Finland's Blonde Is Now 'Miss Universe'

By BILL BECKER
LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—A perfect Scandinavian beauty—Finland's blonde Armi Kuusela—rules as Miss Universe today.

One of her country's official greeters at next month's Olympic games, 28-year-old Miss Kuusela reveled in her royal reception here after besting beauties from 29 other lands.

The fair, blue-eyed Finn was crowned with a diamond-studded coronet that once graced the heads of three Czars of Russia. At her coronation ball last night, she received a motion picture contract, a $3,000 sports car and a $2,500 wrist watch.

Selected as "the most beautiful girl in the world," Miss Finland is 5 feet 5 inches tall and weighs 110 pounds. It is symmetrically distributed on a figure measuring 34, 23 and 34 inches around bust, waist and hips.

The apple-cheeked schoolgirl from Muhos, a little town in North Finland, plans to fly back to Helsinki this week. But she indicated she probably will come to Hollywood after the Olympics. Her plans of attending the University of Helsinki and going into school teaching have been sidetracked.

Miss Hawaii, dark-eyed brunette Elna Edman, was a close second. The honey-skinned 15-year-old Honolulu girl made a particularly impressive showing in the bathing suit division. Judging also was based on performance in evening gowns.

Miss Greece, Daisy Mavraki, 18, of Crete, was third, with Miss Hong Kong, Judy Dan, 21, fourth, and Miss Germany, Renate Hoy, 21, of Munich was fifth.

Miss Universe smilingly accepted a Universal-International contract calling for a minimum of six months. The starting salary is $250 a week.

Miss United States, Jackie Loughery, 21, of Brooklyn, was eliminated in the semi-finals.

Heat Wave Showing No Sign Of Let-Up

By The Associated Press
A blistering heat wave, of more than a week's duration in some areas, showed little let-up over Southern and Central parts of the country today.

Some rain and wind storms hit parts of the sun-baked sections in the Eastern half of the nation, bringing temporary relief. Rain fell in sections of the parched Southern states, where crops are threatened by the prolonged hot-dry spell.

It was a week end of stifling heat in many areas. Temperatures in the 90s to as high as 108 were reported in Central and Southern states east of the Rockies. Refreshing breezes and rain storms brought relief to hot spots in sections of the East and South Atlantic states.

The death toll from the summer season's longest stretch of hot weather mounted toward the 200 mark. Thousands of persons have been hospitalized for heat prostration.

Beaches, parks and resort areas were jammed with millions trying to escape the scorching heat. In Chicago, sweltering the 11th day of 90-degree or higher temperatures in June, an estimated one million persons swarmed to the city's dozen Lake Michigan beaches.

It was a record June 29 reading of 96, and today's high of 87 was expected to be followed by a top of 98 and high humidity tomorrow.

In St. Louis—wary from five consecutive days of temperatures above 100—the prospect was for more of the same for the next few days. Yesterday's reading was 104, marking the 25th day of 90 or higher this month. Twenty-four persons have died from effects of the heat.

But in Malden, Mo., the mercury climbed higher, hitting 108, the top mark posted in the U. S. Weather Bureau's map. Kansas City stayed in the weather hot-box with a top of 102. It was 104 in Chanute, Kan., 103 in Nashville, 101 in Wichita, 100 in Memphis and Toledo, 99 in Columbus, 98 in Cincinnati and Oklahoma City and 93 in Des Moines.

Thunderstorms struck New York City about midnight, dissipating the threat of immediate hot weather.

Similar storms hit Washington, D. C., and various parts of Maryland, which has been hard hit by the hot spell. Winds up to 65 miles an hour swept Baltimore and in the Chesapeake Bay area.

Other storms struck in the area of Newark, O., Pittsburgh and in sections of the Southeast. One rain belt extended from the Tuscaloosa-Birmingham area in Alabama across middle and Northern Georgia and over most of Northwestern South Carolina. The rain did millions of dollars of good to heat-imperturbed tobacco, peanut and melon crops.

Republican Governors Gloomy Over Their Party Prospects

By JACK BELL
HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Gloomy Republican governors forecast difficulties for their party in November as warring Democrats talked today of civil rights issues which might let them win the presidency.

Forecasters said the Republicans would be the underdogs in the general election came from two supporters of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower—Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll of New Jersey and Gov. Walter Kohler of Wisconsin. They agreed the GOP nominee would be the outsider in the betting whether he is Eisenhower or Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

On the other hand, Democratic executives gathered for the annual Governors Conference here sounded a back-thumping note of confidence that they will win with any nominee they can agree upon at their Chicago convention.

Many of them, however, were waiting for a scheduled news conference answer by Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois to the often-repeated question of what he might do about a presidential draft movement.

There was no indication that Stevenson would travel beyond his latest observation that it remains to be seen what might happen in that event.

Gov. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina, firebrand of the Southern Democratic battle against President Truman's civil rights program, could supply some information on Stevenson's chances later in the day, if he chose to.

The former Supreme Court justice and secretary of state was keeping a tight rein on any comment but friends assayed an analysis of his position as this:

He would oppose—possibly to the extent of an open revolt—any nominee who embraced a platform plank calling for action by Congress on such controversial issues as certain of a Fair Employment Practices Commission (FEPC) with powers to enforce its rulings against job discrimination.

There was no answer, however, to reporters' questions as to whether he threatened revolt would occur if such a potential nominee as Stevenson, with Southern family connections, headed a ticket which ran on a platform pledging affirmative action on civil rights proposals.

Gov. Paul A. Devers of Massachusetts, the Democratic keynoteer, left no doubt he hopes the party-splitting civil rights issue can be compromised. Devers said he thinks almost any Democratic nominee can win in November.

He included in this, Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia, champion of the anti-civil rights group. He said Taft would be more difficult to beat than Eisenhower.

While observers left some room for natural optimism on the part of Devers, Driscoll and Kohler made it plain they think the Republicans have some corn-row hoeing to do before they can reasonably expect a victory in November.

"I don't think any Republican is going to have an easy chance to win the presidency this year," Kohler told a news conference.

He said he believes the task would be much easier if Eisenhower is the nominee than if Taft wins at the convention opening July 7 at Chicago.

He and Driscoll agreed they will work just as hard for Taft as for Eisenhower, if the Ohio senator wins the nomination.

Driscoll said he thinks some Republicans are living in a "never-never land" of dreams that their candidate will be a shoe-in next November.

Gov. Dan Thornton of Colorado, an Eisenhower rooster forecast that the general would win the nomination on the third ballot at Chicago.

Gov. Val Peterson of Nebraska, defeated by Sen. Hugh Butler for the senatorial nomination from his state, opened the conference formally. Peterson, an Eisenhower backer, is chairman of the conference.

Peterson told his colleagues in a prepared address that state governments are not entirely in the clear on the same kind of corruption charges that have been made against the federal government.

"Some corruption has touched us as today it soils our central government," Peterson declared. "As the federal government has encroached upon the proper sphere of the states, we, too, have encroached upon the rightful fields of the units of local government."

Eisenhower Is Resting As Convention Draws Closer

DENVER (AP)—Rest and relaxation topped Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's agenda today.

The general paved his schedule of official duties to the bone as his aides made ready for the pre-convention move to Chicago either Friday or Saturday.

With the exception of a 50-minute meeting with delegates from North Dakota, Eisenhower was not in his headquarters yesterday.

He went to church with Mrs. Eisenhower, played golf at the Cherry Hills Country Club, and last night was guest of honor at a barbecue at the home of a friend.

His top aides reportedly were considering a local radio broadcast in which he would thank the people of Denver for the way they have treated him, his party and the delegates who have journeyed here to see him. The broadcast is tentatively set for Wednesday night but no definite decision has been made.

John Hjellum of Jamestown, N. D., GOP delegate and Eisenhower booster, told reporters that "scurrilous, defamatory literature" against Eisenhower has been pouring into the state.

"So much is being received from anonymous sources that I believe it is turning sympathy to the general," Hjellum said.

Hjellum was one of four North Dakota delegates who visited with Eisenhower.

The Associated Press tabulation of delegate strength in North Dakota shows eight for Taft, one for Eisenhower and five uncommitted.

A spokesman for the North Dakota group said they talked with Eisenhower chiefly about farm problems. Hjellum quoted the general as saying he favored continued operation of the Commodity Credit Corporation and its crop support program.

Volcano Heat May Be Used For Power
MEXICO CITY, June 30 (AP)—E. H. Dignowity, a Denison, Tex., chemist, said yesterday he had submitted to the Mexican government a plan to use heat from Paricutin volcano to produce power.

Dignowity said a pilot plant would cost $17,200. He said he was working on the project with Dr. Francisco Garcia Junto, chief Physicist of the University of Mexico.

He said the plan calls for heating coils of cobalt water pipe with lava and using the steam to run electric generators.

Case Is Appealed To Supreme Court

BOISE, Idaho (AP)—Lt. Orton T. Campbell, who says the government has spent half a million dollars to keep him discharged from a $5,450-a-year job in the Government Printing Office, said yesterday he had appealed his case to the U. S. Supreme Court.

He was notified by the high court, he said, that his brief had been filed for the October term.

Campbell, now stationed here with the Air Force, was employed by the printing office before World War II. After his discharge from the Air Force, he claims, he was rehired as a new employee.

He sued for his former position and was upheld by a U. S. District Court in Washington. At that time, a Justice Department attorney said the litigation had cost the government half a million dollars.

FIGHT MOVES TO CHICAGO Texas' Warring GOP Factions To Meet Committee Tuesday

By The Associated Press
The Republican eyes of Texas turned to Chicago Monday where state backers of Sen. Taft and Gen. Eisenhower were preparing their delegate dispute for the national GOP committee.

The warring factions will meet the committee Tuesday to present evidence in the fight over Texas' 38 delegates. Because of the close race in delegate strength, the Texas ruling may be decisive.

Meanwhile, Texas backers of Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio released an 84-page brief Sunday night saying the basic issue is whether or not Democrats should be allowed to take over the Republican Party in Texas.

The Taft Republicans released what they said were stories by witnesses of violence, mob rule intimidation and illegal procedures by backers of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in Texas precinct and county conventions.

Wednesday the Eisenhower forces released a 48-page brief charging illegal action by Taft Republicans.

In Chicago, representatives of both factions met Sunday with National Chairman Guy G. Gabrielson and agreed on rules for settling contested delegates.

The main issues settled were:

1. All contested delegations will be called in alphabetical order. 2. All contest hearings will be open to the press and public. 3. After open committee hearings on the contested delegations the arguments will go to closed executive sessions and be voted on there. Any members of the committee involved in the disputes will not be permitted to vote.

The meeting could not agree on the time allotted for argument. Further conferences were scheduled.

No decision was made on broadcasting and televising the hearings. Top officials of the Columbia Broadcasting System said Sunday that exclusion of radio and television from the delegate hearings

Rites Held Sunday For Mishap Victim

COLORADO CITY, June 30—Services for Percy Edward Hawk, 54, killed in a tractor-truck accident two miles north of Roby Saturday morning, were held Sunday afternoon from the Kiker and Son Chapel, with the Rev. R. B. Murray officiating.

Hawk, a resident of Colorado City, had been working land near Rotan for the Carriger Seed Farms and was driving the tractor south toward the farm headquarters near Roby at the time of the accident. A truck, driven by Dennis Hammond, about 26, caught the tool bar of the tractor while passing on a bridge, flipping the truck against the bridge railing and back to the highway. Hawk fell from the tractor and was taken to a Rotan Hospital but was dead on arrival.

After the service at Colorado City, the body was taken to Mount Vernon for burial. Hawk was a member of the Primitive Baptist Church and had previously lived at Sulphur Bluff.

Armistice Talks Resume Tomorrow

MUSAN, Korea (U)—The tightly deadlocked Korean armistice talks resume tomorrow after a three-day recess called by the Allies and protested by the Communists.

In advance of tomorrow's session there was little hope of any crack in the war prisoner deadlock, now nearly two months old.

would be "discrimination of the bluntest sort."

Adrian Murphy, CBS radio president, and J. L. Van Volkenburg, CBS television president, made a joint plea for coverage of the hearings in a telegram to Gabrielson with copies to Taft and Eisenhower. Henry Zweifel of Fort Worth, leader of the Taft delegate group from Texas said he would like to have the hearings televised. Eisenhower leaders previously made similar demands.

Eisenhower's national campaign manager, Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, entered the Dallas dispute Sunday with a statement that "the Republican-national committee has a chance to catch up with public opinion and repudiate the out-and-out dishonesty in Texas which has endangered the very success of our party at the polls."

"While the committee is dominated by Taft supporters, I hope that the members will be bound by the elementary rules of fair play and decency and at least listen to the evidence that we will present to them."

Lodge said that in addition to the evidence he plans to submit to the contest committee a letter written on Jan. 1, 1949, by the late R. B. Creager, then Republican national committeeman from Texas.

The Creager letter, Lodge said, announced the appointment of Jack Porter of Houston as chairman of the "campaign committee for two-party government in Texas." Porter now is leader of the Eisenhower delegate group from Texas.

Women Lacking In Recognition, Judge Asserts

BOSTON, June 30 (U)—District Judge Sarah T. Hughes of Texas said today "women's lack of real influence in government is demonstrated by the few women holding public office."

She told the 11th biennial convention of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs that "considering the number of public officials, women can hardly be said to have approached a fair share of public recognition."

Judge Hughes listed the following six points that "women must fight for to gain full citizenship":

1. All existing legal discriminations must be removed by passage of the equal rights amendment.

2. Women must be willing to accept responsibility and actively participate in politics.

3. Women must be accepted by men as full partners.

4. Full citizenship includes daily practice of democratic principles.

5. Full citizenship requires a realization that this is one world.

6. Women to be effective citizens need faith—a firm belief in themselves and their ability, faith in our country—the principles of liberty and freedom, faith in the attainment of peace.

At yesterday's opening session, Miss Helen Irwin, Des Moines, Iowa, insurance executive, was nominated for the presidency.

Miss Irwin was the only presidential nominee in a state returned by the nomination committee. Nominations, however, may be made from the floor before the election Wednesday.

Contested Groups Will Get Spotlight

CHICAGO (U)—Preliminaries to the Republican National Convention started today with a fight over contested delegates "haping up as the main event prior to next Monday's big political show."

Sen. Robert A. Taft, one of the chief candidates for the presidential nomination, was in Chicago to take charge of the final week in his campaign. He arrived from Washington by plane early today.

Representatives of the Ohio senator and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, his chief rival for the nomination, met last night with Guy G. Gabrielson, GOP national chairman, to discuss rules and procedures for settling contests over seating disputed delegations.

Another meeting was planned today. But the sessions are a preliminary to the expected showdown fight scheduled to start tomorrow when the national committee begins to hear contests.

The contests involve convention votes from eight states and Puerto Rico. The sharpest fight is expected to revolve around Texas' 38 disputed seats. Other delegations involved in state contests and votes are Florida with 18; Louisiana with six; Georgia and Mississippi, each with four and Missouri and Kansas with one each.

In each contest, there are two sets of delegates seeking recognition, one group backing Taft and the other Eisenhower.

Gabrielson said appeals from decision of the national committee may be taken to the Credentials Committee. This would carry the fights over contests into the convention sessions starting next Monday at the International Amphitheatre.

Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts, Eisenhower's campaign manager, has said the fight over the seating of the Texas delegation will be taken to the convention

Bus Drivers To Vote On Strike

SAN ANTONIO, June 30 (U)—If negotiations for a new transit workers' contract fail today, AFL drivers and mechanics plan to take a strike vote early tomorrow.

Ed Wiemar, president of the local motor coach employees union, announced the strike vote yesterday.

The union has asked a straight 10 cents an hour increase for its 761 drivers and mechanics. They now have an average hourly wage of $1.35.

Wiemar said the company had agreed to the wage increase and the only dispute was over the date when the raise would go into effect.

The union wants the raise effective immediately. The San Antonio Transit Co. wants the increase effective when the company's application for a fare increase is approved by the city.

Driver Law Is Attacked And Some Parts Seem To Lack In Realism

Homer Garrison, director of the Department of Public Safety, served notice the other day that he would ask the next Legislature to levy a tax of one half of one per cent of all motor vehicle bodily injury and property damage liability insurance premiums collected in Texas as a means of financing enforcement of the drivers' safety responsibility law. He estimated this would yield about $450,000. It would, of course, be passed on to the motoring public, in one form or another. Meantime, in Tyler State Senator Warren McDonald of Hillsboro filed suit charging that the driver responsibility act is "unconstitutional, vague and ambiguous." He filed the suit in behalf of a client who had been notified by the Department of Public Safety that his driver's license and also his license plates must be returned to the department by July 16 as a result of an accident last April 12. McDonald got a temporary court order for his client, enjoining the department from enforcing its demand until its legality can be determined.

He charges that the bill attempts to confer judicial powers upon the department which it may not lawfully exercise and permits the department to "deprive this petitioner of this property without due process of law and denies him the equal protection of the law." It also alleges the petitioner was not the cause of the accident, that he was off the side of the road when another fellow drove into him. It remains to be seen what the courts will do with this case, of course. But in our horseback, laymen's opinion it does seem a bit thick to deprive a man of his car, which may also be his means of livelihood, without judicial determination. Impounding the license plates, of course, is the same as impounding the car, since it can't be driven without the plates. It goes even further than that. Suppose a man's wife or sons need the use of the car, which they are in every way licensed and qualified to drive. Can they be deprived of this right short of judicial determination, after due and proper hearing? Well, we shall see.

TV Debate Would Help People Make Up Minds About A Presidential Choice

WASHINGTON (AP)—We could all make up our minds better about the presidential hopefuls if they'd just have a nice debate face-to-face, on television. For instance, Sen. Robert Taft and Gen. Dwight Eisenhower in one debate and some of the would-be Democratic candidates in another.

Then, after the Democratic and Republican conventions in Chicago each pick a candidate, those two winners could debate on TV. Not just once. As often as necessary. And none of the TV debates, before or after the conventions, would have to be 30-minute quickies. Instead, full dress debates, even if they took hours.

This wouldn't be asking too much of the men or the networks. If all the TV time already used by the candidates individually was laid end to end it would amount to many hours anyway. There's nothing new in the debate-between-candidates idea. It's at least 94 years old. Lincoln and Douglas debated before big crowds in Illinois when they ran for the Senate in 1858.

Blood Donations Needed To Help Hold Down Casualties In Battle

General Omar Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, said not long ago that "ninety-eight out of every hundred wounded in Korea are being saved." And "one of the most important reasons for the reduction in our military death rate has been the availability of plasma at the battlefield and whole blood in the hospitals." The usual "summer slump" in blood donations is on, and the American Red Cross is making a special appeal for blood to offset this situation, which is acute. The Red Cross has had a commitment since September of 1951 to furnish the armed services with 300,000 pints of whole blood every month, some of which is flown directly to Korea. It never has been able completely to meet this quota, and certainly the "summer slump" in all parts of the country will aggravate the scarcity. Whole blood is being used in treatment of the wounded in Korea at a higher rate than in World War II, a fact that may be reflected in the miraculous record of 98 per cent effectiveness in saving life. The record shows that the average case requires four pints of whole blood and two units of blood plasma. It takes about two and a half pints of whole blood to make one unit of plasma.

The Red Cross reports that facilities for taking whole blood are now available in almost every part of the nation. At one time or another almost every American of the proper age and of good health has the opportunity to make a blood donation. The fact that more of them are not doing it suggests that too many Americans do not understand or appreciate what it means to the wounded in Korea. In this area, it is easy to give blood during the visits of the bloodmobile. Our record was good; in due time we should repeat. Science has produced some "blood extenders," and the Civil Defense Administration has contracted to buy 1,200,000 pints of one kind—a synthetic product that does not require refrigeration. But this "extender" does not replace whole blood or blood plasma, since it is good only for the first 12 to 24 hours of treatment.

Gallup Poll

Kefauver Still Holds Lead Over Taft In Presidential Trial Heat

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director, American Institute of Public Opinion. PRINCETON, N. J.—In a final pre-convention "trial heat" matching Taft on the Republican ticket against Kefauver on the Democratic ticket, the Institute finds Kefauver leading Taft by a small margin, mainly because of the former's popularity among Independent voters. A cross-section of persons in all walks of life was asked the following question: "Suppose Taft is the Republican candidate and Kefauver the Democratic candidate, which party would you like to see win the presidential election—the Republican party or the Democratic party?" Here is the vote: Kefauver 50%, Taft 41%, No opinion 9%.

Table showing poll results for Kefauver vs. Ike. Categories include G.O.P. Voters Only, Independent Voters, and Democratic Voters, with percentages for Kefauver, Taft, and No opinion.

In an earlier test reported June 13 Kefauver also ran ahead with 50 per cent, to 41 per cent for Taft. In May the vote was 49 per cent for the Tennessee Senator, 41 per cent for Senator Taft. If Taft and Kefauver are actually the nominees in this year's election race, one of Taft's chief problems will be to win over a majority of Independent voters and a higher percentage of Democrats. By contrast, Eisenhower's problem, if he is nominated, will be to hold those Independents and Democrats who are now for him. As reported last week in an Eisenhower vs. Kefauver "trial heat," General Ike runs substantially ahead of Kefauver 17

Stage Folk Move For Summer, Run Into Housing Troubles

NEW YORK—This is the moving season of the summertime when Broadway actors and other stage folk are chosing up houses, moving from summer theater to summer theater or else transferring to Italy, France and other European studios where they are making pictures. Some of them are having trouble in that they have leases on New York apartments yet have to move out to the hayloft theaters for a week or two weeks while they do a show. Then they come back to Manhattan for their radio and television shows, and find that they can't get back into their apartments which have been subletted. In Radio Row today I was talking with Bob Shaw, who writes the radio program, "Mr. District Attorney," and discovered that it isn't only stage actors who have moving problems. "In the last six years," Shaw said, "I have moved from New York to Connecticut, from Connecticut to New York, from New York to Connecticut, and from Connecticut to New York." And last week he was moving back to

Connecticut, to East Rocks Road, Norwalk. "I once had an ambition to be a glbe trotter," Shaw said, "and write a book about my trip around the world. Now I don't think I will have to go that far. I have enough material about my trips from New York to Connecticut and back."

Horses For Thai

SINGAPORE (AP)—Forty-five Australian horses—replacements for Thailand's (Siam's) Royal Cavalry—arrived here aboard the freighter, Carpentaria, and began an overland railway journey to Bangkok. Australian stockman and horse-breaker, Pat Rice, who accompanied the consignment, said: "Horses have a short life in Thailand (Siam) because of unobtainable grasses. Mounts for the Royal Cavalry have to be constantly replaced."

Progressives Will Be On Some Ballots

NEW YORK (AP)—C. B. Baldwin, secretary of the Progressive Party, says his party's candidates will be on the ballot in 35 to 40 states this year and will hold the balance of power in some states. Baldwin said yesterday the party has won a place for its candidates on the ballot in New York, Pennsylvania, Michigan, California and Missouri among others. But he did not name the states where he claimed a balance of power. The Progressive party polled about 1,157,000 out of nearly 49 million votes cast in the 1948 election. Henry Wallace, its presidential nominee in '48, has left the party because he disagreed with its opposition to the Korean War. Baldwin said about 3,000 delegates from 44 states would attend the three-day convention of the party, which opens in Chicago on Friday. The party's presidential ticket already has been named with Vincent Hallinan heading it.

Man's Own Carelessness Reason For Decline Of Duck And Quail

The opinions contained in this and other articles in this column are solely those of the writers who sign them. They are not to be interpreted as necessarily reflecting the opinions of The Herald—Editor's Note. Will the Quail and the Duck be as rare a few decades from now as the Whooping Crane is now? Myrtle J. Broley, writing in a recent issue of the Texas Game and Fish Magazine, suggests the decrease in the population of our birds can be blamed more than a little bit on man's own carelessness. Unless we exercise more caution, she adds, others will go, too. One of the winged creatures that has disappeared from the face of the earth, from all indications, is the Passenger Pigeon. In 1808, one Alexander Wilson wrote of a flock of passenger pigeons he saw containing over two billion birds; yet in 1914 the last known bird of that species died in captivity. The plumpness of the Takehe, a New Zealand bird, helped to hasten its doom. When the Maori landed there, they found the flesh of the fowl pleasant and killed so many of these birds that by the time the first white settlers arrived the birds were very scarce. Another New Zealand bird, the Moa, disappeared about five centuries ago. Its distinguishing mark was its height—11 feet tall as ten feet, which is at least two feet taller than the largest living ostrich. An even larger bird than the Moa was the Elephant Bird of Madagascar, the egg of which was 13 inches in length and which had a liquid capacity of two gallons. The last Auk was found in Newfoundland in 1853. Whalers slaughtered the bird for its oil and a few of its feathers. Another bird that belongs to the ages now is the Labrador Duck, last of which was shot in 1875. Still others that are gone include the Heath Hen, which has exited through the birds' Valhalla in our lifetime. The Whooping Crane is fighting a losing battle. Such birds as the Egret and the Humming Bird were saved by Federal decree. Perhaps the game agencies will take drastic measures to save the rest. —TOMMY HART.

MacArthur Would Accept Second Spot On Ticket Headed By Taft

WASHINGTON—A quiet move is under way among some Taft supporters to nominate General MacArthur as vice president on the Taft ticket. They figure that after the general finishes his keynote speech he will receive such popular acclaim that it would not be difficult to put him across for the No. 2 place. Though there's been some question as to whether MacArthur would accept the vice presidential nomination, one man, Publisher John H. Perry, has sounded him out and found him receptive. Perry, a friend of Senator Taft, was talking with MacArthur about the political picture generally and Taft especially. He told the general that he felt Taft was fairly sure of being nominated and that the ticket would be strong indeed if MacArthur were to run for vice president. "Let it never be said," replied MacArthur, "that I shirked a call to duty." He went on to state at some length that his country had given him a magnificent education at West Point, had paid and supported him for fifty years. Therefore, he was at the command of his country. The most significant votes frequently are not those on the floor on Congress but in the secrecy of committee. Likewise, the most significant votes are not always on bills which will become laws, but on the confirmation of men appointed to carry out the laws. Three different votes took place last week on three men entrusted with carrying out the laws and guarding the interest of the public. They showed how far the Senate has drifted away from safeguarding the public. Here are the three different votes on the three different alleged public watchdogs: WATCHDOG NO. 2—Tom Buchanan, chairman of the Federal Power Commission, was vetoed by the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee. He had served on the commission for four years, fought for the consumer against the big gas and oil companies, was the only commissioner to oppose the principles of the Kerr Gas Bill which will soon hike the cost of natural gas to housewives by about $100,000,000 annually. Though Buchanan was reappointed by Truman last May, the Senate committee stalled action on his appointment for almost two solid months, thanks to the secret maneuvering of the gas lobby. Finally, the Woman Athlete Won Three Tests The modern Olympic games have been held twice in Greece, twice in France, twice in England, twice in the United States and once each in Holland, Belgium, Sweden, and Germany. The main program of the present year is to take place in Finland, starting after the middle of July. The winter sports part of the present Olympic games took place the past winter in Norway. Twice there have been Olympic winter sports programs at St. Moritz, a canton of Switzerland. Diving events are to be among the features this summer. There will be springboard diving and high diving. Some of the diving events are described as "fancy." Many divers will make one or more somersaults on their way to the water. These events will be recorded in motion pictures; perhaps you will see some beautiful Olympic diving when news reels are shown at theaters a few weeks from now. Americans have won most of the diving contests at the Olympics through the years. This is true of the events for women, as well as men. At the Olympics in England four years ago, Victoria Draves of the U.S.A. made a splendid record by winning most points for fancy springboard diving, also for plain and fancy high diving. Never before had any woman diver won such a large number of points in Olympic diving. In track and field events for women, the victories have been divided among various countries. Four years ago, Fanny Blankers-Koen of Holland won both the 100-meter and the 200-meter races, also the 80-meter hurdle. During the same Olympic meeting, a Frenchwoman—Micheline Ostermeyer—won two first places—the discus throw and the shot put. She put the shot 45 feet one and a half inches. Before we start comparing that with the records of men, let us note that metal balls of lighter weight are hurled by women than by men. The first time that women competed in track and field events at the Olympics (24 years ago) Canada won the 400-meter relay race for women. In the next two Olympics this event was won by the United States, but four years ago Holland came in first. In the running high jump, Ethel Catherwood of Canada set the mark of five feet and three inches. This has been tied once, but so far never has been beaten by a woman in an Olympic contest. Great Strides Made In Cerebral Palsy Treatment

By DR. MARTHA M. ELIOT
Chief, Children's Bureau

Frank sat at the window, looking out on the playground. He could hear the voices of the other children. "Aw, come on, we can play even if we only have eight to a team. There aren't any other kids around, that's all."

He watched the boys choosing up sides for the baseball games. Close to his ear, he heard the persistent buzz-buzz of a fly. It finally settled on his forehead. He reached to slap it away, but his hand went away from, instead of toward his face. He grunted unintelligibly and tried with the same results. He rocked back and forth in his wheelchair. Finally, the fly flew away.

Frank turned back to the window. As he did every afternoon, he watched the children at their play, knowing he could not join them now, or next year, or probably ever.

Why? Because Frank has cerebral palsy. He cannot control all his muscles. He cannot always even feed himself successfully. Getting dressed is a major task, with which he needs help. Talking so that others can understand is often difficult.

Six out of every 100,000 persons have cerebral palsy. No single cause for the condition has been found. But more than half the children who have it could be helped to do more for themselves by a thorough-going program of care and treatment. It certainly is not a job that parents can do alone. Best results come when parents, members of the medical team and teachers work hand in hand. All must encourage a child to do what he can for himself.

Within the past two decades, rising public interest in children with this condition has resulted in vast increases in both public and private programs to help a child so afflicted learn to make the best of his handicap.

California tackled the problem during the early forties, and through the co-operation of its State Departments of Public Health and Education and the University of California has set up a plan which includes diagnostic centers, where a course of treatment may be recommended for children with cerebral palsy.

Some children may also be assigned to residential schools, where they can get educational training and other needed services while they learn to make better use of their bodies. From such residential schools, many children with cerebral palsy can graduate to special classes in public schools.

Some children with cerebral palsy can attend regular school classes, and learn to become partially or totally independent. When a child reaches the age of 16, he may be given some guidance on his future vocation by the State Bureau of Vocational Rehabilitation.

For the relatively small percent who need continuing care because of the severity of the handicapping condition, a need is recognized for institutions where such physically handicapped and mentally retarded children may go. In some areas of the country, establishment of such institutions on a regional basis is being considered.

Indiana has a program for the care of cerebral palsy children working through the Indiana State Department of Public Welfare and Center. The State's Cerebral Palsy Clinic is staffed with doctors, a psychologist, social worker and therapists, who assist in diagnosing and treating the problems of cerebral palsy.

Therapists work out a home treatment program for the parents to follow. They learn how to give exercises which will help prevent muscles from contracting, will help relax muscles and will help a child to co-ordinate his movements, teach him to sit, crawl, walk, and talk.

The fact that parents of children with cerebral palsy have banded together to help their children has contributed largely to changing public attitudes toward the place such children can find in society. It is encouraging that services to help such parents are growing in many parts of the nation.

T&T Welding Truck Keeps A Busy Pace

This afternoon it may be a run to the oil fields or a construction job to deliver welding equipment, but in those darkest hours before dawn the same truck may make an emergency run to one of the hospitals in this area with a container of one of the gases so frequently used in surgery and otherwise in saving human life.

Both are the business of the T&T Welding Supply Company, with places of business at 605 E. Second Street in Big Spring, and at Colorado City. This firm is prepared to supply not only everything needed for a complete welding job but is also distributor for all types of surgical and medicinal gases used in the hospitals and by physicians, dentists and their allied professions.

This may appear to most people to be something of a rather mixed up business at the T&T Welding Supply Company, but it isn't when understood. The producers of the finest welding gases it is possible to obtain, are also the producers of the finest surgical and medicinal gases it is possible to obtain. They prefer to have the same responsible distributor for both types of gases and after making a very thorough investigation as to a dealer's reliability and integrity the contract for distribution is awarded.

It was because the T&T Welding Supply Company of Big Spring and Colorado City so fully measured up to the high standards set by the manufacturer of these gases, that they were awarded the distribution franchise. These gases are also received and stored under conditions which insure the maximum freshness and strength and safety.

The T&T Welding Supply Company with its Big Spring place of business at 605 East Second Street, is also the authorized distributor for the famous Prest-O-Lite acetylene appliances of the Linde Air Products Company, and in their stores can be found all the supplies and equipment needed for any welding job from repairing a break in a small steel rod to doing the welding construction work on one of the T&P Railway's fast Diesel passenger trains. No matter how small or how large the welding job

Welding Supply Company stores at Big Spring and Colorado City, and because they have consistently striven to supply the very highest type of supplies and equipment at the lowest possible price consistent with the high quality of their merchandise.

Western Insulating Has A Quick Answer For Problems

Whatever your problem is in sheetmetal work, Western Insulating Company, 207 Austin, has a prompt answer.

With Roy L. Worthley, an experienced craftsman in charge of the metal shop, and Ben Daugherty assisting and installing, there's no delay and no guesswork or improvising.

Everything that comes out of the shop is the product of company design and fabrication. It's made specifically for a certain job—your job.

While much of the work is in ducts for heating and air conditioning projects handled by Western Insulating, the shop handles all kinds of industrial and commercial as well as residential needs.

Worthley has spent more than 25 years in the trade, having apprenticed in the old days when shops were still turning out a lot of stovepipe, tea kettles and wash boilers for homes. He has done about every type of work to be done in the field, having been production manager for Fox Metal in Denver, Colo., and with New England Sheet Metal at Fresno, Calif. in one of the biggest such operations on the West Coast. He came here to handle the duct work on the Air Base job for Western Insulating and E. L. Gibson, head of the firm, induced him to take over the shop operation.

Daugherty has been with Western Insulating more than half a dozen years, having cut his "eye-tooth" in sheetmetal and installation in the company's shop.

Well equipped, the shop turns out anything from 18-28 gauge, mostly in galvanized iron but also in stainless steel, brass or whatever other material is specified if available.

Because all work is specially engineered, frequently about half the conventional joints can be eliminated in intricate duct systems, cutting resistance on movement of air and also cutting price as well as maintenance and operation costs. It is not infrequent for operation costs to be reduced by 25 per cent as a result of specially engineered duct work.

Whether it is a big transition joint for a gin or flashings or gutters for a house, Worthley and Daugherty can turn out the job exactly as it is wanted. And there's no back-ordering like happens in dealing with out-of-town suppliers.

Fine Meats Are Specialty At Douglass Store

Big Spring's friendly neighborhood grocery store is the Douglass Grocery and Market, located at 1018 Johnson Street, just southeast of the campus of the junior high school.

The concern is owned and operated by Dale Douglass. Employees of the store combine to give the store a friendly atmosphere and, at the same time, give the best service.

US Choice Feed-Lot beef, the finest to be found anywhere, is sold across the counter of the Douglass Market.

The beef, along with other choice meat, is attractively displayed in modern counters in which the customer makes his own selection.

Hens and fryers, which almost make for good summertime eating, are also sold at the Douglass Market.

If the family is hungry for a tasty salad, the place to shop for the ingredients is the vegetable compartment at Douglass' Grocery and Market. The vegetables are shipped in regularly from the lush vegetable areas of South Texas and Southern California.

It's now cantaloupe season in the Southwest, too, and large, tasty cantaloupes can be purchased at Douglass' Grocery and Market, which gets a new supply of the delicious melons regularly.

Nationally advertised canned goods, fresh bread and pastries, fresh milk and cold drinks are among other items sold at the establishment.

Business telephone number of Douglass' Grocery and Market is 78.

Metal Awning Is Expert's Specialty

Typical of the type of wizardry that is done in the Western Insulating Company shop is a special metal awning.

Designed by Roy Worthley, an expert craftsman, the awnings are produced in the shop at 207 Austin. They are vented to circulate air freely. In addition, they are given an automotive finish in any color desired.

Of course, these awnings are made exactly to the size you want. Worthley fabricated a couple for a tourist court here. The owner got one look and promptly ordered 20 more. These awnings are stronger than some other light weight types and are more economically than "custom made" ones ordered from regional shops.

Acheson Welcomed By McCloy. Secretary of State Dean Acheson (facing camera) is given a handshake by U. S. High Commissioner John J. McCloy at West Berlin Airport for a 24-hour visit to West Berlin.

Russia Is Blamed For Treaty Failure

By RICHARD O'REGAN. VIENNA, Austria, June 30 (U.S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson said today American troops will remain in occupied Austria until its independence is assured.

He blamed Russia for the failure of the big four to write a treaty of independence. To a news conference of Austrian and Allied newsmen, he said: "Make no mistake about it. Of the four powers in Austria, three want to go home."

Three Lamesa Men Are Listed In Casualties

The Korean conflict has fallen heavily upon Lamesa in recent days. Sgt. C. L. Beasley Jr., brother of Mrs. Wayman L. Phillips of Big Spring, has been killed in action, his parents were informed Friday.

Cpl. Billy L. Merritt, Lamesa, and Ted McCollum, former Lamesa man, have been wounded, it was learned in Lamesa. All were members of company E, 179th Infantry, 45th Division.

Sgt. Beasley, a platoon sergeant, was killed on June 21, the day he was to have been relieved from front line duty. He was to have sailed for home June 28, the day he would have been 23 years old.

On the day's schedule was lunch with Gruber, sightseeing with Mrs. Acheson and members of the official party, and an evening reception at the Donnelly home. Late tonight there will be a state dinner given by Figl in historic Congress Hall, where the Congress of Vienna met in 1815 after the defeat of Napoleon.

Harriman Says People Would Finance Unity

NEW YORK (U.S.) — Averell Harriman says he is confident that the American people are prepared to spend the money necessary to finance world unity against Communist aggression.

Harriman, after a nationwide tour in his campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination, appeared yesterday on a Columbia Broadcasting System network television show, "Harriman Faces the Issues."

It was a two-way broadcast in which Harriman, in New York, answered questions on foreign and domestic policies asked by six family groups gathered in front of the Montgomery County Courthouse in Dayton, O.

Harriman said that the United States, if present anti-Communist policies are continued, need not be afraid to Russia after a couple of years "because we will be able then to deal with Stalin on our terms."

Harriman, former U. S. Ambassador to Moscow, said he foresaw a live-and-let live situation in which the Communists would lose ground and eventually disintegrate because of inherent weaknesses.

Without mentioning other presidential candidates by name, Harriman said voters should be on the lookout against men "who tell you now what should have been done five years ago."

Sunday Sale Of Beer Results In Largest Fine

A $50 fine which followed a plea of guilty to sale of beer on Sunday was the largest assessed in Corporation Court Monday.

The Monday morning docket listed 35 cases accumulated over the week end. Most prevalent offense was drunkenness with seven persons fined a total of $130 after entering guilty pleas to that charge.

One person was adjudged not guilty of intoxication charge and four forfeited bonds totalling $100 on failure to answer similar charges. Trial on one person who pleaded not guilty to drunkenness charge was set for Wednesday morning, and hearing was set for 3 p.m. for another who pleaded not guilty and waived jury trial.

Four persons arrested by city police over the week end and charged with driving while intoxicated were transferred to County Court. One case involving assault was transferred to the district attorney's office. The latter case resulted from discharge of a firearm in the northwest part of town Saturday night.

Two speeding fines were assessed for a total of $30, and a motorist was found not guilty when he displayed a driver's license in response to a "no operator's license" charge.

Four vagrancy charges were dismissed. Two persons were transferred to the custody of Webb AFB police and one was turned over to Border Patrol officers.

Man Fined $250 On DWI Charge. Chris Cook, who members of the sheriff's force said almost had a wreck before he was stopped, was fined $250 and costs in County Court this morning on a charge of driving while under the influence of intoxicants.

Three other persons entered guilty pleas to similar charges and each was fined $100 and costs. They were Carl Childers, Walter R. Brown and C. P. Mills.

Claude Beavers was released on $500 bond after he had been picked up on a DWI count. L. O. Raughton, charged with illegally carrying fire-arms, was also released on $500 bond.

Youth Hospitalized Following Mishap. W. D. Watkins Jr., Stanton youth, was receiving treatment in Big Spring Hospital Monday for abrasions and contusions suffered in a highway accident about two miles east of Iatan early Sunday.

Doctors said his condition was not serious. The mishap occurred in the western edge of Mitchell County and was investigated by Mitchell County officers with details not being available here.

Mahon Votes For Relaxing, Eliminating Price Controls

Congressman George Mahon of the 19th District of Texas, voted "down the line" last week for various measures to curtail and eliminate government controls over wages and prices.

On Talle amendment to controls bill ending price ceilings on all goods not subject to rationing or allocation (approved 210 to 172), Mahon voted for.

On Cole amendment to controls bill requiring OPS to grand retailers and wholesalers their customary margins and markups on an individual basis, rather than on a group or area basis (approved 231 or 164), Mahon voted for.

On Lucas amendment to controls bill to abolish the Wage Stabilization Board and replace it with one having a public majority and only advisory powers (approved 256 to 138), Mahon voted for.

On Barden amendment to controls bill to end all wage and price controls by July 31 (defeated 244 to 159), Mahon voted for.

On amendment to controls bill requesting President to invoke Taft-Hartley injunction in steel strike (adopted 228 to 164), Mahon voted for.

More Entrants Are Named For County Revue. Two additional contestants were announced Monday for the county-wide dress revue to be staged in City Park Friday evening under auspices of the local Business & Professional Women's Club.

New entries brought to 44 the number to vie for "Miss Howard County" and "Miss Big Spring" titles. Seven are entered in the county division and 37 in the Big Spring section of the revue and contest.

Latest dress models named for the revue are Jan Masters, sponsored by Barrow-Phillips, and Frances Reagan, Big Spring Drug Company's entry.

The revue will be held in the City Park Amphitheater, starting at 8 p.m. It is being held in lieu of the bathing beauty contest staged on Independence Day for the past few years.

The program this year will include the traditional fireworks display, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce. Scheduled to follow the dress revue at 9 p.m., the Fourth of July fireworks spectacle this year is said to be the biggest ever planned for Big Spring.

A total of 116 aerial and set pieces is to be fired. Nine members of the local National Guard unit will be in charge of the firing. They will be captained by Lt. Pete Jones.

Fire equipment will be stationed in the area in case fires are started and city and county peace officers will be on hand to help handle traffic. Fireworks will be set off from the hillside northeast of the amphitheater, making it possible for dress revue spectators to see the display without moving from their seats.

Dress models are to parade across the stage at the rate of about one per minute. They will be judged on the basis of poise, personality, etc. for the "Miss Big Spring" and "Miss Howard County" titles.

Trumpeters will introduce the program with a fanfare and trumpets will be sounded to announce the winners in the two divisions. Jan Kay Tamplin will be presented as "Miss 1952," and the Quadrille Square Dance Team will be presented in exhibition performance while judges are reaching their decision.

Rainless Rainbow Appears Sunday. Big Springers should have no fear—there won't be any rain for a while. That is, if the old saying that the rainbow promises an end of rainoff a spell is true.

For a rainbow was shining brightly in the sky southwest of Big Spring Sunday afternoon positively stating that there will be free from rain for a while. The U. S. Weather Bureau stated that the rainbow was caused by the sun's rays falling on the clouds. Rain was actually falling from the clouds but was evaporating before it reached the ground. But the rainbow was clearly there just the same.

Odessa Oilers Open Series With Broncs Here Tonight

Baez May Face Pace Setters

The Big Spring Broncs come home tonight to open a crucial two-game series with the pace-setting Odessa Oilers.

Some of the gloss has been taken off the set because the Broncs dropped 2 1/2 lengths off the pace by losing the Sweetwater series just completed.

Bertie Baez will probably toe the slab for the Cayuses. Big Spring is almost certain to look at a left-hander and it could be Leon Hayes or Garland Fuqua.

Baez has had plenty of rest and should be ready to give the Oilers a fitful night.

IN SWEETWATER

Broncs Are Laced By Braves, 17 To 1

SWEETWATER—The Big Spring Broncs took one of their worst defeats in the history of the Longhorn League here Sunday night when the Sweetwater Braves mowed them down, 17-1.

Manager Alex Carrasquel went all the way on the mound for Sweetwater, chalking up his seventh win.

Suggs Winner Of Fem Open

PHILADELPHIA, June 30 (AP)—Louise Suggs had a little piece to speak yesterday after she won the 7th annual National Women's Open Golf Championship.

Other leading scorers were Betty MacKinnon, Dallas, Tex., and defending champion Betsy Rawls of Austin, Tex., 297.

Bengals Split Pair Of Games With Hounds

SAN ANGELO—The rejuvenated Big Spring Tigers split a twin bill with the San Angelo Colts here Sunday afternoon.

The Greyhounds grabbed the first game, 9-3, behind the effective bowling of Bob Garza, former San Angelo Colt hurler.

Big Spring came back to wrap up the nightcap, 5-3, though Garza limited the Tigers to eight hits.

A six-run outbreak in the second turned the trick for Angelo in the first game.

Big Spring ganged up on Garza for three runs in the last inning of the second game, Tom Arista's home run producing the telling blow.

Howard Jones collected three of Big Spring's hits in the afterpiece.

Bob Van Kirk, an airman at Webb Air Base, went all the way on the mound in both games for the Bengals.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

If the Longhorn League graduate, Roy McMillan (Ballinger, '47), doesn't make the grade in the major league all-star game this season, he's fairly certain of gaining such stature in 1953.

McMillan, now with Cincinnati, is way up there among shortstops in runs-batted-in and home runs.

While growing up at Bonham, McMillan played softball, not baseball. He never took up the horsehide sport until he attended a Cincy tryout camp, which was just before he joined Ballinger.

McMillan worked with the Reds that year. Jack Knott saw to it that he was dispatched to the Cats and Roy was the main factor in getting the Cats into the playoffs that season.

Not many people know that McMillan played with a cast on his back while with Ballinger. He had to wear it due to a football injury.

McMillan hit only 275 for Ballinger in '47 but his all-around play won him a promotion.

Will Ramsdell, the Big Spring ex, has been in the big league several years now, but his chief claim to fame is that walk he drew from Carl Erskine when the Brooklyn right-hander threw that no-hitter at Cincy the other day.

The base on balls robbed Erskine of the chance for a perfect performance. He faced only 27 other batters.

Remember Fred Merkle? He was a great ball player but he will always be remembered more for a boner he pulled in the World Series than for any other feat.

Ramsdell is a fine hurler and has done many things, including striking out Ralph Kiner with the bases loaded, but nothing quite so notable as spoiling Erskine's bid for baseball immortality.

Do many people realize that Bud Wilkinson's Oklahoma University football teams have never lost a Big Seven game in five seasons of play?

Who else can boast such a record? WRONG REACTION

It's wrong for established baseball players to come back to the benches, complaining that opposing hurlers have too much stuff for them.

Seems it sets a bad example for the other help, who would be prone to say to themselves: "What chance have we got, if they can't do it?"

Lou Thesz, who is supposed to be the best wrestler of all time, says the game is at its all-time best because there are more promising young fellows in the game than at any time in history.

The fans must like it, because they're flocking to see the groaners in record numbers.

Malone Purchased By Roswell Club

VERNON—The Vernon Dusters of the Longhorn League have sold Audie Malone, the leading hurler on the team, to Roswell.

DEFEATS '51 CHAMP

Elton Dozier Gains Golf Crown At Midland, 5-4

MIDLAND—E. B. (Elton) Dozier Jr., Big Spring, has lugged the championship trophy of the Midland Invitational Golf Tournament back home with him.

Dozier, who used to be a links pro, defeated the defending titlist, Bob French of Odessa, in the 36-hole final here Sunday, 5 and 4.

Dozier, who is also an expert bowler, won four straight holes on the afternoon round to take a 5-up lead at one point.

Elton's lead at the end of 18 holes was only 1-up but he never let French get a look-in after the resumption of play.

Dozier scored an amazing eagle on the 28th. Dozier holed out on his second shot on the 432-yard hole.

French had trouble on the green most of the way and Dozier went to lunch ahead, even though he was three over regulation figures.

The Big Springer started pulling away from French on the 26th and won every hole through the 31st.

He then halved the next three holes with French to close out the match.

John Pipes, Big Spring, copped sixth place laurels with a 1-up victory over Bob Walker, Midland.

Navarette went for Lubbock and was relieved in the fifth by Whit-moor.

Harry Dooley hit the only other home run for Big Spring with nobody on in the fifth inning. In addition to his home run, Guider drove in two more runs to lead the run-batted-in column for the day.

Dooley accounted for the other two. The Hubbers scored two in the third and their final four in the last.

Tio Vahes started for the Giants and lasted until the first of the Shreveport won the first game over Houston 2-0. The second went to Houston 6-3.

Twisters Yield On CBL Forfeit

FORSAN—The Robert Lee Rabbit Twisters forfeited a Concho Basin League game to Forsan here Sunday.

It was the second win of the season for Lefty Shelton's team, which was to have closed out first half play with the game.

In other Concho Basin League games, Bryan Electric suffered its first loss of the season at the hands of Miles, 7-4; while Big Lake won a Saturday night game from Ballinger in Ballinger, 13-6.

Forsan lost an exhibition game to Robert Lee, 11-6. Robert Lee did not have enough players and had to borrow one from Forsan.

Lewis Heugel came back home to Forsan to lead Robert Lee to victory. He hit a home run with two on and two singles.

Gold Sox, Yanks Tangle At 5:30

With the first champion still to be decided, second half play in the Little League will get underway here this evening.

Complications Begin For Father Of New Triplets

NEW YORK (AP) — A proud father's new triplets brought him trouble yesterday — he had to admit he wasn't married to their mother but to another woman.

Only two days before, 27-year-old Salvatore Scarnati had been a happy man when a woman listed as Helen Minge Scarnati, 28, had three girls.

He blithely gave pictures to the newspapers and basked in the public acclaim.

But yesterday Mrs. Mary Cosaluzzo Scarnati, 27, showed up at a police station. She had seen his picture in the papers.

The proud papa she told police was her husband, the father of her 6-year-old daughter.

They were married in 1947 and separated in 1950 — but, she added, they still were legally wed and he was under court order to pay $14 a week for the child's support.

The district attorney's office decided not to take action against Scarnati, a garage attendant.

But it advised Mrs. Scarnati she could apply for a summons charging him with adultery, a misdemeanor.

"I'm going to make him pay for all this," she vowed.

Scarnati told officers he also was the father of another of Helen's two children. And he asked plaintively:

"What did I do wrong? My wife won't give me a divorce and I love this girl. How can you say I did something wrong?"

Then he added: "I knew this would happen, but I didn't expect it so soon."
