China In Grip Of Disaster

Floods Claim Thousands As Rivers Climb

Death, Starvation, Pestilence Stalk Through Widening Area As Flood Waters Sweep Away Homes Of People

Check Of Dead Is Impossible; Natives Defy Teachings And Commit Suicide To Escape Horrors Of Water

(By The Associated Press)

HANKOW, Aug. 21.—Death, starvation and pestilence stalked through ever-widening areas of China today as flood waters that have swept thousands to death and made upward of 30,000,000 homeless swirled on in what may be the greatest calamity of modern times.

Destruction of this great inland city of modern China was threatened by the rising Yangtse river and a general exodus of its population of close to a million was in progress.

Hwai Ho Spreading

Several hundred miles to the north the Hwai Ho river was spreading out over thousands of square miles in northern Honan, Anhwei and Kiangsu provinces. Eighty counties were reported inundated, lowland villages and crops were destroyed but no estimate of the loss of life was available from the north.

The Hankow area, including the sister cities of Wuchang and Hanyang, was engulfed and the seriousness of the sitution was augmented by the constant stream of refugees pouring in from other inundated sections. On rafts made of house doors or other materials, in long-treasured family coffing and in sampans the fleeing natives arrived. Some owed their lives to the use of crude life preservers made of goatskins inflated with air.

Dykes Giving Way

Great dykes about Hankow and Wuchang, that had held back the raging Yangtse from the low-lying valley, burst and the unleashed river swept additional hundreds to their deaths. There were no reliable

Texas Today Awakens To Find New Laws In Force

Lubbock Smokers Buy An Estimated Half Million "Fags" On Eve Of 3-Cent Tax

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Aug. 21.—Dealers tonight were busy finishing stamping their packages of cigarets and getting ready to charge three cents a package extra on each sale after midnight.

The reason was the new cigaret tax law. After midnight the state hoped to collect three cents a package on all intrastate sales. The money, estimated to amount to some four or five million dollars annually, will go equally to the Texas school children and the state's general revenue fund.

Last Minute Rush Is Seen In City

Stocks of standard brand cigarets were fast diminishing last night, a brief survey made by the Morning Avalanche among downtown stores showed.

It was the last day that cigarets could be bought legally without paying a three-cent tax per standard package. The cigaret tax law went into effect at 12:01 a. m. today.

Telephones Busy

Store operators reported there was an unprecedented demand for fags yesterday. Even the telephones were kept busy by orders coming from citizens seeking to smoke state tax-free cigarets for a few days longer. One store reported sales ranging all the way from one package to as high as 30 cartons per order.

Various prices were posted for last minute orders. Prices ranging from $1.35 to $1.50 per carton prevailed at most dispensing houses. Purchases before midnight last night enabled buyers to save from 60 to 75 cents per carton.

Estimates Varied

Tobacco dealers last night estimated from 400,000 to 500,000 cigarets had been sold in Lubbock Friday, this number being exclusive of regular sales. A survey of 16 drug stores by the Morning Avalanche revealed that about 150,000 fags had been sold by those places. The survey did not include confectioneries, grocery stores, cigar stands, and other places where cigarets are sold. The cigaret run continued until late last night.

While many were laying in stocks of cigarets, other Lubbock people yesterday were learning to roll their own. A device for rolling cigarets was introduced here this week and was experiencing a fairly good sale.

Instructions Sent

Indicating a desire to retain cellophane wrappers, a major factor in its advertising, one tobacco company has sent wholesalers instructions for making tax stamps stick on the outside wrapper. A Lubbock wholesale house said suggestions were to scratch the cellophane with sandpaper or steel wool or to break the glazed surface by applying methyl alcohol or methyl cellosolve

To Boost Price

It was feared dealers might boost the price five cents because of the reduced volume of business and to make the cost the even sum of 20 cents, and it was regarded as a virtual certainty the price would be raised at least three cents.

The imposition of the state levy means that Texas cigarets will bear a sale tax of approximately half their value. The federal tax is six cents a package.

Tax Is Important

The cigaret tax was the most important of approximately 200 laws to become effective at midnight, 90 days after the regular session of the legislature adjourned. Laws not carrying an emergency clause or not approved by two-thirds majority in each house become operative 90 days after the end of a session.

Several other tax measures were included in the group of new statutes, a tax will be placed on peddlers. Natural gas will bear a two per cent tax. The surplus tax will be increased from 55 to 75 cents a ton. Cement will bear a five cent a barrel levy.

Truck Laws In

Two new truck laws, partially enjoined in federal court at Houston, were on the list. One gave the railroad commission additional authority over trucks and the other cut

Board Trades Brazil Grain In Agreement

With Final Agreement Made On Friday 25,000,000 Bushels Of U. S. Wheat Will Bring Payment In Coffee

Partial Solution

Two Countries Oppressed With Overproduction Seek Means Of Alleviating Conditions By Trade Bargain

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—Two nations oppressed by excessive agricultural production today sought a partial solution of a mutual problem by the simple expedient of exchanging portions of their surplus crops.

An agreement was signed under which 25,000,000 bushels of farmboard wheat will be bartered for 1,050,000 bags of coffee held by the Brazilian government.

Just as a huge surplus of wheat has accumulated in the United States a tremendous supply of coffee has piled up in the South American country.

Bought In Market

The wheat which is to be exchanged was bought by the farm board's grain stabilization corporation in the open market as part of a plan for maintaining wheat prices at a level which would return a profit to the farmer. The Brazilian coffee involved was acquired by that government in a similar effort to assist the planters.

The agreement was signed at the Brazilian embassy by Ambassador De Lima and George S. Milnor, president of the stabilization corporation, concluding negotiations quietly conducted for several months.

Board Hard Pressed

The farm board has been hard pressed to find markets for the 200,000,000 bushels of wheat acquired in its stabilization operations. Yesterday it authorized negotiations with the Chinese government for the sale of 15,000,000 bushels of wheat for relief of flood sufferers in

Oil Starts Climb With $1 Figure In Prospect

Increased Prices In In Four States Of Oil Territory

(By Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 21. — Petroleum began to climb the price ladder today, mounting well toward dollar oil, long lost love of the midcontinent and confident demand of Oklahoma's martial-minded governor.

As the Texas company, important buyer, posted increases in four states, Governor William H. (Dollar Bill) Murray said he believed major purchasers would agree by Monday to $1 a barrel — the top he has set in return for the opening of his state's monster producers.

Texas Prices Up

Texas company prices in Oklahoma were advanced 30 cents for high gravity oil to 70 cents a barrel. Advances for Texas, Louisiana and New Mexico fields ranged from 11 to 30 cents a barrel, to a similar top.

The upward trend also extended in at least one locality to the retail gasoline market and southwestern observers, confident of better times for the oil business since well shutdowns in Oklahoma and Texas took an estimated 900,000 barrels daily from the market, heard other news indicating stabilization of the depressed industry is not remote.

Appeal Is Sent

An appeal for immediate restriction of oil imports went to President Hoover from Tulsa offices of the Independent Petroleum association of America. The telegram that reported resumption of normal imports by large interests would result in shutdown of independent refineries and discharge of thousands of workers.

The Kansas public service commission moved to support the Oklahoma Texas shutdown, preparing an order directing that the high gravity Raymond pool in Rice county stay closed pending an investigation. It has been closed for a year but Thurman Hill, commission member, said the commission has learned of contemplated taking of 22,000 barrels daily from th area by the Stanolind Crude Oil Purch-

Babe Lays To On 600th And Tony Profits

(By The Associated Press)

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 21.—Babe Ruth and little Tony Gallico engaged in a business transaction out at Sportsman's park today, much to the satisfaction of each.

Babe Ruth

The Babe hit the 600th home run of his major league career and was anxious to get the ball, which hit a motor car outside the park.

"I'd give a $10 bill and a new ball to get that old one back," the sultan of swat announced.

Tony arrived before long with the old ball, collected the $10 and the new baseball from the Babe and then paid a brief visit to the press box. Tony was described merely as "a small lad," because the fellows in the press box forgot to ask him his age. He said he was "plenty happy."

Tech Graduate Is Claimed By Death

Miss Rachel Jackson, 30, a member of Texas Technological college graduating class of 1930, died at 7 p. m. yesterday at her home, 1120 Seventeenth street, after an illness of several months.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. today at the First Baptist church with Rev. C. J. McCarty, pastor of the Cavalry Baptist church officiating. The body will be sent to Afton, Okla. Miss Jackson's former home, at 4:15 p. m. for burial Local funeral arrangements are in charge of Sanders Funeral home.

Miss Jackson became ill about three months ago while she was visiting in the home of a sister, Mrs. Ed Jenks, Waynoka, Okla. She came to Lubbock with her parents six years ago to make her home here. She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Jackson, and sisters, Miss Pearl Jackson, of Lubbock, and two other sisters, Mrs. Frank Smith of Kansas City, Kas., and Mrs. Jenks of Waynoka.

Five Are Killed And Ten Wounded; Gang Takes Payroll

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—Two policemen and three gangsters were shot to death in a running pistol battle which followed a $1,000 payroll robbery in up-town New York late today.

When the smoke cleared, 10 persons, caught in the splashes of crossfire, including the four-year-old daughter of a fireman, lay wounded, some of them seriously.

Three Are Officers

Three of the wounded were police officers who had taken up the chase of the desperadoes in flight from the scene of the robbery in the Bronx across town to a point in Inwood, far up on Manhattan island.

It was the third time in recent weeks that bystanders had been shot down in the hail of gunfire between gunmen or in police efforts to capture criminals. The fighting broke out in five places nearly all in quiet residential districts.

The hold-up from which the fighting sprang, occurred in an alley off East 133rd street, the Bronx, where the robbers had been lying in wait for the $4,916 payroll.

Men Spring Out

Lloyd Pomhoff, manager of the Mendoza Fur and Dying works, drove into the alley with the money. At his side sat Policeman Walter J. Webb, 39, who had accompanied him from a bank.

The holdup men sprang out of concealment and opened fire. One of the first bullets fired bored through Webb's metal shield and into his chest. The gunmen snatched the payroll money from Pomhoff and fled in a taxicab. Webb died on the way to a hospital.

Westward across the Bronx the hold-up band fled. Word of the crime was flashed to all police stations. Emergency squads set out, the sirens of their cars screaming the alarm in many residence streets.

Traffic Cop Killed

At East 169th street and Boston road the fugitives looked back and spied an officer overtaking them on a motorcycle. They opened fire. Officer Churchill catapulated from his machine, with six bullet wounds. He died later in a hospital.

Pressing on into Manhattan the gunmen came upon Policeman Michael Lydon on traffic duty at the busy intersection of Broadway and West 162nd street. Lydon got in their way. They opened fire again

Caraway Proposal That Farm Board Buy 8,000,000 Bales Of Cotton Above Price Now Offered Favored

(By The Associated Press)

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 21.—State legislatures of the south were called upon today by the New Orleans cotton conference to pass acts to prevent planting of cotton in 1932.

The conference also adopted a proposal of United States Senator Thaddeus Caraway, of Arkansas, that the federal farm board purchase 8,000,000 bales of cotton at a price above the present market to be allocated to those farmers who agree not to plant any cotton next year, and to be sold at the farmers' orders and for their benefit.

Long Is Chosen

Governor Huey P. Long, who called the conference in an effort to find relief from the overproduction and low price of cotton, was chosen chairman of a standing steering committee with authority to choose his associates later. The conference then adjourned sine die.

It was attended by more than 1,000 men and women, including three governors, two United States senators, half a dozen United States representatives and many southern state officials.

Governor Long explaining his proposal, said it would prohibit by state law planting or gathering of any cotton during the year.

Romance Of Pair May End With Wedding Behind Bars

EL PASO, Aug. 21. (AP) — A romance that began from a truck's seat may blossom into a wedding behind jail bars here.

Mrs. Ruby E. Boyd, Houston, today applied for a license to marry George E. Miller, held in jail on check swindling charges.

Sheriff Tom Armstrong said he had no objection to the wedding. The license will be granted tomorrow. Miller said he met Mrs. Boyd in Houston two years ago. He was driving a truck and they talked frequently.

Young Woman Released On $7,500 Bond; Trial Looms

NEW YORK, Aug. 21. (AP)—Ruth Jayne Cranmer was freed on $7,500 bail in magistrate's court today, to face trial Sept. 11, charged with shooting State Senator Roy T. Yates, Paterson, N. J.

While attorneys were engaged in a sometimes heated argument to obtain her release pending presentation of a case of felonious assault, Yates center, of a political storm in his home state, was asked to resign by John McCutcheon, state controller and Republican leader.

Fliers Killed In Ship Crash

Lieutenant And Private Dive To Deaths In Brazos River Near Freeport; Search Made For Missing Body

(By The Associated Press)

FREEPORT, Aug. 21.—Out on a low flying mission, Lieut. Edgar C. Walthall, 27, and Private W. I. Smith, 24, lost their lives today when an army plane struck a power line and plunged into the Brazos river near here.

Death apparently resulted from drowning. Lieut. Walthall's body was recovered a few minutes after the accident, but a search by coast guards and others had failed to recover that of the private late today.

The fliers were attached to the 13th squadron of the third attack group stationed at Galveston. Lieut. Walthall, whose father resided in Atlanta, Ga., was a graduate of the air corps flying school at Kelly field, San Antonio. Smith was survived by his mother, Mrs. Mary Crabbe of Dayton, Ohio.

A court of inquiry was called by Justice G. C. Hartman of Freeport in an effort to determine cause of the accident.

Nine More Indictments Are Added To List Of Charges

HARLAN, Ky., Aug. 21. (AP)—To the list of 102 murder charges previously returned as a result of labor disorders in the Harlan county coal fields, the grand jury today added nine more.

Today's murder indictments which were grouped with 53 less serious indictments, name three men on three charges each in connection with a clash last May at Evarts in which four men were slain. Those accused are Bill Hudson, Jack Smith and Happy Jack Goodwin, alias Otto Mills.

He died at a hospital in Rochester, Minn., last night after an operation had removed the pin. He was placed in an oxygen chamber for five hours, and at one time revived, but finally passed away.

Group Of Midshipmen Face Charges Following Cruise

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21. (AP) — For misconduct on a recent European training cruise, a group of midshipmen is threatened with dismissal from the naval academy. From four to ten middies are involved. Their names and the nature of the charges are being withheld.

On the cruise from June 6 to August 13 the midshipmen, aboard the battleships Arkansas and Wyoming, visited numerous European ports. Admiral Claude C. Block was in command and is understood to have made the charges now under investigation.

Whiteaker Says Legion Is Against War; Not Pacifist

EL PASO, Aug. 21. (AP) — R. O. Whiteaker of Austin, adjutant of the Texas department, American Legion, said here today the legion was against war, but was for preparedness.

He was one of more than 100 delegates who arrived early for the annual convention of the state department which begins Aug. 24. "We are against war, but we are not a pacifist organization," Whiteaker said. "We are for preparedness, because the men who fought the last war know what it is not to be prepared."

Tom Connally Wires Board Requesting Action At Once

MARLIN, Aug. 21. (AP) — United States Senator Tom Connally telegraphed the federal farm board today urgently requesting it to "act now to save the cotton farmer" by announcing it would not market stocks of cotton held by the board or under its plans of financing until July 1, 1932 or 1933.

"Action later will destroy his faith in the board created to serve him," the Texas senator declared. He termed the present situation "the worst crisis in the cotton section in more than 30 years."

Use Of Force Threatened By Wolters In Face Of Meeting

Commander Of "War Zone" Says That No Mass Meetings Will Be Allowed In Martial Law Zone Of Texas

(By The Associated Press)

KILGORE, Aug. 21.—Brig. Gen. Jacobs F. Wolters, commanding Texas troops in the East Texas oil field area under martial law, tonight refused to grant permission for a mass meeting to be held in Tyler in protest against military occupancy of the oil fields.

E. Constantin, independent oil operator, telephoned the general tonight from Dallas asking such permission.

"I told him it would not be permitted and that he could consider that a direct order," said General Wolters.

Disposed To Argue

"He was disposed to argue with me, saying I was making speeches and passing out propaganda and that their side ought to be heard too.

"I simply told him there was no other side and that my statement was a direct order. I told him there would be no mass meeting if I had to use force to prevent it and I thought I did.

"He was objecting mainly to my speech at Henderson last night. I told him if I was spreading propaganda, that was my privilege."

Date Not Mentioned

The general said Constantin did not mention the date for the de-

Staggering Total For Law Enforcement Is Disclosed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21. (AP)—A red ink entry of more than $1,000,000,000 was recorded today by the Wickersham commission as but a fractional figure for the annual cost of crime to the American people.

Declining even to "guess" at the total toll levied by criminality, the commission nevertheless broke down its figures to show a yearly contributing item of more than $34,000,000, chargeable directly to federal prohibition enforcement.

Exhausted Fire Fighters Are Aided By Wind Shift

BOISE, Idaho, Aug. 21. (AP)—Exhausted fire fighters, aided by a shift in the wind which for two days had been driving a wall of flames through the timber toward Placerville, Ida., believed tonight they would be able to save the town from the fate that overtook two neighboring mining villages yesterday.

But while the main head of the inferno swept northeasterward of Placerville it had in its path another hamlet, Garden Valley, just over the bridge.

Rains Fall On South Plains

Heavy Precipitation Reported At Several Points In Area; Heaviest Fall Is Recorded In Cochran County

Several points on the South Plains, north and west of Lubbock, received rain late yesterday afternoon and last night, according to reports to the Morning Avalanche.

The heaviest rainfall, measuring from 2.5 to three inches, fell over portions of Cochran county. Morton reported three inches.

Brownfield reported a two-inch rain. Plains, Lehman and Pettit reported heavy precipitation.

Light Hail Falls

Hale Center reported 1.25 inches of rain, falling from 4:30 to 6 p. m. A light hail fell at Hale Center but did no damage. The rain extended over the southwestern portion of Hale county. Littlefield, Lamb county, reported a light shower.

Southwest of Lubbock, at Seagraves, a heavy rain fell early last night. While threatening skies gave promise of moisture at Lubbock yesterday afternoon, only a light sprinkle fell.

Threats Of Retaliation Are Heard As El Paso Wages War On Gambling

(By The Associated Press)

EL PASO, Aug. 21.—Agitation by certain elements in El Paso to curb gambling in Juarez with an early closing hour for the international bridge today brought threats of retaliation.

Mexican labor union leaders, politicians and some business men, at a meeting, adopted a plan calling for the following measures if the bridge is closed earlier than midnight, the present hour:

1. Forcing Juarez business men to live in Juarez.
2. Assessing duties on all goods entering Juarez from El Paso.
3. Eliminating American or foreign labor in Juarez.
4. Cancelling bar permits not owned by Mexican citizens.
5. Informing northern Mexico as to the attitude of El Paso merchants favoring early closing.

Petitions seeking a 9 p. m. closing hour on grounds gambling in Juarez was injuring the business and morality of El Paso have been sent to Washington.

Subsequently, federal officials were ordered to move into national territory "within a reasonable time" or be dismissed. Several hundred people, including bank of Mexico officials and employes, who had been living in El Paso, were affected.

Tedious Week In Prospect For Anne And Lindy Marooned On Lonely Isle

NEMURO, Hokkaido Island, Japan, Aug. 22.—(Saturday)—Motor trouble which Col. Charles A. Lindbergh sought unsuccessfully to repair until darkness intervened Friday night foretold a tedious weekend for the American aviator and his wife, Anne.

ARE OFF AGAIN

NEMURO, Japan, Aug. 22. (Saturday) —Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh took off from Muroto bay in the Kuriles at 2:10 p. m. Saturday (12:10 a. m. EST.) for a flight of about 400 miles to Nemuro.

Their plane was anchored in land locked Muroton bay, Shimu Hiru island, north of here in the Kurile islands. It was towed there earlier Friday by the Japanese tender Shimushiru Maru after Colonel Lindbergh discovered he could not get the motor into commission to fly from the waters around Ketoi island, where fog forced him and Mrs. Lindbergh down Wednesday.

Japanese officials expressed relief at the change. The seas about Ketoi possesses treacherous currents, and the island itself is rocky and uninhabited. Shimushiru island is larger, although only three men live there the year around. It is a Japanese forestry department silver fox breeding preserve.

vernor Considering Other Matters Than East Texas Oil War; Force Cutting Is Not Yet In Sight

AUSTIN, Aug. 21. (AP)—Governor is. S. Sterling was back at the itol today after a two-day busi- s trip to Houston.

Indications were that he would ntinue to leave details of the East xas campaign entirely in the ex- rienced hands of his field com- nder, General Jacob F. Wolters.

e governor spent most of his time is morning considering other mat- s. The governor had not intimat- when the process of diminishing approximately 900 millitiamen in oil area would be started.

Approximately $5,600 which would ve come to the railroad commis- n for enforcement of the new oil servation law will not be re- ved as a result of the shutdown s week. The tax for enforcement rposes is one-tenth of a cent per rrel. The production this week bably would have been around ,000 barrels a day the tax would ve been approximately $800 a day. However, the other fields of the te are producing almost 600,000 rrels a day, and that means near- $600 a day accruing to the com- sion's enforcement fund.

Increasing interest was being wn in the East Texas proration ring to be started by the rail- d commission Tuesday. Conserva- e estimates were that the hearing uld last at least two days. The mmission then must issue an ord- fixing a new allowable produc- n figure for the gigantic field.

First South Plains Woman To Learn Flying Makes Solo Hop Here Friday

Miss Evelyn Richter of Lub- bock yesterday made her first solo flight in an airplane at the municipal airport after com- pleting four hours and 25 min- utes instruction in the air. Municipal airport officials said she gained the recognition of being the first woman on the South Plains to learn to pilot an airplane.

The slender, blonde young wo- man of Dutch descent, had re- ceived only four hours and 25 minutes of instruction in the air. Ben Bransen, licensed transport pilot, of Lubbock, was her in- structor.

"I experienced the queerest sensation," the young woman related, "when Mr. Branson stepped out of the plane and told me to go ahead. You nev- er know when you're going to solo."

The sensitive feel of the ship was new to her and "landing was the most difficult," she con- tinued. She took off and land- ed three times, her flight being over the flying field. When an inspector for the aeronautics di- vision of the United States de- partment of commerce returns here in September, the Lubbock woman expects to undergo solo- flight and written examinations for a private pilot's license.

Three hours and 15 minutes is the record for the minimum amount of instruction received before soloing at the Lubbock airport. Two men were said to have flown alone after that much teaching above ground.

Miss Richter was in classes at Texas Technological college last fall. She has lived here four years. Three were passed on the staff of a local hospital. After serving as executive secretary of United Charities, she became district public health nurse. Her flying instruction was received principally on weekends after she had returned from conduct- ing clinics and classes. She plays the piano, saxophone, ac- cordion, and banjo.

Twenty-five years old, she is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Richter of Moulton, where her father is postmaster. She is a graduate of Moulton High school. Lutheran college, a junior institution, at Seguin, and John Sealy hospital nurse's school at Galveston.

The plane in which Miss Richter soloed is a two-place, open Eagle Rock biplane.

Representatives Of State Department To Gather Here

Six representatives of the state health department are expected to assemble here today for a luncheon at the Hilton hotel.

Miss Evelyn Richter and James R. Curtis, nurse and sanitarian in this district, respectively, will be hosts.

Following the luncheon a round- table discussion will be held.

Dr. D. C. Peterson, director of the state department's mobile unit; E. D. Hopkins, also of the mobile unit; H. E. Hargis of Lubbock and A. M. Erskine of Wichita Falls, san- itary engineers in districts No. 1 and No. 3, respectively, are expected to attend.

TUCSON MAN HANGED

FLORENCE, Ariz., Aug. 21. (AP)—Herman Young of Tucson was hang- ed at the state prison here today for the murder of John Dye, Tuc- son, during a holdup. The condemn- ed man walked to the scaffold un- accompanied and refused to make any statement.

Woman Confesses 18-Year Murder

WEBSTER SPRINGS, W. Va., Aug. 21. (AP)—A confession of a dying woman disclosed today that a man buried 18 years ago as a victim of drowning was slain. The dead man's skull was exhumed yesterday and a verdict of death from gunshot wounds was returned by a coroner's jury.

County attorneys would not reveal the name of the woman who confessed, nor the identi- ties of a woman and two men she implicated. Examination of the skull disclosed the victim, Jonas Tharp, 22, a lumberman on Elk river, near here, was shot in the mouth. Tharp's mouth was held open and a bullet fired into his brain, the woman states.

The woman and 2 men impli- cated in the statement will be sought on warrants charging murder.

Unemployment Relief Is To Be Asked From Legislature

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 21. (AP) — Unemployment relief legislation will be asked by Governor Roosevelt at an extraordinary session of the legislature to be convened next Tuesday.

The governor said today:

"I have decided to recommend to the legislature at the extraordinary session certain definite and neces- sary measure for the relief of dis- tress and the alleviation of unem- ployment."

The special session was called by the governor for the purpose of ex- tending the powers of a legislative committee investigating the New York City administration.

News Services To Uphold Law

Associated Press, International News Service And The United Press Will Not Furnish Information

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21. (AP)—The Associated Press, International News Service and the United Press have assured the post office department they will co-operate fully in its efforts to free the mails of unlawful matter concerning sweepstakes lotteries.

The announcement was made today by Arch Coleman, acting postmaster general. It said:

"These news associations hereafter will not distribute to their members and clients matter relating to sweepstakes lotteries — either in stories or photographs—just as they always have refrained from handling matter relating to the numerous other kinds of foreign lotteries patronized by players in this country.

"By this action, these organizations make easier the task of this department, which must exclude from the mails, as the law directs, newspapers which carry matter relating to these lotteries. The law also requires us to subject to prosecution persons depositing or causing to be deposited in the mails, newspapers in which such matter appears.

"The action of these national and international news gathering associations is to be commended. It is notice on their part that the newspapers they serve will not hereafter be supplied with information regarding the operation of foreign sweepstakes, and carries the hope that such information will not be obtained from any other source, reliable or otherwise, and attempted to be printed.

"Just recently it was developed in the case of one of these foreign sweepstakes that the promoters, in an endeavor to advertise their lottery through newspaper publicity, had employed for pay a press agent in this country to furnish newspapers with copy of what purported to be news dealing with various features of their enterprise.

"This effective cooperation on the part of these great press associations in upholding the laws of this country, which are being so flagrantly violated by persons abroad in their eagerness to collect a heavy toll from American citizens, will, it is hoped, bring about a condition which will justify the post office department in refraining from the drastic action which it otherwise would be forced to take."

Oil Dealer Dies Following Fight

LONGVIEW, Aug. 21. (AP) — O. Horace Bennett, 52, prominent oil lease dealer, died here today from injuries allegedly received Wednesday afternoon in a fist fight with J. Paul Flannery, an oil operator.

Flannery was free today under $5,000 bond on a murder charge in connection with Bennett's death.

The men were allegedly in a dispute over a commission on an oil sale. Bennett had filed suit against Flannery for collection of the amount.

Witnesses to the fist fight said Bennett was felled by a blow from Flannery's fist. Flannery weighed 240 pounds. Bennett's chin struck marble stairs and he received a fracture at the base of the skull. He failed to regain consciousness after his injury.

Bennett was known to the oil fraternity as the "boss of Tullos," a mushroom oil field town in Louisiana which he ruled in its boom days. He was a recognized leader and a member of the town council.

SHARPEN YOUR BLADES

Like a BARBER HONES HIS RAZOR...

EVERY barber knows that a flat hone is the best way to sharpen a single-edged blade. But a double-edged safety razor blade must have positive, even friction on the bevel at each edge and this requires a curved surface.

We have molded just such a surface right into a bottle. This surface has then been chemically treated and it is offered to you as a perfect razor sharpener guaranteed to make your oldest, dullest blade as sharp as the day it was bought.

And best of all, you pay nothing for the sharpener itself, which is easily worth $1.00. The razor sharpener bottle contains 50c worth of Fitch's Mentho-Pep, a new, refreshing, germicidal after-shaving lotion. A 25c tube of Fitch's Sterilized Shaving Cream completes the combination and your total cost for this $1.75 value is only 69c!

Fitch's Sterilized Shaving Cream is an alkali-free, lubricating cream that provides a smooth surface for the razor to glide over.

Here's the shaving combination every man has been looking for. Get yours today. If your dealer can't supply you, write F. W. Fitch Co., Des Moines, Iowa.

Heap Big Mayor Beats Tomtom

Since Mayor George Baker, of Portland, Oregon, didn't join the "Apaches" when he recently visited Paris as a member of the American mayoralty party touring France, the Indians who inhabit the Glacier National Park took him into their tribe when the city executive stopped off for a visit at the park on his way back to Portland. Thoroughly enjoying himself, Mayor Baker is shown beating the tomtom for his own initiation.

Secretary Of War Hurley Is Not On To His Chopsticks But His Wife Is

TOKYO, Aug. 21. (AP)—Secretary of War Hurley doesn't know his chopsticks as Mrs. Hurley does.

The secretary was completely outclassed by his wife in use of the implements here tonight when they attended an informal Japanese style dinner given in their honor by the American ambassador W. Cameron Forbes.

Mrs. Hurley lived in Tokyo as a girl when her father was an embassy naval attache. She showed the other guests that she still knew a thing or two about chopsticks. She spurned the use of a fork. Her husband did not.

The Hurleys took off their shoes and sat on the floor and thoroughly enjoyed the dancing of Geisha girls between courses.

The secretary and his wife arrived in Tokyo this morning. Mr. Hurley made a courtesy call on Foreign Minister Shidehara then went sightseeing and attended a luncheon as the guest of Minister of War Minami.

ADD HEALTH TO HOT BREADS

Hot breads are tempting. But often they lack roughage. The absence of bulk from foods often results in constipation.

But now you can have hot breads with roughage. Simply add a cupful of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN to the recipe. This delicious cereal furnishes the bulk needed to assure proper elimination. You will find many appetizing recipes on the red-and-green ALL-BRAN package.

Equally tempting as a ready-to-eat cereal with milk or cream. Two tablespoonfuls daily are guaranteed to prevent and relieve both temporary and recurring constipation. In severe cases, use with each meal.

ALL-BRAN also furnishes needed iron for the body. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE E. BEAN
Avalanche Woman's Editor

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Aug. 20. — Civilization had invaded the land of the Indian in Wednesday's program of The First American. Bronze bodies that had been clad in a breech cloth on Tuesday evening were covered with elaborate costumes on Wednesday. Some of the dances showed the influence of the European invaders—one having almost the step and form of the square dance.

The steady bum, bum of the tom tom, however, and the wierd chant of the Indian braves lent the necessary atmosphere for this red man's show.

After days of brilliant sunshine, clouds come up each evening from the rugged Sandias and Manzanos to splatter raindrops on crowds as they gather for the First American performances. Tuesday evening, a cold wind swept across the valley to make dancing difficult for the performers and fill eyes of spectators with sand. The show is an outdoor one and crowds gather under the stars to watch the Indian against a midnight blue background of peaks that have flashed each evening with spectacular lightning—nature's setting for a primitive show.

THE Indian steals The First American performances and Spaniards that have been introduced thus far have been an unintentional comedy relief. Bushy black moustaches pasted on the faces of the calvary unit in Wednesday's show had every appearance of the burlesque, even across the broad plain that serves as a stage. Back of them, however, the Indian tribes formed a picturesque setting as they gathered outside the pueblo to watch various scenes—unconsciously presenting a spectacular and colorful picture. Not until the end did any considerable number of Indians appear on the wind-swept stage at one time. Then some 26 or 28 tribes gathered around a flickering bon fire in the dance of peace—forming an enormous ring—in an eerie episode as their queerly painted and clad figures swayed in uncanny silhouettes against the central fire that furnished the only light.

The modern crowd enjoyed, particularly, a wedding scene in the evening performance. Contrasted to the conventional wedding of America today, the groom and not the bride received the attention. He even carried the bouquet of flowers, from which the bride was allowed to pluck one small spray.

Interest in the custom was mingled, too, with an appreciation of the beautiful love songs and calls of the San Juan wedding ceremony. Haske Naswood, popular Navajo singer, and Princess Lou-Sha-Enya, another of the featured singers in the perforamnce, sang in the roles of bride and groom. No musical instruments, other than the tom tom, have been used in the show to date and soloists voices give listeners a peculiar thrill as they are lifted into the open sky with a surprising clarity and volume.

AMERICANS, accustomed to the conventions of the present-day stage, have an appreciative response for the Indian boys who are allowed to participate in the ceremonial dances. One lad of some five summers overshadowed his older companions in a dance last evening when he led the group on to the stage and danced tirelessly through the performance responding to every cue of the chanters—the inevitable accompaniment to the dancing—even though he had some difficulty in keeping his costume on in his rhythmic leapings.

The Peyote drinking song — the Indian equivalent to Sweet Adeline —the butterfly dance of the Taos tribe and the riding song of the Navajos were high lights in the series of tribal offerings. Those who have thrilled to the open spaces and the clear prairie nights when the song of some lone cowboy has been wafted through the teeming darkness had an additional thrill when the almost nude Navajos rode bareback out of the darkness chanting their song in rich, though minor, baritones, and disappeared again into inky void that surrounded the First American crowds.

Our day was filled Wednesday when we visited the newly formed art colony in Old Albuquerque and later crossed town to call at the studio of Carl Redin, New Mexico landscape artist who has taught and exhibited in Lubbock. We met Mr. Redin down at the Isleta reservation early in the afternoon and received an invitation then to call at this studio late in the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Knox Thomas, Miss Virginia Milam and a Mr. Johnson are out here from Lubbock and are staying at the Redin studio during the week. Our visit there had something of the spirit of a Lubbock reunion.

Miss Lucille Johnson, Who Is To Wed This Morning, Is Honored At Thursday Affair By Four Hostesses

A party for Miss Lucille Johnson, who is to marry Dr. J. B. McCorkle this morning in a ceremony at the Broadway Church of Christ, was one of the attractive events of Thursday evening. Mesdames J. E. George and Ernest Dye, Misses Virginia Hufstedler and Modelle Simpson were hostesses for the occasion.

The honoree was presented with a shower of miscellaneous gifts during the party. About 50 persons called.

Club events have held interest in society here this week. Three tables were arranged for the party given members of the Ace Hi club Thursday afternoon by Mrs. V. R. Plummer in her home at 2119 14th street.

Mrs. Charles Piles and Mrs. Hugh Norman, who made high in the games, were presented with favors.

A salad and ice course was served to the following guests: Mesdames C. A. Nowlin, Hugh Norman, Jack Griggs, Charles Piles, Allan Webb, Dick Abbott, Lola Shuey, J. D. Shaw, E. Paul Carter, C. W. Ratliff, C. G. Parr and Bill Watson.

Members of the Coo Coo club were entertained Thursday evening by Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Terry in their home at 3507 21st street. Bridge was played.

High scores in the games went to Mrs. L. N. Thomas and E. L. Pitts.

Guests were Messrs. and Mesdames Pitts, Thomas, W. A. Sylvester, Vestel Lott and E. C. Henley.

Kathryn Price of Amarillo was named as honor guest at the party given by Betty Lee Lindsey Thursday evening in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest L. Lindsey, 1918 22nd street.

Table games were played during the evening and an ice course was served.

Guests were Miss Price, Chalones Whitacre, Coyette and Eloise McLarty, Catherine Dykes, Mildred Ashmore, Janet Wilson and Catherine Whitehead of Slaton.

Young Exchange Member Is Sought; Believed Kidnaped

NEW YORK, Aug. 21. (AP)—Police disclosed today they have been searching for Charles Rosenthal, 25-year-old member of the New York curb exchange, in the belief he had been kidnaped and was being held for $100,000 ransom.

Rosenthal, who lives in Lawrence, L. I., disappeared August 11. A few days after he dropped from sight, police said, his parents turned over to them a letter they had received demanding $100,000 for their son's safe return. Inspector Harold King of the Nassau county police, in charge of the search, refused to divulge details of the letter.

West Texas Citizens Meet To Boost Irrigation Move

SAN ANGELO, Aug. 21. (AP)—Several hundred citizens were gathered at Oak Creek school house, 15 miles west of Winters, today boosting the proposed irrigation project along the Colorado river. John Norris, chairman of the board of water engineers, and Donald O'Neil, president of Ulen Securities company were chief speakers at the rally and barbecue.

The contemplated project embraces between 75,000 and 100,000 acres, and the meeting today is preliminary to formation of a district.

TOP IS PAID

TYLER, Aug. 21. (AP) — Seventy cents a barrel was a top price paid for crude oil here today. Pete Burton, East Texas operator, said he sold 40,000 barrels at that price.

Special motor-coach trips from the seaside have been arranged so that Blackburn, England, unemployed may draw the dole while on vacation.

Fashion's Pendulum Swings Back To Sweaters

BY LUCY CLAIRE
Fashion Writer For Central Press

Fashion's ever-swinging pendulum is bringing back the sweater. It is not, however, the sweater we knew during the war, or shortly after, when fashion's pendulum for sweaters had swung to the forty-fifth degree, and simply had to come back to normal.

The new sweaters are something very different. They may be slip-on or buttoned models, but they have those feminine touches so much in the vogue at the moment. To those watching fashion trends, it was but natural to predict a return to the sweater owing to the vogue for hand crochet, and the fascinating stitches being introduced. The new sweaters combine pearl crochet thread yokes and cuffs with a yarn doby. Though the sweater may be either knit or crocheted, women find the crochet stitches go easier and quicker than the knit stitches, and now that everything is open mesh, crochet is quite the thing.

Of course hand crocheted beret has been a forerunner of the hand crocheted sweater, and the beret, they tell us, is going on right through fall, crocheted from either the pearl cotton crochet thread they have been using, or from fine mending yarn, as the weather grows cooler.

The sketch shows a French net beret of the pearl cotton crochet thread, with a scarf in the same stitch to match, together with a blouse sweater in the same French net mesh. The beret may be plain, draped or rolled, and the scarf may be draped at front or back. The chic sweater blouse here shown, with the short jacket and the matching-the-sweater beret and scarf, as sketched at the center, makes a smart golf or other sports ensemble with pleated or collette skirt.

The sweater blouse is double breasted, with wide revers and raglan sleeves, more like a regulation blouse than a sweater, and is very easy to crochet in the French net mesh stitch. The jacket is of brown corduroy with a matching brown skirt of crepy woolen. The pattern for making is available at all well equipped pattern departments. The sweater blouse is also shown in detail as are the beret and scarf.

Short Jacket Smart

Equally smart for wear under the short jacket, or with the separate skirt, is the slip-on sweater combining a pearl cotton thread crochet yoke and cuffs with a wool yarn body. The yoke and cuffs are in white, interpreted in Irish crochet stitch, while the body of the sweater is in brown, interpreted in a French net stitch. Both the Irish crochet stitch and the French net stitch are two of the quickest and easiest in crocket work. Directions for making are available with the purchase of the thread and yarn if you ask for them.

Don't forget that the sweater is a necessity to the girl returning to school or college in the fall, and that now is the time to start making one. The very simple blouse sketched is also an easy to make garment, and the school or college girl will need several, made up in tub material, for wear under the sweater, or with her suit without the sweater. The pattern for this is also procurable at pattern departments.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Riddle, 1622 15th street, have as their guests their daughter, Mrs. Harry Perkins, and granddaughter, Harriett Perkins, of Fort Worth.

Two Men Critically Hurt As Result Of Gun Fight

GREENPORT, N. Y., Aug. 21. (AP) —Two men listed as John Johnson and Carl Reiter were in a critical condition at a hospital here, as a result of what police said was a gun battle between coast gaurdsmen and rum runners in Long Island sound.

Coast guard headquarters in New York reported that the rum-runner, which they believed to be the speedboat Artemis, rammed the coast guard patrol boat and escaped in the dark. Coast guardsmen believe several shots they fired struck the two men who applied at a former's home for aid and were taken to the hospital.

Two Men Killed, One Other Hurt By Plunge From Bridge

ROLLA, Mo., Aug. 21. (AP)—Two men, believed to be Howard Bone and Carl Plummer of Springdale, Ark., were killed and a third was injured critically when a large truck plunged off highway 66 at a bridge at Arlington, near here, at 2 a. m. today.

The third man, unconscious here in a hospital, was not identified immediately.

President Ortiz Rubio To Give Chinese Protection

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 21. (AP) — President Ortiz Rubio today promised Chinese merchants of Mazatlan guarantees for protection of their lives and businesses which they had claimed were menaced by an anti-Chinese campaign in the states of Sinaloa and Sonora.

Reports from Sonora said 150 Chinese business establishments had been closed by state inspectors for alleged violation of the local labor law requiring that 80 per cent of their personnel be Mexicans.

London Paper Says Session Awaits Return Of Stimson

LONDON, Aug. 21. (AP)—The Daily Herald said today that plans for an international conference to consider the revision of German reparations and the scaling down of war debts would be laid when Secretary of State Stimson returns to Washington.

The paper said diplomats on the continent were discussing the likelihood of a new Hoover plan, wider in scope than the present moratorium, being announced toward the end of the year.

A movement has been started to reopen the observatory on the Summit of Ben Nevis, in Scotland, which has fallen into disrepair.

EXPLAIN SIMILARITY OF ROASTING PROCESS AND HOUR-GLASS
Hills Bros.' Patented Process Produces a Fine, Even Roast Because Coffee Berries Pass Through the Roasters "a Little at a Time"
A stream of sand sifting from a globe on top through a narrow neck into a corresponding globe on the bottom ... that's an hour-glass. And just as its accuracy depends upon an even, continuous flow ... a little at a time ... so the matchless, uniform flavor of Hills Bros. Coffee is produced by Controlled Roasting—Hills Bros.' patented process that roasts evenly, continuously ... a little at a time.
Temperature and flow of coffee through the roasters are automatically controlled with this process. As a result, every berry is roasted to the degree that assures perfect flavor in every pound. Bulk-roasting methods seldom achieve such a thing.
It is Controlled Roasting that gives Hills Bros. Coffee a flavor no other coffee has. Insist on Hills Bros. Coffee. It is packed in vacuum cans. Air, which destroys the flavor of coffee, is removed and kept out of these cans. Even ordinary, "air-tight" cans won't keep coffee fresh. But Hills Bros. Coffee is ever-fresh. Order some today. Ask for it by name, and look for the Arab trademark on the can.

Littlefield Stops Hubbers; Vernon Is Here Tonight

Muellermen In 10-8 Victory; Errors Figure

Vernon Hurler Displays Stuff On Littlefield Mound; Ray Waller Leaves Hillock And Town But Hits Homer

BY COLLIER PARRIS
Avalanche Sports Editor

According to predictions Manager Art Mueller brought his Littlefield Cyclones to Lubbock yesterday and piloted them to their second victory of the day. After eking out a hard-earned 1 to 0 victory over Vernon Cardinals on their home field in the afternoon, the Littlefield boys came over and smacked the Lubbock Hubbers for a 10 to 8 win.

As earned runs go, Lubbock won the game last night for they earned six of their tallies to Littlefield's three, but ball games are determined by the total number and not by the earned number. A half-dozen displays, four of them rank errors, on the part of Lubbock's representatives last night were responsible for their loss.

Vernon Hurler Fails

Mike Williams, a regular infielder on the Vernon Cardinal team and not a pitcher by profession, took over Littlefield's mound duties last night and was given errorless support, save for three passed balls, while the Cyclones hammered Ray Waller right smartly to gain a neat lead. Ed Hambright, an outfielder by choice and instinct, went in as a relief chunker and held the visitors scoreless while he gave up two hits in the last four innings.

Ray Waller partially redeemed himself, however, by clouting out a home run to score Galey ahead of him while he was still pitching. It was Ray's finishing gesture for the Lubbock club this season, as he leaves today for Central Texas to take charge of his high school coaching duties. His clout last night was one of the hardest ones seen at Merrill Park in several moons, the ball taking a long, straight ride over the left field fence. He singled once before and later drew a walk to have a good day at bat save for one strikeout.

Rally In Ninth

The Hubbers started a rally in the ninth that ended when Umpire Hubbard called a third strike on Hambright that, according to the consensus of public opinion, should have been the fourth ball. Previously Harold Crites had led off with a sharp double and scored on Marshall's double. Marshall stole third while Foxx and Patterson were striking out but died there. Neudie Moore, the Littlefield ace, after winning his game with Vernon, went in to pitch the last two innings, striking out the last three men to face him.

Littlefield started with a rush, taking two unearned runs in the first after Walker had struck out. Walker lived to slash out two burning three-baggers and walked once to account for four scores. Mueller was safe on Hambright's error at short and Catcher Hanks tripled, scoring when Galey made one of his startlingly few errors at the plate on the throw in after Ballard batted. Mueller scored on the triple.

Hubbers Start Scoring

Lubbock responded with three runs in the second. Dirty Waller had doubled and Crites had followed with a single in the first but they failed to score. In the second, Grisham struck out, Patterson lammed one for an extra base and Hambright walked. Big Galey proceeded to tap one to deep center which cleared the bases and sent him to third. He scored on a passed ball. Ray Waller followed with a single but Dickey struck out. Dirty Waller walked as Ray was caught at second.

Littlefield tallied four times in the fourth and four times in the fifth and, the result of errors and a hitting spree in the fifth. The bat went nearly around and Ray was sent to center field, Hambright coming in to chunk.

Lubbock added a pair in the fourth when Waller homered, Galey getting on before him when Blackshear chose to catch Hambright, who had singled, at second on Galey's offering. Two more came in the sixth when Pat Patterson singled and Hambright doubled, Galey singling to drive them in. Galey was caught in a force play at second and the next two were out.

PITCHER'S BOX

"Blue-Eyes" Graham, stellar little righthander of the Plains, probably will get the nod for Lubbock's mound work tonight when the Hubbers meet the strong Vernon Cardinals. Graham arrived last night and played shortstop in the Littlefield game. He will be opposed by Roy "Red" Mints, a righthander who until recently was a member of the Fort Worth Panther hurling staff.

Wichita Falls Splits Double

Spudders Take First In 6-0 Shutout; Bakermen Return To Win Nightcap, 6 To 1; Vincent Stingy In Opener

(By The Associated Press)

BEAUMONT, Aug. 21.—Swinging into action after two days of idleness on account of rain, the Wichita Falls Spudders and the Exporters split a double header here Friday afternoon, the Spudders taking the opener, 6-0 and the Shippers capturing the night-cap, 6-1. Fred Vincent limited the Baker boys to a single and a double in the opener while his buddies collected 11 safeties beside fielding in sensational fashion. Whitlow Wyatt set the Spuds back with four hits in the second. Wyatt banged out a homer to help. Easterling also hit for the circuit.

Former Superintendent Of Instruction To Be Buried

MARLIN, Aug. 21. (AP) — W. F. Doughty, 58, former state superintendent of public instruction, died here last night. Funeral arrangements were pending today.

Doughty, a native of Mississippi, began his school career in Arkansas. He came to Texas while still a young man and served as school superintendent at McGregor, Marlin and Hillsboro.

He served six years as state superintendent. He also was a director of vocational training for disabled veterans in the southwestern district.

Survivors were his widow; one son, Walter Doughty, Dallas; and one daughter, Mrs. Lucille Allen, Lynchburg, Va.

The University of Wisconsin is building new steel and concrete stands in Camp Randall stadium to seat 2,500, replacing wooden stands.

Seven Chicago radio stations are on the air almost daily with broadcasts of Cubs and White Sox ball games.

Mt. Sterling, O., boasts the only polo ball factory in the United States. It was started about a year ago.

Paul Dean, brother of Dizzy, pitched Springfield in the Western association to victory in his first appearance with the team.

Instructor At Olustee Is Found Dead; Funeral Today

ALTUS, Okla., Aug. 21. (AP)—L. C. Shelton, 37, vocational agriculture instructor in the Olustee school system, was found dead yesterday in shallow water at Turner Falls, near Sulphur.

Shelton, who accompanied a group of Olustee boys on a camping trip to the falls, was believed to have suffered a stroke and to have collapsed in the water where the campers were swimming.

Funeral services will be at Gould tomorrow. Shelton is survived by his parents, six brothers and three sisters at Gould, and a brother at Amarillo, Texas.

Allen Ware? He's Captain At Lehigh University, Yes

By NEA Service

BETHLEHEM, Pa., Aug. 21.—Allen Ware of Lehigh University ought to be quite a busy young man during the coming school year.

When football calls are sounded, Ware will report. He is captain.

Early winter will find basketball activities getting under way. Ware will be interested, inasmuch as he is the captain.

Spring and a young man's fancy ought to turn to moonlight nights. But not Ware's. His turns to baseball. You see he's the captain.

The Babe Hits 35th Homer To Aid Yanks Win

Bambino Hits 600th Homer Of Major League Career; Lou Hits 34th Of Season; Sens Beat Indians; A's Win

(By The Associated Press)

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 21.—Babe Ruth started things off again today when he walloped his 35th home run of the season and the 600th of his major league career in the third inning against the Browns. The homer, followed immediately by Lou Gehrig's 34th of the year, put the Yanks on the road to an 11 to 7 victory over St. Louis. The Babe left the game in the seventh inning by order of Umpire Van Grafilin when he protested long and loudly that Ralph Kress' homer had hit the bleacher wall instead of going into the stands.

"THEY CALL ME DIZZY"

BY JEROME H. (DIZZY) DEAN

Our Hero Brings Title To Santone Sandlots—Strikes Out 16 To Please Scribe—Refuses Drink, Grabs Contract

While I was fooling around San Antonio trying to figure out a way of getting my name in the papers, I got a chance to pitch for an amateur team there. That night I dropped by a newspaper office to say to one of the sports editors, "I'm gonna pitch tomorrow and thought I'd ask you how many men you want me to strike out."

That was a laugh for him, but right away he comes back with, "Strike out 16."

That sort of stumped me. Sixteen men are a lot to fan, even among these sandlot hicks, because you don't know when a guy is going to boot one or a catcher is going to miss the third strike. But it was a chance to attract attention, so I went on the field next day and did it.

On Monday of the next week, I got an offer to go with the Public Service team in San Antonio. This was a pretty good ball club, made up of fast amateurs. The first game I pitched I won and fanned about nine or 10. I got a laugh at the way some of those chaps swung at anything. All you had to do was get two strikes on them and then start working on 'em.

That year I won 13 games pitching just on Saturdays and Sundays. We won the state championship and I pitched two championship series games and won 'em. After that series I could see that old major league dream of mine coming true.

The Houston amateur champions were playing us in San Antonio. Pancho Snyder, now catching for St. Paul, was managing Houston. He came out to the game and asked me to come over to the San Antonio league park and work out next day.

I couldn't sleep that night. Here was the big chance. I was disappointed, however, because I thought he would let me pitch for Houston. He only asked me to throw him some balls. He seemed impressed.

Snyder returned to Houston and sent Don Curtis, Cardinal scout, around to see me. Don hid out in the grandstand and I didn't know he was there. We had a punk team to play and I wasn't bearing down any harder than I had to.

About the fifth inning I found out he was there and you should have seen me go then. If a guy made a loud foul off me I got mad because I saw that old major league contract waving at me.

We were playing the Cuban All-Stars that day. The Cubans got one lucky hit and that before I found out that Don was in the stands. We beat 'em 8-1 and I struck out about 10 of 'em.

After the game, Don asked me to meet him in the Hamilton Hotel next day. I never touched the ground going home—I was walking on air.

Next day Rollie Harris, manager of the Public Service team, went with me. We met Don in the lobby. He invited us to his room.

When we got there, Don asked Harris if he would have a drink and Harris declined. He then passed it to me and I said:

"Nope, I'm not interested. You can't get to the big leagues that way."

Then and there Don became interested and told me to pack my bag and get ready to go to Houston, but Harris objected since we were a cinch in the state championship if I pitched. Don finally agreed to let Harris keep me for the duration of the season.

Mrs. Moody Only Survivor Of Americans In Tennis Tourney

Three British Women Advance To Semi-Finals With Queen Helen Left To Try For Title Held By Nuthall

BY GAYLE TALBOT

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 21. The Union Jack waved triumphantly over the Ramparts at Forest Hills tonight after an embattled day that saw three members of the British Wightman Cup team sweep into the semi-finals of the 44th national women's tennis championship.

Alone of the huge American field that started the quest for the title Monday, Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, San Francisco, survived to continue the fight against the invaders.

Mrs. Eileen Bennett, Whittingstall, erased Helen Jacobs, Berkeley, Cal., 3-6, 6-3, 8-6.

Phillis Mudford, another of old England's representatives, attended to Mrs. Lawrence Harper, Oakland, Calif., America's official No. 1 player, 4-6, 6-3, 8-6. As a result of her strong showing in the last two sets, it was predicted Miss Mudford would give the great Moody more than usual competition in their semifinal bout tomorrow.

If she does, it will be more than Dorothy Weisel, Sacremento was able to accomplish today. Mrs. Moody played a soft, careful stroke all the way to win by scores of 6-1, 6-2.

Milt Simpson, the prophetic blacksmith of Iola, Kas., has sent his horseshoe to the St. Louis Cardinals this year as his world' champion choice.

Jim Galloway, former baseball player, manager and owner, has started umpiring in the Texas league.

"Fudge" Yockey, city golf champion of Kansas City, Kas., is making a tour playing exhibition matches as partner of "Titanic" Thompson.

Civil Suit Papers Against Post And Gatty Are Filed

CHIPPEWA FALLS, Wis., Aug. 21. (AP)—Papers in a civil suit started here against Wiley Post and Harold Gatty, round-the-world fliers, were on their way to Minneapolis today for service. The suit, alleging breach of contract, was filed by Roy L. Brecke, state American Legion commander, who claimed they failed to appear at the state convention here Wednesday.

The fliers circled the field where they were scheduled to land, then flew on to Chippewa Falls airport, two miles away, refusing to return to the fairgrounds to speak to the crowd, Brecke said. He added that they refused because the crowd was "too small."

Philly Outfielder To Help Coach Louisiana Tech Grid

RUSTON, La., Aug. 21. (AP)—Hal Lee, utility outfielder for the Philadelphia Nationals, will help coach the Louisiana Tech football team.

Lee, the director of athletics here said, will report to Coach George Bohler the first week in October. Lee was an all-star athlete at Mississippi college during his school days.

He played end in football, was a guard on the basketball team and played at shortstop in baseball for his alma mater.

Lee will coach the line, Bohler said.

Braves Scrape 2-1 Win Over Pirate Forces

Wally Berger Clouts Homer To Help Boston Cause As Tribe Takes Lead In Series; Cant And Brame In Battle

(By The Associated Press)

BOSTON, Aug. 21.—The Braves gained an edge in the series with the Pirates by taking the third game, 2 to 1, today. Cantwell and Brame indulged in a pitcher's battle, with Wally Berger contributing his 17th home run of the season as a potent factor in the victory.

Despite three errors by his teammates, Cantwell was given sensational support. Maranville contributed several fielding features.

The NUT CRACKER

BY COL. JOE O'GOOFTY

Every rainy day makes it just that much tougher on your Uncle Wilbert Robinson. When the baseball correspondents have no game to write about they always fire Uncle Robbie for their papers.

It is most griping to the round Robin to hear the Flatbush wolves yelping for his wig now. He says it is so different than it used to be when the Robins were going no where with startling rapidity.

"But they can't make me quit," he declares, "and they can't make my boys quit either—that is, if they ever get going."

I have heard rumors, too, that Bill McKechnie plans to build up a young ball team in Boston next season. He will save Rabbit Maranville as a nucleus.

Was it old man Aesop who said "the race is not always to the swift?" Or was it Connie Mack, whose team has stolen less than half as many bases as Ben Chapman alone?

You've heard the one about the motorman who went for a street car ride on his off day. Well, Hack Wilson got a furlough the other day and took his family out to watch the White Sox.

Dallas Murder Confessed By Man; Attack Is Said Cause

DALLAS, Aug. 21. (AP)—Gordon R. O'Neal, 40 testified today he shot and killed Lawrence Vineyard, 38, to avenge an attack on his 13-year-old daughter.

O'Neal was freed on $2,000 bond after his examining trial. He said he had known Vineyard about three months. Tesuday night his daughter told him of the alleged attack.

O'Neal said his wife had gone to the district attorney's office yesterday morning and filed a charge of criminal attack against Vineyard. Officers were trying to locate Vineyard when the shooting occurred.

Vernon Cards Meet Hubbers Tonight, 8:30

Neudie Moore Hurls Muellermen To 1-0 Victory Over Vernon Yesterday; Cards Open 2-Game Series Here

BY BILL SHERRILL
(Special To The Avalanche)

LITTLEFIELD, Aug. 21. — A singing triple coupled with fast base running by a former Vernon star, Damon Simmons, sent the crack semi-professional club of the lower Panhandle, Vernon's Cardinals, to deefat in the opening contest of its invasion of the Plains as Nuedie Moore, brother of the major-league hurler, Wiley Moore, pitched the Littlefield Cyclones to a 1-0 victory over the invaders here this afternoon.

The Vernon club went to Lubbock early tonight where it will engage the Hubbers in a pair of contests, Saturday and Sunday afternoon. Friday morning, before leaving Vernon, two players were added to the original Cardinals roster of 12 men. They were Logan Williams, hard-hitting utility performer, and Lee Minis, an outfielder.

Run In Second

The only run of the tilt came in the second inning when the Cyclones bunched two of their three blows off Bert Williams, young Card hurler, for the tally. With one batter out in this frame, the ex-Vernon outfielder cracked a single to right field which went for a triple as Webb attempted a shoe-string catch and overran the ball. Thornton dropped a bunt down the first base line which Ladd fielded, but a perfect slide into home base by the speedy Simmons brought in the victory tally.

Bert Williams pitched a fine game for the Cardinals although wildness kept him in trouble in the early innings. He apparently improved as the game went on, only one Littlefield batter reaching first base in the last six innings, the opposing twirler drawing a walk.

Vernon threatened to score repeatedly, placing runners on the paths in all but two innings, but Moore tightened in the pinches to keep the invaders from the plate. He struck out seven, three of his victims being the trio he faced in the initial inning, while Williams threw the third strike past five batters.

Canton Attack Expected Soon

Independent Canton Government Watches Concentration Of Nationalist Troops Upon Fukien Frontier

HONGKONG, Aug. 21. (AP)—The independent Canton government today watched the concentration of advancing nationalist troops in Fukien province, north of here, expecting an attack upon Swatow, on the Cantonese frontier, in about a fortnight.

Some indignation was aroused in Canton by inspired reports that the nationalists, with the aid of German technicians, would use gas in their attack.

Wang Ching-Wei, leftist head of the Canton government, and Chang Pat-Kwai, a general of the Canton armies, remained here. Their projected advance into Hunan province, which is nationalist territory, seemed at a standstill.

Reports were received that the outlaw Kwangsi province general Li Ming-Shu, with 3,000 red troops had entered Hunan province from Kiangsi.

Observers were somewhat perplexed when Chan Chai-Tong, commander of the Canton military forces, recruited 10,000 soldiers in Kwangsi province. Kwangsi leaders have allied themselves with Canton and have been furnishing a considerable portion of the military force back of the Cantonese regime.

When two British sailors were charged with stealing from a Weymouth, England, hotel, a radio message was received from their ship vouching that they bore good characters, and they were let off.

West Point Rookies At Gunnery Class

Here's a fine bunch of raw material going through the process that will make them army commanders. They are members of the new class at the United States Academy at West Point, N. Y., learning to operate machine guns. The boys have had but two weeks of mass command and calisthenic drill instruction but have proven apt pupils in that short time. Notice the earnest expression on the face of the cadet on the extreme left of picture. Evidently he takes his gun seriously.

Third Victim Of High Waves Is Washed Ashore On Friday

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 21. (AP)—The body of the Rev. John W. Cannady, 25, pastor of the Olive Presbyterian church, Baltimore, was washed ashore today at Margate City, six miles from where freak waves carried him off shore last Wednesday while bathing here.

Police identified the body by a ring inside of which his name was inscribed. He was the third victim of the series of high waves which swept the beach.

WOBURN, Mass., Aug. 21. (AP) — Two youths, identified as Patrick McCarthy, 23, of Boston, and Robert Austin, 23, Galveston, Texas, escaped convicts from the state prison at Thomaston, Me., were captured here this afternoon. Three prisoners escaped this week after slugging a guard.

MAN FOUND DEAD

BOSTON, Aug. 21. (AP)—Gardner F. Wells, 60, of New York, president of the Boston, Revere Beach and Lynn railroad, was found dead in his office this morning with a pistol by his side.

Wells, who also was president of the Interstate Railway company and a director of various other corporations, had been in poor health an official of the railway said.

SAVE THAT STATE TAX!

Roll your own, MEN! You don't pay state tax on TARGET cigarettes!

WHAT'S the use of paying BIG money for cigarettes when now it's such a cinch to roll your own with Target? No state tax on Target—that's a big break! And one thin dime buys 30 to 40 cigarettes! And what cigarettes! Real honest-to-gosh tobacco—Virginia, Burley and Turkish, put through exactly the same process as the tobacco in ready-mades, and kept fresh and fragrant with moisture-proof Cellophane.

Two neat packs of gummed-edge cigarette papers come with every package of Target, too. Try rolling a Target at your dealer's with the new inexpensive Target Roller; you get a perfect, round cigarette that looks like a ready-made, tastes like it, and you save at least half a buck a week. If that isn't a break, what is?

AND GET THIS!

The U. S. Government Tax on 20 cigarettes amounts to 6c. On 20 cigarettes you roll from Target tobacco the tax is just about 1c. No wonder you get such value for a dime!

BROWN & WILLIAMSON TOBACCO CORPORATION, LOUISVILLE, KY.

HOW TO ROLL 'EM BETTER THAN READY-MADES!

Treat yourself to the inexpensive Target Roller. Your dealer will demonstrate one. It's the swellest little cigarette maker you ever saw. You can roll rounder and better cigarettes than ready-mades.

HOW TO ROLL 'EM BETTER THE GOOD OLD WAY!

Shake a little Target tobacco on a Target cigarette paper. Target's long cut. It rolls even the full length of the cigarette. Tuck in the paper and roll with both thumbs toward gummed edge.

The New Cigaret Tax

THOUSANDS for special sessions! Thousands for martial law! Thousands for this and thousands for that—and 'Jones' will pay the freight!

That's the war cry of state administrations without number. It's the guiding rule of legislatures scattered over this fair land of ours. And this morning, 'Jones', who is the 'average citizen,' begins 'paying the freight' in a new way in Texas.

During the last regular session the Texas legislature passed a three cent tax on cigarets. Not on tobaccos, mind you, but on cigarets! Thus the great 'middle class'—backbone of the state as well as of the nation—finds itself the 'goat' again.

For some unknown reason—legislatures are 'funny that way'—there was no tax placed upon expensive cigars, upon pipe and cigaret tobacco. Nobody said anything about taxing chewing tobacco, bon-bons, rouge, lipstick, chewing-gum or face powder. In a wild search for more revenue the legislature saddled a cigaret tax on an already over-taxed group of citizens and let it go at that.

The Texas cigaret tax, which goes into effect this morning, is one of the most biased, unfair taxes ever passed by a Texas legislature—and that's going some. If there is a reason behind the lone tax, it is hard to find and why cigarets can be called more of a luxury than other tobaccos, chewing gum or cosmetics, has never been explained by any of the statesmen who voted for the levy. But the new tax is on and poor old 'Jones' will stagger through as he always does, the 'fall guy'.

Literally thousands of Texans will have their cigarets shipped in from Louisiana, New Mexico and Oklahoma—and every time such a shipment comes through it is hard on the Texas wholesaler and retailer. But that means nothing to a legislature. What does it care? It needs money for junketing committees, for special sessions and what-not. The money must come from somewhere and an effort will be made to grind it out of dear old 'Jones'.

Maybe a better is coming. Maybe the next legislature, in a sudden burst of light, will repeal the unfair legislation.

But between now and then, you fellows who smoke cigarets make a mental note of the present your last legislature handed you—and maybe it will help you when you go to the polls in 1932!

WE SALUTE THE EL PASO TIMES!

Carrying with it international complications and in the face of stubborn—and in some cases, dangerous—opposition, The El Paso Times is in the midst of a courageous editorial campaign to close the gambling halls of Jaurez, its Mexican neighbor city.

It is no secret that there are too many people unable to resist the call of the goddess of chance. It is no secret that the gambling habit, once formed, is often more damning to its victims than the whiskey or narcotics habit.

Further, a thorough investigation conducted by The Times has disclosed that too many El Paso workers are neglecting their families, 'riding' their bills and injuring their working efficiency, due to the presence of the Juarez gambling casinos where the lure of the dice, cards and wheels of chance are strong.

It requires no little courage to stand against the elements that sponsor gambling in El Paso and Juarez. It requires no little thought and great care.

The El Paso Times, in its present campaign, is not only performing a service for the business interests of El Paso, but through its action is leading the parade of Texas newspapers back to the point where something besides comment on the weather is filling the editorial pages.

As one newspaper that speaks its mind to another of the same ilk:

"We salute The El Paso Times!"

A democracy is a country where everybody can show how it could have been done.

Practical Health Problems

VITAMINS NOT YET TOTALLY CLASSIFIED

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the twentieth of a series of 36 timely articles by Dr. Morris Fishbein on "Food Truths and Follies," dealing with such much discussed but little known subjects as calories, vitamins, minerals, digestion and balanced diet.

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

WHAT is known as the antineuritic vitamin is not really a substance to be used for all forms of inflammation of the nerves. The vitamin that prevents scurvy unquestionably has other functions, and vitamin A, which was called the antiophthalmic vitamin, has unquestionably other services for the body. Another attempt to classify vitamins is based on the fact that they are soluble in fats or in water. Hence, vitamins A and D have been known as fat soluble A and D, and vitamin C is known as water soluble C.

The substance formerly known as vitamin B has been found in two different vitamins which are now known as vitamin B1 and vitamin B2 or vitamin G. The letter F has become confused because several different factors have been named F. No doubt, when chemistry has progressed sufficiently in its study of these substances their names will be changed and the single letter designations which must inevitably result in confusion, will be dropped.

Whenever a new discovery is made in medicine its commercial exploitation promptly follows. We are given as a nation to mass interests and to adopting promptly any new method of amusement, any new food product, or any new scientific discovery. Everyone can remember the temporary craze for mah jongg, cross-country walking, shaking machines for passive exercise, and ultraviolet rays. Now the furore of interest and exploitation is associated with vitamins.

Practically all natural food substances contain vitamins of one type or another, and the average American diet consisting of varying quantities of a variety of food substances takes care of most of the vitamin needs of the population. There is no reason why most people should drink a quart of orange juice daily; no reason why they should take excessive quantities of cod liver oil or cod liver oil tablets; no reason why they should expose themselves to sunlight to the point of burning. Vitamin deficiency in any single case can only be discovered by a careful study of the diet and health of the individual. A haphazard taking of great quantities of vitamin-containing foods with the hope of improving health generally may injure the very health that is trying to be conserved.

Most of what we know about the vitamins has been learned from feeding experiments on animals. An animal is fed a diet deficient in certain foods. It develops certain disease conditions. The substance is then supplied and the animal recovers. Diets may be varied in many ways. Today throughout the world there are hundreds of nutrition laboratories in which feeding experiments are carried out on fowls, fish and animals. Indeed, there are many nutrition laboratories in which young men volunteer their services in such feeding experiments for the good that may accrue to mankind.

Disarmament Explained

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—A reader in a western state submits this problem:

"I find," he says, "that the average person is very curious to know how naval disarmament reduction will promote prosperity, since it will reduce requirements for labor, as well as for steel and all other supplies incidental to warship building."

Fair enough; maybe I can answer that query.

CHAS. P. STEWART

I'M GLAD, however, that my correspondent didn't ask what guarantee of peace there is in armament reduction, or even in complete disarmament.

For war can be waged with the mose primitive weapons; perhaps with no weapons at all, except teeth, fists and fingernails. A disinclination to fight is the only insurance against fighting.

Sea battles certainly occurred long before the day of armorclads, before the day of steam, before the discovery of high explosives or the invention of catapults. Indeed, early navigators probably exchanged wallops from the cockpits of skin boats and wickerwork coracles before the dawn of history.

IF TODAY'S navies were scuttled to the last destroyer, there would be nothing to prevent the world's powers from engaging in maritime hostilities the following morning with their merchant fleets; armed merchant craft did lots of damage in the last war.

As previously remarked, a disinclination to fight is the only insurance against fighting.

Disarmament, to be sure, would imply such a disinclination, but quite likely it would evaporate upon the first provocation or serious clash of international interests.

Pacifically speaking, then, disarmament is a mere gesture; reduction a still less significant one.

BUT economically speaking, warship curtailment, down to the vanishing point if possible, is entirely a different matter.

In the strictly economic sense, every dollar that goes into a warship or is spent on its upkeep is wasted—except as the vessel may occasionally be employed on a really useful mission. This is not often or for long at a time. In general a man-o'-war is an utterly unproductive piece of machinery.

Leaving its military potentialities out of consideration, what return does it ever yield on the investment in it? Not a nickel's worth.

A warship being so obviously useless (economically), inclusive of all the steel and other materials entering into its construction, it follows that every lick of labor employed in building it and keeping it in commission is 100 per cent non-productive.

Oh, yes, it draws pay.

A force of workingmen can be paid for shoveling a hill into a valley and back again, but who benefits by the operation? The shovelers themselves might just as well be paid for doing nothing.

BESIDES, the wages of the worker who toils at that which is not worth doing, must be paid out of the pocket of some other worker whose product has actual value.

Thus (always speaking economically, not militarily) any program which reduces the number of nonproductive warships it is necessary to build, thereby freeing that much labor for productive purposes, cannot but be a relief to collateral labor.

But what will become of the warship builders?

Well, momentarily their jobs will be gone. Doubtless they will have to be taken care of by emergency means for awhile. Ultimately, as they find productive employment, they will be better off for it; society will be better off, and they are a fraction of society.

Anyway, no people can conceivably profit by shoveling hills into valleys and back again—by nonproductive activity for the mere sake of activity.

ATHLETIC IDEAL

The ideal weight for physical strength and endurance is between 160 and 170 pounds. The ideal height for the same qualities is between 5 feet 1 inch and 5 feet 8 inches.

Because of their very authenticity—they are figures of the national public health service — they come as a shock to the American people, who have always been proud of their more-than-average height as racial heights go and a little bit contemptuous of the shorter, stockier races.

Men who come within these measurements will be pleased with them. They offer a consolation prize for the type that has always envied the "tall, dark and handsome" fellow for his power to fascinate the opposite sex.

Many may aspire to perfect physical strength and endurance but few can claim it, according to these standards. The average American does not qualify, and relatively few men do which is proof that the average or normal may not always be best. What is average is only average; what is best may be something only a few possess.

These are not depressing and discouraging standards, however. The ultra physical strength and endurance is no longer essential except to vaudeville acrobats and professional strong men. Desirable qualities in this day and age are brain power, energy and initiative.

The fellow who really is boss in his own home needs one thing and that is to get married.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

WILLIE LOW—Willie Low, who is now professional at the Lakeside Golf Club of Hollywood, Calif., is famous as a powerful hitter especially with his woods, although he is slightly built and weighs but 140-pounds. Exactly four years after scoring his 285-yard hole-in-one at Rancho, he holed out in one on the difficult 240-yard 18th hole at Lakeside, Los Angeles (October 21, 1927). And several times he has driven the green on the first hole—410 yards—at the Hollywood Country Club, from an elevated tee, carrying an artificial lake more than 250 yards away.

SYNOPSIS: Because his watch charm is found beside the bank cashier's body, Martin Bevis is jailed for the murder and the theft of $25,000. Yet others near the bank that evening included Martin's son-in-law, Bruce, headed for the station, and Pierre, who had wandered in half-dazed desperation after impulsively lending Bruce the savings set aside for his stage training. Pierre does not know that his estranged father, Roy Donovan, is back of the gold mine scheme for which Bruce wants the money. After Martin's arrest Ann tearfully shows Tony and Pierre a letter from Bruce, who had left ostensibly on a short business trip, saying that he won't return. Previously Bruce had insinuated that Ann and Pierre were more than friends.

Chapter 24
A DESERT MYSTERY

Dripping Spring is a spot in the Nevada desert. The nearest human habitation—if Jimmie Harrigan's camp in the Biscuit Hills may be called a habitation—is a day and a half to the west and south by a faintly marked trail. Red Butte, a typical desert mining town, lies two days east by trail across Burro Mesa. Red Butte touches civilization by way of a road 80 miles to Red Butte Station, which is on a railroad.

The vast expanse of Burro Mesa slopes imperceptibly toward the west and a slight depression, beginning in the central part of this great plain, deepens into a draw, and becomes at last a canyon which opens out onto the lower desert levels where the mesa ends in a wall-like declivity.

Dripping Spring, in the mouth of this canyon, is known only to a few venturesome prospectors and their kind. It would be difficult to imagine a greater contrast to the Ohio village where Pierre Donovan had grown to manhood, and it is no wonder that the soda fountain clerk amid such surroundings was bewildered and dismayed.

The end of the day was near and the pack-saddles, bed rolls, and cooking utensils lying about indicated a camp for the night. Pierre, tired and begrimed from a long march on the hot desert trail, was searching among the thinly scattered weeds for something to make a campfire. Often he paused to look wonderingly around.

From that lonely spot the desert stretched away until in the mysterious distance earth and sky became one. The sun was almost touching the higher peaks of a mountain range so far away that it appeared as a gray-blue cloud; but in all the sky there was no cloud. And the land lay as empty and silent as the sky.

The loneliness, the silence, to Harriet Noel's son, were appalling.

Suddenly the silence was broken by a rich Irish voice. "Come away out of that now, Kate! Yo blunderin' she-devil av a burro! Can't I never larn ye to keep yer dirty nose out av the spring? 'Tis five years and more that I've been waterin' ye at this place, and niver a time that ye did not try to spoil the drink fer yer betters."

The voice came again: 'Hey, you Jack, loog to yer feet whilst I put yer hobbles on. Now git on, the lot of yez.'

There was a sound of blows and scurrying hoofs, and then from around a rocky corner came a man of the desert. His age might have been anywhere from 40 to 80. His lean stringy body was as straight as a gun-barrel and he walked with the easy, tireless movement of the old-time prospector. The years he had lived under the fierce desert sun had marked his features with innumerable lines, desert skies had given his blue eyes a serene courage and an unwavering fidelity. In one hand he carried four lead ropes, in the other a cloth-covered canteen, dripping wet from the spring. Tossing the ropes on the nearest pack-saddle he took the canteen to Pierre.

"Av all the jack-asses I've ever known in my long career—an' I've known a lot, animals and human—thim four old burros av mine do be the most exasperatin' limit! And that's the truth or my name's not Jimmie Harrigan! Have a drink?"

Pierre smiled. "Thanks, but I filled up at spring when we first arrived."

"Sure ye did, but have another, anyhow. Too much water will be an experience that ye'll remember wid pleasure when ye're out in that danged old desert yonder."

Pierre, with a laugh, raised the canteen to his lips.

"Speakin' av water," the desert man continued, "there do be tracks av strange burros down around the spring. The beasts never come from my place and they did not come from Red Buttle or we would have seen their signs these last two days. I'm thinkin' 'tis more than likely thim burros belong to the two men ye're lookin' fer."

"You think Bruce Carey and the man he is with are near here?" cried Pierre eagerly.

"No, lad, 'tis certain I am that Colorado Bill and his friend Burnes, that you think is the man Bruce Carey that ye're so wishful to find, are not in this neighborhood. 'Tis like I told you—I seen thim men wid me own two eyes a-headin' toward Mother Mountain. They ain't come back or they'd be here, or at least their tracks would. Now, the only waterhole on Mother Mountain is Blackwater Tanks. Sometimes there's water at the Tanks, and sometimes there is not. These burros bein' here at Drippin' Spring may have come back from Blackwater Tanks because there's little or no water there right now.

"Blackwater Tanks is no more than a hollow in the rocks, and not

Struggle For Million Dollar Trust Fund Enters New Phase At Chicago

CHICAGO, Aug. 21. (AP)—A struggle for a million dollar trust fund which has been waged for several years in the courts of Illinois, New York, and France by Capt. Christian Channing Gross and Mrs. Virginia Harrison Gross entered a new phase today.

Judge Joseph B. David, who signed a divorce decree yesterday which settled some of their tangled marital affairs, only to vacate his order a few minutes later, ordered attorneys for the litigants to confer with him today.

Robert Cantwell, jr., attorney for the former Chicagoan who now is in the U. S. diplomatic service at Ottawa, moved the vacation of the divorce, saying it was necessary to determine the paternity of a three-year-old daughter of Mrs. Gross to protect the child's rights in sharing the trust fund. Cantwell said Capt. Gross did not deny fatherhood of the child. He merely wanted a ruling on the point.

Cantwell said that Capt. Gross had asked for a leave of absence in order to come to Chicago in order to tell his story of the child, inasmuch as further action depends on the court's paternity ruling. Gross also asked that Mrs. Gross, together with the child, Ana, be brought from France to the Chicago courts.

The Grosses acknowledge the parentage of two children, of whom Capt. Gross has obtained custody. If the court rules the third also is the daughter of Capt Gross, then he also will attempt to gain custody of her. Cantwell said Gross, was unaware of Anna's existence until she was almost three years old.

Mrs. Gross is the daughter of Francis Burton Harrison, former governor-general of the Phillippines and heiress of a large San Francisco estate. They were married in 1922 and separated in 1928.

WOMAN SENTENCED

BIRMINGHAM, Eng., Aug. 21. (AP) Daisy Simpson, 36, described by the police as "the worst in Birmingham," appeared in police court today for the 102nd time.

The magistrate, sentencing her to six months at hard labor for picking a truck driver's pocket, called her a "vulture who lurks in the darkness to rob drunken men."

Periodical Pains Relieved In 3 Minutes

Month after month some women still suffer needless pain, but those who know simply go to a drug store or soda fount, get a package or dose of "B-C" and get perfect relief in 3 minutes, continuing their duties in pain-free, easy comfort.

"B-C" is the formula of two North Carolina druggists, contains several ingredients that function together for the relief of headache, neuralgia and periodical pains, accomplishing in a few minutes what no one drug formula can do under 1 to 3 hours.

"B-C" stops the pain, quiets the nerves, is perfectly harmless. No other preparation like it. Nothing else gives such profound relief. Ask your druggist, he knows. (Adv).

livin' water like Drippin' Spring here. And that water-hole may be dry, we've had no rain for so long a time."

"But if there is no water the men would come back, too, wouldn't they?"

"They would if—" The Irishman hesitated, then as if to reassure his companion, "it may be av course that there's a little water in the Tanks, and that Colorado Bill has turned his burros loose to save what there is fer himself and yer friend, Bruce, knowing that the beasts would come back here to Drippin' Spring and that he could pick them up again on his way back to Red Butte after he and yer friend had stayed on Mother Mountain as long as what little water there is in the Tanks lasts. But I don't like it at all."

"Is there anything we can do, Mr. Harrigan?"

"Nothin' more than to go straight ahead as ye planned. But 'tis well that ye have no burros to bother wid tomorrow. You can carry enough water to last ye to Mother Mountain and back here again. But 'tis on me mind that ye'll not get far 'til ye meet yer men on their way back to Drippin' Spring wid their tongues hangin' out. 'Tis a terrible bit av desert ye're headin' into, lad, and av I was not dead sure ye could not miss findin' yer friend and Colorado Bill I'd niver let ye start out alone at all. But av ye do as I tell ye ye'll come out av it safe enough. Av ye make any mistakes ye'll niver come out."

"You have been awfully good to me, Mr. Harrigan," said Pierre. "I never could have found Bruce without you to show me the way. It was lucky that I met you at Red Butte."

"Sure, any lad wid the name av Donovan would have a claim on a Harrigan," returned the Irishman with a chuckle. "I only hope that this stranger wid Colorado Bill is the man, Bruce, that ye're huntin'!"

"The description fits Bruce exactly, and he and Colorado Bill left Red Butte together for Colorado Bill's mine in the Painted Mountains."

He tells me 'tis only a day's travel beyond my camp in Biscuit Hills, but I ain't never been there to see fer myself—my trust in Colorado Bill not bein' stronge enough to make me walk a day there and another day back, do you see? But Colorado never took yer friend to any claim in the Pointed Mountains this trip, because the two av thim went to Mother Mountain like I told ye. They're out fer to hunt that lost Mother Mountain lode.

"They was camped right on this spot. Ye see I have to camp here at Drippin' Spring whin I go to town fer supplies, and whin I come back too, because this is the only water. Everybody else had to camp here fer the same reason. Colorado and this other man was beddin' down fer the night when I arrived.

"We passed the time ov day, and Colorado says: 'Ye're bound fer Red Butte, I take it, Jim?'

" 'Take it er leave it,' I says, that's where I'm headed fer."

"Wid that he says, 'I'm takin' Mr. Burnes, here, out to see my claim in the Painted Mountains.'

" 'Good luck to both of yez,' says I. But the next morning they hung back from startin' so that I was away up the hill to the top av the mesa before they stirred a foot from this spot. 'Twas from the top av the first little ridge that I stopped a minute fer a look back, and there, plain as the nose on yer face, I could see thim kicking up the dust away over yonder headin' straight for Mother Mountain."

Going Home

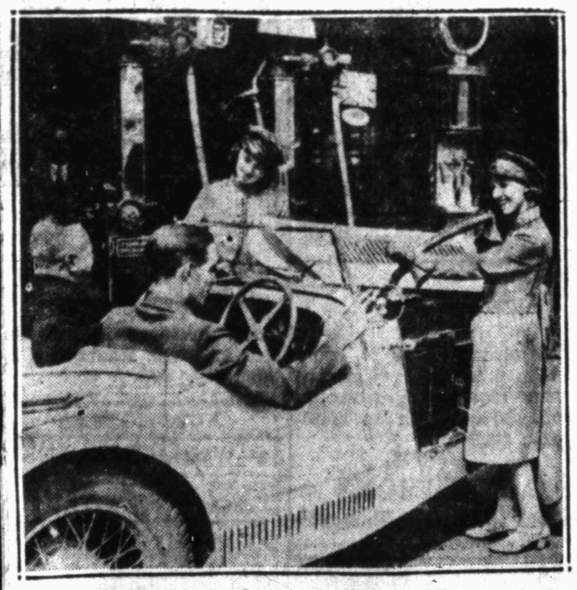
Paris soon will see this home town girl who made good in Hollywood. Lily Damita is going back to her native France for a brief visit, and the vivacious screen star had this smile for the cameraman when she arrived in New York shortly before sailing.

Bathing suits of blue serge with bloomers trimmed with black braid, were worn by many women at Ostend, the Belgian seaside resort, this year.

It Must Have Been Potent!

Strength that she never dreamed she possessed leaped to the fore in the arms of Mrs. Josephine Tabooks—and not until the plumbing and the light fixtures in her cell in a Chicago police station had been destroyed by her demonstration of brawn did the excess energy awakened by dandelion wine go back to sleep. Here's Mrs. Tabooks sadly viewing the "remains."

"Service With A Smile"



Service with a smile" may or may not be the slogan of these attractive girls working as gasoline station attendants in London, but they're certainly giving good measure of charm with the fuel they dispense. Owners of the station, a popular one near Victoria, say the girls are more courteous and give better service than the men, being smarter and cheerier in their manner toward motorists. Look to your laurels, males!

Lodge Protest Against Saenz

Spanish Republican Government Formally Protests To Pope Pius Against Efforts Of Cardinal Primate

MADRID, Aug. 21. (AP) — Spain's republican government today verbally but formally protested to Pope Pius, through the papal nuncio at Madrid, against the "grave derogatory efforts" of Cardinal Primate Pedro Segura Y Saenz.

Announcement of the protest was made by foreign Minister Alejandro Lerroux, after a secret meeting of government officials with the papal nuncio, Monsignor Frederico Tedschini.

The foreign minister said the nuncio admitted the gravity of Cardinal Segura's acts and believed them to be "utterly foreign to his holiness' idea." He promised to forward the protest to the vatican, Lerroux said.

The foreign minister, president Alcala Zamora, the nuncio and others declined to reveal the exact terms of the protest.

"However, I wish to state that the government is greatly satisfied with the nuncio's sympathetic and comprehensive conduct and attitude toward the republic," Lerroux said.

"I know the nuncio's leadership is responsible for the unselfish attitude of cooperation evidence by the majority of Spanish Catholics."

Despite the secrecy regarding terms of the protest, circles close to the government believed cancellation of Cardinal Serura's appointment as primate of Spain was one of the principal demands.

War Veteran Is Granted Parole

AUSTIN, Aug. 21. (AP)—Dave Click, who was wounded, gassed, blinded and twice shell-shocked while with the American army in France, received a parole from Governor Ross Sterling today. He was convicted in Bexar and Travis counties in November, 1925, of burglary and left over $50 and sentenced to 10 years. His aged mother planned to take him back to their home in Springfield, Ohio.

Other paroles announced were:

Eugene Huckabye, negro, Limestone, 10 years murder; Marvin Brown, Dewitt, 2 years burglary; Dennis W. Cook, Collin, 2 years, passing forged instrument; Charley Evans, Tarrant, 3 years, driving while drunk and possessing liquor; N. L. Jackson, Wilbarger, 4 years burglary.

Furloughs were granted as follows:

Will English, Gregg, one year liquor, 60 days; Elmer Walker, Cass, 5 years robbery with firearms, 30 days; Ray Smith, Bowie, one year, liquor, 10 days; Kike Stearman, Kaufman, 2 years liquor 30 days.

Opposing Counsel Arranged Together In Youth's Case

CHICAGO, Aug. 21. (AP)—Opposing counsel in the extradition case of John Factor, wanted in England on charges of a stock swindle conspiracy, found themselves ranged side by side in U. S. Commissioner Edwin K. Walker's court yesterday. Factor's attorney for a 17-year-old orphan charged with transporting a stolen automobile from Texas.

The youth, whose name was given as Wayne Rogers of Sweetwater, Texas, wanted to waive his removal hearing. Walker, however, insisted he have the benefit of counsel. Attorneys G. Gale Gilbert for Factor and Franklin R. Overmeyer for the British crown asked leniency for the youth who rented a car and came to Chicago looking for work, intending, they said, to pay for the car as soon as he obtained the money.

The case was continued until Aug. 31. The lad was released on his own recognizance.

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 21. (AP) — The cotton market was fairly steady today with moderately fair trading. Better cables and rather too much rain in the cotton belt creating fears of possible weevil damage caused prices to advance in the first half of the morning with gains of 12 points. This bulge attracted realizing and as the weekly statistics were disappointing, particularly mill takings, prices eased off later showing a loss from the early highs to 10 points by mid-session. The market eased off rather sharply during the middle of the afternoon owing to weakness in stocks and prices made new lows for the day 17 points below the highs. There was a rally of 6 to 7 points at the end on covering and the market closed steady and net unchanged to 1 point up for the day.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Aug. 21. (AP)—An opening advance was followed by reactions in cotton today. The final tone of the market was steady with net advances of 1 to 5 points.

The opening was steady 12 to 15 points higher on the higher Liverpool cables and the less favorable crop advice from the southwest. The absence of more aggressive support evidently was a disappointment to people who had bought in anticipation of an end week rally, and offerings increased during the afternoon, when there appeared to be considerable local and Wall street selling. October declined to 6.63 and March to 7.14, making net losses of about 3 to 6 points, but the market stiffened up again in the last few minutes on a final spurt of covering. December closed at 6.71 and March at 7.22 or about 6 to 8 points up from the lowest.

Speaks of Mergers

Governor Murray spoke of rumored mergers of major oil companies, said he thought "They'll be in by Monday," on his price. He reiterated his decision to require all companies taking oil from the same horizons to agree to the dollar price, a unitization plan and proration before wells are opened.

At Tulsa motorists mourned the passing from independent filling stations and those of the Sinclair Refining Co., of a low price for the brightly hued third grade "competitive" gasoline. Saying they intended to show the major companies they were not attempting to prevent higher crude prices by keeping gasoline rates down, the independents erased 11 cent figures from their pumps and wrote 13 cents a gallon.

Gasoline Hiked

Meanwhile the Standard Oil Co., of New York advanced the price of gasoline in tank car lots half a cent a gallon to six cents and the Stoll Oil Refinery Co., hiked Kentucky crude rates 15 cents a barrel to 65 cents, meeting a recent Ohio Oil company advance.

Those looking into the industry's future were busy. At Topeka it was announced the Standard Oil companies of Indiana and New Jersey and the Shell Petroleum corporation had joined the states of Oklahoma, Texas, Kansas, New Mexico and Arkansas in agreeing to send representatives to a conference here September 11 where the oil advisory committee of the Kansas public service commission plans to propose a uniform plan of curtailment of oil production and importation.

A movement by certain independent oil interests for an oil "czar" took the form of pamphlets in Wall street mentioning Robert W. Stewart, former chairman of the board of Standard Oil of Indiana who broke with John D. Rockefeller, Jr., as a likely appointee.

A leader in the apparently winning fight for curtailment of the great East Texas field, Captain J. F. Lucey, said at Dallas he would propose that the Texas railroad commission designate the East Texas allowable flow at 300,000 barrels daily, less than half the daily average before it was shut in. He said this would insure a $1 posted price.

Market Awakened With Violent Spill From Slumber; Ends In Selling Rush

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 21. (AP) — After slumbering through three extremely dull sessions, the stock market was awakened by a rather violent spill today.

The market was extraordinarily inactive during the early hours, but began to slip downgrade with increasing acceleration after midday, winding up in a selling flurry during the last hour. Losses of 1 to 6 points appeared throughout the list at the finish. With the exception of Monday's abrupt slump, it was the sharpest decline of the month.

There was little in the day's news to account for the sudden decline, and brokerage circles generally attributed it to discouragement of the leaders of the recent bullish efforts over lack of decisive signs of an autumn upturn in business. Week-end profit taking and bar selling appeared in some volume.

Mass Meeting

sired protest meeting.

General Wolters, in a statement last night, urged that people be not misled by "propaganda" that a shutdown of all oil wells in the 600-square mile area of the East Texas field, ordered by Governor Ross S. Sterling to halt asserted widespread waste, had caused grave unemployment. His Henderson speech also was along that line.

He made no statement as to whether any special instruction had been issued to militiamen in the Tyler area but indicated he expected an attempt to hold the meeting—if the attempt were made at all—would not be earlier than tomorrow night.

To obviate any misunderstanding, General Wolters tonight issued the following general order: "No mass meetings will be held in the military district of Rusk, Upshur, Gregg and Smith counties without special authority from the commanding general of the military district." He assigned Col. L. S. Davidson, provost Marshall, to enforce this order.

A second general order issued tonight announced that derricks in the field must have placards posted on them giving the name and number of the well and the owner.

Former Texas Legislator Dies As Result Of Injury

DALLAS, Aug. 21. (AP) — Tom Shires, former member of the Texas legislature, died at a Canton hospital today from injuries received yesterday in an automobile accident near Tyler. He at one time lived in Waco but in recent years practiced law here.

The car in which he was riding overturned, fracturing his skull and causing internal injuries.

The deceased was a cousin of Art Shires, a professional baseball player attached to the Milwaukee club. He served in the legislature from 1923 through 1925. He has spent much of his time recently in the East Texas oil field.

Survivors were his widow and one son.

MIDDLE WESTERN LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 21. (AP)—Cattle trade found estimated receipts numbered 16,000 against 13,228 a week ago and 17,687 the same day a year ago. The day's business resolved itself into largely a clearance affair at most centers with a steady to strong trend for better grades of fed steers and yearlings, and mostly steady for westerns. St. Joseph secured top to 10.25 for a short load of choice yearlings with others within a range of 9.00@10.00. The general supply of fed steers and yearlings were not of quality to command outstanding prices and were generally within a spread of 7.50@9.35. Kansas City secured 8.40@8.50 for fed steers and 4.50@8.25 for lower grade yearling steers. The supply of stockers and feeders was comparatively light with some grass yearlings, most of them of quality to sell from 5.00@6.25.

to the outer wrapper, before putting on the revenue stamp. Addresses of companies from which the chemical could be obtained were furnished.

Rumors that a further advance in dealers' prices from jobbers for the added expense of stamping the package could not be confirmed last night. Several retailers said they had heard that jobbers were to charge nine cents per carton for affixing the stamps.

LICENSES ISSUED

Twenty-two chauffeur's licenses were issued to truck drivers Thursday and Friday, A. J. Clark, county and state tax collector, said late yesterday.

The new law, requiring all hired truck drivers, and owners of trucks hauling loads of more than one ton, to obtain chauffeur's licenses, will go into effect at midnight tonight, Mr. Clark was advised by the state comptroller. The chaffeur's license fee is $3, the collector said.

estimates of the dead here.

Unprecedented rains that overtaxed the river system caused the calamity. The Yangtse flows through a valley hundreds of miles long that is densely populated because of the fertile soil. The country is virtually flat, with a fall of only an inch or two to the mile, and the flood waters thus spread out over a wide region.

Commit Suicide

Heart-rending scenes were witnessed by an Associated Press correspondent as he went about the Hankow area in a sampan. Natives committed suicide to escape the consequences of the flood.

Death was welcome, they said, despite the teaching of their ancestral religion that the "water dragon's" wrath would be upon them.

The inundation in northern China had turned the countryside into a lake that stretched to the horizon. Hundred of thousands of acres of crops were under water, with the tops of tall trees or the thatch roofs of native villages thrusting through here and there. It would be several months, engineers said, before the water would recede and there was no hope of planting a winter crop.

At Nanking the nationalist government council took action to cope with the situation. A bond issue of $10,000,000 Mexican (about $3,000,000) was decided upon as an immediate relief measure.

Meanwhile the government was negotiating with the federal farm board of the United States for the purchase of surplus wheat on long-term credits. The grain would be used for relief of the starving.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Aug. 21. (AP)—Topsy-turvy action of the corn market had a bearish effect on all cereals today, and September corn out-matched the season's bottom price record. Liquidating sales of September corn resulted from fading away of cash demand and from execution of stop loss orders. Definite announcement that 32,000,000 bushels of United States government financed wheat would be exchanged for 1,050,000 bags of Brazilian coffee came too late to be a factor in today's wheat market.

Corn closed nervous 1-8 to 7-8 cents, wheat 1-8 to 3-8 off, oats at 1-8 decline to 1-8 advance, and provisions unchanged to 5 cents setback.

Texas Laws

down the size and weight of load limits. One of the hardest fights in the legislature was over these measures.

Sunday movies, banned sixty years ago, will be legal Sunday in the cities which desire them. The old law had been a dead letter in many cities for several years.

One of the 90-day statutes was a law to give defendants six months in which to pay fines. Another will absolve the driver of an automobile from liability for injuries suffered by a hitch-hiker whom he gives a lift. Others will authorize increase of the state force and the highway patrol.

The making, sale or throwing of stink bombs will be a felony early tomorrow. Endurance contests such as marathon dancing will be limited to 24 hours.

Opponents of several of the laws have made plans to test their constitutionality in the courts and it probably will be several months before all are functioning as intended. Opponents of the peddler's tax in various sections of the state have taken steps to impede its enforcement.

and Lydon and four passersbys crumbled before the volley.

A few blocks behind the fleeing men two policemen on the running board of a taxicab had joined the chase. They drew close to their quarry. Another burst of fire from the careening taxi picked them off the running board.

End Is Reached

Then the killers came to the end of their wild career. As the speeding taxi circled toward Dyckman street in the Inwood section, a big truck rolled across in its path and brought it to an abrupt halt.

Eight detectives leading the pursuit, came quickly up from the rear. They opened fire at close range and the driver of the car, Herbert Haase, 27, fell across his wheel dead.

Another burst of shots and the two passengers slumped to the floor of the cab. They were taken to a hospital but were dead upon arrival.

One of the slain gunmen was identified as John Brecht, 25, of the Bronx. His companion was not immediately identified.

to report back to the full conference.

The committee voted resolutions of endorsement of the Long plan and the Caraway plan, and both were accepted by the conference by an overwhelming oral vote.

After adjournment, Governor Long said he would call a special session of the Louisiana legislature "very soon" to act on the recommendations. Other governors, he said, would be urged to follow suit.

Conditions Outlined

Under the conference resolution, none of the legislative acts would become binding unless similar legislation "shall be adopted by states producing not less than three-fourths of the cotton grown in the United States."

The conference voted down in a roar of "noes" a minority report of Mr. McDonald providing for southern state legislative action reducing the 1932 cotton area by one-third.

When the commissioner offered his minority report, Governor Long, who was presiding, said:

"We are going to vote that down."

And the conference yelled a roar of noes that drowned out the ayes.

Manchuria's wheat crop is expected to be one-third greater than that of 1930.

Catholic Priest Wields Wicked Fist And He Don't Mind Showing Prowess

CHICAGO, Aug. 21. (AP)—An ecclesiastic fist is making a lot of bad boys good over on the west side.

It is being swung by the Rev. Matthew Canning, new pastor of the St. Charles Borromeo Catholic church, who earned his way through college by giving boxing lessons. He has been conducting a one man clean up of the district, it was learned yesterday, visiting speakeasies and other places alone late at night. In a number of instances he has had to demonstrate his pugilistic skill, but he got results.

"Get out—and don't come back," Father Canning told the hoodlums of his parish soon after his appointment two months ago, and many of them have obeyed.

Nation's Greatest Fliers To Take To Air In Derby Sunday

Race Marks First Time That Men And Women Have Fought For Honors Jointly; Many Prizes Offered

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 21. (AP) — A starting signal, flashed by wireless from the airport here Sunday, will start 18 women and 37 men from Santa Monica, Calif., on the 2,400-mile trans-continental sweepstakes air derby to Cleveland.

The race marks the first time men and women pilots have completed jointly in a major trans-continental air duel in the United States.

Twenty-five thousand dollars in prize money awaits the winners arriving here Aug. 30, the second day of the national air races. The eight day flight will carry the pilots over eight states.

The derby is a handicap event in which contestants stand equal chances despite wide variations in speed of their planes.

The first overnight stop is scheduled at Calexico, Calif., from there the route is:

Phoenix, Ariz., Tucson, Ariz., (overnight), Doughlas, Ariz., El Paso, Tex., (overnight), Enid, Okla., Bartlesville, Okla., (overnight), Jefferson City, Mo., East St. Louis, Ill., (overnight), Terre Haute, Ind., Dayton, O., (overnight), Akron, O., and Cleveland airport.

Substantial Majority Will Serve On Unemployment Body

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21. (AP)— A "substantial majority" of the three score prominent men and women asked by President Hoover to assist Walter S. Gifford in directing unemployment relief have accepted the invitation.

When and where the committee will hold its first meeting was not known at the White House today but definite information on the subject is expected after the president and Mr. Gifford confer over the week-end at the president's Rapidan camp.

Wiley Post Is Planning For Arizona Hunt

EL PASO, Aug. 21. (AP)—Wiley Post, who with Harold Gatty, circled the globe in less time than any other human being, plans to hunt lions in Arizona.

He came to El Paso from Sweetwater, Texas, yesterday with Gatty and Mrs. Post. They probably will continue a trip to San Francisco tomorrow.

Post said that after a two weeks' tour of Pacific coast cities he would accept an invitation of the Arizona state game commission to go on a lion hunt.

"Then it's back to work," he said. "I have no definite plans."

Gatty likewise was undecided as to his future.

"But I've got to go to work," he said. "Who for? Anybody with a job."

Chief Of Highway Patrol Will Not Enforce New Law

AUSTIN, Aug. 21. (AP) — L. G. Phares, chief of the state highway patrol, late today instructed all his men not to attempt to enforce any provisions of the two new truck laws scheduled to become effective at midnight tonight.

Phares said the enforcement of the laws was so beset with injunctions he believed any attempt to enforce parts of them would be futile. The injunction suits were filed in federal court at Houston.

Solution Of Disappearance Of Jap Importer Is Nearer

NEW YORK, Aug. 21. (AP)—A solution of the mysterious disappearance of Hisashi Fujimura, millionaire Japanese importer, from the liner Belgenland, seemed nearer today when federal agents were informed a row had occurred in his cabin before he vanished a week ago.

The government officials boarded the Red Star ship when it arrived from a showboat cruise to Halifax today and held all on board briefly while they sorted out 10 employes for questioning.

Lubbock County 4-H Meeting Is To Be Held Here Today

The monthly meeting of the Lubbock county Four-H club will be district courtroom at the county held at 2 p. m. today in the civil courthouse. Reports of their experiences and observations at the Texas A. and M. short course, will be made by members of Lubbock county teams attending the meet, D. F. Eaton, county agent, said yesterday.

A community meeting was held last night at the Hardy community house. Mr. Eaton, R. N. McClain, assistant county agent; Miss Ruth Stockton, county home demonstration agent; H. B. Landsen, American Poultry association judge, of Lubbock, and J. H. Brock, of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, attended the session.

NEWS BRIEFS

The condition of Mrs. John M. Denman, critically ill at West Texas hospital, last night was reported as unchanged. Attendants at the hospital said she remained semi-conscious.

James Eudaley was fined $1 and $13.15 costs in Justice of the Peace H. K. Porter's court yesterday for theft of peas and corn from a truck farm of F. W. Crump, who lives three miles southeast of Lubbock. Eudaley was brought to Lubbock Thursday night and turned over to officers by Crump.

A boy who was later arrested in connection with the theft of vegetables was paroled to his parents by County Judge E. L. Pitts in juvenile court.

Funeral services for W. M. Mitchell, 76, who died here Thursday morning, were held at 3 p. m. yesterday at the Carlisle cemetery, with Rev. P. W. Simpson officiating. Burial was under the direction of Rix Funeral home.

Wheat Trade

the Yangtse valley.

Milnor signed the agreement yesterday before returning to Chicago. Chairman Stone of the farm board and corporation officials were present today when the ambassador completed the negotiations with his signature.

Amount Unlimited

President Hoover said today the amount of wheat that might be sold to the Chinese government for flood relief was unlimited. The quantity first suggested was 15,000,000 bushels.

Chairman Stone said the Brazilian barter was based on the current market prices of these commodities. He pointed out that the amount of money finally received for the wheat would depend on the market price of coffee when it is sold a year hence.

"One big gain in the trade," he added, "is getting the wheat out of this country, and another is fostering friendly relations and stimulating consumption of American wheat."

Last year 4,037,000 bushels of American wheat were exported to that country, 3,154,000 bushels of which were in the form of flour. Most of Brazil's wheat comes from Argentina.

Brazil will pay all freight, insurance, storage and inspection charges on the coffee while the wheat will be shipped f. o. b. American seaports.

Stone said he expected no difficulty in selling the coffee next year to the trade.

Tammany Hall Takes Hope That It Be Given Chance

NEW YORK, Aug. 20. (AP)—Tammany hall took hope today from the attitude of Governor Roosevelt that it might be given a chance in Tuesday's special session of the legislature to fight for an investigation into the corruption it claims existent in up-state Republican strongholds.

Dispatches from Albany said the governor still had an open mind on whether the powers of the Hofstadter committee, now investigating the Tammany government of New York City, should be broadened to permit an inquiry elsewhere in the state.

Reductions In Acreage Loom

Drastic Measures Are Expected By Chairman Stone After Rejection Of Plan To Plow Under Third Row

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21. (AP) — Drastic acreage reduction is expected by Chairman Stone of the farm board to result from the discussions centering around the board's plan of destroying one-third of the standing cotton crop.

This proposal has been rejected and while no alternative plan is now under consideration, the board is having counter suggestions analyzed to determine prospects for a new proposal.

At present, the chairman said, "we are letting the teapot boil to see what comes out of our suggestion down south."

He said he did not know how acreage reduction would be brought about, but added it must be done by the farmers themselves.

In advancing the suggestion of plowing under every third row, the chairman said the board hoped to bring to full attention the serious situation caused by overproduction and low prices.

The chairman said the plan had succeeded in this respect in that it has set everyone to thinking. He said 200 or more letters and telegrams containing new ideas for dealing with the subject had been received.

Ten of the fourteen governors to whom the board's plan was addressed have replied, with at least seven rejecting it.

The board will announce a definite course of action in the next few days, the chairman said, adding he was not sure it would be an entirely new proposal.

Probe Witness Is Ready To Appear

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21. (AP)—C. Bascom Slemp, who was secretary to former President Coolidge, has called on the sergeant-at-arms of the senate to be served with a subpoena calling him before the senate campaign funds committee investigating the financial transactions of Bishop James Cannon, jr., in the 1928 campaign.

Slemp had read in the newspapers that he was one of several witnesses the committee could not locate. Just why he has been called was not disclosed by Chairman Nye of the committee.

The committee is delving into Bishop Cannon's activities in Virginia in the fight against Governor Smith in 1928. Representative Tinkham, Republican, Massachusetts, has charged that the Bishop failed to account for all the funds entrusted to him.

Notice also was received by the committee today that a subpoena had been served on Miss Ada L. Burroughs, treasurer of Bishop Cannon's anti-Smith committee in Virginia. Miss Burroughs, who resides at Richmond, refused to answer questions at a committee hearing early in the summer.

Five Companies Will Be Merged

NEW YORK, Aug. 21. (AP)—Newspapers forecast today that five large oil companies would soon announce their merger, with assets in excess of $1,000,000,000. The name will be either the Associated Petroleum corporation or the Commonwealth Oil company.

The companies participating in the merger are the Sinclair Consolidated Oil corporation, the Tidewater Associated Oil company, the Prairie Oil and Gas company, the Prairie Pipe Line company and the Rio Grande Oil company. The new corporation will issue 25,000,000 shares of no par stock.

Common Sinclair stock will be exchanged share for share.

Tidewater stock will be exchanged at the rate of eight new shares for ten Tidewater.

Prairie Oil will go share for share.

Prairie Pipe Line stock will be exchanged in the ratio of ten shares for 14 of the new company.

Rio Grande exchanges have not been fixed.

The new company will go in for production, refining, marketing and transportation.

Stock Exchange To Remain Open Saturday; New Ruling

LONDON, Aug. 21. (AP)—The governing committee decided today to open the stock exchange on Saturdays commencing September 19 "in view of the situation in the country and the desirability of affording facilities for dealing." The exchange has been closed Saturdays since war days.

London's decision was followed almost immediately by similar action of the Birmingham exchange and other provincial cities are expected to follow suit. It is likely also that the banks will be called upon to remain open past the usual Saturday closing time at noon.

International Sunday School Lesson

General Topic: A GOSPEL FOR ALL MEN

Scripture Lesson: Acts 11:5-18

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

Internation Sunday school lesson for Aug. 23, 1931.

Acts 11:5. I was in the city of Joppa praying: and in a trance I saw a vision, a certain vessel descending, as it were a great sheet let down from heaven by four corners; and it came even unto me:

6. Upon which when I had fastened mine eyes, I considered, and saw the four-footed beasts of the earth and wild beasts and creeping things and birds of the heaven.

7. And I heard also a voice saying unto me, Rise, Peter; kill and eat.

8. But I said, Not so, Lord: for nothing common or unclean hath ever entered into my mouth.

9. But a voice answered the second time out of heaven, What God hath cleansed, make not thou common.

10. And this was done thrice: and all were drawn up again into heaven.

11. And behold, forthwith three men stood before the house in which we were, having been sent from Caesarea unto me.

12. And the Spirit bade me go with them, making no distinction. And these six brethren also accompanied me: and we entered into the man's house:

13. And he told us how he had seen the angel standing in his house, and saying, Send to Joppa, and fetch Simon, whose surname is Peter;

14. Who shall speak unto thee words, whereby thou shalt be saved, thou and all thy house.

15. And as I began to speak, the Holy Spirit fell on them, even as on us at the beginning.

16. And I remember the words of the Lord, how he said, John indeed baptized with water; but ye shall be baptized in the Holy Spirit.

17. If then God gave unto them the like gift as he did also unto us, when we believed on the Lord Jesus Christ, who was I, that I could withstand God?

18. And when they heard these things, they held their peace, and glorified God, saying, Then to the Gentiles also hath God granted repentance unto life.

INTRODUCTION

This incident of Cornelius occupies much space in the Book of Acts. Why? Because when Acts was written something was happening in Jewish Christian circles before which the whole world stood amazed: a wall of racial and social separation that had seemed impervious was beginning to give way. Someone has said that in Peter's declaration, "I perceive that God is no respector of persons," you can hear the crash of the Chinese wall of Jewish exclusiveness.

Cornelius' seeking and Peter's vision on the housetop bring the two men together. The Holy Spirit takes those two factors and uses them for the good of the one and the other; the centurion is led by the apostle into a saving faith, while the apostle learns from his strange vision and his contact with the soldier that the gospel of salvation is to be preached to all nations, through all the ages, upon the same terms to all—salvation through faith in the Lord Jesus Christ, and in no other way.

CORNELIUS—SEEKING SALVATION

Cornelius was a devout man, a man of prayer, a worshiper of the one true God, and one whose religion proved itself by much giving to the needy. All his household were with him in his religion.

One day this noble Roman soldier was observing, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, the last of the three regular daily periods of prayer which were kept by earnest Jews, when an angel in dazzling raiment appeared to him openly, and not in a dream. Cornelius was terrified by the resplendent vision, but managed to ask, "What is it, Lord?" Thereupon the angel told him that God had noted his prayers and his almsgiving, and in response bade him send to Joppa after a man named Simon Peter, who would be found in the house of another Simon, a tanner, who lived by the seashore; this Simon Peter would tell him the answer to his prayers for his own salvation and that of his household. Thereupon Cornelius without weighing the chances of success or failure on such a strange errand, at once sent off his messengers to Joppa—two of his household servants and a soldier of his company, all three being devout persons like himself; for he would not send ungodly men on that holy errand.

PETER'S MARVELOUS VISION, ACTS 11:5

"I was in the city of Joppa praying." v. 5. Peter, since his raising of Dorcas from the dead (see Lesson 3 of this quarter), had remained in the city of Dorcas, Joppa, the seaport of Jerusalem. It was a large city from which many set sail, and so was an excellent center for evangelizing. Peter was observing the second hour of prayer, which was at noon, the sixth hour of the day. For that purpose he went to the housetop, which was flat, an ideal place for retired meditation and prayer. "And in a trance I saw a vision. He was very hungry, and his trance came while he was waiting for the noonday meal. "A certain vessel descending, as it were a great sheet let down from heaven by four corners." "Something like a great sheet." It sank down beside him on the roof so that he could see what was in it—a horrible sight for an orthodox Jew. The great sheet was thus a parable of the mingled races of men, a mass of good and bad, learned and ignorant, pleasing and repulsive, and all piled in together. What are we to do about it all! The question confronts any one who is forced out among men, and especially it faces this nation of ours, with its unprecedented commingling of men from all parts of the world, men of all languages, all faiths, all customs. How from such a horrible jumble is an orderly Christian civilization ever to be formed!

"WHAT GOD HATH CLEANSED." V. 9

"But a voice answered the second time out of heaven." "A voice came unto him again the second time" (Acts 10:15), answering Peter's objection with an authoritative and imperious command. "What God hath cleansed, make not thou common." Do not dare to set yourself up above the Almighty, declaring unfit what he has declared to be fit, and impure what he by his omnipotent fiat has purified. Peter's "Not so, Lord" was an utterance of immeasurable conceit as well as of arrogant disobedience. The Lord was very gentle and long-suffering with his erring servant, because he was his servant.

The meaning of this is apparent to us in a moment. It was a symbolical revelation of the fact that the restrictions of the Mosaic law were now removed, and that the distinction between Jew and Gentile, out of which these grew, and for the maintenance of which they were designed, was now abolished. It indicated that now 'creation itself had been purified, and rendered clean for our use by the satisfaction of Christ' and that men of all nations were now to be dealt with in the same manner for salvation."—William M. Taylor.

"MAKING NO DISTINCTION." Acts 11:12

"And the Spirit bade me go with them, making no distinction." No distinction between Jew and Gentile, entering into the house of a Gentile and eating there. This was forbidden to Jews, and that Peter had done so, rather than that he had baptized Gentiles into the Christian church, was the ground of the charge against him in Jerusalem (Acts 11:2, 3). Luke tells us (Acts 10:19, 20) that while Peter was on the housetop and was meditating on his vision, the Spirit had announced the arrival of the three messengers, and had bidden him to "go with them, nothing doubting," for he, the Holy Spirit himself, had sent them. Going down to the street, therefore, Peter learned from the three men what their errand was, took them in and next day set out with them on their thirty-mile walk back to Caesarea,—a journey which was broken by a night's rest, so that they arrived on the second day from Jerusalem. "And these six brethren also accompanied me." Peter was wise and prudent. He knew that he was going to break through some of the most stringent of Jewish rules, so he took along an abundance of witnesses, to answer the criticisms that he felt sure were coming. They could say just what Peter did and what he did not do, and above all they could testify to the seal of the Holy Spirit's aproval which was placed on the proceedings.

"WORDS, WHEREBY THOU SHALT BE SAVED." v. 14

"Who shall speak unto thee words, whereby thou shalt be saved, thou and all thy house." This shows us that Cornelius was not only dissatisfied with heathen religions, but was definitely in search of salvation. He knew that he was a sinner, and was lost, he and all those dear to him, and he believed that Christianity had in it the power to save from sins. It was wonderful faith for a heathen and places Cornelius alongside the centurion of Capernaum and the Syro-Phoenician woman, both of them Gentiles, whose faith was so highly praised by the Master. "The Holy Spirit fell on them, even as on us at the beginning." The reference is to the day of Pentecost (Acts 2:1-4), when the Holy Spirit fell in fire on the apostles, bestowing on them the gift of tongues. The gift of the Holy Spirit, to which the power of miraculous speech bore witness, was bestowed upon the apostles because they believed on the Lord Jesus Christ. Peter therefore rightly drew the conclusion that since the same testifying gift was bestowed on Cornelius and his household, they must have had the same faith as the apostles.

"Then to the Gentiles also (as well as to us Jews) hath God granted repentance unto life." Their repentance and faith in Christ had brought them into the same eternal life which the apostles and the other Christians enjoyed. The door to a world-wide extension of Christianity was thrown wide open.

Ferdinand Conomb, arrested for leaving his automobile standing in front of the Hampstead, England, register's office, told the judge he did so to perform his duty as a father in registering the birth of a child, and the judge freed him.
