The ground hog saw his shadow Tuesday in this area—if he poked his head out of his den. And it likely is a good thing. We've still had very little winter weather, none at all of the damp variety, and the countryside is going to be in a sad shape if there isn't some wet winter sometime between now and summer time.

The good weather, which has been doing this region harm for several weeks now, has produced some benefits, however. A case in point is the Western Texas College Construction project.

The pretty weather has enabled work to continue there without delay, although some of the excavation likely could have gone off better if the soil had been damp. The more speed the better, because the buildings that are just now turning into steel skeletons rising out of the ground are going to be needed before you know it.

The report of the death of William J. Marsh, who composed the music for the Texas State Song reminded that a lot of Texans are not aware that "Texas Our Texas" is the state song.

Many people, especially those from other states, almost invariably think "The Eyes of Texas" is the state song.

And, although it is merely the school song of the University of Texas at Austin, far more Texans and their neighbors know the words to "The Eyes of Texas" than "Texas Our Texas."

The February issue of Texas Co-Op Power, the monthly publication of Texas Electric Cooperatives, Inc., has an article about a private her of buffalo on the Vester Parrish Ranch in Runnels County.

The Parrishes have kept as many as 30 head of the huge prairie animals, letting them run with their cattle. Most of the time they have around 18 head or so and they usually butcher one of two in the spring. This accounts for buffalo steaks and buffalo chili being available at various intervals at an eatery in Winters.—WACIL McNAIR.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, Feb. 3 the 34th day of 1971. There are 331 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1924, Woodrow Wilson, 28th President of the United States, died at his home in Washington, D. C.

On this date:

In 1809, the first territory of Illinois was created.

In 1894, the first steel sailing vessel, the Dirigo, was launched at Bath, Maine.

In 1913, the federal income tax became the law of the land with ratification of the 16th Amendment to the U. S. Constitution.

In 1917, the United States severed diplomatic relations with Germany after that nation had announced a policy of unrestricted submarine warfare.

In 1923, Lassen Peak, Calif., the only active volcano in the continental United States, erupted for more than 12 hours.

In 1930, President Herbert Hoover appointed Charles Evans Hughes as Chief Justice of the United States.

Ten years ago: President Kennedy ordered a $4 million program of federal assistance for Cuban refugees in the U. S.

Five years ago: Luna 9, an unmanned Soviet space probel became the first man-made object to achieve a soft non-crash landing on the surface of the moon.

One year ago: The Senate passed a $3.1 billion mass transit bill.

DEVELOPS BATTERY PROBLEM

Apollo Enters Moon Gravity

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — A battery problem developed in the Apollo 14 lunar landing vehicle today just hours before the astronauts were to orbit the moon.

Apollo 14 had swept into the grasp of lunar gravity and sped toward a Thursday morning orbit.

There was no immediate indication of the severity of the problem or whether it could block an attempt at a moon landing Friday.

No official announcement was made, but sources reported the difficulty was with one of two batteries in the ascent stage of the lunar module the astronauts call Antares.

The word came as astronauts Alan B. Shepard Jr., Edgar D. Mitchell and Stuart A. Roosa started a nine-hour sleep period, resting for the grueling days ahead in the vicinity of the moon.

Shepard and Mitchell earlier today had entered the lunar ship through a connecting tunnel, and after a two and one-half hour inspection Shepard pronounced it "immaculate."

The sources said that during the lunar module check Shepard and Mitchell had tested the batteries and that ground indications showed one registering 37.1 volts and the other 37. They are supposed to have the same reading.

Mission Control officials reported they were studying the possible problem. There was a possibility it was only a faulty reading.

There are two batteries in the ascent stage of the lunar module, the cabin section that is designed to lift the astronauts off the moon and fly to a rendezvous with the orbiting command module. The descent, or landing stage, is left on the moon.

If one of the two ascent batteries failed, the remaining battery would provide sufficient power to accomplish a safe takeoff and rendezvous and docking with the command ship.

However, it is doubtful if Mission Control center would commit Shepard and Mitchell to a landing if only one of the batteries was functioning.

There was no indication in the air-to-ground conversation with the astronauts that anything was amiss as they settled down for the sleep period.

They were awakened shortly after they dozed off to correct a valve setting when Mission Control noted an excess overboard flow of oxygen.

Earlier they had televised a picture of the moon, a shimmering half crescent that loomed larger and larger as earth shrank in the distance.

At 10:12 a.m. EST, Shepard, Mitchell and Stuart A. Roosa zipped through a so-called "twilight zone" in which the gravitational influence of the earth and moon is equal. They were 212,774 miles from earth and 38,894 miles from the moon.

When Apollo 14 passed this invisible line, the moon won the gravitational tug of war and the spaceship's speed accelerated after slowing to about 1,600 miles per hour on the long outward coast.

The speed will increase to about 5,700 miles per hour as the astronauts loop behind the moon's backside early Thursday. At 2:01 a.m. they are to fire the engine of the command ship Kitty Hawk to whip into lunar orbit.

The spacemen were in a sleep period as they entered the lunar sphere of influence, resting for the grueling days ahead in the vicinity of the moon.

About 4:20 a.m. today Shepard and Mitchell floated through a connecting tunnel into the lunar module while Roosa remained in the command ship. The two craft are linked nose to nose.

Following the extensive two and one-half hour examination, the two astronauts returned to the Kitty Hawk and reported Antares in good condition for the daring descent to the highlands of Fra Mauro.

NIXON MEETS WITH TOP ADVISERS

US Mum On Laos

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — With President Nixon consulting key national-security advisers, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee has asked for information about a rumored U.S.-South Vietnamese operation near the Laotian border.

Nixon held an unannounced meeting with some of his highest advisers late Tuesday, and administration spokesmen refused to discuss military plans —except to repeat assurances no U.S. troops have crossed into Laos and none will.

There was no indication any decision was reached in Nixon's meeting with Secretary of State William P. Rogers; Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird; Adm. Thomas Moorer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff; foreign-policy adviser Henry Kissinger, and Richard Helms, director of the Central Intelligence Agency.

The Washington Post reported today 25,000 South Vietnamese ground troops were massed near the Laotian border Tuesday, "preparing to raid Vietnanese Communist bases and supply lines in Laos with U.S. air support.

"Operating with them, U.S. sources unofficially acknowledged, is a screening force of about 9,000 American troops, who are under instructions to halt at the Laotian border when cross-border operations begin," the newspaper reported.

Rogers insisted last Friday that unlimited U.S. airpower will be available anywhere in Indochina to protect GIs withdrawing from South Vietnam. He refused at that time to discuss whether the assurance was related to any planned offensive.

Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, said he can't understand why Rogers failed to tell the panel last week about plans for the operation which some foreign newsmen say already is under way.

Fulbright said the secrecy-covered operation reminds him of last April when Rogers testified before the committee two days before the start of the U.S. incursion into Cambodia.

"He didn't mention that either," Fulbright said after the committee voted to summon Rogers and Laird as soon as possible for testimony about the operation—in open session if possible.

Rumors of some massive allied assault into the Laotian panhandle, designed to destroy Communist supply lines leading into South Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia from the north, have been building since last Friday.

U.S. officials, here and in Saigon, have refused to discuss the rumors. However, Laird conceded publicly Tuesday that an embargo has been imposed on news stories relating to such an offensive.

Nixon Submits Strike Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP(— Pointing to the threat of a nationwide rail strike in the near future, President Nixon resubmitted to Congress today his 1970 plan to deal with threatened national emergency labor disputes in the rail, airline, maritime, longshore and trucking industries.

A controversial feature of the proposal would open the way to an imposed settlement should industry and employe negotiators reach an impasse that could lead to a walkout endangering the national health or safety.

Called a "final offer selection" plan, organized labor regards it as a form of compulsory arbitration and opposes it strongly.

Nixon first proposed the legislative package, called the Emergency Public Protection Bill, last Feb. 27. Congress did not even hold hearings on the proposal.

In his latest message, Nixon wrote:

"The legislation I propose today would establish a framework for settling emergency transportation disputes in a reasonable and orderly fashion, fair to parties and without the shattering impact on the public of a transportation shut down. I urge that this time we not wait for the next emergency, but rather join together in acting upon it now."

Arguing for speedy consideration, Nixon said, "If emphasis is necessary, we need only remember that barely two months ago the nation was brought to the brink of a crippling railroad shutdown, the strike being averted only by legislation passed after a walk out had actually begun."

Terrorism Resolution Approved

By GEORGE GEDDA
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Organization of American States has taken a first step toward providing hemispheric cooperation to protect diplomats against terrorists and kidnapers.

By a vote of 13 to 1 with two abstentions, OAS foreign ministers approved Tuesday night an agreement denying asylum to and providing for extradition of persons sought in the murder, kidnap or assault of foreign officials.

But the consensus among diplomats here is that the agreement, or convention, in itself, will not provide much relief against a continuation of the wave of assaults on diplomatic officials over the past 17 months.

There have been 12 kidnapings for ransom in that period, and security measures in some capitals are such that embassies virtually have become fortresses.

Even if the convention is ratified by the 13 nations who supported it Tuesday night, diplomats noted, there would still be nore than 100 countries which conceivably could provide a haven for terrorists.

Diplomats were viewing the convention as an initial effort in what they hoped would be a worldwide movement to make a crime against a diplomat an international felony.

A provision was written into the convention allowing any member of the United Nations to join the accord.

But this did not appear a realistic hope in view of broad divisions within the hemispheric community itself.

Smith Plan Is Rejected

By LEE JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) — The House resoundingly rejected today the heart of Gov. Preston Smith's spend-now, pay-later plan to avoid new state taxes this year.

Representatives, many of them laughing and whooping, voted down Smith's plan to issue $450 million in school bonds to finance current educational costs.

The vote was 22-125.

Rep. Ben Atwell of Dallas, the reluctant sponsor of Smith's plan and chairman of the House Tax Committee, told the House: "This is part of a method not to have a tax bill this session.

"I probably will be back on this podium with a tax bill of about $700 million."

In answer to persistent questions from Rep. Will Lee, Houston Republican, Atwell said he had no details on the ultimate cost of Smith's plan.

"He said he wanted me to run with the bill and that's about all," Atwell said.

It took only about 10 minutes to get to a vote on the measure, and there were numerous guffaws when Speaker Gus Mutscher asked if anyone wished to speak in favor of Smith's proposed constitutional amendment. Nobody but Atwell volunteered to say a final word.

Earlier, the House passed, 124-22, and sent to the Senate a bill by Austin Rep. Harold Davis raising state college tuition for non-residents from $200 to $700 a semester.

Building Stoned In Protest

NEW DELHI (AP) — Several hundred Indians stoned the Pakistan High Commission building today in protest against the destruction of an Indian airliner by Kashmiri hijackers in West Pakistan.

In Jammu, the winter capital of Kashmir State, a protest closed all shops and schools.

A Pakistani spokesman said several members of the High Commission staff were hurt but none seriously. Police drove the demonstrators away with tear gas.

India banned flights by Pakistani military planes over its territory in retaliation for the destruction of the airliner.

US Providing Cambodia Support

SAIGON (AP) — The United States is providing full combat support to South Vietnamese ground forces in a new drive to crush North Vietnamese and Viet Cong base camps and sanctuaries inside Cambodia, it was disclosed tonight.

F111 Found In Louisiana

MANDEVILLE, La. (AP) — Searchers found Wednesday the fuselage of an F111 missing since Jan. 18 on a flight from Fort Worth.

The search party said the plane was in "a deep hole filled with water" about three-fourths of a mile from where the mud-spattered ejection capsule was found Tuesday in low marsh lands in heavy timber near Lake Pontchartrain.

Rescue workers said they had to wade through water to reach the site.

The bodies of the two crewmen on the flight, Lt. Col. Bruce D. Stocks, the pilot, and Maj. Billy Gentry, the navigator, were recoverd.

The shattered wrist watch, worn by one of them stopped at 12:45 p.m. The plane was last reported at 9:45 a.m.—about 90 minutes after take-off from Carswell Air Force Base in Fort Worth—when it made an in-flight check with the air route control center at Houston.

Mom concerned over daughter's driving

By Abigail Van Buren

[© 1971 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.]

DEAR ABBY: Our teenage daughter, I'll call her Debbie, has been driving for a year. She thinks she is a careful driver, but she drives too fast. Debbie got a ticket for going 25 miles an hour over the speed limit, and her license was suspended for 30 days. I am sure she has gone over the speed limit more than once, but this was the only time she was caught.

Debbie needs to drive to work after school, and it is so late when she is thru with work, we wouldn't want her to take the bus.

My husband read about a "device" to put on a car which will monitor speed violations. We told Debbie we were going to put one on her car. She had a fit, and said it would be "spying" on her. I tried explaining that it would be better than having her license suspended again or maybe getting into a serious accident due to her habit of speeding.

Has Debbie the right to feel as she does? Or do we have the right to put one of those devices on her car?

DEBBIE'S PARENTS

DEAR PARENTS: Forget the device, and let the police "police" your daughter. But warn Debbie that if her speeding tickets result in revocation of her license, not to expect any "chauffeur service" from you.

DEAR ABBY: We have a relative who is not old, but he talks about nothing but his aches and pains and allergies. He carries a dozen different kinds of pills with him. He even bought a leather case made especially to carry his pills. He looks like a walking drugstore. He keeps asking what time it is so he can take his next pill.

Why can't he take his pills in private? I have ailments, too, but I don't make a big show of it. What is the matter with him? Do you think it would help any if someone told him in a nice way he is getting on people's nerves?

CLOSE RELATIVE

DEAR RELATIVE: The matter with him is that he wants attention and sympathy. And no, it wouldn't help if someone told him he is getting on people's nerves. [He might have to increase the dosage to calm HIS.]

DEAR ABBY: I am a married man and the father of four. As a salesman I travel a lot, but I manage to keep up with your columns. Why do you all but hang a medal on every wife who thinks the most important thing she has to do is be a willing bed partner?

I have a wife like that, but let me tell you more about her. She sleeps all morning, gossips on the telephone for hours at a time, and she either watches day time television or takes a nap in the afternoon. She hates housework and the house looks like it. She detests cooking, so when I'm not home, the kids get peanut butter sandwiches and potato chips for supper every night. Yet this woman thinks she's a good wife because she'll hop into bed with me at the drop of a hint.

Maybe other husbands will disagree with me, but I would rather have a cleaner house and better fed kids than a wife who lets everything else go so she can rest up for sack time.

Man Dies In Home Fire

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—A Fort Worth man was burned to death and his wife and son escaped with burns Monday night in a fire at their south side home.

The victim was Charles McKay Sr., 79.

Tornadoes Killed 51 Texans

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Of the 73 persons killed last year in 650 tornadoes reported in the United States, 51 of the victims died in Texas.

Allen Pearson, director of the National Weather Service, said that the 1970 tornado season was unusual because many of the twisters occurred at night.

"The one at Lubbock, Tex., for instance, came at 9:45 in the evening. This makes it more difficult for spotters and the weather bureau," he said.

The May 11 tornado at Lubbock was the year's worst, causing 20 deaths and $135 million in property damage.

A month later, the National Weather Service tracked a tornado on the ground for 145 miles across the Texas Panhandle.

It was spotted at 8:45 p.m. April 17 southwest of Lubbock and dissipated the next morning near Headly, Tex. Fifteen persons died in its path which ended at Sherwood Shores.

Moon Telecast In Color

GOLDSTONE, Calif. (AP) — If all goes well, the Apollo 14 astronauts will transmit color television pictures from the moon with the help of a huge dish-shaped antenna tucked away amid surroundings that look something like the moon itself.

The 210-foot-wide antenna, which looks like a football stadium hoisted on a pedestal, is capable of picking up the color signals the astronauts are to beam from the moon's surface 219,000 miles away.

The Goldstone station, a 13-year-old facility operated by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Pasadena, can track signals from the moon about 15 hours a day at this time of year.

County Court Pleas Heard

Three guilty pleas were entered in county court yesterday, and each one of the defendants was charged with giving a check with insufficient funds.

Diane Shoemaker received a $5 fine plus court costs. The offense occurred Dec. 26.

Billy T. Atwood was fined $1 plus court costs. The offense occurred Oct. 21, 1970.

Mrs. W. V. Cody was fined $5. Her offense occured Nov. 21, 1970.

Medal Awarded To Lt. Gruette

First Lieutenant Richard L. Gruette was awarded the Silver Star Medal during a retreat parade at Fort Bliss in El Paso. The medal was awarded for action in the Republic of Vietnam. Lt. Gruette had previously earned the Bronze Star Medal, the Army Commendation Medal, the Combat Infantryman's Badge, and the Purple Heart for wounds sustained in action.

Lt. Gruette, now a battery executive officer assigned to the Air Defense School at Fort Bliss, was born in Snyder and reared in Roswell. He is a graduate of Roswell High School and New Mexico State University. His paternal grandmother, Mrs. Annie Mae Rhodes of 2204 Avenue M., is a long-time resident of Snyder, as was his maternal grandmother, the late Mrs. T. A. Bills.

Young Farmers Meet Thursday

FLUVANNA — Fluvanna Young Farmers will hold their February meeting at 7 p.m. Thursday at the Fluvanna Community Center.

The program will be presented by Bill Johnson, who is with Agri-Facts, a computer bookkeeping system for agriculture.

A business meeting will follow the program at which time future projects will be discussed.

TWO INJURED — Nina Marie Dorman, 20, 4100 Avenue U, and Karen Elder, 20, 2801 Avenue M, sustained injuries in a two-car collision in the 1500 block of Twenty-fifth Street, at 3:50 p.m. Tuesday. They were taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital by Snyder Ambulance Service. Miss Dorman was driver of this 1961 Model Chevrolet. Miss Elder was a passenger in the car. Their injuries were described as minor. Driver of the other car — a 1960 Model Pontiac — was Clyde Thomas, 611 Twenty-seventh Street. He was uninjured.

NATIONS MEET IN TEHRAN

Oil Cost Talks Break Down

TEHRAN (AP) — Representatives of 10 oil producing nations met today following collapse of price negotiations with the major Western oil companies. Conference sources said the meeting would probably recommend that the producers follow Venezuela's lead and adopt legislation decreeing the price rises the companies have refused to concede.

A shutdown of oil supplies for Western Europe would be resorted to only if the companies refused to comply with new payment schedules promulgated under the legislation, the sources predicted.

Venezuela recently adopted a bill providing for an increase of taxes on oil company income to 60 per cent, an increase of royalties to 16 2-3 per cent and the authority for unilateral increases of base prices on which the taxes and royalties are figured.

The meeting today brought together representatives of the 10 nations of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries: Iran, Iraq, Saudi Arabia, Kuwait, Abu Dhabu, Qatar, Libya, Algeria, Venezuela and Indonesia. They supply almost all of the oil used by Western Europe and Japan.

The OPEC conference was called to hear a report on the breakdown Tuesday night of price negotiations between 22 international oil companies and the six producing nations of the Persian Gulf.

Similar negotiations with Libya failed earlier.

Venezuelan Oil Minister Hugo Perez Salzia said that while the oil nations would be firm, they also would be "reasonable and conscious of our responsibilities." He said he was sure the conference would demonstrate their "unshakable unity and determination."

Jamshid Amuzegar, Iran's finance minister, told a news conference the breakdown in the price talks was the fault of the oil companies. Lord Strathalmond of British Petroleum, who led the company team, said progress was being made "but time was against us."

The companies made a new offer Tuesday, reportedly bettering the 20 cents a barrel increase in base price which the Persian Gulf States rejected on Monday. But conference sources said a gap of about 10 cents per barrel separated what was being offered and what was being asked.

Despite the breakdown, the company negotiators announced they would remain in Tehran for the time being, "at the disposal" of the Persian Gulf ministers.

Minor Damage In Two Mishaps

The first one occurred at 8:27 a.m. on the Lamar Junior High School parking lot. Involved were the 1966 Model Ford of Wanda Gober Stewart, 3720 Austin, and the 1965 Model Ford of William Ray Compton, Eudora, Ark. Damage was minor. Paul Silva was the investigating officer.

Another one occurred at 4:25 p.m. on Avenue S at Twenty-sixth Street. Damage to the 1970 Model Chevrolet of Jeanne Baxter Liner, 4105 Dension, was negligible, and damage was minor to the 1970 Model Rambler of Cynthia Diane Schiebel, 3011 Avenue T.

Streisand Is Named In Suit

NEW YORK (AP) — Singer Barbra Streisand has been named defendant in a $50,000 suit by a writer who claims she failed to pay him for material he wrote for her.

In papers filed Wednesday in Manhattan Supreme Court, Robert James Hilliard said he provided Miss Streisand with a nightclub bit called "Folk Song Monologue."

Three Earn ASU Degrees

SAN ANGELO — Three students from Scurry County are among 86 who completed requirements for degrees at the end of the fall semester at Angelo State University.

They are Mrs. Carolyn Chitsey Beane of Hermleigh, Garth Michael Carter and Robert William Rosson, both of Snyder.

Mrs. Beane is the daughter of Mrs. Eldon Chitsey of Hermleigh. A 1967 graduate of Hermleigh High School, she is a candidate for the bachelor of business administration degree.

Carter is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Garth B. Carter of Snyder. He is a 1965 graduate of Snyder High School and will receive the bachelor of arts degree with a major in journalism.

Rosson, a 1963 graduate of Snyder High School, is a candidate for the bachelor of business administration degree.

The degrees will be awarded at the spring commencement set for May 15.

January Was Dry And Mild

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

This year's was one of the driest Januarys on record, and except for four days was unusually mild, the Environmental Data Service reported Tuesday.

In a broad section of the state extending from the Northern High Plains southeastward to the Coastal Bend country total precipitation for the month was generally less than .10 of an inch.

No measurable precipitation fell at Del Rio, Lubbock, Midland or San Angelo while the January total was less than .05 of an inch at Abilene, Austin, Corpus Christi, San Antonio, Victoria and Waco.

Austin had its driest January since 1904, Corpus Christi its driest since 1909, Galveston since 1909, Houston since 1911, Port Arthur since 1928, San Antonio since 1911 and Dallas its driest since records began in 1913.

At Austin, the three months just ended—November, December and January—were the driest consecutive months since records began in 1856. A total of only .15 of an inch fell at Austin during the period. The three months also were the driest on record at Dallas and Houston.

Except for a period of four days, Jan. 5-8, inclusive, the month was about as mild as it was dry. On Jan. 30, the warmest temperatures ever recorded for January occurred at Corpus Christi with 91 degrees, Austin and Brownsville with 90, San Antonio with 89 and Victoria 88.

Statistics Show Increase In Women College Grads

NEW YORK (AP) — In every traditionally male graduate professional school at Columbia University's Morningside Heights campus, the female enrollment has more than doubled during the past 10 years.

Although the proportion of women to men students still is small, statistics show a definite trend toward increasing numbers of coeds in such schools exists.

For example:

—In the School of Architecture 10 years ago less than one student in 10 was a woman. Now more than one in five is.

—In the Graduate School of Journalism, women make up nearly half the class, as compared with less than a fifth of the class 10 years ago.

—In the Graduate School of Business, female enrollment has more than tripled over the decade while male enrollment has not quite doubled.

—In the School of Engineering and Applied Science, the number of female students jumped from 18 to 59 in the last 10 years, although they still account for only 4 per cent of the total student body.

In the School of Law, five per cent of the students 10 years ago were women. Now the percentage has doubled to 10.

These increases are attributed by admissions and student affairs officials to: more job openings for women in the profession; better undergraduate career counseling; increased reporting by the news media of women's rights activities; increased interest in professional careers on the part of women; and increased recruiting activities on the part of professional schools, including visits to women's colleges.

"It is a conscious effort to recruit women," says Karin Paulson, director of student affairs at Columbia's Graduate School of Business. "We visit women's schools, and we ran an open house on business opportunities for women with participants from as far away as Philadelphia and Boston."

She also points out the treasurer of the school's student council this year is a woman.

Christopher Trump, dean of admissions at the Graduate School of Journalism, points out women in his school helped force Sigma Delta Chi journalism fraternity to admit women last year. A petition signed by students and faculty in the school threatened to disband the Sigma Delta Chi chapter at Columbia unless women were allowed to join.

The main barriers to women exist not in the professional schools but in the professions, most of the admissions officers agree.

For instance, reports Dean Trump, one man recruiting applicants for newspaper work admitted he preferred males. The recruiter was told his paper would be dropped from the Journalism School's job referral list if it continued to discriminate against women.

"Women find it harder than men to get good jobs upon graduation," says J. Frederic Way, director of placement at the Business School. "But opportunities are opening up at an increasing rate," he adds, "and there is not too much of a salary differential between men and women; generally if they take the same type of job, they get the same salary."

Last year, he notes, both men and women from the Business School became account executives, financial analysts, product managers, public accountants, portfolio managers, security analysts, municipal government employes and other responsible job-holders.

The School of Public Health and Administrative Medicine has also had a marked increase in female enrollment—40 in 1970-71 as compared with 12 in 1960-61. But in the College of Physicians and Surgeons the female enrollment has remained fairly static.

On the other hand, there has also been a shift of men into fields formerly traditionally female. There were 88 men in the School of Social Work a decade ago and today there are 142 men. Ten years ago not a single man was enrolled in the School of Nursing. At present there are two.

Consumer Holds Key To Economic Events

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — In almost all the projections now being made by business and government, the great majority of which tend to be optimistic, the consumer plays a dominant role.

If he can be induced to spend heavily this year it will mean a surge of profits for thousands of businesses and increased revenues for government.

If they continue the pattern of postponing purchases, which contributed to the economic downturn of 1970, the best laid plans of the administration and of many business economists will be reuined.

Seldom has the consumer played a more critical role in economic events.

The sequence of events can be traced back many years, but a milestone was reached about 18 months ago. At that time the quest for material possessions that dominated the 1960s began to lose its allure.

The change in buying habits wasn't clearly foreseen but, in retrospect, it was entirely understandable. The consumer was becoming uncertain about the economy and his own future. He suspected that things were not as they should be.

Whenever this happens the consumer retreats from the market place. He postpones purchases, he pays off bills, he begins building his savings. He makes his position secure as he can and then sits out the storm.

Bankers often marvel at this almost intuitive good sense. Time after time they have seen the phenomenon at work, and some of them readily concede that the consumer may be as good a forecaster as a banker armed with statistics.

The tautness in consumer purse strings continued through all of 1970, and in some areas became tighter as the year wore on. Savings for the year exceeded 7 per cent of take-home pay, and close to 7.3 per cent as winter came.

Compare that with a 6 per cent savings rates common in the 1960s, when consumers went on a buying spree.

Reflecting this conservative attitude, retail sales were sluggish through much of 1970, and automobile sales were off sharply. Installment credit ceased to grow. Consumers paid off old bills and declined to take on new ones.

This now leaves him in what is termed a liquid position, meaning he has the available funds to pour into purchases. But will he? This is the challenge to government and business; it is the power of the consumer.

Albert Gets Heart Award

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Carl B. Albert, the new Speaker of the House, has received the American Heart Association's "Heart of the Year" award

President Nixon took part in the White House ceremony Tuesday.

Albert, an Oklahoma Democrat, suffered a heart attack in September 1967 but recovered in seven weeks and resumed his congressional chores.

The association's award goes annually to a distinguished American who continues contributing to the nation's welfare despite heart disease.

Junior Editors Quiz on RATTLESNAKES

QUESTION: Do rattlesnakes lay eggs or do they have their young?

* * *

ANSWER: An egg is a neat little thing. The tiny creature inside it, perhaps a bird or reptile, has everything his own way. He has a supply of yolk or food, enabling him to grow; he gets air through the shell. Then, when ready, the mother lays her eggs. Soon the little creatures must meet a more difficult world. The mother bird broods her eggs until ready to hatch; the reptile mother (most reptiles lay eggs) bury their eggs in some safe warm place, under the earth or sand, inside a rotted log. But some kinds of snakes use another system. One of these is the rattlesnake. Like the eggs, the embryos develop at first inside the mother's body, but not in a snug, round egg-house. Instead, they are coiled up on top of an irregularly shaped mass of yolk, which serves them for food. But without the outer shell of the egg, they will not be able to carry their food along after being born. So, they complete their development inside the mother. The tiny rattlesnakes develop poison fangs and a poison sac. As a result, when born, they are all ready to shift for themselves, as the little newly-born rattlers in our picture are beginning to do.

Movie Producer Faces Sentence

NEW YORK (AP) — Movie producer Samuel Bronston faces a possible sentence of five years in prison on a federal perjury conviction for denying in a bankruptcy case that he once had Swiss bank accounts.

Bronston, 62, whose movies include "El Cid," "King of Kings," and "The Fall of the Roman Empire," continued free on $10,000 bail following the jury's verdict Tuesday. Sentencing was set for March 16.

The jury cleared him of a second charge of perjury in denying he had an interest in "Spanish Symphony," produced in Spain.

The case arose from a 1966 bankruptcy hearing involving Samuel Bronston Productions Inc., of which he was president and sole stockholder.

The island of Sao Tome was discovered in 1470 by two Portuguese navigators, Pedro Escobar and Joao de Santarem.

Hildy Turns 65 With Elegance

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Elegance is the favorite word of Hildegarde, and everything she does has a touch of it.

She showed it this week when she cheerfully told a cheering public, at the Rainbow Grill, a thing most women hate to admit publicly—that she had reached her 65th birthday. And amid a flourish of red roses and the waving of one of her celebrated handkerchiefs, she smilingly cut up a huge birthday cake inscribed, "Over 60—So What?"

Shortly before her performance, Hildy, who for a generation has been known as "The Incomparable" and "The First Lady of Supper Clubs," told how it felt to reach the landmark year so many dread.

"I used to hide my age and say I was 56," she said. "Now I have simply reversed the figure. The number is a large one, but I still feel like 35.

"It's a little scary to be approaching the twilight of life, but I just don't give it a thought. People make too much ado about age.

"I'd rather be getting older and still feeling well with every passing day than be a beautiful 25-year-old corpse.

"There is no reason to feel guilty or ashamed of getting older. It's a thing to be proud and thankful for."

Still youthful-faced and youthful-minded, the lovely chanteuse started her career 46 years ago in vaudeville as one of a four-girl piano team.

"I am very religious," she remarked. "I promised God that if He let me succeed in music, I'd do my best to be an example and inspiration to others—and to help cheer them. I feel I have kept that vow, and that it is God who has kept me dedicated and happy."

The slightly plump little girl from Wisconsin had a hard time—she once sang for as little as $1 in Paris, later reached the $20,000-a-week bracket — before she became a symbol of svelte feminine sophistication and a star on three continents.

She has thrice been named one of the world's best dressed women, sung for kings and presidents, yet she still retains, in Kipling's phrase, "the common touch." Audiences who were still unborn when she first sang her signature song, "Darling, Je Vous Aime Beaucoup," still make her sing it at every performance. She can do it in nine languages.

Hildy, active in a long roster of Philanthropic causes, has a good business head and has no intention of ever winding up in a home for aged performers.

All-Volunteer Army Drive Trouble Indicated

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army analysts estimate four of five young men who joined the service last year enlisted to avoid the draft and were not true volunteers.

This indicates how far the Army still must travel to come in sight of the all-volunteer force President Nixon hopes to achieve by mid-1973.

Manpower specialists feel the 1970 experience, the first full year under the random draft system, gave them a reliable idea of the extent men truly volunteered or were avoiding the draft in order to choose a branch of service and a specialty.

For purposes of the study, Army analysts calculated any young man who drew lottery number 240 or higher last year was certain of escaping the draft.

It was found that 64,000 men in this draft-invulnerable group enlisted in the Army in 1970 — about 21 per cent of the 296,000 men who entered that service. Another 73,000 volunteers were classed as draft-motivated and 159,000 men were draftees.

In testifying Tuesday before the Senate Armed Services Committee, Pentagon manpower chief Roger Kelley seemed to give a somewhat more bullish estimate of true volunteers than the Army study showed.

But he was omitting from his calcualtion the large block of draftees, and he was talking about all services, not just the Army.

Nixon, in working to reduce the armed forces by one million men below the Vietnam war peak of 3.5 million, places considerable importance on maintaining the strength of the reserves to back up the smaller regular military establishment.

The Army study and Kelley's testimony agree generally that somewhere around 70 per cent of the new entrants into the National Guard and reserve are prodded by the spectre of the draft.

The administration has developed an elaborate program aimed at making military service, including guard and reserve enlistment, more attractive.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird and Kelley made strong pleas Tuesday for Senate Armed Services Committee approval of pay increases totaling about $1.5 billion a year to help attract more volunteers.

The attraction of first-term enlistees is only part of the difficulty confronting the armed services, particularly the Army.

Spacemen Testing Cosmic Ray Theory

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Like past moonbound spacemen, the Apollo 14 astronauts are seeing mysterious flashes of light in their spacecraft.

Scientists think the flashes are caused when invisible cosmic rays pierce the spacecraft skin and strike the astronauts' eyes, causing impulses their brains perceive as light.

But researchers aren't sure where the rays come from or precisely how they interact with the eye. So astronauts Alan B. Shepard Jr., Edgar D. Mitchell and Stuart A. Roosa are conducting a series of experiments to gain new insight into the strange phenomena.

Using a finger to put pressure on the eye, an astronaut will cut off signals from the eye's retina to the brain. If the flashes persist, it could mean that the cosmic rays are penetrating the skull and striking the optic nerve to cause the flash.

Another theory is that cosmic rays enter the eye and strike the retina. The ray is a tiny source of energy that collides with an atom in the retina, imparting additional energy to the atom. Then the atom returns to its normal energy stage, emitting the additional energy as light.

Other scientists have suggested that cosmic rays strike the vitreous humor, a transparent jelly behind the eyeball. They theorize the ray traveling through the humor creates a shock wave perceived by the brain as light.

Some of the cosmic rays are believed to come in bursts from the sun.

If the astronauts begin seeing flashes during a phase of their lunar orbit when the moon is shielding the sun, it will give some indication where else the rays come from.

The flashes emphasize that astronauts in deep space are constantly bombarded with radiation. Scientists are certain the radiation levels aren't large enough to impair health during present flights, which last less than two weeks.

But on a journey to another planet, such as Mars, which would take several years, the accumulated effect of the radiation could be dangerous.

Scientists are realizing that future spacecraft must have additional radiation shielding and more studies are needed on what the long-term effects of such radiation are.

Chrysler Workers Back On The Job

DETROIT (AP) — Some 10,000 white collar workers are back on the job at Chrysler Corp. today after striking for three hours Tuesday.

The strike ended when Chrysler and the United Auto Workers union reached tentative agreement on a three-year contract covering salaried employes represented by the union.

Chrysler officials refused to discuss any aspect of the settlement, but UAW President Leonard Woodcock said it generally followed the pattern set earlier by General Motors Corp. and Ford Motor Co. The union does not represent salaried workers at Ford and GM, but the companies gave their white collar workers raises in line with contracts agreed to for production and maintenance workers.

Ford and GM salaried workers received weekly pay hikes of 13 per cent of their base salaries or $19.60, whichever was greater.

Woodcock indicated that any increase at Chrysler in excess of $10.40 weekly would be retroactive to Nov. 2, 1970, with the rest paid back to Sept. 15.

The annual salaries range from $10,000 to $30,000.

Congressmen Criticize Welfare Reform Work

By EDMOND LeBRETON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON AP — Congressmen under pressure to speed action on President Nixon's long-stalled welfare reform-Social Security legislation complain they have not been given the proposals in workable form.

The House Ways and Means Committee started its renewed consideration of the legislation Tuesday, hearing Secretary Elliot L. Richardson and other Health, Education and Welfare officials in closed session.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., said afterward many essential specifics were lacking in Richardson's presentation.

"I think we've lost about a week," he said. Earlier he had expressed hope the committee could get a bill to the House floor by the end of February.

Richardson asked for approval of Nixon's family assistance plan, with stiffer restrictions for recipients refusing work.

On Social Security, he recommended a 6 per cent benefit increase instead of the 10 per cent advocated by Mills and others, but with provision for future automatic cost-of-living increases. Payroll taxes would be increased for those earning more than $7,800.

The secretary also advocated a number of provisions designed to hold down the cost of medicare and medicaid.

One of these certain to set off furious debate was a cost-sharing plan that Mills said apparently would require some patients to pay for part of the services they now get free.

Mills, however, added that Richardson had not spelled out this provision in sufficient detail to make all the implications clear.

The congressman said he intends to pursue the matter in detail with further questioning of HEW officials, probably next week.

Richardson's prepared testimony, made public after he spoke, mentioned in general terms a number of other issues the committee is certain to want examined in detail.

One brings up the long-debated question of substituting cash benefits for food stamps.

Another would provide for an automatic increase of Social Security taxes as the general level of earnings rises, by raising the salary base on which the tax is applied. Traditionally, Ways and Means resists proposals it considers delegation of Congress' right to set taxes.

Criticism of Tuesday's formal presentation followed complaints the HEW staff had not provided advance information on which the committee could begin working.

"It's just about the worst staff work I've seen in this administration," one committee source said.

Rockies Get Snow

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A new winter storm dumped snow into the northern and central Rockies today and scattered freezing rain eastward to the Mississippi Valley.

Arctic cold retreated from the Midwest but held firm in the Northeast, where heavy demands for electrical power Tuesday brought renewed voltage cutbacks by utility companies.

Heavy snow was expected in mountain areas of Colorado, Wyoming, northern Utah and southeastern Montana. Winter-weather watches were issued for parts of Kansas, Nebraska and Iowa.

Freezing rain and sleet glazed sections of Missouri, Illinois, Kentucky and Tennessee.

The storm also pushed a wave of colder temperatures into the Southwest. Freeze warnings were out for central and southeastern valleys of Arizona.

In the Northeast, temperatures again fell to zero or below overnight from the Great Lakes to New England.

Consolidated Edison reduced voltage by 5 per cent Tuesday and appealed for a voluntary dimout by its customers in order to protect power reserves. It was the sixth time in the past 16 days that Con Ed was forced to cut voltage because of the severe cold.

Utilities serving six Northeastern states and the District of Columbia purchased large blocks of power from Ontario Hydro of Canada to supplement short supplies Tuesday. The utilities also rolled back voltage by 5 per cent to protect reserves.

In the upstate New York snow belt, another 14 inches fell on Oswego through Tuesday. Schools were closed and the city's only taxi company shut down. Oswego has had some snow each day since Dec. 1.

Temperatures moderated somewhat in the Deep South, but a frosty chill lingered in areas from Virginia to northern Georgia.

Trucker Honored

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon says he figures a man who can wheel a truck four million accident-free miles in 43 years deserves admiration.

"I'd be willing to ride with you any time," he told W. T. Smith of Waco, Tex., who was honored as the American Trucking Association's Driver of the Year in a White House ceremony Tuesday.

Nixon was joined by Secretary of Transportation John A. Volpe in bestowing the silver truck driving trophy on Smith, 62 next week.

Texan On Casualty List

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department listed one Texan Tuesday among those U.S. servicemen killed in recent action in Southeast Asia.

He was Marine Lance Cpl. Johnny C. Spears, son of Willie L. Holman, Box 262, Camden.

GUEST SPEAKER — Charles W. Wesbrooks, Grand Captain of the Guard, Grand Commandery, Knights Templar of Texas, will be guest speaker at 7:30 p.m. Saturday for the Snyder Commandery. The meeting is set for 7:30 p.m. at the Masonic Hall.

Short Moisture Causing Concern In State

COLLEGE STATION, Tex - (AP) — Moisture is scarce throughout Texas and is causing concern, says John Hutchison, director of the Texas Agriculture Extension Service. Weather, too, has been warmer than normal.

Ranges, grains and cool season crops deteriorated and hauling of water for livestock is becoming more widespread, the director said.

He said the open and mild weather is permitting farmers to put down fertilizer and get land ready for planting as they wait for long overdue moisture.

Livestock feeding and culling of herds increased. Grazing is rather limited. Irrigated grains made some growth gains as the weather warmed, the director noted. Range fires again are being reported and are a threat.

Livestock in general are mostly in fair to good condition but heavier feeding is necessary, he said.

Moisture is very short over the entire Panhandle. Dryland wheat is in very poor condition. Irrigated wheat was making fair growth. Livestock are in fair condition with feeding heavy.

Grazing from grains is increasing in the South Plains (Lubbock) but dryland stands were being lost in some areas duetodrought.Feedingincreased and stock water is a problem in some counties.

It is sxtremely dry all throughout the Rolling Plains (Vernon). Grains are in very poor condition and grazing is limited.

Sixteen of the 19 North Central Texas counties are short on moisture and grains are not furnishing grazing. Mild weather has helped but feeding is general. Livestock are in fair condition.

Moisture in Northeast Texas was short to very short and rain is urgently needed to keep grains growing. Ranges also need rain. Livestock are in good condition but feeding is heavy. Calving is active. Labor is short.

Far West Texas had warm days and cold nights and is very dry. Ranges are very dry and feeding increased. Most livestock are in fair to good condition. Goat shearing has started. Irrigated grains are growing again after the recent cold.

Moisture in West Central Texas is very short and grains are in very poor condition. Irrigated grain around Abilene is suffering from greenbug investations. Ranges are very dry and about grazed out and bitter weeds are postin. problem in the Barnhart area. Livestock are in fair condition with heavy feeding and some eulling underway.

Drought worsened in Central Texas. Much grain has died and what is left is making little or no growth. Stockmen are feeding and some especially around Brownwood, are hauling stock water. A fairly heavy movement of cattle to market is noted. Grass fires hit several counties.

Moisture in East Texas is short and rain is needed to keep up grains and winter pastures. Ranges are about grazed out and need rain. Livestock are in fair to good condition with heavy feeding necessary. Prospects are good for a fine cralf crop.

Moisture in Southeast Texas is now rated short to very short and rain is needed for grain and pasture growth. The weather has been ideal for plant drowth except for drought. Oats are providing limited grazing in some counties. Livestock are holding up well but heavy feeding is required.

Oats and wheat are dying in South Central Texas where moisture is very short. Ranges are below to average and need rain for forage growth and stock water. Livestock are in fair condition.

The vegetable and citrus harvests are active in South Texas and watermelons are being planted on irrigated land. Moisture is very short and grains are making no growth. Ranges are in poor condition. Livestock were decling in condition with feeding increasing.

Dust Satellites In Orbit

By RICHARD BEENE
Associated Press Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Millions of tiny moon dust satellites will race into lunar orbit Thursday, freed from the parent body by the crash of Apollo 14's spent rocket stage.

Some of these sand-like particles will be hurled as fast as a mile per second into orbits as high as 60 miles, a scientist says.

The Apollo 14 astronauts will be in lunar orbit by the time their S4B rocket stage slams into the moon, but they won't be able to see the crash or the little satellites.

Dr. Gary Latham, of the Lamont-Doherty Geological Laboratory in New York, said the S4B will dig a crater more than 30 feet deep and 150 to 200 feet wide at the top.

Eventually, he said, the dust satellites will fall back to the moon.

The S4B, falling about a mile and a half a second, is expected to crash early Thursday about 114 miles south-southeast of the Apollo 12 landing site in the Ocean of Storms, Lathan said.

At the Manned Spacecraft Center, scientists will be waiting for the shock waves of the impact, which will be turned here into "warbling tones" by a transformer nicknamed a "loony tuner."

The warble from the impact will last as long as five hours, Latham said. Scientists hope to learn more about the moon's interior from the shock waves.

Contract Let For Road Work

A half-million-dollar seal-coating contract in the Abilene District of the Texas Highway Department will include approximately 57 miles of roads in Scurry County, the THD has announced.

The Scurry County segments include: U. S. 84, from Snyder to a point 6.4 miles northwest; U. S. 84, from Snyder to Hermleigh, 11.2 miles; U. S. 84, from Mitchell County Line to Hermleigh; Loop 401 from one mile south of Snyder to Snyder, 1 mile; U. S. 180, from Loop 201 southwest of Snyder to U. S. 84, 1 mile; S. H. 208, from Mitchell County line to Loop 201, 12. 3 miles; FM 1231, from Snyder to Kent County line, 15.5 miles.

J. H. Strain and sons, Inc. of Tye, has been awarded the contract.

Public Notice

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

Sealed proposals addressed to the Scurry County Junior College District, 3610 Avenue S, Snyder, Texas, will be received at the District Office until 10:00 A.M., Wednesday, February 17, 1971 and then publicly opened and read, for furnishing all plant, labor, material, and equipment and performing all work required for the construction of the Sanitary Sewer Facilities located in Snyder, Texas.

Each proposal must be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check or an approved bidder's bond, for the sum of five percent of the amount of the maximum total bid as a guarantee that, if awarded the contract, the bidder will promptly enter into a contract and execute a bond on the forms provided, as outlined in the contract documents. Certified or cashier's checks must be payable to the Scurry County Junior College District.

A performance bond and payment bond in an amount of not less than one hundred (100 percent) of the contract price, conditioned upon the faithful performance of the contract, and upon payment of all persons supplying labor or furnishing materials, will be required.

Plans, specifications and bidding documents may be obtained from the office of Carter & Burgess, Inc., Engineers-Planners, 100 Macon Street, Fort Worth, Texas or from the District Office, 3610 Avenue S, Snyder, Texas.

Bidders should carefully examine the plans, specifications and other documents, visit the site of the work, and fully inform themselves as to all conditions and matters which can in any way affect the work or the costs thereof. Should a bidder find discrepancies in, or omissions from, the plans, specifications or other documents, or should he be in doubt as to their meaning, he should at once notify the Engineer and obtain clarification prior to submitting any bid.

NONDISCRIMINATION EMPLOYMENT, bidders on this work will be required to comply with the President's Executive Order No. 11246. The requirements for Bidders and Contractors under this Order are explained in the Specifications.

The District reserves the right to reject any or all bids and waive any or all irregularities. No bid may be withdrawn until the expiration of forty-five (45) days from the date bids are opened.

Tornadoes Slip Past Snyder Tigers 64-53

Lamesa's Golden Tornadoes swept past Snyder 64-53 in the Scurry County Coliseum last night and became the favorite to win the district title.

The Tornadoes won the first round and are 3-0 in the second round. Snyder was second in the first round of play and fell to 2-1 in second round [illegible]. For the season, the Tornadoes are 25-4 and Snyder is 19-5.

It was a closer game than the score indicates. Snyder led after one quarter and was only two points behind at halftime. However, three turnovers and two missed shots on their first five possessions in the second half put the Bengals in a hole in the third quarter and the visitors began to slowly pull away. Lamesa led 50-43 after three periods and outscored the Bengals 14-10 in the last quarter.

Snyder went ahead 4-2 early in the first quarter and stayed ahead until the count was knotted at 16-16. Then, Dubby Preston hit from the corner to give the Tigers an 18-16 lead as the first quarter ended.

Lamesa went ahead 22-20 early in the second quarter when guard Russ Bladwin stole the ball and went in for a layup. [illegible] the score was [illegible] before Lamesa built a four point lead--their biggest of the half--at 32-28 with Robert Hardburger scoring from inside. Kent Horsley hit the basket from inside to narrow the gap to 32-30 as the second quarter ended.

The visitors took a five-point lead, at 46-41, on two free throws by David Sisson in the third period and slowly began to increase their margin after that. Lamesa led by as much as 13 points in the fourth quarter. The Tigers were forced to go for the ball and made several fouls.

Speaking of fouls, there were seven calls on which the officials disagreed, and each time the dispute was settled in favor of the Tornadoes.

Snyder hit at a hot 50 per cent from the field, sinking 10 of 20 shots in the first half. They also put in 10 of 11 for 91 per cent from the line. In the second half, the Tigers hit only eight of 23 for [illegible] per cent from the field and seven of 15 for 48 per cent from the line.

Lamesa sunk 12 of 27 for 46 per cent from the field in the first half and 10 of 13 from the line for 75 per cent. In the second half, the Tors hit eight of 15 for 54 per cent from the field and 16 of 20 for 80 per cent from the line.

The Tigers held a 27-22 edge in rebounds with Kent Horsley getting nine. Jerry Brooks claimed seven, Dubby Preston got six, and Tommy Washington grabbed five.

Russ Bladwin was the leading scorer, getting 21 points. David Sisson added 14 and Cecil Davis contributed 13 for the Tornadoes. Kent Horsley led Tiger scorers with 17 points. Dubby Preston roped 16. They were the only two Tigers in double figures.

In the B team game, Lamesa won 60-42. The first half was close with the Whirlwind [illegible] holding 13-12 and 27-19 leads in the first two periods respectively. They led 40-27 after three frames and outscored the Kittens 20-13 in the last quarter.

Boyd, Sims and Williamson sparked the junior Tor attack with 15, 11 and 10 points respectively. For the Kittens, Charles Anderson meshed 18 points and Jim Waters roped 12.

Elsewhere in District 3-AAA last night, Dunbar beat Brownfield 59-52, Sweetwater nipped Estacado 59-56, and Colorado City clipped Lake View 86-69.

GRABS REBOUND — Snyder's Kent Horsley (50) led the Tigers in rebounds with nine during their 3-AAA basketball tussle with Lamesa in the Scurry County Coliseum last night. Here, he beats Lamesa's Cecil Davis to the ball. Other players are Snyder's Dubby Preston (42), and Harry McCurley (43) and Robert Hardburger (45) of Lamesa.

Marquette Wins 29th Straight

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Al McGuire, coach of Marquette's top-ranked college basketball team, likened his unbeaten squad to a bunch of bricklayers today.

Marquette fell on Wisconsin like a bunch of bricks 89-75 Tuesday night for the Warriors' 29th straight victory and a season mark of 22-0.

"We're like bricklayers, we just want to build a better house," McGuire commented. "We got a couple of quick turns early in the game and they never Recovered."

Led by Gary Brell's 30 points the Warriors took an 8-0 lead and widened it to 39 points at 74-35 in the second half before the Badgers reduced the final margin.

"They're the best team we've played in three years," said John Powless, Wisconsin coach. "They should definitely be No. 1. They have more poise and they are quicker than when we lost to them by three points last December."

The score of that game in the Milwaukee Classic was 72-69.

Onrushing Michigan, 20th-ranked in this week's Associated Press poll, won its 11th of its last 12 games by humbling Purdue 85-69. The Wolverines took over the lead in the Big Ten at 5-0 as Iowa upset 15th-ranked Illinois 92-84.

Michigan pulled away from Purdue in the second half led by sophomore Henry Wilmore who scored 23 points, 15 of them after the intermission.

Fred Brown threw in a career high of 36 points to bring Iowa from behind a 10-point deficit in the Hawkeyes' victory over the Illini.

Howard Porter scored 31 points to lead 17th ranked Villanova over St. John's of New York 99-82. The victory gave Jack Kraft, coach of the Wildcats, his 200th career triumph.

Gene Phillips tossed in 45 points for his career high in leading Southern Methodist over Texas A&M 89-83 in overtime. Texas took Rice 84-68, Texas Tech downed Baylor 90-76 and Texas Christian shaded Arkansas 89-87 in other SWC games.

Dayton beat Eastern Kentucky 110-86, Centenary tripped Oklahoma City 63-55, Drake overcame DePaul 93-80, Dartmouth defeated Connecticut 69-62, Massachusetts edged Holy Cross 60-58 and Cincinnati conquered Richmond 78-71.

LSU-New Orleans, No. 1 in the AP college division poll, made it 17-0 for the season by whipping Spring Hill 83-74 and the Keydets of Virginia Military kept their losing streak going.

Davidson trampled the Keydets 70-39. It was the Keydets' 18th straight defeat of the season and boosted their losing streak to 23 in a row, counting a carryover of five from last season.

There was a second half brawl in the Centenary-Oklahoma City game at Shreveport.

A scramble over a rebound started the fireworks that involved players on both teams, brought a barrage of debris from the spectators and delayed the game 10 minutes.

Ira Girls Win District 10-B

IRA—The host Bulldogs split a couple of basketball games with Hermleigh here last night with the girls winning 70-27 and the boys losing 85-83 in overtime.

The Ira girls took a 16-3 lead in the first quarter and upped the margin to 37-9 at halftime and they won with ease. Jan Kruse pitched in 32 points and Janie Roddy scored 18 for Ira. W. Stirl meshed 25 points for Hermleigh.

That boys game was close all the way. Ira led 26-19 after one period and 37-34 at halftime. Hermleigh took command 60-55 in the third quarter and the regulation game ended at 76-76. In the extra period, Hermleigh scored nine points while Ira tallied seven.

Ricky Cox roped 31 points and Billy Payne posted 22 for Ira. Three Ira boys had 10 points each--Jimmy Mason, Obie Crawford and Donald Sellers. Mike Rutherford and Tommy Vineyard led Hermleigh scorers with 38 and 26 points respectively. Randy Roemisch contributed 13 for Hermleigh.

The Ira girls clinched the District 10-B title with the victory. They currently stand 11-0 in league play with an 18-5 season record. The Ira boys are 7-5 in district.

Ira will be at Fluvanna Friday, then host Hobbs the following Tuesday.

Trail Blazers Upset Milwaukee

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It was a big night for Rick Adelman and the Portland Trail Blazers in the National Basketball Association. They upset the Milwaukee Bucks 123-111.

Adelman made three steals in the closing minutes to set up the Tuesday night heroics at Portland. At the end, the crowd of 9,040 gave the Trail Blazers a standing ovation for their first victory of the season over the Bucks.

In other NBA action, the New York Knicks turned back Cincinnati 115-108, Philadelphia nipped Boston 108-105, Detroit shaded Baltimore 116-113, Chicago pounded Seattle 118-101, San Francisco edged Atlanta 101-99, Los Angeles crushed San Diego 133-105 and Cleveland humbled Buffalo for the sixth straight time 101-91.

In the American Basketball Association, the Floridians whipped Carolina 110-102, Pittsburgh tripped the New York Nets 119-111, Virginia nipped Memphis 114-111 and Kentucky clipped Texas 122-116.

Portland squandered a 65-48 halftime lead but bounced back to win on Adelman's steals in the last four minutes.

Jim Barnett paced the Trail Blazers with 27 points. Lew Alcindor was high for Milwaukee with 38 points, but finished with only nine rebounds. He was double- teamed most of the game by LeRoy Ellis and Dale Schlueter.

John Warren and John Johnson shared the spotlight for usually hapless Cleveland, which has managed a mere four victories in 49 games against the rest of the league.

Warren hit 16 of his 22 points in the first half as the Cavaliers opened a 57-42 lead over Buffalo, the game played before a meager turnout of 1,373 in Rochester, N.Y.

Johnson took over in the second half with 15 of his 21 plus a couple of crucial assists. Don May led Buffalo with 34.

Veteran center Willis Reed of New York and rookie pivotman Sam Lacey of Cincinnati played to a standoff— each hitting 27 points to lead their clubs—but Reed's eight quick points midway in the final period enabled the Knicks to break away from the Royals for the victory, their seventh in eight starts.

Boston led 75-71 late in the third period before Philadelphia went on a tear, outscoring the Celtics 20-2 for a commanding 14-point lead, then held on for the victory. Dave Cowens hit 22 for the Celts while Billy Cunningham scored 31 for the 76ers, who opened a four-game lead over Boston and remained within 5½ of first-place New York in the Atlantic Division.

Dave Bing with 29 points and Otto Moore with 21 led a late Detroit rush that snapped a 100-100 tie and kept the Pistons ahead of Baltimore. Earl Monroe of the Bullets took scoring honors with 30 in the seesaw game.

Chicago stayed 2½ games back of second-place Detroit in the Midwest Division on the strength of 27 points apiece by Bob Love and Chet Walker. Slumping Seattle, out of contention by halftime, was led by Dick Snyder with 24.

Jeff Mullins' short jumper with 20 seconds left enabled San Francisco to edge Atlanta. The Warriors overcame a 10-point deficit early in the fourth quarter.

Pete Maravich had a chance to tie the game for the Hawks with four seconds remaining. But his jump shot hit the rim and bounced away as time ran out.

Mullins topped San Francisco with 26 points while Maravich was high for Atlanta with 27.

Jerry West scored 28 points as Los Angeles handed San Diego its 15th setback in 16 games. Elvin Hayes led the Rockets with 27 points.

NEW YORK (AP) — Avery Brundage, president of the International Olympic Committee, was a member of the U.S. Olympic team at Stockholm in 912, competing in the pentathlon (5th), decathlon (14th), and discus throw (22nd).

His first administrative post on the U.S. Olympic Committee was as a representative of the Big Ten Conference on the 1920 team selection committee.

Frogs Nudge Hogs

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

In those sticky situations, just "Give it to Goo."

And that battle cry is carrying the Texas Christian Horned Frogs farther and farther down the trail toward a Southwest Conference basketball championship.

Eugene "Goo" Kennedy, a jumping jack junior college transfer, scored the winning basket again for TCU Tuesday night as the Horned Frogs nipped Arkansas 89-87 at Fayetteville.

The typical tingler for the play it close but keep cool Horned Frogs kept them ahead of the SWC pack with a 5-0 record.

Fast-closing Texas Tech snatched sole possession of second place with a 90-76 slaughter of Baylor before 9,500 faithful in Lubbock; Gene Phillips paced Southern Methodist to an 89-83 overtime stunner over Texas A&M, and Texas crushed defending champion Rice 84-69.

After the thump-thumping died away for the night, the SWC race shaped up like this: TCU, Texas Tech, 4-1, Baylor and SMU, each 3-2, Rice and Texas each 2-3, Texas A&M 1-4, and Arkansas 0-5.

Kennedy, who hit the game-winning layup, had 29 points for the night and was backed by another junior college transfer, Simpson Degrate, who added 24.

Kennedy, a 6-foot-6 junior who gets in the air like he's 6-foot-11, has been the key man for the Horned Frogs in each of their three road victories.

TCU plays at home next, hosting Baylor Saturday night.

In Lubbock, Texas Tech continued its tremendous comeback under new head coach Gerald Myers; The Red Raiders dropped a game to TCU then have won three in a row under Myers, who replaced Bob Bass.

"Coach Myers is really running the ball club now," said senior guard Red Williams. "We are playing his game and all of us have a lot of confidence in him. After that first game (TCU), we really have settled down and started playing good ball."

Geeg Lowery pumped home 24 points to pace the Red Raiders to the surprising victory over the high-scoring Bears. Tech hit 51.6 per cent from the field and held William Chatmon, Baylor's prolific pivot man, to 14 markers.

"We have good momentum now and I hope we can carry it down to Rice in Houston Saturday," said Myers. "Red did a good job against the Baylor press."

Texas shot a blistering 65 per cent from the field in the second half to daze Rice. The Longhorns had six players in double figures. B. G. Brosterhouse was high with 17 for the Burnt Orange. He also had 10 rebounds as Texas de-feathered the birds 48-34 on the boards.

New Orleans Is No.1 Cage Team

The Battle of the Bayou is opening up.

LSU-New Orleans, which vaulted over Louisiana Tech and Southwestern Louisiana to claim the top spot in The Associated Press College Division basketball poll a week ago, tightened its grip on the penthouse berth in Tuesday's balloting.

The Privateers, whipping North Carolina-Charlotte 92-74, Virginia Commonwealth 99-96 and UC Irvine 104-79, boosted their perfect record to 16-0 and garnered 11 of the 17 first-place votes to amass 300 points by the the nationwide panel of sports writers and sportscasters.

That puts LSU-New Orleans 22 points ahead of runner-up Southwestern Louisiana, which a week ago trailed the intrastate rival by just five points. The Bulldogs, 14-2, picked up three first-place votes.

Kentucky State, 12-2, failed to earn any first-place nods but did collect 233 points, comfortably ahead of Louisiana Tech which, with a first-place vote and a 14-3 mark, got 183 points.

Fairmont State, moving up one notch over Ashland into fifth place, and No. 7 Tennessee State, captured the remaining first-place ballots.

Kentucky Wesleyan retained its hold on eighth place but Assumption stormed all the way up from 19th to ninth place and Puget Sound stepped up from 11th to 10th.

Stephen F. Austin and Eau Claire, ninth and 10th last week, lost ground with Eau Claire slipping to 11th and Stephen F. Austin nosediving to No. 13 behind Howard Payne.

Moorhead, Minn., and Old Dominion retained 14th and 15th place, North Carolina A&T moved up four places to 16th, Indiana State fell four to 17th, Oral Roberts dropped to 18th and two newcomers joined the ranks of the top 20.

Here are the Top 20 College Division basketball teams with first place votes in parentheses, and total points on a 20-18-16-14-12-10-9-8 etc. basis:

1.	LSU-New Orleans (11)	300
2.	SW Louisiana (3)	278
3.	Kentucky State	233
4.	Louisiana Tech (1)	183
5.	Fairmont St. (1)	148
6.	Ashland	142
7.	Tennessee St. (1)	128
8.	Kentucky Wesleyan	115
9.	Assumption	99
10.	Puget Sound	90
11.	Eau Claire, Wis.	68
12.	Howard Payne	45
13.	S.F. Austin	37
14.	Moorhead, Minn.	36
15.	Old Dominion	33
16.	North Caro. A&T	32
17.	Indiana St.-Ind.	28
18.	Oral Roberts	23
19.	Sam Houston	18

Laver Seeks Clean Sweep

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Australia's Rod Laver will try to make a clean sweep of the field and win his eighth straight $10,000 tennis match tonight when he faces Roger Taylor of England at the Forum.

Laver, 33, has pocketed $70,000 with his triumphs in the winner-take-all series that began Jan. 2. Taylor, who upset the Australian left-hander last year at Wimbledon, is the only man he has not faced.

Another winner-take-all match, worth $5,000, will pit Dennis Ralston of the United States and Tony Roche of Australia. The winners will meet in another $10,000 duel.

If he stretches his winning skein through 14 of the five-set matches, Laver could pocket $170,000. The championship match is scheduled for Feb. 19 in Philadelphia. Laver won the tournament last year.

Private Schools Join UIL?

AUSTIN (AP) — The organization which has governed public school athletic programs for 61 years was asked by the Texas Senate Tuesday to admit private schools as members.

The University Interscholastic League, which also administers other public school activities, has no private - school members.

The Senate adopted, without objection, a resolution stating that "such a limitation denies the benefits" of league competition to hundreds of private schools and thousands of pupils who attend the schools.

Sens. Mike McKool of Dallas, Ralph Hall of Rockwall, and Charles Herring of Austin sponsored the resolution.

It now goes to the House.

Byrd Assigned Job Of Pushing SST In Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — When Congress renews the fight over funding the supersonic transport plane, the floor manager for the Nixon administration project likely will be Robert C. Byrd, the Senate's No. 2 Democrat.

The West Virginian, who toppled Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts to become party whip last month, is the new chairman of the transportation subcommittee of the Appropriations Committee, the panel that considers SST funds.

Logically, this new assignment would throw Byrd, a supporter of the project, the job of trying to push the SST through the Senate. This means that in the first major battle since becoming whip, Byrd probably will find himself opposing most of his fellow Democrats, including Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield.

Under a compromise permitting adjournment of the 91st Congress only a day before its legal expiration, the House and Senate will have to consider next month a new appropriations bill financing the Department of Transportation, including the faster-than-sound plane, from March 30 to June 30, the end of the fiscal year,

Byrd backed $290 million for the SST last year, when it was approved by the House and defeated in the Senate, and is expected to support the project again.

While appointment to the transportation subcommittee could be a boost for the administration, the White House may see some changes in the way the Appropriations defense subcommittee is run.

Allen J. Ellender, D-La., chairman of Appropriations, is taking over the defense panel long headed by the late Richard B. Russell, D-Ga.

Russell was a strong defender of Pentagon programs; Ellender is a long-time critic of defense waste. He opposed the Safeguard antiballistic-missile system and favors sharp reduction of U.S. troop strength in Europe, likely to be a major issue this year.

To take the defense spot, Ellender is giving up chairmanship of the public works subcommittee to John C. Stennis, D-Miss.

Gale McGee, D-Wyo., is succeeding retired Spessard Holland, D-Fla., as chairman of the agriculture subcommittee. McGee's old post of foreign aid subcommittee chief will go to William Proxmire, D-Wis. Daniel K. Inouye, D-Hawaii, is new chairman of the District of Columbia subcommittee.

Joseph M. Montoya, D-N.M., is taking over the Treasury-Post Office subcommittee. and Ernest F. Hollings, D-S. C., is new chairman of the subcommittee handling funds for Congress itself.

Holdover Appropriations subcommittee chairmen include John L. McClellan, D-Ark., state-justice-commerce; Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., labor-health, education and welfare; John O. Pastore, D-R.I., independent offices including housing and space; Alan Bible, D-Nev., interior, and Mansfield, military construction.

Job Tips For College Grads

FOR COLLEGE GRADS

(2nd of 3 parts)

Career Corner

by Joyce Lain Kennedy

what job would you like to see explored in this column?

Here's what Arthur Eckberg, director of placement and career planning at Roosevelt University in Chicago, says about discussing grades in the job interview:

Some students are unduly concerned about their grade point averages without really understanding the what or why of such questioning. Your grade average reflects academic achievement as measured by some predetermined mathematical or statistical formula. Job candidates should talk freely about what it is they learned in a particular course or curriculum. Don't get defensive about the grade situation. Concentrate on the positive. Certain employers place greater stress on grades, while others are not unduly concerned. If your grades reflect an upward trend, it is very appropriate to review your academic progress.

Success on any job involves more than just repeating data from your academic data bank of knowledge. Once employed you must prove yourself. Can you get things done? Do you accept responsibility? What WILL you do – rather than what CAN you do? Knowledge, enthusiasm and interest in an employer is more meaningful than a discussion of grades. Eckberg says that:

COMMON MISTAKES OF APPLICANTS include:

1. Failure to acquaint yourself with employer brochures and/or specific needs of organization.

2. Failure to express yourself in a clear, concise manner. Poor articulation.

3. No realistic thought or preparation regarding goals and work objectives. Unrealistic attitudes about jobs and their requirements.

4. Lack of enthusiasm and interest. Often the interviewer will gauge interest on the basis of questions and follow-through during the interview process.

5. Too much introspection and soul-searching as opposed to critical self-analysis of attitudes and interests as revealed by actions.

6. No evidence of introspection, soul-searching or self-analysis.

7. Talking too much – or, not talking enough. There is a middle ground between too much talk, replying in monosyllables and enthusiastic responsiveness. Again, alertness, politeness, enthusiasm, truthfulness, and concentration on the purpose of the interview are benchmarks for interview success.

8. A sloppy, incomplete or poorly typed college interview form [or resume] will create a negative impression on any recruiter.

9. Personalize your approach. Don't follow the crowd. Develop your interview ability by reviewing your abilities in such factors as judgment, speech, persuasiveness, physical energy, mannerisms, and job knowledge.

10. Emphasize your strong points and detail your achievements. Avoid indecisiveness in your career and job plans.

* * *

As I've said before, the best jobs do not automatically go to the best qualified people. They go to the best qualified APPLICANTS. Just as a lawyer wouldn't enter a courtroom unprepared, why should you risk blowing an interview simply because you are not adequately prepared? If you question your ability to field questions, recruit a friend or relative with business background and hold a dress rehearsal. Use a tape recorder, if it helps. This is not to say that you should memorize your responses to the extent that you come on like a canned sound track, but rather that you should become accustomed to the interview setting.

NEXT: COMMON FAULTS OF INTERVIEWERS

Stone To Look At Park Facts

By ROBERT HEARD
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) — The newest Texas Parks and Wildlife Commissioner says he would give the Mustang Island proposal a fair hearing, despite having once voted against it.

Jack Stone was escorted on a round of senators' offices Tuesday by Sen. Charles Wilson of Lufkin, who said he hoped he could win Senate confirmation of Stone within two weeks.

But Sen. Ronald Bridges of Corpus Christi says he has a lot of questions to ask Stone when he comes before the nominations committee.

The new commissioner cannot serve in his new post until he wins confirmation.

Stone was on the winning side of an 8-3 vote in December by Texas Conservation Foundation members against a proposal to buy Mustang Island acreage for a state park.

But he said Tuesday he would "look at it with an open mind—look at all the facts that have been developed since that time," if the park proposal comes before the commission again.

The Mustang Island controversy is in federal court, where P&W Chairman Pearce Johnson seeks an injunction blocking a $2.1 million federal grant matching state money for purchase of 3,800 acres on Mustang.

Johnson, an appointee of Gov. Preston Smith, was outvoted on the Mustang proposal by L.P. Gilvin and Harry Jersig, appointees of former Gov. John Connally.

Stone was named by Smith Monday to succeed Gilvin, whose term expired. That gives Smith a 2-1 lead in appointees to the board.

But Stone said, "when I was appointed there were no strings attached."

"I consider myself my own man," he said.

Bridges, a strong supporter of the Mustang proposal, had recommended Ralph Tennison for the post. Tennison was on the losing side in the conservation foundation vote.

Stone, 40, is president of the First State Bank of Wells, a community near Lufkin.

Motion Denied By Hughes

DALLAS AP — U. S. Dist. Judge Sarah T. Hughes has denied a motion to get statements about off-the-record discussions in connection with a federal civil suit alleging stock fraud.

Austin lawyer John Osorio, one of 14 individual defendants in the suit, sought to delay the first hearing in the case, scheduled for Monday.

Osorio and Donald S. Akins, former vice president of the defendant National Bankers Life Insurance Co. of Dallas, asked for a continuance so they could get more definite statements from the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission about its charges.

Judge Hughes denied the motions Tuesday.

Osorio had claimed that to prepare his defense adequately he needed off-the-record statements of 11 persons whose depositions were taken by the SEC.

These included four off-the-record discussions by former Gov. Allan Shivers and three by House Speaker Gus Mutscher Jr.

Another defendant, Houston financier Frank W. Sharp, asked that the hearing be consolidated with a hearing on a permanent injunction on an unspecified date.

The SEC seeks a preliminary injunction at the Monday hearing.

Sharp's lawyer, Morton Susman, said the defendants would contest each factual issue Monday to the same degree of trying the case on its merits.

"Both the hearing on the motion for a preliminary injunction and the trial on the merits will involve hundreds of thousands of dollars of expense for both the plaintiff (SEC) and the defendants," Sharp's motion said.

"There is no reason in law or equity for either the plaintiff or the defendants to be put to what amounts to two full trials of the same issues in the same case," the motion stated.

The federal civil suit also lists 11 firms as defendants.

Rehearing Asked On Insurance

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas automobile insurance companies protesting the Dec. 30 rates set by the state insurance board will get another chance to present their arguments against the new rates.

The motion for a rehearing was announced Tuesday by the board.

Board Chairman Ned Price said a date for the rehearing asked by the companies would be announced later.

The board has already set a Feb. 23 rehearing date for auto insurance buyers who are unhappy with the board granting a statewide boost of 14 per cent, effective last Jan. 1.

Insurance companies asked for an average 27.7 per cent increase.

The Texas Automobile Insurance Service office said Tuesday that the allowance of a potential underwriting profit of 2.6 per cent, after taxes, plus investment earnings from all sources, would not produce a fair rate of return.

The request for rehearing also protested the board putting a 25 per cent ceiling on auto insurance rate increases without special provisions for catastrophes or unusual circumstances.

Quartet Is Now A Trio

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Rhythm guitarist Tom Fogerty is leaving Creedence Clearwater Revival, turning one of rock music's hottest quartets into a trio.

"This isn't a Beatles split," spokesman Jake Rohrer said Tuesday. "There is no disharmony in the group."

Fogerty, 29, said he wants to quit touring and spend more time with his wife and four children and also wants to produce and record an album of his own material.

More Phones Than People

NEW YORK (AP) — There are more telephones than people in Washington, D.C., according to the American Telephone and Telegraph Co.

AT&T says in its latest edition of "The World's Telephones" that there are 859,326 phones in the nation's capital and an estimated 858,000 residents.

MISS FORD COUNTRY — This attractive blonde is Sandy Lankford of Graham, who has been named "Miss Ford Country" by the Dallas District Ford Dealers. A junior at UT Arlington, Miss Lankford will appear in a specially designed Ford blue western outfit in newspaper advertisements, outdoor displays and television commercials throughout Northern Texas. She also will make personal appearances at rodeos and civic events for Ford Dealers.
