In this day when minorities command more attention than ever before, one such group has been kept submerged below the current, so to speak, but times may be changing. A report has come in suggesting that lefthanders may finally be getting their say after years of neglect. There can be no denying that lefthanders have been discriminated against for years. If a lefthander wants a tool, instrument or utensil designed for his own convenience, nine times out of 10 it must be special-ordered or custom-made.

Now, there are reports that some enterprising business people are beginning to look at lefthanders as a possible new market. Perhaps they represent new customers who have just been waiting all these years to be tapped.

There was a time, which many mature adults today can remember, when it was not unusual for some school teachers to try to force lefthanded pupils to use their right hands. In earlier times, they reportedly was an ambidextral society which sought to have everyone, righthanded and lefthanded, to be trained to use either hand with equal dexterity. Subsequently, doctors found that attempts to shift a child's "handedness" often led to stuttering and emotional maladjustment. So, lefthanders were permitted to continue using their left hands, although with some stigma attached. One researcher reportedly declared that if children were allowed to grow up in a neutral environment, 34 per cent of them would develop lefthandedness, while another three per cent would be ambidextrous. As it is, around 8 to 10 percent are lefthanded and the number who are naturally ambidextrious are so rare that they are considered insignificant in the statistics.

But, any day now, lefthanders are likely to rise up and demand their rights.

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Dept. reports that walleyed perch in San Angelo Reservior indicate that this newly-introduced game fish may help clear out rough fish. Biologists netted some walleye weighing 3½ pounds for tests and found that they were "chock-full of carp." Some of them had eaten carp as much as six inches long.

Rough fish are a problem in most Texas lakes, and if desirable game fish can be introduced to help keep them in check while providing excellent sport for fishermen, all will benefit.

The Parks and Wildlife Dept. also has reminded that fluroescent orange is the "in" color for the hunting season.

"A matching orange cap and vest is more han just fashionable," spokesmen emphasized. "It will help hunters prevent what it considered a sartorial faux pas in the hunting game—bullet holes."

OUTSTANDING FIREMAN — Fritz Huffman (right), a volunteer fireman for the past four years, was named the Outstanding Fireman of the Year during the annual Firemens' Thanksgiving Banquet, held last night in Central Elementary School. Here, he receives the award from Roy Meador and Mrs. J.T. Hughes, owner of Snyder Broadcasting Company.

Huffman Is Named 'Fireman Of Year'

Fritz Huffman, 3501 West Thirty-seventh Street, was honored as the Outstanding Fireman of the Year last night at the annual Firemen's Thanksgiving Banquet, held at Central Elementary School.

Huffman received the award from Roy Meador, announcer for Radio Station KSNY, who made the presentation on behalf of Mrs. J.T. Hughes, owner of Snyder Broadcasting Co. The award also included a $50 savings bond.

Huffman will have been a volunteer fireman four years next July. He and his wife, Wilma, are the parents of three children. The family resides at 3501 W. Thirty-seventh Street.

Darby Scott, assistant fire chief, presented service pin awards to Tommy Guynes (10 Years), Butch Martin (10 years) and to Steve Babcock (5 years). Scott also gave the annual report, announcing that the department had answered 381 calls the past year from Oct. 1, 1971, to Sept. 30, 1972. Of the 381 calls, 157 were calls to grass fires. A number of firemen also were honored for having 100 per cent attendance at fire drills. They are Ollie Chapman, T.V. Early, Fritz Huffman, Billy Evans, Leonard Keller, Melvin Newton, Ross Rochelle, Terry Sowell, Buddy Whittenburg, Garlan Williams, Kenneth Wood, A.A. Kohl, Darby Scott, W.J. Martin, Tommy Guynes, G.L. Autry, and Benny Benitez.

Buddy Whittenburg introduced the master of ceremonies, Bill Hood. Melvin Newton gave the welcome address, and Joe Williamson gave the response to the welcome. Kenneth Wood introduced guests. Included were city and county officials. Bill Lyon presented a group of singers from Snyder High School called the "Swingers," who sang several songs.

Decorations were provided by members of the Firemens' Auxiliary and the ladies of the Central School Cafeteria prepared the meal.

Snow Blankets Panhandle

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Up to 7 inches of snow blanketed the Texas Panhandle today as effects of a winter storm drove lighter snow, sleet, freezing rain or drizzle deeper into the state.

By early morning the belt receiving at least some snow extended as far south as a line linking Stephenville and Hillsboro, and icing left a treacherous glaze on roads and bridges throughout the Panhandle-Plains sector.

It was cloudy and cold throughout Texas and there were small areas of light rain or drizzle in other sections.

Dalhart's 7-inch coverlet was the deepest left by the storm as it angled toward the northeast from New Mexico across the Oklahoma Panhandle into Kansas.

Perryton, on the opposite side of the Texas Panhandle from Dalhart, measured 4 inches. The storm left one inch of snow on the ground at Amarillo along with .10 inch of moisture soaked in, and there also was a one-inch fall at Childress.

Although flakes still fluttered down near dawn in the Panhandle sector and areas farther south, offficial forecasters cancelled a heavy snow warning for the hardest hit areas. Warnings against icy roadways remained in force.

Bank May Be Released To Moody

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — A private bank here, under a temporary receiver since Sept. 6, may be released to its owner next week, a federal judge said Monday.

U.S. District Court Judge James Noel told lawyers in the case he may release W. L. Moody and Co., Bankers, Unincorporated, from receivership next Monday.

Judge Noel placed the private Galveston bank, owned by Shearn Moody Jr., in receivership after the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission accused Moody of selling unregistered securities in the sale of certificates of deposit in the bank.

Insurance Rate Hearing Nov. 29

Rep. Renal B. Rosson of Snyder said this morning that he hoped to attend a special hearing scheduled by the State Insruance Board for Nov. 29 in Austin.

Rosson and Rep. Joe Hanna of Breckenridge are co-chairmen of a House Interim Committee studying fire and homeowners insurance rates and this will be the topic of the hearing by the board.

The House Committee is particularly interested in the formulas used in setting rates and indications are that some of these made be altered. Rosson said he believed that several possible changes could result in lower rates in this area. One, of course, would be an adjustment in the geographic rating areas. At present, Scurry County is in the rating area with all of Northwest Texas and rates in this area soared as a result of the 1970 tornado in Lubbock.

Rosson said he understood that another possibility is a change in the payout period for a disaster such as the Lubbock tornado. Under the present formula, rates are set to compensate for such major losses in a 10-year period. This could be changed to 25 years, Rosson said, which would lower the rates.

Rosson said he had conferred with Rep. Hanna this morning by telephone after receiving word that the insurance board had set the special hearing for Nov. 29 and that both of the co-chairmen of the House Committee likely will be in Austin for the hearing.

Israel, Syria Fighting Along Golan Heights

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Fighting exploded on the Israeli-Syrian cease-fire line along the Golan Heights today with air raids, artillery duels and the first tank battle in the area since the 1967 Middle East war.

The Israelis claimed to have downed six Syrian jets in aerial combat.

The scale of the armored clash was indicated by claims of both sides to have knocked out 12 to 14 of each other's tanks.

Syria admitted losing one plane while Israeli spokesmen denied losing any.

An Israeli spokesman in Tel Aviv said armored forces knocked out 12 Syrian tanks. No Israeli tanks were destroyed and there were no Israeli casualties, he said.

Damascus radio, however, claimed 14 Israeli tanks were damaged in the fighting.

After earlier reporting that all Syrian planes had returned safely to base, the radio said one plane was downed in a dogfight and crashed in Israeli-held territory. The pilot bailed out and landed safely on the Syrian side, it added.

Damascus radio said 16 planes were involved on each side and that two Israeli planes were seen bursting into flames and going down behind the Israeli line.

Israeli jet pilots shot down two MIG21s in early dogfights and then bagged another four later in the afternoon, the Israeli military command said.

The flareup came amid reports Syria's ally, Egypt, is preparing to break the cease-fire to force the big powers to take action to end the Middle East deadlock.

Egyptian President Anwar Sadat has met twice this week with Gen. Ahmed Ismail, war minister and commander in chief.

Ismail returned from Kuwait where Arab defense and foreign ministers discussed plans for "unified action" against Israel. Arab commentators said the meeting was not successful.

But Beirut newspapers said that Egyptian MIGs in Syria were placed under Syrian command in anticipation of increased hostilities in the Golan Heights area. There also were reports of stepped up Soviet arms deliveries to Damascus.

First word of the new clash came from the Israeli side when the military command announced bombing of Syrian positions because of "intensified terrorist activity" in the past few days.

Israeli planes bombed and rocketed Syrian army and guerrilla bases and pounded artillery positions and an army radar station, the command reported.

Kissinger, Tho In Second Round

PARIS (AP) — Henry A. Kissinger and North Vietnam's Le Duc Tho opened their second secret peace meeting today in a suburban villa near Paris.

The meeting took place in the same closely guarded two-story villa at Gif-Sur-Yvette, 15 miles southwest of Paris, where the two met for 5½ hours Monday. French sources said the villa is the property of the French Communist party.

Kissinger opened what could be the final phase of his secret negotiations with Tho Monday.

Kissinger conferred with Pham Dang Lam, the head of the Saigon delegation to the Paris peace talks, Monday night. A spokesman for Hanoi said similar close contact was being maintained between Tho and the Viet Cong's representatives in Paris.

Kissinger, President Nixon's chief foreign policy adviser, and Tho, a member of the North Vietnamese Politburo, reached general agreement in secret negotiations last month on the draft of a cease-fire agreement, but President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam has refused so far to go along.

Thieu's chief objection is that the draft does not require withdrawal of all North Vietnamese troops from South Vietnam. He also contends that the council of Communist, Thieu and neutralist representatives that would be set up to supervise national elections in South Vietnam would in fact be the coalition regime which Thieu has said repeatedly he would not agree to.

Presumably these and other demands by Thieu are what Kissinger and Tho are arguing about.

Area Has Some Snow And Sleet

Snyder had a little sleet and snow last night as a damp cold spell held much of Texas in its grip.

Sleet peppered the area intermittently around 10:30 to 11 p.m. and later in the night snow flurries were reported. However, none of the snow remained on the ground as the thermometer hovered around the freezing mark.

A total of .06 inch of moisture was measureed in the official gauge at the city water plant, where the low temperature hit 29 degrees. This was three degrees higher than Monday morning's low reading.

SALT II Opened Today

GENEVA (AP) — SALT II, the second phase of the U.S.-Soviet strategic arms limitation talks, opened today with calls from both sides for businesslike negotiations on a permanent ceiling for their nuclear offensive systems.

Gerard C. Smith, chief American negotiator, arrived one minute before the scheduled opening at the Soviet mission here.

Greeting him with a smile in front of the modernistic building was Vladimir Semenov, deputy Soviet foreign minister, who immediately escorted Smith to the second-floor conference room.

Cost Of Living Inches Upward

WASHINGTON (AP) — The cost of living, nudged by higher prices for clothing, rose by three-tenths of one per cent in October, giving the nation a 3.7 per cent inflation rate in the last six months, the government said today.

The Labor Department said the rise in consumer prices was three-tenths of one per cent both on an unadjusted and seasonally adjusted basis last month, smaller than the September rise but still over the Nixon administration's target of reducing the inflation rate to at least 3 per cent by the end of the year.

Consumer prices in September increased by four-tenths of one per cent on an unadjusted basis and five-tenths on a seasonally adjusted basis.

More than a third of the increase in the October index was blamed on higher clothing prices. The department's Bureau of Labor Statistics said price increases for used cars, health insurance and property taxes also were contributing factors.

The bureau said that in the 11 months since President Nixon started his Phase 2 wage-price control program, the cost of living has risen 3.5 per cent. It has gone up 3.2 per cent since August 1971 when the President imposed his freeze on wages and prices.

The report said the rate of inflation has worsened in the last three months, with prices rising at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 4.1 per cent compared with 3.3 per cent in the previous three-month period. For the six-month span as a whole consumer prices have gone up 3.7 per cent.

The bureau said the higher prices were moderated by lower prices for beef, some fresh fruits and vegetables and gasoline.

Prices for fresh fruits, poultry and beef dropped, but not as much as usual at this time of the year, the department said.

Altogether, food prices rose by a small one-tenth of one per cent unadjusted, and two-tenths seasonally adjusted. The prices of commodities other than food climbed by a sharp four-tenths of one per cent, but with seasonal influences subtracted, the department said, this amounted to a one-tenth of a per cent decline.

The index rose to 126.6 of the 1967 base, meaning that it cost $12.66 to buy the same items that cost $10 in 1967.

Park Heads For 'Slide'

SEOUL (AP) — President Chung Hee Park headed today for a landslide victory in his move to replace western-style democracy with a "Korean democracy" constitution increasing his power and allowing him to stay in power indefinitely.

Early returns in the referendum on his revised constitution were running more than 10-1 in his favor. With about 5 per cent of the vote counted, 635,536 favored the referendum and 45,426 voted against it.

Despite generally chilly and snowy weather, election officials reported 87.3 per cent of South Korea's 15.6 million eligible voters cast ballots. There was no violence.

America Loses Two More Jets

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — Two more American Phantom jets have been lost in the air war against North Vietnam, the U.S. Command announced today. Two of the fliers were rescued and two were killed.

The losses raised to 124 the number of American planes reported downed in operations against the North since full-scale bombing was resumed nearly eight months ago. A total of 131 U.S. airmen have been killed or captured in the crashes, the U.S. Command said.

One of the losses announced today was a Navy F4 from the carrier Saratoga that was hit by a surface-to-air missile just below the 20th parallel. The crewmen parachuted into the Gulf of Tonkin east of Thanh Hao and a helicopter rescued them about 30 minutes later.

An Air Force F4 crashed just after dawn today 40 miles east of its base at Udorn, northeast Thailand, and both crewmen were killed. The Command said it was returning from a mission over North Vietnam, but the cause of the crash was not known.

Monsoon rains limited U.S. fighter-bombers Monday to less than 50 strikes in the North Vietnamese panhandle for the fourth successive day. But the high-altitude B52 bombers flew more than 30 strikes against targets in the panhandle, and nearly 50 more just below the demilitarized zone, in the central highlands southwest of Pleiku and north of Saigon.

Ground action in South Vietnam intensified as cease-fire negotiations continued in Paris.

Communist forces shelled Da Nang before dawn and made a series of hit-and-run attacks in the Saigon region. Heavy fighting was reported for the fifth successive day just south of the demilitarized zone, and there was also hard fighting in the central highlands below Pleiku.

In the continuing battle for territory along the northern frontier, the North Vietnamese fired more than 1,000 artillery and mortar shells into the South Vietnamese marines trying to drive north from Quang Tri City. The South Vietnamese command reported eight marines killed and 22 wounded on Monday.

The Saigon command reported eight rockets were fired at the Da Nang air base, and two of them landed in a populated area outside the base. Field reports said three civilians were killed and 13 were wounded. The U.S. Command said there were no American casualties and no damage to U.S. aircraft at the base.

Military spokesmen reported several rocket and mortar attacks 10 to 40 miles from Saigon with two Vietnamese killed and 12 wounded.

Fighting also flared in the western Mekong Delta near the Cambodian border. The Saigon command claimed 85 enemy troops were killed in Chau Doc and Kien Tuong provinces and munitions caches were seized. The only government losses reported were five men wounded.

TURBINE ENGINE INVENTOR — Victor Null, 34, of St. Louis, who was developing a turbine engine, said to be capable of reducing automobile air pollution, was found shot four times in his East St. Louis, Ill., office Nov. 9. Partners in Null's H.C.S. Turbine Co. had taken out a $2 million Lloyds of London insurance policy on Null's life because according to one of his partners, Null was "an inventive genius." The partners and Null's wife Shirley were named beneficiaries in the polici. Police have made no arrests. (AP Wirephoto)

Man Working On 'Roadable' Plane

DETROIT (AP) — When traffic gets too heavy someday, Dewey Bryan might unfold his wings and fly away.

That is, if he can perfect his "roadable airplane."

Bryan took his latest prototype to the 59th Detroit Auto Show Monday, causing a minor sensation among the more staid exhibitors. The machine isn't really a car, but then it isn't really an airplane either.

It carries Michigan auto license plates and an aircraft registration number. It can be driven on the freeway or flown from an area smaller than a football field.

For highways, it's got everything from headlights to a rear-view mirror. For airways, its got folding wings, a pusher-type engine and tricycle landing gear.

Bryan, 49, of suburban Highland, has constructed, built, flown and driven three "airmobiles" in the past 24 years. His latest creation, "Bryan III," took three years, $3,000 of his own money, and most of the parts from "Bryan II."

"What we need is a Henry Ford flivver," Bryan says. "You know, something like the Model T. We need something to acquaint people to the roadable airplane like Henry Ford acquainted people to cars."

He says he'll demonstrate his machine Friday in a short test flight at Detroit City Airport after driving it from the auto show at Cobo Hall.

Bryan, who is a Buick project mechanic at the General Motors testing grounds here, hopes his creation will catch on like snowmobiles and pleasure boats.

"The little man who likes to fly today is out of luck," he explained. He wants the "roadable airplane" to become a recreational vehicle for people who like to unfold their wings and get off the ground occasionally.

Bryan's interest in flying began in World WarII as an aircraft mechanic. He got his pilots license soon after the war ended, and it wasn't long before he was building experimental "roadables."

His first flight was "behind the barn," out of Federal Aviation Administration view. He's put in 11 hours of flight time in Bryan III at altitudes up to 700 feet. And he's driven it about 500 miles.

With its swept-back wings folded, the machine is eight feet wide and nine feet high. Unfolded, the wingspan is 21 feet.

It is powered by a 175 horsepower airplane engine and cruises at 135 m.p.h.

Plea Is Entered

William Herman Mayfield pleaded nolo contendere in county court yesterday to a charge of driving while intoxicated. He received a $100 fine plus court costs and a 30-day jail term. However, the jail term was probated for one year. The offense occurred Monday, and he was arrested by Highway Patrolmen.

Heaters Stolen

Someone took 13 bathroom heaters and a used playpen from the Thrifty Used Furniture Store, 2109 College Avenue, sometime between Saturday night and Monday morning, according to a City Police report. Officers said the theft was reported to them by Myron Fenton, 3001 Avenue W. The loss was placed at $50.

Nixon Ponders Shakeup

THURMONT, Md. (AP) — As he receives long-distance reports on crucial Vietnam negotiations, President Nixon is pondering new assignments for several Cabinet-level officials who want to stay on during his second term.

The chief executive began the second week of an extended stay at his mountaintop Camp David retreat Monday by holding a series of six meetings, then a working dinner, with aides and key appointees to discuss his government-shakeup plan.

Today it is more of the same—with one intriguing addition. That is a scheduled appointment with New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller.

Rockefeller has been rumored to be in the running for such a major Cabinet post as secretary of State. But in advance of today's meeting, Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Rockefeller was "coming up to discuss reorganization matters, particularly domestic. He is not coming up to talk about a Cabinet position."

One appointee reportedly under consideration for the post of Defense Secretary, Deputy Secretary of Defense Kenneth Rush, was to see the President today.

During Monday's series of mountaintop meetings, Nixon put aside his reorganization plans to receive reports from Henry Kissinger on his round of negotiations with the North Vietnamese in Paris. The White House said Kissinger telephoned and cabled his reports to the President after Monday's 5½-hour negotiating session. Ziegler would not discuss details of those reports, citing an agreement with the North Vietnamese to say nothing about contents of the talks.

False Claims Are Reported

Within the past few weeks, area residents have been contacted by mail and in person by an insurance company indicating a connection with the Social Security administration. Erven Fisher, District Manager for Social Security, said today that people should be wary of such contacts. All Social Security personnel carry identification cards and further identification if desired can be made by calling the district office in Big Spring at 267-5226.

Fisher says some elderly beneficiaries of social security have bought insurance only because they thought it was a Social Security program.

The best defense against false claims of connection with the Social Security Administration is to seek positive identification of the person contacting you and any Social Security representative will cooperate and furnish appropriate identification.

Plan Action On Lumber Prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Price Commission says it will take "significant action" because of widespread price-control violations and illegal business practices in the lumber industry.

The commission said Monday it has found a 30-per-cent violation rate in price and profit reports filed by lumber companies subject to price controls.

"There's a little bit of greed throughout the system," said Peter Carpenter, the commission's deputy executive director who headed a special review of the lumber industry.

Carpenter said the review showed "the level of noncompliance is higher than in other industries" and that violations appeared to be scattered throughout various segments of the lumber industry.

The Cost of Living Council reimposed price controls on the industry in June after it was dissatisfied with pricing practices during a period free of the controls.

The commission said the Internal Revenue Service has launched its own probe and plans 367 separate investigations, more than in any other industry.

Price violations cited by the commission included increasing prices without first clearing them with the commission, a procedure required for companies with annual revenues over $100 million.

Other violations, it said, were: exceeding profit-margin limitations; exceeding allowable markups; and, in the case of companies with less than $100 million annual revenues, increasing prices without adequate cost justification.

Illegal business practices alleged by the commission included pyramid wholesaling in which the same carload of wood products is sold back and forth between two or more lumber wholesalers, with a markup added each time, before the carload is sold to the customer.

The commission also cited instances of "paper" transactions for sales of wood products to outlets in Canada although the products never left the country; schemes to ship lumber of poor quality; and false justification of cost increases through intracompany transfers.

Peron In 'Historic' Accord

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Juan Peron told a cheering crowd early today he had reached a "historic" accord with other Argentine political leaders for a united approach "in defense of the deserving Argentine people."

The 77-year-old ex-dictator, who returned Friday from 17 years in exile, spoke from the balcony of a suburban restaurant where he had met for nearly six hours with 50 political, union and business leaders.

Fifteen of the country's parties were represented, including the Radicals, the second largest party. The Peronists are No. 1.

Peron gave no details of the agreement he said had been reached, but other political leaders who met with him said the conference was "very positive."

It was Peron's second major political conference within 24 hours. Both were designed to arrange a common front with other parties to balance the power of the armed forces, who have ruled except for two brief interludes since Peron was ousted in 1955.

The junta headed by President Alejandro Lanusse has called elections March 11. It also legalized the Peronist party and removed old criminal charges against Peron, making it possible for him to return home.

Shots rang out several blocks away while the politicians were meeting, and three persons were reported wounded. According to one version, two policemen arrested a suspicious looking man, and shots were fired. The suspect and one policeman were wounded.

The wounded men were put on a passenger bus to take them to a hospital, but when the vehicle approached an army patrol the soldiers thought it contained agitators and fired, wounding a passenger in the foot.

Authorities would say only that all persons involved were being detained.

Payments For Wool To Drop

WASHINGTON (AP) — Payments to wool growers under the government's production-incentive program are expected to drop dramatically for 1972 because of greatly improved market prices, according to Agriculture Department officials

The payments for 1972 wool marketings will be made next year. Announcements of actual price differentials are made in the spring, usually in early April, for wool sold the previous year.

A goal of the program is to encourage a larger output of higher quality shorn wool through payments to growers. Those payments are designed to make up the different between an "incentive" price and the amounts producers actually get on the market.

This year, for wool sold in 1971, the payments totaled $110 million, nearly triple what they were in 1970 for the preceding year's wool. Next year, according to analysts, the payments are expected to be about $58 million for wool sold in 1972.

Cuba Will Try Three Hijackers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three men who hijacked a Southern Airways jet to Cuba nine days ago will be tried in Havana on various charges, including extortion, according to word reaching the State Department.

U.S. officials said the hijackers violated Cuban law when they threatened to blow up the plane if authorities at Jose Marti airport refused a demand to refuel the craft.

The incident occurred during the first of two visits to Havana by the hijacked plane in the 29-hour odyssey involving 30 passengers and four crew members. It was after the return trip to Havana that the three hijackers—identified as Henry Jackson, 25, Lewis Moore, 27, and Melvin Cale, 21—were taken into custody by Cuban authorities.

Discussing the latest developments in the case Monday, State Department spokesman Charles W. Bray said the Cuban decision to try the men does not necessarily mean rejection of a U.S. request for their extradition. He said it is not unprecedented for a country to try accused persons and then extradite them.

Bray said there has been no reply from Cuba on a U.S. request for extradition of four men charged in the Oct. 29 hijacking of an Eastern Air Lines plane. Three of the four also are charged with two counts of murder in connection with an abortive bank robbery in Arlington, Va.

Bray also reported that the Cuban government has responded favorably to a U.S. invitation to "engage in discussions which might lead to an agreement" to discourage the hijacking of airliners.

He announced that the Cuban government is "prepared to begin discussions soon through the good offices of the Swiss government," which handles U.S. interests in Cuba.

U.S. sources said the alleged threat by the hijackers to blow up the Southern Airways jet may have contributed to Cuba's favorable attitude toward negotiating an agreement. It is believed that this is the first such threat in any of the 87 hijacking incidents involving Cuba since they started in 1961.

Unusual Sentence

MIAMI (AP) — A Miami woman charged with negligence when a 3-year-old boy suffocated in her abandoned ice box has been told to clear her record by finding 10 more abandoned refrigerators and reporting them to police.

Earline Clark, 35, a mother of two toddlers, pleaded guilty to negligence in the death of Ulysses S. Davis last July 27 and was placed on probation in criminal court.

At the request of prosecutor Terrence McWilliams, Judge Jack Turner made the hunt for other abandoned refrigerators a condition of her probation. She will remain on probation for two years if she does not find them.

"If she finds 10 old refrigerators, that might save one child's life," McWilliams said Monday, "and that's what the statute was intended for — to save children's lives.

"She owes a debt to society for her negligence, and she can't pay it in jail or on probation. She can only pay it by helping to save another little child."

Gerstein Suit Is Withdrawn

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A $2 million damage suit against State Atty. Richard Gerstein of Miami was withdrawn Monday by Watergate bugging defendant Bernard Barker and three other men shortly before Barker was to make a deposition in connection with the suit.

Barker will be tried in Washington next January on charges stemming from the alleged burglary and bugging of the Democratic party's Watergate headquarters.

His lawyer, Henry Rothblatt of New York City, denied the deposition had any relation to the suit dismissal. Rothblatt represents Barker and Frank Sturgis Fiorini, Virgilio Gonzalez and Eugenio Martinez, arrested with Barker inside the Watergate complex.

FHA Visits Day Care Center

The Travis FHA chapter visited the Snyder Day Care Center Nov. 14.

The Rev. Henry Hartman, minister of Grace Lutheran Church, and Mrs. Evelyn Malone, director of the Day Care Center, conducted a tour of the center. The group was shown the rooms in which the different aged children are kept. The Rev. Hartman told the group how the children were accepted to stay at the center. He explained what type of care they received while they were there and the educational program offered by the center.

Following the tour, the girls read stories and played games with the children.

FHA members attending were Karen Sue Jones, Lisa Deck, Jovce Andrews, Debra Biddle, Ellen Price, Denise Smart, Carol Chandler, Vicky Chapman, and Jan Sims. Mrs. Howard Limmer, sponsor of FHA, and her son Bryan, also attended.

Travis FHA chapter hopes to plan other activities with the Day Care Center in the future.

Justice Department Indicted

THE FBI AND THE BERRIGANS—The Making of a Conspiracy. By Jack Nelson and Ronald J. Ostrow,. Coward, McCann & Geoghegan. 317 Pages. $7.95.

For readers interested in the Catholic antiwar movement and the Berrigan brothers, this book by two Los Angeles Times reporters offers valuable insights. But it is more than that: it is a study of a prosecution that the authors suggest was lacking in substance; it is an indictment of the late FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover and the Justice Department.

Philip Berrigan and his poetic brother Daniel were in the past several years possibly the most important figures in the Catholic resistance to the Vietnam war. Sincere but political novices, they were given to foolish and grandiose talk, but nothing that could include serious planning of violent acts such as the kidnapping of presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger and the destruction of tunnels underneath government buildings in Washington, according to the authors.

Hoover, the theory goes, spun out a far-fetched conspiracy story to impress Congress while he appealed for appropriations, and the department was compelled to back him up by trying Philip, his beloved Sister Elizabeth McAlister, Pakistanti Eqal Ahmad and others on what an unidentified department official conceded was insufficient evidence. It ended in Harrisburg, Pa., in a mistrial, except for the conviction of Philip and "Liz" on charges of smuggling letters to and from the Lewisburg prison.

This book is important because the Berrigan's trial was important. Its serious, and sometimes comic, aspects are captured, as are the personalities of the brothers, "foreign devil" Ahmad, prosecutor William Lynch and, above all, informer Boyd Douglas. Off stage, hardly sketched at all, is Hoover, who was to die four weeks after the trial ended. But his is the off-stage presence that dominates all that transpires.

Couple Recites Vows In Splendora Church

Lete Gayle Collins became the bride of Garl William Pfeil in a double ring ceremony performed at 5 p.m. Oct. 28 at the First Baptist Church of Splendora. The neptual rites were read by the Rev. Ben Bernard.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin A. Collins of Snyder and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W.E. Pfeil Jr. of Shiner.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was radiant in her Juliet styled gown of silk organza. The empire lines featured a bodice highlighted with pearls and accented with a satin bow at the waist. The detachable train repeated lace and pearls. Her shoulder-length veil, with a headpiece which framed her face, was accented with white leaves and bits of orange. The cascade bouquet was centered with an orchid and was accented with orange roses and white carnations. The tradition of something old, new, borrowed and blue was carried out.

Mrs. Paul Mosely of Conroe, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. She wore a long gown fashioned of orange satin.

Serving as best man was Bruce Pohler of Austin, cousin of the groom. Ushers were Claude Pohler of San Marcos, cousin of the groom; and Paul Mosely of Conroe, brother-in-law of the bride. All male attendants wore black tuxedos with orange carnation boutonnieres.

The bride's mother chose a light green crepe dress with long sleeves accented with brown accessories while the groom's mother wore a darker green knit suit with black accessories. Each mother was presented a white carnation corsage.

The neptual rites were concluded with the lighting of the wedding candle and a closing prayer.

The reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church.

The bride's table was beautifully decorated. The three-tiered confection was trimmed with orange flowers. Serving cake were twin cousins of the bride, Jane and Janet Collins, while the punch was served from a sliver service by Jackie Joe Collins, cousin of the bride.

The groom's table held a German chocolate cake and a coffee service. Serving were Karen Collins and Mrs. Debbie Stewart, cousins of the bride.

Melissa Pfeil, sister of the groom, presided at the registry.

The bride is a 1971 graduate of Snyder High School and is presently attending Sam Houston State University. The groom, a 1968 graduate of Shiner High School, is also a student at Sam Houston State University where he will graduate in December.

Resources Counted In Thanksgiving Inventory

COLLEGE STATION--- Thanksgiving is just what its name says it is--or is it?

A home management authority viewed resources in Texas homes and asked families to share her findings by taking hard look at their own homes--a "Thanksgiving inventory."

Lynn Bourland, home management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University, took issue with today's "gloommakers" and directed more attention to five resources.

"Thanksgiving is a time when families pause a few hours in their busy lives to offer thanks for their many blessings.

"As you offer thanks this year, consider all the resources you have been granted--human resources, material possessions, space, time and natural resources."

Human Resources--"The greatest resource your family has is each family member and his or her potential.

"Recall the many times each family member has given of himself to help the family reach its goals. What have the children done for the family that saved others time, energy and money? Likewise, how have the parents offered their time, energy and talents to enable the children to have and do things that might have been impossible otherwise?

"Your family may recall other family members and friends who offered their human resources--motivation, determination, joy, comfort, knowledge, or energy--to help your family make life in your home more satisfying."

Turning to material possessions, the specialist called for another inventory.

"Material possessions are the more obvious resources the family can see come and go as they're used.

"Everything the family owns, including money and all it can buy, are material resources. Make a list of all the material resources your family has received and used this year--you'll be surprised at the number."

Another resource, space, gained attention as Miss Bourland continued her report.

"Space on earth is limited, but every family has space in their home, some space around it, and some types of community or public space available for their use.

"As your family offers thanks, express what it means to have a place to sleep, play, work and share with others."

Time is the fourth resource--"one we all have in equal amounts--24 hours a day.

"Without time, other resources would be useless. Satisfaction your family receives from time depends on how you choose to use it.

"Be grateful for time to enjoy your family, time to share with others, time to work to reach family goals, and time to make your contribution to the world," she said.

Thanksgiving takes a slightly different turn with the fifth item--natural resources.

"Today we've been alerted to the scarcity of our natural resources. We'll need to ask for wisdom in seeking ways to use them more wisely in order to conserve them and develop substitutes for them.

"With the scientific and technological efforts being exerted today, natural resources unnoticed by man may be vital to our survival in the future."

Miss Bourland termed management of resources the key factor in reaching family goals once the inventory is made.

"Resources give the greatest returns when they're managed and spent--not merely used."

Stamps Costs

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Debits and credits concern Franklin County Treasurer Phillip Goldslager. Joseph Martin's business also was debits and credits before he retired as an accountant.

Their paths crossed here this week — and Goldslager said the county will be a little poorer for the encounter.

Martin enclosed a self addressed envelope with his property tax payment so he could get a receipt. Goldslager advised him a stamp on the self addressed envelop was needed.

Martin checked the Ohio Revised Code and found no stamp was needed — only the self-address envelope.

Goldslager said he had known about the law "all 24 (years) I've been here." He admitted he had been asking for the stamps, as did his predecessor. The stamps will cost the county $15,000 a year, he said.

Said Goldslager, "We're on an austerity program, you know."

WOMEN

Here's the Answer

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

Q.—I am planning on using plastic laminate on our kitchen counter tops and I have been shopping around for the material. Our local lumber yard has a number of different-size sheets on display. They are all made by the same manufacturer, but one sheet, 2 feet by 5 feet, costs more than any sheet of exactly the same size. The thickness appears to be the same. Why the difference in price? What kind of cement should I use?

A.—Your eyes are deceiving you. One of the sheets probably is one-sixteenth of an inch thick, the other one-thirty second of an inch, a difference that may not be readily noticed but nevertheless means that one sheet is twice as thick as the other. For a counter top application, choose the thicker kind. The thin type is satisfactory for drawer fronts and other vertical applications.

Use a contact cement for bonding the plastic laminate to the plywood, composition board or whatever is being used as the base. Since, as the name implies, this cement grips instantly upon contact, it is important that the plastic be positioned carefully over the base before the two parts are put together.

Q.—I am constantly running across the terms thermoplastic and thermosetting when reading about plastic do-it-yourself projects. What's the difference between the two?

A.—Thermoplastics are those which soften with the application of heat. Thermosetting plastics cannot be reshaped and are resistant to heat.

Q.—There are so many things wrong with the brick chimney in our house that I would like to rebuild it. Can you tell me how to do it?

A.—It is a difficult job calling for skill and knowledge. It should be done by a professional.

Q.—Can you tell me what are the advantages of baseboard heating? We're having a heating change made in our home.

A.—The big plus for baseboard heating is that uniform temperatures are maintained from wall to wall and floor to ceiling, thus eliminating hot spots, cold spots, chilly corners and drafty floors. It is especially good in homes with children, who can play on floors that aren't several degrees colder than the rest of the room.

(Sweating windows and walls, and stubborn doors and windows are among the 35 subjects in Andy Lang's handbook, "Practical Home Repairs," which can be obtained by sending $1 to this newspaper in care of Box 5, Teaneck, N.J. 07666.)

Elvis Won't Push Messages

HONOLULU (AP)—Elvis Presley says he will steer clear of ideological promotions on a worldwide television concert he plans to originate from Honolulu Jan. 14.

"I won't try to push any messages or anything," he told newsmen Monday. "I'll just offer good entertainment."

Rocco Laginestra, president of RCA Records, said the concert will be carried by satellite to at least 34 countries, reaching an audience of an estimated 1.5 billion persons.

Laginestra said negotiations are under way to include Russia and mainland China among the countries to which the telecast will be beamed.

Nine thousand non-Europeans have settled in Australia in each of the last three years.

Higher Profits Irritate, Embarrass Executives

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — While the past year has been one of financial progress for both management and labor, the big increases in corporate profits that are now being reported are producing irritation and embarrassment for executives.

They are embarrassed because the percentage increases are so great. It now appears likely that the increase for 1972 over 1971 will be about 15 per cent. And there is the likelihood of a repeat in 1973.

While corporate officials concede these figures are high, they are irritated by the failure of casual readers to recall the reason why: 1971 profits were depressingly low.

They are indignant also that labor leaders are inclined to seize on those percentages without explaining that what appears to be a mountain of profits has its base in a very deep ravine — that is, in the recession of 1971.

Actually, they add, profits should be even higher if they are to return to more "normal" levels and if industry is to attract the investment capital needed for expansion.

Price Commission regulations, however, may prevent that occurence, although some changes might be forthcoming in Phase III, if there is one.

As of now, profit margins must be kept to the average of the best two of the years 1968-1969-1970. But, as the corporate officials note, that was a period of poor earnings. Many of them want the base period revised.

If profits rise 15 per cent this year, the corporate defenders say, it will merely bring them back to where they were in 1968, when the gross national product, or total of goods and services produced, was considerably smaller.

Dr. Albert H. Cox Jr., a former Nixon administration economists and now executive vice president of Lionel D. Edie & Co., as well as senior adviser economic to Merrill Lynch, would like to see the Phase II base period changed.

If it were pushed back to include 1966 and 1967, he observes, it would then permit corporations to use two more rewarding years as the base for measuring permissable profit margins.

Although some industries, such as airlines and aircraft products, have a long way to go before reaching their profit margin limits, others, such as pharmaceuticals and furniture are already pressing against the lid.

There is expected to be rising pressure, therefore, for a revision of price limitations this spring. And you may be certain there will be a heated rebuttal from critics who claim profits already are too high.

Traffic Toll Set Between 580, 680

CHICAGO (AP) — The National Safety Council has estimated that between 580 and 680 persons may be killed in traffic accidents over the long Thanksgiving holiday weekend.

The council said Sunday that the estimate covers the period from 6 p.m. Wednesday to midnight Sunday, a 102-hour period considered four days.

Between 26,000 and 30,000 persons may suffer disabling injuries during the holiday period, the council estimated.

The 1971 traffic death count during Thanksgiving weekend was 607.

Junior Editors' Quiz on REMORA

QUESTION: What is a remora?

* * *

ANSWER: A remora, often called a shark sucker, is an unusual fish found in tropical waters. The remora has an oval sucking disc on the top of the head. It is developed from the front dorsal fin and has muscular flaps which open to create the suction. This sucking organ resembles the sole of a rubber boot. With this, remoras attach themselves to sharks, swordfish or any other large fish, for a free ride. They are found on other fishes, such as barracuda, tarpon and marlin. Sometimes they fasten themselves to a turtle. Frequently they adhere to the keel of a ship and sometimes attach themselves to skin divers.

The remora is 2 or 3 feet long, slender and flattened toward the head. It is striped with black and yellow. Remoras are swift swimmers but they prefer to use their sucker plates to hitch rides with other fish. These remarkable fish are not true parasites, since they merely share leftover dinner scraps with their host. They do not guide their host fish, but merely go along for the ride.

Columnist Learns From Mail

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

How hard is a diamond? A diamond-pointed tool is so hard it can cut a groove through bronze 1,200 miles long before it needs sharpening. A tungsten-carbon tool can cut a similar groove through only 21 miles of bronze before resharpening.

Early frontiersmen on the western slopes of the Rocky Mountains often cooked their meals with what they called burning rocks. The so-called rocks were taken from deposits of shale, which, when heated, released oil.

There are at least three animals which, because of their size or ferocity are relatively safe from any predator except man. They are the elephant and rhinoceros on earth, and the killer whale in the sea.

A Virginia doctor says it isn't true that tuberculosis is a curse brought to the Americas by the white man. Dr. Martin J. Allison of the Medical College of Virginia says he has found signs of tuberculosis in the mummified body of a Peruvian Indian child who died about 700 A.D., several hundred years before white explorers arrived.

Accidents are in the head: Several scientific studies have shown that psychological factors, such as anger, boredom, tension or preoccupation, are more important than physical factors in causing most accidents. If you want to be safe, keep your wits about you.

Still Teaching At 81

DALLAS (AP) — Almost everyone in Highland Park knows "Mr. Story." Everybody should know him, because he has taught most of them. Frank J. Story, 81, has been teaching at Highland Park High or Middle School since 1924 and he has been riding his bicycle to school since 1940.

Story says the bicycle has kept him trim and he guesses that he has worn out six or seven of them.

Story was born in Corsicana and reared in Ennis, where he graduated from high school in 1909. He got a bachelor's degree in German from Southwestern University in 1912.

Before joining the Army in World War I, he taught at Orange and Ennis. When he first came to Highland Park, he said there were 400 to 500 pupils, and now he said, "there are about 1,300 students and 85-90 teachers."

Story says he sees little difference in youngsters today and those 56 year ago except for their dress.

Although Story retired in 1961, he still substitutes a maximum of one-third of the teaching days while drawing full retirement.

He and his wife will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary in March. They have traveled around the world, and he visits foreign schools. But he says the United States has the best school system that he's found.

Canyon Sales Arena Is Plush

CANYON, Tex. (AP) — The Brush Livestock Commission Co. of Brush, Colo., just might have the most plush sales arena in the country.

The company equipped its new facility with opera-type seats formerly used in the auditorium of the Old Administration Building at West Texas State University here. The auditorium was remodeled into classroom and office space last year.

Virgil Henson, West Texas State financial vice president, said James Lee Odle, owner of Brush Livestock Commission, "somehow heard we had these seats for sale. We paid $14 a piece for them when they were new about 25 years ago."

Henson said that Odle bid $5 a seat for the 700.

Unbeaten Trojans Rule Grid Roost

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Southern California's unbeaten Trojans maintained their runaway lead over Alabama in The Associated Press college football ratings today while Auburn replaced Notre Dame for the only change in the Top Ten.

Following Saturday's impressive 24-7 drubbing of 14th-ranked UCLA that gave them the Pacific-8 championship and a berth in the Rose Bowl, the Trojans pulled down 44 first-place votes and 988 of a possible 1,000 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Alabama and Michigan, the only other unbeaten teams in the country, continued to run 2-3. The second-ranked Crimson Tide blasted Virginia Tech 52-13 to nail down a Cotton Bowl invitation and received five first-place ballots and 874 points.

Michigan used a field goal with 64 seconds left to turn back Purdue 9-6. The Wolverines, who need only a win or tie against ninth-ranked Ohio State this weekend to capture the Big Ten crown and the other Rose Bowl berth, received the remaining first-place vote and 744 points.

The 4-5-6-7-8-9 positions were retained by Oklahoma, Nebraska, Penn State, Texas, Louisiana State and Ohio State but Auburn inched up from 11th to 10th by trouncing Georgia 27-10 while Notre Dame slid from 10th to 11th after barely holding off Miami, Fla., 20-17.

Oklahoma whipped Kansas 31-7, Nebraska buried Kansas State 59-7, Penn State outslugged Boston College 45-26, Texas blanked Texas Christian 27-0, LSU downed Mississippi State 28-14 and Ohio State beat Northwestern 27-14.

Behind Notre Dame in the Second Ten came Tennessee, Colorado, UCLA, North Carolina, Missouri, Iowa State, Arizona State, Washington State and Texas Tech.

Last week, the Second Ten consisted of Auburn, Iowa State, Tennessee, UCLA, Colorado, North Carolina, Washington, Arizona State, Missouri and Washington State.

Texas Tech defeated Baylor 13-7 and replaced Washington in the Top Twenty. The Huskies were knocked out by a 27-10 loss to Washington State.

The Top Twenty, with first-place votes in parentheses, season records and total points. Points tabulated on basis of 20-18-16-14-12-10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1:

1.Southern Cal (44)	10-0	988

Camellia Bowl

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Two of the top-ranked small college teams in the country—third-ranked Cal Poly San Luis Obispo and seventh-ranked North Dakota University—have been named to play in the Camellia Bowl here Dec. 9.

The announcement was made Monday after a meeting of the Camellia Bowl directors.

The Cal Poly Mustangs won the California Collegiate Athletic Conference title this year and are 8-0-1 overall. The Sioux of North Dakota finished with a 9-1-1 season and a North Central Conference cochampionship.

Baseball Men Hold Meeting

HONOLULU (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates and New York Mets, both in need of pitching strength, probably will be the most trade-minded teams at baseball's annual winter meetings here, starting Monday.

The major target is Steve Carlton, the 27-game-winning pitcher of the last place Philadelphia Phillies and winner of the Cy Young Award as the best pitcher in the National League.

Club owners meet here primarily to conduct baseball business, but most of the action takes place in the lobbies and ante rooms where trades are consummated.

The Phillies, with Carlton as bait, are hoping to pick up three or four players to strengthen key positions. They recently were involved in a seven-player deal with the Milwaukee Brewers.

Last year at the winter meetings in Phoenix, Ariz., the major league teams exchanged 53 players in 15 deals. A total of 18 teams were involved in the trade-happy week, by far the most explosive in the sport's history.

Since the World Series in October, more than a score of players have changed teams.

Pittsburgh might be willing to offer a package of four or five players for Carlton and another Phillies' regular.

The Pirates, who need a first-class shortstop along with a strong starting pitcher, have several available players because of their deep bench strength. Second baseman Dave Cash might go along with first baseman Bob Robertson, outfielder Gene Clines, pitcher Bob Johnson and catcher Milt May.

The Mets, who recently traded away Gary Gentry, are in the market for a starting pitcher. They've shown interest in Chicago's Bill Hands and would probably be willing to part with outfielder Tommie Agee, catcher Jerry Grote and second baseman Ken Boswell in a multi-player deal that also involved Cub center fielder Rick Monday.

The Baltimore Orioles need a catcher and the New York Yankees could use a left-handed slugger. The Yankees continue to show interest in Baltimore's Boog Powell.

The Oriole slugger, along with pitcher Mike Cuellar, could be with the Yankees before the week is out. One report has catcher Thurman Munson, among others, going to the Orioles, for those two.

Andy Messersmith, California's fine righthander, is coveted by the Boston Red Sox.

"It seems certain that both the Red Sox and Angels will make a major deal at the winter meetings in Hawaii," said a source close to the Boston team.

Harry Dalton, the general manager at California, desperately needs a power hitter. He's interested in outfielder Reggie Smith, who might be one of those first made available by the Red Sox.

Smith, who had his differences with some of the Red Sox players and at times refused to talk to the press, is also rumored headed for the Cubs.

The Red Sox also have reportedly been negotiating for slugger Nate Colbert of the San Diego Padres.

Foster, Ali To Fight Tonight

STATELINE, Nev. (AP) — Around the corner from the nickel slot machines in the Sahara-Tahoe casino, Muhammed Ali and Bob Foster fight tonight for higher stakes and a possible shot at boxing's biggest jackpot—the heavyweight championship.

"I'm waiting for Joe Frazier," said Ali, the former heavyweight champ, on the eve of his scheduled 12-round bout with light heavy champ Foster.

"I don't know what to expect from Foster, but he'll give me trouble for a few rounds," he said about his 33-year-old opponent, expected to weigh in at about 180 pounds.

Ali has predicted he'll stop Foster in eight rounds and says the lighter but taller fighter "has to rely on a lucky quick punch" to score an upset.

Ali is fighting for a guarantee of $250,000, Foster for $125,000.

The 30-year-old Ali will have a weight advantage of about 40 pounds. Foster has held the light heavy crown 4½ years, but was knocked out by Frazier in two rounds in an attempt to take the heavyweight title.

Ali's only loss in 40 professional fights was 20 months ago to Frazier. The 15-round decision spoiled his bid to recapture the title taken away from him for a draft evasion conviction which later was reversed.

The Foster-Ali bout is set in a virtual television studio atmosphere, the High Sierra Theater at this resort hotel in ski and gambling country on the south shore of Lake Tahoe.

The seating capacity is just over 2,000, and the audience should see the theater's toughest show since entertainer Ann-Margret suffered a few broken bones in a recent fall on stage.

The fight will be shown on theater television elsewhere in the United States and abroad.

"I wanted the fight because of the big money. But I think I can beat him and there will be more money," said Foster, a sheriff's deputy in Albuquerque, N.M., between ring appearances.

Neither man would appear to have a shot at the heavyweight title until at least next spring. Frazier will defend Jan. 22 in Jamaica against George Foreman, the unbeaten fighter from Hayward, Calif., ranked No. 2 behind Ali among the contenders.

Lucky Hunter

HORNELL, N.Y. (AP) — Not many hunters found their prey as deer season opened here, but 19-year-old Robert Turner of nearby Hornellsville, was one of the lucky few. A deer found him.

Turner said he was just walking in the woods near his home Monday when a young deer came up and licked his hand. He said he walked away but the deer followed.

Turner walked home. The deer followed. Finally, Turner gave the animal some milk, crackers, bread and lettuce.

The happy deer then bounded off back into the woods.

Booster Club Will Not Meet

The Tiger Booster Club will not meet tonight since the varsity basketball team will be playing its first home game of the season, according to an announcement by Dave Harlin, Jr., club president.

Ara Says Bama Took Easy Out

CHICAGO (AP) — Notre Dame Coach Ara Parseghian took a swipe Monday at Alabama's decision to go to the Cotton Bowl instead of the Orange Bowl but other coaches were much more generous about the choice.

Parseghian said that "Alabama took the easy way out" by choosing to face once-beaten Texas in the Cotton Bowl rather than taking on defending national champion Nebraska in the Orange Bowl.

Alabama's decision paved the way for Notre Dame, 8-1, to get a bid to play Nebraska in the Orange Bowl.

Parseghian said Bear Bryant's Alabama team had its sights on the national championship in picking the Cotton instead of the Orange, where Nebraska swamped the Crimson Tide 38-6 last year.

"I guess Alabama figures on beating Auburn and Texas for an undefeated season and then hopes that Ohio State beats Michigan and we beat Southern Cal," Parseghian said, "which would leave Alabama the only undefeated team in the nation."

Bryant was not available for comment but Nebraska Coach Bob Devaney said he talked to the Bear by phone about the decision. "He said it was up to the players to make the choice where they wanted to go. He said: 'I think the seniors should have the choice because it's their last year to compete.' They chose to go to the Cotton Bowl."

"I'm not in any way criticizing Coach Bryant," Devaney said. "I don't think they are ducking anybody because he (Bryant) is going to play a tough team when he plays the University of Texas. They (Texas) played a tough game against Oklahoma and it seems like they are getting tougher every week."

Coach John McKay of Southern Cal said of the choice: "Everybody has to make his own decision, I hadn't even thought of it. I'm not especially surprised."

Redskins Defeat Falcons, 24-13

By HUBERT MIZELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Three cheers for the Redskins," sang the husky-voiced Washington football team. "Three cheers for the Redskins ... rah, rah, rah."

These are grown men, mind you.

"Hooray for Pat. Hooray for Pat Fischer," continued the off-key locker room chorus. "Hooray for Alvin. Hooray for Alvin Haymond. Rah, rah, rah."

The Redskins are the world's oldest, largest, highest-paid Boy Scouts. George Allen is as much their scoutmaster as the coach of the National Football League powerhouse.

After a victory, Allen passes out game footballs like so many merit badges. Monday night was Fischer's turn for gutty defense that got him a black eye and Haymond's turn for nifty kick returning.

"We sing because we're happy," said Allen. "It was a big win for us. The pressure's now on the Dallas Cowboys for Thursday's game. We'll just sit back and watch what happens."

Washington had just smacked over the Atlanta Falcons 24-13 for their seventh straight, the longest streak of Redskin victories since 1942 when D.C. had its last world champion.

Billy Kilmer hit 7-for-7 in the third quarter, topping an 89-yard march with an 18-yard touchdown pass to Larry Brown and later hitting tight end Jerry Smith on a 12-yard score.

A 10-7 Falcon halftime lead vanished amid the Kilmer barrage that put Washington into 21-10 command. Bill Bell kicked a fourth-period field goal and Curt Knight matched it with a 37-yarder that drew a standing ovation.

Knight, you see, had blown six straight field goal attempts and had been showered with boos for two earlier goofs.

Kilmer, rushed by 250-pound Claude Humphrey, threw an interception in the first quarter that Ken Reaves returned eight yards to the Redskins' 44.

Three plays later, Atlanta quarterback Bob Berry rifled a 36-yard touchdown pass to tight end Jim Mitchell for a 7-0 Falcon lead.

Ted Vactor fumbled a Falcon punt at the Redskin 30 to set the table for a 33-yard field goal by Bell that made it 10-0 as the Washington clientele squirmed in their seats.

Falcon runner Art Malone cooled his team's hot streak with a fumble that was covered up by linebacker Chris Hanburger.

Kilmer hit Roy Jefferson for eight yards and Charley Taylor made 14 on an end-around to set up a one-yard scoring charge by the incredible Brown. It was then 10-7, setting the stage for Kilmer's third period heroics that erased Atlanta hopes for an upset.

Brown muscled for five yards on his first carry of the game, hitting 1,000 for the season with four games to go.

Ira, O'Brien To Meet Thursday

The Ira Bulldogs, representatives of District 4B, and O'Brien, the District 3B champion, will meet in their bi-district 6-man football game at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at Knox City.

The Bulldogs, who are co-Champions of their district, won the right to advance to the bi-district playoffs by winning a coin toss after finishing in a three-way tie with Hermleigh and Bula.

Change Grid Posts To Rigs?

BURKBURNETT, Tex. (AP) — Oilman Sam Walton of Wichita Falls, who has said he wants to turn the goal posts at Burkburnett High School football stadium into drilling rigs, still held mineral rights to the land today.

His chances of drilling wells in the stadium remained slim, however, since he would need a city council permit to tear up the field and look for oil.

The school board Monday night withdrew an offer to Walton, 78, to buy his mineral rights to the school property for $1,000.

Schreiner Hosts Western Tonight

Sporting a 2-1 record, the Western Texas College Westerners will meet Schreiner Institute in Kerrville tonight. Tipoff is on tap for 7:30 p.m.

Coach Sid Simpson has been generally well pleased with the Westerners performances in their three games this season. They looked good in a losing 88-77 tussle with Cisco Junior College last Saturday night. The Cisco team hit a torrid 72 per cent from the field.

"You can't hardly beat a team that hot," pointed out Coach Simpson.

He said probable starters tonight will include guards Johnny Neff (6-0), sophomore from McAdoo, and Danny McDaniel (6-1), freshman from Little Rock Central; wingman Walter Hanibal (6-4), sophomore from Fort Worth Kirkpatrick and post men Harold Ward (6-5), freshman from Passaic, N.J., and Ronnie Allen (6-4), freshman from Fort Worth North Side.

Other Westerners ready for action tonight include guard Fred Allen, 5-11 freshman from Little Rock Central; post man James Batteau, 6-4 freshman from Hondo; guard Luis Blanco, 5-9 freshman from Fort Stockton; post man Joel Dyess, 6-4 sophomore from South Garland; guard Eric Grant, 5-10 freshman from Hondo; wingman Jimmy Hill, 6-4 sophomore from Amarillo Tascosa; post man Kent Horsley, 6-8 freshman from Snyder; wingman James Houston, 6-3 sophomore from Charlotte, N.C.; and, guard Steve Sparks, 5-9 sophomore from Krum.

The Westerners will compete in the Grayson County College Tournament in Denison Thursday through Saturday.

Tigers To Host S'Water Tonight

Still seeking their first victory of the season, the Snyder Tigers host Sweetwater's Mustangs in a basketball tilt tonight in the Scurry County Coliseum. The varsity tipoff will be at 8 p.m., following the junior varsity tussle at 6:30 p.m. The sophomores meet Big Spring there at 5:30 p.m.

Coach Bob Moore said probable starters will include guard Fred Liner, 6-2 senior; wingman Jerry Brooks, 6-3 senior; post man Kevin Jones, 6-4 senior; wingman Gary Brooks, 6-3 senior; and, post man Moell Blalock, 6-3 senior.

Others expected to see action are Mike Hinton, Charles Anderson, Derryl Morgan, Tim Jones, V.T. Roberson, Larry Mosier, Max Underwood, Sam Byrum, Welton Cobb and Larry Johns.

Defense is expected to be the strong point for the Tigers this season. They don't have too much height.

"We'll probably press more this year," said Coach Moore, "and play more of a wide open offensive game."

This will be the first home game for the Tigers this season. Also this week, they host San Angelo Friday night.

Fisk Is Top Rookie

KEENE, N.H. (AP) — Carlton "Pudge" Fisk, the Boston Red Sox' catcher who started the 1972 baseball season as a third stringer, is the American League's Rookie of the Year—the first unanimous choice in history.

The Baseball Writers' Association of America announced Monday that Fisk had received all 24 votes by a special committee. He joined Frank Robinson and Willie McCovey, both in the National League, as the only unanimous choices since the BBWAA began picking the best first-year players in the two leagues in 1949.

Fisk, who lives in this New Hampshire city a short distance from his parents' home in Charlestown, was a runaway selection after hitting .293 with 22 homers and 61 runs batted in.

"This is a great thrill, a great honor," said Fisk, who was out of town visiting his sister, June, at Springfield College. "Now I just hope that I can keep it up and help the Red Sox win the pennant next year."

Fisk, who will be 25 just after Christmas, had brief trials with the Red Sox for two years and virtually was awarded the starting job by Manager Eddie Kasko last winter.

However, he had problems in virtually every department in spring training, and, when the strike-delayed season finally got under way, he was rated behind Duane Josephson and Bob Montgomery.

Economic Stabilization Questions and Answers

Internal Revenue Service

This column of questions and answers on the President's Economic Stablization Program is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service. The column answers questions most frequently asked about wages and prices.

★ ★ ★

Q. If I increase my employees' wages this year by less than 5.5 percent, can I carry over the difference and add it to next year's pay increase?

A. No. the difference between a current wage increase and 5.5 percent cannot be added on to next year's increase, because the general wage and salary standard of 5.5 per cent is the maximum permissable annual aggregate increase for any given control year.

Q. I'm thinking of subleasing my apartment. Can I charge whatever I want as rent without regard to Economic Stablization regulations?

A. No. If you sublease your apartment, you may only charge the rent allowed under Economic Stablization regulations.

Q. My firm will probably have a profit margin for the fiscal year that exceeds its base period profit margin. Can I increase the firm's expenditures for advertising and marketing, executive travel and entertainment, charitable contributions and discretionary costs to insure no violation of the profit margin limitations?

A. No. Only costs of sales and normal and generally recurring costs of business operations are includable as part of the profit margin calculation. To the extent that these increased discretionary costs have a definite and measurable future value, they must be capitalized and not expensed for Price Commission purposes and their cost spread over the period benefited.

Q. Are sales of used cars subject to price controls?

A. No. Sales of used products are exempt from controls?

Q. My employer increased my work clothing allowance. Is this increase included in wages and salaries subject to the Pay Board's 5.5 percent standard?

A. Yes. Uniform and other work clothing allowances are included under the Pay Board's definition of wages and salaries, unless the work clothing or uniform is employer required. For more examples of indirect pay subject to the 5.5 percent standard, see IRS Publication S-3039, "Wage and Salary Controls." It's available free by writing your Internal Revenue district office.

Q. Are health clubs and massage parlors considered health providers under the Economic Stablization program?

A. No. Health clubs and massage parlors are considered service organizations and not health providers under Economic Stablization regulations, because they serve a limited health function.

Says Mud Secret To Healthy Body

By JOHN VAN GIESON
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Ellington Darden, a baby-faced Ph.D. with Mr. America's muscles, says the secret to a strong, healthy body is as clear as mud.

Darden, a Florida State University graduate student from Conroe, Tex., believes in exercising in a vat full of squishy mud.

"It's a pretty unique feeling," the 29-year-old Darden says. "I guess it's like the difference between drinking a glass of water and a thick milkshake."

With a Ph.D. in physical education from Florida State already in hand, Darden is studying for another doctoral degree in foods and nutrition. The 6-foot, 195-pound former college football tackle has won more than 100 trophies in weight lifting and body-building competitions.

Darden says he was introduced to mud exercises six years ago by Ed Key Jr., a football teammate at Baylor University in Waco, Tex. He used a five-by-six-foot tank full of mud in Key's backyard.

"After that initial workout I could really tell there was tremendous merit to this type of exercise regime," Darden said. "You can work many muscles it would be difficult to work otherwise."

Darden said he found the mud strengthens and tones muscles by providing steady resistance throughout a series of exercises.

"It does get bothersome to get the mud off," he admitted. "That's the big drawback. There's no way you could get out of that stuff without a real good shower, but once you get it off it's very cleansing."

Darden says he hopes to have his own mud tank someday. In the meantime, he said he returns to Texas as often as he can to work out in Key's mud tank.

The winner of the college Mr. America title last April, Darden has been concentrating his energies lately on studying the relationship between conditioning and nutrition.

Darden said he once was "a victim of fad diets" but now believes that a normal, balanced diet, regular exercise — and playing in the mud — is the key to health and strength.

The Cincinnati Reds weren't so hot when it came to hitting the three-two pitch in the recent World Series. They made one hit, drew eight walks, struck out nine times and grounded or flied out eight times.

Westwood Clears Way For Possible Resignation

By GREGG HERRINGTON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the Democratic National Committee has cleared the way for her possible resignation, and there are indications the struggle for party leadership is becoming a two-man battle.

Jean Westwood, who has run the party machinery since George McGovern picked her for the job last July, indicated Monday she may reverse her earlier stand and voluntarily step down.

"My own future," she said in a statement issued by her office, "is subordinate to considerations about the future of the party."

The five-paragraph statement contained no reference to her previous insistence that she would resist efforts to oust her at the Dec. 9 meeting of the Democratic National Committee.

The two men who appear to be emerging as principal contenders for chairman are former party treasurer Robert Strauss of Texas and George Mitchell of Portland, Maine, who directed Sen. Edmund S. Muskie's unsuccessful bid for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Working on behalf of Strauss have been close associates of Sens. Henry M. Jackson of Washington and Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota and AFL-CIO officials.

Mrs. Westwood "has a very warm feeling toward George Mitchell," said John English, general counsel at the DNC and a former Muskie strategist. "He's the kind of a fellow who would carry on in the fashion she would like. He is highly acceptable."

Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace made a move Monday to influence the future makeup of the party organization. His campaign organization announced it is opening a temporary office in Washington in preparation for the December meeting of the DNC.

"We are seeking to place as many people on the national committee whose thinking is in tune with the people as we possibly can," said Charles Snider, national director of the Wallace campaign.

Democrats who think Mrs. Westwood should resign include the leadership of the Democratic Governors Caucus, various members of Congress, and members of the DNC.

A Strauss-Mitchell contest could precipitate a struggle between the conservative faction of the party behind Strauss against the more reform-minded, liberal element behind Mitchell.

However, all sources contacted Monday, including ardent Strauss backers, indicated that Mitchell is considerably more acceptable to all wings of the party than is Mrs. Westwood, who is closely associated with McGovern and his losing presidential campaign.

Banker Indicted

HOUSTON (AP) — Govie Ernest Waller, former president of the Angleton Bank of Commerce, was indicted by a federal grand jury Monday on charges he misapplied $47,000 of the bank's funds in 1970.

The indictment alleges Waller made loans totaling that amount through another man.

Waller acquired controlling interest in the Angleton Bank of Commerce in 1961 after selling his interest in the First State Bank of Aransas Pass. Previously he was associated with the First National Bank in Houston.

In 1963, Waller was appointed to a six-year term on the board of directors of the Brazos River Authority by then Gov. John Connally.

Foy L. Knipp, former vice president of the Angleton Bank of Commerce, was indicted last March 22 by a federal grand jury on charges of causing the Angleton bank to make a loan of $44,000 in 1970 to an Austin bank for his own use and benefit and of making false bank entries.

Nose For News

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Normally, Mrs. E. A. Kolmeier's two dogs, Waldo and Elmer, have a nose for news.

Mrs. Kolmeier told Bexar County sheriff's officers that Waldo and Elmer routinely bring her the morning paper but Monday they came up with two one-pound blocks of marijuana wrapped in brown paper.

Bed Airs Burns

LONDON (AP) — Middlesex Hospital has an addition to its severe burns department—four hover-beds. Patients suffering from burns are placed on one of two high-pressure beds with troughs of hot air drying the burnt skin and reducing pain. After 48 hours the patient is moved to a low-pressure bed through which warm air is blown to speed up the healing process.

ANOTHER CRUSADE FOR BILLY — American evangelist Billy Graham holds tribal Naga infant while its mother watches on Graham's arrival in Dimapur, India., Monday. Graham later spoke at Kohima, some 40 miles from Dimapur, to some 100,000 tribals at a religious crusade. His words had to be translated into 18 dialects, but his message of Christ was understood by the crowd of people whose ancestors were headhunters. (AP Wirephoto via cable from Calcutta)

Apollo 17 Crew Makes Last Test

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Apollo 17 astronauts board their spaceship America tonight for the last major test before they are launched to the moon Dec. 6.

Wearing their space suits, Eugene A. Cernan, Dr. Harrison H. Schmitt and Ronald E. Evans are to enter the ship atop a Saturn 5 rocket shortly after 7 p.m. EST to run through procedures in the final 2½ hours of a practice countdown.

The test is to end with a simulated liftoff at 9:53 p.m., the same time the Saturn 5 is to be fired on launch night.

The launch team Monday night successfully concluded a six-day countdown trial in which all phases of the actual count were duplicated, including pumping more than 2,245 tons of liquid hydrogen and liquid oxygen fuel into the rocket's cavernous tanks.

Launch Director Walter Kapryan said the test went very well.

After the test, the fuel was drained as a safety measure for today's exercise.

The final countdown for this last flight in the Apollo series is scheduled to start Nov. 30.

On Dec. 11, Cernan and Schmitt are to steer the lunar ship they call Challenger to a touchdown in the Taurus-Litrow region of the moon on the rim of the Sea of Serenity.

There they hope to find some of the oldest — and youngest — rocks on the moon. As a geologist and the first scientist selected for space flight, Schmitt will add a new dimension to lunar exploration.

They plan a record 75 hours on the surface during which they'll make three moon buggy driving expeditions, each lasting seven hours. They are to drive a total of about 23 miles.

Evans will remain in moon orbit aboard the America while Cernan and Schmitt prowl the lunar surface below.

Cernan, Schmitt and Evans are now in a 21-day preflight medical isolation period.

The spacemen Monday passed an extensive physical examination and have one more major physical scheduled Dec. 1.

Fire Leaves 200 Homeless

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP) — A fire that erupted in a vacant block-long factory has left nearly 200 persons homeless in a run-down section of Jersey City.

Homes of at least 25 families were gutted Monday night by the blaze, which also demolished the factory, formerly owned by the Gibralter Box Co. Homes of another 20 to 25 families suffered smoke or water damage.

No serious injuries were reported, but several of the nearly 700 firemen at the scene were treated for smoke inhalation. Several residents of the area suffered cuts and bruises when they were evacuated from their homes in the Lafayette section of this waterfront city.

When the fire broke out shortly after 6 p.m. it was confined to the factory, which was abandoned when several concerns moved out after taking it over from the box manufacturer.

However, the fire spread rapidly to surrounding homes, and residents of the block were evacuated.

The Red Cross said that the 25 families whose homes were gutted would be found new residences in the neighborhood. They were placed in three motels for the night at Red Cross expense.

The blaze was contained about six hours after it began.

FBI Chief Hospitalized

NEW LONDON, Conn. (AP) — L. Patrick Gray, the acting director of the FBI, has been hospitalized for a possible intestinal obstruction, but doctors say there are no plans to operate at this time.

Gray was taken to Lawrence and Memorial Hospital Sunday night after complaining of abdominal pains while at his home in Stonington, Conn.

A spokesman for the hospital said Monday night that Gray was in satisfactory condition and resting comfortably.

Tattered Bill Is Replaced

HOUSTON (AP) — Donny Firsching, 11, couldn't figure out what happened to the $10 bill he earned during the summer by helping a relative operate a movie house.

Then he remembered he put the bill next to a cage holding his two pet rats. Inside the cage he found the tattered remnants of the bill.

His mother, Ruth Firsching, took the leftovers to Houston banks and negotiations failed. She then mailed the bits of paper to the U.S. Treasury Department in Washington. A $10 check came as a replacement Monday.

The United States uses 534 pounds of paper per capita each year.

Larger Deficits Foreseen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unless the Nixon administration cuts spending sharply or raises taxes, it faces large inflationary budget deficits during this fiscal year and the next, according to a study by the Brookings Institution.

The study said Monday that spending probably will rise by about $21 billion in fiscal 1974 because of built-in increases in the budget.

The study, by the institution's Nancy H. Teeters, projected a full-employment budget deficit of $13.2 billion for the 1973 fiscal year, that ends next June 30, and at least a $7.2 billion full-employment deficit in the following year.

If there is a $13.2 billion full-employment deficit during the current fiscal year, as the study projected, the actual red ink would be about $33 billion.

The full-employment budget is a technique adopted by President Nixon for putting an upper limit on spending.

It operates on the principle that the government should spend no more than the tax system would produce if there was an unemploymnt rate of roughly 4 per cent. The jobless rate is now about 5.5 per cent.

"Obviously, the achievement of a less expansionary budget would require cutbacks in programs or increases in taxes—issues that are bound to be in the forefront of administration planning and congressional deliberations on the budget for the 1974 fiscal year," the study said.

The White House has said it will not sponsor a tax boost and will try to keep the current budget in line by impounding some appropriated money.

The Gobbler Is Back

The Highway Gobbler is the driver who acts like he's the only one on the road. He always drives a little faster than the speed limit, passes to get a little further ahead or tailgates when he can't pass.

This Thanksgiving weekend, the Highway Gobbler is back. He really hasn't been gone. He's been there all along making his generous contribution to the toll of death and injury and property damage on our highways. But he's recognizable for what he is during the Thanksgiving holiday season.

There's no room for the Highway Gobbler—this Thanksgiving or any time of the year.

Can a healthy man lose his manhood?

By Abigail Van Buren

(c 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: Please tell me if there is such a thing as a man losing his manhood? I hope you won't think I am stupid, but I am 59, and my husband is 60, and we have not had sexual relations for over 12 years.

When I asked our family doctor about it, he said it's possible for some men to lose their manhood at 40. Is this true? We asked a couple who have been close friends for a number of years if their sex lives had come to a halt, and they said their sex lives were better now than when they were younger. The man is 63 and the woman is 61. Are they lying?

I am in good health and so is my husband. I am no sex maniac, but I really do believe my husband could do better by me if he tried. But how can I be sure he is capable of it? I don't want to make demands he can't fulfill. Keep this confidential, please. BOSTON READER

DEAR READER: It's not normal for a healthy man to lose his manhood at 40. He should be examined physically again. If he's physically sound, his problem could be psychological. Be sure he covers all the bases. He has many good years ahead of him—and so have you!

DEAR ABBY: This is a message to office employes, secretaries, and mine in particular:

I came to this office as a much younger man and now hold a responsible executive position. My secretary was here when I started, and along with other employes, she addressed me by my first name. Once an employe calls the boss by his first name, it's almost impossible to ask for a "Mister" without creating a chill that affects office efficiency.

My secretary is capable, but more than once she has embarrassed me by using my first name. Because I deal with some distinguished people, I try to answer my own phone, knowing that it's possible that my secretary may say, "Harry, it's for you?"

There are circumstances when it's terribly touchy to suddenly ask to be called "Mister" after one is addressed by his first name. That's the situation I find myself in.

Perhaps my employes will see this, and understand that they can't go wrong with a "Mister," but you can cause embarrassment and controled irritation with a first name. In my contact with other executives, I am never favorably impressed with an office staff who refers to the boss as "Harry." CALL ME MISTER IN MID-MISSOURI

DEAR MISTER: Since you had what it took to go from a "Harry" to an executive, lay it on the line, and tell your staff that "Harry" is okay in inner-office conversation, but outside the "family" you'd prefer to be called "Mister."

DEAR ABBY: I am a 13-year-old girl and have a question I hope you won't think is too dumb to answer. How do you get a boy to notice you? NOT VERY PRETTY

DEAR NOT: No question is too "dumb" to answer. You get a boy to notice you by noticing HIM. When he becomes aware that HE has been noticed by YOU, he'll notice you. And don't worry about being "not very pretty." A very wise man once said, "Beauty is a gift. Charm must be cultivated. A beautiful woman is one I notice. A charming woman is one who notices ME."

CONFIDENTIAL to "unmarried, pregnant, and between two fires": Since you state you are morally against abortion, and your only problem is whether to keep the baby or put it out for adoption, I urge you to go to an organization called BIRTHRIGHT. They are very much concerned about women in your plight and will help you to make a decision you can live with. God bless you.

Proxmire Starts Walk Journey

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Sen. William Proxmire has started what he says will be a 1,200-mile walk-and-run journey through Wisconsin with an early morning jog along Milwaukee streets.

The Wisconsin Democrat took several breaks at dawn Monday to shake the hands of workers arriving for work at factories along his route, greeting constituents with "Hi, I'm Bill Proxmire."

The 57-year-old senator said the first 250-mile leg of his trip, from Milwaukee to Lancaster in southwestern Wisconsin, will take some nine days.

He plans to finish the other legs of the trip when Senate business permits after the new Congress convenes in January.

Wild Pheasants Are Emancipated

BERNARDSTON, Mass. (AP) — The wild pheasant population of Franklin County in western Massachusetts is suddenly bigger.

Three hundred sixty of the birds were emancipated when 10 inches of snow crushed the roof of their brooder at the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Sully.

The birds were worth $1,290, the price game preserves and restaurants would have paid for them, Sully said.

Asks States To Refund Money

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government wants eight states to refund more than $10 million they were supposed to have spent toward offsetting the educational disadvantages suffered by poor children.

Letters went out just after the Nov. 7 election from the U.S. Office of Education seeking repayment of funds allocated under Title 1 of the 1965 Elementary and Secondary Education Act.

Combined with previous requests for repayment, the $10.2 million disclosed Monday brings to $19.5 million the amount the government has asked to be returned from 18 states and the District of Columbia over the last 14 months.

In Monday's list were: Alabama, $589,546; Arkansas, $615,548; Kentucky, $295,378; Mississippi, $3 million; New Mexico, $5,429; South Carolina, $2.8 million; Tennessee, $2.3 million, and Texas, $630,155.

Most of the federal money was used to supplant rather than supplement state and local spending, federal auditors said.

The auditors, who acknowledge that the guidelines for the program were weak during its early years, say nearly $10 billion has been spent in some 18,000 school districts since fiscal year 1966.

The money was intended to help overcome learning handicaps brought on by poverty, racial isolation, neglect or delinquency.

Instead, some of it was spent for construction, salaries, office equipment, travel and educational television not related to helping poor children, according to audit reports.

Cronkite Has Tumor Removed

NEW YORK (AP) — CBS Television newsman Walter Cronkite has had a small, benign tumor removed from his neck.

CBS disclosed Monday that the operation took place at Lenox Hill Hospital last week and that the 56-year-old newsmen had been advised by his doctors to stay at home and rest for a few days.

Trained Lion To Be Freed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The mother of an 8-week-old mountain lion might have done the kitten — and her entire species — a favor when she bit off the youngster's tail.

Because the bob-tailed kitten is not considered a fitting specimen for zoo display, wildlife officials say it will be trained to hunt and will be returned to California's mountains.

"To our knowledge, it will be the first domestically born mountain lion to be released," the San Francisco Zoo zoologist Paul Maxwell said Monday.

"If the lion population is as critical as we think, the fact that we can breed them in captivity and release them assures continuation of the species."

The pilot project depends upon how well Sioux, a male mountain lion born Sept. 26 at the Sacramento Zoo, can learn the ways and wiles of the estimated 600 lions now roaming wild in the state.

When the lion is released a year or more from now, he will be fitted with a radio transmitter. Through it, biologists plan to keep track of him and his adjustment to wild life, in hopes of learning more about the elusive cats.

Meanwhile, Sioux, 5½ pounds and cuddly, is leading a house cat's life at the home of Gary Bogue, curator of the Alexander Lindsay Junior Museum in Walnut Creek.

Boque, who is working with Maxwell and California Fish and Game Department officials, said the kitten is getting fat on baby food and milk formula.

But that will end soon as the young lion is trained to hunt and kill, to choose his food and to be wary of human beings.

"When it gets old enough, we will give it live game and carcasses to pick on," Maxwell said. "We will be careful not to make it a pet and we want to dissociate it from people."

After Sioux goes on solid foods, he will be moved to San Francisco Zoo, where zoologists have successfully released captive golden eagles, hawks and animals.

Maxwell said he hopes that, if necessary, mountain lions can be bred in captivity and released like trout and pheasants.

"We think it can be done and this is a start," he said.

There is no plant or animal life as we know it on the planet Saturn because the temperature is always around minus 250 degrees Fahrenheit and the atmosphere does not contain enough oxygen to support life.

Read any good clothes lately?

You'll find some very interesting reading on the labels in the new clothes you buy.

After July 3, 1972, all garments manufactured that require care and maintenance for their ordinary use must carry a permanent label giving instructions for care and maintenance.

Any questions you have about whether to wash and dry or to dry clean will be answered right on the label.

For home laundering, you'll find electric dryers are designed for a wide range of modern materials — including polyesters and other permanent press fabrics.

This is just one of many reasons why the flameless electric dryer is America's favorite.

Here are a few tips on how to keep your new permanent press clothes looking their best without spending hours ironing:

1. Never dry more than one washer-load at a time.
2. For truly wrinkle-free clothes, try drying half a load, so they'll have lots of tumbling room.
3. Try fabric conditioners. They not only make clothes softer, but they cut down on the static electricity that makes clothes cling together and wrinkle while drying.
4. Clean your dryer's lint trap after each load, to increase drying efficiency.
5. Read your instruction book carefully to get the most out of your dryer's unique features. File instructions for future reference.
