Reports of floods in many Texas areas and neighboring states, along with the experiences of Californians with mud and landslides throughout the past winter indicate that there still is a bountiful supply of fresh water available for man's use, provided, of course, he is able to convert it to his use.

Closer to home, the water situation at Lake Thomas improved slightly during the week, although the Colorado River Municipal Water District facility still is in a sad shape, elevationwise. Anyway, it is not quite 30 feet from the top of the water to the top of the spillway now.

Meanwhile, the new CRMWD lake near Robert Lee was making a bigger catch. Lake E. V. Spence had caught over eight feet of water and some of the Colorado River tributaries in that area were still flowing.

The flooding in some areas and shortages of water in others, which are quite apparent, should be enough to bolster interest in water conservation projects.

Several weeks ago the local Fellowship of Christian Athletes organization had lined up Coach Donald Jay of Lamesa, the President of the Texas High School Coaches Association, to serve as master of ceremonies at tonight's big FCA rally in the Scurry County Coliseum. Long before the date arrived, however, Jay flew the coop, so to speak, and accepted the position of head football coach at West Orange High School.

The local FCA had little difficulty in locating a replacement of equal note for its program here. They simply turned the MC chores over to Truman Nix, Colorado City head coach and who preceded Jay as head of the Texas High School Coaches Association. Nix and Jay both have been active in FCA work for several years.

Jay was the "dean" of District 3-AAA football coaches, having served in that capacity at Lamesa High for five years.

Nix has been at Colorado City long enough to lead the district's current coaches in tenure, but C-City has been in this district only one year, having just moved up again last year from Class AA ranks. —WACIL McNAIR.

Warning: Death Comes In A Spray Can

By JOHN S. LANG
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Forty-two youngsters looking for kicks in the common spray can have died after inhaling the mists from such products as mouthwashes and cleaning fluids, according to the Food and Drug Administration.

Victims were mostly teenagers, but one was only 11 years old, an FDA spokesman said.

"These kids apparently have been spraying products into plastic bags and then sniffing them," reported Joshua Zatman, the FDA's assistant commissioner for education and information.

"Then if they don't withdraw their heads fast enough, they die.

"It causes some dizziness and some elation with one breath, but if they take two or three breaths it freezes their esophagus, congests their lungs, causes asphyxia. It kills."

Zatman said the effect of inhaling the sprays is "what doctors call mildly hallucinogenic. It is the same effect you get when you drink a couple of ounces of bourbon or scotch in a hurry."

The lethal element in most of the sprays, he said, is Freon 12—an inert gas used to propel the products from cans.

"Freon 12 is the same as the gas used in air conditioners, only here it is compressed," he said. "It's the same as what you use to spray on a glass to chill it when you have your afternoon martini."

The Federal Trade Commission, Zatman said, has issued an order effective May 21 requiring manufacturers of the aerosols to label the cans with a warning.

The FTC warning states: "It is an unfair or deceptive act or practice to fail to provide a clear and conspicuous warning on the labels of such products, that the contents thereof should not be inhaled in concentrated form, and that injury or death may result from such inhalation."

Zatman said the FDA has discussed the problem with the Pharmaceutical Manufacturing Association and with the Toilet Goods Association which is launching a $75,000 educational campaign against deliberate misuse of the sprays.

The first death attributed to aerosols, he said, occurred in March 1967 and the FDA became aware of it shortly afterwards.

Paul A. Pumpian, an FDA official, told Rep. Fred B. Rooney, D-Pa., who raised the matter in Congress, that there are no plans to withdraw aerosols from the market.

A breakdown by the agency showed such freon products as mouthwash directly caused 17 deaths; first aid sprays four; "cooking coat," a teflon-like plastic used to prevent food from sticking to pans, caused seven; cleaning fluid and shampoos caused two; and one death each was blamed on furniture spray, a lubricant, an antiseptic, mop spray, medicated vapor, vegetable oil spray and deodorant.

Area FCA Rally Set Here Tonight

Paul Anderson and Ray Hildebrand, two men who have made their presence felt in religious circles although they gained fame in other areas of life, will be featured on the program at the Area Rally of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. It will be held at 7:30 p.m. today in the Scurry County Coliseum.

Paul, who will be the guest speaker, is a former Olympic weight lifting champion, and he has been called "the world's strongest man." Hildebrand, a former outstanding basketball player at Howard Payne College in Brownwood, gained fame as a pop singer when he and a classmate at Howard Payne, Jill Jackson, recorded "Hey, Paula," one of the most popular records in the pop field. Ray now is employed by the national staff of the Fellowship of Christian athletes. He will sing and play the guitar tonight in what is called, "a testimony in song."

The program will include the appearance of several local and area athletes, including Randy Rushing and Lee McNair of Snyder High School, who will give their testimony. Master of ceremonies will be Coach Truman Nix of Colorado City High School. He is a past president of the Texas High School Coaches Association.

An "autograph party" will be held at 6:30 p.m. at the Coliseum with Anderson to distribute autographed pictures to the first 400 students who ask for them. Anyone from area towns interested in organizing an FCA chapter or huddle is invited to meet with local huddle and chapter members at the Coliseum at 7 p.m. prior to the program.

Admission is free, but those who attend will be given an opportunity to make a contribution. The rally is jointly sponsored by the Snyder Chapter of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes and the Snyder High School Huddle of FCA.

The FCA is a non-profit, nonsectarian group of athletes who call attention to the emphasis religious inspiration plays in their lives.

Israel Commandos Strike In Jordan

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Israel stepped up operations against Arab guerrillas in Jordan in the past 36 hours with a commando raid that killed three Arabs and blew up 12 houses and two air strikes.

Israeli commandos dashed a mile and a half beyond the Jordan River Thursday night in the first such raid in nine months. They attacked houses in Wadi Jabis which Arab saboteurs were believed to have used.

An Israeli spokesman said the village 20 miles south of the Sea of Galilee was abandoned. He said it had been the target of artillery attacks in the past.

The spokesman said there were no Israeli casualties.

Earlier Thursday, Israeli jet fighters bombed and strafed Bir El Harir, an Arab guerrilla camp in southern Jordan 20 miles south of the Dead Sea, the Israelis reported. A spokesman said all planes returned safely.

A military spokesman in Amman, the Jordanian capital, said there were no casualties among Jordanian troops, but did not say anything about guerrillas.

Israli planes hit the same target late Wednesday, but the Jordanians said ground fire drove them off.

Firing broke out again early today between Egyptians and Israelis along the Suez Canal, but Israeli spokesmen said there were no casualties. A spokesman said firing Thursday night at both ends of the waterway killed two Israeli soldiers and wounded three others, but both sides said the exchange was light compared to previous days.

At the United Nations, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Jacob A. Malik called for the U.N. cease-fire along the canal to be maintained.

Although it included a blast at Israeli leaders, Malik's statement was taken by some observers to be aimed at Egypt, which has said the cease-fire is no longer applicable along the canal because Israel has built up its fortifications there.

In Lebanon, the explosive dispute between the caretaker government and the Arab guerrilla organization called Al Saika continued. Official sources said hundreds of armed commandos remained encamped in the hills overlooking Hasbaya, in southern Lebanon, where the Lebanese army and the guerrillas clashed earlier this week.

The guerrillas are believed to be members of Al Saika, which is affiliated with the Syrian government, but Al Saika issued a statement saying it had not been involved in the clashes with the Lebanese army. It called for an investigation.

The Syrian government also denied it was in any way involved in the troubles in Lebanon and said the guerrilla organizations formed their own policies.

The Lebanese government doesn't want Arab guerrilla organizations to use its territory as a base for attacks on Israel because it fears reprisals. It proposed a meeting of all countries bordering on Israel to agree on a common policy on guerrilla action against Israel. But an official Egyptian spokesman said there was no need for such a conference unless it was aimed at increasing cooperation with the guerrillas.

Rev. Hagar Resigns Here

The Rev. Vernon Hagar, pastor of Bethel Assembly of God Church here since its formation some 3½ years ago, has resigned and will preach his farewell sermon to the local congregation Sunday.

He has accepted the position of administrator and chaplain with Challenge Homes, a non-profit interdenominational group of nursing homes. They were started in 1960 by the Rev. L. D. Kramer, an ordained minister of the Assemblies of God.

The organization has grown to 30 homes in eight states, with headquarters in Glenwood, Minn.

Rev. Hagar will serve as an administrator and also will conduct daily devotions for senior citizens in the homes. He will receive "on-the-job" training at Lake Side Homes at Lubbock, and Mrs. Hagar and son Phil will remain in Snyder until his training is completed.

Mark's Value Stays Stable

BONN, Germany (AP) — West Germany will not increase the value of its mark, a government spokesman said today. But the rush to trade dollars and other currencies for marks remained hectic across Europe.

"There will be no revaluation," a spokesman Conrad Ahlers told a news conference, "There is nothing more to say."

But other government sources said the final decision is still to be made in meetings with Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger and top officials.

In opening trading in Frankfurt the dollar slipped back from 25¼ cents to 25 1-3 cents—or 3.95 marks for a dollar.

Kiesinger presided at a conference between other leaders of his Christian Democratic party and their partners in the government coalition, the Social Democrats of Foreign Minister Willy Brandt.

Later in the day Kiesinger was to confer with Economics Minister Karl Schiller, Finance Minister Franz-Josef Strauss and Karl Blessing, the president of the Bundesbank, West Germany's central bank.

Schiller has been urging that the official value of the mark be increased, but Kiesinger was reported opposed to any revaluation except as part of a general revision of currency valuations. A government spokesman said Schiller had written the chancellor some time ago that there presently is no possibility of such a "multilateral solution to the currency problem."

British Hand Reins To Conservatives

By FRED COLEMAN

LONDON (AP) — The Conservatives reigned supreme in town halls across Britain today after routing Prime Minister Harold Wilson's Laborites in local elections for the third straight year.

The balloting Thursday did not reduce Wilson's 71-seat majority in the House of Commons. But more than 600 Labor party workers were thrown out of local offices, and the party's chances in the national elections Wilson must call within the next two years looked dimmer than ever.

The voting left Labor in control of only 25 of the 368 town councils in England and Wales. The Laborites hold none of the major cities.

Greater damage was done last year when Labor lost London and other town halls that had not known a Tory mayor for generations. This time Labor lost control of 13 towns, won back one and saw its minority dwindle everywhere else. There was no voting in London boroughs this time.

Wilson's forces lost a total of 637 town council seats in England and Wales and 18 in Scotland. The Conservatives won 630 new seats and gained controls of 17 more tow councils.

The Labor losses had been expected. Public opinion polls continually show the resentment of voters against the government that devalued the pound in 1967, raised taxes and put on other unpopular austerity measures, yet still has not solved the nation's economic problems. The party was done still more damage by the announcement just before the election of increases in the prices of eyeglasses and false teeth supplied by the National Health Service.

Primitive Tribes Battle Indonesians

By ED BLANCHE

DJAYAPURA, West Irian (AP) — Some 30,000 primitive tribesmen have taken to the jungle in the Enarotali region of West Irian to wage a guerrilla war against Indonesian paratroopers.

Unconfirmed reports said that about 15 Indonesian soldiers have been killed in the sporadic fighting that broke out around May 1.

The 400 paratroopers were dropped around Enarotali, in the central highlands, after the tribesmen damaged the airstrip to prevent planes from landing. It appeared today that the troops have recaptured the airstrip and the town, relieving a small garrison of troops that had been cut off.

The uprising was part of a series of demonstrations May 1 against the procedure worked out by the Indonesian government to determine in July whether the western half of the island of New Guinea will become the independent state of Papua or remain the Indonesian province of West Irian.

The rebellious tribesmen raised flags of the Free Papua movement and ordered Indonesian officials and teachers out of the Enarotali area. Free Papua flags also were hoisted in Biak and other towns.

The Papuans claim the Indonesian government is trying to rig the plebiscite, known as the "act of free choice." The inland tribes are angry because advisory boards chosen by the government will vote for them while a popular referendum will be held in the more advanced coastal lowlands.

Cong Plan Apt To Get Close Scrutiny

By LEWIS GULICK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon is expected to instruct his Paris envoys to determine whether the Viet Cong's 10-point Vietnam peace plan is a propaganda gimmick or a sign of readiness for serious bargaining.

The 10 points, proposed by the Viet Cong's Tran Buu Kiem at Thursday's Paris session, stack up basically as a combination of elements in the four and five-point plans long standard in North Vietnamese and Viet Cong diplomatic presentations.

But the new text omitted their customary propaganda polemics, went into greater detail than before, used some different phrasings and left enough ambiguities to whet the appetites of U.S. strategists searching for a break in the lengthening stalemate at the conference table.

It also was noted that Kiem's statement was the first such enemy presentation since the return to Paris of Le Duc Tho, the most powerful member of the North Vietnamese negotiating team, from consultations in Hanoi.

Nixon discussed the enemy plan with security affairs advisor Henry A. Kissinger at Key Biscayne, Fla., following the news from Paris.

Since the President sees secret talks as the best way to make negotiating progress, the U.S. mission headed by Henry Cabot Lodge probably will try to sound out enemy envoys privately.

Both the Florida White House and the State Department in Washington were keeping silent on any U.S. reaction to the enemy proposal at this time. There was a possibility a South Vietnamese response would come from Saigon following U.S. consultations with the Thieu government.

The 10-point proposition dealt with issues fundamental for both allies—withdrawal of foreign forces and the political future of South Vietnam.

The Viet Cong statement called for a pullout of all U.S. troops unconditionally without pledging a withdrawal of North Vietnamese forces or even admitting they are in South Vietnam. This has been rejected by the allies in the past.

But it also said, without amplification, that "The question of the Vietnamese armed forces in South Vietnam shall be resolved by the Vietnamese parties among themselves." And it proposed "international supervision"—not further specified—of withdrawal of American troops.

DEAR ABBY: After putting my husband (whom I'll call "Jim") thru medical school and internship, we separated because of a girl I'll call "Nancy." Jim married her as soon as the ink was dry on the divorce papers. We have three beautiful school-age children, whom I've done my best to raise without a father. Jim has helped some financially, but not a whole lot.

I have never bothered Jim and Nancy in any way. My problem is that Nancy keeps phoning me, identifying herself as a friend of Nancy's, but I know her voice. She warns me that Nancy is going to kill my children when they're away at camp this summer.

I have told Jim about this, and he doesn't seem worried. I must admit, I am frightened, but if Jim isn't worried, should I be?

Do you think I ought to send the children to summer camp as planned?

CHARLESTON, S. C.

DEAR CHARLESTON: The police and phone company will cooperate with you in getting positive proof that those calls are from Nancy — if indeed they are. You will need this before proceeding. After you have proof, put it up to Jim. If he continues unworried, and will do nothing to stop the harassment, then ask the authorities to intervene.

DEAR ABBY: I am presently living in an old folks' home. There is a gentleman here who I love a lot. He can't hear, so I can't tell him. He can't see, so I can't write him. What can I do?

ELLEN

DEAR ELLEN: What can HE do?

DEAR ABBY: I am 16 and have gone steady with this guy I'll call Jeff, for nearly a year. We are very much in love and now I think I'm pregnant. I am not positive because I haven't been to a doctor yet, but I'm almost sure I am.

Jeff says he will marry me as soon as we graduate from high school. (We're both juniors.)

Ever since I told Jeff that I think I'm pregnant I have begun to doubt his love. He says if I am pregnant, when I tell my folks I should put the blame on some imaginary person so as not to cause hard feelings between him and my folks. That way it will be easier for us to continue our relationship.

Jeff says he really loves me but he's looking out for what is best for us. What do you think?

—WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: I think you'd better see a doctor, and if your suspicions are confirmed, tell Jeff that you are going to tell your parents the whole truth. And whether you are pregnant or not, do yourself a big favor and forget that little weasel.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I have a younger brother who from a very early age showed an interest in "girlish" things. When Mother taught us girls to knit, my brother pleaded to learn, too, but Mother turned him away, saying, "Boys don't do such things."

My brother finally went his way—or so we thought. Later he came to us with some tiny garments which he had knitted for our dolls. They were beautiful! He told us that he had used TOOTHPICKS because Mother wouldn't let him use her knitting needles.

Today my brother is an embittered alcoholic. Had he been allowed to develop an obvious talent instead of being shamed and brutally discouraged, he might have been a happy contributor in some creative field.

Do we fault gifted designers, or interior decorators or hair stylists who have effeminate ways?

Why warp the productivity of a human being who happens to be "different" for reasons over which they have no control?

Society would be much better off accepting those talented men with "girlish ways" than to encourage manly misfits.

Very truly yours,
MRS. H. J. M.

So called permanent things shall reach an end,
For civilizations have come and gone,
Yet the tired old earth rolls on and on.

Big Peach Orchards Spared By Storm

STONEWALL, Tex. (AP) — A record peach crop, at first believed to be heavily damaged, escaped the brunt of the Thursday hail storm in Gillespie County as the severe weather passed just a mile north of the orchard belt, the Austin American said today.

None of the major orchards at Stonewall and Fredericksburg was hit by the wind and hail storm, the Gillespie County Peach Growers Association said.

Slowdown Beginning?

By STERLING F. GREEN
Associated Press Writer

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP) — Growing belief that the long awaited business slowdown has begun was indicated by top industrialists at the spring meeting of the Business Council here today.

The council scheduled a survey of the business outlook for the opening session of its weekend conference with top government officials and economists.

Secretary of Commerce Maurice H. Stans, Secretary of Housing George Romney, White House counselor Arthur F. Burns and Postmaster Gen. Winton M. Blount were on the program. Paul W. McCracken, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisors, was among the invited guests.

Without waiting for the experts' appraisal, several council members said privately that the latest crop of economic indicators suggests the pace of business expansion finally is being retarded by the Nixon anti-inflation kit—the 10 per cent surtax, tight money and restraint on federal spending.

However, some added the observation that President Nixon, in seeking repeal of the seven per cent tax credit for business investment in new machinery and equipment, might be flirting with "overkill"—a possible recession with spreading unemployment.

District President Speaks At Altrurian Club Meet

The Altrurian Club met Friday at Martha Ann Woman's Club with Mrs. J. A. Eubank as hostess. She was assisted in receiving by Mrs. C. C. Miller and officers of the club.

The guest of honor was Mrs. W. V. Wheeler of Albany, President of the Mesquite District of Federated Clubs. Other guests were Mmes. O. P. Thrane, Ross Carroll Jr., Idolph Crooks, and W. B. McSpadden.

Mrs. Earl Donaldson, vice president, introduced the speaker Mrs. Wheeler, who brought an interesting informative talk on the value of federation.

Mrs. Wheeler complimented the group on being part of a community which has succeeded in bringing recognition to itself as an American City. She brought definite suggestions as to how the women of the federated clubs might best make their influence effective.

Excerpts from the talk were: "In charging you with the theme on woman power I would like to make a little play on the word 'Power'. The power of women at work in Federation lies in the uniting of all these individual efforts. Federation brings broader contacts and view points; offers diversified interests, provides avenues for worth while services, affords opportunities for stimulated growth, trains for leadership.

"It also helps to mold public opinion, promotes friendship and understanding; strives to eliminate prejudice, bigotry and selfishness.

"So this might be the acrostic formed on the letters of the word 'Power'. P — Potential through programs and projects. O — Opportunities and obligations. W — Women at work. E — Effort, enthusiasm and empathy. R — Responsibility, reports.

"Women can no longer shirk or evade their responsibility to assume their rightful share of public service. This is your world and it extends from your home right up to the United Nations. Your opportunity for community service is unique. It can also be most rewarding."

Change Almost Inevitable In World Currency System

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The shocks are becoming too common, the dangers too great, the efforts to avert chaos too difficult for the present world currency exchange system to remain unchanged.

Once again a crisis exists, the fifth major one in the past 18 months involving the currencies of big international trading nations. Such frequency indicates that crises are built into the system.

The present one involves the currency of West Germany, which appears to be undervalued, and the French franc, which may be overvlaued. It could also involve the British pound, which has remained shaky despite devaluation.

The criticism of the present system generally has been that it is too rigid, that it forces nations to insist that their currency has been maintained at its stated value when nobody really believes this to be so.

This system of fixed change rates obliges a government to step in and support the price of its currency, to buy its own money in order to keep the price within one per cent of the stated level.

Then, when the nation no longer can do so, a crisis develops and devaluation is the only way out. A currency that is worth $2.80 one day might be worth only $2.40 the next. This can be a serious shock to trade.

This system, arranged in 1944 at the famous Bretton Woods, N.H., monetary conference, was an attempt to avert the destructive nationalistic policies of the 1930s, a decade of depression.

During those years one country after another devalued its currency in order to obtain a competitive advantage over its neighbor. But the near fatal result was a lessening of world trade.

By keeping exchange rates fixed, the conference members hoped, one nation would feel confident when it arranged long-term investments in another nation's economy. And it has worked out that way.

Despite defects, the system of fixed exchange rates has worked wonders, and world trade has prospered. But, in the opinion of many bankers and economists, it may not be suited to present times.

There is a reason for this, and it is called full employment. Once nations were willing to rout inflation and pay off international debts by getting their economies in order. This often meant deflation, and deflation meant fewer jobs. No longer is this corrective method acceptable.

Nations today seek full employment and full employment often results in inflation, or a dilution in the stated value of a currency. But remember: Realities aside, that currency value is fixed.

The suggestions for bringing the exchange systems up to date range widely. Some economists would like to see no fixed rates; they would permit the value of currencies to float on a sea of supply and demand.

The chief criticism of this suggestion is that nations might not make long-term commitments to each other without some assurance of the future value of a currency. A fixed rates gives more assurance than a floating rate.

Another suggestion is to keep the fixed rate but permit more than one per cent fluctuation. Thus, when a nation has difficulties in supporting its currency it will have more room to maneuver and buy time.

The problem here is that rather than correcting the weakness in its economy that causes its currency to seem overvalued, a nation might simply adjust to the wider permissible fluctuation.

In the final analysis, the only real solution is for nations to live economically and pay their bills to each other within reasonable times.

Jumping To Conclusions With Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions:

Work, not alcohol or drugs, has always been the most popular narcotic in America. We are a work-addicted people, as witness the number of men who fear compulsory retirement at 65 because they feel they'll be lost without the stimulation provided by going to a daily job.

It seems like years since we've seen an old-fashioned hairpin. Don't women ever wear them anymore?

Strawberries and modern children have one thing in common: the bigger they grow the more tasteless some of them become.

The height of boredom comes when a fellow suddenly discovers he has been talking to himself—but not bothering to listen.

The more scientific we become the more stubbornly we stick to our timeworn superstitions. If you put a large ladder across a sidewalk, eight out of 10 passers-by will walk around rather than under it. The two who do walk under it aren't any less superstititous than the others—they're just probably showoffs.

People who crave the limelight go through endless maneuvers to become the center of attention at a cocktail party, but the simplest of all ways to do it is to get an attack of hiccups.

The suspicion arises that many folks who attend church today do so because it is the one public place left where they run a minimal danger of being mugged.

There are two good reasons why housewives live longer than their husbands: (1) they can flop down on a couch any time during the day when they are tired, and (2) they avoid the physical wear and tear of the two-and three-Martini lunch, which ages executives quicker than anything.

The biggest problem facing educators today is how to find a way to convince the students that there is a real difference between going to college and going to kindergarten.

The loneliest people I know are those wealthy enough to attend public banquets frequently, but so poverty-stricken in real companionship that they can't think of anything better to do with their time. I always think they'd be happier if they learned to hook rugs and stayed at home with the cat.

The meek may indeed sometime inherit the earth, but the odds are against them holding it undisturbed for very long.

When a guy becomes so confirmed a bachelor that he carries safety pins in his pocket, a girl is wasting her time trying to lure him into matrimony.

Maturity is that stage in life you reach when you decide that it is more fun to watch the world go to the dogs than try to reform it yourself single-handed.

Junior Editors Quiz on CLIPPER SHIPS

QUESTION: What is meant by a clipper ship?

ANSWER: If we could look down on most sailing ships before 1800 we would see they had fat, chubby bows (upper left). Such ships were seaworthy, but slow; the round bows pushed against the water. But in Baltimore, Md., since 1760, a type of small ship was developed which was very different (upper right). Notice this type is long and narrow. Its bows come to a sharp point. Such vessels sailed so fast that they became known as Baltimore clippers, either because their bows clipped through the water, they sailed at a good clip, or clipped time from record voyages. It was the discovery of California's gold in 1849 which did the most to stimulate the idea of building large clipper ships. Gold prospectors in the East wanted to get to California with the utmost speed — and there were no cross-country railroads. There was no Panama canal, either. The quickest way to go was to make the enormous sea voyage around Cape Horn, about 16,000 miles. Large, fast clipper ships (below, right) were the answer. Overseas trade in tea and wheat also developed these ocean greyhounds — the most magnificent sailing ships ever to be built.

DRIVES THREE IN — Snyder's Ronnie Lewis stepped into a pitch by Brownfield mound ace Ruben Garcia in the 3rd inning of the 3-AAA baseball clash in Towle park yesterday, and cracked a triple to deep left-centerfield, scoring Larry Wall (on third base), Jodi Williamson and Richie Thompson. Notice the ball to the upper right of the picture. Despite Ronnie's and David McGinnis' heroics at the plate, the Cubs prevailed 6-5.

SHARE 3-AAA LEAD

Cubs Topple Tigers In 10 Frames, 6-5

You couldn't have asked for a closer game, but from the standpoint of local fans, the outcome could have been better — that is to say different.

Brownfield's game Cubs shaded Snyder 6-5 in a 10-inning District 3-AAA baseball match in Towle Park yesterday and pull into a tie with the Tigers for the district lead. Each team now is 8-1 in the column that counts.

The Cubs host Levelland Saturday, then host the Bengals again the following Tuesday. And that will conclude the season for either the Tigers or the Cubs. The winner will enter the bi-district round.

That overtime affray yesterday had a little of everything in it. Ruben Garcia, the winning pitcher, went the distance, giving up only six hits. Except for a moment of weakness in the 3rd, he was in control most of the way. Yet it was the late hitting heroics of the Cubs and Garcia that accounted as much for the victory as anything else.

With the score tied 5-5 in the top of the 10th, Brownfield had a runner on second, two away, and Garcia at bat. He slashed a single to left that brought in Rodgers with what proved to be the winning run. Rodgers had singled and advanced on an error.

In each of the last five innings Snyder put men on base, but the Tigers couldn't bat them in. The Cubs had tied the tilt with one run in the top of the 7th. With one away, Gary Baccus stroked a single to left, advanced on a fielder's choice, and then scored when Joplin, the centerfielder, cracked a two bagger to deep left centerfield.

There were several outstanding performers for both teams. Take Jim Patrick, Tiger hurler, for instance. With three runs in, runners on second and third and only one out, the big junior right hander relieved Steve Holder on the hill. He fanned the first man to face him. The next one tapped one back to the mound as Jim tossed to first and qualified himself for Fireman of the Year award. In 5 2-3 innings of work Patrick gave up only four hits, but he was charged with the loss.

His superb performance in the 5th preserved a 5-4 Tiger lead until the Cubs tied it up in the 7th and then went ahead in the 10th.

Holder relieved Merce Hernandez with one away in the 4th. Steve was tagged for three hits and three runs during the inning he worked. Rodgers singled in one of the Cub runs, and Joplin doubled in the other two. Merce had fanned seven batters in the 3 1-3 frames he was in, but had to leave due to a sore arm. At the time Snyder was ahead 5-1 and it appeared the Bengals had the crown all sacked up.

The one run scored off Merce came in the 2nd as the Cubs took advantage of an error and back-to-back singles by Hicks and Roberson to take a 1-0 lead.

Snyder erupted for five tallies in the 3rd, getting four of their 6-hits-total in this frame. The onslaught caused a big league scout (there were five of them at the game) to remark he was surprised anyone could hit Garcia like that. Garcia must have heard the remark too for he twirled shut out ball the last seven innings.

Larry Wall singled, Jodi Williamson walked, and Richie Thompson singled to load the sacks for the Bengals in the 3rd. Then Ronnie Lewis, Snyder's leading hitter, came through in fine style. He smashed a triple to deep left centerfield that cleaned the bases. Wesley Bishop walked, then Steve Holder cracked a long fly to deep left center, and Lewis tagged up and scored after the catch. David McGinnis brought in Bishop with a long smash to deep centerfield that almost cleared the barrier. He went to third on a passed ball, but Garcia cut down the next two batters on strikeouts to halt the uprising. He struck out 17 overall.

Several of the Bengals turned in superb defensive plays. Steve Holder made a great diving catch of a hard hit line drive in one of the extra innings. Jodi Williamson saved a run with a running, leaping 1-handed catch in deep center, also in the extra inning action. Richie Thompson turned in a couple of excellent defensive maneuvers at second base.

It was at the plate in the latter stages that the Bengals were hurting, although several long hit balls — by McGinnis, Lewis and Holder — barely missed clearing the fence. David was the leading hitter with 3 hits in five trips to the plate. Lewis had the most rbi's with three.

Something beyond the realm of the purely physical must account for the Cub victory. Their cheerleaders were behind them all the way. Even when the Cubs were behind four runs, they kept yelling as if they were ahead. They were, in the end.

IN LITTLE LEAGUE

Indians, Giants Win Openers

In two games as different as night and day, the Indians and Giants made successful debuts in opening tilts of the Little League season last night in Towle Park. The Tribe shaded the Yankees 16-15 in a slugfest while the Giants edged the Cubs 2-1 in a tight pitchers' duel.

C. McCartney threw 3-hit ball for the Giants, and Ricky Ator twirled 4-hit ball for the Cubs.

A walk to Rick Rice and back-to-back singles by Kelly Ragland and Eddie Rollins in the 1st accounted for the first Giant tally. Dee Roach scored the second Giant tally in the 5th after opening the frame with a single. He advanced on an error and a walk and scored on a fielder's choice. The Cubs' lone run came in the 4th. Raymond Smith doubled and scored on an error. Rollins also smashed a two-bagger for the Giants.

Sid Perry, Bobby Thompson and Johnny Eicke shared the mound chores for the Injuns, while Clay Bishop and Mark Harless handled the twirling for the Yanks.

There was scoring in every inning of the game except the third. The count was knotted at 15-15 going into the last inning. Greg Gafford led off with a single, advanced to second on a fielder's choice and scored on a miscue.

Kyle Sikes was the leading hitter for the tribe, getting 3 for 5. Billy Murray and Sid Perry each collected two hits. One of Bill's hits was a double, and Perry clouted a home run in the 4th. Cracking single hits for the Tribe were Greg Gafford, Bobby Thompson, Johnny Eicke and Harvey Waller.

Joe Hardin paced the Yankee attack with two hits. Alvin Porter cracked a double while single hits were recorded by George Watts, Sandy Norwood, Clay Bishop, and David Jones.

Cubs, Giants Battle To 7-7 Draw

Mark Mueller, Eddie Essery and Gary Carlton each cracked a double and a single in leading the Farm League Indians over the Yankees, 17-4, in inaugural action last night. In the nightcap, the Cubs and Giants fought to a 7-7 standoff in a game that halted due to the 1½ hour time limit.

Rodney Mueller also collected two hits for the Injuns — both singles. The other Indian hit (there were nine in all) was a single by Dana Hanna. The tribe tallied five times in the opening frame, and the big question after that was by how big a margin would they win.

Give the Yanks credit for trying. They scored once in the 2nd and three times in the last inning. They also put men on base in the 1st frame, but couldn't push the runners past third.

Vince Ellard cracked two singles, and David Fleming came through with one hit to pace the Yanks.

Mark Mueller received credit for a 3-hitter. Ellard went the distance for the Yankees.

The lead changed hands several times in the Cub-Giant affair with Ronald Hines and Greg Hinton handling the mound chores for the Cubs. Hines worked five of the six innings and gave up only two singles — to Jerry Martin and Scott Clark. David Bennett got a single off Hinton in the 7th.

Clark twirled a 6-hitter for the Cubs. He had superb control most of the game, but yielded half of the hits — all singles — in the 6th as the Giants rallied for three late runs to tie it up.

Hitting safely for the Giants (they're well named) were Tim Burnett, Ray Hill, Tracy Knipe, Kirk Johnson, Keith Wortham and Malcom Small.
