Segregation Forces Rally

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Segregationists rounded up support today for a rally on the state capitol lawn to ask Gov. Orval E. Faubus to "do something" about impending integration of two Little Rock white high schools. The schools are to open Wednesday.

The Little Rock School Board said it expected peaceful operation of the schools when they open.

Segregationist leaders set the rally for 10 a.m. (CST) Wednesday at the State Capitol.

Margaret Jackson, president of the League of Central High Mothers, said she had had "dozens of calls" from people wanting to know what could be done to stop integration.

"So in response to this," she said, "we are inviting every patriotic citizen to meet us on the state capitol grounds to pay tribute to our great governor and tell him that we need and want his continued leadership in our fight against federal dictatorship."

Faubus has remained silent on his plans to take a hand against the impending desegregation. But he has said he does have plans. The governor stopped integration in the high schools last fall by closing them. But the law he used has been struck down by federal court.

The Little Rock school board issued a statement saying it was confident "the people of Little Rock will accept this challenge to resume the peaceful operation of its high schools. There is no reason to anticipate anything else."

The school board has assigned three Negroes to Central and three to Hall high. It used a court-approved pupil placement law to keep out some 55 other Negroes who applied to attend the white schools.

Support for another last-minute segregationist maneuver was not evident. A boycott of Main Street stores began Monday. Amis Guthridge, attorney for the segregationist Capital Citizens Council, called for the "buyer's strike", charging that Main Street merchants were helping Negro leaders to obtain integration.

But spot checks of stores showed plenty of customers and Chamber of Commerce officials ignored the threat.

Guthridge also urged persons not to patronize firms which had Negro employes.

The segregationist leader said he opposed violence at the school openings—such as that which occurred at Central in 1957 when nine Negroes entered. Federal troops restored order then.

Halleck Sees Ike Victory

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican congressional leaders predicted to President Eisenhower today that the labor bill backed by the President will pass the House.

House GOP Chief Charles A. Halleck of Indiana said he expects that outcome even though he said, "Mr. Hoffa's people are here with all sorts of threats, trying to get the Hoffa bill through."

Halleck referred to James R. Hoffa, president of the International Teamsters Union. By the Hoffa Bill, he said he meant the one sponsored by Rep. John F. Shelley (D-Calif).

Shelley's bill is less far reaching than the Landrum-Griffin measure which Eisenhower has endorsed.

The Republican congressional chiefs made their forecast as the House headed into its most bitter fight in a decade over the shape of management-labor control legislation.

With a week of wide-open floor battling scheduled, the House called up the Shelley and Landrum-Griffin proposals along with a third measure labeled by sponsors as a middle-of-the-road plan. All three are aimed—with varying degrees of stringency—at curbing racketeering and abuse of power in the labor-management field.

The outcome was rated a toss-up. The first votes may come late Wednesday or Thursday.

Halleck and Sen Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the Senate GOP leader, talked with newsmen after their weekly White House session with Eisenhower.

Asked what kind of threats he was talking about, Halleck replied:

"Well, political recriminations, defeat at the polls, the things that everybody who has been around here knows about. I don't think anybody has been threatened with any bodily injury and I don't know as it's had any effect."

As for the presidential reaction to the forecast that the Landum-Griffin bill will win House approval, Halleck replied: "I would say he was quite happy."

Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell sat in on the White House conference. Halleck said that in spite of reports to the contrary in some places, Mitchell is for the Landrum-Griffin bill.

Halleck also predicted that the Landrum-Griffin bill wouldn't bog down in a dispute with the Senate, which has passed its own version of a labor measure. He said he thinks differences could be composed, as they were when the Taft-Hartley labor law was enacted.

Arrayed in favor of the most restrictive of the three bills were President Eisenhower and a Republican House minority.

Supporting what its sponsors called a moderate middle-of-the-road approach were a majority of House Democrats headed by Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex).

A smaller group of Democrats was supporting a third measure, backed by AFL-CIO chieftains and making fewer changes in present law.

In advance of showdown voting later this week, the balance of power appeared to reside in a small but potent coalition of Southern and Midwestern conservatives of both parties.

The nation got a preview of the forthcoming House debate Monday night as Rayburn spoke over MBS radio network and supporters of all three measures discussed them on an NBC television program. Each contended his bill was best for the nation.

The programs followed up Eisenhower's radio-TV appeal last Thursday for passage of a bill strong enough to end labor-management racketeering practices which he called "a national disgrace."

Rayburn contended that "powerful interests are using the public demand for a cleanup of racketeering as a smoke screen behind which they can impose crippling legal restraints on the honest, legitimate interests of the working man."

The bill Eisenhower is backing, Rayburn said, "would throw the weight of the federal government so heavily on the side of management" that it would harm the rights of honest, law-abiding workers.

Employment Hits Record

WASHINGTON (AP) — Employment hit another record high in July. The number of jobs rose about one quarter million while unemployment declined by nearly the same amount.

The Labor Department reported July employment reached a record 67,594,000, up 252,000 from June and an increase of 2,415,000 over July last year.

Unemployment declined by 238,000 to 3,744,000 in July. This was 1,550,000 less than July 1958.

Employment had also reached a record in June. The number of workers with jobs has been steadily increasing all year.

Seymour Wolfbein, deputy assistant secretary of labor for manpower, told a news conference that the July figures reflected a continued basic improvement in the over-all employment situation.

The July increases were recorded despite a rather sharp drop in farm employment because of poor weather in many farm areas, particularly in the South.

On the other hand the large number of teenagers seeking temporary jobs—which forced up employment in June by 600,000—diminished in July. Many of the youngsters found work.

The July survey was taken in mid-month just as the nationwide steel strike began. Little of the steel strike consequences were reflected in the July figures.

City Buys Trucks From Air Force

The city of Snyder purchased two heavy-duty Air Force surplus trucks from Reese Air Force Base yesterday, Roy Dunlap, city manager, said.

One of the heavy trucks has an auxiliary pump engine and will be used as a fire fighting unit when necessary modifications are completed.

The other truck will replace a lighter used by the street department to haul heavy equipment.

Each of the trucks cost $255.

Four Sailors Die In Storm

YOKOSUKA, Japan (AP) — Heavy seas generated by Typhoon Ellen caused the death of four sailors on the U.S. Navy's attack transport Bexar, the Navy announced today.

The Navy said the 455-foot-long Bexar was en route to Okinawa Sunday when a huge wave broke over her bow, washing two men overboard and knocking seven others against the anchor windlass and a bulwark. Two of the latter died of their injuries.

The Navy said Ens. Robert D. Stannus, San Antonio, Tex., voluntarily dived into heavy seas and saved Marine Cpl. Hileo J. Henning, Yakima, Wash. Ensign Stannus lost his own life.

The other men killed were Marine Pfc. George R. Olmes, Otter Creek, Maine; Navy Fireman Apprentice James R. Taylor, San Diego, Calif., and Machinist's Mate Frieman Sylvon R. Richens, Roosevelt, Utah.

In the Navy hospital here, in fair condition, the Navy said, are Fireman Joe R. Talbott, Bloomington, Tex.; Machinists Mate Fireman Joseph H. Fisher, Eugene, Ore.; and Seaman Dwayne P. Daunch, Grand Prairie, Tex.

Two sailors, in addition to Henning, treated for minor injuries and back on duty, were Eugene Galvin of San Diego, Calif., and boatswains mate Clifford Prater of McAllen, Tex.

Buyers Push Market Up

NEW YORK (AP) — Buyers rushed into the stock market today and pushed prices up. The ticker lagged behind transactions.

Most stock groups participated in the upsurge, which came after the sharpest price break of the year Monday. There were some stocks which failed to join the advance.

An estimated $5,400,000,000 was sliced from the market value of listed stocks in the plunge.

Market experts described the drop as a technical correction, which had been overdue after a sustained rise.

The sell-off was believed to have been prompted by the forthcoming Eisenhower-Khrushchev talks. As one analyst put it, people were looking for an excuse to sell and they found it in the uncertainty of the outcome of the talks.

Stocks of defense companies led the downward movement. This apparently resulted from the possibility that any thawing of the cold war might mean smaller defense budgets in the years ahead.

Castro Prepares To Tell How Forces Smashed Conspiracy

HAVANA (AP) — Fidel Castro was expected to take to radio and TV today to tell all about the first major conspiracy to overthrow his revolutionary regime and how his forces smashed it.

It was generally agreed the bearded leader would lump together big landowners affected by his land redistribution law and holdovers from Fulgencio Batista's army as the nucleus of the conspiracy. He was also expected to accuse anti-Castro forces, from the Dominican Republic to Miami, of helping.

Officials said the plot had been crushed. Unofficial reports said some 1,500 persons had been arrested. But a telephone blackout continued over Las Villas Province, in central Cuba.

Remnants of an armed band that clashed with Castro's army Sunday reportedly took to the hills in the southern part of the province, where a number of conspirators have been reported arrested.

Observers also considered it significant that Castro suddenly changed his mind about going to the Inter-American Foreign Ministers Conference in Santiago, Chile. They looked on this as a measure of the gravity of the situation in Cuba.

From reliable sources both in and out of the government, these were developments:

1. Camp Libertad on the edge of Havana where the bulk of the conspiracy suspects were reported being questioned, remained cut off to all but officials with special permits.

2. The telephone blackout to Las Villas was government-ordered with supervisors monitoring other calls inside Cuba and from abroad.

3. A large number of those detained are being held for precautionary purposes and will be released soon.

4. Scattered shooting was heard in various sections of Havana during the night. There were no casualties reported and no explanation of the firing, but the police radio revealed that at least one person had been picked up in connection with the gunfire.

Hearing Tonight On School Budget

Formal hearing on the proposed school budget for the 1959-60 school year will be held tonight by the Snyder school board.

The hearing will be at 7:30 p.m. in the high school cafeteria.

The board held an informal hearing slightly more than a month ago with tax representatives of major taxpayers. The budget is not adopted until after the formal hearing, which usually draws very few persons.

Also scheduled for tonight's board meeting is consideration of auditors for the audit of school books for the 1958-59 school year.

The proposed budget totals $2,672,182, an increase of $121,887 over the $2,550,295 budget of the current school year, which ends Aug. 31. Of that budget, $690,310 is for debt service.

The proposed tax rate is $1.66½ per $100 valuation, or $1.16 for local maintenance and 50½ cents for interest and sinking fund. The present valuation of the school district is $137 million. The tax rate is an increase of nine cents over the current year's rate of $1.57½.

In the local maintenance budget are $97,435 for administration up $2,525; $1,310,931 for salaries, up $71,190; $97,297 for instructional supplies, up $8,395; $150,131 for other school services, down $18,255; $194,065 for operation of plant, up $40,644; $66,078 for maintenance of plant, down $3,330; $23,050 for fixed charges, up $11,271; $1,600 for community services, up $600; $600 for summer school and $150 for public adult education, the same as the current year; and $40,535 for capital outlay, up $10,722.

While the plant operation budget is up only $40,000 and plant maintenance budget is down, the school system this year will have a big increase in the amount of plant to operate and maintain. The new Stanfield Elementary School is opening this fall as the system's sixth elementary school, while the Lamar Junior High School, not yet complete, is the second junior high. The administration building is being expanded, and the Travis Junior High facilities are being increased.

Last Rebel Is Weakening

HOUSTON (AP)— Walter Williams, last survivor of the Civil War, was reported weaker today.

"It's just up to the Lord, now," said Mrs. Willie Mae Bowles, a daughter of the 116-year-old Confederate veteran.

"He now refuses to eat, refuses to speak, refuses to do anything."

Dr. Russell Wolfe, the old soldier's personal physician, said yesterday that Williams was sinking and getting weaker day by day.

Williams took nourishment then through an eyedropper but Mrs. Bowles said he refused today to accept the mixture of milk, egg and water.

"He's just tired, so tired," Mrs. Bowles said. "I just don't see how he's going to make it this time."

Williams won a recent fight against pneumonia but Wolfe said the fight apparently took practically all of Williams' strength.

Two Men Injured In Oilfield Accident

MONROE CITY, Tex. (AP)—Two men were injured today when they fell about 30 feet while erecting an oil field drilling rig near here today.

Earlier reports had said three or four men had been killed. Humble Oil & Refining Co. spokesmen said, however, only two men were injured and that the injuries were not believed serious.

New State Law Hikes City Police, Fire Dept. Costs

A new state law which went into effect today is forcing many Texas cities to increase their tax rates, but City Manager Roy Dunlap said Snyder had juggled its operation to avoid a tax hike.

The new law cuts the work week of policemen and firemen in most cities over 10,000 population. Firemen in Snyder are not affected, because they already were working a 72-hour week as specified by the new law.

Dunlap said the law will cost Snyder about $14,000 a year, plus a reduction in services by the police department. He said the city elected to cut one patrol car from the force and take some funds from other departments to avoid a tax hike in order to live up to a pledge made to property owners when a bond issue was passed to launch a five-year improvement program.

Policemen in Snyder had opposed the bill, and Rep. Renal Rosson voted against it in the legislature Dunalp said. However, groups from larger cities pushed the measure through.

"Most of the larger cities will be forced to put on a tax increase of 10 to 12 cents," said Steve Mathews, executive director of the Texas Municipal League.

The shortest work weeks will apply to city budgets which become effective after today. Most cities operate on an October to October fiscal year.

Some 74 other laws became effective today, 90 days after the close of the regular session of the Legislature.

Bills which do not receive a two-thirds vote of both houses or pass on voice vote become law 90 days after the end of the session in which they pass.

New hours for firemen in cities of 10,000-60,000 population are 72 hours; 60,000-125,000 population, 63 hours; and over 125,000 population, 60 hours.

Mathews said only Houston in the top population bracket works firemen 60 hours now. He said 13 cities in the 60,000-125,000 population class will have to lower work weeks.

For the first time the state may use the public's money to advertise Texas attractions in order to lure more tourists and businesses.

In the carpetbagger days after the Civil War, a provision was written into the constitution forbidding the spending of state money for advertisements. Voters changed this last year by abolishing the provision.

The appropriations bill carries a $100,000 a year outlay for the program which may also include private donations. The Texas Development Board, composed of the governor and chairmen of the Texas Industrial Commission and State Highway Commission, will administer it.

Voters next year will have to state whether they are Democrats or Republicans when buying a poll tax if they wish to participate later in party conventions. The tax receipts will be stamped with the declaration.

It is now a felony, instead of a misdemeanor, to steal an automobile for "joyriding."

Fences will have to be erected along U.S. and state highways to keep cattle from running at large. This does not apply to farm to market roads.

New Forest Fires Blaze Near Frisco

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Smoke hung over Northern California mountains today as firemen fought new flames in forests near Ukiah and Willits, about 100 miles north of San Francisco.

Every able-bodied man in Ukiah turned out Monday to save the city of 15,000. Women and children used garden hoses and buckets to wet roofs as wind-swept embers cascaded down from flaming forests just beyond city limits.

A ranger said fires near Ukiah had been set by children and hunters.

In southern California, 500 men ringed the Decker Canyon blaze near Lake Elsinore after it claimed 2 lives, injured 27 and burned 1,600 acres.

For five weeks blazes in tinder-dry California forests and brushland have kept firemen on the run. The state got less rain and snow than usual last winter and heavy rains are not due for months.

Near Yuba City, 100 miles northeast of San Francisco, Sheriff's deputies reported 17 fires in an hour within a four-mile radius. All were extinguished quickly and officers said they appeared to be the work of juveniles.

Frank Weatherford, a Ukitah forest ranger, said the Cow Mountain fires apparently were set by children and hunters.

"They waited until we rolled every thing we had up on the fire at Spanish Mountain and then they started the other," he continued.

"They wanted to burn the brush so the animals wouldn't have a place to hide. And they knew there wasn't a damn thing we could do."

Father Digs His Son Free

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — A desperate father dug frantically with his bare hands for almost an hour Monday to free his 4-year-old-son, trapped by a ditch cave-in.

"The boy was screaming something awful," the father Ira Curtis said later. When the screams stopped, tension rose.

"He must be gone, he couldn't have lasted that long," a youth said quietly.

But finally Curtis, with the help of other rescuers, got young Billy out—alive. He was taken to a hospital, where an examination showed he had only a few bumps and bruises.

Three boys were playing in a ditch near Billy's home when the walls suddenly caved in. Billy's older brother, Donald, 9, was buried chest deep, and a neighbor boy, Marvin Connett, 8, was buried up to his neck.

Donald managed to free himself and ran for his father.

McDonald Absent From Talks

NEW YORK (AP)—Ruffled negotiators resumed their talks today in the four-week-old steel strike, but the absence of the head of the Steelworkers Union gave the proceedings a dour overtone.

Steelworkers President David J. McDonald, snubbing the parley as pointless, was reported touring picket lines at strikebound plants. The industry rebuked him for staying away.

The union sent in a "second string" of bargainers for today's session with company representatives, headed by R. Conrad Cooper. They were joined by federal mediation chief Joseph F. Finnegan.

He declined comment on McDonald's blast at the caliber of the industry's negotiating team, or the industry's stiff retort.

McDonald said Monday in Pittsburgh:

"I got sick of that show in New York. I will talk to people in authority. I refuse to talk with liaisons. I have no immediate plans for returning to New York."

R. Conrad Cooper, top industry negotiator and executive vice president of the United States Steel Corp., came back with his reply for the industry:

"Mr. McDonald knows full well that the four-man negotiating team designated by 12 steel companies to handle the collective bargaining on their behalf has full authority to deal with the United Steelworkers Union.

"Mr. McDonald's efforts to downgrade the companies' negotiating team to the status of messenger boys is unfortunate because sooner or later he must confront his responsibility to bargain with this team."

Despite the bitter new clash between industry and union in the four-week-old strike, federal mediators continued efforts to settle the dispute.

Closed Hearings On UAW Launched

By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate probers start closed door hearings today on Walter Reuther's United Auto Workers, with Reuther demanding that the public be admitted.

The hearings have heavy political overtones. They were billed as a preliminary inquiry demanded by the Republican members of the committee on their allegations of corrupt or improper practices by some of Reuther's subordinates. The UAW usually supports Democratic candidates.

The committee is composed of four Republicans and four Democrats, including Sen. John F Kennedy (D-Mass), a likely contender for his party's presidential nomination next year.

Reuther made public a telegram to the committee chairman, John L. McClellan (D-Ark), demanding that the doors be opened. He accused its Republican members of scheming to use the inquiry as a device to smear his union.

McClellan told a reporter he personally would be reluctant to make it a public hearing until he knew more about it. He said the Republican members never have told him the full nature and scope of evidence they plan to produce.

The investigation had been announced by the Republicans as designed to explore the affairs of Richard T Gosser, senior international vice president of the UAW; Peter Zvara, a former international representative; and some other past and present UAW officials.

The Republicans have charged there is evidence of improper handling of flower funds raised by UAW members.

Crude Output Up Slightly

TULSA (AP)—Louisiana output jumped to 1,047,100 barrels daily as national production of crude and condensate rose slightly last week to 6,791,945 barrels daily, the Oil and Gas Journal said today.

Output was 11,635 barrels a day above the previous week.

Total U. S. production for the year came to 1,564,924,815 barrels compared with 1,428,645,010 barrels this time last year.

Louisiana production climbed 65,825 barrels. The Journal said it included 58,000 barrels of late May and early June allowables that operators couldn't produce because of bad weather associated with a tropical storm.

Increases were largely offset by reductions in Texas, down 22,200 barrels daily to an average of 2,456,475 barrels a day; Oklahoma, down 12,850 to 487,300; Arkansas, down 750 to 48,400; and New Mexico, down 6,300 to 285,500.

Water Use Soars After Dip In July

Water consumption slipped by 28 per cent in July, the Colorado River Municipal Water District reported Tuesday. But if the current rate of demand continues throughout August, that loss will be absorbed.

During July the district delivered 877,555,000 gallons of water to its customers, according to O. H. Ivie, production engineer. For July of 1958 the total was 1,122,182,000 gallons.

During the past seven days, however, with hot, dry weather replacing the repeated showers of July, consumption has been at the rate of about 40,000,000 gallons per day.

In July deliveries of water were as follows: Odessa 416,646,000, Big Spring 203,491,000 Snyder 61,237,000 SACROC 120,875,000, Sharon Ridge 43,313,000, Lion Oil 29,484,000, Texas Gulf Producing 2,908,000.

During the past week Big Spring has upped its average to over 9,000,000 per day and peaked out at 10,188,000 last Friday. Odessa has been averaging 20,500,000 per day. Snyder peaked at 4,200,000 for one day and averaged 3,500,000 per day. Sacroc averaged 4,200,000 Sharon Ridge 1,500,000, and Lion Oil 1,000,000. The Big Spring figure does not include 1,200,000 per day for Cosden Petroleum Corporation.

For the past week, pumps at Lake J. B. Thomas and on the pipeline system have been operating 24 hours a day.

Orbit Game Launched By D&H Here

Snyder and area residents will go into orbit with Thursday's issue of this newspaper, Clyde Godwin, manager of D & H, supermarket announces. Orbit is a newspaper game, not unlike the old fashioned, well-known Bingo. Orbit numbers for each week will be printed in the D & H supermarket ad. Orbit players will pick up Orbit cards at the store or from the newspaper office. Each week's Orbit cards will be a different color and each color card will be in effect only one week.

When the ad is published, the player compares his Orbit card with the letter-number combinations in the box and if they are so that he can make a straight line on the Orbit card, up, down or diagonally, he has a winner.

After the first week, the newspaper ad will also carry a special Space box with Space numbers in it. Anyone who wins in regular Orbit is eligible to play Space.

A special Space card is issued when a winner presents his Orbit card to claim his prize. Orbit prizes for winners will be such items as a pound of coffe, two pounds of bacon, 10 pounds of sugar and the like. The Space prizes will be $250, with $50 added each week. When the Space game is won, another $250 will be added. Orbit or Space prizes must be claimed within the following week. Numbers will be posted in the store in a prominent place so that customers who missed the program may check their cards on the spot.

"We believe that the whole family will enjoy and benefit from our Orbit game," said Clyde Godwin.

Rains, U. S. Food Save Thousands

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP) —Thousands of peasants on Haiti's parched northwest peninsula have been saved from starvation by heavy rains and six million pounds of U.S. surplus commodities.

A four-month crash program that provided food for about 150,000 drought victims was completed this week. U.S. distributors said it saved thousands of farmers and their families from certain death.

The arrival of the rains ended a withering drought that has plagued the poverty stricken area for five years and brought at least 200 persons to death by starvation. The last rains this was in 1954 when hurricane Hazel killed livestock and ravaged plantations.

When the United States launched its emergency aid program in April, the arid peninsula was a scene of desolation. Trees stood stark and lifeless. Even the weeds had withered.

Road Program Faces Crisis

For the second time, a Congressional committee has rejected a proposal to increase gasoline taxes to provide funds for the big federal highway-building program.

Almost simultaneously, state highway engineer De Witt C. Greer made a public statement to the effect that a financial crisis will confront the federal aid highway program in Texas soon, unless Congress takes action to pump new funds into the road program.

There was no mention of a gasoline tax in Greer's statement, but he did say that highway development in Texas will be drastically curtailed unless something is done at the federal level.

Meanwhile, Texas has continued its planning and scheduling of road projects in anticipation of the usual federal participation, despite the fact that 25 other states brought their big road-building programs to a standstill because the federal funds were not in sight. Thus, if Congress does take action, Texas should be out in front with several projects.

The House Ways and Means Committee was slated to take up the highway program again today, following its rejection of the gasoline tax hike yesterday. The gasoline tax has not been generally regarded as a popular solution to the problem. There are those who feel that the federal government is taking enough from this source at present, and that the remainder of the revenue from gasoline taxes should be reserved for the states.

Most states, including Texas, build many miles of highways on their own each year. For, example, Texas plans to open bids this month of 317 miles of construction, which includes 148 miles in non-federal projects.

Nevertheless, the big federal program has caught the fancy of many motorists, and all of them are keeping their eyes on Congress these days.

President Forced To Take Initiative

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of 1959's surprises is the way President Eisenhower has asserted himself. He used to press the soft-pedal hard.

Critics complained — some still do—that he didn't do enough leading. But in 1959 he has become increasingly aggressive, particularly on home problems.

In foreign affairs he is still pretty defensive. His actions now, as in the past, are mostly reactions to Soviet actions.

There are several explanations for his 1959 performance:

1. He has to rely more on himself. Some key men he brought into government with him, and depended on most, are gone. Notably: Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, who died in May, and Sherman Adams, who quit last September.

2. It's either lead or be led. The Democrats, in overwhelming control of Congress, would run with the ball if he didn't speak out.

3. Time is running out for making good on his early promises, such as budget-balancing and lese spending. He has just a little over 17 months left in office.

4. Since the Soviets are pushing, he has to push back. His invitation to Premier Nikita Khrushchev to come here was an effort to avoid or delay a showdown on Berlin.

Dulles, given free rein by Eisenhower, overshadowed the President in foreign affairs. Yet, by his enormous work, he took a heavy burden of detail off Eisenhower. That's changed now.

Eisenhower doesn't have the same close relationship with Dulles' successor, Christian A. Herter, who has been out of the country, negotiating on Berlin, most of the time since taking office last spring.

Which means: Eisenhower in foreign affairs has had to be much more his own front man.

Adams' title — assistant to the President—was a catch - all. He acted like a combination chief of staff, executive vice president, buffer, filter, firefighter and plantation manager for Eisenhower.

He saved the President endless time, chores, problems and decisions in running the government. His successor, Wilton B. Persons, retired major general, seems to have only a shadow of Adams' importance in easing things for Eisenhower.

The result: Eisenhower has been forced into fighting harder—and personally—for what he does and doesn't want.

Eisenhower, like any President winding up his last term, was expected to show a waning influence in his last two White House years after the 1958 elections gave the Democrats a huge control in Congress. It hasn't turned out that way.

Time was when Eisenhower pulled back from a fight with Congress, seemed to think it improper for a President to put the heat on House or Senate. Now, all year, he has been in a running battle with the Democrats.

This is especially true in the economic field. In 1952, when he was looking for this job, he promised balanced budgets, less spending, a sound dollar.

Since then he has balanced the budget only twice, living costs are up 10 per cent, and increased government costs ruined his low spending dreams. These frustrations seem to be a goad to him now.

1906 Type Club Proving Popular

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—"I'm a hobyist saloonkeeper, and a reluctant success," according to Burton Browne, who is making a fortune out of nostalgia.

"I'm the only saloonkeeper who is listed in Who's Who in America, the Social Register, and Dun & Bradstreet."

A commercial artist, who once felt lucky if he got $18 for a gag cartoon, Browne is now head of a large Chicago advertising firm specializing in electronics.

But conviviality has been a lifelong hobby with the big, bluff, gray-haired executive. And now his hobby has become a big business. He's on the way to become the J. C. Penney of chain-store conviviality.

"In business today you have to entertain a lot," he remarked. "But there aren't very many places where men can entertain men.

"You take a client to a supper club for a couple of drinks and a steak dinner, and what happens? By 9:30 you're both standing outside on the curb wondering what to do."

Browne and a group of friends solved the problem in 1953 by organizing a private key club "for gentlemen," deliberately decorated in the plush decor of 1906.

There the tired businessman could foregather with his pals around the bowl that cheers, make deals, be pampered by beautiful waitresses dressed in scanty turn-of-the-century dance hall costumes, and sing old-time songs around an old-time tinkling piano.

"We picked a 1906 atmosphere," said Browne, "because that was the last time man was really king and millionaires really lived like millionaires."

The club was a huge success from the start. So were later clubs he organized in Manhattan and the nation's capital.

But they are only the beginning in Browne's big nostalgia bonanza. So many members complained of a lack of robust male conviviality in their own hometowns that Browne now is franchising a nationwide chain.

Twenty clubs are already under way—or being planned—in cities ranging from San Francisco to Atlanta. Browne eventually foresees a network of 200.

They are ideal for America's booming new expense account aristocracy. A lifetime membership costs $25. Any drink—from ginger ale to 50-year-old brandy—is $1.25. Sandwiches are a nickel.

"When you walk into one of the clubs," said Browne, "you are automatically a millionaire, 1906 vintage."

Although they are strictly gentlemen's clubs, members can bring their wives. But wives can't come alone.

"Surprisingly, we haven't had any objections from the wives," said Browne. "Our waitresses have to be pretty, but after five minutes a wife can see they are no threat."

"Most of our members have daughters as old as the waitresses. It's all innocent fun. The waitresses — some of them are young actresses — are for looking, not pinching," Browne said.

"If a member dates a waitress, his key is lifted—and she is fired."

Market Is Victim Of 'Peace Scare'

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market's peace scare is bringing forth a bevy of doubters.

Everyone hopes that the Eisenhower-Khrushchev talks can live up to advance billing and lead to a thaw in the cold war. But just how much of a thaw is likely and how it would affect American industry is another matter.

Those who doubt that more than a temporary thaw can be expected have precedents for their views. They can point to the last summit meeting in Geneva where Soviet promises were made—and later broken.

And if the forthcoming talks bring more promises, there's considerable difference of opinion as to how much of a cut in defense spending would follow.

Some believe the most that could happen would be a drop in defense spending of around 10 billion dollars a year. That is the amount that it fell in the two years after the end of the Korean war.

Those two years saw the 1953-54 recession. But they also saw the start of the business boom that lasted into 1957.

And with the launching of the first sputnik came the big build-up in U.S. defense spending that has thrown the federal budget out of kilter and stifled hopes for tax cuts.

Supposing that the Eisenhower-Khrushchev talks do lead to a cold war thaw that looks trustworthy, what would happen to the economy?

If defense spending can be cut by 10 billion dollars or more, the first to feel it adversely will be the defense industries. And the next to feel it may be the taxpayer—and pleasantly.

That makers of armaments would be hurt is accepted as a truism by stock traders. But many companies making weapons also are heavily involved in the space age. The urge to conquer outer space may well go on unabated with or without a cold war thaw.

Communities where armament factories are a mainstay would be hit hard by a 10-billion-dollar drop in defense spending — supposing that to be possible after the summit talks.

But observers point to the big upsurge in the over-all economy in 1955 when defense spending was 10 billion dollars less than in 1953. Consumers' peacetime needs more than took up the slack.

The biggest hope this time would lie in the chance of a cut in federal spending that would justify a comparable cut in federal taxes.

If this puts more money into consumer pockets, many economists hold that increased civilian spending would keep the over-all economy on a high level and might again lead it to new highs.

Delivery Delayed For Missile Mail

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —A Thor-Able rocket carried two letters 5,000 miles in half an hour last May. But it was 2½ months before they were delivered.

This is the story, as disclosed by the Air Force Missile Test Center Monday.

The Thor-Able hurled its nose cone 15,000 miles an hour to an Atlantic target off Ascension Island on May 21. The cone contained letters addressed to Maj. Gen. Donald N. Yates, commander of the test center, and Col. Henry F. Warden, deputy commander for tests.

A recovery ship plucked the cone from the ocean and brought it to Cape Canaveral. The letters were not found, however, and officials thought they may have burned up in the intense re-entry heat encountered by the cone.

A train carried the cone to Philadelphia for study. Two weeks later technicians there found the letters crammed among the many telemetry instruments in the front of the cone.

The undamaged mail was flown back to the test center and placed on the desk of Lt. Col. Thomas W. Morgan, Thor project officer, who sent them in the first place. Morgan was on temporary duty at another station and it was almost two months before he discovered the letters and delivered them to Yates and Warden.

So the mail had traveled several thousand miles to reach the addressees—who were both within 15 miles of the Cape when the Thor-Able was fired.

This was the first time an Air Force missile carried mail and the first time letters traveled intercontinental range distance. Army and Navy rockets accomplished the feat previously over much shorter distances.

Grid Drill Slate Set

Green Squad Is Due

Fall workouts for high school gridders will open here Monday as the Snyder Tigers will begin their season workouts with fewer experienced players than they have had in a number of years.

Only two offensive starters off last year's Tiger varsity, Halfback Dick Hayes and Tackle Tommy Minton, and three defensive starters, Hayes, James Fitzgerald and Eddie Watson, are returning to the Tiger fold. Hayes was an all-district halfback last year.

Ten players, all of them regulars graduated last year after the Tigers tied for second in District 3-AAA and compiled a 5-3-2 season record.

Though starters are few and regulars who have seen extensive varsity action number only seven, prospects are favorable for putting together another good edition of the Tigers.

The lack of returning regulars this year compares with the prospect at the beginning of the 1956-57 team. Ten regulars had graduated from the previous year's district champion team, but the "inexperienced" club of the fall bounced back to take another conference crown.

Lamesa is generally considered to be the team to beat in District 3-AAA this year, although Sweetwater was the choice of this district at the Texas High School Coaches Association School last week. Lamesa had lighter losses than most other teams. Graduating from the Tornado team were three linemen and two backs. Sweetwater's losses were almost as heavy as Snyder's, including the entire backfield and a number of linemen. Lake View lost 19 of its 23 top varsity players. Colorado City had heavy losses but had a large number of younger players with considerable experience.

John Conley, athletic director, said workouts will begin at 9 a.m. Monday. Two-hour workouts will be held each morning and each evening, six days a week, until school starts. The evening workouts will be at 6:30 or 7 p.m., to give the gridders a chance to work out under lights.

The first week's workouts will be mostly conditioning and review of fundamentals, Conley said, adding that scrimmaging will probably begin during the latter part of the week. The youths will probably wear shorts and shoulder pads for their first few morning workouts.

The varsity, as usual, will be made up mostly of juniors and seniors. There is a good possibility, however, that two or three outstanding sophomores will be moved to the varsity to help fill out depth, Conley said.

Thirty-two juniors and seniors who participated in football physical education classes last year are eligible to try for spots on the varsity team this year.

Of those, the linemen are smaller than usual, the largest probably being Tommy Minton and Center Devane Jones, both in the 190-pound range. The backfield is about the usual size, with the larger ones weighing 160 to 165.

Two switches have already been planned in player positions. Hayes is ticketed for a try at the quarterback slot in competition with Alex Cross and Mike Moffett, lettermen, and Larry Patterson, up from the B team. Jan Lindsey, who played a guard on the B team, is listed as an end.

Two juniors who did not play last year but were standouts on the previous year's freshman team probably have as good a chance as anyone being named starters. They are Charles Gladson, a tackle and Jimmy Robinson, an end. Both showed up well in spring sports.

Beginning workouts Monday will be all juniors and seniors, as well as about 30 sophomores off last year's freshman team preparing for B team action and about 25 promoted from the junior high who will be on this year's freshman team.

Juniors and seniors who participated in the spring program and who are eligible to compete for places on the varsity squad:

Hereford To Bring Strong LL Team

Kingsville and a San Antonio team were in finals of a sectional tournament which was to name a winner to come to the State Little League Tournament in Snyder this weekend.

The Kingsville-San Antonio game was played last night, but there had been no report here by late this morning as to who won that game, according to Leland (Mutt) Herod, coordinator of Little Leagues here, who is heading arrangements for the state meet.

Already named are the other three sectional champions who will play in the Snyder tourney. They are Hereford, Longview and Galveston.

Each of the teams coming to Snyder has won at least five playoff games so far as they took area, district and sectional titles.

The Hereford team, one of the strongest coming to the meet here, has not yet had an earned run scored against it in playoffs. Hereford beat Muleshoe for the area title and Littlefield in district finals before going into a sectional tournament at Brownfield. There Hereford shut out Lubbock Southern 4-0 and Pecos 2-0. Pecos had in a first round game in that tournament shut out Abilene Lone Star, which had beaten the Snyder National Little League 11-6 in district finals here.

The state tournament will be played in Snyder Friday and Saturday nights. The teams will draw Thursday night for matches in the tourney.

Winner of the tourney here will go to Norfolk, Va., for a regional tournament which begins Aug. 20 and regional winners will go to the Little League World Series at Williamsport, Pa.

The Little League of Monterrey, Mexico, two-time World Series winner which would have been in the Kingsville sectional tournament, has been suspended by the Little League national headquarters for an alleged rules infraction.

Monterrey's Pony League team which recently won the lower Rio Grand Valley district title at Brownsville, is also currently under fire, and some Pony League officials want to throw them out of the Pony League.

Oil Bowl's Squad Filled

WICHITA FALLS (AP) — The Texas squad for the Oil Bowl football game here Aug. 21 has been completed with one star lost through injury.

Mike Gieb of Garland, an all-state guard, won't be able to play because he was injured in practice for the Texas Coaching School all-star game last week at Fort Worth.

The Texas squad: Ray Schoenk, Weatherford guard; Carl Choate, Pasadena end; Joe Kidd, Borger tackle; Don Sanders, Fort Worth Paschal end; Mike McConkey, Highland Park guard; Leland Allred, Wichita Falls end; Bobby Whisnand, Electra center; Pat Latham, Bowie end; Don Malone, Vernon tackle; Joe Miller, Dallas Jefferson tackle; Emery Martindale, San Angelo tackle-Charles Edgeman, Wichita Falls guard; Charles Huddleston, Breckenridge guard; Johnny Cole, Fort Worth Carter - Riverside center; Drew Houghton, Highland Park center; and backs Johnny Flake, Lubbock Monterrey; Ronnine Goodwin, Odessa; Paul Lea, Terrell; Joe Ed Pesch, Breckenridge; Gary Jennings, Burkburnett; Donald Davis, Stamford; James Parker, Sweetwater, and Wayne Fields, Big Spring.

GPL ALL-STARS IN REGION TOURNEY ACTION TONIGHT

LUFKIN — Snyder and South San Antonio will meet in the first game of the Region 7 Tournament of the Graduate Pony League here today.

The game will be at 6:30 p.m. Playing in the second game will be winners of GPL district tournaments held at Garland and Houston. Lufkin, fifth team in the tourney, drew a bye in the first round of the double-elimination tournament, which will last through Saturday night.

Winner of the Regional tournament here will go to the GPL World Series at Springfield, Ill., later this month.

Snyder won the district tournament at McCamey to advance to the regional event, and South San Antonio was winner of a district tournament held at Beeville.

Junior Golf Tournament Is Underway

In the championship flight, Hall is matched with Edward Schulz, who qualified with a 48, while Pickering faces Bruce Brooks, with a qualifying score of 49.

First flight matches include Johnny Conley, who qualified with a 50, vs. Charlie Park, 51; and Jerry Vestal, 50, vs. Bennie Minor, 53.

In the second flight are Glenn Ward, 55, vs. Fred Finley, 60, and a three-way match between Sterling Parker Jr., 57, Lee McKinley, 57, and Terry Looney, 58.

Okla. St. Awards Lee Scholarship

Terry Lee, outstanding gridder and baseballer for the Snyder Tigers, has been awarded a football scholarship by Oklahoma State University.

The award was confirmed in a letter to Lee from Cliff Speegle, head coach at the Oklahoma college. Lee is to go there Sept. 16.

A two-year football letterman and four-year baseball letterman on varsity teams in Snyder High School, Lee was given honorable mention last school year to all-district teams for both sports.

Outstanding as a tackle for the Tiger grid team, Lee was one of the top five defensive players on number of tackles and assists for the past season.

Lee played through junior high and spent a year on the Tiger freshman team and a year on the B team before moving to the varsity for his last two years.

During his four years of varsity baseball, Lee played every position except shortstop and second base. As a pitcher, he hurled only one game during the past high school baseball season, but that was a crucial one. Lee was winning pitcher in the only bi-district game Snyder won in a two-out-of-three series with Mineral Wells.

Lee, who will be 18 in November, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Lee, 4103 Denison Avenue. During the summer he has been working as a roustabout for SACROC.

Lee's scholarship is the fourth athletic scholarship announced for 1959 Tiger graduates. Others announced so far are those of Mickey McGrew, who will go to Texas A & M; Richard Mahan, who will attend Texas Tech; and Ronnie Giles, who will play at McMurry College.

TERRY LEE

Other former Tigers who are to be in lineups this fall at various colleges are Jack Spikes, senior, Milton Ham, junior, and Bill Phillips, sophmore, all at Texas Christian University; Powell Berry, junior at Texas A & M; George Herring, senior at North Texas State College; Larry Mullins, sophomore at Texas Tech; Shorty Grimmett and Don McNew, seniors at Hardin-Simmons University; Robert James, senior at McMurry College; and Dickie Martin sophomore who transferred from Texas Western to San Angelo College.

The 1960 National Women's Open golf championship is listed for the Worcester Country Club at Worcester, Massachusetts.

National Open golf champion Billy Casper was tied for sixth place with nine others after the first round of the 1959 tournament.

Junior Editors Quiz on HISTORY

QUESTION: Who were the Aztecs?

• • •

ANSWER: The Aztecs were a group of Indians who lived in Mexico. No one knows definitely where they came from. By 1300 A.D. they had settled in the valley of Mexico and begun to erect great temples and huge community buildings. They founded a great civilization. The Aztecs had an elaborate stystem of picture writing and their Calendar Stone, which is now in the National Museum of Mexico City, indicates they had a system of measuring time. They apparently had knowledge of the stars and their orbits. Their physicians and surgeons showed a remarkable degree of skill and there is evidence they had hospitals. But the race was dominated by a cruel religion based on human sacrifice. The Aztecs were conquered in the early 1500s by the Spaniards under the leadership of Cortez.

• • •

FOR YOU TO DO: When Cortes first arrived in Mexico, the Aztecs welcomed him because they thought he was Quetzalcoatl. See if you can find out in the library who Quetzalcoatl was.

• • •

Ex-Yale Football Star Found Dead

HAMDEN, Conn. (AP) — Seven weeks ago, Joseph P. Crowley, a former Yale football star, was cleared in a sensational Tokyo trial of slaying his brother-in-law.

Today Crowley himself lay dead, felled on his 50th birthday, the cause not precisely determined. Authorities indicate he may have died from barbiturates.

Crowley's body was found by his son Joseph Monday on a bed in his home in Hamden, a New Haven suburb. He wore trousers and a sweater. Authorities said he probably died Sunday night while his family was at its summer home.

Coroner James Corrigan said an autopsy revealed conditions "consistent with barbituric aid or barbiturate poisoning."

But the coroner said the autopsy was inconclusive. A toxicological report expected today should clear up the cause of death, he said. Police suspected no foul play.

Crowley's death came just as he was rebuilding the life he'd led up until May 1958—that of a prosperous businessman whose standing in the New Haven area was enhanced by his exploits nearly 30 years ago as a Yale football hero.

Crowley's wife Betty is a daughter of the late T. A. D. Jones Sr., a famed football coach of years ago and a one-time All-America player.

It was T. A. D. Jones Jr., 45, Crowley's business partner and Betty Crowley's brother, that Crowley was accused of killing in Tokyo last year.

Crowley and Jones arrived in Tokyo May 5, 1958, looking for an oil tanker for their New Haven fuel oil firm, T. D. D. Jones Co.

Three days later, Jones' battered body was found in the hotel room the two men shared. Blood was on walls and curtains.

Crowley told police — and held to the story later in a manslaughter trial that lasted nearly 12 months—that he had nothing to do with Jones' death.

He testified that the pair had gone out to sample the city's night life the night before, had done some drinking, and returned to their hotel. What happened after they got to the hotel was a blank in his memory, Crowley said.

The prosecutors cited the husky ex-halfback's record as an athlete—he starred on Yale football teams of 1930-31-32. They charged that the defendant quarreled with Jones and used his fists to beat him to death. They asked that he be sentenced to four years at hard labor.

Crowley's lawyers told the court's three judges that Jones probably caused his own death by falling about the room.

On June 22, the judges announced the evidence was not sufficient to convict Crowley of having inflicted the injuries that caused Jones' death.

Crowley and his wife, who had joined him in Tokyo, left by plane days later, despite the objections of the prosecutors. They said he was morally obligated to stay until they could decide if they wanted to appeal the verdict.
