Augusta, Kan., Laid In Ruins By Terrific Storm; One Life Lost

CITY COUNCIL REDUCES WATER RATES HERE

Judge G. W. Olvany Named New Head of Tammany Hall

TERRIFIC WIND SPREADS CHAOS OVER COUNTRY

Several Injured Expected To Die; Now In Hospital With Slight Chances.

LOSS IS TWO MILLION

City Suffers Heavily While Surrounding Country Is Also Hard Hit.

By The Associated Press.

AUGUSTA, Kans., July 14.—Augusta, in the heart of the Kansas oil field district, lay in ruins tonight, the victim of a vicious tornado that swept down upon the city last night, leaving death and destruction in its wake.

Tonight the casualty list stood at one known dead and three score injured. Four persons, who earlier in the day were reported to have lost their lives in the storm, were located later in the Augusta hospital in a dangerous condition. Several of the injured are expected to die.

City in Ruins.

The city, a mass of rubbish and debris, was under guard of the military. Two units of national guardsmen, under command of Brigadier General I. Martin, patrolled the devastated area.

Estimates of the property damage to the city alone were placed at $1,500,000 by F. Kimball, building inspector of Wichita, who made a survey of the stricken city today. Damage to the surrounding oil fields district, which also suffered heavily, was estimated at $500,000.

Does Work Well.

The tornado, which swept down from the north and west with terrific force, was thorough in its work.

Rain, which fell in torrents after the wind storm, added to the misery.

Mrs. R. F. Scott, wife of a carpenter, was the only known victim of the storm. She was instantly killed when a brick building collapsed in which she and her husband had taken refuge. Scott was injured seriously, but is expected to life.

ST. LOUIS BANK OUT OF BUSINESS

By The Associated Press.

ST. LOUIS, July 14.—The Republican National bank here with resources of approximately $4,000,000, according to the last published statement, today closed its doors permanently. The board of directors decided to liquidate because the bank was losing money.

Members of the clearing house association agreed to guarantee the payment of all deposits. The loss to the holders of $1,000,000 in stock was not announced, but one official estimated it would be between $750,000 and $900,000.

Lynchings In South Are Growing Scarce

By The Associated Press.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., July 14.—That lynching is gradually being overcome in the south is indicated by a steady reduction in such crimes in Tennessee during the last few years, according to a report on this subject made by James D. Burton, secretary for the commission on inter-racial cooperation.

Mob justice is shown to be on the decline both as to the number of victims and the area in which such crimes occur, the report sets forth. For a period of 23 years, from 1900 to 1923, 73 lynchings have been reported in Tennessee. Twelve counties had two-thirds of this total, 24 others had one each, and 60 counties had none, says the report.

Tennessee had five lynchings during the last five years, the report added, two in 1922, and none last year.

Ovation Given Yankee Fliers As They Reach Paris On World Tour

Six American Airmen Land Safely at French Field Monday; Will Continue.

By The Associated Press.

PARIS, July 14.—The United States army fliers who are circling the globe swept over Paris this afternoon and landed safely at Le Bourget airdome, 19 days behind schedule, but with a gain of 12 days to their credit since they left Tokio.

The pilots of the three planes and their assistants were in fine health, in spite of weeks of heavy strain, but they were tired and almost overcome by the enthusiasm of their reception.

Long Air Trail.

Six men in all, under command of Lieut. Lowell H. Smith, have come over the long air trail, from the Pacific coast of the American continent to their present resting place, a distance of nearly 18,000 miles in something less than four months. They will not remain here long, but will proceed to London, and from there, flying by way of Orkney Island, Iceland and Greenland, Labrador and Quebec, will go speeding back to the homeland.

The Stars and Stripes floated in profusion beside the tri-color as far as the eye could see at Lebourget, and squadrons of French airplanes were in readiness throughout the day to ascend and accompany the American aviators as soon as word came that they were approaching Apari.

Lieut. Smith, Lieut. Leigh Wade and Lieut. Eric Nelson, the pilots, with their mechanics, Lieut. Leslie P. Arnold, Sergeant A. M. Ogden and Lieut. Harding, Jr., set forth from Vienna early this morning for Paris, upon which shining mark they had fixed an expectant eye, and a mighty shout went up from the airdome when with their French escort in perfect alignment they sailed over LeBourget at 4:45 p. m., and continued onward to circle the Arc de Triomphe and the tomb of the unknown soldier.

Then, wheeling back from above Paris, they planed down to the aviation field ten minutes later. So great were the crowds to welcome them that the small force of guards were overwhelmed and soon the field was black with people to greet the Americans as they landed.

CHICAGO "POURS IT ON" SPEEDERS WITHOUT MERCY

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, July 14.—More than 1,800 motorists today "told their story to the judge." They had been arrested over the week-end for violating the automobile laws, all but a few being charged with speeding. The wholesale arrests resulted from the city's "safety or sorrow" crusade initiated last week in an attempt to cut down the average of two automobile deaths a day.

The cases were heard in four speeders' courts, Judge Edgar Jones opening the day's proceedings in his court by fining the first violator to appear before him $25 and sentencing him to a day in jail. Other jail sentences were few however, fines ranging from $2 to $5 being imposed.

Runaway Horse Drags Del Rio Boy to Death

By The Associated Press.

DEL RIO, Tex., July 14.—While his father tried in vain to catch the horse, Norman Floyd Earwood, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Earwood, was dragged to death late Sunday on his father's ranch near here.

The father and son were riding over the ranch when in some manner the boy's foot became entagled in a stirrup and he fell to one side as the horse jumped and ran away.

Smuggler Attack On French Ship Is Confirmed

HALIFAX, N. S., July 14.—The report of a piratical attack on the French steamer Malhouse off the New Jersey coast about three weeks ago has been substantiated by testimony taken at ncourt of inquiry instituted here by the commander of the French battleship Ville D'Ys, it became known today. According to testimony taken at the inquiry the steamer was boarded by forty men soon after her arrival on rum row. The raiders ordered the crew and officers between decks, where they were kept for ten days while the vessel's liquor cargo was removed to other steamers.

Twelve hundred cases were left on board, witnesses said, so that the Malhouse could not enter a port to tell of her troubles.

CHARLES B. WARREN MAY LEAVE MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, July 4.—Charles B. Warren, the American ambassador to Mexico, has issued a statement announcing his intention to resign from his post.

Davis to Be Notified of Nomination At His West Virginia Home Sometime In July; Taking Things Easy Now

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 14.—John W. Davis, democratic presidential nominee, spent today conferring with party leaders from various states preparatory to writing his address of acceptance which will formally open his campaign and reveal the tactics he will follow.

While the nominee has not announced any of his plan in detail, it was learned that the notfication ceremony would be held in Clarksburgh, W. Va., his birthplace, and probably in the house where he spent his boyhood. The date is likely to be about July 28.

Mr. Davis will finish conferences with advisers and democratic conferees by Friday then will escape to a small and isolated island off the Main coast to frame his rallying call for the campaign.

Senator R. L. Owen, author of the federal reserve act, called upon the nominee today to urge upon him the importance of emphasizing the republican party's responsibility for the recent currency deflation which, according to Senator Owen, "broke the heart of the west."

"Their responsibility," he said, "was shown by the Medill McCormick resolution of May 20, 1920, by the republican platform of that party, and by Mr. Harding's speech of acceptance. They declared themselves determined to deflate the currency; and within two years loans and discounts were contracted by five and one-half billion dollars and the currency was deflated to the extent of $1,517,000,000. This caused the bankruptcy of over two thousand banks and of many hundreds of thousands of western people."

SHEPPARD ASKS INSPECTION OF HIS PAST WORK

U. S. Senator Here In Behalf of Campaign For Re-election.

OPPOSES JAPANESE

Speaks Monday Night To Large Crowd At Legion Arena.

"I ask the public of Texas to do two things," declared Hon. Morris, candidate for re-election to the United States senate from Texas last night. "They are, first, to look back over my previous record, and second to look at the things I stand for.

The senator spoke to a large crowd at the American Legion arena following his arrival in the city from Vernon where he addressed an audience Monday afternoon. He left last night for east Texas to begin a speaking tour.

"I am the author of the prohibition amendment," he declared. I took a large part in the passage of the 19th suffrange amendment. "I was in a great measure responsible for the passage of the bill for maternity and infancy protection. I have taken an actively equally as constructive and activity equally as constructive and conceded all over the state to be equally as beneficial to the people of the state.

Oppose Japs.

"I am unalterably opposed to continued Japanese immigration," Senato Sheppard said. "We have a little Japan in California, and I know enough regarding it to put forth every effort to prevent its further growth. Let them howl all they want over these; we can but remember that for hundreds of years not a single foreigncitizen was allowed entrance within their portals.

Wants Tariff Revised.

"I am truly democratic in my hope for a revision of the tariff," he said. "I can see no virtue in the sort of taxes which force the burden of the country's expenditures on the poor people, and when reduced, serve only to heighten the rich man's income.

"I am unalterably opposed to the Esch-Cummins law. The railroads are using it as a pretext for avoiding plausible responsibilities, and for delegating the responsibility for their sins to others. I have stood from the beginning in opposition to this act and shall always, if sent back, maintain the same attitude.

"In conclusion I stand for the agricultural industries of this country. I was one of the founders of the farm "bloc," and let me say in this regard that there was never much serious opposition to the farm "bloc" until it assumed a power 'strong enough to buck the "blocs" of organized capital which had existed for years. The welfare of the nation is based upon the progress of the farm. I know this and I have sought to make the principal prevail; in the end it shall.

Praises Nominees.

"I am glad to see that your representative at New York picked a man who will head a winning ticket in November. Their choice bodes well for the future of the democratic party and the memory imperishable of one Woodrow Wilson. I have stood for the principles of that man at every opportunity that has passed my way. If I may say so I stand for the league of nations, a world of peace where man meets his brother man, as Chile meets its northern neighbor, Peru, and swears eternal friendship."

Senator Sheppard was introduced by Judge A. H. Brittain, president of the chamber of commerce, who with the exception of an anecdote or two spoke only in glowing terms of the man's accomplishments and warning him of the danger of federal encroachment upon state sovereignty.

Resolution Adopted.

Preceeding the address, a resolution drafted by the Wichita Falls Morris Sheppard for President Club was read and adopted. It pledged the support of the organization to the senator and praised in unqualified terms his candidacy for re-election.

MAN WHO KILLED THUG DESPONDENT AND TAKES LIFE

By The Associated Press.

ARDMORE, Okla., July 14.—Brooding over the fact that he had killed a man, caused Bert Weeks, 24, a plumber to fatally wound himself, his father, Jim Weeks, said late today. The younger Weeks shot himself in the chest with a revolver last night and died at noon today.

While living in Dallas, Texas, a year ago, Weeks witnessed a hold up and killed one of the highwaymen, according to his father. He was exonorated by a grand jury, but worried considerably over his act, his father said.

At the time of his death Weeks was said to be under indictment in Dallas for robbery with firearms.

CANADA WHEAT SCARCE, REPORT

Prediction That Crop Will Be Less Than Half Shoots Prices.

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, July 14.—Predictions that the wheat crop this season in Canada would be less than half the yield in 1923 had much to do with a sensational advance of prices today on the Chicago board of trade. Maximum gains of five cents a bushel were registered, with values shaded only a trifle at the finish.

Excitement among traders in the Chicago wheat pit attained a high pitch after word was out that 50 per cent damage from the Canadian drought had been forcast by a recognized expert on crop conditions.

R. O. Cromwell, representing one of the largest grain houses here, made the statement. A dispatch from him dated at Saskatoon Sask in the heart of the Canadian wheat country said:

"Neither Winnipeg nor Chicago realizes the situation in Canada. It is the worst in twenty years."

Report Brazilian Federals Gaining On Insurgents

By The Associated Press.

RIO DE JANEIRO, July 14.—An official communique coming out today says: "Our troops, maintaining occupied positions, have made several important advances in different localities. The action of our artillery has been very effective. It is believed the rebels have already failed in their final attempt at victory."

"According to information arriving from the interior of the state of Sao Paulo, the revolutionists are terribly disheartened. The organization of patriotic battalions has begun with great enthusiasm in the principal cities of the state of Sao Paulo intended to aid the government's troops."

DE LA HUERTA SAID TO BE IN SONORA

By The Associated Press.

EL PASO, July 14.—Adolfo de la Huerta, head of the late revolution in Mexico, is in the state of Sonora, according to his friends and followers in El Paso.

From his seclusion in that state he is said to have sent a communication to El Paso, to his friend, A. Gomez Morentin, refuting the charge of Elias Calles that he ordered the execution of Carilla Puerto, a labor leader, during the recent revolution in the south of Mexico.

De la Huerta does not divulge his whereabouts, but the envelope is post marked at a point in Sonora.

NEW INDICTMENT IN MAIL ROBBERY

By The Associated Press.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., July 14.—An indictment has been returned by a federal grand jury at Chicago charging Herbert S. Holladay, under arrest here with participation in the $2,000,000 mail train robbery at Rondout, Ills., it was announced today, and preparations are being made for the return of Holladay to Illinois.

ARIZONA WEEVIL SCARE DENIED

Partridge, special master, to determine whether a temporary injunction enjoining destruction of the cotton should be made permanent or be dissolved.

JURIST TAKES PLACE HELD BY CHAS. MURPHY

Hall Pledges Support To Davis-Bryan Ticket; Will Aid Campaign.

HE WILL LEAVE BENCH

New Leader Presides Over Court of General Sessions in N. Y.

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 14.—Tammany Hall today chose General Sessions Judge George Washington Olvany grand chief to succeed the late Charles F. Murphy and voted its "undivided and loyal support to the Davis-Bryan ticket" and to the "progressive, forward looking platform" of the national democratic party.

The vote for Judge Olvany, before it was made unanimous by the sixty-eight men and women representatives of 21 districts, was reported to have been 22 2-3 to 1-3.

"The call is too strong to resist," Judge Olvany told the executive committee of Tammany Hall, after he had been escorted to the fourteenth street wigwam by two veterans of the organization—a man and a woman, both gray haired. Surrogate James A. Foley had been elected grand chief last May, immediately after Murphy's death; had accepted and then, on the advice of physicians, had declined the post.

Will Leave Bench.

"In a few days I shall resign from the bench and undertake to carry on the work so ably, unselfishly and successfully performed by Charles F. Murphy for more than 22 years," Judge Olvany's statement continued. "Our first great public duty will be to roll up a great vote for our national ticket."

The election of Judge Olvany, a former district leader of Tammany, was a compromise between an active leader, upon whom the district chieftains insisted, and a man from the ranks, as advocated by those who caused surrogate Foley's election in May. That it also was a compromise between the forces of Governor Alfred E. Smith, who appointed Judge Olvany to the bench, and the forces of Mayor Hylan and W. R. Hearst, was seen in this paragraph of the new grand chief's acceptance speech:

Praises Hylan

"Mayor Hylan has stood faithfully for the principles he advocated in the last municipal campaign, in which he received an extraordinary vote of public confidence. We should fully support him in carrying out these principles."

Judge Olvany's elevation to the Tammany throne gives him the most coveted place of unofficial political power in New York City and puts him in a position which carries considerable authority in democratic party circles of the state, and to a lesser degree, of the nation. He will assume the duties which a subcommittee of seven members, chosen from the executive committee of 68, has performed since the death of Mr. Murphy, and the factional differences which blocked the immediate crowning of Murphy's successor.

Giant Juniper Is Old.

By The Associated Press.

LOGAN, Utah, July 14.—A giant juniper tree discovered recently in Logan canyon near here is estimated by Dr. Henry Cowles of the University of Chicago to be between 3,500 and 4,000 years old, perhaps the oldest living thing except the redwood trees in California. The tree is 27 1-2 feet in circumference.

Wales Opens First International Convention of Advertisers Before Representatives of 22 Countries

By The Associated Press.

LONDON, July 14.—Men and women who make advertising their business in 22 countries of the world today opened their first international convention in the heart of the British government's greatest advertising attempt, the exhibition at Wembley.

There were 4,500 delegates from these countries who attempted to enter the hall this morning, 1,800 of whom crossed the water from the United States and another 500 who are counted as foreign to the British Isles. The next largest delegation to that of the United States was from Scotland, Ireland and Wales, with their representation of almost a half thousand. Last year at Atlantic City there were 3,000 men and women present at the convention.

Long before the conference began today the seats were all filled and the adjoining conference rooms had been opened for overflow meetings.

The appearance of the Prince of Wales to declare the convention open allowed the Americans a chance to indulge in ten minutes of cheering and singing. After the noise had subsided, the prince delivered his speech of welcome and announced that the convention was open.

Frank B. Kellogg, the American ambassador, then delivered an address in which he expressed confidence that the work of conference would tend to bring about international accord. Viscount Burnham, owner of the London Daily Telegram, presided the opening session.

11 Per Cent Cut Is To Be Made Effective Under New Schedules

Reduction to Be Retroactive to July 1; Will Mean Saving in Water Bills for Consumers of Smaller Amounts

After a long official buffeting, caused by indecision over the length to which the pruning knife should be applied, water rates in Wichita Falls were cut approximately 11% Monday night. With a few minor revisions, the schedule agreed on last week was adopted by the city council together with an order making the cut retroactive to July 1.

The new rates provide for a charge of 27 cents per 1,000 gallons for the first 4,000 gallons used, with a minimum rate of $1. This is against a former minimum rate of $1.20. Other charges include: 16,000 gallons, 27 cents per 1,000; 20,000 gallons, 26 cents per 1,000; 460,000 gallons, 25 cents per 1,000; 500,000 gallons, 20 cents per 1,000; all over 500,000 gallons, 13 cents per 1,000.

Charges Re-Arranged.

The basis of charging was rearranged considerably from the old schedule and was fixed, it is thought, so as to effect a larger saving for the small consumer. The old schedule provided for charges on water consumption in which pumps of 300,000 gallons were made from one rate to another. The lowest rate under the old schedule was 12 cents per 1,000 for 600,000 gallons or over.

Thus it is seen that the large consumer gets little or no saving, while the smaller one profits.

Agitated For Some Time

Agitation for the rate cut has been under way for some time. It was recommended by a chamber of commerce committee appointed to investigate the matter and was also recommended by F. N. Lawton, manager of the city water department. The committee, however, proposed a reduction much greater than that finally made, while Mr. Lawton's suggestions were for a slice somewhat smaller than the one made last night.

Considerable study of the matter has been given by the council and it is believed that the new schedule will be of benefit to the water users and will also enable the water department to continue operation on a self-sustaining basis.

Large Crowd at Political Rally Includes Women.

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Tex., July 14.—Twenty-six candidates for county, district and state offices spoke here tonight at a political rally before a large crowd which was featured by a strong representation of women.

In their short addresses to the voters of this place, the candidates declared their respective stands on various conditions and questions before the people of this section, and pledged themselves to perform the duties of their offices with conscientious scruple.

The ku klux klan came in for its portion of the attacks on what were termed some of the growing evils within the political world, although all speakers did not enter into this question.

All seven of the bidders for sheriff were present. Luther Hoffman of Wichita Falls spoke in behalf of Will C. Edward's (of Denton) candidacy for lieutenant governor.

GERMANS GUARD FRENCH FLAG

By The Associated Press.

BERLIN, July 14.—Policemen with rifles from atop the Brandenburg gate and the roofs of nearby buildings guarded the flag flying over the French embassy today. The measure was a precautionary one taken to prevent a repetition of the incident of three years ago on the French national holiday, when the tri-color was wrested from the staff by men who reached the embassy roof from adjacent buildings.

COMMONS DISCUSS COMING CONCLAVE

LONDON, July 14.—The house of commons today took up the subject of the coming allied conference but the speech of the prime minister, Ramsey MacDonald, threw very little new lights on it.

Mr. Asquith, the liberal leader, had invited the government to give whatever information was possible to the public, especially with regard to the status of the suggested American share in the proceedings for getting the Dawes report into operation.

Stanley Baldwin, the conservative leader, on the contrary, applied himself to criticizing the prime minister and the government for its diplomatic methods which had involved trouble with France.

Allied Conference To Take Up Dawes Report; Peace Seems Assured

Optimism Prevails As Representatives Of Nations Plan Meeting.

By The Associated Press.

LONDON, July 14.—The inter-allied conference which will assemble in the foreign office Wednesday morning for the purpose of putting the Dawes report on reparations into effect, will open in a decided atmosphere of optimism.

When tentative arrangements for the meeting were concluded between Premiers MacDonald and Herriot at Paris last Thursday, the French Premier characterized the occasion as the best day for the entente since the armistice was signed, and today competent American and British observers declared they hoped that within a fortnight the deliberations would be productive of an arrangement which will end once and for all time the quarrels and misunderstandings that have been continuous among the nations of Europe since the hostilities of the great war ended and the allied powers began their struggle to get war compensation out of Germany.

Hopes Expressed.

Such hopes as these have been expressed prior to numerous other conferences of the allied statesmen during the last six years, but disappointment followed as the meetings were themselves out or abruptly broke up. The fundamental difficulties of the reparation problems are still unsolved, but the unofficial participation of the United States through the experts who worked in Paris for two months this year to produce the recommendation now universally known as the Dawes report, has given new hope to the allies and Germany alike, and launched the seemingly perennial reparations problem on an entirely new phase.

All Accept.

The allies and Germany jumped to accept the experts report and principle and on Wednesday Mr. MacDonald, M. Herriot, M. Theunis, the Belgian Premier, and other allied plenipotentaries together with Ambassador Kellogg as the official representative of the United States is empowered on behalf of American interest, will gather around the big horse shoe table in the foreign office overlooking Downing street, to give affect to the finding of the General Dawes and his colleagues.

Wheat Crop Of Hemisphere Is Lower Than Last

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 14. — This year's northern hemisphere wheat harvest, exclusive of Russia, will be less than last year's by 10% or more, the department of agriculture estimates from official reports. The decreased production is due to a 4½% cut in acreage and a generally late spring season.

The acreage this year is 175,325,000 acres, or about nine million acres less than last year.

Trade Union Movement Slow In Great Britain

LONDON, July 14.—The trade union movement of Great Britain needs overhauling, says A. J. Cook, secretary of the miners' federation, writing in Labor Monthly.

Mr. Cook says there are many unions but very little unity, and the present form of organization in this country has become obsolete. The last trades union congress at Plymouth was an exhibition of tribal chiefs fighting to retain the confidence of their tribes.

Mr. Cook expresses the belief that there must be real live international organization, instead of a mere meeting of people congratulating one another and passing pious resolutions.

Co-operative Societies Growing In England

NOTTINGHAM, Eng. July 14.—The cooperative movement has grown remarkably in England during the past few years and there are now £500,000 members enrolled in the societies with a share capital of over $400,000 having a retail trade of $850,000,000. These figures were quoted at the 66th annual congress when 2,000 delegates assembled, including overseas representatives.

POPE ATTACKS 'GRAVY' JOBS

Candidate Declares State Must Keep Within Appropriations.

By The Associated Press.

HONEY GROVE, Texas, July 14.—The state of Texas must keep its expenses within its appropriations and this can be done by abolishing useless boards and commissions, W. E. Pope declared here tonight in speaking in behalf of his candidacy for governor.

"I've been a member of the legislature for the last eight years and I've seen these commissions and boards created at every session although I fought them," he said. "And if elected governor, I'll send home so many men holding these unnecessary jobs that the railroads will have to put on extra trains to carry them.

Fights Higher Taxes.

Mr. Pope declared against additional taxes, saying that the state was already overtaxed. He said he would run the state in such a way that additional revenues would not be necessary.

And Text Books.

Mr. Pope attacked the textbook contracts of December, 1922, terming them "the greatest scandal in the history of Texas." He charged that T. W. Davidson as lieutenant governor "stacked a senate committee to defeat my bill that sought to cancel these contracts." He declared the carrying out of the contracts would cost the state over $4,000,000 and mean the discarding of over 600,000 school books that "have never even been unwrapped." He also said the commission in making the contracts declined to take a discount of $200,000 when it had the opportunity.

Lieutenant Governor For Capable Candidate From Any Class.

By The Associated Press.

PITTSBURG, Texas, July 14.—The wealth of manhood material in Texas makes it possible to select a good governor from almost any calling, whether he be a business man, a professional man or a laboring man, Lieut. Gov. T. W. Davidson, candidate for governor, declared in a speech advocating his candidacy here tonight.

"I believe that there are business men, that there are professional men and that there are laboring men who can fill any position of trust," said Lieutenant Governor Davidson. "A man is a man wherever you find him.

More Business.

"Much is being said at this time about a slogan of more business in government and less government in business. This is the slogan on which Governor Ferguson was elected when he first went into office. If I had any unkind thing to say about him, I would say that he ought to have obtained a copyright on it so that it could not have been used in this campaign. One candidate makes repeated reference to Walton of Oklahoma and infers that this is some reason why I should not be elected governor of Texas. His meaning is veiled but sufficiently apparent to mean that because the laboring people of Oklahoma elected a governor who happened to be impeached, that they should not be permitted to elect one in Texas."

Says Capitalists Lead.

"This argument leads to the very border of those gentlemanly courtesies that should not be overstepped, but if they are to be indulged in, then let me call attention to Fall, Sinclair, Daugherty and the whole Teapot Dome affair in which no champion of labor was involved. Let me call attention to Governor McCray of Indiana, a man of great wealth, who while filling the office of governor, violated the laws to get more wealth and disgraced his state by going to the federal penitentiary.

CONTRACTOR IS GIVEN $50 FINE

J. Caruthers Found Guilty Of Violating Building; Will Appeal Case.

A fine of $50 was imposed Monday morning in city police court when J. Caruthers, local contractor, was found guilty of violating certain provisions of the city's new building code. It was the first fine imposed for such an offense since the code was adopted several weeks ago.

Is Test Case.

Mr. Caruthers, who announced at the time of his arrest that he would make the thing a test case in the courts, has announced that he will appeal to the county courts. He maintains that the city has no right to stipulate how his houses shall be built and that he will seek relief from the penalty.

City officials, on the other hand, are just as positive that they may enforce the building code to the letter of the law. They have also announced that a thorough airing of the thing will be given in higher courts and that the present case will be prosecuted at once.

DEMO FORMALITY WITHIN MONTH

Davis To Officially Get Nomination At Clarksburg.

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 14.—The ceremony of officially notifying John W. Davis of his nomination for the presidency by the democratic party will take place at Clarksburg, W. Va., it was learned today. Formal announcement of the arrangements for the event, which will probably take place within two weeks, is expected within the next few days.

Mr. Davis will deliver the address of acceptance which will signalize the opening of the democratic campaign at the house where he lived as a boy and in the town that has been the residence of his family for a century. The house is now occupied by a sister of the nominee.

The nominee said he was anxious to get the preliminaries out of the way as soon as possible as prolongation of the convention already had somewhat delayed the democratic appeal to the country for control of the government.

After two days of comparative rest at his country home in Locust Valley, Long Island, Mr. Davis drove to New York this morning considerably refreshed and ready to plunge into the last of the preliminary work that must be done to set up the party organization.

Color Cut-Outs

A Gipsy Dance.

While Betty Cut-out was having her fortune told by the mother of the gipsy girl she and her father had met on the road, the girl slipped inside one of their strange wagons and changed her dress from the dirty torn one she had been wearing.

"Oh, how nice you look!" cried Betty, and the girl smiled back at her. "What are you getting dressed up for?"

"I dance for you," replied the girl proudly. So while Betty and her father watched, she danced gaily to the music of a queer instrument like a guitar, which her brother played. "Now I show you something else," she said with a friendly smile.

Color the gipsy girl's dress orange with red, blue and green flowers. She wears also a bright blue shawl, red beads, and a red head-scarf. Tomorrow there will be more about the gipsies.

PEOPLE DON'T ADMIRE ROUGH, PIMPLY SKIN

Before you can impress some one of the opposite sex enough to get them to share the happy state of love with you, you certainly must keep your appearance pleasing and attractive. Pimply, blotchy, eczemic skin seems ten times worse to strangers and new acquaintances. And even husbands, wives, parents and kin feel sorry for loved ones who suffer from such skin diseases.

The way to get rid of all these drawbacks to affection and devotion from dear ones is to use Black and White Ointment, and Soap, like thousands of people are doing. They are economically priced, in liberal packages. The 50c size Black and White Ointment contains three times as much as the 25c size. All dealers have both the Ointment and the Soap.—Adv.

BIBLE THOUGHT AND PRAYER

JULY 15, 1924.

ETERNAL LIFE:—Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy strength, and with all they mind: and they neighbor as thyself. This do, and thou shalt live.—Luke 10:27, 28.

PRAYER:—May the love of God be shed abroad in our hearts by the Holy Spirit who is given unto us.

WICHITA COUNTY GOOD ROADS.

All roads in Wichita county are not "good roads" but Wichita county has made amazing progress in the development of her highway system, as is pointed out by an interesting article in the July number of the Community Builder, official organ of the chamber of commerce.

Declaring four years ago that tourists studied their maps in order to avoid the bad roads of Wichita county, they now peruse them in order to be sure not to miss the fine stretch of concrete highway that runs from one border of the county to the other. The article continues:

"The system includes 67 miles of concrete road and 25 miles of gravel. Concrete roads lead to Burkburnett and the Red river bridge into Oklahoma, to Iowa Park, Electra and the county line of Wilbarger county where it connects with pavement into Vernon, to the county line of Archer county by way of Lake Wichita and to the same line, ten miles out on the Seymour road, to the Clay county line on the road to Henrietta, making connection with the road now in the course of construction, leading through this county, thus giving hard surface all the way to Fort Worth, and gravel road east to the communities of Charlie, Thornberry and Byers."

And concluding, the article says:

"With improved means of highway transportation Wichita county offers first class advantages to the farmer for marketing, for pleasure and convenience; to the wholesaler and jobber who is in position to make prompt and certain deliveries to the various towns to which the highways lead; to the oil man whose operations are greatly facilitated by good roads; and to every class of business concern located in Wichita Falls, because of this city's accessibility to the surrounding territory as a result of the network of highways of which it is the center."

Much of the credit for working out a definite highway system for the county is rightly given to County Judge B. D. Sartin. Judge Sartin has been a tireless and efficient worker in behalf of better roads, and in building them has effected economies and reduced taxes at the same time. The highway committee of the chamber of commerce, with C. H. Clark at its head, also has given excellent co-operation in this important program.

And the program is far from being at an end. Just now there is an accumulation in the maintenance fund for new construction of $240,000 at the present time.

AMERICAN WEALTH HOLDERS.

There are four Americans who have incomes of five million dollars a year. John D. Rockefeller and Henry Ford are two of the four. Edsel Ford and John D. Rockefeller Jr., make up the quartet. There were 67 incomes of one million dollars or more in the United States in 1922. This is three times as many as was in the year 1921. It has been the contention of certain financial experts or political economists that the millionaire class of income tax payers has been growng smaller because of a tendency on the part of the wealthy to invest their fortunes in tax exempt securities. Figures for 1922 constitute a knockout for the theory and the theorists.

A treasury department bulletin shows the number of one million dollar incomes has fluctuated. In 1914 there were 60; in 1915, 120; in 1916, 206; in 1917, the first American war year, 141; in 1918, 67; in 1919, 65; in 1920, 33; in 1921, 21; and in 1922 67 as stated above.

There are other interesting figures broadcasted by the Bulletin. Incove tax payers reported that they had received a total net income in 1922 of $21,336,212,530 and on this they paid the government a total tax of $861,057,208. The number of persons filing returns in 1922 was 6,787,401.

There are millions of Americans who do not file income tax returns. America is the richest of nations. There is no land like it. Our people are the greatest spenders in the world but they put away a billion dollars a year in the savings banks of the nation.

PANTOMIME -:- By J. H. Striebel

WILL SOME ONE KINDLY TELL US—

WHY WE OFTEN PICK THIS KIND OF MEN TO MAKE OUR LAWS—

AND THEN HIRE THIS KIND TO BREAK THEM?

"OLIVER OCTOBER"

Absolute silence—except for the painful wheezing of the last speaker.

"Ollie's?" asked Mr. Sikes at last.

"No telling. Unrecognizable."

"It must have had clothes on," put in Mrs. Grimes stoutly. "Wouldn't you know Ollie Baxter's clothes if you—"

"Hasn't got any clothes on."

"No clothes on?" demanded Mr. Sikes. "Then it can't be Ollie. He had his new suit on."

Mr. Link hesitated. "That detective says the chances are that whoever did the killing stripped the body and burnt the clothes," he said slowly, weightily.

A longer silence than before. Mr. Link's listeners seemed turned to stone. Finally Mr. Sikes moistened his stiff lips.

"What do you mean, Silas, by—by killing?"

"If you feel sort of squeamish, Serepty," began Mr. Link considerately, "maybe," you'd better—"

"I'm not squeamish," retorted the redoubtable little woman. "Go on."

"The top of the skull is smashed in—split wide open," announced the newsbearer, in a hushed, sepulchral voice. Then, apparently eager to get it over with, he hurried on: "Couldn't have died a natural death. Couldn't have committed suicide. Somebody hit him over the head with an axe or a hatchet. Buried six or eight feet deep in a mudhole. They pulled up a hand first with one of them poles with a hook on it. Then they set to work scooping out the hole with shovels. Wasn't long before they got down where they could—"

"Don't tell any more—don't tell any more!" quaked Mrs. Grimes, covering her eyes.

"Lean on me. Serepty," said Mrs. Sikes, who, if anything, was weaker than she.

"They've sent for the police and for my men," went on Mr. Link. "And they're telephoning for the sheriff and corroner and everybody else. Look at the automobiles rushing down that way—and people running on foot—and—oh, my Lord, Joe! If it should turn out to be Ollie it will—it will look mighty bad for Oliver October."

CHAPTER XXIV
Black Suspicions

The news spread like wildfire. Before nightfall every one in Rumley knew that the body of Oliver Baxter had been found and that he had been foully murdered.

With darkness came the inevitable gathering of excited, bewildered people in the downtown streets. Groups of men, conversing in lowered, gutteral voices, discussed the astounding and unexpected discovery. Women and children hung about the edges of these groups or hurried from one to the other, drinking the varied comments and opinions. They listened to men putting two and two together; they heard them connect seemingly unimportant details and weld them into convincing facts—for on all sides men were recalling once vague impressions and giving them now the value of convictions.

They were talking of Oliver October's muddy shoes, of his strange behavior on the Lansing porch, of his unwillingness to allow the ditchers to be beyond a certain point in the swamp, of the rumor that Pete Hines had heard the violent quarrel between the father and son, of the notebook found in the grass on the slope leading down into the slough, of the broken spade handle (they scowled with the thought of a blow forcible enough to splinter a stout hickory handle) and of the singular and significant fact that the heavy metal portion of the spade had never been found.

And then came the startling rumor that old man Baxter had gone to his safety deposit box in the vaults of the bank three days before his disappearance and had removed five $100 Liberty bonds! Rumors, pure and simple, yet accepted as fact by those who roamed the streets. A grave, unanswered question, too, had to do with the money so lavishly spent by young Oliver—several thousand dollars in cash. Where had it come from? Simple as rolling off a log! There wasn't much doubt as to where and how Oliver got his ready cash! But to split his own father's head open with a spade and to throw him into a supposedly bottomless bit, and burn his clothes!

For now all those who thronged the streets were saying that Oliver October had murdered his father.

The street leading to the Baxter residence was alive with people—curious, silent, awe-struck men and women who stared intently at the windows of the house and wondered what was going on behind the yellow shades. Inside the brightly lighted house a small company was assembled. It was not a cheerful company, nor yet a gloomy one. Acting on the advice of the delegation from republican headquarters, Oliver reluctantly had cancelled an engagement to address a mass meeting at the county seat. While no actual charge had been made against him, there was small reason to doubt that the grand jury, then in session would bring an indictment against him, perhaps on the morrow. The coroner, who now had charge of the body—or skeleton—had announced that he would hold an inquest on the following day. The sheriff had returned to the county seat after cautioning Oliver to keep his head and await developments.

"It looks pretty bad for you, Baxter," he had said at the end of a long interview, "but there's only one thing for you to do. People don't want to believe you killed your father, and that's a big advantage. So it is up to you to stand your ground and face whatever comes. Don't talk. Keep your trap closed. I called your uncle up on the telephone just before I came here this evening. He is coming over tomorrow morning to see if he can identify the body. Of course he can't. You seem to be dead sure that it isn't your father. So is Mr. Sikes and Undertaker Link. You all claim that your father was shorter by several inches and had lost several of his teeth. But your lawyer will look after all these point Just sit tight, Baxter, and keep cool. Don't leave town Understand?"

The company in Oliver's sitting room included the redoubtable and venerable Messrs Sikes and Link, Judge Shortridge, Mr. and Mrs. Grimes, Sammy Parr was expected. He was to bring in the news of the streets.

Oliver, a trifle pale, but with a stubborn frown on his brow, listened calmly to the animated conversation that went on about him. He sat beside Jane on the sofa in the corner of the room.

"I don't see how you can be so unmoved, so calm, Oliver, dear," whispered Jane in her lover's ear. "Just think what they are talking about—and as if you were not here at all."

He stroked her hand. "I've been thinking of something else, Jane."

"Of me, I suppose, and the silly notion you have of releasing me from my promise."

"I do release you, dear."

"I refuse to release you—so that's that, as mother says. I am ready and willing to have father marry us tonight, Oliver.

"We will have to wait," he said, rather wistfully.

CHAPTER XXV
Oliver In Danger

The front door opened suddenly and in walked Sammy Parr.

"Excuse haste," he said, tossing his hat and gloves on a chair. "I'm back. Say, gee whiz, everybody in town is out on Clay street. Lots of them down this way, strolling past—"

"What are people saying, Sammy?" Judge Shortridge broke in, grasping his arm.

"Well, I hate to tell you, but as far as I can make out judge, there seems to be a general feeling that—that Oliver did it," said Sammy, wiping his moist forehead with the back of a hand that shook slightly.

"Snap judgment," said the lawyer, after silence had reigned for a few seconds. "That is always the way with the ignorant and uninformed. Nothing to worry about, Oliver. They will be on your side tomorrow when they understand the situation a little better. It's always the way with a crowd."

Josephine Sage spread her hands in a gesture of contempt. "'What fools these mortals be,'" she declaimed theatrically.

It was after 11 o'clock when Oliver's friends departed. He stood on the porch and watched them drive off in the two automobiles. A few persons had stopped at the bottom of the drive to see who were in the cars. The flaring headlights fell upon white, indistinct faces and then almost instantly left them in pitch darkness.

"I wish you had let Mr. Sage marry you and Jane tonight, Oliver," said Mrs. Grimes, at his side on the top step. "You have the license and everything, and it could all have been over in a few minutes. And Jane begged you so hard."

"I couldn't do it, Aunt Serepta," he said dejectedly. "I don't know what is ahead of me. I may be in jail before I'm a day older. He gave her a wry, bitter smile as he put his arm over her shoulder and walked beside her into the house. "Pleasant thought, isn't it, old dear?—as the celebrated Josephine would say."

So Goes It

By BURNS HEGLER

Perhaps the mystery has been solved. At any rate, it has been brought out that William G. McAdoo was born on a Halloween. In other words, when a lot of democrats saw his face at the window they just refused to believe it was the real thing.

Among those who have learned, sooner or later, that applause doesn't always mean anything, is one Newton D. Baker. Mr. Baker stood before the democratic convention in New York, and made a last stand for the League of Nations. It stood out as one of the features of a feature convention.

And when he had done, and even while he was speaking, the crowd gave him a tremendous ovation. They applauded him and cheered him to the echo. And then they voted against his proposal. First they yielded to their emotions; then they obeyed the unrelenting orders of practical politics.

It was ever thus. Once upon a time in Oklahoma we talked with a candidate on the eve of the election. We inquired as to his chances. "Not a chance," he answered. We were surprised. Why, we said, you have had great crowds. They have received you with enthusiasm. Every speech you have made has been punctuated with frequent applause. And then he spake.

"Sure, I know it. I've been cheered to the echo. Countless men of political faith opposite from mine have wrung my hand and promised me their votes. The applause, at times, has been deafening. It was all very fine. But that was in the enthusiasm of the moment.

"In the cold gray dawn of election day it is different. That howling, cheering crowd which applauded me so roundly, will saunter to the polls, and vote as it damn pleases."

His conclusions were correct. Applause is all very fine, but it doesn't mean anything except the expression of emotion. That, after all, is the trouble with oratory. For further confirmation of this statement, see a gentleman whose laundry mark is W. J. B.

Insurgent Texas G. O. P. Call Meet

By The Associated Press.

SAN ANTONIO, July 14.—Characterizing the May meeting of Texas republicans in Dallas as a mass meeting of office holders under the auspices of R. B. Creager, Captain John E. Elgin chairman of the republicans who bolted that convention, has issued a call for a state republican convention in Waco, August 12.

He has also issued a call for precinct and county conventions prior to this date to elect delegates for the state convention when a national committeeman and presidential electors will be chosen.

Elgin charges that postmasters and federal officers usurped the rights of the regularly named delegates to the convention at Dallas. He provides in his call for means to block any plan of the other factions to halt the convention at Waco.

More Truth Than Poetry

THE MODERN SPRINKLING ENGINE

You amble up the avenue
In placid peace of mind,
When "zzst"—a jet of oily glue
Assaults you from behind.
You wonder if a water spout
Has burst upon the scene,
But you are wrong: the boys are out
To keep the city clean.

An automobile tries to win
The summit of a hill,
But though the wheels beneath it spin,
The rest of it stands still.
You slip, regain your equipose,
Then zip, you're off your feet;
But it is nice to know the boys
Are cleaning up the street.

A dainty maiden, trimly gowned,
Stands waiting by the way,
When suddenly she's almost drowned
By spouts of dark brown spray.
The cleaning gang has made of her
A sad and piteous sight,
But why should any one demur?
They've made the city bright.

Oh, mild and gentle sprinkling cart
Our fathers used to make,
You never, never used to start
A mudstorm in your wake.
You moved along with little fuss
And beautified the scene;
You did not make limp daubs of us,
To keep the city clean.

Dr. Frank Crane's Daily Editorial

Three Enemies of Life

There are three devils, sworn enemies to the human race, at work night and day to exterminate us as quickly as possible, and to make life miserable for us as long as we cumber the ground.

Their names are:

Hurry,
Worry and Indecision.

It is not work that wears us out, but these three.

First, hurry. Its immediate result is overstrain. And many people suffer from jangled nerves, dyspeptic stomachs and sleepless nights, simply because they have done, not too much work, but work that was too confused and crowded.

The antidote to hurry is system.

Many a nervous wreck might be cured by a few first lessons in orderly thinking.

Second, worry.

As hurry is from lack of order, so worry is from lack of courage.

It is fear in its subtlest disguises. It comes camouflaged as a sense of responsibility, or a natural anxiety, or a great love, or the religious feeling.

Really it is sheer weakness, the cowardice of a nature that shirks from the necessity give-and-take of the struggle for existence.

If a thing is inevitable, adjust yourself to it. If disaster looms, front it bravely. If responsibility is great, do your best and look pleasant.

Third, indecision.

You never can know absolutely what is best. But our business is to know only what is probably best.

Decision rests on a balance of probabilities not on perfect judgment.

All forceful people decide quickly. They may be no nearer right those who hesitate, but they have the advantage of having done something. It is a matter of habit. And if we accustom ourselves to deciding rapidly in favor of what is probably best we save ourselves infinite distrees.

WHAT TODAY MEANS TO YOU

By MARY BLAKE

CANCER

The aspects of today are quite propitious, and favor concentrated effort and decisive action. They are particularly favorable for constructive work from which immediate results are not expected but which requires a lot of preliminary work and thought before real execution gets properly started. Excellent vibrations bespeak success for any social activities or domestic duties of an exceptional character.

A child born today will be abnormally strong and healthy. It will escape most of the ailments of infancy. Its disposition is inclined to be rather overbearing, and its character strong outwardly, but weak internally. In order to correct these defects, it must be taught to correct these defects; it must be taught the advantages of self-control and sacrifice, so that its physical strength, although always ready for defense, shall in attack be held in check. Stern discipline must, if necessary be used, in order to develop the child's natural characteristics into assets, and prevent their becoming liabilities.

If today is your birthday, you are irresponsible and lack a sense of duty, which is the very crown of character. It is the upholding law of man in his highest altitudes. Without it, the individual totters and falls before the first puff of adversity or temptation, whereas, inspired by it, the weakest becomes strong and full of courage. "Duty," says Mrs. Jameson, "is the cement which binds the whole moral edifice together; without which, all power, goodness, intellect, truth, happiness, love itself can have no permanence."

Duty is based upon a sense of justice—justice inspired by love which is the most perfect form of goodness.

Duty is not a sentiment, but a principle pervading the life.

The voice of conscience speaks in duty done; conscience sets a man upon his feet, while his will holds him upright. Only through the dominating influence of conscience can your character be fully developed.

Your conscience speaks loudly, but your sense of duty is not strong, and therefore, it often speaks in vain.

Successful people born on this date are:

Edward Abbott, congregational clergyman.

Thomas Fell, educator, president of St. John's College, Annapolis, Ind.

Benjamin Ide Wheeler, educator president of University of California.

Franklin Knight Lane, ex-secretary of interior.

SOILS AND SOIL PHYSICS
Carrying oil Bacteria From One Soil To Another.

In preceding articles we have been telling how certain experiments were undertaken to determine whether or not soil bacteria were destroyed when irrigated land became waterlogged and alkalied.

It was expected to find out whether or not such a lack of bacteria was the cause of crops failing when planted on land that had only recently been reclaimed from such a condition through drainage and flooding.

It will be remembered that there were three classes of samples. The first just as it was after being reclaimed. The second class were those that had soil from fertile fields mixed with them in varying proportions. The third were raw soil samples that had been treated with water leached from fertile soils.

Those samples were divided again according to the water used in keeping the soil moist while sprouting and growing the test crops planted in them. One half were watered with plain irrigation water while the other half were treated with water that was leached from more fertile soils.

Now for the results; The crops failed entirely on the samples of raw untreated soils on which plain irrigation water was used but there was not a single complete failure on any sample which either had fertile soil mixed with it or had had water leached from fertile fields applied to it.

To the writer and to the various government and state experts who had watched the progress of the test this was conclusive evidence that soil bacteria is necessary to plant growth, that soil bacteria can be killed out by alkali and excess water and that soil bacteria can be transmitted from one soil to another either by mixing the soils or through the medium of water.

Today's Poem

In Row F.

Lady with tousled tresses,
Recently shampooed, my guest is,
When you entered and sat down
Bowl-shaped lid adorned your crown.
'Twas a modern skull-tight bonnet,
Scarce a bit of trimming on it—
Doffing it, you fluffed your hair,
Alas, for me behind your chair.
Your fingered locks spread out so wide
The stage they did completely hide.
"Remove your hats," the rule designed
To help us chaps who sit behind
Acted for me in sad reverse.
I sank back murmuring, "Good night, nurse!"

Will True Love Make Up for All Other Disadvantages After Marriage?—Shall She Marry Without an Engagement Ring Or Put Off Her Weding for one?—The Man Who Has the Habit of Treating Every Woman but His Wife as a Lady.

Dear Miss Dix—Do you think that a girl should consider these questions before marriage:

Going to live in a small town, when she has been born and reared in a city?

The social standing of the man's parents?

The salary he receives?

Is it advisable to marry a man who has no home or money to give his wife, but who has a heart full of true love?

If love is strong enough, will it make up for all other disadvantages?

ANXIOUS.

Answer: Inasmuch as life after marriage is not lived in a fairy tale, but in a very practical and material world, it is certainly highly important for a woman to consider before she takes the fatal step every aspect of the case, and just what her chances for happiness will be under the new conditions.

Certainly her environment will be a most important thing to her, and still more vital will be the kind of family into which she marries, for her husband's people will be her people henceforth, their name hers, and their blood will flow in her children's veins.

Many city-reared girls can never adjust themselves to small town or country ways, and never cease to pine for asphalt. Many girls are miserable when taken away from their own families and old friends, and many girls who marry the sons of plain, uncultured parents are ashamed of their in-laws, and bring trouble and discord thereby into their marriages.

A girl does well never to marry a man unless she loves him enough to say with Ruth: "Thy people shall be my people, and thy country my country, and thy God my God."

As for marrying a man who has nothing but true love to give his wife, that is a dangerous venture, unless he also possesses, in addition to a heart, plenty of grit.

Poverty is nothing if a man has energy and initiative, and is willing to work, but without these it is hopeless. Just love isn't enough to marry on, because you will find that you are just as hungry after marriage as before; that you have to have clothes, and a roof to cover you, and unless you have these you will be miserable. You will care little for the state of your affections when your stomach is clamoring for food.

If a man really loves a woman, he hustles out and makes the money to support her, so my advice to you would be to wait until he gets the home for you.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—I am engaged to a young man who is very fond of me, and who is very dear to me, but he did not give me a ring, as we wished to save money to get married. I do not care for it myself, but our friends keep asking me where my ring is, and as my fiance does not want me to be embarrassed he wishes to buy me a ring. But if he does this, we would have to put off our wedding at least a year, as the ring will take all the money we have saved up to get married on.

Should he buy me a ring now, and wait for the wedding, or should we get married, and wait for the future when he will be able to buy me one?

NELLIE.

Answer: Have enough courage, Nellie, to live your own life, and spend what you can afford to spend regardless of what your friends say. An engagement ring is a pretty, sentimental ornament, and one that every girl would like to have if her fiance can afford to give her one, but it is the wedding ring that really counts. With that on your finger you can laugh at the girls who are still unmarried, and whose sweethearts are still paying for their engagement rings.

It is the high cost of loving, and the fact that girls expect their fiances to spend so much money upon them, that accounts for the growth of the old maid crop. It costs so much to be engaged, that a man has nothing upon which to get married.

To get married without an engagement ring will be a sort of emancipation proclamation. It will serve notice on your friends that you are going to start out in life according to your own honest, common-sense views and that you are going to buy only what you can pay for, and live in the manner which you can afford, instead of running in debt trying to do all the things they expect of you.

It is trying to keep up with their neighbors that ruins thousands of young couples. They feel that they have to live in an expensive house because the Smiths have one. They feel they have to have costly furniture because the Browns have. They feel they have to have a car because the Jones have one. And so they run into debt and are always trying to stave off the bill collector. Before you know it, they are blaming each other, and quarreling and fighting, and their happiness goes on the rocks.

Don't think that people will laugh at you for having the backbone to do without things you cannot afford. They wil honor and respect you for it. And, take it from me, the poor man who won't go into debt to buy an engagement ring is mighty apt, twenty years later, to be able to buy his wife a three-karat solitaire, while the man who buys his sweetheart an engagement ring on the installment plan is pretty sure to have to pawn it before the honeymoon is over.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Dorothy Dix—I want to know what you think of a man who is captain of a bowling league, and who refused to let a certain young man bowl because he swore in front of some ladies. Yet this same man curses his wife and children whenever he gets angry with them.

ANXIOUS.

Answer: I think the man is a cad, and that it is a pity he hasn't somebody to discipline him and show him where he gets off. But I think he has plenty of company. There are thousands of men who talk to their wives as they would not do to any woman who had a man to protect her, or who was their own size. There are plenty of men who do not seem to think that their wives are ladies and entitled to be treated as such.

Scootac, Pa.—"I never felt like working, and when I would try to do any work standing on my feet, I would just drag around all day long. At times I would have terrible pains and would be in bed three or four days. I was in this condition about a year when I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in the papers. I had heard different women say it was good for women's troubles, and my aunt thought it would help me as it had helped her. So I took the Vegetable Compound and it brought things right, and I was in good shape before I became a mother again. I believe it helps at birth, too, as with both my other babies I suffered a great deal more than with this one. Mrs. Coolidge was described as having returned from the week-end trip much stronger, the change of scene having done much to relieve her mind of the thoughts of the past week. Colonel John Coolidge, the president's father, who came to Washington from Plymouth, Vt., after the funeral there, and John, the son, devoted much of their time during the trip to endeavoring to cheer up Mrs. Coolidge.

Spuds Stampede Herd In Series' Opener

SKIPPER BUD LEADS CLAN TO HARD FOUGHT VICTORY

Three Houston Hurlers Come in For Hard Pounding—Tanner and Weis Hit Homers

By BLONDY CROSS.

Spudders, sluggiest ball nine in the Texas circuit, mistreated three Houston hurlers, knocked 'em for a row of bayou city mud barges, and captured the series' opener, 8 to 5, Monday.

Michael Kircher, the Buff Hibernian, sorrowfully passed from the hilltop in the third round when Bud's bludgeoners abetted by a pair of walks walloped a trio of counters. Delaney, a newcomer with the Buffs, jumped into the fray and was cut up in the seventh for three more. He gave way for a pinch hitter, and Bugs Morris came in for a bit of massacre in the eighth when the rampant Spuds broke loose for a couple.

Skipper Bud led his warriors into battle like the valiant Danish chieftain of yore, who busted into the thick of a fight with their war clubs swinging, yelping for Thor and thunderation and whatnot. Bud, the midget leader, with the battle light in his eyes, fared forth onto the war field yesterday, tore into the enemy, and came very near conquering Houston's herd all by his lonesome. Tanner's single in the third drove in a brace of markers. His double in the seventh paved the way for three more, and his circuit smash in the eighth busted over two more tallies. But Art Weis was not to be outdid. Out of four visits to the platter, he walked twice, singled once and later drove the longest home run of the year with Bud and Locker resting on the cushions.

Robert Osborn, Spudder starboarder, was pounded for a dozen safeties. But Robert was quite effective, the proof of which is carried out when it is pointed that but a pair of the Buff counters were of the earned variety.

BUFFS ENACT DOUBLE PLAYS.

Buffs menaced in the initial couple after there were two away. Robert issued Monroe a pass. Gainer popped a Texas leaguer back of third for a single but went to second when the Spuds made a futile attempt to cut Monroe off at the hot corner. Tex McDonald, next at the plate, sailed into one for a breezy drive to left center. The ball seemed destined to land in safe territory, but Old Folks Coombs romped over from port and snared the drive for a bit of cold-blooded murder. It was a beautiful play.

Kircher gave Fitzgerald a free ticket in the Spud portion of the first, but a speedy double killing on bounder hit by Locker thwarted the homelings. Kane scooped up the ball on short, chunked to Monroe at the keystone cushion, and Monroe bulleted to first a step ahead of the galloping Locker.

Fast work on the infield following a miscue at first held the Buffs at bay in the second.

Again in the Spudder second did Kircher pass the first man up, merely to realize sterling support from his infield. Turge popped out to third. Coombs bounced one to McDonald, who slammed it to Monroe waiting at second, and then the Buff keystoner shot the pill again to Gainer on the initial sack for the second twin erasure of Wichita chances to tabulate.

Three belligerent Buffs strode to the platter in the third, and were promptly tamed by the Spud starboarder. Compton grounded out to short. McCarty aviated to right, and Monroe fouled to Coombs, who made another pretty running catch.

SPUDS TABULATE THREE IN THIRD.

It being inning number 3, and no runs having been counted up to that round, the Spudders busted out and gathered in a trio. White pushed one at the hot corner. The ball took a nasty bound, and went for a single. Kircher became wilder than a likkered renegade in a hostile chief's wigwam, and jungle heaved Jonnard and Osborn to the first sack via the four-balls route. Fitzgerald followed with a singler to port, shoving White to the paying counter. Tanner slapped another too close to second base to be fielded cleanly, thereby gaining a life at first while Jonnard and Osborn counted. Fitzgerald advanced a peg. Buff Boss Goodwin sent Micheal sadly on his way, and called in Art Delaney, recent right hand addition from the St. Louis Nationals. Locker punched to short on a line, who caught Fitz off second for the third double play. Weis annexed an infield bingle when nobody covered first to receive the throw. Turge bounded out to McDonald.

Buffs reared up and pawed out a couple of bingles with one putout sandwiched in between in the fifth, but lacked the final punch. Infield cut 'em down on the next two batters.

Spuds saturated the sack in the domestic half of the fifth on infield safeties by Osborn and Fitzgerald and a walk. Osborn got caught off second, but a wild chunk to centerfield by Delaney stuffed the cushions once more. The Buff hurler couldn't be bothered. He retired Locker and Turge whiff-whiff, just like that.

HOUSTON EVENS COUNT, 3 TO 3.

Houston evened the count after two were down in the sixth combining four one-base blows with a couple of miscues. After there was one away, McDonald made first safely when his bounder to short took a nasty jump. Hafey fouled out to Locker. Kane slapped one between first and second, McDonald drawing up at second. Dimond bobbled one between the box and third. He had the throw beat, but Tanner in a desperate attempt to retire the Houston backstop, snapped the ball poorly to first. It hit the runner in the back, and McDonald scampered home. Kane and Dimond pulled a double steal, Kane scoring. White, receiving the peg at second from Jonnard, lined the pellet back to the plate too low to be handled. Dimond made it to third. Kane came through with a single to right, putting Dimond across. Compton went out, Osborn to first.

The necessary poke was absent in the Spudder sixth. Coombs and White led off with singles, but passed away on the paths. Jonnard filed out to center. Osborn fanned, and Fitz popped to the mid sector.

HOMELINGS JUMP OUT FRONT AGAIN.

Homelings smashed three runs out front in the seventh. Tanner busted a lightning drive down the third base line for a brace of cushions. He tabulated when Locker followed with a single through short. Artful Arthur Weis choked up his bat, the brute, and bunted one foul. He then hauled off and bruised the horsehide for a powerful drive over the center boards, bringing in two more scoring nuggets. Delaney tightened, and the next three batters were retired in order.

Buffs cut the Spud lead to one run in the eighth. Hafey hoisted against the left field fence for two bases. Coombs came very near to making the catch. Kane singled to right, and went to second on the throw in. Hafey scored. Dimond aviated to center. Knight, hitting for Delaney, smacked the first ball pitched for a double to port. Kane counted.

Tanner refrigerated the contest in the latter half of the eighth when he poled one over the left field fence close to the foul line with Fitzgerald on base.

BROWNS SPLIT WITH YANKEES

Ruth Drives Out Two More Homers In Second Game Even If Team Loses.

NEW YORK, July 14.—The Yanks and Browns broke even on their double header here today. Pennock won his fifth straight game in the opening contest, despite the fact that St. Louis batted out two runs on his first three pitched balls. Wingard defeated the Yankees in the second for the third time this season. Ruth hit his 25th and 26th home runs of the season in this game.

Baumgartner relieved Harris in the third for the Athletics after the Tigers had scored all four of their runs. Heimach took up the burden in the tenth and held up the Detroit sluggers to one scratch hi.

Americans Fare Well in Olympic Opening Rounds Net Competition

Three U. S. Feminine Netsters Are Defeated But Male Players Win Matches Handily

PARIS, July 14.—Of the 16 nations which entered their quota of four players each in the Olympic singles tennis championship competition, only the United States and France had their full quartets left in the running tonight at the end of the second day's play.

The weeding out process proceded from 10 o'clock this morning until after 8 o'clock this evening, under a fierce July sun, with many hopeful players going down, among them three women of the American team. Miss Lillian Scharman of Brooklyn could not meet the pace set in the singles by the young Spanish girl, Senorita Alvarez and was beaten 6-2, 6-0. Not long afterwards, Mrs. Marion Z. Jessup and Miss Eleanor Goss, who were pitted against the British pair, Miss Kathleen McKane and Mrs. Phyllis Covell, met with similar fate in the doubles.

Easy for Americans

But the American big four in the men's singles and doubles came through the long day's grind without a casualty—without, in fact, having to try very hard. The program committee give Vincent Richards a holiday, as he already had attained a place in the third round of the singles. The other three Americans, R. Norris Williams, Watson M. Washburn and Francis T. Hunter, had a comparatively easy time in disposing of their opponents.

From now on, however, the tasks of the Americans likely will be harder. Hunter tomorrow afternoon finds himself pitted against the hard-hitting Belgian champion, J. Washer. Both depend to a large extent upon terrific pace and slinging, vigorous forehand drives.

Not Easy Today

At the same hour Richards will meet M. Sleem of India, and Miss Helen Wills, the American woman champion, will make her Parisian debut with Mrs. Satterthwaite of England as her opponent. Williams, meanwhile will be up against Macenauer of Czecho-Slovakia and Washburn will meet Van Leenup of Holland.

The doubles matches produced some dull tennis and some good tennis.

William and Washburn, combining their best co-operative strides, quickly and neatly disposed of the Hungarian doubles team Kerchmeyer and Gonozo, 6-1, 6-0, 6-0.

Mrs. Molla Mallory, playing for her native country, Norway, had no trouble in getting rid of her first opponent, Mme. Vaussand of France, 6-2, 6-2.

American Men Swimmers Outclassed In Olympics, But Women Go Strong

PARIS, July 14.—Arne Borg of Sweden and Acherlton, Australia, on the showing they made today in the semi-finals of the 1500 metres Olympic swim free style appear to outclass the competitors from other countries as did Nurmi and Ritola of Finland in the runs.

The United States stands no chance to score points in this event, all of its entrants having been eliminated. Tomorrow's race in the finals between the Swede and the Australian should prove to be a record breaker, for both of them this p. m. turned in marks well under the old Olympic record without being extended.

On the form displayed today the American women swimmers, however, likely will finish one, two, three in the 400-metre final free style, while the American woman divers have a good chance to score points in the plain and high diving events.

Spain, Sweden, Hungary, France, Holland, Ireland, Czecho-Slovakia and Belgium remain qualified for the second round in the water polo championship event, from which the United States was eliminated, by France in the first round yesterday.

NEW YORK, July 14.—Luis Vicentini, Chilean lightweight, knocked out Rocky Kansas of Buffalo in the eleventh round of a scheduled 15-round bout at the Queensboro A. C. tonight. TILDEN RETAINS RACQUET TITLE

Kinsey Brothers Remain Clay Court Doubles Champs.

ST. LOUIS, July 14.—William T. Tilden of Philadelphia, singles champion, and Robert and Howard Kinsey of San Francisco, doubles champions, retained their titles by victories in the final matches of the national clay court tennis tournament at Triple A Tennis club here late today.

Tilden, the world's premier tennis player, easily defeated Harvey Snodgrass of Los Angeles, in the singles, 6-2, 6-1, 6-1.

The Kinseys eliminated Tilden and his youthful protege, A. L. "Sandy" Wiener, in the doubles, 6-4, 7-5, 6-2.

The final match in defense of his title early developed into a walk-away for Tilden and a more exhibition for the wonder strokes of the man who demonstrates the game of tennis, nationally and internationally.

Tilden's singles victory today was his fourth in the clay court competition. He won a three-time trophy by his victory at Indianapolis last year.

Snodgrass was unable to break through the champion's service until the fifth game of the third set today, which the Californian won on nets and outs by Tilden.

MIGHTY ALEX FRACTURES WRIST, SO CUBS RECALL SPUDDER BUSH

Local Baseball Management Makes Speedy Effort to Obtain Hurler to Take Bullet Joe's Place

CHICAGO, Ill., July 14.—Grover Cleveland Alexander, veteran pitching ace of the Chicago Cubs, suffering from a broken wrist, will not pitch for at least a month and probably not at all this season. Alexander, it was learned today, has a fracture of the wrist, which two x-ray pictures failed to reveal since he was injured in Pittsburgh. The veteran has won nine of 12 games thus far this season. His injury is the first serious accident to the club this year, but it has almost ruined Chicago's hopes of a pennant contender.

Pitcher Guy Bush, released to Wichita Falls, Texas, has been recalled and President Veeck is angling for another pitcher. Bush has had a winning streak in the Texas league.

The Spudder management announced the recalling of Bush shortly after noon Monday, the time of receipt of the recall, and declared that all efforts would be made to acquire another good pitcher to add to the local staff.

According to Club Secretary J. Will Gray, the management expects to give Skipper Tanner another pitcher most any hour. Negotiations are under way at present, and the news of the acquisition of another pitcher may break today.

Bush entrained for Chicago yesterday at 4 o'clock.

Harris Defeats Floral Heights

The victors collected 14 safe blows, M. Robertson being the star with a perfect day at bat. Out of five trips, Robertson hit safely four times and was once hit by pitched ball.

Hatton, Benton, and Blue led the attack for the loser with two safeties each.

EPINARD TAKES HIS RUN ON U. S. TURF

NEW YORK, July 14.—Epinard had his first gallop on American soil at Belmont Park today. His condition and showing were so satisfactory that Trainer Eugene Leigh may abandon his original plans to take the French colt to Saratoga for training.

"He likes the weather here, and he took to the Belmont track splendidly," said Leigh. "I may stay right here until the first special race in September. I will decide later in the week."

Humble Making Preliminary Survey For New North Texas Carrier

SURVEY ONLY PRELIMINARY

Construction Not Contemplated Until Industrial Conditions Permit.

The Humble Pipeline company is making a preliminary survey for a pipeline from its Iowa Park gathering station to its main line of the gulf in the Breckenridge country. The intentions of the company do not at present involve an actual building of the line until such time as industrial conditions make such a project more favorable, but the survey, being made solely for the purpose of gathering data as to the country to be traversed, probable cost of such a line, and other information has been under way for something over a week, and has proceeded southward as far as Archer City from Iowa Park.

The prospective line will be approximately 80 or 90 miles long and will be a six-inch carrier. It will run through Iowa Park district, Wilmot pool, on through the Swastika territory, and through Young county and the Bashara district there, until it connects with the main 8-inch line at Breckenridge.

The survey, which has been under way a week, will probably take three or four weeks more to finish, it is said. No right of way is being taken and the survey is in every way preliminary, much of it following the already laid down survey of the Wichita Pipeline company for their line to the Swastika territory. The company is putting itself under no obligations to build such a line, and will probably not undertake to do such until conditions in the productive end of the oil industry show a great improvement; next year is even heard as the probable time set for construction if, as stated, the project should ever reach that stage.

The Humble Oil and Refining company has had a great deal of influence brought to bear upon it in recent months to build such a line, and at various times has had opportunities to make very valuable connections by so doing. They have held aloof from such an expense heretofore, and the survey being made now is the first indication that they had ever considered such a thing seriously.

It has been made plain here that the survey is in every respect preliminary, and that it should arouse no false hopes among operators in the districts affected for a quick construction of another pipeline out of this district.

Superior Plugging Back, Kinder Test

The Superior Oil corporation is engaged in plugging back to 1,300 feet on their No. 1, Kinder, block 58, Clark and Plumb subdivision, block 5, east of Archer City, Archer county, to give the sand around 1,200 feet a test.

Casing will be cemented at 1,253 feet, and a small shot used in an attempt to make a producer.

This sand was tested before but due to trouble in getting a proper seat passed up for a deeper test. Drilling stopped at 1,707 feet in hard lime.

BASS-DILLARD SET CASING ON PEELER NO. 5

Bass and Dillard's No. 5, Peeler, south offset to the Petroleum Producers Oil company No. 3, Maer-Staniforth, Watkins pool, south of Iowa Park, Wichita county, is setting casing at 1,651 feet to give that sand a test.

PET-PRODUCERS NO. 4 MURRAY, PAST 1,450 TO 1,700-FT. SAND

The Petroleum Producers company is drilling below 1,450 feet on its No. 4, Maer-Staniforth, Watkins pool, with the expectation of making a well from the 1,700-foot sand in this district. This well is a twin well to the No. 1, a 1,600-foot producer.

The No. 3, Maer-Staniforth, of this company, completed last week, is being placed on the pump with the expectation of making a good producer.

ATLANTIC SETS CASING 1,759 FEET NO. A-1, MURRAY

Tt Atlantic Oil Producing company and Cap McDanald (Electra Gulf) have set casing in their No. 1-A, Murray, at a depth of 1,759 feet, and were expected to drill in late last night or today.

Alford and Others Down 400 Feet, Anderson Land

Alford et al are drilling past 400 feet on their No. 1 test on the J. L. Anderson land, Clark and Plumb subdivision, block 4, lot 38, Archer county.

W. PHILLIPS SETS CASING—CEMENTS

Waite Phillips has cemented casing in his test on the Horrits survey, Wilson land, southeast of Dundee and will wait probably three or four more days before completing his test.

Claim Mexico Has Original Ms. Of Columbus' Voyage

By The Associated Press

MEXICO City, July 14.—The newspaper El Universal claims that Mexico holds the original manuscript of the diary of Christopher Columbus detailing the voyage for the discovery of America and terminating with the return voyage.

The newspaper claims that when a storm overtook the ships near the Azores, Columbus hurriedly completed the diary and inclosed two copies, one in a wooden box and the other in a wax casing, throwing them overboard. It was said that he feared shipwreck was imminent and felt that the diary was the sole means of announcing his discovery of America to the world.

It is reported that the manuscript of the Columbus diary was purchased by the present owner in Havana eight years ago and is now being studied by local authorities who do not doubt its authenticity. According to El Universal, the manuscript was found 300 years after it was thrown into the water.

La Follette Will Be on All State Ballots, Say

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, July 14.—The name of Senato Robert M. La Follette, independent candidate for president, can be placed on the ballot in every state, Representative John H. Nelson of Wisconsin, campaign manager for the senator, announced after conference with various leaders today.

"I have conferred with E. E. Witte, director of the Wisconsin bureau," he said, "with Herman L. Beckern, attorney general of Wisconsin, and Donald R. Richberg of Chicago, who will direct the arrangement for placing the La Follette name on the ballot. We checked all the more difficult states. We did not find a single state where La Follette electors can not be placed on the ballot in some way or other. In some state it will be done by petition. In a few we shall have to make haste, however."

42 HIGH MARKS ESTABLISHED

Extensive Readjustment Of Speculative Accounts Responsible.

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 14.—Extensive readjustment of speculative accounts imparted trend to today's active market, which was featured by the bouyancy of a number of industrial specialties. Forty-two new 1924 high records were established during the session, 13 by public utility stocks and 14 by railroad shares.

Standard industrials showed a tendency to pause after the extensive advance of the last two months. U. S. steel opened unchanged at 101, advanced to 101 1-2, and then dropped back a point. American Can closed nearly a point lower at 115 3-4 and Baldwin and Studebaker showed small fractional losses at 116 1-4 and 37 1-4 respectively.

Changes in the railroad group were mixed, some good gains being recorded by the eastern carriers. New Haven and "Nickel Plate" attained new peak prices at 23 5-8 and 100 1-4, respectively, and closed slightly below their top prices for net gains of more than one point.

Sinclair Causes Drop.

Unconfirmed rumors questioning the safety of the $2 Sinclair dividend brought heavy selling into that stock and forced it down nearly two points to a record low price of 16. Other oils declined in sympathy, but in most cases the new losses were limited to fractions. Unfavorable dividends rumors also were held responsible for the weakness of Stewart-Warner, which broke more than four points to 59 3-4.

U. S. Cast Iron High.

U. S. Cast Iron Pipe was the individual strong spot, touching a record high for all time at 101. 7-8 as against a low of 20 last year. Strength of International Harvester, which closed 3 5-8 points higher at 92 3-8, was based on speculations of larger profits likely to result from agricultural prosperity in western states.

Call money held at two per cent all day. Time money and commercial paper markets were quiet with no change in rates.

Exchange Active.

Further withdrawal of British balances from local banks resulted in another sharp advance in demand sterling, which sold as hight as 4.38 1-2. French francs were active despite the observance in Paris of the French national holiday, the local quotations showing a gain of 13 points at 5.28 cents.

MONEY At Work

Brief but important lessons in finance, markets, stocks, bonds and investments

A surplus of from 5 to 10 per cent in the number of apartments is necessary to keep rents stable. If the surplus is larger, rents go down; if it is smaller, rents go up.

Would you be satisfied to walk into a shoe store and have a salesman politely hand you a pair of shoes and inform you that there was just one pair of shoes for each customer? Certainly not.

You want to choose your shoes and the store must have some left over after every one has chosen, if it wants to give satisfaction.

The same thing applies to apartments. There must be a surplus so that people can choose, not just enough to supply everybody. If there were just one apiece, people would bid for the most desirable apartments and rents would go up. If there were too many, people would get too choicy and rents would go down.

BIG BUYING HOISTS WHEAT

Price Records Smashed For Season; Corn Market Levels Also Broken.

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, July 14.—Big buying hoisted wheat 5 cents a bushel in value today, and smashed all high price records for the season. Drought working havoc to the Canadian crop was the chief cause assigned. High price records were also broken in the corn market. Wheat closed strong at 4 1-4 to 4 7-8 cents net advance, September 1.23 to 1.23 1-4 and December 1.25 3-4 to 1.26 with corn 1-2 to 4 1-4 cents up, oats showing 3-4 cents to 1 3-8 cent gain, and provisions unchanged to 27 cents higher.

Broad demand for wheat was in evidence from the outset and especially so on the part of foreigners. In addition to future deliveries purchases, it was estimated that Europeans took 2,000,000 bushels today for immediate shipment to Europe, the largest amount in some time.

Scarcity of offerings forced steep upturns in nearby deliveries of corn. Distant months were also given some strength by relatively low temperatures and wet weather. Oats followed.

Provisions responded to the grain bulge and made new top record prices, despite immense arrivals of hogs here.

NEW ORLEANS, July 14.—The cotton market was decidedly erratic and excited today with fairly active trading and wide fluctuations. July furnished the sensation of the session by a decline to the limit of 200 points after an early advance of 43 points which had carried it up to 29.95. In the last half of the morning there developed without warning what appeared to be rather free offering of July by spot interests. Prices crumbled swiftly, until the near month dropped to 27.05 before the offerings were absorbed. It then turned out that only 300 bales actually had been sold on the slump, and the month then rallied 85 points to 27.90 and closed at 27.75, or 87 points net lower for the day. New crop months which had advanced 36 points in the early trading to 24.82 for October and 24.60 for December slumped off in sympathy with the drop in the new position, losing 64 points to 24.18 for October and 24.05 for December. Prices rallied about 30 points in the afternoon and the close showed a net gain of one point to a net loss of three points on new crops.

At the start the market was a shade easier owing to Liverpool coming in lower than due, but soon rallied well to the high points of the day on the weather map this showing further rains in the east and very little rain with high temperatures in the west.

Cotton futures closed steady at 1 point up to 87 points down net.

HEYDLER LAYS DOWN RULE ON PITCHERS PASSING BATTERS

NEW YORK, July 14. — John Heydler, president of the National league, today handed down an interpretation of the intentional pass rule which will preclude the repettiion of the evasion used by Pitcher Hubbell of the Philadelphia club in a game with Cincinnati on June 8. Hubbell got around the regulation which provides that a catcher may not step out of his box to receive a pitch by throwing four balls to Holke, Philadelphia, first baseman when Walker of the Reds came to bat. The umpire ordered Walker to take his base.

In his ruling, sent to National league umpires today, President Heydler stated when that pitcher for the purpose of intentionally passing the batsman, deliberately threw four balls to the first baseman he made a farce of the rule and indirectly of the game.

Rule 23, which has to do with penalizing a pitcher for delaying the game cannot be taken advantage of in this manner.

If "any more attempts of this kind are made, call a balk for each throw to first unless runner is occupying that bag. You have full authority to do so under the rules."

WHERE DO YOU SOW?

IF YOU were sowing for a crop, would you sow in your own field, or in someone's else? Sounds like foolish question doesn't it? But there are a great many people who do sow in the other fellow's field when it comes to buying. Instead of buying from home dealers, or having home folks render them service, they send their money away to firms that they have never seen and folks they never will see.

THE MONEY spent at home yields a crop in building up home business—making it possible for home folks to buy what you have to sell. The money sent elsewhere doesn't do that. It can't, for it never comes back. Patronize the firms represented on this page and you'll be sowing in your own field—and reaping a twofold harvest. Spend your money where it will have a chance to return to you.

Negro Licks His Wife Again And Lands In Jail

Henry Owsley, a negro, was arrested Monday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff Jack Miller on charges of having beaten his wife for the second time in less than a month. He severely injured the woman some time ago when he flogged her and it was necessary to send her to the hospital for treatment.

As a result of the beating, she lost the sight of one eye.

The man was given a jail sentence and has only been out a short time, it is said. Immediately on leaving jail he attacked his wife again and another search was started for him. It brought no results until yesterday when the deputy sheriff found the negro on the streets.

Employes of Saul's Store Enjoy Scotland Park Picnic

Saul's Employes' Annual Picnic Pronounced Affair of Proportions

"One of the most enjoyable affairs we ever attended," was the unanimous verdict of all who were fortunate enough to attend the "Saul's Store Employes' Annual Picnic," given by the management of the store at Havener park last Tuesday night. More than 100 employes and members of their families were present. All cares and worries of the store daily routine were forgotten and full rein given to merriment and fun.

Headed by a large truck, occupied mostly by the members of the fair sex of the store's force, and followed by about 20 private automobiles, the party proceeded to the park from the store at 6 o'clock in the evening, arrived at the park shortly afterwards, ready for the fun. A swimming party was first on the program, which was enjoyed by a large number of worshipers of father neptune. In the meantime, a sumptuous repast, consisting of fried chicken, and all the trimmings and delicacies that go to make a real picnic lunch, was being prepared.

Leatherwood Leads

C. C. Leatherwood, manager of the store, acted as toastmaster for the occasion, and under his guidance an informal program was carried out.

The first number on the program consisted of a recital of "store news" by Emil Sauer, manager of the men's department, which proved to be a source of continuous outbursts of laughter and which was enjoyed immensely. Those who were the victims of Mr. Sauer's accusations of different forms of indiscretion, are still wondering how Mr. Sauer found out all these things about them, and to say the least, they don't think it was very "sweet" of Mr. Sauer to make all these news public.

W. A. Hindman acted as the principal speaker of the evening, and all present agreed that Mr. Hindman missed his calling, and instead of selling collars and neckties he should have been at least a United States senator.

Music, Talks

The source of much enjoyment and entertainment was a violin solo by Miss Delta Wisdom, a vocal duet by Misses Eula and Pearl Breeden, and interesting readings by Misses Bernice Sauer and Gennie Louise Hindman.

Shorter talks were made by several members of the party, and no one picked out business as his subject.

A rising vote of thanks was given to the committee on refreshments, consisting of Mesdames C. C. Leatherwood, Emil Sauer and John A. Benninger, who did not overlook anything to make this phase of the picnic a complete success.

Several members of the branch store at Burkburnett, including Manager A. J. Taugman, enjoyed the picnic.

GILSTRAP BID IS ACCEPTED BY COURT

The bid of B. O. Gilstrap for construction of a concrete dip near Burkburnett was accepted by the county commissioners court Monday from among three others submitted for consideration. It was $4,686.40.

Monday's court session was short and brought but little business. The usual number of bills were allowed and some tax adjustments made.

Mothers

AND THEIR CHILDREN

Vacation Plans.

One Mother Says:

In the winter, with school and home work, time is so carefully planned for children that it is natural for them to feel somewhat at a loss after the novelty of free time in summer has worn off. I always make very careful plans for my children's summers, providing them with some different interest and work of a character quite unlike that of winter. I know as definitely how my children are to spend their summers as I do how they'll spend their winters.

Seven official ballots to be used by absentee voters in the July 26 primaries had been mailed out by the county clerk when the office closed Monday afternoon. Of the ballots sent thus far, one has gone as far as Los Angeles.

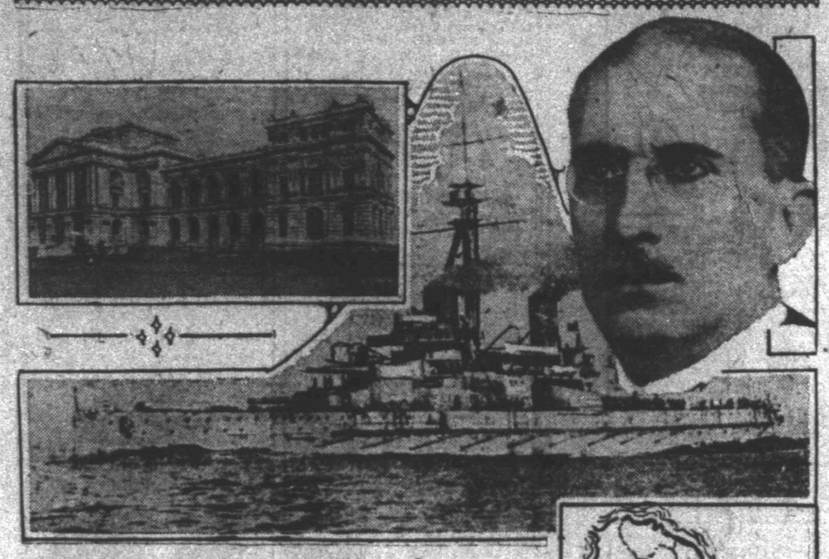
Revolt Threatens to Give Brazil New Capital



Consummation of an idea which has been fostered in Sao Paulo for some time that the state should declare its independence from the federal government at Rio de Janeiro and become Brazil's capital, is believed to be the cause of the rebellion which has broken out in the largest of the South American republics.

The revolt is centered in Sao Paulo, a city of 507,000, and the chief trade center of the world's richest coffee trade area, containing almost 3,000,000 people. It is situated immediately southeast of Rio de Janeiro and in from the seacoast (see map above), having as its seaport Santos, through which coffee is passed from the hinterland.

The Museum of Ipyranga (left), in Sao Paulo, marks the site of the declaration of freedom from Portuguese rule, which was followed by the establishment of the empire. This in turn became the present republic.

The uprising has already cost several hundred lives and much property damage. The Brazilian battleship Minas Gereas (center) is at Santos to aid in the bombardment of the city, and the president, Dr. Arthur Bernardes (above), is preparing to wield martial law throughout Brazil.

ENGLISH DOCTORS GIVEN STORY OF FAKE MEDIC RING

Benedict M. Holden.

NEW YORK, July 14.—The fake medical ring fight is by no means over. It has become an international matter. Great Britain is going deeply into the English angles of the scandal now.

The extraordinary grand jury which has caused the licenses of 179 fake doctors to be revoked in Connecticut, and obtained the conviction of one for manslaughter, will remain in existence the rest of 1924 to finish the work of making Connecticut a safe place in which to be sick.

The jury's foreman, Benedict Holden, has gone to England by invitation of the Royal British Medical society, which has watched developments in the suppression of the spurious diploma mills in Missouri and elsewhere with interest.

At the same time, Holden will discuss with British medical authorities a basis for determining the value of credentials presented on this side by doctors from England claiming to have graduated from institutions or hospitals of which American medical authorities know little or nothing. This has long been a source of embarrasment in America and there is little doubt that licenses to practice medicine here have been granted men who could not have obtained similar licenses in England.

Ashmore Murder Still Mystery After Week of Investigation

WHITE YOUTH TO BE QUIZZED

Officials Bewildered But Believe Some Progress Has Been Made.

Believing that some progress had been made in the investigation, but plainly bewildered as to many aspects of the case, county officials are prepared today to start their second week of inquiry into the Wesley Ashmore murder mystery. It was a week ago this afternoon that the 13-year-old boy was beaten into insensibility by robbers who entered the G. C. Johnson cold drink stand, 1411 Ninth street. He died the following day in the General hospital.

Points at Six Negroes

In the week following the murder, finger of guilt has pointed at as many as six different negroes; it is still wavering unsteadily against two blacks held prisoners in an outside jail, and it is swinging with increasing speed toward two white youths, one of whom is still being sought by the sheriff's department. Four of the six negroes originally arrested have been definitely eliminated as the possible murderers of Wesley Ashmore. The other two are still held and are under the necessity of explaining away a "confession" made by one of them. The white youth, whose arrest, it was learned yesterday, was effected Saturday in a distant city, is still an unknown quantity so far as his complicity is concerned.

Grand Jury Still Busy.

Officials emerging yesterday from the grand jury room declared that nothing of any more definiteness could be reported. They stated that no bills of indictment had been drawn and that the investigation would be continued today with more witnesses to be examined.

Thus at the end of the first week of investigation the Ashmore murder seems in a fair way to assume the proportion's of one of the city's most baffling mysteries. It has already gone down as one of the most horrible.

$4,000 LOSS IN MORNING FIRE

Hayden Home at 201 Elm Is Destroyed; Small Blaze at 2311 Yale Ave.

Loss of $4,000 was sustained at 6:30 Monday morning when fire of undetermined origin practically destroyed the home occupied by Mrs. Hayden at 201 Elm street. The house, a five-room structure, was a mass of flames before the fire department arrived and little could be done except prevent a spread of the blaze to surrounding structures.

Covered by Insurance.

Loss on the house was estimated at $3,000 and on the furnishings at $1,000. Both are said to be covered by insurance.

The fire department was called out at 7:15 Monday morning when a small blaze broke out in the home of C. N. Pitts, 2311 Yale. Damage of about $100 was done there.

8-Year-Old Boy Steals Team, Wagon But Loses Out in Spirited Run-Away

Juvenile banditry broke out with a vengeance here Monday afternoon, but came to brief a few minutes later when the 8-year-old miscreant was unable to sit tight in the spring seat of a wagon he had pilfered. He got a good bump on his head and was considerably frightened for his pains, but was otherwise uninjured in a wild chase out the Henrietta road.

It seems that the boy saw a team hitched to a wagon standing in front of a local feed store, and that for some reason or other he concluded he needed the outfit worse than did the owners.

They started south on Lamar, but near the railroad crossing the horses became frightened and bolted. Bumping across the tracks, the driver tumbled backward into the bed of the wagon and, all unhampered, the team took the bits in their teeth and led out for Henrietta.

After a run of a mile or so, however, they veered from the road and crashed into a rail fence. Nothing was hurt and the whole outfit, including the very muchly cowed driver, was brought back to town.

$5 DONATED IS AID TO ICE FUND

Sick Mother and Family To Have Necessities of Life For Several Days More.

Because of the kindness and consideration of two men who refused to give their names, a sick mother with four small children will be supplied with milk and ice for several days. After reading the article pertaining to the sick mother with the four small children, the oldest being only seven years of age and weighing 27 less than he should, two men, one Sunday and one Monday donated $10 to the milk and ice fund to be given to the mother. The woman is dependent on the Salvation Army for two quarts of milk and a little bread and ice daily to keep her small family alive. Sometimes the bread is gone when the little seven year old boy asks for it but so far there has always been two quarts of milk saved for him for the past week.

Helps For Days

The $10 turned into the office Sunday and Monday will supply bread and ice for the little family for several days. The Salvation Army depends on The Record News milk and ice fund for the money to purchase milk and ice and when this fund is exhausted, as is nearly the case at the present time, the milk and ice must be stopped. When this supply of milk is stopped many children will go hungry. Perhaps the $10 given during the past two days was a tithe and it is certainly a tithe that will be appreciated by four hungry children.

Should anyone desire to help replenish the fund send contributions to The Record News milk and ice fund and the contributions will be turned over to the Salvation Army for distribution.

Word has been received here from headquarters at Fort Worth that a change is expected for the time being but that an agent may be stationed here again when cotton picking time arrives.

To Be Biggest City Mains, Paving Routine Work Attended.

At the regular weekly meeting of the city council Monday night it was decided to purchase 39 cars of 20-inch water main pipe to relieve the low water pressure that exists in Wichita Falls every summer. The pipe will begin arriving in Wichita Falls by August and some of it will be laid this summer. It was decided to let three railroads secure the transportation of the pipe. The Wichita Southern will freight 24 cars, the Fort Worth and Denver 10 and the Missouri Kansas and Texas five. Several other important matters were discussed at the meeting.

The council accepted the bid of approximately $35,000 from the United States Cast Iron and Foundry company for the supplying of 39 cars of 20-inch main to be laid from the water plant to Seventh street along Bluff and Broad. When the new main is laid the presure will be much stronger in the city as the new pipe will be the largest main in the city.

A flag concern under the auspices of the local American Legion was given permission to sell standards and uniform flags to local business men. The standards will be manufactured so that the pole can be detached at the ground. On some flag day the poles can be fitted into the cog and the uniform flag placed on the pole. At the end of the celebration the poles can be detached at the ground. The poles will be placed every 25 feet along the business district.

Ready on Paving.

The city clerk was notified to inform the county commissioners that the city was ready to take action on the paving of Holliday street to the city limits. The city will pay for excavation, the county for 18 feet of paving, and the property owners for 12 feet of paving on the 30 feet paved street.
