The subject of the old Snyder Bottling Works was revived early this week when Jack Taylor, a Dallas advertising executive, visited here. His father, Elmer Taylor, is the county veterans service officer for Scurry County, and Jack grew up here.

He ran across one of the old soda pop bottles with the Snyder Bottling Works imprint on it at Canton. That is the town in Van Zandt County that is noted for its "first Monday" event, which is a gigantic swap and trade day for which people from miles around bring items for sale or barter.

The bottles, which brought inquiries several months ago from a Fort Worth man who had encountered one there, are of thick, blue tinted glass and they have the old fashioned spring type capping devices.

Taylor said he had learned that bottles of this type were manufactured mostly around 1900 and before, although they were in general use for many years after that.

Now that sufficient financial support has been assured, Western Texas College can proceed with its work toward opening for business in the fall of 1971, and from here on, college officials are going to be playing it by ear. How do you line up a faculty for a student body of unknown quantity? Moreover, the state already has asked for some budget estimates for 1972-73. Someone has to come up with some real educated guesses.

The Snyder Lions Club is trying to do its part in a project going on now in its district to get signatures on messages to the President, the Governor and the Mayor, pledging support of police and all other public officials in efforts to quell violence, promote peace and unity in the nation. We published some blanks a few weeks ago which could be clipped and signed, and they are being published again in this issue of The Snyder Daily News. They need them signed in time to make a report to the District Lions Convention next week. So, if you are in accord with their objective, clip the printed messages, sign them and forward them as directed. The blanks are on page 2 of this issue.

Barriers Set To Slow Inflation

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon announced today the erection of a three-way governmental barrier to spiralling inflation, while promising:

"I will not take this nation down the road of wage and price controls."

Nixon thus gave way to increasing pressure for a policy of voluntary restraint on wages and prices.

In a nationwide TV-radio broadcast on economic policy, he lectured business and labor on their responsibility to refrain from excessive price markups and wage increases.

"The fight against inflation is everybody's business," the President said.

He announced these actions to pull the reins tighter on inflation:

1. A National Commission on Productivity will be named with representatives from business, labor, government and the public. Its duty will be to find ways of increasing output per worker and bringing a balance between cost and productivity to assure more stable prices.

2. Nixon directed the Council of Economic Advisers to prepare a periodic "inflation alert," to spotlight significant wage and price bulges and analyze their inflationary impact.

"This inflation alert will call attention to outstanding cases of price or wage increases and will be made public by the National Commission on Productivity," Nixon said.

3. A Regulating and Purchasing Review Board is being set up, to review federal purchasing procedures to assure that they do not drive up costs and prices; and to review import policy to see whether supplies can be increased to meet rising consumer demand without loss of jobs at home.

"This administration, by its spending restraint, has set the example in this past year; we believe we have now earned the credentials to call for similar restraint from business and labor to slow down inflation," Nixon said.

Nixon assure the nation that "a peacetime economy is clearly on the way." He promised:

"Our scheduled withdrawal of forces from Cambodia on June 30 will be kept.

"Our scheduled transition from a wartime economy to a peacetime consumer economy will be kept as well.

"While our economy adapts to the reordering of our national priorities and resources, we are undergoing a second great change. We are trying to do something that has never been done before; to avoid a recession while we bring a major inflation to an end."

"Now is the time" Nixon said, "for business at every level to take price actions more consistent with a stable cost of living, and now is the time for labor to structure its wage demands to better achieve a new stability of costs.

Just before the President went on the air, Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., released a letter from Nixon saying he will use standby credit control authority voted him by Congress "if it appears to me that the nation's economic objectives would be served by so doing."

CALLS FOR WAGE AND PRICE FREEZE — John Kenneth Galbraith talks to newsmen Tuesday during a break in his testimony before the House Banking Committee in Washington. Reds Seize Another Part Of Provincial Capital

PHNOM PENH (AP) — Communist troops took over part of another provincial capital in Cambodia today and ambushed a Cambodian army force trying to reopen the vital highway between Phnom Penh and the country's only oil refinery, the Cambodian Command reported.

Another provincial capital also came under heavy pressure from North Vietnamese and Viet Cong units, a military spokesman said.

There was no confirmation in Saigon of reports that at least one regiment of Thailand's Black Panther Division would be moved from South Vietnam to reinforce the defenses of Phnom Penh. But an informed source said about 6,000 of the Thai troops would be shifted "within 15 days," and some of them might be deployed around Siem Reap and the temples at Angkor, in northwest Cambodia less than 100 miles from the Thai border.

The Cambodian spokesman said advance enemy units had seized a hotel and the central market in Kompong Chhnang, a provincial capital 55 miles northwest of Phnom Penh, but the rest of the town was still held by government forces.

The enemy's presence in Kompong Chhnang, after several days of intermitent shelling and minor skirmishes, cut the last road link between Phnom Penh and northwest Cambodia, including Battambang and the Siem Reap-Angkor area.

At Kompong Thom, a provincial capital 80 miles north of Phnom Penh, Communist troops shelled government military positions overnight. The government spokesman said reinforcements were moved in by helicopter in the face of a growing enemy threat.

With its attacks scattered over a wide area in all directions from Phnom Penh, the Communist command appeared to have succeeded in one of its reported aims—to draw the Cambodian army's strategic reserves away from the capital and spread it over a wide area. Phnom Penh is considered the ultimate target of the current Communist offensive.

The Cambodian spokesman said the government force trying to open the highway to the coast was ambushed at Trapeang Kraleng, 16 miles west of Kompong Speu, the provincial capital which South Vietnamese and Cambodian forces recaptured Tuesday.

The spokesman had no details, but he said the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese abandoned Kompong Speu apparently had withdrawn westward along the highway, Route 4.

The highway is the main overland supply route between Phnom Penh and the port of Kompong Som, formerly Sihanoukville, site of the country's only oil refinery. Stores of fuel oil and gasoline in the capital are dwindling; and the city may be hit by a fuel shortage and power cuts.

Oil Allowable Cut In Texas

AUSTIN (AP) — The maximum limit on Texas' oil production was lowered today for July, the third consecutive month the Railroad Commission has cut the allowable. It was set at 55.5 per cent of potential.

The allowable will permit maximum production of 3,215,437 barrels a day in July, compared to 3,369,936 barrels daily this month under a 58 per cent factor.

Major purchasers' written nominations for oil next month totaled 3,099,353 barrels a day, a decrease of 37,674 from June. The Bureau of Mines forecast for demand of Texas crude oil in July is 3,050,000 barrels a day, an increase of 80,000 from this month.

Total nominations were reduced from the floor when Shell Oil Co. lowered its nomination from 5,000 barrels a day from June.

None of the 14 major buyers of Texas crude asked the commission for more oil in July than this month, eight wanted the same amount and six requested less oil next month than in June.

Nominations by major crude oil buyers, in barrels per day, for July, with increases or decreases from June in parentheses:

Two Planes Collide Near El Paso

EL PASO (AP) — Authorities said here today a KC-135 tanker plane and another classified military aircraft collided in the air, about 15 miles east of here in the vicinity of U.S. 62 and U.S. 180.

First reports indicated two military personnel parachuted following the crash. The Department of Public Safety said.

Preliminary reports said that a KC-135 tanker plane apparently was not damaged but the other plane crashed.

The DPS rushed patrol units to the scene.

Snyder Hub Of Pipeline Operation

Snyder will be the hub of operations for the huge Chaparal Pipeline which is to be constructed between now and the first of the year.

Roy Harlan, area supervisor for Chaparal, which is a subsidiary of Santa Fe Pipeline Co., and his wife moved here Tuesday from Clovis, N. M. to begin preparation for the big project.

Contracts were awarded late last week for much of the pipeline construction. The pipeline work will be pushed, Harlan said, because the line is scheduled to go into operation by the first of the year. Since construction is not expected to begin before July 1, it means that in all something over 900 miles of pipeline must be installed in six months.

One of the main pump stations will be located southwest of Snyder, Harlan said, and the pipeline will pick up products from plants in this area. The line is being constructed to transport such products as butane, propane, methane, etc., from the Permian Basin area to Houston. The main transmission line will begin near Andrews. Gathering lines will pick up products from the Midland-Odessa area and also from the Hobbs area of Southeastern New Mexico. From Snyder the main pipeline will go to Gatesville, and thence to the Houston area.

Israel Launches Raids In Syria

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Israeli commandos made their first raid into Syria in three months Tuesday night and their deepest since the 1967 Middle East war.

A military spokesman in Tel Aviv said the raiders penetrated 70 miles into the neighboring country, striking a bridge 40 miles south of Damascus and shelling an army base 49 miles northeast of the capital.

Danascus Radio said the raiders killed two Syrians and injured five. It did not mention the bridge but said an Israeli helicopter attacked an army camp north of Damascus while more Israeli planes crossed into the southern part of the country. It said Syrian jets chased them off.

An Israeli spokesman said the raids were in retaliation for "49 acts of aggression" by Syrian troops and Arab guerrillas in the past month. He said three Israelis were killed and 15 wounded in recent Syrian attacks.

Israel did not say how the commandos traveled and Syria made no mention of any ground forces. Apparently they were hauled in and out by helicopter.

A spokesman said all the raiders returned safely.

Syria said an Israeli helicopter flew in via Lebanese air space near the town of Nabk, 25 miles north of Damascus. "The helicopter shelled an army camp with mortars and then withdrew from whence it came," the broadcast said.

Later Tuesday night, the report continued, Israeli planes raided Southern Syria. "One enemy plane was hit before the raiders withdrew," the broadcast said.

Airport sources in Beirut said Syria closed its airspace to commercial traffic for three hours, forcing cancellation or rerouting of a number of international flights.

On the Israeli-Egyptian front, Cairo said its warplanes crossed the Suez Canal for the first time in nearly two weeks and hit Israeli positions along the northern half of the waterway. An Egyptian spokesman said the planes scored "direct hits" and returned safely. The Israelis claimed they destroyed one jet.

Rites Set Today For Mrs. Taylor

The Rev. Jeff Germany and Robert Bowden were to officiate at the service. Burial was to be in the Ira Cemetery, under direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

Diplomat Released Unharmed

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — The West German ambassador to Brazil was released unharmed Tuesday night, had a quick snack of orange juice and eggs and told newsmen he would tell them later about his five-day ordeal at the mercy of political kidnapers.

Ambassador Ehrenfried von Holleben was freed on a Rio de Janeiro street nearly 24 hours after the arrival in Algiers of 40 political prisoners whose freedom was demanded by the kidnapers. The diplomat was given a ride home by a young lawyer who recognized him.

It was the third political kidnaping in Brazil since last September, and the ninth of a diplomat by antigovernment forces in Latin America. All have been released unharmed, except Count Karl von Spreti.

Temperature Hits 102 Degrees Here

Summer made an early, but emphatic entry in Snyder yesterday.

The official termometer reached 102 degrees Tuesday afternoon, the highest mark so far this season and the first time it has hit the century mark in 1970. Little hope of relief was seen in the forecasts, although the calendar says summer will not arrive officially until Sunday.

Clark To Be Trial Judge

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Tom Clark, former associate justice of the Supreme Court, has accepted a one-week assignment as a trial judge in the U.S. District Court here.

Clark resigned from the Supreme Court in 1967 when his son Ramsey was named attorney general, and has since been director of the Federal Judicial Center in Washington.

Chief Judge George B. Harris of the District Court of California said Tuesday Clark agreed to the brief appointment as a trial judge to help cut down a backlog of cases, a practice common among retired judges.

It will be the first trial experience for Clark, who is 70.

Blackout Hits West Lubbock

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP)—Work crews struggled feverishly to restore electrical power to some 7,500 homes and businesses before start of the workday Wednesday following a massive blackout which affected an estimated 25,000 persons on the city's west side.

The crews were channeling in power to the homes and businesses of Lubbock Power and Light Co. in the affected area following boiler failure Tuesday at a city-owned Lubbock Power and Light Co. main generating plant.

Though weak power was being funneled into the stricken area, city spokesmen said it would be "a couple of days" before near full power was restored to the damaged generator plant.

Another main generating plant, operating at half capacity since being damaged in the May 11 tornado, added to the city's electric woes.

The boiler rupture at the 48,000 kilowatt generator occurred around 3 p.m. Tuesday at the height of the day's heat which reached 102—highest recorded in Lubbock this year.

Air conditioners, refrigerators, lights, traffic signals and cash registers went dead.

Grocery store clerks began totalling bills by hand. Extra police were summoned to uncontrolled intersections where motorists were faced with darkened traffic signals.

Work at the Lubbock Cotton Oil Mill, one of the world's largest, came to a halt.

Following an emergency meeting of the city council Tuesday night, city fathers issued an urgent plea to residents in the affected area to conserve power by not using power-sappers like irons, washers, dryers and air conditioners.

A temporary loss of water pressure occurred in the affected area but pressure was quickly restored when pumps were hooked into alternate power units.

Hospitals switched to auxiliary power units and reported no major problems associated with the blackout.

VEHICLE AND SIGNAL DAMAGED — This 1966 Chevrolet sustained considerable damage and knocked down a traffic signal at Twenty-fifth Street and Avenue S at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday. The Chevrolet, driven by Jose Luis Torres, was first in collision with the 1965 Chevrolet Pickup of Claud H. Graham, and Torres apparently lost control of the vehicle and it then crashed into the traffic signal, shown on the sidewalk behind the car. City police, who investigated, estimated damage to the Chevrolet at $400, damage to the traffic signal at $125, and damage to the pickup truck at $50. No personal injuries were listed.

Ra II Passes Midway

COLLA MICHERI, Italy (AP) — Thor Heyerdahl's papyrus boat has passed the halfway mark in its Atlantic crossing from Africa to Central America, his wife reported today.

Mrs. Heyerdahl said the Norwegian navigator told her by radio Tuesday night that the Ra II was sailing regularly, making good time and was 1,659 miles from its starting point at Safi, Morocco.

Heyerdahl and an international crew are trying to prove that the ancient Egyptians could have discovered America by crossing the Atlantic in papyrus vessels. Their attempt last year failed when stormy seas swamped their first papyrus boat Ra.

"The only trouble faced by Thor and the crew so far were the large areas of naphtha through which the Ra II was forced to sail in the last few days and which prevented underwater filming," Mrs. Heyerdahl said.

She plans to fly to Barbados via New York Thursday to board a yacht chartered by a television crew that will film the last stretch of the voyage.

The Mekong River is known to Tibetans as Dza-Chu, or the water of the Rocks. To the Chinese it is Lan-Tsan Kiang, the Turbulent River. Laotians and Thais, who live on its opposite banks, call it the Mae Nam Khong, the Mother River. Europeans contracted this to Mekong.

Rhodes Not Quitting

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Joseph Rhodes Jr. says he has no intention of quitting President Nixon's Commission on Campus Unrest despite Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's assertion that he "should resign immediately."

Agnew's ire was roused by remarks critical of the administration attributed to the 22-year-old junior fellow at Harvard University in a New York Times interview.

The vice president said at a news conference in Detroit Tuesday the statements by Rhodes—appointed to the commission last Saturday—showed "a transparent bias that will make him counterproductive to the work of the commission."

At a subsequent news conference of his own in Cambridge, Rhodes declared:

"I must presume the President does not want a whitewash. I was asked by the President to serve on this commission. I have no intention of resigning. I will serve unless asked otherwise by the President."

In Washington, White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said there were "no plans to change the makeup of this commission," remarking that one reason Nixon chose Rhodes was to obtain a wide range of views in the inquiry.

Love Is Ticket Both Ways

HOUSTON (AP) — Love drove a 25-year-old Houston man up the side of a 16-story building Tuesday night, and love brought him back down.

Gary D. Lynch, an auto parts clerk was talked down from the griders of a construction elevator on the side of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. building by his estranged wife, who told him she loved him.

He had climbed up the hoist and a half earlier after first telephoning police that he was going to commit suicide to prove to his wife that he loved her.

After he was down, his wife, Doris, 21, a car hop, said, "I don't know what is the matter with him."

Lynch called up the police Tuesday night and asked a dispatcher to send a police car to his home to pick up his wife so she could see him jump.

Then he started climbing the open frame of the elevator, attached to the outside of the building.

As police and firemen arrived, Lynch stopped about halfway up and tied a rope around his neck and fastened the rope to the structure.

He later untied the rope and climbed just below the elevator cage which was at the top of the building.

While waiting for his wife to arrive, Lynch told Harry Speer, a member of the Harris County Emergency Corps, that his wife "just wouldn't believe I loved her. So this evening I left her a note, kissed the kids goodbye, and came out here to jump to prove my love."

The couple have two small daughters.

When Lynch's wife got to the scene, dressed in shorts and with curlers in her hair police rushed her to the top of the building.

Sgt. P. E. Hensley of the police department said the woman told Lynch, "Please come inside. I love you."

MR. AND MRS. JIM RANNEFELD

Gay-Rannefeld Vows Pledged In Arlington

Marriage vows were exchanged by Susan Mae Gay and James Walter Rannefeld at 7:30 p.m. on Saturday, May 23rd at Northwest Christian Church of Arlington. The double ring rites were performed by Rev. Stone Risinger, minister of Northwestern Christian Church, and Rev. Harold Werneckes of Peace Lutheran Church of Arlington.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Tommy L. Gay of Arlington, and Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Rannefeld, 4507 Denison, Snyder.

Attending the bride were Mrs. Dave Edwards of Lubbock as matron of honor and Becky Lacy of Midland as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Don Misenhimer of Fort Worth, Gail Gay of Arlington and Kay Rannefeld of Snyder.

The groom's brother, Terry Rannefeld, served as his best man. Groomsmen were Joseph Bielstein of Lubbock, Don Kubena of Hermleigh, Bill Kubena of Dallas, and Dwain Camp of Lubbock. Ushering were Hal Brown of Crane, and Don Misenhimer of Fort Worth. Ginny Emmert of Odessa, cousin of the groom, was flower girl. Lance McCormick of Arlington was ring bearer.

Soloist, Larry Eaton, sang "I Will Love You Every Step of the Way," and the "Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white silk organza and chantilly lace. The molded bodice of chantilly lace with chantilly bishop sleeves topped an A-line skirt with a wide border of lace on the hem. The detachable train flowed from the empire waist in a cloud of silk illusion and appliques of Chantilly were showered to the hem. Her floor length mantilla edged in white chantilly flowed gracefully from a lace cap.

As her "something old," the bride wore the heirloom cameo which was worn by the groom's grandmother at her wedding, and which has been worn by the groom's mother, his aunts, and his female cousin at each of their weddings over a period of sixty years.

The bride's attendants wore gowns of soft yellow with high neckline and empire waist with the neckline and bodice accented by white eyelet lace. The flower girl's dress was similar to that of the bridesmaid's dresses.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The home was decorated with white and yellow daisies, and the backyard was lighted by hurricane lamps, and featured a champagne fountain.

After a one week wedding trip to Nassau and Freeport in the Bahamas, the couple are residing at Varsity Apartments at College Station. Mr. Rannefeld was a spring graduate at Texas Tech where he maintained above a 3.0 grade point during his studies there. He is now employed by A&M University as a Research Assisitant, and will attend graduate school at A&M while working toward his Masters degree in Oceanography. Mrs. Rannefeld was a Junior at Texas Tech and will continue work on her degree in Food & Nutrition at Sam Houston State University.

Girl's Recreation Fills Summer Days

Girl's Recreation Program is filling a lot of summer days with enjoyable and educational activities for approximately 200 girls this year. Apparently the program is becoming more popular and successful as summer wears on, for Mrs. Annette Waller, director of the program, reported that "More girls are signing up every day."

Besides the regular activities several game tournaments are also being planned. The first of these is a Wahoo Tournament which will be held at the Stanfield Gym from 9-12 on Thursday and 2-5 on Friday. Refreshments will be served after the play-offs Friday. Other possible tournaments will test the girls' skils with yo-yos and frisbees.

Mrs. Waller also pointed out that all gyms will be closed Friday morning for the softball game at Hermleigh between Snyder and Hermleigh. All players wishing to ride to Hermleigh with instructors must have permission slips from parents or they will be left behind. All cars will leave Travis Gym by 8:45 and return by 12:00 noon.

There will be a track meet at Brownfield on Saturday, June 20th. The track team will leave at 7:00 a.m. and return about 7:00 p.m.

Sunday Brunch

Sliced Bananas with Orange Juice

Bacon and Eggs

No-knead Raisin Loaf — Coffee

NO-KNEAD RAISIN LOAF

½ cup milk
1 tablespoon sugar
1 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
½ cup warm (105 to 115 degrees) water
1 envelope active dry yeast
1 large egg
1 cup raisins
3 cups (about) unsifted flour

In a small saucepan heat the milk until tiny bubbles appear around the edge; remove from heat; stir in sugar, salt and butter until butter melts; cool to lukewarm. Into a large mixing bowl pour the warm water; sprinkle in yeast; stir to dissolve; stir in lukewarm milk mixture. With a spoon, beat in egg; stir in raisins. Gradually and vigorously stir in enough flour to make a smooth soft dough. Turn out on floured pastry cloth; with a floured stockinet-covered rolling pin, roll out to a 16 by 9-inch rectangle; roll up tightly from short side, sealing dough with heel of hand after each turn; press down ends with side of hand to seal; tuck ends under. Place seamside down in a greased loaf pan (9 by 5 by 3 inches). Cover with a towel and let rise in a warm (80 to 83 degrees) draftfree place until doubled—about 1 hour. Bake in a pre-heated 375-degree oven until well browned and loaf sounds hollow when tapped—50 to 60 minutes. Turn out on wire rack; turn right side up; cool.

Mother Of Three Kept Studying

MILWAUKEE, Wis., (AP) — "I'm not saying it's easy, but it's possible," says Jennie Blumenfield about her long quest for learning. Mrs. Blumenfield, the mother of three grown children, graduated this spring from the University of Wisconsin Milwaukee.

She started her college education at the Milwaukee State Normal School, a predecessor of UWM, and received a teaching diploma from there in 1924. From 1928 to 1944 she took courses from the Extension Division of the University of Wisconsin. Then in 1968 she entered the UWM School of Social Welfare. She graduated with 100 more credits and hours than actually needed for her bachelor of science degree in social welfare.

At the same time, Mrs. Blumenfield worked to support herself and her children for 19 years as an office manager, and for the past five years as a clerk typist for the Milwaukee County Courthouse, Family Support Division.

"I don't know how to take it easy," says Mrs. Blumenfield, who hopes to start graduate work in the fall. "I never did."

Foreign visitors to Britain in 1969 numbered 3.8 million, the Board of Trade reports.

Peters manages the Taliesin West architectural school of the late Frank Lloyd Wright near Scottsdale and is making the trip to move summer activities to the Taliesin East school at Spring Green.

DESPITE LABOR SAVING MACHINES

Demand For Office Workers Increasing

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — True or false: The proliferation of labor-saving office machines will greatly diminish the need for all types of office workers during the 1970s?

One glance at the array of bookkeeping machines, copiers, duplicators, automatic typewriters, electronic computers and other office furnishings might convince you that the 1970s will indeed be the age of the machines.

The answer, however, is false. It quite likely will be a decade of increasing demand for office workers.

Studies by the Labor Department indicate that whereas there were 13 million clerical workers in 1968, there might well be 15 million at work in 1975. Jobs might be eliminated, but new ones are expected to be created.

Jobs for secretaries and stenographers, the largest group of office workers—they number more than 2.5 million—are expected to grow very rapidly through the middle of the present decade, according to Herbert Beinstock, the department's New York director.

The duties of workers of this type, Beinstock explains, require initiative, judgment and contact with the public, skills that no machine has demonstrated to anyone's satisfaction. As a result, they will be little affected by tehnology.

Bookkeepers, the second largest category of office worker, may be affected a bit more than stenographers-secretaries, but this group too is expected to continue growing. There are more than 1.2 million now.

Employment for typists, the department's figures indicate, is expected to rise rapidly through 1975. Some junior typing jobs may be turned over to the automatic machines, but there is expected to be a much greater need for typists able to perform more difficult assignments.

Direct dialing and other technological changes are expected to slow the growth of jobs for telephone operators in telephone company exchanges, but the number of operators in other businesses is expected to rise steadily.

Here are some other projections, based on Labor Department estimates:

Receptionists: Expected to grow as rapidly as in the 1960s, mainly because of an expected continuation of business expansion. No machine yet devised can replace even the slightest amount of sex appeal.

Bank tellers: Very rapid growth through 1975. An increasing number are expected to be part-timers, employed during peak hours at midday and in evenings.

Electronic computer operators: Most rapid growth of any other office job category. The computer may gobble up some types of jobs, but it creates others. Expect a steady increase in the number of these machines and accessory equipment.

Crude Demand Is Decreased

AUSTIN (AP) — Major purchasers of Texas Crude oil told the railroad commission Monday they want 3,099,353 barrels of oil a day next month, a decrease of 37,674 for June.

The commission said the U. S. Bureau of Mines forecast for July demand of Texas crude is 3,350,000 barrels of oil daily in July, an increase of 80,999 from this month.

The commission will consider both figures in setting the July statewide oil allowables at its meeting Wednesday.

Increase Seen In Feeder Cattle

WASHINGTON (AP) — The number of cattle and calves being fattened for slaughter on June 1 in six major producing states was up two per cent from a year earlier, according to an Agriculture Department survey.

Colorado and Texas feeders reported increases of 17 and 14 per cent, respectively, from a year earlier, but California and Iowa were down two per cent each, and Nebraska down six per cent, the report said. Arizona was unchanged from a year earlier.

The report said about 6,650,000 head were on feed in the six states, with Iowa accounting for slightly more than two million.

Trusty Couldn't Be Trusted

COSTA MESA, Calif. (AP) — "Is there anything I can do before checking out?" asked jail trusty Freddie D. Barnhill, who had one more day to serve of his three-month sentence for receiving stolen property.

Officer Pat Rodgers hired Barnhill, 23, to wash his $4,000 sports car in the lot behind police headquarters.

A little later Sunday, Rodgers looked out to check Barnhill's progress. He and the car were gone. Barnhill was sought Monday on charges of escape and car theft.

Life Is Challenge To Histon

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — "I have a theory that if anything is much fun it doesn't do you much good," said Charlton Histon.

The 6-foot-4 actor, conscientious in everything he does, at 46 still methodically runs two miles a day to keep in perfect physical condition.

"Don't look on it as fun," he emphasizes.

For a man with his stature in filmdom and record of public achievement, he who likes to be called Chuck keeps a rare and unbreakable aura of privacy. No one meeting him for the first time feels like slapping him on the back or telling him a funny story.

"I have a more sober public image than probably reflects the truth," he admitted. "But I do try to keep my private life private, and don't go out much. This creates the picture of a pretty square guy.

"Well, I do take very seriously what I take to be my duty."

Since he played Santa Claus in a school pageant at the age of 5, Chuck has portrayed with authority many larger-than-life figures. Besides acting as the offscreen voice of God, he has appeared as three presidents, several military heroes and two geniuses—Moses and Michelangelo.

About a third of his 37 films—the latest is "The Hawaiians"—have been multimillion-dollar epics. He starred in two of the top 10 moneymakers in Hollywood history—"Ben-Hur" and "The Ten Commandments." Others that rang the cash register in memorable manner include "El Cid," "Planet of the Apes," and "The Greatest Show on Earth."

"To me life is a challenge, and I hope it always will be," he said.

In his restless acceptance of those challenges, Heston has won an Oscar and five foreign acting awards. He has twice been to Vietnam to entertain the troops, made four goodwill trips abroad for the U.S. State Department, served three terms as president of the Screen Actors Guild, and been an active fighter for civil rights.

He aspired to a career on stage and screen from the days during a lonely childhood when he started playing the roles in plays read aloud to him by his father, a Michigan sawmill operator.

After studying drama and speech at Northwestern University, he served three years in wartime as a radio operator aboard bombers in the Aleutians.

He and his actress wife, Lydia Clarke, a former university classmate, then lived in a $30-a-month apartment here until Chuck got his first Broadway break in 1948 in a supporting role in Katharine Cornell's production of "Antony and Cleopatra."

Following appearances in other Broadway shows, summer stock and television plays, Heston landed a contract with producer Hal Wallis for "Dark City" without even taking a screen test. Hollywood had found another of the stars it likes best—those that can bring in the big buck.

"I like my life. I'm very happy," said Chuck.

Bill Proposed On Daily Pledge

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — A Republican member of the West Virginia Senate wants to make a daily pledge of allegiance to the flag a prerequisite for continued state aid to county school systems.

Sen. Neal Kinsolving of Kanawha County said he will introduce a bill requiring the pledge of allegiance at the beginning of each school day when the legislature convenes today for the start of a special session.

Junior Editors Quiz on SILVER

QUESTION: Why does silver tarnish?

* * *

ANSWER: Did you ever find some bit of old iron covered with rust, and wonder what the rust was and how it got there? Rust is iron oxide, formed on iron because the oxygen of the air has united with the metal through a kind of slow burning process called oxidation (fire is fast oxidation). Tarnish, formed in a similar way through oxidation, is really another kind of rust but forms on metals other than iron and steel. Silver is one of these. Tarnish dulls and covers up the beautiful natural luster of a silver object, such as the old silver urn in our picture. But smart little Betty knows her way around the house. She knows what a job silver polish will do, how it whisks all the tarnish away, leaving the beautiful silver sparkling as before. After cleaning, it is possible to put a clear lacquer or other tarnish preventative over the silver to keep it continually bright.

Play Starts ThursdayIn U. S. Open

CHASKA, Minn. (AP) — Mist, fog and perhaps gleaming sun shrouding the Hazeltine National course, subsides Thursday with the start of the first round in the 70th United States Open Golf Championship.

Is the par 72, 7,151-yard Hazeltine layout really a monster?

Touring pro Dave Hill described the course after a practice round: "It looked like a man destroyed a beautiful farm."

A differing view came from 1969 open champion Orville Moody.

"I plan to get around in 67 at least once or twice," said the former Army sergeant who exploded into golf headlines with his title at Houston last year. "It's my type of layout, fairly long and fairly tough."

The scenic course, carved out of rolling Minnesota woodlands, offers a network of 10 long doglegs, narrow and treelined fairways and giant, rolling putting surfaces. There's plenty of water and sand.

Jack Nicklaus, a two-time Open champion, has said the course lacks definition because of the many blind landing areas on wood shots. Arnold Palmer was not impressed by the four par 3s, the longest which stretches 592 yards.

But Palmer said he likes the course because "the other holes are exciting."

While they wait for the mystery to be solved, host professional Don Waryan took great enjoyment in the pretournament guesswork.

"I have to say Billy Casper, Lee Trevino and Gary Player are the favorites the way they have been going," said Waryan, who probably knows the course better than anyone. He has been its only pro since it was built in [illegible] Lou Graham, who won the Minnesota Classic here three years ago," said Waryan.

Graham shot a two-under par 72-hole total of 286 to win the Classic in a field which did not include the Palmers, Players or Nicklauses.

The big name pros are predicting scores of 280 to 290 will win the prestigious Open championship worth $30,000 in prize money and perhaps $1 million in endorsements.

"The most fun in any tournament is picking the final score," said Waryan. "I'd have to say 289 will win it. If the wind swirls up and the course doesn't dry out, it might go to 288 or higher."

A series of thunderstorms the past week left the course soggy and the weather muggy. But only a slight chance of rain is expected for the first round.

Waryan predicts the most dramatic action on dogleg holes 1, 6, 10, 17, and two of the four par 3s, 4 and the 214-yard 16.

The Hazeltine pro calls No. 6 a dogleg left leading through woods to a tricky green guarded by water—the most difficult on the course but says "the tournament can be won or lost" on 17. This slight dogleg right travels through a narrow neck of trees to a green surrounded by water and sand.

BACK TO THE OLD DAYS — France's Georges Carpentier elbows Jack Dempsey as they spar playfully in New York reminiscing about their memorable heavyweight championship bout in 1921 when Dempsey retained the title with a kayo. Carpentier came to celebrate Dempsey's 75th birthday. Their fight 49 years ago drew boxing's first $1 million gate. (AP Wirephoto)

Birds Get Reliever In Trade

Moe Drabowsky, a big name in the 1966 World Series with Baltimore, was the biggest name involved on the final day of trading, and the Orioles only hope history will repeat itself.

The Orioles gave up promising young infielder Bobby Floyd to Kansas City to get the 35-year-old reliever, who has a 1-2 record with two saves and a 3.25 earned run average this season. Baltimore must still remember his 6-0 record and his 6 2-3 inning, 11 strike out performance in the World Series with them in 1966 before the Royals picked him in the 1968 expansion draft.

The Orioles, their Eastern Division lead cut to two games, also traded reserve outfielder Dave May to Milwaukee for minor league pitchers Buzz Stephen and Dick Baney. To make room for May, the Brewers sent recently acquired Hank Allen to their Rochester farm club.

Cincinnati, the leader in the National League's Western Division, bolstered itself by acquiring 31-year-old utility outfielder Ty Cline from Montreal for minor league outfielder Clyde Mashore, 25.

The Reds then sent outfielder Jay Ward to the minors.

The biggest trade earlier Monday sent veteran pitchers Barry Moore and Bob Miller from Cleveland to the Chicago White Sox for outfielder Buddy Bradford and pitcher Tommie Sisk, who was sent to the Indians' Wichita farm club.

Milwaukee also acquired free agent pitcher Bob Humphreys, brought outfielder-first baseman Bob Burda back from the minors and sold reliever Bob Locker to Oakland.

The White Sox sent veteran reliever Jerry Arrigo to the minors, while San Diego recalled pitcher Ron Willis and outfielder Larry Stahl.

St. Louis recalled pitcher Jerry Reuss and Cleveland did the same with pitcher Rich Austin. Detroit called up pitcher Jerry Robertson and sent pitcher Dennis Saunders to the minors, while Atlanta asked waivers on veteran reliever Ron Kline.

A's, Cards Win In FL

The Athletics defeated the White Sox 18 to 6, and the Giants fell to the Cardinals 19 to 14 in two high-scoring Farm League battles in Towle Park last night.

In the American League tilt, the Althletics totaled five hits off John Velasquez and Gerald Snyder sharing mound chores for the White Sox. Randy Tate led the Athletic hitting attack with three hits, a double in the first, and a single and a double in the third.

Aiding Tate's effort were Joe Lopez with a double in the first and Billy Tate with a single in the third.

The White Sox tallied six hits. Ricky Davis, David Fulford, and Simans each stroked doubles, with Fulford, Landreth and Velasquez hitting singles.

In the National League, both teams had pitching troubles with Don Bennett and Gary Eckert stroking singles for the Cardinals, and Bruce Worthan getting a single and David Bennett rapping a double for the Giants.

Pee Wees Begin Play

Pee Wee baseballers launched their slate this week, with first games booked for Tuesday night.

The league this year consists of four teams. All games are being played on the Scurry County Boys Club Diamond.

The remainder of the schedule follows:

June 18

Yankees vs. Athletics

June 23
Yankees vs. Indians
Athletics vs. White Sox

June 25
Athletics vs. Yankees
White Sox vs. Indians

June 30

No-Hitter Spices Little Loop Card

The Giants tripped the Cardinals 5 to 2, and the White Sox shut out the Athletics 10 to 0 as White Sox pitcher Raul Villanueva fired a hot no-hitter in Little League action in Towle Park last night.

The Giants hit Cardinal pitcher Clifford Kay nine times. Garry Greenlee led the Giants in hitting with a double in the second, a single in the third and a home run in the fifth.

Ricky Rice rapped singles in the fourth and fifth, aided by Glenn Davis with a single in the first, Kelly Ragland stroking a single in the third, and Barry Blalock and Glen Prescott with singles in the fifth.

Garry Greenlee, pitching for the Giants, limited the Cardinals to five hits. Clifford Kay batted two hits, a double in the third and a single in the fifth. Sidney Everton, o Phil Robinson and Ricky Beard each batted singles.

In the American League, strong pitching by Raul Villanueva along with equally strong hitting by his teammates enabled the White Sox to shut out the Athletics 10 to 0.

Athletic pitcher Chester Cobb was hit eight times by the White Sox. Alvin Ollison, Dennis Buchanan, Raul Villanueva and Willie Tippins each stroked doubles while Oscar Ramirez, Alvin Ollison, Bobby Riggins, and Dennis Buchanan got singles.

Pair Left Off Ballot Making An Impression

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Billy Grabarkewitz and Dick Dietz aren't making much headway with National League All-Star voters, but they've left a lasting impression on two more National League pitchers.

Grabarkewitz slammed a fourth inning homer off Pittsburgh's Bob Veale to give the Los Angeles Dodgers a 1-0 victory over the Pirates and Dietz' three-run blast off Chicago's Bill Hands carried the San Francisco Giants past the Cubs 3-2 Tuesday night.

The Dodgers' clutch-hitting third baseman and the Giants' slugging catcher are both among the league's Top Ten batters, but their names don't appear on the All-Star ballots, which were made up before the start of the season and distributed recently to fans across the country.

And, while Atlanta's Rico Carty, another torrid hitter who was left off the ballot, has received enough write-in votes to place third in the early outfield balloting, neither Grabarkewitz nor Dietz was among the top six at his position when the first returns were made public Monday.

But the pitchers haven't been able to ignore Grabarkewitz, a .339 batter who has won four games with homers, and Dietz has left his mark on them, too, with a .326 average, 13 homers and 52 runs batted in.

Elsewhere in the NL, the New York Mets toppled Cincinnati 8-1; San Diego blanked St. Louis 4-0; Philadelphia nipped Houston 2-1 in 13 innings and Atlanta downed Montreal 7-5.

In the American League, the New York Yankees trimmed the Chicago White Sox 6-2; Minnesota topped Washington 7-3; Detroit bounced Oakland 5-1; Boston outscored Kansas City 7-5 and Cleveland pasted California 9-2. Milwaukee's game at Baltimore was postponed because of wet grounds.

Grabarkewitz' sixth homer of the year, a two-out shot in the fourth inning, decided a pitching duel between Vale and winner Don Sutton, who stopped the Pirates on four hits and struck out nine.

Dietz connected in the second inning after a walk and an error by rookie shortstop Roger Metzger, giving Gaylord Perry a 3-0 lead, and the Giants' right-hander checked the Cubs on three hits, including a two-run homer by Ron Santo in the seventh, to gain his 10th victory.

Both were philosophical about their early non-support in the voting for the July 14 All-Star classic at Cincinnati.

"Heck, I've been struggling for the last ten days, anyway, so I couldn't expect any more," Grabarkewitz said of his meager total of 3,151 write-in votes among some 240,000 cast in the first week of balloting. "Besides, Perez is the best third baseman in the league, anyway so why bother."

The Reds' Tony Perez, batting .368 and leading the circuit in everything but hits, runs and RBI, was so far from the top vote-getter at his position.

No other third baseman tops Grabarkewitz' average, but he trailed five others in the voting, including St. Louis' Mike Shannon, who missed the first two months of the season with a kidney ailment.

"I don't see how they could have put me on the All-Star ballot," said Dietz. "It was too early. But if I continue to hit well up to the All-Star break, I feel I'd have to be chosen one way or another. I'd like to go ... it's been my boyhood dream."

Johnny Bench of the Reds, who has walloped 20 homers and driven in 57 runs, is the runaway leader among the catchers. But five other receivers topped Dietz' 3,292 votes, including Philadelphia's Tim McCarver and Chicago's Randy Hundley, who have been out for long periods with injuries, and the Mets' Jerry Grote, a .156 hitter.

At New York, Jim McAndrew weathered a sticky start and two rain delays to hurl the Mets past the Reds for their fourth straight victory. McAndrew gave up a run in the first inning and four hits through the first two, then scattered four more the rest of the way.

Tommy Helms led the Reds' 13-hit attack against Jim Merritt, 11-5, and three Cincinnati relievers with two singles and a double.

Dave Roberts, called out of the San Diego bullpen after Mike Corkins pulled a groin muscle warming up for the second inning, handcuffed St. Louis on six hits. The Padres broke a scoreless tie against Steve Carlton in the seventh on Ivan Murrell's leadoff homer and a three-run double by Clarence Gaston.

Doc Edwards punched a bases-loaded single off Jim Bouton with two out in the 13th, giving Philadelphia the nod over the Astros.

The Braves built an early 7-1 lead, then hung on to end a three-game losing string, with Milt Pappas picking up the victory in relief of George Stone.

Shortstop Maury Wills and centerfielder Willie Davis were in the opening day lineup for the Los Angeles Dodgers in 1962 and again this spring.

Once-Beaten Texas Faces Florida State

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

OMAHA (AP) — After a five-day grind in mostly 90-degree temperatures, the double elimination College World Series reached a showdown stage Wednesday with three once-beaten teams remaining in the original field of eight.

Second-ranked Texas (39-7) will meet No. 3 Florida State (48-8) Wednesday at 8 p.m. CDT. The winner will face No. 1 Southern California (50-13) at the same time Thursday for the championship. The Trojans drew a Wednesday bye.

The windup includes teams backed by previous world series experience. Texas is in its 14th appearance and won in 1949 and 1950 to be the only club ever to take successive titles. Florida State is here for the fifth time with a previous best showing being fourth place in 1962. USC has made the big show 12 times and won it five, the last in 1968.

Texas Coach Cliff Gustafson said he would start senior right-hander James Street (8-1) Wednesday night. Street, quarterback of Texas' national foot ball champions, has been nursing a pulled groin muscle and in a start Sunday against Ohio U. he lasted two innings, striking out four, before being hampered.

Jack Stallings of Florida State is expected to counter with unbeaten Gene Amman, junior righthander, who has 14 victories. He made his world series debut with a remarkable 0.60 earned run average Saturday and fired a two-hitter to blank Arizona 4-0.

Texas blew a 7-1 lead in losing to USC 8-7 in 4 innings Tuesday night and absorbed its first series defeat. The game was only one inning short of a tourney record.

In the first game, Florida State eliminated Ohio U. 2-0.

Rent-A-Kid: New Job Idea

Career Corner

By Joyce Lain

What job would you like to see explored in this column?

Dear Joyce: Why not write about jobs young people under 16 can take when they aren't old enough to legally work? — M.L.K., RICHMOND, VA.

Two 7th grade boys in Webster Groves, Mo., have hit on one solution. They've taken the old idea of all-around handyman and given it new sparkle by calling their venture "Rent-A-Kid."

Kid number one is 12-year-old Kent Taylor, who is manager and originator of the enterprise. He and his partner, Tom King, 13, are available to mow lawns, shovel snow, clean out attics, weed gardens, rake leaves or "anything else we know how to do or can learn real fast." Overload assignments are subcontracted to three more boys, ages 10 to 13, for 10 per cent of the fee. The boys are thinking of adding girls to Rent-A-Kid if they get calls for babysitting and ironing.

Charges are based on a flat price rather than an hourly fee; for example, $5 an acre to mow a lawn. The Rent-A-Kids reason they'd rather work at their own pace than have dissatisfied customers if they decide to take a break. During the first six weeks of operation during the school year (after school and several Saturdays) the boys have earned $100, and have good prospects for the vacation months.

The junior tycoons got started by designing and mimeographing flyers which they left on restaurant counters, passed out on street corners, and put up in neighborhood store windows.

* * *

In the same community, two gals calling themselves The Superstars are garnering applause and extra money with a basement shop operation in serigraphy. This is an ancient oriental stencil process in which ink is forced through the open mesh of a screen stencil onto any desired surface with a squeegee. (In commercial application, it's called screen process printing.).

Debbie Maher, 19, and Linda Scott, 17, became serigraphers at a school art show where their original designs on jersey T-shirts were a smash at $2 each. With a little press agenting, word spread and orders began to come in from boutiques (in lots of 200 shirts) and special groups. One group, the local Police Department's softball team ordered jersies that are sure to cause doubletakes: "Pig Is Beautiful."

Dear Joyce: None of my college applications have been accepted so far. I seem to remember hearing about an organization that helps you find a college with openings. Can you tell me how to contact that organization? — D.J., CHICAGO

Many colleges will accept applications right up until the end of August even if you're an average student. Here are addresses of four nonprofit admissions centers (which charge modest fees) to which you may write for details of their services:

American College Admissions Center, Liberty Trust Bldg., Broad and Arch Streets, Philadelphia, Pa. 19107; Association of College Admissions Counselors, 801 Davis St., Evanston, Ill. 60201; College Admissions Assistance Center, 461 Park Ave. S., New York, N.Y. 10016; Private College Admissions Center, 1740 N St. NW, Washington, D.C. 20036.

New Study Asked On Population

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Unless current trends change the world 80 years hence will have three persons for every one now living.

That is the projection of the U.N. secretariat, presented in a background paper to help a committee of experts suggest new studies on the relationships between population trends and economic development.

The paper says the world is "faced with the high probability that, if present trends continue, the inhabitants of the planet may outnumber 11 billion as early as the middle of the 21st century".

The estimated 1970 population is 3.362 billion.

The secretariat shows what it means by "present trends" in detailed projections to the end of the 20th century.

These indicate that from now till then the world's crude birth rate will fall a fourth—from 33.2 down to 25.1 live births per 1,000 people—while the crude death rate will fall a third—from 12.8 to 8.1 deaths per 1,000. Life expectancy at birth will rise to 66½ years from 55½.

That will bring the annual rate of world population growth down from 1970's 2 per cent to 1.7 per cent in the year 2000. After that, even though the growth rate may continue to decline, "the annual increments in population will continue to become larger."

The paper says the prospect of 11 billion human beings by 2050 may prompt reconsideration of the idea of stabilizing the world's population by somehow achieving a zero growth rate. But for the moment, it remarks, that idea is highly hypothetical.

In most developing countries, it says, high population growth "tends to increase the numbers of those segments of the population—illiterate, unskilled, agricultural, rural and the like" that were characteristic of premodern societies. Thus such growth "is conducive to perpetuating economic backwardness, low productivity and inadequate living conditions."

"However," the paper says, "in view of the modest achievements of these programs, there is a growing appreciation that family planning alone cannot bring fertility to an adequate level, and that economic and social change has to pave the way for fertility control."

Mattingly Gets Marriage License

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Astronaut Thomas K. Mattingly II, who was bumped from Apollo 13 because of the measles, has quietly taken out a marriage license here.

Details were scant. Courthouse records listed the bald-headed, freckle-faced astronaut's intended bride only as Elizabeth Pond of California.

Mattingly, 34, is on two weeks leave from the Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston.

Officials at the astronaut office in Houston could say only that he was on leave. They were unable to tell newsmen where he was staying.

Mattingly was on the prime crew for Apollo 13, his first scheduled space mission, but was removed when doctors discovered he had been exposed to german measles and was not immune.

Astronaut John Swigert, also a bachelor, replaced Mattingly—who never came down with the measles.

An explosion from an oxygen tank crippled Apollo 13 two days after launch, cancelling the moon landing attempt and seriously endangering its crew.

Mattingly, one of four unmarried astronauts, has kept mum about his marriage plans. He declined comment when asked prior to the Apollo 13 flight about his intentions, but sources said he had been dating a "special girl" for some time.

Mattingly is a Chicago native and graduate of Auburn University. He joined the astronaut corps in 1966 after six years as a naval aviator.

The Navy lieutenant commander is not currently named on an active flight crew but is expected to fly on a moon voyage late in the Apollo program.

The other unmarried astronauts besides Mattingly and Swigert are Harrison H. Schmitt and Alfred M. Worden.

House Rejects Nixon's Postal Reform Bill

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A postal reform-pay boost package backed by President Nixon and the postal unions has been tentatively rejected by the House in favor of its own more limited version.

The House Tuesday refused on a 219-130 vote to substitute the reform-pay package negotiated by the Nixon administration and most postal unions for one forged by the House Post Office Committee.

But the House bill also faces attempts at heavy revision and there is cloakroom talk of passing an 8 per cent pay raise for mailmen without postal reform at the risk of a presidential veto.

Rep. Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz., contended the House bill was unacceptable and urged the House to take up the package negotiated by the administration and postal unions in the wake of the nation's first mail strike last March.

"If you vote no on this," Udall said, "you're voting against (AFL-CIO President) George Meany, the AFL-CIO unions and the President of the United States and saying no, we shouldn't have a vote on your package."

A key difference in the committee bill would make the pay boost for mailmen retroactive to April 18, while the administration package called for the raises to be effective upon passage. Also, the committee version provides for easier congressional vetoes of future postal rate increases.

The bill would turn the mails—controlled by Congress for 181 years—over to an independent U.S. Postal Service with corporate powers to put them on a self-paying basis by 1978.

The postal service would set its own [illegible] rates, subject to congressional veto, negotiate pay and working conditions with postal unions and sell bonds to finance modernization and construction.

The 8 per cent pay boost is expected to cost $538.2 million for the full fiscal year starting July 1 plus $107.6 million for the retroactive pay to April 18.

Udall and Rep. Edward J. Derwinski, R-Ill., who cosponsored the administration-backed substitute, served notice they will now try to amend the bill to concur with the rejected Nixon-union proposal.

Fisher Ordered To Pay For Home

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Singer Eddie Fisher must pay $98,975 to a couple who said he backed out of a 1967 agreement to buy their home in suburban Woodland Hills.

A Superior Court judge ordered the payment Tuesday after Susan and Martin Stayden testified the singer had agreed to pay $115,000 for the home but two weeks later refused to complete the transaction.

Daughter 'goes wrong' Dad's brokenhearted

by Abigail Van Buren

(c 1970 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: When our daughter graduated from high school, she was described as "a highly intelligent, well-adjusted, clean-cut girl," so we were confident that we could send her away to college.

Well, she has completed her sophomore year, and we have just learned that our confidence in her was badly misplaced. During her first year we noticed that her friends appeared to be the "hippie type" . . . but she defended them, saying they were "good kids" and they all looked like that.

Last summer she worked at a resort. We visited her frequently and noticed nothing amiss. However, now we know that she sometimes slept with boys who were casual dates. Also, she slipped away one weekend to attend a "rock concert" with three "guys" she hardly knew, and slept in one room with them.

How does a well brought up girl turn into such a tramp? She had love, a happy home, and a religious background. My wife is under a doctor's care now and seems headed for a nervous breakdown.

Perhaps if you publish this letter, some other kids will see it and stop short of wrecking a happy family. We have another daughter, younger, and it sickens me to admit that my wife and I have lost all desire to bring her up. We feel that teaching decency and honor to today's children is useless.

DEFEATED FATHER

DEAR FATHER: In spite of the best parental guidance, and the ultimate in examples of "morality" at home, our young people today are faced with temptations we never knew. [Drugs, freaky friends, the horrifying fear that there will be no "world" soon. Who knows?]

In any case, even tho your eldest daughter fell under the influence of her peer group, I urge you not to abandon your responsibility as parents now. And the younger one deserves your best efforts, too. These are times when our children need our love and understanding most.

DEAR ABBY: I am not a hippie. I am not a rebellious student. I am a girl, 18 years old. I don't drink or smoke. I don't use pot or LSD and I don't stand on street corners waiting to be picked up.

I am a virgin and no boy puts his hands where they shouldn't be. I have plenty of dates. So what's my problem?

In your column you labeled me [and countless others] as having no respect for ourselves. Why? Because we walked with a boyfriend with our hands around each other's waists, or we sat close together in a car. So what's wrong with an expression of affection and love these days? Would you rather we hid our feelings in the back seat of a car? Would that be more "proper?" No one would see us there.

DISAPPOINTED IN YOU

DEAR DISAPPOINTED: Aw, come on! There is nothing wrong with young lovers [and older ones, for that matter] expressing honest affection in public—TO A POINT. But that "point" ends when they put their hands where they shouldn't be, exchange passionate kisses before God and everybody, and give the general impression that they are in a bedroom. [Or would like to be!]

CONFIDENTIAL TO "JUST CURIOUS": You are mistaken. A baby CAN be born in the eighth month of pregnancy and weigh 9½ pounds. This is common in families where there is a history of diabetes.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Letter writing can be a breeze. For Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

Testimony Continues In Murdur Trial

WAXAHACHIE, Tex. (AP) — Testimony was to continue Wednesday in the murder trial of Amadeo Guerra Jr., 17, accused in the last November slaying of Highway Patrolman Travis Locker.

Guerra of San Antonio, is the second youth to stand trial in the case.

Selection of a jury ended Tuesday and testimony started with statements from Thelma Nobles of Plainoak who said her 1964 Buick was stolen from in front of a church the night of Nov. 9, 1969.

Guerra, Felipe Orta, 18, already givenaa five-year sentence in connection with the murder case, and Ernest Guzman, awaiting trial in the Ellis County Jail, were driving a Buick when Locker stopped the car on Interstate 35 near Waxahachie.

Testimony was to continue Wednesday from a Fort Hood soldier, Sgt. William McDonald, one of two hitchhikers picked up by the San Antonio trio.

Orta testified at his trial that he tried to prevent Guerra from shooting Locker whena scuffle developed between the youths and the officer.

McDonald had testified at Orta's trial that Orta was the triggerman.

Dárrieux To Succeed Hepburn

NEW YORK (AP) — Danielle Darrieux, veteran star of the French stage and screen, will succeed Katharine Hepburn in the title role of the hit Broadway musical "Coco" Aug. 3.

The announcement was made Tuesday by Frederick Brisson, producer of the show.

PORCUPINE IN CAPTIVITY — Little Christy Ballard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Ballard, peers over the rim of a metal cage holding a porcupine her mother captured near their home northwest of Snyder. The animal was contributed to the Abilene Zoo by Mrs. Ballard.

Banker Foils Holdup Attempt

HOUSTON (AP)—Two would-be bank robbers ran up against a shotgun-packing bank president Tuesday and lost.

The president, Theodore F. Burridge, fired blasts from a 12-guage shotgun and felled the two in the bank's parking lot.

Both men were reported in critical condition at a hospital with buckshot wounds in their legs and back.

Police identified them as Johnny L. Goode, 28, and David Lee Fry, 25, Houston. They were charged Tuesday night with taking more than $32,000 from the South Park National Bank of Houston.

Burridge said he saw the men forcing three tellers to stuff the money into two pillow cases Tuesday afternoon.

The bank president said he walked to the rear of the bank, got his shotgun, and waited at a side door for the men to leave.

"I couldn't do any shooting inside," he said.

Less than two minutes after they entered the bank, Burridge said, the robbers ran out the front door, firing a shot to discourage any chase.

The bank official said he checked to be sure no bystanders were in the line of fire as the men ran to an old model car in the parking lot.

"I aimed just below their hip pockets," Burridge said. "I didn't shoot to kill."

Police reported finding the pillow cases stuffed with money and two pistols beside the men.

The engine of the getaway car had been left running and the side of the car was splattered with 21 buckshot holes, officers said.

Six children were in another car about 30 feet from the scene of the shooting. They were waiting for their mother, Mrs. Domingo Guzman, 32, who was among a score of customers inside the bank.

The eldest child, Cynthia, 10, said she saw the two men run from the bank with guns in their hands.

"We all got down when we heard the shots," she said.

Tuesday's robbery was the third at the bank since it opened about 10 years ago. In each case, two men were involved and arrests were made shortly after the holdup.

More Federal Funds For Nursing Homes

AUSTIN (AP) — Nursing homes can collect more from state and federal funds for patient care if they meet certain conditions, the state Welfare Department says.

The Department announced new vendor rates Tuesday, providing a jump in maximum medicaid patients from $360 to $381 per patient in nursing homes.

For the two classes of intermediate care, mostly by unskilled labor, the nursing homes would have present medicaid payments decreased but would be allowed to charge an extra $25 a month "supplementation" from some source other than the patient or his family. This would decrease one present intermediate care rate from $300 a month to $294 but allow $25 supplementation to permit a new maximum of $319. The lowest intermediate care charge would decrease from $210 to $198 but allow an extra $25 supplementation for a new maximum of $233.

No patient could be denied intermediate care just because there is no source to pay the $25 supplementation.

Porcupine Captured, Put In Zoo

A real, live porcupine has been captured in White Buffalo Country.

The animal created quite a stir when dogs discovered him (or was it a her?) and now the varmint is on display at the Abilene zoo.

Mrs. Kenneth Ballard captured the prickly animal near her home north of Union. After the dogs discovered it, Mrs. Ballard managed to get a basket over the critter. Then, she edged it along and finally pushed it into a metal cage.

She contacted the zoo at Abilene and promptly found the animal a home.

Mrs. Ballard delivered the porcupine to Abilene on Tuesday afternoon, after keeping the animal for three days.

What does a porcupine eat?

"He likes watermelon and carrots," said Mrs. Ballard.

House Approval Seen On Double-Barrel Bill

By JOHN BECKLER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A double-barreled bill designed to lower the voting age to 18 and continue legislation protecting black voters in the South headed toward final House action today with Democratic leaders confident of victory.

However, there was strong opposition from administration-backed Republicans to the Senate-passed bill, which also provides a nationwide ban on literacy tests and establishment of a uniform residency requirement for presidential election voting.

The opposition was led by GOP Leader Gerald R. Ford, who sought to send the measure back to a House-Senate conference where he hoped the voting age reduction, which he said was unconstitutional, could be deleted.

The possibility of a veto has been hinted at by some opponents of the bill, but most Democrats regard it as unlikely.

The bill extends the right to vote to all persons 18 years old or older in all elections after Jan. 1, 1971. It provides for a prompt Supreme Court test to decide its constitutionality.

At present, only four states permit voting by persons under 21—Georgia and Kentucky, where the age limit is 18, Alaska, where it is 19; and Hawaii, where it is 20. In the last five years, 20 other states have rejected efforts to lower the voting age.

Supporters of the provision, noting that approximately half the combat deaths in Vietnam come within the age group of 18 to 21, argued a person old enough to fight and die for his country is old enough to vote for its leaders.

The opponents, besides citing constitutional grounds, said 18-year-olds are not mature enough to vote and point to violent protests on campuses to support their position.

The voting rights section of the bill continues until 1975. The act has been hailed as the most successful civil rights bill ever enacted. Its key provisions expire in August.

Aimed primarily at Southern states where there had been widespread evidence of discrimination against Negro voters in the past, the 1965 Voting Rights Act has led to vastly increased voter participation by blacks and the election of scores of local black officials.

The administration tried to replace the 1965 act with a broader one of its own and succeeded by a vote of 208 to 205 in the House last December. The Senate restored the original act and added the nationwide ban on literacy tests, the uniform residency requirement and the 18-year-old voting provision.

Normally, when the Senate amends a House-passed bill, conferees from each body try to work out a compromise which must then be approved by the House and Senate.

This time the House was asked to accept the Senate amendments without going to conference because of a fear that Senate opponents of the voting rights act extension could filibuster past its August expiration date.

Lubbock Man New TCMA President

DALLAS (AP) — The Texas City Management Association closed out its spring meeting in Dallas Tuesday by electing Boll Blackwell of Lubbock its next president, starting in October.

Bob Sherrill of Richardson was named vice president and John Lee of Victoria was named the association's representative to the Texas Municipal League.

Additions will be made to the association's board of directors in October.

Clifford A. Johnson of Grand Prairie, now president, said $40,000 of federal and state money had been contributed for a new and continuing educational program for city managers in Texas.

During their meeting the city managers discussed transport, housing, finance, shopping center development and related subjects.

They also approved a new constitution and bylaws for the association. These will allow some other officials having urban administrative responsibilities similar to those of city managers to be admitted as members of the association.
