TDC unit could be expanded

By BOB CAMPBELL
SDN Staff Writer

There is a chance that the Texas Department of Corrections unit to be built near Snyder will be doubled in size a short time after it is completed, County Judge Bobby Goodwin said Tuesday.

Goodwin noted that TDC Chairman Al Hughes told the Snyder delegation in Austin that the agency will ask the legislature for funding to double the size of all the 1,000-inmate units that were announced Monday in the next legislative session, which will begin in January 1989.

He said the TDC will receive title Dec. 1 for the site, a 606-acre plot five miles east of Snyder at Camp Springs Rd. and County Road 173. It is located 2½ miles north of U.S. 84.

Of the 606 acres, TDC will require only some 78 acres for the prison compound itself--leaving ample room for possible expansion of the facility.

The other site bid by Scurry County for a penitentiary site, a 480-acre tract a half-mile west of the primary site on the Camp Springs Rd., will not be needed, Goodwin noted.

"They are very independent and self-contained," the county judge said of the TDC. "We feel like you can live in Snyder and not even know they're there.

"They will not be a burden on Snyder. You can bet on that."

Besides the more often-discussed benefits of an influx of new families moving here, subcontracting for the construction project and the large monthly payroll, the TDC unit should be a great benefit in making the half-cent county sales tax approved in August much more productive in producing revenues to lower the property tax, Goodwin said.

The ad valorem tax will be reduced by the same amount that the sales tax brings in.

Goodwin said the TDC has told county officials that it should be purchasing about $4 million annually in local goods and services.

Moving plans for old school unveiled here

The area adjacent to the Scurry County Coliseum is to gain its second historical building as members of the Scurry County Historical Commission unveiled plans Tuesday to move the old Dermott School building on site.

Permission to use the county-owned property was granted by commissioners Tuesday morning. The school building will be relocated just north of the historic Cornelius-Dodson House, the only structure still in existence built before the turn of the century in Snyder.

Relocating the Dodson House was a project of the historical group's Historic Scurry County Inc.

Appearing before the commissioners court, commission chairman Billy Bob McMullan said the group would need no money from the county, only its permission to use the county property.

"The windows are broken, the doors are off, and the woodpeckers are working on it," McMullan said of the oldest school building in the county, adding that Dermott citizens want the building to be moved and restored.

McMullan was accompanied by commission members Harry Krenek and Ray Courtney, who said the project should begin immediately because the building is rapidly deteriorating.

It will be used as a gathering

TDC board names 6 statewide sites for 8,500 inmates

AUSTIN (AP) — The state prison board has selected six sites for new penitentiaries that will hold 8,500 inmates, but a lawyer for inmates says the board picked the wrong cure for overcrowding.

Board members voted unanimously Monday to build maximum security prisons, each holding 2,250 inmates, in Gatesville and Amarillo. Also approved were medium security prisons, each holding 1,000 inmates, in Liberty County, Snyder, Marlin and Woodville.

Prison construction should move quickly

By DONNY BROWN
SDN Managing Editor

With a 16-month building period projected, the effort to complete a 1,000-bed Texas Department of Correction prison unit in Scurry County is expected to be underway here "as quickly as possible."

TDC public information officer David Nunnlee said Tuesday morning that exact details for the construction are still in the architectural drawing phase.

The bid for these plans was let in October by TDC and a Dallas firm is now in the process of completing them.

Details known at this time include that TDC hopes to complete the building phase within 16 months; that construction of the facility is projected to cost $13 million; that some 250 staffers are expected to be employed; and that the monthly payroll is projected at $560,000.

Annually, that figures to $6.7 million per year with an average salary per employee of some $26,800.

Closings noted...

Events slated here with Veterans Day

Wednesday's observance of Veteran's Day in Snyder will see county, state and federal offices close as well as traditional activities to honor Scurry County veterans.

Poppy sales are now underway through post and auxiliary members of the Layne-Kite American Legion Post 181. In addition, a breakfast and evening meal will be served Wednesday at the post, located at 1800 Ave. R.

The breakfast will be served at 6 a.m. until around 9 a.m. and the evening meal will be served at 6 p.m. All veterans and their families are invited.

The American Legion will have a flag raising at the post home at 9 a.m. Wednesday.

Closings prompted by Veterans Day will include the Scurry County Courthouse and other county facilities to include the library, health unit and welfare department.

Wednesday is also a state holiday. The Texas Employment Commission and the Texas Department of Highways and Public Transportation will close

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Nobody knows it can't be done until it's tried."

Congratulations Snyder, your long hours of perserverance have paid off. The TDC decision to locate a 1,000-bed facility in Snyder and a maximum-security unit in Amarillo is a significant milestone in Texas history.

Obviously it was a big item for Scurry County, but it marks the first time that the TDC has left the East Texas area--and West Texas now has its foot in the door for future TDC expansion.

We're confident that the 1,000-bed unit will be expanded within the next couple of years. The TDC wanted the larger of two proposed sites for the very reason of expansion. Much work remains to be done.

There was a great turnout of community support in Austin. The 200-plus folks hung in there during a long morning of public hearings. Back home, there were literally thousands of folks wishing they could be in Austin and keeping their fingers crossed for the Snyder effort.

Jack Smartt, a member of the local prison committee, said a list of folks who made contributions to the effort would read like the city telephone directory. He's right, and the committee is appreciative.

Roy Baze, prison project coordinator, got a giant-size surprise. Monday was his birthday, and the decision to locate a facility in Snyder was the perfect "gift."

A flash-back occurred while waiting for Snyder's turn at the hearing. Our hands became clammy, there was a knot in our belly, and blood rushed to our ears.

It was the same feeling back in the fifth grade--the first time we held hands in the picture show. Once we got enough courage to grab her hand--we were afraid to let go.

In Brief

Oil meeting

CHICAGO (AP) — Near-term prospects for the oil business are not likely to be affected much, if at all, by the recent collapse on world financial markets, according to ranking officials and other industry watchers.

But the key assumption, they maintained Monday, is that no lasting recession results from the recent market turmoil.

"I don't really see that it will have a substantial impact," said Lawrence Rawl, chairman of New York-based Exxon Corp.

Rawl also joined the heads of Chevron Corp. and Amoco Corp. in predicting that oil prices would remain near current levels for the next several years, barring some extraordinary development.

Acknowledging that continued U.S. budget and trade deficits could bring on a recession that would "result in a direct impact," Rawl noted that various stock-market indicators are still ahead of where they were at the beginning of this year.

Bankers can't forge new deal

BASEL, Switzerland (AP) — In their first meeting since the October stock market crash, central bank chiefs of key industrial nations have done little to rebuild confidence in the world financial system.

The officials declared Monday at the close of two days of secretive talks in this Rhine river city that they remained committed to ensuring the "smooth functioning" of the financial markets.

But they announced no new recommendations or specific policy initiatives that could raise hopes for a quick end to turmoil in the stock and currency markets.

The dollar, which has lost about 7 percent of its value against the West German mark and Japanese yen over the past two weeks, continued to slide Monday as the central bankers met in Basel.

The meeting, led by U.S., West German and Japanese central bank chiefs and including eight other leading industrial countries, produced a bland statement about seeking to promote cooperation.

It also welcomed last week's coordinated interest-rate moves by West German, Dutch, French and Swiss central banks. Those moves, aimed at shielding European currencies from the dollar's recent plunge, were singled out as an example of improving monetary cooperation.

The Basel session was not intended as a forum for announcing major new initiatives. The central bankers of eight European nations, plus the United States, Canada and Japan, meet here every month to exchange views and ideas on key issues affecting the financial markets.

Because the bankers are not political officials, they are not in a position to make major agreements such as the so-called Louvre accord of last February on seeking to maintain steady currency rates. Decisions of that kind are made by finance ministers, who have no regular pattern of meetings like the central bankers.

This week's meeting took on an air of added urgency, however, in view of the dollar's continued slide and a general state of anxiety in the financial world about whether the major economic powers can settle their policy disputes.

It was clear from the outcome of the meeting that those disputes — which are more political than economic — stand in the way of a major breakthrough in international cooperation on the dollar and economic policy.

The Europeans, for instance, are generally unhappy with U.S. Treasury Secretary James A. Baker's statements that the Reagan administration has shifted its economic focus from defending the dollar to averting a recession.

Further declines in the dollar, which are predicted by many economists, would hurt Europe's export-oriented economies at a time when the stock market slump is threatening to curb economic growth.

Most European nations are far more dependent on exports than is the United States.

Aware of the Europeans' sensitivity to the dollar's movements, Washington has been pressing West Germany in particular to stimulate its economy, in part by cutting interest rates. That, the U.S. administration contends, would help America sell more goods abroad and reduce its huge trade deficit.

The Bonn government, however, has resisted, saying too-fast growth might reignite inflation.

At the heart of the matter is a feeling in West Germany and other European nations that the United States simply is wrong in prescribing changes in its allies' economies, which have been expanding steadily.

For their part, the Europeans say nothing they could do would be effective anyway — at least not for long — unless America first acts to cut its budget deficits. Congress and the White House so far have failed to agree on a package of measures to reduce the budget gap.

Until these political conflicts are resolved, there is little the central bankers can do except try to ensure that any further unrest on the financial markets does not produce economic panic.

White supremacist appears in court; bond hearing set

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — White supremacist Louis Ray Beam Jr., one of the FBI's 10 most wanted criminals, is to appear at a bond hearing on Thursday at Fort Smith, where he faces federal sedition charges.

Mexican Federal Judicial Police apprehended Beam at Guadalajara, Mexico, Friday night following a shootout with his 20-year-old wife in which a Mexican police officer was critically wounded. Beam was returned to Fort Smith Monday.

Sebastian County Circuit-Chancery Court Judge Don Langston, presiding at Beam's first appearance Monday, ordered Beam held without bond pending the hearing Thursday to determine whether he should be set free without bond.

Beam had requested that he be freed on his own recognizance until the bond hearing. He said he had never been convicted of a crime and called the charges against him "political persecution."

"I have no money. The Mexican police took everything," Beam told Langston, who presided over the proceeding in the absence of Federal Magistrate Ned Stewart Jr. and U.S. District Judge Morris Arnold, both of whom were out of town Monday. Beam said he had never missed any of his more than 60 court appearances over the past decade.

Beam said he left the Houston area where his father was critically ill in early April, but he declined to say where he went or when and how he entered Mexico.

He entered no plea at the hearing but said at its conclusion, "I have come into this situation with my honor and I shall leave with my honor. Yahweh rules."

Yahweh is a Hebrew word meaning Jehovah or God.

When asked upon his arrival at the federal courthouse at Fort Smith if he plotted to overthrow the government, Beam jokingly said, "What else is a country boy going to do on a Saturday night when the only drug store in town is closed."

Assistant U.S. Attorney Steven Snyder informed Beam that Houston attorney Kirk Lyons had contacted the U.S. Attorney's Office in Fort Smith saying he would represent Beam.

Beam, 41, was one of 14 people indicted in Fort Smith in April on sedition charges — attempting to overthrow the federal government.

Car dealers convicted in 'check kiting' plan

DALLAS (AP) — Three Dallas automobile dealers have been convicted on charges accusing them of defrauding banks of $2.2 million through a "check kiting scheme" and making false statements in order to obtain bank loans.

They were convicted Monday at the end of a two-week trial in federal court.

Robert W. Gunter, who was convicted of conspiracy, bank fraud, making false statements to banks and larceny, faces up to 67 years in prison and a fine of up to $500,000. Gunter's mother, Bobbie Jean Gunter, and his sister, Virginia Thomas, who were convicted of conspiracy, bank fraud and making false statements to banks, face up to 47 years in prison and a $500,000 fine each.

U.S. District Judge A. Joe Fish Monday released the three on personal recognizance pending sentencing Dec. 30.

Prosecutors alleged the three bought and sold cars through Road Show Inc. and Best Motor Co. Inc.

Evidence against them was gathered by the FBI, U.S. attorney's office and attorneys on the U.S. Justice Department's bank-fraud task force.

Dear Abby

Mistress as Wedding Guest Is One Too Many for Ex-Wife

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1987 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: Please help me. I am 57 and have been divorced from "Joe" for five years. Joe broke up our 31-year marriage by saying he didn't love me anymore, but he did love his secretary, who was 24 at the time. (Joe was 54.) They are living together in a house he bought for her five years ago. They are not married.

The problem now is that our 24-year-old son is getting married in December, and Joe is bringing his mistress to the wedding. Abby, I just can't handle her being there. I have been hurt enough without having this woman flaunted in front of my family and friends.

Is there anything I can do to keep her from coming? Joe and I do not speak to each other, but I called him to ask if he planned to bring her, and he said yes.

Would it help to appeal to her not to come? I want my son's wedding to be a happy occasion for all of us.

WAITING FOR AN ANSWER

DEAR WAITING: One fact of life that many people have difficulty acknowledging: You can't control the behavior of others — only your own. Yes, you could appeal to Joe's mistress to stay away, but unless she has the IQ of a houseplant, she already knows that her presence at your son's wedding will make you uncomfortable.

Go to your son's wedding, hold your head high and quit worrying about who else will be there. And please remember, above all, that this day belongs to your son and his bride, so do your part to make the day a happy one.

DEAR ABBY: I repeatedly told my former boss not to touch me, hold my hand, play with my hair or pat my rear. He persisted, and rejecting him cost me my job. Abby, your statement that some people feel that their space has been violated is true. However, when I told him to stop it, he referred to me as the "Ice Queen."

Because of his abusive ways and unwelcome touches, a federal judge will now have to decide this case.

My former firm calls me ...

THE PLAINTIFF

DEAR PLAINTIFF: Hooray for you for standing your ground! And for other women (or men) who have lost their jobs because they refused to put up with their boss's unwelcomed touching, holding and patting — contact your nearest Equal Employment Opportunity Commission. Sexual harassment is an unlawful employment practice under federal law.

DEAR ABBY: I need to know how a person gets crab lice. My wife got them, then said she must have gotten them off a toilet seat at work. Could she have been fooling around?

Please tell me what percent likelihood it is that they came from a toilet seat, or an affair.

These doubts are damaging a very good marriage.

MUST KNOW

DEAR MUST: I don't know the percentages. However, it is possible to pick up body lice from a toilet seat, so don't let suspicion louse up a good marriage.

Infants and sleep problems

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My 6-month-old son wakes up screaming three or four times a night. He takes his pacifier and eventually goes back to sleep. The pediatrician says it's "stranger anxiety." What is this?

DEAR READER — I'm not sure. Young children are almost always wary of unfamiliar things and people. This is a natural tendency that they usually outgrow.

Doctors know that youngsters may have nightmares, which can be truly frightening. Also, children experience stress and separation anxiety (from a caretaker) the same way adults do. Are there tensions in your family that could contribute to your child's awakening? Is life relatively stable and quiet? Has he been frightened on awakening to find a stranger, rather than a parent? In addition, a variety of discomforts and pains — such as colic, urinary infection or wet diapers — could be causing your son to fret.

I hope that you have not misinterpreted your pediatrician's attitude as uncaring. I am sure that the doctor would be willing to meet with you and share your concerns. When children wake up screaming, parents need reassurance and advice, as well as a reasonable guarantee that the infants are not sick or in pain.

Ask your son's doctor what is meant by "stranger anxiety" in the context of your own family. At the same time, ask what can be done to make the child more comfortable.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My husband lost sight in his only good eye. He takes 5 milligrams of prednisone daily, which restored his vision. However, the drug has so disrupted his bowels that as soon as he eats, he has to run to the bathroom. It seems as if it's a choice between starving or going blind. What can you suggest?

DEAR READER — To my knowledge, bowel urgency is not a common side effect of prednisone, a cortisone drug. I think that your husband should be examined to find another cause for his intestinal disruption. Since his vision appears to depend on taking the prednisone, he will surely wish to continue the medicine, either in an altered form or another dosage schedule.

In my opinion, the bowel problem ought to be addressed as a separate issue. Ask his ophthalmologist to refer him to a gastroenterologist.

Your husband's bowel difficulty can probably be helped by a change in diet or a medicine to reduce excessive intestinal contractions.

Be informed about prescription drugs: Send for Dr. Gott's new Health Report, CONSUMER TIPS ON MEDICINES. For your copy, send $1 and your name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

Some players would immediately bid three no-trump with the North hand. They would reason that the spade king strengthened stoppers in that suit, and their fear would be that playing in hearts would place game in jeopardy if hearts split badly. This particular North did use the Stayman convention to search out a possible major fit.

West had the spots to lead hearts, even though he knew dummy would have four of them. Fortunately for the defense, Willy Nilly was stroking the dummy. He ducked the opening lead as East put on the king, and then won the next trick with his heart ace. He played a spade to dummy's king and took the diamond finesse. When his queen held, he promptly played ace and another diamond. That put West on lead to cash two more heart tricks as Willy threw a spade from his hand. Willy was then ready to take his nine tricks with a spade return, but West was not so obliging. He led a club. Willy had no recourse but to play low and hope that West had been forced to lead away from the queen. No such luck, and Willy had once again gone set in a makable contract.

Willy needed to maintain safe communication between the dummy and his own hand. After the successful finesse of the diamond queen, he should simply play a low diamond from his hand. Whatever happens then, Willy can get back and forth between the two hands to make nine tricks.

ABWA hears extension agent

Holiday ideas were featured at the Nov. 3 dinner meeting of the Scurry Charter Chapter of American Business Women held at Martha Ann Woman's Club.

Kathryn Roberts, County Extension Agent, stressed, "Do things with your family." She suggested various hand crafts to involve children during the busy holidays.

Roberts gave ideas for using old Christmas cards in decorations, making rag baskets and using bandannas in decorating.

Roberts was introduced by Program Chairman Grace Bryant.

Jeannine Rundell, tupperware dealer, was introduced as the vocational speaker by Deborah Rodgers, vocational chairman.

Rundell trains others to become tupperware dealers. She also gave different ideas for having tupperware parties. They can be held at a picnic in the park, at a beauty shop or barber shop or at the office. She commented that she enjoys her work and can schedule her work time around her family needs.

Irene Brooks, MAWC representative, reported on the style show held Nov. 7, the game day set for Nov. 18, the Christmas Bazaar planned for Nov. 21 and the Tour of Homes on Dec. 6.

Pam Murray reminded club members of the bake sale to be held at Everybody's Nov. 18.

President Kathy Landes informed the group about the Dec. 8 meeting where members will exchange a gift and also bring gifts to give at the nursing home.

Janet Brown was hostess to 22 members and guests Gwen Thompson and Kathryn Roberts. Kathy Landes offered the invocation and the benediction.

Burn Seahawks, 30-14...

Jets engines finally heat up

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) - "The old Jets are back."

Billy Griggs said it, Jim Sweeney and Troy Benson echoed it and Coach Joe Walton wore a broad smile because of it.

The Jets, who had lacked intensity in two post-strike losses, were fiery football players Monday night as they beat the Seattle Seahawks 30-14. The victory, New York's third straight over Seattle after seven consecutive losses - and the Jets' sixth in as many home games on a Monday night - lifted the team into an unprecedented five-way tie in the AFC East. All of the division's teams are 4-4.

"We couldn't do anything but be emotional," said Griggs, a seldom-used tight end who caught a 4-yard touchdown pass from Ken O'Brien for his first regular-season reception in 37 games. That score put the Jets ahead 20-14 after they blew a 13-0 lead.

"Our backs were against the wall, we had to play good, we did not want to get embarrassed on Monday night on national television. Personally, I felt all the emotion - it seemed like the old Jets again."

Sweeney agreed that the intensity that disappeared after the players' strike had returned.

"I felt it in the (locker) room before the game," he said. "Troy and I were talking about it. ... It felt good. We had to get back to being the old Jets."

The old, old Jets always lost to Seattle. These Jets have victories over the Seahawks in three successive seasons.

Jojo Townsell, a backup wide receiver who figures to see much more action because Wesley Walker separated his shoulder Monday, bolted 91 yards untouched with a punt return to break a scoreless tie in the second quarter.

The Jets built a 13-0 lead as Pat Leahy kicked field goals of 35 and 36 yards. Then Townsell fumbled a punt early in the third period and Seattle recovered at the New York 3. Curt Warner scored from there.

On the Seahawks' next possession, Dave Krieg hit Steve Largent with a 29-yard scoring pass, giving Seattle the lead.

"We had a chance to control the game and we didn't," said Krieg, who was harrassed into a 12-for-29 night by a scrappy New York defense.

O'Brien, who was 23-for-30 for 226 yards and showed a new nimbleness in avoiding the pass rush, guided New York 82 yards in 11 plays. The Jets recaptured the lead on Griggs' touchdown one play after a fleaflicker backfired - and then worked.

O'Brien handed the ball to Roger Vick on first down at the Seattle 30. Vick pitched back to the quarterback, who could not find anyone open deep. He did find Freeman McNeil in the flat and McNeil turned O'Brien's desperation shovel pass into a 26-yard gain.

O'Brien got 22 positive yards on his five scrambles and was sacked just twice after going down 23 times in four games.

The Seahawks got their third loss in eight games and dropped two games behind first-place San Diego in the AFC West. Seattle lost 101 yards in penalties, Harry Hamilton picked off two Krieg passes and Warner killed a long drive with a fumble. The only positive note was Largent's continuation of his consecutive game reception streak, which is at 145.

Oilers needed extra minute, notes Coach Jerry Glanville

HOUSTON (AP) - The Houston Oilers fell behind too far and their rally was too short in a 27-20 loss to San Francisco.

But Oiler Coach Jerry Glanville thinks his team would have taken control if the game had reached overtime.

"I really feel if we could have gotten into overtime, we would have had the upper hand," Glanville said. "(Joe) Montana was still throwing good, but they weren't catching it as well. They knew what was coming."

The Oilers trailed Montana's 49ers 21-6 in the third quarter but a pair of touchdown passes by Houston's Warren Moon had the Oilers back in contention in the closing minutes.

The Oilers, 5-3, had won three games this season with fourth-quarter rallies but Montana and the 49ers proved too much to overcome.

"The thing we should emphasize is that we could have won the game in the fourth quarter," Glanville said. "We believed that we'd find a way to win it.

"I felt we could have won if the officials would have given us another minute."

Trailing 21-6 in the third quarter, Moon threw touchdown passes to Curtis Duncan and Ernest Givins, but the 49ers' Ray Wersching kept the lead on two Ray Wersching field goals.

That set the stage for a Houston comeback that never transpired.

"Maybe this will be a lesson to us," Oiler receiver Drew Hill said. "We have to come out the first quarter and play like we do at the end of the game. We think we can always pull it out in the fourth quartr.

"The real good teams, you can't beat that way."

The Oilers didn't lose because of a lack of effort, Glanville said.

"The receivers kept competing and the defensive timing is getting closer to where it was before the sabbatical (player strike)," Glanville said. "Plus, their quarterback played extremely well.

"I used to see him twice a year, and now he's better than ever."

Montana completed 32 of 46 passes for 289 yards and three touchdown passes but Glanville wasn't overly critical of his defense.

"In fairness to our defense, Montana put the ball where no other quarterback could have thrown it," Glanville said. "He's at the top of his game."

The Oilers complete a 3-game road trip Sunday at Pittsburgh, tied for the AFC Central Division lead with the Oilers and Cleveland, all with 5-3 records.

Port Isabel will reach 3A playoffs

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) - Attorneys for the Point Isabel school district filed a contempt of court motion against a district executive committee of the University Interscholastic League.

But the court action initiated on Monday won't delay the state playoffs. A two-game penalty assessed against the Port Isabel football team knocked it from first to second in District 32-3A, but the only affect will be the first-round opponent in the playoffs, since each district qualifies two teams.

Port Isabel is in the Point Isabel school district. It admitted holding illegal practices last spring, but complained that stripping it of two victories was too severe a penalty.

UIL rules prohibit teams from practicing before a given date to prevent them from getting the jump on competing teams.

Colvin filed the contempt motion in state district court in Brownsville Monday, alleging the UIL committee defied a temporary restraining order barring it from imposing a two-game penalty on Port Isabel.

Port Isabel's district had obtained the restraining order in a lawsuit the district filed against the executive committee, alleging the two-game penalty was too harsh.

After Friday night's final regular-season games, the UIL's 32-3A committee met Saturday morning in La Feria to certify its first- and second-choice teams to send to the playoffs.

The Port Isabel Tarpons won the the league championship Friday by beating Santa Rosa 28-0, but the penalty effectively imposed Saturday bumped Port Isabel to the No. 2 spot and made Santa Rosa the No. 1 representative in the playoffs, which begin Friday.

The contempt motion is set to be taken up Friday during a hearing in Point Isabel's suit in the 107th District Court.

Another court order was obtained in Austin Friday by the UIL, Texas Education Agency and Sharyland Independent School District. The injunction allowed the 32-3A committee to certify the teams of its choice and prohibits Point Isabel from contesting or interfering in the playoff certification process.

"We included ourselves in the belief that if we did win we would need something to get into the playoffs," said Sharyland Superintendent James McDaniel. Sharyland was knocked out of contention Friday night in a 16-14 loss to La Feria.

White could lose start

IRVING, Texas (AP) - Dallas Cowboys Quarterback Danny White could lose his starting position if the NFL team has another bad showing as it did in its 27-17 loss to the Detroit Lions, head Coach Tom Landry said.

Landry said Monday he may replace White with backup Steve Pelleur and is also considering switching quarterbacks in the middle of the game.

2-4A reps in area action

District 2-4A champion Pecos will square off against Fort Worth Castleberry at 7 o'clock tonight in a Class 4A area volleyball playoff game at San Angelo Central gymnasium.

The Eagles, 29-0, defeated Dumas 15-11, 15-12 in bi-district play last Saturday.

Castleberry is 28-1.

In another area match this evening, 2-4A runnerup Lamesa - the defending state champion in 4A - meets Crowley at 7:30 p.m. in Abilene Christian University Gym. Lamesa, 27-5, defeated 1-4A champion Pampa 15-12, 15-10 last Saturday.

Westerners play tonight

RANGER -- Western Texas College's Westerners take on Ranger Junior College at 7:30 p.m. here this evening in a non-conference basketball game.

Western is 1-3 on the season after defeating Texas State Technical Institute 98-87 on Saturday.

This Thursday, Nov. 12, Western opens play in the Howard College Hawk Tournament at 2 p.m. in Big Spring against Cisco. Western will be trying to atone for a 95-92 loss to the Wranglers in the first game of the season.

Dusters battle Thursday

ODESSA -- Coach Kelly Chadwick's WTC Dusters play a strong Trinity College team at 6 p.m. here Thursday in the Odessa College Women's Hi-Noon Optimist Tournament.

Trinity, formerly Henderson County, is expected to be one of the top teams in the nation this season and defeated Western Junior College Athletic Conference favorite Odessa 70-61 last weekend in the Trinity Valley Classic.

In other Thursday games, Cisco plays Howard College at 2 p.m., New Mexico Junior College meets Dodge City, Kan. at 4 p.m. and Ranger plays Odessa at 8 p.m.

The three-day tournament will continue through Saturday.

Bass Club to meet soon

Snyder Bass Club will hold its final meeting of 1987 at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Towle Park Barn.

Plaques for year-end competitions will be awarded and election of officers will be held at the meeting, which will include a chili supper.

Members, their families and guests are invited.

The club held its final tournament last weekend at Lake Stamford. Red Pinkerton won the tournament with a stringer of 11 pounds, 14 ounces. Mickey Nunley's five-pound catch won Big Bass honors.

Other winners were: 2nd, Monty Howard, 6-12; 3rd, Rick Howard, 5-8½; 4th, Dovie Pinkerton, 5-4; 5th, Mickey Nunley, 5-0; and 6th, Ricky Watson, 3-2.

Free agents begin negotiations; Schmidt, Ripken Jr. staying put

NEW YORK (AP) - Mike Schmidt and Cal Ripken Jr. are staying put while Jack Morris, Dave Righetti and Mike Witt can start seeing how free the free-agent market will be.

A total of 76 players filed for free agency with 18 of them, including Juan Berenguer, Frank Tanana and Jose Cruz, declaring Monday before a midnight deadline.

Starting today, free agents can negotiate with any team and some action is expected. Charlie Leibrandt, Dave Smith, Chili Davis, Bryn Smith and Brett Butler are among those who could also switch places.

Last year, 79 players became free agents but Andre Dawson and Lance Parrish were the only promiment ones to change teams before the season started. Since then, an arbitrator ruled baseball owners illegally conspired to restrict free-agent movement in 1985, although no penalty has been set.

Another grivance alleging owners' collusion on free agents last winter is in the hearing stage.

Schmidt and Ripken, both eligible for free agency, agreed to new contracts minutes before midnight. Schmidt settled on a two-year pact worth $4.5 million with Philadelphia while Ripken got a multi-year deal with Baltimore, believed to be for two seasons at about $1.7 million per year.

Others who got new contracts instead of becoming free agents were Cincinnati catcher Bo Diaz, infielder Ed Romero of Boston, Baltimore outfielder Jim Dwyer, infielder Mickey Hatcher of Los Angeles and pitchers Dave Schmidt of Baltimore and Jim Gott of Pittsburgh.

The New York Mets have exercised their option to keep pitcher Bob Ojeda while St. Louis released first baseman Dan Driessen.

Also filing for free agency Monday were pitchers Tommy John of the New York Yankees, Joaquin Andujar of Oakland, Ed Lynch and Dickie Noles and infielder Manny Trillo of the Chicago Cubs; pitcher Mike LaCoss, outfielder Eddie Milner and utilityman Joel Youngblood of San Francisco; outfielder Ken Griffey and infielder Graig Nettles of Atlanta; utilityman Jamie Quirk of Kansas City; pitcher Mark Clear of Milwaukee; outfielder Ken Landreaux of Los Angeles; pitcher Moose Haas of Oakland and pitcher Greg Minton of California.

Pitchers Dan Petry of Detroit, Bob Forsch of St. Louis and Steve Carlton of Minnesota and Twins designated hitter Don Baylor were among those who were eligible to file for free agency but did not.

Monday was also the deadline for eligible players to demand a trade. Pitchers Jeff Reardon of Minnesota and Greg Harris of Texas and infielder Alfredo Griffin did so, although that move, like declaring free agency, often is a negotiating tool.

Minnesota's Gary Gaetti, the American League playoff MVP, St. Louis' Jack Clark and Milwaukee's Paul Molitor each became free agents although all would prefer to remain with their teams.

Whether Morris, Witt and Righetti stay with their clubs is uncertain. Righetti, who saved 31 games for the Yankees, has hinted he would like to play for San Francisco. Morris, the winningest pitcher in the 1980s, wanted to leave Detroit last year and Witt, California's ace, will attract a lot of attention.

By Dec. 7, a player's former club must offer arbitration, or be ineligible to sign him until May 1. If a player doesn't accept the arbitration offer by Dec. 19, he is ineligible to sign with his former club between Jan. 9 and May 1.

Network tries to get blacks in executive-level positions

IRVING, Texas (AP) - Leaders of a black group insistent upon more executive-level baseball opportunities for minorities expressed satisfaction with answers given by Baseball Commissioner Peter Ueberroth's office about future prospects.

"Hopefully, we're working for the same cause, and in the same direction - to have the problems of minorities in baseball resolved," said Baseball Network spokesman Frank Robinson, a former star with the Baltimore Orioles. "We're satisfied with the answers they gave us."

Leaders of the black group and of Ueberroth's affirmative action program met Monday for the first time and pledged to forge a relationship of cooperation.

The most tangible element Monday in an otherwise nebulous agreement was the sharing of information in compiling a list of qualified minorities for available jobs.

The Network, a group of about 50 blacks with close ties to baseball, was created in a meeting here Sunday out of dissatisfaction with the progress of Ueberroth's committee in bringing about minority hirings.

"It was a good discussion, and we're going to continue it," said Ed Durso, an executive vice president in Ueberroth's office.

"I think we were able to clear up some misunderstandings that people had about what minority issues were all about, and what (baseball affirmative action team leader) Dr. Harry Edwards was all about," Durso said.

"People have been offered jobs, and they've turned jobs down," Edwards said. "That's the prerogative everybody has. (Chicago Cubs coach) Billy Williams turned down a job the other day. It happens every day."

Williams was offered a managing job in the Chicago Cubs system, but declined when he learned that John Vukovich had been former general manager Dallas Green's choice for the vacant job as Cubs manager. Since Vukovich didn't have any minor-league managing experience, Williams didn't think he should have to serve an apprenticeship to become a major-league manager.

Since Edwards' hiring, four teams - Cleveland, Philadelphia, Kansas City, and the New York Yankees - have replaced managers without hiring a black. The Indians replaced a minority - Pat Corrales - with a white - Doc Edwards. Kansas City offered the job to Hal McRae, who turned it down.

Four clubs - Philadelphia, Cincinnati, Los Angeles and the New York Yankees - have changed general managers without hiring a black. Four others have general manager vacancies, and have given no indication they will fill them with blacks.

Cleveland and San Diego replaced club presidents without hiring a black.

To compare the TDC facility to existing institutions in Scurry County, its physical plant--buildings and other facilities--will cover approximately the same area as the buildings on the Western Texas College campus; and its annual payroll is approximately the same paid by Snyder ISD to its teaching staff.

Using the accepted theory that every dollar spent turns over seven times before leaving a county, the TDC payroll could have an annual impact on the local economy of near $47 million.

Snyder and two other Texas communities--Marlin in Falls County and Woodville in Tyler County--will be the county seats for three 1,000-bed reintegration centers.

The fourth 1,000-bed facility is being called a regional correction center and will be housed in Liberty County.

According to TDC information officer David Nunnlee, the regional correction center will have "enhanced space" for pre-release programs and counseling aimed at aiding the prisoner re-enter private life.

The three units classified for "reintegration" are, according to TDC, facilities "housing mixed custodies and located to serve a geographical region of the state." The basic purpose for these regionalized locations is to keep these inmates "close to their families," Nunnlee said.

The "mixed custodies," by TDC definition, will be prisoners of both minimum and medium classifications. According to Nunnlee, "You won't have any inmates who have demonstrated a tendency for violence in prison or who may be a target for violence."

This type prisoner would be housed in the 2,250-man maximum security prisons expected to be built in Amarillo and Gatesville.

Regarding the local prison unit, it is to be built at a 606 acre site located some five miles northeast of Snyder. The prison compound is expected to take up approximately 78 acres with the remaining acreage available for possible expansion (see related story), for agriculture uses and as a general "buffer zone."

Buildings to be constructed at the site will be "pre-engineered," according to Nunnlee, the type of pre-fab metal construction common with most commerical projects today.

The prisoners themselves will be housed in cells, but in what is described as "dormitory-like" conditions. The prisoner's overnight lockups will be cells with likely up to two men per cell.

Nunnlee said the closest facility TDC currently operates to the 1,000-bed units are the Pack Units, named after a TDC warden, now in operation at Navasota. These currently house prison populations of 1,000 and 2,000 men.

Nunnlee said the type of staff positions involved in the 250 personnel will primarily be security guards, administrators and clerical workers.

Such positions as janitorial, food service and maintenance are filled using the inmate population.

TDC units also traditionally have some type of industry, a selection made "based on what's available" at individual sites, Nunnlee said.

Regarding when bids for the work might be let, he said no dates are now set, but that plans are to move "as quickly as possible."

He said TDC normally names one general contractor for the project, although the procedure for the 1,000-man units have not been set.

Clear title to the site property must be provided TDC by Dec. 15.

Members of the Economic Development Committee will now begin an effort to secure private donations for purchase of the land, which must be donated to TDC. Heading this effort is Rex Robinson, president of Snyder National Bank.

Senatorial candidate Abraham Lincoln said in an 1850 speech in Springfield, Ill., that the slavery issue must be resolved. He declared, "A house divided against itself cannot stand."

On June 18, 1972, Britain saw its worst air disaster ever when 118 people died aboard a British European Airways jet that crashed shortly after takeoff from London.

Julius and Ethel Rosenberg were executed June 19, 1953, at Sing Sing Prison in New York, after being convicted as spies for the Soviet Union.

Six sites named Monday by TDC

"It's a prescription for disaster," said Bill Turner of San Francisco, attorney for the inmates who filed the lawsuit that sparked prison reform in Texas. "They are not going to be able to manage all those facilities in far-flung locations. They are stretched way too thin already."

A better solution, he said in a telephone interview, would be to incarcerate fewer non-violent offenders.

The board acted Monday after hearing final pitches in the Senate chamber from the six communities awarded prisons and from Childress, the only finalist not given a prison.

place for larger groups than can be accommodated in the Dodson House, they indicated.

Other business in the 10 a.m. commissioners meeting included a presentation by insurance representative Clyde Hall, who reported that a difference in package credit has created a reduction in the annual premium for the county's property and property liability insurance from $75,954 to $55,686 for next year.

The commissioners tabled the insurance matter to study it and consider it again next week.

They accepted the annual audit of the county's finances from certified public accountant Monte West, who said conservative expenditures led to surpluses of $212,000 in the general fund, $97,000 in the road and bridge fund and $175,000 in revenue sharing.

local offices, as will the state driver's license office at the Scurry County Jail building.

Federal offices to close include the ASCS and SCS offices in the Ag Service Center.

At the Snyder post office, mail will be put up in boxes at the facility, but the service window will be closed and there will be no deliveries to rural or residential routes.

All Snyder financial institutions will be closed also.

Snyder city hall will be open as will Snyder public schools and Western Texas College, where classes will meet as usual.

As part of the holiday's observance, the Veterans Administration wants all veterans to "light up America" by driving through the day with their headlights on.

The "light up America" program, initiated by national veterans' service organizations, is intended to symbolize the camaraderie and mutual concern of the nation's 27.4 million veterans, according to veteran's service officer Dan Dever.

It was on Nov. 11, 1918, that the world celebrated the end of World War I. The day became known as Armistice Day.

In 1954, Congress renamed it Veterans Day to honor all those who have served in America's armed forces.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Before announcing your intentions prematurely to an associate today, stop and think first as to whether the person to whom you're talking should know your plans.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) If you compete in a friendly, competitive sport today, don't be a purist where the rules are concerned. Just relax, have fun and play the game for the game's sake.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Take information that is passed on to you today by an "insider" with a grain of salt. What this person assumes to be true could be erroneous.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) When conversing with friends today, be careful that thoughtless remarks don't slip out. Your listeners may find them offensive, even though you didn't intend them to be.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) There are indications that you may be a bit more careless than usual in small, financial transactions today. Count your change and keep all sales receipts.

Consortium faces tough budget battle

AUSTIN (AP) — Sematech, a proposed high-tech research consortium, may be jeopardized by budget talks between Congress and the White House, officials say.

"A week ago I would have been ecstatic," a congressional aide who asked not to be identified told the Austin American-Statesman. "But if the budget negotiations don't succeed, it's probably a disaster for Sematech and other research firms."

Austin is among the cities trying to land the consortium.

Sematech's orginal request for $100 million in federal money remains in legislation pending before the House and Senate.

But it could become a victim of efforts by President Reagan and congressional negotiators to agree on a combination of spending cuts and tax increases to reduce the federal budget deficit by at least $23 billion.

House Speaker Jim Wright, D-Texas, of Fort Worth, last week requested that U.S. Rep. Bill Chappell, defense subcommittee chairman on the House Appropriations Committee, draft a contingency plan to cut an additional $700 million in military spending.

Sematech would lose $75 million under that plan, said Mike Maibach, a lobbyist for Intel Corp., one of 13 semiconductor firms that are joining to create Sematech.

Also, money for the Sematech project could be lost altogether if Mr. Reagan and Congress fail to reach a budget compromise by Nov. 20.

Without a compromise, the Gramm-Rudman deficit reduction law automatically cuts $23 billion on Nov. 20. Half of that amount would come from military spending, which includes Sematech's request.

Bob Neudecker, a Sematech spokesman, said Sematech could not be created as envisioned without the $100 million in federal money.

"Anything that would happen to prevent that would be a serious con-cern," he said.

"If Sematech doesn't get federal funding, they'd have to put together a new deal," the congressional aide told the American-Statesman. "I think they can get by with less than $100 million, but if you go below $75 million the current deal doesn't work."

Maibach said, "Nothing is over un-til it's over — especially in this budget crisis."

"Everything is back on the table," he said. "This (cut) is just a contingency plan, but I can't predict what will happen."

Earlier this year, Sematech was created by an alliance of American semiconductor manufacturers. They said the research consortium ultimately could bring a $250 million annual budget and 800 jobs to the community where it locates. That prospect ignited a nationwide bidding war similar to the one that brought Microelectronics and Computer Technology Corp., with its 440 jobs and $6.5 million annual budget, to Austin in 1983.

The semiconductor manufacturers have proposed putting up $100 million and getting $150 million from federal, state and local governments as well as research universities.

Austin, the leading Texas candidate, was visited by Sematech officials last month. But company officials also were planning to visit Tampa, Fla.; Troy, N.Y.; Raleigh, N.C.; Phoenix, Ariz.; and Madison, Wis.

Officials attempting to attract Sematech to Austin have not disclosed the package offered.

Calendar sale now underway

The 1988 Girl Scout Calendars have arrived and will be sold now through Nov. 30 by Brownie, Junior, Cadette and Senior Girls Scouts of the West Texas Girl Scout Council.

The calendar sale is a nationally sponsored Girl Scout fund raiser. The money made from this sale is one way Girl Scouts are able to assist with purchasing supplies for their own troop.

The 1988 Girl Scout Calendar illustrates activities that help Girl Scouts to develop and practice decision-making skills. Holidays are noted on the calendar along with time zones, area codes, and a quick glance of the 1989 year.

Wall calendars and pocket calendars are available for $1.60 each.

The West Texas Girl Scout Council is a participating agency of the United Way.

Protest trial judge resigns

AUSTIN (AP) — A judge who had been criticized for giving jail sentences to 12 people who took part in an anti-apartheid protest at the University of Texas has resigned.

Travis County Court-at-Law Judge Leslie Taylor submitted her resignation Monday and will become at federal prosecutor in Houston. The resignation will become effective Dec. 1. Her term would have ended in 1989.

Taylor's husband, Richard Banks, has been working in Houston as a federal prosecutor since spring. Taylor said earlier that she planned to resign her judgeship to join Banks.

"As I told you this summer, my husband and I had reached a decision that it was time to pursue new professional goals," Taylor said in a resignation letter to County Judge Bill Aleshire and county commissioners.

Taylor was out of town for the week and not available for comment, her court administrator said.

Taylor, a county court-at-law judge since 1982, had been criticized for her handling of the trials of 12 protesters who broke into the University of Texas president's office last fall.

They support the Little League, Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts... the Police and Fire Departments... First Aid Squads, Local Schools and lots more!

Sound like pretty good neighbors? They are! They're your local businesspeople, and they do all this and more. Local firms don't just take your money. They give back part of their profits in the form of local taxes, charitable donations and employee salaries. It's all part of doing business...and being a good neighbor.

Part of their profits are also reinvested in the community. As they remodel their stores, add on to their buildings and open new locations, they help build a better economic environment. When local businesses prosper, you and your community prosper. Get to know the nicest people in town. Shop locally
