Blazing Gunfire Injures Five More In Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Police and National Guardsmen opened fire on a car early today, wounding a 16-year-old Negro mother and her two small children at the scene of a fire.

The blazing guns injured five persons, including a National Guard captain hit by a rocho-cheting bullet.

One of the wounded was a 7-month-old baby. The shooting started when the driver refused to get out of the car and tried to speed off, a guard spokesman said.

The gunfire climaxed a night of widely scattered firebambings and vandalism — sporadic disorders following the rioting Monday and Tuesday night that left two Negroes shot to death.

Wounded seriously were Christopher Green, 4, shot in the back of the head, and his mother, Mrs. Diane Towns, 16, hit in the face and shoulder. The boy was in surgery.

The hospital reported another child, Emmanuel Towns, 7 months, nicked on the neck and only slightly hurt. The hospital listed the young woman as the mother of both children.

Shot in the right leg was Ernest Williams, 12, brother of Mrs. Towns.

A richochet wounded Capt. James Pletcher, a National Guard officer. He was hit in the right leg.

The gunfire started after a policeman tried to pull the driver from the car. The man clung to the wheel.

A National Guard spokesman said the shooting started after the car first was stopped by police and the driver got out, then jumped back in and tried to cross the fire line a second time.

The homicide unit at police headquarters said the incident still was under investigation and no information would be released immediately.

A newsman at the scene told of officers trying to get the driver from the car and gave this account:

"You bastards leave me alone!" he growled, cursing the officer. More policemen and National Guardsmen rushed up. Firemen, meanwhile, were fighting a $100,000 fire at a dance hall and skating rink.

Four policemen rushing to the fire were injured when two cruisers collided.

Eight hundred National Guardsmen backing up policemen kept down major trouble during the night, but firemen were plagued by 119 calls, including 13 false alarms.

Firebombs were hurled at numerous buildings, setting off small fires. Police reported window smashing and looting on some streets.

But the combined force of guardsmen and policemen held down any major outbreak in the Hough (pronounced "huff") slums where rioting Monday and Tuesday nights left two Negroes killed by gunfire and 24 persons injured.

Two shots were fired about 3 a.m. on Hough Avenue, a guard at a grocery store reported. Minutes later a parked car on the street exploded into flames.

The bullets smashed into a metal sign within six feet of several private guards at the store. None was hit.

"That's good shooting, especially in the dark," a guard said wryly. The gunfire was not returned.

Most of the firebombing and store looting was outside the Hough area, sealed off Wednesday by the guardsmen armed with rifles and jeep-mounted machine guns.

Gov. James A. Rhodes called up nearly 2,000 guardsmen Tuesday night on request of Mayor Ralph S. Locher. The mayor talked by telephone Wednesday with Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey about the situation.

Locher said the vice president offered 'any assistance that you and the people of Cleveland may need." The mayor said he and Humphrey discussed federal aid to the slum area businessmen whose stores were wrecked, looted or burned.

SHOES OF THE WEST was the title of the winning float in Wednesday's annual Rodeo Parade. The float was entered by the Lucky 13 Club. It included a western boot and a horse shoe with a cactus separating them. A float presented by the Snyder Fire Auxiliary placed second, and a float by the Rainbow Girls was third.

FLYING HIGH—but not for long, because cowboy Mack Yocham of Big Lake found out soon what the rodeo turf was like. He didn't ride the required eight seconds for an official ride. The event is the Bareback Riding. Edd Workman showed the best score last night with a 59 and is considered the leading cowboy after the first night of competition.

Second Rodeo Performance Set For 8 O'Clock Tonight

Cowboys and cowgirls will go at it again tonight in the big arena west of town as the Scurry County Rodeo Association presents the second of four performances of its 30th annual event.

Edd Workman of Mineral Wells took first place in two events to turn in the outstanding individual performance in last night's opening show.

Workman was first in bareback riding with a score of 59 and in calf roping with a time of 11.3.

Sammy Groves of Lubbock was second and Claude Groves of Lubbock was third in the bareback riding event. Two Big Spring competitors followed Workman in the calf roping, with Horace Rankin turning in a time of 12.4 and Martin Fryar 12.4.

Rankin's 16.8 was tops in the team roping, followed by Darrell Carpenter of Colorado City with a time of 30.7.

Phil Brewer of Graham was the evening's top bull rider with a score of 54. Dan Thomas of Hereford was second with a score of 46.

The barrell race event was won by Martha Josey of Post with a time of 17.8. Debra Whitehead of Morton and Judy Helton of Olney were close behind with times of 18.4.

In the stockholders' roping event, Brent Murphy finished ahead of the pack with a time of 19.9, while Jerry Springer had 22.1 and Kenny Hart 25.4.

The second show in the series of four will begin at 8 o'clock tonight.

The cowboys and cowgirls had participated in the opening-day parade through downtown Snyder during the afternoon.

In the judging of floats in the parade Lucky 13 Club won the first prize, while the Firemen's Auxiliary won second prize and Rainbow Girls third prize.

The Haskell County Sheriff's Posse was named the top riding organization participating in the parade.

Gemini 10 Boasts Pack Of Records

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — One of man's most exciting and significant space adventures reaches a blazing climax late today when the Gemini 10 astronauts make a meteoric dive back through the atmosphere, bringing home a bundle of records.

Command pilot John W. Young, a Navy Commander, and space-walker Michael Collins, an Air Force major, planned to trigger the retro-rockets on their fuel-short spacecraft at 3:31 p.m. EST to start a fiery descent. The landing in the Atlantic about 550 miles east southeast of Cape Kennedy was timed for 4:07 p.m.

A recovery force of ships and planes headed by the helicopter aircraft carrier Guadalcanal was stationed in the planned landing zone, where weather conditions were reported good.

Until the re-entry, the astronauts were to drift through space, conserving their precious remaining fuel and conducting whatever photographic and scientific experiments they could.

They were ready to come home after three days aloft. In that period they had had the hatch open three times — twice for Collins' business outside and once to jettison items no longer needed.

Discussing that Wednesday night, Young commented: "We'd like to try for five — on the water. One on the left side, one on the right — no more, thank you."

Friday Rites Set For Mrs. T. A. Faver

Mrs. T. A. Faver, 2005 Avenue M, a life-long resident of Scurry County, died unexpectedly at 9:45 p.m. Wednesday in Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Faver, 68, had been hospitalized after she had helped with arrangements for the funeral of a sister-in-law, Mrs. Dolph Faver, who died unexpectedly early Tuesday. Funeral for Mrs. Dolph Faver was to be held at 4 p.m. today.

Mrs. T. A. Faver was the daughter of the late Rev. W. W. Werner who established the first Presbyterian Church in Scurry County. She was married to Mr. Faver here on July 22, 1922.

Funeral service has been set for 10 a.m. Friday at the First Methodist Church. The Rev. John Gordon, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, will officiate. He will be assisted by the Rev. Jimmy Hill, pastor of the Ira Baptist Church. Burial will be in Hillside Memorial Gardens, under direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Wernette Lloyd of Ira and Mrs. Charlotte Pitner of Sherman; a son, Arel (Red) Faver of Snyder, and four grandchildren.

Pallbearers will be Charley Hunnicutt, J. O. Sheid Sr., Billy Wayne Thompson, Sig Line, George Light and W. J. Fuller.

TRIAL OF PILOTS

President Vows To 'React Accordingly'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, while carefully avoiding retaliation threats, says the American people would "react accordingly" should Hanoi try downed U.S. pilots on charges of war crimes.

Asked about North Vietnamese threats that such trials will be launched, Johnson responded at a news conference Wednesday by saying: "I think the people of this country and the peaceful people of the world would find this action very revolting and repulsive, and would react accordingly."

Johnson twice skirted questions about possible American retaliation against any trials of the American prisoners.

A standing-room-only crowd of newsmen gathered in the klieg-lighted East Room of the White House for the 35-minute conference, aired by television and radio networks.

Some other highlights:

Johnson said: 'The patience of the American people is being tried" by machinist union members on strike against five airlines. "We have no legal remedies left to us" to halt the walkout, he said, but promised continued use of persuasion in an effort to effect a settlement.

The President expressed the opinion that the nation's white majority wants to see the Negro minority achieve equality 'without violence." Deploring recent racial violence in the cities, he urged all citizens to stand for law and order.

Discussing his plans for the 1966 congressional election season, Johnson said he "will take advantage of every opportunity to go out into the country to discuss our program, our convictions, and to tell them what we stand for, and ask for their support."

Viet Nam dominated the give-and-take, with the issue of prisoner trials uppermost.

Referring to the pilots held by Hanoi, Johnson declared: "These men, who are military men, who are carrying out military assignments in line of duty against military targets, are not war criminals and should not be treated as such."

Once again, he called for a conference under Red Cross auspices to assure the prisoners of humane treatment under the 1949 Geneva agreements, which Hanoi claims do not apply to the present fighting.

Scroll Sent To Viet Nam

Jim Heath, Chamber of Commerce manager, and Dennis Pomroy, chairman of committee on scroll for Viet Nam, sent a 60 foot scroll with over 4,000 names on it to Gen. William C. Westmoreland yesterday, demonstrating Scurry County's support of the fighting men in Viet Nam.

The scroll was accompanied by a letter to Gen. Westmoreland and a citation to the soldiers in Viet Nam.

Sgt. Joe Welch, Army recruiter for this area, said the scroll will not go unnoticed by the fighting men of the country. Names on the scroll came from many different states, but were clearly to show an "outward manifestation" of the people in Scurry County.

The letter reads as follows:

"Dear General Westmoreland:

"It is with deep concern and a genuine desire from the people of Scurry County, that we of the Snyder Chamber of Commerce place in your hands this scroll demonstrating the support of the fighting men in Viet Nam.

"This scroll represents an outward manifestation to our men overseas of the inward support of their efforts from the folks at home.

"The scroll was initiated at the recent 4th of July celebration here in Snyder, and as you will note, signatures represent areas from as far away as California, Louisiana, Tennessee and numerous parts of our country. We hope this measure of support will be of use to you and the forces in Viet Nam.

"Our prayers and good wishes go with you and our desire with a safe return of all our boys."

The citation was wrapped with the scroll and reads as follows:

The City of Snyder presents to the G. I. in Vietnam—In acknowledgement of his unselfish service unremitting loyalty and inspirational guidance this certificate is presented by a grateful city.

Passed by resolution unanimously adopted this 4th day of July, 1966.—M. L. Broman, mayor of Snyder.

SCROLL FOR VIET NAM—The Snyder Chamber of Commerce has sent to Viet Nam a 60-foot scroll with more than 4,000 names on it to demonstrate Scurry County's support of the fighting men in Viet Nam. A letter to General William C. Westmoreland and a citation addressed to the soldiers was also sent. Shown packing the scroll and citation from l to r are: Dennis Pomroy, chairman of committee on scroll for Viet Nam; Jim Heath, Chamber of Commerce Manager; Bentley Baize, vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce; and Sgt. Joe Welch, area Army Recruiter.

Mrs. Denson Rites Today

Funeral services were to be held at 2:30 p.m. today at the Dunn Methodist Church for Mrs. Dewey Denson, who died early Wednesday.

The Rev. Jesse Dea, pastor of the Dunn Methodist Church, was to officiate. Burial was to be in Hillside Memorial Gardens, under direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

Mrs. Denson is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Jeff Brown of Big Spring and Mrs. John Partain of Snyder; two sons, Harold Denson of Snyder and Wayne Denson of Hermleigh; three sisters; Mrs. C. C. Davis of Brownfield, Mrs. W. E. Whitlow and Mrs. Joe Walker, both of Roxton; a brother, Haskell Hobbs of Sulphur Springs; nine grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Two Planes Lost To Red Missiles

By ROBERT TUCKMAN

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — North Viet Nam's antiaircraft defenses shot down three more U.S. Air Force planes — one a radar ship packed with electronic detection and jamming gear — as American pilots ran through another barrage of missiles and sighted more Communist MIGs, the U.S. military command announced today.

The twin-jet RB66 reconnaissance plane with a crew of six was the second of its type reported lost in the war. The other planes brought down in raids Wednesday were both single-seat F105 Thunderchief fighter-bombers, bringing the announced toll of American aircraft over the Communist North to 298.

All eight airmen were listed as missing.

The North Vietnamese fired off nine Soviet-built surface-to-air missiles and American pilots sighted six Communist jet fighters, the U.S. command said. There was no report of any clashes with the enemy planes.

Under the U.S. command's usual reporting policy, there was no announcement whether the planes were lost to missiles or conventional ground fire.

Fulbright, Saltonstall Call For Restraint

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sens. J. W. Fulbright and Leverett Saltonstall called today for restraint in any American retaliation if North Viet Nam puts captured U.S. pilots on trial as war criminals.

President Johnson offered at his news conference Wednesday a U.S. meeting with Hanoi officials on the treatment of war prisoners — or to discuss any other subject.

The President denounced threats to put the prisoners on trial as "deplorable." But he carefully avoided saying whether retaliatory measures might be taken.

Amid widespread predictions in Congress that prisoner trials would generate public demands for all-out conventional war against North Viet Nam, Fulbright said this would be a "disastrous course" for the United States to take.

Fulbright, Arkansas Democrat who heads the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said, "If we start retaliatory action I'm afraid there would be no end to it."

"The history of warfare indicates that retaliatory action leads to barbaric conflict," he said. "I would hope that, at least, there will be no attacks on civilians in any action we might take."

Fulbright is a leading critic of Johnson's Viet Nam war policies.

Saltonstall, senior Republican on the Senate Armed Services Committee, said in a separate interview that everything possible must be done to make it clear to the North Vietnamese that they cannot condemn American war prisoners as criminals at trumped-up trials.

"But we must act legally," the Massachusetts senator said. "We cannot engage in indiscriminate slaughter as a retaliatory measure. We don't want to make criminals of ourselves just because they do."

Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, told the Senate Wednesday the South Vietnamese are executing many prisoners of war turned over to them by U.S. forces. He said the United States "in the name of humanity and decency" should stop transferring Viet Cong prisoners to South Vietnamese units.

Young said he would favor the "gravest reprisals" if Hanoi puts U.S. prisoners on trial. He added such trials would make escalation of the war inevitable and "mean the deaths of many, many Vietnamese nationals."

On the international front, Moscow Radio said it goes along with Hanoi's view that the captured American airmen are war criminals — not prisoners of war. The report monitored in Tokyo referred to recent statements by North Vietnamese diplomats that the captured airmen are war criminals and the issue lies solely with Hanoi authorities.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: There are so many people in their sixties alone and lonely for companionship, and I know why.

I am a man, nearly 65. I am retired and on Social Security. I own an old car and work a few hours to keep it running.

For the past three years I've been trying to find a lady to go steady with, but I've given up. I can't afford it.

I have met a lot of women near my age, and they are wonderful company. But the trouble is, they all expect a man to take them out a couple of nights a week, wine them and dine them, go to drive-in movies, and for drives and lunches.

One of them said, 'My company should be worth that much." Well, how about MY company?

I wouldn't expect a woman to share car expenses, but if we both have about the same incomes and stretched a dollar, we could have a wonderful time if we shared expenses. Neither one of us is a prize package anymore. Why act like it?

J. IN SAN DIEGO

DEAR J.: You'd be surprised how many women in their sixties would buy the deal you propose. Why don't you lay all your cards on the table? You could draw a queen.

DEAR ABBY: How much do you think parents should know about their married children's financial affairs? I would appreciate a published reply. The interested parties might recognize themselves and take the hint. Thank you.

DEAR ABBY: I was married last Sunday in the chapel of our church. It was a small but beautiful wedding. Everything was perfect. We opened our gifts and then left for a short honeymoon trip. When we returned all was in a state of turmoil. My father had proof that my husband had been married before and had not been divorced.

When confronted with this accusation my husband denied it, and said he was going to get a lawyer. Then he took off and never came back. My problem is what to do about the wedding gifts. I started asking people if they wanted them back, and they all said no. How about the initialed tea towels and so on? My mother said she doesn't want to see one wedding gift around the house. What should I do?

BRIDE WITHOUT A GROOM

DEAR BRIDE: Under the circumstances, the gifts should have been returned to the senders with a brief note of thanks and explanation. It is not customary to ask if the donors want their gifts back. Initialed or monogrammed gifts can be given to the needy.

Busy Day For Firemen

The Snyder Fire Department answered five fire calls yesterday in what was termed a "busy day" for Snyder firemen.

The first fire was reported at noon, 14 miles on the Lamesa Highway. It was a grass fire on Joe Landrum's place. Firemen spent 1½ hours there and were called back to the same location twice more, at 1:35 p.m. and 4:45 p.m.

The Fire Department also answered another grass fire report at 3:10 p.m. at 2204 Ave. I, and a car fire on east 37th. The car, a 1958 Oldsmobile, was owned by Garth Austin.

The Snyder Fire Department has answered 24 calls this month.

Anti-Riot Law Signed

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—California has a new anti-riot law today, signed by Gov. Edmund Brown over protests from a Negro assemblyman whose district borders the burned out Watts area.

The riot bill was sought by Los Angeles Mayor Samuel Yorty, who contended it is needed to thwart firebrands who are stirring unrest in his city's Negro districts.

Yorty and the late Police Chief William Parker made personal pleas for the bill.

The measure makes it a misdemeanor to incite a riot when there is clear, immediate and present danger of violence. Violators could get up to six months and a $500 fine.

Democratic Assemblyman Mervyn Dymally said that "with riots occurring in Chicago, Jacksonville, Cleveland and New York, the bill was signed under a mood of hysteria similar to when the Japanese were expelled from the state" in World War II.

Fancy Footwork Saves LBJ From Enthusiastic Fans

By KELLY SMITH

WASHINGTON (AP) — Running, screaming students from overseas pursued President Johnson around his back yard. With a cagey detour he outwitted them, then returned for more.

Shrubs were flattened. Cedar limbs were broken. Flowers were smashed.

Johnson strolled to the south lawn of the White House Wednesday to greet 3,086 American Field Service students from 59 countries. The teen-agers return home this weekend after a year in the United States.

The students were ready. Cameras were up, pencils out.

The President, Lady Bird and daughter Lynda walked to a makeshift bandstand amid clapping, cheers and wolf whistles.

He spoke briefly, urging the young people to seek peace, fight poverty, ignorance and disease and work toward world understanding.

"I have been assured that you are future leaders of your countries — future prime ministers and lawmakers and First Ladies," he said. He left the platform amid more cheers.

Ropes holding back the students sagged and Secret Servicemen closed in around the President as the future prime ministers surged forward.

"Here! Here!" they shouted, reaching for his hands, shoving cameras toward his face. White House police tried to push the crowd back and student chaperones appealed for order. It was too late.

The President and his party made their way across a vine-covered hillside, apparently headed for his office. Hundreds of the teen-agers followed in hot pursuit. Two students lost shoes. One was knocked off her feet.

Police pushed the students back toward the south lawn, behind ropes. Turning unexpectedly, Johnson headed back toward another segment of his 3,086 young visitors.

This sent the rear detachment of the first onslaught running breathlessly toward him. Security tightened. One officer wiped his brow. Another refused to let those with passes into normally approved areas, shouting, 'This is an emergency!"

The President seemed to relish the attention. He nodded, grabbed hands and smiled in the bright afternoon sunshine.

He walked alone down the driveway toward his office as police held the students behind the ropes. Halfway there, he turned toward the still cheering young people and watched them a moment as if contemplating victory.

Then he waved and was gone.

Aid Bill Becomes Senate Scapegoat

By HARRY KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate is taking out all kinds of frustrations — from the war in Viet Nam to the price of bread in a supermarket—on the foreign aid bill.

"A general feeling of disenchantment" is the way Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield puts it.

"You can cover it up all you want but the feeling is still there," Mansfield said today in an interview.

Officials of the Agency for International Development solemnly watched from the gallery as the Senate, seemingly in a mutinous mood, took the ax to the $2.4-billion economic assistance bill.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen pointed first to the need for Uncle Sam to save money and then to the spectre of inflation.

Dirksen confided that a loaf of whole wheat bread he likes for sandwiches cost 25 cents last week but when he bought it this week it was 30 cents.

"The people are beginning to get just a little excited, and just a little concerned," he said.

The Senate, he said, couldn't short-change the soldiers in Viet Nam, so he proposed cutting $250 million from the $620-million tagged for development loans.

The Senate voted 59 to 34 to make the cut. Chairman J. W. Fulbright of the Foreign Relations Committee — the bill's manager — was among the yeas.

"This has been building up for years," said Mansfield.

Now, he acknowledged, it is complicated by the war, worries about the economy, pinched domestic programs and high interest rates.

Sen. Peter H. Dominick, R-Colo., used the domestic interest rates in pushing through an amendment to double — to 2 per cent from the present 1 per cent — the interest rate on the first 10 years, the grace period of the development loans.

Fulbright complained that war costs are cutting into domestic projects.

"I spent a good part of yesterday," he told the Senate, "talking about one little project involving $60,000 for operating a fish hatchery in my state. The administration is quibbling about the $60,000 it will take to pay a few employes to keep the hatchery in operation. This is almost ridiculous."

Man With The Gun Lands In Jail

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Patrolman Charles Dery walked up behind a man who was holding several people at bay in a downtown garage with a submachine gun recently and said, "What are you doing with that thing?"

"I'm just trying to scare people," was the reply from Richard Belfatti, 30, police said.

The gun was not loaded and its barrel had been plugged. Belfatti was jailed on a charge of illegal possession of a machine gun.

The viewer of late, late shows may have a swimming pool area far more glamorous than some seen in those old movies. But in their heyday, Hollywood pool sets were envied.

Good design and new materials are widely available to bring posh living to the smallest pocketbook. Poolside cabanas, umbrella tables, exotic plantings and dramatic lighting are all part of the scenery in many little backyards.

Those who can't afford elaborate dressing rooms, rig up a do-it-yourself project that can compete. A simple dressing room may be made by pulling fabric over four tall rods inserted like curtain rods through seams in the fabric. These rods may then be stuck into the ground. A little canopy may be made to fit across the rods at the top with a ruffle trim and a flap that can fall down in front of the unit. Fancy dressing units can be designed by local canvas fabricators if you give them a basic plan.

If you make it yourself, be sure cabana rods are long enough to pierce the ground to provide sturdiness. Rods can be attached to a permanent platform and material pulled down the same way. If rods can be removed, it makes for easier storage, and a temporary platform may be slipped in between rods. You can also build a more permanent dressing room of lumber, painting boards in beachside colors.

It should be possible to use a canvas tent as a dressing room. Paint it a pretty color and it can be a great substitute for a cabana. It's a good use for an old tent that has seen better camping days.

Some people like very elaborate pool awnings for lounging, others are content to decorate with a few tables and umbrellas offering a saucy look of comfort as one sips or dines.

Pools are providing new ways to entertain in the evening. Floodlights are put at the base of trees or behind plantings to silhouette the garden layout. There are umbrella lights and decorative bell and mushroom domed lights. There are Oriental - style tall lamps that resemble floor lamps that play light up and down at the same time. These stand as high as 62 inches, spreading a pool of light 20 to 60 feet in diameter, depending on their height. Their pretty green color offers an antique look.

Another dramatic poolside improvement is nonslip outdoor carpet available under many trade names and in a great range of colors including grassy green. This is used around pools and on terraces. It is cut easily with scissors to conform to a pool's shape and the carpet is touted by manufacturers to be good for many seasons.

HIGH COST OF LEG ART — Dog collar from Cartier's cost $13,000.

Now It's Status Garter

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Writer

Status has gone thigh high today-with dog collars too elegant for mere dogs—or throats either—going are glamorous garters.

Nothing new in this, history tells us. The Greek women spent a fortune on hock-able garters in the 4th century B.C. In the 18th century jeweled garters were as popular with men as their extravagant wives.

Now that hemlines are hiking higher, women are making leg watching worth gawking at by dressing them in opulent splendor.

The really big spenders, for example, can pay as much as $13,000 for a dandy little stocking supporter made by Cartiers. Made of platinum mesh, it has 759 round diamonds and 790 pearls.

The buckle is flower shaped, sudded with diamonds. The same pattern motif repeats itself three times.

It is one-upmanship enough to inspire a woman to let her skirts billow as daringly as she decently can.

Weight-watchers may want to use neufchatel rather than cream cheese because the former contains fewer calories than the latter.

STRICTLY 'NEW-HAT' EVERY DAY!

There's nothing brighter, fresher, newsier and more welcome than your daily paper. It keeps you current on world affairs, stimulates your mind, tickles your sense of humor, puts facts at your fingertips.

It's short-lived — but it grows old gracefully. Today's paper won't be dead tomorrow or even the day after that. So much that's in it is timeless as well as timely. Things like expert financial and medical advice, recipes, do-it-yourself hints, special features and stories, pictures — these are just a few of the ageless extras your daily paper gives you.

In this era of mass communications, your newspaper stands out as a tangible document. It's yours to read, put down, pick up and read again, clip and save.

Water Foundation Hears Connally

HOUSTON (AP) — Texas Gov. John Connally says state and local governments must solve their air and water pollution problems or the federal government will step in.

But, the governor, said these solutions take time.

Connally addressed the Texas Air and Water Resources Foundation Wednesday night. Officials of Harris, Galveston, Chambers and Brazoria counties attended the meeting.

The governor said Texans cannot solve the pollution problems by blaming industry.

"We all arrived in the current state of air and water pollution together," he said. "We shall all solve the resulting problems together."

He said solutions will be reached through mutual understandings and cooperation, in frank exchanges and binding commitments "to do more than we're doing to enhance the quality of our air and water."

"Solutions will not be found in finger - pointing, accusations, threats and news handouts," the governor said.

He said there is a tendency to blame industry which he added is unfortunate because Texans have encouraged industry to locate in the state.

Connally said Galveston Bay pollution "did not occur overnight (and) it cannot be corrected overnight, much as we might wish it."

"A far off bureaucrat, or a local one, could decree that the offenders be closed until corrective facilities are built," Connally said. "Who would suffer the consequences? Not he, but the people here—you, the citizens of Galveston Bay.

"Such a course is unreasonable. . .the full weight of governmental authority should be concentrated upon those consistent offenders, measured by a realistic standard, and those who callously ignore the urgency of corrective action."

GONZALEZ ALMOST FLEW LIKE A BIRD!

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Got a minute? Well, spend it contemplating the discoveries of Victor M. Gonzalez, 42, who spent a decade thinking and doing in the dusty attic of the aerospace age.

His study of flight started simply enough. He stood in the middle of the Mojave Desert, two 15-foot fiberglass wings strapped to his arms.

He flapped.

Nothing happened.

When Gonzalez sat down to think it over, a cable connecting the wings broke. "Aha!" He thought as his arms were wrenched to the ground, "The principle of leverage."

And so it went, as Gonzalez devoted himself to determining the principles that keeps birds in flight.

His formal education consists of high school in Puerto Rico and a course in watch repair. As a working machinist he knows how to weld.

After the Mojave disappointment, Gonzalez returned to his Los Angeles home. "I studied birds, butterflies, bees, grasshoppers. I even studied flying fish."

He bought 25 pigeons and clipped their wings in different designs. He removed all the feathers from some birds' wings, replacing them with cloth cut in a bat-wing effect.

Separately, he began work on his aluminum-frame "ornithopter" — two wings mounted on a sulky-type carriage driven by bicycle pedals and chain.

"Then, three years ago," Gonzalez says, "I saw it for the first time. The secret of flight." His 5-foot-3, 110-pound body was stretched on his lawn as he watched a bird.

"I noticed a bird's body moved up and down while the tips of its wings stayed in the same plane. That was it.

"Birds don't flap their wings. That's an optical illusion. Their bodies move up and down."

He incorporated appropriate changes into his ornithopter, lengthened the wings to a 42-foot span, and added a propeller.

Back to the Mojave. A gust of wind collapsed the wings. Back to the shop. Repairs. Back to the desert. He forgot to put a pin in a drive-wheel. The gears stripped. He never left the sand.

"I think I accomplished what I set out to do. I have discovered the principle of wing-flapping flight."

With that, Gonzalez gave his machine and plans to the University of California at Los Angeles and turned to other pursuits, poetry and the guitar.

Pirates Extend Lead Over San Francisco

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Pittsburgh Pirates are like a salesman. Let them get a foot in the door, and you'll wind up buying their product.

The Pirates got good use out of a foot Wednesday night and promptly put their product on display for all to see. The Los Angeles Dodgers didn't care for any, but the Pirates were persuasive and wound up with an 8-5 victory.

The triumph, coupled with San Francisco's 3-2, 10-inning loss to New York, boosted the first-place Pirates one game ahead of the Giants in the National League pennant race.

The Pirates weren't having too much success with their selling tactics until they put the foot in the right place.

The foot belonged to Matty Alou and it, along with the rest of the league's leading hitter, stepped into the batter's box with two out in the seventh inning and the Pirates trailing 5-2.

Don Drysdale fired a pitch that was inside and low, very low. Alou tried to get away from the ball, and all but his foot was successful. The ball hit the foot, Alou went to first and the Dodgers went to pieces.

Five batters and two pitchers later, the Pirates had six more runs and one of their most enjoyable sales of the season.

Gene Michael and Roberto Clemente singled for one run, and Jim Brewer replaced Drysdale. After a wild pitch and a walk to Manny Mota that loaded the bases, Brewer left and Phil Regan came on.

Jose Pagan got in enough of a sales talk to tie the game with a two-run single, and Donn Clendenon closed the sale with a three-run homer into the left center-field bleachers.

In other National League games, St. Louis defeated Atlanta 6-3, Cincinnati swept Chicago 5-4 and 5-1, and Philadelphia outslugged Houston 13-9.

In the American League, Baltimore outlasted Detroit 10-7, Chicago stopped Cleveland 6-3, California nipped Boston 1-0 in 10 innings after losing 6-1, Minnesota trimmed Washington 3-1 and New York blanked Kansas City 4-0.

The Mets gained their fifth straight victory when Ron Swoboda led off the 10th inning with a homer against Bill Henry. The Mets had taken a 2-1 lead in the eighth on Roy McMillan's homer, but the Giants tied it in the ninth on a walk to Willie Mays, Jack Fisher's wild pitch and a single by Jim Hart.

Ray Washburn scattered eight hits and drove in two runs with a fourth-inning single for St. Louis. The Cardinals broke a 3-3 tie in the fifth on Mike Shannon's run-scoring single, his third hit off Atlanta's Ken Johnson.

Ernie Banks' 2,000th hit, a two-run double in the eighth inning, helped Chicago to a 4-1 lead in the opener, but the Reds rallied for four runs in the ninth, the last two on Tommy Harper's triple.

Cincinnati also won the seven-inning nightcap that was halted by darkness. Jim O'Toole pitched a five-hitter and received support from Don Pavletich's homer and Jim Coker's two-run double.

Cookie Rojas drove in four runs for Philadelphia with two singles and a double while Tony Gonzalez knocked in three with a single and a homer. Dick Groat added three hits to the Phillies' 20-hit attack, including a seventh-inning run-scoring single that snapped an 8-8 deadlock.

Arkansas Bolts Into League Lead

By The Associated Press

Arkansas now holds a 3½ game lead—the widest Texas League margin in a month—and it was made possible by a protest.

Arkansas lost to Amarillo 3-2 on June 17 but the Travelers protested they were beaten out of a run by a ruling that a photographer interfered.

This protest was upheld, so they played the game over from the second inning on Wednesday night, Arkansas won it 9-2 and then captured the regular game 3-1 to go 3½ ahead of second place Amarillo.

The last time a Texas League club held such a margin was June 24 when Arkansas was 3½ games behind Amarillo.

Albuquerque beat Austin 3-2 and broke out of a tie for third place with Austin.

Down around the cellar El Paso swept a doubleheader with Dallas-Fort Worth 5-4 and 4-2.

Frank Montgomery, who had lost the protested game with Amarillo, came back to win the replay. Arkansas broke it open in the fourth with three runs on one hit. Amarillo's scores came on a two-run homer by Doug Rader.

In the nightcap Leo Newton thought he was going to pitch a no-hit, no-run game until the eighth. Then, with two out, Ed Moxey rapped a double that brought in Elijah Johnson, who had reached base on an error. Newton didn't even get credit for winning the game. The decision went to reliever Wayne Granger.

Larry Eckenrode tripled in two runs in the ninth to give Albuquerque its decision over Austin. The runs were set up by two Austin errors.

Austin had taken a 2-1 lead in the top of the ninth when Mike Lum came in on a grounder and Bobby Cox was driven in by Glen Clark's single.

Banks Gets No. 2,000

CHICAGO (AP) — First baseman Ernie Banks, known as Mr. Cub, has passed another milestone.

His 65th hit of the season Wednesday was the 2,000th of his career.

It was an eighth-inning double off Sam Ellis in the first game of a doubleheader with Cincinnati. It came in Banks' 1,895th major league game, all of them with Chicago.

The Cubs lost, however, 5-4, and also dropped the nightcap 5-1 as the game was called after seven innings because of darkness. He was hitless in this one.

"I plunked a high fast ball," said Banks, who tipped his cap to a standing ovation from 12,238 Wrigley Field fans.

He became the fourth Cub in history with 2,000 hits. Cap Anson leads the parade with 3,081, followed by Stan Hack's 2,193 and James Ryan's 2,156.

While Charlie Grimm, long-time Cub and three-time manager of the club, has 2,299 career hits, he collected only 1,454 in a Chicago uniform.

"I owe a vote of thanks to Stan Musial," said Banks. "This spring when I got off slowly, I had a talk with Stan he related the various things he used to do when he was in a slump. I followed his advice and it was a big help."

RYUN MOVES UP—Kansas freshman Jim Ryun moves easily behind Richard Romo (3) of Texas as they start into the second lap of the mile at Berkeley, Calif., in the All-America track meet. At left is Oregon's Wade Bell (10) who led at the second lap. Oklahoma State's Tom VonRuden (4) is at center. Ryun took over in the third lap and sprinted to the tape to establish new world's record of 3 minutes 51.3 seconds for the mile. (AP Wirephoto)

Elbel Says Ryun Explosive Power

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Jim Ryun's greatness can be measured by a track officials stopwatch but not by medical equipment in a University of Kansas physiology laboratory.

Dr. Ed Elbel, a physical education professor at KU, said Wednesday that Ryun, the world's fastest middle-distance runner, differed little in physiological profile from other Jayhawk runners he has tested over the years.

"The most rigid difference between Jim and anyone else is his ability to expend energy when it's necessary," Elbel said.

"I call it explosive power—the ability to go into high gear when he has the desire. It's a matter of perfect timing."

Elbel puts the athletes through a 30-minute stint on a treadmill and measures such heart and lung functions as rate and amount of air exchange and pulse rate.

Ryun, whose time of 3:51.3 Sunday shattered Michel Jazy's world mile mark by 2.3 seconds, has a pulse rate while reclining which runs a poor second to that of Bill Dodson, a former KU miler who had a best of only 3:59 in 1962.

Elbel said Ryun's pulse rate on May 21 was 54 to 55 per minute while Dodson was measured at 30 to 32. A low pulse rate often is considered a sign of a well-conditioned athlete.

There is no physiological test available, Elbel said, which explains why one trained distance runner will defeat another.

Ryun's difference from the nonathlete, however, can be measured easily.

Midland Takes Win In Polo Tourney

OAKBROOK, Ill. (AP)—Midland, Tex., defeated Bunntyco of Chicago 7-6 Wednesday in the semifinals of the National 12-Goal Polo Tournament.

Bob Beveridge scored the deciding goal in the last 30 seconds of the match. He had scored two other points for the West Texas team.

Snyder Teams In LL Survival Game

The district round of the Little League playoffs will begin tonight at 5 p.m. in the Little League park in a five team single elimination tournament with four of the teams in action tonight.

The main attraction in tonight's doubleheader will come at 7:30 p.m. when two Snyder teams fight for survival in the playoffs. The National Little League All-Stars will meet the American Little League All-Stars.

The first game, beginning at 5 p.m., will pit Rotan and Colorado City together. Stonewall-Kent drew a bye in the first round of play.

Tonight's survival clash between Snyder's National and American leagues is an important contest for both teams. The winner receives the right to advance in the playoffs while the loser is eliminated completely.

Winner of tonight's National-American contest will meet Stonewall-Kent Friday, July 22, and the winner of that game will play the winner of Rotan and Colorado City Saturday, July 23. The Rotan-C-City winner has a bye in the second round.

All of these games will be played in the Snyder Little League park. Beginning with the second round, all games will begin at 7:30 p.m.

The National Little League All-Stars are: Ira Riggs and Buck Logan, managers; Doug Arnold, Bret Bell, Mark Bostick, Lane Johnston, Jim Fred Liner, Mike Line, Dewayne Riggs, Randy Rodgers, Gary Smith, N. C. Smith, Terry Sutton, David Thompson, Jim Waters and Bobby Weaver. Alternates are Mark Hargrove and Tim Holder.

The American Little League All-Stars are: Bill Murray and Carl Stokes, managers; Jackie Murray, Harold Buchanan, Carlos Cisnero, Gary Patterson, Albert Hernandez, Danny Chaney, Mike Glasscock, Marvin McClanahan, William Patterson, Louis Loyd, Jerry Hardin, Scotty Sullivan, Tommy Davis and Daryl Stokes. Alternates are David Stokes and Kenny Payne.

Success Hasn't Spoiled Golfer, Jack Nicklaus

By JOE MOOSHIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Success hasn't spoiled Jack Nicklaus, who will tee off today in the PGA's Golden Anniversary Tournament seeking his third major title of the year and the ninth of his short, illustrious career.

Success has given the 26-year-old Columbus, Ohio clouter an opportunity to pace himself so that he might remain one of the world's premier golfers for years to come.

"No more than two tournaments in a row, if I can help it," said Nicklaus, who this year completed his grand slam when he captured the recent British Open.

A couple of years ago Sam Snead remarked that Nicklaus would burn himself out at the pace he was going. Nicklaus pooh-poohed the remark at the time.

Now Jack is using a timetable which he claims will not only enable him to play better golf, but also to enjoy the game more.

"Nobody likes to do anything he doesn't enjoy," said Nicklaus, "and I can't enjoy playing golf week after week. The cutdown will not be drastic. Instead of 25 tournaments a year, I'll probably play 18, maybe 20.

"When it comes to the major tournaments, I want a week off before and a week off after.

"I've been asked if I've lost any of my incentive now that I have won all the major tournaments. The answer is no. I want to win 'em all again. And I'd also like to win them all in one year.

"Maybe I'd be going for all of them in one year this week," said the man who won his third Masters in addition to the British Open, but fell short in the U.S. Open, won by Billy Casper in a dramatic playoff with Arnold Palmer.

"I wasn't too far off in the Open," said Nicklaus. "One bad round knocked me out. You still can't afford that bad round and hope to win a major tournament."

Nicklaus, along with Palmer and Casper, is a heavy favorite in the 50th PGA. The 7,180-yard Firestone course with a par of 35-35—70 is tailored for the big hitters and the rough is so short that most of the golfers are not even considering it a factor.

Orioles Escalate War On Sickly Detroit Tigers

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Detroit Tigers have a sick manager, a sick acting manager, and a sick shortstop. Right now their pitching staff isn't exactly the picture of health either.

Baltimore continued to punish the Tiger staff Wednesday, pounding Denny McLain and two successors for 16 hits in a 10-7 triumph that extended the Orioles' American League lead to 10½ games.

Detroit Manager Chuck Dressen is recuperating from his second heart attack in two years and now Acting Manager Bob Swift and All-Star shortstop Dick McAuliffe have been hospitalized with bacterial food poisoning.

McLain, who pitched three perfect innings in the All-Star Game, was ripped for home runs by Brooks Robinson and Boog Powell as the Orioles wiped out an early deficit.

In 5 1-3 innings pitched since the All-Star break, McLain has been taged with two losses in which he gave up 16 hits and 14 runs, all of them earned.

The second-place Tigers meanwhile, have lost 14 of their last 20 games including five in a row. During the five-game slide, Detroit pitchers have given up 53 runs, an average of more than 10 per game.

Frank Skaff, handling the Tigers in the absence of both Dressen and Swift, saw Detroit jump into a 3-0 lead and then rally for a 7-5 lead but it wasn't enough against the fired-up Orioles.

Powell and Robinson each drove in two runs and scored three. Jim Northrup had a homer and double for Detroit, driving in two runs and scoring three.

Elsewhere in the American League Wednesday, Minnesota downed Washington 3-1, Chicago beat Cleveland 6-3, New York blanked Kansas City 4-0 and California and Boston split a doubleheader, the Red Sox winning the first game 6-1 and the Angels taking the nightcap, 1-0 in 10 innings.

In the National League, New York edged San Francisco 3-2 in 10 innings, St. Louis whipped Atlanta 6-3, Cincinnati swept a doubleheader from Chicago 5-4 and 5-1, the second game called after seven innings by darkness, Philadelphia defeated Houston 13-9 and Pittsburgh defeated Los Angeles 8-5.

Moe Drabowsky pitched four hitless innings of relief for the Orioles, striking out eight of the 12 batters he faced.

The loss left the second-place Tigers closer to eighth place Kansas City than they are to front-running Baltimore.

The Athletics slipped into eighth behind New York when Mel Stottlemyre blanked them on six hits. Horace Clarke and Tom Tresh homered for the Yankees who wwon their fifth straight.

Don Buford and Jerry Adair drove in two runs apiece as the White Sox downed the Indians. Joe Horlen pitched five hitless innings but needed help from Hoyt Wilhelm to nail down the victory.

Dave Boswell's six-hitter gave Minnesota its 10th victory in 13 games this season against Washington. Boswell, 8-5, struck out eight and allowed only two hits after the third inning.

Darrell Brandon, a rookie right-hander, pitched a two-hitter and Don Demeter drove in two runs with a double and two singles as Boston beat California in the opener of their twi-night doubleheader.

Bob Rodgers' pinch single in the 10th inning decided the second game as three California pitchers—Dean Chance, Minnie Rojas and Jack Sanford—limited the Red Sox to two hits.

Chance allowed only a second-inning single by Tony Conigliaro but walked eight before Rojas came on in the ninth. Sanford pitched the 10th inning and gave up the other Boston hit.

Morse's Title As Tactician Rides With Home Rule Plan

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Wayne Morse will put his recognized talent as a parliamentary tactician on the line in the Senate in the next few weeks, with the fate of home rule for the District of Columbia riding on the outcome.

The Oregon Democrat's plan is to force a vote on self-representation for Washington's 800,000 citizens by bypassing the House District of Columbia Committee, the burial ground for home rule legislation since World War II.

Until Morse, one of the most persistent of home rule advocates, stepped into the breach, home rule appeared dead for this session of Congress.

Whether he can force passage may depend on how much support the White House gives him.

Early last September, the prospects for home rule appeared brighter than they had at any time since 1874, the year Congress substituted appointed commissioners for local government.

In response to a personal plea from President Johnson, a majority of House members had, by petition, forced the administration's home rule bill from the committee and brought it to the floor for a vote.

Johnson said the step presaged "victory in the final battle of the American Revolution." Home rule supporters were jubilant. The President's power of persuasion had carried the day again.

Said Joseph L. Rauh Jr., a leader of home rule lobbyists: "When I was a kid, it was always a sure thing when you bet on Joe Louis, the Yankees and Notre Dame. Now I'd add a fourth—LBJ."

By the end of the month the jubilation had turned to despair.

While the administration bill would have given Washington a mayor and council, the House passed a substitute bill providing for a referendum on whether district residents want home rule.

There matters stood when Congress quit for the year and there they stood Sunday when Morse announced his plan at a home rule rally at the Washington Monument. The Senate and House were in sharp disagreement and the House District Committee, dominated by Southern conservatives, wouldn't even appoint conferees to try to resolve the differences.

The fact that about 62 per cent of Washington's residents are Negroes undoubtedly has a lot to do with the failure of hundreds of home rule bills in past years.

There have been hints that continued failure may touch off an explosion. For example Marion Barry Jr., Washington head of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, vowed last week: "We aren't going to be nice anymore in demanding changes because we're tired of that mess."

What Morse plans to do is to attach a modified version of the Senate-passed home rule bill to the administration's higher education bill, expected to clear the Senate Labor and Education Committee in a few weeks.

If the Senate approves the amendment, the bill would go to the House Education and Labor Committee, headed by Rep. Adam Clayton Powell Jr., who supports the Morse plan.

So far this year, Johnson has had little to say about home rule. He appealed for its enactment in his State of the Union message Jan. 12 and in submitting the district's budget to Congress Jan. 25 urged the House "to complete action" on the Senate-passed bill.

Home rule advocates are hoping he'll take a more active role before Congress goes home.

Youth Is Such A Nuisance

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Why does anyone want to be young?

Youth is such a nuisance. It is fortunate that only young people have youth, as only they have the strength to bear up under its burdens.

There is a lot of hypocrisy in today's widespread worship of youth.

"You're in the best time of life," older people tell younger people.

And the young people believe it. They don't realize they're being kidded — by experts.

People don't appreciate how wonderful life can really be until they realize that middle age, far from being a penalty, has matchless benefits of its own. Why, it enables a man to get away with practically anything except murder.

What are some of the practical advantages of being middle-aged? Well, for example:

Your kids are either well-grown or already flown, and if you and your wife want to go out for the evening you don't have to fawn at the whims of a teen-age babysitter.

You can see your way clear to actually owning your own home. The mortgage on it is probably more than half paid.

You don't have to enlist in wars or play on the office softball team.

After giving you your 25-year pin the boss no longer calls you on the carpet so often, as he no longer has any particular desire to frighten you. He gets more of a thrill out of scaring the young whippersnappers.

You adopt a forgiving attitude toward your enemies because it takes too much energy to go on hating them.

Nothing ages anyone more than the death of his dreams. As you have survived the interment of most of your own foolish dreams, this vanity is behind you.

It no longer galls you so much to make necessary compromises in your daily living. You adjust to the fact that it is a physical impossibility for you to reform the whole world. You decide to let mankind stew in its own juices — and feel better for this decision.

You meet the girl you might have married, and are glad you didn't. The one you did marry may not be a beauty any more, but she's got her points. For one thing, no other girl her age can dish up a tastier casserole. Or clean snow off the driveway quicker.

Best of all, time has taught you and everyone else to accept your limitations. They don't expect you to be anyone else, or to do more than you can. And that's a blessed relief.

These are the advantages of middle age. Who'd trade such known and lasting joys for the pallid, passing, panicky pleasures of the snobbish young?

Junior Editors Quiz on AMAZON RIVER

QUESTION: Why does the Amazon River flow away from the Atlantic Ocean?

• • •

ANSWER: The Amazon is a gigantic river, carrying more water than the Mississippi, the Nile and the Yangtze rivers, if these could all be put together. It does not flow away from the Atlantic Ocean, but into it. As picture (1) shows, it rises in the Andes Mountains of South America, far to the west, runs generally to the north, then turns to the east and crosses the continent, over 200 branch rivers feeding into it. It then empties into the Atlantic at a point on the Brazilian coast. The Amazon flows very slowly, which is because there is only a slight drop in the land toward the sea. In the last 400 miles, the drop is only one eighth inch to the mile. When the ocean tides rise, they become higher than the level of the river at its mouth. The ocean water suddenly floods over the river water. When this happens, a roaring sound is heard, and several big walls of water come travelling in, sometimes 15 feet high. This creates what is called a "bore," and this is what gives the effect of the Amazon running away from the sea at high tide, even if, further back, the river is flowing steadily toward the Atlantic.

Wells Set Depth Record

HOUSTON (AP) — Humble Oil & Refining Co. and Standard Oil Co. of California have completed core holes in waters up to 4,345 feet in the Gulf of Mexico.

A spokesman for the two firms said Wednesday this establishes a new water-depth drilling record for the Gulf.

The two firms, using a computerized drilling ship, are conducting a core drilling program 80 miles off the Texas coast. A converted Navy vessel, Cadrill, is being used in the program. The 86-foot-long craft is capable of coring in waters up to 6,000 feet deep with 4½-inch pipe.

The purpose of the joint exploration program is to study the geology of the continental slope from Florida to Texas.

Humble started the research program in February and was joined in May by Standard of California. Since February 24 core holes have been drilled in the area.

Texas Has Yet To Realize Poverty War's Big Results

EDITOR'S NOTE: The war on Poverty in Texas, some say, it really only getting under way now, with the major results still to come. Following are some of the specific things being done. The last of a three-part series.

By ROBERT HEARD

AUSTIN (AP) — The $80 million Texas War on Poverty is as spread out, as complicated and as many-faceted as World War II.

First, there is the Economic Opportunity Act, of 1964, with its "20-odd programs," to use the phrase of one of the top OEO officials in Texas. The number is "20-odd" because it varies depending on how you count them.

Second, there are some 200 federal programs that relate to some degree to one or more Poverty War programs.

Third, there are a number of state programs.

Fourth, there is a myriad of private programs.

The two best known programs are Job Corps and Head Start.

There are slightly more than 3,000 youngsters enrolled at the Camp Gary Job Corps Center in San Marcos this summer. Thus far, 7,221 have made use of the Gary program for training workers at a cost of $14.5 million.

More than 75,000 children have participated in Head Start programs in Texas. Total cost: $12.1 million. Aim is to help youngster adjust better when they enter school.

More important than either of these in terms of numbers of people affected is the Community Action Program, of which Head Start is only a part, say poverty war officials.

It is not yet as well known as Job Corps and Head Start because it isn't any one thing—it's whatever local officials decide, within broad guidelines, it should be.

It permits a community to single out what it considers its most pressing poverty problems.

Community Action agencies have been organized in 72 of Texas 254 counties, comprising 75 per cent of the state's poor.

And the poor must be represented on the local governing boards. This has paid unexpected dividends. In Corpus Christi, for example, the 'poor" representatives said the two things they needed most were driver's education and first aid. Why? Driver's education for women who want to work as household domestics increase their employability, they say, by increasing the number of things they can do for the housewife—taking the kids to school and driving to the supermarket, for example.

They wanted first aid because, they said, poor people will not automatically go to a doctor when they are sick — only when the illness is serious.

So far, only $16.5 million has been spent on Community Action programs in Texas, but this is expected to increase greatly during the coming year.

More than 30,000 youth between 16 and 21 have been aided by the Neighborhood Youth Corps at a cost of $15.3 million. The corps helps keep needy kids in school by subsidizing jobs in school cafeterias, for example. For kids who already have dropped out of school, the program subsidizes jobs with local governmental agencies or non-profit institutions so the dropouts can save enough to return to school, or acquire skills to increase their employability.

The Adult Basic Education Program, administered by the Texas Education Agency, has provided literacy training for 55,620 Texans in 130 separate projects. The allocation for this program is $3.4 million.

The Rural Grants and Loans Program, administered by the Farmers Home Administration, Department of Agriculture, has made 1,373 grants and loans totaling $2.3 million.

Forty per cent of the Office of Economic Opportunity funds for assistance to migrants, $7.9 million, has been funneled into Texas, reaching 20,695 children and 3,000 adults. In addition, 9,500 migrants have benefitted directly from special migrant projects.

Approximately $100,000 has been spent in Texas by the Volunteers in Service to America, the so-called Domestic Peace Corps—a title not much liked by most workers in the program.

The Work Experience Program, administered by the State Department of Public Welfare, has spent $1.5 million in five grants providing training for welfare recipients. These projects are designed to take the recipients off the welfare rolls.

These are only a few of the top War on Poverty programs. And as the figures indicate, the fight has only begun. And it won't be easy.

"We've got a monumental job," says Walter Richter, state director of the War on Poverty. "I don't feel comfortable with it at all. . ."

But Richter believes it will be won. "You are going to see in the next five or six years some real significant results if we get the kind of support from communities I think we will," he says.

Proclamation Designates Scurry Farm Safety Week

County Judge Sterling Taylor has officially proclaimed July 24-30, as Farm Safety Week in Scurry County, according to Leon Sterling, president of the county Farm Bureau. The local farm organization is coordinating activities for the special farm safety campaign.

President Johnson and Governor Connally have previously designated the week on national and state levels as a period to call attention to worthwhile safety practices that can reduce disabling injuries and death.

The county farm leader said that the aceidental death rate for farm residents has increased since 1961. "Your efforts are vital if this trend is to be reversed, and needless suffering and losses substantially reduced" Sterling continued. He emphasized that farming remains one of the most hazardous occupations in America today.

In his official proclamation, Judge Taylor said: "All the citizens of Scurry county are deeply concerned about the safety and well-being of farm families from whom we receive our abundance of food and other essential agricultural commodities.

"Farm and ranch accidents reap a grim harvest of approximately 150 fatalities and thousands more suffer painful disabling injuries each year in Texas. This, plus the great economic loss, causes profound physical and psychological damage to members of farm families that are involved."

"During this special week, a statewide farm accident prevention education program will be undertaken by the Texas Farm Bureau, the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, 4-H Clubs, the Texas Safety Association, Future Farmers and Future Homemakers of America, Young Farmers and Young Homemakers of Texas and the Scurry County Farm Bureau, with the theme "Safety Is Victory Over Accidents".

Sterling said that a different phase of safety would be emphasized each day during the week: Sunday—reverence for life; Monday—safety begins at home; Tuesday — agricultural chemicals; Wednesday—prevent falls; Thursday—rural highway safety; Friday — farm machinery; Saturday — recreation safety.

Guardsmen On Stand-By Alert

CHICAGO (AP) — Seven-hundred National Guardsmen remained in armories on standby alert today in a West Side neighborhood struck by rioting last week.

Maj. Gen. Francis P. Kane, commanding general of the 33rd Division, Illinois National Guard, said 700 other troops were released at midnight Wednesday night because of the prevailing calm in the area.

He said 700 guardsmen would be kept on standby alert in armories.

The troops were called off the streets Tuesday. More than 3,000 guardsmen were activated Friday night after three nights of rioting.

Earlier Wednesday, about 200 persons attended funeral services at the Stone Temple Baptist Church for Rosland Howard, 14, who was accidentially shot during the rioting.

She was killed by a stray bullet Thursday night as she stood on a porch near her home and the church.

At her funeral it was announced that a Rosland Howard fund has been started for a college scholarship for one of her seven brothers and sisters. The choice will be made later.

The riot zone remained peaceful Wednesday and merchants reported business is reviving in the neighborhood.

Damage to insured property hit by rioters' rocks and fire bombs has been estimated at $500,000 to $1 million.

LIGHTEST MEXICO

BY JOHN ABNEY

MEXICO CITY — The National Confederation of Chambers of Commerce has in effect called on the Mexican Government to halt further influx of foreign capital into Mexico's organized business.

The Confederation, in a letter to the Ministry of Industry and Commerce, said that 'the commercial sector should be protected by the authorities via action which opposes all new foreign investment in the national business field."

These efforts to avoid further competition from foreign investment in general business fields here came to light when the Confederation made known an interchange of letters on the problem between the Confederation president Armando Fernandez and the Ministry's Ernesto Ramirez Solano, Director General of business operations.

The Confederation took its action following a petition by nine member firms which 'expressed their fears of the possible adverse competition they would face with the establishment here of a very important foreign - owned department store chain."

While no mention was made of the organization in question, it is believed the reference is made to the J. C. Penney Co. of the United States, which is considering operations in Mexico.

The Confederation organization said that foreign capital should not be allowed into a Mexican business sector "which is sufficiently well attended by existing national investments.

Ramirez Solano, in referring to the Confederation, said that the Ministry understood the concern of that organization but also discussed at length the various regulations, written and unwritten, covering foreign investment in Mexico.

He added that his office would like to discuss the matter further with the Confederation officials "to resolve this particular situation."

But at the same time he stressed that as far as organized business in Mexico is concerned, foreign investment entering this field will be considered (by government authorities) in the same light as foreign investment in any of a number of other diverse economic sectors where such investment is not already specifically excluded by law.

Ramirez Solano also said that such foreign capital has every right to establish itself in Mexico, although adding that the government would prefer its entry into the market here on a 'mixed capital" basis. In other words, in association with national investors.

The Confederation said there is no need for new foreign investments in the Mexican business sector. It maintained that we now operate a modern, agile and efficient distribution and sales apparatus and plan further modernization, expansion, new investments and better marketing techniques."

Despite the Confederation's petition against more foreign capital, the experts point out that investments are protected by the Mexican government, which still is encouraging the influx of foreign capital in certain fields.

Spacemen Foremost Litterbugs

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — America's many achievements in space include the distinction of being the world's foremost celestial litterbug.

A thermal glove, an exposed roll of color movie film and an expensive 70mm camera are now earth satellites as a result of mishaps while astronauts were outside their spaceships.

In addition, there is a collection of other orbiting junk discarded intentionally by astronauts to save the trouble of stowing.

Gemini 10 pilots John W. Young and Michael Collins threw away about 14 items Wednesday as they prepared their cabin for re-entry.

Most of these went into the bag that had contained the lifeline Collins used for his walk in space. What didn't go into the bag was just tossed out the hatch, like the lifeline itself.

The pilots, cramped for space among all the loose gear, were especially happy to see the lifeline go. When Mission Control asked about it, Collins replied, "Gone, thank God."

Collins lost two objects during his half hour outside Gemini 10. One of these was the 70mm camera, another was a small experiment package he was to attach to the Agena 8.

During Gemini 4, astronaut Edward H. White II watched as a thermal glove drifted out of the hatch.

While Eugene A. Cernan was strolling outside Gemini 9 a magazine of exposed movie film got away from him, as did a lens.

Eventually, all of this space flotsam will burn to cinders as gravity pulls it into the dense atmosphere.

Asks Study Of Draft

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP)—The Selective Service system, in Houston in particular, needs investigation, said Clayton Mann, commander of the American Legion in Texas.

Mann said Wednesday he does not believe in drafting married men for military service when bachelors are available. Some draft boards, he said, probably need overhauling to correct "the situation."

"There is something wrong when a city of a million people has to draft married men," the Wichita Falls man told a news conference.

Mann is in Corpus Christi for the state convention of the American Legion which is to get underway Friday.

The national draft system as a whiole, he said, is adequate and fair to most young men.

Divorced People Lose Homestead Exemption

AUSTIN (AP) — A divorced person loses his $3,000 homestead exemption from state ad valorem taxes unless there are minor children or dependents living in the House, Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr says.

In an opinion requested by State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert, Carr said Wednesday the homestead exemption cannot be allowed after the "familial relationship" is dissolved.

About one-half of annual cotton consumption goes into the production of clothing.

Mexican Boats Said Fishing US Waters

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) —Reports that three Mexican shrimp boats are fishing in United States territorial waters are being investigated, the Coast Guard said Wednesday.

Officials at Corpus Christi said the boats were first reported on Monday some 25 miles south of the Corpus Christi area.

U.S. jurisdiction extends three miles out into the Gulf of Mexico, but state jurisdiction extends 10 1-3 miles out.

Lt. Cmdr. Roger Millaf, public relations officer for the Coast Guard in Corpus Christi, said the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department is investigating the report.
