Bill Oglesby Victim of Sudden Heart Attack

The entire community was shocked and saddened last Friday night when it learned of the sudden and untimely death of Bill Oglesby, 38, lifelong resident of the county, veteran and father of four young sons. His fatal heart attack occurred suddenly while he was at work at Northern Natural Gas Co., plant between 6:30 and 7:00 p. m., Friday evening. His wife and children were on the company grounds at the time, preparing a picnic supper with another family. He had been hospitalized and treated for a heart condition about 8 months ago.

Funeral services were held at 10:00 a. m., Monday, April 15th at the Presbyterian Church conducted by the pastor, Rev Dan Sebesta. Interment was made in the Eldorado cemetery. Pallbearers were A. G. McCormack, Bob McWhorter, S. E. Jones, Jr., Bob Barber, Donald Royster, Bill Rozean, Larry Rittenhouse and Dwight Wiedemann.

William Henry Oglesby was born in Schleicher county Nov. 19, 1924, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Oglesby. He attended the Eldorado elementary and high school, graduating in 1942. Active in athletics, he played basketball and football during high school, and in his senior year was high-point man in basketball.

Following high school graduation he entered military service and was stationed at Fort Sill, Okla., for three years where he attained the rank of sergeant. Returning home, he attended school at Schreiner Institute and A & M. In September 1950 he was recalled into the military service and stationed at Fort Hood; then transferred in December to Aberdeen Proving Ground in Maryland. He received his discharge in August 1951.

On December 26, 1950, while still in service, he was married to Jessie Mae Henderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Henderson of Eldorado. Following his discharge the couple returned to Eldorado to make their home and Bill went to work with Cooper Gas Co., where he remained until 1957 when he was employed by Northern Natural.

Survivors include his wife, and four sons: William Henry, Jr., age

11, John Michael, 10, Thomas Holland, 7, and Richard Earl, 5 years. Also his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Oglesby of Eldorado; and one brother, Bob Oglesby of Eldorado, and one sister, Mrs. Lucile Lovelace of Brownwood.

In addition to services at the Presbyterian Church, a memorial service was held at St. Mary's Episcopal Church in Eldorado at noon Monday.

A hard-working and conscientious young man, Bill was respected by all who knew him, and the Success joins with his host of friends in extending condolences to his bereaved family.

A number of people have remarked about the excellent prospects for a fruit crop. It is a rare thing for fruit blossoms to come out and escape a killing freeze here on our plateau.

One person went so far as to say that this was the most perfect spring weather we'd ever had. Easter has come and gone and still no freezes—some give that as a sign that we are safely past the danger point.

Hope so.
And flowers!
Did you ever see such a gorgeous display of bluebonnets along the highways?

The most elaborate we've seen are on the bar-ditches south of here. Even if you don't have any business to take you down to the county line, it would be worth our while just to drive down and see the display.

Detours Coming Up On Menard Road

The Highway Department has requested this paper to remind local drivers that a 7-mile road job is getting under way this week between here and Menard. There will be detours and slow signs and other inconveniences for motorists and department personnel are asking drivers to bear with them for the next few months until the job is completed—probably in September.

G. L. Rogers, district highway engineer from Junction, was here Tuesday with a group of contractors and highway patrolmen and they held a meeting with County Judge Bearce in which he explained some of the features of the project. It involves seven miles of improvement on Hwy. 29—four miles in Menard county and three in Schleicher. The road will be widened and rebuilt to state highway specifications. A number of new culverts will be built. Ferris Bros. of Seymour are the contractors. During construction the 7-mile strip will be zoned for 45 MPH traffic.

The same type of rebuilding and improvement is in the works all the way in to Eldorado, and will be carried out later under direction of Robert McCulloch, district engineer of Sonora. In the meantime travelers taking that route are requested to "take it easy" over those seven miles.

Tourism Conference Tomorrow In Angelo

General Telephone Co. of the Southwest is sponsoring a conference on tourism tomorrow in San Angelo and civic leaders from area towns have been invited to attend.

Pointing out that tourism is an industry, and that if a community can attract 24 tourists a day throughout the year it is economically comparable to acquiring a new manufacturing industry with an annual payroll of $100,000, John E. Robbins, division manager of General Telephone, invited community leaders to try to attend if possible.

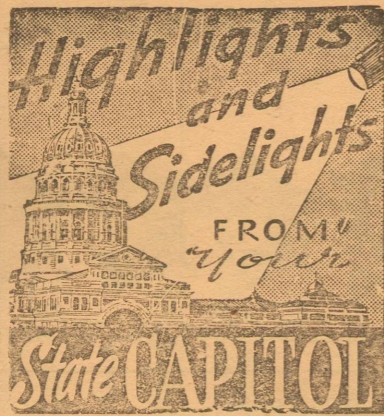

Speakers at this second annual conference on economic development include Frank Hildebrand, chief of travel promotion for the Texas Highway Department, and James A. Covell, economic development representative for General Telephone Company.

How small communities can fit into the new state-wide industrial development program will be included in Mr. Covell's talk. In fact, the entire conference will be geared to programs which are feasible for communities under 3,500.

It will begin at 9:00 a.m., Friday, April 19, with coffee and conversation at the Town House Motor Hotel. Guests will be served a luncheon and the conference will close by 2:00 p.m.

C. N. Shaw and Lum Burk plan to attend. Also invited were Mayor Eldon Calk, Fred Gunstead, Bill Gunstead, Ed Meador, Ed Hill, Jo Ed Hill, Paul Page, J. D. Huckaby, Carroll Ratliff, Tom Ratliff, Clarence Fish.

Mr. and Mrs. James Williams and Keith made a trip through East Texas to the coast during the Easter holidays. They went to Palestine where they saw the Dogwood Trail, then went to Houston where they visited their daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Wiegand, and Mr. and Mrs. Clair Morris Davis and new son. They spent a day fishing in the Gulf before returning home late Monday.

Austin.—Scandal has struck again in Texas. This time on the Railroad Commission.

Revelation by the Dallas Morning News that Commissioner William J. Murray had grossed some $285,000 from oil investments in earnings from a Throckmorton County lease caused the commissioner to resign his post.

Question was a matter of ethics... whether or not it was proper for a public official to make investments in an industry over which he exercised control, in whole or in part.

Murray's answer was that he grew up in the oil fields, was educated in petroleum engineering and it was the only business in which he had any practical experience.

He admitted his investments and pointed out that they were a matter of record, in his own name, and he had nothing to hide. He stated that he resigned his post as a commission member because he felt that "harmful publicity" might lessen his effectiveness.

Murray hinted that the investigation into his past investments was prompted by his refusal to call off the East Texas slant-hole, well-drilling investigations, in which he played an active part.

Murray's attorney, Les Procter, submitted the former RR commissioner's personal financial records to Travis county District Attorney Tom Blackwell for checking. They are being examined by Blackwell, Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr and State Auditor C. H. Cavness.

State law provides for removal from office of any public official violating the Code of Ethics. Since Murray resigned that question now has become moot. All that remains is the matter of determining whether any civil or criminal statute has been violated.

Procter says none has been.

Resignation Accepted
Gov. John Connally accepted Murray's resignation with the comment that "It is regrettable for all of Texas that documented facts made public within the past few days indicated a question of propriety of legality of his outside business transactions in view of his position of authority on the commission."

"Public officials have a sacred public trust. It is imperative to continued confidence in our form of government that their conduct in office be beyond a shadow of a doubt. Anything else undermines the confidence of the people in responsibility and integrity in government."

Investigation Proposed
In the House of Representatives, Rep. George Hinson of Mineola introduced a resolution asking for a thorough study of the sweeping powers of the Railroad Commission by the Texas Legislative Council.

Resolution received prompt committee approval and was sent immediately to the House floor.

Rep. Bob Eckhardt of Houston gained permission of the House to introduce a bill to tighten regulations prohibiting public officials from participating in any private enterprises which might be in conflict with their public duty.

Eckhardt said his bill would amend the Code of Ethics and clarify it. It also would include a section providing that no public official or member of the Legislature could appear before any state board or commission where the office-holder had private interests that might be affected by the agency's action.

House Probers
House State Affairs Committee recommended adoption of a resolution by Rep. Rufus Kilpatrick of Beaumont that would establish a general investigating committee. Normally one acts only between sessions of the Legislature.

Rep. Ben Jarvis of Tyler said Speaker Byron Tunnell is interested in fast action on the Kilpatrick resolution, which would give the investigating committee broad authority.

Rep. Horace Houston, Republican member from Dallas, opposed the resolution and asked for a postponement to study it. He said he once served on such a committee, and "no good has come from general committee investigations." Later Houston changed this statement and agreed that investigating committees do "throw a white light into some dark shadows."

Appropriations

A record $3.1 billion spending program—the general appropriation for the next biennium—went to a conference committee following rejection by the House of Senate amendments.

Motion not to concur in Senate changes was made by Rep. W. S. Heatley of Paducah, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee.

More Taxes

Some $43 million in additional revenue would be gained during the next two years by adoption of a House Revenue and Taxation Committee substitute for House Bill 106.

Rep. R. H. Cory of Victoria, chairman of the subcommittee that revised the proposed tax law to comply with Governor Connally's program, said the bill as now drawn would incorporate a one-year extension of the state franchise tax to April 30, 1965. This would net the state $11,200,000. Repeal of the exemption of outer clothing under $10 would get $20,400,000. Bringing motor vehicles under the sales tax would provide $6,100,000. Other minor changes would round up additional millions.

Lending

All Texans were invited to appear and testify about the so-called "loan shark" legislation.

Enough Texans accepted to make it a three-hour session with the House Banks and Banking Committee. There were two major points of disagreement. One—the insurance provisions of Senate Bill 15 (passed by the Senate). And two—the maximum loan to be made for a company to fall under the act, and thus be allowed to charge more than 100% interest.

Witnesses representing the insurance companies generally protested that the new commissioner, to be called for under the act, would have too much power, especially over rates.

On the maximum loan proposition, opinions vary widely. Bill specifies $1,500. Some witnesses would like to lower it to $300. Others thought it should be raised to $3,000 or more.

Women's Rights

Legislation to provide equal rights for women is in this status: Senate Joint Resolution No. 2, which is what the women want, has passed the Senate. It was heard by the House Constitutional Amendments Committee and sent to a subcommittee.

If the resolution gets through the Legislature, it will have cleared perhaps its biggest hurdle. Next step calls for passage of a constitutional amendment, by vote of the people. Amendments usually receive public approval.

However, even after that, all questions of women's rights would not be defined. A good bit of legislation still would be required.

Former Attorney General Will Wilson, in testimony before the House committee, said that if the amendment is passed, "The Legislature will have its work cut out for it in the next session."

Short, Short Snorts

House has passed a bill to force most state agencies to sell their "executive-type" airplanes. Bill now goes to the Senate.

Biggest crowd of the legislative session came to a session of the House Game and Fish Committee, which lasted five hours. The proposition: to close all Gulf Coast days to netting. Result: subcommittee.

Another measure affecting the Gulf Coast was a bill introduced by Rep. Leroy Wieting of Portland, setting in motion a "pilot program" of regulation by the Texas Game and Fish Commission over wildlife resources in Aransas county. It might have far-reaching effects, giving the commission authority to fix seasons on game birds, game animals and fresh and salt water fish and shellfish, excluding shrimp.

Visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Phillips for the Easter holidays were their children John Phillips and son Douglas from Hobbs, N. Mex., Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Phillips and children Bill and Glenna from Cheyenne Wells, Colorado; Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Barbee and daughter Deborah Ann from Brady; Mr. and Mrs. Herman Phillips from College Station; Mr. and Mrs. Dalton Robbins from Buffalo Gap, Texas. Also Mrs. Phillips' sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Hare of San Angelo.

And did you know that thousands of other products besides your electric blanket, lamps, toaster, and coffee maker pass rigid tests to earn the UL label — things such as gypsum wallboard, glass bricks, concrete blocks, and some asphalt shingles.

If you're shopping for a new roof or buying a house, look or ask for shingles with the UL label — it means they've passed strict laboratory tests and been checked during production to assure "reasonable satisfaction" with performance as well as safety.

Aggies To Muster Saturday, April 20

Former students of Texas A&M College who live in the San Angelo area will hold their annual Muster Day celebration Saturday, April 20. The American Legion club on Lake Nasworthy near San Angelo has been leased for the occasion. A barbecued beef dinner will be served Aggies and their guest at 7:00 p.m., but many are expected to arrive earlier for more time to visit old buddies.

This year marks the 60th anniversary of traditional Mustering together of Texas A&M men to pay respects to former students who have passed on and to those Texans who lost their lives in the Battle of San Jacinto, liberating Texas 127 years ago.

This annual Muster Celebration is one of the oldest and greatest traditions to be found among American colleges and universities. The West Texas A&M Club Muster will coincide with over 500 gatherings of A&M men all over the world.

Tips For Claiming First S. S. Check

Floyd B. Ellington, social security district manager in San Angelo, offered a few tips today on how to get your first social security check when it is due.

If you are nearing retirement, Ellington suggests that you get in touch with your social security office, and take some proof of your age with you. Have a member of his staff examine whatever proof you may have to see if it will be acceptable when you do retire.

Should you need better evidence of your date of birth, you will be given information to help you get that additional evidence.

If you are within three months of retirement age, the social security office can take your application for benefits now. Go to the social security office and take with you proof of your age and your social security card of course.

Ellington said that even though you are still working and are 65 years old, you can apply at any time. Many people think that you have to retire completely to get any benefits. This is not true, Ellington said.

Eldorado, Texas

Two of Texas' oldest towns will hold open house later this month and show off old homes with antique furnishings, family heirlooms and historical documents, many of which have a Civil War association appropriate to the observance of the Civil War centennial.

The two are Anderson, county seat of Grimes County whose annual "Texas Trek" will be held on April 21, and Jefferson, county seat of Marion county, where the traditional "Jefferson Historical Pilgrimage" will be held April 26, 27 and 28.

The three-day Jefferson event, sponsored by the Jesse Allen Wise Garden club which has done so much to preserve the town's historical landmarks, will feature a Queen May ball commemorating the Civil War centennial, several old homes of Civil War vintage will be open, and a street parade Saturday afternoon, April 27, will feature floats of the period.

Jefferson, which claims to be the fifth oldest town in Texas, was an important shipping point during the Civil War when river steamboats came up Big Cypress Bayou from New Orleans and other points. The town had a meat cannery, a boat factory, a shoe factory, and iron smelters which supplied goods to the Confederate Army. The Kelly Plow Works, founded in Jefferson in 1850, made cannonballs and plowshares during the War and later moved to Longview to locate on the railroad that by-passed Jefferson after the town refused Jay Gould's offer to bring his line through the town.

The refusal of a railroad in favor of the steamboats almost cost Jefferson its life, for it soon began to lose population when Big Cypress Bayou became unavailable. Much of the credit for putting the old town back on the map belongs to the ladies of the Jessie Allen Wise Garden Club who have restored the century old Excelsior House, reclaimed old homes, organized a museum and brought to town the private railroad car of Jay Gould, the railroad tycoon.

Jefferson is high on the list for markers being erected by the state and the story of Marion county and the Civil War will be told on a marker to be set up in the near future in the downtown section.

Another marker the state will erect in the near future will be a grave marker for Brigadier General Richard Waterhouse who is buried in the Oakwood Cemetery at Jefferson. General Waterhouse, a native of Tennessee, was a Colonel in the 19th Texas Infantry and was commended for gallantry at Milliken's Bend during the Vicksburg Campaign. He fought at Mansfield and Pleasant Hill during the Red River campaign.

The annual "Texas Trek" at Anderson, started only a few years ago as a homecoming celebration, has become one of the finest historical pilgrimages in the state. The town was once one of the most important in Texas and many of its men fought in the Civil War. Their homes are still intact and several of them have been restored by descendants of the original owners. Historical documents are brought from their places of safekeeping to be displayed each April and many of them contain references to Civil War personalities, events and happenings on the home front.

Although not as pretentious as the homes at Jefferson, these early Anderson homes are sturdy and well-built examples of early-day architecture. Some of them date back to the days of the Texas Revolution.

Historical pageants and pilgrimages such as these do a great deal more than we give them credit for in preserving and perpetuating the Civil War heritage of Texas.

TOTAL PERFORMANCE:

FORD GALAXIE 500/XL SPORTS HARDTOP

YOU'LL KNOW WHY SHE DOESN'T FEEL THE BUMPS...WHEN YOU TEST-DRIVE FORD'S NEW $10,000,000 RIDE

The 1963 Ford gives you a ride every bit as smooth as cars costing hundreds more, and for two reasons: a revolutionary new suspension system . . . and added road-hugging weight.

It took ten million dollars to develop the new Ford ride. We designed a revolutionary new suspension system for the '63 Ford. Where ordinary suspensions move only up and down to absorb road shock, the Ford suspension moves backward as well. In this double-action suspension system, coil springs up front and leaf springs in the rear combine to give you firmness in cornering and a special smoothness over the road.

We added weight, strength and stability. The new Ford is now actually hundreds of pounds more car than any other car in its class. This remarkable weight advantage is in the suspension, frame, and body. And, as you know, this added weight means a more stable ride.

But a solid, road-smoothing ride is only part of Ford's total performance story for 1963. Look how Ford swept the field this year in the grueling Daytona, Riverside and Atlanta 500's and in the demanding Pure Oil Performance Trials. Only a car with total performance—the best combination of strength, balance, precision control, braking power and road-clinging suspension—could roll up so many wins.

Before you buy any new car, test-drive a Super Torque Ford. If you haven't driven one lately, you can't really know what a new Ford is like. Make this important discovery—if it's built by Ford, it's built for performance . . . total performance.

Babies Frequent Car Accident Victims

Babies under the age of one year were killed more frequently last year in automobile accidents than almost any other age of passengers, it was revealed today by an analysis of 1962 statistics by the Department of Public Safety. The DPS reported that the only age to exceed the infants in number of deaths resulting from automobile accidents were 19-year-old passengers.

In 1962, the Department said, a total of 44 babies under the age of one year were killed in car crashes, as compared to 48 19-year-old non-driving passengers. These two categories make up over 10% of the total number of persons killed as passengers, with the infants accounting for almost five per cent of the overall total.

The study also revealed that 109 or 12 1/2% of the total number of passengers killed during 1962 were of pre-school age.

Col. Homer Garrison Jr., DPS director, said: "These statistics should be brought to the attention of every mother and father, since they point up a most tragic aspect of the frightening toll of human life on our streets and highways which has not heretofore been noticed. The need for extra precautions to protect little children in automobiles is obvious."

The analysis of the 1962 traffic situation by DPS Statistical Services brought to light these additional facts: The 2,421 motorcides were 107 or five per cent more than in 1961. Motor vehicles traveled 94,907 miles each minute during the year, for a total of almost 50 billion miles.

The death rate increased from 4.8 deaths per hundred million miles in 1961—the lowest in history—to 4.9 in 1962.

June was the deadliest month since November 1956. There were 258 motorcides in each of those months. Friday, June 1, took the greatest toll of any single day in the year with 22 fatalities.

Tuesday, October 16, was the only day during the year in which there were no fatal accidents.

During 1962 there were five accidents that killed seven persons each and three accidents that killed six each. In these eight accidents there were 53 deaths.

On an average in Texas traffic during 1962, a person was killed every three hours and 37 minutes, a person was injured every three and one-half minutes and an accident occurred every 87 seconds.

The economic loss from traffic accidents in Texas is estimated to be $738 per minute.

Garrison pointed out that it is significant that in every single fatal accident in which more than one vehicle was involved there were one or more violations of Texas traffic laws. In the one-car accidents there were only 10% of the total accidents in which no traffic violation occurred.

Driving too fast for conditions led the list of violations contributing to accidents, being listed as a causative factor in 51% of the fatal accidents. Driving while drinking figured in 37% of the fatal crashes, while being on the wrong side of the road was present in 17%.

TCU Ranch Training Class Visit In County

John Merrill and his ranch training class from Texas Christian University of Fort Worth, made a literal grass roots inspection trip into Schleicher county the first part of the week. On Monday afternoon the Jess Koy ranch was host to the class of 18 young men. As is usually true, the Koy quarter horses caught the eye of every boy and the Angus cattle and Rambouillet sheep came in for second looks. Tuesday morning the caravan of four station wagons transporting the prospective ranchers made the next stop at the Henry Moore ranch in the Reynolds community. Here the boys judged a class of Moore young sales bulls and a class of replacement Angus heifers. The new feed processing plant recently designed and installed by Mr. Moore was thoroughly inspected and approved. Tuesday afternoon the class went to Moore's Beckhorn ranch in Crockett county and helped tattoo 20 registered Angus calves. The station wagons in which the group traveled were equipped with radio from one car to the other and as they toured the pastures the questions and answers were thick and fast. Since most of the party were not from sheep country this part of the ranching operation brought out many questions. The trip was truly a "good neighbor" operation. South America, Central America and Old Mexico were all represented and Oklahoma, Texas, Iowa, Colorado, Missouri and Arizona had students on the tour. Sutton county will be host to the group on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Mike Moore, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Moore, and a senior of TCU arranged this working field trip for the range management students. Guests in the Albert McGinnes home Saturday night were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Brooks and Beverly of Sterling City. Mr. Brooks is Mrs. McGinnes's brother. They were joined on Sunday by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Brooks of Tennyson, and a sister, Mrs. Bill Hawkins, Sheri, and Billy of San Angelo. All were guests in the Sam McGinnes home Sunday when a birthday dinner honored Mrs. Ben Brooks. Others present were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Low, Billy, Rachel and Peggy of Lamesa, and Mr. and Mrs. Elton McGinnes, Lynda, Wayne and Jimmy.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Evans, son-in-law and daughter of Mrs. Jud Brannan, have moved their trailer to San Angelo where they will be located for a month or two. Their home is in Tucson, Arizona.

Our WASHINGTON Letter

By Congressman O. C. FISHER

During the week preceding the Easter recess the Congress relaxed its hold on the purse strings, and advanced several rather expensive welfare measures, none of which were essential.

The Senate also approved a measure calling on Uncle Sam to help foot the cost of revamping metropolitan transit systems. The cost of this is undetermined, but it will run into the hundreds of millions. The House overruled its appropriations committee and okayed $450 million to be spent over the country, in approved areas, for various types of so-called public works. This is a modern version of WPA. In the same appropriation bill we were able to strike out an item to finance an international secretariat for a Peace Corps. This one—a real boondoggle—is part of a scheme that has been hatched up to have the U.S.A. join with other nations in promoting Peace Corps projects throughout the world, with, of course, much of the cost being paid by this country.

The Senate also passed a bill creating a depression-type Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC), though by a slightly different name. Another welfare measure, it is but one of a series of proposals to place more people on the federal payroll. The Senate passed a similar bill last year, but it was held up in the House Rules Committee. Indications now are that the measure will reach the House Floor for debate shortly after Congress reconvenes.

Looking back over the past few weeks, there is not much comfort to be found for those who had hoped this Congress would practice more economy. There has, however, been quite a bit of trimming going on. Our Committee on Armed Services, for example, whacked $600 million off of a military pay raise proposal recently. And the House Appropriations Committee has done fairly well in cutting down. The big battles of this session have yet to be fought, however.

MERRY MAKERS PARTY

Mrs. Jud Brannan, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Clyde Evans of Tucson, Arizona, was hostess and served a delicious salad plate after the games.

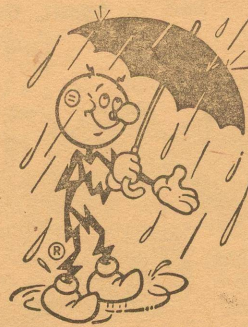

The J. D. Redwine family fished at Brownwood over the week end, and visited his grandparents.

COUNTY AGENT'S COLUMN

by Tiny Godwin

Schleicher County Agricultural Agent

Schleicher county will be due for brucellosis recertification on November 14, 1963.

Testing for recertification will be initiated at an early date so that no danger of the county losing its certified status. If the required testing is not accomplished within the month certification is due, the Washington Office, animal disease division, will remove the county from the list of modified certified counties and distribute the information nation-wide. Many factors could delay "last minute" testing such as weather conditions, ranch and field work; therefore testing will be initiated soon by the animal disease eradication division, Austin, Texas.

For cattlemen co-operating with the back tag program due credit has been given the county and individual herds.

1963, the year for brucellosis recertification and tuberculosis recertification.

We know that all cattle producers will want to co-operate with the animal disease eradication division in these programs.

Money has already been authorized for recertification of the county.

It is not easy to apologize, to begin over, to be unselfish, to take advice, to be considerate, to endure success, to keep trying, to forgive and forget, to shoulder a deserved blame, to recognize the silver lining. But this is faith in action.

Producers are urged to contribute to screwworm control measures and to submit samples of all infestations detected to the Southwest Animal Health Research Foundation, Mission, Texas. Screwworm cases are now being reported. Failure to report may hamper the eradication program.

Scientists have extracted from the cotton plant a repellent for the boll-weevil. How breeding a cotton plant that repels boll-weevils instead of attracting is being worked with by plant breeders.

The possibility of manufacturing of an attractant to lure the boll-weevil away from cotton—and to starve him with the wrong diet is being worked on by scientists.

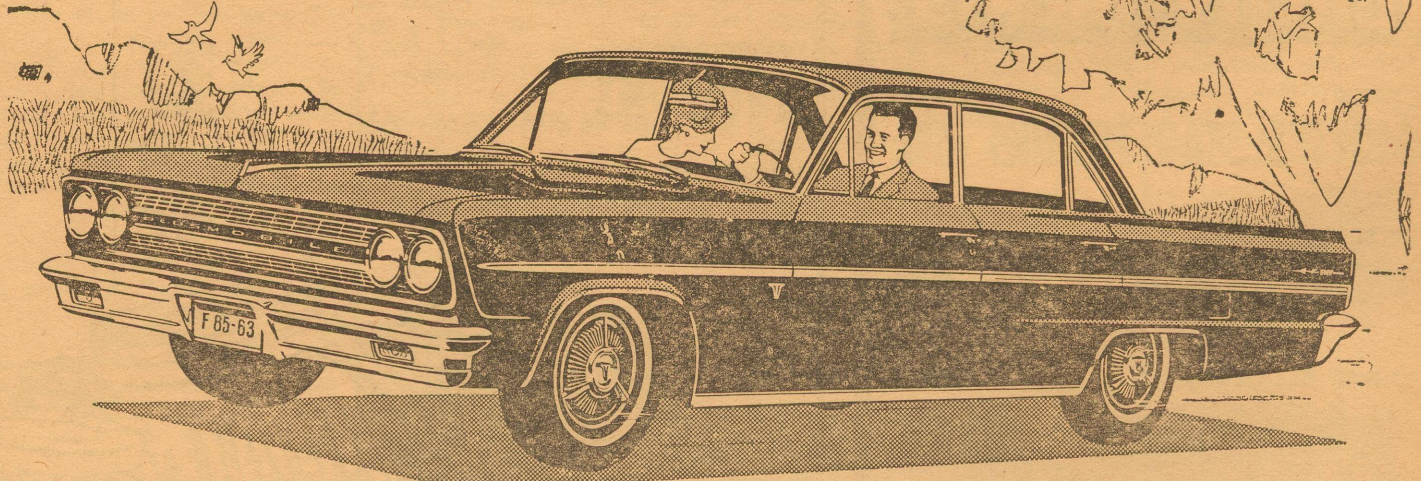

Herein lies the answer, we are told. The cotton plant manufactures both the repellent and the attractant.

4-H boys representing the county at the District 7 elimination contests Saturday, April 20, in grass identification will be David Whitten, George Draper, and Bill McCravy. In range competition, Corky Hodges, Ricky Jones, Billy Sudduth and Tom Roach.

Aphids are at work on the tender shoots and branches of fruit trees and shrubs. Malathion, one teaspoonful to the gallon, sprayed will rid the tree or shrub of these pests.

More dangerous than the back seat driver—particularly in the autumn—is the front-seat scenery pointer-outer.
