Dove season opened here Monday and the first hunting story I heard had the ring of truth to it.

Jimmy McFarland invited Mickey Nunley to his farm to shoot a few doves Monday afternoon.

"We got about seven birds with two boxes of shells when the game warden came by," McFarland reported. "He was checking hunting licenses. About that time, three doves flew by, and Mickey and I both let go with a barrage. The three birds flew on without a scratch. The game warden said he could see that there was no need to check us for bag limit and went on."

High school football teams are concentrating on their work these days and practice scrimmages with outside teams are about the most exciting events until the season actually begins a week from this coming Friday. Trying to analyze one of these scrommage sessions is like trying to figure out what is going on in the Middle-East.

Some of the scrimmage results noted around the area show that Lamesa outscored Kermit, four touchdowns to two, Lubbock Estacado outscored Burkburnett, eight touchdowns to three, Lubbock Dunbar and Lubbock High tied two and two, while Snyder outscored Stamford, 8 touchdowns to four. But these "scores" don't really mean a lot unless you know the circumstances and what the coaches were doing at the time.

Local artists are trying to arrange for their own facility where they can hold meetings and have continuous exhibits of their work. Dr. John English heads-up the project and he reports that arrangements for a site have been made. Now, the group is seeking a building which could be moved to the site.

Senators Chip Away At Big Tax Package

AUSTIN (AP) — Senators chipped away today at a $348.7 million tax package by Sen. Ralph Hall of Rockwall but defeated a proposed change which Hall claimed would kill the bill.

The Senate adopted an amendment by Sen. Oscar Mauzy of Dallas which would raise the cigarette tax by 5 cents a pack, rather than 4.5 cents as proposed by Hall.

However, they rejected Galveston Sen. A. R. Schwartz's proposal to boost the tax on natural gas from 7 to 8 per cent. Hall's package includes an increase to 7.5 per cent, and he said, "Purely and simply, if you vote the Schwartz amendment, I think it will kill this bill in the House, and I think it will kill this bill in the senate. It's high time we get practical."

Mauzy said he had a series of amendments which would "eliminate any necessity to raise the sales tax at all," but the 1 per cent increase in gas taxes was part of that series.

The extra half cent on Cigarettes, Mauzy said, would raise an added $9.2 million. The extra one-half per cent on gas would have raised $9.2 million more.

Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes said he and Speaker Gus Mutscher were ready to finish a tax bill and let legislators go home. They have been in session since July 28.

It looked for a while Tuesday as if senators might be in session all night. Schwartz, fuming from a run-in with another senator, withdrew his threat to filibuster after they agreed to quit until today.

Schwartz gave a "country guarantee" that he would talk for 24 hours unless the Senate allowed some time for reading a polished, written version of the $348.7 million tax package approved just minutes before in committee.

Sen. Wayne Conally of Floresville backed him up. "We're not in a mad rush. We've passed a 60 day budget to take care of immediate problems. We want to be a little bit deliberate."

Schwartz, who had a bitter exchange with the chairman of the State Affairs Committee, Sen. William T. Moore of Bryan, told the Senate in a special speech that Moore was a "disgrace to the Senate" for the way he handled the committee as it heard the tax proposal.

"And it's a disgrace that the other members of the Senate did not come to my aid," said Schwartz. "If ever there was a cause for censure, we had it today."

The State Affairs Committee approved Rockwall Sen. Ralph Hall's attempt at a compromise bill, 15-4, after Schwartz shouted at Moore for the chairman's refusal to let him speak. Connally and Sens. Jim Bates of Edinburg and Charles Herring of Austin also voted against the bill.

Once, during an exchange on Schwartz' attempt to put cigarettes but not other tobacco products under the sales tax, the pipe-smoking Moore thanked Schwartz for "taking care of me."

Schwartz replied, without a hint of a smile, "I still hope it (smoking) will kill you, given enough time."

The only amendment which added any money to the measure provided for a permanent increase, rather than a temporary hike, in the corporate franchise tax.

Judge Rejects Kopechne's Motion

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP) —A Pennsylvania judge rejected today a motion by the parents of Mary Jo Kopechne to dismiss a petition for an autopsy on the body of the former secretary who was killed July 18 in an auto accident involving Sen. Edward M. Kennedy.

In rejecting the motion by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kopechne of Berkeley Heights, N.J., Judge Bernard C. Brominski of Common Pleas Court said he had the authority to order an autopsy.

The Kopechnes had argued that Pennsylvania had no jurisdiction to act on the autopsy request by Dist. Atty. Edmund Dinis of New Bedford, Mass.

Dinis wants the autopsy results for an inquest he plans into the woman's death.

That inquest was scheduled to begin today in Edgartown, Mass., but attorney's for Kennedy forced a postponement, probably of two weeks or more.

Miss Kopechne, 28, was killed when a car driven by Kennedy plunged off a narrow bridge on Chappaquiddick Island off the Massachusetts coast. An assistant medical examiner ruled death was caused by drowning. He did not perform an autopsy.

Miss Kopechne is buried in nearby Larksville in the hard coal region of northeastern Pennsylvania.

Brominski gave Dinis 20 days to amend his petition for an autopsy.

The judge said that his research of Pennsylvania law makes it very clear that he has the authority "to grant an exhumation and autopsy in a proper case."

But the judge said that Dinis must "set forth sufficient facts under Pennsylvania law to warrant" an autopsy.

Thus Brominski adopted the complaint of the Kopechnes that the Massachusetts prosecutor must show "the circumstances of death (has not been) clearly established" and that an autopsy will resolve "the doubt and suspicion surrounding the death."

Brominski did not set a date for a hearing on Dinis' original petition, pending receipt of amendments required under his order.

Mrs. Connell Busy Planning Ranchers' Day Celebration

By EMPRESS McFARLAND

Mrs. Wilson Connell of the Lazy D Ranch north of town has been busy finalizing plans for the Ranchers Day celebration to be held here Sept. 20. Mrs. Connell is chairman of the gathering which is intended to acquaint the public with the history of this community's trade territory.

Mrs. Connell is also a member of the Ranch Headquarters Committee at Texas Tech University. The Ranch Headquarters, to be established on the 75- acre site of the new Museum at Tech, will preserve the ranching history of the Southwest. It is to be an authentic collection of ranch buildings dating from the 1830's to the early 1900's. It will recreate on the university campus a living outdoor museum of ranch life. The committee, established two years ago, has been locating buildings suitable for restoration for the Ranch Headquarters.

"The gathering in Snyder is for fun," Mrs. Connell said, "but it also should help the Ranch Headquarters Committee in its goal of achieving absolute authenticity in every detail of the headquarters buildings. As the people who were there knew the ranches and ranch life, so will the Ranch Headquarters restore the buildings."

She further stated the purpose of the Snyder gathering is "to acquaint the public with the buildings that are being moved to Lubbock." A film showing pictures of the buildings will be shown at the Sept. 20 celebration. Buildings that have already been acquired for the museum are an 1870 blacksmith shop from the Renderbrook-Spade Ranch and the original log headquarters, built in the 1830's, on the Capote Ranch. This was 18 miles west of Gonzales on the Guadalupe River in DeWitt's Colony.

Mrs. Connell has written "Ranch Reminiscences" which contains her personal recollections of ranch life. In addition, she is having aerial photographs made of the historic places on the Lazy D Ranch. Along with other members of her family she is compiling a "Lazy D" ranch book for her children and grandchildren, with source materials given to the Ranch Archives at the Southwest Collection.

Mrs. Connell's family came to Grosbyton in 1910. Her father, Henry Smith, was a colonizer with the C. B. Livestock Company which sold a great tract of land to farmers. The land sold was previously a part of the old Two Buckle Ranch.

The Smith family moved to Post in about 1914 where Mr. Smith assisted C. W. Post in colonizing the old Curry Comb

Ho Chi Minh In Grave Condition

SAIGON (AP) — Hanoi Radio reported today that President Ho Chi Minh's condition is deteriorating and greatest efforts are being made to care for him, American monitors in Saigon reported.

The French-language broadcast was Hanoi's first report that the condition of the 79-year-old father of Vietnamese communism was worsening. Two earlier official announcements said he was in "somewhat grave" condition and that his illness was "developing." Officials in Saigon felt that even that much admission meant Ho was near death.

Red China's Hsinhua News Agency in a dispatch from Hanoi said Ho's condition "is somewhat grave" and doctors are doing all they can for him.

Ho's illness was announced in a communique which said: "Over the past few weeks, President Ho Chi Minh has not been well . . . A collective of professors and medical doctors has been attending him day and night."

Another communique, broadcast four hours later, said Ho's condition was "not stable" and that "his illness is developing and is somewhat grave."

"They would hardly issue such a bulletin unless Ho was already dead or in a coma of some kind," said one official in Saigon.

Hanoi did not disclose the nature of the illness, but Ho had a bad case of tuberculosis in the 1940s and reportedly had suffered from heart trouble and possible lung complications for more than two years.

A North Vietnamese official in Paris remarked: "All I can say is what is obvious—the president is an old man."

Experts in Saigon said Ho's death or incapacitation probably would result in an intensified power struggle in North Vietnam but no change in the goal of a unified Communist Vietnam. And they said even the jockeying for power might not be evident for some time.

"It will be a dictatorship by the party, not a dictatorship by one man," one expert said. "The Political Bureau and the Central Committee will be the important factors."

Known as "Uncle Ho" to the millions of Vietnamese who considered him the father of Vietnamese independence, Ho Chi Minh was the son of an impoverished minor government official who was fired by the French for his anti-French attitude.

Dr. Pike's Wallet Found

JERUSALEM (AP) — Searchers today found the passport and wallet of Dr. James Pike, former Episcopal bishop of California missing in the barren Judean wilderness northwest of the Dead Sea.

Army officials said Pike's belongings were found in a dry river bed or wadi about a mile east of his abandoned car.

The officials said they expected to find Pike soon "dead or alive."

Pike, 56, and his 31-year-old third wife were motoring through the area when their car broke down Monday night. The couple set out on foot to look for help, but Pike collapsed after two hours walking in the heat and sent his wife on alone. She said she left him on a hillside.

After walking all night, Mrs. Pike met some highway guards early Tuesday and they took her to Bethlehem.

The police immediately began a search using helicopters and planes. Pike's car was found Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Pike was under a doctor's care at their hotel room in Jerusalem.

Rain Finally Makes It Into Town

The rains finally made it into town Tuesday afternoon.

The hop-skip-and-jump type of showers that have fallen regularly for the past three weeks erupted again and gave Snyder a good soaking for more than half an hour. The official gauge at the city water plant measured .98 inch, while measurements in various other sections of the city ranged from about an inch to 1:40 inches.

The rainfall was considerably heavier in the northeast, east and southeast. Over two inches fell northeast of town and a total of 2.25 inches was measured at Hillside Memorial Gardens on the Colorado City Highway southeast of town.

Hermleigh had an inch, but the fall in that area also was heavier to the north and east. Up to 2.50 inches fell two miles north of Hermleigh and over two inches fell in an area two miles east.

Rainfall was lighter to the west.

Only a sprinkle was reported at Lake J. B. Thomas.

Head Start Applications Are Sought

Applications for Head Start are being accepted at the Child Development Center, Thiirty-fourth and Avenue K.

Though Head Start is now under the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, few changes have been made in the transfer from the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Snyder expects to be funded for 90 children. Eighty-one of these children must come from families whose earnings are below standard. The scale is related to amount of money earned and number of people depending on this earning for a living.

Eligible families with a child 5 years old on or before Sept. 1, 1969, are urged to apply. The Center would like to know about all eligible children. Should one know of children not applying, please call 573-7583.

Starting date for classes has not been designated as yet. As soon as a decision has been made an announcement will follow, said J. Merrill Kayser, coordinating teacher.

Petitions Are Checked

The tedious process of validating signatures on junior college petitions was underway this morning at the city hall.

County School Superintendent Buford Browning, who heads the Chamber of Commerce Junior College Study Committee, and a group of volunteer workers were checking the signatures against poll lists.

Many petitions had been turned in and more were being picked up today. At the same time, a call went out to all who have petitions to get them in or call for someone to pick them up. Mickey Nunley, Chamber of Commerce manager, said that arrangements would be made to pick up petitions from all who call the Chamber office.

Meanwhile, Browning said that the group checking petitions this morning were finding a number of signatures which cannot be counted. Possibly the biggest group is composed of those signed "Mr. and Mrs. —". These cannot be counted at all, Browning said. In order for signatures of a husband and wife to count, they must sign separately on separate lines.

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Shortly, after my husband passed away, my sister (who is two years younger than I) expressed a desire to purchase the grave plot next to HIS for herself when her time comes. She went to pieces when he died. She says it will give her "peace of mind" to be buried next to him. She has a grave in another cemetery with our parents, but now she has changed her mind and wants to be buried next to MY husband. (HER husband was buried at sea.)

I have a plot next to my husband's for myself when my time comes, but the one on the other side is still for sale.

My sister and I have always gotten along very well, and she says she will not do anything against my wishes, but I cannot for the life of me understand why she needs to be buried on the other side of MY husband for HER "peace of mind."

Since that plot will not be available indefinitely, I must make a decision soon. If I say no, I'll be hurting my sister, and if I say yes, I'll be hurting myself. What should I do?

ANONYMOUSLY YOURS

DEAR ANONYMOUSLY: Since it would appear that your sister goes "to pieces" more easily than you, say yes, and hope that when her time comes, she will rest in peace.

DEAR ABBY: I have been going with a divorced man for almost five years. I am also divorced. He is very good to me, but has been a playboy all his life, and it is difficult for me to believe that he will settle down and be a good husband.

He says he loves me and has asked me to marry him several times, and altho I am sure I am the Number One Girl in his life I have reason to believe he cheats on me. When I'm at his apartment, I keep finding evidence of other women, such as cards and notes signed, "All my love." He claims he can't help it if women chase him.

I tell him he wouldn't have that problem if he didn't encourage them. I do love him, Abby, but I'm wondering if I should marry him feeling the way I do.

DISTRUSTING

DEAR DISTRUTING: A woman who loves a man she cannot trust during the courtship doesn't know what misery is until she marries him.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am 28, and very much in love with Lena, who is 34. I want to marry her, but the problem is my mother. he says Lena is too old for me. I have been trying for four months to get my mother to meet Lena, but she is so opposed to her on the grounds of her age that she refuses to even make her acquaintance to give her a chance.

My mother is a fine woman in many ways, Abby, but she is very stubborn. She says if I marry Lena she will not come to the wedding.

I want to get married, but I would feel guilty marrying against my mother's wishes, so no matter what I do, somebody will get hurt. What should I do?

NO KOOK IN CAL.

DEAR NO KOOK: If you have to ask ME, you are not ready to marry Lena — or any other woman.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am almost 70 years old and have lived long enough to know that people who mistrust every other person are not to be trusted themselves.

Very truly yours,

Water Use Remains High In August

The Colorado River Municipal Water District almost put record months back to back, production figures for August showed today.

Deliveries during August amounted to 1,547,851,664 gallons only eight million short of the second highest month on record. The peak month occurred in July of this year when the district delivered 1,721,951,458 gallons. The August figure was easily a record for the month and was barely under the record of 1,555,918 in July, 1966. August output was up 14.42 per cent over August, 1968.

Showers late in August dulled demand after a period of unprecedented demand covering 70 days. The cities used 1,101,978,400 gallons in August as against 1,260,032,100 in July. The August figure last year was 974,138,300, giving August, 1969 a 17.76 per cent bulge.

Oil companies used 445,873,264 gallons in August, also down from the 46, 869, 358 for July.

During August Odessa used 634,700,000 gallons, up 19.14 per cent; Big Spring 345,518,000, up 3.54, Snyder 121,348,600 up 25.30. Stanton, which was restricted largely to its own well supplies during periods of peak demands, used 411,800 gallons. The cities used 13.12 per cent more water in August than for the same month a year ago.

During the first eight months, cities have used 5,828,691,100 gallons, or 7.72 per cent more water than for the same period in 1968. Oil companies used 3,191,442,132, or 17.76 per cent more. Two new customers — Walsh & Watts and American Magnesium, together using 15 million gallons — were added during the past month

Warrants Issued In 1968 Theft Case

City Police say they have cleared the theft of $700 worth of tools in August of 1968 from the Bill Wright Sign Company.

Warrants were issued in Justice of the Peace Court for the arrest of Joseph Fahntrapp and his son, Kenneth Fahntrapp. Officers said the older man has been apprehended by Sheriff's Authorities in Wichita Falls and is being held for Snyder police. The son was expected to be arrested today in Abilene. The charge against both of them is conversion by bailee. They are former employes of Wright.

Outburst Clouds Decision

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Shaken by the prolonged reactions of black clergymen, the Episcopal Church's governing convention today planned another look at its maneuver to stave off direct funding of a controversial Negro organization.

A special morning session was set for further consideration of the matter.

It had verged on final disposition Tuesday night when a disparing outburst from a black pastor threw a cloud over a decision to bury proposals for funding the Black Economic Development Conference, and to substitute conditional provisions.

"You've talked about black brotherhood, but forget it, Joe," cried the Rev. Cannon Junius F. Carter of Pittsburgh. "You don't mean it...it's nothing but a damn lie."

He said the action showed "you don't trust black people."

Cries of "Amen" came from other Negro delegates.

"You keep saying be calm, and patient," he went on, his voice close to breaking. "But the waiting is over, brother. I'm sick, I'm sick of you, from the south to the north, to the east, to the west, I'm sick of you."

He said the convention had "just finished a crucifixion. You've crucified every black clergyman in this church."

He quit the auditorium, leaving a momentary tense silence behind him. Out in the hallway, he broke into sobs.

Other black delegates, who had made a point of staying out of the night's prolonged debate on the matter, having previously made their position clear, afterward took the floor to voice similar keen disappointment.

"May God have mercy on you," said the Rev. Paul Washington, a black Philadelphia pastor. "So many of you are afraid, afraid to love, afraid to trust, afraid of freedom, afraid of creativity."

Dirksen Making Excellent Progress

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Everett M. Dirksen's office said today he "continues to make excellent progress" following an operation Tuesday to remove a growth from his right lung.

There was no word whether the tumor was cancerous, but the statement said "final evaluation by the pathologists will be completed sometimte today."

Mrs. Glee D. Gomien, Dirksen's executive secretary, said she hoped to have the report from the Walter Reed Army Hospital by midafternoon and would make it public promptly.

The upper lobe of the Senate Republican leader's right lung was removed at the hospital.

In a statement Tuesday, his office said, "There was no evidence of spread of the tumor."

Mrs. Dirksen visited her 73-year-old husband at the hospital Tuesday evening and again this morning.

Film Star Murder Still Unsolved

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Who ever killed film star Sharon Tate and four other persons spilled no blood but the victims' and left no weapons, authorities report.

This was the substance of the news conference Tuesday by Police Chief Edward Davis on the progress of one of Los Angeles' most baffling murder mysteries.

After interviewing 300 persons, police said they still don't know who committed the murders at the Benedict Canyon estate, or why. The bodies were found Aug. 9.

Inspector Robert Houghton said detectives have made "tremendous progress" and that he believes the case will be solved.

Asked if he thought the murders were committed by one person, Houghton said, "I doubt it. Although I must tell in all fairness we do not have conclusive evidence that one man could not have done it."

The victims were stabbed or shot or both.

Miss Tate who was expecting a baby within two weeks—and coffee heiress Abigail Folger were stabbed; hair stylist Jay Sebring and Polish playboy Voltyck Frokowsky were stabbed and shot; and Stephen Parent, 18 who apparently did not know the other victims, was found shot to death in his car.

Nancy Hanks Named Arts Chairman

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon today named Nancy Hanks, a New York City expert in arts and museum work, as chairman of the National Council of the Arts.

Her appointment to the $40,000-a-year post came after the Western White House made something of a mystery of it, advising newsmen the day before the President would announce an important appointment this morning. All presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler would say in advance was that it would not be a successor to Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey.

Miss Hanks, 42, a Republican, replaces a prominent New York Democrat, Roger L. Stevens, whose term expired last March.

A native of Miami Beach, Fla., Miss Hanks is now president of the Associated Councils of the Arts, a national nonprofit membership organization concerned with the support and development of the arts in the United States and Canada.

Miss Hanks is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Hanks, who live now in Fort Worth, Tex.

Sullenger, Valentine Marriage In Fluvanna

Double ring vows exchanged at the Church of Christ in Fluvanna on August 29 at 8 p.m. united Beverly Kay Sullenger and Tom Valentine in marriage. E. M. Steph officiated.

Large baskets of white roses and Stephanotis flanked the branched candelabra holding 15 tapers.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. G. K. Fambro and the late Jim L. Sullenger Jr. of Snyder. Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Valentine of Lubbock are parents of the bridegroom.

Miss Debbie Shaw of Lubbock was maid of honor. She wore a yellow dotted swiss dress and carried a long stem mum. Steve Valentine of Lubbock served his brother as best man. Billy Sullenger, brother of the bride, and Jammie Norred were ushers.

Robert Warren, grandfather of the bride, presented her in marriage. Her dress was white cotton and dacron lace with high neck and long sleeves with a gathered skirt. She carried white roses atop a white pearl covered Bible. The Bible was borrowed from her aunt, Mrs. Ralph Price who carried it at her marriage. Something old was a perfume sent from Paris, France by her father 25 years ago, something blue a garter and she had a penny in each shoe minted the dates of their births, and her dress was new.

The reception was held at the Fluvanna community center. Miss Sussie Sullenger served the wedding cake, Mrs. Emmitt Hattaway served punch and Mrs. Tommy Smith presided at the groom's table, all are cousins of the bride. Miss Jan Nelson of Lubbock registered guests at the church and Brenda Franks registered guests at the reception.

The bride is a graduate of Snyder High School and was a member of the National Honor Society and Home Economics Club. She also received a scholarship from Cosmorama Study Club. The groom is a graduate of Lubbock High School and both are seniors at Texas Tech University.

Wedding guests were from Lubbock, Abilene, Tye, Ira, Snyder and Fluvanna.

The couple will reside at 2312 Ninth Street Lubbock, following a short honeymoon.

Little Brown Dress Back In Fashion

Those "little black dresses" have hogged the fashion scene and won the haute couture stakes for far too long. Brown now appears to be a sure winner.

In all its subtle shades that range from bitter chocolate, sepia, ochre, tan, chestnut, cinnamon, khaki, putty and palest coffee cream, brown is perfect and sensible - for days at the office, yet splendidly sophisticated for evening wear.

It is an utterly dependable color, giving a woman value as well as a switched-on look. Discerning women rate it better than black because it is softer-toned, looks marvelous on blondes, brunettes and redheads. Choose it with confidence if you want to reduce the apparent size of your figure.

Since brown is so elegantly understated, be imaginative with accessory colors. Team it with red, yellow, orange, blue, pink, green and turquoise.

Select a lipstick shade that will tone best with your accessories. Play up the beauty of a smooth, flawless skin when you wear fashion's newest shades of brown. Lavish plenty of tropical moist oil of Olay on your complexion by day, at night, and before applying make-up. Olay emphasizes the soft, dewy bloom as well as the radiance and clarity of the complexion which makes the perfect foil for dark or neutral-colored clothes.

Bison Labor Day Reunion At Knapp

The annual Bison Labor Day reunion was held in the Knapp community center from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sept. 1. Everyone brought a dish and a bountiful lunch was enjoyed by a good sized crowd, who spent the rest of the day visiting with old friends.

Those attending were: Miss Nixon; Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Seabourn, Fairview, Okla.; Mrs. W. W. Weathers, Hamilton; Mrs. Johnnie Robinson, Hico; Mrs. J. B. Nixon, Whiteface; Dr. and Mrs. H. S. von Roeder, Abilene; Mr. Roy and Miss Sandra Barrier, Meadow; Mrs. Gerald Sorrells and Stacey, San Angelo; Mr. and Mrs. Ted Sorrells and Mrs. J. B. Holcomb, Silver; Mrs. Hugh Huddleston, Sweetwater.

Degree Of Blindness Is Needed For Forecasting

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — It takes a certain degree of blindness these days to forecast either a boom or bust in the 1970s. And yet that is how the forecasts are polarized. The blinds are on.

It is not uncommon, for instance, to find some stock market analysts forecasting tremendous price jumps in the 70s based, they say, on the fruition of technology, on population increases, and on greater foreign trade.

In fact, a Gross National Product of $2 trillion is said to be a probability shortly after the 70s, which already are being called with confidence "The Sizzling Seventies."

But in order to make such statements the forecasters sometimes ignore certain factors. The world trade position of the United States has deteriorated, for example, and America continues to spend more abroad than foreigners spend here.

This has been going on for 17 years or so, and has the financial managers of many countries in a tither. They fear, among other things, that a loss of confidence in paper money could ensue and that trade might diminish.

Which viewpoint do you take? The doom dispensers say world trade is bound to collapse and bring down the world's industrial economies. The happiness hucksters claim human inventiveness will bring joy to all. There's little in between.

As if the issues were too great to synthesize, a forecast of boom often totally ignores the opposite possibility. And a forecast of bust quite frequently will avoid mention of economic strengths.

This polarization is noted also in another area of popular discussions. It involves the matter of personal indebtedness and its consequences. You can choose your sides.

One viewpoint goes like this:

"This country is headed for a spectacular downfall. Just look at all that debt being run up by people. Living over their heads. Never be able to pay all that credit that's been extended to them.

"What's going to happen when we have a little downturn, when people get laid off and can't pay those bills? Why there'll be a panic. Bill collectors will be tripping over each other to be first in line."

That's one viewpoint. Consider another:

"One of the fundamental strengths of this American economy, a factor that gives me great confidence in our future, is the responsible way in which ordinary people have shown they can handle debt. It's encouraging.

"Sure the American people have run up a lot of bills, something over $100 billion in private, short-term debt compared with only $17 billion or $18 billion 10 years ago. But is it as bad as it seems?

"I'm encouraged by a couple of things: First, those bills are being paid back regularly. The American people as a whole consider it some sort of a sin to let their bills ride. Ask any banker.

"Secondly, those bank accounts that people are accumulating look good to me. Why, for many months they were putting more than 7 per cent of their takehome pay into savings. That doesn't look like a spending orgy to me."

Take your pick: The country is heading for a boom in the 1970s that will lift the material well-being of most people beyond their dreams; the American economy is heading for trouble and the signs are all about us.

Poet Never Spent Night On River

By RON SPEER
Associated Press Writer

CLAYTON, Ga. (AP) — Sidney Lanier wrote passionate poems about the beauty of the tumbling mountain streams of north Georgia.

Obviously the poet never spent a night at a Talluluh River campground with a wife, two kids and a cocker spaniel in a leaky tent on a rainy night.

My prose by morning was what the kids called "naughty."

And the wife, ecstatic over the scenery when we pitched our tent at dusk on a bank of the river along with a dozen other campers, was ready to return to suburbia by dawn.

The beauty of the river, with its rapids of white water as it topples over rocks and twists and turns through the valley in a race to the sea, was forgotten.

Trouble started when father's errant cast of a trout lure caught the dog, Crackers.

"That's mean, Daddy. Why did you do that? Get her loose!" shouted the kids.

"Catch the dog," shouted Daddy, unable to reel in the whimpering animal. The fish ended with that episode. Daddy didn't regain any of his lost prestige when he tried to build a fire for supper, either.

The wood, wet from a previous rain, wouldn't start at first, and finally when a small blaze was going, the storm hit.

The fire went out. The kids, huddling under a canopy on the tent, were soaked when the ropes holding it up gave way. The wife fled for the safety and comfort of the car to fix sandwiches.

She got drenched bringing them to the tent, which by then was filling with water sweeping through the door.

Daddy dashed through the rain for a beer to ease his troubles, only to find that the last one had been quaffed earlier.

"Let's go to bed," said the wife. Then she tested the sleeping bags.

"Lets stay up, they'r all wet," she said. But the kids climbed in. Then they heard the dog crying outside in the rain.

"Any dog that isn't smart enough to get out of the rain deserves to get wet," said Daddy. Nobody replied. Nobody said anything for a long time, with the silence broken only by the pounding rain and the whimpering cries of Crackers.

"All right," said Daddy, going out into the rain. He brought all the groceries and clothes out of the car so the dog wouldn't chew them up, and then put Crackers in the vehicle.

"Wasn't that nice of me to do, all that for Crackers?" asked Daddy. Before he got a reply, the dog started barking in the car.

"She's lonely," said the kids. "She's afraid."

"Aaaaack," said Daddy. "Go to sleep."

The kids did. The big folks tried and tried and tried but wet sleeping bags weren't too conducive.

Finally, about 3 a.m., Daddy went to sleep.

At 4 a.m., he jumped out of his sleeping bag as a car horn blared in the darkness just outside the tent.

"Maybe it's a smart-aleck dog," said Daddy, dashing into the rainy darkness. Daddy was right.

Junior Editors Quiz on PEKING MAN

QUESTION: Who was the Peking Man supposed to be?

* * *

ANSWER: Not all persons believe that modern man descended from the cavemen of very long ago. Scientists, most of whom do believe this, speak of the Peking Man as being in a more advanced stage than the first man-like creatures whose remains have been found. Two striking things about him, they say, were that he often lived in a cave and that he discovered the use of fire. Earlier, men had not used caves because of the large, dangerous animals which often frequenced them. But a blazing brand from the fire would scare away the most ferocious cave bear or wolf — and so Peking man had his cave home protected by the very fire which warmed it. For food, he hunted animals with primitive stone-tipped spears, and probably gathered roots and berries. The name came because bone remains were found near Peking, China, in 1927. It is believed, however, that other ancient prehistoric men of this type may have lived in other localities. The bones show that this early man was about 5 feet 8 inches tall. Scientists believe he lived about 360 thousand years ago.

Ira Bulldogs Face Tough Non-District Grid Slate

IRA — With five seniors, including three returning regulars, one junior, nine sophomores and three freshmen Ira's Bulldogs may be able to hold their own in the District 4-B (Six-Man) gridiron race this season, but their chances for the title seem relatively slim, especially if the injury bug bites.

Coach Lynn Jackson, in his 4th season at the Orange and Black helm, counts seniors Joe Williams (170), Joe Murphy (195) and Rick Hester (122) as his returning starters while Riley Sterling (149), Tommy Cox (135) and junior Billy Payne (157) give Ira additional experience around which to build.

Williams is the only double-duty regular in the Ira camp. He held down a regular end position both ways last year and is being groomed for additional punting duties this campaign. Murphy was a regular defensive center, and Hester was a starting offensive quarterback. Sterling and Payne saw limited action as ball carriers in 1968, and Cox saw service in the defensive line.

A frown comes across Coach Jackson's face when he discusses injuries for they have been costly in the past. He's hoping that an ulcer that's keeping Hester out of the drills now isn't a harbinger of things to come. However, Rick will get in on the rough stuff later.

Payne could develop into a top-notch linebacker, and he probably will do the kicking off. He and Rickey Cox, a 145-pound sophomore, could share the extra point chores. Rickey and another sophomore — Obie Crawford (129) — and perhaps a freshman may get a chance at the backup signal calling job.

Another sophomore with limited experience is Robert Ramon, a 130-pound lineman. Other soph on the squad who didn't see action last year are linemen Jimmy Mason (149), Jimmy Briseno (107), Jimmy Ashley (175) and Bobby Stokes (140) and back Jerry Millhollon (127).

The three freshmen slated for a little seasoning this year are Steve Sallee (110), Donald Sellars (133) and Kirby Sterling (134). All of them are backs.

Prospects are good for an average season, but the Bulldogs definitely will miss the services of All-District performers Terry Sterling and Joe Birseno. With luck, Ira could improve on 1968's 5-5 record. With the wrong kind of luck, they could finish with a worse mark.

"Our non-district schedule is real tough," said Coach Jackson, "and if the boys can retain their fighting spirit and will to win, then we'll have a chance." If the Bulldogs can avoid serious injuries during the tough non-district slate, things should go easier once district play begins.

Mertzon, Miles, Christoval and Lueders all are on the non-district schedule, and all of them are "loaded" this year.

The roster:

SENIORS

Joe Williams, 170; Joe Murphy, 195; Riley Sterling, 149; Tommy Cox, 135; Rick Hester, 122.

JUNIORS

SOPHOMORES

Robert Ramon, 130; Obie Crawford, 129; Rickey Cox, 145; Jimmy Mason, 149; Jerry Millhollon, 127; Jimmy Briseno, 107; Jimmy Ashley, 175; Bobby Stokes, 140.

FRESHMEN

Steve Sallee, 110; Donald Sellars, 133; Kirby Sterling, 134.

Arkansas, Texas In SWC Spotlight

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS (AP) — If the form chart has its way, Texas and Arkansas will settle not only the Southwest Conference championship but perhaps the national title Dec. 6 on national television in Fayetteville, Ark.

Cotton Bowl king Texas and Sugar Bowl champion Arkansas were co-champions last year. They return most of the muscle, throwing arms and speed that made them the third and sixth, respectively, in the nation last season.

"Everybody will be trying like the devil to beat us," says Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles. "It will be an uphill battle for us and Texas."

Texas Coach Darrell Royal agrees.

"Heck, we could go into the thing with four losses," Royal says.

Southern Methodist Coach Hayden Fry wishes to announce that his Mustangs, conquerors of Oklahoma in the Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl, plan to make it most unpleasant for the two titans.

"I think we can give them a good game," says Fry, who has the nation's premier passer in Chuck Hixon.

The Longhorns again have James Street at the controls along with powerful Steve Worster at fullback and Ted Koy at halfback. Gone is All-America Chris Gilbert. And at flanker will be Charles Speyrer who caught touchdown passes of 78 and 79 yards from Street in Tex- as' 36-13 massacre of Tennessee in the Cotton Bowl.

Arkansas has its deadly pass-and-catch combination of Bill Montgomery and Chuck Dicus back again. Montgomery and Dicus were the stars in a 16-2 victory over Georgia in the Sugar Bowl.

Southern Methodist has its best defensive club in years, but will miss pass-snatcher Jerry Levias. Fry has groomed Gary Hammond, a sophomore, as Levias' replacement.

Eight SWC games will be on national television this year—an all-time high. It will put about $1.5 million in the pockets of the SWC schools.

Baylor returns lettermen at each position to give new Coach Bill Bell something to work with. There's a new attitude in Waco and the Bears could be troublesome.

Texas Tech has an excellent defense but Coach J.T. King's fortunes ride on whether quarterbacks Tom Sawyer, Joe Matulich, and Charles Napper can turn the right offense key.

Rice, Texas A&M and Texas Christian are capable of an occasional ambush, but appear to be second division material.

Blues Blank Giants 4-0

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — Eastern division champs of the Texas League apparently don't understand the meaning of the term "underdog."

Back in July, they defeated the supposedly tougher western division 2-1 in the annual east-west all-star game.

To make matters worse, eastern division champion Memphis blanked western titlist Amarillo 4-0 Tuesday night to take a 1-0 lead in their best-of-five series for the league crown.

A showdown is expected tonight when both teams will start their aces. Amarillo will go with the loop's leading pitcher, Bill Frost, 16-6. Memphis will counter with Bob Johnson, 13-, who has the league's best earned run average at 1.88.

After tonight's game, they move to Memphis Thursday for the rest of the series.

Pitcher Russ Seals and third baseman Chico Diaz were Memphis' whole show Tuesday night.

Pancho Gets Big Net Test Today

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

FOREST HILLS, N. Y. (AP) — The big test comes today for America's two leading tennis personalities, Pancho Gonzales and Arthur Ashe, Jr.

Old Pancho, 41, his bones and muscles still aching from a tough tennis campaign, got an extra day of rest because of rain and goes against third-seeded Tony Roche in a delayed fourth round of the U.S. Open championships.

Ashe, fighting a tennis elbow, meets 34-year-old Ken Rosewall in one of two men's quarter-finals on the West Side Club schedule. The other sends favorite Rod Laver, unbeaten in his last 27 matches against fellow Australian, Roy Emerson.

Three other players advanced to the men's quarter-finals Tuesday.

They were second-seeded John Newcombe of Australia, who had to fight off five set points in the fourth set and survive a five-hour marathon in beating Marty Riessen of Evanston, Ill., 4-6, 6-3, 6-4, 25-23; Fred Stolle of Australia, who beat Britain's Roger Taylor, 6-4, 6-2, 2-6, 6-3, and Earl "Butch" Buchhol of St. Louis, who upset 11th-seeded Andres Gimeno 4-, 6-3, 6-1, 5-7, 6-3.

Newcombe plays Stolle and Bueholz faces the Gonzales-Roche survivor in the men's quarter-finals Thursday.

Finalists were to be decided also today in the women's singles.

Mrs. Margaret Court, the favorite, opposes Virginia Wade of Britain, the defending titleholder, and Rosemary Casals of San Francisco, takes on Nancy Richey of San Angelo, Tex.

Pay Rocky Last Respects

BROCKTON, Mass. (AP) — About 750 persons, some of them from the boxing world, filed into the Hickey Funeral Home Tuesday night to pay their last respects to retired heavyweight boxing champion Rocky Marciano.

A light rain fell on those who had to wait outside the funeral home before filing past the closed casket.

The champion's parents, his wife, daughter and brothers sat beside the casket which was banked with floral tributes. A picture of Marciano was placed on the casket.

Outside the white colonial funeral home, groups of curious, mostly teen-agers, stood in front of a block of stores or on nearby street corners.

Marciano was killed when a small plane he was in crashed on an Iowa farm Sunday night, the eve of his 46th birthday.

Former champions Joe Louis and Sonny Liston were expected to arrive here today and remain for the funeral Mass Thursday at St. Coleman's Church.

Other services are scheduled for Friday in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., where Marciano made his home for the past several years.

Burial will be in Queen of Heaven Cemetery, Fort Lauderdale.

Longhorns Drill In Heavy Rain

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Texas Longhorns and coach Darrell Royal have become confirmed believers in the assets of their new Astroturf playing field.

The eager Longhorns held a 2½-hour scrimmage on their first day in pads Tuesday but Royal said they couldn't have finished without the Astroturf, which held up under a 20-minute downpour just as practice started.

"The footing was good," Royal said. "We would have had a hard time continuing had the field been grass. We would have had to either quit or ruin the field."

With fullback Steve Worster carrying for 96 yards in 12 carries for two touchdowns, the Longhorns worked right through the rain in preparation for their Sept. 20 opener against California.

Royal said of the workout, "I don't suppose it was too bad for the first contact and the first scrimmage. Under the conditions, it was about what we expected."

The No. 1 offense, working against the No. 3 defense, scored six times in seven possessions. The No. 1 defense held the No. 3 offense scoreless in four possession.

Arkansas coach Frank Broyles was not too enthusiastic over the work of his Razorbacks.

"The offensive and defensive linemen showed a lack of skill," Broyles said after the Hogs' second day of workouts in full pads. "The passing and pass receivers were way off. Pads made the difference in being able to raise their arms."

Broyles did say, however, that fullback Bruce Maxwell had been "one of the pleasing things about practice so far. Bruce appears to have more speed and quickness than he ever has. He's having a great fall thus far."

Several key players missed practice with injuries, including tailbacks Bill Burnett and Russ Garger, tight end Pat Morrison, linebacker Cliff Powell and wide receiver David Cox.

The Baylor Bears spent Tuesday working on their aerial game and coach Bill Bell praised the passing of his No. 1 quarterback, Steve Stuart, along with receivers Roland Hunter, Jerry Smith, Don Huggins and Ted Gillum.

Snyder Tigers Have Good Size—Tyrone

Snyder's Tigers will be able to match their opponents in size and they have good potential with 11 returning lettermen.

That was the gist of the message Wayne Tyrone, head coach and athletic director, brought to members of the Booster Club at their meeting, held last night in the high school cafeteria.

Tyrone gave a "rundown" on the entire Bengal roster, discussing the merits of each candidate. Several, large promising underclassmen give the Bengals more heft this year, according to Tyrone, who numbered only three lettermen in the starting line. They are center Rocky Land, guard Delbert Hirst and split end Merce Hernandez. Another letterman, tackle Jerry McKinney, isn't a starter right now, but he's been slowed with a foot injury and doubtless will see action during the year. Land was the backup center last year. Hirst was called "one of the guards in the district." Hernandez made All-District at cornerback.

The coach is depending on the younger linemen to come through this year and feels the Bengals ultimately will develop into a tough unit, although there are actually few veteran trenchmen. One of the more promising underclassmen is Steve Dilisha, a 212-pound junior, who currently is holding down the starting right tackle slot.

Snyder's proven strength is at running back where an abundance of talented lettermen and strong sophomores and juniors give the Bengals depth. The regular quarterback, senior Lee McNair, has ability as a passer, and with better pass protection, the Tigers will have a better balanced attack this fall.

Four candidates give the Tigers depth at fullback — lettermen Rickey Glasscock and Eddie Ray McClain, senior Steve Pierce and junior Johnny Mata. McClain was a defensive specialist last year and he also saw action in the line on offense. Glasscock saw some service as a runner in 1969, but he was used mostly on defense.

Lettermen Randy Levens and Willis Harrison probably will alternate at left half. Tyrone said this will enable one of them to get some needed rest during games since both are also slated for safety work on defense. Flanker backs are seniors Mark Gilstrap and Larry Greene.

"We've got close competition at several of the starting positions," said Tyrone. He expressed pleasure over the situation, pointing out it (competition) is a healthy sign. Some sophomore linemen and runners are expected to be of help this season. For instance, Stewart Wray Sims will handle the punting chores as he did in 1968. Coach Tyrone said the team will reach a peak slowly this year so that the boys will be ready to go full steam when the campaign begins. He monitored films of last week's scrimmage with Stamford and expressed approval of the results. Overall the Bengal performance was good. Other coaches in the school system were introduced last night.

Eugene Glasscock, Booster Club president, reminded members there will be an ice cream supper for varsity and junior varsity football boys and their parents at the next meeting, scheduled to begin at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 9. Membership cards still are available at the rate of $5 for men and $1 for wives of Booster Club members. They will be sold prior to the scrimmage Saturday night here with Midland. Various Club members also are selling them and they can be obtained at Bullard's Athletic Center, Rogers, Inc., and Red Favers' Service Station.

Coach Jerry McLeod gave a report on the junior varsity scrimmage with Andrews last week, observing it was a 2-2 standoff. The JV hosts Hermleigh in a scrimmage at 10 a.m. Saturday on the Travis field.

Bruins Ruined

CHICAGO (AP) — Beyond the realm of the mini-skirt, the most studied knee around probably belongs to sensational Gale Sayers of the Chicago Bears.

But the durability of halfback Sayers' surgery-mending right knee is just one of several question marks perplexing Jim Dooley in his second year as coaching successor to Bear owner George S. Halas.

Sayers' knee, shattered in a scrimmage play against the San Francisco 49ers last Nov. 10, is standing the pressure in pre-National Football League season action a lot better than the offensive line which is supposed to spring him loose.

The Bears, who placed second to the Minnesota Vikings in the NFL's Central Division last season with a 7-7 record, have the problem of girding an offensive interior wrecked by unexpected developments and trying to inject zing in a Bear passing game which was the NFL's worst last fall.

Harsh Accounts Given Of North Vietnamese Prisons

By BOB POOS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Navy men have given harsh accounts of North Vietnamese prison camp life in a switch of U.S. government tactics to bring pressure on Hanoi concerning prisoner of war treatment.

Few if any details came with the release of other American prisoners, but Tuesday, Lt. Robert F. Frishman and seaman Douglas Brent Hegdahl told newsmen of torture, hunger and solitary confinement.

Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird followed this with a statement saying "North Vietnam has violated even the most fundamental standards of human decency."

Hanoi, Laird said, "consistently has claimed through propaganda statements that our men are being treated humanely." This has been clearly refuted, he said.

Frishman said his story was told because of "a strong obligation to those still back there to get the truth out."

The lieutenant said American prisoners have had their fingernails pulled out, been burned with glowing cigarette ends, beaten, suspended from beams by ropes, and cast into tiny almost airless cells for months on end.

"You resist so long," he said, "but it is only a matter of time before they can make you do anything they want you to do."

Frishman indicated his words may well cause further torture for the friends he left behind.

But, he said, several POW's got together before he left and it was the consensus that he should tell it like it is behind the barbed wire in Hanoi.

From this, Frishman said, he hopes that world opinion may force Hanoi to bring their treatment under the specifications of the Geneva Convention, which North Vietnam has signed.

Fishman, 28, was shot down by a surface to air missile. He suffered grave wounds to his right arm and North Vietnamese doctors removed his right bow.

Frishman lost 50 pounds in captivity, Hegdahl 60.

Hegdahl, 22, said that as an enlisted man he did not suffer as much as the officers, who were mostly airmen. He did spend seven months and 10 days in solitary. The seaman was captured by fishermen when he fell off the deck of the cruiser USS Canberra.

Laird urged North Vietnam and the Viet Cong to release all prisoners. He said they should immediately identify the prisoners they hold, release the sick and injured, and permit impartial inspections of all POW camps and the free exchange of mail.

Ford Co. Will Drop Falcon Line

MONTAUK, N.Y. (AP) — The Ford Motor Co., noting that "affluence is all about us," announced today it will drop its compact Falcon line.

The Falcon production line, Ford said, will be converted to the popular Maverick.

Ford also said, without further explanation, that early in 1970, the Falcon name will be on a new car, to be announced later. There has been speculation that Ford will introduce a car to compete directly with the Volkswagen.

The decision on the Falcon, rumored recently, was contained in a speech prepared by John Naughton, vice president of the Ford Motor Co. and general manager of the Ford Division, for a news conference in which Ford unveiled the company's 1970 models.

The new models exhibit a trend towards longer and lower lines and emphasis on what Ford calls its intermediate cars.

"Affluence is all about us," Naughton said, "and that affluence is having a powerful impact on automobile makers who must stay ahead of changing trends.

Suit Filed Against Aircraft Co.

DALLAS (AP) — A suit seeking to blame Lockheed Aircraft Co. for the 1968 crash of a plane near Dawson, Tex., that took 85 lives was filed in U. S. court Tuesday by Transport Insurance Co.

The company, compensation carrier for Braniff International airline, asked $46,597 for the claims paid to four persons.

The documents claim that a structural defect caused a wing to fall off the Electra prop-het, resulting in the crash.

Only last week, the National Transportation Safety Board said the cause of the crash came from a pilot's insistence on flying through a thunderstorm instead of around it as other planes had done.

In the suit filed Tuesday, the insurance company "denies that the aircraft which crashed at Dawson flew into a thunderstorm and further denies that turbulence was a factor in the catastrophic failure of the wing...on the contrary, the sole cause of the failure of the wing was the defects in design, selection of metal and the defects in the metal itself."

The insurance company documents say that before the crash, wing defects had been found in two other Braniff planes purchased from Lockheed. As a result, Lockheed recalled all Electras and after testing said that the structural defect had been corrected.

The suit, however, maintains that Lockheed did not properly remedy the defects and created additional design defects.

Traffic Accidents Claim 609 Lives

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Highway accidents killed 609 persons across the nation over the three-day Labor Day weekend.

The toll fell short of the 625 to 725 the National Safety Council had estimated for the holiday.

Over a three-day nonholiday weekend in June, deaths totaled 335. The count was made by The Associated Press for comparison with the Labor Day figure.

The counting period for the Labor Day weekend began at p.m., local time, Friday and ended midnight Monday.

The Labor Day weekend marked the third straight holiday of 1969 in which traffic fatalities decreased from 1968 figures.

The toll during the 1968 Labor Day period was 688, highest for any Labor Day weekend.

$6.1 Million In Contracts To UT

AUSTIN (AP) — The University of Texas system is a multi-million dollar recipient of military research contracts, an official UT publications shows.

Reflected in the report are dozens of research projects for the Army, Air Force and Navy, as well as one Central Intelligence Agency study, coming a total of $6.1 million.

The UT financial statement covers the fiscal year that ended Aug. 31, 1968, but is the latest full picture of the university's fiscal condition.

Most of the defense research contracts were at the university's main campus here, where 120 separate studies were performed for the Army, Navy, Air Force and Defense Atomic Support Agency at a cost of $5.3 million.

Included were 51 Navy studies, including 30 projects for the Navy Ordnance Laboratory, costing a total of $3.6 million.

The university's El Paso campus received 23 contracts, all but four of them from the Army, amounting to $594,422.

The University of Texas at Arlington received an Air Force contract totaling $30,640.

Defense research at the UT system's college campuses was identified only by contract numbers and the departments that did the work.

But project titles were given for some medical institutions.

The university's Galveston Medical Branch received a $1,857 contract from the Central Intelligence Agency to study "Interview Sensitization Techniques: Personality, Socio-Cultural and Phychophysiological (sic) Correlates."

For the Army, the branch performed "studies on burns and wound healing," among other research.

Southwestern Medical School in Dallas did $31,382 worth of defense research including an Air Force study on "Hemoglobin after Descent from High Altitude."

The UT Graduate School of Biomedical Sciences at Houston had a $43,865 contract to study "The Effects of Laser Radiation on Receptor Function in Human and Primate Eyes."

Bernadette Devlin Returns To Ireland

NEW YORK (AP) — Bernadette Devlin has left suddenly for Shannon, Ireland, less than 12 hours before she was to meet with House Speaker John McCormack and other congressmen in Washington, D.C.

The 22-year-old Roman Catholic member of British Parliament from Northern Ireland came to the United States Aug. 22 to raise $1 million for refugees of the recent religious and political fighting in Ulster.

She left Tuesday, two days ahead of schedule, aboard a Pan American World Airways jetliner. Her press secretary said the early and unexpected departure was due to fatigue and security considerations.

"She has been suffering from extreme fatigue for several days," said Phil Tracy. "In addition to her poor physical condition, security considerations dictated that her return to Northern Ireland be sudden and unannounced."

She spent Tuesday evening at a private fund-raising dinner hosted by Assemblyman Frank J. Dodd of New Jersey at his home in West Orange. He is chairman of the Americans for Human Rights in Northern Ireland.

CAREER CORNER

By F. J. LAIN

"When school opens, I will be a high school senior and I still don't know for sure what I want to do as a career. Some days I think one thing and at other times something else. So many of the careers you have written about have interested me a lot. I'll be going to college next year. My mother is getting very anxious about my indecision — and so am I."

A. — Don't panic. You don't have two heads. No one can legitimately accuse you of being a regular Rock of Jello.

Vocational maturity, like physical and emotional maturity, comes at different ages to different people. However, since most of us do spend four or five times more of our lives on the job than we do in school — and by our career decisions, choose our future self — you've got a point. While you can certainly wait until later to make your specific selection, you should start having a general idea now. (Exceptions: For science, engineering or medicine, you should take required courses throughout high school.) The way . . .

GOAL-SETTERS AND GETTERS do it is to employ a systematic approach to the puzzle rather than skidding into occupational mishap. But please keep in mind that, regardless of method, career exploration is personal, and emotional as well as logical; nobody can (or should) make these decisions for you — nor can anyone gift you with a fallproof formula.

A GOOD TIP. You need a launching pad . . . and it may boost your decision power to think of career selection as a three-stage vehicle:

(1) Gathering enough current information about career options; material over three years old may be of little value.

(2) Finding out about yourself. Like your needs, temperament, attitudes, intelligence-scholastic and other aptitudes, abilities (developed aptitudes), subject interests and physical capacities. What values count for you — money, security, the work setting, prestige, power, recognition, the freedom to set your own pace, or come and go on your own hours?

(3) Matching stage one and stage two.

HELP IN DISCOVERING more about you, and relating your potential for various careers can be had from your school counselor, or by a private or nonprofit vocational counseling service in many communities. (Check your library for the latest edition of "Directory of Approved Counseling Agencies," published by the Amercian Personnel and Guidance Association.)

HELP IN COLLECTING occupational knowledge is available from various sources. For example, you say a number of vocations described in this column have appealed to you. Have you done anything about it . . . do you follow up by writing for the material I mention? Counselors have career literature also — If you'll take the time to seriously study it. When you find a career area which particularly grabs you, spend some time at the library researching it further; go and talk with people in the field; try for a part-time or summer job which is somehow related. If you don't know a good many of the alternated and the correct facts about each, how can you be sure you shouldn't have "shopped" longer?

MAJOR GOOF. Dr. C. R. Voigtel, director of placement and student aid, Stephen F. Austin State College, Texas, feels that the biggest mistake made in trying to decide on a career is that students "limit their scope to long-established vocational areas. Students need to be made aware of the job-potentials being created each day by advancing technology."

Woman's Nude Body Found At Lucas

LUCAS, Tex. (AP) — Josephine Hernandez, 25, of Sinton was found dead shortly before midnight Monday in a field near Lucas, 44 miles southeast of McKinney in North Central Texas.

The mutilated nude body was discovered by an unidentified Richardson man who was looking at the field for real estate purposes. A housing development is being planned there.

Collin County Deputy Sheriff Ray Cline said the woman had been stabbed many times.

Authorities at Parkland Hospital in Dallas said the body was "cut up real bad" and covered with stab wounds. Some wounds could have been caused by gunshots, hospital officials said.

Authorities said they had not been able to determine whether the woman had been sexually assaulted.

No arrests had been made late Tuesday.

Violence Calmed But Not Stopped

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Gunfire from snipers crackled through northwest Fort Lauderdale again today as National Guardsmen and police calmed, but failed to stop, violence that has wracked the predominantly Negro area for three nights in a row.

Scattered looting, rock-throwing and firebombing, punctuated by the sporadic sniping, began in early evening as 100 guardsmen joined police on patrols to back up an overnight curfew banning all but emergency personnel from streets in a 200-block area between 8 p.m. and 5 a.m.

Police said the disturbances were less violent than those on Sunday and Monday nights, when 113 persons were arrested in a wave of unrest that started after a Negro woman was shot and wounded as officers were breaking up an auto drag race. An estimated 75 persons have been injured since the trouble began.

Forty-seven persons were arrested Tuesday night, police said. About half of them were charged with violations of the curfew.

As the turmoil continued in Fort Lauderdale, police in nearby Pompano Beach reported a small outbreak of rock-throwing and burning in a predominantly black neighborhood.

The National Guard was called out Tuesday after Fort Lauderdale's City Council declared a state of emergency, citing "mob action and civil disobedience." All businesses, including taverns, were ordered closed during the curfew hours.

Study Made On Oldsters Morale

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Old folks who live alone are the happiest—provided they are in good health, have incomes of about $4,000 and can see relatives or friends regularly, according to a new study.

Elderly people in poor health and with a low income have low morale and it makes little difference whether they live alone or not, report two psychologists for the Combined Jewish Philanthropies of Greater Boston.

Psychologists Floyd J. Fowler Jr. and Mary Ellen McCall, in reporting Tuesday to the American Psychological Association convention, said they were somewhat surprised by several findings in interviews with 11,335 men and women aged 65 and over in the greater Boston area.

Contrary to what they had thought before launching their survey, age itself had no direct relationship to morale—at least as long as the key morale-sustainers were present.

And the same holds true for level of education and whether the aged person is native-born or an immigrant. On the latter point, the researchers said they had figured that immigrants "might have special difficulty adjusting to old age."

While declaring their analysis is "somewhat preliminary," the psychologists said the findings might have broad implications toward helping the needy aged.

"If level of education, generation in this country, or age itself had been found to be critical to morale," they said, "there would be little the community could do.

"However, level of income, condition of housing, and the number of social contacts outside the home are all problems with which community programs can help; and programs of preventative medicine seem likely to be able to raise the general level health among aged. In this sense the data are something of a challenge; it seems likely that something can be done."

New Ruling On Welfare Residency

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — Santa Barbara County supervisors have voted to end welfare payments to five persons on relief who live abroad. "They are perpetrating an abuse in the minds of every citizen paying welfare bills," Supervisor Curtis Tunnell said before the vote Tuesday.

Three of the recipients live in England, one in Canada and one in the Philippines. The five draw a total of $1,000 a month.

To qualify for welfare a resident must have assets of less than $1,200 and a monthly income below $184.50.

Loans Stall Puts Would-Be College Students In Pinch

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Would-be college students across the country are feeling the financial pinch even more than usual this fall because of Congressional inaction on legislation to boost the interest rate on government-guaranteed student loans.

Some college officials say the delay will prevent hundreds of students—many in low-income groups—from attending college at all this year. Others will have to find cheaper schools. And thousands more will have to search a little harder to find the money for ever-increasing tuition and board costs.

The Senate has passed legislation raising the 7 per cent ceiling on the government-guaranteed student loans to 10 per cent, making them more attractive to lenders who now charge 8½ per cent to prime borrowers.

The bill is stalled in the House, however, over an amendment to prohibit loans to student disrupters.

The House is expected to act on the measure Sept. 15 and President Nixon has appealed to lenders to keep student loans flowing despite the Congressional delay.

An Associated Press survey showed, however, that Sept. 15 may be too late for some students. One school has offered to let students with loan applications pending wait until November to pay tuition.

Doug Turner, director of financial aid for the University of Florida, said, "I estimate 300 to 500 (students) were kept from coming (to the university) because of this." He said the poor students were the hardest hit because "they don't have the same bank contacts that others have."

New York University said First National City Bank, which heavily financed students under the guaranteed-loan program, now turns down requests if the prospective student borrower has not had a business relationship with the bank or been a previous borrower.

In Oregon, the U.S. National Bank and the First National Bank will lend only to students whose parents have made satisfactory deposits or who have had a financial relationship with the bank for at least a year.

A spokesman for Stanford University in California said the school expects to lose 450 students from an expected enrollment of 11,000 because of the Congressional delay and cutbacks in other federal aid programs like those under the National Defense Education Act.

Richard M. Keefe, dean of admissions at St. Louis University, said "There must be 100 cases" of students unable to get loans. Speaking of Congress, he added, "I don't know what they can be thinking of: This is where the need is greatest. It's really tough because most of this goes to help black students."

Bob Billings, director of the office of student financial aid at Kansas University said, "It's my impression that many apply for these loans, but few are successful. Financial need is not the criterion for receiving one of these loans. Generally it is the bank's best customers—not the people who really need the money—who get the loans." He said 2,200 students had applied for loans and only 1,000 received approval.

Although many college officials said the poor students would be hit hardest, others said those in the middle-income group would feel the squeeze most. Robert Clark of the financial department at Oklahoma State University, noted, for example, that other types of aid are available to the poorer student.

Villanova University in Pennsylvania is giving students who have pending loan applications until the end of November to pay tuition. Charles Dietzler, comptroller, said, "The applicant's financial records are treated as if he had already received the loan and we are not keeping him out of class. In November, the financial situation will be reassessed to check the status of the loan."

Colleges are trying to help students and give them advice when they can.

The president of Kansas State University made an extra effort to find jobs for students and managed to place an additional 35.

At Ohio University in Athens, Michael L'Heureux, director of financial aid, said a work-study program providing the student between $1,500 and $1,800 is being offered.

L'Heureux said such a program would help middle-income youngsters, but would not do much for those from poor families. Discussing the loan cutback, he said 77 new graduate students had applied for government-guaranteed loans, but approval was expected for only 10. Last year, he said, about 50 of the 77 would have been approved.

The major reason for the problem is that the loans—at 7 per cent—are simply not profitable.

Willard Acers, director of financial aid at South Dakota State University at Brookings, sent letters to 75 banks in the state, asking if they were going to issue loans to college students.

Of the 56 banks that answered, 38 said they would continue the loans and 18 said no. Those who said no cited low interest rates, length of repayment, abuses of loans by students and the large amount of paperwork.

Under the new legislation, the student still would pay only 7 per cent. The government would assume charges over that amount to a maximum of 10 per cent.

The loan program provides that the government pay all interest charges during school years except for students whose families have an adjusted gross income of more than $15,000 a year. The student assumes the obligation after graduation.

Pipeline Is Moving On

Work on the pipeline from Moss Creek Lake southeast of Big Spring to Lake E. V. Spence above Robert Lee is nearing the halfway mark.

Section I, consisting of miles, has now been laid. O. H. Ivie, general manager, said this was little less than half the distance to Lake Spence. This week the contractor, H. B. Zachry Company, experienced its best day with a mile of 42-in. diameter pipe laid.

Zachry has been preparing sites for construction of the pump stations at Moss Creek, Spade Ranch and Robert Lee. Terry Construction Company is about ready to pour slab and start with superstructure of the Big Spring pump station, and is forming and pouring on the stations at McWhorter and Martin County well field.

Braless Advocate Files Suit

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A woman who says she was fired for refusing to wear a brassiere and for advocating a "bra-less Friday" for 2,200 other girls in the plant has filed a $1.4 million suit against General Dynamics, Inc.

Mrs. Jane M. Andre, a 39-year-old divorcee, formerly was a supervising engineer in General Dynamics' welding department at an annual salary of $18,000.

Her suit, filed in Superior Court Tuesday, charged her reputation and character had been damaged by statements made by General Dynamics regarding her suggestion for a bra-less day.

At the time of her dismissal Aug. 14, Mrs. Andre told newsmen she believed in "functional clothes."

Welfare Suit Filed Against South Carolina

GREENVILLE, S.C. (AP) — A federal court suit was filed Tuesday seeking to have South Carolina's maximum limit of $114.80 per month on welfare payments declared unconstitutional.

An attorney for the Legal Services Agency of Greenville, an agency supported by the Office of Economic Opportunity, brought the action in behalf of two women on welfare, one the mother of six and the other the mother of eight.

The attorneys cited federal social security regulations. They said their clients should be getting more notwithstanding a state welfare announcement that a large increase in the number of families receiving payment had necessitated a pro-rata reduction in monthly checks.

Computer Error Cuts Classroom Time

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP) — High school officials here relied on a computer to get classes under way Tuesday. The result: They closed the doors an hour after they opened.

A Fairbanks computer firm was to have supplied class lists for the 1,500 students of Lathrop High School, the only one here, but the computer couldn't do it. "Computer error" was blamed.

So, for an hour, teachers and students milled about aimlessly, some wandering the halls, others grabbing the first classroom they found.

Asst. School Supt. Dayton Benjamin said it may be days before the class lists are ready and school can resume. The new lists, he said, will be prepared by hand.

Three Die In Fire

DENTN, Tex. (AP) — An unexplained fire left a woman and her two young grandchildren dead Tuesday, apparently trapped in the bedrooms of their home.

Pronounced dead at the scene were Mrs. Laura Bowen, 38, Marisa Bowen, 3, and Tony Bowen, 1.

The fire was reported at 12:03 a.m. by patrolmen Olen Funderburk and Gary Matheson, while on routine patrol.

The two policemen could not enter the front door because of heavy smoke and fire, but they went in the back door and pulled a baby bed from the flames. They found it empty.

The blaze was brought under control by nine firemen and four pieces of apparatus within minutes after they arrived.
