We were reading the other day about rumors that a fast steam-powered car may be on the way, as internal combustion engines battle to make their environmental grades for the years ahead. There was one mentioned that reportedly had hit a speed of 195 miles per hour and successfully passed the emission requirements for hydrocarbons, carbon monoxide and nitrogen oxide for 1975-76.

Then it was pointed out that this occurred in 1907 at Ormond Beach, Fla. The vehicle that accomplished the feat was a Stanley Steamer, which long since faded from the picture.

The car-makers around Detroit are not exactly impressed by the possibility of a successful steam car. They say there is a safety factor that definitely works against the steam car. There is a risk of driver and passengers being scalded by rampant steam if one is involved in any type of accident. Also, maintenance presents a big problem.

Reports from the Colorado River Municipal Water District point up the contrast between our water supply this spring and that of a year ago.

The availability of water, due mostly to bountiful rains last August, has enabled the CRMWD to sell a lot more water than it had to offer this time last year. And there are hopes, of course, that the supplies will be further augmented this season.

Reports that Lake J.B. Thomas had picked up around 1,500 acre feet of water from showers the past weekend brought scarcely a ripple of excitement. A year ago it would have been regarded as a timely addition to the dwindling lake.

The Texas Highway Department says that the number of out-of-state auto visitors to Texas increased significantly in 1971, following two years of slight declines immediately after the banner HemisFair year of 1968.

The total last year was 16,452,000, an increase of 8.9 per cent over 1970.

However, tourist expenditures were up even more, showing a gain of 33.7 per cent, for a total of more than $1.3 billion.

Travel and Information Director Tom Taylor attributes this to the fact that Texas now has more attractions and recreational choices which offer more opportunities to spend the travel dollar.

They say that even the smallest happenings interest tourists from other states, a lot of them apparently welcoming opportunities to get "off the beaten path." —WACIL McNAIR.

Freighters Leave Haipong Harbor

SAIGON (AP) — Several freighters, including at least one flying the Soviet flag, pulled out of Haiphong harbor before the deadline set by President Nixon for safe passage through the mined entrance, the U.S. 7th Fleet announced today.

The mines dropped by U.S. planes Tuesday across the entrance to Haiphong and six other North Vietnamese ports armed themselves at 7 p.m. Saigon time—7 a.m. EDT. They now can be expected to explode when ships pass over or near them.

Intense U.S. air and naval bombardment continued against military targets in North Vietnam for the third successive day. The 7th Fleet said the most powerful cruiser-destroyer force assembled in the western Pacific since World War II was ranging up and down the coast hitting within four miles of Haiphong.

Informants said U.S. fighter-bombers flew 300 strikes against the Hanoi-Haiphong military complex and other areas of North Vietnam Wednesday, and pilots reported shooting down 10 MIG interceptors, the biggest one-day bag of the war.

Another 200 air strikes were flown against North Vietnam today, the sources said.

Oil Import Hike Is Authorized

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon today authorized a 15 per cent increase in oil imports for the balance of 1972.

Nixon signed a proclamation increasing by 230,000 barrels a day the quotas on imports of petroleum and petroleum products from the Middle East, Latin America and Canada.

Deputy press secretary Gerald L. Warren said the move, recommended by the Office of Emergency Preparedness, was prompted in part by the failure of domestic oil production to meet expected levels.

For Latin America and the Middle East, the daily quota on imports is raised from 965,000 barrels to 1,165,000.

The Canadian allotment was boosted by 30,000 barrels to 570,000 barrels.

IN SURPRISE SESSION

Nixon Meets Soviet Officials

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon met today with two ranking Soviet officials—a surprise session that might indicate his North Vietnamese moves will not wreck the May 22 Moscow summit.

The White House described the meeting between Nikolai Patolichev, the Soviet minister of Foreign Trade, and Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin, with Nixon and three of his top aides as a "courtesy call."

But, coming as it did against the backdrop of a Soviet statement on Nixon's latest Vietnam measures, it could be a hopeful sign for the long-arranged summit.

Press secretary Ronald Ziegler, who described the session as a courtesy call, said Patolichev was in Washington for trade talks with Secretary of Commerce Heter G. Peterson.

Peterson was in Nixon's office for the meeting, as was presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger and economic adviser Peter Flanigan.

Nixon and the trade minister talked through a translator.

Precisely what business they were discussing was not disclosed. But the timing of the meeting seemed significant.

The meeting lasted about an hour, with Soviet officials leaving the White House without divulging what was discussed.

The session came soon after the Soviet Union's first top-level reaction to Nixon's announcement Monday night that he had ordered the mining of entrances to all North Vietnamese habors to choke off war supplies.

The mines were activated at 7 a.m., EDT, today and a short time later the Kremlin declared Nixon's actions would "complicate further the situation in Southeast Asia and are fraught with serious consequences for international peace and security."

The 890-word Soviet statement made no mention of the summit conference between Nixon and Kremlin leaders.

Report Alaska Pipeline OK'D

WASHINGTON (AP) — An aide to Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, said today that the Interior Department has decided to grant a permit for the Trans-Alaska oil pipeline.

Gravel's press secretary, Ted Johnson, said that Interior planned to make such an announcement later today.

He said that Interior disclosed only that an announcement would be made and that the pipeline permit would be granted.

NOTED ARTIST VISITS HOME—Ritch Miller, former Fluvanna resident who has won international fame as an artist, talks with his niece, Rebecca Miller, 10, in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Miller at their ranch west of Fluvanna. The artist's painting of Rebecca hangs above their heads. It was completed in Miller's studio in Mallorca. Ritch is visiting his brother and family for the first time in seven years. He has been in Spain for the past 10 years.

Former Fluvanna Student Now Spain's Top Artist

BY BUCK SITTON

Ritch Miller, Fluvanna artist, has proven what a man can do if he really makes up his mind and has sufficient incentive and dedication. Although he has had no formal art instruction, the 47-year-old former Fluvanna schoolboy has established himself as the No. 1 foreign painter on the island of Mallorca 120 miles off the east coast of Spain. Mallorca is a world-famous gathering place for artists, including Picasso and Mira, the two most famous painters today.

Miller left a successful career in stage and television production to try painting seriously "for three years." He went to Mallorca to devote his full attention to his ambition and his persistence paid off.

In 1964 he was the first foreigner to win the Medal of Honor at the XXIV Autumn Exhibition in Palma de Mallorca, the main city on the island. This exhibition annually attracts hundreds of entries from artists all over Europe. In 1965, Miller won the top prize again, and in 1969 the organizers of the exhibition "struck a new medal" to award Miller the best foreign painter award.

Recently, Miller was one of only 20 painters invited to exhibit their paintings at the "Picasso 90"—an exhibition held in honor of the world-renowned artist on the occasion of his 90th birthday. Mira, the Spanish painter, who also is 90, was one of those invited to the special exhibition. Both of them live on Mallorca. Some of the other famous painters there were Calder, Tapies, and Millares. Only two other American painters were invited.

"The greatest number of international painters are living and painting in Mallorca," Miller said. In fact, a style of painting known as "Mallorcanism" has arisen to describe most of the work being done there.

"They are mostly landscapes," Miller explained.

A word has been coined to describe Miller's style of painting—"Milleriana," which deals mostly with the human figure. It's a sort of "hard edge realism" and uses bright colors next to each other.

"Spain is producing the best paintings in the world today," declares Miller, who himself has been rated the highest foreign painter in Spain based on a point system.

Miller has his own studio out in the country, but he says the city "has grown up around me."

For the past three years, he has contracted with the Sala Pelaires Studio for his paintings. Exhibits are planned in the near future in Valencia, Barcelona, London and New York.

Miller is visiting at the Borden County ranch of his brother, Ralph Miller, and his wife, Dewey Fay, and their daughters, Rebecca, 10, and Tammy Jo, 6. Ralph and Ritch

11 More Bodies Found In Mine

KELLOGG, Idaho (AP) — Rescue crews probing the burned-out Sunshine silver mine have discovered 11 more bodies. But fear of smoke and gas and lack of communications has slowed efforts to go deeper in search of 33 missing men.

The 11 victims raised to 58 the number of known dead from the fire that swept through the mine nine days ago. Four of the latest victims were found Wednesday night at the 3,400-foot level. The other seven were discovered early today at 3,700 feet. Mine Manager Marvin Chase said it appeared the seven had been trying to escape smoke when they were overcome.

Wild Weather Spans Texas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Flooding rains cascaded onto broad stretches of Texas during the night and into today as a non-stop procession of wild thunderstorms aimed wrathful blows at areas from the Panhandle-Plains sector to the coast.

Parts of South Texas already were afloat after cloudbursts dumped 9.2 inches of rain onto Laredo and the Mexican border and 6 inches in two hours at Wharton, which is southwest of Houston.

New deluges descended next on the Texas Panhandle and continued this morning, causing a flash flood warning until 7 a.m. for parts of Dallam, Hansford and Sherman counties and a neighboring slice of Oklahoma.

Showers and lighter thunderstorms were scattered along the coast and through East Texas. And forecasters predicted still more throughout the state for at least 24 hours.

Mixed in with the thunderstorms were occasional tornadoes, including one which witnesses saw hit the ground three times near Dalhart in the Texas Panhandle. Winds hitting up to 52 miles per hour damaged roofs, tore the top off a church and toppled power poles in Dalhart but there apparently was little other damage.

Reports of other twister sightings came from southwest of Amarillo and northeast of Bovina in the Panhandle, and funnel clouds also were spotted far to the south near Houston, Victoria and Corpus Christi.

Some other rainfall reports from major weather stations in the 24 hours to 7 a.m. included Dalhart 1.81 inches, San Antonio 1.79, Victoria 1.65, Beaumont-Port Arthur 1.43, McAllen 1.39, Corpus Christi 1.33, College Station 1.26, Alice 1.23 and Austin 1.17.

Hail accompanied the heavy downpours in many areas, shelling the Dalhart area with chunks of ice the size of golf balls and hammering at Edinburg and Elsa in the Lower Rio Grande valley.

Water filled some streets three feet deep after the cloudburst hit Laredo and drove many residents from homes in a low part of town. Buses from Laredo Air Force Base hauled some to safety. Merchants sandbagged doorways to keep out the overflow.

Sheriff's officers reported an undetermined number of persons were injured during the Laredo storm. Winds gusted up to 56 miles per hour.

The Rio Grande rose from 1.7 feet to 11.3 feet in 12 hours and kept going up at Laredo, the International Boundary and Water Commission reported. Chacon and Zacate Creeks in the same vicinity went wild.

Flash flood warnings were in force for a time in low areas of Kendall, Comal, Guadalupe, Gonzales, Bexar, Medina, Wilson, Karnes, Frio and Atascosa counties.

Official observers said many South Texas streams would be out of banks for days.

Contributing to the rough weather pattern were a warm front which stretched across South Texas and was headed northward this morning and a new cold front expected to push into the state from New Mexico by Friday.

Temperatures near dawn today ranged from 49 degrees at Amarillo up to 75 at Brownsville. By comparison, Wednesday's top marks covered a spread from 60 at Amarillo to 85 at Brownsville and 87 at El Paso.

Clearing skies and somewhat lower temperatures were predicted in areas where the new cool front is expected Friday, and rainfall was due to taper off elsewhere with passage of the frontal system.

Baylor Gets Gift Of $1 Million

DALLAS (AP) — Baylor University Medical Center has been given $1 million for establishment of a center for continuing education, trustees said Wednesday night.

Dewey Presley of Dallas chairman, said the gift was from Webb Roberts of Dallas and the center will be named after him.

CANDIDATE GREETED—Greeting State Rep. Maurice Angly, Republican Candidate for State Treasurer, here Wednesday were county and area Republicans. GOP Treasurer Candidate Visits

State Rep. Maurice Angly of Austin, Republican candidate for state treasurer, brought his campaign to Snyder yesterday afternoon, speaking at a coffee session arranged by local Republicans in the Snyder Savings and Loan Community Room.

"While it was Mutscher, Shannon and McGinty who were found guilty of bribery conspiracy charges arising from the political loans of Frank Sharp, it was State Treasurer Jesse James who provided Sharp with the lendable funds," Angly declared. "No other state treasurer in the history of Texas has ever played so fast and loose with the taxpayer's money as did State Treasurer James at the now defunct Sharpstown State Bank.

"By means of multimillion dollar transfers of state deposits to Sharp's bank in the months preceding these political loans to those involved in the bribery conspiracy, the state treasurer put up what bankers refer to as the 'compensating balances' for the loans," Angly asserted.

Angly said James deposited $6 million in Sharpstown State Bank at five per cent interest, but left a balance of over $4 million "sitting parked in a checking account earning no interest whatsoever." He said he would put an end to such "political preference deposits of state funds."

Angly is on a week long tour, with stops scheduled in Sweetwater, Vernon, Wichita Falls, Henrietta, Bowie, Jacksboro, Eastland, Cisco, Rising Star, Goldthwaite, Midland and El Paso.

WTC Automotive Contestants

Western Texas College has picked its "Road Scholars" for 1972, according to Jim McDonald, automotive instructor.

Jimmy Stribling and Bobby Watson, both of Snyder, will represent WTC in this year's Plymouth Trouble Shooting Contest.

The team, sponsored by Thomas-Stanfield Chrysler-Plymouth of Snyder, will compete at Spruce High School in Dallas at 1 p.m. Friday.

The winning team in the Dallas contest will be sent to Los Angeles in June to compete against other top Trouble Shooters from all parts of the country in the National Championships Finals.

The National Trouble Shooting Contest Awards banquet will be held in the Grand Ballroom of the Beverly Hilton Hotel, the scene of the annual Academy Awards Banquet.

Contestants are competing for more than $125,000 worth of scholarships and awards.

In the contest, participants take a written exam which counts as 40 percent of their team's final score and then they race the clock and the other teams to find and fix several malfunctions deliberately placed in new Plymouth cars. This mechanical challenge counts as 50 percent of a team's score.

Mansfield, Scott To Make Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sens. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., and Hugh Scott, R-Pa., will make a report to the Senate on Thursday on their recent 16-day trip to China.

At a White House breakfast with President Nixon on Tuesday, Scott and Mansfield gave a complete report on where they went, what they did and their conclusions.

Connally Talks Tax Reforms

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon may send Congress a sweeping tax-reform bill this year, including possible consideration of a value-added tax, says Treasury Secretary John B. Connally.

Connally told a small group of newsmen Wednesday that if the President decides to send up tax-reform legislation, it will be a "basic, fundamental" proposal rather than loophole-closing ideas currently pending on Capitol Hill. The secretary doubted that a major tax-reform bill could be passed during a campaign year. "I would question the basic wisdom of trying to write a tax-reform bill between the conventions and the election," he said.

"He may well send some proposals to the hill," Connally said of Nixon, emphasizing that he wasn't speaking for the President. He added the list could include a value-added tax idea, "major simplication" of the tax structure, and a proposal on property taxes.

In recent times, it has taken major tax-reform bills at least a year, and usually longer to go through Congress.

Connally said he views the value-added tax as a "tax of substitution." The administration is studying the tax as a substitute for the local property tax as the financial prop for schools, but has made no formal proposal.

The value-added tax is a levy on the value added to goods at each level of production. It is praised by its supporters as easy to collect and administer, but criticized by detractors as a national sales tax striking the poor the hardest.

Connally said he will recommend that the administration consider cutting the fat out of the budget before it attempts to embark on major tax reform.

But if there is a presidential tax-reform proposal, "he's not going to limit it to a few isolated cases that have political porridge in them."

US Makes Profit On Ike Dollars

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Treasury stands to make nearly $600 million in profits by selling collectors versions of Eisenhower silver dollars at $3 to $10.

Treasury Secretary John B. Connally brought up the subject Wednesday at a session of the Senate Appropriations Committee and said:

"The profit we're making on sales of the Eisenhower dollar is just unconscionable, that's the truth."

Connally didn't have the exact figures on the profits but the U.S. mint did.

A spokesman said the Treasury profit last year on sales of $10 "proof" dollars and $3 uncirculated dollars was exactly $40,411,669.14 with the profit for both types of coins averaging $3.89.

Multiplied by the 150 million dollars—each containing 40 per cent silver—that the Mint is authorized by Congress to make and sell, the total potential profit is $597.5 million.

And a mint spokesman said the profit margin probably will rise as initial production costs go down.

"We're selling all of them we can make," he said. "We're limited only by our production capacity."

"As a matter of fact, our profits should be more than $3.89 on each coin, the spokesman said. "I figure that profit margin will either stand firm or go up. It won't go down."

The profit from the 3,858,626 proof coins sold at $10 each and the 6,542,354 uncirculated coins sold at $3 each went into the Treasury's general fund.

In addition to that, the mint shipped 196 million of the ordinary cupra-nickel Eisenhower dollars to the banks. The cost of the metal in each of those one-dollar coins is just six cents.

Snyder Student Honored At LCC

Arlie Eicke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Seabourn Eicke, 2801 Denison, received the Lubbock Christian College Agricultural Award for "Outstanding Sophomore—1971-72." He was presented a plaque.

Eicke is recipient of a scholarship from the Lubbock Agricultural Club for making the highest grade in agricultural studies. He also served as student director of the A Cappella Choir at LCC, having been selected for that honor by the students.

Spain's Top Artist

have one other brother, Riley, who lives on a ranch at Justiceburg, and a sister, Elizabeth, who is married to a Trinidad rancher.

Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. R. Clyde Miller. The Miller brothers' grandfather, —R.N. (Rich) Miller— was one of the first settlers in this area, coming here in 1900 to organize a ranch. The Millers all attended the former Cedar Crest School, which was organized in the area so that children of area ranchers would receive schooling.

It was there that Ritch received his first encouragement to become a painter. His teacher, Burline Boyington, who now lives at Tye, and his mother both gave him considerable encouragement.

"I've always wanted to be a painter all of my life and have been drawing sketches since I was two years old," Ritch said.

The Borden County native says that painters "are born—not made." He said one has to have a burning desire to paint in order to become successful at it.

"A real painter paints because he has to," Ritch pointed out. He used the example of Gaugin, who abandoned his wife and children and business at the age of 40 to devote the remainder of his life to painting.

The Cedar Crest School where the Millers first attended school had just one teacher for 11 grades. She lived with various ranch families during the school year. The school closed during World War II.

After it closed, Ritch and Ralph attended the Fluvanna School where they graduated. They also found encouragement in another direction from the superintendent, E.D. Wedgeworth, who had an interest in dramatics. While he was superintendent, the Fluvanna School won state honors with its one-act play.

After his graduation, Ritch attended Texas Tech but entered the service without graduating. Ralph went into the Army. Ritch attended Columbia University while he was in the service, and, following his discharge, went into designing, producing and planning stage productions.

Like painting, he learned this work by doing it. He spent three or four years in New York in the theater business, then went into television in Lincoln, Nebr. and later jointed CBS in Chattanooga, Tenn.

All during his high school, college, service and early career period he painted in his spare time. A woman in Tennessee encouraged him to go into it full time.

"It was a difficult decision, because you have to cut loose from everything and there is not much security."

But, his decision had been made and he stuck with it, moving to Spain where his perseverance paid off.

Ritch says he is his best critic.

"I only keep about two of every 40 of my paintings," he pointed out.

One of his best paintings is of Rebecca—Ralph's daughter. Although Ritch's paintings were not allowed to be sold outside Spain, he sent the painting of Rebecca to Dallas where an understanding customs allowed Ralph to have it after he signed a declaration the painting would not be sold.

Ralph's wife; sister of local artist—Jess Everett, has won several prizes for his painting.

"He's a good painter, and he has come a long way," Ritch says.

Ritch says he will continue to live in Spain but that Fluvanna "will always seem like home."

Designer Shows Fall Collection

NEW YORK (AP) — Women should have no trouble keeping warm this fall—with all the news in coats and jackets.

At Blassport, designer Bill Blass updates blazers in his sportswear collection with matching trompe l'eoil sweaters. He also likes the topper raincoat and the wrap jacket.

He shows the wrap look in a quiet tweed jacket with lynx collar, $280, and matching slacks, $70.

Or there's a red coat in a new machine-washable simulated suede.

This suede look-alike fabric is shown in a short orange jacket with matching slacks, $280, and in full length skirts, trimmed in lynx.

The monotone idea for separates includes camel cashmere sweater, slacks and jacket. Or a soft, deep blue combo.

But there are plenty of plaid combinations, including sweaters.

The trousers that look good with so many of the coats are leather-belted and pleated at the waist. So are the skirts. U-necked sweaters, at $20, can be worn with blouses—or reversed and worn alone for a bare-backed feeling.

The Cuddlecoat collection by Victor Joris and La Flaque de Paris, a division of Cuddlecoat, unleashed short vinyl jackets, plaid capes and full-length fur-trimmed evening coats.

"Lavish fur trims have always been big sellers," Joris said.

The topper was shown in shiny black with a very full back—and in a straighter blue and white checked style with red trim. This three-quarter length may look best with pants, but it does all right with a pleated skirt, too.

There were enough knee-length coats for the women who prefer a more conservative route into fall. One white coat was cut slightly fuller than last year's A-line.

"That's a happy medium for people who aren't ready for a radical change," said Joris, adding he likes the increased fullness of coats.

"For some reason, I've always thought of luxury as sort of looser, soft and flowing. Maybe it's a childhood thing. All the rich ladies you ever saw had wrap coats with fur collars."

The Cuddlecoat line runs $130 to $600. The La Flaque coats are priced $75 to $110.

HD Agent Presents Program On Patterns

The Snyder Jr. 4-H Club met in the County Extension Office on May 9. Mary Garza, President, called the meeting to order.

Miss Ruby Butts, County Home Demonstration Agent, gave the demonstration on information found on a pattern envelope and how it helps you save money when you sew. To save money and have clothes that fit well, check your measurements and buy the right size pattern. Then read the chart on the envelope and buy the right amount of material. On a piece of knit material costing $6 a yard even 6 inches more material than you need will cost $1 extra. Even inexpensive material left over is money thrown away.

Other helpful information on your pattern envelope, Miss Butts pointed out, includes the length of your finished garment, suggestions for materials to use, the trims, zippers, etc. needed, and pictures of the pattern pieces that will help you know how difficult the pattern will be to make.

Many patterns show pictures of several ways to make garments using the one pattern. It may include patterns for a whole wardrobe. These are good buys if the pattern pleases you. You can add trim and change the appearance of garments made by the same pattern so that they do not look alike making it possible to use patterns several times. This also makes your clothing money go further, Miss Butts said.

One new member, Josephine Rios, was enrolled in the club. Gloria Rios served cookies to the group.

Those present were: Becky Costillo, Mary Garza, Mary Luera, Suzie Velasquez, Norma Sauceda, Selma Hill, Gloria Rios, Mary Jane Rios, Rita Rios, Ann Rios, Josephine Rios, Claudi Hernandez, Gracie Hernandez, Volanda Pesina, Betty Pesina, Patricia Luera, Debbie Romo, Janie Vansikle and Debra Vansickle.

Foreman Suing Candace, Powers For Legal Fees

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston lawyer Percy Foreman says he was to have received $250,000 for defending Melvin Lane Powers on a murder charge even if Powers had been convicted and assessed the death penalty.

Foreman testified Wednesday in district court in a legal battle over what fee Foreman is due for his legal services on behalf of Candace Mossler Garrison and Powers.

The former Mrs. Mossler, who married electrical contractor Barnett Garrison in 1971, and Powers, her nephew, were charged with the June 30, 1964 stabbing death of her millionaire husband, Jacques Mossler.

They were acquitted March 6, 1966 after a nine-week trial in Miami.

The court testimony here is the outgrowth of a petition filed in 1967 on behalf of Mrs. Garrison and Powers that alleged Foreman agreed on a fee of $200,000.

Clyde Moody and Marian Rosen of Houston defended Mrs. Garrison during the Florida trial but Foreman testified that "I was working for her, her children and Melvin Lane Powers" from the time Powers was arrested.

"It was known at the time if Melvin Lane Powers was acquitted, nothing could happen to her," Foreman said.

He said he was first brought into the case when he received a telephone call from Mrs. Garrison informing him that Powers had been arrested.

"Mrs. Mossler said nothing to the effect that 'the whole world or walls' are falling in on us," Foreman said. "She knew I was her only hope."

He said he agreed to the case for a guaranteed "minimum of $250,000. In addition, he said, Mrs. Garrison agreed to pay him the appraised cash value of four pieces of real estate if the jury verdict resulted in no penitentiary time for Powers.

He said because of this agreement his legal fee is $1,478,325, which is the value of the land and the $250,000 minimum.

He testified he had received only about $110,000 so far.

Herbert Lackshin, lawyer for Mrs. Garrison, accused Foreman of handling the case on a "contingency fee" basis.

"I have never taken this case or any other case on a contingency basis," Foreman replied.

Lackshin then asked Foreman his definition of contingency.

"If you don't win, you don't get paid," Foreman said.

"I don't understand why you feel the arrangement you had with Mrs. Mossler doesn't constitute a contingency," Lackshin said.

Foreman replied it was not a contingency because he was to have received $250,000 from Mrs. Garrison even if Powers had been sent to the electric chair.

As collateral, Foreman said, he received six pieces of jewelry and the deed to several acres of land near the Houston Southwest Freeway.

The Garrison-Powers petition said the jewelry and land were to be returned when the fee was paid. The petition alleged Foreman sold part of the land to the city for about $13,000 less than its original price.

The suit alleges Powers had paid Foreman $195,408 and would pay the balance of the $200,000 fee if Foreman returns the jewels and the deed.

Mahon Praises Decision

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. George Mahon, D-Tex., says "it would serve no good purpose to express opposition at this time" to President Nixon's decision to mine North Vietnamese ports.

Mahon, who was one of the congressional leaders consulted before Nixon announced his latest military move, said no one, including the President, can be sure of the success of the decisions made concerning Vietnam.

He praised the president's decision to mine enemy harbors and cut supply routes, saying, "I hope these recent actions will prove to be successful. I'm convinced the President is using his best judgment."

"When our country has taken an action with regard to a matter of this kind through the commander-in-chief, I think it serves our best interests to do what we can to generate an atmosphere of support," Mahon said.

The largest real estate library in the world is in the Chicago headquarters of the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

Ft. Worth Girls Eyed

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — "Some day," said Bruce Crampton, "I'm not going to play in this tournament—I'm just going to come watch."

Crampton, an Australian veteran who ranked among the favorites, made his comment before teeing off today in the first round of the $125,000 Colonial National Invitation Tournament—pro golf's No. 1 girl-watching event.

"It's absolutely amazing," said Crampton.

During Wednesday's pro-am, he stopped several times, eyed the gallery and shook his head in something approaching awe.

He was not alone. This may be the only tournament on the long 12-month tour where the players watch the gallery as much or more than the gallery watches the players.

The touring pros are unanimous in their choice of this one as the tour's top girl-watching tournaments. Whatever is next is a distant second. Concentration-on golf—is difficult.

It's sometimes called the Eye-Ball Open.

The gals come out in droves and coveys and flocks. It's traditional that they all wear new and skimpy clothing. There are blushing pink hot pants, jumpsuits, hip-huggers, bare-midriffs, see throughs.

There are more navels in evidence than in an orange grove.

Mostly they congregate around the clubhouse and the 18th green. They come to see and be seen. In may cases, the tournament serves only as a backdrop. The male members of the gallery may not recall that Gene Littler won last year, "but do you remember the blonde over by No. 16."

Littler, still on the mend from major surgery, is among the missing this year. So are Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer, Billy Casper, Gary Player and Frank Beard, who withdrew because of a hand injury.

Tournament officials are quick to point out, however, that nine of the top 10 money winners are among the select, 102-man field in this event that now is the only invitational—besides the Masters-on the schedule.

The leading contenders for the $25,000 first prize are Lee Trevino, Chi Chi Rodriguez, George Archer, Charles Coody and Crampton.

Trevino hasn't won this season, but is back from a rare week off and is seeking to regain the form that brought him Athlete of the Year honors in 1971.

AT PAN-AM

Committee Asks For De-Emphasis

By GARY GARRISON
Associated Press Writer

EDINBURG, Tex. (AP) — A committee that probed circumstances surrounding rape charges against two Pan American basketball players said Wednesday it found no evidence the university used lewd pictures to recruit athletes.

The special committee of regents criticized university president Ralph Schilling for his actions after the charges were announced, and said athletics at Pan American should be deemphasized.

The committee said there was no evidence that a slush fund had been obtained from Edinburg Businessmen to recruit athletes.

Regents chairman Morris Atlas read the committee report at a meeting of the regents. The committee, composed of regents, was appointed by other board members.

"A desire for greater prominence has led to an underlying atmostphere of "win at any cost"' primarily in the Pan Am basketball program, the committee report said.

The committee said it rejects the "win at any cost" philosophy, and Pan Am should not compete with larger schools in recruiting athletes.

"We strongly believe that we can compete on our own level with schools of similar size and financial ability," the report said.

Dr. Schilling was criticized for calling a news conerence after the indictments were returned. The reports said some of the statements he made were "unfortunate."

Schilling, a handsome, former professional football player, rolled his eyes upward to study the ceiling as Atlas, a McAllen lawyer, read the report.

The university president also was criticized for attempting to take credit for the investigation that led to the indictment of Reese Stovall, 21, of San Antonio, and Leo Tolin, 22, of Detroit, Mich., on rape charges.

Unnamed "university authorities" were criticized for turning over the investigation to Edinburg Police Chief A. C. Gonzalez. The committee said the matter should have been given to the district attorney.

These same "university authorities" were criticized for waiting so long to turn over the probe to law enforcement officers. The report said the university first learned of "wrongdoing" passed to officers earlier this year.

The report said that after university authorities passed the investigation to officers, "the matter should then have rested as a normal criminal investigation."

Mays Will Meet Brass

NEW YORK (AP) — Willie Mays meets today with officials of the San Francisco Giants and New York Mets to discuss his future in baseball.

The San Francisco superstar flew into New York Wednesday evening and announced:

"I'm here to talk and I can't say any more than that because I don't know any more."

The Mets, interested in obtaining the 41-year-old centerfielder, resumed negotiations for his services with their top official on hand—chairman of the board M. Donald Grant.

Grant was to meet with Mays and Horace Stoneham, the Giants' owner, at a midtown hotel.

Mays came in from Montreal Wednesday night while the Giants were playing a game there with the Expos at Jarry Park.

He said he would have no "hard feelings" if he were to be traded to the Mets, but insisted that he knew nothing of the negotiations involved.

Homers Help, Scores Needed

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Shreveport Captains, the last place team in the Texas League East, had their home run bats working Wednesday night but they still lost where it counts—on the scoreboard.

The Captains hit four homers in two seven inning games with Alexandria, but the Aces won both contests 6-3 and 5-2.

Larry Mansfield had a round-tripper in each game, Randy Niles had a solo shot in the first contest and John Doherty connected in the nightcap, but Alexandria never trailed in either game as they scored three runs in the first inning each time.

In another East Division game, first-place Memphis edged Arkansas 4-3 while El Paso topped San Antonio 5-2 in a West contest. The Midland at Amarillo contest was rained out.

Geoff Zahn pitched a two-hitter for El Paso, one of them a solo homer by San Antonio Tom Boticam. Mike Floyd hit a three-run double for the Sun Dodgers to give them the margin of victory in the fifth inning.

Dave Schneck's solo homer in the ninth inning was the winning margin for Memphis against Arkansas.

FOR TRIBE, TWINS

Perry Brothers Do Their Thing

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jim and Gaylord Perry have got it together. Now if they could only get together . . .

Baseball's pitching brothers did their thing Wednesday, Gaylord tossing a five-hitter to carry Cleveland to a 7-2 victory over Kansas City that vaulted the Indians into first place for the first time in four years, then Jim hurling eight shutout innings at night en route to Minnesota's 2-0 victory over the New York Yankees.

In the other American League games, Baltimore squeezed by Texas 1-0, the Chicago White Sox defeated Detroit 7-0, Milwaukee blanked Oakland 4-0 and California topped Boston 5-1.

The last time the Indians were in first was back on April 10, 1968—and that was on Opening Day and slightly tainted by the fact that four other teams shared the top spot with them.

Today they're there on their own, half a game ahead of Baltimore and Detroit in the AL East. Are the Indians for real? Is it time to take them seriously?

"The time to get excited, I mean really excited," Gaylord said after chalking up his fifth victory, "is after we hit a slump. Then let's see how quickly we can fight our way out of it and see what happens to our confidence."

The Tribe has notched eight victories in nine games and Gaylord has a streak of his own with three straight triumphs and an earned run average that has dipped to 2.02.

"Everybody's working and hustling their butts off," he said. "These kids really want to win."

They won against the Royals on the strength of Alex Johnson's three-run homer, his third of the year.

Harmon Killebrew's second homer of the season and 517th of his career—moving him within four of sixth-place Ted Williams on the all-time home run list—was what gave Jim Perry and the Twins their victory over the Yanks.

Jim scattered nine hits and needed ninth-inning relief help before notching his third victory and enabling Minnesota to open its AL West lead over Oakland to 1½ games.

"I threw about 10 more pitches than I normally do" in a full nine innings, Jim said. "I didn't walk anybody but I sure had a lot of three-ball counts and it seems the innings were longer.

"But we've got good men who can come in behind you. The odds are with you in that type of situation."

Is he looking forward to pitching against brother Gaylord one of these days?

Jim noted he's never done it before except in spring training—Gaylord was with San Francisco of the National League before being traded to Cleveland before this season then added:

"I don't think the managers would shuffle the pitching rotation to get us against each other. But I think it would be good for both of us and good for baseball, especially if both of us pitched a good game."

They'll have to wait about a month before getting the chance. The Indians and Twins meet for the first time this season June 9 in Cleveland.

Fergie Jenkins of the Chicago Cubs has been a 20-game winner the last five seasons.

Smith In Semifinals

BOURNEMOUTH, England (AP) — Stan Smith mastered a damp shale court, gusty winds and Jean Loupe Rouyer of France to move into today's quarter-finals of the British Hard Courts Tennis Championships with fellow Americans Jimmy Connors and Sharon Walsh.

Smith, of Pasadena, Calif., scored a 6-2, 6-3, 8-6 victory Wednesday over the Frenchman who had upset him in the recent Italian Championships and earned a berth against West Germany's Juergen Fassbender.

Interest Is Growing In Insurance Guide

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Afalyst

NEW YORK (AP) —A little mimeographed booklet that reveals long suppressed facts that some consider scandalous and others just shocking is becoming one of the most talked about publications of the year.

It's "A Shopper's Guide to Life Insurance." And it's publisher is the Pennsylvania Insurance Department.

Interest in the guide is growing spontaneously from ordinary consumers who for the first time want to see insurers rated on the relative price of their policies, with all the confusion wiped away.

They learn, for example, that prices vary as much as 170 per cent. They learn that a 20-year-old male might pay $2.24 or $6.10 per thousand of straight life coverage, depending upon the company.

"We know that as the public gets the facts it will shop more intelligently for insurance," says Dr. Herbert Denenberg, the commissioner, a 42-year-old former professor, a whirlwind who feels he has the people on his side and is making American government work.

Many insurers have been angered by the report, which can be used anywhere in the country.

"If the companies are promoting junk and garbage, we'll tell the people," Denenberg says, adding: "This will force the insurance companies to lower premiums and improve service."

Are they promoting junk? "Not the whole industry, but it is a common technique to design policies to fool the public," he replies. "The character of the insurance business is to deliberately design policies that can't be compared."

Typically, he maintains, a prospective purchaser is told to first consult an agent. But that agent, Denenberg says, is usually committed to selling the policies of his employer only.

The result, he continues, is an effort by both company and agent to camouflage prices, thus denying the purchase the opportunity for comparison shopping.

What does the industry think of this? "The reaction is predictable," says Denenberg. "Those who look good think the report is brilliant. Others think it isn't so brilliant."

Said the spokesman for a company that ranked near the middle in the listings:

"We concede he is brilliant, that he generally knows what he is talking about. But he has so many ideas and he is so smart that sometimes he goes off half-cocked in trying to do things he believes should be done."

Horse, 'Copter Aid In Arrest

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Police used that old time Texas law enforcement tool, the horse, along with their newest thing, the helicopter, to try to catch a thief.

Officers arrested a woman and two men on charges of stealing a car Tuesday but a third man escaped into a nearby wooded area. Two young men came riding along as the suspect ran so the policemen promptly borrowed their horses.

Patrolmen J.C. Davis and A.R. Black pounded into the woods on their mounts as a pod lice helicopter circled above the areas. But officers said the suspect "just vanished."

Fry Released In East Texas Lakes

TYLER, Tex. (AP) — Approximately 300,000 northern pike fry obtained from a Kansas federal hatchery have been released in two East Texas lakes by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

The fry went into experimental "nursery coves" in Lake Quitman in Wood County and in Houston County Lake near Crockett.

The three to five-acre coves were sealed off from the rest of the lake by a polyethylene barrier draped over nylon netting. The cove area was cleared of predator fish before the fry were released to assure survival.

When the northerns reach large enough size to survive on their own the barriers will be removed and the fish will swim out into the main portions of the lakes.

Junior Editors' Quiz on MOLTEN ROCK

QUESTION: What is molten rock and how is it used?

* * *

ANSWER: The geologists classify a great portion of the rock in the world as molten or igneous rock. This rock was heated or ignited at one time, and from the force of the heat, was liquified. Then as it cooled off, it hardened again. Some of this molten rock is heated deep in the earth and gradually breaks through to the surface. Granite is the most common igneous rock on the earth's surface. Whole mountains of granite appear on the surface of the earth, having emerged from a hot liquid state within the interior of the earth.

Some molten rock is expelled quickly and forcibly from below the earth's surface through the action of volcanoes. When this occurs, the heated rock appears as lava. If the lava froths and bubbles while it is still hot, it forms a spongy rock called pumice, used for polishing. Basalt is the rock that makes up most lava flow. It is a fine grained texture and is sometimes called trap rock, used in road construction.

Remarks A Waiter Tires Of

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks a restaurant waiter gets tired of hearing when he presents the bill:

"Why put it in front of me? Do I look like I've got a kind face?"

"Can we borrow two pencils from you? The girls have decided we're all going dutch, and it'll take a little figuring. After all, there are 12 of us."

"But you're a married man, Ronald. If you keep taking me to these expensive lunches, you won't be able to buy your kids new shoes this summer."

"I asked you for the bill, Giuseppe, not the Italian first World War debt."

"Nobody tips us. Why should we tip him?"

"Here, Jim, you go over it. I know it's too large but I've checked it twice and can't find anything wrong."

"Sorry, George, you'll have to throw in another buck to make it come out even. Aren't you the one who insisted on having a special shot of sherry in your mock turtle?"

"Frankly, if I were doing it, I'd leave him only 10 per cent, instead of 15 per cent. After all, he was pretty snooty, and he didn't tell us there was a special on chicken au gratin today."

"Why should a guy use a gun to hold up a bank when he can get this kind of money out of us with only a pencil?"

"In the old days they served better food than this at a saloon free lunch counter. Remember?"

"I admit it's my turn to pick up the check, fellows, but honest I did leave my wallet at home in my other pants this morning."

"Let's do it systematically. I'll go around the table. I was the roast beef. You sure you were the club sandwich, Ed? I'm sure I distinctly heard you order a minute steak rare. And who was the sneak who ordered the fourth Martini?"

"Oh, hell, hand the whole thing to me and I'll put it on my expense account. One form of suicide is just as good as another."

Pistol Packin' Momma

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Jean Weatherly is a "Pistol Packin' Momma," but her aim is security.

"There's nothing wrong with a woman carrying a gun," said the petite Mrs. Weatherly, "providing she's been educated in how to use it. To me, nothing is as satisfying as law enforcement."

Mrs. Weatherly is one of two women assigned to the Dallas Security Force. It's part of the city's Department of Public Works and its job is to provide security for all municipal buildings.

Owning a gun is nothing new to Mrs. Weatherly. She's owned one since she was 10 years old and is an avid hunter even today.

"I enjoy fishing," she said, "but I love hunting the best. I've always liked guns and I don't think any woman should be afraid of them, if she knows what she's doing."

Her Smith & Wesson .38-caliber police special is almost as big as she is. But Mrs. Weatherly knows how to handle it. She's qualified with the weapon every time she had to do so.

"It gets pretty heavy at times, but it doesn't have as much kick as a .12 gauge shotgun," she said. "That really has a lot of kick."

AWARD PRESENTED—The Snyder Kiwanis Club received a certificate of appreciation from the State Association of Retarded Children yesterday. Here, Mrs. Joy Loyd, representing the Association, presents the certificate to Dr. D.K. Ratliff, program chairman, and Rev. Jack Riley, president of the Snyder Kiwanis Club.

Certificate Goes To Kiwanis Club

Mrs. Joy Loyd, representing the State Association of Retarded Children, presented a certificate of appreciation to the Snyder Kiwanis Club yesterday at their noon luncheon held at the Snyder Steak House.

The award was made in appreciation of support of the Scurry County Association of Retarded Children. The Kiwanians helped organize the local organization several years ago, have paid for a Community antenna hook-up for the trainable children school, and have purchased a building to be used as an opportunity center for older retardates in the community.

Mrs. Loyd said the local organization began focusing its attention on older retardates in March of 1969 and subsequently obtained a woman volunteer. By September of 1969, the Association was working with four regular and two occasional retardates and had organized several activities for them, including bowling. Last September, the Association began trying to find employment for retardates and met with considerable success.

"Employment has done more for them than anything we've done in recent years," Mrs. Loyd said, adding that "Life has taken on meaning for them. They get a sense of accomplishment."

Mrs. Burnell Hargrove, a local teacher, and several students from Snyder High School were guests as well as a delegation from Lamesa. Mrs. Loyd was introduced by Dr. D.K. Ratliff, the program chairman.

The Club was reminded of a ladies night program at Western Texas College next Thursday night and the magic show that will be held this Saturday night.

Rev. Jack Riley, president, presided over the meeting.

Sources of 'experience' need not be divulged

By Abigail Van Buren

[c 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.]

DEAR ABBY: How much should a girl tell a fellow about her past? I have been dating a very wonderful man for the past five months and he is getting serious, talking about marriage, etc.

He knows I am not lily white, but he doesn't know how many and who, and he would be shocked and disappointed if he knew. I am 24, and I have thought I was in love about ten times in my life.

I am not too proud of my conduct, but I've grown up a lot since then and I'm really not a tramp; I've just had a lot of experience for my age.

What is your advice?

LIBRA

DEAR LIBRA: I see no reason to provide anyone with the names and numbers of all the players. Let sleeping dogs lie.

DEAR ABBY: We are loyal Abby fans and have patiently gone through the problems of smokers, non-smokers, knitters, non-knitters, swingers, non-swingers, and so on. Now, we are asking you to please give us a short listen.

This is on behalf of all METER MAIDS who would like to answer nationwide, a few questions we are asked every day by at least a dozen people.

1. No. We do not have a "quota" of tickets that we have to meet every day.

2. No. We do not work on commission. [I wish we did.]

And while we are writing to you, Abby, will you please tell the public that we don't appreciate those cute little "oink" noises some people make behind our backs. Ours is a job just like anybody else's.

MISUNDERSTOOD METER MAIDS

DEAR Ms. M. M.: Will do. But every meter maid I've ever seen looked well able to defend herself.

DEAR ABBY: I saw a letter in your column not long ago which reminded me of my own situation. My in-laws are also continually giving us financial help, and to tell you the truth, I despise going over there anymore. It's gotten to the point where there is just no hope for us to ever pay them back but they keep on giving.

Maybe I am too independent, but I feel that once you are married you are on your own. My husband doesn't see anything wrong with accepting a lot of things we can't afford. This situation has caused a lot of quarrels between us.

The more people give you, the more obligated you feel to that person, and you really don't want to see much of a person you feel obligated to.

I wish parents would leave their young married kids alone. I'm sure too much giving has caused many a marriage to split up. It certainly is working on ours.

YOUNG WIFE

DEAR WIFE: From the mouths of babes . . . many well-intentioned and generous parents don't realize how heavy is the burden of gratitude.

DEAR ABBY: I play the trumpet in the high school band. I also play with a brass band for dances.

The other day I saw an article in the local newspaper which stated that trumpets and brass instruments cause heart trouble. What I want to know is, do I have anything to worry about?

HOT LIPS

DEAR LIPS: Not if you have a healthy heart to start with.

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 69700, L. A., CALIF. 90069 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

AIA Votes To Assess Members

HOUSTON (AP) — The American Institute of Architects has voted to assess each member $10 to finance lobbying for a law against competitive bidding on professional work.

The assessment, described as the first in the 115-year history of the AIA, was approved at the final session of the Institute's four-day convention Wednesday.

The architects said they feel their services should be based on professional qualifications rather than cost, even though a consent decree to allow bids on architectural work was approved during the convention under threat of antitrust action by the Justice Department.

Delegates also approved a resolution calling for a massive program to rebuild the core areas of the 65 largest cities in the United States.

A report urging that one million acres of urban land be purchased at government expense and developed through a public and private partnership was adopted as submitted by a five-man study committe called the National Policy Task Force.

Archibald C. Rogers of Baltimore, who headed the task force, said the group will be expanded to include a minority member.

The minority member was identified as Van B. Bruner Jr., a black architect from Haddon Township, N.J.

Bruner was later named a vice president of the AIA while Rogers was elected first vice president to serve under Scott Ferebee of Charlotte, N.C., who will be installed as president in December.

Other officers elected include Louis de Moll of Philadelphia and David A. Pugh of Portland, Ore., vice presidents, and Hilliard T. Smith Jr. of Winter Haven, Fla., secretary.

Readers spent $2.8 billion for daily and Sunday newspapers in 1971.

Conrad Crashes Near Bergstrom

AUSTIN. Tex. (AP) — The third man ever to walk the surface of the moon bailed out of his Navy jet Wednesday night and floated down to within 100 yards of the Bergstrom Air Force Base operations near here.

The T38 aircraft of astronaut Charles C. Conrad Jr., 41, nosedived into a field in the Texas Hill country two miles from Bergstrom, ripped itself to shreds.

Witnesses said only a tail section bearing the letters "NASA" was recognizable.

A spokesman at the Manned Spacecraft Center outside Houston confirmed that the pilot was Conrad and that he was "okay." He underwent routine tests at Bergstrom.

Conrad is scheduled to command the first longterm Skylab Mission in space, now set for next April. It will last 28 days.

No cause for the crash was offered. In response to a query, a NASA spokesman said he did not ask if the plane ran out of gas on its trip from Dover, Del., to Houston via Dobbins Air Force Base near Marietta, Ga. The spokesman confirmed Conrad was diverted twice from his original destination of Ellington Air Force Base at Houston.

Outside Austin, welder Fred Johnson said that about 8:10 p.m. CDT he "heard a heck of a noise about 4,000 feet" and watched the plane plunge to earth at a 45-degree angle.

Johnson, who was docking his boat on the Colorado River at the time, said of the plane, "It did not catch fire, but it did make a flash when it hit the higher power lines and another flash when it hit the ground."

Johnson's home is one of few in the rural area near the crash site.

Conrad, a Navy captain, has made three space flights. He flew the earth-orbiting Gemini 5 and Gemini 11 and was commander of the Apollo 12 flight in November 1969. On that mission Conrad landed on the moon and conducted moonwalks with astronaut Alan Bean.

Rev. Ray Resigns At Lubbock

LUBBOCK Tex. AP — The pastor of the second largest church of the Southern Baptist Convention has resigned to reenter the business world.

The chairman of the board of deacons confirmed Wednesday that the Rev. David Ray submitted his resignation at a meeting of the First Baptist Church's executive committee Monday. The church has 8,000 members.

Ray, 38, began the fifth year of his ministry here the first Sunday in August. He was granted a leave of absence last year for health reasons and was absent from the pulpit for several months.

Before entering Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, he was a sales supervisor in the encyclopedia division of Sears, Roebuck & Co. in the Fort Worth District.

Ray was well known here for his development of a college ministry. Attendance at separate worship services for students averaged 1,230 since they were started last August.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

★ ★ ★

Q. I owed some additional tax this year when I filed my return. Should I now arrange for more withholding so that I don't owe next year?

A. Most taxpayers need not arrange for additional withholding. Under the Revenue Act of 1971, the withholding tables will make the amount withheld for 1972 more closely match the tax liability for the year.

In the past many taxpayers had been claiming fewer exemptions than they were entitled to in order to avoid paying additional tax at the end of the year. These persons may now file with their employer a new Form W-4—Employees Withholding Exemption certificate, claiming all exemptions and special allowances to which they are entitled; they no longer need to claim fewer exemptions to avoid paying large income tax bills each April.

Under the new withholding tables certain taxpayers may claim a "special withholding allowance" which is like another exemption. It can only be claimed for withholding purposes, not on income tax returns.

A single person or married person whose wife or husband does not work is entitled to claim the special withholding allowance. However, it may not be claimed by a person who works at two jobs concurrently. Single persons with incomes under $25,000 and married taxpayers with incomes under $31,000 should claim the special withholding allowance if they qualify.

Extra allowances may also be claimed by taxpayers who have large itemized deductions. The Form W-4 contains a table that will show the number of extra allowances that may be claimed for large itemized deductions. These extra allowances, like the special withholding allowance, may be claimed only for withholding purposes, not on income tax returns.

Forms W-4 may be obtained either from employers or IRS offices.

Q. Can correspondence courses ever be deducted as educational expenses?

A. Yes. You may deduct the ordinary and necessary expenses you incur for correspondence courses that:

1. Meet the requirements of your employer, or requirements of law or regulations, for keeping your salary, status, or employment, if the requirements serve a bona fide business purpose; or

2. Maintain or improve skills required in performing the duties of your present employment, or trade or business.

If the education is part of a program of study that will lead to qualifying you in a new business, you may not deduct your expenses. The same is true for expenses incurred for education you need to meet the minimum educational requirements for qualification in your employment, trade or business.

Q. I paid my daughter's Federal and State income taxes last year. Do these payments count toward support I furnished for her when I figure out whether or not I can claim her as a dependent?

A. No. Federal, State or local income tax payments are not to be considered in determining total support.

Q. I received a fee for serving on a jury for two weeks. Is this taxable?

A. Yes. Fees for jury duty must be included in your gross income.

Q. My son, who is a college student, will probably earn over $750 during summer vacation. Does this mean that I can't claim him as a dependent this year?

A. If your son is a full-time student during soome part of each of five months of the year, he can earn any amount and he still can be claimed as your dependent if you still contribute more than one-half of his total support for the year and if the other dependency tests are made. The same rule applies to taxpayers' children who are under 19 at the end of the year.
