Oil Import Control Vote Due

The SDN Column

Mickey Nunley, the Snyder Chamber of Commerce manager who confesses to being a bit squeamish about flying, had his confidence built up by well-wishers before making his recent trip to Peru. He was advised that most any plane he boarded en route to South America was likely to be hijacked to Cuba.

Nunley spent several days in Peru as a member of a research and development team of the Texas Partners of the Alliance with Peru, an agency of the International Development Program of the U. S. Department of State.

Upon his return this past Saturday night, Nunley said there never was any danger of the planes he rode in South America being hijacked.

"No hijacker would be brave enough to ride with these Peruvian pilots," he declared.

The big argument about college football ratings endures. Penn State, an undefeated team, complained last week when it was rated No. 3 behind Texas and Arkansas. The beef from Pennsylvania must have had some influence, because Penn State this week is rated No. 2 behind Texas, although the No. 1 Longhorns defeated Arkansas by a single point. Does this latest rating mean that those who "vote" in the ratings believe that Penn State is only half a point weaker than Texas, or even a quarter of a point?

Personally, I doubt that Penn State, which obviously has a better-than-average football team, could carry Gater Ade for either Texas or Arkansas.

Although both Texas and Arkansas have formidable opponents lined up for the Cotton and Sugar Bowls, it would be interesting to see one of them play Penn State. Anyway, fans will have an opportunity to see how No. 2 Penn State stacks up against No. 6 Missouri in the Orange Bowl.

Kopechne Autopsy Order Denied

By LEE LINDER
Associated Press Writer

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP) — A Pennsylvania Judge refused today to order the body of Mary Jo Kopechne exhumed for an autopsy.

It was a victory for the parents of the 28-year-old secretary who died last summer in Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's car.

Common Pleas Judge Bernard C. Brominski, after seven weeks of consideration, denied the petition of a Massachusetts district attorney who plans an inquest.

Brominski said the facts presented by Dist. Atty. Edmund Dinis of New Bedford, Mass., "are insufficient to support a finding of the cause of death" other than drowning.

In his 14-page opinion, the judge said that after two days of testimony it was difficult for him to conclude that Miss Kopechne's grave should be disturbed.

He said that if Dinis had any evidence that might prove the need for an autopsy 'it has not been presented here."

Ford Rites Here Today

Rites were to be conducted at 3 p.m. today for Nonnie Ford, 22, who was killed in a truck-train crash Monday night near Carlsbad, N.M.

Mr. Ford, minister for an Apostolic Faith Church in Lovington, N.M., was a former Snyder area resident. He was born in the Polar community and on May 28, 1965, he was married to Miss Glenda Feather in Snyder.

The Rev. Paul Clanton, superintendent of the Apostolic Faith Bible School at Baxter, Kan., and Mrs. Louise Sutton, pastor of the Apostolic Faith Church here, were to officiate at the rites. Burial was to be in the Snyder Cemetery, under direction of Bolger Funeral Home.

Pallbearers were Ronnie Martin, Austin Sutton, Benny Phillips, Wayne Widner and Max Clanton, all of the Bible School at Baxter, Kan., and Billy Grimmett.

AM Granted Use Of School Shop

The Snyder Board of School Trustees last night accepted resignations of six teachers, approved the hiring of three new ones, authorized American Magnesium to use shop facilities at the high school, authorized Joe H. Morren of Colorado City to audit the school's accounts, and approved local participation in an expanded school year.

Teachers whose resignations were accepted include Timothy J. Gette, high school journalism; Miss Judy Graves, Central Elementary third grade; Mrs. Ann Bundy, Lamar Junior High communicative arts; Mrs. Dorothy Clark, Central Elementary fourth grade; Donald Elrod, Lamar Junior High industrial arts; and, Mrs. Vesta Lightfoot, High School Latin.

New personnel to be hired are Chris D. Hooten, High School journalism; Mrs. Jan Cantrell, High School Latin; and Miss Mary Ann Moffett, Child Development Center Head Start teacher.

American Magnesium was authorized to use the facilities at the high school shop for a welding course providing the company furnishes its own instructor, gas, rods and practice metal. In addition, the company will be required to pay $10 fee for each night of use to pay for the time of a school representative who will be required to be present according to school regulations. Instruction will be given two nights a week, three hours per night, for three weeks.

Morren conducted the audit of school accounts last year and board members expressed approval of the job he did last year. He was authorized to conduct the audit for 1969-70. He is a certified public accountant.

House Bill 240, enacted by the 61st legislature, provides that all classroom teaching positions and all other positions previously authorized for less than 10 months shall be paid at an annual rate calculated on the basis of 10 months compensation for 10 months of service. This means, the local schools will have to establish a 180 - day school term for 1970-71 compared with the present 175 - day term. Superintendent Bill Hood was authorized to implement the program in accordance with the law. The term shall not include more than 10 days of in-service education and preparation for the beginning and ending of the school term.

The board took under advisement a request by Wilson Hunt of Pritchard and Abbott, the school tax evaluation engineers, for expansion of the service presently provided. The firm provides tax rolls and receipts for the schools and is planning to switch over to a computer-type operation. This change could enable the firm to provide additional information for the tax rolls and materials, Hunt said.

IN OPERATION — The Scurry County Junior College office in the Snyder Savings and Loan Association building is in full operation. Here, Mrs. Mavis R. Brumbelow, office secretary, and M. L. Broman, president of the board of trustees, are busy with their duties.

Astronauts' Isolation To End Early

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The isolation of quarantine is the price an astronaut pays for landing on the moon, says Charles Conrad, Jr., the third man to walk the lunar surface. The Apollo 12 spacemen finish paying that price today—they walk outside on earth for the first time in almost a month.

Conrad, Alan L. Bean and Richard F. Gordon Jr. will be released from the quarantine of the Lunar Receiving Laboratory 27 days after they boarded their spacecraft for a trip to the moon.

The astronauts are being released a little early. Their planned 21-day quarantine—which started Nov. 20 after the moonwalk of Conrad and Bean would not end until 5:30 a.m. (EST) Thursday.

But the Interagency Committee on Back Contamination, which controls the duration of quarantine, was satisfied that blood tests had shown them totally free of any possible moon microbes.

So the end of quarantine was advanced to Wednesday afternoon, permitting the spacemen to rejoin their families at a more reasonable hour.

Also included in the earlier release were:

—Seven scientists and four technicians who joined the quarantine when they were accidentally exposed to moon dust in a laboratory Dec. 1.

—Sixteen cooks, technicians and housekeeping crew members who had been assigned to share the astronauts' isolation from the start.

The astronauts arrived at the Lunar Receiving Laboratory Nov. 9 in the silver isolation van they entered aboard the splashdown recovery ship, USS Hornet in the Pacific Nov. 24.

Endorsement Is Expected

By MAX B. SKELTON
AP Oil Editor

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — The Interstate Oil Compact Commission was expected today to approve its strongest resolution in history endorsing mandatory control of oil imports.

There was indication the resolution will oppose substituting a tariff for the current quota system for restricting imports.

Adoption of the resolution would require the commission to sidestep a traditional procedure which calls for such pleas to be routed through the governors of the 33 states which participate in the oil and gas conservation agency.

President Nixon's cabinet level task force that has been studying import controls since June is to meet Monday. Washington reports indicate the group is ready to recommend a tariff or combination tariff-quota system.

The commission's energy resources committee was told Tuesday that following traditional procedures would make the resolution ineffective.

"Mail is not going to do you any good now because you don't have time to send copies to each of the governors," said Elmer L. Hoehn, who served as the Interior Department's oil import administrator in the closing months of the Johnson administration.

Wilson M. Laird, the new director of Interior's office of oil and gas, indicated agreement.

"You have only five days in which to get your views before the task force," Laird said. "They are going to hold their last scheduled meeting Monday."

Two committees from the conservation agency studied the imports problem Tuesday. A third committee was to give the proposed resolution a final review early today prior to submitting it to the concluding business session of the commission's annual meeting.

"The issue of import controls is the most serious problem facing us right now," said A. L. Porter Jr., the energy resources committee chairman from Santa Fe, N.M.

Porter's committee was told the presidential task force hopes a tariff will cause a sharp drop in domestic crude oil prices.

"What is about to be proposed would destroy incentives for the domestic industry in its efforts to find new oil and gas reserves," said Julian Martin, a member of the headquarters staff of the Texas Independent Producers & Royalty Owners Association.

Draft Loopholes Study Is Ordered

By STAN BENJAMIN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House has ordered a study of loopholes that could turn the new draft lottery system into a giant chess game with unmanageable pawns.

A White House source said staff members of the National Security Council, Defense Department and Selective Service have been asked to consider whether the acknowledged loopholes in the system "will be a real problem and, if so, what to do about it."

The most obvious loophole allows a deferred man, in some cases, to choose the year he is exposed to the draft—presumably a year when his lottery number is unlikely to come up—by deliberately dropping his deferment in that year.

Col. Bernard T. Franck, an aide to draft Director Lewis B. Hershey, said some of the Selective Service System's legal experts think a college student, for example, could not give up his student deferment simply upon his own request, while remaining a student.

But Franck said he did not know whether this interpretation had ever been put to the test.

And even if it holds up, he conceded, it would not prevent a man from dropping his deferment by actually dropping out of school or quitting an essential job.

"They are kicking around a number of things," the White House source said, of the loophole study, "of which that is one."

Still another flaw is the reverse case of a man classified 1-A who seeks a deferment when it looks as if his number is getting hot. If he gets the deferment—and the local board may have no choice if he qualifies—he leaves the draft pool.

He would not be exposed to the draft again, White House and Selective Service sources agreed, until he once more entered the 1-A pool.

Franck said a local board could prevent a man from jumping in and out of 1-A at will by refusing, somewhere along the line, to reconsider his classification.

But even with that limitation, some draftable men may try to "play the numbers," as draft-minded authorities now phrase it.

Transit Vehicle To Start Trial Runs

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A 150-mile-an-hour rapid transit vehicle with a revolutionary magnetic power plant—designed so it eventually will ride a cushion of air instead of wheels—begins trial runs next month.

The 53-foot-long surface carrier, created for 80 passengers but now filled with electronic test gear, was unveiled Tuesday by the U.S. Department of Transportation as a major step in its program to end smog and noise from future intercity vehicles.

Spokesmen said full scale operation of such vehicles would come sometime in the 1970s. The date, they said, depends on upcoming tests of the radically different propulsion system, based on a linear induction motor which uses electromagnetic forces to drive the 25-ton vehicle along a guiding rail.

Undersecretary of Transportation James M. Beggs said the motor, if successful, could "herald a new generation of faster, more efficient ground vehicles, particularly in our crowded urban corridors."

"As the development of rocket propulsion enabled men to break loose from earth's gravity, so the linear induction motor promises to enable us, on the ground, to be freed from dependence on the wheel," he added.

The prototype test vehicle, which resembles an airplane fusalage straddling a high, blade-like center rail, was displayed in a Federal Aviation Administration hangar at Los Angeles International Airport.

Next month it will be moved to a quarter-mile-long track in nearby Torrance for low-speed tests by the Garrett Corp., which built the vehicle for the federal transportation agency under a $3.2 million contract. Date and place of later high-speed tests have not been determined.

The prototype has conventional railroad wheels and runs on standard gauge railroad track, down the middle of which has been installed a thin, 21-inch high center rail.

The wheels have no driving power. Forward motion is provided by a large electric motor inside the vehicle. The motor acts something like a magnet, pulling itself—and the vehicle—forward along the center rail to which it is powerfully attracted but which it can never touch.

Engineers said the wheels eventually will be removed and the vehicle will be equipped to hover just above the ground, supported on downward-blasting columns of air as it slides frictionlessly forward along the guiding center rail.

In the prototype, the motor gets current from a turbine generator but engineers said later models will draw power from lines overhead or alongside the track.

Scurry County farmers have voted on the cotton referendum for price support on the 1970 cotton crops.

There were 523 farmers voting on this issue with 503 voting in favor of it, and 20 voting against it, said Roy Hanson of the local ASCS office.

SAC Loses Bid On Warheads

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Strategic Air Command apparently has lost its bid for a heftier nuclear missile warhead with enough punch to knock out underground enemy missile sites and other "hardened" targets.

Defense officials said Tuesday the proposal was rejected by Secretary of the Air Force Robert C. Seamans Jr.

But Air Force sources suggested the idea still is alive, claiming SAC has been told the concept needs more study.

The basis of Seamans' action was not entirely clear, although some Pentagon officials acknowledged money was a factor.

Also figuring in the decision could have been the possible disruptive effect of such a project on Strategic Arms Limitations Talks with the Soviet Union.

The issue surfaced with publication of recent secret testimony by Gen. John D. Ryan, Air Force chief of staff and a former SAC commander.

In a discussion of U.S. multiple warheads, Ryan told the House defense appropriations subcommittee:

"We have a program we are pushing to increase the yield of our warheads and decrease the circular error probably so that we have what we call a hard target kill which we do not have in the inventory at the present time."

The word "yield" refers to the explosive power of a nuclear weapon. The "circular error probable" —CEP — is a measure of a weapon's accuracy — the smaller the circle, the more accurate the warhead.

Ryan testified behind closed doors in October. Some time after that, Pentagon officials said, the SAC proposal was turned down.

Shakeup In FDA

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Herbert L. Ley Jr. will be fired soon as head of the much criticized Food and Drug Administration, government sources said today.

Ley's replacement by Dr. Charles C. Edwards, a surgeon turned management expert in medical affairs, is the first step in a wide-ranging shakeup planned for today by Robert H. Finch, secretary of health, education and welfare.

At least five other top FDA officials will also be fired, sources said.

Four HPC students received certificates for superior ratings in the festival.

Their names and the classes in which they competed include Otis Archie of Snyder, original poetry oral interpretation; Mike Sirois of Brownwood, prose oral interpretation; Don Hancock of Alice, extemporaneous speaking; and Becka Dannelley of Midland and Archie, poetry oral interpretation.

20th Century Club Hears Program On Madonnas

The Twentieth Century Club met recently at the Martha Ann Woman's Club to celebrate "Friendship Day." Mrs. Idolph Crooks presided during the business meeting and accepted a love offering from the club members which will be used to buy baskets of fruit for Prude Ranch State School for mentally retarded boys.

Mrs. Charles Miller presented a lovely program on "Madonnas," saying in part: "Could one find a more appropriate motif for Christmas decorations than a lovely figure of a Madonna mother and her baby properly placed and appropriately arranged and interpreted?

"There are certain symbols that artists have used through the ages to portray her. These symbols because of their traditional use, their universal language, and their beauty of association, are appropriate for us to use in interpreting our Madonnas.

"The Christmas Madonna always looks down at her baby while the Easter Madonna often looks up at the cross and stands with hands together as in prayer.

"To arrange Madonnas appropriately and attractively, one should not allow the arrangement to overpower the figure. The lines of the arrangement are often determined by the face, hands and the folds of the garment. A halo effect may be achieved by the use of evergreen, flowers or a round mirror. The Madonna arrangement should occupy a place of prominence in the home."

Using a large gold angel for demonstration, Mrs. Miller showed symbols used with angels and Madonnas and explained their meanings saying: "Angels are closely associated with Mary. According to tradition cherubs were with her at the time of the immaculate conception and the angel Gabriel announced that she would be the mother of Jesus. Angels were present at the nativity of the Holy Child and announced the news to the shepherds on the hillside."

Some of the symbols used in the demonstration and their meanings were: A closed book in the Angels hands is the mystical symbol of the virgin herself; an open book in her hands becomes the book of wisdom. A globe in the hands of the Christ Child means sovereignty and under the feet of Mary it signifies our redemption and triumph over sin. A serpent encircling a globe signifies the fall of man in the Garden of Eden.

A dove is a symbol of the presence of the Holy Spirit and any bird placed at her feet signifies gentleness and kindness.

Many fruits laid at the feet have their special meaning such as the lemon which means fidelity or love, and is often associated with the Virgin Mary. Flowers such as the lily becomes a symbol of purity while the rose is the emblem of messianic promise.

Mrs. Miller displayed more beautiful arrangements featuring the Madonna and explained how these could be used in the home.

Mrs. John Hamblen closed the program with a brief explanation of "Astrothelogy."

Guests present were: Mmes. Ernest Wiggins, W. E. Hardy, L. L. Lewis, Tom DeShazo, Minnie Falls, Lester Moore, Charles Miller, L. Autry, Fred Davis and John Blum.

Dairy cows are today producing more milk than ever before. It's a good thing they are, because although cow numbers in the U. S. have decreased 3.5 per cent this year, milk production will decrease only about 2 per cent — to 117 billion pounds.

Altrurian Club Hears Program On The Bible

Mrs. Alvie Dolen was hostess to the Altrurian Club at Martha Ann Woman's Club on Friday Dec. 5. Nineteen members and three guests were present.

The guests were Mrs. Arthur Blanchard of Dallas, and Mrs. R. A. Irving and daughter, Enid who have recently moved back to Snyder.

The program was on the Bible, a theme which is of great interest to all the members. Roll call brought favorite quotations and spiritual meditations from all present.

Mmes. Joe Caton and Earl Wilson presented the program. Mrs. Wilson based her talk on Dorothea S. Kepplin's writing on "The Meaning of God." She asked: "Shall we refuse to accept as truth the laws of gravity, the science of radio, wireless, or other scientific discoveries because many of us do not understand them? It is given to each of us to know only a small part of the world's knowledge, but millions testify to knowing God and his power which is working through the universe. If we open our eyes, ears, and hearts to see and to hear the great messages that are for us along our journey through life, we will learn to know the kingdom. We can get in touch with the Infinite through true brotherhood for all are but part of one stupendous whole, and he who loves his brother best gets nearer to God than all the rest."

Mrs. Wilson concluded her remarks with the poem "What God Hath Promised."

Mrs. Caton brought an inspiring talk on some of her many rich experiences in gaining help and strength from the teachings of the Bible. She said: "It is such a privilege for any of us to talk about the Bible — the best loved book of the world and the best seller of all books for it gives us direction for every day of our lives. From infancy and childhood God gives us parents to help us choose our way, and from then on, the Bible is ours for the asking. There are so many beautiful passages of scripture that it is difficult to select a specific one more meaningful than another. In the Psalms can be found help for meeting any situation. The interpreters Bible says the 121st Psalm is one, if not the most beautiful of all the pilgrim's collections.

"In journeying about Jerusalem there were many dangers. Sentries were placed at night on the hilltops to guard the encampments from sudden attack from robbers. How fitting that the psalmist should write: 'I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills, from whence cometh my help!' "

In the business session conducted by Mrs. George, president, Mrs. Irving was reinstated as a member of the club.

The next meeting will be Dec. 12 in the C. C. Miller home when the Christmas program will be given.

Aspirations Causes People To Spend Beyond Income

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) —This nation and other growing nations might be able to pay for their social needs if only they could order a moratorium on growing aspirations. But that day, human nature prescribes, will never come.

It appears inevitable instead for new desires to emerge almost simultaneously with the satisfaction of old ones. And in a way this is probably just as well, for it keeps all of us striving to produce.

The immediate result, however, is a tendency to spend beyond income, to avoid reality, to dream, and thus to face crises from time to time in personal, family and governmental budgets.

Relating this view to today's news, it appears safe to assume that in the opinion of the administration, the Senate's eagerness to increase the personal income tax exemption to $800 and Social Security benefits by 15 per cent, fits the description.

The President has, at any rate, indicated he will veto a tax reform bill if it includes these two provisions. They are viewed as inflationary, which is a way of saying they cannot be afforded.

In fact, the prestigious monthly economic letter of the First National City Bank suggests that spending pressures might already be forcing fiscal policy out of control.

"Despite the administration's determination to keep outlays within the self-imposed ceiling," it comments, "this level could be pierced by such uncontrollable outlays as farm subsidies, Social Security benefits and interest on public debt."

Exerting even more pressure on budgets are actions being contemplated by Congress which, in the opinion of Budget Director Robert P. Mayo, could lead to spending increases of $5 billion.

These pressures pose threats not just to the administration's much-advertised budget surplus, but in the opinion of some economists might cause the so-called peace benefit to be all spent up before the Vietnam war ends.

NTSU President To Be Honored

DENTON, Tex. (AP) — North Texas State University student leaders Wednesday were to honor Dr. John J. Kamerick, NTSU president, with "John J. Kamerick Day" on the campus.

An afternoon assembly with students and faculty members speaking in his honor was to be a highlight of the day.

"In a day when campuses are noted for disorders and disturbances, NTSU is fortunate to have one of the best university presidents in the United States," said Irwin Wingo, junior sociology major from Weatherford and chairman of the special day.

Petitions headed "Good job, Dr. Kamerick" were distributed throughout the campus, to dormitories and student organizations, to obtain the thousands of signatures of support. About 10,000 signed them.

Last month, Kamerick was nominated for the 12th Alexander Mieklejohn Award by the NTSU chapter of the American Association of University Professors, and the nomination was later endorsed by the state AAUP organization.

The Mieklejohn Award is presented each year to an American college administrator in recognition of "outstanding contribution to academic freedom."

Town Knew About Uncle Verna's Heart

By ANN PARKER
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Bar none, the worst driver ever to steer a car was my Great-Uncle Verna.

No one will ever equal his score in dented fenders, busted hydrants, rammed light and telephone poles, and one-way streets navigated in the wrong direction.

A remarkable thing, I thought, that he never was arrested.

"Not remarkable at all," said the sage of our small town, "when you know about Verna's special heart condition."

Because I was young and didn't understand, I kept on counting his dented fenders.

My great-uncle, who was past 80 when he picked up a refrigerator and carried it to the house next door, had a theory about driving. Everything, including telephone poles, was supposed to remove itself from the path of his car.

My great-uncle and local officials argued about his driver's license for years. Seeing no use for the thing, Verna told the entire police department—totaling three if you count the mayor—he would not purchase one.

Authorities informed him, "Either get one or go to jail."

I never knew what happened, but he continued to drive.

"It's because of Verna's special heart condition," the sage told me.

He would drive over to our house and come "sit a spell on the veranda." Uncle Verna bothered not with coat, tie nor missing shirt buttons. When tired of discussing family history, my great-uncle would discuss his favorite Shakespearean passage, "To be or not to be."

One summer day when the sun was low, I fully understood the condition of my great-uncle's heart. He entered our living room wearing no shoes. Verna explained, "I met this fellow walking along the highway. We talked awhile. Now, there was a good man, the type who never seems to get a break. His shoes were coming apart; so I gave him mine."

Now, I am no longer young and know what the sage meant about Verna's "special heart condition", a heart enlarged by unselfish giving. Yes, the town was right. I should have stopped counting Great-Uncle Verna's dented fenders long before I did.

—Junior Editors Quiz on— DORIES

QUESTION: Why do dories have such a queer shape?

* * *

ANSWER: Our pictures show that a dory is indeed a peculiar looking boat. Small boats usually have somewhat rounded bows. The dory's bow is long, narrow and pointed. The stern, although it has a narrow flat part, is similar to the bow. Seen from the side, both bow and stern sweep upward. The dory's bottom is flat and quite narrow, even in the middle, and the sides angle in sharply. It looks as if it would tip easily, and when you get in an empty one, you find this is true. But there are reasons for all the dory's peculiarities. The up-curving bow and stern allow the dory to lift up to big ocean swells. The long pointed bow keeps spray from coming aboard. Although dories heel easily when empty, as soon as they get loaded with fish they become wonderfully stable; and fishing is what they are designed for. They are so light they can be hoisted easily on the mother ship's deck when they go fishing on the Grand Banks. Their shape allows them to be nested together on the deck. These are the wonderful little boats which for a long time have been used to catch haddock and cod with trawl lines. Everything about them is specialized for this purpose.

King Will Hire New Tech Coach

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Newly appointed Texas Tech athletic director J.T. King started work on his first task today —finding someone to replace him as head football coach.

The Tech board of regents announced at a news conference Tuesday that King had been elevated to athletic director and Polk Robison, athletic director since 1960, would be given an administrative position connected with athletics.

King told a news conference he would be in complete charge of the search for a new head coach.

"I and I alone will conduct the search for a new head coach at Texas Tech," King said "And, being in that capacity, I am the only person who can speak officially on the matter."

King also said that no contacts had been made concerning the job.

King, who had been head coach at Tech since 1961, said he expected to complete the search in one to two weeks, and "certainly before the end of the year." He said he didn't want to work "too quickly for fear of overlooking someone who might be available."

King bowed out as Tech's head coach with a 44-43-3 regular season record. The Raiders lost two bowl games during King's reign—the 1964 Sun Bowl to Georgia and the 1965 Gator Bowl to Georgia Tech.

King was named the Senior Coach of the Year following the 1965 season when the Raiders finished with an 8-2 record.

Robison was named athletic director in 1960. He has been associated with the school for 34 of its 44 years in existence, either as player coach or administrator.

Title Tilt May Be Postponed

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The Dallas Times Herald quoted National Football League Commissioner Pete Rozelle today as saying he would not hesitate to postpone the league's Western Conference playoff or the NFL championship game if weather conditions become too severe.

Times Herald sports writer Steve Perkins said in a copyrighted story that a postponed title game has become a real possibility since the Minnesota Vikings have taken over the NFL favorites' role.

Both the Western Conference and NFL title games would be in frigid Bloomington, Minn.

Minnesota is scheduled to play L. Angeles for the Western Conference Dec. 27. If the Vikings win, the NFL championship also would be played at Bloomington, Jan. 4.

Perkins took a football weather survey of medical opinion that included the commissioner's office and said he learned:

—Dr. Victor Ippolito, physician for the Cleveland Browns, would advise owner Art Modell that a game should not be played, under the conditions that existed at Green Bay (between Green Bay and Dallas) two title games ago.

—Dr. Marvin Knight, the Dallas Cowboys' physician and a veteran of the Dec. 31, 1967 title game at Green Bay with its 13-20 below temperatures, said, "Depending on the wind and the predicted forecast for the rest of the afternoon, I'd say any temperature at zero degrees or below is unsafe.

Outside Foes Flail SWC

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Southwestern Louisiana and Georgia Tech put Southwest Conference teams behind the eight-ball against intersectional basketball competition Tuesday night.

Southwestern exploded for 17 quick points in the closing minutes to whip Texas Christian 83-70 and Georgia Tech took advantage of Rice miscues for an 87-57 victory.

SWC teams now stand 10-12 against outside competition.

Freshman Dwight Lamar fueled Southwesterns' 17-point splurge in the last three minutes of the game to put it out of reach. Lamar led all scorers with 24 points. Rick Whittenbraker led TCU with 18 points.

The Frogs now are 1-3 for the year.

Georgia Tech jumped to a 42-21 halftime lead and never was in trouble. Tech hit a sizzling 63 per cent from the field and 75 per cent at the free throw line.

Ted Melady led Rice scorers with 11 points.

Two SWC teams are in action tonight. Arkansas opens play in the Liberty Bowl Classic at Memphis, Tenn. and Southern Methodist hosts Georgia Tech.

DEFENSIVE TACTICS — Snyder's Ronald Ward (30) gets set to intercept a throw-in while teammate Glenn Rambin (14) guards Andrews' Rodney Lunceford (15). The Tigers' pressing tactics enabled them to pull away and ultimately claim a 79-62 victory after Andrews pulled wtihin six points in the third quarter. The SHS team will host the Fifteenth annual Canyon Reef Tournament here Friday and Saturday.

Lamonica, Raiders Lead All-AFL Team

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Oakland's explosive Raiders placed seven players, including sharpshooting quarterback Daryle Lamonica, on the American Football League All-Star team selected today by The Associated Press.

Lamonica, who goes into Saturday's Western Division showdown against Kansas City with a chance to shatter the pro season record for touchdown passes, led a five-man Oakland contingent named to the All-AFL offensive unit. Two more Raiders were solid defensive choices on the 22-man squad.

Kansas City took five positions and New York's defending league champs four in the ballot of 30 sports writers and sportscasters—three from each AFL city.

Lamonica captured the quarterback spot with a 2-to-1 margin over New York's Joe Namath, last season's AFL player of the year.

Center Jim Otto, making the squad for the ninth time in 10 pro seasons, guard Gene Upshaw, tackle Harry Schuh and wide receiver Fred Biletnikoff were the other Oakland offensive selections. Cornerback Willie Brown and safety Dave Grayson represent the Raiders on the defensive unit.

Kansas City had two of the top three vote-getters, offensive tackle Jim Tyrer leading the way with 27 and outside linebacker Bobby Bell matching Brown's 24 for high in the defensive balloting. Guard Ed Budde, defensive tackle Buck Buchanan and safety Johnny Robinson were the other Chiefs selected.

Matt Snell of New York and Floyd Little of Denver were clear-cut choices as running backs, Slender Don Maynard of the Jets beat out San Diego's Lance Alworth, an all-league selection the past six seasons, for the other wide reciever spot and 6-foot-6 Bob Trumpy of Cincinnati took the tight end position.

Denver's Rich Jackson and New York's Gerry Philbin are the defensive ends and Jet John Elliott joins Buchanan as the tackle tendem. Nick Bouniconti, traded from Boston to Miami last spring, is back in the middle linebacker spot after missing out last year for the first time in five seasons.

Houston's George Webster is the other outside linebacker and Buffalo's George "Butch" Byrd completes the defensive cast at cornerback.

Eleven of the select 22 are repeaters from last year's all-AFL squad — eight of them on defense. Five others were second team picks in 1968.

Kansas City's Tyrer, Bell and Robinson each was named for the fifth straight year, teammate Buchanan for the fourth.

Maynard, a 32-year-old veteran of 12 pro seasons, is the oldest player on the squad and Upshaw, 23, the youngest. All the first team picks have been in the league at least three seasons except Trumpy, a second-year man with Cincinnati's 1968 expansion club.

The Western clubs landed 15 first-team spots to seven for the East. San Diego West and Boston East were shut out.

CINCINNATI STUNS KNICKS, 103-101

NEW YORK (AP) — The Cincinnati Royals finally discovered what it takes to beat the New York Knicks; 48 minutes of their best basketball. Not 47 minutes and 44 seconds.

The Royals tried the 47-44 figure a week ago last Friday and the amazing Knicks scored six points in the final 16 seconds for a one point victory that gave them the National Basketball Association record of 18 triumphs in a row.

Tuesday night, the Royals tried again, this time for 48 minutes—barely—and stunned the Knicks 103-101 at Madison Square Garden for their first victory in four tries against the Knicks this season. It was only the third defeat in 29 games for New York.

"This is as good as we can play," said a happy Bob Cousy, the Royals' coach, "and that's what it takes to beat the Knicks."

Elsewhere in the NBA Philadelphia crushed Los Angeles 123-99, Chicago tripped Phoenix 109-102, Atlanta edged San Francisco 117-115 and Seattle turned back Detroit 109-104.

In the only American Basketball Association contest, Carolina stopped Dallas 122-117.

Oscar Robertson led the Royals with 31 points while Bill Bradley and Walt Frazier each had 23 for the Knicks.

Archie Clark scored 30 points and Hal Greer 23 and led Philadelphia to a 91-76 lead after three periods. The Lakers, playing without injured Jerry West, never threatened.

Glem Haskins, hitting for 13 points in the final quarter, shot Chicago from an 81-81 tie to a 96-86 lead that subdued the Suns. Bob Love scored 33 points and Jerry Sloan 26 for Chicago.

Walt Hazzard converted a pair of free throws with 21 seconds to go to give Atlanta its winning margin over San Francisco. Lou Hudson was high for the Hawks with 31 points while Nate Thurmond topped the Warriors with 34.

Bob Rule scored 16 of his 36 points in the final period in Seattle's victory over Detroit. Jimmy Walker led the Pistons with 33.

Carolina broke a 116-all deadlock and Bob Verga finished with 35 points for the Cougars. Glen Combs had 32 for Dallas.

Tigers Rip Andrews, Kittens Win In O.T.

The Snyder Tiger Basketball Team made its home-court debut last night in Scurry County Coliseum and proceeded to avenge its season-opening loss to Andrews in convincing fashion.

The Bengals romped to a relatively easy 79-62 triumph to put their season record on the plus side for the first time as they headed into the annual Canyon Reef Tournament this weekend at the coliseum.

The varsity triumph Tuesday night came after the local junior varsity quintet had pecked away at a stubborn Andrews JV crew for no decision in regulation play and then pulled out a spine-tingler in over-time 55-54.

The varsity Tigers took command early in their contest and never were seriously pressed by the Mustangs, although the visitors did pull within six points at one time in the third period. However, Coach Ned Underwood was using a variety of combinations, and his fourth-quarter crew applied plenty of pressure and opened the gap to as much as 20 points before they began coasting to the finish line.

Bengal shooters were mostly on target, hitting 54 per cent in the first half and 46 per cent the second half. Three locals scored in double figures, with Wesley Bishop accounting for 21 points to lead the pack. Ronald Ward had 15 and Bruce Almond 14.

It was a stand-off on the boards, with each team capturing 27 rebounds. Danny Farmer and Jim Patrick had eight each to pace the Tigers in that department.

The Junior Varsity trailed Andrews JV most of the way but knotted the count at 51-51 in the regulation game. Jackie Murray hit from the corner with four seconds remaining in over-time to put the Kittens one point ahead and Andrews never got off a shot before the buzzer.

Dub Preston had 20 points for the Kittens, while David Thompson and Ronnie Morse had 11 each.

The Tigers now are 4-3 for the season, and the Kittens are 5-2.

Beard Is Top Winner

By KAREN REW

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — "Golf is a business with me, not a game," says Frank Beard, whose business is good these days.

This week the Louisville professional was acclaimed the year's top Professional Golfers Association money winner with purses totaling $175,223.

"I'm very happy I could win this, though I'm not as happy as I thought I would be," he said Tuesday. "It's an example of the expectation being greater than the realization.

"It's just a great deal like going to the office," he said. "I've done my job, and by doing it well I can provide for my family and prove to my peers that I belong."

There can be no doubt in any pro's mind that Beard belongs. But Beard said he doesn't worry about his fellow pros.

Reef Tourney Has Top Teams

The Fifteenth Annual Canyon Reef Basketball Tournament, slated to get underway Friday in the Scurry County Coliseum, could be one of the most exciting tourneys ever staged here.

There is an attractive array of teams entered in the event, and any one of them could reach the heights and claim the crown.

Two strong Lubbock teams are entered — Dunbar, the District 3-AAA champion for the past two years, and Estacado, a much improved team that beat Snyder by one point earlier in the year. Last week, Dunbar won the Slaton Tournament.

Class AAAA Midland, Hereford, Brownfield, Seminole, Phillips and the host Bengals are the other entries.

The program begins at 3:30 p.m. Friday with Dunbar meeting Phillips, one of the strongest AA teams in the state, followed by a 5 p.m. clash between Brownfield's improved Cubs and Midland High. The lower bracket pits Seminole against Estacado at 7 p.m., followed by the Tiger - Hereford tussle at 8:30 p.m.

Winner of the Dunbar - Phillips and Brownfield - Midland skirmishes will meet at 11 a.m. Saturday in the second round while the losers are slated to vie at 8 a.m. Winners of the Seminole - Estacado and Snyder - Hereford tilts meet at 12:30 p.m. Saturday after the losers collide at 9:30 a.m.

The battle for third place is on tap for 6:30 p.m. following the Consolation championship game at 5 p.m. with the title game set for 8 p.m. Saturday.

The B Team Kittens are entered in a tournament at Kermit this weekend.

Coach Ned Underwood's Bengals won their fourth contest of the season last night, reversing an earlier loss to Andrews, and could be the dark horse of the tourney. The Tigers have made considerable improvement since the season began.

The Bengal roster includes five seniors and six juniors. The seniors are Wesley Bishop, Ronal Gladson, Lee McNair, Jim Patrick and Ronald Ward. The juniors are Bruce Almond, Dennis Breedlove, Bid Cooper, Danny Farmer, Glenn Rambin and Jeff Stewart. They range in height from 5-11½ to 6-4, but speed and accuracy are their strong points.

CAREER CORNER

By F. J. LAIN

(Third of six parts)

Your key to job interviews is your resume. Here are 10 ways first-time jobseekers can make it open doors.

1. NO BOOKS PLEASE. One 8½" x 11" page, perfectly typed, with accurate spelling, is plenty. But flesh it out with more than a simple listing of vital statistics. Emphasize success, accomplishments, what you have learned. When in doubt, ask yourself: "Does this information support my objective of being invited for an interview?"

2. MAKE IT ATTRACTIVE. Your resume will look like a (waste) basket case if you fail to leave wide enough margins and other white space, or write interminable paragraphs. Use one side only of good white bond paper. Type each resume individually, or have it reproduced by offset printing, or photocopying that doesn't require thick paper. "Mimeograph only if it is first rate. Do not use carbon copies or "ditto" reproduction.

3. STYLE. Avoid using "I" or beginning sentences with the word, "Was!" Instead of "Was ranked," for example, say "Ranked." Use topic headings.

4. DON'T LIMIT YOURSELF. If you can fit more than one type of job, don't hamper your chances by tagging your resume with a single job title. Ask your school counselor for a fuller explanation of this point.

5. BEST FOOT FORWARD. Truth and facts only, of course, but where does it say you have to be negative? Applicants have actually opened their resumes with boners like this: "Although I have never been a receptionists, I feel qualified to." . . "Now that I have recovered my health, I am ready to start working."

Since your resume is not your autobiography, but a presentation of your assets for the purpose of being interviewed for employment, I think it is acceptable to omit unfavorable information in it. This could include being fired from a job, a school suspension, a health difficulty which does not handicap you, etc. You are simply omitting what is not pertinent to your goal of gaining personal and individual consideration. However, you may have to disclose unfavorable information on the employer's application form, or in answer to a direct interview question.

6. YOUR EDUCATION. Beginners have to stress this because they have little or no work experience. One way: "Graduate, Roosevelt High School, 1970. A's in business courses put me in the top 10 per cent of my commercial studies class. (Note — in this case, applicant's overall class rank is nothing to brag about; this is her way of presenting the positive). Elected Officer of Student Council. Received Roosevelt Leadership Award."

College graduates need not mention high school. As you gain experience, less need be said about your education.

7. SALARY. Leave money requirements for the interview. If necessary to answer on an employment form, put down a range if you know the going rates, plus "Open for discussion." If you don't know, just put "Open for discussion."

8. OMIT REFERENCES. References take valuable space. Have them ready on a separate sheet to present at the interview. Good references include teachers, clergymen, doctors, businessmen — never relatives. Ask them first if you may use their names.

9. SKIP PHOTOGRAPH. Why risk rejection in advance just because an employer may subjectively dislike your looks?

10. WRITE YOUR OWN. It's your resume, but your performance at job interviews will be better as a result of your having reviewed and organized your background yourself.

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am sitting here, drinking my eighth cup of coffee and feeling very depressed. I need someone to talk to so I am writing to you.

Three weeks ago I lost my job, and since then I've been all over Chicago looking for work, but I haven't had any luck.

I see a sign in the window saying HELP WANTED, so I go inside and the receptionist takes one look at me and says, "Sorry, we aren't hiring right now."

I know why I get turned down without even an interview. I AM FAT!

Abby, can't people be a little kinder and just let me fill out the application blank? Then at least I'd feel like I was getting some place.

Just because a woman is fat doesn't mean she can't work. In fact, a fat person would probably work twice as hard just to prove she can produce.

Well, Abby, I'm off again, looking for a job. I honestly feel a little better being able to tell this to somebody. Thanks for listening.

YOUR FAT FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: A "friend" does more than listen. He speaks out when there is something his friend needs to hear.

Feeling sorry for yourself won't land you a job. And don't expect some kindhearted soul to put you on his payroll out of charity for the obese. Fact it, most fat women are not as attractive as their normal sisters. (And they're not as healthy, either.) They may be "jollier," or better sports because they know they are "Number Two" and must try harder.

And since no one WANTS to be fat, those who are lugging a lot of excess weight may as well wear a sign saying, "I HAVE NO SELF-CONTROL."

So, do yourself a favor, and quit asking for compassion on the part of others. See your doctor, and get on a diet. And if you can't do it alone, get in touch with TOPS or WEIGHT WATCHERS.

(P. S.: If your obesity is due to a glandular disorder or a condition which you are helpless to control, forgive me, this letter is not for you.)

DEAR ABBY: Helen (not her real name) and I have been married for 14 years and have five children. We are both 36 years old.

A while ago Helen joined a GROUP THERAPY group. (You know, people just sit around and talk about their problems.) Well, Helen is the only married person in the group.

One evening a fellow from the group picked Helen up and drove her to one of these meetings. He brought her home at 1:30 a.m. Helen said they stopped for a cocktail on the way home. Another time Helen accepted a dinner invitation with another man from the group.

She says she is innocent of any wrong-doing. I believe her, but I feel her conduct is a potential threat to our marriage. Am I wrong to object.

OLD FASHIONED

DEAR OLD FASHIONED: No. Every group therapy group has a "therapist." Talk to Helens, and ask him how you should handle this problem.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: For years I have been driving four neighbor girls and my daughter to school every day. I decided not to join a car pool because I figure as long as I am driving anyway I may as well take a car full. Incidentally, we have a nice new car with six seat belts and I am as dependable as a "clock."

We've lived in this neighborhood for many years and I know all the parents, but I don't see them socially. Of course all the mothers know that I chauffeur their children every morning because I pick them up at their doors.

Now I don't want a medal or anything, but when I meet one of the mothers in the market or at PTA, not ONE mother has ever said "thank you" to me.

If parents are so thoughtless about showing their appreciation for a good deed, is it any wonder that these kids think the world owes them a living?

This has been on my mind for a long time, and if you print this, it may wake up a few mothers. But please don't use my name or location.

Santa And The Dumbbell

By LUCRECE BEALE

Synopsis: The travelers are marooned on a desert island. A family of ghosts tells them they can get to Santa Land if Booby Bobby wishes hard enough.

CHAPTER EIGHT

AVALANCHE!

POOR Booby Bobby! He was so intent on using all his heart and all his might to make his wish come true that the words got mixed up in his head. Instead of wishing to be in Santa Land he wished to be in Snow Land which is not the same thing at all.

When he opened his eyes and looked around he found himself at the top of a mountain of snow but there was not a sign of Santa Land.

"Everyone is right," he said wretchedly. "I am a dumbbell."

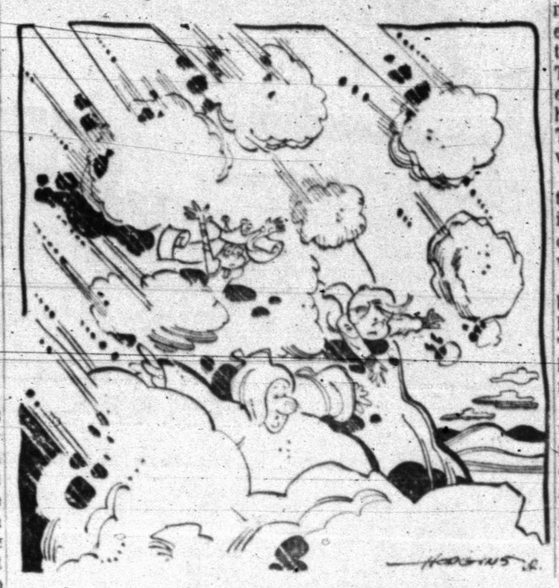
Stanley the Ghost and the Princess, who found themselves sitting beside him, tried to reassure him.

"Santa Land can't be too far off," said Stanley. "We know Santa Land has snow and this must be most of the snow in the world."

"I love snow," put in the Princess cheerfully, though she was shivering quite badly.

"I could try wishing again," said Booby Bobby.

"No," said the Ghost. "One wish is enough to spend on this trip. Besides it is probably true that only one such wish works in a lifetime."



"What shall we do now? asked the Princess in a small voice, shivering more than ever.

"Walk," said the Ghost. "After all, it's all down hill."

Now mountains in winter time are very tricky! One minute it is sunny and the next minute a cloud drops down and you can't see at all. When Booby Bobby and the Ghost and the Princess started down they could see the bottom of the mountain quite clearly. It seemed to be at a reasonable distance. But the snow was soft. They sank to their hips at every step. After three hours they had hardly made any progress. The bottom of the mountain was as far off as ever.

Then they couldn't even see the bottom or even their hands in front of their faces. A white cloud had descended. They were lost in a fog.

The Princess held Booby Bobby's hand and Booby Bobby held Stanley's trailing sheets. The Ghost shouted at the top of his voice, "Follow me! Follow me!"

This was a mistake, for his voice, echoing up and down the mountain, loosened a cliff of overhanging snow. There was a sudden clap! and a far-off rumbling getting louder and louder until it was a booming, thundering, roaring coming down the mountain.

The Ghost screamed, "Avalanche!"

Booby Bobby clung to the Princess's hand. He lost hold of Stanley's sheet, fell and grabbed his ankle. Just in time! The avalanche picked them up and hurled them head over heels, somersaulting, topsy-turvy, down the mountain in a river of snow.

When they came to a stop they were buried under the snow. The Puppet Princess's nose had broken off. Stanley's sheets were ripped from his head. Booby Bobby had two black eyes. But they were still together.

They began to tunnel out of the snow but they were so upside down they couldn't tell whether they were going up or down or sideways. They decided each would tunnel in a different direction. One would have to be right.

After hours of digging, Booby Bobby's head broke above the ground. He leaned over his tunnel and shouted, "Come this way! I'm out."

He sat back to wait for the others. As he sank back, he felt an awful twinge and the jaws of some fearful creature locked around his seat.

Plane Crash Is Probed

BELLVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Investigators sought today to determine the cause of a light airplane crash Monday night which took the lives of all four men aboard.

It is believed the plane ran out of gas.

The crash killed Dr. Jack Nealy, 40, the pilot and a dentist; R.L. Callender, 46, a construction superintendent; Tom Blair, 34, a police officer, and Horace Paul, owner of an ice house. All were Houston residents.

The plane was last heard of about 6:52 p.m. Monday while returning from Del Rio, when the men had been huunting. Its last radio contact was with tower officials at College Station.

Nealey, who had logged 1,500 hours flying time, said at that time he was lost and had about one-fourth tank of gas. The plane was diverted to Bryan to avoid bad weather in the Bellville area.

The wreckage was spotted from the air Tuesday afternoon by a Bellville pilot and an Austin County deputy sheriff.

The single-engine Cessna 172 was demolished. Only part of the tail section was intact, said Austin County Sheriff T.A. Maddox.

It appeared the craft plunged straight to the ground since wreckage was confined to a small area, he said.

All four bodies were found inside the plane about four miles north of Bellville and two miles west of FM 1456 in an open pasture.

Civil Air Patrol fliers, the Department of Public Safety units and sheriff's deputies from Washington, Wharton and Fort Bend Counties participated in the search.

Callender was illustrious potentate of the 8,500-member Arabia Shrine Temple and president of the Texas Shrine Association.

Blair was a 10-year veteran of the Houston police force assigned to the intelligence division.

Diphtheria Serum Flown To Miami

MIAMI (AP) — An emergency shipment of 32,000 doses of serum was flown from Philadelphia today to stem a diphtheria outbreak which had taken the lives of two children.

Six medical teams were ready to start inoculating about 41,000 school pupils in the northwest section of Miami, where seven cases have appeared since October.

Diphtheria is caused by a germ almost everybody normally carries in his mouth, but which only occasionally causes the disease. An antitoxin often given in infancy provides complete protection.

"We have a definite outbreak and it is serious, especially when you consider this is the first time since 1962 we have had more than three cases," said Dr. Milton Saslaw, acting director of the Dade County Health Department.

"Every once in a while for some unexplained reason, this bug causes actual illness centered in the throat and spreads throughout the body," Saslaw said.
