Bosnia...

Peace proposal gets torpedoed

SARAJEVO, Bosnia-Herzegovina (AP) — Bosnia's Parliament effectively torpedoed a peace plan today, voting overwhelmingly to accept it only if territories taken by force are returned, a government minister said.

Information Minister Ivan Knezevic said 58 deputies voted for conditional acceptance in a closed session, and said that was the "overwhelming majority." He did not say how many of the approximately 80 deputies were present and voting.

Although the deputies approved the plan, the conditions they set make it all but impossible to implement because Bosnian Serbs, who control about 70 percent of Bosnia after 18 months of warfare, have categorically refused to make any more territorial concessions to the Muslim-led government.

Bosnian Serbs say imposition of such conditions amounts to rejecting the accord. It would give the Muslim-led government about 31 percent of Bosnia. Serbs would get 52 percent and Croats 17 percent.

The Parliament's effort to impose conditions almost certainly will mean continuation of the war that has left up to 200,000 people dead or missing.

But key figures in Bosnia's Muslim-led government believed that accepting the plan as is, after

Sales tax rebates up 15%

Sales tax rebates were up more than 15 percent for the City of Snyder during September, according to information released by the State Comptroller's Office.

Sales tax rebates for the month amounted to $105,715.31, up 15.38 percent from the $91,617.61 received in September of 1992. For the fiscal year, Snyder has received $1,023,000.34. That figure is up 46.63 percent over last year.

The reason for the high increase is collection of a ½-cent tax increased approved by voters, ¾-cent of which was instituted in July of 1992 and ¼ in October of 1992.

Rebates for Scurry County were down 13.91 percent, comparing the most recent check of $41,600.99 to last September's $48,327.24. For the year, the county has received $459,380.37, down 1.07 percent from $464,350.27 the previous year.

A list of September sales tax rebates for area cities follows.

—Abilene received $1,291,661.12, up 4.24 percent from the $1,239,056.31 taken in during September of 1992. Year-to-date totals of $13,718,516.19 are up 5.87 percent.

—Andrews received $54,326.81, down 29.91 percent from the $77,518.34 taken in during September of 1992. Year-to-date payments of $540,001.96 are down 4.01 percent.

—Big Spring received $233,282.68, up 4.09 percent from the $224,095.19 received the previous September. Year-to-date totals of $2,470,242.60 are up 5.54 percent.

The SDN Column

By Roy McQueen

The feller on Deep Creek says, "The main thing wrong with the future is that it keeps geting closer and closer."

Bobby McCormick, who lives up near Stanfield Elementary, says his neighborhood livens up when LaRue and Margaret Watkins' grandkids come from Houston for a visit.

McCormick, a former Snyder mayor, is particularly fond of Tyson Sterling, the Watkins' four-year-old grandson. Tyson is the son of Bobbie and Marla Sterling, former Snyderites.

McCormick says the young man is a pistol — quick thinking on his feet, which might be handy if Tyson some day decides to become mayor of Houston.

When Tyson was younger and visiting a shopping mall with his mother, he required several trips to the restroom. On the way home, in the family's new car, he was warned not to soil the seat of the new car before they got home. Said Tyson, "Then you'd better call a taxi."

On another occasion, Tyson was playing with the car's air conditioning vents. His mother had told him to stop, but he soon started again.

His older brother, Cody, decided to help his mom out. He told Tyson that his conscience was telling him not to play with the air conditioning vents. "Can't you hear your conscience talking to you?"

"Sure I can," said Tyson, "and he's telling me I'm hot."

Margaret's favorite story about Tyson came when Tyson's mother was trying get the house picked up of the toys and clutter made by three energetic kids.

Marla was particularly urging Tyson to get in gear and help his brother and sister. The youngster stopped in his tracks and pled his case: "Now Mother, I'm not in charge of everything around here. God is in charge of some things."

Another goodie happened recently at Trinity United Methodist Church. Pastor Rusty Dickerson and several of the members were away on a retreat, so the Sunday worship attendance was thin.

Music Director Rebekah Thornton made mention of the small number and urged those present to help by singing out.

The audience broke up when Rebecca announced the first song, "Oh For a Thousand Tongues To Sing."

Dolliver wins SDN contest

Dennis Dolliver of 115 Peach St. won the $50 first prize in last week's SDN Football Contest. Dolliver had four misses.

A number of entrants had five misses, and using the tie-breaker procedure, the second and third place winners were chosen. Mary Ann Rodriguez of 3730 Austin Ave. won the $25 second prize, and Michael Rodriguez of 3730 Austin won the $15 third prize.

Winners will be mailed their checks.

SISD adopts new tax rate

Snyder public schools trustees took less than a minute Tuesday evening to adopt a tax rate for the 1993-94 school year.

In a meeting attended only by board members and district administrators, trustees approved a rate of $1.3593. It is the same rate as the combined school district and county education district rate for 1992-93.

Snyder ISD's budget for 1993-94 is $14.6 million, some $240,000 less than the previous year.

Present Tuesday were trustees Luann Burleson, Geraldine Parker, Janet Stribling, Terry Martin and Charles Anderson. Glenn Clarady and Mark McCormick were absent. Also present were Superintendent Dalton Moseley, Asst. Superintendent Dr. Tom Scannicchio and Business Manager Lee McNair.

Your Birthday

Thursday, Sept. 30, 1993

You might dissolve a partnership arrangement in the year ahead so that you can involved yourself in an endeavor independent of others. This could turn out to be a wise move.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Today you might be strongly tempted to do something that opposes your better judgment. If you ignore your own counsel, be prepared to pay the consequences of your folly. Trying to patch up a broken romance? The Astro-Graph Matchmaker can help you to understand what to do to make the relationship work. Mail $2 and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Matchmaker, P.O. Box 4465, New York, N.Y. 10163.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You'll have adequate drive and ambition today, yet you might attempt to take on things that exceed your limitations. This could cause problems in all of your endeavors.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) In order to express your independence today, you might deliberately do things that buck the will of the majority. This won't add luster to your image, it could make you look selfish instead.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Limit family problems to their participants today instead of discussing them with outsiders. If you permit others to intervene, you might create something you'll regret.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Be perceptive in gauging your audience today, so that you don't introduce into a conversation a topic about which you feel strongly to someone who holds an equally strong opposing view.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Strive to be more careful than usual with your prize possessions today. If you leave something of value lying about it might tempt someone with sticky fingers to take it.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You'll function best today if you're permitted to establish your own agenda. Try to steer clear of individuals who make demands on your time and attempt to dictate your activities.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Disruptive developments could be made harder today if your attitude is negative. Reasonable solutions aren't likely if you tend to think things can't be worked out.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Don't get involved in petty politics with someone in your peer group today. This person is more adroit in this area than you are and could end up making you look bad.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Try not to let your ego or temper cause you to challenge authority figures today, especially persons who have some influence over your career. This is a match you can't win.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Getting in the last word shouldn't be too important today if it jeopardizes a valued relationship. This could be a win that turns out to be a big loss.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) If you're not on guard today there is a possibility you might get maneuvered in a position where you're held accountable for another's mistakes and debts.

Gill, Jackson lead CMA nominations

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Vince Gill leads the finalists tonight for the Country Music Association awards that have been dominated for two years by Garth Brooks.

Gill has eight nominations heading into the three-hour awards presentation, which will be televised live from the Grand Ole Opry House by CBS beginning at 8 p.m. EDT.

Gill and Clint Black will be co-hosts of the program. Awards in 12 categories will be given, and Willie Nelson will be inducted into the Country Music Hall of Fame.

Alan Jackson, with seven nominations, rates as another strong challenger. His summer smash "Chattahoochee" makes him a favorite for male vocalist of the year and other honors.

Brooks, who has sold more records this decade than any one in any form of music, is up for four awards. He is a finalist for his third straight honor as entertainer of the year, the top award.

In the 26 years the awards have been given, only one act has won that category three times: Alabama, in 1982, 1983 and 1984.

Brooks considers himself an underdog for the honor because he did not make a concert tour this year until July.

"With all the time off I've taken, it would be a long shot for me to win it," he said.

"I would think this should be Alan Jackson's year. I'd be real disappointed if he didn't win something."

He said awards are gratifying, but secondary.

"Stop me if you've heard this before, but I see awards as being like the Christmas tree at Christmas. It's really nice to have it there, but it isn't what it's all about."

Other finalists for top entertainer are Gill, Jackson, Reba McEntire and the duo Brooks & Dunn.

For male vocalist of the year, nominees are Brooks, Gill, Jackson, George Strait and John Anderson. Gill, former lead singer for the pop group Pure Prairie League, has won the honor the past two years.

Gill's eight nominations are the most since Merle Haggard received nine in 1970. Haggard won four awards that year.

For best female vocalist, a wide open race shapes up among 1992 winner Mary-Chapin Carpenter, Wynonna Judd, Pam Tillis, Tanya Tucker and McEntire.

"It's always exciting to be one of the top five," said Tucker, who won the award two years ago. "Every gal in that category is wonderful."

Seven-thousand professionals in the country music industry choose the winners.

The awards telecast is traditionally one of the top-rated shows of the week.

Carter pushing his latest book

NEW YORK (AP) — Jimmy Carter, who showed diplomacy in brokering a peace agreement between Israel and Egypt, displayed his blunter side during a visit with David Letterman.

"I came by to sell the book," he said Tuesday on Letterman's "Late Show."

The former president has just published his latest memoir, "Making Peace."

At the opening of the CBS show, viewers saw Carter waiting in a guest room and Letterman thanking him for coming by.

"Thanks for having me on the show, Regis," Carter wisecracked.

The Democrat said his White House visit for the signing of the latest Middle East treaty was his first such visit in 121/2 years. He told Letterman he didn't even go back when his portrait was hung in the executive mansion.

Dr. Gott

by Petter Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I have a condition I feel is sinus-related. Sometimes I feel I have rhinitis, other days my eyes will feel thick and burn with a dull pain behind them. This affects my appetite. I've also had nosebleeds twice that require packing for control. Is everything related or do I have several separate problems?

DEAR READER: Your symptoms could well be due to sinus congestion or infection that is related to swelling and irritation in the nose (rhinitis).

Because I am more suspicious of an allergy than an infection, I suggest that you see an allergist to identify — through blood and skin tests — any factor in your environment that could be linked to the pressure in your sinuses and your nosebleeds. (These symptoms could reduce your appetite by affecting your sense of smell and by causing a mucous post-nasal drip that you may be swallowing.)

You should also be examined by an ear-nose-and-throat specialist who will check you for nasal polyps, which will worsen the situation, and for infection that may require antibiotics.

I suspect that by working together, the two specialists should be able to solve your problem.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm a 71-year-old diabetic with excruciating leg pain. I'm on Quinamm without much relief and am considering chelation. All the brochures I've sent for sound as if this treatment is the best thing since aspirin; however, it isn't covered by insurance. What's your opinion?

DEAR READER: Diabetics, who commonly suffer from poor circulation, often develop leg pains that are due to neuropathy, malfunction of certain nerves. This unpleasant diabetic complication may be lessened by improving the control of the disease — in short, by lowering the blood sugar through more stringent dieting or by adjusting the dose of insulin or anti-diabetes pills.

Also, analgesics and anti-depressant drugs may relieve the pain. There have been no scientific studies confirming the use of chelation for this purpose.

Chelation, the administration of compounds to reduce the levels of toxic minerals in the body, is useful in treating lead and iron poisoning. According to most medical authorities, it has not been shown to be appropriate therapy for other disorders, such as circulatory problems and neuropathy.

I suggest that you discuss this issue with your family physician. Working together, you and he should be able to discover a less expensive and more suitable approach to your leg pains.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Diabetes Mellitus." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2433, New York, NY 10163. Be sure to mention the title.

The quandary is an old one

It is a question that has been asked at least a zillion times: If you have an eight- or nine-card major-suit fit but two balanced hands, when should you play in no-trump and when in the major?

There is no simple answer, but in general you play in the suit when your values are minimal. You play in no-trump when you have points to spare for your contract and all suits well stopped.

The advantage of the suit contract is that — hopefully — you exercise trump control. The plus in no-trump is that you may have another source of tricks available when a bad trump break would kill the suit contract.

After South opened two clubs, North correctly resisted the temptation to respond two no-trump. If the contract was to be played in no-trump, he wanted South to be the declarer. And North knew that after starting with a "waiting" two diamonds, he had an easy rebid over anything but three clubs.

After spades were agreed, there were four cue-bids. Then South selected six no-trump as the final contract.

Some declarers in six spades were nervous that the opening lead was a singleton. So they immediately cashed the spade ace. Now there were two unavoidable trump losers.

In six no-trump, there was no risk of a ruff. So the declarer could try a little safety-play in spades. After winning trick one, he led a low spade toward dummy and, when West played the five, he inserted dummy's 10. Whether it won or lost, South's contract was ensured.

Bennett likes being paired with rockers

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Tony Bennett says it made perfect sense to team him with those scruffy rockers, the Red Hot Chili Peppers, at the MTV Music Awards.

The crooner said it's ridiculous to label certain music for certain generations. He and his manager and son Danny "have been carefully trying to close up that generation gap."

Bennett, 67, said he and the Chili Peppers "hit it off and became good friends," and they told him there are a lot of rock groups who admire his music

Armstrong, Humphrey pace Tiger awardees from Big Spring game

Defensive end Jeff Armstrong and offensive tackle Timmy Humphrey were the top honorees at Tuesday's Snyder Tiger meeting, in which coaches' awards for Friday's game against Big Spring were handed out.

Armstrong won awards for two sacks of Steer quarterback Wes Hughes, one hurry, a blocked kick and a pass knocked down, while Humphrey had a team-high 15 knockdowns on the offensive side of the ball in the 31-0 loss.

Other defensive awardees included senior DE Brad Hart, who had a sack; noseguard Chris Mills, who earned awards for a sack and for two tackles for losses; David Krenek who sacked Hughes once; Matt Cave, Keith Orosco and Bryan Lickey, each with a tackle behind the line of scrimmage; and John Clinkinbeard, who deflected a pass.

The team's leading tackler for the game, as well as for the season, is John Zalman, who registered eight takedowns against the Steers for a four-game total of 37½.

Trailing Humphrey in knockdowns were OG Jeremy Perkins, who was credited with 14, center Lickey, who had 11, and A-back Josh Bell, who rang up seven.

Quarterback Cave and tailback Terrell Jones each won a Great Fake Award.

Special teamers were led by Eddie Neeley, who claimed recognition, as well as the week's Big Hit Award, for his kickoff coverage.

The entire kickoff cover squad earned an award for pinning the Steers inside their own 20, and punter Chris Mitchell was honored for his 38-yard average during the Big Spring game.

Phillies claim NL East crown

by The Associated Press

The Philadelphia Phillies are going to the NL playoffs. Their opponent, however, won't be determined for at least a few more days.

The Phillies won their first division title since 1983 Tuesday night with a 10-7 victory at Pittsburgh that clinched the NL East. San Francisco's 6-4 victory over Colorado at Candlestick Park and Atlanta's 5-2 loss to visiting Houston tied the Giants for first place in the West.

Both teams are 100-57 with five games left.

"It doesn't make any difference. We start the playoffs at home, so that's not a factor," Philadelphia manager Jim Fregosi said.

Len Dykstra got the Phillies going with four hits, three RBIs and two runs scored, while Mariano Duncan finished it off with a dramatic grand slam in the seventh.

"There's no question, I don't think we get enough credit for what we did," Duncan said. "We clinched and we're there."

Philadelphia completed a remarkable worst-to-first turnaround — a year ago, they finished in last place, 26 games behind the division champion Pirates — by clinching 10 years to the day after they last won the East in 1983.

Reliever Bobby Thigpen (3-1) was the winner.

The Giants, who trailed the Braves by four games on Sept. 17, won their seventh in a row and 11th in their last 12 games after losing eight straight.

"Who's the best in five games, that's basically what it boils down to," Giants manager Dusty Baker said. "We were trying to catch the Braves, we caught them, now it's time to pass them."

Bryan Hickerson (7-5) and Dave Burba combined to shut out the Rockies, who had won 10 of their last 13, on nine hits through seven innings. Loser David Nied fell to 5-8.

Pete Harnisch overpowered Atlanta on five hits in 8 2-3 innings as Houston beat the Braves.

Atlanta entered the three-game home series knowing the Astros had some good starting pitchers, and Harnisch proved it. Harnisch (16-9) struck out eight and walked four before Doug Jones got the final out for his 26th save.

Andujar Cedeno's sixth-inning, two-out single drove in Houston's first run and Steve Finley homered in the seventh to beat Greg Maddux (19-10).

"We've won 100 games," outfielder David Justice said. "We're confident in our ability. You can't get all the breaks all the time. If you could, we'd be sitting here with two World Series rings."

Elsewhere in the NL, it was Montreal 3, Florida 2; New York 6, St. Louis 1; San Diego 11, Cincinnati 4; and Los Angeles 6, Chicago 5.

Rangers, Oakland split two-game set

ARLINGTON (AP) — Some younger Oakland players are trying to preserve the pride of the pre-1993 Athletics.

The Athletics, playing with five rookie starters, have won five of their last six games and seven of nine to move to within a game of vacating the division cellar.

"Our young guys have definitely given us a boost," A's manager Tony LaRussa said. "It seems like the more they're playing, the more they're playing well."

In the first game of Tuesday's twin bill, Rangers right-hander Kevin Brown won his fifth consecutive decision and threw his third shutout of the season with a four-hitter to beat the A's 2-0.

In the second game, former Ranger Bobby Witt (14-12) gave up three runs and five hits in 5 1-3 innings. Two other ex-Rangers, Edwin Nunez and Rick Honeycutt, along with Roger Smithberg, shut down the Rangers the rest of the way.

The A's scored three runs off last-minute replacement starter Brian Bohanon (4-4) in the first inning of the second game. Henderson had a solo homer, Neel drove in another run with a single and Scott Brosius contributed an RBI double.

Neel singled prior to Gates' two-run homer in the third, which gave the A's a 5-0 lead.

Brown (15-11) struck out seven with no walks while throwing his career-high 12th complete game, tying him with California's Chuck Finley for the major league lead.

Brown improved his career record against Oakland to 10-3 as Texas opened a seven-game homestand, its last at Arlington Stadium. Brown won a pitcher's battle with Darling (5-9), who struck out nine and threw his third complete game of the year.

Midland Lee spikers are no-shows Tuesday

Tuesday's non-district volleyball match between Snyder and Midand Lee was cancelled due to an apparent scheduling problem.

The Lady Bulldogs did not show up at SHS for the JV or varsity matches. The Midland Lee coach explained to Snyder coach Patty Grimmett that Tuesday's match was not on her schedule.

Bronte, slated for a Saturday appearance at Snyder High School, has also cancelled matches.

The Lady Tigers' next encounter is slated for Tuesday, Oct. 5 at Seminole. Freshmen, JV and varsity teams will compete at Seminole, beginning at 5:30 p.m.

The Seminole match will be the final non-district battle of the season for the SHS spikers. Snyder, 9-13 on the year, will open District 2-4A competition at Levelland Saturday, Oct. 9.

Texas officials decide on name for new park

ARLINGTON (AP) — The name of the Texas Rangers' new stadium gets right to the point: The Ballpark in Arlington.

"What we said all along is that we wanted to build the best ballpark in the nation," said Rangers president Tom Schieffer. "We have built the best ballpark in the nation."

The Rangers announced the name Tuesday for the new stadium, which is slated to be finished next spring.

"We think the name speaks for itself," Rangers general partner George W. Bush said. "We wanted something simple and generic to recognize the unique status of the stadium."

The first reviews from Rangers fans were negative. The crowd at Tuesday night's Oakland-Texas doubleheader booed when the stadium name was announced over the public address system at Arlington Stadium.

Schieffer said the idea for the new park's name evolved over time.

"Everyone had their own favorite. We always knew that we wanted the name Arlington in it somewhere. We just did not know what we wanted to put before or after it. Finally, we said we are building the best ballpark in the country so why not just call it The Ballpark in Arlington," he said.

The 48,000-seat stadium, which will replace Arlington Stadium, is 80 percent complete. It will be the site of the 1995 All-Star Game.

Snyder frosh beat Cooper

Snyder's freshmen Lady Tigers took a 15-11, 5-15, 15-9 victory over Abilene Cooper Monday, behind an 11-point effort from the service line by Monie Pena, and Sarah Knowles' eight.

Others scoring for SHS included Samantha Trevino, who finished with six points, Shauna Huddleston and Brandy Roberge, who had four apiece, Shawn Purcell, who wound up with three, and Christi Whitney and Brandy Cortez, with one each.

Snyder's next outing is slated for next Tuesday at Seminole.

Johnson expects 'Pokes to improve

IRVING (AP) — Jimmy Johnson is cooled down and feeling good these days. He thinks the Dallas Cowboys have recovered from a stumbling start when they had to play two games without the NFL's leading rusher, Emmitt Smith.

Despite the losses to Washington and Buffalo, Johnson believes the Cowboys Super Bowl express is back on track.

Johnson didn't take the early losses well without his top running back, claiming distractions were at the verge of tearing the team apart. But after a week off with Smith making up for lost ground, Johnson is chipper again.

"We are about where we were last year at this time at a comparable stage," Johnson said. "I believe we'll go out and get better every week and eventually be the team we want to be."

The rested defending NFL champions took advantage of a bye week to get running back Emmitt Smith revved up and ready to go. Smith, who held out all of training camp and two regular season losses in a bitter contract struggle with owner Jerry Jones, will make his first start of the season on Sunday against the Green Bay Packers in Texas Stadium.

He played in a 17-10 victory over the Phoenix Cardinals, getting 45 yards on 8 carries.

"Emmitt will get the bulk of the load against the Packers," Johnson said. "As the game goes on we might make substitutions and play Derrick Lassic some. Lassic might not get to play and he might play half of the game."

Lassic, a rookie fourth-round draft pick from Alabama, rushed 49 times for 187 yards and two touchdowns in Smith's absence.

"Lassic really came through for us and now the pressure is off," Johnson said. "He could give us a good change of pace. Emmitt is more of an inside runner and Lassic is more of an outside runner."

Johnson said he wasn't "overly concerned" with the Cowboys 1-2 start.

"I don't think anybody has exactly jumped out," Johnson said. "We're behind but we have the prospect of getting better. And I think we will."

The Cowboys will unveil a new middle linebacker for the game. Ken Norton has replaced the demoted Robert Jones in the middle. Jones made zero tackles in the Phoenix game.

"I wasn't satisfied with our play in that position," said Johnson. "I will put our best players on the field. Ken Norton has been an outstanding player for some time."

Actress' wedding private ceremony

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Shannen Doherty and Ashley Hamilton wanted a private wedding, and they got one — so private that even the groom's father, George Hamilton, didn't know about it.

The suntanned actor wasn't upset.

"I never told my parents when I got married," George Hamilton told Daily Variety columnist Army Archerd, who wrote about the surprise ceremony Tuesday.

Archerd said the 22-year-old star of "Beverly Hills 90210" and her 18-year-old groom were married at her home last week.

Miss Doherty was quoted as saying she didn't invite the cast of her show because "we wanted to keep it very, very private."

Russian hardliners continue standoff

MOSCOW (AP) — Elite paratroopers reinforced hundreds of police surrounding parliament today as authorities stepped up the pressure on hard-line lawmakers who have defied President Boris Yeltsin.

A senior police officer died of injuries today after he was pushed in front of a car by anti-Yeltsin protesters during a clash with police, the Interior Ministry said. Lt. Col. Vladimir Reshtuk was the third person to be killed in connection with the parliament crisis.

Police gave the rebellious legislators and their supporters holding the parliament building an ultimatum to surrender their weapons and leave today, but Yeltsin aides denied the building would be attacked.

Snow and rain drenched Moscow today as police huddled in overcoats, stopping anyone entering parliament. Glum lawmakers and their supporters inside sang during the night to keep their spirits up.

Yeltsin has ruled out compromise since he dissolved the Soviet-era parliament a week ago. He ordered parliamentary elections for December to end a bitter power struggle with parliamentary hardliners over his political and free-market reforms. He set presidential elections in June.

The deployment of police reinforcements Tuesday around parliament increased the war of nerves on the increasingly demoralized and isolated lawmakers who have been holed up in the building, called the White House.

Special red-beret paratroopers armed with machine guns were trucked in overnight, boosting the riot police and Interior Ministry military already deployed.

Earlier, police pushed back demonstrators who tried to break through to parliament. Protesters hurled rocks at police and beat on cars before being dispersed by hundreds of riot troops armed with shields and batons.

At least two people were arrested and several people had minor injuries.

Shouting "Shame!" and "Death to Yeltsin!" the protesters marched past the U.S. Embassy Tuesday night, stopping at an underpass where three young men died during the August 1991 pro-Communist coup attempt against then-President Mikhail Gorbachev.

The Interior Ministry said Reshtuk, a traffic officer, died of injuries after being pushed in front of a moving car by demonstrators during the Tuesday night clash. Five other police officers were injured, they said.

Peace plan torpedoed they've lost all but about 10 percent of Bosnia's territory to rival Serbs and Croats, would be tantamount to signing a death warrant for the multi-ethnic state they have fought to preserve.

"Territories taken by force, especially where genocide occurred ... must be returned to their rightful owners. Otherwise, we are living in a jungle. It will be a new stone age," said Foreign Minister Haris Silajdzic said.

He accused the international community of "complicity" for refusing to lift an arms embargo against the outgunned Muslims. "We could call it a historic mistake of the international community," he said.

Kemal Muftic, a Bosnian presidential spokesman, told reporters Tuesday that signing the plan "would mean signing the eradication of the Bosnian state forever, and getting nothing in return."

Parliament debated into the night Tuesday, but adjourned without a vote. It reconvened in closed session this morning.

The Muslim-led government, as well as Serbs and Croats still loyal to it, want to maintain a unitary, multi-ethnic state. Serb and Croat rebels want territory they hold to merge with Serbia and Croatia.

The peace plan would give the government about 31 percent of Bosnia. Serbs would get 52 percent and Croats 17 percent.

Conditions attached to the plan include return of all territory captured by force that was Muslim-dominated before the war, particu-

Dear Abby

Decision to Let Go of Grudge Ends Years of Angry Silence

by Abigail Van Buren

© 1993 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: Thank you for writing that booklet titled "The Anger in All of Us and How to Deal With It."

I had a good friend when I was in college, but we had a falling out. I got angry. I was so angry I did not speak to her from 1979 until 1992. Then she came to visit her mother and found a college directory, so she started calling her old college friends who were listed, and I was among them.

I had just read your booklet about how to deal with anger, so instead of continuing to carry a grudge, I decided to speak to her. I followed up our conversation with a cordial letter explaining that I had read something that made me realize how unproductive anger was. She sent me a holiday card in return, telling me how much she had valued my friendship.

Life is really better now that I have gained some insight. (Wow, what joys I missed by not speaking to her!)

Thank you for stretching out your hand in yet another service for mankind.

GRATEFUL
IN LUMBERTON, N.C.

DEAR GRATEFUL: Thank you for taking the time to write. Finding the courage to admit that an incident was poorly handled — and having the maturity to do something about it — shows how far you have come since the old college days. Congratulations. I'm glad to have helped. But you did the work.

DEAR ABBY: I've been reading those letters about inappropriate laughter at funerals, and want to tell you what happened to me.

My father died at age 57 in 1985. I loved him with all my heart and was overwhelmed at the wake. I wasn't sure I could bear the pain of seeing him laid out, so I remained downstairs in the lounge while well-meaning friends and relatives tried to coax me into saying my final goodbye to my dad. One hour before they closed the casket, it dawned on me that my father deserved my respect. I slowly entered the room where he was as if my feet were sinking in quicksand. My husband supported me physically and helped me to walk to the casket.

As I stood there, looking down at my father's face, my eyes filled with tears. Just as I was about to break down, my husband leaned over and whispered, "Honey, my fly just burst open!"

I could not contain my laughter. The people behind me saw my shoulders heaving up and down. Little did they know that I was laughing hysterically, although I made no sound. We quickly exited and went back downstairs to the lounge so I could temporarily mend his fly.

While I was kneeling in front of him mending his fly, my Uncle Ernie came around the corner on the way to the men's room. The three of us stared at each other, then my uncle turned and ran out!

Abby, to this day I am convinced that it was my father's doing. What a laugh he must have had on his way to heaven! Thanks, Dad, you came through again.

Nominee facing questions about SS offices closing

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Clinton's choice to run the Social Security Administration promised today to work to turn around a "distinct and disturbing" lack of public faith in government's largest domestic program.

Shirley Seares Chater told the Senate Finance Committee in prepared testimony that she would be a forceful advocate for the elderly and disabled while working to restore waning confidence in Social Security.

"We must work to turn public opinion around before eroding public confidence in Social Security is transformed into popular support for measures that could diminish the system's effectiveness and endanger the financial security of millions of Americans," Chater said.

Chater acknowledged that there is a "distinct and disturbing lack of public confidence in the Social Security system."

Chater was also facing questions today about whether the agency will merge some of its 1,300 field offices to save money.

Victor Zonana, a spokesman for the Department of Health and Human Services, said Tuesday that HHS Secretary Donna E. Shalala would consider closing offices if it saves tax dollars and improves services.

Members of the Senate Finance Committee were expected to question Chater today about the administration's intentions and its long-term plans for the agency at her confirmation hearing as Social Security commissioner.

Committee Chairman Daniel Patrick Moynihan, D-N.Y., has criticized the Clinton administration repeatedly for failing to fill the post, which has been vacant for a year.

Farm show to open Oct. 12

The first working farm show in Texas history will be held on Oct. 12-14 in Lubbock.

The Farmer-Stockman Show is designed to appeal to crop farmers, cattle feeders and ranchers, and all people involved in agriculture.

The show is located 1½ miles east of Loop 289 on Farm Road 835 (East 50th Street) on land owned by the City of Lubbock.

The show will feature a 56 acre exhibit area where the latest machinery, seed, pesticides, irrigation and livestock production, equipment buildings and many other farm products will be shown. The exhibit area will be divided into lots, with improved streets, underground electrical systems, telephone and water.

Field demonstrations with cotton harvesters and combines will be an important part of the show. Six hundred acres will be used for cotton, corn and grain sorghum production for harvesting. There will also be conservation demonstrations showing various minimum tillage equipment.

There will be a 40-acre demonstration area coordinated by Texas A&M University, Texas Tech University, the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District, the Soil Conservation Service and the Texas Forest Service. The plot has been dedicated to conservation tillage demonstrations and the latest technique in maximizing crop yields and minimizing water usage, wind erosion and water erosion. The new LEPA system utilizes high frequency-low volume irrigation that maximizes use of water.

Other highlights in the area will be a demonstration of tillage tool points and their effect on a soil profile, a cotton transplant demonstration, a cottonseed demonstration, a furrow diking exhibit, a plant growth regulation exhibit, a weed demonstration and an erosion simulaton.

Another area of the Farmer-Stockman Show site will be the Info-Plaza, comprised of eight tents sponsored by the various agriculture and public agencies coordinated by the Texas Agriculture Extension Service.

Each tent will have a different theme, such as Conservation of Natural Resources, Environment and Water Quality. The Hub area will be a focus spot for speakers and special programs.

The Info-Plaza will be landscaped and feature a solar powered geyser and waterfall, garden trees, plants and places to relax. It will be created by several organizations, including Texas Agriculture Extension Service, Soil Conservation Service, Texas Tech University, West Texas A&M, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Texas Soil and Water Conservation, High Plains Underground Water Conservation District, Texas Department of Agriculture, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department and Texas Forest Service.

The Department of Agriculture will also have a test on the show grounds with information ranging from seed quality and certification displays to worker protection standards. Texas Commissioner of Agriculture Rick Perry is scheduled to speak.

The Soil Conservation Service will have displays on subjects from wind breaks to environmental concerns.

Texas Tech University will join with Texas A&M University to provide information on each of their academic agricultural programs.

The Texas Park and Wildlife Department will have a display and be on hand to discuss conservation, protection, restoration, an enhancement of fish and wildlife resources.

A diversified program of interest to women will be presented each day of the show.

Show hours during the three-day event will be from 7:30 a.m. until 5 p.m. Two parking lots are near the exhibit area. A camp ground area will be available for self-contained units.

Cafes and drink concessions will be located throughout the exhibit area. A courtesy shuttle will be operated from the exhibit area to the harvesting and tillage demonstrations.

Show admission will be $3 per day for adults or $5 for a 3-day pass and those under 18 will be admitted free.

Keeping an eye on Texas

Texas meat and poultry production

For Texans who enjoy red meat or poultry, there's a good chance it was produced and processed in the state. Texas produces around 10 percent of all the red meat in the U.S. and over 5 percent of commercial broiler chickens. Texas ranks third in the nation with 215 slaughter plants and second in federal inspection plants with 50.

Grain producers to put more bushels in reserve

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. feed grain producers intend to place an additional 95.4 million bushels of 1992-crop corn, grain sorghum and barley in the Farmer-Owned Reserve, or FOR, the Agriculture Department says.

The producers were required to file their additional intentions to enter those three commodities in the reserve with their local office of USDA's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service by Aug. 31.

Producers also were required to pledge 1992-crop feed grains intended for the reserve as collateral for a nine-month Commodity Credit Corp. price support loan.

During the initial signup period that ended April 30, producers signaled intentions to place 374.5 million bushels of feed grains in the reserve.

Because the intentions from both the original and additional signups are below the 900-million-bushel authorization, producers may place the entire quantity of 1992-crop corn, grain sorghum and barley they designated in the reserve. However, a producer's stated intention does not obligate the producer to place the feed grains in the reserve.

The FOR loan rate will be the same rate as the nine-month loan rate. The FOR loans will mature 27 months from the date the regular loans mature, but producers may repay FOR loans any time before maturity without penalty.

Waste reduction is a critical part of the solution to our solid waste problems.

Reduction waste at the source is one of the most effective ways to decrease household garbage. It's easier to manage garbage by preventing it from entering the home in the first place than to deal with it once it's there. Reducing waste this way is called waste reduction, or precycling. Precycling involves a three-step, decision—making process about products and packaging. First, decide what is truly needed and affordable, then identify and compare the alternatives to buying new products and third, select the best product for the need and affordability.

There are three basic types of products we produce as a nation and purchase as consumers — consumable products include products such as food and fuel. Durable products include clothing, furniture and tools. These products are designed to be used over and over again. Eventually, however, we will discard them. Disposable products are designed and produced for one-time use and include paper, plastic dishware and batteries. Another subtle form of disposable products is the durable product designed for obsolescence. Planned obsolescence is the work of marketing. Examples can include clothes, cars, appliances and high-tech equipment. Planned product obsolescence contributes to our garbage problem and increases consumption of energy and natural resources.

Packaging is the single largest contributor to the household waste stream, and is steadily increasing in volume. In addition, packaging accounts for 30 percent by weight and 50 percent by volume of what we discard, according to the EPA. This indicates that most packaging is not being recycled. When possible, choose the packaging with the least environmental impact in terms of energy use, materials use and recyclability.

There are five different materials used in packaging today — glass, paper, plastic, aluminum and steel. Approximately 75 percent of all glass, 40 percent of the paper, 29 percent of the plastic, 14 percent of the aluminum and 8 percent of the steel produced is used for packages. Each material can be used in single-material and in mixed-material packaging. Because single-material packages generally are easier to recycle and normally use less packaging than mixed-material packaging unless it is the most efficient and effective way to package a particular product.

When you consider the environmental impact of your consumer choice — or shop with the environment in mind — you are Enviroshopping. An enviroshopper makes choices that have an impact on waste reduction, saves energy and helps reduce the pollution and depletion of natural resources. The best approach to waste management is to avoid waste production. To be an effective Enviroshopper you should follow the five R's — Reduce, Reuse, Recycle, Reject and Respond.

Enviroshoppers can play an important role in reducing the solid waste problem. When you spend your money, you support the products that reflect your values. To actively support the environment in the marketplace, make choices according to the five R's of Enviroshopping. Every individual's participation is necessary to make a difference.

For more information on Enviroshopping, contact your local county extension agent.

Refunds ok'd

AUSTIN — "Refunds are now available for agricultural producers who, since Jan. 1, 1992 have been required to pay a special $5 vehicle license fee on farm and ranch vehicles to fund a state program to help young farmers get started into business," State Comptroller John Sharp has announced.

The Texas Legislature has now authorized the refunds on fees for the Young Farmer Endowment Program. Refunds can be obtained from the Comptroller's Office through Nov. 1, 1993. Refund claim forms are available from the Comptroller of Public Accounts by calling 1-800-252-1382. Claim forms are also available from county tax assessor-collectors.

Information required on the claim form will be the agricultural producer's name, social security number, taxing county and the license number of each vehicle for which a refund is sought.
