Mrs. B. K. Cheek To Observe Her 90th Birthday Quietly Here Tuesday

MRS. B. K. CHEEK

Observing her 90th birthday this coming Tuesday, September 24th, will be Mrs. B. K. Cheek, who has been a resident of Schleicher county for the past 52 years. She has been confined since breaking her hip last April 11th, so no celebration is planned by her family, but she will have the congratulations and best wishes of her large host of friends who have known her for so many years.

Mrs. Cheek was born Martha Garrett in Lavaca county on Sept. 24, 1873. Her parents were the late Felix and Nancy Garrett. She joined the Methodist church when about 12 years of age and has been a faithful member over all intervening years, attending services as long as her health permitted.

While living at Lake Victor, she was married to Barney K. Cheek on January 28, 1892, the wedding taking place in Burnet county. Later the Cheek family moved to Brady where Mr. Cheek ranched for two or three years and in 1912 they came to this county.

Mr. Cheek bought a ranch and operated it until about 1939 and then moved to Eldorado. He died in 1948.

Mrs. Cheek has one daughter, Mrs. Sadie Davidson of Eldorado; and three sons, Jim, of Tucson, Arizona; Norton, of San Antonio; and Kenneth of Eldorado. Another son, Walter, died December 27, 1918.

She also has five grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Cheek is a member of the McCormick class of the Methodist church Sunday School. A. T. Wright was long-time teacher of the class. She maintained an interest in sewing in recent years, making a quilt one year which was presented in the White Gift service at her church during the Christmas season.

Since breaking her hip in April, Mrs. Cheek has been under constant care by her family and others. Tuesday, when she observes her 90th birthday, is expected to be a quiet day with just her family and a few close friends in to wish her well.

If not the oldest county resident, Mrs. Cheek is certainly one of the oldest of our senior citizens.

Eaglets Slap Ozona 20-0

Eldorado Jr. High won its opening game over the Ozona Cubs 20-0 Thursday night.

The Eaglets showing a lack of organization with only seven days of practice, started off very slowly making numerous mistakes.

Roy Davidson got the Eaglets off to a 6-point advantage at half time with a 60-yard scamper around right end.

Showing more desire and determination in the second half, the Eagles scored on a six-yard plunge by Johnny Mayo and a 35 dash by Gary Derrick, after stealing the ball from the Ozona quarterback. The Eaglets scored two more times but they were called back.

Gary Derrick led the defensive charges with 12 tackles.

The Eaglets play in Big Lake this Thursday (today) at 5:30 p.m. Guy Whitaker is coach.

A Letter . . . and . . . An Answer

Dear Java Junction Owners
We were so in hopes when you took over the Cafe you would take out the loud-speaker on the outside. The other man kept it going until we could hear it for blocks. I don't see how people close by could stand it. And they say they can't hardly. There's so many sick and elderly people around that can't rest. I believe it will drive away your business instead of drawing it.

Please do something about it for the sake of the shut-ins.

—A Taxpayer

Dear Taxpayer:
Your letter mailed the 10th wasn't received until the 17th as we have been busy.

So will have to answer in the Success as you didn't sign your name.

We have tried to keep the music turned down. But we don't have much control over people who walk by and turn it up.

Let me know who the shut-ins are and I'll send them some flowers.

—Sallie McLaughlin

Eagles Lose At Sonora; On to Eden Tomorrow

The Eldorado Eagles with a one-season record leave tomorrow afternoon about 3:00 o'clock for Eden for their third non-conference contest. They will return after the contest from their longest trip to date.

The Eden Bulldogs, always to be respected, have only two seniors, two juniors, and remaining sophomores and freshmen to fill out their roster. They have lost their first two games by somewhat decisive scores and may be expected to stage as hard a contest as their physical capacities permit.

Eagle Coach Earl Barnett said that scouts report that the Bulldogs are young and inexperienced but that they exhibit much fire and enthusiasm. Their offensive posture has been regular T formation only so far for the season, implying many cross bucks and assorted line play. This could stem possibly from the fact that largest strongest boys are those five from tackle to tackle.

Best Bulldog back is Fullback Kirkpatrick who weighs 150 lbs. Their Quarterback Stansbury manages their air strategy, favorite receiver being Left End A. Sawyer, 140-pounder.

Dispassionate view of the game is that the Eagles may have much for the Bulldogs; but such conclusions are uncomfortably like Russian roulette. The Bulldog coach may be indoctrinating his charges with the thought that it isn't the size of the dog in the fight that counts but rather the size of the fight in the dog—and sometimes kids believe things like this. Furthermore, Eagle when well dressed and properly seasoned tastes just like turkey, may be some more of his thought.

The probable starting Eden lineup is as follows:

No.	Name	Pos.	Wt.
80	A. Sawyer	LE	142
26	Banger	LT	136
63	Smith	LG	145
55	Konz	C	173
75	Jones	RG	181
74	Lockett	RT	162
23	B. Sawyer	RE	142
20	Colley	LHB	132
21	Hendricks	RHB	151
22	Kirkpatrick	FB	150
13	Stansbury	QB	151

Probable Eagle lineup will be the same as for the Rocksprings and Sonora conflicts: Captain Larry Blair and Richard Preston at ends; Jackey Mackey and Rex McCormick at tackles; George Draper and Jimmy Belk at guards; Bobby Halbert at center; Ronnie Griffin and Ronnie Williams at the halfbacks; Captain M. M. McAngus at fullback; and Captain Lynn Meador at quarter. If possible, the Coaches Barnett and Jung will substitute as freely as the game situation permits.

Sonora Wins 7-0

Last Friday night in Sonora, the chill winds of adversity blew over the Eldorado Eagles as their ancient rivals, the Sonora Broncos, capitalized on their only forward pass completion to defeat the Eagles 7-0 in a hard fought game before capacity crowds. Not much went right for the Broncos; and it was a bit of irony that their single pass completion succeeded for them.

Eldo:	Son:
11	first downs	4
168	yards rushing	89
3 of 8	passes completed	1 of 3
36	yards by passing	26
0	passes intercepted	3
2	fumbles captured	0
5 for 60	pen. yds. lost	4 for 50
5 for 36	punt. dist.	3 for 25

The Eagles topped the Broncos in all departments except pass interceptions—and the score. The Broncos did not make a first down in the first half; and it was only after Quarterback Bill Elliott and Halfback Tino Noriega had torpedoes the Eagles with the fatal 26-yard pass run did the Broncos come alive and make any first downs.

Coaches Earl Barnett and Douglas Jung said after the game that they were proud of the fact that the Eagles had played hard all the way. They regretted the Eagles' too many small mistakes which although scattered yet in the aggregate were too much to carry.

Harrowing Experience

Local Man Loses Everything In San Antonio Highjacking

Sam Gausemeier left Saturday with his wife in their brand new Ford for a visit with relatives in San Antonio.

He returned home Sunday night by bus, minus his car, his money, billfold and all personal belongings—with a harrowing experience to relate — viz:

Arriving in San-Tone, he left his wife with the relatives while he set out to find a barbecue stand. He drove and drove until he found one, bought three dollars worth and was ready to start back. What with one-way streets and other San-Tone traffic problems, Sam found he was lost. He pulled up to a curb and asked a stranger how to get back to the street he wanted.

"That's the way I'm going, the stranger replied, "just let me get in with you."

Before Sam knew what was going on the man was in the back seat and holding a knife to his back. He was immediately joined by two women—all three were colored.

Sam was ordered to drive straight ahead and not to "try any funny business." He was directed out beyond the city to a large hay barn, where he was relieved of his billfold, pocket knife and all other personal belongings. He was warned again that if he didn't submit and be quiet, they'd cut his throat and set the barn afire.

Sam admits that he was scared to death and allowed himself to be tied up.

The group took his car and left. It was some time before Sam freed himself and walked to the first house and phoned officers.

On Monday, officers reported that Sam's Ford had been found abandoned in a mud hole in the colored section of Austin.

"Yeah, they even got away with all that barbecue," observed Sam, who is manager of the Mikeska Gin here.

Back To School Night For P-TA Members

Around 150 parents went back to school here Monday night, this being the first general meeting of the 1963-64 year for the P-TA. Everyone reported and Mr. Kemble gave instructions as to where to go and how long the class periods were. Each parent had his or her child's schedule and the Student Council were in the halls as guides. Each class ran for a period of ten minutes and there were five minutes allowed to get from class to class.

Each teacher gave a run down on what the class was doing and would do this year, then each parent had a chance to ask the teacher any question he might have. When it was lunch time you went to the cafeteria and Mrs. L. D. Mund and committee served refreshments.

It was a night for parents to find out just what the children were doing and to get to know the teachers, and teachers to get to know the parents. It proved to be a very successful program and as far as the reporter knows, Eldon Calk was the only one to get in any serious trouble. It seems he was disturbing the homemaking class and Miss Owens had to give him a few licks.—Reporter.

New Babies

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. (Willie) Bridgeman of 4513 Erie Drive, Midland, Texas, announce the arrival of a son, William Len Bridgeman, born at 5:21 p.m. on September 15, 1963, at Midland Memorial hospital. The young man weighed 6 pounds 4 ounces.

Mr. and Mrs. Bridgeman also have two daughters, Janis and Bonnie. Grandparents include Mrs. B. O. Bridgeman and Mrs. Tabor.

Cloudy; Cotton Coming In Slowly

The weather has been cloudy. Not enough to produce rain of any especial benefit, but enough to keep things damp and to keep cotton pickers out of the fields.

The gin total Tuesday at noon was just 220 bales.

The crop was coming in slowly, according to George Mikeska.

Most farmers were wishing it would either come a good one or clear up.

Executive Board Meeting Held By PTA

The Executive Board of Eldorado P-TA met Tuesday night, Sept. 10, with Mr. Kemble presiding.

Mrs. E. C. Peters, budget chairman, presented the budget for the year; it was accepted by the board and will be presented to the members at the October meeting.

Mr. Kemble held a general discussion of the plans and programs for the coming year, and as it appears it will be a great year for the P-TA.

Mrs. Phelps, membership chairman, reported around 210 parents and teachers had joined the P-TA already this year.

The district meet of the P-TA will be here in Eldorado High School Oct. 1st with Mrs. Joe Couch of Ozona being the leader. The day will start with a coffee from 9:00 until 9:30 a.m. Then at 9:30 the program for the day will begin. All interested in P-TA work are invited to attend.

Bill Bowen, finance chairman, reported that the P-TA play will be given Oct. 8th, and that it is coming along well. The play this year will be presented only one night, so everyone plan to attend Tuesday night, Oct. 8th. —Rep.

Masons Accept Plans For New Building

Architect Lee Hunter of San Angelo is at work this week preparing final plans and specifications for the new building for the Eldorado Masonic Lodge, after that group voted to accept the plans presented at their meeting last Thursday night.

Orval Edmiston, chairman of the building committee of the Masons, reported this week that the plans and specifications should be ready for contractors by the 23rd or 24th of this month.

A special meeting of the Lodge has been called for Sept. 30th, at which time the bids will be opened and considered by the building committee and other members of the Masonic Lodge.

Whatever bid is accepted, 70% of the amount must be in the building fund before the Grand Lodge at Waco will give their approval so that construction can get under way.

New Cub Scouts To Meet Tonight For Supper

A covered dish supper tonight at 6:30 in the Memorial Building will honor boys eight years old and their parents who are coming into the Cub Scout program this year.

Dan Sebesta, of the Cub committee, reported arrangements about complete, and urged eight-year-old boys who plan to be Cub Scouts to come with their parents tonight, and to bring a covered dish.

Following the supper, the Cub Scouting program will be explained in detail and the new boys will be registered.

Ronnie Sauer has gone to work for the Southwest Texas Electric Co-Op.

Boy Scout Troop Sets Open House Oct. 7th

J. B. Morris, assistant executive of the Concho Valley Council of the Boy Scouts of America, met here Monday night with the committee of Troop 18 and plans for the Fall were made.

Gail Mittel will again serve as Scoutmaster and his assistants will be David Meador and Perry Don Free.

The Fall program will get under way with a membership campaign designed to enlist more boys in the Scouting program and to help promote it the local troop will hold an open house the night of Monday, October 7th.

Boys of Scouting age, 11 through 14, and their parents, will be invited to the open house at which the aims and objects of the Scouting program will be outlined, troop officers and their duties will be discussed, purposes of troop meetings and camp activities will be set forth, and the co-operation of parents will be sought in order to gain the maximum results during the year to come. Further details will be announced in the Success later in regard to the open house coming up on October 7th.

Jamboree Is Next Summer
The Fifth National Jamboree of the Boy Scouts of America is scheduled for July of 1964 at Valley Forge, Pa., and the contingent of Scouts and leaders from the Concho Valley Council have scheduled trips to Washington, D. C., Philadelphia, the World's Fair at New York, and other points of interest as well as attending the Jamboree itself.

Mr. Morris reported that as of now, Buddy Calk, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Calk, is the only Scout from Eldorado signed up to attend the Jamboree, cost of which will be about $300.

Mr. Morris also pointed out that the quota for this Council is filling fast. As of last week, 103 had applied for this Council's quota of 111.

Cantata Rehearsals Start Monday Night

An Eldorado community choir will start rehearsals Monday night on a Christmas cantata, "The Messiah." Frank O'Banion will be director and the initial rehearsal Monday night will begin at 7:30 in the First Baptist church.

Mr. O'Banion invited all adults as well as high school age young people interested in singing to come to the rehearsal.

The cantata—which will probably be presented the night of Sunday, Dec. 15th, although that date is subject to change—consists of the Christmas portion of George Frederick Handel's "The Messiah" and the concluding song is the powerful and familiar "Hallelujah Chorus."

Mrs. James Page at the piano and Mrs. Roy Phelps at the organ will be accompanists and will assist Mr. O'Banion.

Plans call for the rehearsals to continue each Monday night between now and the mid-December presentation. Singers who plan to participate should be sure to attend the first rehearsal and the succeeding ones in order for the presentation to be successful, Mr. O'Banion stated.

It was stressed also that this is to be a cantata by a community-wide choir and singers from all churches are invited to participate.

Remember the first rehearsal—Monday night at 7:30 in the choir loft of the First Baptist church—and be sure to attend if you sing.

Livestock Sale To Benefit Boysville

It'll be something new for the Union Stock Yards in San Antonio; there will be a charity auction for Boysville with sheep and goats to be sold Tuesday, October 8th; hogs Wednesday, October 9; and cattle and calves Thursday, October 10th.

Known as "Texas' home with a heart for homeless boys," Boysville, which has furnished a home for several hundred lads over the past 20 years, has obtained everybody's cooperation on the project without charge.

"With the help of everyone at the Stock Yards and donated animals from folks throughout south and central Texas," say Messrs. Lloyd Knowlton and W. P. Coleman, co-chairmen, "we are appealing for contributions of this kind for the first time."

"The home's farm and ranch program not only furnishes food for the 88 boys we have, and feed for the home's livestock, but also provides on-the-job training for boys interested in ranching and farming."

ANGUS SALE SATURDAY

There will be 100 head of Registered Angus go on the auction block Saturday, Sept. 21. The sale will be held at the Mason County Fair Grounds at 1:00 p.m. It will be the first production sale of the Grote Angus Ranch. The offering will consist of 20 good age bulls, 70 young females with calves or heavy springers, and 10 open heifers.

Here in Washington practical politics is taken for granted. I recall hearing the late Sam Rayburn's much-quoted admonition, made during a heated partisan debate: "Those who go along, get along." For years every President has knocked himself out to take care of those in Congress who have hewed the party line. A defeated Senator or House member, if he was faithful, is often rewarded with a lush government job.

That is one of the rewards of the party faithful as our political system has evolved. Roosevelt did it. So did Truman. And Ike followed suit.

The New Frontier has been generous in that regard. Gracie Pfof, former Congresswoman from Idaho, a party faithful, defeated last year in a bid for the Senate, holds an $18,000 job in Federal Housing; Sidney Yates of Illinois, a former House member who tried to unseat Senator Dirksen last year, was put on the UN staff at $22,500. Frank Smith, Mississippi House faithful, after his defeat was rewarded with membership on the TVA board.

Don Magnuson of Washington was bumped off by a Republican in a re-election bid to the House last year, and was consoled with a $16,000 job in Interior. Floyd Breeding, an able House member from Kansas, draws $18,000 a year in Agriculture, following his defeat last year. Walter Moeller of Ohio, another defeated party faithful, draws $16,000 in the Space Agency.

Ex-Congressman Frank Kowalski of Connecticut, who challenged Abe Ribicoff for the Senate, was appointed on the Subversive Control Board at $20,000 a year. Ex-Congresswoman Kathryn Granahan a Philadelphia party faithful who lost out in re-districting, now gets $20,000 a year as U. S. Treasurer; and Catherine Norrell, also a victim of re-districting in Arkansas, was made Assistant Secretary of State.

Many of these appointees are, of course, very capable people. But the general practice causes observers to recall Stonewall Jackson's jibe: "To the victor belongs the spoils."

Highway Research Lessens Accidents

Austin.—One day this summer a 26,000-pound diesel truck, its driver asleep at the wheel, hurtled out of control toward opposing lanes of traffic on the U. S. 59 Southwest Freeway in Houston. Although the truck was traveling at 50 miles an hour, damage to the truck amounted to only $75 and the driver emerged unharmed.

The reason? The truck hit Texas' first non-yielding median rail, a rail that deflects traffic and keeps them from jumping the median into opposing lanes of traffic.

This type of median rail was developed by the Texas Highway Department's urban project office in Houston, and was installed on a 65,000-foot stretch of U. S. 59 near the Interstate 610 interchange.

For years highway engineers have grappled with the problem of making it more and more difficult for a driver to have an accident. When the first divided multi-lane expressways were built, hopes were that head-on collisions would be eliminated entirely. Mostly, they were. But a few head-on collisions still occurred, caused by cars which jumped over the median into the opposing lanes of traffic.

So research wheels began turning to design a protective device for the median in effort to make the expressways even safer. One type of median rail now in use in some of the Highway Department's 25 districts throughout the state is the "yielding" median rail, which deflects vehicles back into the lane of traffic. By damaging the railing, the energy of the vehicle is dissipated.

Now the new non-yielding rail also has been developed in the continuing search for even more effective ways to divide lanes of traffic. An added feature of the new non-yielding median rail is that a wire mesh fence erected above the rails reduces night headlight glare to almost zero, and prevents pedestrians from crossing the freeway.

This new three-in-one safety measure is being watched with interest by the Highway Department engineers throughout the state, and if it proves to be the most effective median rail, indications are that the non-yielding median rail may be adopted for use on a statewide basis.

The case of the diesel truck is only one instance illustrating the protection the non-yielding rail offers. To date, no vehicle has broken through the median rail, and observation shows that vehicles can come in contact with the rail even at high rates of speed without severe damage to either the rail or the light barrier fence. So far damage to vehicles has been slight, and only scratches and dents mark the places where vehicles have crashed into the rail.

On The Screen . . . Disney At Best In 'White Stallions'

If there is a deluge of American customers for the Spanish Riding School performances of the Lipizzaner horses in Vienna blame Walt Disney and his "Miracle of the White Stallions," the new film which will be shown Sunday and Monday nights at the Eagle Drive-In Theatre; show time is now 7:30 p.m. This movie is in big-screen Technicolor.
"Stallions" presents a brilliant spectacle of these marvelously trained horses in action that is a joy to see.
The screenplay by A. J. Carothers is based on "The Dancing White Horses of Vienna," a semi-autobiography written by Col. Alois Podhajsky, who has been director of the school since World War II.
The film draws its material from that portion of the book which tells of the rescue of the Lipizzaners during the last days of World War II through the cooperation of American forces to keep them from falling into the hands of the Russians.
"Miracle of the White Stallions" is a departure from most Disney films in that it treats of war and its associated problems. However, Disney's war is not a particularly brutal thing, there is little bloodshed and that almost exclusively on the enemy's side.
The result is that the rescue of the Lipizzaner mares from behind the line of demarcation in Russian-occupied Czechoslovakia is absorbed in the beautiful story of the Lipizzaners themselves.
Robert Taylor portrays Colonel Podhajsky in a rather stern and unyielding manner. Lilli Palmer is his understanding and encouraging wife. German General Telheim who violated orders to help the Lipizzaner cause, is portrayed ably by Curt Jurgens. Eddie Albert is capable in the role of the top rider for the school and James Franciscus takes the part of U. S. Army Major Hoffman who was largely responsible for creating the foray which finally saved the horses. John Larch is presented as General Patton as something of a boor, which he was not despite his eccentricities.
The picture was filmed in Europe in and around Vienna and, of course, that means some opportunities for scenic grandeur, all of which lends a colorful attractiveness to the film.
As the story opens, only the white stallions are in Vienna; the mares have already been sent into Czechoslovakia to supposed safety. In violation of Nazi orders, Colonel Podhajsky gets the stallions out of beleaguered Vienna and into the Austrian mountains. But if the breed is to be perpetuated the mares must also be rescued. A special performance before General Patton and his staff paves the way for this rescue effort, which officially is to release about 2,000 prisoners of war held in the same area.
The full performance of the Lipizzaners' skill comes in the closing scenes.
The cast:
Col. Podhajsky.....Robert Taylor
Verena Podhajsky.....Lilli Palmer
General Telheim.....Curt Jurgens

Now that the Battle of Sabine Pass has been "refought," (and won again by the Confederates) the next large scale commemorative ceremony in which Texas will be participating is the Battle of Mansfield over the Sabine River in Louisiana.
Here on April 8, 1864 Confederates, many of them Texans, whipped a portion of General N. P. Banks Federal army bent on invading Texas via the Red River. And on April 8 next year, Texas and Louisiana will join in a salute to those men of General Dick Taylor's army who delayed the invasion by several weeks.
We stopped off at the Mansfield Battle Park last summer where we talked of such commemoration with A. H. Plummer, the park curator whose father was among those who fought here 100 years ago.
One of Mr. Plummer's greatest desires is to see a marker placed on the battlefield where Texans helped turn back the Federals. There are few markers of any kind there now, but the Texas Civil War Centennial Advisory Committee in cooperation with the Texas State Historical Survey Committee, has made plans to erect one at an early date—perhaps prior to April 8, the 100th anniversary of the battle.
Another of Mr. Plummer's hopes has been that one of the cannon used in the battle might be permanently placed on the battlefield. Two of these cannon are known to be located in Texas—one on the courthouse square at Fairfield and the other on the old Confederate reunion grounds at Mexia.
Known as the "Val Verde" cannon, these two were brought back from Louisiana after the War, buried for a time and finally dug up and put on display. Their names came from the fact that they were used by the "Val Verde Battery" under the command of Joseph Sayers, who later became governor of Texas.
Sayers had participated in the Battle of Val Verde in New Mexico and had been assigned to command a battery of artillery pieces captured in that battle. The battery took on the name of the battle in which its guns had been captured from the Federals and participated in much of the activity during General Banks' Red River Campaign, including the Battle of Mansfield.
Unofficial word has it that the old cannon at Mexia will return to Mansfield, but only for the commemoration next year. It will remain in Texas as a memento of the men from Freestone county who fired it at Mansfield and thought enough of it to bring it home with them.

The affair at Sabine Pass, mentioned above, was well attended, well planned and we think Dick Dowling would have been proud of all the attention paid him there. About 30 or more of his descendants were there and answered the roll call, his family silver service was there, and a song about his feat, written especially for the occasion, was sung, followed by a rebel yell calculated to excite even the Yankees who were present.

Readers will also be interested we think in the Confederate States Centennial Conference coming up in late October in San Antonio. The Civil War Centennial Commissions from all the Confederate States will send representatives to the conference and we'll keep our readers informed as plans progress.

Recommended Reading for this week: The best account of the Red River Campaign mentioned above and of which the Battle of Mansfield was a part, is Ludwell H. Johnson's "Red River Campaign" published by Johns Hopkins Press, Mansfield, Pleasant Hill, and all other activities in which Texans had a large role are covered thoroughly.

Miss Suzanne Paisley left by plane Thursday for her home in Pennsylvania after a visit with the E. H. Nimitz family. She will be a senior in the University of Pennsylvania this fall and is a chemistry major.

Guests in the home of the W. O. Alexanders Saturday and Sunday were their son, Forrest, his wife, Dorothy and their son, Bill, of Amarillo. They attended the services at the First Baptist church Sunday morning.

Visitors at Runge Ranch last week were Alex Black, Palo Alto, California, and his granddaughter, Ann Cozens. Mr. Black is Mrs. Forrest Runge's uncle. He also visited his birthplace, the Black Ranch near Ft. McKavett.

Football

They concluded that the Eagles had outplayed the Broncs completely until the disastrous pass since the Broncs were confronted at the time the pass was completed with a third down with 13 yards to go. They concluded with the fact that the Eagle offensive had kept the ball most of the time, running some 50 offensive plays to perhaps 25 for Sonora.

Offensively, Captain "Mauling" Marvin McAngus stood out, carrying the ball 22 times and piling up 101 yards of his teams total yardage of 168.

Richard Preston accepted all three of Captain Lynn Meador's aerials for all three Eagle completions resulting in 36 yards contribution to his team's total.

Tackle Jack Mackey along with Captain Larry Blair paved the way for Eagle backs with hard fought blocking against a burly and powerful Bronco line.

Defensively, Jack Mackey, Beep Cain, Richard Preston, George Draper, Tip Finley and Captain M. McAngus did yeoman's service as evidenced by only four first downs battered out by Bronc backs and only 89 yards for the night by land.

Tip Finley jolted a Bronc back so severely that he lost the ball and Richard Preston happily captured the fumble. Defensive Linebacker Bobby Halbert recovered the second Bronc fumble.

But the scoreboard showed 7 for Sonora and nothing for Eldorado when the final whistle and the long night ended—for the Eagle backers.

Features of the night were the good behavior of all concerned and the superb halftime performance by the Eagle band.

S.C.D. Supervisor Election Set Oct. 1st

The local Eldorado-Divide Soil Conservation District plans to elect two Soil Conservation District supervisors on the first Tuesday in October which will be October 1, 1963. This is an election for a supervisor from subdivisions 3 and 5. Ordinarily only one supervisor is to be elected each year, but due to ill health and the recent resignation of E. E. Moore in Zone 3 it becomes necessary to elect a supervisor for this zone. Zone 5 is the zone which is in line for the regular annual election of a district supervisor throughout the state of Texas. J. Forrest Runge, chairman of the board, currently holds the post.

Plans are to have an interesting program and hold the election in the Memorial Building starting at 3:00 p.m. on Tuesday, October 1, 1963. More details on the election will be published later.

Farmers and ranchers in districts everywhere share the pride of purpose and accomplishment that have borne witness to the soundness and practicability of the districts concept since the first of these local units of state government was voted into being a quarter of a century ago.

Land owners in these two zones are encouraged to turn out and elect a supervisor in these two zones to represent them for the next three years in zone 3 and for five years in zone 5.

Soil Conservation districts have come about and resulted from the fast-awakening desire of those who manage the nation's privately owned agricultural and water resources to strengthen their position and insure these basic assets against the hazards of the present and the future.

Larger demands for more food and water in the future faces us as a nation. How well are we preparing for these future drains on our soil and water resources? In soil conservation, we have the means of applying local initiative and responsibility to the job ahead as individual farms and ranches.

As William E. Richards, president of the National Association of Soil Conservation Districts, said in the December, 1961, issue of the "Soil Conservation" magazine, "Without in any way attempting to take credit for carrying the world on our shoulders, I think I can say truthfully that we in the Soil Conservation districts—from the senior supervisors to the newest co-operator—are making a substantial contribution to a better and more secure America as ever has been made since our forebears touched the unroded shores of this land of unfounded soil, water, forest, grassland, and wildlife resources."

Yes, soil conservation districts have done a great job in this country but there is still a job ahead with greater responsibility and devotion.

Lions Honor Faculty and Hear Talk on Oil Future

Eldorado Lions and their ladies honored the school faculty and their husbands and wives with a banquet Monday night in the Memorial Building.

Leigh W. Clark, assistant secretary and assistant treasurer of Standard Oil Co. of Texas addressed the gathering on the future of the oil industry.

Mr. Clark stated that in order for the oil industry to continue to grow to serve the country's fuel needs, it must have a minimum of government regulation and a maximum of allowable on depletion allowance, commensurate with the risks involved in locating new sources of oil.

He stated further that atomic energy in the future will be a partner with oil, rather than a replacement.

Mr. Clark was introduced by Bob Hand of Fort Stockton, former Eldorado resident. Also present was Mr. Stubbs of Fort Stockton.

C. J. Hahn presided and Jimmy West served as master of ceremonies.

In introducing the faculty, School Supt. A. M. Whitis stated that they represented 50 degrees and over 600 years of teaching experience. Mr. Whitis received a 25-year Monarch award.

John Stigler led the pledge of allegiance to the Flag, C. M. Nyquist gave the invocation, and Dan Sebesta the benediction.

Austin.—Gov. John Connally has taken the offensive against his potential 1964 opposition backers in spectacular fashion.

He surprised a poll tax rally here by lowering the boom on Bexar county commissioner Albert Pena, state chairman of the Political Association of Spanish-Speaking Organizations (PASO). Pena is among Texas liberals who have been critical of the Governor's opposition to federal civil rights legislation.

Connally charged that "self-seeking politicians" are out to turn the poll tax repeal campaign into "a sideshow for their own purposes." Their aim, in the Governor's view: bloc voting.

He blasted Pena as a "would-be political boss" who builds his power by erecting a wall between Mexican-Texans and Anglo-Texans, using Teamster Union organizers as bricklayers.

Pena, who played a big hand in the city council election in Crystal City early this year, denied he is a "boss". He said the Governor's speech was "sadistic, under-the-table, oblique way of telling the people he favored retaining the poll tax."

Connally's friends applauded his sizzling speech, one of the hottest he ever has made.

Pena's friends, including Don Yarborough of Houston who evidently will be running against Connally again next year, rushed to his defense and heaped new criticism on the Governor.

Republicans

First statewide candidate to emerge on the pre-1964 political scene is a Republican. He is Geo. H. W. Bush, 39, of Houston, who seeks his party's nomination for the U. S. Senate.

Bush and other Republican hopefuls have been discussing their chances with the GOP State Executive Committee.

Present were Jack Cox of Houston and Dr. Milton V. Davis of Dallas, mentioned as Senate race starters; also Des Barry of Houston, who ran for congressman-at-large last year, and State Rep. Horace Houston of Dallas, who has said he might run for Governor.

GOP Congressman Ed Foreman, Odessa; Bruce Alger, Dallas; and Sen. John Tower were on hand when the committee talked finances, organizations, and voter registration.

Parks Report

A two-year study, recently completed and presented to the Governor, proposes expenditures of $305 million to acquire and develop 373,000 more acres of Texas parks by the year 2000.

Connally lauding the report, suggested organization of a citizens group to follow through on needed parks programs. He also revealed he is studying possibility of buying part of the 72,000 acre J. C. Hunter Guadalupe Mountain as a State Park.

Parks experts who prepared the report argue that proper development of the recreation, historical and scenic areas would boost the state's economy $200 million a year.

Credit Insurance

State Board of Insurance heard praise and criticism of its proposed new rules regulating credit life, health and accident insurance at a second hearing here.

The 58th Legislature gave the Board authority to regulate life, health and accident insurance on loans. For the first time, group credit insurance also was included.

The agency came up with a proposal to establish a test for reasonableness of the relation of benefits to premiums. Some companies claimed the suggested formula resulted in too-high rates.

No decision was reached as to when the rules will take effect, pending completion of an attorney general's opinion.

Travel Record

State Highway Engineer Dewitt C. Greer says Texans will set a new all-time record for miles traveled this year—49.5 billion vehicle miles, an increase of two billion miles over last year.

Half of the mileage will be logged in urban areas. In other words, 7% of Texas highways will carry 50% of the traffic. Other 50% will be scattered over 93% of the road system.

A "disturbing discrepancy," says Greer, "... one we must certainly deal with as we plan for the future. Big question is whether we can continue to modernize and upgrade the Texas Highway system quickly enough to take care of this traffic efficiently—and above all, safely."

Appointments

Leslie G. Burnett of Austin,

Claude Brown of McCamey, and J. B. McDuff of Crockett have been named by Governor Connally to the Texas Industrial Commission. Ray Horton of Houston was re-appointed.

Brown, auto dealer and oilman, replaces San Angelo publisher Houston Harte, who resigned. Burnett, labor official, succeeds Jack A. Martin, San Antonio union leader.

McDuff, telephone company executive, succeeds Jack H. Drake, Weslaco Chamber of Commerce executive.

Another appointment by Connally was Judge Solomon Casseb Jr. of San Antonio as presiding judge of the 4th Administrative Judicial District. Judge Howard Green of Cuero resigned the post to accept appointment as chief justice of the new 13th Court of Civil Appeals at Corpus Christi.

Tourist Agency

Texas' brand new Tourist Development Agency has opened offices in the Sam Houston Building on the Capitol concourse.

Director Frank Hildebrand Jr. hopes to get together with his advisory board this month to review advertising presentations.

Agency will be out to prove itself to the Legislature. It hopes to demonstrate that it can do enough for the Texas economy with its initial $200,000 advertising appropriation to justify a bigger budget in the future.

Water Warning

Chief Engineer John Vandertulip of the Texas Water Commission warns that the five wet years since 1957, when the last drought broke, have lulled community leaders to sleep. As a consequence Texas cities and industries are in danger of running shy of water.

Vandertulip reports that existing reservoirs will not supply present cities and industries with sufficient water if another 7-year drought develops.

Short Snorts:

A special election to fill vacancies in the House of Representatives created by resignations of Dallas Democratic Reps. Robert H. Hughes and Bob Johnson will be held on November 9.

Texas Municipal League President Robert Willis Jr. of Livingston called on all city officials to give "active attention" to revision of municipal revenue policies and broadening the local tax base.

It's all right to accept beer advertising in the Annual Prison Rodeo souvenir programs sold by the Texas Department of Corrections, ruled Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr.

Joe Charles Christian left Tuesday morning to resume his studies at Texas Tech, where he will be a Sophomore.

An increase in screwworms this fall could jeopardize early eradication of this livestock pest, Southwest Screwworm Eradication Program officials have said.

Favorable weather and shearing and other ranch operations usually result in a marked increase in screwworm infestations in both livestock and wildlife from early September through November.

Several factors are considered highly favorable for early eradication at this time. They include:

1. Screwworm cases are at an all-time low for the season. Less than 75 cases were reported in Texas last week, as compared to over 5,000 in August, 1962.

2. Capability for producing sexually sterile screwworm flies is at an all-time high. More than 135 million flies per week can be released to mate with native flies and prevent reproduction.

3. Inspection stations, operating along the western edge of the eradication area, are preventing transportation of infested livestock into the area.

4. A barrier along the U.S.-Mexico border, which is designed to prevent screwworm migration from Mexico, is in operation and being expanded.

5. Livestock inspectors are ready to deal with any emergency.

For these measures to be effective livestockmen must give the program their full support, officials stress. They urge producers to watch livestock closely for signs of infestation. Stockmen should save samples of the larvae and report the discovery to their county agent.

In only 19 months that the screw worm program has operated, infestations have been reduced 97% in Texas.

Eradication machinery is poised to move quickly onto farms and ranches where screwworms are reported.

Inspect, collect, treat and spray. Your vigilance is necessary for complete eradication.

Complete eradication of the screwworm means an additional $225,000 to producers of Schleicher county.

July 14 was the last screwworm case in the county.

Remember that self-employed farmers and ranchers must pay Social Security tax if their operations return a net profit of $400 or more annually.

The tax is 5.4% of the actual net profit up to a maximum of $259 for a net farm or ranch profit of $4,800.

Producers should realize that one gallon of some weed killers will destroy more weeds in one application than 7 men working with hoes for seven years.

Chemical weed and grass control is a must for producers who row crop or broadcast to make maximum profits. Producing at low cost while growing and marketing a product that the manufacturer wants, means that all producers must keep up with advanced technology.

GENERAL TELEPHONE TOWNS ON THE MOVE

Van Heusen Shirts come to Augusta

When the Augusta, Arkansas Industrial Development Corporation set out to secure new industry, they came up with one of America's largest and most respected manufacturers of men's shirts.

The Phillips-Van Heusen Corporation, makers of famous Van Heusen shirts, was brought to this 2300 population town about a year ago. They employed local workers, instituted an intensive training program, and completed the first products in the brief time of 14 days. Such aggressive action by local citizens and company officials has caused the plant to become a major factor in the local economy.

It is another reason we say General Telephone towns are on the move. Community improvements are under way, local resources are being developed, new businesses, new industries are coming in. If your town seeks additional information about expansion, perhaps we can help. Just write our Community Development Department, Box 1001, San Angelo, Texas.

Home Demonstration Agent's Column
By MRS. VIDA KREKLOW

I'm all in favor of this quantity and freezing cooking. It saves lots of time and lots of cleaning up and besides that it affords a better quality "hurry up" kind of food.

This recipe which follows is a big recipe for wheat muffins that Wilma Prater gave me this morning after the club meeting at her house. And as Wilma remarked when she gave it to me, "A good muffin is always handy."

Wheat Muffins
(makes one gallon of batter)
Mix together:
2 cups boiling water
4 cups all bran
2 cups shredded wheat.
Beat until creamy:
1 cup shortening
3 cups sugar
Add four eggs to shortening-sugar mixture.
Sift together:
5 cups flour

1½ teaspoons salt
5 teaspoons soda.
Add one quart buttermilk.

Mix all ingredients together and mix well. This mixture may be stored in the refrigerator almost indefinitely or it may be frozen. Always keep covered.

If you prefer an all out baking spree cook the muffins in greased tins at 400 degrees F. for 20 to 25 minutes. Batter may be varied by adding raisins, dates, nuts or spices.

Milk cartons make good containers to store this batter in; 4-quart ones will do the job. Don't forget to set the batter out of the freezer in time. It takes quite a while to thaw batters to the spooning stage.

If you are short on muffin pans try this method for large scale muffin cooking:

Use a cookie pan with a rim and fill it with fruit jar rings. In each ring place a fluted paper muffin pan filler. Fill the liner with batter and bake as directed for pans.

I get many calls asking about refreezing various foods. This discussion of the matter may be helpful to you at some future date. Read and remember it.

When frozen food thaws in your home, is it always necessary to discard it?

Research studies reveal that if the temperature of the food has not risen above ordinary refrigerator temperatures (40 deg. F.), then you may consider refreezing it—provided it has acceptable odor, texture and color.

The process of refreezing in itself introduces no hazard, the study shows. If the partially thawed food is safe to eat, it is safe to refreeze.

These facts about refreezing may prove helpful to the homemaker, Frances Reasonover, foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, reminds. The research findings come from USDA's Agricultural Research Service and other agencies.

A rise in the food's temperature up to thawing impairs color, flavor, and texture, and the refreezing period causes further loss of quality. If the total time involved is short enough, there may be enough quality left to justify refreezing.

No health hazard is involved if the temperature of the food has not risen above ordinary refrigerator temperature. Food-poisoning bacteria have never been found to grow at temperatures below 38 degrees F., and they grow very slowly between 38 and 45 degrees. Other bacteria can grow slowly at these or even lower temperatures, and they cause off-odors and off-flavors that spoil foods but do not cause food poisoning.

It was announced in last week's Success that this play would be presented the night of Oct. 1st. The date has been changed to Oct. 8 in order not to conflict with the District P-TA workshop to be held here on Oct. 1st.

'64 Chevrolet Trucks Now Being Shown

With several improvements and refinements, the 1964 Chevrolet truck line consolidates the major gains in design achieved under a five-year re-engineering and development program that started in 1960 models.

"Over the past four model years we have completely re-engineered and expanded our truck line, making several significant design advances," James E. Conlan, assistant general sales manager for trucks, said in announcing the new line.

"These include such features as independent front wheel suspension; variable rate springing; new family of light-weight, efficient 4- and 6-cylinder engines, plus new V8's; addition of diesel power; completely redesigned frames, and many other developments.

"With the major chassis redesign completed and proved by customer acceptance, we are able this year to concentrate on refinements that add to driver comfort, reduced maintenance, extended life for certain components, and even more efficient performance generally."

Principal features of the 1964 line include:

—New forward-slanting front pillar on conventional and short-hood cabs for easier entry and exit, reduced wind noise, and firmer windshield mounting.

—Greatly improved cab sealing and insulation against dust, weather, and noise, and easier operating, more positive door latches.

—Self-adjusting brakes, 6,000-mi. front suspension lubrication interval and lower transmission floor tunnel for most ½- and ¾-ton models.

—Higher horsepower 292 cu. in. 6-cylinder engine and heavy-duty wiring harness in medium- and heavy-duty models.

—Addition of three diesel models in the heavy-duty tandem line and four new square-front, high cube forward-control ¾- and 1-ton van models.

—New optional higher rear axle capacity of 23,000 lbs. in the heavy-duty series.

—Larger, more powerful engine with added durability features in the Corvair 95 line, along with heavier muffler, higher capacity generator and more rugged clutch.

The new front hinge pillar design for conventional and short-hood cabs and regular panels eliminates the former "dog-leg," greatly improving ease of exit and entry to the driver's compartment.

Other cab improvements for conventional models include the rotary-gear type door latches, better cab ventilation, and new sound-
