Keeping tab on our neighbors:

"Would you guess that trees are one of the greatest dangers to drivers?" asks Charles Didway in the Post Dispatch. "It's because they grow in the middle of the roads! At least that's what 514,000 American drivers claimed last year when they hit one."

The tree hazard is not nearly so great in West Texas, of course, as it is in some other regions—Louisiana, for example. But drivers have long had trouble with trees, along with other fixed objects, such as utility poles that have been reported as jumping into the path of vehicles.

★ ★ ★

But, as in the case of the trees and utility poles encroaching upon the right-of-way, drivers have a way of rationalizing whenever they encounter an incident that might require some explaining. Other people do, also.

Tommy Hart of the Big Spring Herald recently reported on an individual he had "heard of" who had vowed to become a vegetarian, but continue to eat chicken. He changed its name to egg plant. Now that's really rationalizing!

★ ★ ★

"It is said that all good things must come to an end...." That's the way The Echo, the news organ of the Texas Department of Corrections, introduces a story about a decline in the parole rate.

"The parole rate for May was 47.9 per cent, marking the first time in 12 months that the figure has dropped below 50 per cent," The Echo advised.

They didn't speculate on the reason for the decline in number of paroles, but just above that story in The Echo was one about Gov. Dolph Briscoe signing the new death penalty bill and the new penal code into law.

Did the energy crisis come as a surprise to you? It shouldn't, says the Lamesa Press-Reporter, if you are old enough to remember eight years ago. It was on Nov. 9, 1965, at a little after 5 p.m., that the spectacular "black-out" hit the East Coast of the United States.

"The warning was loud and clear. It should have been heard by all and heeded, but it was not," the Press-Reporter laments.——WACIL McNAIR.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Friday, July 20, the 201st day of 1973. There are 164 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1969, the American astronauts, Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin Aldrin Jr., became the first men to land on the moon.

On this date:

In 1654, a treaty was signed placing Portugal under English control.

In 1810, Colombia declared independence from Spain.

In 1871, British Columbia joined the Dominion of Canada.

In 1917, the first numbers were drawn in the World War I lottery.

In 1944, during World War I, Radio Berlin reported that Adolf Hitler had narrowly escaped death in a bomb plot.

In 1945, the U.S. flag was raised over Berlin as American troops prepared to take part in the occupation government after World War II.

Ten years ago: Ideological talks ended between China and the Soviet Union, apparently with differences unresolved.

Five years ago, the Philippines recalled its envoys from Malaysia because of a territorial dispute.

One year ago: Sen. George S. McGovern named Lawrence F. O'Brien as chairman of his Democratic presidential campaign.

SISTERS RELEASED AS HOSTAGES—Sharon Lewis, 20, left, of Sherman, Tex., says "we were terrified" as she and her sister, Diane, 18, talk with newsmen in Athens Thursday after being released by an unnamed armed Palestinian. The man, armed with a submachine gun, seized 17 persons in an Athens hotel lobby after failing in an attempt to shoot up an Israeli air line office. He threatened to kill the hostages but let them go after being promised safe conduct to the Middle East. (AP Wirephoto via cable from Athens)

Referendum On County Projects Set Saturday

Voters of Scurry County will go to the polls Saturday to express their opinions on two proposals.

The special referendum was called by county commissioners to determine whether citizens of the county favor two proposed projects—an agricultural and livestock building complex at the Scurry County coliseum, and a new county jail.

If either or both of the projects should materialize, the county proposes to use federal revenue sharing funds to finance the construction. Consequently, no authority is being sought to levy any tax or issue any bonds to finance such projects.

The voting will be at all of the regular polling places in the county—those used for primary and general elections.

Polls will open at 8 a.m. and close at 7 p.m. The livestock and agriculture facilities at the coliseum have been under study for some time and a special committee developed the actual proposal over a period of several months. If constructed, the additional building on the coliseum property would provide space for livestock shows, for the county fair and other similar activities, and it also would provide the necessary facilities for handling stock for rodeos in the coliseum.

The county jail, which has been labeled inadequate for several years, has been a matter of concern for some time.

All registered voters in the county are eligible to cast ballots in Saturday's referendum.

The voting boxes and their locations are as follows: Box 1, Northeast Snyder, in justice of the peace office of the courthouse; Box 2, Loyd Mountain, at Loyd Mountain Schoolhouse; Box 4, Dermott, at Precinct 2 County Barn; Box 5, Fluvanna, at community center; Box 6, Ufton, at community center; Box 7, Bison, at Knapp Community Center; Box 8, China Grove at gin office; Box 9, Ira, community center; Box 10, Dunn, community center; Box 12, Inadale, community center; Box 13, Hermleigh, schoolhouse; Box 14, Camp Springs, at Loyd Mountain Schoolhouse; Box 15, South Snyder, school administration building; Box 17, Northwest Snyder, at city hall; Box 18, Southwest Snyder, commissioners courtroom in courthouse; Box 19, Crowder, at Union Community Center; Box 20, Southeast Snyder, at coliseum.

Hearings Begin On Wheat Sale

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate permanent investigations subcommittee opened public hearings today into last year's $1-billion dollar sale of U.S. wheat to the Soviet Union.

The first witness was Clarence Palmby, now an official with Continental Grain Co., the major supplier of grain in the deal.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., subcommittee chairman, says Palmby, then assistant agriculture secretary, led the team of U.S. negotiators that arranged the wheat sale.

Palmby testified before a House agriculture subcommittee last September:

"Much has been said about my involvement in this transaction between Continental Grain and the Soviet Union. Many of the comments are completely untrue. I am referring particularly to the statements that an agreement had been reached in Moscow with the Soviets in April of 1972. Any such statement is an outright lie. I categorically state I took no active part in Continental's commercial negotiations with the Soviets.

"Still other statements have been made that I somehow or other had prior knowledge of the Soviets' intention to purchase grain from the U.S. and promptly carried that information to my new employer. This also is an outright lie."

Palmby was expected to be questioned by senators about whether the Agriculture Department withheld from farmers information about the huge wheat sale.

Palmby left the Agriculture Department in May 1972, two months before the wheat sale was consummated.

Jackson has blamed the wheat sale and its resulting shortage of U.S. grain for dramatic increases in the price of food.

Jackson accused Nixon administration officials, especially the Agriculture Department, of mismanaging the sale, which was approved last July to supplement drought-decreased Soviet food supplies.

"The Russians knew more about what was going on in this phase of our private enterprise than did our own government," Jackson said.

V. E. Chapman Service Set

Vurn Edwin Chapman, 72, who lived at 4101 Avondale, died at 10 a.m. Thursday in Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

Funeral service has been set for 2 p.m. Saturday, at Frist Christian Church. The Rev. Otto Schaufele will officiate, assisted by E.E. Wallace.

Burial will be in Hillside Memorial Gardens, under direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

Mr. Chapman, a native of Isabelle, Okla., retired from a position with National Supply Co. Division of Armco in 1962.

He was married on Dec. 14, 1964, in Sapulpa, Okla., to Miss Emily Harris. She survives.

Also surviving are a son, Joe V. Chapman of Plano; a sister, Mrs. Clara Smith of Corona, Calif.; and two grandchildren.

Food for the family will be served at First Christian Church.

Nixon To Work At Full Tilt

WASHINGTON (AP) — Promising to "work right up to the hilt," President Nixon told his White House staff today that any suggestion he would resign before the end of his term is "just plain poppycock."

Speaking informally to several hundred White House employes in the Rose Garden following his release from Bethesda Naval Medical Center, Nixon said:

"Let others wallow in Watergate. We're going to do our job."

Showers Fall In Area Again

Unpredictable showers dotted the Snyder area again late Thursday, bringing beneficial moisture to some localized areas and leaving others high and dry.

Once again, it appeared that the heavier showers were to the south and east of Snyder with good rains reported to the south toward Dunn.

The east side of Snyder got showers ranging up to a quarter of an inch or more, but it was lighter to the west. The official guage at the city water plant logged .19 inch. Unofficial measurements around town ranged from about .10 to over a quarter of an inch.

The threat of rain hovered over the rodeo arena where the second performance of the 38th Annual Scurry County Rodeo was being held, but the rains did not reach that area.

Mardian Says Nixon Asked 'Tapes' Moved

By MICHAEL PUTZEL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A former assistant attorney general testified today that President Nixon personally asked him to get tapes of White House-ordered telephone taps away from the FBI and into the White House.

Robert C. Mardian told the Senate Watergate committee he was summoned to the Western White House by Nixon after an FBI associate director had warned that the politically sensitive tapes might come into possession of J. Edgar Hoover.

The tapes of bugged conversations by newsmen and employes of the National Security Council were found this spring in the safe of former White House domestic counsel John D. Ehrlichman.

They were made as part of an administration effort to end what it called national security leaks during 1970.

Mardian's account of a meeting June 23 or 24 of last year paralleled another account he gave Thursday of apparent Mitchell acquiescence to the plan which Mardian inferred from a meeting June 17, hours after the break-in.

Mardian gave this account of the meeting at which Jeb Stuart Magruder reported authorizing $40,000 for G. Gordon Liddy, later convicted as the leader of the wiretapping crew:

"I must have registered surprise. I said '$40,000?' And Mr. Mitchell did much the same. And he turned to Mr. Mitchell and he said, 'Well that's not much out of the total budget of $250,000.'

"Mr. Mitchell's answer was, 'But the campaign hasn't even started yet.'"

"You understood that declaration on the part of Mr. Mitchell to mean that he had approved the $250,000 operation, did you not?" Talmadge asked.

"I would assume that Mr. Mitchell, not having denied that statement, acquiesced in it. His response wasn't, 'I didn't authorize 250.' His response was, 'The campaign hasn't started yet.'"

Mitchell has sworn that he vetoed Liddy's $250,000 proposal to wiretap Democratic headquarters and other opposition targets. Magruder testified that Mitchell approved it, and another campaign aide, Frederick C. LaRue, said Mitchell merely put off a decision, neither approving the plan nor disapproving it.

Elaborating on his Thursday testimony about a meeting with Liddy after the break-in, Mardian said he didn't put much credence in Liddy's account.

Mardian said Liddy told him about past hush-hush White House activities, including a break-in at the office of the psychiatrist of Daniel Ellsberg and the spiriting away of ITT figure Dita Beard, and claimed by implication that Nixon had approved.

Food, Gas Feed Cost Of Living

WASHINGTON (AP) — Higher retail prices for food, fuels and household services shoved the cost of living up seven-tenths of one per cent in June before President Nixon froze prices, the government said today. It marked the fifth straight month of sharply higher consumer prices.

The big gains were again led by higher grocery store prices which rose 1.7 per cent in June and were nearly 16 per cent higher than a year ago.

Fruits and vegetables rose 4.9 per cent last month, the sharpest jump since a 5.6 per cent increase in December 1971.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said last month's cost of living figures were collected before the 60-day price freeze went into effect June 13.

Consumer prices rose during the five months of the largely voluntary Phase 3 economic controls at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 8.3 per cent, compared to an annual-rate jump of 3.6 per cent under the 14 months of tighter Phase 2 controls which the Nixon administration lifted in January.

President Nixon's new Phase 4 economic controls lifted the freeze on food immediately and on most other sectors of the economy Aug. 12. This is expected to bring even higher prices in the months ahead.

The seven-tenths of one per cent increase in the June Consumer Price Index was one-tenth of one per cent higher than in May. This matched increases in February and April but was two-tenths of one per cent less than the March increase. After seasonal adjustment, the June increase was six-tenths of one per cent, the same as in the previous two months.

Sharply higher prices for gasoline—the third consecutive month—and a big jump in fuel oil prices were mainly responsible for a six-tenths of one per cent hike in the nonfood commodity index. The government called this larger than normal for this time of the year.

Prices also surged higher for used cars, household services, housing and alcoholic beverages. Clothing prices went up instead of dropping as they usually do in June.

LIVESTOCK PROVES TOUGH

'Calf-Dressing' Event Spices Thursday Rodeo

BY MARY RAY

History was made last night at Snyder's rodeo when the disc jockies stampeded over the Snyder Jaycees in the calf dressing competition. Carol Brush, Bob Clifton and Glen Polk, members of the disc jockies team, successfully dressed an Angus steer in a pair of men's shorts and raced across the finish line proving their competitive cowboy spirit. This was the first time in the history of Snyder rodeo that such an exhibition had been staged.

A plaque was presented to each group at the conclusion of the race.

Scores totaled in the regular riding events last night moved several cowboys and cowgirls into the top contention for the all-around awards. The top rated stock of Smokey Davis of Houston, however, allowed only a minimum number of bareback riders and bull riders to remain mounted throughout the eight-second ride. In fact, a six time world champion saddle bronc rider, Cele Maynard of Falcon, Missouri, had his share of difficulty scoring high on the horse he drew.

Events and scores of last night's performance were recorded as follows:

Bareback Riding: David Little, Pasadena—59; Chuck Albright, Midland—57; Skipper Emitt, Spring Dale, Ark.—53; Benny Killpatrick, Abilene—38.

Tiedown Calf Roping: Johnny Edmondson, McCauley—12.0; Roy Cooper, San Angelo—12.4; Sherrall Overturf, Slaton—12.7; Bo Wilson, Winters—14.8; Benny Spitzer, Stamford—16.6; Gary Harlan, Slaton—16.9 Perry Roaldna, Lubbock—20.6; Jesse Doss, Big Spring—22.7.

Saddle Bronc Riding: Dave Benbo, Sneeds, Fla.—68; Don Cook, Parsons, Kan.—60; David Little, Pasadena—60; Gene Maynard, Falcon, Mo.—59; Ell Beasley, Oyster Creek—51; Tom Stovall, Cypress—49.

Barrel Race: Carolyn Roane, Big Spring—18.33; Cheryl Roane, Big Spring—18.46; Zane Neal, Big Spring—18.52; Lesa Voss, Snyder—18.54; Nell Stanford, Lubbock—18.59; Becky Odom, McCauley—19.01; Billy Voss, Snyder—19.40; Marla Nieswiadomy, Snyder—19.59; Tana Springer, Snyder—19.61; Glenda Shepler, Abilene—19.81; Cherry Terry, Roby—19.88; Debbie Arant, Ropesville—19.98; Jina Shepler, Abilene—23.24; Susan Stricklan, Snyder—25.13.

Steer wrestling; Steve Friar, Big Spring—9.4; Joe Scott, Big Spring—28.8.

Bull Riding: Bill Bonner, Beeville—69.

A local cowboy, Johnny Erwin, was hurt in the bull riding event and required hospitalization. The Snyder Ambulance Service took him to Cogdell Hospital where he was being treated for a serious chest injury.

Weather conditions threatened to interrupt the performance, but the rain avoided the area. Jim Miller,

The signals she sends don't say 'stay away'

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I'm 22, better than average looking, and I'm told I have a good personality. Altho I don't pretend to be "Miss Super Virgin," I don't care to jump into bed with a guy on the first date.

How does a girl tactfully let a guy know this when he doesn't exactly come right out and ask her to go to bed with him, but he just keeps pushing himself on her?

I must be going about it in the wrong way because even tho my date and I really have a good time, when it comes to the moment of truth he gets disgusted with me.

This happens on every date I've had lately and I'm beginning to feel like a failure when a guy rushes me home, says, "I'll see you around," and I never hear from him again.

BIG PROBLEM

DEAR PROBLEM: Your big problem is the way you conduct yourself during those moments that lead up to the moment of truth. Your actions undoubtedly telegraph the message that you would be a willing partner. Put the brakes on during the preliminaries, and you won't find yourself faced with "the moment of truth" so soon. And by the way, a guy who disappears permanently because a girl refuses to jump into bed with him on the first date is no bargain.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 64-year-old man who has been a widower for two years. I am in good health, college educated, and I'm considered presentable. I had a wonderful 38-year marriage, but I dislike living alone and I would like to marry.

The problem: I've been out with numerous ladies who seem pleasant and decent and would make fine companions, but they do nothing for me—physically.

I am not a wolf, but I'd like a woman about whom I can really become excited. One I can't wait to see again. I don't mean young girls, either. I mean a woman in her fifties.

Can this happen to a man my age? Or should I settle for a nice woman who qualifies in every other way and put aside these dreams of romance?

I don't want to be crude, but I would like to know if it's possible for a man past 60 to fall in love—and physically do something about it.

READY AND WILLING

DEAR READY AND WILLING: If you are in good health, you are also "able." All you need is the right woman. Keep looking.

DEAR ABBY: May I commend you for your understanding advice to "Heartsick Mother" whose beautiful 22-year-old daughter had an all-consuming interest in another girl.

You told the mother: "Let your daughter know you love her and accept her as she is. There is no more convincing proof of your love."

I hope she heeds your advice. My only son turned out to be a homosexual. I was heartbroken, but never let him know it.

Altho I couldn't understand it, I accepted it. Today he has adjusted to it, has an excellent position in a distant state, and the respect of those he works for. And yes, he has a "special" friend.

Had I rejected him, he might have had many more problems. Before going to his present location, he wrote me a letter, thanking me for accepting him as he is. Neither one of us ever mentioned it again.

Thank you, Abby, for understanding.

NO NAME, PLEASE

CONFIDENTIAL TO JERRY IN TUCSON: When your wife no longer cares how late you come home, it's later than you think.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Left Turn Lane Cuts Mishaps

For the past year the people of Snyder have been using a "left-turn-only" lane on College Avenue that apparently is still a question mark in the minds of a few motorists. Most drivers, however, have adjusted and are using it properly.

The turn lane, marked by yellow stripes, has reduced rear-end collisions, and has helped to facilitate traffic, according to Sgt. Les Wilkerson of the Snyder Police Department. He believes that the accident rate and danger will continue to decrease as more people learn how the lane is to be used.

Basically there are three facts that should be kept in mind by all moterists, concerning the left-turn-only lane:

1. A left turn must be made from that lane, and not across it from a driving lane.

2. If the lane is entered it must be to make a left turn. It should not be used as a passing or driving lane.

3. The motorist should enter the lane immediately preceding the turn. The driver should take special care when entering the lane near an intersection. He may be meeting a motorist who is intending to turn left at that intersection.

Although the lengthy, left-turn-only, type of lane is relatively new here, it has been used extensively elsewhere, according to Wilkerson. It is considered a real aid in traffic control and in the prevention of accidents.

RODEO PERSONALITIES ATTEND PARTY — This afternoon these rodeo entertainers were to attend a birthday party at Towle Park for the children of the Child Day Care Center. Pictured are Bob Clifton, representing the winners of last night's calf dressing contest, Jim Miller, announcer for the annual rodeo, Lenore Rowe, trick rider appearing in the nightly performances, and Bob Witte, clown for the show.

Winds Delay Tests

PAPEETE, Tahiti (AP) — Winds blowing in the wrong direction have delayed the start of the controversial French nuclear tests until Sunday at least, according to usually well-informed sources.

The sources said the tests were to have started Thursday at the Mururoa Atoll but were put off because there was no east-southeast wind pattern to carry fallout into uninhabited regions of the Pacific Ocean.

The New Zealand frigate Otago, cruising near the test site to protest the blast, said it sighted a large, sausage-shaped balloon above Mururoa Thursday. It was believed the first bomb to be detonated would be suspended from it.

Fraser Coleman, the New Zealand cabinet minister aboard the Otago, and the ship's 256 crew members spent six hours on standby alert today. A similar alert was ordered for Saturday, with all but the captain, the navigator and the signals officer remaining below deck to minimize danger from the explosion.

Judges for the Scurry County Rodeo are Shorty Maxey of Mansfield and Tommy Riley of Snyder. Timekeepers are Ann Mattison of Hungerford and Buddy Trevey of Snyder. Music for the performances is provided by Betty Davis of Missouri City. Bob Witte, of Nashville, Tenn. is clowning the bull riding event with Lecile Harris.

The two remaining 8:30 performances of the Scurry County Rodeo will prove the skill and speed of the top I.R.A contenders and produce and all round winners of this year's show.

Auto Talks In Home Stretch

DETROIT (AP) — The first round of the 1973 auto negotiations head into the home stretch today after a top official of General Motors and the United Auto Workers union expressed differences on what a new contract will cost.

"I think it's safe to assume we'll stay within the 6.2 per cent federal guidelines" on the final settlement, said GM Vice President George Morris.

But the UAW Vice President for General Motors, Irving Bluestone, said that would not be adequate.

"We're going to negotiate with GM as free agents," Bluestone said. "Let the government decide if they want to do anything about it."

Ford Board Chairman Henry Ford II has conceded the union a settlement of more than 7 per cent and union spokesmen have said they do not want to disappoint him.

GM's negotiating team planned to break up into study committees today to go over the union proposals.

The union was to continue presenting its proposals to Chrysler and Ford, where it demanded "makeup money" Thursday.

Liz, Richard Are Reunited

ROME (AP) — Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton held an emotional, wet-eyed reunion today, rekindling their love affair in the city where it all began.

They hugged and kissed for minutes, then drove off without talking to a crowd of newsmen gathered for the event in Rome's Ciampino Airport. Miss Taylor arrived there from London.

The reunion ended a 16-day separation begun, as Miss Taylor put it, because the couple had "maybe loved each other too much."

The scene of the reunion was the Ciampino parking lot. Burton had flown up from Taormina, Sicily, where he attended a film festival.

They drove off to the villa of Carlo Ponti and his wife, actress Sophia Loren, in the Alban Hills south of Rome.

Cool Front Enroute

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A lagging cool front, originally expected to reach the Upper Texas Panhandle sometime Thursday, was still en route from Southwest Kansas today.

Forecasters looked for it to come on south but the system promised to exert little effect on Texas weather.

Meanwhile skies were clear to only partly cloudy and the July heat maintained its grip on most sections.

Most of the clouds were in far West Texas, where thundershowers dried up after falling during the night from around Rankin to Dryden and south of Big Bend National Park in Mexico.

Over 50 Club Is Told Of RSVP Plan

The Over 50 Club received a report on the Retired Senior Volunteer Program to be established here at their meeting Thursday morning at First United Methodist Church.

Dr. Robert Clinton, President of Western Texas College, told the group of plans to begin the RSVP program which will be funded by a federal grant and directed from the college. This project, which coordinates volunteer work for retired persons, is one in which the former Over 50 Club coordinator, the late Dr. Marvin Genuchi, was especially interested.

During its business session, the club voted to contribute to a permanent Marvin Genuchi Memorial Endowment Fund being established at Western Texas College.

Mrs. Mary Keller, education director, told of a meeting to be held at Ceta Canyon on Aug. 13-17 for leisure years citizens, and of a meeting at Asbury Church in Lubbock on Sept. 7-8 which is sponsored by the church council on ministries and is focused on senior citizens and their needs.

Chairman Fred Davis presided over the business meeting. Games of canasta and forty-two were played until noon when Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Rhodes serviced a luncheon for the 21 persons attending.

Farm, Stamp Bill By House

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill to ban food stamps for strikers put a tight lid on payments for farmers, and make Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz a food-price czar has survived a wild and sometimes confused House battle.

The House passed the comprehensive farm program and food stamp legislation 226 to 182 Thursday night, climaxing an eight-hour marathon on the fifth day of House work on the controversial bill. It was sent to a compromise-seeking conference with the Senate.

Rep. W. R. Poage, D-Tex., chairman of the House Agriculture Committee and chief manager of the legislation, told reporters that if the Senate-House conferees fail to settle differences quickly, it is likely the final congressional version will be held until September. Poage said this step is possible because "we want to avoid a pocket veto" during the month-long summer vacation, which the lawmakers are due to start in early August.

During the final day's action, the congressmen became increasingly confused as the House maneuvered through more than 20 amendments, substitutes, revisions in previously approved sections, parliamentary points of order and various motions.

A major controversy centered on the amendment by Rep. William L. Dickinson, R-Ala., to bar food stamps to strikers.

Families that had been receiving food stamps before a strike would not be affected.

This amendment was accepted by 213 to 203, then survived a second challenge 210 to 207, and eventually held up in a third test 208 to 207. Opponents claimed it would penalize families of strikers and would undermine the right to strike. But backers argued that taxpayer money should not be used to favor one side in a labor argument.

The House voted 217 to 189 to reaffirm its earlier decision giving Butz vast new power over food prices.

County Court Has Busy Day

The Scurry County Court had a busy day Thursday, hearing a number of cases. All together there were six guilty pleas, involving four defendents.

Anderson Davis, Jr. pleaded guilty to two separate offenses of selling liquor in a dry area. Both offenses occurred June 5, 1973. He was fined $500 for each offense, and sentenced to 90 days in jail on each count. The jail sentences are to run concurrently.

Samuel Lee Davis also pleaded guilty to the illegal sale of alcoholic beverage, two counts. He was fined $500 for each offense and sentenced to 90 days in jail on each. The jail sentences were to run concurrently.

Ernest James pleaded guilty to a DWI charge. He was fined $100 and sentenced to 30 days in jail. He had been apprehended by the Snyder Police Department. The offense occurred June 14.

Billy Bigham entered a guilty plea to a DWI charge. He was fined $100 and sentenced to 30 days in jail. The jail sentence was probated for six months.

MARKER DEDICATION—Those attending the marker dedication honoring the Sion Record Bostick at San Saba, Texas were G.B. Bostick, Matador; A.H. Gibson, Orchard; Frank Gibson, Gonzales; Jeanne Meneley Walshak, Gonzales; Frances Bostick Ketchum, Grant Bostick, Inez Corley Sawyer of San Saba; John T. Bostick, Roscoe; Ethel Bostick Miller, Kilgore; Addie Bostick Green, Rotan.

Rotan DAR Members Attend Dedication

Miss Delila Baird, Regent of Anne Pettus Shelburne Chapter DAR of Rotan; Miss Josie Baird, Chapter Registrar and Lineage Research Chairman; Mrs. J.L. McCright, Chapter Secretary and Bicentennial Chairman; and Mrs. Amos Bostick were among the more than one hundred relatives and friends who attended the recent Dedication of a Texas Historical Marker honoring a Texas Hero, Sion Record Bostick, who was one of the captors of General Santa Ana following the Battle of San Jacinto during the Texas Revolution.

Sion Record Bostick died in San Saba on the night of October 15, 1902. Beginning on October 23rd, and intermittently through the intervening years, citizens of the county posed the intent of erecting a memorial monument to their renowned hero and published it in the local newspaper. After almost seventy-one years it became a reality!

When citizens of the county eventually raised the money for the Marker and presented documented data for the inscription, they were informed that a free Marker was available because of the honoree's status as a Texas Hero.

The 18" by 28" Marker notes that Sion Record Bostick was a member of the party of young Texans who captured the escaping Mexican General Santa Ana after the Battle of San Jacinto during the Texas War for Independence; that he served in the Texas army at Gonzales and Bexar in 1835, at San Jacinto in 1836, and in the 1840 stand against the Comanches at Plum Creek. He was a soldier in the Mexican War in 1846 and a Confederate in Hood's Brigade in the Civil War.

S.R. Bostick married Susan Townsend in Colorado County. His second wife was Mary Indiana Rhodes who is buried beside him. Until now there was no stone to mark her resting place. Her nieces and step-grand children have placed a modest stone at her grave. Mrs. Amos Bostick, Josie Baird and Delila Baird contributed an official Daughters of the Republic of Texas Marker for the stone. She was member Number 14 of DRT. Josie Baird gave the memorial speech at her grave site.

Following the impressive dedicatory program and historical tributes the Marker for Sion R. Bostick was unveiled by descendants. Following the unveiling Texas wreaths were placed on both graves by Gene Reed Jr. and Melanie Reed of Odessa. They are grand children of Mr. and Mrs. J.L. McCright of Rotan, and third great grandchildren of the Texas hero.

Major credit for securing the Marker goes to Mrs. Paul Roberds of the County Historical Survey Committee under whose auspices it was secured. The Misses Bairds of Rotan assisted with research and documentation. Mrs. Roberds, Mrs. Alma Ward Hamric and Mr. Jim Rainey were presented with Bicentennial Certificates for their efforts on behalf of securing the Marker and planning the successful dedication program. The certificates were presented by Miss Delila Baird, Regent, and Mrs. J.L. McCright, Anne Pettus Shelburne Chapter Bicentennial Chairman. Joshua Frederick Bostick, youngest son of Sion R. Bostick and his first wife Susan Townsend came to Claytonville in Fisher County in the late 1800's. He later moved to Dowell Community east of Rotan and soon settled in the southwest corner of Kent County where he reared his family. Several descendants reside in the area today.

Use Office Guide In Decorating

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Some men go to their offices at the crack of dawn and return home in the wee hours. A complaining wife had better believe his story even though it may have been easier for her to compete with the office secretary she might have suspected than his real love — the office.

How do you compete with an office anyway, she might ask.

That question put to a well-known decorator of offices and residences, Everett Brown, got an easy response: Use the office as a guide in decorating your home.

In proudly displaying his most recent interior design achievement, 40-or-so offices on three floors of Lanvin-Charles of the Ritz in New York, decorator Brown, known for his impeccable taste, pointed out that the prime ingredient in decorating the offices was serenity, although he was also guided by the company's desire to avoid an "old-fashioned look." It is sort of like "a hot dog with dignity," he remarked.

On a guided tour of these new offices, one executive commented that he and his wife are redoing their own home, and when she saw his office, she said, "why don't we just move in here."

Office life has become so comfortable and scenic that one man commented, "I arrive early enough to see the sunrise from my windows. And many men no longer take their work home from the office. They prefer to stay and finish it at the scene. In fact employers in many big companies may be providing the best in office worlds, not only to keep employes happily at work, but to keep them.

For example, would an employe trade a handsomely furnished four-window office on the 22nd floor overlooking the New York skyline for a nondescript puny-sized office with one window on a low floor-even for more money. It might be a tough choice even without the eclectic furniture mix — Chinese, English Chippendale, modern, and so on — and handsome corporate art. Each man has two or three good contemporary paintings in these newly decorated offices.

Creature comfort was a main consideration in Brown's decorating. People want to sit comfortably, he says, but they don't want to struggle out of chairs and sofas, in offices. Serenity is achieved more by things left out than what is put in. Too many colors and fabrics are avoided. Only one drapery fabric and one upholstery fabric was used in each office.

Although it rarely happens that way, he remarked, decorating started with the carpet. It started at elevators and continues wall-to-wall through reception areas where it might match a wallcovering, and on to ladies lounges and other offices where the lush flooring matches and bone-colored white formica-topped desks and recessed filing cabinets.

In the office the number one status symbol with a man is his desk, Brown commented, pointing out that interestingly most men prefer the traditional style desk. He and his staff spent only about five-minutes with each man to establish preferences — whether he preferred light or dark colors, traditional or modern, desk with drawers or without. But offices are neuter gender so they can accommodate anyone in the future. A man or woman who is promoted may be separated from his office.

Furniture is switchable, he explained, because "if the backgrounds are right anything can be moved."

Silks, grasses and vinyls on walls are in light colors or deep brown or oxblood. There are walls of teak and laminated wood. In a dining room walls are covered in rectangular random-scaled garment suede. To-the-floor glass in rounded 30 moldings is inset in some outer office walls but they can be shrouded for privacy.

Some chairs and sofas, traditional or modern, are upholstered in bone or green velvet, men's suit wear, bone or black leather. Other chairs are wicker or leather and steel. Each office has a living-room style conversation area. In several women's offices, the upholstery is yellow. Primary colors — red, yellow and blue — are usually dangerous to use as a key theme, Brown said.

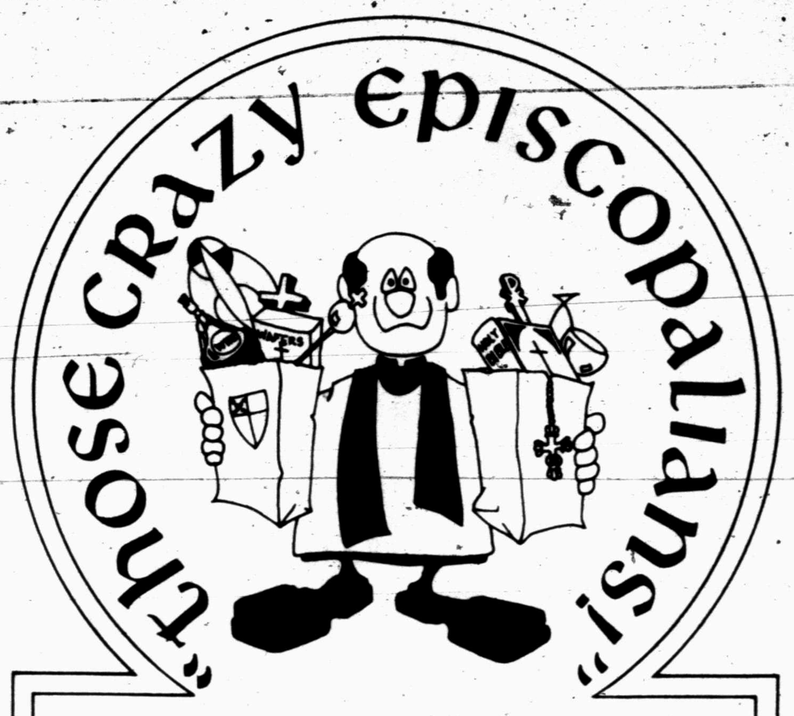
"Those Crazy Episcopalians"



Just what is their bag?

Are they Protestant, Catholic, or something in between?

Call them anything you please. Episcopalians are Protestant because their forebears were among the leaders of the Protestant Reformation in 16th-Century England. But the word "Catholic" means "universal" . . . and Episcopalians are quick to embrace the universality of all Christian denominations. They do not believe that heaven is reserved for those who agree, jot and tittle, with their particular views.

What place does the Bible occupy in the Episcopal faith?

It's central. No Episcopalian is required to accept any belief that doesn't agree with Holy Scripture.

Then why do they use a Prayer Book?

The Episcopal Book of Common Prayer serves several purposes. It's an excellent key to understanding the Bible. It assures reading and teaching solely from the Bible. And it's a complete guide to worship.

The word "common" in the title means "together." Episcopalians pray and praise God together, believing — as they do — that worship is not a spectator sport. Thanks to the Prayer Book, their services cannot be dominated by the minister's whims.

Aren't Episcopal services mighty ritualistic?

Compared to most other churches, yes. The ministers wear robes. Members take communion at the altar rail. They kneel to pray. They don't chit-chat during worship.

The services are pretty formal . . . but it's a matter of viewpoint. The Episcopal viewpoint is that worship is an act of giving — not receiving. They find that a bit of quiet formality and beauty helps put them in a proper frame of mind truly to give themselves over to God's worship.

Ever hear anyone complain of the ritual to be found at a big college football game? Or the weekly lodge meeting?

Is it true that Episcopal women cover their heads in church?

Customarily, yes. It's another way of paying respect to God. Nearly anything is considered cricket . . . from a kerchief to last year's Easter bonnet.

Isn't the Episcopal Church sort of a private club for the rich?

Nope. That may be unfortunate around budget time each year, but Episcopalians don't believe God reserves any special place in heaven for the rich or influential.

That's one reason Episcopal funerals don't feature eulogies or an open casket. The departed — quite apart from the respect of his fellow man — is presumed already to have made his peace with God. The funeral service isn't conducted primarily for the dead; it's mostly a message of hope for eternal salvation . . . and addressed to the living.

What is the Episcopalian view of baptism?

They follow the custom of pouring water, but readily will baptize by immersion those who prefer. They believe that the action of God in baptism is more important than the mechanics of men . . . and they accept baptism in any other Christian denomination as a true sacrament.

Then why the need for instruction and confirmation?

The Church has always regarded confirmation as completing baptism. Thus the promises made for a child in baptism are confirmed by the candidate himself. Correspondingly, the service signifies a confirmation, on God's part, of His promise of salvation.

Simple instruction by the minister assures a complete understanding of the Church's basic creeds before the candidate assumes the responsibilities of communicant status.

Does this mean they have a "closed" communion?

Not at all, although the Episcopal church regards communion as a true sacrament and not just a memorial. Anyone who may receive communion in another Christian denomination is welcome to join in an Episcopal communion service if his own church's discipline permits him to do so.

Are visitors welcomed to Episcopal services?

Absolutely. At any service. It's customary for Episcopalians to remain quiet until they're outside the church, which explains why some visitors look on them as unfriendly. Just stick around after the service. There's usually coffee in the nearby parish hall . . . and plenty of opportunity to get acquainted. Feel free to ask the minister for an appointment to discuss anything you find puzzling about the Episcopal faith. He'll be delighted . . . and wouldn't think of "twisting your arm" to join his church. That sort of decision must come from you, or it loses meaning.

The last in a series presented by "Those Crazy Episcopalians" in your area.

Administration Urges Patience With Economy

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — While professing ability to control the future of the vast American economy from a central headquarters in Washington, the administration's rhetoric seems to exonerate it from a job poorly done in the past.

Who is going to return equilibrium to the economy? The administration, with the help and mandatory cooperation of consumers, workers, executives, farmers. It asks that all be patient as they are led out of the wilderness.

But who got the economy lost in the wilds? A series of impersonal forces, "an extraordinary combination of circumstances," according to President Nixon. The inference is that they were beyond control.

Now the question is: Are they or aren't they controllable? In viewing the record you may easily conclude that the forces Washington seeks to take are, by its own explanation, really beyond control.

This is how the President described the events leading to the almost incredible tangle of red tape, loose regulatory threads and elastic enforcement:

"We have had in 1973 an extraordinary combination of circumstances making for rapid inflation. There was a decline of domestic food supplies. The domestic economy boomed at an exceptional pace, generating powerful demand for goods and services.

"The boom in other countries and the devaluation of the dollar, while desirable from most points of view, raised the prices of the things we export or import."

There is no suggestion of economic mismanagement. The blame is placed on forces which, presumably, the White House felt it could not challenge. It is these or similar forces it now asserts it is able to face down.

No wonder then that Phase 4 was greeted with skepticism and cynicism, attitudes reinforced by analyzing the Pesident's statement.

"There was a decline of domestic food supplies," he explained, leaving it to the reader to deduce the reason why.

That reason, you will recall, was not that farmers didn't produce enough but because the food was shipped abroad in keeping with the White House policy of expanding trade and building international friendships.

While conceding in some ways that its record hasn't been good, the administration continues to describe recent economic history in terms that suggest events are beyond its control, or at least not its responsibility.

It is for that reason among others that many people of all economic levels and occupations lack the patience and the faith in government that the administration seeks. Can they control the economy? Or can't they?

Quite A Switch

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — Just three years ago, author Jessica Mitford was blacklisted on campus. Now she's been selected as distinguished professor of sociology at San Jose State University.

The author of "The American Way of Death," an expose of the funeral industry, was listed as an undesirable campus speaker by the House Internal Security Committee.

But Prof. David Asquith, administrative assistant in the sociology department here, says her controversiality may be an asset because it means "she is thought-provoking."

Says Miss Mitford, who will teach two classes this fall:

"The offer from San Jose was a bombshell.... I'm not sure what my being allowed to teach means. The times haven't changed all that much."

Onions Block Dallas Freeway

DALLAS (AP) — Dallasites had something to cry about today, and car drivers' tears were particularly copious.

A truck carrying 70,000 pounds of onions overturned on Stemmons Freeway, a multilane roadway normally bumper-to-bumper with traffic at the rush hours and extremely busy at all times.

The onions blocked all but one lane of the freeway.

Officers estimated the freeway might be cleared in six hours.

Styles Often Make Comeback

By JOY STILLEY

NEW YORK (AP). — Never throw out today what you may be able to wear tomorrow.

If I had only followed that maxim I could become the most stylish lady on my block by just digging into my attic, instead of my wallet.

What goes out will soon be back in, and hoarders eventually have a collection of old clothes that rivals the latest collections from Paris.

Take twin sweaters, for instance. In their first incarnation not too many years ago, the matching duo made Nos. 1 and 2 on the wardrobe hit parade. With single-mindedness I pursued the accumulation of this double fashion feature. I went out and bought twin sweater sets like they were going out of style.

Which they did.

Nobody would have been caught dead with a matched sweater set in her bureau drawer, and I surely wasn't going be caught alive in possession of such outmoded attire. Out they went, every last two of them.

Players of the fashion game have made numerous calculated moves since that time, and now they've stopped once more at the square marked Sweaters, Twin.

When I started seeing double again I dashed to the trunk that serves as our apartment-size attic in hopes that a couple of strays might have survived the passage of time, the Goodwill bag and the appetite of our resident moths.

Not a trace. The only two-of-a-kinds I found were a few pairs of pointed shoes that went out of style the same week that I finally got my toes trained to pile themselves one on top of another rather than line up side by side.

I got caught again in the belt boom, bust and boomerang. Before the sack dress gave them the status of a raincoat in the Sahara I had a supply of leather circlets that threatened to put cows on the endangered species list.

In fact, I had such an investment that I couldn't bear to throw them out and kept them for years coiled like snakes in dark corners of closets. I finally gave up and discarded them — only one season before belts surged back onto the fashion scene.

The chubbies, the platform shoes, the turbans that I cast out years ago would all come in handy again. But Dame Fashion won't fool me any more, now that I am on to her tricks.

I'm saving all my midi-dresses.

Junior Editors' Quiz on MARMOSETS

QUESTION: What are marmosets?

• • •

ANSWER: Marmosets are members of a family of small monkeys, natives of the warm regions of Central and South America and also Mexico. They are the smallest monkeys known and are usually about the size of a half-grown kitten or a squirrel. They are arboreal by nature, spending most of the time in the branches of tropical forests. They have beautiful long silky coats and long furry tails. Marmosets have hooked claws, rather than nails, on all except the big toes. They feed on fruits and tree insects. They have one to three young, which are often carried and cared for by the father.

The Golden Marmoset from the tropical forests of Brazil has long silky hair that covers the head and shoulders. It is often called Lion-headed or Silky Marmoset. Common marmosets have ear tufts of hair and a ringed tail. Pygmy marmosets from the upper Amazon region weigh about 4 1/2 ounces.

Lilly Is Back; Thomas Is Gone

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) — The anchor of the Dallas Cowboys Doomsday Defense, Bob Lilly, has rejoined the team at their training camp here.

A team spokesman said the perennial All-Pro would begin workouts today.

Lilly, a defensive standout with the Cowboys since they joined the National Football League as an expansion club in 1960, reported to the camp Thursday after the Cowboys' general manager, Tex Schramm, swayed the 12-year veteran from retiring.

In another key development Thursday, controversial running back Duane Thomas of the San Diego Chargers was traded to the Washington Redskins for two high future draft selections. The transaction ended a tempestuous year for the 1972 Super Bowl hero who was traded from Dallas to San Diego one year ago but never played a game for the Chargers.

Thomas was suspended Monday by San Diego Coach Harland Svare after the player reported late to camp. He was reinstated Wednesday following an undisclosed fine but Svare decided to trade him after Thomas displayed a lackluster performance during Thursday's drill.

Lilly said he had no problems with his two-year, $700,000 contract, and added that he had had doubts about his physical condition, "back ... knee, but they have given me no trouble," he added. The former Texas Christian University All-American was reportedly unhappy with the team morale. Earlier this season he and other veteran players, Dave Manders, Lee Roy Jordan, Craig Morton, Jethro Pugh and Pat Toomay and the Cowboy management had differences of opinion on salary negotiations.

Manders, the Cowboys' center, retired, and defensive end Pat Toomay signed Monday afternoon. Lilly linemate, Jethro Pugh, and linebacker Lee Roy Jordan still had not signed contracts. Quarterback Craig Morton still has not signed either. He's not in camp.

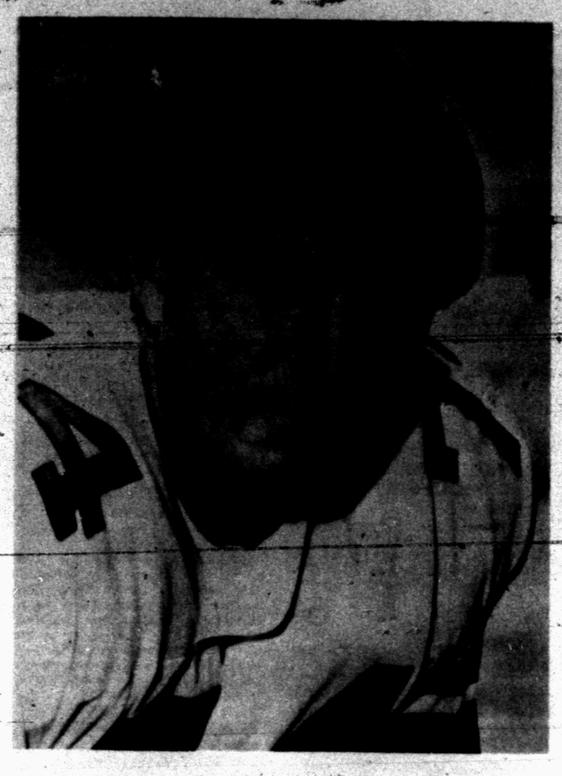
Elsewhere, veteran tight end Marv Fleming of the Miami Dolphins ended his holdout but running back Larry Brown of the Washington Redskins continued his.

Fleming, who had been fined $200 a day for the eight days he had held out, walked into the Dolphins' training camp after signing a lucrative three-year contract.

That left all-pro safety Jake Scott as the only player missing from the National Football League champions' camp because of a contract dispute.

Brown, the NFL's most valuable player in 1972, was absent from the Redskins' Carlisle, Pa. training site for the fourth day Thursday, and Washington Coach George Allen emphasized that the $300-a-day fine he has levied on Brown would stick.

Brown says he has not reported because the Redskins have declined to discuss a future contract with him, after his present pact expires at the end of this year. Allen said he wouldn't discuss the matter, while Skins President Edward Bennett Williams has said he would not negotiate with Brown or his agent until the star running back reports to training camp.



WANDERER RETURNS—Bob Lilly, Dallas Cowboy mainstay who was expected to announce his retirement Thursday, has returned to the Cowboy training camp instead, and has signed a two-year contract.

Democrats May "Bug" Opponents

By GORDON BEARD
Associated Press Sports Writer

BALTIMORE (AP) — After losing nine straight decisions in the annual congressional baseball game, the Democrats are out to bug their Republican opponents prior to the 1973 game.

In a letter to his players, addressed "Dear Slugger," the captain of the Democrats, Rep. Frank M. Clark of Pennsylvania, boasts of a secret weapon for the July 30 contest in Baltimore's Memorial Stadium.

Clark, who has managed the last six losses in a series which stands 10-1 in favor of the Republicans, advised his teammates that Democrat pitchers Henry Gonzalez and Ron Dellums, "are developing a new pitch called the 'Watergate Blooper.'

"The baseball starts out low and slowly rises until it reaches the batter and then explodes, scattering fragments in different directions, with each fragment wanting no part of the inner core."

"It is alleged that if the Republicans can hit that pitch," Clark wrote, "they will be awarded $350,000 in washed cash by a nondescript laundry company representing an alien investment corporation."

In a letter to the Republican players, the GOP manager, Rep. Silvio Conte of Massachusetts, conceded "it's been a controversial year already."

But, Conte said, "there will be no controversy when it comes to the GOP victory over the Democrats."

He said a freshman player was welcome, "If you can fire a ball the distance from your new desk to that of your appointment secretary, if you can field a grounder with a glove, stomach, chest, shin, etc., and if you can run to the floor for a rollcall without the aid of the U.S. Capitol Police Force."

The winning pitcher for all 10 Republican victories has been Rep. Robert Michel of Illinois, a former varsity baseball player at Bradley University.

Michel hurled a no-hitter in the 1962 inaugural game. The Democrats won the following year, but the GOP hasn't been defeated since.

The game will start at 6:30 p.m., and last until 7:45, or 30 minutes prior to the regularly scheduled contest between the Baltimore Orioles and the Detroit Tigers.

Two Tied In Classic

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Old pro Bob Goalby and longshot Rik Massengale shared the lead, but chipper Dave Stockton had all the optimism today going into the second round of the $210,000 St. Louis Childrens Hospital Golf Classic.

Goalby, who has had to make last-gasp rallies each of the last four years to save his status as an exempt player, and Massengale matched five-under-par 65s in Thursday's first round.

And that was just fine with Stockton, who was four strokes back at 69.

"I had to birdie the last hole to get that 69," Stockton said. "It was all I could think about. Remember a couple of weeks ago at Milwaukee—Goalby had a 65 in the first round and I had a 69."

And, of course, Stockton came on to score a one-stroke victory in that one.

Goalby and Massengale, a non-winning, 26-year-old tour regular who put together the score of his four-year tour career, shared a one-stroke lead over courageous Gene Littler, Chuck Courtney and John Schroeder, tied at 66. Some of the game's popular names had mild difficulties, however, on the 6,544-yard Norwood Hills Country Club course. Defending champion Lee Trevino managed a 69, about six holes of which were played in a morning thunderstorm. South African Gary Player matched par 70 while Australian Bruce Crampton, the season's leading money winner, took a 71 that he called "pretty ragged." Masters champ Tommy Aaron also had 71.

Johnny Miller and Tom Weiskopf, the American and Open titleholders, along with Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer are not competing in this event that offers $42,000 to the winner.

Here are the top first-round scores:

Rik Massengale	31-34—65
Bob Goalby	33-32—65
Gene Littler	31-35—66
Chuck Courtney	34-32—66
John Schroeder	31-35—66
J.C. Snead	33-34—67
Dan Sikes	32-35—67
Gay Brewer	33-34—67
Mike Wynn	33-34—67
Fred Marti	32-35—67
Jerry Heard	34-33—67
Jim Ferriell	35-32—67
Bob Wynn	32-35—67
Larry White	33-34—67
Kermit Zarley	35-32—67
Dwight Nevil	34-33—67
Mike McCullough	33-34—67

Partnership Tourney Set

The Third Annual Earl Fish Partnership Tournament will get underway tomorrow morning with a shot gun start at 8:30. The tourney will last two days, with 18 holes being played both Saturday and Sunday.

A maximum of 64 players will compete in the tournament. The first day scores will be used for flighting, and will also count toward the championship.

Last year's champions, Jay White of Lamesa and John Billy Koonsman, of Snyder, will be back to defend their title. They will be joined by a number of outstanding golfers from the area.

This year's meet will have to go some to match last year's for suspense. In that tournament six holes of sudden-death golf had to be played to determine the winners of the first flight. The team of E.L. Franklin and George Powell finally out-lasted John Boren and Clyde Hall.

Other activities in conjunction with the tournament will include a cocktail hour, fish fry and dance. Tickets can be purchased by non-contestants at the Country Club.

Prizes will include irons, woods and bags. John Pickering, David Holt and Pete Greene are the tournament directors. Lonnie Crosby is the golf pro.

Mays To Head NL All-Stars

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Willie Mays, a last-minute addition to the National League squad, will be captain of the team for Tuesday night's All-Star Game in Kansas City.

National League President Chub Feeney announced today that he and Manager Sparky Anderson of the Cincinnati Reds have added the 42-year-old New York Mets' player to the team. It will be Mays' 24th All-Star Game, tying the record held by former St. Louis Cardinals' great Stan Musial.

Dodgers, Oilers Win

Ricky Beard of the Oilers pitched a no-hitter to shut out the Rebels 10-0 in Junior Teenage activity Thursday night. In the other contest, the Dodgers outlasted the Braves 14-7 in 10 innings.

The opening game ended during the last half of the 6th inning when the Oilers tallied 3 runs, enabling them to win on the 10-run lead rule. They had scored 3 in the 1st, one in the 4th, and 3 in the 5th.

Beard was effective all the way. After two Rebel runners had reached base on errors in the 1st, and two more in the 2nd, he allowed only one more batter to get on base, and that was by a walk in the 4th inning.

For the Oilers, Larry Gee, Phil Robinson and Beard all scored two runs each, while Dennis Buchanan, Barry Preston, Greg Holladay and Chester Cobb tallied one each. Beard led the batters with a double and a single, while Gee had two singles. The other hits included a single each by Robinson, Buchanan and Cobb.

In the nightcap the Braves took a 2-0 lead in the 1st, and stretched it to 4-1 in the 5th. However, the Dodgers took the lead with 5 runs in the 7th, and iced it down with 8 more in the 10th, after the score had been tied at the end of regulation play. The Braves came back with a slight rally in the bottom of the 10th, but it fell short with only one run being scored.

Winning pitcher was Brad Browning, who went 9 and 2-3 innings. Greenlee pitched the last one-third of an inning.

Ryan Barely Misses Consecutive No-Hitters

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

ANAHEIM (AP) — Nolan Ryan missed his chance for two straight no-hitters with just six outs to go, yet the flame-throwing right-hander figures he still has a chance at a record third one this season.

Ryan no-hit Kansas City early in the season and did it at Detroit last Sunday. He hadn't allowed a hit by Baltimore Thursday night until Mark Belanger looped a single over the infield with none out in the eighth.

Baltimore eventually won the game 3-1 in 11 innings, putting Ryan's record at only 11-12 on the day he had been selected to the American League AllStar squad.

Nolan wasn't in the game at the finish, having been taken out by Manager Bobby Winkles after Tommy Davis doubled with one out in the top of the 11th. Dave Sells gave up a two-run double to Terry Crowley and that meant the game.

Asked if he had gone after the second straight no-hitter, Ryan answered readily, "I went into the game to give it my best shot. What the heck, it's not too often you get a chance like that."

Asked if he'd previously spoiled a no-hitter late in the game, Belanger—who went into the game hitting .214—laughed, "Spoil a no-hitter. Heck I have trouble getting a hit but if anybody was going to spoil it, I'm glad it was me."

Ryan has recorded 41 strikeouts in his last three games, setting an American League record and equalling the major league mark held by Sandy Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers.

His 30 strikeouts in his last two games tie the American League record held by Sam McDowell. Ryan, who topped the majors with 329 strikeouts last season, leads both leagues with 233 this year.

The turnout for his first pitching appearance since the Detroit no-hitter was the largest for the Angels on a non-promotion night since September of 1968. And in 42 dates at home, they have drawn 623,233, an increase of 193,588 over a similar period in 1972.

Elsewhere in the American League, the Minnesota Twins beat the Boston Red Sox 6-2 and the Milwaukee Brewers downed the Texas Rangers 4-1.

In the only National League games, the Los Angeles Dodgers nipped the St. Louis Cardinals 3-2, the Chicago Cubs trounced the San Diego Padres 12-5 and the Cincinnati Reds edged the Montreal Expos 3-2.

Twins 6, Red Sox 2

Rod Carew doubled home the tie-breaking run with two out in the eighth inning and Bobby Darwin added a bases-loaded triple following an intentional walk to Tony Oliva, pacing the Twins over the Red Sox.

Joe Decker pitched a five-hitter for Minnesota.

Brewers 4, Rangers 1

Milwaukee's Skip Lockwood held Texas hitless for six innings and then needed relief help from Eduardo Rodriguez in the seventh to protect the Brewers' victory over the Rangers. Darrell Porter drove in two Milwaukee runs with a double and triple.

Dodgers 3, Cardinals 2

Al Downing maintained his mastery over St. Louis by throttling the Cardinals on three hits in pitching the Dodgers to their victory with last-out help from Jim Brewer.

The sizzling Dodgers won for the 11th time in their last 13 baseball games on the strength of a tie-breaking two-run third inning against Alan Foster.

Cubs 12, Padres 5

Jose Cardenal slammed a three-run double and a solo homer, helping the Cubs erase a 4-0 deficit and snap a six-game losing streak by beating the Padres. Five unearned runs in the sixth also helped the Cubs increase their National League East lead over St. Louis to 1½ games.

The Padres scored four runs in the first inning, three on Clarence Gaston's homer.

Reds 3, Expos 2

Pete Rose put Cincinnati in front with a two-run single in the second inning and Dan Driessen singled home what proved to be the winning run in the third and the Rede went on to defeat the Expos. Ross Grimsley survived home runs by Bob Bailey and Bob Stinson to post his fifth consecutive victory.

Reds Award TV Rights

CINCINNATI (AP) — Avco Broadcasting Corp. has been awarded the 1974-1976 television rights to the Cincinnati Reds baseball games.

Bartlett said the new agreement calls for an annual schedule of about 35 Reds games.

Ace Pitcher Added To AL All-Stars

BOSTON (AP) — Nolan Ryan of the California Angels, who came within six outs Thursday night of becoming the only major league pitcher to hurl three no-hitters in one season, has been added to the American League roster for next week's All-Star Game in Kansas City.

Ryan, 12-11, a fastballer who leads the league with 233 strikeouts, was not on the list originally drawn up by Oakland Athletics' manager Dick Williams.

Thursday, however, Commissioner Bowie Kuhn granted both leagues permission to increase their rosters by one man to 29 players, and Williams selected Ryan.

Williams, who was hospitalized in Oakland Thursday for emergency appendectomy, said he selected his pitching staff before Ryan pitched his second no-hitter against Detroit last Sunday.

Ryan held the Baltimore Orioles hitless for seven innings Thursday, but gave up a pair of looping singles to Mark Belanger in the eighth and 10 innings and took a 3-1 loss.

Williams, whose Athletics won the 1972 World Series, probably will be replaced as All-Star manager by Chicago White Sox Manager Chuck Tanner.

"Chuck Tanner is a coach and I'll suggest to Dick that we have Tanner as manager for the game," said American League President Joe Cronin ck with Dick first to see how he's feeling."

Williams was reported doing "very, very well" today after the operation at Merritt Hospital.

The A's team physician, Dr. Charles Hudson, performed the operation and said he would not make an estimate when the 44-year-old pilot of the world champions could return to his baseball duties until after examining him today.

Cronin's office Thursday announced a list of reserves for Tuesday's classic. They are:

First base, Carl Yastrzemski of Boston and John Mayberry of Kansas City; second base, Cookie Rojas of Kansas City and Dave Nelson of Texas; third base, Sal Bando of Oakland and Buddy Bell of Cleveland; shortstop, Eddie Brinkers Thurman Munson of New York and Bill Freehan of Detroit; outfielders, Paul Blair of Baltimore, Willie Horton of Detroit and Dave May of Milwaukee.

Williams also named Pat Kelly of Chicago as a replacement for the White Sox' first baseman Dick Allen, who is recovering from a leg injury. Allen had been named to the starting lineup as a result of balloting by baseball fans.

River Festival To Feature Races

RAVENSWOOD, W.Va. (AP) — The annual Ohio River Festival, scheduled for Aug. 10-12, will feature races with hydroplanes and other watercraft capable of speeds up to 120 miles per hour.

The event is co-sponsored by the Ohio River Festival Committee and the Three Rivers Outboard Racing Association. It is sanctioned by the American Power Boat Association.

Apollo Marks Anniversary

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — "Tranquility base here. The Eagle has landed!" That was four years ago, on July 20, 1969. The first human voice from another celestial body.

The world a quarter million miles away breathlessly followed the adventures of Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. as the two American astronauts probed the alien planet.

Orbiting the moon, awaiting the return of the explorers, was the third member of the Apollo 11 expedition, Michael Collins.

Now four years have passed. Ten other men, all Americans, have since walked on the moon—and the United States, for the foreseeable future, has abandoned manned lunar exploration.

Instead, America's manned space program has turned attention back to earth with orbiting projects intended to reap benefits for mankind.

The first step in this new direction is Skylab, an 85-ton orbiting space station in which experiments are conducted in the fields of medicine, earth resources, astronomy and space manufacturing.

The Skylab 1 crew returned home June 22 after a record 28 days in space. Next week, on July 28, the Skylab 2 crew is to rocket up to the lab in an attempt to double that mark to 56 days. Starting in October, Skylab 3 will inhabit the station, also for 56 days, perhaps longer.

Photographs taken by Apollo astronauts from deep in space helped trigger this trend to look more inward toward earth than outward toward the stars. They showed earth as a fragile ball in a vast universe, its life protected from the harshness of space by a thin veil of atmospheric gases.

Recalling his flight last year, Armstrong remarked: "As I stood on the Sea of Tranquility and looked up at the earth, my impression was of the importance of that small, fragile remote blue planet.

"People everywhere have, by television and photographs, shared that perspective and shared our concern for the security of our globe.

Senate Passes Minimum Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has passed a $2.20 minimum-wage bill that differs only slightly from the House version. But the likelihood of a veto hangs over whatever compromise is reached.

"I'm confident we can reconcile the Senate and House versions and send a bill to the President," Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr., D-N.J., said Thursday after his bill was passed 64 to 33.

"I trust the President will agree with Congress that in the richest nation on earth, it is simply unconscionable to allow full-time workers to be paid less than a poverty-level income," Williams said.

Predictions of a veto were sounded repeatedly during Senate debate on the bill.

Sen. Hugh Scott, the Republican leader, joined in the forecast Thursday, while expressing support for the measure.

The Senate margin in passing the bill would not be big enough to override a veto.

Both Senate and House versions would gradually raise the $1.60 minimum wage for nonfarm workers and the $1.30 minimum for farm workers to $2.20 an hour.

They differ mainly in extending minimum-wage protection and overtime to certain workers. The House bill would add coverage for about six million workers, compared with about seven million in the Senate version.

Both bills would bring domestic servants under the minimum wage. The House bill would make domestics also eligible for overtime pay.

The Senate voted to extend the minimum wage to about 100,000 seasonal farm laborers and to those who process shade-grown tobacco. The House did not.

The bills differ on allowing employers to pay less than the minimum wage to teen-agers.

Before the final vote, the Senate Thursday refused to eliminate domestics from minimum-wage coverage, and beat back attempts to allow employers to pay teen-agers 15 per cent less than the minimum wage.

The Senate bill would raise the basic $1.60 nonfarm minimum wage to $2 in 60 days and to $2.20 one year later.

Those nonfarm workers first covered in 1966, mainly employes of large retail stores, would get $1.80 in 60 days, $2 a year later and $2.20 in 1975.

Farm workers, now paid a $1.30 minimum, would be raised to $1.60 in 60 days, $1.80 in 1974, $2 in 1975 and $2.20 in 1976.

Navy Wig Policy Is Illegal

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — A Navy policy banning the wearing of short-haired wigs by reservists at weekend drill sessions has been struck down as unconstitutional by a federal judge.

U.S. District Court Judge Robert R. Merhige Jr. said Thursday the policy violated the equal protection of the law clause of the 14th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution because the Navy allows baldheaded men to wear wigs but denies the same privilege to long-haired reservists.

Five reservists complained in their case that the Navy threatened them with active duty because they wore the wigs at drill sessions to cover their long locks.

The reservists said they spent more time as civilians then as reservists and thus should be allowed to wear the wigs to cover their fashionably long hair necessary to meet peer group standards.

Although Navy regulations ban the wearing of wigs, personnel who are balding or personnel who want to wear wigs to conceal disfiguring head scars are allowed to do so.

However, the same Navy policy states that wigs may not be used to cover naturally long hair which doesn't meet service regulations.

Connors Gets Gift From Brezhnev

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Communist Party Secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev has made good his promise to send actor Chuck Connors a gift.

Connors, formerly television's "Rifleman," gave Brezhnev a pair of 45-caliber revolvers during the Russian's visit to President Nixon's home at San Clemente last month.

Connors said on Wednesday that he had received a samovar, the Russian version of a teapot, from Brezhnev.

REV. DON RHYMES

AARON CRAWFORD

Revival Is Set At Ira Baptist

A revival will begin Sunday at the Ira Baptist Church.

The evangelist will be the Rev. Don Rhymes, associate secreatary in the Department of Missionary Personnel of the Southern Baptist Home Mission Board, Atlanta, Ga.

Aaron Crawford of Snyder will direct music for the revival.

Morning services will be held at 10 o'clock, Monday through Friday, while evening services will be held at 8 o'clock throughout the week. A prayer service at 7:30 p.m. will precede each evening worship service.

Rev. Rhymes works in the eastern part of the nation in recruiting, interviewing and counseling of personnel for the Home Mission board. A native of Jonesboro, La., he attended Louisiana Polytechnic Institute and is a graduate of Hardin-Simmons University and Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary. He has served as pastor of churches in El Dorado, Kan., Monahans, Martins Mill and Sadler, Tex.

Rev. Rhymes is married to the former Goldie Jewell of Abilene and they have three children.

The public is invited to all services of the revival, said the Rev. O.L Gober, pastor of the Ira Baptist Church.

Bethel Baptist

"The Name of Jesus" will be the sermon topic of R. Virgil Mott Sunday morning at 8:35 a.m. on "The Back To Bethel Broadcast" over KSNY Snyder. Scripture reference is Philipians 2:5-11. The music for the radio program will be "Something Got To Hold To Me" by The Spiritual Crusaders, featuring Sylvester McKnight as soloist.

Sunday School will begin at 10 a.m. Call 573-6645 or 573-9032 if you want to ride the church bus Sunday.

"Some Aspects of Salvation" will be the sermon topic of the pastor at the 11 a.m. worship service Sunday. Scripture reference is Cor. 1:30-31. At the morning service Miss Kathy Varner will sing "I Am Satisfied With Jesus."

Afternoon activities will begin at 6 p.m. with The Church Training Service meeting by departments.

"What About the Jesus Revolution?" will be the sermon topic of the pastor at the 7 p.m. worship service Sunday.

Wednesday evening activities will begin at 7:30 p.m. with Tips for Teachers brought by Mrs. Barbara Mott. Prayer meeting will begin at 8 p.m. The pastor will be in charge.

Be still

"That in me ye might have peace." St. John 17:33.

We never think of Flander's fields where poppies gently blow,
Nor recall the shores of Normandy where our valiants met a foe;
And we've fogotten all young eagles who a score of years ago
Left in far away Korea their blood upon the snow.
And now we have agreed to end long south Asian war--
We yearn to think we are at peace, and perhaps in dreams we are.

WILL CURTIS

Morningside Bapt.

Sunday School will begin at 10 a.m. and the morning worship service will begin at 11. The BTS classes will begin at 6 p.m. and the evening worship service at 7.

Candace, Sons Battle In Court

HOUSTON (AP) — Testimony was expected to be completed today in a court battle between millionairess Candace Mossler Garrison and two of her sons on whether she would be removed as trustee of a trust fund for them.

Mrs. Garrison and one of the sons, Chris Mossler, 21, of Austin, testified Thursday.

When testimony is completed, State District Court Judge Paul Pressler will decide if Mrs. Garrison has been reasonable in her execution of the trust funds toward the sons.

The two sons, Chris and Dan Mossler, claim Mrs. Garrison has tried to use the trust fund set up by their father, Jacques Mossler, to "coerce them from continuing their college and to enforce upon them her way of life."

Jacques Mossler was found slain in 1964. Mrs. Garrison and her nephew, Melvin Lane Powers, were charged with murder but were acquitted after a sensational Miami trial. She married Barnett Garrison of Houston in 1971.

The sons contend that while Mrs. Garrison has "lavished large sums" upon the other Mossler heirs in the trust, she has furnished them with "less than $350 per month." They contend this is less than reasonable.

Mrs. Garrison said she does not like the way the sons live.

"To the best of my knowledge, Chris has been laying out in the street in Austin with a bunch of hippies," Mrs. Garrison testified. "My position is, that they should get out of the streets, stop protesting and stop smoking marijuana. I don't think it has been right the way they live."

Chris Mossler testified he is married and is a student at the University of Texas, where he has accumulated 90 hours.

"When she gives me money she wants something in return," Chris Mossler testified. "She asks for things I don't want to give. I feel I would get a fairer deal if the trust was handled by a bank. There are too many emotions involved."

Hire Hall

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP) — Friends have hired an exhibition hall to celebrate the end of U.S. Rep. Edward P. Boland's bachelorhood.

The Springfield Democrat is marrying City Councilor Mary M. Egan next month. Organizers say they have hired the Civic Center here for the $7.50-a-head bachelor bash because "lots of people in the area are anxious to pay tribute to Eddie as a good friend."

Woman Town Marshal Resigns

SOUTH PADRE ISLAND, Tex. (AP) — After telling town council members that official duties took too much time from her beauty shop job, the town marshal of this South Texas resort town resigned.

Mrs. Ronalyn Adams had served less than two months after being elected town marshal by write-in votes. She is an attractive beautician and the mother of two children.

Mrs. Adams described her job by saying "I had a few calls, but I didn't put anybody away."

Asked if she might want to work in law enforcement again, Mrs. Adams said, "You never know what might happen tomorrow."

Prelims To End Tonight

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—The final night of preliminary competition of the Miss Texas Pageant will be held tonight in Fort Worth.

In the second night of the preliminary competition Thursday night, the talent competition was won by Miss Lubbock, Sherry Lou White. She sang a religious medley of "Amazing Grace" and "O, Happy Day."

The 20-year-old blonde, who measures 34-23-34, and is 5 feet 4 inches tall, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond C. White of Hereford.

A student at Richland Junior College in Dallas and the current Miss Richardson, Phyllis Lynn Barger, won the swimsuit preliminary.

Miss Barger measures 35-24-36 and has brown hair and blue eyes.

She is majoring in dance and theater arts at Richland.

In her talent presentation, the 19-year-old Miss Barger presented a contemporary ballet which she choreographed to an orchestration of "Promises, Promises."

The finals Saturday night will be regionally televised.

Snyderite Is On European Tour

SAN ANGELO—Marianne Russell of Snyder is touring Europe as a participant in Angelo State University's European Summer Studies Program. The 25 students participating in the program left for Europe from Dallas on July 15 with a destination of Rome. The group will eventually wind its way through seven European countries including Italy, Switzerland, France, Germany, Belgium, Holland and England.

Participants in the program can choose either the travel component or a combination of the travel portion and college credit. Through the academic portion, students may earn up to six semester hours of credit in government or history.

The group is expected to return to Dallas August 12 or 13.

THE FIG TREE

We have all been impressed with the pathetic story of the barren fig tree. It was destined to perennial barrenness. The owner found this wilted tree and ordered it cut down but his vine-keeper pled for it to have another chance. This is a good parable of the Grace of God. Our religion is essentially a religion of redemption. God gives everyone of us another chance. We have failed more than once but the Almighty has been patient, kind and forgiving. Perhaps Luke 15 is our truest picture of God. He is like a woman who seeks until she finds her lost coin; like the shepherd who left the ninety and nine to find the lost one; like the father who received his prodigal son. The lesson is plain. God gives another chance and He will gather all the ripe figs.
