The SDN Column

Ten years ago a group of Scurry County citizens launched out on a project with considerable enthusiasm and a measure of anticipation as well as aprehension. For several months, efforts had been underway to establish a county fair and it had finally been achieved. What remained now was to get the first show ready.

Much of the work which led to organization of the Scurry County Fair Association was done by L.M. Dawson, superintendent of Fluvanna schools at that time. In fact, as we recall, Dawson devoted considerable energy to this project for a couple of years before his efforts finally bore fruit. There was interest in his community, which spread over the county, but there also were obstacles to be cleared. County fairs had not fared too well in many places. Some rather strong ones had folded during the drouth of the early fifties, and for a period of years it was difficult to get anyone interested in local fairs.

Also, there was the problem of a place to hold the fair. Nothing like this had been attempted in Scurry County in many years and there were no "fair grounds" or buildings. The county barn in Towle Memorial Park offered the best facility available and it became the home of the new Scurry County Fair, with part of it spilling over in to the National Guard Armory nearby.

The apprehension stemmed from two big questions, Would people who had suitable items bring them to the fair for exhibition, and would people come to the fair?

Dates were set for the first weekend in October, and for several years that was the time for the Scurry County Fair. It is obvious now that people did bring exhibits to the fair and that people did come to the fair as spectators. In fact, the attendence and the quality and quantity of exhibits that first year far exceeded the fondest hopes of those who worked to organize the fair.

So, the Scurry County Fair immediately became a fixture on the local fall calendar. It moved to the Scurry County Colisem following the 1971 show and at that time there were no facilities on the coliseum grounds for livestock exhibits. For the remainder of the exposition, however, the coliseum and its grounds were more suitable than the park. Now, with the new livestock-agriculture building available, the Scurry County Fair has its best facilities ever, and this year's show, which opens today, should be the biggest in its history as it launches its second decade.

3rd Lawman Charged In Robbery

CADDO MILLS, Tex. (AP) — A state trooper has been arrested and charged with aggravated robbery as the third law enforcement man involved in the stick-up of a local bank and the kidnaping of the bank president's daughter.

The Texas Department of Public Safety announced today that highway patrolman Donald Ray Morris, 35, of Rockwall was arrested and charged Wednesday night by DPS officers.

He was being held in the Hunt County jail at Greenville pending $100,000 bond.

A DPS spokesman said Morris was not at the bank during the holdup but investigation indicated he was otherwise involved.

Analyst Says Tet Estimates Were Ignored

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The ferocity of the 1968 Tet offensive in Vietnam took U.S. forces by surprise because top American officials deliberately underestimated the size of enemy forces, a former intelligence analyst said today.

Samuel A. Adams, testifying before the House intelligence committee, produced secret cables from Gen. Creighton Abrams, former U.S. commander in Vietnam, and Ellsworth Bunker, former U.S. ambassador in Saigon.

Adams, a former CIA intelligence analyst, said Abrams and Bunker insisted on keeping official estimates of Viet Cong troop strength at about 300,000, despite intelligence reports that indicated enemy strength at about 600,000.

He said the figures were altered in order to support their contention that the Viet Cong were demoralized by U.S. military successes.

"Although our aim was to fool the American press, the public and Congress, we unintentionally succeeded best in fooling ourselves," Adams said.

The misinformation led to U.S. military forces, the Congress and the American public being caught by surprise at the intensity of the Tet offensive, launched on Jan. 30, 1968, Adams said.

The two cables produced by Adams were listed among secret documents which the Intelligence Committee had subpoenaed, but not received, from the Ford administration.

In a cable dated Aug. 20, 1967, Abrams reported that new estimates of the size of Viet Cong forces were "in sharp contrast" to the 229,000 figure given to the press. The cable suggested that two troop categories be deleted from the estimates in order to retain the old figure.

"We have been projecting an image of success over the recent months," the Abrams cable explained.

The cable said that if the true number of Viet Cong troops became public "all available caveats and explanations will not prevent the press from drawing an erroneous and gloomy conclusion.

"All those who have an incorrect view of the war will be reinforced," the cable said, "and the task will be more difficult."

Abrams' cable was to the former Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Gen. Earle G. Wheeler. A copy was sent to former CIA Director Richard Helms.

Eloise Passes Over US Base

By The Associated Press

Torrential rains and strong winds spawned by Hurricane Eloise lashed the Cuban city of Guantanomo today and threatened Santiago, Cuba's second largest city, Havana Radio said. But the brunt of the storm apparently bypassed the big U. S. naval base nearby.

Havana Radio said low-lying areas in eastern Oriente province were being evacuated, and hurricane preparations were under way in Santiago, Cuba's second largest city.

A Pentagon spokesman reported no damage after Eloise passed over the base between midnight and 3:30 a.m. today, followed by intermittent heavy rain and gusts of up to 25 miles per hour. There are 3,000 military personnel plus their dependents on the base.

The National Hurricane Center in Miami said, meanwhile, that the hurricane was moving inland with diminished force at about 12 miles per hour. Its center was near latitude 20.3 degrees north, longitude 76.0 degrees west at 9 a.m. EDT.

The hurricane, which left at least 28 dead and 30,000 homeless in Puerto Rico and the Dominican Republic, hit eastern Cuba after weakening slightly.

Eloise's top winds dropped from 80 to 75 miles per hour, which is minimum strength for a hurricane. The storm was expected to move westward over Cuba, and the National Hurricane Center in Miami said this movement over land should prevent its picking up strength again for the time being.

The Miami center said it still could not predict whether Eloise might hit the United States. But Red Cross and Civil Defense officials in Florida made preparations for emergency action and put volunteer helpers on preliminary alert as a precautionary measure.

"It would be foolish for South Floridians to make extended plans at this point," said Dr. Neil Frank, the director of the hurricane center.

The hurricane's eye early today was reported just off the extreme eastern tip of Cuba, or about 550 miles southeast of Miami. Gales extended 125 miles to the north and 50 miles to the south. The center said Eloise was moving westward at about 11 m.p.h.

Havana Radio said a "hurricane emergency" had been ordered for Oriente, Cuba's easternmost province, and a "state of alert" was being maintained in Camaguey, the next province in the path of the storm.

Heavy rains and strong winds were reported in many parts of Oriente. Cubana de Aviacion suspended all flights to the eastern province.

Cool Front Hits Texas Panhandle

By The Associated Press

A new weather front with a batch of cool Canadian air in tow shoved into the Texas Panhandle this morning.

Forecasters looked for the cold snap to set off thunderstorms in that section and to push down to Central Texas with occasional rain or drizzle later tonight.

Overnight temperatures skidding as low as the lower 40s were promised in the Panhandle. Warm weather was expected to linger in other sections through tonight.

Meanwhile it was clear to partly cloudy and generally mild across the state this morning except for patches of low clouds here and there in the central sections. Light to moderate breezes fanned most areas.

Temperatures near dawn ranged from a humid 80 degrees at Palacios on the coast down to 60 at Amarillo and Dalhart in the Panhandle. Top marks Wednesday afternoon went as high as 98 at Del Rio on the Mexican border.

WITH MOSLEMS, CHRISTIANS

Lebanon Truce Is Arranged

By JOSEPH PANOSSIAN
Associated Press Writer

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Moslem and Christian gunmen agreed to a cease-fire today, halting Lebanon's current round of political and religious warfare.

The truce went into effect at 4 p.m. — 9 a.m. EDT.

Isolated explosions and shooting were still heard in Beirut but residents of eastern districts where most of the fighting was concentrated earlier in the day reported a lull after the cease-fire deadline.

Premier Rashid Karami's government arranged the truce with leaders of the battling factions.

Radio Beirut reported earlier that Moslem and Christian gunmen battled on street corners throughout the capital with machine guns, bombs and grenades.

"With pain in our hearts we report that no street in Beirut is safe," said the government's Radio Beirut. "Stay home until further notice. There are armed men in all streets."

The main thoroughfares were empty of traffic. Except for the warring leftist Moslems and rightist Christians, few people ventured outside their homes.

The rattle of machine-gun bursts mixed with the thump of grenade explosions.

Smoke rose over the central commercial district, and the government ordered all firemen off duty to report for work at once.

Radio Beirut appealed for blood donors and tanks of oxygen for the wounded because hospitals could not get hold of their usual suppliers. The radio called on the street fighters to quit firing on ambulances trying to pick up victims.

Two large buildings went up in flames in the Martyr's Square commercial area. Police said one was a cheap hotel in which more than 20 persons burned to death.

Bodies and wounded persons lay in the streets, and rescuers could not reach them, the police reported.

The police could not even estimate the casualties today. Security forces were unable to enter many of the battlegrounds.

The U.S. Embassy advised Americans to remain at home. It said no American casualties had been reported.

Ezzell Has Fair Booth

State Rep. Mike Ezzell has a booth at the Scurry County Fair where citizens may discuss state government with him personally.

Ezzell said he planned to be in his booth at the fair today from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. On Friday he will be in the booth from 5 p.m. to 10 p.m. and on Saturday from 10 am. to 6 p.m.

The State Representative for the 63rd District said he would be happy to discuss the proposed constitutional revision and any other issues.

VIEWPOINT

Platform For Protest

The appointment of Dr. Lorene Rogers as president of the University of Texas at Austin has provided a platform for a number of students and faculty members to become active in what scores of them do best—protest.

One would think off hand the appointment would be hailed as a break-through in the field of women's rights, but so far the trend has been in the other direction. In fact, you might even consider the furore a symbol of discrimination based on sex, because reasons voiced for opposition to the appointment of Dr. Rogers have been nebulous at best, except for revelation that she was not included on lists of candidates recommended by faculy and student organizations.

Based on figures in press wire reports, about a tenth of the student body is active in the profest and a little over one third of the faculty. The students have called for a "strike" or boycott of classes, but the faculty stoppped short of such a move, noting that they felt a responsibility to keep the classrooms in operation despite their unhappiness over the situation. This condecension may have stemmed from the fact that there is even now a huge surplus of PhDs roaming the country in search of employment.

Nevertheless, it was heartening to hear one spokesman for the faculty declare that they did not want to take over the role of the board of regents.

The regents are the people charged with the responsibility of making these decisions, not the faculty and students. The appointment of Dr. Rogers did not get a unanimous vote of the board, but those who voted "nay" subsequently called for support of the board action.

Hopefully, after they let off some steam, the faculty and student protestors will follow suit.

The CB Buying Boom

The Citizens Band (CB) radio business is booming, the industry happily reports.

It began during the 1973-74 fuel crisis when truckers bought them to alert each other about radar traps and police cars. CB has since caught on for marine, mobile home and personal use with consumers.

More than 6.2 million CB sets are currently in use, at an investment of more than $1.5 billion. One of every 39 passenger cars has them, one out of every five long haul trucks, one out of seven pleasure boats, and one out of seven recreational vehicles.

More efficient manufacturing techniques that have brought the average cost of a set down to $150, plus the fact that the Federal Communications Commission has reduced license fees from $20 to $4 during the past few years, have also contributed to the boom. The FCC issued 20,000 Citizens Band licenses a month in 1973, which require no proficiency examination. To date in 1975, that figure has increased to 150,000 a month.

The industry at present is a fragmented one, with no more than a dozen companies having sales in excess of $10 million. Only about 15 per cent of CB radios are actually produced in the United States, the balance primarily in the Far East.

Inevitably, along with the upsurge of interest in CB have come complaints of misuses and abuses by operators who treat it more like a toy than a useful tool. For sure, when the FCC decided to allocate a portion of the airwaves for Citizen Band radio it never foresaw that it was setting off a minor revolution in communications.

No Verdict In Trial Here

Judge Wayland Holt declared a mistrial and dishcarged the jury after it reported at 12:05 p.m. yesterday that it was hopelessly deadlocked in deliberations following the trial of Richard Dean West in 132nd District Court on a charge of escape from custody.

The jury reported that eight of its members favored a finding of guilty while the other four believed the defendant to be innocent.

The jury began its deliberations Tuesday morning. It was comprised of six men and six women. During the trial, both the state and the defense called two witnesses. West testified on his own behalf.

Gene Dulaney was attorney for the defendent, and the case was prosecuted by Pete Greene, district attorney.

The case will be re-tried at a later date.

Miss America Turns Down Grits

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — "What are grits? It sounds so awful," said the reigning Miss America in turning down the Southern breakfast staple.

"It looked good with butter on it, but I couldn't bring myself to — I looked at it and smelled it," Tawny Elaine Godin said after the incident Wednesday during a visit to this east Georgia city.

"Oh, that's harmless," the Yonkers, N.Y., resident said after she was advised that grits are made of ground corn.

Full Oil Flow Is Maintained

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Jim Langdon of the Texas Railroad Commission noted rising imports and declining domestic production today as the agency set Texas' oil allowable for October at 100 per cent.

It will be the 43rd consecutive month of all-out production.

Total nominations for October were 3,774,509 barrels a day, a decrease of 233,210 from September.

The commission said, however, the decrease was because Exxon Co. did not submit an additional demand factor as they have in recent months.

Exxon was quoted as saying it could not estimate how much oil it needed from outside its system due to "uncertainties resulting from the expiration of the Emergency Petroleum Allocation Act of 1973 and its possible extension or replacement."

Langdon said the four-week average of crude oil imports as of Sept. 5 was 4,432,000 barrels a day, an increase of 659,000 from the average of Jan. 3.

Field production in Texas in July declined by 5,000 barrels a day from June, he said.

The usual exception was made in the 100 per cent allowable to hold production in the huge East Texas field to 86 per cent.

Jordan Won't Buy US Hawk

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — Jordan said today it will not buy Hawk antiaircraft missiles from the United States because of "insulting" limitations on their use imposed by President Ford.

"The prime minister has informed the American ambassador that the government would regretfully decline to sign the Hawk missile contract under the conditions and limitations contained in President Ford's message to Congress," said a statement from Prime Minister Zaid Rifai's office.

"Jordan regards these limitations as unique and insulting to Jordan's national dignity."

King Hussein of Jordan has already announced he will buy an antiaircraft defense system from the Soviet Union if the $270-million Hawk deal falls through.

He has said that Jordan will be prepared to accept Soviet advisers for training his Bedouin army "for a limited period of time," if he buys the Russian SAM missiles.

President Ford told Congress in a letter delivered Wednesday that Jordan would be prohibited from placing the missile systems under any binational or multinational military force. He said the United States will monitor Jordan's use of the missiles to assure compliance.

83 Arrested In Drug Raids

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Peace officers began making arrests Wednesday in what was described as the biggest round-up of heroin dealers in two or three years.

Early today officers had 83 persons in custody, including 10 juveniles and 28 habitual offenders.

San Antonio police were assisted by county, state and federal agents. About 125 working in four-man teams participated in the drug raids.

Indictments returned Wednesday charged 182 persons with various narcotics offenses, 104 involving heroin and 65 marijuana.

Inspector Jack Hutton, head of the police investigation, division, said the operation involved more heroin dealers than any raids in the past two or three years.

Unlike a similar campaign in February which involved a large number of young offenders, the current indictments named only 17 juveniles, according to the narcotics Lt. John Smith.

Smith said the biggest series of drug raids in San Antonio took place after 312 persons were indicted in October 1974.

Sgt. Otis Doyal said that 29 of those indicted were habitual offenders—having two prior felony convictions—and 29 were repeaters with one prior felony conviction.

Hughes' Attorney Charges Blackmail

NEW YORK (AP) — An attorney says a legal attempt to have Howard Hughes declared dead smacks of blackmail, and the billionaire recluse did not show up as ordered by a judge.

"Inference is plain that the plaintiffs believe if they make enough of a nuisance of themselves, someone will pay them to go away," lawyer Chester Davis told State Supreme Court Justice Thomas Hughes on Wednesday.

His comments came in support of a move to dismiss a suit filed by Victor and Ellen Kurtz of New York City, shareholders in Air Liquidation, formerly known as Air West, Inc., an airline taken over by Hughes in 1969.

Judge Hughes had ordered the financier to appear in court Wednesday to prove he is alive. The judge reserved decision on Davis' dismissal motion.

Judge Bars Tape In Hunts' Trial

By MIKE COCHRAN
Associated Press Writer

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — A federal judge barred one tape recording from testimony, but approved a second as admissible evidence today in the wiretap trial of Dallas millionaires Bunker and Herbert Hunt.

U.S. District Court Judge Halbert Woodward dismissed as "totally irrelevant" a so-called "Rothermel tape." Paul Rothermel was a high-level employe in the Hunt organization at the time the alleged wiretapings occurred.

The defense had argued that portions should be surpressed, but Woodward ruled the entire tape as inadmissible.

At the same time, the judge said he will permit introduction of a so-called "motel tape." He granted a defense request to permit Tom Hunt, a cousin of the defendants, to narrate and explain the tape when it is played to the jurors.

The tape, labeled "dynamite" by a defense lawyer today, contains a conversation between Herbert Hunt and two convicted wiretappers, W.J. Everett and Patrick McCann.

"What they were doing was setting Herbert up for blackmail," a Hunt official said outside the courtroom. Following the judicial rulings, Woodward ordered jury selection to continue. He said he hoped to select the 12-member panel and two alternates before noon Friday.

He said the first witness would not be called to testify until Monday morning.

Seventeen prospective jurors have been qualified when attorneys resume their delicate and tedious examinations today. The jury will come from a pool of 32 prospects.

Hunt attorney Philip Hirschkop raised the possibility Wednesday of additional motions, sidestepping a direct question from the judge about what to expect before testimony begins. Hirschkop said outside the courtroom he is prepared to trigger new legal actions if developments warrant.

The Hunt brothers, Bunker, 49, and Herbert, 46, are accused of authorizing illegal wiretaps of six trusted employes of their late father, billionaire oil baron H.L. Hunt.

Defense lawyers say they will try to show that charges contained in the six-count wiretap indictment stem from legitimate efforts to protect their fathers interest from a far-flung kickback and embezzlement scheme.

Officials of the Hunt organization estimate the embezzlers siphoned $50 million dollars from the company over a span of nine years.

"A massive, classic white collar crime," say the Hunt people.

The embezzling target was HLH Products Co., a subsidiary of the Hunt Oil Co.

Government prosecutors, in an apparent effort to blunt defense strategy, have asked prospective jurors if they are aware that "a hidden motive, purpose or reason does not excuse a person for committing a crime."

BICENTENNIAL LUNCHEON—Cosmorama Study Club began its' 30th Anniversary year with a bicentennial luncheon in the home of Mrs. Billy Wayne Williams Sept. 13. "A Year for Remembering" began as Mrs. Willie Bigham (pictured) reminisced about members and activities of the club through the years. Pictures of all the past presidents and many members were projected on the screeen from the scrapbook. To add to the delight of the members and guests, Mrs. Bigham was dressed in the more elegant fashions that clubwomen wore in the 1950's and 1960's.

Opening lead — K ♣

"Well," said North, "my overbid paid off."

"Deleted, deleted," said West. "If I had opened a trump it wouldn't have. In addition your partner had to really play the hand well."

South had given the hand a fine play. He took dummy's ace of clubs, led the jack of diamonds and let East hold the trick with the queen.

East shifted to a trump. South won in dummy, ruffed a club, cashed the ace of diamonds, ruffed a diamond, ruffed another club and played two more rounds of trumps.

South was down to one trump, one diamond and two spades. The simple play to make the hand would be to lead a spade toward dummy. But after considerable star gazing, South came to the conclusion that West held the last club and East the last diamond. In that case it didn't matter who held the ace of spades. South just led his last diamond. East had to win and lead a spade up to dummy's king.

Tigers, Steers Clash In Big Spring Friday

The fighting Snyder High School Tigers will meet an old nemesis Friday night when they take on the Big Spring Steers at 8 o'clock in Big Spring.

The Tigers, defending champions of District 3-AAA, will be seeking their first victory of the 1975 football season against a good Class AAAA team in a non-district clash. Snyder has beaten the Steers the last three seasons.

Big Spring appears to have an edge on the Tigers. They're 2-0 for the season with a 14-6 win over Andrews and a 27-8 triumph over Hobbs, N.M. Snyder, on the other hand, has dropped both of its first two contests, losing 29-0 to Monahans and 7-3 to Midland Lee. Comparative scores could be deceiving, however, since the Tiger opponents are generally considered to be stronger teams than the ones the Steers have whipped.

Both teams looked considerably better last week than they did in their openers.

"They (Big Spring) came alive against Hobbs last week," said Sophomore Coach Winfred Shipp, who scouted the Steers the past two weeks.

Everyone who saw the Tigers take on Lee in Midland Friday night would agree the Snyder defense was vastly improved.

Anything can happen when these two old rivals tangle. It should be an interesting game from a spectator standpoint. Primarily, it will feature the Tiger Winged-T rushing attack against a good Big Spring passing attack.

The Steers operate from a Pro-set with a flanker back, and they have a talented aerialist in quarterback Mark Moore, a 200-pound senior, who is dangerous on option plays since he also can run. Most of the rushing, however, will be handled by Jesse Doss, 218-pound senior fullback. Both Doss and Moore were starters last year.

Rounding out the Steer backfield are Jerry Marquez, 150-pound halfback, and Mike Harris, 185-pound flanker back.

Coach Maurice (Mo) Hodges has made a few changes in the starting lineups for the Tigers. Kelly Ragland, 155-pound senior, will be drawing his first assignment as the starting quarterback. He will guide the Tigers Winged-T alignment Friday night. Steve Green 160-pound senior who started the first two games at quarterback, will take over Ragland's job as safety on defense.

Otherwise, the starting backfield will be the same with Mitchell Smith, 205-pound junior, at fullback; Larry Gee, 175-pound senior, at halfback; and, Tim Flynn, 165-pound senior, at tailback. Flynn and Gee both saw action last season.

Up front, the Tigers will install Brad Stoker, 170-pound senior, at strong guard with George Miller, 180-pound senior, at center. The rest of the front line will be the same with Kenny Thompson, 150-pound senior, at swingman; Gary Greenlee,, 190-pound senior, and Charles Hammond, 210-pound senior, at tackle; Dusty Land, 180-pound senior, at guard; and, David Rice, 215-pound junior, at tight end.

On defense, the only change besides Green at safety, will be Sam Kitching, 185-pound junior, at defensive left tackle in place of the injured Richard Balderama, who is out with a knee injury. Competition for the rover back berth has been close all year, but Kyle Sikes, 140-pound senior, probably will be the starter Friday night. Pat Dryden, 145-pound senior, and Gee probably will also see a lot of action at the position.

Ricky Beard, 195-pound junior, has been ailing this week and may not be able to start at left linebacker. If that's the case, then Doug Morrell probably will replace him. Morrell is a 160-pound junior.

Rice and Land also probably will spell Kitching some at defensive left tackle.

The only other injury on the Tiger squad involves David Kruger, 180-pound senior strong tackle, who has a shoulder separation. He'll probably be out for another month to six weeks.

Richard Huddleston, senior strong tackle who had an operation before the season started, has returned and could be ready in a couple of weeks.

The front five on defense will include Mike Freeman, 180-pound senior, at left end, Billy Allbritton, 170-pound senior, at right end; Hammond at right tackle, Kitching at left tackle, and Darrell Lester, 190-pound junior, at middle guard.

Pavlik will join either Beard or Morrell at linebacker while Sikes will be joined in the defensive secondary with Flynn at halfback, Green at safety, and Bobby Thompson, 160-pound senior, at cornerback.

Hammond and Flynn probably will be the only Tigers going both ways, at least at the start, while Big Spring uses a complete new team on defense. Both teams employ similar defenses from a basic 5-2 alignment.

Coach Hodges said the Tigers have had some good workouts this week. If the local lads play as well as they did at Midland, then they could win their first victory this season. In any event, it stacks up as a close, hard-fought ball game.

Monahans Rated 3rd

By The Associated Press

The Killeen Kangaroos have battled their way into The Associated Press schoolboy football pool after two victories over ranked teams—but they'll have to keep battling to stay there.

After scoring victories over then No. 5 Seguin in the first week of the season and seventh ranked San Angelo last week, the Kangaroos have taken over the Class 4A No. 7 rating.

Killeen gets a chance to prove itself again this week when it plays at 10th ranked Abilene Cooper. The Kangaroos then will take a week off before playing No. 1 ranked Bryan in their district opener.

Cuero in 3A, Cameron in 2A, Grapeland in A and Big Sandy in B, meanwhile joined Bryan in retaining their top billings after last week's round of upsets.

Four of the top six teams in last week's Class 3A list either lost or were tied. No. 3 Brazosport and No. 6 Mount Pleasant were the losers and No. 2 Gregory-Portland and No. 4 Uvalde were tied.

Mount Pleasant dropped from the top 10 after losing to Class 4A Marshall 33-7 and Columbia moved in as the No.10 team after upsetting Brazosport 17-14.

Bellville and Comanche dropped out of the Class 2A list after losses and a pair of unbeatens, Hamshire-Fannett and Floydada filled the void. Hamshire-Fannett's 2-0 record includes a victory over defending champion Newton.

Groom, 2-0, became the No. 10 team in Class B.

NFL Agreement Reached

By FRANK BROWN
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Football League and its rebellious players' union reached agreement today following a marathon 13-hour negotiation session in an effort to put five striking clubs back to work and insure that this weekend's opening games are played.

W.J. Usery Jr., director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service and the man who ran the all-night sessions, announced a "memorandum of agreement" between the NFL Management Council and the players' union at 9 a.m. and a delegation of four persons headed for Boston. There, they were to try and convince the striking New England Patriots to accept the offer.

Details of the agreememt were not announced. But one part of it guarantees a full offer from management on a new labor contract by next Monday.

In the delegation going to Boston were Sargent Karch, executive director of the Management Council; players' union head Ed Garvey, and player representatives Doug Van Horn of the New York Giants and Richard Neal of the New York Jets.

Sources said Neal and Van Horn were ready to recommend the agreement to their teammates, who form two of the striking clubs. The key to ending the six-day-old strike that threatens the regular NFL season was the Patriots.

The Boston Globe reported this morning that the Patriots, meeting in a four-hour session that broke up at 1 a.m. this morning, had rejected a management proposal that would have put them back to work. Part of that offer, the Globe said, was a new contract proposal from management by Monday.

However, both sides seemed optimistic that the latest labor problem might be nearly solved.

"In light of the commitments made by both sides, I urge all NFL players to resume their regularly scheduled activities so that the American public can see and enjoy the coming season at its exciting best," Usery said as he emerged from the all-night meeting.

Usery said the agreement affects all 26 clubs. In addition to the Giants, Jets and Patriots, the other striking clubs are the Washington Redskins and Detroit Lions.

The negotiations began just before 8 p.m. Wednesday night, after the strike had spread to five clubs and moved the league dangerously close to cancellation of up to five of its first weekend's games.

Television networks met throughout the day Wednesday to determine what games, if any, they might show this weekend and the NFL slipped closer to chaos as a result of the mushrooming strike, called because the owners and players' union have not been able to make a contract agreement in the past 19½ months.

Eleven clubs voted not to strike and some of them strongly criticized Garvey. The future of the union was clearly on the line and all the while the nation's football fans were left on a limb, not knowing what would happen but still expected to pay high ticket prices if games were played.

"Assurances given me by the official representatives of the NFL Management Council have convinced me that they will, on Monday, Sept. 22, present the players with not only a complete and total proposal but one that will be worthy of receiving every consideration for acceptance," Usery said this morning, adding:

"I therefore publicly urge, and have every reason to expect, that the Management Council and the clubs will make every attempt to present a full and equitable proposal for consideration. At the same time, I call upon the NFLPA and its members to recognize the problems that confront professional football as they make their decisions in the next few days."

Usery said he was hopeful the latest NFL conflict was all but over, and Garvey said, "I think the proposal is the basis for moving forward. We have assurances that it will be a good proposal."

Frosh Host Andrews

The Snyder Freshmen football team hosts Andrews at 7 o'clock tonight in Tiger Stadium. Also today, the 8th Grade Black team was to meet Sweetwater there at 5:30 p.m.

The varsity Tigers will be at Big Spring for 8 p.m. engagement Friday.

Saturday, the junior varsity hosts San Angelo at 1:30 p.m. in Tiger Stadium while the sophomore varsity hosts Midland Lee at 2 p.m. on the Travis Field.

Probable starters for the Freshmen tonight on defense include Ernest Duncan and Mitch Mackey at end, Scott Crenwelge and Anthony Harkey at tackle, Travis Babcock at middle guard, Terry Welsh and Mark Davis at linebacker, Tom Luera at cornerback, Sidney Sullenger at rover, Raymond Medrano at safety and Rudy Garza at halfback.

Offensively, the Freshman will have Mike Forbes at center, C.B. Edmiaston and Jay Hammond at guard, Crenwelge and Mitch Bridsall at tackle, Mackey and Luera at end, Richard Crayton and David Lee at quarterback, Davis and Perry Robertson at fullback, Duncan, Babcock and Carl Humble at tailback, and Wes Partain and Robert Dupuy at halfback.

SWC Foes Tough

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer

Playing at its hottest non-conference pace in 35 years, the Southwest Conference bites into some toughies this weekend with Arkansas, Texas A&M, Baylor and Rice facing some rough outside customers.

The preseason SWC favorite Aggies, who slipped past Mississippi 7-0 last week, invade one of the meanest briar patches in college football—the Louisiana State Bengal Tiger pit at Baton Rouge.

"I imagine LSU will be chomping at the bit," said Texas A&M Coach Emory Bellard, making note of A&M's victory there last year. "Our players don't have any illusions that it will be easy."

Bellard said "LSU has a lot of pride and a darn fine football team. Their defense will be hard to score on no matter who lines up against them. Any time you gain anything against LSU, you can bet your bottom dollar you earned it."

LSU lost to high-powered Nebraska 10-7 last week.

Bellard had one more thing to say on the victory over Ole Miss: "I didn't expect to go out and humiliate Mississippi. From what I read, some other folks expected it. All I know was that it was a victory."

Arkansas hopes for revenge against Oklahoma State in Stillwater. The Razorbacks were burned badly by OSU last year only a week after stunning Southern Cal. Arkansas opened with a 35-0 victory over Air Force and Coach Frank Broyles fielded three runners, quarterback Mike Kirland, Ike Forte and Jerry Eckwood, who each gained over 100 yards.

Texas Coach Darrell Royal returns to the scene of a former head coaching job—Washington.

"They (Washington) have good size and are strong," Royal said of the Huskies. "They were in a 14-12 game with Arizona State in the fourth quarter before Arizona State broke it open."

Baylor, following a week off after beating Ole Miss, will face humiliated Auburn in Waco. Auburn was stunned 31-20 by Memphis State last week.

Auburn assistant Jim Christian said "I am very impressed with Baylor's discipline, coordination and ability to get to the football."

Coast To Coast

By Dick Maurice

Astrology is back in the news and PAT BOONE believes it is the work of the devil. He quotes passages in the Old Testament denouncing it. He won't allow his daughters to have their horoscopes done, and when someone asks him what sign he was born under, he says, "The sign of the cross." (He's a Gimini). If that's the case, JOANNE WORLEY and Roger Berry must be going to the devil because they let their astrologer choose the time and place of their wedding: 12:16 p.m., May 11, in Phoenix, Arizona.

There hasn't been so much talk about a centerfold since BURT REYNOLDS' expose in Comsopolitan. According to inside sources, Playgirl has found a real "macho" for their December issue with a very unique occupation—a go-go dancer who appears in clubs throughout the country "For Women Only". But women who are not fortunate enough to catch his act will soon catch his acting abilities on their TV screens. Burt Reynolds, look out. Here comes JERAMIAH SHASTID.

DIAHANN CARROLL thought of a unique way to break her daughter of temper tantrums, which she would resort to when she was six and seven years old to get her way. One day they were in a department store when Suzanne threw herself on the floor and began to kick and scream. Diahann then threw herself down right beside her daughter and began doing the same thing. She recalls that Suzanne was so shocked and embarrassed she stopped immediately, and that was her last tantrum.

Youthful DEBBIE REYNOLDS told me backstage at the Desert Inn that she has a peculiar way of keeping her thighs and inner arms firm. She rolls out of bed each morning onto the floor (thank goodness it's carpeted), alternating sides daily. She says the impact is a firmer-upper (undoubtedly a waker-upper as well).

After visiting with Debbie, ran over to catch "The Fabulous One", FABIAN, at the MGM Grand Hotel, where there was standing room only. Fabian made it as one of the few rock idols who's also a respected actor. Sexy but no big come-on—offstage he ditches the Stardust scene and he's modest, shy, and seemingly unaffected by his success.

DONNA DOUGLAS made more on a recent commission in a real estate sale than she ever made in one season on "The Beverly Hillbillies." Donna has been selling Beverly Hills real estate for several years now, but her latest deal was high-priced even for that neighborhood. She sold producer DINO DE LAURENTIS a home for $1.1 MILLION dollars! Donna's commission was over a hundred thousand dollars.

Handsome and extremely talented actor BRUCE FAIRBAIRN, (Chris Owens on "The Rookies"), and his very charming wife, Jeri. Bruce told me that his character was getting an added twist. Seems like the writers are planning for him to have a love interest on the show. Apparently ABC is really into love this year. First we had the "Six Million Dollar Man" fall in love. Next will be the marriage of JAMES BROLIN on "Marcus Welby". They must believe in the addage of things happening in 3's so they gave Chris Owens a love twist. According to the fan mail, the guy the gals want to love the most is Bruce.

JENNIFER O'NEAL admits that like most actresses, she's extravagant. But her money doesn't go for the usual female temptations, like clothes, jewels, and furs. She buys animals. She owns 7 show horses and 11 show dogs, and has food bills that would make a kennel owner cringe.

Having trouble getting a good night's sleep? ELLEN BURSTYN'S formula for a good night's sleep is a glass of hot milk with calcium powder stirred in. However, JOANNE WOODWARD prefers a glass of sherry.

Men over 40—some of them way over 40—will be the 'in' thing on TV this fall: GLENN FORD, 59, will play "Holvak", LLOYD BRIDGES, 62, will star in "The Metro Man", TONY CURTIS, 50, will play "McCoy", and GEORGE PEPPARD and DAVID MCCALLUM, both in their mid-forties, will have new series.

ANGIE DICKINSON'S weakness is dill pickles. She keeps a two-gallon jar in her dressing room on the "Police Woman" set all the time. I bet Earl Holliman is glad he doesn't have any love scenes with Angie.

North Carolina, with a population estimated at more than five million, covers an area of 52,586 square miles. Its capital is Raleigh.

CIA Secretary To Review Fund Cut-Offs Policy

By JOHN STOWELL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Southern-born new secretary of health, education and welfare wants a review of the HEW policy of threatening to cut off funds from segregated school districts.

Former University of Alabama president David Mathews said in an interview Wednesday that the department's fund cut-offs for those who resist desegregation and other federal "social goals" too often hurt the innocent.

Mathews, who has been in office for four weeks, also indicated that the administration may modify previous proposals on national health insurance and welfare reform.

Mathews said the ultimate federal sanction of withholding federal funds from states and public institutions punishes "innocent third parties" such as school children and the poor, and not the agency which violated a federal law or regulation.

"If you ask me if I have some pause about massive penalties directed at everybody as a way of achieving desirable social goals, I would say yes I do," the 39-year-old former educator said.

For that reason, he delayed withholding about $80 million from 10 unidentified states that allegedly failed to meet federal requirements for controlling Medicaid health costs, the secretary said.

"If the purpose of the legislation was to benefit the indigent ill, I really wonder if Congress wants to follow through with penalties that impact on the indigent ill," he said.

Mathews made it clear that he will obey the law when it gives him no choice but to withhold funds. But he said that in the Medicaid controversy the law did not set any deadline for his decision until a review has been completed.

State and local governments and higher education institutions all have "great fear" of HEW fund cut-offs, he said.

HEW has over the last 20 years often raised the financial penalty threat to secure compliance including threats to cut off funds from hundreds of segregated Southern school districts in the 1960s.

But only in the case of Ferndale, Mich., has HEW permanently withheld money. The threat also has been raised regularly to force states to meet federal welfare requirements but rarely has been followed through.

On other matters, Mathews gave no indication of what type of national health insurance or welfare reform plan would be proposed nor did he say when they would be submitted to Congress.

There has been no direction from the White House on when President Ford's moratorium against new spending legislation will be lifted, he said, "and for the present time, the moratorium is on."

NEW TAXI OPERATOR—Mrs. Marie Goodwin, who was recently granted a taxicab franchise here, stands beside a new vehicle she will use. Taxi service has been restored following a brief interruption.

Taxi Service Is Restored Here

Taxicab service has been restored in Snyder by Mrs. Marie Goodwin, who was granted a franchise by the city council at its last meeting.

The city had been without taxi service since Dale Glover gave up the franchise several weeks ago.

Mrs. Goodwin said she had purchased a 1975 model Chevrolet which will be used to provide the taxi service here. She said that Glover and his wife had agreed to assist her in the operation of the service.

Mrs. Goodwin said she plans to have taxi service available here from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. seven days each week. It will continue to operate under the name "City Cab" and the telephone number is 573-2131.

City officials said that taxi service is needed by a number of local citizens and that many inquiries had been made at city hall since Glover had given up the franchise and ceased to offer the service. Many elderly people depend on the cab service for transportation to do their shopping, and there are some who use the service to go to and from their jobs.

Mrs. Goodwin has three children, Sarah Crane teacher in the local school system; Johnny Snapp and Louise Wilson, both of Abilene.

Milford Blasts F18 Choice

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Dale Milford, D-Tex., charges that the Navy's selection of the F18 as its new multi-purpose fighter "has all the earmarks of a budget busting military fiasco."

Testifying Wednesday before a Senate armed services subcommittee, Milford also asserted that the choice of the F18 violates legislative restrictions and established congressional procedures.

"The selection of the F18 is in direct defiance of the congressional directive which appeared in last year's Department of Defense Appropriations Act," Milford told the panel.

He added that a Library of Congress report prepared at his request "leaves no question that the Navy's action is illegal and in contempt of Congress."

A defense contractor from Milford's district, LTV Aerospace, has filed a legal protest with the General Accounting Office over the Navy's choice of the twin engine F18, built by McDonnell-Douglas.

At the hearing, Sen. Howard Cannon, D-Nev., said the subcommittee should delay any conclusions on the question until the GAO has issued its decision on the LTV protest.

Concurring with Cannon was Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., who said, "My concern is that we are proceeding at a rather fast pace with a program that we have not completely examined."

Revolving Stage Added At WTC

The last days of summer were filled with rest and relaxation for most of the WTC drama department personel—but not all.

Hard at work in the WTC Fine Arts Theatre were Charles Holland, WTC drama director, Brian Nobles and Bill Carter, students in the department, and Ab Boyd, a patron of the arts. They gave up their leisure to build what is known in the ranks a "revolve" or, to the layman, a circular stage that rotates.

Boyd is the father of Retha Boyd, a WTC graduate who is presently at Texas Christian University on a drama scholarship. He began to form the idea of a small revolving stage for WTC after he and Holland saw one of TCU's "revolve" productions.

The now completed WTC revolving stage was begun two weeks before school started. It represents a miracle for the department because it will allow the performance of a four set show such as the upcoming "Matchmaker" by Thornton Wilder.

In the past, the methods used to change scenery on the Fine Arts stage even led to manually walked in and manually supported sections of flatage. Though the stage crew pulled off the escapade in 30 seconds flat, it could hardly be called the most efficient use of time and money. Now, through the use of the revolving stage, such unrealistic means of scenery changing have been outmoded.

The new revolving stage will make its debut Oct. 8 when the Western Texas College season opens with "The Matchmaker." Holland stated, "Many people like Mr. Boyd have shared in the development of our department and we are indebted to such devoted community people."

Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

* * *

Q. I have two daughters, one is 18, and the other is 20 years old. Both are full-time college students earning over $750 working partime jobs. Will I be able to claim them as dependents?

A. Generally, you can claim any person as a dependent if you furnish more than half the person's total support, and the person does not have a gross income over $750 during the year; lives with you for the entire year (except for vacations, school and sickness); does not file a joint return with a spouse; and is a United States citizen or a resident of the U.S., Canada, Mexico, the Republic of Panama or the Panama Canal Zone.

Children who are under 19 years old, or are full-time students for at least five months per year, are exempt from the income test. If your daughters meet the other four tests, you can claim them as dependents.

Even if your daughters are dependents, they still may have to file income tax returns and pay tax. Persons earning over $750 a year and who are claimed as a dependent by another taxpayer must file a tax return if they have earned income, such as dividends or interest. Otherwise they must file returns only if their earned income is more than $2350.

Q. I have enrolled in a $30,000 group term life insurance plan for which my employer pays. Do I include the cost of this coverage in my income?

A. No. In general you must include the cost of group term life insurance paid for by your employer only when the covrage exceeds $50,000. If you have only one employer and were insured for more than $50,000 at any time during the year, your employer will indicate it on your W-2 Form under "other compensation."

Q. The union at the factory where I work is on strike, so I have stayed off the job. Since this was my only source of income, I asked for and received union assistance. I was not required to picket or perform other union duties. Are these benefits taxable income?

A. Strike benefits are included in income unless the facts show they were intended as a gift. Since your job is your only source of income, the benefits you received might be considered a gift if you can show that you needed the assistance in order to live.

Dr. Lamb

Beer heart is no joke

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am writing to ask you what a "beer heart" is. I know it sounds funny, but that is what my husband's doctor told him on his last visit. He was in the hospital with heart failure. He developed a clot in his lung which cleared up and then was sent to a cardiologist for a catherization test which involved running some wires to his heart. He's now on Coumadin, Pronestyl, Digoxin and vitamins. He got a good report on his last visit to the doctor, but he said he has a beer heart. He stopped drinking beer a year ago. I'd appreciate an answer from you.

DEAR READER — It means what you think it means. Your husband's doctor thinks that his beer drinking habits led to his present heart disease. The term is not a medical diagnostic term, but is the doctor's own way to trying to tell your husband what his problem is.

Alcohol in excess for too long a period of time can damage the heart muscle. I have seeen many patients admitted to city hospitals with severe heart failure, swollen legs, or abdomen, a chest full of fluid and a dilated heart all from failure of the heart muscle beause it had been poisoned with alcohol.

These patients often get well in the hospital, because they can't get any alcohol. Often in the younger ones the heart has enough healing power that the patient may even get well enough not to require any medicines.

The sad part of the story is that these same patients go back to the same environment they they came from and return to the bottle. They are then back again in another emergency, often with shortness of breath and heart failure.

Prolonged use of alcohol can lead to permanent damage to the heart muscle as well. Your husband's doctor evidently thinks this is true in his case. The vitamins may help some if he is deficient in them. The other medicines are used to strengthen his weakened heart muscle and to prevent blood clots forming.

For information on the effects of alcohol on the body, write to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York NY 10019. Send 50 cents, a long stamped, self-adressed envelope, and ask for The Health Letter number 1-4 Alcohol, Whiskey, Gin, Vodka, Rum, Wine, etc.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Recently I heard that there have been studies that show the diabetic drugs taken as pills are dangerous over a period of time. I am told they are related to heart disease. Is this true? I have been taking them and am 62 years old.

DEAR READER — There are a lot of very well-qualified people who believe just that. Needless to say, there is still a hot controversy over the matter. The Food and Drug Administration is reported to be considering a warning label on the bottles.

There is enough evidence of complications for me to recommend that anyone taking these medicines should see if he can do as much to control the blood sugar level by a good diet, particularly one that reduces the person who is overweight. There is a lot of evidence that suggests that adequate weight control does about as much good in the overall picture as the pills.

In any case, anyone taking these medicines should check in with his doctor and let him decide what is the best course to take for his own particular case.

Uncle Sam's Auction To Hurt Housing Industry

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Uncle Sam might seem a most unlikely competitor of the home mortgage seeker, but that's the role in which he is cast in the latest act of the sad drama of the housing industry.

The U.S. Treasury on Tuesday auctioned $3 billion in two-year notes at an average yield of 8.44 per cent. Denominations were as low as $5,000, which in effect made the notes available to investors of limited means.

Much of the money, it is believed, was raised by individuals who withdrew cash from savings accounts at thrift institutions — savings and loan associations and savings banks — which are limited by law to 7.75 per cent.

The thrift institutions are the main source of mortgage money for single-family houses. When money is withdrawn from their accounts they are inclined to be less willing mortgage lenders. It has happened before.

All investors today are more sophisticated than they were 10 years ago, made so by the necessity to protect the savings it took them years of sacrifice to accumulate. They chase interest rates.

It is for this reason that some housing industry and thrift industry officials fear that housing will take another body blow, thus ending the timid recovery that began earlier this year.

"Rates are now high enough for disintermediation," said Robert Sheehan, director of economic research for the National Association of Homebuilders. "It's a real threat," he said of the possibility that money would move in great amounts from thrift institutions.

George Hanc, economist for the National Association of Mutual Savings Banks, maintains that a marked slowdown in deposits already has occurred, after a record-breaking inflow during the second quarter of the year.

In June, for example, $46 million was added to deposits at member savings banks. In August, deposits exceeded withdrawals by only $10 million, the third worst performance for that month in 25 years, said Hanc.

The deposits downturn hasn't yet shown up in figures of the U.S. League of Savings Associations, whose members reported record-breaking inflows for several months this summer.

Now that interest rates are rising, at least two dangers exist for housing:

—That depositors will withdraw their savings and put them where rates are highest, thus reducing the amount of money available for mortgages.

—That the rising interest rates and disintermediation will discourage lenders from making home loans from what money remains until the situation stabilizes and they can read their own future.

Hanc believes chances are higher for an uptrend rather than a decline in competitive interest rates.

Housing, meanwhile, remains mired in one of its worst depressions in a long time. Housing starts totaled only 1,239,000 in July and 1,260,000 in August, whereas a 2 million unit rate is widely considered necessary to satisfy basic needs.

Townpeople Nab Bandits, Rescue Banker's Daughter

CADDO MILLS, Tex. (AP) — Citizens of this small Northeast Texas town don't take kindly to persons robbing their only bank—especially when they kidnap the banker's daughter.

A posse of about 25 townspeople, the mayor, barber, farmers, storeowners—gave chase in cars and nabbed two men about eight miles from town after the Caddo Mills State National Bank was robbed and Sherri Johnson, 19, was taken hostage.

To top it off, the pair charged with aggravated robbery and kidnaping were former Texas state troopers. George P. Marshall, 30, of Garland and Tommy Lee Deal, 28, of Houston, were held on $100,000 bond each Wednesday night in the Hunt County Jail at Greenville.

Deal identified himself as a former police chief of Webster, near Houston. The Department of Public Safety confirmed Deal resigned in 1972 and Marshall in 1969. Marshall identified himself as a Dallas County deputy marshall and former policeman at Webster.

Mayor Bobby Chapman, 34, was in City Hall when someone came in to say two men with hoods had entered the bank.

Chapman ran immediately to the barber shop.

Barber shop?

"Well, barber Larry Bost normally keeps a gun down there," Chapman said. "Luckily he had a high powered rifle, a 30.06. We fired one shot in town, got the right front tire. We saw them coming out with the girl."

The bandits spotted Chapman and Bost as they started to flee the bank.

"They started to leave but then one of them said, 'Oh, my God, we got trouble out here. Hostage...we want a hostage...you, girl, we want you,' " bank vice president Gordon Anderson said, referring to Miss Johnson.

As the bandit's car, with one tire a little low, headed south on Texas 36, the townsfolk jumped in their cars and headed after them.

Chapman said there is a Citizens Band radio network of area residents "and once the word was out everyone was monitoring and closing in to assist."

"Their car slow down after crossing some (railroad) tracks," Chapman said. "They pushed the girl out, then the car had to stop because the guy who pushed her out had dropped his gun."

"We stayed out of range until they abandoned their car.

"They first tried to flag an oncoming car but the car sped up and kept on going," said Chapman, who sells insurance for a living.

"They ran to a pasture, then everybody was coming in from all sides," Chapman related.

"One boy fired a .30—.30 (rifle) and when the bullet hit the ground, they hit the ground, too.

"They threw up their hands. They decided there were too many of us."

The posse held the men until Hunt County sheriff's deputies arrived about five minutes later.

Miss Johnson was skinned up, trembling and crying, the mayor said, but otherwise was all right.

While all of this was going on, Hunt County Sheriff Wayne Green's car was in the shop.

"All the time it was going on, I just sat at the radio and directed things," Green said. "I didn't get to get out there and get in on any of the fun."

Marshall and Deal were arraigned before Justice of the Peace Merrick Money.

"Well, I'll be dadgummed," Money said upon learning of the pair's background.

The amount of money taken in the robbery was not released, but Chapman said it was substantial.

"They had it stuffed in their pockets and in a bag. When they surrendered, the guy with the bag threw up his hands and threw out about $10,000 in the pasture," he said.

Fortunately there was no wind.

Chapman was asked if Wednesday's robbery was indicative of how the people feel about Caddo Mills.

"You'd be surprised how people come out of the walls and cracks when a problem arises in a little town."

No Motive In Morales Slaying

HONDO, Tex. (AP) — Medina County Sheriff Charles Hitzfelder said he has uncovered no motive as yet in the shotgun slaying of Richard Morales, 29, of Castroville.

Castroville Town Marshal Frank Hayes, 53, was charged with the killing and remained in jail late Wednesday in lieu of $50,000 bond.

Medina County authorities arrested Hayes after deputy city marshal Donald McCall told them that his boss had apparently shot Morales late Sunday night on a gravel road near Castroville.

Later Dennis Dunford, 17,

FRANK HAYES

. . .Charged in murder

said he helped load Morales' body into the trunk of Hayes' car, Hitzfelder said.

Texas Rangers dug up the body Tuesday from a shallow grave near the Louisiana border with Hayes' wife, Dorothy, directing them to the spot.

"This is the most cold-blooded murder I've seen," Hitzfelder said. "It looks like an execution."

Later he added, "We don't know why."

Dunford, who was to become Hayes son-in-law Oct. 6, was charged with Morales' death also and Mrs. Hayes was charged with misdemeanor "hindering an apprehension."

Both were freed Wednesday on $2,500 bond each.

Hitzfelder said McCall arrested Morales Sunday night and was told by Hayes to take Morales out of the city to a deserted road.

McCall said that he heard a muffled gunshot shortly after he turned his prisoner over to Hayes and had begun driving away.

Medical examiner Dr. Ruben Santos ruled Wednesday that Morales died of a shotgun wound to his left chest.

After Dunford told Hitzfelder that he had helped put the body in Hayes' car, police began a search and found the vehicle near Llano with Hayes' wife and sister-in-law inside.

Hayes' daughter was found at a nearby home.

The daughter and sister-in-law were released. Mrs. Hayes led officers to a farm six miles from the Louisiana border where Morales' body was unearthed.

The grave was 400 miles from where Morales was arrested Sunday.

Monkey Good Pig Keeper

SPRINGTOWN, Tex. (AP) — Farmer Odell Chadwell's hired hand is making a pig of himself.

It's a case of life-style, not greed, since the hired hand works for peanuts. Perhaps he merely grew tired of monkeying around.

"That thing believes it owns these hogs," Chadwell chuckled as he eyed the 40-pound monkey resting cowboy-style atop the fence rail surrounding his hog pen.

"We tried to keep it at the house at first," explained Chadwell's son Ken. "But the monkey didn't like it. It came down here to live with these hogs and it's been here ever since."

The monkey, named "Candy," has turned out to be an amazing pig keeper, the Chadwells say.

The small, red-faced monkey wanders around the hog pen, performing chores and supervising the activities of about 50 crossbred hogs on the Chadwell farm northwest of Fort Worth.

Acquired last year when Ken Chadwell took it in trade for a butane gas purchase, Candy gives special attention to sows and their litters.

It makes sure suckling pigs are lined up at the dinner table, occasionally jerking one back by the tail from the mother and guiding others into position.

"I once saw it just pick a pig up by the tail and spin it around in a circle just looking at it," Ken recalled. "I guess it just wanted to see if it was OK."

The monkey also sometimes climbs aboard a large red sow "that it likes real well" and rides it around the hog pen, Chadwell said.

"That monkey gets real attached to these pigs," he added." "I sold one once and it didn't want it to leave."

Chadwell's monkey also defends the pigs against intruders.

If Chadwell picks up a squealing pig, the monkey comes running, teeth bared, until he puts it down.

CELEBRATING HER 40th birthday, the inimitable Brigitte Bardot prepares to cut the cake with some help from Laurent Vergez (left) and writer Francoise Sagan.

France's Sex Kitten Of '50s Grows Up

By Rosette Hargrove

PARIS—(NEA)— In this International Woman's Year, in the strident era of Women's Lib, there is one woman who remains impervious to change.

She is Brigitte Bardot, who has just reached the age of 40 yet manages to remain, like Ninon de Lenclos, Diane de Poitiers and other historical enchantresses, ageless and desirable.

BB, the sex kitten of the '50s, is unquestionably a very seductive 40. She will never change. She is going to be daffy and dazzled with love when she is over 60. With every man (after her marriage to Roger Vadim, who projected her into stardom, there were two more husbands and a succession of lovers), she was always sure it was going to be forever. It is common knowledge in this country that Miroslav, a young Yugoslav sculptor, is the sixth in succession. But not even the most dyed-in-the-wool bourgeois censures Bardot. No Women's Libber ever showed more courage and persistence than Brigitte . . . Moreover . . . she probably never has dreamed of the meaning of female "liberty" and "equality," even in French.

She denies nothing

Some time ago Brigitte Bardot appeared on TV in a program entitled "Truth." Completely relaxed, she quickly explained to her interviewer that the Bardot myth, dating from the film, "And God Created Woman," was a very old story. She did not repudiate it but asserted she couldn't care less.

Maturity has brought her serenity. She admitted that most of her films were near-flops. She honestly confessed she had never been possessed by the sacred fire of overwhelming success.

Her comments on the emancipation of women? "By clamoring for more and more freedom they will become more and more unhappy." She admitted she appreciated money but "money must be my slave, and not I the slave of my money." Age? "The thought does not frighten me, anyway, there's nothing anyone can do about it." So far as her movie career goes, here again she expressed her very personal philosophy: Quit after the age of 40? Why?

The fact remains that no Frenchwoman has, since the advent of moving pictures, ever been so internationally famous. Even in her own country, four years ago, Brigitte was adopted as the symbolic bust of Marianne, which represents the symbol of the French nation. The bust is found presiding in every town hall, replacing the old one which was modelled among classic Greek lines.

Women's Lib idiotic

B.B. made it known that she had very definite ideas on a woman's role in life. For her, Women's Lib is "idiotic."

"I may sound old hat but a woman is first meant to create a congenial home – a refuge for the warrior. It is not man's role to cook, arrange flowers, look after the children, while his wife goes out to work. I am all in favor of the new divorce laws, too, but it is wiser to think twice before marrying. After three unsuccessful marriages, I should know."

Brigitte is a great animal lover. She has campaigned for abandoned, abused animals, but admits she has not been very successful. "The public gets sentimental, may even go out and adopt an abandoned dog or cat, but it also forgets very quickly."

Again she has pointed out: "Men can be beasts too. I am somewhat allergic to humanity. I have created my own universe. I find my balance in nature."

Erotic myth

A famous author, Andre Maurois, once wrote: "Brigitte Bardot? She is the myth of eroticism without perversion, the glorification of instinctive reactions, of innocent and total nudity." That was before the acceptance of topless or completely nude bathers at the various resorts along the Mediterranean and other shores.

Bardot, says a psychologist, is proving that at 40 she is becoming a personality, whereas before she was more especially a subject of controversy and criticism.

When asked what, having reached the age of 40, love had brought her, BB replied: "It has brought me love – that's a great deal." Once she had declared "When I am not loved I grow ugly." Another Bardot quote: "Loneliness for a man is not the same as loneliness for a woman. A man is never really alone. A woman can be, even in the prime of her youth and at the height of her beauty. I have friends, not many in whose arms I could sob, if I wanted to. Even so, I am alone, all alone in the end, as is everybody . . ."

In his memoirs, Roger Vadim paints a semi-sweet, semi-acid portrait of his ex-wife. "She has the genius and naive quality, the cruelty and selfishness, of a child. A ferocious need of a presence, of love, of possession: a natural gift of lying – not vicious lies, but lies which represent a simple and logical way of bending life to her desires of the moment."

Old Flame Extinguishes His Steady Relationship

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1975 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter Prissy had been going steady with Jonathan, a charming young man she met at college. I expected her to come home with a diamond any time.

A young lady suddenly reappeared in Johathan's life—his high school sweetheart who had married someone else. Her marriage was being dissolved, and she needed someone to "talk to" and help straighten out her life.

She contacted Jonathan, and he started seeing her. Prissy became resentful, and Jonathan asked her to please be more understanding. Prissy said, "I'm sorry, but that girl should be talking to a marriage counselor or a clergyman. It's not your place to straighten out her life."

Jonathan resented Prissy's attitude, and they had words.

It's been three months since Prissy has heard from him, and she is heartbroken. Now she wonders if perhaps she should have been more understanding.

What are your views?

PRISSY'S MOM

DEAR MOM: Even if Prissy had been more understanding, I think the high school sweetheart would have won out. If Jonathan truly cared for Prissy, when his old flame returned, he would have told her that he was seriously involved with someone else. Instead, he played the moth. Prissy could be the lucky one.

DEAR ABBY: I have a relative who is quite old but by no means senile. She has mentioned several times that she has me in her will for a sizable amount of money. Frankly, I doubt that she is worth that much.

Is there some place I can write to find out exactly how much money she is really worth?

I want my inquiry to be absolutely confidential. Please don't use my name, initials or location. Thank you.

ANONYMOUS

DEAR ANONYMOUS: You won't (and shouldn't) know until the will is probated. Meanwhile, I suggest you respect your relative's right to privacy.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of "awards" for first and second graders when only four or five students from the class receive them? The other students feel so bad. Some even cry.

The students who receive the awards may invite their parents to attend. The other students may not!

This upsets me so that it takes me weeks to get over it. I feel so sorry for the youngsters who get nothing and feel ashamed.

FIRST GRADE TEACHER

DEAR TEACHER: I am all for rewards for outstanding achievements, but they should be given in a way that will not humiliate those who receive none. Instead of complaining to me, why don't you complain to the authorities and try to get them to change the system?

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (20¢) envelope.

Officials Indicted

WEST ORANGE, Tex. (AP) — Three officials of this Southeast Texas town say indictments charging them with official misconduct are part of a "political smear campaign."

Mayor Glen F. Seale, 54; Police Chief Toney Taylor, 55, and Public Works Director Walter K. Schexnyder, 36, were named in separate indictments Wednesday by the Orange County grand jury. The indictments charge them with illegal use of a city mechanic to work on their personal vehicles.

The indictments were returned in May by the grand jury, which had been bound over to investigate organized crime in the county.

All three men denied any wrongdoing and added that they have no intention of resigning.

Schexnyder is named in a fourth indictment alleging official misconduct by unlawful use of city road machinery.

Schexnyder posted $2,000 bond and Seale and Taylor posted $1,000 bond each.

In the indictment, Taylor is charged with using the city mechanic on Oct. 31, 1974, Seale on March 30, 1975 and Schexnyder on Dec. 31, 1974.

The cases will be tried in state district court. The three face one year in the county jail and a $2,000 fine or both if convicted.

Shoemaker Trial Continues

MUSKOGEE, Okla. (AP)—A Texas carnival worker was expected to be linked more closely today to the June 2 death of a teen-aged girl in Platt National Park.

The testimony was expected in the trial of Roy Lee Shoemaker, 22-year-old Duncanville, Tex., man. He is accused of murder in the strangulation slaying of Maria Rose Howeth, 16, Sulphur.

Shoemaker was placed near the death scene in testimony Wednesday by three persons. The Rev. Harry Johnson of Denton, Tex., testified he met Shoemaker on trail just before he found the girl's body nearby. Also placing Shoemaker near the death scene were Aaron Angle and Phil Hoine, two park visitors from Wichita Falls, Tex.

Shoemaker is accused in the charge of killing the girl during a rape attempt. She was strangled when a large stick was shoved down her throat, said Dr. A. J. Chapman, state medical examiner.

HELP FAMILY—Dr. Jim Tully (left), president of the Noon Kiwanis Club, presents a check for $300 to Rev. Henry Hartman (center), pastor of Grace Lutheran Church. The money will be used to help the Nguyen family, Vietnamese refugees, to become established in Snyder. Art Feinsod (right) and Rev. Hartman both spoke on behalf of the family at the club's regular luncheon meeting Wednesday.

Kiwanis Club Aids Refugees

The Noon Kiwanis Club voted at its regular noon luncheon meeting Wednesday to give the Vietnamese family that has moved to Snyder $300 to help them get established. The meeting was held at the Snyder Country Club.

This action was taken after Rev. Henry Hartman, a member of the Sunrisers Kiwanis Club and pastor of Grace Lutheran Church, which is sponsoring the Nguyen family, discussed the needs of the family.

He said they are making the adjustment to life in the United States well, but that they still need some help in getting established. Art Feinsod, who also spoke to Kiwanians about the family, made the motion to help the family. Rev. Hartman said anyone who is interested in making a cash contribution to help the family may send a check to the Grace Lutheran Church made out to the Vietnamese Family Fund. He also said some winter coats are needed by the family, which includes the mother and seven children.

Bob Clifton of Radio Station KSNY discussed the United Way, which has set a goal of $45,000 for this year's drive. He said Price Mathieson, chaplain of Hendrick Memorial Hospital in Abilene, will be the speaker at the annual kickoff dinner to be held at 7 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 23, at the Scurry County Coliseum.

Dr. Jim Tully, president of the Noon Kiwanis Club, reminded members the annual Ladies Night and Installation Banquet will be held at 7 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 4, at the college cafeteria.

Cosell Is Mum About New Show

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — This Saturday, Howard Cosell starts hosting a live one-hour variety show from Gotham for the ABC Television network. Since he is no shrinking violet, we'll ask him about it.

Q. It is well known that from a humble Brooklyn beginning you have achieved a state of salubrious success as a caster of sports with a pronounced propensity for telling it like it is, as it were.

Why then, one must ask, are you entering this new arena as a common hawker of stars, song and the dance?

A. (There was no reply from Mr. Cosell.)

Q: Don't you think — and forgive me for wondering out loud — that you are spreading yourself too thin in donning the greasepaint while still covering athletic feats and, sequentially speaking, toes?

A: (There was no reply from Mr. Cosell.)

Q: About the variety show. As you no doubt are aware, the last sports reporter to make it as a TV master of ceremonies was the late Ed Sullivan, about whom Bing Crosby once remarked: "While he doesn't sing, dance or tell jokes, he does them equally well."

Will you emulate Mr. Sullivan or will you just stand there?

A: (There was no reply from Mr. Cosell.)

Q: It is said you may run for the U.S. Senate someday, and indeed you've publicly mused about it. To put it to you bluntly, do you actually plan to deposit your derby in a circular frame of political reference, or, as it were, toss your hat in the ring?

A: (There was no reply from Mr. Cosell.)

Q: Last question: If you as a variety vendor fail to achieve the critical success of Muhammed Ali's variety show last week — and there are those, mainly at NBC and CBS, who say this will happen — must you try again in the future or will you content yourself seeking bit parts in Alex Karras movies?

A: (There was no reply from Mr. Cosell.)

A man at ABC expiained why there were no replies.

He said Mr. Cosell "has put an absolute ban on interviews until after the premiere of his show. He wants to spend as much time as possible putting it together.

"Also, he's nervous."

At this point, the sun rose in the West and the interview, as it were, ended.

OKAY NEW PACT

Chicago Teachers Return To Classrooms Today

By WILLIAM PRATER
Associated Press Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Teachers who struck Chicago public schools Sept. 3 return to the classrooms today under the terms of a tentative new contract which will cost the taxpayers millions of dollars.

Just how much it will cost was in dispute. The Chicago Teachers Union put the price tag at $39.3 million; school officials said the package would cost $79.6 million.

With the return of the teachers, summer vacation ends for the 530,000 pupils in the system.

The 900-member House of Delegates of the Chicago Teachers Union voted to accept the new pact late Wednesday, and the rank-and-file of the 27,000-member union will vote on ratification next Thursday, CTU president Robert M. Healey said.

The school board approved the new agreement by a vote of 7 to 4.

Under the wage provisions of the new contract, the starting salary for teachers will jump from $10,400 to $11,000 a year. Top salaries, for teachers with doctorates, will go from $20,996 to $22,600.

The union also won retention of 1,525 teaching jobs and a decrease in class size by one pupil, to a maximum of 32 in some grades.

"We've got an acceptable package," Healey said. "I don't think there are any winners or losers."

The agreement makes a clash inevitable when the state General Assembly convenes Oct. 22 to consider restoring $47.2 million cut from state aid to Chicago schools.

Schools Supt. Joseph P. Hannon began his job this summer by announcing budget cuts of about $36.7 million. As one economy measure, he suggested not filling the 1,525 teacher vacancies.

Hannon had insisted that the board could not afford the salary increase demanded by the union. He refused to meet with newsmen after the agreement was announced.

The teachers had asked for a 14 per cent pay hike and the hiring of 2,500 more teachers to bring class size down to no more than 25 pupils.

The confrontation at the state capital, Springfield, will come when Chicago legislators attempt to override Gov. Daniel Walker's vetoes trimming 4.9 per cent from the total state aid program to elementary and secondary schools.

Mayor Richard J. Daley has declared that the school district's shortage of funds can be remedied with state money.

The governor, however, has said that taxpayers throughout Illinois must not be asked to pay for Chicago's salary increases.

Chinese Trade Group In Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — A trade delegation from the People's Republic of China continued a tour of Houston today, taking looks at oil and petrochemical industry equipment.

The 12-man group, called the first senior trade mission from Communist China ever to visit the United States, arrived here Wednesday. The delegation's visit is part of an 18-day tour which officially began in Washington, D.C., where it was received by President Ford and Secretary of State Henry Kissinger.

Members of the delegation had little to say publicly and declined to attend a Wednesday press briefing.

They left the talking to their traveling host, Christopher H. Phillips, president of the National Council for United States China Trade and a former deputy representative of the United States to the United Nations.

"They are not accustomed to dealing with the press and for their own good reasons chose not to do so," Phillips said. He said only three speak English.

He said the delegates are only observing and are not here to engage in negotiations of contracts.

"They are here to obtain an impression of this country," he said.

Although the United States has no formal diplomatic relations with mainland China, Phillips said he believes that country can and should receive most-favored-nation treatment from Washington.

He said "this makes no sense" to deny the Chinese that trade advantage "when they are buying eight times more from us than we are buying from them."
