SCHOOL TRUSTEES RE-ELECTED 4 TO 1

MAINLY ABOUT PEOPLE

BY H. N. F.

Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas is the head of the Farm bloc. Speaking for the bloc Senator Capper has declared for a tariff on hides and the so-called hide schedule. It is proposed to place a 15 per cent tax on hide imports. New England is for free hide. Hides were placed on the free list by the Wilson administration. New England is willing to keep hides on the free list. There are Western senators who are for a tariff on hide importations. There are thousands of Texas Democrats who are for a tariff on hide importations. Now the play is the West against the East and the farmer hopes that he is in the saddle. Is he? Many times in the past he imagined himself in the saddle when he was afoot. He may be wiser and stronger in this instance.

Congressman Andrew Jackson Volstead of Minnesota, father of the prohibition enforcement act, has been given a clear field and a renomination by the Republicans of his district. Theodore Christianson, an editor, had a majority of the delegation to the convention committed to his candidacy. He must have been a wise editor. He withdrew from the convention the day before the nomination was made. There are many plums in the federal orchard. There are many tricks of the trade in the game of politics. Congressman Andrew Jackson Volstead had a close call two years ago. An Independent defeated him for the nomination and then the courts of Minnesota disqualified his rival for seditious or illegal remarks that he had made use of in the campaign. Andrew Jackson, a queer handle for a Republican, was first elected in 1892 and he has been holding the job continuously ever since. He is as dry as the desert of Sahara and should he be returned to Congress he promises to make his act so dry that all those who are opposed to it will spit continuous streams of cotton.

Samuel Gompers is telling his side of the story, speaking for the American Federation of Labor and all organized labor. His first accusation is that domination of the coal industry by financial interests, including the United States Steel Corporation and several of the great rail systems, is responsible for the coal strike orders. His second accusation is that steel and the railroad interests control the mines and dictate the policy of operators. His third accusation is that profits are hidden. His fourth accusation is that actual earnings are manipulated to show need of lower wages and lastly he says that notwithsanding the divorcement decree entered by the Supreme Court of the United States separating railway companies from mining properties that seven eastern railroads control 96 per cent of the output of anthracite coal in the United States. Samuel is handy with figures. To clinch his accusations the president of the American Federation of Labor alleges that suppression of these facts was the

UNION MINERS STRIKE RANKS NEARLY SOLID

Officials of United Mine Workers Estimate 600,000 Workers Are Enlisted in Movement.

Lewis Expresses Approval of Borah's Suggestion for Government Operation of Coal Mines.

By Associated Press.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 1.—Complete suspension of coal mining by union workers marked the beginning today of the nationwide walkout order by the United Mine Workers of America. Union leaders estimated 600,000 miners, including 100,000 non-union men, had enlisted in the movement and said no change was expected soon.

The exact effectiveness of the suspension, especially in non-union and partly organized fields, was difficult to gauge, however, because today also marked the anniversary of the introduction of the eight-hour work day in the coal industry and is an annual holiday in the coal fields. Nevertheless, union officials were confident that no union men, except those authorized to stay at work, would return to the mines on Monday.

Union headquarters here prepared no tabulation showing the geographical distribution of the idle men, but the reports from field leaders showed the great bulk of the suspension centered in the Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio and Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Iowa, Kansas and nearby southwestern states. Reports from other fields were somewhat vague and union officials did not expect an exact showing for the entire country would be available before the middle of next week.

The end of the first day of the suspension was noted at union headquarters here by the departure of Mr. Lewis and William Green, secretary-treasurer, the only executive officers of the union at headquarters. Mr. Lewis went to Washington where he will appear Monday before the house labor committee, expecting to present in detail the miners' side of the wage controversy with the operators. Mr. Green went to Coshocton, Ohio, his home, where he said he would remain until Wednesday.

Before leaving here, Mr. Lewis declared that the suggestion of government operation of the mines made by Senator Borah, republican, Idaho, "was significant" and the union leaders added that he believed it was "fundamentally correct."

"The creation of some national authority over the coal industry is necessary—call it what you may," declared Mr. Lewis. "This does not necessarily mean government ownership, which I doubt could now be accomplished because of the enormous amount of money that would be required to buy all the mines, and also the difficulty of finding a method of payment."

Pointing out the government's control of the nation's railroads through the interstate commerce commission and other agencies, Mr. Lewis indicated his approval of the government exercising similar control over the mining industry. Such control, he asserted, should provide for a licensing system for the operation of mines so as to eliminate waste in the industry through the elimination of haphazard mining.

LABOR TICKET FAILS TO SHOW VOTING POWER

Total Vote Breaks All Previous Records for School Election; Supply Printed Tickets Exhausted.

Believed Will Forecast Big Vote for Mayor and Councilmen in Tuesday's Municipal Election.

With a total vote which smashed all previous records for school elections the "regular" ticket was reelected to their places on the school board by a majority of more than four to one—defeating another attempt of local labor leaders to "upset" the election by writing in names of candidates other than those appearing on the ballot.

The total vote was 864, in the place of a normal vote of around 100, and of the previous record vote which was something over 200.

Judge A. H. Carrigan lead the ticket with 673 votes; E. S. Goodner got 664 and Mrs. M. M. Addickes got 660.

W. D. Cook led the other ticket with 153; with John M. Simmons only a vote behind, and Mrs. A. B. Briggs third with 140. Scattering ballots named Mrs. Anna Simmons,

Says Business To Use Psychic Experts Soon

Dr. Cunning.

Whatever opinion you may have formed after seeing Dr. Cunning at the Majestic theater tomorrow night you will have the impression of having seen and heard a man who is spreading a clean gospel.

Dr. Cunning says right thinking makes right living. In other words, what your mind is, you are. "If I can give some real help to only one person in every audience of mine I consider my mission fulfilled every time I give a performance," he said.

"My intuitive art is mostly talent just as one has talent for music or other art. The rest is training.

"The day is coming and not very far off when big-business firms will employ psychic experts to guide them in business ventures, just as they now employ business managers, advertising experts, and so on. It's an art about which, thus far, there is little known but much to wonder about."

Through an exclusive arrangement with the Record News, Dr. Cunning will consider letters addressed to him in care of the Record News, in addition to answering questions at the theater.

You may ask him any question concerning any phase of social, personal, business or other activity.

Dr. Cunning holds no private conferences.

The invitation to ask questions is open to any one. Simply sign your full name and address, to your question and mail it to Dr. Cunning, in care of the Record News, Wichita Falls. You may send your questions in now.

The first answers will appear in Monday morning's Record News, and more will be published each day that Dr. Cunning is in the city.

Death of Congressman Parrish Will Greatly Affect Senatorial Race

By BASCOM N. TIMMONS
Record News Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 1.—Washington has been too grief-stricken over the sad death of Congressman Lucian W. Parrish to enter into any speculation of the effect his death will have on the important senatorial race in Texas.

That the sudden taking out of the race of the popular congressman will cause an entire re-arrangement of lines is certain. Whether or not Mr. Parrish, had he continued his vigorous campaign would have landed in the second primary is, of course, one of those thing about which no man knows.

At least one Texas man noted for his political sagacity declared in Washington less than three hours before the accident which cost Mr. Parrish his life, that the second primary would be a run-off between Culberson and Parrish.

Still others have told the writer that the race was between Culberson and Thomas and still others have insisted that it is between Culberson and Mayfield.

This much seems certain, Mr. Parrish was getting his forces better organized than any of the other candidates. Other candidates arrived at speaking places and departed: Parrish arrived, spoke and left behind him a Parrish club.

Mr. Parrish admittedly was strong in West Texas. Where that vote will go is uncertain. Some of it may go to Col. Clarence Ousley of Fort Worth. There is a peculiar thing about the Ousley candidacy. Nearly every Texan coming to Washington declares that Ousley's speeches have been statesmanlike and all of them admit that he would render distinguished service to Texas in the event he should be elected, but they say that apparently his candidacy is not getting started. On the other hand, they say that he may surprise every one by the vote he gets.

One prominent Texan told the writer that the Thomas vote and the Mayfield vote will be a talkative vote, and that the silent vote will be divided between Culberson and Ousley if there are no entrants other than the seven now contesting.

And will there be other candidates? Former Senator Bailey, according to current rumors, is likely to support Robert L. Henry for the nomination. Where Bailey goes will go many of his followers, although the former senator is not expected to become active in supporting any candidate.

There have again been rumors that Representative Thomas L. Blanton of Abilene would enter the race. It is believed here that there will be an addition or two to the seven men now seeking the senatorial nominations.

CARTER YOUTH SAYS HORNSBY THE MURDERER

State's Witness, Whose Statement Eonerated Convited Man, Repudiates the Statement.

By Associated Press.

BROWNWOOD, Texas, April 1.—Willie Carter, whose statement at Temple, Texas, yesterday exonerated George F. Hornsby of the killing of J. N. Weatherby for which Hornsby was given a death sentence, has made another sworn statement to Brown county officers repudiating yesterday's statement and again declaring Hornsby killed Weatherby, officers announced today.

Carter was the state's chief witness in the Hornsby trial at Belton, Texas. In his statement of yesterday at Temple, he said not Hornsby but an Oklahoma man named Brown killed Weatherby, according to officers.

In his statement here today, Carter, officers said, declared Hornsby killed Weatherby, and that he was induced to make yesterday's statement at Temple because a brother of Hornsby had threatened to kill him on the spot unless he made some kind of statement to save George Hornsby from execution.

Carter, in his statement today, outlined all of his movements since being released from jail here when a charge of murder was dismissed on the state's motion, according to officers.

The statement, they said, implicates parties with whom he has associated since leaving here, indicating according to officers, that they were in collusion with Hornsby's brother to secure the repudiation of testimony given by the boy in the trial of the case at Belton.

The Carter boy is now held in jail here and a charge of murder has been placed against him, officers announced.

Wilmeth, its director, and 28 chiefs, superintendents and foremen, were removed Friday night by executive order of President Harding, it was announced tonight by Attorney General Daugherty.

Mr. Daugherty said he had assigned a number of agents to Louis A. Hill, the newly appointed director, to go into the conduct of the affairs of the bureau, but did not indicate what course the investigation was to take or what might be expected in the way of developments.

FLOODS FORCE SOUTH TEXANS FROM HOMES

Heavy Downpours Have Put Streams on Rampage and Property Loss Will Be Extremely Heavy.

By Associated Press.

HOUSTON, April 1.—Crest of flood waters on all streams in this section is approaching and hundreds of people in the lowlands are fleeing their homes.

The San Jacinto river is on a rampage with all travel diverted beyond Houston to Crosby, Texas, where it still is possible to reach the city by rail. Waters, however, are splashing against the rails of the Southern Pacific railway bridge over the San Jacinto river and service is threatened.

The Trinity river near Dayton, Texas, is reported six miles wide with all crops washed away or rotted in the ground. Loss will be enormous.

Humble, Goose Creek and West Columbia, Texas, nearby oil fields, virtually are cut off from outlet with waters of streams rising. Since Saturday a week ago from six to ten inches of rain has fallen over this section. Tributary territory of the Trinity and San Jacinto rivers, those expected to do the most damage, caught the brunt of the downpours of Saturday a week ago, and Wednesday and Thursday last and are expected to continue rising near here for two or three days.

Bray's Bayou, running through Houston, is on another rampage and families are moving to higher ground. The water is up to the roofs of several houses. So far no loss of life has been reported.

U. S. WAR COSTS RECOGNIZED IN FRENCH REPLY

"France Has No Intention of Disputing American Claim to Reimbursement," Poincare States.

French Note Is First Reply to Communications U. S. Sent to All of Allied Governments.

By Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 1. — The French government "never had intention of contesting the right of the United States to be as completely reimbursed for their army costs as the other governments with troops on the Rhine," says the reply of the French government to the American note in relation to army costs, made public today at the state department.

The note was given out in the form of a cable message from Ambassador Herrick at Paris, which read as follows:

"I have just received a note, dated yesterday, from the foreign office stating the French government never had intention of contesting the right of the United States to be as completely reimbursed for their army costs as the other governments with troops on the Rhine. That the French government is persuaded that easy and quick agreement can be reached between the allied governments and the United States on this question and that it is consulting the Belgian, British and Italian governments.

"M. Poincare adds that he wishes to inform our government how much the French government appreciated the co-operation of the American troops with the allied troops on the Rhine; that the French government greatly regrets that our government should have taken the decision to withdraw its troops; their presence, while recalling the common sacrifices, could only contribute to affirm in the eyes of the entire world the essentially peaceful character of the occupation of the Rhenish territories.

"It is in the same peaceful spirit without any idea of domination that the allied troops after as before the departure of the American troops will continue the occupation which has no other aim than to guarantee the execution of the terms of the peace treaty."

The message from Ambassador Herrick setting forth the French reply was the first answer received by Secretary Hughes to identic notes addressed by him last week to the governments of Great Britain, France, Belgium, Italy and Japan setting forth the rights of the United States to payment on an equal footing with the principal allied governments of the cost of the American army of occupation in Germany. Those notes stated that under the terms of the armistice as well as by the treaty of Versailles and the separate treaty between the United States and Germany, payments for costs of American troops in the Rhineland, amounting to $241,000,000 up to May 1, 1921, was made a prior charge against Germany, and that the United States could not consent to distribution of German reparations among the allied governments to an extent which would postpone payments for costs of the American troops.

The reply of the French government, it was said yesterday by Secretary Hughes, was merely a "preliminary" to further communications between the United States and the allied governments.

FORMER RULER CHARLES DIES WHILE IN EXILE

By Associated Press.

FUNCHAL, Madeira, April 1.—Charles I., former emperor of Austria and king of Hungary, died here this morning at 11:50 o'clock. The exiled monarch had been suffering from pneumonia for more than a week. Charles, who retained consciousness until the last, passed away in the presence of his wife, the former Empress Zita, and their eldest son, Francis Joseph Otto, one time heir apparent to the throne of Austria-Hungary.

Zita, when the condition of her husband became critical, desired that the physicians in attendance permit her to undergo the operation of blood transfusion in an effort to save him, but the physicians refused their consent.

His body will be embalmed, and the expectation here is that it will be taken back to Austria for burial.

On the announcement of the death of Charles, all the commercial houses in Funchal closed their doors as a token of respect.

'FLAPPER WILL CAUSE A WAR,' WARNS NORRIS

"Texas Tornado" Tells New Yorkers That Modern Girls Will Bring About Country's Downfall.

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 1.—"The cause of the next war—the flapper—struts up Fifth avenue today and her sister out on Main street apes her."

This was the opinion expressed today by Rev. Dr. J. Frank Norris, "Texas Tornado," who has come to New York to save the city by a series of revival meetings.

"The flapper will bring about this country's downfall just as surely as Delilah caused Camson's," said Dr. Norris. "Every great war has been traced to the depravity of women and they never were as bad as they are today.

"When a woman shows here knees, you can see the finish of her and that of the nation as well.

"Girls think more of their eye lashes and 'nude' hosiery than they do of decency; home life is broken up; respectful law goes with it; wholesale iniquity follows; then—war.

"We cussed the kaiser for starting the last war; but we 'pet' the cause of the next.

"Our statesmen are scrapping the battleships; they ought to be slapping the flappers.

"The modern girl is 100 times worse than the girl of the last century and the country girl is just as bad as her city cousin. Once upon a time, country girls were pure, but gasoline spoiled that. We have closed up our red light districts and put them on rubber tires.

"Women smoking are indecent. The spark from a woman's cigarette is going to touch off a conflagration that will destroy this country within 50 years.

"Jezebel was the worst woman in the world. She was the first queen of the shifters. The last thing she did before she died was to paint her face and then the dogs ate her."

MAN ACCOMPANIED BY WIFE AND CHILD WHEN BURGLARIZING

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 1.—Driven to desperation because he was out of employment and his wife and baby were starving, Paul Hartung, 24 years old, today confessed, according to the police, that he had committed more than 300 murglaries during the last four months in the exclusive north side residential district.

During the burglaries, he said, his wife accompanied him and acted as lookout, and because there was no place to leave the year-old baby, they took it along in a perambulator in which the stolen articles were also concealed.

Hartung said, according to the police, that he started by pilfering ice boxes, then began entering houses by the simple expedient of taking all the food from a "built-in" ice box, then crawling through the ice box into the house.

ORGANIZATION DENOUNCED BY TEXAS SENATOR

Announcement by Candidate for Re-Election Expected to Create Sensation in Texas Politics.

Denunciation of Klan Contained in Letter to Texans Who Have Asked His Views on Subject.

Special to the Record News.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—Senator Charles A. Culberson in a letter to Major H. V. Fisher of Houston, made public here tonight, asserted that he is "unqualifiedly opposed to the operation of the order known as the Ku Klux Klan."

The statement, which is in the opinion of Texans in Washington, expected to throw a bombshell into the senatorial race was given out by Senator Culberson quietly and without notice. He simply called the Texas correspondents into his office and said that the letter to Major Fisher was the letter he is sending to many persons, who have asked his views on the matter. Senator Culberson made no comment. His office force said it might be understood he would dodge no question asked him.

Many Texans here said Culberson's action would be the biggest sensation in Texas politics since Culberson in 1895 called off a Fitzsimmons-Corbett prize fight at Dallas after 75,000 tickets had been sold for the event.

Senator Culberson's letter to Major Fisher in full follows:

"Your recent letter asking my position with reference to the order known as the Ku Klux Klan which is now in operation in our state was duly received and I answer at the earliest opportunity.

"I have no affiliation directly or indirectly with this organization and I am unqualifiedly opposed to its operations. If not curbed, it will usurp the functions of the state and be destructive of government itself. It will indeed overthrow our Anglo-Saxon civilization in its relation to government. Steps should be taken, therefore, at once to arrest its progress and finally to destroy it.

"Appeal cannot be made to the federal government for this purpose for it is without jurisdiction unless application is made by Texas to the United States in the manner provided by the constitution for protection against domestic violence and this is unthinkable. Fortunately, however, the power of the state is ample and if no law now exists adequate to the occasion the legislature may be called in extra session to supply this deficiency."

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 1. — Destruction of the Ku Klux Klan was advocated by Senator Culberson, democrat, of Texas, in a letter to a constituent, declaring that the Ku Klux Klan was an organization inimical to orderly government. The letter was made public here.

"I have no affiliation, directly or indirectly, with this organization," said Senator Culberson, "and I am unqualifiedly opposed to its operations. If not curbed it will usurp the functions of the state and be destructive of government itself. It will, indeed, overthrow our Anglo-Saxon civilization in its relation to government.

"Steps should be taken therefore at once to arrest its progress and finally to destroy it."

The state rather than the federal government has power to proceed against the klan, Senator Culberson declared, adding that the necessary power to handle the situation was lacking in Texas. He favored an extra session of the legislature to enact legislation to meet the situation.

WILDCAT WELL OF GRISWOLD CO. MAKES OIL

With the water successfully shut off Saturday, the Griswold Oil company's Waggoner wildcat, southwest of the producing pool in South Electra, was showing up for production of from 50 to 150 barrels, from the deep sand. The well is 1,936 feet deep.

The pump is now being rigged up, and a test will be made within the next 24 hours, it was stated Saturday by officers of the company.

This well got the first deep showing slightly under 1,900 feet in an oil line. It was decided to drill deeper, however, for the sand found around 1,920 feet in other tests. After some weeks delay with fishing jobs and other troubles, drilling deeper was finally accomplished this week.

This well is slightly north of the Carteret test also on the Waggoner, which some weeks ago got an oil sand a little below 1,900 feet, but up to date the test has not been successfully completed for a producer, though it had a good showing. Water is causing trouble.

The Grisworld company's No. 21 Burnett drilled the 1,800-foot sand Saturday, and is making preparations to complete.

The Texas company's No. 214 and No. 215 Waggoner, offsetting the Bridwell and Heydrick lease, have cemented casing on top of the 1,600-foot sand.

In the Fowlkes pool the Texhoma Oil and Refining company has completed its No. 1 Duke as a shallow producer, in the sand at 805 feet. The well is now being rigged up to pump, and is estimated good for 20 barrels. This well is an offset on the south to the Gulf Production company's No. 1 Roberts, which was dry in the 1,600-foot sand. The derrick was skidded Saturday by the Texhoma to the No. 2 location, 50 feet south, where a test will be put down for the Magnolia 1,500-foot sand.

An unusually heavy plug of cement has been holding up drilling in of the Tom Hunter-Mona Marie No. 1 Roberts, on the 1,600-foot sand, and only a few hundred feet from the Magnolia's discovery well. Drilling at the plug is still in progress.

The Tim Hunter No. 1 Roberts, lease 2, was feeling ahead with a small bit for the 1,600-foot sand Saturday.

The Magnolia's No. 1-B Duke is drilling around 1,500 feet, and the No. 2-A is drilling around 1,510 feet, according to Saturday reports. The No. 2-B, the test which is being drilled by electricity, is down below 1,300 feet, and the experiment so far is proving highly satisfactory, according to reports from the Magnolia officials.

LABOR TICKET FAILS TO SHOW VOTING POWER

W. F. Briggs and M. J. Gardner.

Such an unprecedented rush of voters was made at the only box, that at the city hall, that the regular supply of printed tickets—two-thirds of which usually go to waste—was entirely exhausted and late voters were required to write in the names of the candidates on blank pieces of paper.

News that an attempt was to be made to put over a "dark horse" ticket spread all over the city early Saturday, resulting in an avalanche of voters supporting the candidates for re-election going to the city hall—a movement which in turn led to the summoning of more supporters of the outside ticket. Interest in the election persisted throughout the day, and at closing time more than fifty people were still standing in line to vote.

Twice before has an attempt of this kind been made. Two years ago local business men started a "side" movement to write in the names of three women candidates in place of the three men whose names appeared on the ticket—and succeeded in electing them. Only one of the women, Mrs. M. M. Addickes, now re-elected for her second term, agreed to serve. Last year officials of local labor unions decided to "single-shot" in writing in the name of F. G. Swanson, a local attorney. Swanson was decisively defeated.

The interest in this election is regarded as certain to result in a big vote at the municipal election Tuesday when a mayor and two councilmen will be named—in spite of the fact that to date the municipal election has drawn less evidence of interest on the part of the voters than ever before.

The followers of local labor leaders who are endeavoring to swing the union vote solid to certain candidates in the city election will be redoubled by reason of this election, while the supporters of other candidates will make a big effort in the expectation of a bigger drive by the opposition.

Those in charge of the political meetings held recently at the Labor Temple, the final one of which will be held Monday night, deny that they are making any attempt to "make a slate" but admit that the characteristics of the various candidates are discussed in detail.

Something of a split in the ranks of the various candidates for mayor are predicted, however, as is the prospect, it is believed, between the three candidates for street commissionr. Supporters of J. B. Stokes claim that the labor vote will be cast almost solid for him for commissioner of public utilities, however.

BURK HAS BIG SCHOOL ELECTION

Special to the Record News.

BURKNETT, April 1.—A total of 430 votes were cast in the trustee election today which resulted in the re-election of R. H. Henry, J. S. Mills, C. O. Walling and R. E. Fisher as members of the board. The vote was by far the largest ever cast in a school election here.

purpose of the injunction against the federal trade commission which was recently obtained by the mine owners. Admitting that all the accusations are true what is Mr. Gompers going to do about it?

And the show down is here. Disinterested observers say that it is a finish fight between organized capital invested in the mines and the miners organizations. "Lest we forget" the United Mine Workers of America, the largest single craft labor union, not only in the United States but in the world, has a membership of 515,243 and is the highest number ever recorded. This membership is scattered from Pennsylvania to the Pacific, from Michigan to Alabama and Texas, with a fringe in Canada—Nova Scotia forming a district, as also the Western provinces. Pennsylvania and Illinois have the greatest number of miners. Who will win? The longest purse. Samuel Gompers says the United States Steel Corporation and seven American railways control the anthracite mines and many of the soft coal mines. If victory is to come to the longest purse it is a useless question to ask which side holds the control of the purse. In normal times it is claimed that the annual output of all the American mines is 500 million tons. Spring is almost here. Summer is coming. There is a reserve stock of 40 millions tons to supply the demands of consumers. There are vast stored stocks of fuel oil and gasoline. Economists say that the reserve stocks of coal and fuel oil are sufficient to carry the country 120 days or until July 1. In addition to this more than 30 per cent of the miners of America are non-union and the output of coal of the non-union mines is expected to be very great all the days that the strike is on. Those who are staging the battle for the operators gruffly admit that it is a final showdown of strength and that there can be no compromise. If so the dear people who are not mining operators or mining laborers have no other alternative than to watch and pray.

SENTENCES TWO TO 75 DAYS FOR STEALING CHICKS

Judge Guy Rogers of the county court at law, Saturday, sentenced Malcolm Pearce to 60 days in the county jail and P. Stuckey to 15 days following their pleas of guilty to charges of having stolen chickens. The pair were arrested Friday by officers of the sheriff's office.

According to officers the two men had stolen a large number of chickens fro ma farmer living on the Iowa Park road.

COUNTY RUNOFF PRIMARY TO BE HELD THIS YEAR

Democratic Executive Committee Favors Holding Second Race Where Candidate Fails of Majority.

Assessments Against Candidates for Nomination for County and Precinct Offices Fixed.

County and precinct candidates in the democratic primaries in July who have more than one opponent and who fail to receive more votes than their combined opposition must enter a second or "run off" primary against their closest opponent, according to a decision made at a meeting here Saturday of the Democratic executive committee of the county.

According to P. B. Cox, chairman of the committee, the fifteen members of the committee were unanimously in favor of the run-off primary plan similar to that which is compulsory in state elections but which is optional with the individual counties in county elections. It is the first time in the history of this county that the county committee has voted in favor of the second primary plan.

The county committee also announced the assessments against the candidates who take part in the primary election. Candidates for county officers who have no opposition will be assessed $125 each. Those who have opposition $100 each. Candidates for county commissioner, regardless of whether they have opposition, will be assessed $50 each. The candidates for justice of the peace in Precinct 1, Place 1, will pay $75. For Place 2, in Precinct 1, the candidates will pay $50 each. Candidates for the same office in Precincts 2 and 4, will be assessed $25 each.

Candidates for Constable in Precinct 1, will be assessed $50, while those at Electra and Burkburnett will pay $25 each.

At present there are only three county offices which might be effected by the run-off primary rule. There are three candidates announced for the county clerk's office and also three for county judge, with a large number in prospect for the sheriff's office.

SPECIAL ROAD FUND GETS NEW DONATION

The special road fund of the county was increased $9,735.64 Saturday when County Treasurer McHamm received a check for that amount from the state highway department representing state and federal aid on the Burkburnett paved road now in the process of construction. The check makes a total of $16,009.84 which has been received in aid on the Burkburnett road.

County officials expect that other state and federal payments will be made in the near future after a period of several months during which very little of the outside aid has been received due to the fact that federal and state department did not have funds from which to obtain the aid. There is still a large amount of state and federal aid due on the road from this city and the Wilbarger county line.

Uncle Sam Asks Time in Paying Nineteen Cents

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—The United States may be the wealthiest nation in the world but its treasury cannot cash a check for nineteen cents issued to one of the dollar-a-year men that served it during the war.

Hugo D. Newhouse, San Francisco attorney, served as a dollar-a-year man with the war department four and one-half months prior to the armistice. He wanted the check as a souvenir and enlisted the efforts of Senator Shortridge of California, to get it. It came yesterday but across one corner was endorsed the notation that no funds were immediately available to pay it. The amount was computed on the actual basis of one dollar a year.

Senator Shortridge, in sending the check to his constituent urged that he be lenient in attempting to force collection of the amount.

WESTERN UNION OIL IN Y. O. U. WILDCAT

The Western Union Oil company has acquired an interest in the Collingsworth county test being drilled by C. G. Campbell, formerly of Wichita Falls, according to announcement made Saturday.

This test, which is on the Y. O. U. ranch has been shut down for supplies, but will resume drilling in a few days. The Western Union Oil company is just entering the Panhandle field, with this new deal, it is stated, but expects to take other active interest immediately in the de-

FORD PURCHASES BURROUGHS HOME AS A MEMORIAL

By Associated Press.

KINGSTON, N. Y., April 1.—The farm on the mountainside near Roxbury, where John Burroughs was born, where he lived many of his years, and where last April his body was laid to rest has been purchased by Henry Ford, long a friend and vacation comrade of the naturalist and author.

On Monday, the first anniversary of the burial of Burroughs, the farm will be dedicated to his memory.

Mr. Ford, it was learned today, bought the place on March 10 from Julian Burroughs, the naturalist's son, to whom it was bequeathed, and established a fund for its preservation as a memorial.

Air Rivals to Compete in Daring At Mammoth Air Meet Here

With the signing up of Ernest Williams, breath taking stunt flyer, the American Legion's mammoth air carnival to be held here April 29 and 30, is assured of a breath-taking contest in daring, by noted stunt flyers.

For, be it known, Ed Lizette, of Dallas, who makes a specialty of the parlor trick of standing erect on the top of his plane when it goes into a tail spin, and who declares that no man living has or can duplicate some of his tricks, is already an entrant in the meet.

Williams, A. L. Taylor, legion arrangements chairman, declares, promises to make Lizette or any other flying dare-devil look at his hole card in the way of stunts, not once, but many times before coming out on top in stunt flying at the meet. It seems as certain that either of the flyers will go by the utmost in daring to outdo his rival at the same meet.

Three additional plane entries have been made in addition to the 30 which have already been contracted for—three by the E. M. Laird company of Wichita, Kansas. They have also promised to get in touch with the owners of the "Laird Swallows" which they claim can outperform any commercial machine in the air, and urge the fixing of a special event for the "Swallows."

SATURDAY ELEVENTH BIRTHDAY OF ELECTRA POOL, OPENED IN '11

Search for Water Leads to Discovery of One of Most Consistent Producers in Texas Oil History.

Saturday, April 1, was the eleventh anniversary of the opening up of the Electra field, Wichita county's first oil producing area, and one of the most consistent producers in the entire history of oil development.

On April 1, 1911, the Clayco No. 1 Putnam blew itself in, the first commercial oil producer in Wichita county. This well, three miles north of Electra, is still producing around 12 barrels daily. Electra is today producing approximately 12,000 barrels. Ten years ago the production was 10,000 barrels. Through systematic and conservative drilling, rewarded by the discovery of new sands, the Electra field has been kept up to a certain standard in production, throughout its long life, and is known as one of the safest and best fields of operation for independent operator, and big companies, whose chief purpose is to produce oil. There have been sensations at Electra, there have been a number of new wells in wildcat territory within the past few months that have formed discoveries of importance, but Electra is primarily known as a safe, sane field for real oil producers, and not as a sensation.

The following summary of the early days of the Electra development is from the current issue of the Electra News:

"The discovery of the Electra oil field might be summed up in the one word, "WATER." For it was the quest of this commodity to save the cattle of his vast ranch that caused W. T. Waggoner to start his drilling campaign.

In 1909, Mr. Waggoner made a contract with a man from Amarillo to drill a water well. The site of the well was near where the Ideal Cafe now stands and a depth of 220 feet was reached when salt water put a stop to further effort. Oil was found, however, in this well, several barrels being taken from this hole at different times.

Some one near Harrold also prospected for water, and much to his disgust discovered, instead of the much sought-for fluid, he had found oil. In strong language, he forbade the work to go on, ordered the well filled in and another one started in search for water. No one seemed to want oil.

Wild-Catters Turn This Way

Undismayed and undaunted, Mr. Waggoner went to Corsicana and made a contract with Pete Gates to drill three wells at $4.50 per foot. Mr. Waggoner was to furnish the fuel, water and casing and haul out the supplies. He drilled two wells inside of the present city limits, found salt water and kindred troubles and then abandoned the work.

Spindletop and other South Texas fields beginning to diminish in output, the wildcatters turned their attention in this direction. Mr. Waggoner leased 250,000 acres out of his ranch holdings to the Producers company for $100,000, of which $30,000 was in cash.

Five wells were started, beginning August 8. No. 1 was drilled to a depth of 1,885 feet and abandoned. It is said this was really a bad hole.

Wells Are Abandoned.

No. 2 abandoned at 1,833 feet. No. 3 was started January 24, 1910, and abandoned March 28, of the same year at 1,084 feet.

No. 4 was started April 13 and abandoned August 19, 1910, without comment.

No. 5 blew itself in January 5, 1911 and created a sensation before it was controlled. Several firing near went after and saw the well spraying wet gas. One photographer took a view of the well in action.

Clay No. 1 Comes In.

On the night of March 31, the Clay No. 1 on the Putnam farm, three miles north of Electra, began to make funny noises; so the driller called up A. F. Dennison and told him that it looked like a well might come in before long. "That's what we're after," was the reply. "Will you be down early?" anxiously inquired the driller. "I am on my way now," circulated Mr. Dennison, as he hurried into his clothes and soon joined the crew at the well. When the scout reached the scene oil was gushing.

This well still is producing about twelve barrels a day which shows the length of life of the wells in the Electra field.

101 Wells the First Year.

Ten days after the Clayco No. 1 blew in, the Producers' Oil company had shipped in a rig, four miles of water line, well casing, four tanks and all necessary material and had everything up and ready to start drilling. They started drilling on the tenth day on the Stringer lease near where the Clayco No. 1 came in.

Wednesday night, June 14, Clayco No. 2 came in at a depth of 975 feet, a gusher of 300 barrels daily production.

On April 1, 1912, just two years ago and one year after the opening of the field, there were 101 wells in the Electra field with a daily production of 9,201 barrels. On May 10 of the same year, Electra had 124 wells with a daily production of 10,668 barrels.

Electra's Greatest Asset.

Electra is coming to be considered the wonder oil field of Texas, says the Electra News. With the finding of new sands and the proving up of fields heretofore little valued, the oil fraternity is turning its attention once more to the field where wells seem scheduled to produce a life time.

"Electra is doubly fortunate in that a farming section of wonderful fertility begins right at our door and extends northward across Red river. Another wonderfully fertile section will be opened up when the Wichita irrigation project to the south is completed.

"Of even more importance than all these natural advantages is the feeling of friendship which pervades the farmers all over Electra's trade territory—and this extends well into Wilbarger county. Because of a feeling that Electra business men are interested in the prosperity of the farmer, these men had rather come here to buy and sell—they say—than go to other towns.

"Our citizenship, then, becomes our largest asset. It is of more value in the building of a community than all the oil fields, all the fertile acres. It is an asset, too, which can be increased from day to day."

APPORTIONMENT BY EDUCATIONAL BOARD LARGEST EVER MADE

By Associated Press.

AUSTIN, April 1.—An apportionment of $5 per capita, the largest single apportionment ever made in the history of the state, was made today by the state board of education. S. M. N. Marrs, assistant state superintendent of schools, announced. There are approximately 1,200,000 school children in the state, bringing the apportionment in round numbers to $6,430,000.

Apportionments made previously this year have totaled $4,250. With the new apportionment the total will be $10,680, leaving a remainder of $3,30 available for use during the scholastic year 1921-22. The year's apportionment was fixed at $13.

Sales of "April Fool Preferred" Strong for Time

By Associated Press.

DETROIT, April 1.—A practical joker who was responsible for the appearance of "American Fire Protection"—listed as "AFP" on the Detroit stock exchange today, turned the short session of the market into one of the liveliest on record, and was only detected by the intervention of the Michigan securities commission.

The appearance of the "stock" was the signal for spirited trading, although no one seemed to know anything about it. Opening at 6, it quickly went to 12, then dropped as suddenly to 2, and started upward again, hanging around 8. While some of the traders were busily engaged figuring up their "profits" one of their number got in touch with the securities commission and inquired if the stock had been sanctioned by that body. The answer was brief and to the point, and served to dampen enthusiasm, the commission stating "AFP" was not authorized; that each broker must stand his own losses.

More careful inquiry brought out that "AFP" stood also for "April Fool Preferred."

JUDGE TURNS DOWN MOTION STEVENS CASE

Judge P. A. Martin of the 89th district court Saturday afternoon overruled a motion for a new trial in the case of M. E. Stevens, receiver for the Marigold Oil and Refining company, against George W. Daley, E. D. Davenport and R. W. Talbot. It was following the hearing on the motion for a new trial Friday that Judge Martin fined H. H. Hamlin $100 and sentenced him to three days in the county jail for alleged misconduct while serving as a juror in the case.

In overruling the motion for a new trial which was brought by the plaintiff Judge Martin said he believed that the alleged misconduct of the one juror would probably be ground for reversal in the case when appealed to the higher court. Other issues in the case led him to overrule the motion in order that it could be brought before the higher courts at once.

The suit was for $100,000 alleged to have been wrongfully [illegible] by the defendants in the sale of the holdings of the Marigold company.

Several other local operators were defendants in the case when the trial opened but instructed judgments were given in their favor before the trial ended. The verdict was in favor of the defendants resulting in the motion for a new trial by the plaintiffs. The juror who was fined by Judge Martin was alleged to have talked with outside parties during the trial of the case and to have discussed the outside information with other jurors after they had retired to consider their verdict.

CANDIDATES APPROVE PLAN FOR MRS. PARRISH TO FILL OUT REST HUSBAND'S TERM

Both candidates for congress from this district have signified their approval of the suggestion that Mrs. Lucian W. Parrish become a candidate to succeed to the unexpired term of her husband, or, if she is not willing, that her father, Dr. A. B. Edwards of Henrietta, become a candidate—a suggestion advanced by Henrietta friends.

S. A. L. Morgan telephoned his endorsement of the plan immediately after hearing the suggestion, first made by A. J. Scott of this city. Guinn Williams of Decatur, the other candidate, called Dr. Edwards at Henrietta, Saturday and signified his approval of the plan. Both candidates expect to go to Henrietta at once and confer with Mrs. Parrish and Dr. Edwards.

Mrs. Parrish is willing to become a candidate to succeed to her husband's unexpired term, but only on the condition that it meet with the approval of both of the candidates entering the field when Mr. Parrish announced for the senate.

"All of our friends have been so very thoughtful and kind since Mr. Parrish's accident, that I don't wish to do a thing which would interfere with the plans of their friends or either of the present candidates," Mrs. Parrish said in a statement to local papers, telephoned by her father, following the suggestion that she become a candidate. If she becomes a candidate, it will be for the unexpired term only, she said.

News Notes For Masons

J. D. Avis and C. O. Fritz recently attended a meeting of the executive committee of Dallas Consistory No. 2 Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite of Freemasonry at Dallas, to assist in planning for the organization and entertainment of the spring class. Twenty-five Scottish Rite Masons from all parts of the state were present at the meeting, and, while financial conditions are not at all flattering, the outlook for a large class is very encouraging. Wichita Falls and surrounding towns will contribute at least 100 candidates for the Spring reunion which will be held May 15 to 19.

Sam P. Cochran, sovereign grand inspector general for Texas, is very much interested in the coming reunion and its success, as half of the fees for degrees will be used in completing the Scottish Rite dormitory for girls, at the University at Austin, which will be finished in time for the fall term. The Dormitory will cost approximately $600,000, exclusive of the lot, but including furnishings, when completed, the extreme length of the building will be 282 feet and the total length of the two wings is 183 feet. The main building is four stories in height, and the wings three stories. It will accommodate 344 girls, having a total of 191 rooms. It is a fireproof structure throughout. It is to be used for the daughters of Master Masons. This is by far the greatest act of fraternal charity ever undertaken in the Southwest.

Wichita Falls Lodge No. 635, A. F. & A. M., will hold a special communication Wednesday evening, April 5 at 6 p. m., for the purpose of conferring the Fellowcraft degree on a large class of candidates.

Thursday evening April 6, at 7 o'clock, Wichita Falls Commandery will hold a regular conclave at which time the Order of the Red Cross and the Order of Malta will be conferred on a large class of candidates.

The committee has accepted an invitation extended by the Reverend J. H. Groseclose for the Commandery to attend divine services in a body, at the Floral Heights Methodist church on Easter Sunday, April 16. All Knights Templar will meet at the Asylum at 9:30 a. m., and will march to the church.

The local commandery has nearly nine hundred members, and a large attendance is expected at the Easter services. Reverend Groseclose promises a special Templar sermon for the occasion.

Final arrangements have been made by the Knights Rose Croix, or 18 degree Scottish Rite Masons, for a Maundy Thursday Banquet to be held at the Kemp hotel on Thursday, April 13 at 7:30 p. m. Walter D. Cline will preside as toastmaster, and will announce a program in the near future. Robert E. L. Saner, a prominent civil attorney and Mason of Dallas, will deliver the principal address of the evening. Mr. Saner is a very pleasing and forceful speaker, and is well known by all the Scottish Rite Masons of Northwest Texas, as he has been chairman of the entertainment committee of Dallas Consistory No. 2 for a number of years.

Masons from Seymour, Vernon, Iowa Park, Electra, Burkburnett, Archer City, Petrolia, Henrietta and Graham will attend the banquet. All Knights Rose Croix are invited. Plates will be laid for 250 Masons.

Maskat Temple, A. A. O. N. M. S., is planning big events for the future. The big spring ceremonial will be held May 23, and indications are favorable for a large class of novices. An illuminated parade will traverse the business section just at dark, after which all the Shriners and novices will proceed to Call Field for the Ceremonial session, which will start about 8:30 p. m.

Director A. Ellis, who recently attended the Shrine Directors' Association of North America, at Kansas City, promises the best show ever seen by the Shriners in this section. The patrol and band are in splendid spring condition and will see that everything is in readiness. Potentate Cline will have been relieved of official duties by that time, and he will be in full Arabic array for the show.

The Temple baseball club is adding to the spring activities by a series of games with Ben Hur temple of Auston, and one with Alzafar temple of San Antonio.

The patrol and band also have a special attraction under advisement, which will be announced at a later date.

Manager Al ("Dinty") Booth of Maskat Temple baseball club, announces a series of games with the crack team of Ben Hur temple of Austin, and Alzafar temple of San Antonio. The Ben Hur aggregation will be here for a three-game series on May 20, 21 and 22 and the Alzafar gang will play three games on May 28, 29 and 30. All games will be played at Athletic park.

"Dinty" is feeding his "Wildcatters" on corn beef and cabbage and says he will have them in shape to win both series. The Ben Hur ball team will remain here for the spring ceremonial of Maskat temple to be held May 23. The Shriners will all wear the red fez while attending the games.

MAN ARRESTED AT DUNDEE AND RETURNED HERE

A. W. Warren, charged by complaint with theft was arrested Saturday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff Allen at Dundee and returned here. Charges against Warren were filed here several days ago following an investigation in connection with the theft of a boiler. According to officers, the boiler was stolen in the Burkburnett oil fields and brought to this city. Warren was being held at the county jail Saturday night.

VON ALLMEN TO BE DISTRIBUTOR FOR CHEVROLET

Formation of New Sales and Service Company by Local Auto Man Is Announced Saturday.

Formation of the Von Allmen Motor Sales company, 808 Lamar, which will be distributor for Chevrolet cars for Wichita, Clay, Archer, Baylor and Knox counties, was announced Saturday. Maintenance of first class service for these cars is included in the plans of the company.

Paul Von Allmen, for four years a resident of Wichita Falls and well known figure in the automobile business here, is the head of the new company. Mr. Von Allmen was for three years a member of the firm of Eckman & Von Allmen, handling various automobile lines. In addition to his work in the automobile line, Mr. Von Allmen has taken a prominent part in fraternal and musical activities here.

"The customer is right" is the motto under which the new company will do their business, according to Mr. Von Allmen.

The Chevrolet Motor company, makers of the car which the new distributing organization will handle, makes nearly 40 per cent of the total production by the General Motors company, of which it is a division, according to W. H. Bright, Chevrolet representative in this territory, who has been aiding in the establishment of the new firm. He has recently made an extensive trip over his district and is well pleased, he says, with general business indications and with the reception accorded the new Chevrolet models.

It is the plan of the Von Allmen Sales company to establish a service station and parts depot in every town in the district controlled by them.

The City National Bank of Commerce is the business confident and counselor of many young business and professional men of West Texas to whom the importance of a good banking connection is apparent.—Adv.

OVER HALF OF HOUSEHOLDERS OF WICHITA FALLS ARE HOME OWNERS

Figures Are Obtained in Survey by Local Real Estate Firm for Outside Interest Making Inquiry.

More than half of the householders of Wichita Falls are also home owners, a recent survey of the residence sections of Wichita Falls, under the direction of a local real estate firm, Curlee & Johnson, discloses. The survey was made for outside interests. This survey shows 3,117 homes within the older residence district, with 1,600 home owners, to 1,429 occupying rented houses. Omission of the Sibley-Taylor addition, and a number of outlying districts, together with the river bank section, and the negro residence districts brings both the total number of homes and the total number of home owners down. It is estimated that inclusion of the new residence additions, such as Sibley-Taylor, together with the various settlements would bring the total to around 4,500. Apartment house dwellers, and those living in hotels and rooming houses in the downtown districts were also omitted.

Of the total of over 3,000, only sixty-three houses were shown to be vacant, and twenty-five for sale. Of the rent houses vacant, twenty-six were classed as "semi-modern" while ten were classed as "strictly modern and probably occupied by now."

SPUDDERS HAVE ACES BACKED UP; THE CARDS ARE CUT AND WE WIN

St. Louis Hopefuls Heave the Pill All Over the Lot and Salmites Have Little Trouble Taking Big End of a 7-2 Score; Bowman and Knadler Keep Hits Scattered.

"An assist is a wonderful thing," he said;
"It's one of the things I like;
That's why I peg 'em all out at first,
And don't try to catch the third strike!"
—Sung by that sterling duet,
Kitchens & Benninghoven

By C. F. C.

Yes, Castoroyl, in a weird and wooly exhibition won by the lion-taming Spudders yesterday 7 to 2, Kitch and that young backstop with the St. Louis Cards just naturally declined to hold on to that ol' third strike. What difference did it make, anyway? Why, any catcher can get credit for a bunch of put-outs when his twirler's going nicely, but few of 'em get a chance to break into the assist column often—and "Benny" even received credit for starting and finishing a double play yesterday by dropping the third strike, pegging out Buddy Tanner at first and then grabbing Bottomley's return throw and retiring Homer Summa at the plate.

Bottomley? Bottomley? Where have I heard that name before? Why sure, that's the bird that was with the Houston Buffaloes! Sure 'nuf? Yes, that's him, same old Bottom—and say, he only made one error yesterday so perhaps he's going to stick; you never can tell. Steen made two and so did Hunter.

Altogether, the visiting Cardinals piled up a total of 7 miscues, most of 'em being heaves of the wild and reckless variety. It must have been an off day with Charlie Barrett's gang, because in their workout they certainly impressed me as being the best-looking bunch of ball players that has visited one fair city thus far this spring. Perhaps it was the date that had something to do with it, and they were just naturally up against an April 1st jinx. Every club in the Texas league except the poor old Panthers played an April fool joke on some team yesterday, and the old circuit went right down the line just kicking the daylights outa everybody.

What Made Jake Sick

The more I see of the Spudders in actual battle array, the more clearly I understand what made Jakie Atz take to his bed a short time back. I'm pulling, of course, for Jake's speedy recovery, but the work of the Spudders to date certainly has been enough to make Jake and every other manager around the loop feel faint.

Say, I can't figure out whether we've got the greatest pitchers in the world hanging around this year, or if the stickwork of all the visiting clubs has been plain rotten. The Cards yesterday got credit for 9 bingles off Abe Bowman and George Knadler—but six of the nine were infield blows. On the other hand, the Spuds connected for seven bingles, the grand majority of which were line smashes, while on several occasions they drove the Cardinals right and left fielders back to the fence to drag in long ones.

Let the score by innings tell the tale:

First.

Cards: Adams walked and so did Steen. Jones lined to O'Brien who caught the pill twice before he finally caged her for keeps. Gainer smashed one at Buddy Tanner who made a brilliant stop and forced Steen at second. Bottomley lined to Summa and Big Abe was out of the hole. No runs, not hits, no errors.

Spuds: Summa went out to Bottomley unassisted. Tanner smacked a smoking liner through the box to center field, and was forced at second a minute later when O'Brien hit to Bottomley. Tex filed to right. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Second.

Cards: Weiner singled to left, and was sacrificed to second by Hunter, Tex to Beck. Then Abe put on steam and fanned Benninghoven and Rheinhardt in a row. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Spuds: Beck lined to Bottomley, who also gathered in Miller's pop fly. Sorey was thrown out by Hunter. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Third.

Cards: Tanner threw out Adams. Steen struck out but Kitch dropped the ball and pegged him out at first. Jones hit to Sorey who let the ball break through after covering considerable ground going after it. Gainer beat out an infield hit to Tanner. Bottomley filed to O'Brien. No runs, no hits, one error.

Spuds: Kitchens smashed a single to center and Abe sacrificed him to second. Summa singled to center, scoring Kitch, and Summa going to third when Steen heaved the pill to the grandstand. Tanner struck out, Benninghoven dropped the ball, pegged Buddy out at first and received Bottomley's return throw in time to nip Summa at the plate. One run, two hits, no errors.

Fourth

Cards: Buddy threw out Weiner. Hunter beat out an infield bounce over Bowman's bean. Benninghoven walked. Abe tossed out Rheinhardt, both runners advancing. Adams beat out an infield hit to short, Hunter scoring and Benninghoven going to third. Steen walked filling the bases. Jones struck out. One run, two hits, no errors.

Spuds: O'Brien struck out. And Tex was thrown out by Hunter. Beck walked, and Miller was hit by a pitched ball. Sorey fouled a flock and then bustled a warm single to left, scoring Beck and putting Jake on second. Kitchens dropped a Texas leaguer in centre and Jake came home, also Sorey when Steen tossed the ball into the center of the diamond where there wn'n't nobody. Abe Bowman drove a husky two-bagger up against the left field fence so fast that Kitch was barely able to make third on the hit. Summa filed to Del Gainer, who made a neat running grab near the right field boards. Three runs, three hits, one error.

Fifth

Cards: Gainer walked and Bottomley also. Weiner forced Gainer at third, Abe to Tex. Hunter peppel to Tex and Benninghoven forced Weiner, Tanner to Sorey. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Spuds: Rube Benton now pitching. Buddy died short to first and O'Brien went out via the second to first route. Tex drew a pass, and Beck was safe when Bottomley dropped Weiner's roosting peg, Tex going to third. On a double steal and a wild throw by Hunter Tex scored and Fred went on to third. Miller singled to left, bringing Fred home. Jake then stole second and continued to third when Hunter failed to cover the bag on the steal. Sorey was safe and Jake scored when Weiner's throw pulled Bottomley off the sack. Comstock, hitting for Kitch, popped to Adams. Three runs, one hit, four errors.

Sixth.

Cards: Knadler and Schmidt now the Spuds' battery. Knadler threw out Benton and Adams struck out. Steen bounced a single off Knadler's shins and Jones walked. Gainer beat out an infield roller, filling the bags. Bottomley fanned. No runs, two hits, no errors.

Spuds: Adams threw out Knadler and Summa, and Buddy flied to deep left. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Seventh.

Cards: Buddy made a neat one-hand grab and pegged out Weiner. Hunter struck out. Benninghoven beat out a slow roller down the third base line. Knadler tossed out Benton. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Spuds: O'Brien walked. Tex fanned. Beck flied to center. O'Brien stole second and Miller was thrown out by Adams. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Eighth.

Cards: Adams beat out a slow roller that Knadler misjudged. Steen sacrificed him to second. Knadler to Beck. Jones crashed a bad hop through Tanner scoring Adams. Gainer flied to O'Brien, and Tex made a nifty stop that retired Bottomley. One run, two hits, no errors.

Spuds: Sorey lined out to Jones. Schmidt walked. Knadler and Schmidt were both safe when Weiner booted one. Summa dumped one down, but was nipped at first. Tanner shot a hot tamale at Benton who knocked it down and got his man. No runs, no hits, one error.

Ninth.

Cards: Weiner filed to Summa. Hunter walked. Benninghoven popped to Tanner. Berry, batting for Benton, fouled to Tex. No runs, no hits, no errors.

CEDRIC DURST EX-EXPORTER, MAKING GOOD

Lee Fohl of the Browns Considers Him "One of Best Looking Outfield Prospects" He Has Seen.

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, April 1.—The hour was early, the track near by and the last race well within the negotiation of any ball player who has his mind on the matter at hand. Wherefore, the St. Louis Browns were giving tongue to a yammering refrain that could have been transplanted bodily into the mob scene of a comic opera. It was their idea of showing what is academically known as a little life.

They were in the midst of one of those spring exhibition things at Mobile, Ala., that come and go like a plague in every training camp, and they were hustling through it as they never hustled on an American league ball field. Conversation just wailed right out of the larynx and rolled off the lips.

Through it all sat the silent Lee Fohl, sphinx of baseball. Mr. Fohl has little to say and seldom says it. The present juncture was not one of his moments, although all around him rose the terrific din.

Therefore, we were somewhat unprepared to become an adequate audience when he turned upon us rather suddenly and pointed a dramatic finger out toward center field.

"Best-Looking Prospect"

"See that boy out there?" he asked. "One of the best-looking outfield prospects I have ever seen."

He seemed inclined to drop the subject as suddenly as he had started it. But we continued with a polite "Who is he?" and discovered that he referred to one Cedric Durst, outfielder up from the Beaumont club of the Texas league.

Fohl knows a ball player when he sees one. He thinks he is seeing one now. So it is just as well to take him at his word, particularly since he is one of the most unenthusiastic souls that ever sat on a major league bench.

Durst did nothing in that nine-inning exhibition game to attract the wandering eye, just as Speaker or Cobb or Ruth might escape notice if allowed to appear incognitao. He is, however, the talk of the camp, and were it not that the Browns are unusually well heeled with outfielders he might get in there every day. As it is he is bound to stick.

Of curse, we watched Durst rather closely on all subsequent plays and liked not only his position and easy swing at the plate but his ability to roam at large over the outfield. He made no running cathes, but it was noted that hits seemingly destined for extra bases were held to singles by his ability to place himself in front of them and get the ball away from him quickly.

Workout Was Impressive

The workout, on the whole, was rather impressive. The infield seems to have eliminated some of the rough spots, what with McManus having mastered the art of throwing from more than one position. McManus, a reformed first baseman, was a bit crude in this respect last season, but appears to have overcome some of his delinquencies around second base.

The rest of the outfit is potentially a championship club, with the exception of the pitching. They must come up with a left-hander to work with Shocker, Davis and Van Gilder; and, of course, no one can convince that that Davis Danforth, purchased from Columbus at an exhorbitant price, is not the gentleman in question.

SPRING GRID TRAINING AT RICE BEGINS

HOUSTON, Texas, April 1.—Spring football training starts this coming week at Rice. Coach Yerges announced a meeting for gridiron men on Tuesday. Light practice was scheduled to begin following a short meeting. All available material, including old letter men, freshmen, and those who have the desire to play football will be on the field.

Coach Yerges has not announced any definite schedule to be followed through the spring training, except that it would be held two or three times a week. He said the men would be instructed in the fundamentals of the game and that the purpose of the spring training was to condition the men for the regular fall work of the 1922 season.

Men who are actively engaged in spring sports such as tennis, track and baseball, would not be expected to report for spring football practice, the coach said, as the sports they were engaged in would keep them in good condition.

Fred Boettcher of Houston, a backfield man, is captain of the team. Some of the men who will be seen on the squad for the 1922 season are: Chambers, Swartz, Campbell, Boettcher, Bickford, McGee, Lawrence, all letter men from last year. Others are: Muckelroy, Goodwin, Perry, Randall, Smith, Colley, Tadlock, Penix, Waters, Willis, Heflin, Starlings, Hale, Wilford and Ervin.

HOPES TO LEAD A. A. BASE STEALERS

Doug Baird, third baseman with the Indianapolis Hoosiers, hopes to lead the American Association again in stealing bases. Last year he topped the list with 72 swipes.

HIGH ATHLETES SHOW CLASS IN CITY MEET

By "Hank" Hayes.

From the way that the high school athletes performed in the city meet held at the Austin school grounds all day yesterday, and the results they turned in, first place in the district meet at Iowa Park would seem practically cinched. All the boys showed the result of Coaches Hall and Adams' systematic coaching, and hard, diligent work. Baldwin was the outstanding figure of the day, winning a place in every event that he qualified for, including four first places, and a second and a third honor. Kenley, first sacker of the ball team and a dark horse on the track was out in a suit and loped into first place in the mile and half mile races, setting such a pace that he finished far ahead of his second man.

The ward schools were represented by several hundred entrants and about a thousand spectators, and there was much rivalry shown among the representatives of the various schools. The Austin school ran away with the city ward school honors with 123 points, while San Jacinto was second in the line with 58; Alamo 39; Sam Houston 22; Barwise 5; Fannin 2; Bowie 1.

The results of the high school finals and the names of the winners of first, second or third honors, who will have the right to attend the district meet in Class A athletics, follow:

120-yard low hurdles—Baldwin first, time 14 seconds; Tyson second, Brashear third.

100-yard dash—Baldwin first, time 12 seconds; Sibert second, Stringer third.

220-yard run—Beatty first, 23 1-4 seconds; Brashear second, Walker third.

440-yard run—Bracken first, West second, Beatty third.

880-yard run—Kenley first, time 2 minutes, 9 3-4 seconds; Heubrie second, Anderson third.

Mile run—Kenley first, time 4 minutes, 54 1-4 seconds; Tyson second, Howle third.

Shot put—West first, Sibert second, Baldwin third.

Discus throw—West first, Howle second, Brashear third.

High jump—Baldwin first, 5 feet, 6 inches; Sibert second, Makechney third.

Pole vault—Baldwin first, 10 feet, 1-inch; Beatty and Woods, tie for second.

Broad jump—Sibert first, 19 feet; Baldwin second, Mckechney third.

Relay race was canceled as there was not enough for two teams on the grounds.

Tennis finals—William Powers and Clifton Haynes in doubles; Paul Hines defeated Nance for first in singles.

Following are the names of the person of those who won places in the ward school contests:

Fourth grade, spelling—Louise Akerman first, San Jacinto; Maurine Parnell second, Austin; Willie Lee Davis third, San Jacinto.

Fifth grade, spelling—Albert Lloyd first, Alamo; Lucile Wainscott second, San Jacinto; Herbert Watson third, Alamo.

Sixth grade, spelling—Pauline Grishman first, Austin; Alice Hartman second, Austin; Edgerlee Gilman third, San Jacinto.

Seventh grade, spelling—Corrine Crawford and Oscar Powers of Austin, both tied and have first and second places; Gay Strawn third, Alamo.

Girls' Volley ball—Sam Houston first; Alamo second; Travis third.

Boys' Volley ball—Austin first; Sam Houston third.

Boys' Potato race—Travis first; Austin second; Fannin third.

Girls Potato race—San Jacinto first; Houston second; Travis third.

100-yard dash—Austin first; San Jacinto second; Alamo third.

Broad jump, for girls—Austin first; San Jacinto second; Alamo third.

Boys' Broad jump—Austin first; Houston second; Barwise third.

Baseball throw—Austin first; second; third.

Basketball throw—Austin first; second; San Jacinto third.

Boys' 1-4 mile relay—Austin first; San Jacinto second; Travis third.

There were other events on the long program, but as there were so many different entries from each school, there was some confusion and some of the events went undecided and others were cancelled.

SOME SHOOTERS IS TRICKY, SOME HAS THOUSAND-BUCK GUNS, SOME IS "EXTRA SOUR"

By "Nick" Carter.

Well after looking over the scores I am undecided in my mind whether I should write this second instalment of the weekly Gun club shoot story or if I should publish an apology to "Commanche Dick" Leslie him being not no more crooked after all than what some fellers is and I ain't mentioning no names but I guess you know who I mean one of the same being a partner in a sporting goods house on Indiana avenue and the other running a barber shop on Ninth street and whilst as I say I wouldn't mention no names all I got to say is that when Doc Landon gets any odds from Morrow and Tate he will have to give them to himself while if Jack Gotcher tries to lend anybody that air rifle of his'n saying it is a good trap gun then I hope Jack Gotcher gets ruled off the turf as us old horse men usetee say—but I ain't mentioning no names, and I ain't sore personally about nothing, understand?

But speaking as we was about shooters what has got swell advance reputations in the field which is usually mostly built up because of the intelligence of their dogs I will say that I like to died laffing at Dr. Thornberg what come out to the weekly shoot and he is a good shooter in the field on live birds but as a clay quail whoofer he is one swell dentist and I am going to put him on the "Dishonorable" list this week and will sure roast him steady if he don't do better in the future and anyway why he should try to use a 20-guage gun what falls apart every time he pulls the trigger is more than I can see. Doc, I am ashamed of you what I mean, naughty, naughty on you, Doc, goddlemighty that was turrible!

But if they is any consolation in it for Doc Thornberg then he should know that he is not so bad at that as is Nat Inge which if Nat was to get only one vote for every clay quail he whoofed he would sure enough never get to sit on the city council, eh Nat?

Say lissen I see a guy out there at that shoot what had a shotgun that set him back 1,000 bucks and that ain't no lie either for this was the dad-burndes shotgun what ever I seen being all hand-made and with actual photographs in solid gold done in the stock and the barrel showing him bearin' down on quail and pheasants and his old bird dog a-pointing and a-retrieving and everything and the feller what owns this gun he is J. P. Morrison of Temple, Oklahoma, which is got a farm up there and has a private clay quail trap on his farm and he has four sons what shoots all the time with him at the traps and from what the fellers tell me I guess that is a pretty fast shootin' squad and anyways J. P. comes down to visit the local whoofers Friday and he took his fancy thousand-dollar gun and he blammed 24 outa 25 with it so all I got to say is that he has not only got him a swell shooting iron but he also ain't blind yet by a long sight.

That guy Fred King what ain't Fred King at all but is really Rufus Alfred King only the fellers calls him Fred he was out at them traps again and I never seen nobody not even in my home state of Maine where everybody is saving and thrifty except some of us Carters who is more economical with powder and shells because this King feller he don't waste nothing but he just shoots and somebody hollers "Dead" and that is all there is to it and he broke 50 straight and only lost 2 birds in 100 and I bet they is a trick or a catch to it somewheres because it don't seem human to me and Morrow and Tate and Dempsey and Leslie that's all, but anyways this King is a nonmember so he didn't win no prize but Roy Rhodes and Jack Gotcher ties for the weekly club prize with 45 out of 50 each and anyway why shouldn't them fellers shoot good Rhodes being a tailor and able to fix himself up with swell shooting clothes and Jack running a barber shop and so his hair never grows long and gets tangled up in his gun stock like what mine does, eh?

I guess I will print the scores now there being nothing much more to say except that Paul Adams was rotten on account of him waiting until after dark to shoot and I guess the next time him being skinny he will have sense enough to shoot early while the sun is up and he can keep warm.

This is what I was give for the scores, only I has done my own graphing so to speak and has placed some of the shooters in special classes:

LEADING AMERICAN JOCKEY IS INJURE

By Associated Press.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., April 1.—Jay Hunter, leading American jockey o the 1921 season in winning mounts and Carl Studer, a promising apprentice rider, were badly hurt at the Tia Juana race track this afternoon Studer's mount, Evening Stories, fel as he was entering the stretch in the second race of the day. Hoda Irish following close behind, with Hunterm riding, fell over Evening Stories, an rolled over Huntemar.

Surgeons reported that Huntema condition was critical.

Statistics indicate that mar men are more trustworthy than sin men in the ratio of 6 to 1, probably cause of their increased sense of sponsibility.

COACH BIBLE OF AGGIES GIVES RECORD NEWS FANS COMPLETE DIGEST OF NEW GRIDIRON RULES

Special to the Record News.

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, April 1.—The National Football Rules committee made great progress in the formulation of new rules and in the clarification and interpretation of existing regulations during its meeting held at the Biltmore hotel in New York City, March 10 and 11, according to D. X. Bible, head coach of athletics at the A. and M. college of Texas who has just returned after attending the meeting. Mr. Bible was elected to membership on the committee last fall and was the first man from the southwest ever to sit on a meeting of the national rules making body.

The new rules, governing the handling of the ball after touchdown, shift plays, clipping or cutting down from behind, scoring of a touchdown, motion of man when ball is put into play, substitution of men, limitation of the forward pass, equalization of advantages on kickoff, shortening of game and other minor rules marked advances in the regulation of the game, decreased the danger from injuries, increased the importance of the game from the standpoint of the spectator, settled satisfactorily certain inequalities of play, dispensed with unfair advantages and made the game more scientific in many other particulars, in the opinion of Mr. Bible.

While he conceives how some differences of opinion may arise over certain changes made when the new rules are put into practice, he believes that as a whole the work of the committee is a great improvement and that in every case where a change in rule was made that legislation was practical.

Cleared Up Old Rules.

While greatly satisfied with the new rules made for incorporation in the new guide, Mr. Bible places a high valuation on the work done by the committee in clarifying rules already in the book and which have heretofore caused more or less confusion and misunderstandings because of different meanings that have been attached to their construction by officials and coaches. He thinks that the supplement to the guide which will contain the many interpretations formulated in the phraseology of the football men on the committee and the explanations by examples will be a great help to coaches and officials in understanding the code this year.

The appointment of an interpretation committee, composing Walter Camp, W. L. Langford, William Morice and W. H. Hackett, to handle the desputes arising from interpretation of the rules which were not sufficiently explained by the regular committee was another good step taken.

"The committee faced an enormous task of selecting from the mass of recommendations made for changes of rules and the formulation of new ones, those worthy of consideration," Mr. Bible said, "and did well in holding down legislation and leaving to the coaches and officials those minor decisions requiring only a spirit of sportsmanship instead of a knowledge of technicalities."

Mr. Bible is particularly enthusiastic over the change made in the manner of handling the ball after touchdown. The rule as amended reads that "when a touchdown is made the side scoring the touchdown will put the ball in play anywhere on or outside of the five-yard line for a single scrimmage from which by any legal (as from an ordinary scrimmage) run, pass or kick it may score a field goal or a touchdown which will net only one point." If the attacking side makes a foul or an illegal play or an incompleted forward pass the chance for the one point is lost. If the defending side offends, the score of one point will be given to the offensive team.

This arrangement will place the burden of making the one point on the entire team of 11 men instead of on one man and it will open up the field for more strategy, thus making it more scientific than the old simple play and intensely more interesting to the spectators, Mr. Bible says. Dependable drop kickers and place kickers will be even more valuable now than before because usually the team will try a drop or place kick for the one point rather than use the run or pass. The only objection to be offered in his opinion is that it continues the strain on the team allowing them no time to relieve their nerves and collect themselves before the next play.

"Under the old rule the kick for a goal was not really the climax of a touchdown, but in reality an anti-climax. The new regulation provides for a scrimmage that will mean the actual climax so much desired."

Other Changes Good

The rule closing down on the shift play will stop many abuses that have been made, he thinks. The new rule reads that "in all shift plays both feet must be stationary on the ground" and is interpreted to mean that sufficient pause must occur to admit of officials seeing that the play is legal and that the ball was not snapped while the men were in motion. It is the intention of the rule that when a man shifts to a new position he shall come to a full stop so that all momentum is lost and shall make a new start from a position of rest when the ball is put into play.

"It is well known," Mr. Bible said, "that in most all shift plays heretofore momentum has not been entirely lost, and as a result the men have been in motion and thus have taken an unfair advantage of the defense. The rule will not abolish the legitimate advantage of concentration by shifting but will simply limit its abuse."

"Clipping or cutting down from behind, a practice which many coaches and officials have objected to was carefully interpreted this year and made a part of the rules to read as follows: 'Clipping or throwing the body from behind across the leg or legs or below the knees of a player not carrying the ball shall be ruled as unnecessary roughness.' Note—this rule is not meant to apply to close line plays.

"This rule will not prohibit the line men from going through on the opposite side from where the play is going and cutting down the defense. It should prevent many injuries of men who are in no position to protect themselves from attack.

"Unnecessary roughness will be reduced and much unfairness prevented by the rule which provides that hereafter 'a touchdown shall be scored as soon as the man crosses the goal line.' Officials shall blow the whistle as soon as they are convinced that the ball has crossed the goal line or on a forward pass when the pass is completed behind the goal line."

"Many fumbles after the ball has been taken behind the goal line have deprived teams of merited victory, and many injuries have been inflicted as a result of roughness behind the goal line in the attempt to cause fumbles. This rule will cover the situation well, recognizing a touchdown fairly made and dispensing with all roughness."

"As a consequence of the addition made to the rule in reference to a man being in motion before a ball is put into play and which specifies that 'any man who thus starts from the line of scrimmage must be at least 5 yards behind the line when the ball is snapped, this will prevent the line man from driving into his opponent unawares and will clear up any question in the minds of the officials as to whether the player was in motion toward his own goal at the time the ball was put into play. The habit has been that the lineman would give the snapping signal and start into the line an instant before the ball was snapped, giving him an advantage of momentum when he hit the line, and thus making a very much abused rule. The new rule will not affect the back field and it will not take any of the stratgy out of the play.

"Much more emphasis will be laid upon the importance of coaches doing their big work before the game and depending less upon the opportunity of coaching during the progress of a game by taking out men to gather information and sending them back at the next period with advice and information as a result of the substitution rule, which has been changed to read, 'a player taken out in one half cannot return to the game in the same half, but can go back any time during the next half.' This means that if a player is taken out in the first half he can not go back until the second half and if taken out in the second half he is out for good.

More Work for Coach

"The practice of coaches will probably continue but it will mean that they will have to extend their coaching by developing more men for each place so that those cut out of a game when pulled for information may be replaced with equally dependable men.

"For this reason, the rule has been criticized by coaches of smaller schools who do not have surplus material on which to work. It will also come in for much more criticism by coaches in general for the season that it takes away the opportunity of nulling men who get hurt during play for purpose of ascertaining the extent of their injury and administering to them. Many times it happens that injured men, if taken from the field and given first aid, can go back after a short rest and play the rest of the game and the new rule prevents that assistance to players.

"The committee took a step toward placing limitations around the forward pass, a thing that it has hesitated to do because of the desire to see that form of play develop in the game. Heretofore, illegal interference with a pass meant only the loss of the down, but as the rule now reads, 'when a player interferes with an opponent in any manner until the ball has been touched except in an actual attempt to catch or bat the ball himself, his side will be penalized by 15 yards and a down.

"The disadvantage that was always suffered by the side who lost the toss for the kickoff was done away with by the amendment of the kickoff rule provides that after the winner has chosen the goal, the other team will have the right to choose between kicking off and receiving.

"Possibility of a game being called on account of darkness was dispensed with in the rule adopted which provides that when a game is delayed in starting, the referee shall have the right after conferring with the two captains between halves to shorten the last half of the last quarter.

"An unnecessary requirement of having the referee notify the captains of both sides three minutes before the fifteen minute intermission between halves was up, was ruled out and as a result, a bothersome practice eliminated, since it really operated to no advantage and simply meant an interruption with the work of the coaches during the period. It was also an imposition on the referee for the reason that it was very difficult for him to locate the captains."

CHARGE PAINTER WITH ASSAULT

Charged with assault with prohibitive weapon, C. E. Painter was arrested Saturday by deputy sheriffs. He waived a preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace Cwinn and was released under $500 bond.

Painter was alleged to have committed the assault at the county jail a month ago. According to officers, Painter was arrested at a local dance hall by Federal Prohibition Officer Tyler who was accompanied by a civilian. The two were said to have taken Painter to the jail and while Tyler went to get the keys to the jail, Painter drew a pistol and forced the civilian to allow him to escape. Officers said it was not until Saturday that they were able to locate the accused.

WILL HELP STEADY PIRATES' INFIELD

Jewel Ens.

Jewel Ens, who has had several turns in the big show and managed minor league clubs, probably will play third for the Pirates this season. He's counted on to steady the youngsters Gibson has for the other berths.

LONGHORN NINE WEAKENED BY LOSS OF STARS

AUSTIN, Texas, April 1.—Recent losses of Catcher Joe Ellis who reported to the St. Louis Cardinals and Bartlett McMellan, the crack pitcher who was declared scalastically ineligible, leave the Texas Longhorns with but a fighting chance to win the Southwestern Conference race this year. However, Coach Billy Disch's baseball players are working hard daily in an endeavor to annex the championship for the eleventh consecutive season.

The Longhorn's most dreaded rival, A. & M. College, has practically the same line-up as last year. The Aggies have an experienced combination and under the wily coach, Gene Cochreham, will be unusually hard to defeat. Coach Bridges' Baylor Bears, with Pitcher Teddy Lyons as the headliner, looms up exceptionally strong. The Rice Institute still has Eddie Dyer, one of the best college pitchers in the country. It is pointed out that both Taylor and A. & M. have more games with the weaker teams than Texas giving them an advantage in the schedule.

By making four scores off Pitcher Shovel Hodge of the Chicago White Sox and 13 runs off Pitchers Bob Hasty and Ollinger of the Philadelphia Athletics in recent exhibition games, the Longhorns have appeared stronger with the bat than expected. Coach Disch's chief worry now is his battery department. Arthur Allen is the only dependable receiver, and he is still weak from two months illness. In the box, the Longhorn ace, Captain Bus Gillett, is said to have developed a sore arm, while Rube Leissner is having trouble with his control. The pitching is now up to Southpaw Emmanuel Ponsford, a lath-like flinger from El Paso. Other pitchers include Kenneth McCalla, who is showing improvement this season, Hardy Cook, a curve ball artist, and the speed merchant Oscar Eckhardt.

The Longhorn infield, with Hugo Auler at first, Bill Boyd at second, Jim Nowlin at the hot corner, and Herman Odum in the short field, made a number of flagrant errors in the game against the Athletics. Coach Disch's outfield with Dunaway in left, Johnson in center, and Carson in right, has not proved strong on the defensive. However, Enoch Dunaway and Ef Carson batted the ball savagely against the Philadelphia pitchers.

MISSOURI U. TRACK SQUAD HAS HARD JOB

COLUMBIA Mo., April 1.—Gleaming streaks of Gold and Black dashed out of the seclusion of Rothwell gymnasium this week and the University of Missouri indoor track team became an outdoor team for the first time this season in intensive training for the initial meet with the University of California at Berkeley, Calif., April 15. The Tigers, peers of the Missouri Valley in track for 14 years, face their longest trip away from their native jungle with less training and with probably the weakest team that has worn the Missouri colors in many seasons.

Fourteen men, 13 novices, headed by Capt. Brutus Hamilton, champion all-around field and track athlete of America, and coached by Bob Simpson, holder of nearly all the world's records in the hurdles, will make the 2,000-mile trip to the Pacific coast. They will leave here in a chartered car April 10 and will break the monotony of the three-day trip by a one-day layover in Ogden, Utah, expecting to reach Berkeley, April 13, giving them two days in which to become acclimated.

A disadvantage to the Missourians comes from not being acclimated, from not getting outdoor practice until 10 days before the meet, and from the fact that the Californians have been on the cinders since last month and have already been in two meets.

The meet with California calls for 15 events. Three places will score points. The Missourians will not start more than two men in each event. While the personnel for the team has not been selected, Coach Simpson has requested that 19 men be allowed to take final examinations in their school work prior to the trip.

PRESBYTERIANS WALLOP HIGH SCHOOL 11-4

Yesterday afternoon the Wichita Hi ball team met its Waterloo for the first time this season at the hands of the newly organized Presbyterian nine. The lads played the poorest brand of ball that they have for the season, while the churchmen all played hard with a resolve to stick the harpoon of defeat into the high school crew. Bourland was away off form, and after two were down he repeatedly eased up and let the Presbyterians hammer his deliveries to all three fields.

Weesindanger, of the Presbyterians, flinging from his portside, had excellent control and 15 Red and Black swatters whiffed at his speedy delivery. He walked four and allowed only five hits, including Baldwin's triple that sent in two runs and a circuit clout by the same batter.

Errors played considerable part in the school's defeat, seven being chalked up against them. Many of them were careless ones and resulted in six of the Presbyterian tallies. Three of the squad were in the athletic meet earlier in the day and for that reason were not in their best form.

The Presbyterian nine has a strong aggregation that will make the rest of the city league teams go the limit to wallop them.

RABBIT DRIVE WEDNESDAY ON FRIBERG FARMS

On Wednesday, April 5, there will be a rabbit drive at the Friberg school house, eight miles northeast of Wichita Falls on the Thornberry road. Everybody that has a shotgun (no rifles are permitted) is invited to go.

The drive will start at 9 a. m. If you want to have one of the best days of sport you have had in a long time, be there promptly. Carry your own ammunition. Of course there will be ammunition on the ground in case you run out. Nothing larger than No. 6 shot is permitted.

Also carry your own lunch as it will be a box lunch affair. Don't go without this lunch, thinking you will be back by noon. You will be having too much sport to want to quit when noon comes. In the event you did quit then, there might be some hungry fellow you could pass the lunch on to.

If you don't have a conveyance to get out on this drive, notify the Chamber of Commerce not later than Tuesday noon, April 4 and a place will be found for you to ride to and from the drive.

Only Quarter Mile Is Paved In Past Week

With one mixer closed down during the entire week and one shut down Thursday but 1,500 feet of concrete paving was completed on the Burkburnett road during the last week, according to information from the office of Potts & Prentice, contractors.

The one mixer was closed ten days ago at a point six miles north of this city. The project from that point to the Red river through Burkburnett has not as yet been approved by the federal highway department. Recently the federal department made some objection to the project because it leads to a toll bridge across Red river. It is understood that this objection has been waived and that a recommendation favoring the project has been sent from the district federal office.

Work however, on the construction of the road will not start until it has been finally approved by both state and federal departments and the promised aid assured according to county officials. The other mixer located between this city and the far mixer was shut down for repairs and will resume operations the first of the week.

"KNOT HOLERS" ORGANIZATION ALMOST READY

Will Be Completed This Week With Nearly 800 Boys Eligible to Witness League Ball Games.

Organization of the Rotary Knot hole gang is expected to be completed this week, so that the boys will be ready for the opening of the Texas league season a week from next Friday.

About 800 boys have applied for membership, and while not all of these have been found eligible, very few will be among the missing.

All boys who have applied can begin next Wednesday at 3 p. m., calling at Scout Headquarters for their passes. The desk at which these passes will be issued will be open after 3 o'clock Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons, and all day on Saturday.

Boys who failed to fill out their application blanks properly will not get their passes, but will have another chance to make application in the right way.

Next Saturday night, at 8 p. m. at Scout Headquarters, a meeting of all members of the gang will be held for the purpose of electing officers and getting the gang started.

In a few cases, school teachers have refused to give the required indorsement on application, believing the applicants unworthy of the privileges.

CHUCK DEAL ALSO SIGNS WITH CITY HALL SEMI-PRO NINE

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 1.—The City Hall team of the Mid-West Baseball league, composed of city hall employes, which a few days ago announced the signing of Dick Kerr, Chicago White Sox holdout pitcher, today sprung another surprise when it announced that Charles "Chuck" Deal, former thirdbaseman for the Chicago Cubs, had been signed. Deal had been ordered to report to Los Angeles by the club management as a result of the trade which brought Arnold Statz to the Bruins. Deal, however, balked at the trade.

IRCE OWLS BEAT BAYLOR BEARS IN DUAL TRACK MEET

By Associated Press.

WACO, Texas, April 1.—The Rice Institute cinder path stars took a dual track meet from Baylor University here today by the score of 63 to 54. The meet's deciding point was the relay race, won by Rice.

B. J. Pittman of Baylor won high jump, second and in the broad jump Hinkly of Rice, holder of the conference record, nosing him out by two inches, giving Pittman a total of 12 points.

Linsay was high point man for the visitors with 11.

HOPPE'S MANAGER SAYS WILLIE'S THRU

By Associated Press.

ST. LOUIS, April 1.—Willie Hoppe, for 16 years 18.2 balkline champion of the world, has retired from the billiard game, it was announced here tonight by his manager, R. Benjamin, upon their return from Chicago, where Hoppe failed to regain the title from Jake Schaefer.

In a statement tonight, Mr. Benjamin charged that commercialism in the billiard game had made it impossible for the former champion to compete for his lost title within 18 months or two years.

Mr. Benjamin then charges that a billiard firm of national repute has commercialized the game, adding that the former champion's recent defeat by Schaefer had not stimulated his decision to retire from the game.

HEIRESS DENIES LOVE TALE OF BUTLER FACING DEPORTATION

August "Archie" Probst, photographed at the Rolling Rock club with Miss Sara King and Miss Mary Raffenspeyer. Both girls are members of prominent Pittsburg families.

While Miss Virginia McKay and her family and friends are denying the story of August Probst, Swiss butler, that he is being "railroaded" out of the country because of his love for Miss McKay, Probst, through attorneys, is continuing his fight to avoid deportation. He was detained recently at Ellis Island as a paranoiac and later obtained a hearing before federal court.

The romance of which Probst tells, he says took place at the exclusive Rolling Rock club at Legonier, Pa. He was employed there as a butler and became acquainted with many girl members.

STUDENTS GRADE HIGH IN MUSIC MEMORY CONTESTS

One hundred and twenty-five pupils of the high, junior high and ward schools made a general average of 96.41 per cent in the finals at the music memory contest conducted at the First Baptist church Friday night by teachers in the music department of the local schools, 35 of the number making perfect grades in the general musical recognition and being graded off for misspelling.

The junior high and the high schools tied in the general average, while in the percentage of 100 per cent papers the senior high were winners by two-thirds of a point. The Alamo and Travis won the highest average percentage in the Ward schools, the Alamo beating the Travis by a very small difference.

Fifty selections were either played on some instrument or sung by assisting artists and the pupils were called upon to write the names of 20 of the selections and composers correctly.

MARKET REPORTS

Cotton

NEW YORK, April 1.—Unsettled labor conditions and prospects for more favorable weather promoted week-end realizing in the cotton market today but it was absorbed on declines of 5 to 9 points and, after selling at 17.22, July contracts closed at 17.32. The general market closed steady, at a net advance of 1 to 6 points.

The market opened steady at an advance of 5 points to a decline of 2 points but turned easier right after the call under scattering liquidation and a little southern selling.

The weather map showed yesterday's eastern belt rains but indicated clearing conditions this morning which were expected to continue over Sunday. There was scattered selling on this prospect and the disposition to take profits on recent purchases was doubtless increased by the beginning of the coal strike, and the easier ruling of the grain markets. Trade interests were moderate buyers on a scale down giving the market a generally steady undertone, however, and after easing off to 17.85 for May and 16.88 for October the market turned steadier on covering. The latter was probably promoted by rather more favorable reports from the domestic goods trade and encouraging Manchester trade advices where there also was a feeling that it would require several days of dry weather before farmers could make much headway with their work in eastern belt sections. Business was quiet during the entire morning and the fluctuations reflected the influence of comparatively small orders either way.

Manchester advices said that the improvement in business had been maintained and that Lancashire manufacturers had booked some large orders from India and also America. They also said that an agreement on the wage question in Lancashire was most generally expected. It is rumored that New Bedford manufacturers are considering a wage cut of 10 per cent but so far it is reported that there has been no discussion of reduced wage scales in Fall River.

A firmer tone was reported in the market for cotton goods at the end of the week. Fall River sales for the week estimated at 100,000 pieces.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

NEW ORLEANS, April 1.—Very little adverse effect was caused by the coal strike on the cotton market although the strike caused much dismission. It appears to have been discounted in the trading of the last week or so, and no selling of consequence came upon the market because of it. On the first call, the near months were a point higher, but immediately after the call the list sagged to leave 3 to 6 points under the close of yesterday under more favorable weather conditions over the belt. After the middle of the session, shorts began to cover, becoming uneasy about reports over private wires to the effect that it would be found difficult to hold levees in some sections of Arkansas along the Mississippi river. Oighest prices were reached toward the close when the list stood at net gains of 3 to 6 points, with May at 16.65. The close was 1 to 6 points net higher on the day with May at its highest.

The weather map was regarded as favorable because it was dry except for rains over a limited area in the eastern belt. Selling might have been havier on weather conditions but for the barometer lines which formed a new storm area to the west of the belt and caused the fear that the near future might bring more rain to sections already suffering from the effects of excessive moisture.

Grain

CHICAGO, April 1—Wheat, oats and lard were lower, with pork unchanged and corn and ribs higher on the Chicago board of trade today. Net losses and gains were recorded as follows:

Wheat 1-2 to 1 cent lower; corn 1-8 to 3-8c higher; oats 1-4 to 3-8c lower; pork, unchanged; lard 2-1-2 to 7 1-2c lower; ribs 15c higher.

A break at Liverpool caused a heavy opening in wheat and made a favorable openinpg for continued liquidation. Weather reports and country advices from the southwest combined to indicate more favorable conditions for the winter crop and reports of utter stagnation in exports helped the downward movement.

Despite these factors, local bulls tried to rally prices in the early trading at around 1.31 for May and again in the last half hour but the short interest was too firmly entrenched. There was noticeable lack of outside support for the longs.

Corn showed an easy undertone at the start and retired under cover of wheat at the start. It took a lot of export news to bring the coarse grain into the open again but finally a guess that two million bushels had been taken for abroad caused corn to throw off the wheat blanket and the close was near the top. Oats followed corn in the early retirement and remained there undisturbed by any important rumors.

Provisions were dull under a light trade. With Liverpool lower, live hogs rather uneven at the local yards and the grain market mixed no interest seemed willing to venture far.

Stocks

NEW YORK, April 1.—After a brief period of uncertainty, today's stock market became fairly active and strong on the demand for low-priced motors and oils, as well as secondary rails and specialties.

Coalers were not disturbed by the strike of the miners, nor were local utilities in any sense affected by the default of the Interborough on the Manhattan Elevated Railway quarterly dividend.

Favorites of the industrial division gave way to Pierce Arrow common and preferred and the California group of oils.

Dividends paying transportation were replaced by St. Paul, Chicago, Great Western and Wabash issues.

In the general list settlement of week-end speculative contracts contributed to the firmer tone. The market displaying moderate strength at the close. Sales amounted to 475,000 shares.

Heavy transfers of funds connected with April interest and dividend payments accounted mainly for the actual increase of about $64,500,000 in actual loans and discounts reported by the clearing house. The same reason probably applied to the cash loss of slightly more than $34,000,000.

Foreign exchanges were dull, the Italian rate showing firmness, with nominal changes elsewhere. Reviews of domestic trade conditions were conflicting, the east reporting a halt in recent buying, while middle western sections showed enlarged distribution of general merchandise.

Metals

NEW YORK, April 1.—The steel market is experiencing a decided boom compared with the dullness which prevailed earlier in the year and the trade is very optimistic over the future. The volume of buying during the week was better than had been anticipated and while some products were more active than others, on the whole business was well distributed and the rate of production moved up very noticeably. The increased activity gave the market a very firm tone.

Pig iron also was more active due to better business in steel and general improvement in demand, broadening steadily. Prices were firm, with broadening tendency.

The copper market was easier. Demand for both export and domestic consumption has been light and prices have eased under offerings from second hands. Some of the smaller producing interests have met these lower quotations and the general market has worked off to about the 13 3-4c basis. Evidently more immediate needs were supplied on the recent buying movement and the present disposition to hold off is reported partly due to expectations of increased production during the next three months. Some of the mines now in operation are said to be increasing their output slowly. Domestic and foreign consumption of American copper now is supposed to be running at the rate of about 130,000,000 pounds per month and while there has been some pressure of offerings during the past week, there still is a good deal of bullish comment on the statistical position.

Tin has shown temporary firmness on large buying by local operators but in the absence of response by London, prices later eased off.

Lead has been advanced by the leading producers and all interests are asking 4.80 for prompt April shipment. Demand has been active and quite general.

Zinc showed firmness on the increased activity in steel and a prospective good demand from Galvanizers with producers unwilling to sell at present prices.

Antimony was firmer with a better inquiry. All distressed lots are said to have been absorbed.

COFFEE.

NEW YORK, April 1.—The market for cotton futures was very easy today with prices showing slight setbacks under scattered realizing or liquidation for over the week-end. Brazilian cables showed slightly lower milreis prices but advances in Rio exchange rates were considered about a standoff. The opening here was 2 points lower, with May selling at 9.42 and September at 9.17 and the market closed at a net decline of 1 to 3 points. Sales were estimated at about 7,000 bags. Closing quotations: May 9.42; July 9.36; September 9.17; October 9.18; December, January and March 9.19.

Spot coffee firm; Rios 7s 10@10 1-8c; Santos 4s 14@14 1-4.

CHICAGO PRODUCE

CHICAGO, April 1.—Butter lower; creamery extras 36. Eggs lower; receipts 25,617 cases; firsts 23¼@28. Poultry, alive unchanged.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, April 1.—Owing to strikes, some gingham manufacturers have been obliged to curtail deliveries on a third of their orders. Ginghams have been selling more freely in jobbing channels. Cotton goods in primary hands were firmer today and there was more activity in print cloths. Yarns were barely steady. Staple dress goods were dull. Silks were quiet and burlaps firm. Linens were moderately active.

A Pacific coast electric company has several construction gangs at work at remote points and it is kept in constant communication with them by means of wireless telegraphy.

Livestock

FORT WORTH, April 1. — No change developed in the tone of the livestock market today. Around 300 cattle and 1,000 hogs constituted the entire offering, there being no sheep. Good hogs brought $9.50 for a top and bulk sales ranged from 9.00 to 9.35. Pigs sold around 8.00 to 8.25.

Cattle—Beeves 3.50@7.50; stockers 3.50@6.50; cows 2.75@5.75; heifers 3.50@6.50; yearlings 3.50@7.50; bulls 2.25@4.50; calves 2.25@ 8.00.

COTTONSEED OIL.

NEW YORK, April 1.—Aside from October, which held steady on commission house buying, cottonseed oil had a weak tone, due to May liquidation and lack of outside support. October closed 4 points higher, while other deliveries showed net declines of 6 to 13 points. Sales 7,400 barrels. Crude markets were easier. Prime crude 9.50 sales; prime summer yellow spot 11@11.50; May 11.11; July 11; September 10.99, all bid.

Attention Voters

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

—I am a candidate for alderman of Public Utilities, Place No. 1, at the City Election to be held Tuesday the 4th of April, 1922.

—If the Public Utilities are not giving you an HONEST and COURTEOUS SERVICE, then it will be my first consideration if elected to see that they do.

—Do the Public Utilities treat you courteously when asked for an investigation of your monthly bill? If they do not, they should be compelled to do so.

—If elected, I will give my entire time to the duties of this important office, and promise to put in force certain changes that will save considerable money to the taxpayer. While I believe that the city government should economize it should be done consistant with progress.

—The people are entitled to have a statement of the financial condition of the city published in the local papers at regular intervals.

—I refer you to any business man of Wichita Falls who has known me over a period of fourteen years as to my fitness and experience for this office, and especially as to my honesty and courage in carrying out my convictions.

—I respectfully ask for your vote at the election Tuesday.

COUNTY HAS MORE CASH THAN EVER BEFORE IN ITS HISTORY

Wichita county started the month of April with more cash on hand than probably any other time in its history according to county officials. The county had a total of $1,394,498.97 in its several funds. The large amount is due to the fact that County Tax Collector Tittle recently turned over County Treasurer McHam the bulk of county tax collections for last year and the treasury was also increased over a half million dollars during the last week when local banks turned over the remaining money due on road bonds.

The balances in the several funds of the county were as follows Saturday:

County (general and special) funds	$491,661.37
Highway maintenance	185,148.09
Hospital (building)	65,305.85
School funds	59,916.61
Special road fund	592,871.05
Total	$1,394,498.97

The hospital fund will be expended during the next months as the addition to the Wichita General hospital for which it was voted is now under construction.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Priddy announces the arrival of a son at their home Saturday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Richolt, left Saturday for Breckenridge where they will spend a few days at the home of their daughter, Mrs. John Z. Martin.

The Wichita Falls representatives of the American National Insurance company of Galveston, Texas, met last night for a banquet at the Kemp hotel. The banquet was held at the conclusion of a most successful special week's effort in a drive for new business, while Agency Instructor Earl C. Pollard was in the district. The Wichita Falls' office exceeded all previous records in point of production to date for similar efforts in the past. All the representatives of this local office were present, which included, Y. C. Keen, superintendent, E. J. Senac, assistant superintendent, J. W. Mayes, J. H. Holden, W. R. Irvin, E. W. Hanks, O. C. Blanton, J. A. Sims and E. E. Whatley, agents. Enthusiasm and optimism was the keynote of the evening with a good live talk from each one present. They also had as their guests: Judge Guy Rodgers, Drs. Curtis Atkinson and F. R. Collard, local examiners for the company.

Agency Instructor E. C. Pollard gave a talk on the subject of life insurance and salesmanship. He spoke of Wichita Falls as one of the livest and most progressive cities of its size, of the many cities which he visits in various different states.

He paid special tribute to the high standard of citizenship and the progressive spirit of its leaders and predicted before many years a population of 100,000.

Everyone was highly elated and enthused over the magnificent oration of the evening by Judge Rodgers.

Superintendent Y. C. Keen acted as toastmaster for the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Jarrat have returned from a honeymoon trip to Galveston and are at home at the Chenault & Wheat apartment. Mrs. Jarrat was formerly Miss Mary Belle Hale of this city.

Mrs. John B. Bayard of Vincennes, Indiana is the guest of her sister, Mrs. J. H. Fenton on Morning Side drive.

V. H. Shepherd, for a number of years engaged in the sash and door business here, has become president and general manager of the Southern Sash & Door company at Houston. WAR DECLARED ON MOB ACTION BY DALLAS MEN

By Associated Press.

DALLAS, April 1.—More than 400 citizens of Dallas tonight issued a public call for a mass meeting "to put an end to lawlessness here," stating that "the people must now determine whether they are to have a government of law or a government of the mob."

The meeting will be held in the city hall auditorium Tuesday night. The action was taken as a result of recent floggings by masked and unmasked men of Dallas citizens.

Judge C. M. Smithdeal is chairman of the committee of 25 local citizens who met to discuss the local situation. The conference led to a decision to invite the public to sponsor a call for a mass meeting, and forms were circulated for signatures.

The call recites some of the alleged crimes that have been committed.

"The undersigned do NOT hesitate to say that they believe these crimes were committed by the Ku Klux Klan or by others on account of the atmosphere created by the Klan," it reads.

It mentions the oath each member of the klan is understood to be required to take and closes with the declaration that "we can not now, therefore, afford to commit the protection of our people to officers sworn to obey the laws of this land, who at the same time recognizes their obligation to the superior officers of the Ku Klux Klan as paramount to the laws of the union and the imperial State of Texas."

A PROLONGED VISIT.

Six hundred and fifty thousand coal miners are affected by the present coal crisis. The miners are planning on the support of the 2,500,000 members of the railroad brotherhoods. The crisis was brought on by the refusal of mine barons to meet with the miners' representatives to negotiate a new scale to replace the present one.

TIMMONS SAYS REED'S BIG FIGHT IN THE PRIMARY

There Is No Love Lost Between Breckenridge and the Anti-Alliance Missouri Senator.

—Most of the political worries in Washington these days are Republican political worries, but the Democrats have some also. The Missouri senatorship race is, one of them. Senator James A. Reed wants to come back. The element which desires first of all that Missouri be represented by at least one Democrat in the upper branch of Congress, is for Reed as against Breckenridge Long. The "ultra-Wilsonians," however, would prefer Long as a nominee although it is said to be certain that if he is a nominee, the Republican candidate will be elected.

Reed's big fight is in the primary. If he is nominated, it is said that he will be re-elected. He has a hold on the liberal element, the German element, the anti-league element, and of cours on the Democratic element.

There is no love lost between Long and Reed. Over the active opposition of Reed, Long, running as a Wilson Democrat, was nominated by the Democrats two years ago. His Republican opponent, Senator Spencer, defeated him by an overwhelming vote.

But the Missouri situation, viewed solely from the Democratic angle, is not the only one below the Mason-Dixon line which will prove of transcendent interest. From Virginia, where Senator Swanson must meet former Governor Westmoreland Davis, to Missouri, unusual disturbances are on the political firmament.

In Florida, William Jennings Bryan is making a bid for a senatorial toga. In the beginning he offered to accept the job if Trammel would retire. But Trammell, now serving in the Senate, answered announcing his candidacy for re-election. Since then petitions asking Bryan to run have been circulated. Bryan would make a spectacular senator. But the idea prevails in the Florida colony in Washington that the "Floridian" would be unable, by his oratory, to overcome advantages which Trammell possesses.

In Mississippi, Vardaman is endeavoring to return to Congress. He is opposed by former Congressman Hubert Stephens and Miss Belle Kearney. The struggle will be idential with those which have preceded. Vardaman is a stormy petrel able to disturb, at all times, the conservative or "best" element. Senator Williams will retire from office at the conclusion of his term. He has taken no active part in the senatorial situation, but he is opposed to Vardaman. Later, if necessity should arise, he might take the stump. Senator Harrison is also against Vardaman. Senator Harrison's secretary, Eugene Fly, is managing the campaign of Mr. Stephens.

Tennessee, which on account of its defection in 1920, is always a state of deep and abiding interest, has its hands full. Senator McKellar, native Alabama, is opposed for re-election by Ex-Governor "Ham" Patterson, Ex-Congressman Thetus Sims, Noah Cooper and Captain G. T. Fitzhugh. In the latter, McKellar, will find his strongest adversary, it is indicated. Both papers in Memphis, the News-Scimitar and Commercial-Appeal, are supporting Fitzhugh, who is a former soldier, a lawyer, an orator, and a citizen of standing and wealth.

The Republicans will make a frantic effort to defeat the Democratic nominee. But opinions seems to be general that Tennessee is already tired of its Republican affiliation. There was talk that Governor Alf. Taylor would run for the Senate, and that C. H. Houton, assistant secretary of commerce, would offer. But neither will run. The Republican candidate, Washington is informed, will be Ben Hooper, former Republican governor.

The Maine election was the outstanding event of the week. That John E. Nelson, Republican, would be elected was conceded all along. The district is the old rock-ribbed Republican one, which Blaine represented for many years. The interest was in the size of the majority. As it turned out it was a substantial Democratic gain, the congressional majority of the G. O. P. of 19,237 eighteen months ago being cut down to between 6,000 and 7,000 this year.

The Democrats immediately got busy with tally sheets to show that a similar gain throughout the country would give the Democrats control of the next Congress. The Republicans used little money in Maine, and the Democrats even less. When an effort was made to tap the Republican war chest for Mr. Nelson, Chairman Fess of the Republican congressional committee was in no mood to be "touched." He had been reading all day letters from the east, and particularly from New England, lambasting Congress in the most energetic style for its alleged sins and shortcomings. Many of these letters were clothes in words which Congressman Fess, himself a master of the English language, recognized as being both ugly and vicious. So the answer to the seekers after "dough" was plain and direct: "Gentlemen, you will have to finance your own campaign."

The congressional committee's cupboard is not entirely bare and Chairman Fess might have scraped up a handout for the Maine candidate if he had not been goaded by the assaults on Congress that are coming from that section. The best he would do was to send Representative Clint Cole of Ohio, into Maine to spellbind the natives with some of his oratorical trapeze work. The district is the one which Hames G. Blaine represented so long in Congress and it was regarded as reliably Republican, "dough or no dough."

The letters which are arousing the indignation of Chairman Fess by their excessive indulgence of critical language toward Congress are from the East. The writers are Republicans who, as a rule, have been rather heavy contributors to former Republican campaign funds. Apparently the one thing that goads them above everything else is the way Congress is handling the bonus question. They do not want any bonus and they say so in words strong enough to knock down an elephant. They accuse Congress of "playing politics" while the business interests suffer. One irate correspondent tells Congressman Fess that he has been a life-long Republican but is so disgusted with Congress that hereafter he will vote for "a yellow dog" on the Democratic ticket in preference to any candidate the Republicans can put up.

A committee from the House which was chosen to prod the Republicans members of the Senate Finance committee, and if possible force an early report on the tariff, might well adopt as its slogan the old Latin phrase, "I came, I saw, I conquered," with a slight alteration so that it would read: "We came, we saw, we conquered."

The committee's first effort in the performance of the function entrusted to it was somewhat discouraging. It sought out Senator James E. Watson of Indiana, who perhaps has more to do with running the finance committee than any other member, and proceeded to use the prod on him. He responded to the treatment about like a mule responds to the gentle caress of a blacksnake whip.

"You members of the House are just as unfair as you can be," he said. "You criticize us and put all the blame for the delay on us and yet come to us and ask us to hold up this, that and the other schedule until your constituents can have an opportunity to be heard of or to submit briefs. A large part of the delay in framing the tariff in the Senate committee is due to the interference of members of the House, and yet you go out and tell the public that there is no excuse for the way the finance committee is dilly-dallying and pass the buck to the Senate. The truth is that we are working day and night. The adoption of the American valuation plan has made it necessary to rewrite every schedule and that requires time."

KING COAL'S DEATH TOLL VERY LARGE

Two Hundred and Ten Lives Taken by the Mines in the United States in the Month of February.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 1.—A toll of 210 lives was taken by the coal mines of the United States in the month of February, according to reports received by the Federal Bureau of Mines from the various state mine inspectors. In the corresponding month of 1921, there were 160 fatal accidents in the coal mines. The 1923 figures thus represent an increase of 50 fatalities, or about 31 per cent. Based on an estimated output of 48,023,000 short tons in February, 1922, the fatality rate is 4.37 per million tons produced. The corresponding rate for February, 1921, was 4.15 and the production of coal was 38,552,000 tons. The production of coal during February, 1922, represents an increase of 25 per cent.

The average number of lives lost during February of each year from 1913 to 1921 has been 184. The production of coal has averaged 43,814,000 tons, showing fatality rate of 4.20 per million tons as representative of the month of February for the past nine years.

During the first two months of the present year, 364 men have been killed by accidents at coal mines against 357 killed during the corresponding months of 1921, an increase of 7 fatalities, or 2 per cent. The output of coal for the same months was 91,973,000 short tons in 1922 and 86,232,000 tons in 1921, an increase during the present year of 5,741,000 tons, or 7 per cent. These figures represent a fatality rate of 3.96 per million tons mined in 1922 and 4.14 in 1921.

On February 2, 9 men were killed by a gas explosion, due to open light, at the Belle Ellen Mine, No. 2, at Belle Ellen, Ala., and on the same date 23 men were killed by a coal-dust explosion, due to shot, at Gates Mine, No. 2, near Brownsville, Pa.

On February 7, 9 men were killed by a coal-dust explosion, due to shot, at the Frick mine, at Pinson Fork, Ky.

Comparing the figures by states, there were fewer lives lost in February of this year in Colorado, Illinois, and Indiana, but an increase in the states of Alabama, Kentucky, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, and West Virginia.

TEXAS LEADS ALL OTHERS IN REFINERIES

Lone Star State Has 118; Oklahoma Ranks Second With 97 and Pennsylvania Has 48.

Within 8 Years Number of Refineries Has Been Increased by 172 Per Cent —Capacity and Output.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 1.—Petroleum refineries in the United States on Jan 1, 1922, numbered 479 completed plants, with 30 additional plants in process of construction, according to a statistical summary prepared by H. J. Lowe, petroleum economist of the federal bureau of mines. The indicated daily refining capacity of these plants is 2,164,050 barrels of crude oil.

The tremendous increase in the extent of the petroleum refining industry of the country is shown by the fact that in 1914 but 176 petroleum refineries had been completed. Within eight years the number of refineries has been increased by 172 per cent.

Texas at present leads all other states in the volume of oil refining business, with 63 operating plants with a daily capacity of 345,150 barrels; in addition, the state had on Jan. 1, 46 refineries in shut-down condition, while 9 other plants were being built. Oklahoma is the second state in number of refineries, with 54 operating and 43 shut down; operating plants in this state has a daily capacity of 234,650 barrels. California, with 34 operating plants, was refining 314,300 barrels daily. Pennsylvania had in operation 48 plants with a daily refining capacity of 114,930 barrels. New Jersey, with but 5 refineries, treats 224,000 barrels of oil daily.

The importance recently attained by the state of Louisiana in this industry is indicated by the fact that 14 refineries were treating 114,330 barrels daily, while 11 plants were in shut-down condition. Kansas, with 19 operating plants, was refining 57,650 barrels daily; Illinois, with 12 plants, was handling 62,050 barrels; Wyoming, with 11 plants, was refining 39,900 barrels; and Indiana, with 5 plants operating, was handling 54,300 barrels daily.

Of the 479 completed refineries in the United States, 154 were in shut-down condition at the first of the year. The daily refining capacity of these non-operative plants was 256,610 barrels, or approximately one-eighth of the entire refining capacity of the country. The 30 new plants in process of construction will, it is estimated, add 59,950 barrels to the country's daily refining capacity.

Copies of the directory of petroleum refineries in the United States may be obtained from the bureau of mines, Washington, D. C.

LEOPOLD GODOWSKI TO APPEAR IN RECITAL HERE TUESDAY, APRIL 25

World Renowned Pianist to Include Wichita Falls in Four Texas Cities in Which He Appears.

One of the greatest musical events in the history of Wichita Falls is indicated in the announcement that Leopold Godowski, world renowned pianist, will appear in recital at the Wichita theater on April 25. The engagement of this pianist for Wichita Falls was secured after a long effort on the part of Ernest Katz, local musician, to bring this artist to Wichita Falls. Wichita Falls is one of only four cities in Texas to be visited by him.

Leopold Godowsky the "superman among pianists" as he has often been called, was born in the ancient town of Wilna; in the Lithuanian province of Russian Poland; on February 13, 1870.

From early childhood he showed an extraordinary aptitude for music making his first public appearance at the age of nine at a concert in his native town. Four years later found the youth enrolled at the Berlin Hochschule but only for a short period, as even at that age Leopold Godowsky had definite ideas about piano teaching which were not in sympathy with the dull and conventional methods in vogue at the Hochschule.

The great Saint Sachs, after hearing Godowsky in 1886, immediately manifested the most enthusiastic interest in the boy.

Godowsky stands today the accepted master pianist of his time, and American musical art owes much to his playing as well as his composing.

BAPTIST LEADER OPENS MEETING AT FIRST CHURCH HERE APRIL 16

Dr. L. R. Scorbrough, president of the Southwestern Baptist Theological seminary of Fort Worth, will conduct a series of evangelistic services at the First Baptist church, beginning Sunday, April 16, according to an announcement made by the pastor, Rev. O. L. Powers.

Dr. Scorbrough, who is the leader of the 75 million dollar campaign launched by Southern Baptists three years ago, and probably had more to do with the success of the campaign than any other man in the south, is also considered by the denomination as one of the greatest preachers in the Southern Baptist convention.

He is known as somewhat sensational yet sane in his delivery; orthodox, yet practical; plain, yet powerful; logical, yet eloquent. He magnifies creeds but places emphasis upon lives, according to Dr. Powers.

Evangelistic singing will be led by W. E. Young, who has recently become financial secretary and associate pastor of the First Baptist church. Mr. Young has been especially trained in church music and as a leader of congregational singing, at the Moody Bible Institute. He will be assisted by the chorus choir of the church and by the "dipper quartet," composed of R. Vaughn Ray, Ivan Murchison, C. H. Angle and W. E. Young.

The public is cordially invited to attend these meetings. Rev. Mr. Powers states that he feels that the church is in a better condition for an evangelistic campaign now than ever before. A religious campaign of the city has recently been made in which the names, addresses and church affiliations of every man, woman and child in the city were taken.

HATS FOR SPORTS AND DRESS ARE OF EQUAL APPEAL

Sports hats are becoming gay enough to serve as dressy models, but milliners are not worrying for fear women will make one hat do for many occasions because dress models are just as alluring as the sports hats. Here are three hats which will complete a sports, afternoon or evening costume. Embroidery is the keynote of the silk sports hat at the right. A small bird tops off the tan lisere straw suit hat in the center and the ever fashionable ostrich trims the turban at the left designed for afternoon or informal evening wear this season.

Oh! See What the Easter Bunny Brought

EASTER time is 'most as thrilling to the youngster as Christmas time, for, if one is both a good and fortunate child, there is the visit to be expected at dawn, of the Easter Bunny. The Easter Bunny is as mysterious a visitor as Santa Claus, and like him, he brings gifts to the children; and like Santa again, no one ever catches him at it.

The best way for the children to make ready for the call of the Easter Bunny, is to twist a long scarf, or Turkish towel into a "nest," and leave it at the window, or at the kitchen door on Easter Eve. Then, on Easter morning, just as sure as they're born, they will find the "nest" filled with a fine family of yellow chicks; a white rabbit or two with pink velvet ears, and colored eggs! A dazzling dozen of 'em. Some red, some blue, and some in the most fashionable colors a grown-up could sigh for. And—

Some will have faces painted on them! Lots of pretty little lady faces in various expressions depicting shyness, roguishness, hauteur, flirtatiousness, or disdain—and all of them hard-boiled.

The photo shows a "bon voyage" fruit basket that has been decorated in yellow and blue crepe paper, and filled with Easter novelties. The contents of the basket were gathered together by Betty Compson, star in the Paramount picture, "The Green Temptation," who has found time to prepare a surprise party for some kiddies. In the basket are some eggs that have been very cleverly painted; on each one there is a piquant face that has been carried out in a few strokes of a brush, and each face is different.

They are miniatures of their "big sisters," those Fashionable Ones, the painted wooden doll heads that stand in the milliners' windows, posing under dashing French hats—

Community Theater Plans Its Debut At Wichita Theater Friday Night

Friday, April 7, the first Community theater performance will be staged at the Wichita theater. Two plays, a three-act comedy drama, "Belinda," and a one-act play, "Will o' the Wisp," will constitute the program at this time, with the Community orchestra making its initial bow for the musical accompaniment. The Community Theater players are the former Studio Players, who have recently graduated into the full dignity of members of the Drama League of America, and a part of the Wichita Falls Center.

The prices for this performance were set by the executive board of the Wichita Falls Community theater at 25, 35 and 50 cents, making them popular prices, and within reach of all. Since there is no desire to do anything more than make expenses, in presenting the class of entertainment which has the stamp of approval of the Drama League, it was decided to set the price at these nominal amounts.

The Community orchestra will play an important part in the Friday performance. "Will o' the Wisp" calls for a musical setting, with a motif, supplied by "Love's Dream After the Ball," and the orchestra supplies this very beautifully. It will also give an overture, and the usual between act numbers. Ernest Katz is director of the orchestra. Mrs. E. L. Fulton is the theater director.

SOPHOMORES CLAIM ERROR IN CONTEST

The Sophomore class of the local high school makes a statement regarding the beauty contest recently held at the high school, which follows:

In a issue of the Record-News we note the announcement is made of Miss Lucille Benson, the senior candidate, as winner of the beauty contest. We feel sure that this was not an error on your part. Briefly speaking, Miss Anna Bruton was the winner of the contest, not withstanding the fact that the seniors signed a promissory note for $125 to the credit of Miss Benson and by the terms of this note they were allowed until May 1 to raise the money to meet same. This was an open violation of the rules of the contest, which declared that all money must be in by 4 p. m. Friday, March 24. As a result of this deliberate violation of the rules of the contest, the prize was awarded to the sophomore candidate, Miss Bruton, who although running second in the contest had to her credit twice as much actual cash as Miss Benson. We have the assurance that such a note signed by minors could not be legally collected.

The sophomores take this method of informing the public of the true inside facts in the beauty contest.

SEYMOUR HIGH SENIORS ENJOY 'PLEASURE DAY'

Picnic, Theater Party and Birthday Party for Popular Member of Class Crowded Into One Day.

"Merry Maids and Matrons" Honor Departing Member With Gift Shower; Personal Mention.

SEYMOUR, Texas, April 1.—Miss Jessie England entertained the "Merry Maids' and Matrons'" club Saturday evening with a farewell shower for Mrs. E. P. Croft, who is leaving soon to live in Mineral Wells. The house was tastily decorated in pink and green. A few games of "500" were played. Sheets of paper were passed and each guest asked to paste her picture which she had been asked to bring on this and write "To Mrs. Croft." These were laced together with a blue ribbon under a hand-painted cover and presented to Mrs. Croft as a memory book. She was given another surprise when she was handed a traveling bag filled with gifts. The hostess served a lovely salad plate with nopery and favors signifying Easter. The guests were: Misses Thelma and Grace Porter, Lucile Rupe, Georgia Lou England, Grace Fancher, Anita Weis, Lois Daugherty, Lucy Britton, Anna Briggs; Mesdames H. C. Lankford, D. B. Daugherty, E. P. Croft, L. Briggs and S. W. Raugh of Itasca.

March 24th proved a very enjoyable day for the senior class of the high school. They took lunch and drove to Miller creek for a much needed outing, which proved to be a very effective cure for their tired nerves. Lunch being over they drove back to town just in time to be the guests of Messrs Osborn and Holmes at the Criterion theater. This same date being Charles Richmond's sixteenth birthday and he a member of the class his mother, Mrs. E. A. Richmond, had secretly invited the class to come to her house after the show to celebrate this occassion. Charles was completely surprised to find the house decorated very elaborately in the class colors—pink and purple, and a profusion of sweet peas, the class flower. Music, games and dancing were the diversion until a late hour. In cutting the birthday cake Mozelle Fancher got the thimble, Grace Brooks Caldwell the penny and Oscar Osborn the ring. Punch was served throughout the evening and after the merry making ice cream and cake were served to Grace Brooks and Christine Caldwell, Pauline Knox, Telete and Mozelle Fancher, Ulene Lowell, Mabel Parker, Gladys England, Orville Bell, Henry Gray Briggs, Mark Tucker, Arthur Moody, Pat Langley, Oscar Osborn, ——— Holmes and Charles Richmond.

The Harmony club met Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Morris Randall at the home of Mrs. W. B. Craddock. Folk music of England and Scotland was the subject with Mrs. Randall, leader. Miss Leola Campbell and Mesdames P. N. Taylor, J. A. Wheat and J. J. Cockerel rendered an excellent program. The members present were Mesdames T. B. C. Perry, P. N. Taylor, J. J. Cockerell, J. A. Wheat, Miss Campbell and the hostess.

Mrs. W. H. Francis was hostess to the U. D. club Wednesday afternoon in a study of Japan. The house was beautifully and appropriately decorated. Mrs. Nick Mitchell was leader and the members responded to roll call with valuable bits of information concerning the nation and its peoples. Mesdames R. D. Mugg, J. J. Cockerell, J. A. Wheat, Misses Doris Humphries, Mattie Lee Richardson contributed numbers to a very interesting program, which closed with chorus, "Poor Butterfly," sung by Mozelle Fancher, Florence Britton, Roberta Snyder, Alma Cockerell, Gurlye Dickson, Mattie Lee Richardson and Irene Baker. These same girls assisted Mrs. Francis in serving brick cream and angel food cake to Mesdames Y. P. Yarbrough, I. E. Cockerell, T. L. Head, Lloyd Jones, C. W. Yates, Z. W. Jenkins, B. W. Bradshaw, A. The word "sincere" owes its origin to honey. The ancient Romans used honey in great quantities, and as much of it was adulterated by wax, he was accounted an honest man who sold his honey pure. In this way the word "sincere" passed into our language, for it signified "sine cera," meaning without wax.

BIG BUDGET LOCAL EVENTS FROM BURK

Church, Club, League Meetings and Doings Chronicled by Local Correspondent of Record News.

Beautiful Educational Play Is Praised, Oil News, Marriages and Deaths, Personal and Minor Mention.

BURKBURNETT, Texas, April 1.—Mrs. Atwood and Mrs. Wellmann were joint hostesses this week to the ladies of the Missionary Society of the Methodist church at the home of Mrs. Wellmann on East College street. There were 25 members in attendance, one new member, Mrs. Farr, was received, and five visitors, among the neighbors of the entertaining hostesses were also entertained. Mrs. Lulu Majors, the president, presided over the session that was devoted to the study of Mexico, its social and religious condition at the present time. This discussion was introduced by an able paper by Mrs. W. R. Hill, taken from the Missionary Voice, and lead by Mrs. M. L. Urban; all members of the society taking part. At the close of the study the hostesses served a dainty refreshment plate. The next meeting will be a business session at the church.

Rev. D. C. Montgomery, who was appointed district secretary of the Wichita district for Sunday school work is making a tour of the district this week. He will return Saturday and fill his usual appointments next Sabbath.

The Joy Class of the Methodist church, composed of the young matrons of the Sunday school, will hold their social and business meeting next Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Floyd McCutcheon, with Mrs. John Akern, acting as joint hostess.

Robert McCullar of Wichita Falls, secretary of the Epworth leaguers, visited Burkburnett Sunday, and addressed the three organizations in the Methodist Episcopal church. The Intermediate league, under the direction of Paul Christopher, made the best record in the district, and will be awarded the privilege of putting on the annual play of the district later in the summer.

The Junior Missionary society under the leadership of Mrs. T. C. Montgomery, put on a novel program Tuesday afternoon at the Methodist church in special honor of the mothers and babies of the cradle roll. The children served in official capacity, leading in the devotional, and all exercises, all of which was reported to have been educational and entertaining to an unusual degree. The ages of the members of this Missionary band range from 6 years to 14 years.

Miss Dorpat, Red Cross nurse for Burkburnett district, has spent several days in the city, examining children and has given reports on more than a thousand pupils during the week. The general condition of the children is good, though a number need treatment for bad throats, teeth and eyes.

Little Miss Bessie Laura Parson celebrated her eighth birthday Saturday afternoon with a delightful party at her home on Seventh street. There were game and music, and fun and frolic, as only little folks can enjoy, at a birthday party; and in the end, they all had a treat of ice cream and cake. Everybody said they had a good time, and wished Bessie Laura many more happy birthdays.

Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Denham, Mrs. James Hill, J. D. Simmons, Mrs. Elsey O'Quinn of Altus, Oklahoma, and Mrs. John Stephens of Wichita Falls, formed a pleasure motoring party to Wichita Falls Monday afternoon.

Mrs. J. M. F. Gill, local chairman of the Burk. Red Cross nursing service, attended the beautiful educational play in Wichita Falls, known as "Health Fairy," by Miss Anna Raymond, of New York, associate director of the National Child Health organization, under the auspices of the extension work of the University of Texas. Two thousand primary children were present from the Wichita Falls and Iowa Park schools. It was under the immediate management of the Red Cross force of the county, and was splendid worthwhile entertainment in which the Fairy taught in a wonderful way, that milk, vegetables, fresh air, sleep, clean teeth, good water and play would build strong bodies and good minds for little people. The Health Fairy is only played in the six larger cities of the State and was secured by Mrs. (Dr.) Glover, Miss Quinn, Miss Dorpat and other Red Cross workers in Wichita Falls.

Mrs. Good, living about three miles west of the city, entertained Tuesday evening with a fruit supper in celebration of her birthday. The guests, on this happy occasion, included her neighbors and a few young friends from the city, in all about 30 guests. Games and jokes, and a general good time was reported; the concluding favor being a treat of fruit and other good things to eat.

A. G. Dunn left Tuesday for Dallas where he will purchase a new undertaking stock and open an undertaking parlor and establishment.

The remains of Harry Pirtle, age 45, was shipped by Undertaker Wright to Humboldt, Kansas, accompanied by his brother-in-law, T. G. Hauser, of that city. Mr. Pirtle died early Thursday morning from hemorrhage while alone in his home on West Fourth street.

T. J. Bentley of Wichita Falls was a business visitor in the city Friday.

Messages from Dr. R. B. Homan of the Homan Tuberculosis Sanitorium in El Paso, announced the safe arrival of Paul Chapman, the young man who entered the institution for treatment under the auspices of the Burkburnett Masons of whom he was a member. He was accompanied by Rev. MacDougle, who will return this week.

On Saturday it was thought best to take him to the Hotel Dieu hospital, yet his condition was not considered serious by his physician, Dr. W. L. Brown, until Sunday when his family at Henrietta was wired. Mrs. Schlosberg and son left immediately for El Paso, arriving Monday evening at 8 o'clock, but the spirit of their loved one had taken its flight at 4 p. m. of the same day. He came to Cleburne, Texas, in the early 80's and there met and married Sallie A. Meyer in 1887, coming to Henrietta soon afterwards. Mr. Schlosberg was a highly respected citizen, a man of integrity and unusual business ability. Besides his wife he leaves a son, Sylvan, and a daughter, Mrs. D. A. Levy, to mourn his going. Spook Probe Starts Series Of Famous Ghost Narratives

Special to the Record News.

CALEDONIA MILLS, April 1.—Interest in that time-honored classic of bogeyland—the haunted house—has been revived by a series of follow up stories sent out recently about an up to date spook tenant of a farmhouse in a Nova Scotia county known by the phostly name of Antigonish. The haunted house is the home of a braw Scots farmer, Alexander Macdonald, who, it is said, has a hard head and a stout heart and no inclinations whatever toward the psychical.

It is a versatile ghost—this Canadian product—possessed, apparently, of all the modern improvements. Unlike former "hants" it does not confine its manifestations to a single chamber or to the house itself—it seems to have undertaken to run the whole Antigonish country. It braids the tails of cows, chases horses into a lather of sweat in the dead of night, starts mysterious fires, bewitches cattle, consumes unconscionable quantities of stored victuals and keeps up such a rattling and rapping about the house that rest or sleep within its walls even for the canny MacDonalds became a physical and mental impossibility.

Dr. Walker F. Prince.

So far it promises to be one of the most interesting ghosts that ever defied the landlord and tenant laws and at last accounts a "small army" of scientists and newspaper men were moving on its stronghold determined to pluck the heart of its mystery out by the roots.

Haunted Houses of Other Days

Meanwhile, by way of diversion for our suspended curiosity, it may help to turn back the pages of phychical history and reconsider some of the haunted house mysteries that intrigued the credulity of our reputable forefathers and passed into the category of "celebrated cases."

Perhaps the most famous of the old-time "haunts" was the "Cock Lane Ghost," which set all England agog with excitement in the latter part of the eighteenth century.

It was in the year 1702 that the "Cock Lane Ghost" made its first appearance in the house of a Mr. Parsons, in Cock Lane, Smithfield. Strange and unaccountable noises were heard in the house, rappings and the draggin of furniture across the floors, and later a luminous woman bearing a strong resemblance to one who, under the name of Mrs. Kent, had once resided in the house, but who had died a few years before was reported by several eyewitnesses.

The "Amherst Mystery."

Nova Scotia is responsible for another famous ghost, whose antics were somewhat similar to its Antigonish compatriot now under investigation. This one dates back about a quarter of a century and become known to history as the "Great Amherst Mystery," from the location of the haunted house in Amherst, Nova Scotia.

The house was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Teed, with their minor children, two sisters of Mrs. Teed, and a brother of Teed. The Amherst ghost had a very violent temperament and its disturbances seemed to center around one of the sisters-in-law, Esther Cox. Every night her body would swell up, we are told, until it appeared ready to burst. Sometimes the ghost would puncture her with pins. Terrific reports would shake the room in which she slept. Bed clothes would be torn from the bed and fly around the room. Frequently the pillow would be snatched from under her head and be hurled across the room. These things continued from day to day and "were seen by many persons."

Dr. Carrittee, the only physician, saw a "bucket of cold water become agitated and, to all appearances, boil while standing on the kitchen table." Voices would be heard threatening Esther, and on one occasion a lighted match fell from the ceiling and nearly set fire to the bed.

An investigator, Walter Hubbell, studied the case and wrote a whole book—"The Great Amherst Mystery"—about the happenings, in which he told—and made affidavit to—a number of astounding things. The ghost it seems, was determined to get rid of the girl Esther. Knives would be hurled through the air and one of them found lodgment in her back. Dishes and dishpans would fly out of her hands and across the room and there was no rest for the poor girl day or night, for the ghost got so bold that it would stage its vengeful exploits in the full glare of the daylight and apparently, got away with them. The phenomena became so violent and attracted such widespread notoriety that the owner of the premises finally served notice on the Teed family to move. Esther was allowed to go and live with a relative in another part of the country and, sure enough, that seemed to satisfy the "Great Amherst Ghost," for from that time on the disturbances ceased.

LESS THAN 20 GIFTS OF $1,000 TO WILSON FUND

Contributors Estimated at 130,000 and the Average Gift $5, Says Hon. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Henry Ford Contributed $10,000 and Kansas City Lumber King Made the Second Largest.

NEW YORK, March 31.—The widespread popularity of the plan to honor former President Wilson through public service awards to be made by the Woodrow Wilson Foundation is proven by the 130,000 contributors who have given an average of five dollars each, according to Franklin D. Roosevelt, national chairman. Mr. Roosevelt said today that the purposes of the originators of the tribute to Mr. Wilson are being realized in that the endowment of the awards when it is completed will represent the pilgrimages of over 200,000 persons in person or by letter to the various state and local offices of the Foundation with their tokens through which they hope to perpetuate the ideals of Mr. Wilson.

"It is much more fitting," said Mr. Roosevelt, "that this Foundation should represent the approval of the many for Mr. Wilson than that it should be the private contribution of a few men of large means. Small sums have come by the thousands every day since the campaign opened from those who wish to acclaim the idealism of the former president."

Mr. Roosevelt stressed the fact that less than a score of gifts of $1,000 or over has been received.

The largest gift recorded, he announced, is one of $10,000 made by Henry Ford, and the next largest are one of $2,500 from R. A. Long, of Kansas City, and an anonymous contribution for the same amount which came from Washington. So far as has been reported to national headquarters in this city, these are the only three contributions over $1,000.

Those from whom gifts of $1,000 have been reported are William O. Allison, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard M. Baruch, Helen O. Brice, Thomas L. Chadbourne, Justice John H. Clarke, of the United States Supreme court; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Harkness Flagler, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Morgenthau, Adolph S. Ochs, Ralph Pulitzer, railway employes division of the American Federation of Labor, Robert J. F. Schwarzenbach and Mrs. Willard D. Straight.

Citizen (to beggar at the door)—So you've been out of work long?

HOW TO MAKE A RADIO SET

Introductory

NOTE—There has been widespread interest recently in radio activity, especially by amateurs. We have been fortunate enough to obtain a series of articles on radio, so simply told that any interested person, from the data furnished, may be able to make himself a radio set that will permit him to listen in on concerts and pick up messages.

These articles, the introductory one being herewith presented, are by Mr. William G. H. Finch, of Buffalo, inventor of the automatic radio receiving and recording device. He is an associated member of the Institute of Radio Engineers and has long been identified with radio work.

William G. H. Finch.

By WM. G. H. FINCH,
Associated Member Institute of Radio Engineers.
(Written for International News Service.)

NEW YORK, March 31.—Radio has enveloped us like one of London's famous fogs that come without warning, unlike the fog, it is here to stay. It's America's newborn institution. Everywhere, in the subway, street car, train or stores you will hear radio being discussed. It has become part of our daily life, whether you be a mechanic, doctor, engineer or what not. There is daily broadcasted by the eighty radio broadcasting stations, whose ranges of operation cover our country as completely as a spider's web, messages of importance and numerous musical programs by people prominent on the stage.

Is it any wonder that Mr. Public demands that he be supplied with reliable information written in a non-technical manner, so that he may know the whys, wherefores and the ifs and hows of this most fascinating art? The writer, with this in mind, will endeavor to have his articles meet the above requirements.

"S" First Transatlantic Signal.

The letter "S" stands out in all histories of radiotelegraphy, because it was the first signal that spanned the Atlantic Ocean. This was sent from the British Marconi Station at Poldu and was received by Signor Marconi at the station at Cape Race, about 80 miles from St. Johns, Newfoundland, on Thursday, December 12, 1901, at 12:30 p. m. The announcement of this event by the press of the world caused the greatest excitement.

On Sunday, December 21, 1902, just one year and nine days after the leter "S" from Poldu was heard at Cape Race, Marconi announced the successful transmission of three messages from Glace Bay, at Poldu. This feat was considered remarkable by the scientists of the day.

Our country leads the world in the development of radio today, and a great portion of the credit is due to the dyed-in-the-wool amateur experiments.

It was estimated a year ago that there were approximately 500,000 private receiving stations and 10,000 licensed transmitting stations in the United States. Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover, on opening the recent Radio Conference, estimated that there were 600,000 to 1,000,000 private receiving sets in use today. It is easy to see, therefore, that, with this great army of experimenters of young and old, a great number of whom engage themselves seriously in conducting experiments and developing new apparatus, have put America in the lead.

We all can be thankful that our government put less restrictions upon these experimenters than any other nation: the Department of Commerce and the Navy Department have always co-operated, while in all foreign countries the opposite conditions exist, and in some the experimenter is forbidden to operate.

Radio Amateurs Important.

Now contrast this with the most recent accomplishment of the American radio amateur—that of transmitting this message across the Atlantic Ocean:

"NEW YORK, Mar. 28.
"1-1 B. C. G. wds 12.
"To Paul Godley,
"Ardrossan, Scotland.
"Hearty congratulations.
"BURGHARD,
"INMAN,
"GRINAN,
"ARMSTRONG,
"AMY CRONKHITE."

Mr. Paul Godley was sent over to Scotland by the American Radio Relay League to listen for American Amateurs, and to the astonishment of the commercial communication companies reported the reception of twenty-five stations on this side.

The success you will have will depend mostly upon the amount of time you devote yourself to the serious study and application of this most fascinating art. Many of the foremost radio men of the country started as amateurs.

The greatest amount of pleasure and reward will come from an understanding of the theory and operation of each piece of apparatus in your set, and, with this in mind, we will publish from time to time a complete description of apparatus, giving the theory, operation and constructional details.

Tomorrow our series of articles will begin with a description of a simple and efficient radio-receiving set.

COMMERCIAL TRAVELERS' TALK.

Jinks—You look as though you'd been up with the boys last night.

Banks—I have. Two of them came to our house last night. I thought to myself that one sample would have been quite sufficient.

AGREEING PERFECTLY.

Income Tax Investigator (questioning individual before board)—It seems to us that your income is rather small for the business you're engaged in.

"Yes, I think so, too, and I've often felt bad about it, but it can't be helped."

Buick First Again In Yellowstone Park!

Each year since Yellowstone Park was opened to automobile travel by the U. S. Government, more Buicks have made this difficult trip than any other car excepting Ford.

The figures for 1921, just announced, show 1871 Buicks passed through the Park during that season, 412 more than any other make.

The Yellowstone Park tour calls for every ounce of car performance—miles away from service for days at a time—the car must never fail. And that is why each year an increasing number of Park tourists depend on Buick.

Buick cars measure up to Buick reputation.

YEAR OF BIG GAINS FOR THE LORD'S CAUSE

Total Increase for 1921 Is 761,727 as Against 667,077 Reported in the Year 1920.

Survey of the Churches in America Shows the Tide Still in Flood; Gains Are Greater Than Expected.

By H. K. CARROLL, LL. D.
(Compiler of the First Complete Census figures of Religions in the United States.)

NEW YORK, April 1.—The survey of the churches for 1921 spread before the readers of the Christian Herald shows the tide still in flood. The disastrous ebb of 1919, overcome so handsomely in 1920, is well past and a moderate prosperity appears also in the returns of 1921. The gains in 1920 were even better than was represented then, Baptist statistics in particular showing a much larger increase than was anticipated.

The total increase for 1921 is 761,727 as against 667,007 reported in 1920, which corrected Baptist returns increase to 814,000. Remembering that the increase in 1919 sunk to less than 44,000, the rebound is certainly remarkable. Most of the denominations share in the increase. The Methodist group appears to have grown to the remarkable extent of nearly 300,000. Nearly a third of this, however, is credited to the Colored Methodist Episcopal church, which has never heretofore reported so large a figure. However, the returns have been confirmed by the official statistician of that body, Bishop R. S. Williams. The Methodist Episcopal church has an increase of 118,037, and the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, of 83,000. This is 10,000 larger for the latter and about 40,000 smaller for the former than in 1920.

The Presbyterian group advances by 62,649, of which nearly 50,000 is credited to the Northern and 20,541 to the Southern Presbyterian church. It should be noted that the Welsh Calvinistic church disappears from the list of separate bodies this year having been merged in 1921 with the Northern church, making an apparent loss of 13,558.

In the Baptist group the three large Baptist bodies, which are growing rapidly are represented by the returns for 1920, for the reason that their statistical year is the calendar year and no figures for 1921 are available. Formerly on the basis of partial returns, estimates were furnished by their statisticians, but this is not now possible. The American Baptist Year Book, which used to be published in the spring, did not appear last year until the autumn. Corrected returns for 1920 show that the increase for that year was 276,702, instead of 130,000 as reported in these tables. The Free Baptist body no longer appears as a separate organization. It has been in the process of merging with the Northern Baptist Convention for several years and has now practically disappeared. If Baptist increases for 1921 were included the total of gains in 1921 would almost certainly reach 850,000.

From the Reformed group the Hungarian church disappears this year, having been merged in large part with the Reformed church in the United States and in part with the Protestant Episcopal church. This process strangely appears to have resulted in a loss for the Reformed group, not only in communicants, but in ministers and churches.

The Salvation Army appears with a remarkable increase, 59,247, which is due mostly to the organization of junior members, between the ages of 14 and 18, of whom there are 62,064.

The net gain of the Lutheran group is about 18,000. Some of the returns are for 1920, or probably the increase would have been larger.

The gain of the Roman Catholic church appears much smaller than usual. In 1920 it was 127,579; this year it is under 50,000, the smallest figure reported in many years. The Polish National church, an offshoot of the Roman Catholics reports a net gain of 26,000, which, however, covers several years.

The Eastern Orthodox group shows gains in the Armenian Apostolic, the Russian Orthodox and the Hellenic churches. The Russian revision covers several years.

The Disciples of Christ registered an advance of nearly 24,000.

The Latter-Day Saints, Utah branch, gained 45,000 and the Reorganized branch 2,496.

The Friends suffer a net loss of 1,903, and the Christian church of 7,306.

The Pentecostal group of Holiness churches shows a net gain of upwards of 15,000 members. That of the Apostolic Holiness branch covers several years.

The increase of the Protestant Episcopal church is 5,768, which is rather under its usual gain.

The United Brethren in Christ makes an advance of 13,245 and the Evangelical association and United Evangelical church of 4,617.

The number of ministers reported in connection with the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, Mormon, 4,718, is abnormally large, averaging more than four to each church. It is made up as follows: In general office, 26; three ministerial officers to each of the 84 stakes into which the territory of the church is divided; three to each of the 879 wards, making a total of ministers in stakes and wards and in general office of 2,918; add to these 1,800 missionaries in various states of the Union and you have the aggregate of 4,718. The Reorganized branch reports nearly five ministers to each church.

The Theosophical society does not appear this year in the list of religious denominations. Frequent statements have reached me in the past from Theosophists, stating that the society is not a religious body and that many of its members are members of various churches. Its purpose is to teach brotherhood and study ancient and modern religion and philosophy and science. There are several branches, or organizations, the largest of which is the Universal Brotherhood, which claims to be the direct descendant of the original society organized by Madame Blavatsky. It has upward of 54,000 members under the leadership of Madame Katherine Tingley, Point Loma, California.

Application was made as usual to the American Unitarian association, Boston, for returns of the Unitarian denomination for 1921. The response in February stated that the "figures will not be available for at least two months. They are now being collected." Request made by wire early in March brought the following telegram:

Boston, Mass., March 7.
"H. K. Carroll, The Christian Herald, Bible House, New York.
"Please announce Unitarian constituency for 1921 estimated at 103,421. No fair statement of covenanted membership of our churches can be made as yet. Number of active churches, 406. Number of ministers, 505.

"SAMUEL A. ELIOT."

"I therefore insert the new figures for ministers and churches and continue the figures for membership, as used in previous years, until full returns are available.

The grand total is now 43,523,206. In 1911 it was 36,095,685. There has accordingly been a net gain in the ten years of 7,427,521; which is at the rate of 742,752 a year, or somewhat more than 2 per cent. This is a low rate, but the period covers the years of the great war.

The total of ministers, 195,414, shows an increase of 1,791, absorbed largely by the Roman Catholic church, 316, the Dunkard Brethren, 214, the Lutheran group, 350, the Methodist group, 529, the Pentecostal churches, 220, the Salvation Army, 810, and the Utah Latter Day Saints, sixty-nine.

The aggregate of churches, 230,572, shows a small increase, 88, in place of a decrease in the previous year of 1,030. The Methodist group loses 268, the Lutheran, 132, the Presbyterian 26, the United Brethren 39, the Protestant Episcopal church, 38, and so on. The Adventists lose 73 and the Disciples of Christ 132. The chief gains are of the Roman Catholic church, 122, and the Pentecostal bodies, 371. If smaller churches are being consolidated the declines are not all to be regretted.

A summary of the denominations: Ministers, 195,414; churches, 230,572; communicants, 43,523,206.

In the City National Bank of Commerce you find safety and conservatism in policy and practice combined with that atmosphere of cordial welcome which makes your relationship with the bank wholly satisfactory.—Adv.

RECENT RAINS BRING ELECTRA OPERATORS SUPPLY OF WATER

Texas Company Has 30 Days Supply Drilling Water; Many New Tests Start; Stars Popular.

Announcement that the Texas company water department was again in a position to supply water for drilling in the South Electra field, thanks to a few showers "up the creek" was the most important development of the past week, since it assures a continuation of new drilling, which has been made of much interest since the recent strikes in the shallow and deeper sands in this field. There is water enough for thirty days supply, in moderate quantities, it is understood, and in the meantime the operators are hoping for more and heavier rains before the present supply is exhausted.

Some operators are laying two-inch lines to connect with the Texas company lines, these individual lines being particularly necessary in scattered wildcat locations, away from the pools where rigs are close together. Operators who have been tied up for weeks for lack of water are glad to get it under any circumstances.

Star Rigs Favored.

Star rigs continue to be favored since they are most economical of water. They are the only type of rig that is actually necessary in drilling for the shallow sands in which the entire Electra section abounds, so development of these pools, while seriously handicapped by the drouth, can be still partially continued.

Work is continuing at good speed on the Hobbs interests' water line, which is also planned to serve the South Electra territory, so that it will be possible in a short time that the many tests that have been planned for weeks, and even months, can be drilled, according to present indications.

In section 31, H. & T. C., brought into the limelight with the striking of oil sands at 1600 and 1460 feet interest was again centered this past week.

The Eureka Producing company, No. 1 Spencer & D'Yarmott, brought in something over a week ago, in the 1460-foot sand, has proven to be even better than at first estimated, pumping around 200 barrels a day the latter part of the week.

The Harvey-Cullum et al No. 1 of the Rio Bravo Oil company, completed in the 1600-foot sand, about three weeks before the Spencer & D'Yarmott was brought in, is holding up to 75 barrels on the pump, according to week-end reports. The No. 2 on this lease is reported on the 1600-foot sand.

These two wells, about a mile apart and in two distinct sands, make this part of the district look very promising.

New Spencer et al Tests.

On the Spencer & D'Yarmott lease the derrick is up for the No. 2, 600 feet west and location has been made between No. 2 and No. 2 for the No. 3, which will be drilled with a star to the 800-foot sand, which both this well and the Harvey-Rio Bravo wells encountered in paying quantities.

The John O'Neill No. 1 Rio Bravo drilling with cable tools, is down around 700 feet. The No. 2, reported on the 800-foot sand, No. 3 is a location. The rotary used in drilling the No. 1 Roberts, at Fowlkes, west of the Magnolia's Duke well, is being moved down to this No. 3 location. When this is rigged up there will be three different types of rigs drilling on this one lease. The No. 2 is drilling with a spudder.

The new 470-foot sand, in which a very little pool has already been proven, south and east of these new deep wells, has two more wells on the sand, the Riner & Bailey No. 2 south and east of the discovery well of the Petroleum Producers company and reported a 25-barrel well in the sand drilled around 45 feet. The Petroleum Producers No. 5 is reported completing and the No. 2 Waggoner of F. M. Gates is reported nearing the sand.

The No. 1 of McCallister-Grisham et al. on the Waggoner, south of these shallow wells, is reported setting 10-inch around 800 feet. This test is of interest now because of the possibilities of encountering the sand found between 800 and 900 feet.

The Griswold's wildcat on the Waggoner, south of all these shallow operations, promises a nice completion in the 1930-foot level, from the developments the latter part of the week.

The Carteret Oil company's No. 1 Waggoner, south of the Griswold, is still working to overcome water trouble, on the sand slightly below 1,900 feet.

Several New Locations

The Lincoln and McDaniel 1,950-foot well, on the north edge of the producing pool marked by the Griswold, Gladiolus and neighboring leases, has led to several new locations to go to the deeper sand. Reports from the Lincoln et al. well the latter part of the week, showing it still flowing, and increasing its production, without being cleaned out, made the outlook for this new sand extremely promising. The well is now making right at 100 barrels natural, according to reports.

The Griswold Oil company's No. 21 is drilling around the 1,800-foot sand depth. The No. 23 is a new location offsetting the Lincoln and McDaniel well, and will go to the same foot sand.

At Fowlkes interest is apparently suspended for the time being, waiting developments in the Magnolia and Hunter tests. The T. F. Hunter No. 1 Mona Marie has had trouble in drilling out the plug, and various delays are also reported on the Magnolia tests. The Texhoma is down around 1,000 feet in its No. 1 Duke, the Hunter-Mona Marie No. 2, and the Sooner Oil company's No. 1 Roberts are tests that will soon be deep enough to be of interest.

John O'Neil has abandoned his No. 1 Roberts, northwest of the discovery well, at a depth of 2,020 feet. The two Gulf tests are to be drilled to 2,000 feet.

Laning and Moninger Pool.

Three new tests in the new Laning and Moninger pool, South Burkburnett, scheduled for completion this past week, were held up for various reasons, mainly trouble in landing the casing, and as a result the expected additions to the pool failed to materialize. The No. 1 Murdock of T. F. Hunter et al. set casing early in the week on the 1200-foot sand, and is to drill in with a star. No. 2 is riging up.

The No. 3 Cropper, lease 1, of Laning and Moninger had casing trouble, after reaching the sand, as did the No. 3 Cropper, lease 2, also on the sand. An early completion is anticipated in both, however.

The No. 1 Dodson of Laning and Moninger, just north of the lease 1 Cropper, is drilling around 1200 feet, according to the latest reports.

Northeast of this new pool the No. 1 Huffman of O'Neil and Markhan is reported drilling below 1000 feet. The Camp Oil and Gas company's No. 1 Hardin, close to the Burkburnett townsite has started drilling.

In the Texhoma pool in Archer county the No. 16 Gose of the Texhoma Oil and Refining company is waiting for cement to set, and the No. 18, is drilling around 1000 feet. The No. 19 is drilling around 300 feet.

BUNGER HAS ONLY TWO NEW COMPLETIONS FOR LAST WEEK

Considerable Interest in Operations Provided However by New Locations Near Recent Strikes.

Bunger has only two completions this past week, the Pomona Mutual No. 4 Owens, a 300-barrel producer in the 1,900-foot sand, and the Ross et al. No. 1 Lynn, 190 barrels, at 2,000 feet, but there are several points of interest in new operations provided by new locations around the Ralco's new well on the Roark, the Mahlstadt-Mook on the Williams, and an increasing activity around the Penn Cities No. 1 Herron.

The Gulf Production company, the Texas company and the Monroe Production company all have new locations around the Ralco's new 3,700-foot well, the two latter on the Askew being offsets to the new well.

The Ralco well is now making around 900 barrels, natural, latest reports from pipeline guages show.

There is but one well deper than this producing in the Bunger field, this being the Cosden's 4,000-foot producer, now making around 30 barrels. It has been producing a number of weeks.

Two Plans Considered

The Williams well of the Mahlstadt-Mook company, a wildcat three and a half miles east of the Bunger pool, is making a small amount of oil and some water, while the gas continues strong. Two plans are being considered, it is understood, either to plug back and shoot the 1,680-foot sand, or continue drilling for the deeper producing levels of this field.

East of the Mahlstadt-Mook test Tyrell et al. No. 1 Williams is drilling around 1,100 feet.

Activity on the Herron, around the Penn Cities well continues to pick up. The Miller, Horner and Taylor No. 1 Herron is reported drilling around 1,000 feet. The Penn Cities No. 2 Herron is drilling around 1,100 feet. Meek et al. spudded in their No. 1 Herron this week, and the Wells and Spelling No. 1 Herron is still a rig.

Fair Amounts of Activity

Inside the pool there is still a fair amount of activity. The Gulf started three new tests recently. In addition to the Askew, mentioned above, the No. 1 Driver is drilling around 700 feet, and the No. 1 Newby is drilling around 600 feet.

The No. 2 Lisle of the Gulf, is drilling around 1150 feet, the No. 1 Carmack is approximately 3,700 feet deep.

The Simms Oil company's No. 11 Owens and the Godley Oil company's No. 3 Owens are still rigs. The No. 2 Lynn of Ross et al, offsetting the No. 1 just completed for a 100-barrel well in the 2600-foot sand, has been rigged up. The Union No. 1 Lynn is another offset that is rigging up.

The No. 1 Whittenberg of the Union Oil company is drilling around 700 feet. The No. 3 Whittenberg of Burton et al is drilling around 850 feet.

The Pomona Mutual Oil company's No. 5 Owens, is a new rig. The No. 2 Whittenberg of Mann & Ashcraft, is drilling around 1200 feet.

South Bend Pool.

In the South Bend pool, the Roxana's No. 11-A Ford, was the only unusual development of the week, the well starting flowing from the 2200 foot sand. This well is to be drilled to the 2600-foot level, however, and the sand is being mudded up, to permit of drilling deeper. Before being mudded up, the well made around 400 barrels in 24 hours from the sand.

The Roxana's No. 2 Payne, shot at 3600 feet, with 250 quarts, is now cleaning out the bridge in the hole. This well is east of the big Scott well of the North American, in the 3500 foot lime.

The Roxana's No. 4 Goods, is shut down around 2200 feet. The No. 3 Scott, is drilling around 2360 feet, the No. 5 is drilling around 400 feet. The No. 2 Burgess is drilling around 2,900 feet, and the No. 7 Ford is drilling around 2160 feet.

The Eureka Producing company is drilling around 2850 feet in the No. 8 McCluskey. The No. 4 McCluskey of St. John et al formerly the Petrol lease, is drilling below 1900 feet.

Two New Oil Towns

Last week saw two new oil towns spring up in the southwest part of Young county. Oil Rose is the name of the settlement which is depending on the Mahlstadt-Mook well on the Williams for it's growth, and Askew City is a direct offset to the Ralco's new deep well on the Roark.

There are now five oil towns, within a few miles radius, brought about by the Bunger pool developments. Oil City is at present the largest and most flourishing. Parsons City and Herron City are the other two. Bunger is an old town, there long before oil developments were thought of.

CALOMEL GOOD BUT NEXT DOSE MAY SALIVATE

It Is Mercury, Quicksilver, Shocks Liver and Attacks Your Bones

Calomel salivation is horrible. It swells the tongue, loosens the teeth and starts rheumatism. There's no reason why a person should take sickening, salivating calomel when a few cents buys a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tonic—a perfect substitute for calomel. It is a pleasant vegetable liquid which will start your liver just as surely as calomel, but it doesn't make you sick and can not salivate.

Calomel is a dangerous drug, besides it may make you feel weak, sick and nauseated tomorrow. Don't lost a day's work. Take a spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone instead and you will wake up feeling great. No salts necessary. Your druggist says if you don't find Dodson's Liver Tone acts better than treacherous calomel your money is waiting for you.—Adv.

TENSE DRAMA OF BEAUTIFUL AND CRUEL SEA

Three Celebrities of Filmdom Appear in "Women Who Wait," at Majestic Monday and Tuesday.

Marguerite Clayton, Creighton Hale, George MacQuarrie!!! Three stars! Three splendid actors cast in big, gripping, tense roles!

Marguerite Clayton is the wholesome athletic outdoor type of girl. It will be remembered that she frist won fame as Broncho Billy's leading lady. She is perfectly cast herein.

Creighton Hale is a Pathe favorite in both serials and features. He comes to "Women Who Wait" from triumphs in D. W. Griffith's "The Idol Dancer" and "Way Down East."

George MacQuarrie is a popular heavy actor. "The Love Flower," There could have been no wiser selection for the role of the wicked brother.

Thomas Cameron and Harold Thomas contribute two splendid characters—Mr. Cameron as the old fisherman and Mr. Thomas as the philosophical Chinese laundryman. Baby May Ward is a beautiful and unspoiled child actress, and Peggy Shaw's charm stand out in a small part.

A story of the sea—the sea that is sometimes calm and peaceful, oftimes stormy and tempestous—but always beautiful and cruel.

A story of men who have fought the cruel sea—men on whose faces the sea has stamped their characters; men whose natures have been tempered or softened by the stern life of fisher folk.

A story of a woman who waits and keeps burning in her heart a love as steady and undying as the beacon in the lighthouse tower.

The plot: the triangle of two brothers in love with one girl. The stronger one wins her by lies and tricks, but his treachery and jealousy work his own undoing and, in the end, the winners are the man who was true and the woman whose love waited.

There is strong, virile drama in the conflict between the brothers.

There is potent, poignant love that knows sacrifice, heartache, suffering and the joy that follows sorrow.

There is rare, delightful atmosphere in the Cape Cod sea-coast locations, and the quaint, homely characters.

There is melodrama as sweeping and mighty as a stormy sea in the thrilling, breathless climax.

There is entertainment that lifts you out of yourself in every foot of this vibrant drama of life.

This picture will be shown at the Majestic theater on Monday and Tuesday.

SPLENDID CAST PLAYS IN GREAT FILM 'CONFLICT'

Priscilla Dean and Herbert Rawlinson Have Leading Roles in Picture at Gem Tuesday.

Priscilla Dean, the popular star of "Outside the Law" and "Reputation" will be seen at the Gem theater on Tuesday in her newest and greatest picture "Conflict," produced under Stuart Paton. It comes to the screen with one of the strongest casts ever assembled to support a popular star.

It was only after considerable difficulty that Herbert Rawlinson was obtained to play the principal role opposite the star. Straight from his success in "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," Edward Connelly was chosen for the leading character role—the interpretation of the subtle "John Remalie" of the story. Martha Mattox was engaged to portray the part of Miss Labo, the grim and silent housekeeper, and Stuart Paton considers her work one of the most distinctive characterizations ever screened.

In addition to these well-known players are to be seen Hector Sarno, L. C. Shumway, Sam Allen and Capt. C. E. Anderson, all with a large screen following, and each admirably suited to the individual roles.

"Conflict" came to the attention of thousands of readers when it was published in the Red Book Magazine from the pen of Clarence Budington Kelland. Realizing the wonderful screen possibilities of the story, Universal purchased it and Stuart Paton was assigned to direct from the continuity by George C. Hull.

The story is especially fitted to the personality of Miss Dean, who handles it with marked ability and ingenuity.

For more than 51 years the reigning pope has not left the grounds of the Vatican, in which he has been a voluntary prisoner.

FOLKS, HERE'S LOU!

LOU TELLEGEN

Those lovers of amusement who are tired of the jazz bands, and frotic musical shows and are in a receptive mood for something worth while, have a treat in store for their delectation at the Wichita theater for one night only, Monday, April 3, when the celebrated international romantic star, Lou Tellegen, will present himself (in person) and his own company, in an elaborate revival of the play that has long runs in New York, Boston and Chicago to its credit, and in which the famous star made his greatest hit in this country, "Blind Youth," a comedy drama in three acts by Mr. Tellegen and Willard Mack.

Conceded by the entire press of the country to be one of the most perfect masters of his art in the theatrical profession, Mr. Tellegen has also proved himself to be one of the few actors, capable of not only writing the vehicles in which he appears, but has demonstrated that he has the executive ability to successfully produce and present them. These faculties practically form a triumvirate that is hard to excel.

"Blind Youth" is a life-like play, in that it has its moments of laughter as well as those of pain; it is by no means glommy as its impulse is to the joy of life. Its story is concise and coherent, telling in many beautiful passages and scenes, the sorry consequences which befall a young artist, through his mistake of being guided by impulse instead of reason, and not distinguishing between false and genuine love. His regeneration is brought about, however, through a fellow student, and gains for him great and lasting happiness.

Mr. Tellegen has surrounded himself with a most capable company of players, including Helen Grayce, Isabel Alden, Dorothy Beardsley, Georgia Prentice, Florence Bell, Russell Clark, Russell Davis and Hurg Banks and has given the play a brand new dress, identical in scene and construction with that used during the long runs of the play.

IT SELDOM HAPPENS.

Frank—Did you have a fire?

No matter what questions you ask him, Cunning will give you an answer entirely satisfactory. The novelty of his act and entertainment consists to those who like a mystery. Cunning is accompanied by a number of assistants. During his visit to Wichita Falls, he will answer all questions, on Friday afternoon he will give his matinee for ladies only at which time no one under 16 years will be admitted.

EMPRESS PLAY SUPERB STORY DOMESTIC LIFE

Ethel Clayton, as Mildred Carr, Managed to Refloat Matrimonial Skiff After It Was Upset.

Mildred Carr, in the employ of Thomas Hazelton, a real estate man, quits her position to marry Lew Alden, an extravagant young man who works in another real estate office. [illegible] Mildred finds she must be economical to keep the matrimonial skiff afloat but by personal sacrifice she manages to save several thousand dollars out of her household allowance, intending to buy a little home with the money.

At the end of five years, Lew tells her one day that he has invested five thousand dollars in an option which he wants to sell to Hazelton's firm at once. Mildred persuades Hazelton to grant Lew an interview—he hears the proposition but tells him he must wait two weeks until the directors can decide the issue. Lew tells Mildred he must have two thousand dollars by the next day to hold the option. He tries to borrow the money, but is unsuccessful.

Sacrificing her dream, Mildred secretly arranges with her neighbor Harvey Beecher, that he shall take her two thousand and lend it to Lew, pretending it is his own money. Lew is delighted with Beecher's offer to the loan and accepts the money. At the end of an anxious two weeks, the board of directors of Hazelton's firm turn down the option, and all is lost for Lew.

Beecher calls on Mildred and endorses Lew's note to her, but his wife, from the opposite court, sees the transaction and jealously hurries to Mildred's apartment and accuses the latter of taking money from her husband. Lew enters at this crucial moment and after dismissing Beecher and his wife, demands an explanation from Mildred, who is forced to tell him that the money Beecher lent him was hers. Lew gets furious and declares she must have been afraid he wouldn't pay the money back or she would have lent it to him direct, and Mildred confesses this to be the truth. Lew leaves in a rage declaring he is through.

Mildred goes back to her position in Hazelton's office, continuing to have faith in Lew. Some time after she gets the check from him paying back the money in full and a note asking her forgiveness. Mildred is delighted and rings up her agent about the little home she had intended to buy. He tells her that it has been sold, but he knows a better one and thinks the owner would consider terms. Mildred goes with him to see the home and finds Lew the owner. The matrimonial partnership is happily resumed.

MISS SWANSON AT HER BEST IN OLYMPIC FILM

As Gorgeously Dressed Wife Popular Star Is "Trademark" in "Her Husband's Trademark."

Audiences at the Olympic theater next Monday will learn with satisfaction just what constitutes "Her Husband's Trademark," Gloria Swanson's latest Paramount vehicle, which will be the feature at that theater for three days.

In this case, the husband's trademark is a gorgeously dressed wife. The husband is not wealthy, but hopes to attain wealth by making a show of wealth. The plot thickens when a friend of husband and wife, returns after gaining both wealth and greatness, falls in love with the wife, and the husband, to provoke his selfish financial aims, rather encourages the romance. The outgrowth of this situation is a powerful climax showing the disillusionment and after a thrilling encounter with bandits in old Mexico, the scene of the friends oil lands, the death of the cowardly husband and the triumph of righteous love.

Stuart Holmes plays the husband with all his old-time finesse, as a suave villian, Richard Wayne portrays the friend and the other roles are in the hands of Lucien Littlefield, Clarence Burton, and Charles Ogle.

The production, directed by Sam Wood, is picturesque in theme, plot and scenic beauty. Lorna Moon wrote the scenario from the original photoplay by Clara Beranger.

The skins of twenty-two Australian opossums were required to make up the new, rase opossum-fur coat worn by Gloria Swanson in some of the scenes.

The star also wears six very lavish style creations and two beautiful and striking negligees in the picture, in which beautiful clothes are a necessary feature of the theme of the story.

AGNES AYRES HAS THRILLING CARRIAGE RIDE

Bumpety-Bump! Bumpety-bump The old carriage wabbled and swayed and the fair occupant held on desperately, not knowing at what moment a wheel would decide to come off or the bottom to fall out.

It was during the filming of "The Lane That Had No Turning," Agnes Ayers' first Paramount star picture, which comes to the Olympic theater next Thursday, Friday and Saturday and she was the occupant of the equippage. In the story she is pursuing the villain who has the missing will which proves her husband is not the heir of the Seigneury of Pontiac.

"I don't know when I've had a wilder ride," she confessed. "The way that carriage swayed and rocked almost made me seasick. But I clung to the sides and uttered a prayer as the horses galloped over the rough roads where we made the scenes."

Sid Gilbert Parker and Eugene Mullin adapted the story from the former's successful novel. Theodore Kosloff, Mahlon Hamilton and Frank Campeau, with a number of other well known actors and actresses of, play the roles in the picture. Miss Ayres has a fine emotional part.
