State Group Recommends Law On Separate Schools

HUMAN CHAIN HALTS ELEVATED TRAFFIC—Workmen of the Philadelphia Transportation company system form a human chain as they walk along the elevated tracks on the 69th Street elevated stopping all subway-elevated traffic between terminals. The stoppage came after a workman was discharged. Fellow workmen claim he was fired because he was "one minute late" for work but a company spokesman said his overall "poor work record" prompted the discharge. Riders on the subway-elevated were transferred to buses.

Babe Zaharias Loses Fight Against Cancer

GALVESTON (AP)—Babe Didrikson Zaharias, acclaimed by millions as the world's greatest woman athlete, died today in the quiet of a hospital room.

Cancer wasted away and finally took the life of the superb golfer and Olympics star at 6:34 a.m. She was 42.

President Eisenhower led off his news conference today with a tribute to her, and in particular what he termed her gallant fight against the disease.

Noted golfers throughout the world retold for the thousandth time the deep impression her sports feats and her personality made on them.

Doctors expressed amazement at the stamina which kept the Babe fighting long after she and all around her knew that death would find her soon.

To the end, her fierce competitive spirit did not fade.

She told her husband, George Zaharias, in the early morning hours today when death was just outside the door:

"I ain't gonna die Honey."

The phraseology was just a way of speaking—a language her fans understood. They were her last words.

Zaharias, an ex-wrestler who married her in 1948 to create one of the great romances of the sports world, was with her when she died.

"She died in her sleep," he said. "It was real nice and peaceful, as peaceful as a baby. She just floated away."

Mrs. Zaharias never went into a coma.

All night, George paced the corridor in John Sealy Hospital, stepping frequently into her room—the pattern of his life for weeks.

Shortly before his wife died, the huge athlete told The Associated Press:

"She's had enough agony, sadness and pain, and so I'm losing my wife, partner and love. God's will be done. I know she'll live forever in the hearts of millions.

As the news of her death saddened the sports world, some of the comments from other athletes were:

"Enriched her time . . . incredible personality with the powerhouse golf . . . she was just great . . . probably the world's greatest ever . . . a great leader . . . an attractive feminine personality . . . great person very, very kind to everybody . . . dominated the field in any sport she ever undertook."

Joseph C. Dey Jr., executive director of the U.S. Golf Assn., paid the tribute Babe probably would have loved the best:

"Mrs. Zaharias inspired more people than we'll ever know, both as a player and as a person. She did far more good in the world than most athletes even have a chance to do because of her courageous fight against illness. It took a real champion to meet that."

Negro Home Is Burned In Alabama

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — A Negro's home in a white section was badly burned last night, less than 24 hours after the house was peppered by three shotgun blasts.

Fire Inspector J. B. Foster said it apparently was arson.

A burned portion of a nail keg was being checked to determine if it contained anything inflammable. An officer who found it under a rear bedroom had said he thought it had held kerosene.

Booker T. Gulley, 37, said that windows had been smashed frequently by bricks and he had received threatening telephone calls since moving into the house Sept. 4.

After shotgun charges were fired into the house Tuesday night he took his wife and five children to stay with a brother in nearby Prichard.

Gulley said yesterday he was moving out as soon as he could sell the house and find another place.

"I guess I'll try to sell what's left of it," the mechanic said last night.

He said he used all his money as a down payment for the $7,500 home after a Negro real estate agent told him "the white people were going to move out (of the section) and the colored people move in."

The block, in suburban Toulminville, has about 10 white families. It is about a block and a half from the outskirts of a Negro residential section.

Mexico Not Worried About Cotton Market

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Mexico is no longer worrying about sales of cotton abroad, the head of the Mexican Cotton Producers Union said yesterday.

Heriberto Ramos said initial worries over the United States plan to sell its surplus cotton on the world market were not justified this year.

One reason, he said, is that Mexico's high grade cotton has a ready market.

Prohibition Election

WACO (AP)—An application was filed yesterday in McLennan County asking for a petition to hold a prohibition election. The application asks for the necessary petitions by Oct. 8. Sale of beer only is now legalized in the county.

Thomas Rites To Be Friday

Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. tomorrow for Daniel Augustus Thomas, 82, of 1500 Avenue I, who died at his home yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Thomas, a resident of Scurry County since 1926, was a retired farmer. He was born April 4, 1874, in Navarro County. He and his wife, the former Elizabeth Ford, lived near Mansfield after their marriage in 1909. He was a member of the Baptist church.

The Rev. T. Gerald Cates, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church, will officiate in services at the Bell Funeral Home Chapel. Burial will be in the Snyder Cemetery under direction of Bell.

Survivors include the widow, three daughters, Mrs. Murray Jackson of Bakersfield, Cal., Mrs. Lewis Bennett of Sunnyvale, Cal., and Mrs. James Coffey of Houston; two sons, Ernest Thomas of Los Angeles, Cal., and Dan Thomas of Hereford, Ariz., and one sister, Mrs. J. A. Davis of Barry.

Ike Planning Major Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today he is going to make two or three more major campaign speeches than he had counted on.

Eisenhower told a news conference, however, he is not going to do any barnstorming, and not go out whistle-stopping.

He didn't say when or where the extra speeches, beyond the five or six he originally contemplated, would be made.

As for why he is stepping up his campaign pace, Eisenhower said it is simply because so many representations have been made to him by good friends.

He said he found himself a little weak about not accepting.

And, Eisenhower said, as far as he knows there is no health question involved at the moment in increasing his campaign pace.

Even now, Eisenhower said, he is not going to do a tenth as much as people want him to do.

It was a wide-ranging news conference, developing mostly around political questions and issues in one form or another, but with dashes of foreign affairs sprinkled in.

Eisenhower, garbed in a gray business suit with a vest and wearing a dark blue necktie with two white elephants on it, was unusually late showing up—for him. He was 3½ minutes behind schedule.

The President started off with a tribute to Mrs. Babe Didrikson Zaharias, famed woman athlete who died this morning.

He said she had won the admiration of all the people of the country. He lauded her last gallant fight against cancer and said that everyone feels sad that she had to lose this last battle.

With that, the President opened the conference to questions and the political drumfire started. The first questioner noted that Eisenhower was stepping up his campaign activity beyond original plans and inquired how many more speeches there might be and whether the President felt his health placed "any limitation" on the extent of his campaign activities.

Replying to the second part first, Eisenhower said he knew of no health question involved.

And as for the first part, he said that probably he will do a little more campaigning than he had planned.

Under questioning, the President also had some sharp comebacks to campaign statements by his Democratic rival, Adlai E. Stevenson.

LEADERSHIP — Eisenhower said that he would rather let associates over the years speak out on the question of his leadership. He said one of the things he treasures is a few paragraphs on that subject by former British Prime Minister Winston Churchill, who, he said, knows him better than some of his critics. Eisenhower was speaking in response to an inquiry about a statement by Stevenson in Kansas City last night that Eisenhower had shown "consistent rejection of the positive responsibilities of leadership."

MILTON—Eisenhower was even more emphatic in commenting on Stevenson's contention that the administration, through the President's brother Milton, appeased the Peron regime in Argentina.

Public Works Award

FORT WORTH (AP)—The 62nd annual congress of the American Public Works Assn. closed last night with an award dinner honoring Casimir Rogus, chief engineer of the division of sanitation of New York City.

Hoover Says Crime Record May Be Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States may be in for a record-breaking 2½ million major crimes this year, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said today.

Hoover reported in the bureau's periodical Uniform Crime Reports that such crimes during the first six months of 1956 are estimated at 1,291,120, a 14.4 per cent increase over the same period last year.

Noting this marks a sharp reversal of the slight dropoff in major crimes during 1955, Hoover said if the trend continues, 1956 will be the fifth consecutive year in which more than two million major crimes will have been reported and the first year in which the total will reach the 2½ million mark.

The FBI's data, based on reports from police departments in all parts of the country, showed the largest single crime jump occurred in auto thefts, with 134,320 cars reported stolen in the first half of 1956, an increase of 22.3 per cent over the first half of 1955. larceny 18.5 per cent, negligent manslaughter 10.2 per cent, rape 6.8 per cent, burglary 4.7 per cent and murder and nonnegligent manslaughter 4 per cent.

The only decrease nationally was robbery, down 1.1 per cent.

To Oppose Integration

AUSTIN (AP)—A 5-man governor-appointed legal subcommittee on segregation today recommended the Legislature enact laws to require separate white and Negro public schools in Texas.

The subcommittee, a part of the Governor's Advisory Committee on Segregation in Public Schools, heard its report summed up by Lampasas attorney J. V. Hammett. He said Texas would not follow the decree of the U.S. Supreme Court "if it can legally be avoided."

The legislative recommendations do not apply to state-supported colleges and universities. The committee, however, suggested a study to be made in that direction.

Integrated schools could be had, the subcommittee said, if the people voted and told the school board to do away with a dual-school system.

Should local boards abolish segregated schools, the districts "should lose all foundation program funds and should also lose its accreditation." The program funds is the minimum financial support by the state to school districts.

Gov. Allan Shivers opened the committee hearing. He said, "I hope that the public school system will never be abolished in Texas."

He said he would use the committee's report in recommendations he plans to make for the incoming administration and legislature.

"In general, I agree with its aims," Shivers said.

Individuals who would try and force entry of a student in a white or Negro school should be prosecuted, the committee said.

"In addition any school board guilty of such violation (allowing integrated schools unless voted for by the people) should have its offices declared vacant and a special election be held within 20 to 30 days," the report said.

Asking for laws which require separate white and Negro schools, the subcommittee said that transfers could be made but with conditions:

"In considering a petition for transfer, the local school board should take into consideration such factors as health, morals, family background, intellectual aptitude, course of study, location of residence, previous training and welfare of the particular child, his effect on the academic standards of the schools to which he seeks to transfer, the welfare of the other children in that school and any and all other reasonable factors which the local board sees fit to take into consideration. Race or color is not a reasonable factor."

Other recommendations:

1. Transfers should be denied until final disposition if any parent wishes to protest the transfer of a Negro student to a white school or of a white student to a Negro school.

2. The Legislature give serious consideration to some sort of tuition grant plan, whereby a parent who does not wish to place his child in an integrated school may receive state funds to have the child educated in a segregated, non-sectarian private school.

Schools should be designated either white or Negro by local boards, the subcommittee's report said, and added:

"Negro students should be assigned at the beginning of the fall term to Negro schools, and white students should be assigned to white schools. However, it should be specifically stated that such assignments are tentative, and no student is to be denied transfer from one school to another because of race or color."

Daniel Resigns From Senate

AUSTIN (AP)— Governor-nominee Price Daniel today resigned from the U.S. Senate effective upon election of his successor.

Daniel's resignation was submitted by letter to Gov. Allan Shivers.

"I hereby resign from the office of United States Senator effective Jan. 15, 1956, or such earlier date as my successor has been elected and qualified.

"From this date forward I shall not draw any salary, but I shall continue my services in completing pending matters in my Senate committees and shall be available in the event of a special session, thereby assuring that Texas has the full representation of two United States senators while my successor is being elected."

Daniel said he hoped that the election to be called by Shivers would be held "in time for my successor to take office not later than Jan. 3, the first day of the next Congress."

Daniel's resignation statement said it was "out of his hands" whether his successor would be named in a party primary, which he had recommended previously.

"The governor will set the date of the special election, and if time and finances permit, the State Democratic Executive Committee will decide whether to hold primaries preceding the special election as authorized by law," he said.

"It is my hope that the committee will continue to study the matter, not in the interest of 'hand picking' a candidate, but in arranging so that the majority of Texas Democrats may select their candidate and then let the majority of the people of Texas decide between the Republican and Democratic nominees at the special election."

Daniel, who was named the Democratic party nominee for governor by a majority of about 3,100 votes over Ralph Yarborough, said he was resigning in accordance with an article of the Texas Election Code, generally known as the "Garner Act." It was enacted in 1933 to cover a similar situation when John Nance Garner was elected vice president and re-elected to the House at the same time.

Hearing On Leasing Is Being Held

ALBUUERQUE (AP)—A subcommittee of the Senate Interior Committee has testimony from El Paso Natural Gas Co. that instead of taking leases on federal land in its own name, it took options on leases obtained by employes and company attorneys.

The company put up money for employes and attorneys to obtain federal leases for it at times, testimony showed.

The committee has heard four days of testimony on federal land leasing by oil and gas companies.

"This comes perilously close to the definition of controlled acreage that must be reported as leased," said Sen. Anderson (D-NM), who is conducting the hearing, "and if they had been reported, they would have put you over the limit."

The hearing resumes again tomorrow.

Officials of Humble testified it put up money and did the filing of lease applications in the names of others prior to 1952 but abolished that practice after cancellation of some leases in Utah in that year.

A Magnolia official and officers of Skelly testified their acreage is obtained through brokers, except that two Skelly employes at times filed on land and gave their firm options.

Federal law, Anderson contends, is meant to limit leasing by any firm in any state to 46,000 acres and options to 200,000 acres.

New Church Underground

LOURDES, France (AP)—An underground church is being designed for this Roman Catholic shrine town.

To be known as the Basilica of Pope Pius X, the church will open its doors on Easter 1958—the hundredth anniversary of the year when, tradition says, the Holy Virgin appeared before 14-year-old Bernadette Soubirous. Since 1858, Lourdes and its spring have been the object of mass pilgrimages. Crippled and paralyzed persons have reported cures from bathing limbs in the spring.

The new basilica, 660 feet long, will accommodate 20,000 persons. Ecclesiastic and lay authorities decided on the underground construction to preserve the beauty of the scenery. The structure will cost about $2,853,000.

Special Election

HOUSTON (AP)—Plans for a Nov. 6 special election on a proposed 15 per cent pay increase for all city employees was approved yesterday by the City Council.

Snyder Man Gets Demo Finance Job

AUSTIN (AP)—C. T. McLaughlin, Snyder rancher and oilman, today was named finance chairman for the Stevenson-Kefauver campaign in Texas.

State Democratic campaign chairman Tom Miller said the appointment was approved unanimously by the Democratic national committeeman, Byron Skelton, national committeewoman, Mrs. R. Randolph, state chairman James H. Blundell and state vice chairman Mrs. Marietta Brooks.

"C. T. McLaughlin is an outstanding Texan who has been successful both as a businessman and a community leader," Miller said. "He is a responsible man who takes his obligations seriously and we are all proud that he has accepted this important position."

The state campaign headquarters quoted governor-nominee Price Daniel as saying the appointment was one "which will go a long way towards assuring success in this campaign. Mr. McLaughlin has earned the respect of his fellow Texans by his initiative and his integrity."

The headquarters also released a statement in which House Speaker Sam Rayburn said McLaughlin was "an old friend who brings dignity and prestige to any enterprise." Sen. Lyndon Johnson said the appointment was "in keeping with the basic theme of the Democratic campaign. Mr. McLaughlin is an able man, a responsible man, a great humanitarian."

New Storm Builds Up

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A new tropical storm formed in the Atlantic today and began moving westward under conditions which are "right" for the birth of a hurricane.

A bulletin from the Weather Bureau in San Juan, Puerto Rico, said the storm had a "weak circulation" with highest winds of 25 to 35 miles per hour blowing around a center.

It was located 250 miles east of the Windward Islands, or about 1,630 miles southeast of Miami.

Continued movement toward the west was forecast for the next 12 hours at a speed of 17 m.p.h. which would take the storm into the Caribbean some time today.

Flossy Still On The Move

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tropical storm Flossy continued to move slowly northeastward today, bearing strong winds and heavy rains.

The Weather Bureau said that at 6 a.m., EDT, the storm was centered over most of east central North Carolina.

The bureau said it expected Flossy to move in a northeasterly direction at less than five miles an hour for the next 12 to 24 hours.

Heavy rains were reported in northern North Carolina and most of Virginia, and the bureau said they are expected to spread into southern New Jersey during the morning.

The bureau said winds along the coast were clocked at between 35 and 40 miles an hour, with gusts up to 50 miles an hour as far north as southern New Jersey, and up to 60 miles an hour as far north as southern Delaware.

Some southern New England coastal areas may expect winds up to 40 or 50 miles an hour by this afternoon, the bureau said in its advisory.

Judge Dismisses Texarkana Case

TYLER (AP)—Federal Judge Joe Sheehy today dismissed a petition for contempt action against two officials of Texarkana Junior College after an attorney for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People disqualified himself.

The hearing ended abruptly a short time after it started here this morning.

In testimony brought out under the questioning of John D. Raffaelli, attorney for the college, Steve Postem, 17-year-old Negro youth, said he had not asked that the suit seeking his admission to the school be filed.

Similar testimony was given by Jessalyn Gray, 18. Miss Gray and Postem qualified for admittance to the college after a federal court ordered the school to integrate. However, they were prevented from attending the school when a large crowd of whites picketed the campus.

Today's hearing was on a petition asking the federal court to hold Dr. H. W. Stilwell, president of the college, and Bill Williams, a trustee, in contempt for urging non-compliance with the federal court order.

A prosegregation statement by Dr. Stilwell was cited by the organization for a contempt of court complaint.

Stilwell admits saying the South should resist integration but he says the resistance should be by legal means. He has denied that he was in contempt of "any court."

The NAACP claims Williams was in the white crowd that prevented two Negro students, Jessalyn Gray, 18, and Steve Poster, 17, from entering the college Sept. 10.

In February, Sheey, district judge for the Eastern District of Texas, issued an order to the president and trustees of the Texarkana college directing them to open the doors to negroes.

It is in this case that the NAACP sought to intervene.

State Dist. Judge Otis T. Dunagan will preside at tomorrow's state injunction hearing.

Last week, Texas Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd obtained a restraining order in Judge Dunagan's court temporarily preventing the NAACP from doing business in Texas.

Tomorrow's hearing will be on whether a temporary injunction will be issued—and if it is, a permanent injunction could follow.

Japan May Limit Shipment Of Cotton Goods To U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Japan today notified the United States it will limit its shipment of cotton goods to this country if the U. S. government moves "to prevent further restrictive action" by state legislatures against Japanese textile exports.

The Japanese Embassy delivered a formal note to that effect to the State Department, which made it public.

The Japanese acted in response to a formal U. S. request, dated Sept. 25, for information about Japan's plans for controlling the controversial imports.

Cotton textile producers have been complaining for years about cheap Japanese imports. They appealed to Washington to do something about protecting the American textile market from them. State legislatures have passed laws aimed to curb such imports. The laws require labeling of such products to show their origin.

In January, Japan imposed voluntary restrictions on textile shipments to the United States. Last May the Japanese went a step further. They extended the curbs to 1957 shipments and promised to make no change without giving the United States three months notice.

"This program shall be effective for some years, starting from Jan. 1, 1957, but may be reviewed annually," the note said, adding:

"The action now contemplated by Japan is based on the condition that all feasible steps will be taken by the United States government to solve the problem of discriminatory state textile legislation and to prevent further restrictive action with regard to the importation of Japanese textiles into the United States."

AREA OIL ROUNDUP

Wildcats Slated In Four Counties

Schleicher, Crockett, Tom Green and Dawson Counties have drawn locations for new wildcat projects, while plans were announced for a re-entry project in Borden County.

W. Tom Cowan of San Angelo will dig No. 1 Tom R. Henderson as 360-foot prospector 11 miles east of Eldorado in East Schleicher County.

Drillsite is 2,000 feet from south and 460 feet from east lines of section 78, block 1, GH&SA survey.

Patterson & Adams Oil Co., San Angelo will drill a 2,000-foot wildcat 14 miles north of Ozona in Northeast Crockett County. It is No. 1 University 2,321 feet from south and 2,480 feet from west lines of section 24, block 42, University Lands survey. 2¾ miles northwest of the North Ozona (Ellenburger) field.

Stroube-Central, Callihan Interests, Mahoney & Gregg spotted site for a 5,000-foot exploration 25 miles southeast of Sterling City in Northwest Tom Green County. It is No. 1-E Ella C. Sugg, 467 feet from south and east lines of section 54, block 7, H&TC survey.

Blanco Oil Co. and Newman Brothers Drilling Company of San Antonio spotted location for No. 1-A Fulkerson, scheduled 9,000-foot Pennsylvanian wildcat, 13 miles east of Lamesa in East Dawson County. Drillsite is 660 feet from northwest and northeast lines of section 4, block 33, T-5-N, T&P survey.

Ambassador Oil Corp. will reenter an 8,368-foot failure six miles northeast of Fluvanna in Northeast Borden County, and deepen to 8,500 feet for tests of the Ellenburger.

Originally drilled by The Texas Company as No. 1 J. B. Jackson, the project is 1,980 feet from north and 1,373 feet from east lines of section 520, block 97, H&TC survey. It still is No. 1 J. B. Jackson.

Anderson-Prichard Oil Corp. No. 1 Water, scheduled 13,000-foot wildcat in Southwest Terry County, found interesting show of gas and oil on drillstem test of the Strawn.

Section tested was from 11,328 to 11,500 feet, with the interval having 10 feet of pay section. Open four hours, the test recovered 4,500 feet of gas and 220 feet of 37.2 gravity oil, plus 1,600 feet of gas-cut water blanket and 90 feet of oil and gas-cut mud.

Drilling continued below 11,502 feet in lime.

Location is 1,750 feet from north and 990 feet from west lines of section 118, block B-11, C&M survey, 8½ miles southwest of Gomez.

Sunray Mid-Continent Oil Co. No. 1 Callie C. Miller is to be drilled as a 8,100 - foot Pennsylvanian wildcat in Northeast Borden County, two miles southwest of the Myrtle (Pennsylvanian) field.

Drillsite is 660 feet from north and east lines of the southwest quarter of section 365, block 97, H&TC survey, 12 miles northeast of Gail.

Seaboard Oil Co. No. 1-A Weaver, West Dawson County wildcat, has uncovered more possible pay section in the Canyon reef.

Latest show came on a test from 9,034 to 9,067 feet, with tool open two hours. Gas surfaced in 25 minutes at unreported rate. Recovery was 1,620 feet of oil, and 220 feet of heavily oil and gas-cut mud. No formation water developed.

Operator cored from 9,067 to 9,097 feet and recovered lime with scattered vuggy porosity, stain and fluorescense. A drillstem test was scheduled from 9,067 to 9,097 feet.

Location is 660 feet from north and east lines of labor 27, League 3, Taylor County School Land survey, 2½ miles southeast of Mungerville.

The Texas Co. developed gas and oil on drillstem test of the Ellenburger in No. 1 Hazel Collins, wildcat 1¼ miles east of Bernecker in Southwest Fisher County.

One-hour test from 6,906 to 6,926 feet surfaced gas in 57 minutes at unreported rate. Recovery was 180 feet of oil and 150 feet of heavily oil and gas-cut mud.

Operator was preparing to set 5½-inch casing on bottom at 6,926 feet and test through perforations.

Location is 660 feet from north and 3,307 feet from west lines of section 15, block Y, T&P survey.

Noranda Oil Corp. and Texhoma Drilling Co., Inc., of Abilene announced location for a southwest offset to the discovery well of the Saturday (Canyon sand) field of Central Fisher County.

It is No. 1 C. A. Ratliff, 330 feet from north and west lines of subdivision 23, Bastrop County School Land survey No. 313, a 4,200-foot project.

Trial Opens Thursday In County Court

Bonds were forfeited in three county court cases this morning when defendents failed to appear in court, and one case went to trial before a jury.

The case being tried was that of Mrs. Cleva Wilson Kirby, who appealed a speeding charge from corporation court. Jurymen were Howard Hunter, Buford Browning, Harold Wade, H. R. Gannaway, Vance Clift, and Bill Grimmett.

Testimony was by two city police officers, P. W. Bailey and Morris Chandler, and by Mrs. Kirby, who was the only defense witness. Her attorney, Garland Armstrong, failed to appear. Wayland Holt, county attorney, is prosecutor, and Judge Edgar Taylor is presiding.

The case was to go to the jury sometime this afternoon.

Bond forfeitures on those failing to appear in court when their cases were called:

Lewis Largin, charged with driving while intoxicated, bond $500, sureties E. E. Hixson and Jim Crasson, both of Kermit.

Owen H. Smart, charged with driving while intoxicated, bond $250, sureties Garland Armstrong and Chunk Burney.

Jack Millsaps, Jr., driving with license suspended, bond $500, sureties Travis Kirk and Garner Stephens, both of Dallas.

Several more criminal cases are set for trial this week.

Bar Association To Meet At Noon Friday

C. E. McGaw, president of the Scurry County Bar Association, has announced that the regular meeting of the association will be held Friday noon, Sept. 28 at the Hilander. He stated that some important business is to come before the association.

James Rosser, local attorney, will speak on "Implied Covenants in Oil and Gas Leases". All members are urged to be present.

School Nurse Workshop To End Thursday

A school nurses workshop being held here for District 8 of the Texas State Teachers Association was to end this afternoon.

The workshop has included talks by various nurses, including those in school systems of the district and those with the State Department of Health and other agencies. Mrs. Lois Stephens, Hamlin school nurse, is president of the organization.

This morning Mrs. Ruby Ripperton, consultant in school nursing for the State Department of Health, spoke on "Criteria for Establishing Priorities." Demonstrations were held in preparation of teachers for a nurse-teacher conference and on such a conference. Dr. DWane Collins, coordinator of pupil personnel services for the Snyder schools, was to evalute the workshop this afternoon.

Others on the program during the workshop have been Mrs. Eula Williams, Snyder school nurse; Dr. Cecil Yarbrough, superintendent of schools here; Ila Fern Warren, visiting teacher for the Snyder schools; Mrs. Eleanor Hawley, regional nursing consultant for the Children's Bureau at Dallas; Alma Rollins, assistant director of the nursing division of the state health department; Dr. E. E. Addy of Cisco, member of the school health committee, Texas Medical Association; Frank Weaver, principal of the East Elementary School here; Dr. John Hamblen, Snyder dentist; Mrs. Juanita Garrett, Abilene school nurse; Mrs. Elroy Miller, Snyder parent; Mrs. Ruby Ripperton, consultant in school nursing for the state health department; and Dr. H. P. Redwine, president of the Canyon Reef Medical Society.

Lower Gas Prices

HOUSTON (AP)—Two oil companies yesterday joined in a lowering of wholesale gasoline prices in the Houston area. Humble reduced its tank-wagon prices 2.8 cents a gallon. Sinclair did not specify its reduction.

Campaign Spending Probe To Start In Capital On Oct. 8

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Gore (D-Tenn) said today he plans to give the nation this year its first current picture of how much money is being spent in a national election campaign and where it is coming from.

Gore, chairman of the Senate Elections subcommittee, told newsmen public hearings will be held in Washington set for Oct. 8, 9 and 10.

National campaign committees of both parties and their subsidiaries will be asked to give a full accounting for the month of September, the period when they arrange much of their financing for the campaign.

Paul M. Butler and Leonard W. Hall, the respective Democratic and Republican national chairmen, are to appear Oct. 10. Both have been giving full cooperation, Gore said.

Others asked to appear will be officials of Volunteers for Stevenson and Citizens for Eisenhower, of labor, business and youth groups set up by both parties, and of such independents as Americans for Democratic Action, Gore added.

Each group set up by the major parties is entitled to spend three million dollars in the campaign, the same legal limit that applies to a national committee.

Gore said, "My tentative estimate is that approximately 1 per cent of the people provide about 98 per cent of the campaign funds. This appears to constitute a danger of popular government."

Gore said questionnaires have been sent to chairmen of the major parties in each state asking detailed reporting on contributions and sources as well as spending in September. The questionnaires specified that individuals giving $500 or more in the aggregate be listed by name.

The senator said also he has written all nominees for the Senate in the 35 races this year, asking for reports on their contributions and spending up to Oct. 1, as well as the amount of money on hand as of that date.

Middle East Quiet Again

JERUSALEM (AP) — An uneasy calm hung over the Israeli-Jordan border today after a brief new flareup of gunfire in this divided city.

A U.N. cease-fire appeal brought the short blaze of automatic weapons to an end last night with no casualties reported. It came less than 24 hours after a bloody Israeli strike into Jordan set off a round of intensive talks among Arab leaders.

An Israeli army spokesman said the gunfire continued intermittently for about an hour and was the work of snipers in the Jordan-administered "Old City" of Jerusalem, shooting into the Israeli sector. He claimed there was no firing from the Israeli side.

U.N. truce observers reported that both Israeli and Jordanian forces immediately obeyed their call to halt last night's exchange in Jerusalem. But Jordan authorities hinted that large-scale Arab counteraction might be in the making unless the U.N. Security Council moves to stop such raids as the Tuesday-Wednesday overnight attack in Jordan's Husan area.

In New York, U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold called in representatives of Jordan, Israel and the Big Four powers for separate talks. He said he would ask the Security Council to act if the situation is not brought rapidly under control.

The attack at Husan, six miles southwest of Jerusalem and 2½ miles inside Jordan's border, was officially described by Israeli authorities as a warning against Arab "aggression" which the Israelis said had killed 36 of their people in the last six months.

U.N. truce headquarters announced today that 38 Jordan soldiers were killed and 9 were wounded in the Husan strike. An earlier report said U.N. observers also found the body of a 12-year-old girl at the scene. There was no report from the U.N. men of Israeli casualties.

Israel claimed 50 Jordanians were killed in the blow at Husan and admitted 9 Israeli soldiers dead and 8 wounded.

Jordan claimed 90 to 100 members of the attacking Israeli force were killed and acknowledged the loss of 31 Jordanian soldiers.

Jordan said the attack was made in brigade strength and was supported by artillery. An Israeli major in command of the assault said his forces used no artillery or mortars.

Reports that an Arab Legion counterattack followed aganist Israel were denied by a Jordan army spokesman.

Adlai Hits Hard Blow In Campaign

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson, scrapping hard right under Harry Truman's nose, accused President Eisenhower last night of "consistent rejection of the positive responsibilities of leadership."

With the former President smiling approval, Stevenson told a cheering overflow audience in the 2,300-seat music hall of Municipal Auditorium:

"There is only one question to be asked about the Eisenhower administration. That is: 'Who's in charge here, anyway?' Who in this businessman's administration keeps the store?"

Only last month at the Democratic National Convention Truman fought to keep the presidential nomination from going to Stevenson. Truman called Stevenson a "defeatist" then.

Last night, in the heart of Truman's Missouri stamping grounds the former President introduced Stevenson as a man with the "ability and experience" required for the White House.

Then Truman sat and beamed as Stevenson ripped into the Eisenhower administration and fired sharp criticism at the President himself. When Stevenson concluded, Truman told newsmen:

"It was an excellent speech—right down the alley."

When a reporter suggested Stevenson "gave 'em hell" in something like the old Truman style, the former President grinned and said of the Republicans:

"You don't have to give 'em hell—just tell the truth on 'em."

Election Probe Is Continuing Today

WICHITA FALLS (AP)—More than half of 737 voters subpoenaed to appear in a contested election suit for sheriff of Wichita County had taken the stand by the end of proceedings yesterday.

A total of 423 voters have testified. The suit was filed by Hammet Vance against incumbent Sheriff Weldon Bailey.

Bailey was certified by a two-vote margin in the Aug. 25 runoff election. An unofficial estimate now gives him a lead of 53 votes, with 147 votes still challenged and in the hands of a special canvassing committee.

Homemade Car Stolen

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Robert Svob reported his car stolen and gave police this description: Lawn mower wheels on back, tubular pipe frame, powered by a gasoline motor from a washing machine. Svob, 13, said he built the car at a cost of $25.

Higher Wages Slated For Highway Workers

AUSTIN (AP)—Highway construction workers will receive new prevailing wage rates which average 15 to 20 per cent more than those paid last year, State Highway Commissioner D. C. Greer said yesterday.

Covering about 160 different crafts, the new wage rates will be effective with the November letting of construction contracts. Greer said not all crafts were covered in the increase, but it is an average.

POLICE ROOM DRAMA

Probe Of Kidnap-Murder Costing $1,000 Per Day

By ED BUTLER

HAMDEN, Conn. (AP) — There's a long, narrow room in Hamden's red brick police headquarters. Men come in and go out all day long. Its lights burn all night.

This room, once used for routine police paperwork, has been borrowed indefinitely by a New Haven County detective and a team of 50 investigators. Their work is costing $1,000 a day.

They are working for a solution to the kidnap-murder of a chubby little infant — 6-week-old Cynthia Ruotolo, daughter of an $80-a-week paint salesman and his wife, who have lost two previous infant children. One died of pneumonia; the other in an accident.

Nearly a month ago, Cynthia was taken from her carriage in a department store and thrown, apparently shortly afterward, into a lake a mile away in this New Haven suburban area.

Three boys found the body five days later, stuffed into a plastic bag, and weighted down with a rock.

An autopsy showed she died of suffocation, but police couldn't tell whether from drowning or from being stuffed in the air-tight bag.

She also had a bruise on the left side of her head. But a pathologist said the bruise, suffered before she died, did not cause death.

Police say they have rehashed the case from start to finish repeatedly. Cynthia's mother Eleanor Ruotolo, 33, and a neighbor went to the store Sept. 1 and parked not far from the foyer. Mrs. Ruotolo put Cynthia in a folding carriage and attached a heavy netting over the top.

She wheeled the carriage into the foyer. Then she and the neighbor, Mrs. Paul Rebucci, went off to shop.

"We went in together and shopped for about 15 minutes," Mrs. Rebucci said. "She got a toy for the baby, plastic bells to hang across the crib.

"After that she checked the baby and we had a hot dog at the snack bar."

Mrs. Rebucci said Mrs. Ruotolo then went to the second floor of the store while she went to the men's department to visit her husband, a salesman there.

"Finally, we went to get the baby and leave. Mrs. Ruotolo pushed the carriage out to the sidewalk. Out there she lifted the netting and we discovered the baby was gone.

"It's pretty confused from that point. She didn't scream, but she became incoherent. She went frantically looking for the baby and she said, 'Where's my baby?' "

Police came shortly afterward and went swiftly through their routine — setting up roadblocks, combing the woods.

Store officials estimate there were 4,000 people that day at the store.

From half a dozen of those people, police put together a description of a woman carrying a baby "awkwardly" across the store parking lot or taking a baby out of a carriage. She was dark, short and stocky, they said.

Detective Edmund Flanagan says his 50-man team will question 1,100 people who were at the store Sept. 1. Their names were taken from credit purchase lists or from checks cashed at the store.

Building Of Health Center

AUSTIN (AP)— Construction was under way on a new $ million dollar State Health Department center after yesterday's silver-shovel ground breaking ceremonies.

Staze Health Commissioner Henry Holle called the step one which would "inaugurate a bright new era in public health in Texas."

Within a few years, the department's administration building with extensive laboratories and other facilities will occupy the 31-acre site in North Austin.

Contracts totalling more than 3 million dollars have been let for the eight new buildings to be included in the first phase of construction. Of that amount, $1,134,000 is federal money and the rest from state appropriations.

Four Fliers Killed In Jet Plane Crash

LAREDO (AP)—Two T33 jet trainers collided above Hirsch Field, 18 miles east of here yesterday, killing four fliers.

The names were not released.

Air Force officials said two of the men were instructors, the other two students. All were stationed at Laredo Air Force Base.

The base said the four officers were on routine training flights at the time of the accident.

Views Heard On Program For Distrist

MERCEDES (AP)—Varying opinions on a nine-million-dollar rehabilitation program for a Mercedes water district were heard from 20 persons who testified before the State Board of Water Engineers yesterday.

The manager of the Hidalgo and Cameron County Water District No. 9, W. D. Parish, said members of the state board did not indicate what they would recommend to the governor. He said, however, that the majority of the witnesses were favorable to the program.

"There was some opposition," Parish said. "They were heard and their opposition was noted. But the majority were in favor of a rehabilitation program for the district."

The witnesses formed a "pretty representative group of the farmers and other persons in the water district," Parish said.

Testimony in the all-day hearing was heard by State Board Chairman R. M. Dixon and board members H. A. Beckworth and Judge Otha Dent.

They will hold a similar program for the Cameron County Water District No. 1 program in Harlingen today. The Harlingen district's rehabilitation program is expected to cost more than five million dollars.

Officials of the two water districts said the federally loaned funds would be used to line dirt canals with concrete, replace worn equipment, increase storage capacity and improve the drainage systems.

Miller Predicts Big Victory By Democarts

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas Democratic Campaign Chairman Tom Miller predicts that "one of the biggest Democratic victories in Texas is shaping up."

Miller issued a statement yesterday that "the Republican camp in Texas got off to a bad start."

"They brought their chief campaigner into the state and he could not even fill the hall," Miller said of the visit of Vice President Richard Nixon to Houston. "This is the first omen—for the Republicans, bad, and for the people of Texas, good."

US Hopes To Get Cheap Nuclear Power

By FRANK CAREY

WASHINGTON (AP)—British and American efforts to produce electricity from atomic energy at costs competitive with coal were outlined today to directors of the World Bank.

The consensus: Because coal now costs more in Britain than in the United States, the British hope to reach that point within five years while 10 years is still the best estimate within the United States.

Because the United States is rich in "cheap conventional fuels," said Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission, this country is "some distance away from our goal of competitively priced nuclear power."

But without holding out any such assurance, he said that because of the extent of research, "a major breakthrough, putting us at or near the goal . . . could come with some suddenness."

The 10-year possibility in the United States was indicated by W. Kenneth Davis, AEC director of reactor development.

Sir Edwin Plowden, chairman of the United Kingdom's Atomic Energy Authority, said Britain expects to have in operation by 1960 four power plants with which "we believe that from each ton of uranium we can extract heat equivalent to that from 10,000 tons of coal." One such plant will open next month, and Britain plans 12 by 1965.

Sir John Cockcroft, director of Britain's atomic energy research establishment at Harwell, predicted that the initial plants among the 12 are likely to be economically competitive with coal and oil-fired stations, and that later plants might result in cheaper power than that derived from coal or oil stations.

Davis said the cost of power from some large atomic reactors scheduled for completion in this country in 1960 will be too high to be competitive in the United States.

"The following five years or so should lead to nuclear power plants being started on a generally competitive basis with all except exteremely cheap fuels in any area," he said.

Many of the delegates to the World Bank meeting hoped for indications whether the bank is ready to help finance nuclear plants to generate electric power they need for industrialization.

Ready for delegates was a 35-page paper, prepared by the bank's staff as a guide to the probable technical and financial problems confronting a country undertaking an atomic power project.

The staff paper suggested that the initial investment in a nuclear power plant would be about $250 per kilowatt of electric generating capacity, or about twice as much as that of a conventional coal-fueled power plant.

Operating and maintenance costs and depreciation and financing charges also would be higher, the bank report said, but the cost of fuel should be "considerably less", in all except areas having unusually low coal costs.

State Crime Rises In 6 Month Period

WASHINGTON (AP) — Crime in Texas increased during the first six months of this year as compared with the same period of 1955.

A report issued by the FBI, showing a slight increase in five of the six classifications of crime in Texas, disclosed a 14.4 per cent increase in crime generally in the population centers oer the nation.

Murders and non-negligent manslaughters in Texas cities occurred at the rate of 4.8 cases for each 100,000 persons in the January-June period of 1956, as compared with 4.3 in the first half of 1955.

There were 21.1 robberies for each 100,000 population in the state in the January-June period this year, 18.9 in the same months from 309 to 339, larceny theft from 740 to 813, and auto theft from 116 to 122.

The rate of 62 aggravated assaults in the January-June period of 1955 dropped to 51 in the first half of 1956.

The actual number of offenses reported to the FBI from major Texas cities in the first half of 1956, with comparable figures for January-June 1955 showed in parenthesis, included the following:

Abilene: Murder and non-negligent manslaughter 1 (1); robbery 4 (1); aggravated assault 3 (30); burglary 90 (69); theft 637 (323); auto theft 24 (15).

Amarillo: Murder and non-negligent manslaughter 1 (2); robbery 20 (34); aggravated assault 37 (40); burglary 378 (237); theft 1,337 (876); auto theft 170 (116).

Beaumont: Murder and non-negligent manslaughter 7 (3); robbery 13 (12); aggravated assault 136 (134); burglary 209 (189); theft 764 (723); auto theft 66 (60).

Galveston: Murder and non-negligent manslaughter 2 (3); robbery 22 (17); aggravated assault 120 (81); burglary 203 (206); theft 497 (538); auto theft 8 (8).

Lubbock: Murder and non-negligent manslaughter 5 (6); robbery 17 (21); aggravated assault 55 (37); burglary 366 (254); theft 1,292 (1,110); auto theft 127 (117).

Waco: Murder and non-negligent manslaughter 2 (2); robbery 18 (13); aggravated assault 88 (90); burglary 305 (262); theft 669 (737); auto theft 50 (53).

Wichita Falls: Murder and non-negligent manslaughter 1 (1); robbery 33 (10); aggravated assault 18 (28); burglary 219 (211); theft 978 (828); auto theft 198 (145).

Mansfield Suit Is Drawing Fire

KENNEDALE, Tex. (AP) — Ten Mansfield, Tex., Negroes appeared before a court of inquiry last night as the state attorney general's office sought to determine whether illegal methods were used in originating the Mansfield integration suit.

Mansfield was the scene of anti-integration incidents during September.

"We have indications the barratry statute has been violated in this area," William M. King, one of the two assistant attorneys general conducting the inquiry, said.

The statute deals with attorneys soliciting plaintiffs, inciting law suits and encouraging the filing of suits.

The dictionary defines barratry as the "offense of frequently exciting or stirring up suits and quarrels."

King said the inquiry was called by the attorney general's office through Peace Justice W. T. Webb and held here where Webb's office is located.

M. T. Moody, president of the Mansfield branch of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, was one of the main witnesses.

He testified that he knew L. Clifford Davis, Negro NAACP lawyer who filed the federal suit in behalf of three Negroes against the Mansfield school board in 1955.

The suit, aimed at forcing the school board to comply with the U.S. Supreme Court decision outlawing segregation in public schools, was dismissed by Federal Dist. Judge Joe Estes, who said the suit was premature. The ruling was reversed by the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Apeals and returned to Estes. He then ordered the Mansfield school district to proceed with immediate integration.

A large crowd of whites that at times became an angry mob gathered at the Mansfield High School early in September after the order was issued. However, no Negroes showed up to register.

Moody testified that Davis received $90 in contributions from the Mansfield branch for handling the suit in which the high school was ordered to admit Negro students.

Moody said he could not recall exactly who decided to file the law suit against the school board.

Mr. Horsepower! That's the title this '57 Ford has already won. With up to 245 hp Ford simply flattens mountains that would knock the wind out of any other car.

You're seeing why the '57 FORD will "take nothing from nobody"

"Gangway!" You'll say as you flash ahead in the new kind of Ford for '57. For Ford's Silver Anniversary year of building V-8's, you'll have more skedaddle than any other low-priced car ever . . . up to 245 hp. And wait till you take this spitfire over the hills and down the straightaways. It's fun-driving at its finest!

But more scat is only half the powerful difference in the new Ford. There's more savings, too. Ford engineers have built an easier breathing engine for far fewer gas stops. Ford's new low silhouette carburetor teamed with the new higher compression combustion chambers, new giant intake valves and new king-size manifolds bring you more zip on a slim-size gas diet.

In the new kind of Ford you'll "take nothing from nobody"—except from another Ford, perhaps. Action-Test this power sensation at your Ford Dealer's Wednesday. And just wait till you see the beauty this new power's wrapped in!

Economic Tranquility?

The recnt report of the Conference on Economic Progress, "The Gaps in Our Prosperity," says that economic growth has been too slow to maintain full production and full employment. It says, "Our national economic policies and programs are caught in the vice of The Great Complacency."

The report argues for an expansion in federal spending. It says, "The gaps in our prosperity are being aggravated by trying to balance the federal budget at the expense of the nation's security, economic progress and human well-being." It says that during the last four years there has been a "57 - billion - dollar shortfall" in total national production.

The conference says it is non-political and is engaged only in economic research and education. But this report sounds pretty political to us. Leon Keyserling, the chairman of the council of economic advisers under President Truman, is the guiding light of the group.

Though it argues that economic growth has not been fast enough and that production has not increased enough, the conference proposes steps by the government which would increase consumer spending power, primarily, and not make for economic growth.

It proposes greater federal spending for education, public health, public assistance and other welfare services. It proposes easier credit for housing and stimulation to housing construction.

It declares that "investment in producers' durable equipment needs to grow, but not at so high a rate as expected for 1956 as a whole."

Economic growth comes about by expansion of plant and equipment. If the conference wants greater economic growth, it should advocate curtailing consumption and expanding investment in plant and equipment. The "economic growth" that the Conference on Economic Progress seems to be advocating is a growth in the money supply and inflation.

No doubt the performance of the American economy is imperfect and could be improved. But there is no magic in simply increasing government expenditures for consumption. With the economy as fully employed as it is today, an increase in government expenditures of the kind recommended by the Conference on Economic Progress would simply drive prices higher.

Making Use Of Science

The University of Texas Board of Regents last week authorized a basic study of Texas climate.

Such as this could hold a long-range promise of drought relief.

While the board appropriated only $10,800 for one year, it does mark the beginning of a study of Texas weather facts, which, when collated, could provide data for practical experiments in weather modification.

We might arrive at some facts for the rain makers of the future, whether or not there has been any success attached to rain making efforts thus far. The preponderance of doubt about that makes the salesman for rain making service travel a hard road.

Financial aid will be sought from Texas foundations for the project.

The project envisions a complete study of the elements relating to weather, such as cloud census, cloud structures, rainfall, winds, temperatures, records of past years, and many complexities about which not enough is presently known. Without more basic knowledge, little can hope to be accomplished toward increasing rain, scientists who got the cooperation of the regents explained.

The quicker we understand the processes of rainfall in the Southwest the more comfort can we achieve in our economy and living conditions. As the scientist said: "Research in cloud and precipitation physics and the meteorology and climatology of Texas needs to be pressed forward even harder so that augmentation efforts may ultimately achieve optimum returns."

This means simply that something may result that will put rain making in human hands, though that might turn out to be something less than the blessing we in Texas expect.

Succes would pin a crown on the university and its leadership for making available its facilities and its research specialists.

Constituents Differ On Johnson-Daniel Coalition, But Demo Headquarters Happy

By TEX EASLEY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mail received by Sens. Lyndon Johnson and Price Daniel since the September state Democratic convention indicates some constituents viewed their coalition with jaundiced eyes. Others approved.

Johnson got a letter from a prominent East Texan who said: "I'm still with you, although I have been shaken I find it difficult to sever a loyalty that began 30 years ago."

An equally prominent West Texan, indicating he had always been among the conservative faction fighting Johnson over the years, said: "I am with you since last week's convention."

Daniel likewise got mail from those who like his alliance with Johnson in a moderation stand to win control of the convention, and those who didn't.

One thing was sure, however: As a result of Johnson's helping Daniel win control of the convention and of the latter's pledge to support the Stevenson ticket, there's joy around Democratic National Committee headquarters. They feel Texas is sure to go Democratic in November.

Daniel's staff, anticipating a November victory for their boss now that he has won the Democratic nomination for governor, is making ready for the change.

Jake Jacobson, newly named secretary of the state Democratic Executive Committee, is expected to go to Austin as executive secretary to Daniel. Jacobson was an assistant to Dainel when Daniel was attorney general of Texas, and has been his administrative assistant here. He is a friendly fellow who can soothe tempers of irate callers before they get in to see the top man.

Also moving back to Austin with Daniel, undoubtedly, would be his personal secretary, Mrs. Emma Ward. She has been with him for years, dating back to when he was speaker of the Texas House.

Daniel is expected to come back to town soon to sell his attractive house.

Looking back over Daniel's four years in the Senate, it seems certain he will longest be remembered for his successful work on behalf of the states ownership of the oil-rich tidelands.

He got elected to the Senate largely on that issue and, although a freshman senator, plunged into the fight and assumed a top role in pressing passage of the law.

He won recognition also for his chairmanship of a Senate Judiciary subcommittee which studied narcotics and his sponsorship of legislation tightening federal laws against dope racketeers.

LITERARY GUIDEPOST

THE FIELD OF VISION. By Wright Morris. Harcourt, Brace.

Old man Scanlon, nearing 90, the "man who knew Buffalo Bill;" his daughter Lois; her husband McKee; the grandson Gordon with his pistol and Davy Crockett coonskin cap, have all come down from Lone Tree by station wagon to Mexico and, as this novel opens, are attending a bullfight. With them are an old friend, Gordon Boyd, who had tried to walk on the water and tried to make a play of it, and Dr. Leopold Lehmann and Paul-Paula Kahler.

The stone benches are cold; they sit on the shady side of the great bowl-shaped arena. The fights go on. Egged on by Boyd, the boy squirts streams of pop from the bottle, the bulls now miss a youngster, now gore a matador.

But these disturbing sights drive the thoughts of these alien Americans back to their early years, to the time when Boyd kissed Lois before McKee ever got around to it, when they ran wagon wheels over new graves to fool marauding Indians, when Mrs. Norton suffered her fate. As McKee says, "he had to come to a bullfight to remember he had shot a hog."

With bull fight and glittering arena the catalyst with mysterious prodding from the insistent present, they are thrust back upon a still more insistent, relevant, and formative American past. This comes closer to documentation of the mid-American experience than fictionalization of it, despite the restriction to a single afternoon of action; I like it, but I think Morris has put more difficulties in the reader's way than he needed to.

Some Odd Facts That Could Easily Slip By Columnist

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Odd facts a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail—or peek in a few books:

That twins rarely commit crimes.

That virgin births now have been induced in rabbits, cats, ferrets and turkeys. The offspring are invariably female, as no male cells are involved.

That scientists estimate virgin births in humans, if it ever happens naturally—which many doubt—probably occurs about as frequently as sextuplets — or once every 3,212,800,000 times that the stork calls.

That screech owls have an extra pair of eylids that operate like windshield wipers to clear their vision.

That it is no more necessary to slit a pet crow's tongue to teach it to speak than it is for you to slit your throat in order to breath deeply.

That tiny Switzerland has about 95 per cent of the world's watch business. (But betcha we lead in timeclocks!)

That wine sales in America increased from $260 million dollars in 1940 to 600 million dollars in 1955. (Memory note: Wonder how many people still make dandelion wine? Haven't seen any in years.)

That the intersection of Piccadilly Circus and Shaftesbury Avenue, London's equivalent of Times Square, is called "the most photographed corner in the world." It was the favorite rendezvous point for U. S. servicemen in the last war.

That left-handed women usually marry right-handed men. (This seems so obvious as to sound silly. But think: Do you know a single married couple, both of whom are left-handed? I don't.)

That if you happen to be in the Panama Canal Zone you can call from the Pacific to the Atlantic coast for one little old nickel... hardly seems worth the trip though, does it?

That thz Egyptians invented the first true fishing pole about 2,000 B.C.

That bandleader Sammy Kaye notes these are the days when the GOP tries to pin elephant tales on the donkey.

That girls wear engagement rings on the fourth finger because it used to be believed the "venis amoris" or vein of love, ran from this finger directly to the heart. Now it runs to the pocketbook.

That Tony Hofford of the Narragansett (R.I.) Times reports finding this definition inscribed on a cocktail napkin: "A good salesman is a fellow who can convince his wife she looks fat in a fur coat."

Hundreds Of Men Combat Heat And Dust To Construct Huge Dam In Glen Canyon

By HOWARD S. BENEDICT

KANAB, Utah (AP)—A big, sun-blackened workman stopped his bulldozer and, stepping into an inch of dust, walked to a nearby water bag. He filled a cup and drank deeply.

"Man, that tastes good!" he exclaimed.

He wiped the sweat of the 100-degree heat from his face.

A pickup truck bounced up with two other workers aboard.

The truck traveled along a newly graded road, throwing up a screen of dust. Half an hour later, it pulled into a trailer camp and the tired men went to wash, eat and rest.

Working men, bulldozers, desert heat, trailer camps and dust — these are the ingredients that are going into making a dam in north central Arizona.

The dam is Glen Cwnyon, the key unit of the 760-million-dollar Upper Colorado River project — the largest reclamation authorization ever granted by Congress in a single piece of legislation.

Most of the work today is on construction of access roads to the dam site in rugged Arizona country five miles south of the Utah border. It will be almost three years before the first concrete is poured for the dam itself.

A year ago the Glen Canyon Gorge of the Colorado River was accessible only by horseback. The nearest highways were at Kanab, 68 miles to the northwest, and at Bitter Springs, Ariz., 40 miles to the south.

Today, crude roads — forerunners of a major highway—reach from Kanab and Bitter Springs to the opposite edges of the 800-foot deep gorge.

Both Utah and Arizona have thrown hundreds of men into the work of road building in an effort to complete by November a road adequate to carry equipment and material for a mammoth diversion tunnel to be built near the dam site.

The diversion tunnel will be 2,600 feet long and 46 feet in diameter cut out of solid rock at the bottom of the gorge. It will take more than a year to build. Then huge coffer dams will be erected above and below Glen Canyon before actual work can start on the dam.

When concrete for the big dam begins to pour, an estimated 4,000 will be employed at the site. Many will bring their families and a town of 8,000 or 9,000 persons will sprout out of the desert near Glen Canyon.

When completed in about 10 years, Glen Canyon dam will be 700 feet high and about 1,000 feet across. It will be the second highest dam in the United States. Hoover Dam is higher. The dam will create a lake 186 miles long and up to several miles wide, most of it in Utah.

The dam's main purpose will be to provide irrigation water and power for the West. This unit of the Colorado River project especially will benefit arid lands of Utah and Arizona and will generate power for points as far away as Los Angeles.

Glen Canyon is the biggest unit of the Colorado River project. It will cost an estimated 421 million dollars.

The entire project will take more than 50 years to complete. Eventually it will supply badly needed irrigation water for more than 366,000 acres of land and have an installed hydroelectric power capacity of 1,100,000 kilowatts.

This Is The Age When Our Favorite Illusions Fade

By INEZ ROBB

You and I live in an age of complete cynicism, according to its constant critics, and small wonder! The 20th Century continues to pick off the eternal verities like Annie Oakley at a trapshoot.

The ancient beliefs by which our fathers lived are, in this day and age, only so much busted clay around our feet. Today I sit stunned amid another mess of broken crockery, trying to digest the fact that monkeys positively do not throw things, particularly coconuts, at human beings.

Those figures over there going out the window are all the comic strip artists, Hollywood directors, etc., to whom a monkey accurately bouncing a coconut off the head of its victim is an indispensible sequence. The figure in the lead, of course, is Tarzan.

Monkeys are just old butterfingers, says the man, and the man is a Smithsonian Institute mammalogist. Monkeys drop things, and the reason people get hit is because they are stupid enough to get in the way.

Monkeys will never replace relief pitchers, and that's that.

While this intelligence about the monkey business is disquieting, another news story really rocks me. It reports that the average person, meaning you and me, could go broke buying diamonds as an investment. Government bonds or blue-ship stocks are a better long-term investment than sparklers.

A girl's best friend ain't necessarily so, if she bought it herself as a hedge aginst future necessities. When she sells it, she will probably get only 42 percent of its retail price. (You mean this poor kid not only bought the stone herself but didn't even get it wholesale? This babe must be a real dog!)

Sure, there's a steady demand for diamonds, even during a depression, and age cannot wither them. Still and all, the face value of a government bond does increase 25 percent in 10 years, and why bring up inflation at this point?

Anyway, my plans to put my egg money in diamonds instead of banks as soon as there seemed enough in the old sock to buy a chip are now as dead as my illusions.

I try to rationalize the fact that the quacks say that the surest way to die is to "stuff a cold and starve a fever." Grandma's tried-and-true remedy. And to grasp the rule that a dog is man's best friend as long as he isn't a postman.

But it is a knife right through my heart to read that a Swiss expedition on Mt. Everest says positively that there is no such thing as the "abominable snowman." Can't these yapping busybodies leave us a few illusions? Must they keep running around the world, destroying our dreams?

Next it will be the Lochness Monster. Or flying saucers. Or some idiot will say a hot toddy is the worst possible specific for a cold.

What I say is: Lay off, MacDuff; we've had enough! Some things are, too, sacred.

Troubled Cairo Apparently Born Under Unlucky Star

By WILTON WYNN

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—This troubled city should have been born under a lucky star, but fate decreed otherwise.

When Caliph Moizz planned Cairo, he ordered a rope strung around the city's boundaries. Bells were strung on the rope. When astrologers signaled that a lucky star was in ascendancy, that rope was to be pulled, the bells rung and construction work begun instantly.

A crow upset the plan. It landed on the rope and rang the bells.

Astrolers sadly told the caliph the work had begun on Cairo under the sign of the planet Mars—an ill omen foretelling wars and disaster.

A thousand years have passed. Cairo long since has spilled over its old walls and sprawled out as a modern metropolis on the banks of the Nile. But its people gloomily ponder the evil omen.

Cairo again is threatened by war.

Egyptians have nervously watched the buildup of British and French forces in the eastern Mediterranean, poised to move into Egypt at the first provocation in the quarrel over the Suez Canal.

The buildup began shortly after President Gamal Abdel Nasser nationalized the Suez Canal Co. July 26.

A new sense of urgency was injected into the situation when the five-nation Menzies mission to Cairo failed to bridge the gap between Egyptain sovereignty over the canal and Western demands for international control.

The fatalistic Egyptians say Egypt gets dragged into war after war through the meddling of outsiders rather than anything that Egyptians do.

"Look at the Suez Canal," an Egyptian said. "Planned by foreigners, built by foreigners, used by foreigners and now drawing foreign armies in to our country."

The Egyptians still hoped the military buildup was only a bluff, but Britons who claimed to know their government's attitude insisted it was dead serious.

One Briton explained:

"Ever since Abadan (the Iranian oil center lost by the British in Iran's nationalization decree of 1951), the British position in the Middle East has been collapsing and the loss of that position meant the end of Britain as a world power.

"Britain would have slipped into poverty But now this Nasser has given us a chance to come back and we intend to take it. He grabbed the canal and that gives us every reason to move back in by force. When we return to that canal base, we once again will become a world power. No other Arab state will dare violate contracts with us. Our oil will be safe."

Such talk has led Egyptians to fear that Britain does not want a Suez compromise, that the British demand either an Egyptian surrender or reoccupation of the canal zone.

WASHINGTON LETTER

Altoona Women's Club Wins National Contest

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — Mrs. Lynn Hunter of Altoona, Pa., looked like a glamorous young society belle enroute to a Washington cocktail party, with a concern no more burning than to have a good time.

The petite, brown-eyed red-head in her sheer black-dotted beige dress with low round neckline and skirt held out with crinolines; a chic black velvet pillbox with a rose in back, and her fancy earrings, seemed more of a cover girl than a clubwoman. But Mrs. Hunter's gay appearance fooled everybody. She's a very serious young matron, a former president of the Altoona Junior Women's Club, and a dedicated and intelligent civic worker in the Pennsylvania railroad town.

Her group's sponsorship last year of "Tomorrow's Citizens Inc.," known as the Tee Cee's, for juvenile delinquents, won a first prize of $5,000 given by the General Federation of Women's Clubs in its annual Community Achievement Contest.

To newswomen gathered around her at a luncheon meeting launching the Federation's second International Community Achievement Contest, Mrs. Hunter said her club's project started as a rehabilitation and preventative program for boys referred to it by the juvenile probationary officer. Tee Cee membership included 261 boys between the ages of 10 and 16.

"Now that we've won the prize, I hope we can expand to include girls in our program this year," she said. "These youngsters are not really bad. Often their crime is no more than you and I committed when we were kids — like stealing apples from the neighbor's orchard. A delinquent child is the result of delinquent parents. What we gave them was a recreational and educational program to keep them interested in their spare time, five days a week."

Under the Altoona program a youth called before the court was given the choice of being sent to a correctional institution or becoming a member of Tomorrow's Citizens. If he chose the latter he was expected to attend every meeting of the group. The club, says Mrs. Hunter, is proud of the progress made by the boys during one year under their program.

RADIO-TV REPORT

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—The best half hour filmed series of action and romance in this new television season has made its debut on NBC-TV. It is "Sir Lancelot" which concerns the knights of King Arthur's Roundtable many centuries ago.

Doubtless designed primarily for younger viewers, "Sir Lancelot" actually appeals to anyone of any age who enjoys watching heroic action. Filmed in England, this program unrolls a magnificent pageant of knights and castles, of jousting and broad swords. The producers appear to have spared no effort in recapturing the authetic details of the days of chivalry.

The worst new comedy situation series of the season follows "Sir Lancelot" on NBC-TV. It is "Stanley," a disaster which has crashed around the portly person of Buddy Hackett.

Though Hackett is a resilient soul, it's questionable whether he'll be able to extricate himself from the ruins.

In the opening show, Hackett played a newstand dealer who was trying to obtain opera tickets for a bum. The contrived situation split wide open at the seams. How it all turned out was a matter of indifference to this department, which switched to other channels.

"Studio One" on CBS-TV played a good idea fancy on its first program of the new season in the story of a collector of Lincolnia who decided to burn an original of the Gettysburg Address. If played straight in its natural dramatic development, the drama, "A Special Announcement", might have been more interesting.

As the wealthy collector, Bob Cummings gave a convincing performance which showed he has assets other than light comedy. In its breathless desire to withhold the reason why Cummings was going to burn the precious document, the drama went into a long series of flash-backs. The obvious reason—that the collector wished to bring attention to the spirit of the document by burning it—seemed apparent from the beginning. So why didn't they play the story line straight and let its natural dramatic values carry it?

Can Opener Continues To Be Woman's Best Friend

There must be many times in every homemaker's dinner party schedule when she wishes she had something akin to Aladdin's lamp. It would be a relief to say "presto" and have a bountiful meal ready.

Well, if you stop to think a moment, in a sense you can almost do that today. Despite remarks made about the can-opener being the cook's lifesaver, it is due partly to the ever growing variety of unusual canned foods that are in grocery stores nowadays, that the handy can - opener continues to reign as the perfect time-saver, too. Armed with suitable canned products, in addition to some fresh foods, you can prepare a company dinner, even a foreign dinner, in half the customary time. And you needn't spend hours in the kitchen getting it assembled.

Chinese buffet dinners in the home, for example, have become increasingly popular since the advent of the readily obtainable canned Chinese foods. Several companies offer an array of authentic foods prepared according to true as water chestnuts, bean sprouts, bamboo shoots, and mixed Chinese vegetables are fully cooked so that much of the tedious pre-preparation of chop suey or chow mein has been eliminated.

You can even go completely informal and assemble your main dish in an electric skillet on the buffet table in full view of your guests. quick cooking rice takes a twinkling to prepare, while the chow mein noodles simply are poured from a can. Fresh fruits and packaged almond cookies complete the menu.

Here is a recipe for party chop suey. You can be sure it will be ready to serve in less than 20 minutes, if in addition to the canned Chinese vegetables, you use canned chicken pieces and chicken broth. Chop the onions and celery well ahead of time, cover them tightly and store in the refrigerator. This saves last minute fussing.

PARTY CHOP SUEY
(12 servings)

¼ cup butter
3 cups chooped onion
6 cups diced celery
1 tablespoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
3½ cups chicken broth
4 cups cooked chicken, cut in thin pieces
3 cans mixed Chinese vegetables

Thickening and Flavoring:
¼ cup cold water
¼ cup cornstarch
4 teaspoons soy sauce
2 teaspoons sugar
2 tablespoons Brown Gravy sauce

Melt butter in electric skillet or stand skillet over low heat. Add onions; cook 3 minutes. Add celery, salt, pepper, and chicken broth. Cover and cook for 10 minutes. Add chicken and Chinese vegetables. Mix thoroughly and heat to boiling. Combine thickening and flavoring ingredients: add to meat mixture. Stir lightly and cook 2 minutes longer. Serve hot over cooked rice for Chop Suey, or over crisp noodles for Chow Mein. Flavor individual servings with soy sauce.

New Cottons Have Role In Fall Fashion

Seasons come and go, and the American woman wears cotton from dawn to dusk at home, at work, and at play. Cotton has always been out in front of the summer fashion parade. Now this versatile fabric has become an established leader in fall and winter styles.

Good-looking, chill-chasing cottons are more plentiful than ever this year. They are to be found in clothes for campus, career, party, and leisure wear.

New cotton knits have been treated for washability, crease resistance, and shrinkage control. They appear in sweaters, skirts, dresses, and tapered trousers. Hoods and drawstring waists which give a blousy effect to dresses and tops are in keeping with current fashion trends. In addition to bulky knits, cotton knitwear features surface textures, stripes, tweeds, checks, and plaids.

Plain or printed, corduroy is a strong favorite. The prints include paisley designs, fine stripings, provincial patterns, bold plaids, and gilt-touched fabrics. Plain and print combinations are emphasied in jackets, skirts, jumpers, pedal pushers, and slender slacks. Many of these combinations are designed for multiple mixing and matching. Long - sleeved blouses of heavy broadcloth, calico and tie prints, and polished solid cottons mix well with the corduroy fashions.

Velveteen is definitely a bright spot in this years collection of winter cottons. Red, purple, aqua, and shocking pink are leading colors. This dressy cotton fabric is being widely used in narrow sheaths, long slim pants for at-home entertaining, and raincoats. Embroidered cotton faille with the look of silk is another popular fabric for dress and evening wear.

Canvas, denim, poplin, and gabardine appear in a wide selection of skirts, pants, and jackets for sport and home wear. These sturdy cotton fabrics, in natural or in bright colors, are pretty as well as practical.

Thanks to textile finishers and fashion designers, there's a place for cotton in milady's fall and winter wardrobe, not only in work-a-day attire but in town and travel suits, afternoon sheaths, and glamorous evening wear.

Bells were known as early as 2.697 B.C. In that year, the Chinese Emperor Hoang-ti commissioned a set of bells to serve as the official standard of pitch.

Over eight million persons were in the national farm labor force in 1955. Some 23.2 per cent of this figure were hired workers.

Attic Cleaners May Be Throwing Out Fortunes

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

Ladies who insist on cleaning out their attics may be throwing away unsuspected fortunes, says Sigmund Rothschild, who knows his antiques.

"Never throw away old papers, old bundles of letters, grubby old pictures that used to belong to Grandma or even moldy old books," advises Rothschild. "At least don't throw them away until you have an antique dealer or appraiser look at them. You may have a stamp that's worth more than your mortgage. Or a letter of historical value that will pay for a trip around the world."

Rothschild's family has been in the antique business in New York for more than a century, and he makes his principal business these days appraising estates and antiques. Off and on for a number of years he has had a television show, wherein the public is invited to bring in family treasures for appraisal.

"About one out of 20 of the people who come in with antiques to be appraised hit the jackpot," says Rothschild. "Usually the things they think are most valuable turn out to be comparatively worthless, but something they have overlooked, such as an old letter or first edition book, turn out to be bonanzas."

The most frequent find in the average family is old jewelry, valuable for authenticity of period, beauty or design or historical importance, says Rothschild.

On the other hand, old coins most often turn out to be a disappointment to the owners.

PREACHER SAYS

Racial Fight To Continue

By VANCE JOHNSTON

HENDERSON, Ky. (AP) — "Brother" Don Weaver, a self-appointed preacher and head of the nearby Geneva Independent Church, says he will continue his campaign against racial integration "because birds of different feathers do not flock together."

The 190-pound, six-footer said in an interview today, "God didn't intend for us to integrate. Such things as integration would lead to a bloody civil war, and that would disturb God's plan."

Weaver, 40, led a prayer for "divine help" in getting rid of desegregation here at a White Citizens Council meeting Tuesday night.

His views were in contrast to those of the Henderson Ministerial Assn., whose members have urged parents to keep their children at the Weaverton School, where five Negroes have attended since Sept. 4.

Weaver said he came from "wealthy" parents in Oklahoma, where, he spent many years as a "rowdy" and "sinful" person.

Ten years ago he was "converted" and began preaching "on sidewalks."

The Gevena Independent Church has a congregation of about 150, mostly factory workers and tenant farmers. Services originally were held in tents, but a building was erected recently and work has started on another.

"Integration," he said, "would cause souls to be lost and our only hope for keeping peace in the country is through segregation, and by staying on our knees and truly praying to God, our Father, through the Lord Jesus Christ, and following his word as a whole, not just parts of his word."

Weaver, whose reddish - brown hair is beginning to bald, said he feels "the coming of the Lord is near . . . the Lord is going to come to the earth again."

He terms himself "a very common man whose sole purpose in life now is speaking God's word to the people and converting more people to the true Bible."

Racial integration, he says, will lead to "a degenerate race of people."

Snyderite Receives Scholarship At Tech

Leonard Allen Hale, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. O. Hale of Snyder, is one of nine students at Texas Tech who have been awarded scholarships totalling $2,480.

Hale, a sophomore physics major, has been awarded the Barton Foundation scholarship, which covers tuition costs.

Report On City Water

The City of Snyder purchased 84,765,000 gallons of water from the Colorado River Municipal Water District during the month of August, the CRMWD has reported.

The figures reflect that consumption in Snyder during the month average approximately two and three-quarter million gallons per day.

Odessa was the biggest purchaser of water from the CRMWD last month, with a total of 413,350,000 gallons, while Big Spring purchased 254,490,000 gallons and SACROC purchased 240,809,000 gallons. Remainder of the total production of 1,044,947,000 gallons went to the Sharon Ridge Unit and to the Texas Gulf Producing Co.

Of the production, 630,289,000 gallons came from Lake J. B. Thomas, 332,399,000 gallons from Martin County well fields and the remainder from city wells.

Speedup On Dallas Water Plans Sought

DALLAS (AP)—The Sabine River Authority was asked yesterday by Mayor R. L. Thornton to "push with all possible speed" an Iron Bridge project which will give Dallas a new water supply source.

Thornton made the statement after a conference with John Simmons, executive vice president of the Sabine Authority and general manager of the Iron Bridge project.

A total of about 62,000 acres in Rains, Van Zandt and Hunt counties will be required for the 38,000 acre reservoir, which will give Dallas a new water supply of 160 million gallons a day.

TAMPA (AP)—David Hammer, 19, of Dallas drowned while swimming yesterday. He was waiting to report to a new assignment at MacDill Air Force Base.

Stevenson Hits At Leadership Of Eisenhower

By The Associated Press

Adlai Stevenson has accused President Eisenhower of "weak leadership." But Vice President Nixon has said Stevenson "just isn't in the same league" with Eisenhower as a world leader.

Both men brought up the leadership issue yesterday in rival campaign speeches delivered a few miles and a short time apart. Stevenson, the Democratic presidential candidate, spoke in Kansas City, Mo., while Republican Nixon addressed a meeting in Kansas City, Kan.

Meanwhile, the White House let out word that Eisenhower is ready to broaden his personal re-election effort beyond the five or six major radio-TV speeches originally planned.

Democratic - Republican batting over the farm issue continued in the wake of Eisenhower's Tuesday night speech in which he labeled as "mockery and deceit" a Democratic proposal to return to high, rigid price supports for basic crops.

In speaking of what he said was a "need for a strong presidency," Stevenson said he was not talking about the President's health, adding:

"I am talking about the conception of the presidency that Mr. Eisenhower has announced publicly and followed in practice . . . The difference between weak leadership and strong leadership is the difference between direction by a few strong men to serve the interest of the few most of the time and firm direction which serves all the people all the time."

Across the Missouri River, Nixon said Stevenson "certainly put his foot in his mouth when he claimed in Florida yesterday that President Eisenhower had followed a policy of appeasement."

In a Miami, Fla., speech Tuesday night, Stevenson said the Eisenhower administration "chose to appease" Juan Peron when Peron was dictator of Argentina. Peron has been deposed and is living in exile.

Nixon declared that Eisenhower "has never in his military or political career engaged in appeasement of any aggressor and he isn't going to start doing so now . . ."

In the debate over the farm problem, Nixon called Stevenson's agricultural program "political demagoguery and fakery." He contended the Eisenhower administration has developed "for the first time in history a program which is designed to meet the special needs of the low-income farmer."

Secretary of Agriculture Benson, interviewed on an NBC TV program last night, said in Washington, "There's no farm depression and there's no revolt." Benson said too that the farm problem is "nearer solution than ever before."

Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, the Democratic vice - presidential nominee, said in Anderson, Ind., yesterday that Eisenhower's farm speech at Peoria, Ill., "misstated the record of his own administration in dealing with the depression which afflicts millions of our farm families."

In Kefauver's words, "What President Eisenhower promises in 1956 is that sometime—maybe—prices received by farmers might be fair—if farmers will just be patient and wait long enough for the accident to happen . . ."

Today, Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler continued his party's counterattack, challenging the accuracy of Eisenhower's statements that "the long decline in farm prices has stopped" and that "today farm income is at a billion-dollar rate above last year."

Butler said Eisenhower's farm speech "spelled . . . four more years of low farm prices and low farm income if Mr. Eisenhower is re-elected."

In Maine, an official canvass confirmed yesterday that Rep. Robert Hale, a Republican, had won re-election by 29 votes. His opponent, Democrat James C. Oliver, said he will ask for a recount. The election was held Sept. 10.

Showers Are Expected In Texas Today

By The Associated Press

Showers were expected to spot Texas Thursday.

Predawn skies were clear. Temperatures ranged from 75 degrees at Galveston down to 54 at Lufkin.

Scattered showers hit portions of the state Wednesday. Alpine had a hailstorm and blowing dust was reported at Laredo. Afternoon highs Wednesday ranged from 99 at Presidio to 83 at Galveston.

Alpine had .18 of an inch of rain, Amarillo .05, Lubbock .03, Presidio .02, Cotulla .07 and Kingsville .10.

Flossy, the vanishing hurricane, brought more stormy weather to wide sections of the Atlantic Seaboard today.

Except for a few showers in Pacific Coast areas, the rest of the nation enjoyed pleasant weather, with clear skies and mild temperatures.

Storm warnings were kept posted from Cape Hatteras, N.C., northward to provincetown, Mass. Chesapeake Bay and Delaware Bay.

Strongest winds were reported northeast of the coast of east central North Carolina. Winds of 35 to 40 m.p.h. were reported on the coast and gusts up to 60 as far north as southern Delaware and gusts up to 50 m.p.h. as far north as southern New Jersey. The stormy weather appeared headed into some of the southern New England coastal sections.

Heavy rain fell in northern North Carolina and southern Virginia. The rain spread northeastward to southern New Jersey. Flooding in some coastal areas appeared likely. Heaviest rainfall was about 5 inches at Winston Salem, N.C., in 24 hours.

Court Ruling Is Expected On Candidacy

BROWNSVILLE (AP) — County Judge Oscar Dancy is expected to return a ruling today on a petition filed by Mrs. Jimmie Hockaday, wife of the Port Isabel mayor, asking to run as an independent candidate in the general election.

Mrs. Hockaday filed the petition Saturday asking that she be listed on the general election ballot as an independent candidate for county commissioner from the Port Isabel-Los Fresnos area.

A hearing before Dancy Tuesday brought out that Mrs. Hockaday voted in the Democratic primaries and the recent ruling of Secretary of State Tom Reavley on a similar case was mentioned.

Mrs. W. Lee O'Daniel was declared ineligible as a candidate in the general election by Reavley because she voted in the Democratic primaries.

Ted Hunt of Port Isabel, the Democratic nominee for the post, asked Dancy to determine if Mrs. Hockaday must have signatures of five per cent of all the voters in the county for nomination, or only five per cent of those she would represent if elected.

The judge said he would also rule on the eligibility of J. H. Williams of Los Fresnos, who has petition to have his name on the ballot as an independent candidate for constable of Los Fresnos.

County Democratic Chairman A. M. Kent has questioned the legality of the wording of Williams' petition.

New Contract To Go Into Effect Monday

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A new contract between American Can Co. and United Steelworkers of America will go into effect Monday, providing 21½ cents an hour in wage increases over a three-year period.

The agreement, covering 20,000 workers in 37 plants from coast to coast, was signed here yesterday.

Wages will be increased 7½ cents an hour Oct. 1, 7 cents Oct. 1, 1957, and 7 cents Oct. 1, 1958. The current basic starting wage is $1.82 an hour.

Matusow To Get Sentence

NEW YORK (AP)—Turnabout witness Harvey M. Matusow, convicted of perjury in a Communist conspiracy case, faces a possible maximum sentence of 25 years in prison and $10,000 fine.

Matusow, 29-year-old former Communist who testified for the government in many conspiracy cases, will be sentenced tomorrow by U.S. Judge John F. C. McGohey.

Matusow paled and slumped in his chair with his hands to his eyes as a federal court jury of 10 men and 2 women brought in its guilty verdict late yesterday after 90 minutes of deliberation.

Defense counsel announced plans to appeal.

Matusow was convicted on five counts of perjury. The case developed from his recantation of the testimony he gave as a government witness at the 1952 conspiracy trial of 13 secondstring Communist leaders.

After the jury found him guilty, the judge raised his bail from $3,000 to $10,000 but allowed him continued freedom until late today to raise the added bail.

Opponents Of Market Plan To Be Heard

EDINBURG, Tex. (AP)—Opponents of a proposed tomato marketing agreement for the Rio Grande Valley began their testimony in the hearing yesterday.

Two tomato shippers were the first to be heard. One, Ted Akin of La Feria, testified that he was afraid a marketing agreement would endanger the packing and shipping of pink tomatoes.

Akin was asked by U.S. agriculture officials if he thought USDA inspectors were incompetent or inexperienced.

He answered that USDA inspectors had only been inspecting green tomatoes and were not familiar with pink tomatoes.

Akin said inspectors not familiar with pink tomatoes had a tendency to throw out some that were not bad. He added that he would hate to have them in his packing rooms.

Akin, asked if he didn't think changes could be made in the marketing agreement to remedy that situation, said he didn't know but he would hate to take a chance on it.

Hugh Rouw of Edinburg was the other shipper to testify. He said administration of the marketing agreement would cost $50,000 a year and there would be no limit on the amount of money the governing committee could spend.

Those testifying in favor of the proposed agreement finished their testimony earlier in the day.

Sweepstakers Winner To Get Examination

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Municipal Judge Alvin Weinberger ordered psychiatric examination for Joseph Francis O'Brien, 56, winner of $140,000 in Irish Sweepstakes money two years ago.

O'Brien, a $65-a-week night hotel clerk when he won the sweepstakes prize, came before Judge Weinberger on a drunk charge.

O'Brien said, "Don't let anybody ever tell you it's lucky to win money. I wish I had never seen the dough." Much of his money, he said, had gone in Nevada gambling.

The Legend of the Rose

Yseult, the little sister of Alros, a shepherd, was sad because she had no gift to present to the Christ Child.

Disheartened, she decided to leave the multitudes in the village and return to her sheep on the hillside. Yet, before she had gone far, an angel garbed in light stood before her and asked: "Why do you sorrow when all others are glad?" And Yseult answered: "My heart is heavy because I might carry no joy to the Babe of Bethlehem." Then the angel waved a lily over the fields and suddenly they were abloom with Christmas roses. And Yseult, kneeling down joyfully, picked the most beautiful rose and hastened back to the village.

Meanwhile, the train of the Maja kings, with its dromedaries and treasure-chests, its bodyguards and pages, had reached its destination.

Impressive gifts were being showered upon the Christ Child. Malchoir the Nubian brought apples of gold signifying "delections of love" and royal dignity, a token of the sin of Paradise which made His coming necessary.

Caspar of Tarsus offered the precious "Black Myrrh" of the balsamodernaron tree, symbol of the suffering and death to come.

Ballasar of Godolia presented frankincense, embodying the thought of the sacrifice, the orison or prayer "of the soul right devout" and the divine nature of the Babe, completing the human element typified by the myrrh.

And so the kings paid homage with their rich gifts, more precious still because of their symbolic promise. However, the glance of the Christ Child had strayed to the door, where Yseult the little shepherdess had just entered with the beautiful Christmas rose in her hand. And the Holy One forgot the costly gifts of the Maji, and while the golden apple slipped from his grasp, reached forth his tiny hands for the blossom. He smiled as Yseult placed the rose between his fingers.

BUCKIN' THE LINE

By BUCK FRANCIS
News Sports Editor

WE DON'T KNOW WHAT Big Spring is trying to pull in making a change in its offensive formation within a week's time.

The announcement yesterday that the Steers would shuck the T formation for the Single Wing hasn't caused much alarm in the Tiger camp.

There's quite a bit of difference, to be sure, in setting up a defense for Single Wing than the T but at the same time it's a tremendous task for a team to change from one formation to another in a week's time, especially from a T formation to Single Wing.

If the Steers can successfully "convert" to the Single Wing by Friday night then more power to them.

Non-Secrecy Of Switch Questioned

There's one portion of the Single Wing "announcement" that doesn't quite add up. If Big Spring is serious about switching to the Single Wing, then why wouldn't she want to keep it a secret until game time Friday?

Could it be that the announcement was made to sorta confuse the Tigers in their preparations for Friday night's contest at Big Spring?

Maybe the Steers will cook up a couple or so Single Wing plays but we hardly believe they'll run from it exclusively Friday night.

If the Steers do go Single Wing all the way Friday and do it well, the Tigers will have a terrific battle on their hands.

The Tigers are, however, expecting an all-out battle from Big Spring regardless of what formation she runs from Friday.

A former Snyder lad will be in the starting lineup for Big Spring Friday night when the Tigers invade the Bovine camp. He is Maxey Carey, a guard.

Carey played Freshman ball at Snyder High School.

Maxey weighs in at 165.

Tigers To Be Well Supported At BS

The way Tiger fans have been globbling up tickets to Friday's game at Big Spring it looks like the Bengals will be well-supported for the Steer clash.

Eleven-hundred reserved seat tickets were placed on sale here yesterday morning and about half of 'em were sold by noon. The sales were still going at a rapid pace yesterday afternoon and by the time this appears in print those 1,100 ducats may be gone.

And this doesn't include the student tickets. It appears now that at least 2,000 Snyderites will be on hand for Friday's Tiger-Steer battle.

The Tigers got good backing from ex-students now attending college at the Weatherford game Friday.

Three members of last year's Tiger squad were on hand, Alan Snead from SMU, Jack Spikes from TCU, and George Herring from North Texas State.

Other ex-Snyder High Schoolers at the Watherford game included P. W. Cloud, SMU; Joyce Blakely and Joe Davenport, North Texas; Judy Miller, Arlington State; Sittie Harrell and Tommy McClatchey, TCU; and Ann Fish from Texas Tech.

Cameron, Tyler Top Junior College Teams

COMPTON, Calif. (AP)—The Cameron Aggies of Lawton, Okla., and Tyler, Tex., have been voted the leading texams in the eastern and western divisions of the National Junior College Athletic Assn. by the coaches.

Highland, Kan., Hinds, Miss., and Northeastern Oklahoma were rated behind Cameron in the eastern loop, and Coffeyville, Kan., Kilgore, Tex., and Dodge City, Kan., were rated behind Tyler in the western section.

Bucky Harris Quits As Tiger Pilot

DETROIT (AP)—Bucky Harris resigned today as manager of the Detroit Tigers baseball team, effective at the end of the season, Sept. 30.

The resignation ended the 59-year-old manager's second term at the Tiger helm.

Tiger President Walter O. Briggs accepted the resignation.

Harris mailed his resignation Sept. 5 while the Tigers were in Kansas City. He asked that it be released today.

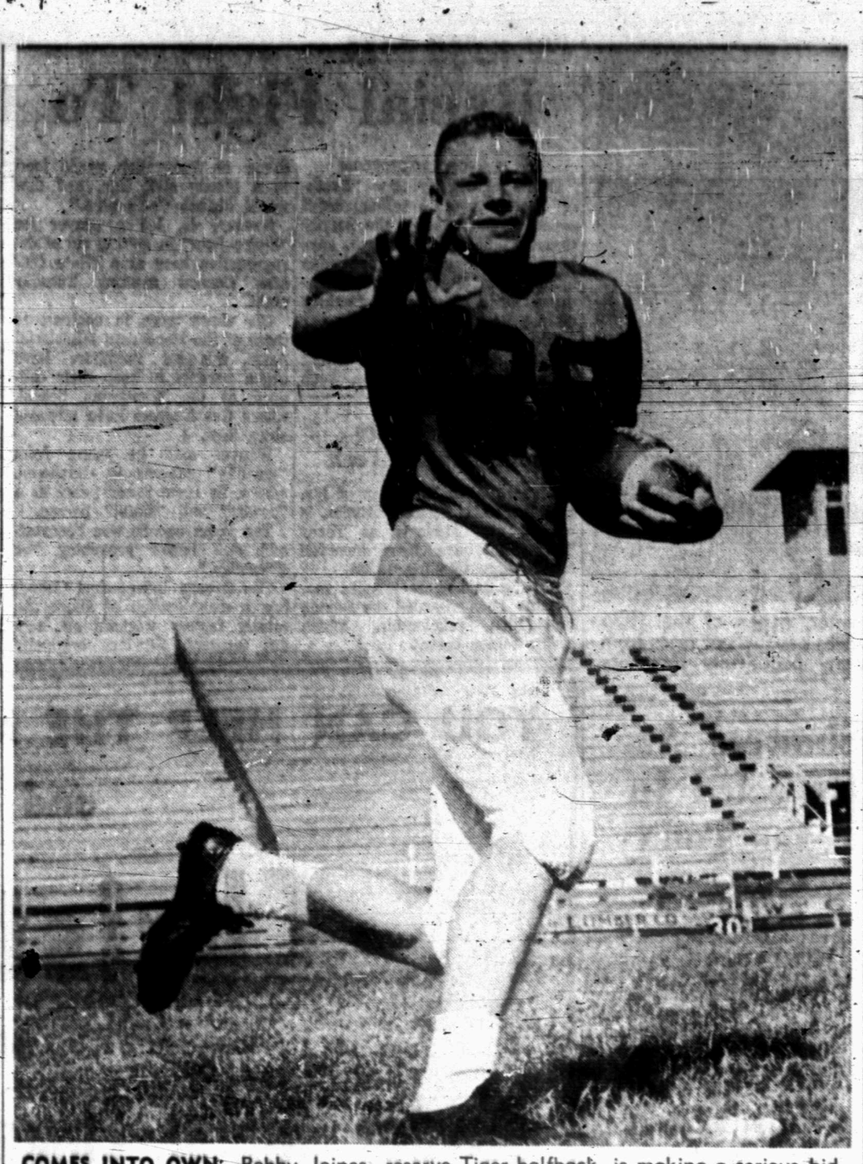
Briggs issued this statement:

"I have personally admired Bucky all my life, and feel that this move of his will work out for the best. We have had our ups and downs, but I shall always have great respect for Bucky as a gentleman and for his ability as a manager. I hope our friendship will be solid for the future.

"The way Bucky has brought the club back during the final two months of the season is tremendous. I wish him the best for the future."

Folley Whips Valdez

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Zora Folley of Chandler, Ariz., outlasted a sluggish Nino Valdez and won a unanimous decision over the Cuban heavyweight in a 10-rounder last night.



COMES INTO OWN—Bobby Joines, reserve Tiger halfback, is making a serious bid to crash the starting lineup. Joines is the second leading Tiger ball carrier in the first two games with 118 yards on five carries for a 23.6 yards per carry. Joines flashed into the limelight last week at Weatherford with a 69-yard touchdown gallop. Joines also ran for 39 yards on another play. (Lee Watson Photograph).

Ticket Sales Brisk Here For Tomorrow's Tiger-Steer Tilt

Tickets to the Tiger-Big Spring game Friday were going at a pretty rapid clip today with 814 of the 1,100 reserved seat tickets allotted Snyder having already been sold as of 11:15 a.m. today.

The game will be played in Big Spring's new football stadium Friday night. The Tiger-Big Spring tilt will be the first game to be played at the new stadium.

Tickets will remain on sale until about 10 a.m. tomorrow at which time any tickets that are left will be returned to Big Spring.

Big Spring's new stadium will seat in the excess of 10,000 fans.

Tickets for the Tiger-Big Spring game are $1.50 reserve and 30 cents students.

Art Nicholas, school business manager, points out that the $1.50 price for reserved seat tickets is a standard price for District 3-AAAA of which Big Spring is a member. The reserved seat prices are 25 cents more than the standard price for Snyder home games.

For the benefit of the fans going to Big Spring Friday, Nicholas released the following route to be taken to reach the Big Spring Stadium:

After crossing viaduct which is on the hiway leading into Big Spring, go to 4th Street (two blocks past the viaduct) and turn left, then go to Birdwell Lane and turn right. Go nine blocks down Birdwell Lane and the stadium can be seen from the street.

In the meantime, the Tigers went through their final strenuous drill yesterday before tomorrow night's game. The Bengals will taper off with a light drill today.

The Tigers worked about 30 minutes in setting up a defense for the Single Wing that Big Spring is reportedly coverting to this week. Big Spring, in its first two games to date, has been running off the T.

The remainder of yesterday's workout was spent in brushing up their own offensive plays that will be used in Friday's game.

With the exception of the three boys who missed last week's Weatherford game, the Tigers will be in good physical shape for the Big Spring game.

Still missing tomorrow will be ends Dwaine Merritt and John Ward and tackle John Partain, all sidelined with various injuries.

Unbeaten Cards Face Stiff Test

The undefeated Hermleigh Cardinals face their toughest assignment of the season tomorrow night when they go against the Rochester Steers at Rochester.

Coach Ray Isaacs' Cardinals have breezed to victories in their first three starts, defeating Coahoma, 32-13, Aspermont, 40-7, and Knox City, 38-6.

But Coach Isaacs and his Cardinals know that Rochester isn't going to be no easy pickin's tomorrow night. Rochester is the "King of Class B" football in West Texas.

The Cardinals will be out to atone for last year's 33-0 thumping at the hands of the Steers. The year before the Cards edged Rochester, 26-24, for the regional championship.

Hermleigh will be led by its touchdown trio. Billy Mac Davidson, Robbie Robinson and Morris Light.

Davidson is the individual scoring leader for the entire Central West Texas area with 93 points.

Rochester has won two of its first three starts, losing only to Class A Lockett, 12-7, last week.

In other games involving Snyder area teams, Ira entertains Klondik and Hobbs hosts Loop while Gail goes to Garden City.

Ira and Hobbs rule the favorites role but Gail is the underdog against Garden City.

In games thus far, Ira owns a 2-0 mark, Hobbs 2-1 and Gail 1-1.

All of the games involving area teams this week are non-district affairs.

Crackers, Chicks In 'Rubber' Tilt Tonight

ATLANTA (AP) — The Atlanta Crackers and the Memphis Chicks meet tonight in the final game of the Southern Assn. playoff series. Each team has won three games.

The winner will be host to Houston's Texas League champions in the opener of the Dixie Series, probably starting Saturday night.

The pennant-winning Crackers tied up the series last night with a 6-5 overtime victory in the 15th inning. Frank Sacka scored from first when Billy Reynolds smashed a double to the right-field signboards.

Sacka, Cracker catcher, opened the sixth extra round with a single to right. Relief pitcher Dan McMahon fanned and rookie Reynolds followed with his drive against the signs. The throw to the plate was too late to catch Sacka.

Memphis held the lead for seven innings. The Crackers evened the count at 4-4 in the eighth when Bob Montag scored on a blooper single by Buck Riddle. In the 11th, Memphis went out front 5-4, but the Crackers tied it again.

Birdie High On Milwaukee

CINCINNATI (AP) — "You've got to give Milwaukee the edge. They have both speed and power."

That's how Birdie Tebbetts, Cincinnati manager, sized up the National League race after his club was practically eliminated from contention Tuesday by a 7-1 loss, to the Braves.

"I always give Milwaukee the edge," said Tebbetts. "But I thought we'd knock them out of it. This is a helluva ball club.

"If it comes down to inches, they (Milwaukee) have the inches. They have more speed. This might be decided by some guy hitting a ball on the ground and beating it out for a hit. They have more men who can do that."

As far as the Redlegs are concerned, Tebbetts admitted, "It looks like the last shot was fired at Crosley Field. All Milwaukee had to do is win one more and we can't even tie them. But you have to give our guys credit for coming back."

Manager Fred Haney of the Braves, who said he would send his boys through a workout at St. Louis tomorrow before a final three-game series, wouldn't go as far as Tebbetts in giving his club an edge.

"This was a big one," he said. "But it wasn't any bigger than the three we have coming up with St. Louis. The big difference now is that we only have to win three more. Before we beat Cincinnati we had to win four."

Phils Humble Bums; Braves Lead By 1 With 3 Games Left

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

Can the Braves do it?

With a one-game lead and three to play, can they sweep their windup series opening tomorrow night at St. Louis and win their first National League pennant since 1948?

Manager Walter Alston, whose Brooklyn Dodgers were barred from a tie for the lead by Philadelphia and Robin Roberts 7-3 yesterday, says Milwaukee won't do it.

"We'll win three from Pittsburgh, the Braves will lose one to the Cardinals—and the season will start all over again Monday with the playoff opener in Ebbetts Field."

"No dice," says Milwaukee boss Fred Haney. "We're going to win it by Sunday. We won't settle for a playoff."

A three-game sweep is a "must" if Milwaukee wants a neat no-fuss title. Then no matter what Brooklyn does the Bravves have it.

The Dodgers, however, can't win it alone any more. They need help from the Cards. One Milwaukee loss could mean a tie. Two could give the world champs a repeat pennant.

Cincinnati? The Redlegs' best hope is a major league home run record (they need two more). They no longer can win the flag without a playoff—and they must sweep their remaining two games, starting Saturday at Chicago, and for hope for a Cardinal sweep and two Brooklyn losses for even a tie.

Chicago's last-place Cubs won 3-2 from the Cardinals, who had 15 hits, in 13 innings in the only other NL game scheduled yesterday. Solly Drake's single did it. Old pro Murry Dickson, beaten despite a five-hitter, not only lost his 11th but also was eliminated as a starter against the Braves.

NATIONAL LEAGUE PENNANT RACE
By The Associated Press

	Won	Lost	Pct.	Behind	To Play
Milwaukee	91	60	.603	—	3
Brooklyn	90	61	.596	1	3
Cincinnati	89	63	.586	2½	3

Milwaukee (3)—at home (none). Away (3), Sept. 28 (N), 29 (N), 30, at St. Louis.
Brooklyn (3)—at home (3), Sept. 28 (N) 29, 30, Pittsburgh. Away (none).
Cincinnati (3)—at home (none). Away (3), Sept. 28, 29, 30, at Chicago.

In the American, southpaw Whitey Ford, scheduled to open the World Series for the champion New York Yankees, muffed his chance for a 20th victory with a wild pitch as Baltimore won 1-0 on a four-hit major league debut by right-hander Charlie Beamon.

Detroit, behind Paul Foytack's three-hitter, defeated Chicago 4-1; Boston smacked Washington 8-4, and Cleveland downed the Kansas City Athletics 8-4 to clinch at least a tie for second place.

A dropped fly ball by left fielder Sandy Amoros in a three-run second inning and Roberts' five-hit pitching beat the Brooklyns and 26-game winner Don Newcombe. The Phils rapped 10 hits—including a Del Ennis home run, Roy Smalley's two-run double and Willie Jones' two-run single. Newk, with only two days rest, left in the fifth trailing 4-2 for his seventh loss.

Roberts walked one, struck out 10 (his high for the season) and had trouble only with Duke Snider—who hit his 40th and 41st home runs and also added a double—in winning his 19th.

Beamon, 21 and fresh from Vancouver, allowed only singles, two by Ford, and struck out nine while walking seven. Ford, with a three-inning series warmup probably on tap Sunday against Boston, wild-pitched the winning run across after singles by Tito Francona and Bob Nieman in the third inning.

Frank Sullivan won his 14th for the Red Sox, with Ted Williams and Mickey Vernon each driving in two runs. Williams, 2-for-4, now has a .350 average compared to Yankee Mickey Mantle's .354 (Mick was hitless in a pinch-hit role) and needs nine more at bats in the closing three-game set at Yankee Stadium for the necessary 400 in the league bat race.

Washington's Jim Lemon broke Vince DiMaggio's major league mark of 134 strikeouts with the Boston Braves in 1938. Lemon's 135th came with the bases loaded in the seventh.

Bill Tuttle homered, doubled and singled for the fifth-place Tigers, who have 80 victories for the first time since 1950.

Herb Score chalked up his 20th victory for the Indians as Vic Wertz paced the eight-hit attack with four consecutive doubles and a single and drove in four runs. The four doubles tied a major league record held by 26 others.

Braves Confident Of Winning Flag

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The magic number is 3 for the confident Milwaukee Braves as they await the opener of their final three-game series with the St. Louis Cardinals tomorrow night.

"The combination is 3," said Manager Fred Haney, "three Milwaukee victories. We're not counting on Brooklyn losing. We've got to win 'em all.

"There has been no question in our minds but that we feel we can do it. And we're not ready to settle for any tie or playoff. We want to win it outright."

Haney huddled with Charley Root, his pitching coach, to study charts of pitching performances against the Cardinals before naming his pitching selections. Bob Buhl was expected to work the opener, probably followed by Warren Spahn Saturday night.

The Braves, who have displayed no great surface enthusiasm down the stretch, happily discussed Brooklyn's defeat by Robin Roberts and the Phillies which gave them a one-game edge.

"I never thought I'd be rooting for Roberts," said shortstop Johnny Logan. "And how about that "Senor" (shortstop Roy Smalley of the Phils, an ex-Brave who delivered a timely hit against the Dodgers).

"We're in good shape," said catcher Del Crandall, "but we've still got to win our games."

"It probably will go right down to Sunday," said Warren Spahn, the Braves' 20-game winner and star of their stretch drive. "I think it's better to go into a series right off a hot pennant

Sonora Tailback Has Averaged 33 Per Game

SONORA, Tex. (AP)—Ever hear of a football player making 300 points in a season?

You may this year if George Johnson, Sonora tailback, maintains his pace.

In three games Johnson has scored 98 points, which is almost 33 per game.

East Still Unbeaten

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP)—Floyd East, undefeated Lake Charles welterweight, won his 18th bout last night when Pete Sanchez of Houston, Tex., arose from the canvas in the fifth round and said he'd had enough.

Wineburg Top SWC Rusher

DALLAS (AP)—Just to show how many good football players Texas Christian has at its command this season, it produced a better runner in its opening game last week than All-America Jim Swink.

At least Ken Wineburg, a tall, powerful halfback, was better for the day as he ran up 143 yards on 13 carries in TCU's 32-0 victory over Kansas while Swink didn't even get in the first 10 of the Southwest Conference.

Wineburg leads the ball carriers by a healthy margin. He has gained 65 more yards than second place Roddy Osborne, Texas A&M quarterback.

Swink, however, wasn't lost in the shuffle. He turned to pass receiving and took the lead in that department with 137 yards on five catches. That was three receptions and 82 yards more than Bobby Williams of Rice, who is in second place.

Chuck Curtis, the Texas Christian quarterback, passed for a hefty 231 yards to take the lead in that department. Curtis connected on 13 passes in 17 throws for a percentage of .765. Vince Matthews of Texas was second with 13 completions in 22 passes for 195 yards.

Curtis' great passing day was enough to make him the total offense leader. While he lost seven yards rushing, he still had a net 225 yards gained. Matthews, who got 12 yards running, was second with 207.

Amarillo-WF Tops HS Card

By The Associated Press

The Texas schoolboy football campaign bristles with important games this weekend with Amarillo's battle with Wichita Falls, Odessa's visit to Port Arthur and a collision of Corpus Christi Ray with Baytown as headliners.

There'll be tests for sectional supremacies and the 127 undefeated, untied teams face another week of head rolling.

The Odessa-Port Arthur clash in AAAA will give an indication of comparative strength between north and south. East meets West in the battle of Fort Worth Carter-Riverside and Longview.

The Ray-Baytown game brings two of the heralded powers of the South together.

There are 26 unbeaten, untied teams in AAAA and five games match such teams: Pampa at Midland, Wichita Falls at Amarillo, Carter-Riverside at Longview, Galena Park at Galveston and Alice at Harlingen. Odessa and Ray are unbeaten and untied. Baytown and Port Arthur are undefeated but have ties on their records.

AAA has 32 teams with perfect records. None of them meet each other but they have clashes with unbeaten, untied teams from other classes. Phillips plays El Paso Jefferson, McKinney battles Arlington and Conroe takes on Houston San Jacinto from AAAA. Graham meets Jacksboro and Lamar Consolidated plays West Columbia in tests by AA outfits.

In AA only one game sends unbeaten teams in the division against each other. This one is Bonham at Grand Saline. Luling takes on high-flying Bastro of A and Sweeny also gets a test from an undefeated, untied A outfit when it tackles Tomball.

Alpine, the sensation of A with its victories over AAA teams, tries somebody nearer its size when it battles Fort Stockton, an undefeated but once tied AA team. Springlake tears into Muleshoe, an unbeaten, untied AA outfit. High scoring Sonora gets McCamay, an unbeaten but tied AA team.

Mighty Abilene, kingpin of AAAA and winner of 25 straight games, invades Lubbock to play Monterey. The Eagles are not expected to have much trouble.

Port Neches, defending champion of AAA, gets a tough trial horse in Lufkin but is expected to win.

Stamford, riding a 20-game wining streak and seeking its second straight AA championship, plays Sweetwater. The Bulldogs don't appear to have much to worry about.

39 Class AA 11s Unbeaten

By The Associated Press

Stamford, Canyon, Seymour, Comanche, Jacksboro, Terrell, Hillsboro, Belton and Deer Park stand out as the Class AA division of Texas schoolboy football rounds out the first month of play. It's still Stamford and Deer Park when they start ranking them.

There are two of 39 undefeated, untied teams left in the division which saw a heavy toll in last week's big round. Some 22 teams bit the dust.

Defending champion Stamford zipped by Class AAA Andrews 26-13 last week in another impressive showing. Deer Park walloped Crosby 56-0 by half-trying.

The major upset was Belton's 21-0 decision over La Vega, a well-regarded team in Class AAA. It shot Belton right up toward the top in title consideration.

Hillsboro was another team that impressed. The Eagles, last year's finalists, downed Ennis of AAA 13-0.

Undefeated, untied teams left in AA are Canyon, Muleshoe, Lockney, Seymour, Stamford, Comanche, Hamilton, Jacksboro, Azle, Grapevine, Lewisville, Seagoville, Terrell, Bonham, Commerce, Pittsburg, DeKalb, Gilmer, London, Hissboro, Crockett, Brady, Belton, Rockdale, Gonzales, Luling, Yoakum, Navasota, Port Acres, Cleveland, Dayton, Liberty, Deer Park, Sweeny, West Columbia, San Antonio Sam Houston, Arkansas Pass Sinton and Lyford.

Jacksboro, Luling and Tomball play undefeated, untied teams this week. Jacksboro meets Graham of AAA, Luling takes on Bastrop of A and Sweeny clashes with Tomball of A.

11 Georgia Tech Players Taken Ill

ATLANTA (AP) — Eleven Georgia Tech football players suffering with food poisoning are expected to be available for duty against Southern Methodist at Dallas Saturday night.

Dr. Lamont Henry, team physician, said last night the players apparently were made ill by fruit juice they drank while returning to Atlanta from Lexington, Ky., Saturday night. They began to complain of feeling ill Sunday.

Eight were hospitalized at the school infirmary. Three others were restricted to their rooms.

The list includes halfback George Volkert, who raced 54 yards for a touchdown in Georgia Tech's 14-6 opening game victory over Kentucky, and Toppy Vann, who also started against Kentucky.

The doctor said all "should bounce back quickly."

He added, however, that several probably won't have regained their full strength by game time Saturday.

FACES OF THE BABE—These three head shots show Mildred (Babe) Didrikson Zaharias in three stages of her career. From left, the pictures show her as she appeared in 1932 in St. Louis, in 1940 after winning her golf match in Milwaukee, and as she appeared in Tampa, Fla., in 1956.

When Told She Had Cancer, Babe Didn't Bat An Eyelash

(EDITORS NOTE—Babe Didrikson Zaharias, famed woman athlete, died today of cancer. Following is the first in a series of three stories written on her life by Will Grimsley, who knew the Babe and had covered her on many of her greatest triumphs).

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — When Babe Didrikson Zaharias was told she had deadly cancer, she didn't—according to friends—bat an eyelash.

"Well, that's the way the ball bounces," she said lightly.

That was the Babe. Long after the fabulous deeds of this tall, supple daughter of Texas are forgotten, the sports world will be discussing—with fond reminiscence—some of the stories of her completely uninhibited personality.

The Babe lived as she played sports—with a refreshing abandon. She was always quick with the quip. She was the extrovert. She was utterly unpredictable.

Loosened Up

After she had won the British Women's Golf Championship at Gullane, Scotland, June 12, 1947—the first American to achieve that feat — staid British journalists edged close to her and inquired how she could hit a golf ball so terribly far.

"I just loosen my girdle and let the ball have it," the wisecracking Texan replied.

Once in the Women's Wetern Open Golf Tournament at Philadelphia the Babe stopped in the middle of a fairway and called over a group of golfing friends.

While they formed a circle around her—football huddle style—she proceeded to remove a white nylon slip and throw it jauntily to a companion.

Too Hot

"Too darn hot," she commented audibly, while a gallery of 3,000 looked on, pop-eyed.

In the championship match at Scotland against England's little Jacqueline Gordon, the Babe started the day with what she termed her refined clothes—a grey flannel skirt, brushed wool sweater and dainty yellow and white blouse.

No better than even at the end of the first 18, she quickly changed to a pair of sloppy slacks. "My lucky pants did it," she chortled after beating Miss Gordon 5 and 4.

Brassie Lie

Once a sports writer noticed the Babe staring at him so intently he imagined his nose must have been put on backwards. "What's the matter?" he asked. "You know," replied the Babe, pointing to the writer's crew haircut, "your hair would make a perfect brassie lie." She was dead serious.

It was always interesting to keep close to the Babe and get a load of some of the gems she dropped as she whaled her way around the golf course.

On a drive that went awry she might comment: "I hit it straight, it just went crooked." After whaling a shot 250 yards, she might blurt, "Man, if I hit it any better it would kill me."

Hit First

When she'd sink a long putt, she'd fall to her knees and praise Allah. When she missed a short one, she might blow a fuse, and heaven help the photographer who flipped a shutter.

Once a man offered her the honor of teeing off first in a match.

"You better hit first," she said, "cause it's the last time you'll get the honor, and you better bust a good one if you don't want to be outdrove 20 yards by a gal."

Tomorrow: She fanned DiMag.

Jackson Earns Shot At Heavy Crown

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson's second straight victory over Bob Baker moved the New Yorker into line for a crack at the heavyweight title. The assurance comes from president Jim Norris of the International Boxing Club.

"Hurricane certainly deserves consideration," said Norris, after Jackson, 25, roared to his 28th victory in 34 fights last night in a gruelling 12-round nationally televised bout with Bob Baker at Forbes Field.

"He (Jackson) made a creditable showing," said Morris, "and I think he rates a shot at either Archie Moore or Floyd Patterson, but the Patterson - Moore fight comes first."

Both Moore and Patterson have agreed to a title fight but it is still unsigned.

Jackson, the No. 3 heavyweight whipped Baker for the second time in seven months. Many ring observers felt it was a larger margin than the split decision of the officials. Jackson also won the Feb. 3 bout at New York City on a split decision.

It was a slam-bang battle in a crowd of 12,261 that paid a gross of $70,579 enjoyed every minute of it.

The first time Referee Ernie Sesto stepped between the two free-swinging heavyweights was in the 10th round to cut loose a piece of tape from one of Baker's gloves.

Baker took an early lead but Jackson atop Baker throughout—mauling, dancing, double-jabbing and hooking and at times running away, only to come back and score with a flurry of his own.

Baker, dabbing a cut over his left eye in the dressing room, said he thought he'd won. "I knew I had him stunned a couple of times but it's tough to follow up with a man like Hurricane," said Baker.

Jackson who seldom talks was unmarked except for a slight swelling over his eyes. He kept nodding everytime manager Lippy Breidbart chorused "We want a shot at Archie Moore now."

Pat McCormick Barred From Cal Appearance

GARDENA, Calif. (AP) — Pat McCormick won't fight any bulls here this weekend.

She gave up her plans after three Superior Court judges upheld Gardena's anti-bullfight ordinance.

Miss McCormick and promoters of the event sought an injunction to prevent the emergency ordinance passed by the City Council from becoming effective.

Their attorney argued that the event would be an exhibition and that no blood would be shed.

Judges Frank Swain, Edward Bishop and Kurtz Kauffman ruled the Council had the right to enact an emergency ordinance against "worrying of bulls."

Miss McCormick said she was going home to Big Spring, Tex.

Classen Says Green Wave Will Beat Texas Saturday

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

NEW YORK (AP)—Eenie, meenie, miney, mo; there's no harm in saying so, last week's upsets left us low; eenie, meenie, miney, mo.

There's not much hope that the upsets will be fewer in this second list of college football picks than they were last week when such stalwarts as Notre Dame and Maryland were spilled. Last week's record: 24 correct, 9 wrong average .727.

Oklahoma over North Carolina: Coach Bud Wilkinson says the left side of the Oklahoma line is weak. But he is three deep there. This will be No. 32 in the Sooner victory skein.

Michigan over UCLA: Michigan still has Ronnie Kramer, UCLA no longer has Ronnie Knox.

Georgia Tech over Southern Methodist: Last year Georgia Tech took this annual affair by 20-7. Should be about the same this time.

Colage over Cornell: Colgate isn't set at end and tackle and that may be fatal against Cornell's known speed. But the home field advantage should prevail.

Illinois over California: California has learned that penalties, off or on the field, can hurt a football team.

Michigan State over Stanford: In belief that the opening whistle will cure Walt Kowalczyk's throbbing ankle.

Army over VMI: Both are military colleges but Army gets the salute here.

Skipping over the others in a hurry:

EAST: Navy over William & Mary, Dartmouth over New Hampshire, Penn State over Pennsylvania, Yale over Connecticut, Boston University over Massachusetts, Holy Cross over Dayton (Sunday), Columbia over Brown, Princeton over Rutgers, Pittsburgh over Syracuse.

SOUTH: Tennessee over Auburn Florida over Clemson, George Washington over Furman, Georgia over Florida State, Mississippi over Kentucky, Texas A&M over Louisiana State, Tulane over Texas, Vanderbilt over Chattanooga, Virginia Tech over North Carolina State, Duke over Virginia, Maryland over Wake Forest, West Virginia over Richmond, Miami over South Carolina.

MIDWEST: Tulsa over Cincinnati, Colorado over Kansas State, Iowa over Indiana, College of Pacific over Kansas, Northwestern over Iowa State, Ohio State over Nebraska; Purdue over Missouri; Wichita over Hardin Simmons, Wisconsin over Marquette, Detroit over Villanova (Sunday).

SOUTHWEST: Arkansas over Oklahoma A&M, Houston over Mississippi State, Baylor over Tex-Tech.

FAR WEST: Arisona over South Dakota State, Colorado A&M over Brigham Young, Utah State over New Mexico, Oregon over Idaho, Utah over Montana, Washington State over San Jose State, Minnesota over Washington, Wyoming over Denver, Southern California over Oregon State.

Vito (Babe) Parilli, quarterback for the Cleveland Browns, tossed 50 touchdown passes in three seasons of college ball at Kentucky.

SMU Brushes Up On Ball Handling

By The Associated Press

SMU backs sprinted through timing practice Wednesday and after overcoming a tendency to fumble, finished the day taking handoffs from quarterbacks Charlie Arnold and Larry Click with finesse.

The Mustang linemen, aiming for the Georgia Tech game in the Cotton Bowl Saturday night, held a rough line scrimmage. Junior left guard Bobby Beckett suffered a possible broken nose.

TCU polished its running attack against dummy defenses after a stiff two-hour scrimmage for the reserves. TCU has the weekend off and plays Arkansas in a conference game at Fort Worth Oct. 6.

Texas A&M went through a brisk workout in preparation for the game with LSU at Baton Rouge Saturday night. Tommy Howard, second string right guard, returned to action after being out about a week with injuries.

Today's scrimmage was the last of the week.

Baylor continued to look better on both offense and defense. The Bears staged an all-contact workout to prepare for Saturday's game at Waco with Texas Tech.

Tech is a new member of the Southwest Conference, but won't be eligible for the title this year.

Coach Jack Mitchell ran Arkansas through drills on pass offense and defense, a drill against Oklahoma A&M plays and a non-contact defense drill. Then he ordered extra wind sprints.

Two first string Rice halfbacks, Dan Shuford and G. F. Alsbrook, were missing as the Owls held a long scrimmage. Shuford received a clavicle sprain in Saturday's game and trainer Eddie Wojecki said he may miss the next game, an Oct. 6 affair against LSU at Houston.

Alsbrook received a shoulder injury in a scrimmage Tuesday. Team physician Dr. Hugh Welch said Alsbrook probably will return to practice by the weekend.

King Hill, a converted quarterback, and Bobby Williams, sophomore, replaced Shuford and Alsbrook as first string halfbacks.

Texas slammed hard in practicing its offense and working on setting up a tighter defense.

Guards Garland Kennon and Robert E. Lee are doubtful starters in the Tulane game Saturday because of minor injuries.

PEPPER CASSEROLES GOOD COMBINATION FOR FALL
. . . tuna plays important part in making tasty dish

Tuna Offers Endless Ways To Vary Planning Of Meals

Nutritionally, tuna is one of the greatest of all protein foods.

The value of tuna to the homemaker, however, extends far beyond its nutritional qualities. ts main advantage is versatility.

Not only does tuna make a flavorful dish when served alone, but it lends itself in combination with many other foods.

Consider how well it blends with such extenders as macaroni products, rice and potatoes; or with egg dishes such as omelets and souffles; or with an endless number of vegetables.

When combined with another food in casseroles and main-course dishes, a single seven-ounce can of tuna is ample for as many as four to six servings.

TUNA-COCONUT CURRY
IS SERVED WITH RICE

¼ cup butter or margarine
2 tablespoons chopped onion
1 cup chopped peeled apple
2½ tablespoons curry powder
1 tablespoon flour
¼ teaspoon ground ginger
¼ teaspoon salt
2½ cups milk
2 can (7 ounces each) solid pack tuna, drained and flaked
½ cup flaked coconut
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 1-3 cups (5-ounce package) precooked rice
½ teaspoon salt
1½ cups boiling water

Melt butter in large saucepan. Add onion and apple and saute about 2 minutes. Add curry powder, mix well, then cook 1 minute, stirring constantly.

Mix flour, ginger, and ½ teaspoon salt with a small amount of the milk to form a smooth thin paste. Add to curry mixture;

Gradually add remaining milk, stirring constantly to avoid lumping. Simmer gently about 25 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add tuna and coconut. Just before serving add lemon juice.

While curry is simmering, add rice and salt to boiling water in saucepan. Mix just to moisten all rice. Cover and remove from heat. Let stand 13 minutes. Serve curried tuna over rice.

Makes 4 servings.

BAKED BISCUIT ROLL
UTILIZES CHEESE

2 cans tuna
2 tablespoons chopped onion
2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
2 tablespoons flour
½ cup milk
¾ cup grated cheese
2 cups biscuit mix

Drain tuna. Flake. Cook onion in butter until tender. Blend in flour. Add milk gradually and cook until thick, stirring constantly.

Add cheese and heat until melted. Stir in tuna. Prepare biscuit mix according to directions. Roll into a rectangle about 2x8x⅛ inch.

Spread with tuna mixture. Roll like a jelly-roll and seal ends and edge. Vent top of roll.

Place on well-greased baking sheet. Bake in 400 degree F. oven for 15 to 20 minutes, or until brown. Serves 6.

PEPPER CASSEROLES
STUFFED WITH TUNA

4 small green peppers, cut in half lengthwise
Boiling salted water
1 1-3 cups (1 5-ounce package) packaged precooked rice.
½ teaspoon salt
1½ cups boiling water
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons all-purpose flour
1½ cups milk
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup grated cheddar cheese
1 6½-ounce can chunk-style tuna
½ cup chopped celery
2 tablespoons chopped onions
2 tablespoons chili sauce

Cook peppers in small amount boiling salted water until tender; drain. Add rice and salt to water; mix just to moisten rice. Cover and let stand 13 minutes.

Melt butter; add flour and blend. Gradually add milk and cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add salt and cheese; stir until cheese is melted.

Drain tuna; reserve 1 table-tuna oil. Combine oil, celery and onion and cook over low heat, stirring occassionally, until celery is tender.

Combine celery mixture and tuna; mix well. Fill peppers with tuna mixture. Top with chili sauce. Arrange rice in 4 lightly greased individual casseroles.

Top with stuffed peppers and cheese sauce. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 20 to 25 minutes, or until thoroughly heated. Serves 4.

OVEN SANDWICHES
GOOD FOR SNACKS

1 can tuna
1 cup butter or margarine
6 slices bread
1 tablespoon chopped onion
½ cup chopped celery
1 tablespoon sweet pickle relish or chopped sweet pickle
¼ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
6 slices cheese
Paprika

Drain and flake tuna. Cream butter and blend in mustard. Spread bread with mixture. Combine all remaining ingredients except cheese and paprika.

Spread bread with tuna mixture and cover with cheese. Sprinkle with paprika. Place sandwiches on baking sheet.

Bake in a very hot oven (450 degrees F.) for 10 to 12 minutes or until cheese melts and bread toasts. Serves 6.

HOT TUNA CANAPE
MAKES FANCY SPREAD

1 6½-ounce can chunk-style tuna, drained
3 hard-cooked eggs, shopped
3 tablespoons finely chopped green pepper
1-3 cup shopped anchovies
1 tomato, chopped
¼-teaspoon Worchestershire sauce
3 tablespoons chili sauce
3 tablespoons mayonnaise
Toast rounds

Combine ingredients except for toast; mix well. Spread on toast rounds. Broil 3 to 4 inches from source of heat 5 minutes.

CRANBERRY SALAD
SPARKS MEAL FARE

2 cups cranberries (about ½ pound)
1 cup sugar
1-3 cup hot water
2 7-ounce cans solid-pack tuna
1-3 cup vinegar
2 teaspoons celery seed
½ teaspoon salt
Salad oil
1½ cups orange chunks
3 cups spinach, broken
3 cups lettuce, broken

Combine cranberries, sugar and water; cook over high heat until mixture boils. Cool; drain cranberry mixture and reserve 1-3 cup liquid.

Chill cranberries. Drain tuna and reserve oil; break tuna into pieces. Combine cranberry liquid, vinegar, celery seed and salt.

Add enough salad oil to tuna oil to make 2-3 cup. Gradually add oil mixture to vinegar mixture, beating constantly.

Combine tuna, cranberries, orange chunks, spinach and lettuce; add cranberry salad dressing and toss lightly. Serves 6.

SAVORY OVEN DISH
IS FISHERMAN'S PIE

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 medium - sized onion, finely chopped
¼ cup finely chopped green pepper
3 tablespoons all-purpose flour
1½ cups milk
1 cup grated processed American cheese (about ¼ pound)
2 7-ounce cans solid-pack tuna, drained
3 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
2 4-ounce cans sliced mushrooms, drained
Salt and pepper
2 cups seasoned mashed potatoes

Melt butter or margarine over low heat; add onion and green pepper and saute until tender. Add flour and blend; gradually add milk and cook until thickened, stirring constantly.

Add ½ cup cheese and stir until cheese is melted. Break tuna into pieces and add to cheese sauce.

Arrange alternate layers of tuna-cheese sauce, eggs and mushrooms in a greased 2-quart casserole. Season with salt and pepper. Combine potatoes with remaining cheese, over other ingredients.

Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 30 to 40 minutes. Serves 6.

HOT TURNOVERS
BAKE IN JIG TIME

1-3 cup chopped salted peanuts
1 can tuna
½ cup condensed cream of celery soup
1 tablespoon grated onion
1 teaspoon lemon juice
2 cups pastry mix

Drain and flake tuna. Combine all ingredients except pastry mix. Prepare pastry as directed. Roll very thin and cut into 12 circles, 5 inches each.

Place 2 tablespoons of filling in center of each circle. Moisten edges with cold water; fold over and press edges together with a fork. Prick tops. Place on cooky sheet, 15½x12 inches.

Bake in a very hot oven 450 degrees F., for 12 to 15 minutes or until brown. Serves 6.

'Pay Later' Flight Plan

Continental Air Lines now offers installment buying of air transportation and related services to anywhere in the world on its "go now—pay later" plan, Jim Babcock, local station manager, has announced.

Under the plan the air travelers make a minimum down payment of 10 per cent for the purchase of air transportation and associated vacation or tour services. The balance can be spread over three to 20 months at the buyers option for repayment

By filling out the necessary application form the buyer signs for the tickets needed over Continental Air Lines and for other services included in the travel itinerary. Under the new credit plan, the applications are apporved by the beneficial finance system in the city where the buyer resides. The credit approval usually is received by the Continental office in 24 hours or less, travel tickets are issued and the traveler is on his way.

Continental joins American, Pan American and Delta Air Lines on the worldwide plan which includes the services over most all other airlines in the "go now—paylater" plan. Installment selling of air travel was inaugurated a little over three years ago and since that time it is estimated that $32-million worth of air transportation and tours have been financed under the plan.

Number Of Mental Patients Increase

AUSTIN (AP)—More mental patients were treated in 1956 in state hospitals than last year but less were retained, the State Hospital Board reported yesterday.

Dr. James Bethea, director, said 1,621 more mental patients were treated in this fiscal year than in 1955. There were 15,955 patients in mental hospitals Aug. 31 as compared to 16,445 at the end of the 1955 fiscal year.

The tuberculosis hospitals reported an increase of 580 to a 2,753 total this year.

General Practitioner Of Year Is Announced

BOSTON (AP)—Dr. Henry W. Godfrey, 79, of Newton, was chosen as "Massachusetts General practitioner of the Year." But he was too busy with his medical chores to accept the honor in person. Dr. Godfrey explained: "It is my responsibility to see that some 17,000 children, mostly in public schools, get ample protection against polio. I'm right in the middle of the ground phase and I just can't take the time off."

Christian Is Named To Highway Position

AUSTIN (AP)—Archie Christian, expressway engineer with the State Highway Road Design Division, has been named head of the Right-of-Way Division, Highway Engineer D. C. Greer said yesterday.

The new division was set up by the State Highway Commission to acquire right of way on the interstate highway system. It goes into operation Oct. 1, Greer said.

Christian has been an engineer with the Highway Department 24 years.

Report Is Given On State Winter Wheat

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Department of Agriculture reported yesterday that Texas farmers have signed 4,433 agreements to put nearly 305,095 acres under the 1957 winter wheat acreage reserve program through Sept. 21.

The participating farmers would be eligible to receive $3,634,985 in acreage reserve payments if they remained in compliance with the program, the department said.

BRINK'S MONEY—Court Clerk William Prendible, and his assistant, Francis Orfanello, left, hold some of the $54,548 seized from Brink's Inc., in the $1,219,000 holdup of 1950 that was admitted in evidence at Suffolk Court, Boston Mass., at the trial of eight men charged with the robbery. The money was taken in a raid on a Boston building last June and found to be mouldy and fragile.

IT'S THE LAW in Texas

A public service feature of the State Bar of Texas

MONEY CONTRACT

The signing of a contract of sale is an extremely important step in the purchase of a home. Once buyer and seller have signed, they are bound by the provisions of the contract. Their respective legal rights in the transaction are thereby set and determined. If the contract is poorly and haphazardly drawn, a harvest of regret may be reaped at a later date.

Sales contracts are often called by other names, such as earnest money contracts, binders, receipts, etc. All of them are for the same purpose and almost without exception involve the deposit of money by the buyer. Some require the seller to put up a good faith deposit. The fact that such deposited sums are usually to be forfeited in event the depositor later fails to go through with his specified contractual obligations lends additional weight to the often stated admonition that no contract should be signed without complete understanding as to its terms.

But many home purchasers (and sellers) rush to sign a hastily prepared contract with very little knowledge of its contents. The pressure of time, the informality of the occasion, the casual appearance of the contract, and perhaps the fact that a partially printed form is used may contribute in causing the true importance of the act to be overlooked. At any rate, many are lulled into a lapse of good business judgment.

Every significant detail of the bargain should be crystallized in unmistakable terms in the contract of sale. Land and fixtures being sold should be clearly described. A complete description of the property by lot and block, or by metes and bounds, is a must, the street number being inadequate by itself.

Articles and fixtures included in the sale but not always sold with houses generally should be specifically listed. Included in this category are such items as venetian blinds, removable floor coverings, draperies, air conditioning units and others. In purchasing property under construction, complete plans and specifications form an essential part of the agreement.

The price to be paid must, of course, be specified, along with method and terms of payment. If a certain sized loan is a prerequisite to the buyer's ability to complete the purchase, this fact should be noted. Sad indeed is the prospective purchaser who loses his earnest money when a contemplated loan transaction falls through, his contract requiring payment of the entire consideration is cash.

The sales contract should also state the quality of the title to be conveyed to the buyer and the type of title evidence to be furnished.

The buyer's individual circumstances and desires may require that various matters too numerous to mention above be provided for in the contract. All too often people try to squeeze a sales contract to fit the type of printed form on hand, omitting or leaving to easily misconstrued or forgotten oral agreement many vital provisions. Do not fall into the "pitfall of the printed form." Too many unfortunate entanglements have been announced by clients to lawyers with the word "I have just signed a receipt for a house on Blank Street. Will you take over now and see that everything is O.K.?"

(This column, based on Texas law, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

Man Discovers His Chimney Is Missing

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Dr. Henry O. Erbland noticed something missing from the roof of his home. The chimney was gone. His wife said a man had been walking on the roof all day and making a lot of noise. Under questioning by Dr. Erbland, the roof - walker —a mason—discovered he was supposed to be working across the street.
