Lindsay Switches Parties

To Fight For New Leadership

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor John V. Lindsay switched to the Democratic party today "to fight for new national leadership." But he said he did not know if he will seek the Democratic presidential nomination next year.

"In a sense, this step recognizes the failure of 20 active years in progressive Republican politics," the mayor said in a statement.

"In another sense, it represents a new decision to fight for new national leadership," he added.

The tall, handsome mayor, who will be 50 in November, said he had "no illusions about the Democratic party," but that he would "work as a Democrat without abandoning my personal independence."

Lindsay, who served four terms in the U.S. House of Representatives as a Republican, was elected in 1965 as the city's first GOP mayor in 20 years. He was defeated for renomination in the 1969 Republican primary, but won in November over both major party candidates as a Liberal-Independent.

At a news conference in his residence, Gracie Mansion, Lindsay said the 1972 Democratic convention should be "as open as any in American history."

"Whether this means I will run for president, I do not know," he said. "But it does mean that I am firmly commited to take an active part in 1972 to bring about new national leadership."

Lindsay has been openly critical of President Nixon's foreign and domestic policies. He has made speeches at rallies opposing the Vietnam war.

The mayor also has broken frequently with Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, charging that the GOP state administration has short-changed the city.

Rockefeller was on vacation in Portugal. A spokesman in Albany said he would have no immediate comment.

There was no immediate comment from the White House.

Nixon has been quoted by his communications chief, Herbert Klein, as having said he hoped Lindsay would stay in the GOP.

Too Hot For Inmates

By JAMES E. SHELLEDY
Associated Press Writer

BOISE, Idaho (AP) — Two buildings were destroyed by fire and two prisoners critically stabbed during four hours of rioting Tuesday night at the Idaho Penitentiary.

Prison officials blamed the disturbance primarily on the hot weather. Temperatures in Boise have been 90 degrees for 23 consecutive days with readings over 100 several days.

No hostages were taken.

Prisoners shouted yells as they tore up equipment in the recreation center, while flames lit the sky.

One of the buildings burned housed the social service center and the other a recreation area, hobbycraft room, shoe repair shop and laundry facilities.

Prison officials identified the inmates stabbed as David Bortz, 25, serving a two-year sentence from Cassia County, Idaho, on an insufficient funds check charge, and Charles Rice, 30, serving 10 years on a charge of lewd and lascivious conduct in Ada County. Both were in critical condition.

Prison officials said the two were stabbed by other prisoners.

Director of Correction Raymond W. May said nearly all the institution's 225 inmates were in the courtyard when he was called to the prison about 8:30 p.m.

He said tear gas was fired at the prisoners and all but about 150 returned to their cells.

At 11 p.m. the prisoners agreed to go back into their cells for a head count, if they would be permitted to return to the courtyard.

May and two other prison officials talked with inmate representatives in the chapel.

Afterward May said demands of the prisoners dealing primarily with living conditions in the 100-year-old penitentiary likely would be granted. He said he had agreed no inmates would be punished because it was too difficult to pinpoint leaders.

"They complained about the heat and improper ventilation in the cellblocks," May said. "He said temperatures range up to 110 to 118 degrees inside and prisoners are unable to get proper rest."

He said there also were complaints about food, about the limit of one visit every two weeks and about not being permitted to change clothes daily.

William Evans, associate prison superintendent, said an escape tunnel at the prison was discovered by officials Sunday. He speculated that when inmates learned of this it might have been a factor in the rioting. May said he doubted that.

Mechanical Device Implanted

DETROIT (AP) — A team of surgeons at Mt. Sinai Hospital today implanted a partially mechanical heart device in a 63-year-old man.

The patient receiving the "patch booster," a permanent device made of silicone rubber and dacron, was identified as Haskell Shanks of suburban Warren, Mich.

A spokesman for the hospital said the mechanical heart surgery began at 7:15 p.m. EST Tuesday and was completed about 5 a.m. He said the surgery was successful, and the patient was doing well.

The new device is designed to give permanent help for a failing heart, the spokesman said.

The surgical team was headed by Dr. Adrian Kantrowitz, the developer of the artificial Pacemaker, a device which keeps the heart beating regularly. He performed the world's second heart transplant and the first in the United States, Dec. 6, 1967, at Maimonides Medical Center in Brooklyn.

The hospital said the booster pump implanted in the patient is air-powered and can be used as long as needed. The device is a newer version of an earlier mechanical device used in two other operations. It is smaller in size and simpler in design, the hospital said.

Shanks, a plant guard for Uniroyal Corp., has suffered congestive heart failure for the past year and his condition had grown progressively worse in the past few months.

Irish Death Toll Mounts

By COLIN FROST
Associated Press Writer

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Furious new gun battles erupted between guerrillas and British troops in Belfast today while street warfare came to an uneasy recess in Londonderry, Newry and other bullet-scarred cities of Northern Ireland.

The four-day death toll stood at 20 after another day of blood-letting. The latest deaths were two gunmen killed by troops. More tha 100 other persons have been wounded.

During the night mobs of Protestants and Roman Catholic battled each other. Rival factions of the outlawed Irish Republican Army clashed. And troops and police fought all of them in attempts to restore order.

The fury was triggered by the roundup started Monday of suspected members of the IRA and an announced policy of internment without trial.

Stores and office buildings were shuttered today, their workers unable to move about the littered streets. Food shortages plagued many Belfast districts. Wholesalers refused to make food deliveries or were unable to get through barricaded streets.

In the midst of the violence, police continued questioning persons arrested in massive raids earlier. An informed source said 230 persons have been detained after questioning and are held in Crumlin Road prison and on a former submarine depot ship, HMS Mainstone, in Belfast harbor.

This source said Prime Minister Brian Faulkner would sign internment orders against the majority of the detainees.

In Dublin, an army spokesman said more than 2,000 Catholic refugees had fled across the border from the north and were housed in five camps opened by the Republic of Ireland.

Board Sets Meeting On Tax, Budget

The Board of Trustees for the Snyder Public Schools, in their regular monthly meeting Tuesday night, scheduled a special meeting to amend the current budget, adopt a budget for the next fiscal year, and to set a tax rate. The noon meeting has been set for Wednesday, Aug. 25.

The board also approved two resignations and some new personnel. The resignations were by Mrs. Betty Price, commercial teacher at Snyder High School, and Miss Carol Ann Moore, French and English teacher at Snyder High.

New personnel approved are John C. Hunt, maintenance director, Mrs. Mary Killam, commercial teacher at High School, Mrs. Hallie Mae Rork, language lab teacher at Central Elementary, and Mrs. Patricia Caddell, third grade teacher at Central Elementary.

The Board directed the superintendent to contact consulting groups about a survey of present high school needs, and the needed requirements to convert to a four-year high school and a three-year junior high school.

In other matters the Board approved financial statements for the month of July, additions to the Blue Book, and coaching assignments for the 1971-72 school year.

Heavy Rains Close Roads

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Flash flood warnings were issued and some roads closed in South Texas today as heavy rains drummed down to send rivers overflowing their banks.

The Texas Highway Department reported from Del Rio that U.S. 90, a main east-west highway, and U.S. 277 were closed because of high water in Kinney County. Texas 55 was closed in Edwards County, U.S. 277 and U.S. 90 in Val Verde County, U.S. 377 north of Rocksprings in Edwards County, and Texas 55 in Uvalde County.

From San Angelo there was word that U.S. 377 was closed southwest of Junction.

Flash flood warnings were issued by the National Weather Service in San Antonio for Kinney and Edwards counties. Moderate to heavy thundershowers sent the water cascading in some areas from Brackettville to near Rocksprings.

Flood warnings were issued at Corpus Christi for persons living along the west Nueces River and the extreme upper Nueces above and below Camp Wood. Numerous farm roads were closed after heavy rains during the night. The river was up by 12 to 14 feet and over its banks in the Camp Wood area.

Brady had radio station KNEL knocked off the air by an electrical storm for an hour and a half this morning. An official 1.35 inches of rain was recorded there in a three-hour period ending at 7.30 a.m.

Generally, the rain fell along a line from Del Rio on the Rio Grande to Abilene. Showers were expected to reach West and Northwest Texas, the coastal plains and Southeast Texas later in the day.

Romania Takes Stand

Vienna, Austria (AP) — Independent-minded Romania declared today it intended to strengthen links with all Communist countries, obviously including Red China.

That appeared to be the Romanian answer to severe criticism from Moscow and other Soviet bloc countries because Romania has remained independent in the Soviet-Chinese feud.

The Romanian stand was made clear by Scinteia, official newspaper of the Romanian Communist party. Parts of the article were distributed by Agerpres, the official Romanian news service.

Showers Continue

The rains continued to fall in the Snyder area Tuesday, indicating that August will be a big month, rainfall wise. The official gauge registered 1.2 inches of moisture yesterday, bringing the total of the month up to 5.97 inches, with only a third of the month gone.

Water continued to flow into Lake J. B. Thomas today, and it had risen nine inches since yesterday morning. The total rise for the past three days has been about two feet, three inches.

A sad tale of an affair, a divorce and 'true love'

By Abigail Van Buren

[© 1971 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.]

DEAR ABBY: I am 41 and Viva, my wife, is 36. After 12 years of marriage, Viva had an affair with a guy at work. [I'll call him Roy.] It wasn't her first affair, and I don't think it will be her last. I couldn't take it anymore, so I divorced her and got our three kids. Meanwhile, Roy's wife wouldn't give him a divorce because she said she wasn't going to deprive their four kids of a father. Viva begged me to go with her and try to talk Roy's wife [I'll call her Minnie] into giving Roy a divorce so he could marry my ex-wife.

I went, and the minute I saw Minnie and she saw me, we knew we were meant for each other. We've been seeing each other, and she says she loves me, but she won't give Roy a divorce. I am going crazy!

So what do I do? Stop seeing Minnie? I can't. I love her. Or do I drive my car off a cliff? —GOING CRAZY

DEAR GOING: Don't look for any cliffs. In time, Minnie will realize that the kind of father she doesn't want to deprive her children of is not worth hanging onto. And if you and Minnie were indeed meant for each other, love will find a way.

DEAR ABBY: We live in a very nice apartment building, and our problem is the couple directly above us. They are "show people" and they don't come alive until 1 a. m. Abby, we know show people have to live, too, but we have to get our sleep between midnight and 7 a. m., and that's the time they do their house cleaning and listen to stereo and TV. And when they have company it's really impossible to sleep!

I have hinted a few times. ["Boy, that must have been some party you had last night!"], but that hasn't helped. We don't want to get nasty about it, but we were here first, and since our hours are more normal than theirs, we think they should be the ones to either move, or hold down the noise. So how do we get this across to them without making enemies? They are really very nice people otherwise. —UP NIGHTS

DEAR UP: Quit hinting and let them know that they are disturbing you. But don't expect instant silence. It's practically impossible to hold down the noise of normal living.

DEAR ABBY: I want to know if there is any way I can get either a legal separation or a divorce without having to spend a fortune. I could pay a few hundred dollars, but no more. I do not qualify for legal aid because my husband makes too much money. Of course what HE makes is not doing me any good because he refuses to give me any money, and I have none of my own. We have three children at home and I am extremely unhappy with my husband and want him out of my life, legally.

Please answer at once because I just can't take it any more. Thank you. —WITHHOLD MY NAME

DEAR WITHHOLD: I don't know where you live, but I suggest that you make an appointment with one of the most reputable lawyers in your community. Tell HIM your problem. You may get a pleasant surprise.

CONFIDENTIAL TO ART: Don't expect anyone to pin a rose on your nose. Conscience gets a lot of credit for that which belongs to cold feet.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

MARY

Star Cast members from State. Also included are 5 Best-Actors from Regional one-act play contests.

Miss Martin will take the role of Mary Stuart of Scotland, a role she played in this year's state championship one-act-play in a different play written by German writer, Schiller. Starnes will play her ill-fated lover, the Earl of Bothwell. Miss Martin, the only high school performer to win two consecutive Samuel French Awards in the history of the Texas One-Act-Play Contest, was selected best actress at State in 1970 and again in 1971. Starnes was selected best-actor at District, Regional and State for his role of John Proctor in the 1968 State Championship production of THE CRUCIBLE.

An equally fine supporting cast has been put together for the show. Pam Hartsfield, member of two state championship casts, and an all-star cast member at District and State as well as best actress at Regional, will take the role of Elizabeth I of England. Jamie Boren, best actor at State in 1970, will play Lord Darnley, the boy-husband of Queen Mary.

Mike Dennis, best actor at State in 1971, will play the role of Lord Huntley, while Robert Sadler, best actor at Regional in 1969, will play Mary's irreverent brother, Lord Moray.

Gary Terrell, best actor at District, and all-star cast member at the state contest in 1970, will fill the role of Lord Burleigh. Greg Carter, two-time winner of University of Texas Technical Theater award, will play Rizzie. Danny Martin, member of this years State one-act-play cast will play Lord Maitland. Randy Carmichael, member of the all-star cast at State in 1971, will play Rev. John Knox.

Allana Patterson and Karen Sears, both members of this year's state championship one-act-play cast, will play roles of Mary Beaton and Mary Livingstone, ladies in waiting to Mary of Scotland. Billy Tate and Weldon Sears, also veterans of state championship casts, will play the roles of Lord Throgmorton and soldiers in Bothwell's army.

Bob Jackson has been cast as Lord Ruthven; the guards will be played by Max Mearse, Mike Martin, David Cotton and Jamie Boren.

The drama concerns itself with six years in the lives of young Mary of Scotland and her rival, Elizabeth of England. Antonia Fraser's best selling, MARY QUEEN OF SCOTS, (forty weeks on best-seller lists) has aroused interest anew in the story of this young monarch. A movie, starring Glenda Jackson, this year's Academy Award winner, is currently being made from the book.

Tickets to the play may be purchased at the door. Admission will be one dollar for adults and 50 cents for students under Junior High School age.

Turns Pay Raise Down

WASHINGTON (AP) — George Shultz, director of the Office of Management and Budget says he has asked his boss, President Nixon, not to give him a pay raise.

A presidential commission had recommended that Shultz's job and that of Federal Reserve Board Chairman Arthur Burns be raised from Level 2 to Level 1, a pay increase from $42,000 to $62,500.

Shultz said he agreed with the raise in status but told the President the pay raises should not go into effect until he and Burns left the posts.

President Nixon said last week that Burns had turned down a pay raise because he didn't think it proper while government blue-collar workers were being denied raises.

Chile Phases Out US Aid

By GEORGE GEDDA
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chile has quietly been phased out of the United States foreign-assistance program after receiving more per capita over the past decade than any other South American nation

However, State Department sources say Chile's exclusion is attributable to economic considerations—not to emergence of a socialist government in Chile headed by Marxist President Salvador Allende.

They say Chile's balance-of-payments situation does not require any development loans, adding that no loan applications have been received from the nine-month-old Allende government.

The Chilean embassy did not comment on the aid phaseout.

The Agency for International Development (AID) has placed heavy emphasis in recent years on the so-called balance-of-payments loans, aimed at liberalizing money and credit policies to stimulate employment, output and investment.

Chile's exclusion from the development-loan program is disclosed in an AID report on projected outlays for Latin American for fiscal 1972.

Chile is omitted from the list of 15 Latin American countries for which $310 million is earmarked for development loans during the year.

The exclusion contrasts sharply with preferential treatment the United States showed previous Chilean governments, particularly that of Allende's predecessor, Eduardo Frei.

Between 1961 and 1970, Chile received $461.8 million in development loans or about $50 for each Chilean, the highest per-capita figure for any South American nation.

The highest gross sum, $1.1 billion, was allocated to Brazil.

The only other major countries omitted from the fiscal 1972 list are Venezuela, Argentina and Mexico, which have not received U.S. loans for years because of their relatively advanced development levels.

Two Hurt In Mishap

Jacqueline Marie Hagins, 20, 606 Twenty-ninth Street, and Paula Erwin, 10, 2306 Thirtieth Street, sustained minor injuries in a two-car collision that occurred in the 2500 block of Avenue R at 9:45 p.m. Tuesday. Neither was hospitalized.

Jacqueline was the driver of a 1971 Model Plymouth that was in collision with a 1969 Model Mercury operated by Bobbie Bernice Felton, 3108 Avenue B. Paula was a passenger in Jacqueline's car. Damage to both vehicles was minor.

Officers also investigated two other motor vehicle mishaps Tuesday. The first one occurred at 3 p.m. in the 3800 block of Avenue V. Involved were the 1964 Model Mercury of Juanita Ussery Baker, 3822 Avenue V, and the 1967 Model Ford of Barbara Bell Ray, 2705 Thirty-fourth Street. Damage was minor.

The other one occurred at 3:42 p.m. in the 100 block of the East Highway. Involved were the 1965 Model Ford of James Knox Waggoner, Clyde, and the 1956 Model Chevrolet of Walter Franklin Arnett, 3010 Avenue U. Damage was minor.

Officer Bill Roach investigated all three mishaps.

The Federal Aviation Administration recently awarded one company a $49.1 million contract for air traffic control automation equipment.

Question Is Raised On Bond Funds

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — A suggestion by Dallas school Supt. Nolan Estes to use money from a 1967 bond election to implement a recent federal desegregation order came into question Monday by Dallas County commissioners.

The commissioners agreed to ask Texas Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin for an opinion on the legality of using bond funds for purposes other than those specified by voters.

The action came at the request of a delegation from the Pleasant Grove Chamber of Commerce. Roy L. Roberts, president of the Chamber, told the commissioners that some residents might move from the Pleasant Grove area because of proposed busing of about 300 students from Pleasant Grove to South Dallas.

Roberts said a stay order for the busing proposal has given Pleasant Grove citizens time to act to change the proposal before it is implemented. "Now is the time to formulate and implement plans and change the law if need be," Roberts said. "We at the Pleasant Grove Chamber of Commerce feel we should do everything within the power of our charter to prevent busing."

Newton Trial Date Set

OAKLAND Calif. (AP) — Black Panther cofounder Huey P. Newton has been ordered to stand trial for the third time on Oct. 12 in the 1967 fatal shooting of an Oakland policeman.

Superior Court Judge William Hayes scheduled the retrial Tuesday for Newton on manslaughter charges, despite defense attorney Charles Garry's plea for a 90-day continuance.

"I will not be there," Garry said after the hearing, because of conflicting court commitments.

After a heated argument between Hayes and Garry over the trial date, the judge declared, "I'm running this court." Newton, who stood beside Garry during the proceedings, said he was "willing to waive time" when the judge said he was entitled by law to a trial within 60 days.

The 29-year-old Newton's second trial ended Sunday in a mistrial when a jury of 10 men and 2 women reported an 11-1 deadlock after six days of deliberations.

Watson Jury Is Seated

LOS ANGELES (AP) — After six days of questioning, prosecution and defense attorneys have settled on a jury of six men and six women to try Charles "Tex" Watson in the killings two years ago of actress Sharon Tate and six others.

The jury was seated Tuesday and selection of four alternate jurors is expected to take another day. The court may be recessed until Monday before attorneys make their opening arguments.

Watson has pleaded innocent and innocent by reason of insanity. He was fighting extradition from Texas when Charles Manson and three women were convicted and sentenced to death for the 1969 murders.

In another trial involving the so-called "Manson family," a former Wisconsin librarian who once told a jury how a musician was smothered by members of Charles Manson's hippie-type clan says now it was all a lie.

MGM Back Lot To Be Razed

By GENE HANDSAKER
Associated Press Writer

CULVER CITY, Calif. (AP) — The solitary gallows, its trap sprung, its noose swaying in the hot breeze, lacked only the victim.

Along the deserted Western street—saloon, stage depot, jail, Perkins general store, Quong Lee laundry—tinkled the laughter of a nearby cocktail luncheon Tuesday celebrating an announcement that could only make dyed-in-Technicolor movie buffs weep:

This month bulldozers will start ripping out the Western street and many other historic sets on MGM's 68-acre back lot No. 3 for a $60 million complex of luxury condominiums and apartments.

Slated to fall, as the developer puts up 2,000 residential units with rustic exteriors on spacious sites, are:

—The street where Clark Gable and Spencer Tracy fought in the mud in "Boom Town."

—The three-million-gallon water tank where the Cottonblossom sailed in "Showboat," a 40-foot miniature of HMS Bounty sank in "Mutiny on the Bounty" and Wally Beery and Marie Dressler squabbled on shipboard in "Tugboat Annie."

—The palace stairs trod by Marlene Dietrich and Ronald Colman in "Kismet" and the Army barracks from "See Here, Private Hargrove."

Slated to remain are many of the lot's pine, eucalyptus and other trees, including some from which Johnny Weissmuller swung as Tarzan. A quarter-mile manmade lake will be redesigned and given docks and recreational facilities.

The development will be called Raintree after "Raintree County," one of the movies made on the lot. Other films made there include "Huckleberry Finn," "Seven Brides for Seven Brothers," "Lilac Time," "Billy the Kid," "Ben-Hur," "Ice Station Zebra," "The Singing Nun" and "The Brothers Karamazov."

The site was acquired from MGM for $7.25 million by ITT Levitt and Sons, Inc.

"Our back lots were no longer a requisite for today's concept of moviemaking with its emphasis on realism and truth," MGM President James T. Aubrey Jr. told reporters.

Marchenko To Live In Chunya

MOSCOW (AP) — Reliable sources say Anatoly Marchenko, author of an autobiographical novel about Soviet labor camps, has gone to Chunya in western Siberia after being released from a three-year confinement.

The sources said Monday that Marchenko is expected to live in Chunya at least six months until he receives police permission to leave the area.

Marchenko became known in the West with the publication in 1969 of a novel called "My Testimony," based on experiences in prison camps that began with his sentence about 10 years ago, after a brawl in a workers' hostel in Siberia.

In the book, he describes the camps as "just as horrible as in the time of Stalin."

He was sentenced to a one-year term in 1968 for being in Moscow without a permit, and to a two-year term in 1969 on a charge believed to be under a section of the Russian criminal code dealing with anti-Soviet defamation and slander.

Girls Go Back to School

Layout by Joe Damone.

BACK TO SCHOOL TIME — The girls' clothes here are good for playing, and are pretty too. First, at left, is a ruffled dress, starring buttons and bows. The sleeves are long and elasticized and the hemline flounces. Next is a hot pants suit made to be worn with opaque tights and knee socks. It includes a long, pullover shirt and matching shorts in a color combination of beet and orange with lavender top stitching. A T-shirt dress over matching slacks comes next. The tri-color story is important this fall, and the navy dress sports yellow and green sleeves. Last is an ankle-length dress with a pink and white checked bib, pussycat bow and peek-a-boo edge on a green, pink and blue plaid.

"TELEVENUS" — A 50-pound telephone receiver was made by Ruth Francken, who believes the telephone is a lovely art form.

Sculptress Likes Making Telephones

By ALISON LERRICK

PARIS (AP) — Ruth Francken has spent the last five years on the telephone. But she hasn't spent her time talking—she makes telephones.

"They are symbols of human contact," says the dark-haired sculptress, whose apartment-atelier houses dozens of such symbols—in aluminum, stainless steel and plexiglass, not to mention a genuine model that "never functions."

"The telephone is a tragic form of communication," adds Miss Francken, who is convinced that holding a telephone in your hand is no substitute for holding hands.

In her sculptures, however, she sticks to the infinite possibilities of the receiver, "one of the most beautiful modern forms" and forgets the rest.

In her living room, an arm brandishes a receiver a la Statue of Liberty, while the red coffee table, soon to be manufactured, cries out for a bushel of receivers to fill the recesses that striate its surface.

Downstairs, cradled on a black leather cushion, is Televenus, a yard-long receiver glistening in metallic plum paint. She covers it in a waterproof sheet to protect it from the leaky skylight.

Czechoslovakian by birth, American by naturalization and Parisian by adoption after 23 years, Miss Francken began as a painter.

Thanks to a Ford Foundation grant, she "found herself" in Berlin in 1964. She switched to sculpture for economic reasons, she explained.

First came her "silent period," but Miss Francken feels there is more to a telephone than sitting still and looking beautiful. So she created Telephone 5, an aluminum box. Inside are two receivers; unhook, and an electronic whine replies.

Pandora 3, a box too, speaks up when you pull out a giant aluminum plug. Pandoras 1 and 2 though, which contain respectively a receiver and a telegraph pole insulator, are silent. Her major piece, in size, concept and price, was conceived as a cross between a computer and a bisected rocket. It has a flat side dotted with numbers, holes and flashing lights. When plugged in at random, with a choice of three big plugs, it utters an electronic lament of squeals and moans interrupted by a few purrs which drown out the feeble fingle of the real telephone nearby.

Macaroni paris well with leftover meals to provide a salad entree especially inviting in the summertime. Simply cook and drain macaroni and combine with an equal amount of leftover beef, cooked pork or ham, cut in pieces. Bits of bacon or cubes of luncheon meat also can be used. Add celery and green onions, cut in pieces and pickle relish or chopped olives. Moisten with mayonnaise, chill and serve.

Good Seen In Toxicant

HOUSTON (AP)— Often highly toxic drugs used to treat cancer can be beneficial in other diseases, but doctors ignore them, a Minnesota researcher said here recently.

Dr. B. J. Kennedy of the Internal Medicine Department at the University of Minnesota Medical School in Minneapolis was in Houston to participate in a conference on tumors.

Far too often, he said, doctors dwell on the toxic effects of some cancer drugs but he has found some of the worst drug reactions in cancer patients can be beneficial to persons suffering from non-malignant ailments.

For example Dr. Kennedy said women given a male hormone drug to treat breast cancer tend to produce an excessive amount of red blood cells. But that very effect "is highly useful," he said, in treating some forms of anemia.

Another drug, mitchramycin, was once though too poisonous for human use but is now given to patients with some forms of cancer, Dr. Kennedy said. Its primary toxic effect is decreasing calcium in the patient's blood. This reaction, however, is good for some types of bone ailments, he said.

Another drug, hydroxyurea, is effective for one type of chronic leukemia, but it causes a rash on patients' hands and inhibits synthsis so essential to cell production, Dr. Kennedy explained.

But that particular toxic effect is beneficial to persons with psoriasis, a chronic skin disease that increases the synthesis.

"In other words, my message is, simply, that there is something good in everything—or at least in most of the drugs.

GOOD LUNCH

Zucchini Omelet — Potato Sticks
Tomato Salad — Bread Tray
Cantaloupe — Beverage

ZUCCHINI OMELET

Simple but delicious combination of ingredients.

¼ cup corn oil
2 cups thinly sliced unpared zucchini
4 large eggs, slightly beaten
¾ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon white pepper
¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese

In a 10-inch skillet heat oil; add zucchini and cook over moderate heat, stirring several times, until lightly browned and tender—about 5 minutes. Mix remaining ingredients; pour over zucchini; as mixture sets, lift edges and tilt pan so soft portion runs down to bottom of pan. While still slightly soft on top, cut into 4 wedges and turn over to brown other side lightly. Makes 4 servings.

Fashion Designer Is Switching

PARIS (AP) — Fashion designer Yves Saint-Laurent is reported about to abandon big-time high fashion for ready-to-wear clothes and restricted private sales.

Saint-Laurent was not available for comment Monday, but a spokesman for his fashion house said many of the best ideas had gone into Saint-Laurent's boutique collection shown three months ago, rather than the haute courture collection presented late in July.

AWAY-FROM-HOME RULE?

Americans Disgruntled Despite Affluence

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Americans are a restless and sometimes disgruntled people despite their affluence.

They work long and hard and make good money. But they pay high prices and big taxes. And their ever-bigger dreams, year after year, seem to remain just beyond their reach.

A cursory investigatory of affluence suggests some of the reasons.

First and obvious is the fact that many people are denied a sense of achievement because their desires are never satisfied. A goal achieved merely leads to another.

Despite good incomes and assets, some families find they still have little choice in how they spend their money. Many spend 20 per cent on food, more than 20 per cent on owning and operating their home, 10 per cent on taxes, 10 per cent on transportation and another 10 per cent on clothing.

That's 70 per cent for fixed expenses. And the rest isn't theirs to spend as they please. They must pay for medical and dental care, education and personal items such as books and cigarettes.

And to make certain they don't lose it all, a natural consequence of acquisition, they must have insurance policies. Moreover, tradition and common sense demand that they have savings.

The tiny percentage that is left theoretically can be used on recreation, vacations and gifts, but many families find these categories are always on the list of dreams that are just beyond their reach.

The strains of maintaining earning power—as well as the strain of holding onto it once they have it—also contributes to the restlessness and the sense of frustration. A growing number of families are achieving their goals only by means of additional incomes.

There are now more than 18 million wives at work, or 40 per cent of the total, and 10 million of them have children under 18. In fact, one-quarter of all wives with children under three are at work.

The primary breadwinner continues to be the man, but studies show his gross income often is boosted by holding an additional part-time job, and that his living standard would drop abruptly should he lose it.

But work also fulfills a need other than financial. Many people cannot help but work.

A study of workers whose schedules were changed from 5 days of 8 hours each to 4 days of 10 hours showed that many of them declined to use the free time to indulge themselves in the leisurely life they claimed to have been seeking. Instead, they hired onto another job to fill the time.

A good many family incomes are also supported by the efforts of teen-agers, and well they should.

Most parents are shocked to learn how much it costs to raise a child to the age of 18. As this decade, began the tab ranged from more than $19,000 to about $25,000 in urban areas, with $5,550 to $6,500 of that for food alone.

Affluence, it appears, doesn't always mean the easy life. Instead, it is often achieved only through great effort, not just by one member of the family but sometimes by the entire family. And holding onto it may be just as exhausting.

No wonder so many people have that worn out feeling. They just don't know how well off they are.

Time To Prune Worries

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — It's worry-pruning time again.

Around the end of summer, a lot of good selective worriers get careless and start fretting over trifles that really aren't worth a gnat's doubt.

What worries should one discard? Well, that depends on a fellow's personal priorities. But here are a few problems we have decided not to wrinkle our brows about now or perhaps forever:

How soon will it cost a buck to get your shoes shined?

Is the moon to become a mere celestial quarry?

Since the rich do not like each other, who would be left to admire them if there were no poor? Is this a good reason not to abolish poverty?

Are long pendant earrings causing American women to develop chronic backaches?

Is more age the only sure cure for our youth problems?

Has the American taxpayer become the last of the big spenders?

Since giving U.S. money to other nations has not rid them of their woes, why not try giving them some free U.S. advice?

Who will be thrown out of the Social Register next—and why?

Would Norman Mailer's writing be more readable if his publishers left out every other word and two out of three of his opinions?

Should American women be intellectually liberated and if so, from what?

If Elizabeth Taylor wears imitation diamonds in public, how much of the rest of her that meets the eye is real?

What do we need a gold standard for when we can't even afford to put out a genuine silver dollar?

Does the Ship of State have enough lifeboats?

What can a man believe if the government officials aren't sure themselves just what they told him?

Will it be possible for the future college graduate to pay off his tuition loans before he gets his pension?

Can the U.S. Department of Agriculture breed a new kind of beef cattle that will make both ends meat?

Is pollution really worthwhile?

Why should the rest of us try to keep up with the Joneses if they're only going to the poor house?

Monitoring System To Be Organized

AUSTIN (AP) — A global monitoring system to keep the world abreast of its changing environment hopefully will be a major byproduct of the international biological program, says the chairman of the U.S. National Committee.

"What we hope to provide is a basis for political decision which has not existed in the past," said Dr. W. Frank Blair, professor of zoology at the University of Texas.

Blair, who has served on the U.S. committee since its creation in 1967, said he hopes that the United Nations-sponsored monitoring system will become operative after an international conference of the United Nations in Stockholm, Sweden, next year.

For the first time ever, Blair said, an international group will have as its most important function the preservation and proper management of the earth's ecosystems.

"We cannot make decisions," he said during a recent interview, "but we can say what the state of the ecosystem is. The politicians must make the decisions on a worldwide basis."

When organized, the global monitoring system will consist of baseline stations designed to detect such things as metals like mercury and cadmium, persistent pesticides, and percentage of carbon dioxide.

"All facets of the problem will be monitored in the air, soil, water, and in living organisms," Blair said. "Of special interest will be changes in species diversity—where one species becomes especially abundant or scarce in a particular system."

One current example of the cooperative work being undertaken involves the study of the Monte Desert area in Northern Argentina and how it compares to the Sonora Desert in Northern Mexico.

"Desert development could be a real disaster unless we know what to expect," said Blair.

Typical of other U.S. studies are those on migrant populations that are moving from poverty-stricken areas of the South to northern poverty areas and the Alaska tundra project.

Junior Editors Quiz on BEARDS

QUESTION: Some men have beards. Why don't all men have them? And do they have any meaning?

ANSWER: Early in man's development, beards were a protection from cold and excessive heat. Just as feathers are characteristic of birds, hair is characteristic of mammals. When a child reaches the age of maturity, there is a transformation in the growth of hair. Certain glands secrete hormones which have a large effect on the development of hair. In the male, the beard is developed while the growth of hair on the head is slowed down. In early civilization, the function of the beard was probably to make it easy to tell men and women apart at a distance. It also gave the male an appearance of dignity and so made him more attractive to the female.

Some kings preferred beards and their courtiers, lawyers, soldiers and merchants all had them. Other kings issued decrees against them, then it became unfashionable to have a beard. Since the 18th century, beards were out of favor, but now the style has been revived. The shape of the beard developed a name such as Van Dyke after the Flemish painter, or the "sideburn," named after the Civil War General, Ambrose Burnside.

Graebner Moves Up

By MIKE HARRIS
Associated Press Sports Writer

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Clark Graebner, the youthful independent pro tennis player from New York City, is a relaxed and confident man as he faces the challenge of the 1971 National Clay Court Open Championships here.

Graebner easily moved into the second round of play Tuesday at the venerable Woodstock Country Club on this city's north side. The 28-year-old with the dark good looks was totally under control as he bested Jean Chanfreau of France, 6-3, 6-1.

This Graebner is a somewhat different man from the amateur who won the Clay Court title at Milwaukee in 1968.

In 1968, Graebner was a near look alike to Superman's alter-ego, Clark Kent. He wore his black hair combed back with a nice neat part and he also wore dark-framed glasses. His manner of dress was somewhat subdued and his greatest flair was his temper, which was known to boil over on occasion.

Graebner, seeded third, was one of four men's singles players turning in victories in the $58,000 tournament Tuesday.

Top seed Cliff Richey of Sarasota, Fla., lost his service in his second set with Vicente Zarazula of Mexico, but rallied to take the match, 6-0, 7-5. Sixth seeded Frank Froehling, Miami, Fla., survived the longest and one of the toughest matches of the day, coming from a 3-1 deficit in the final set to beat Joaquin Loyo Mayo of Mexico, 4-6, 7-5, 7-5.

Jaime Fillol of Chile, seeded seventh, bumped Argentina's Lito Alvarez, 7-5, 6-2.

In the biggest men's upset of the day, eight-seeded George Goven of France fell to unseeded Eddie Dibbs, Miami, Fla., 6-3, 6-3. Goven joined fourth seed Tom Gorman, who lost Monday, on the outside, looking in.

Top women's seed Billie Jean King and defending champion and No. 2 seed Linda Tuero swept to easy second round victories. Mrs. King, Long Beach, Calif., stopped Tina Watanabe of Los Angeles, 6-1, 6-2, while Miss Tuero, New Orleans La., beat Janice Metcalf, Claremont, Calif., 6-4, 6-1.

The only big upset on the female side Tuesday saw fifth-seeded Judy Dalton of Australia fall out of the competition when she retired after losing the first set of her match with Laura DuPont of Wilmington, Del., 6-4. No reason for her retirement was given.

Singles will continue today and doubles will begin during the afternoon. The finals of the tournament are scheduled for Sunday afternoon.

Tiger Booster Club Has First Meeting

The Snyder Booster Club held its first meeting of the year last night at the high school cafeteria, and Coach Moe Hodges introduced his staff. The varsity and junior varsity staff includes Coach Hodges, and Coaches Gene Scott, Jim Bartlett, Mike Honeycutt, Bill Hartsfield, Milton Ham, Bob Moore and Tony Dunn.

The Club also launched its membership drive. Memberships can be purchased for $5. They are available at Rogers, Inc., McCormick & Sons, and the Texaco Sales office.

The grid candidates will meet at 6 a.m. next Monday, Aug. 16, to take their physicals. Two-a-day drills also will begin the same day.

Coach Hodges will introduce the players at an intra-squad scrimmage Aug. 24. There are two scrimmages scheduled against outside teams. The Tigers will tussle with Canyon at Plainview Aug. 27, and they will practice against Midland here Sept. 3.

Del Hirst, president of the Booster Club, reminded area sports fans that West Texas football magazines still are on sale at local drug stores at the rate of $1.60 for each copy.

Billy Truax Is Making Comeback

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS (AP) — Billy Truax knows a no contest when he sees one.

Crippled since he arrived in the Dallas Cowboy camp from the Los Angeles Rams, the clutch-catching tight end says "There really hasn't been much of a battle between Mike Ditka and I...I really haven't done much since the day I was injured."

Being a realist is one thing, but cottoning to a bench rider's job is another.

Truax is making a slow, calculated comeback from a strained achilles tendon and a pulled calf muscle.

"The games don't start counting until September," says Truax who had to sit out Dallas' 45-21 exhibition romp over his former teammates Friday night.

"What you don't want to do is try to make your leg do something it's not ready to do."

Truax is moving about on the practice field gingerly as the Cowboys prepare for Saturday night's National Football League pre-season contest with the New Orleans Saints.

Ditka is having his greatest pre-season since he came to the Cowboys and this is riding heavily on Truax, who refuses to panic over his predicament.

"I haven't missed a (regular season) game in seven years and I'm not going to knock myself out and take a chance of injuring myself again," Truax says. "I want to play and I will compete rigorously when I'm well."

Truax, a former Louisiana State star, has caught 29, 37, 35, 37 and 36 passes in his last five seasons. His seven-year totals are 180 receptions. And he's hauled down 16 touchdown passes.

Truax has had problems galore other than injuries.

"I flunked the evaluation test ...And I was overweight a few pounds...Then I flunked my first quizzes on my assignments," he says.

But Truax was all smiles after Tuesday's workout which he went through at half-speed.

Although it's doubtful he will play against New Orleans, he said "It's coming along."

The comeback has begun.

Trainer Frank Whiteley has saddled two Preakness winners.

Fran Wants Investment Money

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Fran Tarkenton, the star New York Giants' quarterback who left the team over a contract dispute, says all he wants in his contract dispute is what many National Football League teams have given their quarterbacks—a loan.

"This loan thing should be obvious to anybody," he said in Atlanta Tuesday. "You take less salary and more loan, and that package could get you the top dollar." The loan would be a tax advantage and would allow more funds for investment.

Wellington T. Mara, Giants owner, said Monday after Tarkenton left the team that the quarterback had sought a six-figure loan and implied it had something to do with his business ventures.

"This contract has nothing to do with my business ventures," said Tarkenton, whose many business interests have reportedly made him a millionaire.

"When you get in a high tax bracket which I'm in, thankfully you don't need ordinary income," he said. "I was willing to sacrifice ordinary income for the advantages of the loan."

Meanwhile, Giants Coach Alex Webster said he was happy with Tarkenton's replacement Dick Shiner. "I think he can take the Giants to a championship."

The Oakland Raiders and New York Jets will be without the services of their top signal callers when they tangle Saturday in one of the weekend's NFL exhibition contests.

Jets quarterback Joe Namath, injured last Saturday against the Detroit Lions, will be out of uniform at least until mid-November and Raiders quarterback Daryl Lamonica has been sidelined with a twisted knee.

Al Woodall, who replaced Namath for the last nine games of last season after Namath broke his wrist, will have the starting nod for the Jets while Kenny Stabler, who tossed for 254 yards in the Raiders' losing 25-24 effort against Philadelphia last Monday, will call the plays.

Elsewhere in the NFL Tuesday, the Atlanta Falcons' scrimmage had some tense moments when linebacker Tommy Nobis scuffled briefly with rookie receiver Ken Burrow.

San Francisco 49ers Coach Dick Nolan, elated with his team's 38-24 victory last weekend over Cleveland, said he thought the 49ers are tougher this year than last. "They know they can win and that's a plus for any club," he said.

U.S. Athlete Attacked

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer

CALI, Colombia (AP) — The United States again has grabbed a lordly share of medals in the Sixth PanAmerican Games, a tropical mixture of talent and off-the-field tempests which staggers to a virtual close today with a fuse still sizzling on a Cuba-USA incident.

The day before the departure to Cuba of the USA's strong volleyball team for regional Olympic trials, U.S. officials still awaited response from Cuba to a formal apology demand for a Cuban attack on an American athlete.

The demand was made after unidentified Cubans roughed up James Culhane, 28, New Haven, Conn., a gymnast, during one of several melees resulting from attempts to grab some commemorative flags as souvenirs.

Culhane, who took one of the Cali games flags from the PaAm Village Court of Flags, suffered eye cuts when his glasses were shattered by angry Cubans thinking it was their flag Culhane had taken.

It took U.S. State Department permission to permit the USA volleyball team's visit to Cuba Friday which presumably still is on, whether or not an immediate Cuban apology is forthcoming.

With a last minute flow of medals by the men's and women's swimmers who finish up tonight, the USA's medal collection since the Cali carnival began July 31, is 95 golds, 70 silver and 39 bronze for a total of 204.

The USA will finish slightly below its 225 overall medal harvest at Winnipeg in 1967, but with a notable drop from 120 gold medals captured four years ago.

The real surprise has been Cuba, whose Russian technical aid obviously has spread from scientific and industrial fields to the realm of athletics.

Entering the closing hours of competition, the well-trained Cubans have captured 25 gold medals, compared with only eight at Winnipeg, and an overall total of 93 medallions that compares with 48 when they finished a poor third behind host Canada (92).

The Cubans whipped the USA in two sports as American as hot dogs and apple pie, men's basketball and baseball.

Cuba handed the U.S. its only basketball defeat, and it proved enough to end a 20-year Yankee PanAm dynasty.

Tuesday, even as towering Frank Heckl grabbed his fourth gold medal and led a USA sweep of four men's and women's swim events, Cuba made its baseball dethroning of the U.S. official with a 10-4 spanking of Colombia, Cuba finished with a perfect 8-0 record. Defending champion USA settled for the silver second medal with a 6-2 mark by closing a 7-2 winner over Venezuela.

Heckl's fourth gold medal came in the 100-meter butterfly, only USA triumph which failed to set a PanAm record last night.

Pat Miles, unheralded 18-year-old from Little Rock, Ark., lowered Mike Burton's 1,500 meter free style record by 12.2 seconds as he barely edged Tom McBreen, also 18, of San Mateo, Calif., in 16:32.0.

For the USA gal swimmers, Lynn Colella, University of Washington mechanical engineering student, grabbed her second gold with a record 2:23.1 triumph in the 200 butterfly. She had scored a record-breaking triumph in the 200 breaststroke Tuesday night.

The USA's feminine 400 meter free style relay team won with a record 4:04.2, to finally catch Canada at 6-6 in gold medals, exclusive of Canada's two diving titles.

Heckl gets a crack at a fifth gold medal tonight in the men's 100 meter freestyle, along with the men's 1,600 meter freestyle relay and the women's 100 and 800 meter freestyles, the only remaining swim competition.

The USA figures to finish 1-2 in the men's 10-meter platform diving today

Rick Early, Cincinnati, with 302.85, moved in front after seven dives yesterday.

The far-from-folksy rivalry between the USA and Cuba will be accented tonight when the two nations, both with perfect 4-0 records, clash for the water polo gold medal with the village flag fracas expected to be reflected.

Six wrestling titles settled, super heavyweight Jeffrey Smith, 230-pound Norwalk, Calif., high school teacher, pinned down the USA's fifth golf medal last night.

Thursday, final action in basketball, cycling, soccer and field hockey winds up the original 20-sport program.

Trevino Keeps Nurses Smiling

TRUTH OR CONSEQUENCES, N.M. (AP) — Lee Trevino, who keeps the gallery laughing at golf tournaments, has a new audience—the nurses at St. Anne's Hospital.

Trevino, the PGA tour's leading money winner for 1971, underwent surgery for appendicitis early Tuesday and is reported in good condition.

"He keeps us laughing," said the nurse. She noted, however, that he hasn't given any golf lessons to the nursing staff yet.

"He's not quite up to that," she said, and noted Trevino was a "wonderful patient."

A hospital spokesman said he was up and walking Tuesday and said there had been "no complications whatsoever."

Trevino, one of the most talkative golfers on the pro circuit, was allowed to talk Tuesday only to family and close friends.

Gov. Smith Challenges Redistricting Board

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Preston Smith challenged the state redistricting board Tuesday to have political courage and redistrict the Texas House as well as the state Senate when it meets Aug. 24.

Smith said such action might prevent a special session of the legislature that would be costly to taxpayers and "a hot political potato" to 1972 political candidates.

"Since Dist. Judge Herman Jones has declared the Texas House redistricting plan unconstitutional, it behooves the members of the board to begin immediately to redraw House district lines that will be acceptable," said a statement from Smith.

Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes said Monday the five-member redistricting board, which is provided by the constitution to redraw legislative districts after each 10-year census if the first regular legislatue fails to act, would meet Aug. 24. to change state senatorial districts to conform with the 1970 census.

The recent legislative session did not act on senatorial districts although it passed a House redistricting bill which was declared unconstitutional by an Austin district court. The decision has been appealed to the Texas Supreme Court, probably for a hearing in October when the court returns from a summer recess.

Barnes said Tuesday that Smith had not discussed redistricting with him. "I don't know how he can tell what the commission is or isn't going to consider," Barnes said.

Atty. Gen Crawford Martin issued a statement saying he intended to discuss the House redistricting matter with the board when it meets Aug. 24.

"I do want to make it clear that Judge Jones' decision will be appealed as rapidly as possible to the Supreme Court of Texas in accordance with the duty of the attorney general. The court is in adjournment subject to the call of the chief justice. The chief justice is out of the city and my office has been unable to reach him. However, we expect to be in contact with him before the end of the week," Martin said.

Barnes' announcement of the Aug. 24 meeting made no mention of House districts.

The board consists of Barnes, as lieutenant governor; Speaker Gus Mutscher, Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin; Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong, and comptroller Robert S. Calvert.

"The fact that the (House redistricting) case is on appeal does not preclude the redistricting board from making preparations for the eventuality of the Supreme Court either upholding or overturning the lower court decision," Smith said.

"Let's look at it this way. Judge Jones declared, in effect, that the legislature failed to act.

"He wiped that book clean. Under the law, which the board members seem reluctant, for whatever their personal reasons may be, to move, they are required to draw new district boundaries.

"What do the board members want? Do they want to "walk softly" because of possible political repercussions? Do they want to abrogate their duties so they can put the blame for a special session on somebody else's back?

"That is the most blatant lack of assuming clearly defined responsibilities this state has ever seen. I am sure some of the board members will fall back on the excuse that the case is being appealed.

"The issue of whether the board has the authority to move ahead is not connected with this case. Quite the contrary. The board, it seems to me, has a clear duty to begin immediately steps which will save money for the taxpayers and to meet the responsibilities with which it has been charged.

"A special session just because something might be a 'hot political potato' would cost the taxpayers of this state more than half a million dollars.

"I have no intention of 'playing games' with the dollars of the taxpayers of Texas.

"All of us in public office were elected to serve the state — not our own personal desires and whims.

"I think the people of our state deserve to have fair, honest, democratic and constitutional redistricting as quickly as possible and at the least possible cost to our taxpayers. And, that is what I am calling for."

Prostitutes To Test Drug

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP) — Nevada, with the nation's third highest venereal disease rate, plans to fight back by enlisting prostitutes to test a new use for an old drug.

The drug is progonasyl—for prophylactic against gonorrhea and syphilis—a spermicide, long used as a contraceptive.

Dr. William M. Edwards, chief of the Bureau of Preventive Medicine, says that in limited testing it has been 100 per cent effective at killing VD germs.

"It's a jelly that will enmesh the VD germs and kill them, just as it kills sperm when used as a contraceptive," he said. "It's an antiseptic, not a treatment, thus reducing greatly but not eliminating entirely the likelihood of transmission between subjects during sexual intercourse."

"Nevada is probably the only place in the country where the drug could be tested on such a large and controlled scale," he said. Nevada counties may, by local option, allow houses of prostitution. Edwards said the project will enlist the help of about 200 of the approximately 240 prostitutes in the 40 houses in the state.

"The girls want to help us. They want to stay clean," he said.

He said about $25,000 worth of the drug will be obtained from the manufacturer, Amerex Laboratories, Inc., of San Antonio, Tex., and a person in each house will supervise use.

"The girls will be examined before the test starts and then during the test period for possible VD contact and possible irritation from the drug. Then, we'll evaluate the results of the test after the six-month period," he said.

"It's no panacea and other drugs must still be used if a person is infected with VD," he added.

BUSINESS And INDUSTRIAL NEWS

A TEAM TO BETTER SERVE YOU — Leslie McBeth, owner of McBeth Egg Farms in Snyder, announces the addition of a working partner to the firm. Tommy Marricle has been with McBeth Egg Farm since January of 1970. He came here with many years in sales and public relations, having been a successful insurance agent for some six years and a former County Commissioner of Midland County. Tommy, his wife, Tavia, and young son, David, reside on the farm out on the Roby Highway.

Marricle New Partner At McBeth Egg Farm

Just east of Snyder is one of the growing enterprises that continues to grow with Snyder. This is the McBeth Cage Egg Farm that has been owned and operated by Leslie McBeth. He has been producing top grade eggs for Snyder and nearby towns for more than 10 years. The farm has grown from a few thousand hens to more than 50,000 happy hens. They are fed a special feed and eggs are processed and carried to retail stores in the shortest time.

To keep an operation like this going requires several good employes that are trained for this special job. Tommy Marricle, a former County Commissioner of Midland County, is a working partner. His wife, Tavia, and son, David, also work at the egg farm.

With this new operation, Leslie says, "We are working partners as I will take care of production and Tommy will be in charge of sales. Together we will continue to have the same plan—to furnish our customers with the best and freshest eggs to be had."

Many improvements have been made at the farm in the last few months, such as automatic feeding and a feed mill to mix their own feed. But machinery and automation will not take the place of close personal supervision in their line of business. And that is where Tavia helps out, says Leslie.

Tavia is in charge of the processing plant where the eggs are washed, candled and graded. She sees that the housewife gets the top quality eggs that she demands. Young David, who will be in the ninth grade this Fall, also is busy learning the business from the ground up.

McBeth and Marricle Egg Farms are the largest independent egg producers in West Texas. They have grown because of their determination to produce the best, and they will continue to do so. They thank you for your past business and ask you to have a hearty breakfast with McBeth and Marricle eggs. Our astronauts had eggs for breakfast before leaving the other morning: not because they were cheap, though. Eggs furnish energy for a rough day. McBeth and Marricle eggs are miles fresher too.

GSA Using Low Pollution Cars

By HARRY EISENBERG
Associated Press Writer

BOSTON (AP) — "You could get your face right next to the exhaust and not see or smell anything," a government inspector said of low-pollution cars being put into use by the General Services Administration.

"These cars are about 95 per cent emission-free," added Robert W. Kelly, an automotive inspector for the GSA.

Eleven of the vehicles—powered by liquid natural gas—were put into service this week by the GSA and long-range plans call for the agency to convert all of its 49,500 vehicles across the country within the next five years. Eighty-nine more are expected to be ready here within a few months.

The fuel system, however, still is—at best—some distance from the public market.

Under the Clean Air Act of 1970, manufacturers are required to produce a virtually pollution-free auto by 1976. But automakers have said it will be impossible to mass produce a substitute for the internal combustion engine in that time.

"Detroit is watching this experiment closely," said Robert L. Kunzig, GSA administrator. "Perhaps Detroit will come up with something similar; or better."

The government cars have their liquid natural gas stored—at 259 degrees below zero—in an insulated 20 gallon tank in the trunk. The gas cost the government about 16 cents a gallon, the same price it pays—tax free—for regular gasoline. The gas is purchased from a local company and stored in a fuel truck at the GSA center.

Mileage is about the same as regular gasoline, but there is no lead in the fuel and less wear on the engine.

Cost of the unit and installation, however, is the problem. The price of the tank, tubing and carburetor adapter is about $750. Installation takes two men a day, adding another $100 to $150.

"It's expensive," said James Mullin, a GSA official. "For the ordinary guy to put one of these in his car, he'd have to be pretty civic-minded."

Kelly doesn't contend the liquid natural gas cars are the solution to the auto emission problem.

"Look," he said, "anything that can get rid of pollution—even a little bit—in cities like this has got to be a good thing."

South Texas Drought Said Over

AUSTIN (AP)—A government weather expert said Tuesday that the drought is now over from a meteorological point of view in South Texas.

Climatologist Robert Orton said heavy rains, averaging 4.19 inches during the past week had pushed up the two-week total to 5.52 inches and changed the area's situation from moderate drought to "much wetter than usual."

But he warned that while meteorological drought ends with recharge of the soil moisture, the termination of agricultural or hydrologic drought is more complex.

Crop yields, stream flow and reservoir levels do not bounce back so quickly after a few good rains, he said. If the crops are dead, the process becomes irreversible at least for one crop year.

Orton said all areas of the state show improvement over the previous week except for the Trans-Pecos and the low rolling plains, which are essentially unchanged.

North Central and South Central Texas moved up a notch from extreme drought to merely severe drought, the improvement in South Central Texas being quite substantial.

The High Plains, East Texas, Edwards Plateau and the Upper Coast improved from severe drought to moderate, while the Lower Valley was up from moderate to mild drought.

Students May Sign For D.E.

Any high school junior or senior boy interested in taking Distributive Education this fall should contact the D.E. teacher, Claude Donaldson at Snyder High School this week from 1 to 3 p.m. This training program, administered by the public schools, is designed to increase the effeciency, earning power, and business competency of young men through on-the-job training. Skill in dealing with people, self-confidence, imagination, and the ability to express one's self clearly are very important phases of this business course.

Many businesses favor employing D. E. students because they can take part in the training of the student employees and because the student takes related school study about their particular business. Students may earn as many as 3 credits each year in D.E., and about 60 per cent of the D.E. Graduates who go directly from high school to a career have a head start on other job seekers.

Boys interested in this training must have a C grade average the previous semester, a good attendence record, and a serious desire to study marketing, merchandising, and other business related topics.

Campaign On VEE Near End

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Part of a federal campaign against Venezuelan Equine Encephalomyelitis (VEE) will wind up Thursday with the completion of aerial spraying against mosquitoes which carry the disease.

The last spraying in Texas will start from Houston today and the program ends with spraying from planes from Lake Charles, La., Thursday, a spokesman at the federal emergency center set up here to fight VEE said Tuesday.

As of Tuesday, 8,930,541 acres had been sprayed, the spokesman said, and after the windup over 9 million acres of land between Lake Charles and Brownsville, Tex., will have been treated.

Also Tuesday, Dr. H. Q. Sibley, director of the Texas Animal Health Commission, said in Austin that authorities are "real close—maybe as close as two weeks" to having VEE under control.

"I think we'll have all the horses in Texas vaccinated in two weeks," he said.

The federal spokesman here said about 90 per cent of all horses in Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Louisiana and New Mexico have been vaccinated against the South American disease which kills about half the horses infected by it.

Earlier, Dr. R. E. Omohundro, director of the federal effort, said effective control would come with 90 per cent vaccinations.

The vaccinations continue today with most of the efforts concentrated in Arizona, California, Florida and Mississippi. In all, 1,396,948 horses have been vaccinated.

All of the confirmed cases of the disease have been found in 12 South Texas counties. Tuesday, one more confirmed case was found, upping the total to 89, the spokesman said.

Hotel Wing Collapses

MALAGA, Spain (AP) — A small wing of a resort hotel on the south coast of Spain collapsed today, and police said several persons were trapped in the wreckage.

The collapse occurred at the 354-room Riviera Hotel in Benalmadena-Costa, 12 miles from Malaga. Police said only the bar, reception office and janitor's office were affected.

Firemen, troops and others were working to retrieve the victims.

Police said they could not give the reason for the collapse yet.

The hotel was built in 1964.

Old Papers Recycled

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Thousands of people are reading today's news on yesterday's newspaper because of environmental concern that has led to increasing use of recycled newsprint.

The American Paper Institute estimated that of all the newspapers printed in 1969, 23 per cent were recycled; that is, collected and reprocessed into new paper.

Industry, conservation groups, legislators and others have combined to aid in the recycling drive.

In Madison, Wis., for example, the institute and city officials joined to ask residents to separate newspapers from other refuse. As a result about 40 per cent of the collectable newspapers are being recycled, according to the institute.

Irvington, N.J., legislators passed a law requiring that householders put their newspapers out separately once a month. Charities pick up the paper and sell it to a recycling company.

San Diego, Calif., residents are encouraged to put their newspapers into one of 200 boxes set out by the Kiwanis Club. The city picks up the papers and sells them. The Kiwanis Club gets $5 for every full box and the city salvage operation gets $8.

The institute estimates that groups which collect and sort old paper make about $25 million annually. In addition, taxpayers save $25 in the cost of refuse disposal for every ton of paper that is collected, according to institute figures.

The most important product made from recyled waste paper of all kinds is combination paperboard. The API estimated 70 per cent of recycled paper is used in this form. Next comes newsprint and then a variety of other projects including cartons, posters and book covers.

How much recycled newsprint can be used?

The Garden State Paper Co., the major producer of recycled newsprint, estimated a maximum of 40 per cent.

Richard B. Scudder, chairman of Garden State, said, however, such penetration is impractical from a sales standpoint.

Scudder said close to 200 papers in 27 states use recycled newsprint, including the Chicago Sun-Times, the New York Post, the Los Angeles Times and the Washington Post.

How does recycled newsprint compare with regular newsprint?

Irwin Jaffe, director of the testing laboratory of the American Newspaper Publishers Association Research Institute, said that on the basis of initial tests "basically you could say it's the same quality."

Jaffe said the recycled paper is "pretty much the same color" as regular newsprint. He said there were only very slight differences in other qualities like opacity, strength and texture.

Jaffe added, however, it was still impossible to determine how newsprint recycled more than once would stand up. "We have no knowledge of how many times it can be recycled," he said.

A spokesman for the Richmond Newspapers, publisher of the morning Times Dispatch and evening News Leader, said these papers had been using recycled newsprint since last fall. These newspapers are in the same corporate organization as Garden State

"We are quite pleased," he said. "The strength is excellent. The opacity is good. The break record is good. It's equivalent to virtually any Canadian paper."

The spokesman said the combined press run of the morning and afternoon papers was 270,000, printed by letterpress.

He said recycled newsprint costs about $7 a ton less than new paper, which now costs $168 a ton delivered in New York and $163 a ton west of the Rocky Mountains.

Case Referred To Grand Jury

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—U.S. Magistrate Frank J. Baskin Tuesday referred to a federal grand jury the case of a Dallas man who made allegedly statements about a bomb in his luggage while on a Southwest Airlines flight Friday.

Kingston Tom Bailey, 22, remained free on $5,000 surety bond posted Monday on charges that he interfered with airline personnel.

The stewardess to whom Bailey allegedly made the statements about a bomb in his suitcase, Sarah Bush of Dallas, said at a preliminary hearing she first thought Bailey might be joking when he said, as she helped him put a briefcase under a seat, "Be careful, there's a bomb in it."

But she testified that Bailey did not smile during their conversation. Miss Bush said she had been an airline hostess only seven weeks, and had never heard a bomb threat or joke about a threat from a passenger before.

The FBI reported no bomb was found in Bailey's luggage after his arrest.

Woman Charged With Murder

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Murder charges were filed Tuesday against Marie Julie Shikle, 30, after an early morning argument and the shooting death of Joe E. Shikle.

The woman was ordered jailed and held without bond. The Shikle man was shot when he tried to intervene in an argument the Shikel woman was having with another woman. It is unknown whether the dead man and the Shikle woman were husband and wife.

The Shikle woman was captured after a flight with officers of three police departments in pursuit.

Cab driver Steve Mathews said the Shikle woman forced him at gunpoint to drive her from the site of the shootings, but he talked her out of killing him and fled in his cab.

Crash Victim In Serious Condition

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Sgt. Clarence E. Miller, 21, who was reportedly burned over 50 per cent of his body in a Ft. Hood helicopter crash, was flown Tuesday to the Brooke Army Medical Center's Institute of Surgical Research.

The Mercer, Tenn., soldier was reported in serious condition. A helicopter with a special burn team flew to Ft. Hood to move the soldier to Brooke.

Big Four Is Meeting

BERLIN (AP) — For the first time in 17 months of negotiations on the future of Berlin, the Big Four ambassadors met today for a second consecutive day. And another session is scheduled Thursday.

It was the 28th meeting of the ambassadors of the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and France since they began negotiations in March 1970. Sources in Bonn said the unusual burst of activity was an attempt to make decisive progress toward new arrangements for the divided city. But the Soviet demands may still be too high for the other wartime allies.

Western officials indicated the meeting Thursday will be followed by a pause during which some of the ambassadors will take vacations and the issues in dispute will be referred back to legal and technical experts or to Washington, Moscow, Paris and London.

Soviet Ambassador Pyotr Abrassimov said, "two big steps" were taken at the meeting Tuesday, but neither he nor his aides would identify the steps. A Soviet spokesman said he was referring to all issues and to the narrowing of the gap between the West and Moscow.

Western officials said the "two big steps" statement was purely a Soviet concept and they did not know what was meant. During the day Abrassimov also met with the chief of the East German Communist party, Erich Honecker, whose regime will be asked to abide by new Soviet guarantees of unimpeded traffic between West Berlin and West Germany.

But a British official indicated there is no agreement on the concessions the Russians are demanding in exchange for their guarantee of unimpeded access to West Berlin. They include:

1. Reducing the political ties between West Berlin and West Germany, which heavily subsidizes the isolated city, and restricting trips of West German politicians to Berlin.

2. Opening a Soviet consulate in West Berlin, which the West fears will be used to soften up West Berlin for eventual absorption into East Germany.

District To Appeal Case

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP)—The school desegregation case of the Corpus Christi school district will be appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court, the city school board said Tuesday.

Earlier, the board was told that a massive busing plan ordered by a lower federal court had been upheld by the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans and a stay refused.

The school board will ask a delay on the grounds that not enough buses to move about 14,500 pupils by this fall could be purchased in time. If the court order is applied, the board says, parents will have to transport their children to school themselves.

The school board's appeal to the Supreme Court will ask that the partial stay order granted last week by U.S. Dist. Judge Owen Cox be reinstated. The stay order extended the time for implementing the busing plan until July 1, 1972.

The Supreme Court is now in recess, but the appeal will go to Justice Hugo Black in hopes that he would order the 5th Circuit Court's ruling delayed until a decision could be made by the full Supreme Court on whether they will rule on the case.

Lufkin Can Condemn Land

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The City of Lufkin now can legally condemn a tract of land to build a sewage treatment plant, the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals said Monday.

The action reversed a lower court ordered that barred the condemnation by the city after its offer to purchase the land was refused.

The 5th Circuit said it reversed the ruling by U.S. Dist. Judge William Steger of Tyler because attorneys for the owners of the land had refused to cooperate with the city as ordered by the court in preparing written briefs on the case spelling out points of dispute and agreement.

The landowners had appealed the condemnation action by the city to Judge Steger on grounds that the sewage plant would damage the ecology of the area.

Steger issued a preliminary injuction against condemnation of the land and the city appealed to the 5th Circuit.

Resumes Change For Over 40s

Career Corner

by Joyce Lain Kennedy

what job would you like to see explored in this column?

The Forty Plus of Washington (D.C.) organization has developed a resume approach which they think works better for the mature jobseeker. The club should know -- after 17 years of locating positions for displaced executives past 40.

Forty Plus is a nonprofit, self-help cooperative organization which solicits employment for members. There are Forty Plus organizations, each autonomous, in New York City, Philadelphia, Chicago, Denver, Los Angeles, Oakland and Cincinnati. Here's a sample of the resume approach, greatly condensed, following applicant's name, address and phone.

PUBLIC RELATIONS EXECUTIVE

Comprehensive experience with special skills in visual media presentations and productive contact with members of the U.S. and foreign press.

Potential assistant to the president, or vice president for public relations, of a corporation with international interests, where creative promotional ideas are important.

--MANAGED A 3-YEAR PUBLIC RELATIONS PROGRAM

influencing a total of 157 VIP editors, reporters, TV producers from 39 countries – through intensive personal contact compaigns.

-- DESIGNED PROGRAMS, PRESENTATIONS

for 46 cities, in 21 states (4,000 miles throughout Alaska). Supervised conferences, interviews, special events, involving Cabinet Secretaries, including personal control of exclusively assigned VIP aircraft.

-- DESIGNED A NEW MOTION PICTURE FACILITY

providing simultaneous, multiple language presentations. Supervised the manufacture of the pilot model. Managed the adaptation of 43 films for international use in 4 languages.

(A number of other specific "accomplishment" paragraphs follow, along with a brief statement of education and personal data.)

Gerald G. Coleman, chairman of Forty Plus of Washington's counseling committee, interprets the above resume example:

* There is no "job objective" as is usual in most resumes. Our members sell themselves on their performance record, not on what they think they want to be. The major title indicates the type of position the member is capable of handling.

* The 1st paragraph expands on the major title and gives the reader an understanding of the type of industry that the member has been involved in and a generalized thumbnail sketch of the member. We call this his "profile."

* The following short accomplishment paragraphs support the profile with specific examples. Particular emphasis is made on the use of direct action verbs – this draws attention to the applicant as a doer rather than a conference attendee. Past accomplishments are the key to building this type of resume.

* Dates are now shown. This might be a giveaway as to age. This can be a barrier in employment in spite of the Age Discrimination Law.

* A 1-page resume appeals to most prospective employers. Additional pages become burdensome to read and this can cause rejection in the "screening out" process.

*Format and form are not rigidly fixed. Various techniques to attract attention can be used, such as capital letters, underlining, dashes, headlining, and reverse indenting of paragraphs. Occasionally the use of colored paper rather than plain bond may tip the scale leading to an interview, but this is a matter of taste.

* An additional feature to our approach is that this type of resume can be made up rather rapidly and rifled to specific job openings. Further, if an applicant has talents in more than 1 field, he can tailor resumes to match the talent to the field.
