCSRR survey, Baylor county, near the center of block 2, for a 3,000 foot test to be spudded in 30 days.

DEATH KY AL SHUT DOWN FOR REPAIRS

The Death Ky Al oil and gas well in the Ringgold district, which has been shut down for some time, is being equipped with a new boiler and other gas engine and will be put to work as soon as the repairs are completed, it was learned here today. The well has an output of 1,000 barrels daily.

Baylor Co. Activities Continue; Cranfill Drilling No. 2, Mills; Both Water and Oil in Mag Test

The semi-completion of the Magnolia's well on the Portwood land has revived interest somewhat in Baylor county activities, even though the well is still an experiment and not considered good for over eight barrels of water and oil a day from a sand at 1,429-32 feet. Cranfill is drilling to the southwest on his second test on the W. B. Mills land, having made about a six-barrel oil and water well from his No. 1 to the north before ruining it in an attempt to shut out the water. It is considered probable that the Magnolia will drill their test deeper if it cannot be made to show better than it is doing at present.

Staley and Ramming have completed their test in the southeast corner of 3,150, TE&LCO survey, and have abandoned the location, total depth being given at 1,840 feet.

The Independent Oil and Gas company is drilling with a standard rig at 1,130 feet east of Seymour after encountering and testing a salt water sand at about 1,000 feet.

On the Wallace ranch, block 7, HT &BRR survey, Bower et al spudded with a rotary Friday and are drilling.

In the southeast corner of 241, Shawver and others have spudded.

Moore et al are shut down at 290 feet on the Fancher land, block 19, HaTCRR survey.

Holmes and Crittendon are drilling east of Seymour on the J. B. Coffee land.

RICHLAND HAS NEW BIG WELL

Godley Oil Co. Gets Latest Large Producer In Fast Growing Pool.

The Godley Oil company has completed its No. 5 well on its triangular plot in the heart of the new Richland pool, Navarro county, and the well is showing for about the best producer in the district, flowing natural 1,400 barrels Saturday and having improved at a rate of 200 barrels daily since it was drilled in Thursday.

Saturday, with three of its five wells on the pump and flowing the production of the Godley company from its approximately 20-acre lease here was 2,240 barrels by actual gauge. This company has two other wells being drilled on this plot, their No's. 6 and 7, No. 6 being below 2,000 feet and getting close to sand and No. 7 drilling around 700 feet.

The Simms No. 1, south of this company's recently completed 800-barrel No. 3, has had the plug drilled out and has a hole full of oil with actual completion due today or tomorrow.

Oil Personals

G. B. Ray of the Ray-Featherstone Oil company has returned from a two weeks' trip to New Jersey and other points in the east.

C. H. Featherstone is leaving today for a ten days' stay in Colorado with his family who have been there for some time.

Harry B. Hines has returned to Wichita Falls after an extended stay in New York and other points in the east for the last month or more.

Evangelist Tells Of Prophecies

"Unbelief in the Old Testament prophecies caused the Jewish nation to reject Christ at His first advent, and a like failure now to believe those prophecies will find the world unprepared for His second advent," declared Evangelist Roy L. Benton last night at the big tabernacle on Tenth and Denver streets. In a sermon based on the eighth chapter of Daniel, especially the fourteenth verse, which reads, "Unto two thousand and three hundred days, then shall the sanctuary be cleansed," Mr. Benton affirmed that the prophecy set the exact date of the appearance o.fthe Messiah, and that it coincides exactly with the Bible and historic account of the appearance of Jesus at His annointing and baptism.

Speaking of this particular time prophecy, Mr. Benton said, "Here is a period of time in which days are used as symbols of years, so it covers the longest stretch of time of any prophecy in the Bible."

Shown Daniel.

"Daniel was shown that the beginning of this time period was to be co-existant with the decree of the king of Persia which authorized the rebuilding of Jerusalem. This happened B. C. 457, and then Daniel was told that 70 weeks, or 490 days (years) of it was to be determined for the Jewish people and city. In this time they were to prove their acceptance or rejection of God by their attitude toward His Son from heaven.

Prophecy Fulfilled.

"This prophecy sets forth a certain time called a week which would be seven days (years) and it says that in the midst of this week the sacrifices and oblations would cease. This happened exactly as foretold by the crucifixion of Christ the great sacrifice, to whom all other sacrifices had pointed, and He was crucified just three and one half years after His baptism and annointing, or in the midst of the week."

Tuesday night the topic will be "The Time of the Judgment."

START ERECTION OF VERNON GIN

WHITHAM GETS BROADWAY BID

To Pave Street From River To Iowa Park Road.

The bid of L. E. Whitman and company, $8 lower than that of his nearest competitor, was accepted Monday by the county commissioners court when bids were opened for the paving of North Broadway from the river to the Iowa Park-Electra road. Whitham's bid was $24,120. Three other bids, the highest of which was $25,160, were submitted.

Work on the paving will start at once, it is understood, giving prospects that the new route from the city to the Electra road may be completed before the summer is over. The city is now paving Burnett street from Eighth to the river and the North Broadway project will be a continuation of this.

When completed the route will save the drive through North Wichita, which is now the only one affording a pavement to the Electra road.

MASKAT STUNT GOES OVER BIG

Returning Delegates to San Antonio Dedication Say.

The "stunt" put on by Walter Cline, Maskat director and Claude Williamson, which won the $250 prize at the National Shrine director's meeting at Oklahoma City in February, went over fine at the dedication of the $1,500,000 temple at San Antonio, according to representatives of Maskat temple who returned here late Sunday.

The Maskat delegation took a prominent part in the ceremonial at which 493 novices were taken into the Elzafar Shrine. This is the largest class taken into a Texas temple since the army classes during the war, it is said.

Imperial Representatives.

The representatives from the ten temples of Texas took their places in the Imperial party as soon as they arrived. James Chandler, of Kansas City, imperial potentate, and Frank Jones of Houston, imperial high priest and prophet, were among the prominent Shriners and masons present.

Walter Cline was the only Texas representative who holds a place on an imperial committee. He is a member of the charters and dispensations committee of the Imperial council. The only other Texan to hold the imperial position is Frank Jones, Houston.

Potentates Take Parts

During the ceremony the potentates of the ten Texas temples took stations and took parts. This is unque and it is believed that this has never been done before in Texas.

The parade was described as wonderful. Floats were magnificent and the visitors and Alzafar Shriners took part in the affair.

Ceremonials were held in the auditorium of the great temple which seats 4,500. The roof of the auditorium was so arranged that the moon in its proper quarter and the stars are shown above. The new temple is said to have the best lighting system in Texas.

DEMURRER FILED IN CLARA CASE

Suit Against School Bond Alleged To Be Indefinite.

A general demurrer to the plaintiff's original petition was filed Monday by County Attorney E. L. Fulton, contestee, against Jim Snoddy and others, contestants in the $50,000 Clara school bond issue which is being attacked in the courts. The petition asking that the election be voided on grounds of illegality was filed last week. The $50,000 bond issue was voted a week ago Saturday.

In excepting to the plaintiff's petition, the defendant sets forth that the original pleadings are too indefinite. This is contended in regard to the provisions stating that officers holding the election were not properly qualified, that the polls were not held open during the required time, that a large number of women voted illegally and that other women were refused the right to vote.

Because of the alleged indefiniteness, it is asked that the plaintiffs recover nothing in their suit to void the issue.

NEW YORK, June 30.—The upward movement of stock prices today entered upon its fourth week. Trading was in reduced volume owing to the disposition of many large traders to restrict their commitments pending the selection of the democratic presidential nominee. Flurries of profit taking failed to halt the rising trend, which was most pronounced in equipment, chain stores and industrial specialty issues.

Woolworth was again the individual feature, soaring 8 1-2 points to a new record high at 120 1-2. Kress department stores touched a new high at 61 1-4.

American Can led the so-called pivotal stocks with a gain of 3 5-8 points at 115 1-4. U. S. steel again touched par and then eased to 99 1-2, up 1-4. Baldwin and Studebaker each closed 5-8 higher.

The return of criminal indictments against some of the principals in the naval oil lease investigation failed to have any appreciable effect on the oil shares which held steady on reports that the producers had taken steps to limit the output. Stocks of the Pan American and Sinclair companies, the bends of which were indicted, showed only small fractional changes.

Rail shares were practically neglected, most of the principal carriers showing only nominal changes.

Rising Water At Scout Camp Is Action Signal

The Scouts who returned from camp last weke reported that a threatened catastrophe was averted by quick work when the water running into the swimming hole was turned off when the level was only a few inches below the crest of the earth embankment which serves as a dam for the pool.

Camp officials put in a long distance appeal for aid when the water reached nine feet in the pool where the safety mark is eight.

The irrigation engineers informed the campers that they could cut off the water themselves without the aid of a man from town, and all was well.

CHARGE THREE WITH LIQUOR POSSESSION

Charges of possession of intoxicating liquor were filed Monday against O. O. Rutledge, L. E. Karnes and S. W. Darnell, following their arrest by members of the sheriff's department. A quantity of whiskey was found in their possession, it is said.

The men were arranged before U. S. Commissioner Lantz and their bearing is for 9 o'clock Tuesday morning. Rutledge waived his hearing and

MONEY At Work

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments

A man's wages are not measured in money. They are payment in the form of goods; food, clothing, shelter and luxuries.

Most men believe they work for money. They measure their job in terms of the money it pays them.

That money is spent for food, clothing shelter or luxuries. In the last analysis they are working for goods, not money.

A man's wages might be doubled, yet if his cost of living doubled too he would be no better off than before, so his real wages remain the same.

Real wages are not the amount of money a man finds in his pay envelope. They are whatever he can buy with that money.

NEW YORK, June 30.—Early declines in today's cotton market were followed by rallies on renewed covering by July shorts. Later months, influenced by favorable crop advices, were relatively easy. July sold up from 28.22 to 29.22 and closed at 29.20.

After rallying from 24.70 to 25.02, October eased off again closing at 24.83. The general market closed steady at an advance of 17 points on July but generally 7 to 25 points lower.

NEW ORLEANS, June 30.—The cotton market was a narrow affair today trading being mainly restricted to evening-up in advance of the government report on condition and acreage due Wednesday. July developed a firmer tone after an opening decline of 15 points to 27.25, and advanced to 27.78 or 53 points up from the low. There was little interest in the near month, last sales showing a slight net gain. October in the early part of the morning showed losses of 27 to 29 points from Saturday's close, and later rallied to 24.20 and 23.90 and 23.97, respectively, or 27 points up from the low, but did not hold the gain. The close showed a net gain for the day of 8 points on July and net losses of 10 to 12 points on new crop months.

NEW WATER LINE VOTED FOR CITY

$42,000 Improvement To Answer All Demands Here.

A $42,000 improvement consisting of a new 20-inch supply main to extend from the pumping station to existing mains at Broad and Seventh streets, was authorized Monday night by the city council as a means of stopping kicks against low pressure in the city water lines. It is the belief of officials that the new line will give sufficient additional pressure to care for all demands the city can make, even in the hottest weather.

To Add Capacity.

The main will start at the water plant south of the city, run west on Chester street to Bluff, north on Bluff to Fourteenth, west on Fourteenth to Broad and north on Broad to Seventh. It will not take the place of any existing main but will simply add another outlet from the pumping station. In traversing this area, it will connect with 12 existing lines that radiate to all sections of the city and thus the water supply in the various additions will be increased.

Enough Water Power.

It is not because the city lacks water or the pumps to lift it that pressure in the mains is low during these hot nights. Rather, it is because existing lines are not large enough to carry the full force the pumps can develop. Hence, in the outlying sections, pressure drops to low levels when drains are opened all along the line.

With thousands of gallons a minute flooding into the system through the 20-inch main, an ample water supply will be available everywhere, it is said.

The proposed improvement will cost in the neighborhood of $42,000, F. N. Lawton, superintendent of the water department has estimated. Work will start within the next 30 days.

City Asked to Join Congratulations To Coolidge on Birthday, July Fourth

A request that Wichita Falls join with other parts of the country in congratulating President Coolidge next Friday, July 4, his birthday, has been received by Mayor Collier from Ralph W. Bickel, president of the "Coolidge 4th of July club." The request came in the form of a letter from the organization's headquarters in New York.

The fact that the president of the United States was born on the anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence is commented on as being unique in history. It is also suggested that perhaps a similar situation may never exist again in the history of the republic.

For this reason, it is asked that letters or telegrams of congratulation be sent the chief executive on his birthday.

TAX RAISE IS DRAWING KICKS

Near 200 Property Owners Protest Monday; Few Results.

Advance predictions on the city tax board of equalization panned out well Monday when the first hearing of the equalizers brought down nearly 200 tax payers protesting against raises made in their property valuations. The city council meeting room where the hearings are being held was crowded throughout the day.

Monday was the first day of the hearings, which wall be continued throughout the week.

In several instances, small reductions were made when kicks were lodged yesterday with the board, but the large majority of those entering protests failed to obtain a reduction.

Chief Hodgins Receives Chest Of Silverware

Chief of Police George H. Hodgins wore an expansive grin on his Irish mug Monday when he got out from a quiet, impromptu meeting into which he was called by members of his department. And a little later, when his wife appeared at the station, she was beaming as widely as was her lesser half.

It was all brought about through presentation to Chief and Mrs. Hodgins of a handsome chest of Rodgers Brothers silver, a gift from the various cops to their popular leader and his wife.

Just what the occasion was remains something of a mystery, but as the chief explained it, he's been married "so many years next month." That was as much as he would reveal.

His license number was furnished officers, however, and it was believed that he would be apprehended.

NEW CO. HOME AGENT ARRIVES

Miss Ethel Louis Webb Of Stephenville Succeeds Miss Lansford.

Miss Ethel Louise Webb, a graduate of C. I. A., Denton, class of 1924, has been appointed county home demonstration agent to succeed Miss Georgia Lansford, whose resignation was accepted Monday by the county commissioners court. An impending event of importance with wedding bells playing the principal part prompted Miss Lansford's resignation.

Miss Webb arrived in the city Monday and was presented to the commissioners by Miss Lansford. Her appointment as Wichita county agent had already been made by Miss Mamie Lee Hayden, district agent, but she was introduced to the court and officially welcomed into the county fold. The retiring agent and her successor spent the day Monday going over the situation locally. Miss Webb indicated that she intended following out the policies of her predecessor and that her work would be patterned along the lines laid down by Miss Lansford.

Miss Webb's home is in Stephenville, Texas.
