Arm Crushed In Accident On Hwy. 29 East Of Town

Robert Flutch of Fort McKavett, driving a '63 Chevrolet pickup, was badly injured when he sideswiped a Haley truck about 12 miles east of Eldorado Monday afternoon on Highway 29. Flutch had his arm out of the window when he sideswiped the big truck and his arm was terribly crushed, up to the elbow.

He was brought to Eldorado by Mike Boatright, a passerby, and given first aid at Eldorado Clinic and then taken by ambulance to Shannon hospital in San Angelo. Sheriff Edmiston accompanied the patient to Angelo and was present when he was examined by Dr. Henderson, bone specialist. It was not determined at that time whether amputation would be necessary. "He could still move his fingers," the sheriff said.

Hubert Coy Hight was driver of the Haley truck. He was not injured and assisted others in giving aid to the accident victim. State Hwy. Patrolman Byron Smith of Sonora investigated the accident.

Tax Election Set For Flood Control District

On page 4 of this issue appears a notice of tax election "to all qualified property taxpaying voters of South Concho River Flood Control District."

The center of the north half of Schleicher county is included in the district. In addition to the notice in this paper, a notice is also posted in the court house, as well as a map of the county outlining the part which is in the district.

Joe Wagley, whose ranch lies in the district, states that there will be only 38 qualified Schleicher voters who may cast their ballot, while the bulk of the voters will come from the Christoval area in Tom Green county.

The election is to be held on Saturday, December 11th, and Schleicher voters are to cast their ballots at a voting box set up at the Joe Wagley residence.

Jane Cain Is Named D.A.R. Good Citizen

Jane Cain, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peyton Cain, has been announced as this year's recipient of the D.A.R. Good Citizen Award in Eldorado High School.

The award is given each year to an outstanding girl in the Senior class. The class members nominate three for the honor, and from that group a faculty committee makes the final selection.

Basis for selection is dependability, service, leadership, and patriotism.

The name of the local honoree is sent in to state, for selection of a state winner. A national honoree is then chosen from the 50 state finalists by the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

9-YEAR-OLD BOY GETS HIS FIRST DEER

Clay Williams, 9-year-old son of Lee Williams, killed his first deer last Saturday on their ranch near the Tom Green county line.

It was a 9-point buck with 16½-inch spread and weighed 130 lbs., field dressed. It was brought to the Hext locker in Eldorado. The buck weighed twice as much as the boy who killed him.

Today Is Thanksgiving

This is A Time For Thanks. This year Thanksgiving—a national religious festival—is 102 years old. It began in 1863 and credit for beginning the observance is usually given to Mrs. Sarah Josepha Hale (who is also famed as author of "Mary Had a Little Lamb.")

A month separates Thanksgiving this year from Christmas, which means that these two national religious observances are only 30 days apart. However, Thanksgiving—unlike Christmas—is not so highly commercialized.

The first Thanksgiving proclamation, issued by any President, came in 1789, when George Washington ordered a day of Thanksgiving for the adoption of the Constitution. President Madison also set a day to give thanks for the peace during 1815, but it was not until the time of Abraham Lincoln, in 1863, that we had a national Thanksgiving proclamation, setting apart the last Thursday in November as a day to be observed.

In more recent years, the fourth Thursday has been the day, since the administration of President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

It is one of our most-enjoyed holidays, a colorful observance and an inspiration. It signifies the coming end of the year, the completion of most of the harvesting of the year.

Americans should keep in mind the religious origin of the Thanksgiving Day observance and give thanks to God for their many blessings.

Thanksgiving Day is a general holiday. A few service stations are remaining open to serve the traveling public. Some cafes are also open to serve traditional Thanksgiving fare to those who don't care to cook a big dinner of their own.

There will be the usual round of visiting, enjoying recreation, hunting, and just plain taking it easy on the agenda for local residents.

The school, court house and city hall are also taking Friday for a holiday, which with the ensuing week end, gives them a four-day period of rest from work. Most people, though, will be back at work Friday morning.

With our subscribers: Henry Mittel Jr. was here last week end and reported that his new address in Fort Worth is 6105 Wrigley Way.

Mrs. W. E. Richardson of 4504 Parrish Road in Fort Worth is subscribing again.

Truett Kent Stanford has moved from Andrews to 1201 S. Monroe in San Angelo.

In the old days when you wanted to build a fence, you dug the post holes with a crowbar. This past Saturday, we watched a man with Co-Op equipment digging post holes for the county around the new park area, near the airport. In about two hours they got all around the block.

Commissioner Baker was watching the operation and said the county was preparing to run a fence around the block and clear off the ground. The county recently got title to the north half of the block and will incorporate it all into the park system.

Large Buck Rates Over 59 Points In Contest Here

Two large bucks have been entered so far with Skeet Mace in the Foxworth-Galbraith large buck contest which continues until the close of the season—the last day of the year.

According to rules of the contest published last week the deer is judged according to circumference of beam at base of the deer horn, plus length of beam.

Dick Preston brought in the first large buck which scored 46 5/8 points, which was followed by Orville Luedecke with one that scored 59 1/8.

Nearly six weeks remains in the hunting season and unless someone brings in a buck larger than Luedecke's he will have won the Foxworth-Galbraith prize, which is a Model 600 bolt action Remington rifle, 222 caliber, with a retail price of $99.95.

The Hext locker continues to be full of deer, but most hunters have already learned by the grapevine about the size of the Luedecke deer and are not bringing them over, according to Mace.

Weather this week has continued unseasonably warm, which poses the problem of caring for freshly killed game.

A bulletin from the Wildlife Dept., in Austin has this to say about the season in general:

The deer derby didn't exactly get off to a dazzling start but the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department reported a substantial number of deer and turkey taken.

Bags of jackpot proportions occurred in scattered areas, based on receipts by locker plants. But the other extreme existed in many places.

The Department said prospects nevertheless are excellent for the remainder of the shoot extending through December 31 in most places and that the big game population estimates continue high. Sportsmen seeking wild turkey were said to have been particularly fortunate in South Texas and in the Hill country.

The Department stressed the unfavorable weather as the main hunter handicap, with balmy breezes prevailing instead of the needed freeze to strip the heavy foliage and expose the targets.

Field men agreed that the game is there; the hunters certainly are available and that the great need now is for a cold blast to complete the setting.

Assembly Of God Sets Thanksgiving Service

Home Demonstration Agent's Column

By MRS. VIDA KREKLOW

Just what is cashmere? We see the product advertised, we hear the word spoken and on reading the tag hanging from a cashmere coat or sweater we note that usually it's a rather expensive garment.

Cashmere is wool spun from the downy fleece of the cashmere goat which is native to Central Asia. Top quality cashmere is very soft and luxurious, while less expensive versions contain some of the coarse outer hairs of the goat which do not dye as evenly as the fleece. There are also moderately priced sweaters made of cashmere combined with other wools.

Even the finest "pure" cashmere washes beautifully but requires gentle handling. When washing a cashmere sweater, use cool-to-warm suds and rinse waters. Just press the garment through the suds, without rubbing and with the least agitation possible. After rinsing, blot excess moisture in a towel, lay the sweater flat, and block it to shape as it dries.

Modern detergents, cold water soaps and other chemical solutions of today have transformed wash day, dish washing time and even shampooing more than we can realize.

Anybody past 40 remembers what it was like to wash with hard water and soft soap. Mama used to add a little lye to the wash water (of course that was years ago) to, as she said, "break the water."

I remember looking carefully into the wash pot to see if I could tell when it "broke." I never could. It always looked pretty smooth.

The mention of hard water reminds me of a story a friend told me the other day about some of her early experiences in our part of the west.

My friend came to West Texas as a bride with her oil searching husband from New York City. She said that she was spellbound from the beginning at seeing the west, and incidentally, still is.

She told about the first time she and her husband went to Stiles, Texas. Stiles, in case some one may not know, is in the Big Lake vicinity, northwest. In those days, Stiles was quite a little town. Today only the ruins of one store is all that is left of Stiles.

The trip was made by train; the main part of the trip at least. I don't think that a train ever ran to this little West Texas town. On checking into the hotel, my friend mentioned to the man at the desk that it had been a dirty, sooty trip.

"Well don't do what the show lady did," was the clerk's advice. A little further conversation led to the story of the traveling theatrical group which had been in town a few days ahead of them.

The leading lady was a beautiful blond. In those days it was real, too. To honor her as a star she was given the bridal suite. An hour or so after she had been shown to her rooms, the whole hotel heard horrifying screams coming from the star's direction.

She had washed her hair—with soap. Having never heard of gyp water, much less seen any, she was not prepared for what happened. Her golden tressed head looked as if somebody had poured a thin solution of plaster of paris over it.

When the manager answered her shrieks all she could say was, "Get me some lemons, quick!"

A bell boy rushed to the grocery store and then to another one. There was not one lemon in Stiles.

The situation looked pretty bad for a minute or so until somebody thought of "Central." Off to the telephone operator's office they went. "Central" started calling ranches. "Do you have a lemon?" They found five in the vicinity. Cowboys from Stiles started riding out to meet cowboys from the ranches who were bringing in the lemons.

They made it. Five cowboys sat on the front row for the show that night. They thought they had never seen such pretty blonde hair in their lives as that show lady had.

Lemon juice in water was a popular rinse for blonde hair in those days. There were people in our part of the county who didn't have lemons either — they used vinegar. A little smelly, but it worked fine.

Our Home Demonstration Club Food Sale was a tremendous success on the 16th. At no other time do we seem to have such a good time at work. And it is a lot of work for a whole lot of people but everyone does it so cheerfully it turns out to be fun. Club members send in the food and friends here in town buy.

Pies, cakes, cookies, home made bread, beautiful tea rings, pickles, preserves, relishes, turnips and greens were brought in and disappeared as if by magic. Martha Godwin brought 4 chess pies, so fresh they were still warm. She sold three before she could get them in through the sale door.

Mildred Stanford did a cute thing. She brought in a bushel of green peppers. Knowing very well that we would never sell a whole bushel she took them to a local food store, sold them and plinked the money in our till.

But I must not start mentioning names and what they brought or sent. The paper doesn't have the space to spare.

To all of you who quietly cooked and sent in goodies, to all who had fun keeping store and to all our friends and customers who kept us from having to take it all home—the Home Demonstration clubs say thank you.

We made exactly the right amount of money.

Mr. and Mrs. James Williams have as Thanksgiving guests their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Davis and son of Austin. The men plan to do some hunting.

THANKSGIVING

Yes, Thanksgiving is a day for family get-togethers, good fun and reverence. Although they had little by comparison, the small band of Pilgrims attended divine worship and gave thanks before sitting down to the first Thanksgiving meal with their Indian friends.

This Thanksgiving and every day let us give thanks, each in his own way, for the numerous gifts which many in rich America take for granted.

So that our force may spend Thanksgiving with their families, we will be closed throughout the day.

Eagles Lose 46-47

Eldorado opened the 1965-66 basketball season against a tough Balmorhea Bear team last Friday in McCamey. It was a real thriller down to the last second when it ended 46-47 with Balmorhea ahead. Donald Rogers, who played an excellent game, took a last minute shot but it was blocked and the buzzer sounded. Rogers scored 8 points but his real strength was in collecting 17 rebounds.

Scott McGregor hit six quick points and Danny Halbert five with Derrick adding 2 to give Eldorado a 12 point first quarter; however, Balmorhea had 18 points. The second quarter was the difference with Rogers hitting 2, McCravery 2, and Bosmans 2 for only a six point quarter. While the Eagles were making bad passes, missing the basket, and fouling, Balmorhea was cashing in for 13 points. This gave the Bears a 31-19 half-time advantage and Danny Halbert had four fouls. Coach Bell experimented with various combinations of boys since none of these have played together much until this season.

After half-time the Eagles seemed to be more poised, to run their plays better and to hit more consistently. The Eldorado five scored 17 in the third period with Derrick getting four, McGregor four, Phillips one, Rogers four, and Bosmans four. This brought the score to 40-36 with the Eagles catching up fast. Dan Halbert returned to the game in the fourth period to hit 4, Joe Phillips got on the boards and hit 4, and Don Rogers added 2. The Eagles hit 71% from the free throw line making 8 of 13. Balmorhea attempted 31 free shots and made 13 thus the difference in the game. Eldorado had 19 floor shots to 17 for Balmorhea; Eldorado hit 19 of 15 for 34%.

The Eagles found that rebounds make a difference as well as hustle on the part of every player. The first half Eldorado was sluggish and tight but the second half they shook it off and got in there and played ball. McGregor ended the night with 10 points and 1 rebound to be the leading scorer. Dan Halbert had 9 and 4 rebounds, Don Rogers 8 and 17 rebounds, Gary Derrick 6 and 5 rebounds, Jesse Bosmans 6 and 5 rebounds, Joe Phillips 5 and 6 rebounds and Chris McCravery 2 and a rebound. Jay Halbert did not score but did a good job especially in the fourth quarter in double teaming the Bears. The quint of Bosmans, McGregor, Halbert, Halbert, and Rogers broke Balmorhea's stall and stole the ball that gave Eldorado a chance to score in the final second.

A thrilling game was the reward for the many faithful Eagle fans who made the trip.

Score by Quarters:
Eagles — 13 6 17 10—46
Balmorhea — 18 13 9 7—47

Eaglettes Upset Balmorhea

Eldorado made the long ride to McCamey worth it with a thrilling 45-44 upset of the Balmorhea Bearettes. The contest was tight all the way with teams tied 15-15 at the end of the first quarter and 24-24 at the half. The second half looked like it might prove disaster to the Eaglettes as they tallied on 6 points in the third quarter while Balmorhea was scoring 14. However, the fourth quarter was "come back" time. The guards, Chris Edmiston, Jane Cain, Beth McCalla, and Shirley Hubble began to click and the forwards began to find the range hitting 15 points to Balmorhea's 6. When Balmorhea was ahead they attempted a stall with 4 minutes left in the game. However, Chris and Shirley lost no time in getting the ball. Balmorhea then found themselves behind and had to come out of the stall and press.

Libby Preston put in six points in the first quarter to lead and Susan Hill dropped in six during the second period. The third quarter no one did much scoring but in the fourth quarter Karen Griffin plopped in eight points and Marsha Mund 4. Game scoring honors went to Karen Griffin with 16, Susan Hill 12, Marsha Mund 11, and Libby Preston 6. Marsha had 10 rebounds, Karen 6, Libby 5, and Susan 4. Chris Edmiston also garnered 10 rebounds, Beth 6, Jane 5, and Shirley 5.

Eldorado was no match for Balmorhea at the free throw line as the Eaglettes made only 9 of 19 to the Bearettes' 10 of 16. From the floor the Eaglettes made 19 of 54 attempts for 35%.

The speed of the Eaglette forwards, the excellent defense of the guards, and that "never give up" attitude were too much for the Bearettes.

The Eaglettes are 2-0 for the season.

After two contests Karen is averaging 17.5, Marsha 15, and Susan Hill and Libby 7 each.

Balmorhea had all starters returning from last year's team that beat Eldorado 62-59.

Score by Quarters:
Eldorado — 15 9 6 15—45
Balmorhea — 15 9 14 6—44

Eaglettes Smash Iraan

Marsha Mund, Karen Griffin, and Susan Mobbly all scored in double figures to lead Eldorado to a 64-32 rout of Iraan Tuesday night. Marsha connected for 22, Karen 17, and Susan 10 to lead a scoring parade that saw every forward score. Libby Preston had 9, and Susan Hill and Marsha Sue Page had 3 each.

Jane Cain played one of her better ball games. She was consistent on rebounds and ball handling as she pulled in 12. She was instrumental in holding Iraan to only 32 points. Chris Edmiston, her capable sophomore team mate, played her usual excellent game. She had 11 rebounds and was all over the court antagonizing the opposition. Sherry Yates drew a starting role for the game and did a commendable job; she also had 2 rebounds. Beth McCalla had rebounds while Shirley Hubble also had some. Joan Doyle 1, and Nancy Jurecek got no rebounds but turned in some good floor play.

The Eaglettes opened rather slowly, hitting 12 points but Iraan also hit 12. The second quarter Eldorado hit for 11 but Iraan fell behind and managed only 5. The half-time score stood 23-17. The Eldorado fans did not relax until Marsha Mund had pumped in 10 points in the third period along with 11 from her teammates to take a 44-25 lead. The Iraan girls began to tire and could not cope with the Eaglette speed and quickness both offensively and defensively.

Eldorado improved at the free throw line making 8 of 13 for 71%.

Score by Quarters:
Eldorado — 12 11 21 20—64
Iraan — 12 5 8 7—32

Eagles Get Victory

The Eldorado Eagles fought valiantly and would not give up Friday night and came out with a 39-37 victory over Iraan.

Neither team could be proud of the offense but the Eagle defense was excellent. The Eagles were still experiencing "first-half-itis" scoring only 15 points to Iraan's 20. However, during the third quarter business began to pick up for the green and white as they began to press. This forced Iraan into numerous errors upon which the Eagles cashed in for 15 points to their 8. The fourth quarter the boys not only battled the Braves but a score clock that wasn't operating properly. No one knew exactly how much time was left in the game and Eldorado had a 30-28 advantage. The Eagles pulled out and played for either a sure shot or a foul which worked. However, with about a minute remaining Iraan managed the score that tied it 37-37. However, the Eagles were rebounding well and got the ball where a foul followed on Joe Phillips. Joe made one to give Eldorado a 38-37 lead. Iraan shot and Jesse Bosmans rebounded, was fouled and made a free shot to make it 39-37 with 2 seconds on the clock. As the Braves threw it in-bounds no Eagle even made an attempt at it so as not to foul and they could get a shot off before the buzzer.

Eldorado was weak at the foul line making only 11 of 26 while Iraan only had 7 of 13. Sureness at the foul line could have given the Eagles a much better margin of victory.

Scott McGregor was the game scoring leader with 13. Gary Derrick was next with 6 and he was on the backboards for 12 important rebounds. Chris McCravery had 5 and was second in rebounding with 8. Jesse Bosmans had 4, Dan Halbert, Jay Halbert, and Joe Phillips with 3 and Donald Rogers 2 before he fouled out.

If the Eagles can get their offense rolling their defense can stand as it is. McGregor is the only one so far who has had an

George Gandy Honored With Retirement Party

Sinclair employees honored Geo. Gandy and his wife with a retirement party at the Memorial Bldg., Monday night, Nov. 22.

Mr. Gandy retired Nov. 1 after 32 years, two months and 20 days. He had continuous employment with the Sinclair Oil Co. He was a gang pusher at the time of retirement. At the age of 13 he began his career in the oil field when he got a job as water boy for Castor Oil Co. in Oklahoma where he grew up. After a few months he went to work in the gang for the same company. He went to work for Sinclair and White in 1916 and began his career with Sinclair Oil and Gas Co. on Jan. 4, 1928 in Seminole, Okla., as a pipe liner.

He moved to Kilgore, Texas, from Seminole and was there during the great East Texas oil boom, when wells were drilled so close to each other that the bases of the derricks touched in the business section of the town. He remembers when the National Guard closed down the East Texas field because oil was selling for 10c a barrel; the beginning of proration in Texas oil fields. He also remembers when the Texas Rangers were brought into Kilgore to restore law and order.

The jail was not large enough to hold all the offenders. They were chained to each other, and the first one to a telephone pole. The line was a block long.

The town was so crowded people stood in line for two blocks to get mail at the post-office. Kilgore today is a clean, modern, well-developed city.

Other places he has lived include Wright City, Damon, Chapel Hill (near Tyler), Pickens, Miss.; Columbus, Texas; Arp, Texas; Anaheim (near Galveston), Orange, Eunice, N.M.; Crane, Rankin, Ozona and Eldorado.

Lee Box, Sinclair foreman, served as master of ceremonies at the Monday night party. Orland Harris catered and served goat and chicken barbecue to the some 50 persons attending. Mr. Gandy was presented with a jig-saw and his wife an electric knife, plus several other gifts.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Horace Barber and Mr. and Mrs. Truett Kent Stanford, all from San Angelo.

The Gandys plan to continue to make their home in Eldorado. Mr. Gandy hopes to be able to get in a little more fishing than formerly.

COUNTY AGENT'S COLUMN
by Tiny Godwin
Schleicher County Agricultural Agent

Friction between landowners and sportsmen can be held to a minimum if each will give full cooperation in carrying out agreements. Landowners should consider some basic relations with sportsmen in carrying out their responsibilities. For instance here are a few.

Landowners should:

1. Not sell anything he does not have.

2. Get to know and understand the sportsman; make him welcome to the community and county.

3. Develop a written lease if at all possible to include such things rate and date of payment; time limits or duration of lease; boundaries of lease area; kinds of game or fish included; names of individuals or families in the lease; guest privileges; associated activities such as fishing, camping, picnicking, etc.; and the use and maintenance of any cabin or shelter included in the lease.

4. Explain the check-out system for reporting kill.

5. Use as much care as possible in selecting hunters.

6. Give hunters the kind and location of livestock in the pasture to be hunted.

7. Encourage the following of wounded game and give explicit instructions in case wounded game crosses a fence.

8. Consider your neighbors in all matters and expect them to consider you. * * *

Nothing confuses a man more than driving behind a woman who does everything right. * * *

Almost every gardener has a few choice plants from which he desires to collect seed and save for use the next season. Storing seed under proper conditions greatly increase their longevity. Most seeds should be air dried and placed in glass jars with airtight lids or in polyethylene bags and closed securely with rubber bands. The sealed containers should be kept in a refrigerator or cool basement where the temperature will remain constant. Do not store in the deep freeze. * * *

Now is the time to take cuttings from the house plants you set outdoors last spring. Geraniums and coleus can be carried over the winter as small house plants and then used as garden plants again next summer. Be sure to place them where they will receive at least 4 to 6 hours of sun daily. * * *

Fall is the time to clean up flower beds. Many troublesome weeds get their start in early fall and grow all winter. Many will develop heavy root systems while the top remains small and attracts little attention. In the spring, before you realize what is happening, these weeds take over the flower bed. Areas to be planted next spring can be plowed or spaded this fall unless erosion is a problem. Do not level after spading; the rough surface will catch moisture resulting in better growth next spring. * * *

The human race seems to have gone to a lot of trouble to improve everything but people. * * *

If you plan to mulch your perennial border this winter, line up your material now. Do not apply it too early, however, as the purpose of fall mulching is to protect tender plants and to reduce the wide fluctuations of soil temperature we frequently experience in Texas. Wait until soil is cold to apply mulch. Early application will keep soil warm and plants will remain tender rather than going dormant. * * *

A concentrated insecticidal attack has been used this fall as a new approach for reducing diapausing boll weevils in the High Plains Boll Weevil Control Program.

The new approach, used in this second year's effort to keep the weevil from firmly establishing itself on about 2 million acres of High Plains cotton, was based on findings of Dr. Perry Adkisson and W. L. Sterling of the Texas A&M University Entomology Department.

Their research indicated that a two-phase program could be nine times more effective than last year's single-phase system. Phase 1 was aimed at the last reproductive generation of weevils with three applications of insecticide (undiluted technical malathion) made at five-day intervals beginning Sept. 7.

This phase was designed to kill newly emerging adult females before they could mate and lay eggs that could produce potentially overwintering adults. Diapause is a dormant period which allows weevils to survive the winter.

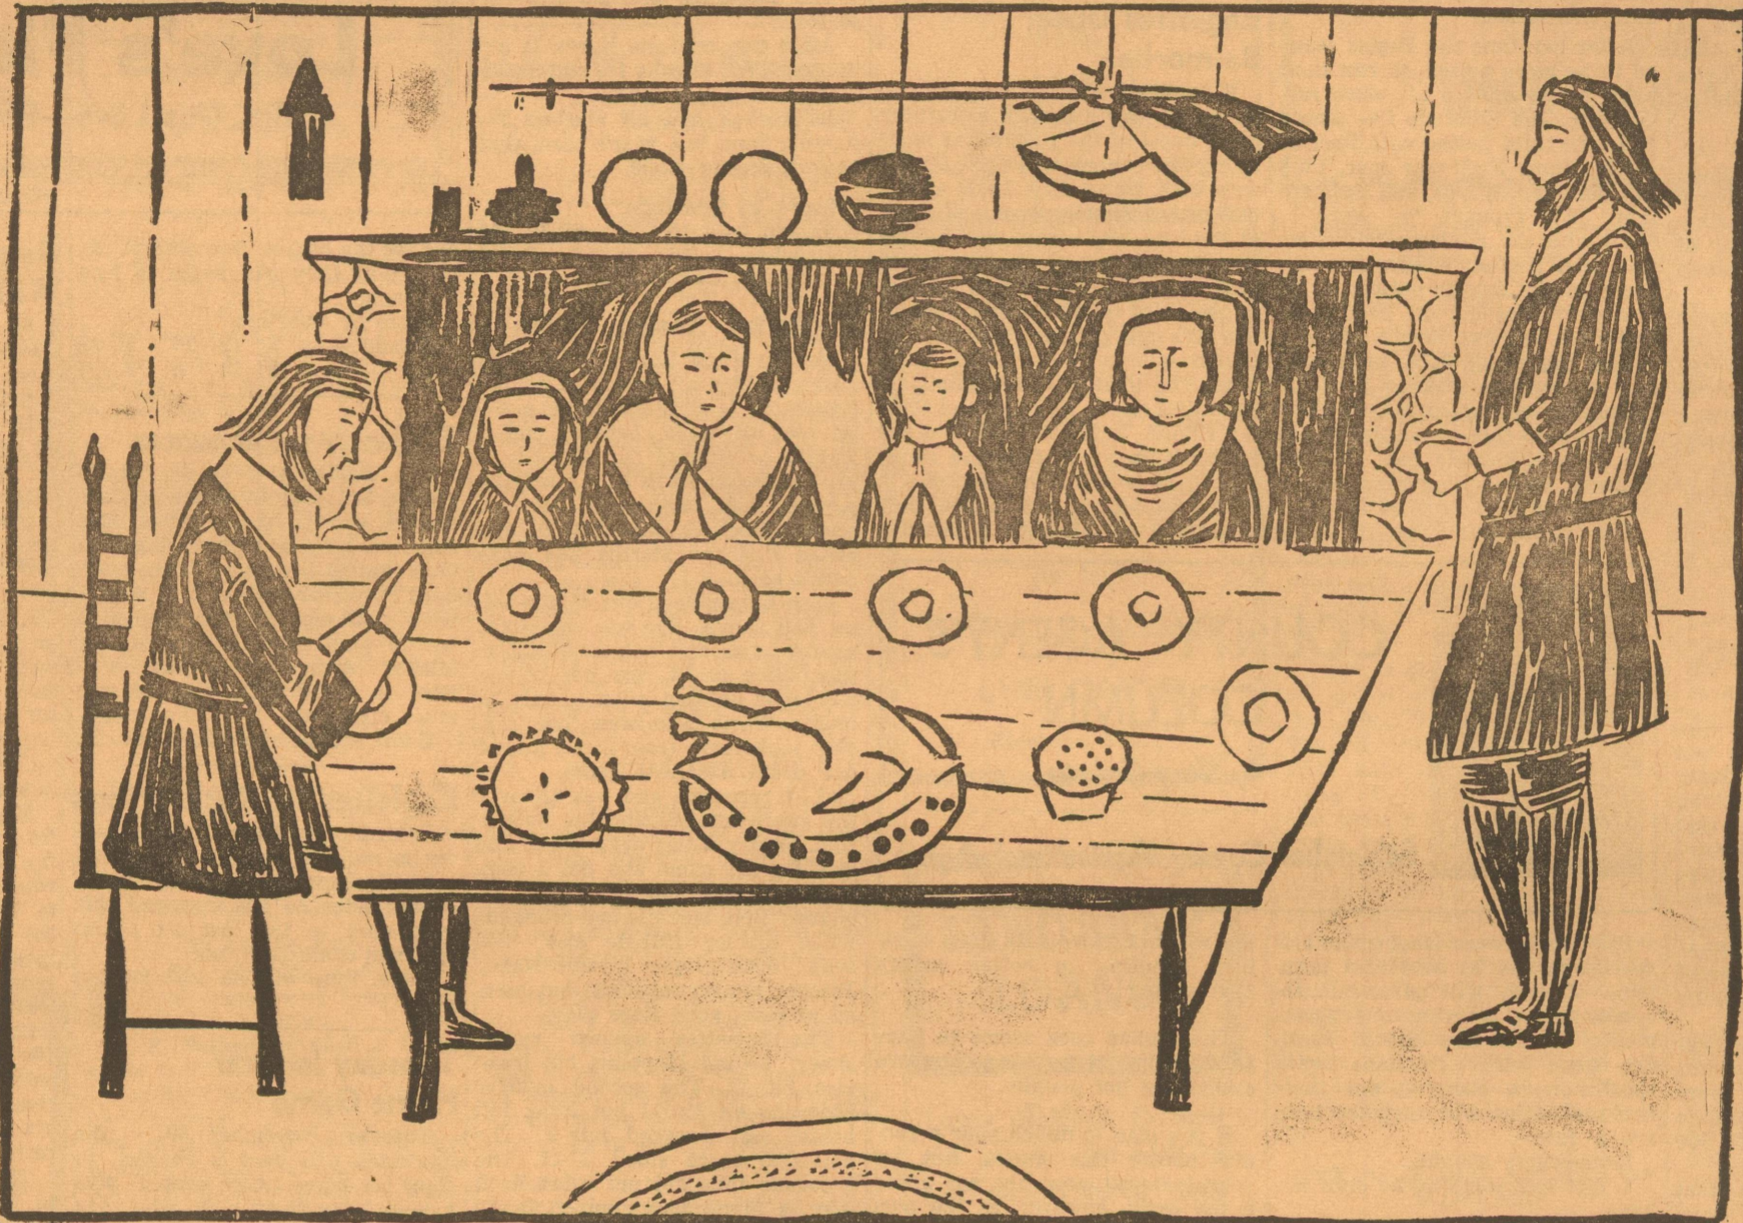

Phase 2 consists of insecticide applications at 10 to 14-day intervals which starts at completion of Phase 1 and continues until frost. The purpose is to kill any adult weevils that might have emerged from eggs laid before Sept. 7 and to kill any adults that may have survived the September applications. * * *

If the program succeeds, Adkisson said, 90% of adults of the last reproductive generation should have been killed in Phase 1, and there should have been a corresponding 90% decrease in egg output. This means that for each 100 diapausing weevils that would have developed under no control, only 10 will develop.

If Phase 2 treatments also kill 90% of the adults (mostly of the diapausing kind this time), for each 100 potentially overwintering weevils that would have formed with no control, only one should survive to leave the cotton and head for overwintering cover. * * *

At 20 a man thinks he can save the world, at 30 he is happy if he can save part of his salary.

THANKSGIVING DAY

The Thanksgiving story is one of the most beautiful in the annals of American history. The sharing of available foodstuffs and turkey by Governor Bradford and a small group of Pilgrims with the Indian King Massasoit and his tribe is a never-to-be-forgotten gesture of friendship. That first Thanksgiving feast in 1621, growing out of free hearts and leading to full stomachs, has become a beloved American custom. We do our best to re-create the spirit of this first Thanksgiving Day that commemorated the survival of the Pilgrims after a year of hardship and peril. To restate the gratitude they felt, families and their friends gather together to share a bountiful table and to give thanks for the abundance of their blessings. It is good to remember the harsh beginnings, courage of our forebears, and the heritage of liberty bequeathed to us. It is good to tell the story of the first Thanksgiving Day to our children; a robust story of danger, adventure and fortitude. Our Pilgrim Forefathers conceived Thanksgiving as a day to stop and take stock of all the good things in life. They had, as we do today, a constant threat of upheaval. They too, were beset by problems—economic and political—big and small—but they found time, once a year, to thank God and thank each other for all the good things they enjoyed. On this Thanksgiving Day of 1965, we have many reasons to give thanks for the abundance of our blessings, throughout this Great Land of ours.

Doris Hinton Bride of Mr. Mahan In Church Ceremony In Hobbs, N. M.

MR. AND MRS. WALDEN DOUGLAS MAHAN

Bouquets of white gladioli tied with yellow bows and ribbon streamers decorated the First Christian Church of Hobbs, N.M., for the afternoon wedding of Miss Doris Marie Hinton and Walden Douglas Mahan Oct. 30th. The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. D. S. Hinkle.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walden Mahan, 1500 West Avenue M, Lovington, New Mexico, was attended by Tommy Weaver as best man. The bride's cousin, Mrs. Velton Taylor of San Angelo, was matron of honor. Mrs. Glenn Clymer was organist and Mrs. Weldon King was soloist.

Ushers were the bridegroom's brother, Terry Mahan of Lovington, N.M., and Mike Cortese and Bob Prince of Portales, N.M.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen J. Hinton, Denver City Highway, was given in marriage by her father. She wore a formal-length dress of white lace over peau de soie, the skirt featuring scallops on the redingote front. Her waist length veil of bridal illusion was held in place by a tiara of seed pearls and crystal beads. Her bouquet was a cluster of white stephanotis surrounded by yellow rosebuds arranged on a white Bible.

Something old was a lavalere owned by her late grandmother, Mrs. Robert Nixon; something new was her wedding gown; something blue was a garter, made by Mrs. Norman Faught, and something borrowed was her veil, which belonged to her cousin, Mrs. Dick Runge. In her shoe was a penny minted in the year of her birth.

Mrs. Taylor wore a white dress of taffeta and organza. Her head-dress was a white cabbage rose with a small veil.

The bride's mother's ensemble was a two-piece beige lace suit with black accessories. Her corsage was white carnations. The bridegroom's mother wore a champagne lace dress with a matching lace coat. Her accessories were beige, and her corsage was white carnations.

Hostesses for the reception given in the church Fellowship Hall after the wedding were Mrs. Dick Runge of Menard, cousin of the bride; and Mrs. Johnny Howl of Hobbs, N.M. The bridegroom's sister, Miss Debbie Mahan of Lovington, N.M., presided at the guest register, which lay on a table covered with a yellow cloth and centered with a tree holding packets of rice.

The bride's table was covered with white lace over a yellow cloth and centered with an arrangement of yellow and white roses. Cake, punch, mints and nuts were served.

When the couple left on a wedding trip to El Paso, the bride wore a suit of off-white wool boucle trimmed with a ranch mink collar. Her hat was of matching ranch mink, and her other accessories were black.

The couple are now at home at 707-A North Weatherford in Midland, where the bride is employed by Shell Oil Co., and the bridegroom is employed by Sunray DX Oil Co.

The new bride is a graduate of Hobbs High School, Hobbs, N.M., and of Eastern New Mexico University, Portales, N.M., where she was on the ENMU Traffic Board of Appeals, and was a Swanee Girl in the annual ENMU production, "Swanee." In 1964, she represented the university in the Miss Wool of New Mexico contest.

The bridegroom was graduated from Lovington, N.M. High School and attended ENMU, where he was a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

Out of town guests at the couple's wedding and reception were the bridegroom's grandparents, the Rev. and Mrs. W. H. Townsend of Austin and Mrs. Ruth Mahan of Olney; the bride's grandfather, Robert Nixon of Eldorado, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Nixon of Eldorado, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Runge and Randy of Menard, Mr. and Mrs. Velton Taylor of San Angelo, Mr. Alfred Holmes and Mrs. Richard Haley of Perryton.

Mrs. Ruby Mahan and Jim of Odessa; Bob Prince, Mike Cortese, Jerry Carlton, Bob Bryson, Miss Sandra Bell and Lou Manees of Portales, N.M.; Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Crow and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Carney of Lovington, N.M.; Mr. and Mrs. Mike Paine of Levelland; Miss Beth Hehmeyer, and Miss Donna York of Midland, Tommy Weaver of Albuquerque, N.M., and Keith Cavin of Las Vegas, Nev., were also guests.

Parker Awarded Watch For Rambler Sales

Mr. Earl L. Parker, local American Motors/Rambler dealer, is wearing a new diamond-studded wrist watch because of his sales record during the 1965 model year. The wrist watch was presented on behalf of Roy Abernathy, president of American Motors, to dealers who exceeded their previous year sales by 25% or more.

Abernathy announced the "President's Award" program at dealer meetings throughout the nation during August and September, 1964.

He told the dealers to "throw away" their old watches because he would give them new ones if they concentrated their time on sales and achieved the 25% sales increase in the 1965 model year.

In addition, Abernathy promised to have one diamond embedded in the face of the dial for each three-month period in which dealers posted sales increase of 25% or more.

Mr. Parker achieved a sales increase of 50%, and his new watch has three diamonds on the face.

More than 700 American Motors/Rambler dealers qualified for a "President's Award" wrist watch.
