Keeping tab on our neighbors:

Charles Didway of the Post Dispatch says last Saturday's election didn't stir up much excitement in Garza County.

"The 'fireworks' didn't start Saturday until about two hours after the polls closed," wrote Didway in his weekly column. "That's when the rain and the most severe electrical storm of the season hit. So, with tornado alerts out and a few other things going on, it wasn't such a dull day after all, even though the election can't be given any of the credit for livening it up."

Noting that there is no concensus among the experts about the causes and cures of obesity, the Big Spring Daily Herald observes that "What we're waiting for is a prophet who says eat what you want when you want——and then doesn't spoil it by adding——so long as it doesn't make you fat."

America has the reputation of having more bulgy people than most countries, and it also must have more dieters judging from the attention given to the subject.

However, we suspect that if all Americans who claim to be dieting really were a lot of the shortages in stores would disappear. And if others who need it should join them, huge food surpluses would build up.

"Despite the recent flurry of interest in the production of methane from animal waste, don't get carried away just yet," advises the Farmland News. "In order to make it work you'll need a high degree of management plus considerable equipment investment.....After much figuring, it comes out that it would take about 1,000 hogs to produce the gas needed to heat a 1,500-square-foot home and to provide it with hot water and cooking gas....The production unit will require piping, compressors, pressure regulators, tanks and safety devices and other fixtures at a conventional waste disposal unit. There will still remain some 40 per cent of the waste as sludge to be disposed of."

As others have pointed out, there's no easy solution to energy problems.——WACIL McNAIR.

MORE REPUBLICANS ASK RESIGNATION

Nixon Pressure Mounts

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Richard Schweiker of Pennsylvania added his name today to a growing list of Republicans urging President Nixon to resign.

In a letter addressed to the President, Schweiker said Nixon should step down because the Watergate transcripts released by the White House last week "reveal a total disregard for the moral and ethical values upon which this nation was built.

"I am compelled to speak out," Schweiker said. "I cannot remain silent in the face of the now obvious moral corrosion destroying the presidency."

Nixon has come under growing pressure to resign since releasing the transcripts 10 days ago. Some of the pressure has come from conservative Republicans who have supported him in the past.

However, White House Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren said Thursday Nixon, "is determined to remain in office despite comments by some and the attacks by others."

Appearing on NBC's "Today" show, White House counselor Dean Burch said today, "I don't think the President has any intention of resigning. I have no reason for believing the President is considering resigning."

Burch said Nixon feels he has not committed any impeachable offense and feels obligated to complete the four-year term to which he was elected in 1972. Burch predicted Nixon would give that answer to any delegation that might come to the White House to seek his resignation.

"It seems to me the President of the United States is entitled to due process," Burch added.

Schweiker, who has often split with Nixon on issues, said he would not prejudge Nixon on issues relating to impeachment. But he said the edited transcripts of presidential Watergate conversations released last week "will inevitably destroy your capacity to lead our nation effectively for the remainder of your term."

"I am convinced you can best serve your country and the presidency by resigning now," Schweiker said.

Schweiker is the third Republican senator to call for Nixon's resignation. Sens. Edward W. Brooke of Massachusetts and James L. Buckley, of New York previously had called on Nixon to resign.

Broken Oil Line Repaired

A break in an 8-inch Amoco oil pipeline between the Cogdell field 35 miles north of town and the Snyder Station resulted in hundreds of barrels of oil being lost, but Amoco workmen have sealed off the line and repairs were expected to be completed by 3 p.m. today.

Jim Wilhelm, operating supervisor, said the breck occurred about 200 feet north of the Lamesa Highway just south of Jack's Welding Works. The break occurred about 3 p.m. yesterday and was spewing out oil at the rate of about 100 barrels an hour. However, company employes had shut off the oil flow through the line within an hour. It took a while longer for the line to drain out. Then, they installed a new piece of pipe with "weld plus in" couplings and stopped the flow completely. The installation was completed by 2 a.m. today.

Wilhelm said the break occurred because a line gauge valve shut against the incoming stream. He said workmen today would permanently weld the new piece of line into place.

"We'll resume pumping on a limited basis while the welding is going on to carry off the heat, and the welding should be completed with normal flow restored by 3 o'clock this afternoon," Wilhelm said.

The line goes south from the Snyder station to Colorado City and then south to Eldorado.

Some of the lost oil was recovered by Amoco as it sent trucks to the scene.

Small Twister Dips Into Lake

The Snyder area was in on some of the weather excitement but failed to get any of the rainfall Thursday as turbulence moved across the state.

A small tornado dipped down into Lake J.B. Thomas shortly before 5 p.m. It lifted back into a cloud formation as it approached the shore of the lake and apparently did no damage to property, according to reports from that area this morning. A wide area of West Texas was under a tornado watch at the time.

Meanwhile, heavy rains and tornadoes were moving into South Central Texas, with 90 persons forced to evacuate their homes near Austin early today. Rains were blamed for five deaths, four of them in traffic.

Two men were killed near Alice, one near San Antonio, another at Wells, all on rain-whipped highways, and a boy drowned near Bandera when his father's car was shoved off a bridge by flood waters.

The Department of Public Safety reported flood water up to two feet deep in Garfield at the Colorado River Ranchette development that consists mainly of mobile homes 13 miles east of Austin near Texas 71.

Richard Grimmett, DPS spokesman, said DPS helicopters and private boats rescued the Garfield evacuees.

ON IMPEACHMENT

Panel Weighing Facts In Secrecy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Stocked with facts and sworn to secrecy, members of the House Judiciary Committee have begun to consider evidence in its historic inquiry into possible impeachment of President Nixon.

During a long, closed briefing Thursday, the committee received a detailed account of events leading up to the Watergate break-in of June 17, 1972, and a thick pile of supporting facts.

Members said the staff presentation reached no conclusions and did not relate directly to any presidential conduct.

"It was strictly background," said Rep. John Conyers, D-Mich. "It was all familiar, nothing new," added Rep. Don Edwards, D-Calif.

Both acknowledged, however, that the information presented Thursday links up with facts brought out in later sessions to form a pattern that would make it pertinent to the impeachment inquiry.

The committee is scheduled to hold three more closed sessions next week, all devoted to Watergate and the ensuing efforts to cover it up. Five other areas of presidential activity involved in the inquiry will be dealt with in following weeks.

In his opening statement, Committee Chairman Peter J. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., said the committee was acting under a resolution passed by the House "by a vote of 410 to 4" authorizing and directing it "to investigate fully and completely whether sufficient grounds exist" to impeach President Nixon.

"We are proceeding under the mandate of that resolution.

"I don't need to stress again the importance of our undertaking and the wisdom, decency and principle which we must bring to it.

Nixon, Ford Meet Privately

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon and Vice President Gerald R. Ford met privately today — their first meeting since Ford suggested Watergate and other disclosures have created a crisis of confidence in government.

The two men originally were scheduled to meet in Nixon's Oval Office but instead got together in the President's hideaway suite in the neighboring Executive Office Building.

There was no explanation for the change of locale. However, news photographs frequently are made of Nixon and Oval Office visitors whereas meetings in the EOB are rarely recorded on film.

Money Is Pumped In Housing

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon announced today he is pumping in an additional $10.3 billion to bolster the nation's sagging housing market.

The President said the money will be used to subsidize interest rates on conventional government-insured mortgages and to provide additional cash for the nation's savings and loan institutions.

The President said the money supplied to the savings and loans institutions would be provided by the Treasury under its standby loan authority.

The savings and loans are the biggest contributors to the housing mortgage market. They have been plagued by declining money to lend as investors seek out more lucrative investments with interest rates soaring.

President Nixon said the money the government is committing should help finance over 200,000 additional homes.

The housing industry has been in a steady decline since 1973, with housing starts of 318,000 for the first three months of this year compared to 488,000 for the same period last year.

The President's action expands a program initiated last January.

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My mother is 59. Six months ago, Dad died after a short illness and she was so despondent she said she didn't want to go on living.

Well, somehow she got the strength to live because suddenly she tells us that she met a man and he asked her to go to Hawaii with him! I should have said something then, but I was glad she wasn't despondent anymore. She said this man asked to marry her, but she refused because she didn't know him well enough. Can you beat that!

The whole family is divided over this. I disapprove, but haven't the courage to say so. I think she's setting a bad example for the younger people in the family. My brother tells me not to be such a prude. He says we should thank the good Lord she isn't crying all over us and wanting to move in.

How do you feel about it, Abby? Does age make any difference? I wouldn't want my 23-year-old daughter going to Hawaii with a man and no wedding ring. Why should I feel any different about my mother? CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: Every adult has the right to pursue his [or her] own lifestyle. You may disapprove if you wish, but you haven't the right to impose your values on either your adult daughter or your mother.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 15-year-old girl who lives next door to a lady who has two little kids. One is a year old and the other is three.

On Saturdays, this lady comes over here and asks me if I will watch her kids while she goes to the shopping center. I always say yes, and she leaves me with the kids for sometimes three or four hours. When she comes back, she tells me how much she appreciated it and gives me a couple of candy bars.

I think she should pay me at least 50 cents an hour like any other sitter gets, don't you?

I have hinted around, but she doesn't take the hint. Is there any way I can tell her without appearing hungry for money? UNPAID SITTER

DEAR UNPAID: Quit "hinting around," and come right out and tell her that you think you are entitled to a sitter's pay. And don't be bashful. You're entitled.

DEAR ABBY: What do you call a person who counts and measures everything? He counts the number of steps as he goes upstairs, and the number of steps he takes to go to the garage.

His shoes must be lined up perfectly in his closet and all his suits have to be hung a certain way, precisely. He places everything in his drawers in a certain order and he keeps them that way. He even keeps the money in his wallet in a special order, with the pictures facing the same direction and the same denominations together.

I have searched the libraries and cannot for the life of me come up with that special name. Other than a "nut," what is he called? W. R. A.

DEAR W. R. A.: Compulsive?

CONFIDENTIAL TO JUNIOR CITIZENS: This Sunday is Mother's Day. You didn't realize it was so soon? You're broke? Don't sweat it. Sit down and write her a letter, telling her how much you appreciate her, and don't worry about getting too sentimental. I promise you she will appreciate it more than a $100 gift. [And I'll bet she saves it.]

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

'Rebuilt' Pilot Leaves Hospital

BALTIMORE (AP) — When a bomb-carrying gunman burst into the cabin of his Delta airliner more than two months ago, Reese D. Lofton thought he was a dead man.

Thursday the 39-year-old pilot walked out of the Deaton Medical Center, 50 pounds lighter than his usual 225 and looking pale and drawn in his jeans and sweater, but declared fit by his doctors.

Speaking to reporters before he took a flight to Dallas en route to Waco, he said "there was no chance to even talk with the gentleman. ... 'I knew that my co-pilot was dead. I didn't see any way of saving myself at all. He said, 'you're going to fly me to Washington,' but I never had any intention of moving the aircraft.'"

Columnist Jack Anderson said the hijacker, Philadelphia tire salesman Joseph Byck, 44, sent him a tape that he made up his mind to crash an airliner into the White House. Byck fatally shot a security guard and the co-pilot and wounded Lofton before killing himself after being wounded by a policeman.

Lofton's abdomen was torn apart by three hollow-nose bullets, and he was rushed to the Maryland Institute for Emergency Medicine at University Hospital. He went through several operations and numerous blood transfusions.

LION ELDER STATESMAN HONORED—Porter King, who has been a member of the Snyder Lions Club continuously since it was organized 50 years ago, receives a plaque from Howard Harrington, left foreground president of the local club. The presentation was a highlight of the 50th anniversary banquet of the Snyder Lions Club last night in the Scurry County Coliseum. In the background are Mrs. Delbert Downing, left, whose husband was master of ceremonies at the banquet, and Mrs. Harrington.

Lions Receive Accolades On Fiftieth Anniversary

Members of the Snyder Lions Club received accolades from an International Director of Lions International and other officials of the world-wide service club last night as they celebrated the 50th anniversary of the local club.

E.J. (Ebb) Grindstaff of Ballinger, director of Lions International, commended the local club for its service to the community for the past half century and urged the Lions here to keep abreast of the times.

It is not enough to seek additional members, Grindstaff said. Retention of members and getting them into positions of service should be matters of concern. He said that many clubs report new members regularly, but at the same time others are dropping out and usually this results from the fact that new members are all but forgotten once they are inducted into the club.

Grindstaff said Lions are part of an organization that provides important services throughout the world, yet the membership represents only a small fraction of the population, there being about one million Lions among the 3 billion people of the world.

EBB GRINDSTAFF

The work of each individual is highly important, Grindstaff declared, and this should not be overlooked by local clubs.

Delbert Downing was master of ceremonies at the anniversary banquet in the Scurry County Coliseum. He presented service awards, topped by a 50-year plaque to Porter King, a charter member of the Snyder Club who has maintained continuous membership in the club here since it was organized.

Also is was announced that a special memorial award will be presented to Mrs. Ralph Wesson, whose late husband had 12 consecutive years of perfect attendance in the Lions Club prior to his death on March 23, and that henceforth the Snyder Lions Club scholarship to Western Texas College will be known as the Ralph Wesson Memorial Scholarship.

The Golden Anniversary Celebration committees of the club included John Jarrell, general chairman; Bob Watlington and Frank Taylor, publicity; Jack Gorman and Wayland Holt, invitations and housing; J.O. Morrison, finance; banquet, Mickey Nunley and Ross Griffin; awards and entertainment, Bill Hood and L.A. (George) Patterson; reception, Bill Dryden; ticket sales, Milton Ham.

Kissinger, Sadat Talk

JERUSALEM (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger had three hours of "extensive and detailed" talks with Egyptian President Anwar Sadat today, then flew to Israel to continue negotiations to separate the Israeli and Syrian armies on the Golan front.

"We have had very extensive and detailed talks and as always I leave satisfied with our discussions," Kissinger said as he left Cairo. The secretary is trying to enlist Sadat's support in his disengagement diplomacy.

Members of Kissinger's staff indicated the secretary may return to Washington soon and let the Syrian and Israeli governments think about their rival disengagement proposals for aweek or two.

City Firemen Called Twice

City Firemen answered two calls yesterday.

They were called to the W.F. Weaver residence, 3008 Thirty-fourth Street, at 10:05 a.m. There was minor damage in a dryer fire.

The other call was to a grass fire at Thirty-fourth Street and Houston at 3:13 p.m.

The absence on boards of directors of outside thinkers whose function is to inject bridges of understanding with outside groups is one of the most common reasons that many organizations find the human climate stormy.

French Have A Way With Cheese

By TOM HOGE
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Winston Churchill is said to have muttered during one of France's political upheavals that "it must be difficult to agree on a government in a nation that makes more than 300 kinds of cheese."

Be that as it may, the French agreed long ago on one thing; the art of making good cheese. Since the Middle Ages, they have led the world in producing gourmet cheeses of all flavors, sizes and shapes.

I have never seen anywhere the total number of cheeses the French are supposed to make, but I'm told there are more than 100 varieties available in cheese shops and specialty stores in the United States alone, from soft-ripened Brie to sturdy Pont l'Eveque.

Centuries ago, some of France's monasteries made a name for themselves as cheese makers. About 100 years back, the Trappist monks, for instance, experimented with bacteria and came up with a creamy creation known as Port du Salut, the name of the region where their abbey was located.

There are far older French cheeses, such as Gruyere, with its delicate, slightly nutty flavor, which was first made in 1288. Or the piquant Cantal, said to be the oldest cheese in France. This is one of the relatively few hard cheeses that the French go in for. It somewhat resembles English cheddar.

But my favorite of them all is Port du Salut, and my favorite cheese dish is Quiche Lorraine, that cheese and onion pie which can be served as both an appetizer or a main course for luncheon.

Quiche was originally made from bread dough like the Italian pizza, but later it was replaced by pastry. And like pizza today, there is a wide range of Quiche fillings, from the traditional bacon, cream and eggs to calorie-crammed desserts filled with rich custards laced with cognac and topped with whipped cream and fruits.

Here is a slightly different version of the cheese and onion quiche, with ham substituted for bacon.

1 package standard pie crust mix
1 egg slightly beaten
4 oz. Port du Salut shredded
1 tablespoon chopped onion
½ cup diced, smoked, cooked ham
3 egg yolks
1 additional whole egg
⅛ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon dry mustard
1 teaspoon Dijon mustard
Dash cayenne pepper
1¾ cups scalded light cream

Prepare pie crust mix according to package directions, substituting 1 whole egg and enough water for amount of liquid specified. Use pastry to line bottom and sides of ungreased 9-inch pan, fluting a high edge. With fork, prick sides and bottom of pie shell, and chill half an hour. Bake in 425-degree oven 15 minutes. Remove and reduce heat to 350 degrees. Combine cheese, onion and ham and sprinkle over bottom of shell. Combine egg yolks and additional whole egg, salt, mustards and cayenne. Beat till blended and beat in scalded cream. Pour over cheese mix. Bake 40-45 minutes or till knife inserted in center of pie comes out clean. Serve hot. Good with a chilled rose wine.

For a fast-to-fix and mightly colorful dessert, mold together canned fruit cocktail and sliced bananas in strawberry gelatin. Use the fruit syrups as part of the liquid and add nutmeg for a little spice.

Twentieth Century Club Closes Year

"Try Giving Yourself Away," by David Dunn, was used for an inspirational talk by Mrs. Guy Stoker for the Twentieth Century Club's spring breakfast in the Stoker home. Taking a backward look over the programs of the past year, Mrs. Stoker recalled the theme "Joy"—joys of friendship, of fellowship, of discovering new things, of beautifying the home, of giving of oneself.

Service is the aim of life. Each has his own talent. No two can do the same service. Dunn says you can give more and more of yourself in your own way, based on what you have to give—time, energy, skill, imagination. Ralph Waldo Emerson wrote "The only gift is a portion of thyself."

Obey your impulse to do a thoughtful act, to express appreciation for efforts of others, or to "give someone a good name". Timeliness, enthusiam, and sincerity make these gifts priceless to the receiver, and bring to the giver rich rewards in happiness. "Success is a journey, not a destination. Happiness must be experienced as we journey."

Mrs. Stoker concluded with quoting this creed from Stephen Grellet: "I expect to pass through this world but once. Any good therefore that I can do, or any kindness that I show to any fellow creature, let me do it now. Let me not defer or neglect it, for I shall not pass this way again."

Mrs. John Hamblen closed the program with the poems "What Have You Given Away?", and "True Happiness".

In the installation of officers, conducted by Mrs. Billy Don Huddleston, the following were installed:

Mrs. B.J. Bartels, president; Mrs. Bob Dupree, first vice president; Mrs. John Hamblen, second vice president; Mrs. Clyde Key, recording secretary; Mrs. Chas. Tyer, treasurer and Mrs. H.O. Beard, corresponding secretary.

Nine members and four guests, Mrs. Urdie Wissinger, Mrs. Johnnie Bishop, Mrs. Richard Stoker, and Mrs. Billy Don Huddleston, were present.

Experts More Specific In Economy Forecasts

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The standard or consensus forecast, made up of the views of private and government forecasters, seems to favor a decline in the rate of inflation and interest rates later this year.

In the recent past those hopes remained unfulfilled, so forecasters are under greater pressure now to state their case in specifics rather than generalities. Here are some of the specifics that support their view:

—Much of the huge increase in oil has now worked its way through the production process to the point of sale. It is unlikely that any future increases will be of the same magnitude.

—Commodity price increases, although they continue, aren't of the same magnitude as they were during the past year.

—The world's harvests show signs of being more abundant than in the past year or so, indicating some lessening of pressure on food prices.

—Removal of price controls, while it might cause some immediate price increases, will tend to make some products more available and thus cause a levelling of prices over a period of months.

—There are indications that wage and benefit settlements in major labor contracts are likely to be only moderate, a reaction to an anticipated rise in the unemployment rate.

—Inflation and shrinking buying power is likely to convince many consumers that spending for big ticket items should be postponed.

But there's still another side of the forecasts. A lot of hope still lies at the root of those assumptions, nourishing an optimism that isn't shared by all.

Critics of the consensus point out that:

—Harvests tend to be unpredictable. While the United States can look forward to a record wheat harvest, for example, can the same be said of all the world's wheat and rice producers?

Moreover, the increased demands for foods reflect a long-term situation—the rise in the world's population, coupled with a desire for more nutritional balance throughout the world.

—Nobody can say for sure what effect the removal of price controls will have. Some of the increases already announced are in very basic areas, steel and automobiles, for example, which affect prices of other goods and services.

—Despite high interest rates, business continues to lay plans for massive spending on plant and equipment. While this might make them more productive, more efficient over the long term, it could add to inflation and interest rates this year.

—Some economists doubt that wage demands will remain moderate, especially since the buying power of wage earners is declining. They are, in fact, surprised at labor's stance.

Kopechnes To Support Kennedy

SWIFTWATER, Pa. (AP) — The parents of Mary Jo Kopechne, who drowned when Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's car went off a bridge five years ago, say they will support the Massachusetts Democrat for President.

"We like the senator just as we liked his brothers, Robert and the President," said Gwen Kopechne, 56. "He stands for what I think is right. He's a lot better than what we've got now."

She and her husband, Joseph, 61, both said they thought Kennedy's political strength is in his appeal to youth. Kennedy, who has said he will decide next year about seeking the Presidency, has acknowledged the 1969 incident involving Miss Kopechne probably would be an issue if he runs.

Convention Quiet In Comparison

By ROBERT HEARD
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Compared with Texas' stormy constitutional conventions and elections in the 19th century, the 1974 convention looks like a pillow fight in a nursing home.

The first Constitution, written in 1836, wasn't even finished when the convention approved in around midnight April 16 and fled before Santa Anna's army. Five days later, Sam Houston whipped the Mexicans at San Jacinto.

As the convention ended, more than half the delegates were on their horses shouting their votes through the convention hall windows at Washington-on-the-Brazos.

Clerks later sorted out the convention notes and drafted the document.

A new text-and-pictures exhibit on all six of Texas' Constitutions is on display at the Capitol. Thirty-six panels are opened out like an accordion fan across the rotunda floor.

The exhibit was prepared under direction of R. Hendrson Shuffler, executive director of the Institute of Texan Cultures at San Antonio.

People made mistakes and did dumb things in 1836, too. That first Constitution reversed the Mexican law on slavery and said no free black could reside permanently in the republic without the consent of the Texas Congress.

But, as Shuffler points out, this "did not reflect the general public attitude. Too many freedmen, like William Goyens, had become widely respected men of wealth.

Others, like Hendrick Arnold, Samuel McCullough and Greenbury Logan, already were genuine heroes of the Texas Revolution. Congress would be forced to make exceptions, allowing these and other black freedmen to stay in Texas.

"They would find social acceptance and economic opportunity for many years, but the tide had turned and their eventual oppression was inevitable.

The Constitution of 1845 continued a bar against citizenship for blacks but allowed Indians who paid taxes to become citizens.

The Constitution of 1861 made few changes except to substitute "Confederal States of America" for "United States of America." Many Texans opposed this, including Sam Houston.

The 1866 Constitution guaranteed railroad bonds up to $15,000 a mile, a fantastic sum in those days. This provision was abused and led to scandals and a staggering state debt of $18 million.

This Constitution also contained a tiny clause that was to cost the state billions of dollars in the years ahead. It said, "... Texas hereby releases to the owner of the soil all mines and mineral substances that may be on the same ..." That made millionaires of generations of oilmen.

Junior Editors' Quiz on QUARTER HORSES

QUESTION: What is a Quarter Horse?

* * *

ANSWER: The Quarter Horse is a popular ranch horse in Canada and the United States. It is used by cowboys for cutting or sorting out cattle from a herd. It is alert and can start, stop and turn with incredible agility. It is light on its feet and moves with grace and rhythm.

The Quarter Horse was developed in colonial times. It was bred as a race horse in Tidewater, Maryland and Virginia from a small English thoroughbred and a mustang. It derives its name from the fact that it is the fastest horse in the world over a distance of a quarter of a mile. It was displaced as a racer by the thoroughbred and moved westward with the frontier to become the best of all stock horses. This horse is a combination of good looks and speed. Its head is short and broad with eyes set far apart. This rugged little horse is noted for its stamina and sure-footedness. The popularity of the breed is spreading. Many polo ponies have Quarter Horse blood, and quarter horse racing is reviving.

Two Lead At Houston Open

By BOB GREEN
AP Golf Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — Tom Kite parlayed a new putter, a new grip and some new-found confidence into a share of the lead in the Houston Open Golf Tournament.

"I'm hitting it so well, I'm so confident about my game, I wouldn't be surprised if I shoot three more rounds just as good as this one," Kite said Thursday after his 67 had tied rookie Wally Armstrong for the first round lead in this $150,000 event.

Armstrong, such a newcomer to the tour that he hasn't learned about making hotel reservations and had to spend one night this week sleeping in his car, made use of 12 one-putt greens and "my faith in our Lord Jesus," in putting together his five-under-par effort.

"I couldn't have done it without my faith," the 28-year-old Armstrong said. "Please mention that. I give Him all credit for any success I have."

They shared a one-stroke lead over a pair of non-winning tour regulars, Paul Moran and Bob Zender. Moran and Zender each had a 68 in the hot, windy, muggy weather.

Tommy Aaron, Rod Curl, Dwight Nevil, Ed Sneed and Terry Ferraro were at 69 with defending champion Bruce Crampton of Australia in a large group at 70.

Most of the game's glamour names are skipping this event for one reason or another.

Kite, a consistent money-winner in his brief career but still seeking his first victory, has threatened several times this year and has finished in the top 10 three times.

HOUSTON (AP) — Leading first-round scores Thursday in the $150,000 Houston Open Golf Tournament:

Tom Kite	34-33—67
Wally Armstrong	32-35—67
Bob Zender	36-32—68
Paul Moran	33-35—68
Rod Curl	35-34—69
Ed Sneed	35-34—69
Tommy Aaron	35-34—69
Terry Ferraro	36-33—69
Dwight Nevil	32-37—69

"I'm not scared of playing well now," said Kite, a 24-year-old tour sophomore who has won some $28,000 this season. "I once was."

Part of his new-found confidence, he said, stems from a new putter. He threw away the old one after a final round 80 ruined a good tournament for him in last week's Byron Nelson Classic.

And, using the new one, a slighty more upright stance and a new grip, he needed only 28 strokes on the greens.

Armstrong, 28, has had little but struggle and disappointment since joining the tour this season. He's earned a check in only three major tour events, hasn't made expenses and came to this tournament lacking a hotel reservation.

When he got here, he found there was a 25,000-man convention in town and all motels were jammed. He couldn't find a room and he and his wife, Debbie, spent the night sleeping in their car parked at the golf course.

Minster Socks Another Homer

By The Associated Press

Amarillo's Mike Minster continued his mastery over El Paso pitchers Thursday night with a two-run homer in the seventh to lead a 9-1 Texas League attack over the Diablos.

The seventh inning homer was Minster's third over-the-wall shot in as many nights, against El Paso including Wednesday's grand slam.

In other league games, Alexandria beat Shreveport 5-4 and Victoria edged Arkansas 8-7. Midland at San Antonio was rained out.

Gary Walls smacked a three-run homer in the seventh inning to lift Alexandria to its victory over Shreveport. The Captains came back with two runs in the eighth, but then Alexandria hurler Cliff Butcher put the fire out and held on to the game.

Perry Senn and Brock Pemberton combined for three runs in the 10th inning to create a Victoria surge over Arkansas.

Don Sutton Fires 1-Hitter For LA

By FRED ROTHENBERG
AP Sports Writer

The difference between a ONE-hitter and a NO-hitter is a lot more than the letter E.

With one out in the second inning, John Grubb bounced a ground ball up the middle that just tipped off the glove of Los Angeles shortstop Bill Russell for a single.

It wasn't a big hit. But to Don Sutton, it must have seemed like a 600-foot home run.

"I really wanted to pitch a no-hitter," said Sutton, who pitched the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 6-0 victory over the San Diego Padres Thursday night. "But I can't complain about the hit Grubb got tonight. I threw him a change-up and he did what a good hitter should do—he hit it up the middle."

Elsewhere in the major leagues, the Kansas City Royals downed the Texas Rangers 6-1; the Pittsburgh Pirates beat the Houston Astros 4-1; the Chicago Cubs trimmed the Atlanta Braves 3-1, and the Boston Red Sox blanked the New York Yankees 2-0.

Sutton, who owns two other on-hit efforts, struck out five and walked two.

Royals 6, Rangers 1

Marty Pattin retired 19 straight batters after Dave Nelson's leadoff bunt single in the first and went on to record his first victory as a Royal with a four-hitter.

The loss dropped Texas .006 percentage points behind Chicago and into a tie for second with California.

Pirates 4, Astros 1

Jim Rooker's hitting got in the way of his pitching Thursday night. He doubled in the eighth inning and scored on Rennie Stennett's single to finish the Pirates' scoring and bring his record to 2-2. Rooker, who struck out four and walked four before Dave Giusti came on to face the Astros in the bottom of the eighth, said, "I got tired after doing all that running in the eighth inning."

Cubs 3, Braves 1

Shortstop Craig Robinson's throwing error on a seventh-inning double play enabled the Chicago Cubs to score a pair of runs and defeat Atlanta.

Rick Reuschel pitched a four-hitter.

Until the seventh, the game's only run was set up by home run king Hank Aaron's first stolen base of the season.

Aaron, who had a season-high of 31 bases in 1963, totaled only six in the past three years.

Lockman said he wouldn't have been embarrassed if the final score were 1-0, "but I'd have been damned angry. Sure I know he's 40 but he's still a great ballplayer."

Red Sox 2, Yankees 0

Bernie Carbo broke up a scoreless pitching duel between Boston's Luis Tiant and New York's Pat Dobson with a seventh-inning homer.

Goldsmith Pulls Upset

CONROE, Tex. (AP) — Surprising Brenda Goldsmith faces Martha Jones of Decatur, Ga. today in a semifinal match of the Women's Southern Amateur golf tournament.

Miss Goldsmith, a native of San Antonio, Tex. and a Texas A&M University freshman, upset defending champion Beth Barry of Mobile, Ala., 1 up, in the quarterfinals Thursday.

Tournament medalist Mary Ann Rathmell of Houston also won her quarterfinal match by taking out Carol Templin of Sunrise, Fla., 3 and 2. She faces Mary Beth Morgan of Houston in the other semifinal round.

Miss Jones defeated Pat Blocker of Tyler, 3 and 2 in the quarterfinals and Miss Morgan eliminated Pat Blocker of Tyler, Tex.

Miss Goldsmith's victory over Miss Barry was her second upset victory in two days. She defeated Polly Riley of Fort Worth, six-time Southern winner, Wednesday.

Miss Goldsmith defeated Miss Barry Thursday on the fourth hole of a sudden death playoff. Miss Goldsmith parred the hole before Miss Barry missed a tying putt.

The shots followed a controversial ruling, brought about by water on the green.

Miss Barry's second shot hit the green while Miss Goldsmith's shot was slightly short, but still within putting distance.

Both golfers asked for drops and were granted better positions by Women's Southern president Mrs. Willis Graham. However, it was later determined that Miss Goldsmith's drop should not have been allowed the original ruling stood.

Senate Votes To Kill Controls

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate, after a partisan squabble, has abandoned attempts to provide any government monitoring of wage and price increases.

Democrats, who started a week ago to try to keep some standby wage-price controls on the books, killed the entire legislation Thursday after charging the Republicans wanted only a sham monitoring agency.

A motion by Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, to table and thus kill the entire legislation was adopted 65 to 18 despite some indication the Nixon administration favored retention of monetary machinery.

President Nixon said Thursday he is ready to try responsible labor-management negotiations as a substitute for federal anti-inflation controls, but he added that controls might have to be reimposed if those efforts fail.

The free market cannot be relied upon to determine costs and prices "unless there is a sense of responsibility," Nixon commented as he received a report from the National Commission for Industrial Peace.

He added that labor-management performance during the recent inflationary period "has been very responsible" and that the number of strikes has been "perhaps lower than we had any right to expect."

The Democratic proposal to retain controls on a standby basis was soundly defeated when the Senate opened debate on the legislation.

However, it did adopt a Muskie plan to have the government monitor wage and price hikes with strong authority to get relevant information from businesses and unions.

The proposal also would have given the President power to enforce price commitments made by industries when they were decontrolled.

In Snyder Area Churches

"Out of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh." St. Matthew 12:34.

To be young can be heaven the oldsters know
As they pause to recall their own past,
And they turn in their minds old years to and fro
Where no sky was e'er overcast.
But they fail to discern there's no need to grow old
On this earth where they still play a part,
But must let the world know in accents quite bold
That forever they're youthful in heart!

"Be Confident of Divine Victory" is the subject for discussion this weekend in Abilene when members from 23 congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses assemble.

When asked about the benefits from the approaching Divine Victory, H.A. One of the benefits derived now is improved family life because of applying divine principles. It results in upbuilding association with persons you can trust and who will gladly help you, in addition to obtaining peace of mind and gaining a real purpose in life." Fetzik will develop this subject of divine victory more fully Sunday at 2 p.m.

Another outstanding feature of the assembly will be the ordination of new ministers by means of water baptism. Andrew Billy, circuit supervisor for the Witnesses in West Texas, will direct the ordination program scheduled to begin Sunday at 9:15 a.m.
