Truck route accepted as chamber goal

Snyder Chamber of Commerce directors pledged themselves to a new project Tuesday — an ongoing effort to lobby with state highway officials to acquire state or federal monies to create a truck route making a western loop around Snyder.

The loop would connect the Lubbock Highway from the northwest to the Colorado City Highway to the southeast.

The existing highway which will have to be both "beefed up" and extended is Farm to Market Road (FM) 1611, which now runs north and south connecting the Lubbock Highway (U.S. 84) — crossing the Lamesa Hwy. (U.S. Hwy. 80) — with the western extension of 37th St.

Chamber members were told Tuesday that the road surface renovation required to make the existing FM 1611 suitable as a truck route is currently funded and is expected to be let for contract this summer.

This information was provided by Ed Vernon, local resident engineer for the Snyder office of the Texas Department of Highways and Public Transportation.

This work will involve both adding an 8 ft. shoulder to the highway and some 4 inches of asphalt base.

Vernon cautioned, however, this is only the first phase of what would be a proposed loop around the western half of the city — a project designed to alleviate heavy truck traffic through downtown Snyder.

Currently, there is no direct route connecting FM 1611 to the east to connect with either the Big Spring or Colorado City Highway.

The "second phase," an idea that chamber directors also discussed favorably Tuesday, would be to seek funds to construct a connecting highway linking the intersection of FM 1611 and West 37th to the intersection of the Big Spring Highway and FM 2763.

FM 2763 is the highway which runs east across the southern edge of the Western Texas College campus to the Colorado City Highway.

"To do this, some group is going to have to push it," said Vernon.

The western loop would provide trucks and other heavy equipment rigs related to the oil field a route linking them to three of the four major highway arteries which flow into Snyder — U.S. 84 (to Lubbock); State Hwy. 350 (to Big Spring); and State Hwy. 208 (to Colorado City).

Vernon explained that the second phase from West 37th to the Big Spring Hwy. would require the acquisition of right-of-way across personal property, but he noted the land involved only one land owner, the Winston Brothers family.

Assuming the right-of-way could be secured, he noted that

Chamber directors proposed

The nominees for new directors to the Snyder Chamber of Commerce board were revealed Tuesday.

Four locals are proposed, including one director — Gene Thomas, manager for SACROC operations here — who is currently serving after being named to an unexpired term.

Other nominees are Mike Banta, vice president with American State Bank; Tom Latos, general manager for Kmart; and Margaret Drum, owner of Margaret's ladies specialty store.

These names will now be proposed to the full chamber membership. The membership also has the option of presenting other names by obtaining 10 signatures asking for a ballot.

All proposed names will be up for a vote at the December meeting of the chamber direc-

Fireman of Year honored Tuesday

Garland Williams, a 21-year veteran of the Snyder Volunteer Fire Department, was named Fireman of the Year for 1983-84 at the conclusion of the 55th Annual Fire Department Thanksgiving Banquet Tuesday evening.

Williams — who joined the local department May 23, 1963 — was selected by vote of the department membership.

Three other veteran firemen were also nominated for the honor, according to Fire Chief Terry Don McDowell.

Sandra Clawson, wife of Fire Captian Ronnie Clawson, was named Fire Department Sweetheart for the year.

Service awards were presented also to Terry Sowell, 10-years service; Bobby Hataway Sr., Ronnie Clawson and John Pilgrim, all 5-years service.

Plans set in motion for '85 Yule concert

Christmas plans one year away were approved Tuesday and county residents may now look forward to a visit during 1985 of the 35-piece Fort Worth Chamber Orchestra.

Chamber of commerce directors approved a plan to schedule the orchestra for both an afternoon children's concert and an evening performance next Yule season.

Both appearances will feature music of the season and will be scheduled here through the efforts of members of the Cultural Affairs Committee.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Reincarnation is ridiculous--no one can afford to live twice."

This was going to be the year for football--Texas Tech hired a stable of new coaches and Howard Cosell quit Monday night football.

We should have stuck to our plans to boycott TV football. We made that decision a couple of years ago when the pro players went on strike. When the union players walked out, we vowed not to watch pro football again.

Our position became more flexible when Cosell decided he was against football--no one could agree with Cosell. But 1984 is a poor year if you happen to be a Dallas Cowboy fan.

The cowpokes can't decide on a quarterback, and for the first time it appears that someone other than Tom Landry is making the important decisions.

We have to be a little suspicious of the new owners who are led by Dallas banker Bum Bright. He's the same fellow who signed up Jackie Sherrill as the multi-million dollar head coach of the Texas Aggies.

Despite the big bucks, the Aggies are still not winning. In fact, we understand the Aggies are taking up the artificial turf at Kyle Field and replacing it with paper.

Texas Tech still has a few die-hard fans. Saturday against SMU, the game was played in the rain. Eddie and Nancy Peterson were among the 2,000 fans who toughed the elements to watch the entire game. It's okay, if the Peterson's catch a cold they get their cold medicine at cost.

Peterson likes to make predictions. Next year, he says, the Aggies will be 10-0. That's about as likely as Gary Hart picking Cosell as his running mate.

If you really want to bring fans back to football--change the rules where it's a 15-year penalty if the quarterback slides. Anybody that makes over a half million a year ought to take his licks just like the wide receivers.

PTK honors WTC instructor

Mike Otto, chairman of the WTC Science Division, has become the second instructor at Western Texas College to be honored by the local chapter of the nationally affiliated Phi Theta Kappa.

The honor is to be presented annually to recognize outstanding service to WTC students.

Tuesday's presentation was part of a Phi Theta Kappa Founder's Day observance, with the reception hosted jointly by the WTC chapter of PTK and the Student Senate.

Dr. Franklin Pruitt, professor of history and government, was the first to receive the award in 1983. The names of the honorees will be inscribed on a plaque each year.

At Tuesday's reception, Brent Simpson, president of the PTK chapter, welcomed the students and others attending and announced the winner of this year's award.

Dr. Don Newbury, college president, commended Phi Theta Kappa members as "those involved in and given to service," in education as well as community service.

Otto teaches freshman chemistry, biology and geology this semester. He notes his philosophy of teaching is to emphasize working with students at their respective level of achieve-

A. — Pretty good, with some Snyder self-service stations advertising below $1 per gallon for regular. By comparison, a sampling of self-service regular prices, provided by the American Automobile Association, include Amarillo, $1.11; Dallas, $1.10; Midland, $1.10; San Antonio, $1.05; El Paso, $1.08; and Houston, $1.02.

In Brief

Prices up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consumer prices, driven by more expensive gasoline and food, rose a moderate 0.4 percent in October, the government said today. The 1.8 percent gasoline price hike was the steepest since May 1983.

With just two months left in 1984, however, inflation this year is running at 4.2 percent, slightly better than analysts' predictions of a 5 percent rise for the year.

As for last month, analysts laid fully half the blame for higher prices on the increases for gasoline and food. Food prices, which had fallen in September, rose 0.4 percent.

But those analysts said the news for consumers was not as bad as it might appear from the new figures. Virtually all the higher gasoline prices were recorded in the West, primarily in California, with the department's seasonal adjustment process accounting for much of the rest of the gain.

Won't stay

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — America's U.N. ambassador, Jeane J. Kirkpatrick, has dampened speculation she will take a new job in the Reagan administration after leaving her post, saying she hopes to "work out something that would allow me to return to private life."

"I both enjoy and miss the pleasures of private life," the former college professor told a news conference at the United Nations on Tuesday. "I am absolutely not coy about it."

There has been speculation that Mrs. Kirkpatrick will succeed the national security adviser, Robert C. McFarlane. The White House has denied McFarlane will be leaving the post.

Bad debt may have led to bar shooting

DALLAS (AP) — A bad debt may have triggered a barroom shooting spree that left one man dead and five people wounded, police say.

Officers said Tuesday the first intended victim of the shooting was a man who allegedly owed money to Charles W. "Doc" Morrison, who is accused of opening fire on patrons of the Webb Lounge Monday night with a high powered rifle.

Morrison was being held today in lieu of $200,000 bond in the Lew Sterrett Justice Center here after being returned from Denton County where he was arrested on a rural road about five hours after the shooting spree.

Police investigator J.J. Coughlin said the customer believed to be the target of the shooting spree was not hurt.

"One of the customers in there and him had some problem about money and his intent was to go in the bar and confront that customer," Coughlin said. "That customer is one of the ones who did not end up getting injured."

The gunman apparently tried to fire first at the unidentified 55-year-old man as he sat with another patron at the front of the bar, but a round was not chambered in the gun and the assailant ducked behind a partition to load, witnesses told police.

Coughlin said other bar patrons apparently could not see the gunman behind the partition, but the two men closest to him ran out the back door while the assailant loaded his weapon.

"We can't say whether he was trying to get the first victim as he was running or whether he was just firing into the bar," Coughlin said. "Everyone just started running, falling and getting down."

Witnesses said the gunman had not argued with the intended victim earlier on the day of the shooting.

About 11 pistols and rifles, including a weapon believed used in the shooting, were recovered by police at the time of the arrest, authorities said. Police Lt. Ron Waldrop said investigators also found a large amount of ammunition in the vehicle.

Denton County authorities said they arrested the man outside his car on the back road. He offered no resistance, they said.

The incident reminded bar spectators of Dallas' worst mass slaying at another bar just six months ago.

Mediator called over coffee fuss

AUSTIN (AP) — A federal mediator has been called into the brewing feud at the Internal Revenue Service center in Austin, where employees are angry over an order to remove some 120 private coffeepots.

IRS management officials cited government regulations against electrical appliances plugged into non-grounded wall sockets. The appliance crackdown stemmed from a nationwide review of fire and safety features at government buildings, they said.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1984 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR READERS: By popular demand, here is my traditional Thanksgiving column:

Tomorrow is Thanksgiving Day, so take a few minutes to think about what you have to be thankful for.

How's your health? Not so good? Well, thank God you've lived this long. A lot of people haven't. You're hurting? Thousands—maybe millions—are hurting more. (Have you ever visited a veterans' hospital? Or a rehabilitation clinic for crippled children?)

If you awakened this morning and were able to hear the birds sing, use your vocal cords to utter human sounds, walk to the breakfast table on two good legs and read the newspaper with two good eyes, praise the Lord! A lot of people couldn't.

How's your pocketbook? Thin? Well, most of the world is a lot poorer. No pensions. No welfare. No food stamps. No Social Security. In fact, one-third of the people in the world will go to bed hungry tonight.

Are you lonely? The way to have a friend is to be one. If nobody calls you, call someone. Go out of your way to do something nice for somebody. It's a sure cure for the blues.

Are you concerned about your country's future? Hooray! Our system has been saved by such concern. Concern for fair play under the law. Your country may not be a rose garden, but it also is not a patch of weeds.

Freedom rings! Look and listen. You can still worship at the church of your choice, cast a secret ballot and even criticize your government without fearing a knock on the head or a knock on the door at midnight. And if you want to live under a different system, you are free to go. There are no walls or fences—nothing to keep you here.

As a final thought, I'll repeat my Thanksgiving Prayer; perhaps you will want to use it at your table tomorrow:

O, heavenly Father: We thank thee for food and remember the hungry.

We thank thee for health and remember the sick.

We thank thee for friends and remember the friendless.

We thank thee for freedom and remember the enslaved.

May these remembrances stir us to service,

That thy gifts to us may be used for others. Amen.

Have a wonderful Thanksgiving and may God bless you and yours.

Love, ABBY

P.S. Want an instant high? The surest cure for the post-holiday blues is to do something nice for someone. Why not call someone who lives alone and invite him (or her) over for dinner or leftovers?

Better yet, call and say, "I'm coming to get you, and I'll see that you get home." (Many older people don't drive, and those who do don't like to go out alone after dark.)

Try it. And let me know the results.

(Do you hate to write letters because you don't know what to say? Thank-you notes, sympathy letters, congratulations, how to decline and accept invitations and how to write an interesting letter are included in Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." Send your name and address clearly printed with a check or money order for $2.50 (this includes postage) to: Dear Abby, Letter Booklet, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.)

Blast victims buried in common grave site

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Firemen working by the light of flashlights buried 275 unidentified victims of fiery gas explosions in a huge mass grave on a hillside, northeast of the neighborhood where they died.

The victims buried late Tuesday night were among at least 324 people killed when explosions at a liquid petroleum gas storage and distribution center showered flames, debris and sections of tanks onto homes in the area at daybreak Monday. Red Cross officials said at least 500 other people were seriously injured.

The office of President Miguel de la Madrid, which issued the latest fatality figures late Tuesday, said the toll "is not expected to rise significantly because the injured are being attended efficiently by the health system."

Fire fighters on Tuesday night stacked the 275 unidentified victims' coffins, some metal and some wooden, in layers into a dusty grave dug by a bulldozer.

Guided by the headlights of a jeep and 10 flashlights held by policemen, the fire fighters quickly filled the grave.

Most of the bodies were burned beyond recognition. They had been removed from the neighborhood and held in a makeshift morgue while survivors filed by them Tuesday in an attempt to identify missing relatives.

However, Col. Eustongio Perez Becerreril, deputy police director for the state of Mexico, said authorities decided to bury the unidentified victims after the stench in the morgue intensified.

"One stage of the accident has destoyed homes."

The explosion and fire destroyed or seriously damaged homes in about 20 square blocks of the neighborhood of San Juan Ixhuatepec in Tlalnepantla, a suburb of the northern edge of Mexico City. Hector Garcia Vasqud, a federal spokesman, said more than 100,000 people were evacuated from the area.

Thousands of people began returning to their homes Tuesday near the area devestated by the gas tank explosions, some still wondring whether they would find relatives lost when they fled the early morning fire and many questioning whether they should continue to live in the area.

Dozens of residents pushed to the edge of an area that was still cordoned off, trying to convince officials to let them return to their homes in neighborhoods closest to the site where four tanks exploded and two others burned. But they were told the area was being fumigated to prevent disease and they would have to wait.

Jesus Corona Lopez returned to a home that was little more than a pile of rubble. A huge section of a sausage-shaped tank, blown more than half a mile by the explosion, crushed his home and part of that of his next-door neighbor, Jose Aranda Olvera.

SCS Notes

By Terry Hefner
Soil Conservationist

Wind erosion on cropland was reported as one of the five most critical problems in 63 districts of Texas, including our own Upper Colorado Soil and Water Conservation District in Scurry and Borden counties.

Generally wind erosion is most common on sandy or sandy loam soils because of their low cohesion. The most serious damage from wind erosion is the separation and gradual removal of silt and organic matter from our surface soils. The remaining materials may be sandy and infertile.

Wind erosion occurs when wind of adequate velocity blows across unprotected soil surfaces. It often starts at some critical location such as an exposed knoll, tracks or paths made by implements or animals, and in corners of turnrows where the soil has been excessively pulverized.

There is only one permanent cure for wind erosion on agricultural land. The land must be kept covered with either plant residues or with growing plants at least during the critical blow period which usually occurs from November through May.

Blowing soil may cause crop damage. Some crops are destroyed in a short time by abrasion from wind blown particles. Most wind erosion control practices are aimed at improving vegetative cover and increasing surface roughness with the use of conservation tillage.

Conservation tillage is a temporary measure used to roughen the soil surface when there is not sufficient plant cover, dead or alive, to give protection against wind erosion. Avoiding as much tillage as possible is important in conservation because excessive tillage buries plant residues, hastens the loss of organic matter and pulverizes the soil.

Often a single conservation tillage operation to roughen the soil can be expected to keep the soil from blowing, but only for a short period. On sandy soils this tillage may last for one or two heavy blows. For soils where clods are more readily formed, a single roughening operation will have longer lasting effects. For this reason, the best type of wind erosion control tillage varies for different soils.

In general, work no larger area than necessary to control blowing at the time. Often you can work narrow strips and leave undisturbed areas to work again at a later date if necessary.

Obviously, the best time for wind erosion control tillage is just before a hard blow. However, it is difficult or impossible to predict just when a soil damaging wind will occur. Therefore, when you know your soil will need it, it is best to perform such tillage a short while before the damaging windy season is due. Any farmer who has lived in an area for sometime knows about when to expect these high winds.

For more information about wind erosion control practices, contact your local Soil Conservation Service.

Loser on loser is a winner

By James Jacoby

Throwing a losing card in one suit on a winning card in another suit is a routine play. Dumping such a loser on another losing card is less usual but should certainly be part of your arsenal of bridge skills. Here is an interesting variation of a "loser-on-loser" play.

Declarer won the ace of spades. He next played king of clubs and ace of clubs, and ruffed the third round with dummy's diamond king. A low diamond was played to the 10 in the South hand. Now came another club, but declarer knew better than to make a futile attempt to ruff. Instead he discarded dummy's last spade. Declarer was now able to trump his losing spade in dummy and make 11 tricks.

Note that declarer had to exercise a little care in his trump management. After trumping the third club in dummy and playing a diamond to his hand, he could not afford to play a second round of trumps. Had he fallen into that trap, West would have a way to set the contract when he was allowed to hold the club queen. West could play a low heart to East, who could return his last trump, depriving declarer of the ability to trump his losing spade. Drawing only one round of trumps allowed the loser-on-loser play to be effective even against the actual 3-1 diamond distribution.

Cream butter, sugar and vanilla; beat in egg until blended. Sprinkle with flour, soda and salt and beat until smooth. Stir in oats, chocolate and walnuts. Drop by teaspoonfuls, a few inches apart, onto greased cookie sheets. Bake in a preheated 375-degree oven 10 to 12 minutes. Cool on wire racks. Makes 3 to 3½ dozen.

Sensitive historian studies women

Lady Antonia Fraser is not just the author of several bestselling biographies such as "Mary, Queen of Scots" and "Royal Charles." She is also a sensitive historian and a gifted storyteller.

That talent is now on view in "The Weaker Vessel," a study of women in 17th-century England. The title, by the way, comes from a phrase in the King James Bible that describes woman as the weaker vessel to man. The idea for such a book first occurred to Fraser when she was researching the life of Oliver Cromwell. After delving through reams of letters, diaries and journals, she grew acutely aware of the problems that affected the lives of several generations of English women.

Here are stories of actresses and preachers, of writers and mothers, of prostitutes and ladies in waiting, and of heiresses and midwives. This book is not the story of just one woman or one class. It is a panoramic tour through an age that included the English Civil War, the rise of Quakerism, the Restoration and the growth of English theater, and the debut of the first English actress.

The theater could lead to another profession — mistress to the king. Nell Gwynn was an orange seller and an actress before becoming Charles II's mistress.

But even the celebrated courtesans of the royal court were victims of men. Educated women and women who dabbled in business were the exception and not the rule. Although schooled in French, Queen Anne, for example, knew very little about history or geography. It was the Quaker religion that encouraged equal education for both sexes.

Despite the accomplishments of a few brilliant women, women in general in 17th-century England made little progress in self-determination. Under English law women remained the property, and the pawns, of men.

Burglaries reported at two laundromats

Two local laundromats were reported burglarized Tuesday night.

Don Adams, owner of Don Adams Laundry in the 2400 Block of 26th St., filed the first report at 10:20 p.m.

He told investigators he had discovered a few tools and a large quantity of coins had been taken from the machines earlier in the evening.

Tommy D. Caldwell, owner of the Speedqueen Lanudry in the 1500 Block of 26th St., filed the second report at 10:21 p.m.

He also said his business had been burglarized sometime earlier in the evening.

In addition to coins being taken, several machines were reportedly damaged at that business.

Minor theft said cleared

Police here reported clearing a misdemeanor theft reported Tuesday morning with the identification of two suspects Tuesday night.

At 9:15 p.m. Tuesday, police reports indicate two suspects were identified in the theft of a wheelbarrow and a small portable pump from the E.D. Walton Construction Company yard.

No arrests were made in the case and officers reported the case had been refered to county officials for possible prosecution.

Police are also investigating a misdemeanor theft of money from a local business reported Tuesday morning.

According to reports, employees of The Pit Stop, on College Ave. just north of the Snyder Square, reported at 3:24 p.m. the theft of an undetermined amount of cash from the cash register.

The money is thought to have been taken from the business sometime earlier in the day.

In other action, police jailed an 18-year-old Snyder man on charges of DWI and evading arrest following a brief chase in far north Snyder around 2:30 a.m. Wednesday.

One other local man was also jailed for DWI earlier Tuesday evening and three suspects were arrested for public intoxication Tuesday night.

The immediate action taken by chamber members Tuesday was to appoint in-coming Chamber President Roy Baze to head a committee formed specifically to work with state highway officials. The ultimate goal of this committee will be to lobby for the approval of the western truck loop.

During discussion, it was noted this effort will also require the cooperation of both city and county officials, who have already gone on record with the state highway department requesting action regarding a truck route.

The solicitation of state and federal political aid — with the names of U.S. Rep. Charles Stenholm and U.S. Senator-elect Phil Gramm mentioned specifically — was discussed also.

In addition Tuesday, the proposed slate of chamber officers for 1985 were revealed. These also will be considered by directors at the December session.

Alcohol has damaging effect

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — In one of your columns you said that alcohol was unmasculine. As a longtime social drinker, I find that alcohol is not a big problem. The problem is the people who abuse it. Many people, as in my case, use alcohol to aid in R and R.

Many people associate alcohol with drugs, rape, theft and many other actions of that sort. To me, there is a difference between drinkers and drunks. Drinkers are looking for an easy way to relax and drunks are looking for an escape from today's society. I wish you had made your comments in reference to excessive use of alcohol, since there is no reason to say that drinking is un-masculine in a physical or social sense.

DEAR READER — To set the record straight, the word is emasculating, which, in the strict sense, means the removal of the testicles. Alcohol does have a direct effect on male hormone levels, and you don't have to be a drunk to have this happen. Alcohol decreases the testicles' ability to produce testosterone (the masculinizing hormone) and it increases the destruction of the testosterone that is already in the circulation. That is a fact, not an opinion.

It takes very little alcohol to affect the body. An average cocktail or a beer that is absorbed quickly will raise the blood alcohol levels significantly and will affect a person's performance. That is why it is often suggested that if you drink and must drive, you consume just one drink slowly over an hour, or wait an hour after drinking the one cocktail to drive.

Alcohol is a drug, whether it is used for rest and relaxation or for some other purpose. It is a brain depressant and has even been used for its anesthetic effects.

I have discussed the effects of alcohol in The Health Letter 14-6, Alcohol Can Be Dangerous to Your Health, which I am sending you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Alcohol is a frequent factor in many crimes. Its ability to release inhibitions may lead a person to do things he should not, and normally would not, do. If you do use alcohol, it is important that you treat it with respect and be aware of how it can affect your behavior, your performance and your health.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I'm a 30-year-old female and have been diagnosed as having trichomoniasis. What can result if it is left untreated, if I am still sexually active? Is there any possibility that it might become a more serious problem? Will it clear up by itself in time?

DEAR READER — Trichomoniasis is caused by a one-celled organism called a protozoan, which is related to the ameba. Trichomoniasis is usually transmitted sexually, but can be transmitted in other ways. It is a contagious disease. If you are sexually active, you can transmit it to your sexual partner. The same protozoa will inhabit the prostate and urethra of the male and the bladder of the female. Some investigators have suggested that they also can inhabit the rectum and colon.

That tells you two things: Both sexual partners must be treated at the same time to eliminate the infection; and you have to take a medicine that affects the whole body, not just a local vaginal application.

Trichomoniasis is a common cause of vaginal discharge. If it is not treated, although the discharge symptoms may decrease or disappear, the infection is still there and can be transmitted.

Man convicted for slaying role

HOUSTON (AP) — Jurors who convicted a Houston man of capital murder in the slaying of a woman hacked to death with a pickax may have considered a secretly made recording the strongest piece of evidence, a prosecutor said.

Daniel R. Garrett, 38, was convicted Tuesday in the death of Deborah Ruth Davis Thornton, 32. The jury was to reconvene today to decide whether he should be executed or spend his life in prison.

Prosecutor Charley Davidson said the crucial evidence may have been a recording made by Garrett's 37-year-old brother, Douglas. Davidson said jurors asked to have the tape brought into their room during deliberations.

Douglas Garrett told police his brother was involved in the killings and agreed to be wired for sound.

The result was a tape of a conversation between the two brothers and Karla Faye Tucker, who has already been sentenced to die for killing Ms. Thornton's overnight guest, 26-year-old Jerry Lynn Dean. The two were killed in June 1983.

During the recorded conversation, the Garretts and Ms. Tucker discussed details of the killings. At one point, Douglas Garrett asked his brother if the victims were asleep when they were killed. Daniel responded, "The guy woke up. The girl started waking up. I told her to stick her head under the covers."

Daniel Garrett's attorney, Ray Bass, said he was "shocked and disappointed" by the verdict.

"We thought we had a chance. Obviously the jury saw it differently," he said.

Assistant District Attorney Rusty Hardin said he would ask jurors to sentence Garrett to death by injection because "his behavior deserves it."

Prosecutors claimed Garrett and Ms. Tucker went to Dean's apartment to steal his motorcycle. Ms. Tucker testified as a prosecution witness that Garrett struck Dean with a hammer and left the room, and she then hit Dean with a pickax to stop him from gurgling.

Ms. Tucker testified that she then struck Ms. Thornton. Garrett returned to the room, took the pickax and killed Ms. Thornton, leaving the pickax embedded in her chest.

"I heard her say, 'Oh, God, it hurts. If you're going to kill me, please hurry up,'" Ms. Tucker said.

CISCO – Western Texas College dropped a four-point lead late in the game and fell to Cisco Junior College here Tuesday night, 79-77 in non-conference basketball action.

It was the first loss of the season for Coach Phil Spradling's Westerners, who will take a 7-1 record into this weekend's Odessa Thanksgiving Classic.

"We thought the guys played exceptionally well. The calls at the end of the game just went against us," said Spradling.

Western was leading 77-73 and had the ball at the freethrow line with two minutes left in the game. A double-violation at the line negated the freethrow attempts, and Cisco followed with a basket to cut the lead to 77-75. Western was then called for traveling, Cisco scored, and the contest was locked.

Western still had an opportunity for the victory. The Westerners set up a final shot, missed, then were called for a foul on the rebound. Cisco put in the one-and-one to clinch the victory.

"We shot 58 percent from the field," said Spradling. "We still need to work on our freethrows (7 of 12) but our halfcourt defense is really improving. It's starting to come along.

"I thought it was a real good effort. It was a heartbreaker to lose but you learn from your mistakes," the coach added.

Floyd Singleton's 18 points was high for Western, which also got 12 from Alvin Hicks, 11 from James Dawn and 10 from Victor Spencer.

Dawn had 10 rebounds as Western out-boarded the hosts 33 to 30. Billy Chambers aided with six assists.

Western will play Angelo State JV at 5 p.m. Thursday in the classic at Odessa. Friday, the Westerners will take on Cedar Valley College at 9 and on Saturday they face Hill College at 5.

SHS girls defeat Brownfield Cubs

Snyder's Lady Tigers used the press to build an early 15-point lead, then went on to cruise past Brownfield here Tuesday, 68-55.

It was Snyder's second win in as many days and gives the girls a 2-0 record as they prepare to play in Abilene on Nov. 27.

Snyder junior varsity girls also copped their second win of the season, beating Brownfield 45-27.

Using a full-court press, Snyder varsity opened a quick 7-4 lead. The Tigers followed it up with 10 unmatched points - five each from Karlene Thompson and Carie Housden - to go in front 17-4.

Quick-handed Stephanie McKnight helped gear the scrappy defense, as did Donna Anderson, who pulled down 15 rebounds for the game.

Despite trailing by 23, 46-23 at halftime, Brownfield didn't quit. The Lady Cubs stuck up points from Stacey Martin and Kelly Chattin early in the fourth to cut the lead to 17, then got help from Shelly Nettles to make it a 13-point ballgame midway through the fourth quarter.

Snyder stopped the rally with one of its own, however, when McKnight, Housden and Thompson countered with six straight Snyder points and a new 65-46 lead.

"I thought we did very well first half," said Coach Ken Housden. "We played well in the second half except we let their press bother us and we had a hard time getting our offense going at times. Other than that we had good team effort and hustle. Overall, I'm very pleased. I think we're progressing well and I think we'll continue to do so."

Thompson and Housden led the scoring effort with 29 and 18 points respectively. McKnight added 10.

Thompson also had 10 boards and six steals while Housden had 11 rebounds and five steals.

Jill Roemisch scored 11 and Angie Housden had 8 to help pace the Snyder junior varsity in an earlier game. Donna Clay and Teri Henry pulled down 9 rebounds apiece while Housden led in steals with 4 and Deedra Tomlin and Pam Casias had 4 assists apiece.

Sports in brief

ORR, DEGRATE TOPS

AUSTIN (AP) - Texas' Terry Orr, who shifted from fullback to tailback against Texas Christian and scored four touchdowns, was selected by The Associated Press as the offensive player of the week in the Southwest Conference.

Orr, who rushed for 195 yards and had scoring runs of 3, 82 and 33 yards, showed off his receiving skills with a reception that he turned into a 63-yard touchdown in the Longhorns' 44-23 victory.

Texas defensive tackle Tony Degrate, a 276-p und senior from Snyder, was chosen as the SWC defensive player of the week after making 17 tackles against the Horned Frogs.

Fifteen of Degrate's tackles were unassisted and two were behind the line of scrimmage. He also had three quarterback sacks, caused two fumbles and pressured the passer five times.

WHITE TO START

DALLAS (AP) - Saying the Cowboys need someone to "spark us up," Dallas Coach Tom Landry has named Danny White as starting quarterback for the Thanksgiving Day NFL game with New England in Texas Stadium.

Landry also tabbed Timmy Newsome as the starting fullback over Ron Springs and said Doug Donley would replace Mike Renfro at flanker.

FLORIDA BANNED

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) - The Southeastern Conference executive committee voted unanimously Tuesday to bar Florida from accepting the SEC champions' automatic berth in the Sugar Bowl or a s ot in any other bowl.

After a 22-month investigation, the NCAA cited Florida for 107 violations, but reduced the number to 59 after Florida responded. The NCAA charges included illegal inducements in the recruiting of players.

The SEC decision means Auburn could go to the Sugar Bowl if it defeats Alabama Dec. 1. If it loses, the Sugar Bowl bid would go to Louisiana State. If Auburn and Alabama tie, the Sugar Bowl would have its choice of either Auburn or LSU.

The executive committee said it would await National Collegiate Athletic Association action on Florida's appeal before making a decision on whether to strip the Gators of their first-ever SEC crown.

Lebanon demands withdrawal timetable

NAQOURA, Lebanon (AP) — Lebanon today demanded a detailed timetable for Israel's pullout from southern Lebanon during the fourth round of troop withdrawal talks in this border town.

An Israeli spokesman countered that there could be no withdrawal until adequate security arrangements had been agreed on to protect Israel's northern border, but indicated some flexibility about where U.N. forces might be deployed.

The talks ended after six hours with a joint communique that said the two sides would meet again Monday. There was no reference to progress in the statement.

Talks resumption possible

He said knowing each student well enough to call them by name is important.

Otto joined the faculty as assistant professor of science in 1978.

A native of Pecos, he received the bachelor of science degree and the master of science degree from Sul Ross State University. He taught at Fluvanna High School and Ira High School before joining the WTC faculty.

Concert set for next year

John Gibson and Jerry Worsham, members of the chamber committee, discussed the project with the full board Tuesday during its regular November meeting.

Cost of the appearance will be approximately $9,000, they noted. It is hoped one-half of this may be funded through a grant from the Texas Commission to the Arts (TCA), Gibson said.

To fund the remainder, Worsham outlined a plan to seek patrons who would contribute amounts ranging from $20 to $50 each.

These would be recognized in a concert program. He said ticket sales — priced possbily as low as $2.50 — could make up the rest.

The chamber authorized the committee members Tuesday to sign a contract for the local appearance. Gibson said he would also begin the application process for the TCA grant.

In other chamber business Tuesday, directors heard reports regarding other chamber activities from representatives Byron Hedges, agri-business committee; David Thompson, business development committee; Troy Williamson, leadership class; Murray Anne Ray, playoff games; and Roy Baze, banquet committee.
