TREATY SIGNED AT WHITE HOUSE

U.S., Soviets Agree To Talks Limitation Of N-Arms

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson announced today that the United States and the Soviet Union have agreed to start talks "in the nearest future" on limiting offensive and defensive nuclear missiles systems.

Johnson chose the occasion of the signing of the historic nuclear Nonproliferation Treaty at the White House to make his announcement.

White House officials reported 51 nations were joining the pact, to ban the spread of atomic weapons.

Signing ceremonies were conducted also in London and Moscow.

Hours before President Johnson spoke, Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin announced in Moscow that the Soviet Union wants to hold international talks on disarmament, including a halt in the manufacture of nuclear weapons and reduction of nuclear weapon stockpiles.

Kosygin also proposed discussions on limitation and reduction of "means of delivery of strategic weapons."

The premier attacked the United States. He said the need to eliminate foreign military bases, one of the Russian proposals, "is convincingly proved by the continued aggressive war of the U.S.A. in Vietnam."

In London, Prime Minister Harold Wilson, presiding at the signing ceremony there, called the treaty: "The most important measure of arms control and disarmament on which agreement has yet been reached."

Wilson pledged that Britain would continue "with renewed confidence and renewed hope to work for further advances in disarmament." Johnson, in his remarks, referred to the long U.S. effort to start discussions on cutting back the costly nuclear arms race, Moscow had indicated last Thursday that the Soviets were finally ready for such talks.

"At this moment of achievement and hope," the President said, "I am gratified to be able to report and announce to the world a significant agreement—an agreement I have actively sought and worked since January 1964.

"Agreement has been reached between the governments of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics and the United States to enter in the nearest future into discussions on the limitation and reduction of both offensive strategic nuclear weapons delivery systems and systems of defense against ballistic missiles.

Administration authorities said the exact time and place for the opening of U.S.-Soviet talks on curbing their missile and antiballistic missile competition has not been set, nor has the composition of the respective negotiating delegations been decided on. This question is still being worked out in diplomatic excanges.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk and U.S. disarmament chief William C. Foster were tapped for the honor of signing the nonproliferation treaty for the United States.

The President predicted that virtually all of the countries of the globe will join the pact.

The 51 signers in Washingon indicated more than ample support to bring the treaty into force. The pact becomes effective upon ratification by 40 non nuclear states plus the three nuclear sponsors—The United States, Britain and Russia.

Split Seen In NAACP

ATLANTIC CITY (AP) — The clash of generations which rocked the NAACP may lead to a permanent split between militant youth and their tradition-minded elders in the civil rights group.

The NAACP Convention reached a premature halt over the weekend after a leader of the so-called Young Turks, a dissident faction in the organization, claimed his group was breaking away from the NAACP.

The claim followed a noisy walkout from the convention by an allied group of about 100 delegates who chanted "beep-beep, black power."

The younger members contend that the organization is run by "old fossils" and "Uncle Toms" who are out of touch with the problems of the black man in the slums.

Chester Lewis, 38, of Wichita, Kan., and leader of the Young Turks, said his group was quitting because NAACP leadership was "just an appendage of the white power structure and cannot free black people in America."

He claimed that many of the 427,000 members would follow the Young Turks in quitting the 59-year-old organization. Lewis said afterwards that a committee was appointed to "negotiate" with the Congress of Racial Equality CORE and the so called Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee. (SNCC).

He said the three groups would compare national objectives with an eye toward determining if they had common goals.

Russia Is Ready, Says Premier

By ANTHONY COLLINGS
Associated Press Writer

MOSCW (AP) — Premier Alexei N. Kosygin told signers today of a treaty to stop the spread of nuclear weapons that the Soviet Union is ready to hold international talks on banning underground tests, the last remaining area for the trial explosion of atomic arms.

Kosygin said the talks could extend to the ending of nuclear weapons manufacture and the reduction of nuclear stockpiles. He also proposed discussions on the "The limitation and subsequent reduction of means of delivery of strategic weapons."

As Kosygin spoke, the Seismological Institute at Uppsala, Sweden, registered a strong "underground explosion" in the Soviet Union north of the Caspian Sea. It rated it at 6.6 on the Richter scale.

Kosygin's brief speech came at the Nonproliferation Treaty signing ceremony here. Similar ceremonies were conducted in London and Washington.

The Russians also proposed discussions on "The limitation and ubsequent reduction of means of delivery of strategic weapons."

Kosygin made his announcement at the signing of the treaty to check the spread of nuclear weapons. Similar signing ceremonies also were scheduled later in the day in London and Washington.

The Soviet premier's proposal to talk about reducing the long-range rockets, bombers and submarines which can deliver nuclear bombs was given added urgency by a report from Communist sources in Moscow that Red China has developed its first intercontinental ballistic missile.

Kosygin said the Soviet government sent a menorandum to all other governments with nine proposals for disarmament and peaceful cooperation.

The proposals also included prohibition of the use of nuclear weaons, a proposal the Russians have made many times before.

Kosygin said the Soviet Union had proposed that the 17-nation disarmament committee, which is scheduled to meet in Geneva July 17, take up "as a matter of high priority a draft convention on the prohibition of the use" of nuclear weapons. The Soviets also called for "an exchange of opinions on convening of an in-an appropriate convention or prohibition.

The Russians also proposed talks on these other matters:

1. Measures for stopping the manufacture of nuclear weapons and for the reduction and destruction of their stockpiles.

2. Limitation and subsequent

Band Director To Take College Post

After an outstanding career in Snyder, Melvin Montgomery, director of the Snyder High School band for the past 16 years, has accepted the position of bands and assistant professor of music at Stephen F. Austin State College in Nacogdoches.

The Snyder band program has experienced a great growth — both in quantity and quality — under Montgomery's guidance during the past 16 years. The bands have won virtually every state award as well as fame outside the state.

Montgomery's wife, Virginia, a teacher for the past 12 years in the Snyder School System, also has submitted her resignation at West Elementary.

Under Montgomery's leadership, the high school band won 15 consecutive sweepstakes awards in University Interscholastic League competition. The award includes performances in marching, concert and sight reading. In 1965, the SHS band was selected as the outstanding triple A band in the state. Four times the band won the outstanding award at the Buccaneer Music Festival in Corpus Christi, and seven times it won the grand sweepstakes award at the same Festival.

Other awards include top ratings in the Tri-State Festival in Enid, Okla. The band also has performed at the Cotton Bowl.

In addition, the stage band has won numerous awards, including 12 championships at the Brownwood Stage Band Festival — the largest competition for stage bands in the United States. With first places at the Tri-State Festival and at the Texas Tech Festival, the stage band also placed third at the National Contest in 1965 where there were 212 bands from 42 states in competition.

Montgomery said the highlight of his career came in 1965 when the Black and Gold band was selected by the Texas Music Educators Association as the outstanding band in the state. The band presented a concert for the 4,000 - member organization in Dallas that year.

Montgomery came here in 1952 after four years at Port Arthur. When he arrived in

LBJ Trip To El Salvador Is Reported

NEW YORK (AP) — President Johnson plans to fly to El Salvador next Saturday to confer with five Central American presidents, Latin American diplomatic sources said here Monday.

The informants said the President is understood to be planning an overnight stay in San Salvador, capital of El Salvador, and would accompany the four other presidents Sunday on their return flights home, stopping at each airport for half an hour.

In Washington the White House declined to confirm or deny rumors of a presidential trip south of the border. But diplomatic sources said an announcement of the trip probably would be made later in the day.

Johnson himself lent a measure of credibility to the reports when he told a news conference last week he would take another trip to Latin America "when I can."

The five Central American presidents will be conferring in San Salvador Friday on regional trade cooperation and the American-sponsored Alliance for Progress. Their foreign ministers begin meeting in San Salvador Tuesday.

Pilot Held In Cuba; Wife Hopes To Join Him There

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The wife of Cuban-born pilot George Prellezo pleaded to visit him in a Havana jail today as Southeast Airlines prepared to retrieve its hijacked airliner.

Airline President Irvin L. Jones Jr., who said the Cuban government had promised the safe return of the plane's other occupants, told newsmen a substitute pilot would be flown to Havana today. The airliner, hijacked over the Florida Keys Saturday by one of its 15 passengers, was to be flown to Key West this afternoon.

The other crew members, identified by the airlines only as stewardess A. Kimball and copilot Dave Martin of Miami, are to be returned with passengers and the plane.

Jones' statement included no mention of Mrs. Prellezo in plans to retrieve the plane.

"I have requested to be on that flight" to Cuba, 33-year-old Olga Prellezo said Sunday. Her husband, naturalized as a U.S. citizen last year, was accused by the Cuban government of being a deserter.

"Since they are leaving my husband there, I see no reason for him to be there alone. I want to be there to plead for him, to do any necessary thing to get him back," Mrs. Prellezo said.

"I beg and demand of the U.S. government to be allowed to travel to Cuba so I can be near my husband," she said.

Prellezo, 36, arrived in Miami June 27, 1960, as the pilot of a regularly scheduled cargo plane from Cuba, his wife said.

"He chose to stay here and that is no crime. The plane was flown back to Cuba," said Mrs. Prellezo, a Puerto Rican-born American.

The Prellezos have five children, ranging in age from 5 to 14. All are naturalized or native-born U.S. citizens.

Prellezo radioed the Federation Aviation Agency at Key West Saturday that one of the passengers was holding a "gun at my head" and had ordered him to fly to Cuba.

In Havana, copilot Dave Martin said the gunman entered the cabin as the plane neared Key West.

2 Transplants Are Reported

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The two newest members of the world's heart transplant club are reported improving steadily in hospitals in Chile and Canada.

Maria Elena Penaloza, 24, the only woman among six surviving recipients, listened to music, ate chicken and meat, and chatted with her parents Sunday at a navy hospital in Valparaiso, Chile.

"She wants to read what the newspapers say about her operation," said a doctor. "There is no symptom of the patient rejecting the transplant."

Gaelan Paris, 49, Canada's second heart transplant, "ate with appetite" Sunday and slept well at the Montreal Heart Institute. Doctors described the performance of his new heart as "excellent".

Paris and Miss Penaloza received their new hearts Friday in the world's 22nd and 23rd transplant operations. Four other patients are still living after such surgery.

Alcohol Control Still A Big Issue

AUSTIN (AP) — Liquor by the drink may be dead — and a few dedicated "wets" haven't given up hope yet — but Texas legislators found today that alcoholic beverage control still is a live issue.

Rep. R. H. Cory, Victoria, planned to ask the House when it returned to work at 10 a.m. today to take up a bill putting into effect most of the purported reforms recommended by a select committee.

Edinburg Sen. Jim Bates' bill outlawing private clubs in dry areas was pending business when senators returned from their weekend at 10:30 a.m. There also was a slim chance the Senate would be asked to reconsider its vote Friday killing Gov. John Connally's mini-bottle mixed drinks bill.

Cory, head of the House State Affairs Committee and the special subcommittee that analyzed Texas' liquor laws following reported enforcement irregularities, needed a two-thirds vote to suspend a House rule requiring a bill to be printed and laid out 24 hours before consideration.

The liquor law revision bill was reported to the floor favorably by the House State Affairs Committee at about 2:15 p.m. Sunday.

As it came out of committee, the House liquor law revision bill contained numerous changes in present regulations, most of them debated two weeks ago when the House passed the mini-bottle bill.

House members, meanwhile, were expected to take up a resolution authorizing the conference committee on appropriations to make numerous changes from items passed in identical form in both House and Senate spending bills and to add items not in either bill.

According to Rep. W. S. Heatly, Paducah, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, the compromise spending bill is about $23 million higher than the House bill, which would have required $132 million in new taxes.

The conference committee's report was finished Saturday afternoon, but accurate totals on how much money it contains and on its tax requirements were not available. Heatly's tax estimate was a rough one, he said.

DEAR ABBY: I am a divorcee with children. In my capacity as a secretary I had access to all the details of a very messy divorce involving an executive in my company. His wife deserted him, and he recently divorced her and was given custody of their children.

I invited him to a party at my home, and on the invitation I wrote, "If I can help in your present predicament, please let me know."

He did not even acknowledge my invitation.

I am very confused about this. Did I use poor taste in offering my help? Did I perhaps embarrass him? Or should I take this as an indication that he doesn't want anything to do with me? Your opinion would be appreciated.

CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: Your offer to help him in his "present predicament" was an innocent blunder, since you learned the details of it from your access to other sources, and not from him. You may have humiliated, if not irritated, him by your well-intentioned intrusion into his private affairs. Meanwhile, he should have acknowledged your invitation. Let things simmer.

DEAR ABBY: A friend of mine who married and moved out of town wrote that she and her husband were coming to town next month. We see each other only once a year and keep in touch by letter. She wrote: "We would love to see you, so why don't you throw a party, inviting some people we know? We'd sure enjoy it."

I had intended to invite her and her husband for an evening, but I didn't plan on throwing a party, mainly because we have no mutual friends.

My husband is furious. He says she has a lot of nerve, and I should not invite her here at all.

She really is a nice person, and our friendship goes back a long way. How can I get out of this gracefully?

STUCK

EAR STUCK: Proceed with your original plan and ignore her suggestion to "throw a party." Since you consider her a "nice person," why not dig up a couple of ther chums whose friendship goes back a long way and have an all-girl party in the afternoon? That way your husband will have no complaints and you won't feel guilty.

DEAR ABBY: May I say a word about male surgery to prevent unwanted children? My husband had a vasectomy and I am here to testify that it is the greatest. We are in our 70s and are still lovers. We have no regrets for not having our own children, and we've helped 45 delinquent children to become better citizens.

For people with a background of inherited birth defects, or those with occupations which keep them on the run, or for folks like us who were the oldest of large, poor families and have had it, it is a blessing.

At last followers of Damascus and Dr. Fager should be able to settle, once and for all, their arguments over which is the better race horse.

The confrontation between the two in the $100,000 Suburban Handicap at Aqueduct Thursday highlights the July 4 Holiday three-day weekend in thoroughbred racing.

A year ago Ors. E. W. Bancroft's Damascus was voted the horse of the year over William McKnight's Dr. Farer, although they split their two meetings. Dr. Fager beat Damascus in the Gotham Mile. Danascus beat Dr. Fager in the Woodward Stakes.

Now 4-year-olds, Damascus has been assigned top weight of 133 pounds for the 1¼ miles of the Suburban. Dr. Fager got 132 and in Reality 125 in what shapes up as one of the best races of the year.

Damascus has won three of four starts this year, Dr. Fager two of two. Mrs. Frances Genter's In Reality, who took the Carter and Metropolitan Handicap in his last two outings, has won four of seven 1968 starts.

700 To 800 Due To Die In Traffic

CHICAGO (AP) — Between 700 and 800 Americans may die in traffic accidents during the four-day July 4th weekend, the National Safety Council predicted Sunday.

Last year 732 died in traffic accidents during the four-day Independence Day celebration, a record for any summer holiday period.

American motorists are expected to drive 13.2 billion miles over the period that begins at 6 p.m. Wednesday and ends at midnight Sunday, the council said.

The council estimated that a summer non-holiday period of the same length produces about 650 traffic deaths.

Cool Front Slides South

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thunderstorms, some with large hail, slid into Northwest and North Central Texas during the night along with a cool front that moved slowly southward today.

The worst storm activity was in Wichita and Clay counties along the Red River which were under a severe thunderstorm warning until 3 a.m. today. Golf ball sized hail pelted Burkburnett, but no damage was reported.

The cooler air accompanied a dusty norther that blew into the Panhandle Sunday. A small area of extreme [illegible] Texas was under a tornado watch until midnight.

[illegible], where thunderheads towered to 55,000 feet, received .10 inch of rain. A trace of moisture was recorded at Del Rio in Southwest Texas.

The norther put an end to the sizzling temperatures that were recorded in Northwest Texas for several days late last week.

Ahead of the front it was mostly clear and hot with Presidio reporting 109 Sunday, Wink 103, Childress 101, Lubbock 99, and Midland, El Paso and San Angelo 97.

In areas where the cooler air had moved in, it was only 84 at Dalhart and 89 at Amarillo.

Scattered thunderstorms should accompany the cool front as it pushes southeast across the state. Hot weather was expected to continue in areas not affected by the front.

The pickup of Rex Miller, 3005 Forty-fifth Street, also was a target of the vandals along with cars of five or six other residents.

Plane Carrying Soldiers Is Held On Soviet Island

WASHINGTON (AP) — An airliner carrying 214 U.S. servicemen to Vietnam is being held today on a Soviet island in the Pacific Ocean after being forced to land by MIG fighters.

The chartered DC-8 was on its way to Vietnam from McChord Air Base in Seattle, Wash., Sunday when, the U.S. government said, it strayed off course and was forced to land on Iturup Island, a part of the Kuril chain in the northern Pacific.

The State Department immediately contacted the Soviet embassy in Washington and [illegible] the plane, its passengers and the 17 crewmen.

A Japanese air force radar station said it began tracking the plane at 7:30 p.m. EDT Sunday and warned the pilot he was on a course that would cross the Soviet-held island.

The pilot replied, "We cannot alter our course," Japanese sources said, indicating the plane already was under MIG escort.

The sources said the plane was tracked another five minutes before it disappeared from radar screens at a position about 30 miles south of Iturup Island.

U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn E. Thompson said in Moscow he was told by Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin and First Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov the incident is under investigation.

The Pentagon said the pilot of the chartered Seaboard-World Airlines jet, Joseph Tosolini, talked by radio with another American aircraft during the incident.

According to the Pentagon, the pilot of the Seaboard plane reported about 2:20 p.m. that MIG fighters had intercepted him and was forcing him to land at what appeared to be a MIG base on an island.

At 7:39 p.m., the Pentagon said, the Seaboard plane radioed that it had landed without injury to anyone on board and without damage to the plane.

The last transmission was at 7:42 p.m. when the pilot reported he had shut off his engines, the Pentagon said.

The Defense Department, in announcing that the plane had been forced to land said the aircraft, chartered from Seaboard by the Military Airlift Command, had strayed off its course is en route to Yokota, Japan.

In New York, headquarters for Seaboard-World, a spokesman for the charter line said the crew had flown the route several times and "we don't see how it could have been off course, unless there were some extraordinary factors."

Seaboard identified the rest of the crew as Henry Treger, copilot, Carl Scott, flight engineer and Lawrence Guerhon, navigator.

The plane also carried several in-flight checkers and stewardesses.

Jealousy is your green - eyed reaction when your child raves about his best friend's mother's broccoli that she cooked this cool way that's really cool, Mom, though you're probably as good at opening frozen broccoli as she is. The mother of eight children was asked if there is one vegetable they all eat willingly. The mother answered without hesitation: "Celery stuffed with peanut butter."

Human Messenger Victim Of Brokers' Paper Woes

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — In the belated and sometimes frantic effort to sweep away the paper that now clogs the flow of data among the nation's brokers, a familiar financial district character is being put into gradual retirement.

This is the little old man who scurries through the teeming alleys and narrow streets of the financial district here, poor as a pensioner, but momentarily possessing many thousands of dollars in securities.

This messager—there are hundred of his type—always can be spotted because his clothing isn't as fine as that worn by most financial men. But some people feel that, relative to his minimum wage, he is as hard a worker as any in the financial district.

Now the impersonal efficiency of electronic computers, the advent of the technological age on Wall Street, will handle much of his work and do so with more than his shuffling speed. Stocks theoretically will be more secure also.

The reduction in numbers of these messengers—and the first fundamental assault on the paperwork problem—comes with the beginning of what is called the Central Certificate Service of the New York Stock Exchange.

When this service is in full use, sometime near the end of 1968, it will mean that a great majority of the certificates that messengers now carry from brokerage house to brokerage house will be contained in one depository.

When a trade is made a compueter merely will make a bookkeeping entry, adding the stock to the buying broker's account and subtracting it from that of the seller's. Since the stock certificates never will leave the big vaults, the messenger no longer will be needed to rush certificates from broker to broker.

This doesn't mean that all physical transfers will be ended, for not all stock certificates are held in "street name," meaning that although owned by individuals they are left for safekeeping with the broker.

Although such certificates make up only 15 per cent of the shares listed on the Big Board, they are by far the most active ones. In fact, they account for most of the activity; they are owned by traders rather than long-term investors.

Since these shares are so active they also account for a great deal of the paperwork that, by its volume, is ensnaring the nation's financial communities, making attempts for on-time deliveries mere futile gestures and reducing bookkeeping to a dangerously chaotic mess.

By keeping the certificates in common vaults—the locations of which the exchange declines to divulge—it is hoped that brokers will be relieved of the burden of storing, inspecting, counting and recording shares. Primitive disorder will have been replaced by modern efficiency.

The storing of all street-name certificates through the letter C has been completed. And as more certificates are deposited each working day, more physical transfers will be eliminated.

Eventually, almost all street-name certificates of the New York and American exchanges will be included. And some day, it is hoped, over-the-counter stocks—those not listed on any exchange—will be stored in the depository.

The next step in this automated bookkeeping will further reduce paperwork, and with it the number of menial jobs. This step is to replace the certificate itself; after all, why print fancy certificates to lie dusty in vaults?

The solution is fraught with problems. First, the laws of many states must be changed, just as they were changed before the Central Certificate Service was activated. But there is much more also.

Ideally, what is required is a piece of paper that can be read by a machine, which is acceptable as absolute proof of ownership and which cannot easily be counterfeited.

That's a big order. It shows just how heavily the financial markets have leaned on the little old messenger.

No Limit To Size Of Airplanes

By JACK STAILIMAN
Associated Press Writer

MARIETTA, Ga. (AP) — The successful flight of the world's biggest airplane proves there are practically no limits to construction of bigger planes, says Tom May, president of Lockheed-Georgia Co. But he says the world isn't ready for them.

The C5 Galaxy flew its first test flight Sunday. Although there were minor troubles, the Air Force and Lockheed-Georgia called the flight highly successful.

The C5 is being developed for the Air Force. Basically, it is a military plane, but the design can be changed to make it a commercial airplane.

May said, "We have preliminary plans for airplanes weighing over a million pounds. But it is fairly clear that the world is not quite ready for a commercial airplane of this size."

The C5 will carry 350 troops and all of their equipment. This one weighed 497,000 pounds on takeoff but is designed for more than 700,000 pounds.

"We like to talk about a commercial plan similar to the C5 which could carry nearly 1,000 passengers," May said at a news conference, "but the idea of carrying people on the flight deck, and freight in the hold, is extremely attractive to us."

May predicted that when the C5 becomes a commercial airplane, it probably will be used first as a freighter.

Future passenger jets will travel at speeds of between 1,500 and 2,000 miles an hour, and May said the relatively slow speed of the C5 would be a handicap in a passenger airplane.

Takeoff speed on the C5 test flight was only 143 miles an hour. Top speed was 230 miles an hour. No effort to reach the maximum of 550 miles an hour was made.

One section of the huge landing gear would not retract, and the plane lost two dust covers from the wheel mounts, which was about like losing the hub caps off an automobile. Lockheed-Georgia spokesmen said both defects were minor.

Fifty-eight C5s are scheduled for delivery to the Air Force by 1971 at a cost of $1.8 billion.

TE-Bird Is Top Crower

ROGUE RIVER, Ore. (AP) — TE-Bird won the 16th annual Rogue River Rooster Crow Saturday by crowing 63 times in 30 minutes to the delight of about 3,000 spectators.

TE-Bird, owned by Floyd Fitch of Grants Pass, Ore., took a commanding lead early in the competition against 115 other roosters from all over the state. One rooster who finished well back in the pack was entered by Navy Lt. Brian D. Remer, serving aboard the USS Ranger off the coast of Vietnam.

Gov. Tom McCall's entry, Call-Me-Tom, turned in a less than spectacular 23 crows, but old-timers said it was a record for gubernatorial roosters.

The most crows ever recorded in a 30-minute contest period at Rogue River was 109 by Beetlebaum in 1953.

Columnist Jumps To Conclusions

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions:

The same streak in her nature that impels a girl to become an old maid also often leads her to prefer a pet cat for company rather than a dog. Cats keep their place; dogs, like men, are more troublesome around the house, boisterous, and clamorous of affection.

In a zoo the tiger is the animal most contemptuous of peering humanity. But the gorilla has the saddest look of any captive creature. Something in his hurt eyes says, "You and I both know that I shouldn't be here."

One gets used to the foibles of other people, but I always feel like spanking the pretty young blonde at a cocktail party who thinks exhaling twin jets of cigarette smoke through her nose makes her look more sophisticated.

Remember when national political campaigns used to win the kind of attention that only pro football now gets? The game may soon become a springboard to elective public office. Anyone looking around for good future presidential possibilities might do well to keep an eye on some of the bright young quarterbacks throwing footballs in the professional leagues. After all, they've got at least three big qualifications—talent, leadership, and brains.

We rarely take the trouble to know thoroughly the things we love or admire. For example, everybody likes to see butterflies, but of the hundreds of varieties around most of us can name only two—cabbage and Monarch.

The guys we find easiest to forget are those who hand us their business cards so we'll be sure to remember who they are.

The reason teen-agers can talk so endlessly on the telephone is that they are telling each other the truth—they haven't found out yet how disastrous the truth can be. The reason grownups get tired of a telephone conversation so quickly is that they are usually telling each other lies, and after 40 it takes too much energy to lie more than a few minutes at a time.

It is no longer necessary to build a better mousetrap to get the world to beat a path to your door. As many a suburbanite has found out, all that is necessary is to build a swimming pool in your backyard. The world will then show up at the front door in a swimsuit—and expect you to furnish the towels.

How do you explain the financial success of some butchers? By a simple rule of thumb.

One of the troubles with marriage today is that too many women get their money from their husband—and their opinions from a male hairdresser.

The best time to keep your feet on the ground is when you feel tempted to fly into a rage.

The longer an office boy spends preening at himself in the washroom mirror and combing his hair, the longer it will take him to become president of the firm.

You can't blame a smart modern doctor for deciding to specialize in the treatment of obesity. Isn't it practically everybody's ambition to live off the fat of the land?

Patients See Mets Operate

HOUSTON (AP) — Heart recipients Everett C. Thomas and Louis John Fierro, away from St. Luke's Episcopal Hospital from the first time since surgery, watched New York shutout Houston 1-0 in the Astrodome Sunday.

They sat in a ninth-deck private club which had been reserved by Roy Hofheinz, president of the Houston National League baseball team.

Fierro, 54, an Elmont, N.Y., automobile salesman and a Mets fan was accompanied by his wife, a daughter and son-in-law.

Thomas, 47, a Phoenix, Ariz., accountant, sat with his wife and cheered for the Astros.

Hofheinz gave the men baseball caps and autographed baseballs.

"They're doing just perfectly," said Dr. Jerry Lemole, a physician at St. Luke's who accompanied the men.

"One drink wouldn't even hurt," said Dr. Lemole, but both patients had soft drinks. Fierro ate a hot dog with mustard and an order of sauerkraut. Thomas ate a hamburger.

Thomas, who underwent surgery May 3, and Fierro, whose heart was implanted May 21, gazed at the dome and the spectators below.

"Somebody had a fantastic idea when they did this," Thomas said about the structure, Fierro simply said "gorgeous."

Kathy Seeks Open Title

BALTIMORE (AP) — According to the Sam Snead myth, the Slammer won so much money on the golf circuit he buried some of the earnings in tin cans in the West Virginia hills.

Kathy Whitworth, whose $3,000 first prize in the $20,000 Lady Carling Open Sunday upped her career earnings to $192,678, hasn't taken to hiding money yet. But Kathy is concerned she's paralleling too closely a nonfiction portion of the Slammer's career.

"I've never won the Open," Miss Whitworth said Sunday after a final-round 73 gave her a 54-hole total of 214, a one-stroke victory over Carol Mann and her 39th career tournament title.

"People never remember how many I've won," she said. "They're beginning to say I've never won the Open. . .like Sam Snead."

AT CLEVELAND

'Cold Cash' Makes Dave Forget Heat

CLEVELAND (AP) — A check for $22,000 made confident Dave Stockton forget all about the oppressive heat.

"The hot weather bothered me. I felt horrible and dizzy," Stockton said Sunday after he won the Cleveland Open Golf Tournament, his first tour triumph of the year.

The 26-year-old Californian staggered home with a one-over par 72, his worst round of the 72-hole event after earlier rounds of 69, 68 and 67. But his 276 total was two strokes better than rookie Bob Dickson of Tulsa, Okla. and eight strokes under par.

"I didn't feel well but I hit my drives absolutely perfect. I was able to make the big shots," the five-year pro said.

The first prize money boosted Stockton's winnings this year to $46,159. He won two tournaments last season and collected $54,333.

Stockton, whose best previous finish this year was a tie for sixth in the Dallas Open, carried a two-stroke lead into Sunday's final round.

He cruised the first 13 holes of the 6,742-yard Lakewood Country Club course in fine fashion building a four-stroke advantage before wilting under 90-degree temperature.

Dickson, the 1967 U.S. and British Amateur king and playing his only seventh tournament, still picked up $13,200. His biggest check before Sunday was for $835 after he finished in a tie for 46th at the U.S. Open.

Stockton withstood an early charge by Roberto De Vincenzo, who rallied for birdies on Nos. 4, 5 and 6 to tie for the lead. Stockton regained the lead when he too birdied the sixth and pulled away to a comfortable advantage when disaster struck De Vincenzo on the 346-yard No. 7.

The South American, who finished second in the Masters, drove into a creek and then overshot the green for a double bogey, 6. His 73 gave him 279 and a tie for second place with PGA titlist Don January.

Deadlocked at 280 were U.S. Open champ Lee Trevino, the brash Mexican-American who closed with a 67, the best score of the day, England's Tony Jacklin and South African Bob by Cole.

At 281 were Frank Beard, Gary Player, Bob Murphy, 1966 winner R. H. Sikes, Kel Nagle and Tommy Aaron.

Defending champion Gardner Dickson shot a closing 73 for 283 while Arnold Palmer posted his third straight 71 finishing at 288, 12 strokes back of Stockton.

Dodgers Limp Out Of Shreveport

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Albuquerque Dodgers were nursing only a one-half game lead in the Texas League's western Division today as they limped out of Shreveport after dropping five games of a six-game series.

Albuquerque opened the series with a 2½-game bulge over second place El Paso, but lost five of the next six games, including Sunday's 8-7 defeat.

All that kept the Dodgers from sharing the lead was Dallas-Fort Worth's 3-2 victory over El Paso after 14 innings. In other games, Amarillo whipped Arkansas 5-0 and 3-1 and Memphis defeated San Antonio 7-3.

Albuquerque jumped off to a 3-0 lead in the first inning, sparked by Von Joshua's home run, but Shreveport netted five runs from five hits in the second inning and was never headed.

The Dodgers tied it at 6-6 in the seventh inning but the Braves used singles by Angel Hermoso and Clarence Gaston and a double by Ralph Garr to wrap it up with two more runs in the bottom of the seventh.

Glen Clark finally put an end to the 14-inning match between the Spurs and El Paso with a solo home run in the bottom of the 14th. Bill Bethea's double for El Paso in the ninth knotted the game and forced the extra innings.

Amarillo hurlers Les Scott and Mike Corkins held Arkansas batsmen to nine hits in the Giants' twinbill sweep. Corkins set down the Travelers with a three-hit shutout in the opener and Scott won a six-hitter in the nighcap.

Memphis pitcher Billy Hepler mystified San Antonio batters, hurling three perfect innings before he was hit on the arm by a pitched ball.

Soldiers, Sox Romp Over Detroit, 12-0

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

A day full of Eddie Stanky is easy to take for a ballplayer who has just had a week full of sergeants.

So Tommy John and Tom McCraw, sprung from National Guard duty by weekend passes to spend Sunday with Stankey and the White Sox, led Chicago to a 12-0 romp over Detroit.

John pitched a five-hitter for his seventh straight victory and McCraw slammed three hits, including a pair of doubles and scored twice.

Elsewhere in the American League Sunday, New York trimmed Oakland 4-2, California socked Washington 8-4, Cleveland topped Boston 7-5 in 10 innings, and Baltimore dropped Minnesota 6-4.

In the National League, New York blanked Houston 1-0, Pittsburgh tripped Philadelphia 5-2, Chicago whipped St. Louis 6-2, Los Angeles edged Atlanta 3-2 and Cincinnati dropped San Francisco 5-3.

McCraw and John, both members of an Indiana Air National Guard unit, are halfway through their annual two-week tour of duty at Alpena, Mich. They flew to Detroit for Sunday's game.

Bill Voss and Sandy Alomar, untroubled by military problems, helped John and McCraw carry off the Detroit maneuvers. Voss walloped a grand slam home run—his third major league homer and second in two days against the Tigers—and Alomar slapped four hits, stole three bases, and scored four runs.

John, whose 7-0 record is even more impressive when you consider the White Sox' troubles this season, struck out five and walked none for his first shutout of the year.

Roy White tagged a two-run homer in the seventh inning, giving the Yankees their victory over Oakland. White's seventh homer of the year snapped a 2-2 tie.

Steve Hamilton came out of the oullpen to strike out Reggie Jackson, ending an eighth inning Oakland threat and saving the victory for Steve Barber. Jackson had homered and singled and scored the A's second run earlier.

Chuck Hinton's two-run triple helped build a four-run California first inning and the Angels coasted past Washington.

Rick Clark went five innings in 94-degree heat and earned the victory against the Senators, ending an eight-game personal losing streak.

The heat reached 105 degrees on the field at Baltimore, knocking out Minnesota's Dean Chance and helping the Orioles beat the Twins.

Chance, leading 4-3, left for a pinch hitter in the seventh because of he heat but Al Worthington couldn't protect the edge. Three walks loaded the bases and Dave Johnson's pinch single plus sacrifice flies by Brooks Robinson and Curt Motton produced three runs.

Tony Oliva socked two home runs for the Twins.

Duke Sims hammered a three-run homer in the 10th, giving Cleveland its third consecutive victory over the Red Sox. Sims unloaded after two walks and the Indians added another run on Jose Cardenal's double and a single by Vern Fuller.

The Red Sox got two runs back in the bottom of the 10th but the rally fell short.

Top Foursome At Tourney

Ethel Patterson, E. L. Franklin, Earl Purser and B. J. (Doc) Weaver won the mixed foursome golf tournament at Snyder Country Club Sunday with 163 total points for the 18 holes of play.

Runnerup honors went to Pop Kidd, Mel Galloway, Eloise Deyers and Pat Patterson. They tallied 155 points. Close on their heels were Dee Garner, Harold Garner, Stan Talbot and Alex LeFeuvre with 153 points for third place.

There were eight teams entered in the tournament, which was organized by the Lady Golfers.

U.S. Net Hopes Rise At Wimbledon Meet

By ROBERT JONES

WIMBLEDON England (AP) — The lush and dignified Wimbledon courts this week will see some fierce skirmishing in a battle to allow professionals to play Davis Cup tennis.

The International Council of the Davis Cup meets in London this Wednesday. One of the items they will argue will be just that—now professionals can play in the world's greatest tournament why can't they play in the Davis Cup as well?

Bill Edwards president of the Australian Lawn Tennis Association is all in favor of the idea. "Now that open tennis has arrived we would try extending it to the Davis Cup" said an ALTA spokesman

In the other corner is Bob Kelleher, president of the U.S. LTA "we don't think the time is ripe although we aren't against it in principle," he said.

positions and the reason is plain —three U.S. amateurs are in the last 16 of the Wimbledon championships this year, while only two Australian amateurs reached the last 32, and both have been knocked out.

That's the reason Donald Dell, captain of this year's U.S. Davis Cup team, is walking around with a king-size smile on his face. For the first time for years, the United States appears to be a serious threat to break Australia's virtual strangehold on the Cup with Australia's own weapon—defense in depth.

The U.S. amateur trio in the last 16 are Arthur Ashe, Clark Graebner, and Tom Edlefsen. Ashe is seeded 11th. Neither Graebner nor Edlefsen are seeded, but both have beaten seeds on their way to the fourth round.

And the resurgence in U.S. tennis coincides with a decline in the game in Australia. The best Aussie players—Ken Rosewall, Ron Laver, Roy Emerson, John Newcombe and Tony Roche—are all professional now and there just don't seem to be any good youngsters coming up.

It was Graebner and Edlefsen who were the talking points of the Wimbledon crowds as the rain-plagued tournament reached the halfway stage in brilliant sunshine Saturday. Graebner, the U.S. No. 4 from New York, has been showing some of the best power tennis of the tournament. He pounded Jurgen Ulrich of Denmark into submission in the second round, then pulled off one of Saturday's three upsets by beating sixth-seeded Manuel Santana of Spain, the winner here two years ago, 9-7, 6-2 6-10. That put Graebner in the last 16, where he will play Fred Stolle, the towering Australian professional seeded No. 11.

Edlefsen from Berkeley, Calif., is unranked in the United States—he didn't play last year because of illness—but he scored an equally fine victory by beating Cliff Drysdale, the South African professional seeded 14th, 9-7, 4-6, 1-6, 6-4, 6-4. He next plays Ray Moore the South African who also scored an upset 4-6, 6-3, 6-3, 2-6, 6-2 victory over Andreas Gimeno, the Spanish pro.

In the last 16 Ashe plays Newcombe, who won here last year and then turned pro.

The three U.S. amateurs are joined by U.S. professionals Dennis Ralston, of Bakersfield, Calif., who plays Alexander Medtreveli, the Russian who knocked out veteran Pancho Gonzales, and Earl Buchholz, St. Louis, who plays Bob Hewitt, the maverick Australian who now plays under South African colors.

DeGaulle Triumph

By LOUIS NEVIN
Associated Press Writer

PARIS (AP) — After France's biggest election landslide in 49 years President Charles de Gaulle had a mandate today to repair the economic damage of weeks of labor and social strife and to carry out a sweeping reform of France's industrial and educational systems.

The voters in the final round Sunday of the two-stage National Assembly elections gave the Gaullists and their allies a majority of more than 200 seats in the 487-seat legislature.

There has been no such landslide in French parliamentary history since the 1919 victory of a nationalist coalition. It was also a crushing setback to the Communists and other opposition forces.

Premier Georges Pompidou said the election results showed "defensive reaction" of the people "against totalitarianism." The campaign talk of Gaullism of "totalitarian communism," coming after the great student and labor upheaval in May, brought an overwhelming response from the middle class. But Pompidou warned that the government still faces "difficulties which are going to be enormous, difficulties that arise from the crisis and which we must now try to overcome."

Student disorders in the Latin Quarter of Paris Saturday and Sunday nights were a reminder of the problems facing the regime.

One of them is reform of the antiquated educational system, promised students after their rebellion in May touched off riots, disorders and three weeks of industrial strikes which paralyzed economic life.

Another major problem is the bill for widespread wage increases granted to end the strikes. The wage hikes also threaten inflation and higher prices which in turn would bring demands for still more in the pay envelopes.

Pompidou and De Gaulle have given no details of their future program to combat these problems. But they did hope that the proporions of the election victory would help restore international confidence in French stability and halt the run on the franc which has been cutting into the government's resources for weeks.

Results of the first-round voting on June 23, in which a majority was required for election, indicated a Gaullist majority in the assembly. But there was no anticipation of the overwhelming proportions the victory took.

Interior Minister Raymond Marcellin announced that the Gaullist Democratic Union for the Republic, the UDR won 299 seats in the assembly, or a majority or 111 without any allies.

In addition, the Independent Republicans, who have always supported the Gaullists although differing at times on matters of policy, won 53 seats. There were also 11 independent rightists elected, and a number of them may pledge their support to the Gaullists when the new assembly meets July 11.

Against this impressive array, the opposition could only muster 122 elected. This included 33 Communists, a loss of 40 seats, 57 members of the non-Communist Leftist Federation, a loss of 61; the centrist Party of Progress and Modern Democracy 29, a loss of 10, and three independent leftists.

Ballotting in two Pacific island districts to complete the assembly will be held later this month. They are Tahiti and Wallis and Fortuna islands.

128 Ships Are Tied Up In Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — An estimated 128 ships have been tied up by the strike of the AFL-CIO National Maritime Union (NMU).

Twelve vessels were immobilized Sunday as they arrived from foreign ports. The union had estimated that 116 ships were tied up Saturday by the strike which began Friday midnight.

Mediator Theodore Kheel has scheduled a meeting today between representatives of the union and two groups which act as bargaining agents for 73 companies that operate 576 ships.

The management groups are the Maritime Service Committee and the Tanker Service Committee.

The strike call was against 70 per cent of the American Merchant Marine, but many ships are at sea or in foreign ports and have not been affected yet.

The union has said that ships carrying military cargoes are to be given special clearance.

The 55,000-member NMU, acting under a reopening clause in its contract, is seeking an increase in basic wages and overtime amounting to about 5 per cent, and the addition of 15 days to the annual vacation of 60 days now in effect.

The current four-year contract, which expires next year, permits the union to reopen the contract twice. Management negotiators contend the union has exhausted its reopeners.

The NMU represents various categories of unlicensed ship personnel, such as seamen, engine room workers and steward department workers.

Pay varies from job to job. The base pay of an able bodied seaman now is $423 a month. Overtime for work over 40 hours a week generally increases the pay by about half.

Boom Will Slack Off

WASHINGTON (AP) — A panel of business economists says the country's current economic boom will slacken in the second half of this year.

However, Tilford C. Graines, vice president and economist for Manufacturers Hanover Trust Co., of New York, says the demand for credit will remain high and "interest rates should remain close to present high levels for most of the balance of this year."

He said the nation's inflation and balance of payments problems are so severe that the Federal Reserve System will continue to keep a tight rein on credit until it's convincd higher taxes are slowing the economy.

He was one of six economists who appeared Sunday at a business outlook conference sponsored by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

'Walkout' Resolution Is Hot Issue For Teachers

DALLAS (AP) — The nation's classroom teachers come to grips today with problems evolving from school walkouts endorsed by the parent National Education Association (NEA).

The hottest debate by the 3,800 voting delegates of the Association of Classroom Teachers is expected to center around a resolution requesting the "NEA to revise guidelines for professional sanctions to include standards for the withdrawal of services . . . and provisions for disciplining individuals and-or affiliates that violate ethical procedures."

This would remove all question about the propriety or legality of the NEA's fulltime staff members aiding striking teachers.

It also for the first time brings up the establishment of tough policies that would deal with teachers who refuse to abide by the professional organization's decisions.

This is intended to prevent teachers who value NEA membership from taking jobs in sanctioned districts vacated by NEA sanctioned walkouts.

Administrators and field personnel indicate this authority is needed from the assembly in anticipation of even more unrest in the future than was seen last year.

After the NEA convention last year, Florida teachers capped a long-standing controversy over what they contended were "grossly inadequate conditions" with a walkout. Education in that state was brought to a virtual standstill.

"We could have more states in the same kind of trouble this year," an NEA official said. "Texas already has difficulties brewing."

"We have been able to support local groups in drastic actions up to a point in the past," the official said. "But now we hope our membership will put it on the books and say what they mean."

Opposition is expected to come from Mississippi, Georgia and Alabama teachers.

Some Southern delegates indicated they would try to bring the whole issue of teacher militancy and the NEA's role in such situations before the assembly.

The NEA convention starts Tuesday. The Association of Classroom Teachers is the NEA's largest department.

"We don't know how strong the conservatives—call them what you will—are this year," an NEA Executive Board member said. "But we feel the mood of the nation's teachers in general supports our effort to try to do something about appalling conditions in many areas."

Some Georgia teachers have accused the NEA administrative staff of "becoming a self-perpetuating bureaucracy."

Another resolution of interest calls for equal consideration of women teachers in the selection of administrators. A third issue is the problem of school boards expecting added services after school hours and when school is not in session without compensating teachers.

Fishing Fleet Of Gloucester Blessed

GLOUCESTER, Mass. (AP) — Richard Cardinal Cushing of Boston gave the fisherman of this old sailing town his annual blessing Sunday at the conclusion of the annual St. Peter's fiesta.

Thousands of spectators basked in the welcome, warm sun after a rainy June and watched the cardinal bless the fishing fleet.

The fiesta ended with a crew of fishermen carrying a 700-pound statue of St. Peter, the patron of saint of fishermen, in a long parade through the city's narrow, winding streets.

Man Who First Proposed Our Statue Didn't See It

By JOHN MULLIGAN
Associated Press Writer

LIBERTY ISLAND, N.Y. (AP) — Americans, here's a Fourth of July story as patriotic as a Sousa march and as colorful as fireworks.

It's about the man who first thought of the Statue of Liberty—the almost forgotten Edouard de Laboulaye.

His story begins on a summer night in 1865 at his country "retraite" in Glatigny, just outside the Paris suburb of Versailles.

Laboulaye's retraite was "un coin d' Amerique"—a corner of America—where the law professor and historian surrounded himself with his lifetime and pastime, the United States, and where his many American friends felt the tug of home.

Portraits of Jefferson and Franklin stared down, shelves were lined with books on America, many of them by Laboulaye, including a translation of Franklin's autobiography, and their host sadly showed them his treasure, a letter on Executive Mansion stationery signed "A. Lincoln."

Laboulaye, a devout Catholic who had written that liberty was "the gospel's daughter, the sister of justice and mercy, the mother of equality, abundance and peace," said his affection for America began with the chance purchase at a Seine bookstall of the works of a Boston Protestant theologian, Dr. William Ellery Channing. Others felt he may have been inspired at 19 when he saw the aged Lafayette spurring a white horse toward the barricades of Paris in the Revolution of 1830.

On that night in Glatigny, some of France's best minds, having enjoyed Laboulaye's cuisine and cellar, argued about the ingratitude of nations over cafe noir and cigars as dark.

One maligned America. Another, a young Alsatian sculptor, Frederic Auguste Bartholdi, was to remember later that Laboulaye quickly interjected that America and France are sisters, tried by fire in the days when Lafayette, Rochambeau and other French volunteers flocked to the American cause.

"When hearts have beaten together, something always remains among nations as among individuals," he continued. "There you have the basis of American feeling for the French, an indestructible basis."

"The feeling honors the Americans as well as us," Laboulaye said, adding the words that would change Bartholdi's life: "and, if a memorial should rise in the United States as a memorial to their independence, I think it only natural if it were built by united effort—a common work of both our nations."

Six years would pass before the friends of Glatigny discussed the "memorial" again. The disastrous Franco-Prussian war was over. The grieving Bartholdi's native Alsace was lost to Germany and he gladly left for the New World at Laboulaye's bidding "to try to interest Americans in a joint venture for a statue of liberty."

On a date not in 1871, the SS Pereire steamed into New York. Bartholdi quickly sketched a water-color of his colossal La Liberte Eclairant le Monde—liberty enlightening the world—and even chose the island where she would stand.

Keeping Laboulaye informed, Bartholdi toured America, out to San Francisco, down to the White House, up to the home of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow in Nahant, Mass.

The poet remembered Bartholdi has a plan for creating a bronze colossus on Bedloe's Island in New York Harbor—a Statue of Liberty, to serve as a lighthouse. It is a grand plan. I hope it will strike the New Yorkers."

On Bartholdi's return, Laboulaye devoted himself to turning dream into reality, forming and heading the Franco-American Union to further statue, and enrolling in it such great names as De Lesseps and the descendants of Lafayette, Rochambeau and De Tocqueville, holding a dinner attended by Marshal MacMahon, president of France, and giving a benefit concert at the Opera which featured Gounod conducting his specially composed cantata about Lady Liberty.

Across the ocean, the American Congress took up the cause. Laboulaye was thrilled to learn that on Washington's Birthday, 1877, Congress authorized a future president to accept the completed statue.

In 1881, on the centennial of Cornwallis' surrender to the Americans and French at Yorktown, U.S. Minister Levi P. Morton drove the first rivet into the foot of Miss Liberty as she began to be mounted, piece-by-piece, on a towering frame designed by Gustave Eiffel, who would later create Paris' landmark.

On July 4, 1884, Morton would accept Lady Liberty for America, and on Oct. 28, 1886, President Cleveland and Bartholdi would unveil her in New York Harbor.

But Laboulaye would witness neither triumph. He died at 71 on May 25, 1883.

Ambassador Morton attended the requiem and walked, bareheaded behind the coffin to Pere Lachaise cemetery after cabling Washington: "He was a devoted friend of our country and our government; although he never crossed the ocean, he knew America and American history, I dare say, better than many Americans."

Safe Place For Wedding

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — After postponing her wedding twice because of traffic injuries that hospitalized her, Cheryl Lynette Burris will be married to Kenneth Armstrong tonight in Tulsa's St. John's Hospital.

Miss Burris, 21, and Armstrong, 22, planned their wedding for June 21, but four days before that she suffered a whiplash injury in a traffic accident. The wedding was postponed to June 28.

But on that day, Miss Burris suffered a more serious injury in another traffic accident in front of her home. She was hospitalized with a fractured neck.

Her fiance, on a 15-day leave from Ft. Bragg, N.C., obtained a week's extension from his commanding officer so they could be married in the hospital.

Uruguay's Troubles Endure Despite Absolute Controls

By ISAAC A. LEVI
Associated Press Writer

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — Armed troops in battle fatigues patrol the streets around the clock on the lookout for student demonstrators and labor strikers.

At night, the city is nearly blacked out by a power shortage resulting from a long drought.

All news of strikes and student demonstrations is censored in the Uruguayan press and on radio and television.

Security measures have been tight since President Pacheco Areco suspended constitutional guarantees early in June to keep his once happy and prosperous little country from sliding quickly onto the skid row of nations.

But the strikes and disturbances continue despite the government's tough line.

Garbage lies uncollected for days in the suburbs. The post office stopped functioning weeks ago and clerks and tellers all but paralyzed the banking system with surprise walkouts.

Uruguay, which contented British residents once described as "God's pleasant little heaven on earth," is caught in an ugly spiral of wage-price inflation.

The drought has aggravated the crisis for the second consecutive year, hitting the Uruguayan housewife hardest of all.

Milk, butter, potatoes, flour and edible oil are in short supply. Two-thirds of this Atlantic coast country is normally fueled by hydroelectric power and the lack of rain brought strict rationing of electricity.

This means the housewife cannot use her electric stove, iron, washing machine, hair dryer and hot water shower attachment in daytime. Fuel gas and kerosene are also in short supply.

Dinner out is no help either. Restaurants are affected by the restrictions — lit only with candles or pressure lamps, and the neons are dark.

Life in Uruguay has deteriorated so much that Uruguayans are emigrating at a clip of about 2,000 a month, official sources report. The rush for passports is such that the foreign ministry is issuing them only with three month delay.

Scores of doctors, engineers, technicians and other skilled people, queue up outside the U.S. consulate every day, applying for visas that will permit them to settle in the United States. Others seek jobs and a new life in wesern Europe, Venezuela, Peru and neighboring Argentina and Brazil.

The fact that Uruguay's population is only 2.6 million and the country has the lowest growth rate in all Latin America makes the exodus doubly felt.

Also, despite the security measures, the government seems unable to cope with a mound of seemingly insurmountable problems. And it is blocked by constant disagreements within the governing Colorado party.

The economy began ailing 18 years ago, when world prices for wool, meat and cereal started to drop. Successive governments did nothing to industrialize and make the country less dependent on agricultural exports and importation of foreign goods.

And they did little to capitalize on the many tourists that visit Uruguay's beaches every summer from Brazil and Argentina. The economic ailment gradually became a chronic crisis.

One result is that today Uruguay imports more than it exports, has a $500-million debt with other countries, and a swollen government bureaucracy that helps cover up some of the unemployment but weighs heavily on the economy as a whole.

The cost of living went up 16 per cent in 15 months, the peso dropped from 76 to 250 to the U.S. dollar, and the government will have a $3.9 million budget deficit this fiscal year.

Mrs. Nixon Always Leads A Busy Life

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Pat Nixon, wife of former Vice Presidential aspirant Richard M. Nixon, says life is busy in and out of politics.

"I feel that wives of busy men know that life doesn't change," she told an informal meeting with news representatives Sunday.

Mrs. Nixon was in San Antonio to hand out three Tops 'n Texas awards on behalf of the Texas Federation of Republican Women and the Republican Party Women's Division. She also took a tour of the HemmisFair world's fair, stopping at its woman's pavilion after entering through the VIP gate.

"I'm a volunteer for Nixon and his eyes and ears with the women voters," she said. She said the family, however, avoids discussing politics at dinner. Mealtime conversations at the Nixons, she said, are "light and gay."

On the subject of safety of presidential candidates and their families, she said: "I believe one has to have faith rather than fear to live in this country. I'm trying to let my faith shine through."

Some local Secret Service men were in the Nixon Party, for the mentally retarded in The Tops 'n Texas awards went to Mrs. Mayme Daniel, a San Angelo stockbroker; Mrs. Santos Huantes, San Antonio, and Mrs. C. A. Christian, Freeport.

Mrs. Christian, herself the mother of a mentally retarded child, was recognized for pioneering in establishing a school for the mentally retarded in Brazoria County.

Mrs. Huantes, executive director of the San Antonio Literacy Council, was honored as a key social worker whose work helped expand the council from a small operation to one now serving 1,500 persons.

Mrs. Daniel is the founder of "La Academia de Ensenanza (the Academy of Learning)" in San Angelo. The school teaches speak it, and works mainly among Mexican Americans.

CRMWD Asks Bids On Projects

Bids are being advertised for five projects connected with the Colorado River Municipal Water District's lake project at Robert Lee. Proposals for three sections of pipeline are due to be asked early in July.

Advertisements are going for the construction of a drip trap and raw water pumping station which results from potential in-undation of an oil producing area; gate valves; intake pump station substructure; electric control cable to be buried with the pipeline; and a motor control center. All these will be opened at the district's office in Big Spring at 10 a.m. on July 17.

Indications are that bids for 37 miles of pipeline will be advertised in the early part of July, and if this is the case, a letting will be scheduled for July 25. A meeting of the board of directors may be set on that date, and if so, the board will act in both the July 17 and July 25 bids. The pipeline will include a section of 42-in. line from Big Spring pump station east to Moss Creek Lake; a 24-in. section from Moss Creek Lake eastward to a juncture with the Sun Oil water line in central Mitchell County; and an 18-in. section from this point northeastward to the side storage on the Colorado River just above Colorado City.

One bid was received during the past week on a barge to be used in servicing oil well mounds at the Robert Lee Lake, but action on this has been deferred.

Progress on the new lake project and allied projects is going well. The dam is now over 75 per cent complete; three - fourths of the 36 miles of 33-in. line from Big Spring to the Martin County pump station is in place; right of way for the upcoming pipeline is largely acquired.

Crash Kills Lueders Man

TYLER, Tex. (AP)—A West Texas truck driver was killed in the fiery collision of two flat-bed trucks on Interstate 20 near Tyler in East Texas today.

Killed was Ocie Hanna, 43, of Lueders, in Jones County. The accident happened about 15 miles west of Tyler.

Hanna was driving a truck bearing a large stone from the Luedegs Cut Stone Co. The Highway Patrol said his truck struck the rear of another truck loaded with hay and which was parked off the highway.

The force of the impact caused the heavy stone to slide forward on the truck and pin Hanna in the cab. The hay caught fire and Hanna was burned to death.

The other truck driver, A. D. Roquemore of Dallas, was outside his truck at the time and escaped injury.

In 1919 the city of Denver opened a 160 - acre auto camping site with running water and plumbing.

DeGaulle's Victory Is Celebrated

By CLAUDE E. ERBSEN
Associated Press Writer

PARIS (AP) — With automobile horns blaring and flags flying, Frenchmen poured into the streets of Paris Sunday night to celebrate President Charles de Gaulle's massive election victory.

Flag-draped cars packed with cheering Frenchmen surged through the Champs Elysees and other parts of Paris.

Many of the flags bore the Caross of Lorraine, which De Gaulle chose as the symbol of his Free French forces in World War II.

But not all Parisians celebrated.

In the Latin Quarter, home of the Sorbonne, university students blocked the victory parades with improvised barricades, and stoned the cars. They tore off the French tricolors and marched off waving the red portions of the flags.

It was the students of the University of Paris whose rebellion unleashed the May crisis which caused De Gaulle to dissolve the National Assembly and call the elections.

"Even the Communists must have voted for the Gaullists," said one youth outside the medical school, which is still occupied by the students.

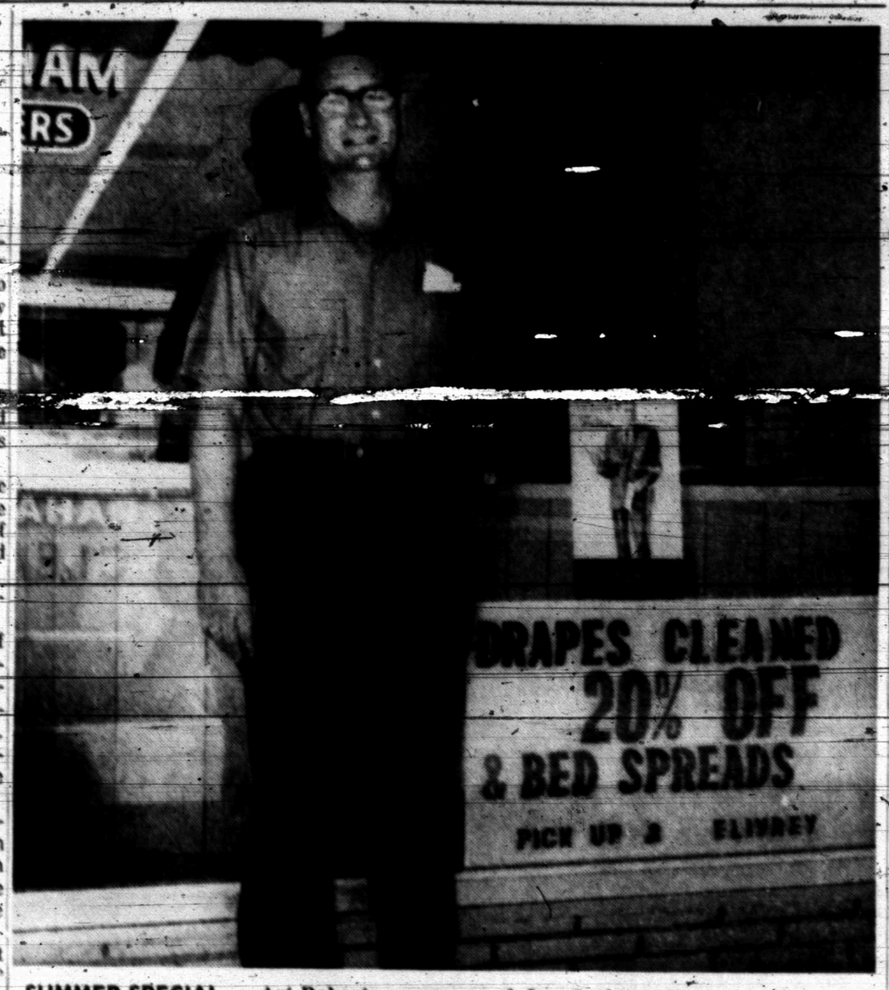
Late into the night the impromptu victory parade moved through the streets with horns beating out the staccato rhythm of political slogans.

Some sounded three short and two long blasts, for World War II's "V for Victory."

Others favored two shorts and three longs, for "De Gaulle au Pouvoir (De Gaulle to Power)," the slogan on which he returned 10 years ago.

Many of the cars were packed with young people who leaned from the windows making the V siga with their fingers. Pedestrians and other motorists were quick to respond.

The musk ox resembles a small, white - stockinged buffalo.



SUMMER SPECIAL — Art Roberts, manager of Joe Graham Cleaners, 2417 Avenue S, stands beside a sign pointing up the summer drapery cleaning special offered by the firm. There is a 20 per cent reduction for drapes, bedspreads and slip covers.

Drapery Cleaning Special Is Now On At Joe Graham's

Joe Graham Cleaners, 2417 Avenue S, is having its annual summer drapery cleaning special with 20 per cent off on drapes, bedspreads and slip covers.

During the slack summer season, rather than curtail employment, the firm keeps its employes busy with the cleaning special. Many people have discovered that it is a bargain worth taking advantage of. With its Custom Care special cleaning process, Joe Graham Cleaners is able to give the drapes body and make them look like new.

"We also take pride in putting decorator folds in the drapes," said Art Roberts, manager of the firm.

Custom Care is a textile supplement put in the solvent. It works magic with clothes as well as drapes. It is a scientifically developed additive that is incorporated into the dry-cleaning process which in turn acts as a renewing agent for new lightweight fabrics featured in today's fashions.

Sometimes the modern fibers that come from a laboratory test tube are of the heat-sensitive type. In time, the fabrics made from this material will pucker or ripple at the seams. Custom Care will restore to such fabrics their original look of newness so that the wearer is always well groomed.

Joe Graham Cleaners offers a variety of quality services to its customers, including free pickup and delivery, a night deposit box, and box storage. All items placed in storage are insured against damage or loss.

Why not take advantage of the summer special. Many others do. Just dial 573-3401 for prompt pickup of those drapes.

Submachine Wielder Slain At Stakeout

MERIDIAN, Miss. (AP) — A young Alabama fugitive wielding a submachine gun and a pistol was seriously injured and his woman companion was killed Sunday by police staked out at the home of a prominent Jewish businessman to guard against nightriders.

Police Chief C. L. "Roy" Gunn said he believed that 11 recent acts of violence in Meridian have been solved with the arrest of 22-year-old Thomas Albert Tarrants III of Mobile, Ala.

He said Tarrants also has been sought in connection with other bombing incidents in Mississippi.

Tarrants was charged in a warrant with the attempted murder of Patrolman J. M. Hatcher, 31, wounded four times in the stomach and chest, during a high-speed chase.

One of the bullets pierced Hatcher's heart.

Found shot to death on the floorboard of Tarrants' car was his companion, identified as Kathy Ainsworth, 26, a fifth grade school teacher in Jackson, Miss.

A neighbor who went outside to see what was going on was hit in a spray of bullets. He is Navy Machinists Mate 2nd Class Robert E. Burton, formerly of Fulton, Mo. Hatcher and Burton were hospitalied in critical condition.

The shooting started at 1 a.m. Sunday at the ranch-style home of Meyer Davidson, 51, who led in raising a $75,000 reward for information in the bombing of Temple Beth Israel in Meridian earlier this year.

Vehicles Damaged In Collision Here

Considerable damage resulted but there were no injuries in a two-car smashup at Avenue E and Twenty-eighth Street at 5:44 p.m. Friday.

Involved were the 1960 Model Ford of Ethel Mae Sturdivant, 317 Thirty - third Street, and the 1959 Model Buick of Renee Gladson, 3107 Fortieth Street.

Damage to the Ford was placed at $300, and damage to the other car was estimated at $450. There was also $25 damage to a stop sign, according to the investigating patrolman, Ben McNulty.

Contracts For 6 Nuclear Subs Let

By BOB HORTON
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy has awarded identically priced contracts to two shipyards for six new nuclear attack submarines, each costing about $7 million more than similar subs built in recent years.

While the prices of the contracts are the same—$107.4 million for three submarines from each company—the pacts have significantly different terms.

The Navy is at a loss to explain exactly how the identical awards came about but said the different types of contracts would be "mutually beneficial" to both the government and the shipyards.

Ingalls Shipbuilding Corp., and General Dynamics Corp., were signed to build three Sturgeon class nuclear attack submarines in two contracts announced simultaneously as the Navy wound up buying for the fiscal year ending Sunday at midnight.

Although it wasn't specified in the June 25 announcement, a spokesman said the contract to Ingalls of Pascagoula, Miss., was a "fixed price incentive" award while General Dynamics of Groton, Conn., received merely a letter contract.

This meant, he said, that Ingalls' margin of profit will be higher if it completes the three submarines for $107.4 million or less, than if it exceeds that price.

In the case of General Dynamics, however, the letter contract implies that the $107.4 million is not a fixed cost; rather, "the hope is that we can negotiae a lower price later," the spokesman said.

The reason given for the difference was only that "in the course of negotiations it was found to be mutually beneficial to both the government and the companies," he said.

The spokesman said he could not disclose the maximum margins of profits which might be possible under the awards.

The question of whether defense companies are receiving more than adequate profits from Pentagon orders has become a rather heated item in Congress in recent months.

The six subs under the total $214,833,000 program would cost slightly more than $35.8 million each.

The five previous Sturgeon class subs, of which General Dynamics built three and Ingalls built one, cost an average of $28.9 million each.

The Navy did not advertise for bids on the latest contracts. One other company—the Newport News, Va., shipyard—was considered for the work but lost out because its proposal was termed too costly.

The 3,600-ton vessels are equipped with the SUBROC (submarine rocket) which can launch a nuclear warhead from underwater to fly through the air, dive underwater again and detonate against a hostile submarine.

The 278-foot long craft also has four torpedo tubes and glides along at 30 knots.
