Rains Increase Flood's Tempo Along Missouri

KANSAS CITY (AP)—New rain, some of it heavy, sharpened the fears of flood fighters along the raging Missouri River today.

Major dikes held at critical spots. And the experts clung to their prediction that Kansas City, Kan., and Kansas City, Mo., would be safe.

As the muddy sea broadened in the lowlands, Missouri Gov. Forrest Smith proclaimed a flood emergency and asked President Truman to allot emergency federal funds to his home state.

Along the upper Mississippi, another record flood boiled seaward.

At LaCrosse, Wis., weatherman A. D. Sanial said, "The worst of it is over now." A little rain fell there but not enough to affect the river.

At Lansing, Ia., in the extreme Northeastern corner of the state, the peak is set for 18.1—a record—but .7 foot lower than predicted earlier.

The focus of the rainfall jitters was at Kansas City, where prolonged downpours turned the Kaw (Kansas) River into a monster last July. It flooded the rich industrial bottomlands as it raged into the Missouri here.

This time, Army Engineers say the levees have been rebuilt to withstand a flood of 40.8 feet. The expected crest was 29 feet but heavy general rain would force that upward.

E. C. Corkill, Weather Bureau river forecaster, said one-inch rains were possible in a wide area around the flood zone. That might send the river at Kansas City up to 31 feet.

More showers were forecast for tomorrow and if they, too, should average an inch, the crest might reach 33 or 34 feet by Friday.

Upstream at Leavenworth, Kan., a small army of men toiled through the night at beleaguered Sherman Air Force Field. But the imperilled dikes continued to hold.

During the night, life-jacketed officers from the Army's Command and General Staff School at Ft. Leavenworth did patrol duty atop the slippery dike.

They worked in pairs. They were told to fire their signal pistols and run for their lives if they spotted a major break.

The 3-million-dollar field slopes downward about seven feet in the mile from the north to the south edge. If the north dike—taking the full force of the Missouri's tremendous weight—gave way, the field would be a boiling, churning rapids.

The Missouri reached its predicted crest of 26.4 feet at St. Joseph, Mo., last night but the new storms kept flood workers on edge. Two big agricultural levees were reported in critical condition near there.

As the flood powered on downstream, Army Engineers estimated 386,000 acres of land were inundated from Rulo in Southeastern Nebraska to the mouth near St. Charles, Mo., above St. Louis.

An estimated 12,000 persons had fled their homes in that stretch. Several small communities built in the river bottoms were flooded or being evacuated.

OPEN, BUT NOT TO TRAFFIC

The swinging portion of Union Pacific rail bridge across flood-swollen Missouri river at St. Joseph, Mo., is kept open to let debris pass downstream. Rail traffic is stopped as water laps at the base of the span."

Test Power Of Department Of State In Court

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department's broad authority to deny or revoke passports was challenged in Federal Court today and a three-judge panel agreed to hear the the case.

The American Civil Liberties Union brought the test, urging the creation of standards for issuing and denying passports and machinery for hearings and reviews. It also called on Congress to make the issuance of a passport mandatory to an applicant except for specific reason.

The State Department, in denying or revoking a passport, customarily merely states that authorized foreign travel by the individual in question would not be "in the best interest of the United States."

The test case involves the department's cancellation of the passport of Miss Anne Bauer, a naturalized American citizen who had been working in France as a free lance writer. The Civil Liberties Union complained that she was given no hearing and was arbitrarily deprived of her means of livelihood and her constitutional rights. She came to this country from Germany in 1938.

Hers is one of eight similar cases under special study by the union.

The three-judge panel selected to hear Miss Bauer's case is headed by Judge Charles Fahy of the U.S. Court of Appeals. District Court Judges Edward M. Curran and Richmond B. Keech are the other members.

State Department officials said authority to deny passports is based in general on the powers of the President to conduct foreign relations, an 1853 law which authorizes the issuing of passports and an executive order signed March 31, 1938, by President Roosevelt.

The executive order states that the secretary of state "is authorized in his discretion to refuse to issue a passport, to restrict a passport for use only in certain countries, to withdraw or cancel a passport for use only in certain countries, to withdraw or cancel a passport already issued and to withdraw a passport for the purpose of restricting its validity or use in certain countries."

High Of 83 Yesterday

Yesterday became one of the hottest days of 1952 when the thermometer moved up to a high of 83, Mrs. D. P. Strayhorn, weather observer, said. Low for last night was 50, and the reading at 7:30 o'clock this morning was 51.

Hot Words, No Action At Talk

MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—In a sharp 16-minute truce session an Allied spokesman told Communist negotiators today: "Your attitude clearly indicates you have not come to these conferences to negotiate an armistice."

Col. Don O. Darrow made the statement after North Korean Col. Chang Chun told him to "give up your illusions" about banning Red airfield reconstruction during a Korean armistice.

Darrow said the Communists appeared more concerned with the UN Command's attitude "than with solving problems.

No problems were solved in the session dealing with means of supervising a truce.

The fate of armistice talks appeared to hang on another group of staff officers debating methods of exchanging prisoners of war The officers met in executive session for an hour and 40 minutes An Allied spokesman said they were "still exploring" possible solutions.

Both groups meet again at 11 a.m. Wednesday (9 p.m. EST Tuesday.)

Walter Wanger Is Convicted

SANTA MONICA, Calif., April 22 (AP)—Movie producer Walter Wanger was convicted today of assault with a deadly weapon for shooting his wife's agent. He drew a four months sentence in the county jail.

The judge deleted the part of a grand jury indictment which alleged "with intent to commit murder," and reduced the charge to assault with a deadly weapon.

Rather than proving murder intent, said Superior Judge Harry J. Borde, the evidence "proves quite to the contrary that he had no such intent at all."

Judge Borde, who returned his verdict before a filled courtroom, had reached his decision on the basis of testimony heard by the county grand jury last Dec. 18.

The grey, distinguished producer who heard the decision calmly, shot 39-year-old Jennings Lang in the groin at dusk last Dec. 13 on a Beverly Hills parking lot.

To Close Off 37th In Next Two Days

Thirty - seventh Street will be closed to motor traffic within the next two days, when construction of the paving project is expected to begin.

Joe Frazier, of the W. O. Pelphrey road construction firm, contrator on the project, said today that closing of the street would be done either tomorrow or Thursday. All of Thirty - seventh Street from the Big Spring highway west to the Humble Oil Camp will be closed to all traffic, he said, and that part of the street east of the highway will be closed to through traffic.

"We wish we could leave the street open during construction," he said, "but this would be impossible. Therefore, we will appreciate the co-operation of motorists living in that area." He said a street just south of the Highland Park and Towle Place additions would be usable. Those living in Noble Heights may use the street to get to their homes, but the street will be closed to through traffic since it will be impossible to cross Deep Creek where a bridge will be constructed.

Yesterday, A. T. Thompson of the Hasie & Green Engineering Co., engineer on the project, requested the commissioners court to authorize a change order in plans on this project. The order would be to change the plans to call for three coats of blacktop paving in the Highland Park and Towle Place portion instead of the originally planned two coats. There will be an additional coat because of the change, he said, but he added that he did not know how much more it would cost. "It won't be much, however," he said.

The reason for the change is that the engineering firm recently discovered the road had more grade than was believed at the time of original planning. He said there was a two-per cent grade (two feet of decline for each 100 linear feet) and that two coats of blacktopping would not withstand the water flow at the gutter. When the engineering was first done by the firm, it was believed the grade was not that steep, he said. The court agreed to negotiate the matter with the contractor.

Questioning Of Jurors In Murder Trial Of Mrs. H. W. Doswell

DALLAS, April 22 (AP)—District Attorney Henry Wade personally took over questioning of prospective jurors today for the murder trial of Mrs. Rebecca Doswell, 52.

Mrs. Doswell, accused of fatally shooting her wealthy husband, oilman Thomas W. Doswell, sat with a woman identified only as her sister. Doswell was shot to death as he and the defendant sat in a car outside their fashionable residential apartment hotel here Aug. 20, 1951.

Prospective jurors were questioned as to their feelings about a life sentence. Criminal District Court Judge Henry King ordered a panel of 150 more veniremen.

Defense attorneys Maury Hughes and Ted Monroe expressed belief it would be difficult to select a jury because of publicity given the case.

Rain In Parts Of State, No More Twisters In Forecast

(By The Associated Press)

More thunderstorms and heavy rains pelted part of Texas today but the Weather Bureau said the danger of more tornadoes was over for now.

Tornadoes whirled crazily across East Central Texas last night. There were no injuries or reports of great damage. One man was killed by lightning.

Five inches of rain which fell at Frost in Navarro County last night and today resulted in high water which cut off the gas supply. Rice, also in Navarro County, had 4.15 inches of rain and hail. Blooming Grove had between 4 and 5 inches of rain.

The Sabine River in East Texas was pushed to dangerous levels by high rains. At Austin, the Lower Colorado River Authority reported moderate rises on the Llano and Pedernales Rivers in the hill country.

The Weather Bureau said cooler temperatures which moved over the state during the night had ended for now the danger of more tornadoes.

The thunderstorm area extended today from the Texas-Louisiana border west to Fort Worth, north to the Red River and south to below Austin. Elsewhere skies were cloudy but little rain was indicated. West Texas still needed rain.

Precipitation for the 24 hours ending at 6:30 a. m. included Dallas 1.31 inches, Fort Worth 1.26, Waco 1.23, Corsicana .93 of an inch, Del Rio .85, Junction .93, Abilene .63, Tyler .38, and Texarkana .1.

A well - known Milam County farmer, A. A. Doss, Sr., 72, was killed by lightning yesterday. He had gone to the river bottoms near his Rockdale farm to get the milk cows. His body was found under a tree which had been shattered by the bolt.

With South Texas having early summer temperatures a cool front, described by a forecaster as the "last breath of winter," eased across the top of the Panhandle. Temperatures at 3:30 a. m. at Dalhart and Amarillo were 38 and 40, respectively.

Damage was not great and there were no reported injuries as the small tornadoes walloped through McLennan and Navarro Counties.

Near McGregor, in McLennan County, houses, barns and automobiles were damaged or demolished by the twisting winds which hit farms operated by L. Allen, Leroy McCutcheon, Charles Shelbourn and Philip Noland.

Mrs. Charles W. Baker said the twister which lashed her turkey ranch near China Springs was a "terrible roaring noise followed by awful winds." She said it lasted about five minutes. Sheds and outbuildings were blown away.

Tops of two brick buildings were blown off in Ennhouse, northwest of Corsicana in Navarro County. First reports that several persons were injured proved unfounded.

The thunderstorm activity which brewed the small tornadoes brought more good than ill winds although flood stage was expected on the Sabine at Mineola, some 80 miles east of Dallas.

Valley Mills, 30 miles northeast of Waco, had a flash flood when five inches of rain fell in less than three hours. Residents waded knee deep water to evacuate an aged couple after water rose around their home.

Water filled curbs and gutters in Waco where more than two inches of rain fell. Hillsboro reported almost three inches. A torrential downpour at the afternoon rush period in Dallas brought 1.26 inches and snarled traffic for hours.

Fear for Lives of 11 Guards Held Hostages As Prisoner Is Killed

JACKSON, Mich (AP)—Grim-faced and fearful, authorities waited today for 179 tough convicts in Southern Michigan Prison to decide the fate of 11 guards they hold as hostages.

Hundreds of other convicts who rioted in this—the world's largest—prison were back under control, one of their number killed by police gunfire and nine wounded.

State troopers counted four injured in their ranks. Convict-set fires and wrecking during the wild rioting did damage estimated up to two million dollars.

The mutinying convicts were holed up with their hostages in cell block No. 15, a disciplinary block where they were sent for violating prison rules. Last word from them during the night was a renewal of their threat to cut off a guard's head if any prisoner were hurt.

While there were radios in the convict-controlled building, broadcasting stations in the area apparently were complying with a request from State Police Commissioner Donald S. Leonard to keep word of the one prisoner death off the air.

At midnight the mutineers had not heard of it, so far as authorities could tell. Warden Julian N. Frisbie said he talked by telephone with one of the mutiny leaders then and was informed, "The guards are being treated well."

Frisbie said, "The situation looks better."

Leaders of the uprising told authorities immediately after the mutiny started Sunday night that they were protesting "brutality" and demanded a newspaper man be brought to them.

But still the mutiny group hasn't named its terms for releasing the guards and surrendering.

Authorities deny there has been brutality in handling of the prison's more than 6,400 inmates.

Four guards were grabbed originally. Then as other prisoners rioted, around 500 spilling into the yards from other buildings, toughs sneaked from cell block No. 15 and got nine more guards at knifepoint. Later they released, two, one because of his age, another because he was ill.

Darwin Millage, 35-year-old convict from Detroit, was the man killed. He was shot through the chest as some 200 inmates threatened to take over fire trucks brought in to fight fires started by the rioters in at least five buildings. State troopers escorted the trucks and later cleared the yards.

A ninth convict was wounded and Police Commissioner Leonard was nicked in the scalp by a piece of flying debris as troopers fired a fusillade into the front of cell block No. 11—one of two mental units—to drive rioters into corridors. After a tumultuous day, the mental-case inmates finally were driven into the cells and secured shortly after dark.

The mutineers were led by Jack Hyatt, 29, and Earl E. Ward, 30. Both are convicted robbers serving long terms, and both have police records from boyhood. Ward is classified as a mental-case inmate. Hyatt's nickname is "Crazy Jack" and police say it fits.

One of Ward's last remarks before authorities decided to call off conferences with the mutineers last night was: "We can hold out as long as you can."

REPUBLICANS ACT

Resolution Presented For Impeachment Of President

WASHINGTON, April 22 (AP)—A resolution asking impeachment of President Truman for seizing the steel mills was introduced in the House today by Rep. Hale (R-Me).

Along with it, Hale introduced a resolution which would declare the opinion of the House to be that the President violated the constitution and that the steel plants should be returned to private operation.

The impeachment resolution followed the standard form for such procedure. It was referred to the Judiciary Committee, where no action was expected, at least for the time being.

It directs the committee to investigate the seizure and report to the House, "together with such resolution of impeachment or other recommendation as it deems proper."

In a brief speech, Hale said the President's action was "an assault on the Constitution of the United States."

Other Republicans joined in the attack on the President.

Rep. McCormack of Massachusetts, the Democratic leader, defended the President and Rep. Crawford (R-Mich) suggested that the courts be allowed to determine the legality of the seizure.

On the other side of the Capitol, the Senate resumed debate on a Republican-sponsored move to forbid spending government money to carry out the seizure.

Two Senate committees called government and industry men before them for discussion of the seizure.

By a roll call vote of 44 to 31, the Senate late yesterday aimed a slap at Truman's seizure order. After rounds of bitter debate, it hooked onto a 960-million-dollar appropriation bill an amendment proposed by Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich) forbidding use of any of the money to carry out the order.

Actually none of this money is needed to enforce the seizure, but Sen. Bridges (R-NH), the GOP floor leader, said it was a gesture of Senate disapproval.

Eleven Democrats joined 33 Republicans in the vote. Two Republicans, Morse of Oregon and Langer of North Dakota, sided with 29 Democrats in opposing it.

White-clad Red Soldiers Are Mystery To UN

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—A report of white - clad Chinese Communist cavalrymen on the Central Korean War Front puzzled U. S. Eighth Army Officers today.

Front line units said they spotted 200 riders in white moving toward Kumsong Monday afternoon. They said heavy artillery ripped the column to pieces.

Two other white-cloaked bands of 50 and 60 men were reported sighted in the area.

"We can't attach any significance to the report at this time," said an Eighth Army staff officer. "Intelligence officers are studying the details. All we have now are fragmentary reports."

He said the white uniforms possibly could be explained by the probability of snow in the mountains northeast of Kumsong.

Communist calvarymen were last reported on the front shortly after the entry of Red China into the war in autumn of 1950.

The Western and Central Fronts were generally quiet. There was a flurry of Red probing and patrol action in the mountainous East.

U. S. Navy headquarters in Tokyo said five U. S. ships have been sunk by mines and 46 U. S. and 11 British Commonwealth warships have been damaged in the Korean War.

The navy said all the damaged British ships and 40 of the U. S. vessels were hit by Red shore batteries. Five U. S. ships were damaged by mines and one by an aerial bomb.

Atom Bomb Is Set Off Today

ATOM BOMB SITE, Nev., April 22 (AP)—One of the most spectacular atomic bombs ever detonated jolted observers 10 miles distant today and gave 1,500 troops an experience they will never forget.

It probably was the largest bomb ever dropped on continental United States soil. The smoke blotted out the troops who were within four miles of ground zero.

The mushroom went through the hues of the rainbow.

The bomb burst 42 seconds after release from an Air Force plane flying at 30,000 feet in a typical high level drop.

Despite brilliant sunshine, the flash was visible 75 miles away in Las Vegas. Seven minutes later, that Southern Nevada gambling capital rumbled with the concussion.

The shock twisted this observer's neck one minute after the flash. The fireball lasted somewhere from four to 10 seconds.

CIVIL RIGHTS CHARGE

Federal Grand Jury Indicts Warden For 1951 Floggings

DENVER, April 22 (AP)—Roy Best, 52-year-old warden of the Colorado state prison who was acquitted of embezzlement accusations last year, is again faced with charges in connection with his rule of the institution.

A Federal Grand Jury indicted Best and eight other prison officials yesterday on seven counts each stemming from the flogging of six convicts at the prison last July following a riot.

The indictments accused the nine men of conspiracy to violate and of violating the civil rights of the six convicts.

These were the immediate reactions:

1. Best, who has said he will never quit under fire, declared he will plead innocent and will not ask for leave from his post until the time of his trial.

2. Gov. Thornton said the State Institutions Board will consider the matter Thursday and the warden will, in the meantime, remain on the job.

3. Thornton added that results of an examination into prison conditions, made by S. T. Anderson, special assistant to the Attorney General, also will be taken up by the board.

4. State Civil Service Commissioner Allyn Cole said no action was expected against any of the indicted officials now by the commission "unless somebody files charges."

5. U. S. District Judge Lee Knous, to whom the indictments were returned, disqualified himself from hearing any trial for Best, who served under Knous when he was governor of the state.

Indicted with Best were former Deputy Warden Oran Doolen; and guards L. W. Gentry; Bill Kinney; Clinton Leonard; Ira Binger; Jim Reilly; William J. Davis and Terry W. Trout.

Newspaper pictures and publicity on the whippings started an investigation at the prison on the state level last summer. The warden admitted the incident and said he knew of no other way to handle case-hardened criminals involved in an escape attempt.

Dragline Hits Power Cable, Burns Man At Hermleigh Today

Morris Harvey Potts, 36, of Bertram, was taken to the Snyder Hospital early this morning after suffering electric burns while at work on equipment used on construction of a farm-to-market road near Hermleigh.

Potts, an employe of the Holland - Paige Construction Co., was working on a dragline when the boom machine's boom caught an electric highline wire in front of the post office at Hermleigh. The wire broke, and while the dragline was still in contact with the wire, a cable fell and struck Potts.

The injured man was brought to the Snyder Hospital by fellow workers, where he was in critical condition early this morning.

Texas Fair Dealers Plan To Bolt Non-Pledge Conventions

(By The Associated Press)

Approaching precinct conventions drew what appeared to be record attention in Texas today while political campaigns—what there was of them—went begging.

The governor of Illinois, Adlai Stevenson, was in Dallas for a speech tonight and disclaimed, in a coy manner, any ambitions to be president.

Fagan Dickson, leader of the "Loyal Democrats," told members of the party faction in Dallas to bolt their May 3 precinct conventions if a majority failed to take a pledge to support the Democratic national nominees.

Another spokesman for the "Loyalists," Walter G. Hall of Dickinson, called for the precinct bolt in battle instructions issued at Austin. He asked "Loyal Democrats" to wrest control from "those who more desire its (the Democratic party) defeat than its victory."

The Hall move was interpreted as the Loyalist answer to Gov. Allan Shivers' demonstration of complete control of party machinery at the New Braunfels meeting of the state Democratic executive committee.

The committee approved the Shivers plan for an uninstructed delegation to the national Democratic convention in Chicago in July. Shivers claims such a delegation will give Texas and the south bargaining power for remodeling the party platform.

Hall called the governor's plan "dictatorial, Dixiecrat demands."

In Dallas, Dickson told about 100 Dallas County Democrats:

"Go to your precinct conventions May 3 and take the party loyalty pledge. If your meeting refuses to take it, hold a separate meeting of those who will. Elect your own chairman. Elect your own delegates to the county convention and instruct them as to whom you want for President and what you want in the party platform."

The Illinois governor was in Dallas for a speech before the Dallas Council on World Affairs. Reporters caught him last night as he stepped from his plane in a wrinkled, blue suit.

He said he would "feel flattered" if the Democrats thought he could render more service in the White House than in the governor's chair. He refused to answer when twice asked if he would accept a draft for the presidential nomination.

Although Stevenson would not name his choice for the Democratic presidential nominee, he said he liked W. Averell Harriman, for whom a fledgling boom developed recently.

To a question about Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn), Stevenson replied curtly, "I don't know Kefauver as well as I do Mr. Harriman."

He said he barely knew Gen. Eisenhower. "I saw Eisenhower once," he said, "and that was in Naples. He went down the hall so fast, he missed my hand."

Stevenson said Texas would be richer if it got control of its tidelands, but he commented Colorado would be richer if it could get control of its forests. He said he accepted the Supreme Court decision favoring federal ownership of the submerged lands.

There was no announced opposition to Atty. Gen. Price Daniel's bid for Sen. Tom Connally's post. Connally has said he would not be a candidate for re-election.

An announcement of intentions was expected today or tomorrow from Martin Dies, former chairman of the House Committee on un-American Activities.

Dies has said he would run for either the Senate or Congressman-at-large.

Articles To Protect Public

The city charter commission adopted provisions last night by which the proposed charter will prohibit nepotism in city offices, prohibit city employs from holding commercial contracts with the city, and provide that city records be available for public inspection.

The provision on nepotism would prohibit the city government from hiring any person who has a near relative by actual kinship or marriage already employed by the city. An exception to the provision is that a person who has a relative in the employ can be elected to office without affecting the position of the relative.

No city employe shall have a contract with the city for rendering service other than that of his regular city position or for the sale of supplies or other materials to the city.

All records of the city shall be kept open to public inspection at all times during regular office hours.

ManKidnapped In Fort Worth

FORT WORTH, April 22 (AP)—A Comanche, Okla., man, missing five days, walked into the sheriff's office yesterday and said two men had robbed him of $7,200 and held him captive since last Wednesday.

Ozra Rather, owner of an oil well supply firm, said he met a New Mexico man here last Wednesday who paid him the $7,200 on a debt.

The man introduced him to the two men who robbed and kidnapped him, Rather said.

Rather said the two men drove him to an outlying road Wednesday night and robbed him of the money. Then they took him to a house he believed was in West Fort Worth and locked him in a room.

Yesterday morning, he said, they locked him in the trunk of his car and drove to a park.

Rather said he heard a key turn in the trunk lock before the two men left. He freed himself and drove to the sheriff's office.

Child Of Film Couple Finds Out In Court Where She Can Stay

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Actress Joan Fontaine and her former husband, producer William Dozier, have reached an amicable agreement on custody of their 3-year-old daughter Deborah.

Dozier objected when Miss Fontaine, who was awarded custody of the child under their 1951 divorce agreement, laid plans to take Deborah to Spain on a film location trip.

But in a settlement announced in court here yesterday, Miss Fontaine agreed to leave the child with Dozier in New York. Dozier may take the child to her if she finds conditions favorable in Spain.

Caperton Nominated For District VFW Post

The Veterans of Foreign Wars club last night nominated Jack Caperton as its candidate for Senior Vice Commander of VFW district No. 8.

A district convention will be held here May 3 and 4.

Ed Chapman, commander of the Snyder post, also named 23 delegates to the convention which is the quota allowed for the 357-member post. Each post commander also has one vote, giving Snyder a total of 24 votes in the convention.

John Lee Smith, Lubbock, ex-lieutenant governor of Texas, will be the main speaker at the convention. He will address the veterans on Sunday morning, May 4.

Bids For Flood Lights Called For By Group

The board of school trustees last night voted to call for contract bids on lighting the new baseball field for night games.

The decision of the board was made after a request by adults working with the Little Baseball League, a program for boys from 9 through 12 years old. The trustees, however, agreed that the diamond should be lighted also in view of including baseball in the school system's athletic program at a later date.

The bids will call for seven floodlight poles with a total of 60 1,500-watt lamps. Two of the poles will have 10 flood lamps each, and the other five will each have eight lamps.

Dried Beer Brought Out

LONDON (AP)—Science came up today with a new occupational hazard for the man in military uniform—dried beer.

All you add is water to the packet of starch-gum, hop oil and flavoring—there'll be beer galore when and where wanted.

It can be transported easily to the fighting fronts when shipping is at a premium.

The scientists neglected to announce the alcoholic content of their new discovery.

Would Re-enlist To Keep Cousin Out Of Army, Korean Vet Says

NEW YORK (AP)—"I'm no hero," the Korea War veteran said. "I hated the Army."

But he said he is ready to go back into service voluntarily if his cousin is not drafted.

Dominick Prianti Jr., 23, said yesterday he would make this offer to the government, probably in a letter to President Truman.

My uncle and aunt are broken people, he said. "Three of their boys died in the last war and another was badly shot up. Only one out of the five got out unhurt.

"And now the government wants to draft the sixth son."

Cat Scratches Cause Disease

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Staff

CLEVELAND (AP)—A new human disease, cat scratch disease, was reported today to the American College of Physicians.

Humans often get it after being scratched by house cats. The cats are perfectly healthy themselves. But the disease is caused by something, maybe a virus, carried on the cats' claws.

This ailment apparently is not uncommon, said Dr. Worth B. Daniels of Georgetown University School of Medicine, and Dr. Frank G. MacMurray of Washington, D.C. They reported 60 cases in 15 states and Hawaii and Canada.

A few days after being scratched humans get sick. They get a fever, which may run to 104 degrees, and last a few days to five weeks.

Lymph nodes of glandular kernels in the armpits, neck and groin may swell to the size of golf balls or small oranges. Often they break down into abscesses, with release of pus. The nodes may stay swollen and tender for seven weeks to six months.

Humans feel sick, with poor appetite, weakness, nausea, aching, chills, and headaches, some show a small skin rash.

Vandenberg Insists Air Force Is Not Softening Its Policy

SAN ANTONIO, April 22 (AP)—Reluctant Air Force reservists had the word today that there would be no softening of attitude toward refusals to fly.

The information came from Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg, Air Force chief of staff, in a statement that minced no words.

"There is one idea I would like to knock in the head," Vandenberg said. "That is the notion that the USAF is in any way proposing to adopt a soft attitude on this question of refusal to fly.

"The Air Force is a fighting organization."

Meanwhile, high level Air Force conferences continued in Washington, and charges for refusal to fly were dropped against two reserve officers at Randolph Air Force Base.

Maj. Gen. J. K. Lacey, commanding general of the Crew Training Air Force, said charges were dropped against 1st. Lt. James G. Bristol, 35, pilot from Harlan, Ia., and 1st Lt. Edwin L. Cox, 35, bombardier from St. Louis, Mo.

The charges were dropped following pre-trial investigations and a three-hour talk between Lacey and Vandenberg yesterday.

Vandenberg, due to arrive in Washington today, was expected to join in conferences with Secretary of the Air Force Finletter.

The Air Force chief of staff, commenting on the balky fliers cases, declared, "All this business about Air Force regulars, the Air National Guard, the voluntary and involuntary air reservists who have been recalled, x x x has served to magnify some of the loathness for flying combat duty."

Later he said each of four court martial cases pending at Randolph and six at Mather Air Force Base, Calif., would be considered on individual merits.

All cases, Vandenberg said, will go to Secretary Finletter for final action.

"And I cannot prejudge his action," Vandenberg said. "The Air Force, insofar as I know, will not interfere with the due process of law as set up by the courts martial code."

One officer, Lt. Verne Goodwin of Peabody, Mass., was sentenced last week to two years at hard labor for refusal to fly.

Indictments Of 4 Persons Is Made Known

Thirty indictments against 14 persons were returned yesterday by the grand jury, eight being against a 19-year-old woman, two against a man, and nine against another man. Nine other persons were charged by one indictment each.

Betty Jo Britt, 19, formerly of Arizona, was charged by eight indictments alleging forgery or passing of forged instruments. James Woodie Carperton, 17, was charged by burglary by two indictments. He is being held in Dallas on a similar charge. James Taylor, 24-year-old Snyder Negro, was indicted on a charge of assault with intent to murder. He is under bond in connection with this and a previous indictment on which he has not been tried. He was indicted last year on a charge of robbery by assault. The last charge concerned an incident in which he accidentally shot himself during an argument with a service station operator, Jerry L. Hughes, whom he is accused of assaulting.

Carlos Ramirez, 20, of Snyder, was charged by indictment with drunkenness, a misdemeanor charge. The indictment was to be referred to the county court. Ramirez was charged in the original complaint with driving while intoxicated as a repeated offense, having previously been convicted.

The other indictments were returned against persons not yet apprehended. Nine accusations of making and passing forged checks were returned against one man. One man was indicted on a charge of removing mortgaged property from the county. Seven persons were charged with swindling by worthless checks.

New Jail Set At Colorado

Contracts were let last week by the Mitchell County commissioners court for a new $102,754 county jail to be built in Colorado City.

The construction contract went to H. R. Bundock of Lubbock for his low bid of $73,320, while the Southern Steel Co. of San Antonio was awarded the contract for jail equipment with its bid of $24,541.

Sam Bullock, Mitchell County judge, said work will begin within the next few days.

The jail will have electrically operated entrances to cell blocks and will have cells containing bunks for 28 persons on the second floor. The 55 by 33 foot jail will be built on Colorado City's courthouse square.

Democrats Still In Power In Louisiana

NEW ORLEANS, April 22 (AP)—Louisiana today chose Democratic nominee Robert Kennon as governor over the token opposition of Republican candidate Harrison Bagwell.

The general election served to make official the candidates selected in the Democratic primary on Feb. 19. There are nearly one million registered Democrats in Louisiana compared to about 1,500 registered Republicans.

There was no campaigning for the general election, but Bagwell issued an election-eve appeal for voters to "show their approval of the two-party system for Louisiana" by voting for Republicans.

In addition to governor, Republicans also entered candidates for lieutenant governor and 11 of the 28 New Orleans seats in the legislature.

Austerity Man In Britain Dies

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP) — Sir Stafford Cripps, the Socialist statesman who tried to bring postwar Britain back with less beef, more sweat and higher taxes; died last night.

Fear of Soviet Russia—where he represented Britain from 1940 to 1942—stymied immediate success of the austerity program he ruled over after World War II.

Cripps' economic plans were on the verge of victory until Russia's expansionist policies caused the governments of Britain and her Western Allies to turn much of their output to rearmament.

Cripps died here in the Living Strength Clinic after 35 years' chronic suffering from colitis contracted as a World War I ambulance driver and 18 months of acute illness from spondylitis, a progressively crippling spine inflammation. He would have been 63 next Thursday.

His wife, Isabel, was at his bedside.

Ill health forced him to quit his double Cabinet job—chancellor of the Exchequer and economics minister—in October, 1950. He improved and went home after six months in the clinic here but last January was forced to return after months of increasingly acute pain, cheerfully borne. He lapsed into a coma over the week end.

Snyder Boy Scouts At Annual Roundup

A large group of Snyder and Hermleigh Boy Scouts were at Big Spring during the week end for the annual Big Spring Roundup.

Bob Eastus, district scout executive, said 1,100 boys from the Buffalo Trail Council were at the meeting, representing 54 troops, and 125 leaders.

Two Snyder Troops, 27 and 34, and the Hermleigh troop took second place ratings in a series of athletic events. Snyder Troops 35 and 38 took third place ratings.

Discuss New Building Here For Agencies

The commissioners court yesterday afternoon discussed constructing an agriculture building to house all federal offices now using the courthouse, but no action was taken.

The court has previously discussed the matter and has been requested by several of the government offices to build one or assist them in building one. The commissioners discussed looking for a site for this purpose and cost of building, but nothing definite was decided.

Other business included the court's approval to return the Chambers Garden subdivision to acreage. The order affected blocks 3 through 7 and 10 through 16 and all streets and alleys adjacent to these blocks. Blocks left in the subdivision will be 1, 2, 8, and 9, and the streets and alleys adjacent to them will remain. Most of the subdivision was never developed. It is located east of Snyder on the Roby highway. Joe Rylander requested the order.

Army Unit To Camp Here In Gym Tonight

The Snyder High School gymnasium will be the site tonight for the one - night bivouac of the 90th Engineer Co. of Fort Lewis, Wash., now on the first leg of its journey back to its home station after participation in Exercise Long Horn.

Exercise Long Horn, the largest Army maneuvers ever held, has just ended after weeks of war games near Fort Hood.

Maj. William J. Schiebel of the Snyder National Guard, who arranged for the unit to camp here overnight, said the 90th Engineers are the only personnel in the Army trained as water supply men. Their job is to purify and furnish drinking water and shower baths for Army personnel in the field.

Schiebel said the 71 men will arrive here at about 5 o'clock this afternoon.

Kiwanis Giving Pancake Supper Friday Night

"All you can eat for 50 cents." Does that sound like a bargain in these inflated times?

Just that will be done when the Kiwanis Club puts on a pancake supper Friday night at the central elementary school cafeteria from 6 till 10 o'clock, Ford Kenner, arrangements chairman for the feed, said.

Anyone with an appetitie is invited to attend and enter the eating festival when all the pancakes, bacon, and milk or coffee you can eat and drink is served by the Kiwanis Club, Kenner said.

Leroy Johnson will be the chief cook. He will be assisted by other Kiwanians.

Organization Wins Pennants For Yanks, Their Boss Says

NEW YORK (AP)—Casual readers of the sports pages tend to regard George Weiss as a modern Croesus who sits astride a gold chest in the Yankees' plush Fifth Avenue offices and buys baseball pennants as the fancy strikes him.

Actually the astute general manager of the world champions is a retiring, soft-spoken New Englander who insists, when prodded, that the Yankees' phenomenal success has been bought not by dollars but by hard work and pin-point organization.

"One of the biggest fallacies in baseball is that when one of our players wears out we simply go out and buy the best replacement possible," Weiss said yesterday as he relaxed in his lofty Yankee Stadium box.

"Did you know that between 1932 and 1948 we bought only two players? We paid San Francisco $25,000 for Joe DiMaggio and about the same time we paid $25,000 for a pitcher, Rugger Ardizola, who never quite developed as we hoped.

"The men we've picked up since were principally as a defensive measure. First we got Johnny Mize from the Giants. The Red Sox wanted him. We were in a fight with the Red Sox for the pennant so we snatched him. We got Johnny Hopp from the Pirates and John Sain from the Braves under similar circumstances.

"But you could hardly call these killer deals. These men have helped us, but they are veterans used only for part-time service.

"During the rest of the period we pulled men up from our own organization. If you tried to analyze the success of the Yanks, you'd have to start with our scouting system, the best. Then you'd have to take the careful, specialized training given the players in the minors to fit them into the Yankee pattern."

Weiss, a 57-year-old native of New Haven, Conn., who couldn't make his high school team and who never played a minute of professional baseball, is credited with building the sprawling Yankee farm system, rated the best in the sport.

From New Haven sandlots, where he managed, he moved into the Yankee organization in 1932 via the Eastern League and Baltimore. He began at Newark where he produced seven pennants in 12 years and kept the Yankees supplied with talent. He became general manager and vice president of the parent club in 1948.

During his 19 years with the Yankees, the team has won 12 pennants and 11 World Series. He is now working on his fourth straight championship.

Dutch Queen In Hard Schedule

OTTAWA (AP)—Dutch Queen Juliana's unofficial, private visit to Canada began today with a program almost as full as the busiest days of her just-concluded state visit to the United States.

But after two days of formality, the Queen will travel "incognito" for the rest of her six-day stay in the country that was her World War II home-in-exile.

Plans for a state visit here were cancelled after the death of King George VI. Juliana asked that formalities be kept at a minimum, to give her as much time as possible for visiting wartime friends and making new ones.

She arrived last night by Royal Canadian Air Force plane from Detroit, after a three-week coast-to-coast tour of the U. S. Her husband, Prince Bernhard, left her in the motor metropolis to visit in New York. He will join her later in the week for their trip home.

As she left the U. S., Juliana and her husband sent a telegram of thanks to President and Mrs. Truman. They said they were "deeply moved by all the kindness we received and the magnificent manifestation of the friendship for our country."

TALK OF THE TOWN

By SUE HOLMES

Dr. George W. Crane is an eminent author, psychologist, and newspaper columnist. He taught sales, advertising, child psychology and vocational guidance at Northwestern University. Married and the father of five children, he is a member of the American Medical Association, American Psychological Association and the American Association of Applied Psychologists.

Many persons laud newspaper carriers, and this may be rather like tooting our own horn, but we're briefing one of Dr. Crane's cases:

"Jimmy B., aged 14, is a high school freshmen.

" 'Dr. Crane, he wants to have a newspaper route,' his college educated mother informed me.

" 'But I feel that he would be tied down unduly. If the weather is bad, the newspaperboys must still deliver their papers.

" 'And Jimmy doesn't really need the money, for my husband makes a good salary. So do you think I ought to encourage him in carrying a newspaper route?'

Yes, and here is what all of you mothers and fathers ought to keep in mind. Carrying a newspaper route is the best possible training for youth in our "free enterprise" system.

For it lets boys operate their own private business. They work on the "small merchant" plan by which they buy papers wholesale from the newspaper. Then they must use modern merchandising methods to sell them. Even if they already have a route of many customers, it is to their advantage to recruit new customers, for they make money thereby.

They also learn to be faithful to duty. For papers must be delivered in rain and blizzard, heat, and storm.

Money management is one of the blind spots of modern schooling, but circulation managers make up for this lapse by their wonderful training of 500,000 boys each year.

For newspaperboys must collect from customers and keep books. Sometimes they lose 70 cent or more when an unscrupulous person moves without paying up.

But all of these experiences teach a boy not only modern American advertising and sales methods, as well as credit, but give shy boys social experience in meeting customers and soliciting orders.

Mothers, even if your husbands earn $1,000 per week, it is still valuable for your sons to carry newspaper routes.

The sons of millionaires often become profligate spenders and ne'er-do-wells, chiefly because they have never learned the value of money!

They have no practical gumption at all regarding business methods. For they can't "catch" business gumption from their Dads. No, they must learn it by themselves.

Carrying a newspaper route under the "small merchant" plan thus ranks next to membership in the Boy Scouts in character building. Surveys also show that newspaperboys rank above average in both health, as well as school marks.

(Today Mrs. Joe Burkett guest edits the column. Mrs. Burkett is a home-maker, golfer and mother.)

To write anything about local golfing, with the unfavorable elements which have so long prevailed, anyone would have to rely on the past or future for any sort of documentation. Except, of course, for one factor which remains unchanged for all times, favorable or unfavorable conditions, and that is the utter disdain held by the male golfers for the female golfers. So, for the enlightenment of their curiosity, disgust, amazement and horror at the mere existence of such a specie, it might be well to record some of the basic reasons why women golfers continue to golf.

Now the first time out, as the men can well imagine, a woman plays with less knowledge of the game than a child has of Greek literature. To this, however, she is completely oblivious; instead, she is filled with sheer ecstasy over the few times she accidentally hits the ball for fairly good yardage. "A natural born golfer," says she to herself and goes home convinced that those good shots made on her initial round were a positive indication of a great undeveloped talent. She is indeed awed with the possibilities of her skill at the game.

She continues to golf. Soon she discovers that, although the game has become a little perplexing, she's turning in as good a score as some who have worked at it much longer than she. This is bad, for it only furthers her opinion that she is truly tournament material, even though she has yet to master the all important principle of keeping her eyes on the ball. This small point leaves her quite undisturbed and her optimism continues.

But the game is growing more and more complicated, so she buys more and more equipment and takes more and more lessons. It is now becoming a real problem to her, after all this time and effort, that she is not a par golfer. There seems to be some new bad development in her game almost constantly. For instance, in correcting a disastrous slicing habit, Mrs. James Rosser developed, much to her dismay, a magnificent hook; while Mrs. L. C. Younger's efforts to correct a hook produced the disgruntling slice. And, at one time Mrs. Walker Dabbs concentration on "following through" with her shots caused her to keep watching for the distance to be thus achieved instead of the ball she had yet to hit. Once Mrs. R. S. Yorgesen decided to change her swing and Mrs. Robert Wasson her stance, and both their scores went up. Then Mrs. George Frazier became convinced that the only way to improve her game was to purchase a new set of clubs. Mrs. Nolan von Roeder, will tell you she's taken too much time off for traveling, while Mrs. Bill Atwood feels the one thing she needs most is more of her par - shooting husband's instructions. But, with all their problems of the game, each continues to golf, assured (as only women can be) that they are destined to become really good golfers.

Then, one day it happens! The thing really responsible for you poor men's continued harassment. She shoots a round far below her usual scoring abilities and that original conviction of her great skill and talent is aflame anew. She has decidedly now reached "the point of no return." Betsy Rawls, Patty Berg and even "The Babe" have at once become her convivials. She must continue to golf for she clearly envisions a long road of glory ahead filled with male golfers marveling at her unbelievably long drives, perfectly placed approach shots and superb putting.

So, gentlemen of the links, kindly bear with her, for the game of golf she plays is somewhat different in meaning from yours; hers is the direct results of a driving force from within. And, who knows? For each hundred of those horrible women golfers you must suffer for, there just might be a real "Babe" or Betsy in the making.

THE STARS

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Are you bored, listless, ill at ease? Then write a letter, advises Louis Calhern.

But don't just write your Aunt Hortence or your mother-in-law, the actor adds. Write to the president of U. S. Steel or the Queen of England.

"It's sort of a hobby of mine," the actor explained. "I got started with it when I was touring with plays. I was bored with having nothing to do in the evenings. So I began writing letters.

"I happened to own a few shares of stock in the Standard Oil Company of California, so I wrote the firm a letter, giving a few helpful hints on how to run the oil business. Oddly enough, I got a reply in the same vein as my letter. That got me started.

"I wrote another oil company, asking if they had ever heard of a blue-eyed Indian named Glassy Tongue. I told them this Indian came into my favorite speakeasy back in the '20s. He said he had lots of oil land in Oklahoma and was going to make a deal with Standard Oil. But he took such a liking to all of us in the speakeasy that he let us cash in our life saving and get in on the deal. I said I hadn't seen him since.

"The company wrote back that it would keep an eye out for any Tongue."

For the past few years, Calhern has been penning such letters to corporations and famous personages.

"It's an impertinence on my part," he admitted, "but the results have been very amusing. Sometimes the companies will answer me with a form letter. But very often the president of the company will take the trouble to write me."

The fastest results came from a letter to Calhern's boss, Dore Schary. Calhern wrote the MGM head about building up his part in "Mr. Congressman," and suggested the picture could be retitled, using the name of Calhern's character.

Five hours later, a reply came from Schary. Among other things, the producer said, "our makeup men can do wonders with Calhern. They even made him look as young as 92 in 'The Magnificent Yankee'."

"At present I am writing the chairmen of the Democratic and the Republican National Committees," the actor continued. "I am describing to them the qualities which the nation will demand in a presidential candidate. In each case, the inevitable choice leads to Calhern."

He also has written the postmaster general with the news that more people liked pink stamps than purple ones. He urged the printing of more pink stamps.

Calhern deplored the current decline in the art of letter writing. 'People are too busy watching television and doing other things to write letters any more," he remarked, shaking his head. "They deprive themselves of a great deal of pleasure, and history will lack an intimate commentary on our times."

Marshland Fire Going

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Firefighters were reported today to be winning a battle with the biggest muck fire in the Everglades in 15 years.

Chief Guy Bender of the Everglades Fire Control District said the fire burned 390 square miles of wild land, mostly sawgrass, in the western part of Palm Beach County and predicted it would burn itself out in the next day or two.

Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Randolph Jr., and children, Johnny and Janelle, 1308 Twenty - eighth Street, were in Tahoka Sunday to attend the wedding of Mrs. Randolph's nephew, Wayne Sherrod.

Jungs Keep Circus Going

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Staff

Elsie and Paul Jung are a devoted, home-loving couple. Elsie likes to sew and Paul likes to tinker.

The main difference between the Jungs and thousands of other quiet, domestic American couples is that the Jungs' home is the circus.

Paul is a clown and Elsie is an equestrienne. Eight months of the year they are on the road with Ringling Brothers - Barnum and Bailey. But whether home is a railroad car or a theatrical hotel, Paul and Elsie manage to make it look—and feel—like home.

Wherever she goes, Elsie's portable sewing machine goes with her. She makes costumes for the midgets in her spare time, or runs up other odd wardrobe needs of the circus not supplied by the regular costumers. Once she had to make a horse with two heads.

For four months in the winter the Jungs settle down in their Tampa, Fla., home and Paul goes to work in his own factory, where he makes circus props such as the outsize papier mache heads worn by some of the clowns, or anything else from a miniature train to reproductions of Christopher Columbus' ships.

Circus folks say the big show couldn't operate without the Jungs. Whenever anything seemingly impossible is needed, Paul and Elsie between them manage to supply it.

Elsie and Paul met when both were with the Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus, back in the early 30's. Elsie worked as an aerialist as well as expert rider then, and Paul was following his favorite role of clown.

They've been with Ringling Brothers 16 years. During the winter Paul figures out his next season's clown act, working with other clowns. He writes and directs the material, then tries it out on Elsie. If she laughs, it's good. Says he:

"We always try to make the act topical. The main thing is you've got to keep it simple, and the clown always has to get the worst of it in the end."

"The reason we all stay on with the circus, I guess, is that there's no thrill on earth like that first big, roaring laugh from the audience on opening night—if the act is good."

TEXAS BRANDS

By JOHN M. HENDRIX

The 96 was a brand started by Robert Masterson in 1845 in Williamson or Travis Counties. From 1869 to 1880 it was on approximately 10,000 cattle on open range in these counties along the Colorado River for 50 miles, or in as much territory as was needed to supply grass.

Mr. Masterson was the father of one of West Texas's most noted cattlemen. R. B. Masterson, who ranched for years in the Mobeetie and Fort Elliot section.

About the time "free grass" was being taken over by farmers, he acquired some 75,000 or 100,000 acres of land in Knox County in what is commonly termed "the country between the Wichitas" where he founded the JY ranch and operated it until his property was divided between his two sons. He also acquired a good portion of the LS ranch north of Amarillo on which natural gas in great quantities was discovered a few years ago, and which forms the nucleus of the gas supply which provides Detriot and a number of other Eastern cities with its gas supply.

Management of the Masterson properties is under a son, R. B. Masterson, Jr. and a son-in-law, Chanselor Weymouth. The Knox County ranch is the property of a grandson, Tom B. Masterson.

Wichita Falls Publisher Dies

WICHITA FALLS, April 22 (AP)—Jess McLarry, 50, treasurer of the Times Publishing Company, publisher of the Wichita Falls Daily Times and Record-News, died suddenly at about midnight Monday following a heart attack.

McLarry's death was the second within 30 days in the Times official family. B. D. Donnell, editor of the Times and Record-News, died suddenly March 28.

McLarry suffered a heart attack about two years ago but had apparently recovered.

McLarry came to Wichita Falls from Runnels County, Texas, in 1917 and joined the Times in 1922 as a bookkeeper. He later became an auditor, and in 1948 became a member of the Times' official family when made treasurer.

Funeral arrangements were pending.

He was an active member in the Wichita Falls Optimist Club and a member of the First Methodist Church.

Survivors include his wife, two children, J. R. McLarry Jr. and Mary Fauncein McLarry, a student at Our Lady of Victory Academy, Fort Worth, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Don McLarry, Fort Worth.

Actress Prefers To Drink Manhattans Rather Than Eat

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actress Claire James preferred cocktails to dinner, Dr. Peter L. Hoffman testified at the trial of their contested divorce suit.

By way of example Hoffman, 33, told the court yesterday of a trip to Palm Springs with the beauteous Miss James, 32, who came to Hollywood after being chosen Miss California of 1938.

"First we went to a place called the Doll House for Dinner," he said. "Claire had six Manhattans but no dinner. Next we went to the Chi-Chi. There she had six more Manhattans. No dinner."

"Was she able to walk?" inquired Hoffman's attorney.

"Not without my assistance."

The following evening, at another restaurant, she again had no dinner, Hoffman said—"just eight Manhattans." At another place she had eight more Manhattans and still no dinner, he added.

Hollywood Romance

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—British actor Robert Newton is all broken up.

He says his girl friend of a year and a half, publicist Vera Budnick, has broken their engagement.

"I can't understand it," Newton told a newsman yesterday. "I've been telephoning all day trying to reach her."

He said he didn't know what caused her to end their romance. Miss Budnick was unavailable for comment.

Cubs And Reds Wearing 'Much Improved' Labels In 2nd Place

(By The Associated Press)

Phil Cavarretta is mixing a "mickey" for the contenders who expect to fatten up on his Chicago Cubs.

Nobody gave the Cubs a tumble in the pre-season picks. One brave soul gave them fifth place. But 93 of the 124 baseball writers stuck them in the cellar, a position they may yet merit.

"I know we won't finish last again," said Manager Phil. Why not? The Cubs finished last three times in the last four years.

In the first week of the season the Cubs didn't go down to visit their old basement quarters once. With a 4-2 record they're traipsing along in a second-place tie with Cincinnati—of all people.

Maybe the Cubs and Reds will find their level when the boys hit their stride. In the meantime they deserve the "much improved" label.

The Brooklyn Dodger surplus, gleefully unloaded on the Cubs in the last few years, is doing a big share of the job. Paul Minner, Turk Lown, Bob Ramazzotti, Toby Atwell and the rest.

Minner threw a three-hitter at Pittsburgh last night for a 7-1 victory while the Cubs raked rookie Ronnie Kline and three successors. One of the hits off Minner was Jack Merson's second homer of the season.

Bobby Thomson hit his first home run since his dramatic pennant-clincher in the 1951 playoffs as the New York Giants walloped the Phillies, 10-4. Don Mueller also homered and added a triple and single to drive in four runs in the attack on Howie Fox and three other Phil pitchers.

League-leading Brooklyn, scheduled for a twi-night doubleheader with the Boston Braves tonight, was idle yesterday. So were the Braves, St.Louis Cards and Cincinnati Reds.

The Cleveland Indians with seven straight wins were not scheduled in the American. They open a series at St. Louis with the giddy Browns tonight. St. Louis, Chicago and Detroit also were not scheduled.

Vic Raschi led the New York Yankees to a 5-1 triumph over the Philadelphia A's. Actually the relief work of Bob Kuzava and two glaring errors by Gus Zernial and Joe Astroth were as important as Raschi's work.

When Raschi wobbled in the eighth to fill the bases on a single and two walks, Casey Stengel called for Kuzava. The lefthander got the side out and breezed through the ninth.

Little Bobby Shantz gave only five hits, including Mickey Mantle's homer, but the boys didn't back him up. The A's left 10 on base and hit into four double plays in an afternoon of futility.

Ferris Fain, league batting champ in '51, finally broke out of his slump. After 21 hitless trips, he singled in the second to drive in the only Philadelphia run.

Julio Moreno of the Washington Senators whipped the Boston Red Sox for the second time, 3-2. Moreno is the only pitcher to beat the Sox this season. Sam Mele's long fly to center with the bases loaded in the eighth gave Washington its winning run.

Schedule For Fastball Set

Eddie Hight, president of the Snyder Fastball League, announced today that the league schedule will begin here next Monday with the 16 teams entered.

The league, which will play all games on the diamond at the veterans' park, is sponsored this year by Hight, Charles Duran, Bill Morgan, and Zelmer Glover.

The league schedule will last until July 21, then the top six teams will be matched in a double-elimination contest.

According to the league rules, doubleheaders will be played each night, with the first beginning at 7:30 o'clock and the second beginning 15 minutes after the first ends or not after 9 o'clock. No player who is not actively participating in games before June 2 will be eligible to play at any time, during the remainder of the schedule and playoffs.

Other more important rules of the league state that a player can shift from one team to another only with express permission of managers of both teams involved; no player can shift from one team to another after June 7 under any circumstances; teams may not carry a roster of more than 18 men and a player-manager; if one team is leading another by a margin of 10 runs at the end of five innings the umpire will call the game; and no member of the league can play in another league while on the roster of a Snyder Fastball League team.

Admission prices to league games have been set at 25 cents for adults and nine cents for students.

Man Electrocuted As He Lowers Flag At Longview Ball Park

LONGVIEW, April 22 (AP)—Sam Neal, Negro groundskeeper for the Longview baseball club, was electrocuted while trying to take down the flag after the Longview-Wichita Falls ball game last night.

Neal, about 50, was killed when a steel chain looped over some high lines and shorted on wet ground.

Neal died about 30 minutes later after first aid and a pulmotor was brought in an effort to revive him.

New Record Bowling Score At Tournament

MILWAUKEE, April 22 (AP)—A young Texan, Jack Kibbee, celebrating his 26th birthday yesterday, rolled the second highest series in the history of the American Bowling Congress tournament five-man team event by crashing 744.

The Ft. Worth kegler, competing in his first ABC tourney and carrying a 187 average, leveled seven strikes in his first game for 234, eight in his second for 244, and came back with nine in the third game for 266. He started his final game with seven in a row.

The record of 768 is held by Milwaukee's F. Weber, and was rolled at Peoria in the 1934 tourney.

Extremes On Batting List Change Places

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Figures never lie but statistical-minded fans must have wondered as they perused the American League batting averages yesterday. And who could blame them?

What name do you think headed the list of hitters? George Kell? Ted Williams? Larry Doby? Ferris Fain? No sir. None other than Gerry Coleman of the New York Yankees. Coleman, who swatted a robust .249 and placed exactly 104th last year, was leading the pack with a torrid .556 mark.

And what name was on the bottom of the list of about 200 hitters? Some wild swinging pitcher? Or some nervous, rookie reserve infielder? Not at all. Last on the list was none other than last year's batting king, Ferris Fain of the Philadelphia Athletics.

Coleman, who never had hit .300 in his big league career, had collected 10 hits in 18 times at bat, hitting safely in each of his first five games. Fain, who hit .344 in 1951, was batting exactly .000. The fancy-fielding first baseman had gone to bat 21 times without making a single safety.

The same question was put to Coleman and Fain but with a different approach.

"How do you account for your super hitting this spring?" Coleman was asked.

"I've been lucky," he replied. "I'm just hitting them where they aint. I'm swinging the same way and Im using the same bat. The balls are just falling in."

The question was put a little more tactfully to Fain.

"How do you account for your failure to get started?"

"I've been gosh-darned unlucky," Fain growled. "I'm just hitting them where they are. I'm swinging the same way and I'm using the same bat. The balls are just going right at the fielders."

Diamonds Set As Little Loop Season Nears

Directors and managers of the Little Baseball League last night discussed the auction of players and the beginning of this year's league schedule.

The group decided to begin the schedule on May 26. Play will last until July 25, after which an all-star team will be chosen from the six league teams to go to playoffs.

The league will play games on the new high school campus, where the school board has volunteered to set up lighting. The diamond to be used is at an area already designated for a school baseball field south of the high school stadium.

Auction of players will be held April 30. According to league rules, each of the six team managers will be given 36,000 points, and his points will be used as money to buy the players he will use on his team. Each is allowed 15 members, and all boys not "bought" by managers will play on farm teams. About 125 boys have already signed contracts for possible membership of Little League teams. Carl Herod will act as player agent to conduct the auction.

After managers have bought their players, three fields will be used for workouts, with two teams using each field. The workouts will be held at the old rodeo grounds, the new high school campus, and land owned by Mrs. H. G. Towle just south of the city limits near the Big Spring Highway.

When league play begins, double headers will be played on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday evenings.

Ball Park To Be Available

Final approval was given last night to the city fastball league for the use of the baseball field in Memorial Park by the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The club added unanimous approval to a contract already tentatively made with the city league by the American Legion.

The contract releases the joint service clubs from responsibility for accidents and expenses incurred during operation of the ball park.

Members of the club also voted to sponsor a team in the league this summer if the deadline for entry into the league had not passed. Some members of the club thought yesterday was the deadline for entry, so the motion included the stipulation that the VFW would sponsor a team if it is not too late to do so.

Balls, bats, chest protectors, and other equipment necessary to operating the team was estimated to cost $38.85.

Idle Longhorns Extend Lead

(By The Associated Press)

Perennial front-runner, the University of Texas got a boost from Southern Methodist without lifting a glove yesterday in the Southwest Conference baseball race.

SMU clipped Texas A&M at College Station, 4-2, to dim the Aggie hopes of catching the Longhorns. The Longhorns were idle.

At Houston, TCU kept its slim hopes alive by whipping Rice, 7-2.

As a consequence of yesterday's results, Texas holds the lead with a 4-2 mark, Texas A&M, SMU and Baylor are tied for second with 3-3 records. TCU has a 3-4 mark and Rice a 2-3.

Fred Freeman's one-on homer in the ninth decided the Aggie-SMU contest. It was the fourth homer in the game. Lester Lackey and Tex Farmer hit four-baggers for A&M in the second and fifth, respectively, and A&M went up front, 2-0. The Aggies could muster only one other hit off two Pony pitchers, Dick Beadle who went the first eight innings and Hollis Morton, the winner.

Charley Galey cut the lead to 2-1 in the sixth with a single-run homer before Freeman tied up the game in the seventh with a run-batted-in.

TCU, which has suffered three of its four loses via one run, trailed 2-1, going into the ninth against Rice. The rest was almost confusion, as the Frogs scored six runs on two walks, three singles, a squeeze bunt, and a hit batsman and a run-producing fly.

Knobby Graves hurled the win for the Frogs, yielding nine hits. His mates got seven off three Rice pitchers.

Ex-Big League Pitchers Are Given Trouble

DALLAS, April 22 (AP)—Former major league pitchers probably could find better pickings than the Texas League for their comebacks. Four got into some tough scraps over the loop last night—only one got a victory.

And that one, former Philadelphia Athletic Hank Wyse, hurled shutout ball to beat San Antonio 4-0 for his Beaumont club.

Jack Kramer lost his second start of the season as Dallas lost to Oklahoma City 2-1 in the first game. The Eagles gained a split in the twin bill with a 2-0 win in the nightcap. Houston beat former Cincinnati Reds pitcher Bud Lively in the first game 4-0 but Shreveport salvaged the second game of the doubleheader 10-5. Johnny Vander Meer of double no-hit fame with Cincinnati lost to league leading Fort Worth 2-0.

Wyse's win was the fourth straight victory for Beaumont. Beaumont scored all its runs on San Antonio in the seventh inning. Three singles woven in with two errors and a sacrifice produced the four runs. Wyse gave up five hits.

Dallas backed Kramer, a former New York Giant and Yankee, with 10 hits but could score only one run.

Elroy Face of Fort Worth locked up with Vander Meer, of Tulsa, in a tight pitching duel. Wayne Belardi and Gene Clough singled consecutively in the third inning for Fort Worth to account for the two Cat runs after Vander Meer had hit one batter and another made first on an error. Vander Meer yielded five hits.

SMU Beats Rice Golfers

HOUSTON, April 22 (AP)—Southern Methodist beat Rice Institute, 4½ to 1½ here yesterday in a Southwest Conference golf match.

No amphibians live in the sea.

Three Way Tie At Pinehurst

PINEHURST, N. C. (AP)—Pre-tournament indications that the 52nd North and South Amateur Golf Tournament would be one of the tightest in its long history were borne out by yesterday's qualifying rounds.

For the first time in 16 years there was a tie for the medal-and a three-way affair, at that. Frank Stranahan, Toledo, O.; Frank Strafaci, New York City, and Billy Joe Patton, Morganton, N. C., each shaved two strokes from the 7,007-yard par-72 Pinehurst Country Club No. 2 course. Later in the week at their convenience, they will play off for the honor. In 51 previous tournaments there have been only four medal ties and never before a triple tie.

The three leaders finishd only one stroke ahead of two North Carolinians, Ben Goodes, Reidsville, 1942 semi-finalist, and L. G. Cook, cross-hand player who is a member of the police department at Wrightsville Beach.

So keen was the competition in 90-degree weather for the 64 places in today's opening round that a dozen hopefuls tied for the last five positions at 80, and had to play off this morning.

The costly three-putt ninth green deprived Stranahan of the medal. He casually pushed his putter at the ball after an eight-foot putt missed by inches, and the resultant failure gave the Ohioan a 5 on the par-3 hole.
