Cleanup Underway

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — A growing army of cleanup men is trying to rid the blue Pacific of an ugly, black scar stretching along California's beaches for 30 miles.

An undersea well that sent 231,000 gallons of crude oil bubbling to the surface was capped Saturday, sealed with mud and cement. But the huge slick still wallows, broken slightly by winds, occasionally still seeping to land.

Crews are trying to sop it up, along the edges nearest land, with absorbent straw. Along the sandy beaches, more sophisticated methods are being used or planned.

More than 500 workmen from state conservation camps and the Union Oil Co., which drilled the well, have worked since the sludge moved ashore last week. Another 225 inmates from conservation camps join the crews tonight.

By midweek 1,500 men will be working along the coast. The cleanup is expected to require three weeks.

STORM DUMPS 15 INCHES

Snow Cripples New York

By JOSH MILLS
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — New York was crippled and cut off from its suburbs this morning in the wake of a storm that dumped 15 inches of snow, piled into drifts whipped by high winds.

The New York and American stock exchanges closed.

The Long Island Rail Road shut down, cutting off 90,000 commuters. The Penn Central and New Haven railroads drastically cut schedules, and buses were mired in huge traffic jams caused by stalled and deserted vehicles.

The State Thruway was closed from Albany to New York City —148 miles—for the first time in its history, and more than 1,000 cars were stranded on the Tappan Zee Bridge, a thruway span across the Hudson River at Tarrytown. The passengers took shelter locally.

Subways were running near normal. All public and parochial schools and colleges were closed, as were all branches of the public library.

Kennedy International, La Guardia and Newark airports were closed. More than 6,000 persons were stranded at Kennedy, where food supplies were being rapidly exhausted. Roads to the airport were blocked by stalled vehicles. One jetliner with 39 passengers was snowbound on a runway for nine hours Sunday before plows could free it.

National Airlines appealed this morning for a helicopter airlift of food for 50 passengers stranded at its terminal.

A spokesman said the stranded passengers had had no food since 8:30 p.m. Sunday night. About 3 children and three chronically ill persons were in the group.

"If they don't get food soon, they'll be in bad shape," the airline official said.

In the Atlantic about 180 miles southeast of Nantucket, a passenger-freight ship, the Exminster, was described by the Coast Guard as sinking slowly with 46 persons aboard.

The Coast Guard which dispatched a rescue vessel, said winds were up to 40 knots in the area.

Thirteen of New York City's 15 inches fell Sunday, a record for a single day.

Winds gusting to more than 40 miles per hour and temperatures in the 20s complicated the snow removal problem, as city officials declared a "snow emergency" and urged motorists to stay at home.

Upstate New York escaped the brunt of the storm and airliners were diverted from Kennedy to Montreal and Niagara Falls.

Northern New Jersey was equally crippled, but three commuter train lines into New York City were reported in operation. The Erie-Lackawanna Railroad said its electric-powered trains were operating normally, but diesel service was subject to delays.

Public schools in seven Northern New Jersey counties were closed, and many other areas reported partial closings.

The New Jersey Turnpike was shut from New Brunswick to Newark, and other parkways were plagued by deserted autos. Arteries leading to New York City were jammed and moving slowly.

The state legislatures in Trenton, N.J., and Albany N.Y., canceled today's session.

Connecticut commuters had it no better, as sections of the turnpike were closed and many secondary roads were impassable. A stalled train on the New Haven Railroad further delayed the irregular schedules.

Canaan, in northwestern Connecticut, reported 35 inches of snow.

Victim of the storm Sunday was the Northeast Ski Jump Championship, scheduled for Salisbury, Conn., which was canceled because of excessive snow and wind.

The storm center moved into the Atlantic Ocean off Nantucket, Mass., at 3:30 a.m., the Weather Bureau said. It had originated off the Virginia Capes Saturday night, and dumped five inches of snow in portions of Virginia and Maryland.

The near-blizzard moved from the metropolitan area into New England, dumping 16 inches of snow at Scituate, R.I., near Providence. Massachusetts, Maine and southern New Hampshire and Vermont also bore the brunt of the storm.

Power failures, caused by lines collapsing under the weight of ice and snow, occurred sporadically, chiefly in Westchester County, directly north of New York City.

West Protests Berlin Ban

BONN (AP) — The three Western allies declared today there is no justification for East Germany to impose restrictions on surface routes to West Berlin

The East German restrictions are aimed at members of the West German Federal Assembly who will elect a new federal president in Berlin March 5

The electors are expected to fly to the Communist-encircled city in order to evade the new restrictions.

The United States, Britain and France noted in a joint statement that the assembly had met on three previous occasions in West Berlin.

"The three governments consequently hold that there is no justification for the East German announcement on Feb. 8," the statement said.

"This announcement is moreover inconsistent with the fact that the Soviet Union, not East Germany, is responsible for free and unhindered access to person and goods to Berlin. The three governments have in the past reminded the Soviet Union of this responsibility Their position has not changed."

The statement said the West German decision to hold the presidential election in West Berlin was taken "after due consultation with the three powers within the framework of their responsibilities for Berlin."

ADN, the East German news agency, said Sunday the restrictions become effective Feb. 15. It made no mention of the air links to West Berlin, 110 miles inside East Germany, since the air lanes are controlled by the United States, Britain, France and the Soviet Union, the four postwar occupation powers.

The ban affects the 1,036 delegates to the Federal Assembly, about 300 aides and assistants and all members of the West German armed forces. The assembly is to elect a successor to West German President Heinrich Luebke, who is retiring.

Rotary Sets Contest For 6th Graders

A "word essay" contest for sixth graders in Snyder Public Schools is being launched this week under sponsorship of the Snyder Rotary Club.

Frank Miller, who heads the contest committee for Rotary, is Principal of North Elementary School and he said plans for the contest had been worked out with the other principals in the local system.

A sheet with words for assignments are distributed. Meanings of the words will be discussed by the sixth grade classes, after which the pupils will be assigned to submit their versions of the words in the form of creative essays.

Six words have been assigned on the following schedule: Feb. 10 - 21, "Honesty"; Feb. 24-March 6, "Ambition"; March 10-28, "Self - reliance"; March 31-April 11, "Manners"; April 14-25, "Enthusiasm"; April 28-May 9, "Loyalty."

Upon completion of each essay assignment, each sixth grade teacher will select entries to be discussed in class and ultimately a winner from each school will be selected.

Each semi - weekly winner from the six elementary schools will receive a check from the Snyder Rotary Club for $1. At the end of the contest, all 36 essays will be judged by a special committee to select the over - all winner. The winner will receive a $25 savings bond and public recognition.

NEARLY 100 SOVIET TRAWLERS

Red Ships Near Launch Site

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (AP) — Nearly 100 Soviet-bloc trawlers dragged their nets off the Virginia coast today, some less than 20 miles from the Wallops Island rocket center where a routine meteorological launch was planned tonight.

Worsening weather raised the prospect of problems, however, for both the launch and the trawlers, which during the night rode 10-foot seas and 40-mile-an-hour winds under the watch of two Coast Guard cutters.

Most of the fleet was amid schools of cod and sea bass from 25 to 45 miles off the entrance to Hampton Roads, one of the largest naval installations on the East Coast.

The remainder, nine trawlers and the 600-foot factory ship Pomorze, were 60 miles to the north, 18 miles off Wallops and just south of the Maryland line.

It was off Wallops and neighboring Chincoteague Islands that the trawlers first appeared last Thursday, growing first to a dozen, then to 50 or more by the weekend.

Coast Guard spotters, airborne on Saturday, said 20 of the vessels approached within 10 miles of Wallops, violating the 12-mile coastal fishing zone claimed by the United States.

All fled back to sea before the cutter Point Arena arrived but were warned that further violators would be boarded and seized.

The 82-foot cutter carried only an 11-man crew and an 80mm mortar. The Pomorze and four other Soviet "mother" ships in the fleet are more than six times her size.

But Lt. (j.g.) Rex Wesling, the cutter's 24-year-old skipper, said Sunday night the entire incident was more of an economic than a military matter.

Just the same, the 205-foot cutter Cherokee, with a crew of 90 and a three-inch gun, and another 82-footer, the Point Brown, replaced the Point Arena Sunday.

A spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said Wallops was an unlikely target for espionage since "99 per cent of our work is unclassified."

Tonight's launch, typical of meteorological studies at the base, involves 13 small rocket shots designed to measure wind speed and direction in the upper atmosphere.

Reed Seeks Re-Election

Herbert Reed, Snyder City Councilman, Place 5, filed this morning for a place on the ballot in the April 1 city election.

Reed, who will run for re-election is the second candidate to file for a place on the ballot. Last week, Wayne Monroney filed for Place 3, the post now held by R. C. Patton.

Council Place No. 1 also has a term expiring this year. John Thomas is the incumbent Place 1 councilman.

Reed is vice president of Southern Electric Co.

Deadline for candidates to file in the council race is March 1.

Ship Said Sinking Off Nantucket

NEW YORK (AP) — A ship with 46 persons aboard was described by the Coast Guard as sinking slowly today 180 miles southeast of Nantucket, Mass.

The ship was the passenger-carrying freighter, Exminster, which the Coast Guard said was taking on water in its engine room.

The cutter Sherman was speeding toward the Exminster, and was expected to arrive in midafternoon. A Coast Guard plane was searching for the ship in order to drop pumps, the Coast Guard said.

Visibility was three to five miles in the area, the Coast Guard said, with winds of 35 to 40 knots.

The Coast Guard spokesman said radio contact has been maintained with the vessel since early morning.

The Exminster, owned by American - Export-Isbrandtsen Lines, is 473 feet long and has a gross tonnage of 6,450.

No information was available immediately on its destination or port of departure.

Pitts Rites At Dawson

Funeral service was set for 2:30 p.m. today at Dawson, Navarro County, for Mrs. Hester Pitts, 79, who lived at 908 Twenty - ninth Street.

Mrs. Pitts, who had lived here for the past 15 years, died at 2 p.m. Saturday in Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

The funeral service was to be held in the Dawson Presbyterian Church and burial was to be in the Dawson Cemetery.

Surviving are two sons, William Joe Pitts of Snyder and Harold Pitts of Dawson. Bolger Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements here.

Jordan, Israel In Artillery Exchange

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Jordan said it fought a seven-hour artillery duel with Israel in the Ghor Safi area south of the Dead Sea today.

A spokesman in Amman accused Israel of starting the exchange

The Israelis made no immediate comment.

The Jordanian spokesman said there were no losses on the Arab side.

In another development a Beirut newspaper, Al Nahar, said Jordan is disturbed over a plan by the Palestine Liberation Organization, PLO, to move its armed force from Egypt to the east bank of the Jordan River.

Al Nahar said Jordanian Prime Minister Bahjat Talhouni is going to Cairo Tuesday to discuss the issue with President Gamal Abdel Nasser. Talhouni is expected to protest that Jordan was not consulted on the move.

PLO's new leader, Yasser Arafat, announced last week that the 4,000-man guerrilla force stationed in Egypt would be shifted.

In Israel, authorities expelled six Arab youths and a teacher from the occupied west bank Sunday, accusing them of taking part in or inciting anti-Israeli demonstrations last week.

Welding School Is Set At SHS Shop

A special welding school will be held from 7 p.m. until 9 p.m. tonight and Tuesday at the Snyder High School shop, according to an announcement by Ronald Foy.

He said anyone interested in learning new techniques of welding is invited to attend the school without charge. The school will be conducted by the Eutectic Welding Co. It has branch offices in Lubbock and in Odessa.

Monster Rockets Captured By Allies

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — Fifty monster rockets that one American adviser said could "raise hell" in Saigon have been found only one day's travel from the capital, they were part of one of the biggest enemy rocket stockpiles uncovered in the war.

A South Vietnamese spokesman said it was the first capture of 240mm rockets, warheads of which are twice the size and nearly seven times as powerful as the Russian 122mm and Chinese 107mm missiles regularly used by the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese.

"It's not anything like we've seen before," said an American officer. "Someone fabricated this, and it is not a mass produced item like you'd find in a Moscow parade."

Military spokesmen said the warheads probably had been improvised at arms factories in Cambodia and were hauled into South Vietnam on bicycles. Seventy bicycles were found with the rockets.

They speculated the big rockets were to be fired from crude launchers that would limit them to a range of one to four miles. The 122mm rockets have a range of seven miles.

The spokesmen said the 240mm warheads could carry 100 pounds of explosives, compared to 14½ pounds in the 122mm rockets. Thus the 50 rockets had a total punch of 5,000 pounds of explosives, or one-twelfth of the average bomb load of a U.S. B52 bomber.

South Vietnamese marines found the new type rockets in a 3-ton munitions cache in 34 man-made caves in War Zone C, 60 miles north of Saigon and 18 miles from the Cambodian border.

DEAR ABBY: When two young people wrote to say that they wanted to get a book on SEX IN MARRIAGE and study it together, you said, "Studying a subject is sure to stimulate one's curiosity and interest; furthermore there is no point in studying the violin if you have to wait two years to practice."

A humorous quip — but it makes no sense.

I assume that you think studying about sex will lead to irresponsible experimentation. That is not necessarily so. It is CURIOSITY about sex, based on ignorance, which is more apt to cause youth to try it out, rather than genuine education about it. It is the darkly forbidden — that which has been kept hidden, which is stimulating, rather than enlightenment.

Parents can no longer keep their children ignorant about sex. Our real task is to see to it that it is presented in a mature, wholesome manner.

Sincerely,
R.S.H., Dept. of Education
The American Institute of Family Relations,

DEAR R. S. H.: I do not advocate "keeping children ignorant about sex." I think children (and adults, as well) should know all they NEED to know about sex. But I STILL say that a pair of high school sophomores who are "in love," going steady, and plan to be married "in a few years" do not need to sit down together and study a sex amnual on the techniques of marital relations.

DEAR ABBY: How does a person stop exchanging Christmas gifts with folks he's exchanged gifts with for years, but hardly ever sees? I don't mean relatives. I mean people who are "friends" but not that close anymore.

I don't want their gifts, and would rather not have to send them anything, but naturally I don't want any hurt feelings.

HARTFORD

DEAR HARTFORD: Around Thanksgiving time, write them a note and tell them you are "thankful" for friends with whom you can be perfectly frank. Explain that this year you are "trimming" your Christmas gift list, and are sending cards; and unless they are very unreasonable, they will appreciate your good sense and will reciprocate accordingly.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I was glad to see that you told those 8th graders that "popularity" wasn't everything. I wish I had learned that earlier.

I started out as a homely wallflower who thought being "popular" was the most wonderful thing a girl could be. I started to smoke at 14 to prove I was "grown up." By 16 I had a reputation for being "easy" and I earned it. I quit school at 17, and married a guy I had known four days. By 18 I was divorced, had a child, and was having affairs with married men. Wow, was I popular!

Abby, just keep telling girls to be GOOD. Popularity isn't all it's cracked up to be. Don't use my name. I'm trying to straighten myself out.

Car Dealers Look For Big Year

HOUSTON (AP) — Many of the nation's automobile dealers predict sales of new domestic and foreign cars will reach 9.62 million units this year.

A poll of some 1,000 auto dealers announced Sunday indicates the dealers are more optimistic about sales than the manufacturers.

The poll by Universal C.I.T. Credit Corp. was released at the 52nd annual convention of the National Automobile Dealers Association.

The convention's general session opened today.

General Motors estimated this year's sales would be between 9.3 and 9.5 million units; Chrysler estimated 9.6 million, Ford 9.4 million and American Motors 9.2 to 9.3 million.

"The poll indicates that the men in daily contact with the buying public are more optimistic than they were at this time last year when they estimated 1968 sales would total 8.8 million," said Henry C. Watkins, chairman of Universal C.I.T.

The estimate would approach last year's new car volume. Although the 1968 total has not been tabulated officially, it is believed to be between 8.4 and 9.65 million.

Only 17.3 per cent of the dealers predicted sales would reach 10 million units in 1969. Most—30.6 per cent—picked 1970, while 24.4 per cent said 1971.

The dealers said a shortage of good mechanics is one of their biggest problems. Only 12.5 per cent of the dealers predicted the shortage would decline.

Seek Authority For Airline Service

DALLAS (AP) — Three Dallas businessmen have asked Texas Aeronautics Commission for authority to begin a new commuter airline service to serve seven South Texas cities.

The men are Clifton W. Cassidy Jr., George F. Dillman, and Mike A. Myers, all stockholders and directors of Rio Airways Inc.

The airline wants to use 15-passenger turbo-prop aircraft for daily non-stop flights between Houston and Corpus Christi, service to Victoria, plus twice daily service on a 7-city route to include San Antonio, Corpus and Laredo.

Eastern Airliner Forced To Cuba

MIAMI (AP) — An Eastern Airlines plane enroute from San Juan to Miami was hijacked to Cuba today, a spokesman for the U.S. State Department announced.

First reports said the plane was DC1 with "about 100 passengers aboard.

Witness Repeats Conspiracy Tale

by BILL CRIDER
Associated Press Writer

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Perry Raymond Russo stepped up at Clay Shaw's trial today to testify he overheard Shaw, Lee Harvey Oswald and David W. Ferrie conspire to kill President John F. Kennedy.

Russo, 27, a witness with a "hypnotically refreshed" memory, told roughly the same story he gave at Shaw's 1967 preliminary hearing—but with one change.

At the preliminary hearing, Russo testified he overheard the plotting during a party at Ferrie's apartment in September 1963. He said he had taken a girl named Sandra Moffett with him to the party.

Today, Asst. Dist. Atty. James A. Alcock asked if anyone had accompanied him, and Russo, a New Orleans book salesman, replied:

"I am testifying I don't know if anyone accompanied me on that occasion.

Sandra Moffett, now Mrs. Harold McMaines of Des Moines, Iowa, has said she never attended such a party. The defense wanted her as a witness, but said she went into hiding to avoid their subpoena because she was afraid of Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison.

Russo pointed out Shaw, a 55-year-old bachelor, as the man introduced to him at Ferrie's party as "Clem Bertrans."

He said Oswald had been introduced to him earlier as "Leon Oswald" and was Ferrie's apartment mate. He has identified "Leon" as Lee Harvey Oswald from photographs.

Shaw is charged with conspiring to kill Kennedy. Oswald and Ferrie are dead.

Russo said Oswald, Shaw and Ferrie discussed the assassination at length, including plans for triangulation of fire and flying the gunners to safety.

Russo had told the preliminary hearing he didn't recall details of the party until a hypnotist provided by Garrison enabled him to relive the occasion.

The issue of hypnotism popped up at the trial during defense attorney F. Irvin Dymond's cross examination of prosecution witness Charles I. Spiesel, 50, a New York City accountant.

Spiesel claimed Ferrie, a one-time airlines pilot, took him to a party near the French Quarter in June 1963 where he heard Shaw, Ferrie and others discuss how to kill the President.

Over Alcock's objections, Dymond questioned Spiesel about lawsuits in which Spiesel charged he was frequently and unwillingly hypnotized.

Warranty No Benefit Says FTC

WASHINGTON (AP) — A member of the Federal Trade Commission says auto warranties protect the manufacturer and not the buyer.

"Contrary to what a lot of people believe," Commissioner Philip Elman said Friday, "The warranty takes away from the car owner. It doesn't give him a thing."

Elman commented during a hearing at which Howard E. Crawford, a vice president of General Motors Corp., protested an FTC report that accused most manufacturers of failing to live up to their warranties.

Elman and three other commissioners lectured Crawford for calling the FTC report factually deficient. They said GM had failed to recognize that there was a problem.

Another witness, William W. Winpisinger, general vice president of the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists, blamed the auto industry for consumer complaints.

He said many of the 117,000 auto and truck mechanics his union represents are demoralized because they have to take the blame for poor repair service. Because manufacturers can pay less to dealers for warranty work that the dealer charges retail repair customers, Winpisinger said, some dealers make up the difference by charging customers more or skimping on warranty jobs.

Outfielder Jim Northrup hit five grand slam home runs during 1968. One of them came in the World Series.

Has Constitutional Right To A Beard

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The U.S. Constitution gives Donald Oliver, a bus driver, the right to wear a beard, says an arbiter.

Oliver, 35, was fired last year because of a no-beard rule of the Southern California Rapid Transit District. His union and the bus company went to an arbiter.

In a ruling Sunday, the arbiter said the bus line's ruling violates the First and 14th amendments citing liberties of Americans.

Livestock Guideline Due Soon

By DON M. KENDALL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the Agriculture Department's most important guidelines for livestock producers is due Wednesday afternoon when officials release estimates on how many cattle, hogs and chickens were on the nation's farms as of Jan. 1.

The report will include revised 1968 totals, the new estimate for 1969, and the percentage of change for each from last year.

A year ago the department estimated: 108.8 million cattle and calves, up slightly from 1967; 54.3 million hogs and pigs, up two per cent; 22.1 million sheep and lambs, down seven per cent; 424.6 million chickens, down one per cent, and 7.3 million turkeys, down seven per cent.

The total estimated value of livestock and poultry and farms and ranches Jan. 1 1968 was estimated at $18.7 billion, a decrease of one per cent from a year earlier.

Department officials say the yearly estimates are important to producers and the livestock industry in general in determining market trends.

Sees Americans On Moon This Year

NEW YORK (AP) — American spacemen will land on the moon this year, according to Werner Von Braun, the former German rocket expert who heads the Marshall Space Flight Center in Huntsville, Ala.

Von Braun said Sunday that 1969 "will be a year of unprecedented achievement" for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. "This is the year that Americans will land on the moon, reaching a goal that was established in 1961," he said.

Crackling Clouds Return To Florida

MIAMI (AP) — Flapping, crinkling, crackling clouds were reported over Miami Sunday.

"It sounds like a big bird flapping its wings and trying to get off the ground," said William Ward of suburban Miami.

"No, it's more like huge sheets of wax paper being crumpled," said his wife Charlene.

The clouds were reported over Jacksonville last week, but no one there could explain the sounds. Neither could the U.S. Weather Bureau in Miami.

Delegates Holding Secret Confabs?

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH
Associated Press Writer

PARIS (AP) — Exchanges of prisoners is considered the most likely subject to be taken up first at secret negotiations behind the scenes at the Vietnam peace talks if and when they take place.

A flock of unconfirmed rumors have suggested for the past week that such secret talks already have started. The weekly conference sessions are deadlocked because Hanoi and the Viet Cong want to talk about the political future of South Vietnam while the United States and Saigon insist on discussing military de-escalation measures. Prisoner exchange is one subject which Western observers think could be taken up in private without either side compromising its position on how the conference should proceed.

The North Vietnamese are holding several hundred American airmen, and the Viet Cong is believed to hold a few dozen Americans in jungle prison camps. The Saigon government holds thousands of North Vietnamese regulars and Viet Cong "suspects," including all captured by the Americans.

North Vietnam has consistently refused to provide a list of the American prisoners it holds, as required by the Geneva conventions, or to allow Red Cross inspection of its prison camps.

The American negotiators in Paris want very much to talk to the North Vietnamese about these prisoners—to obtain names, to arrange shipments of mail and food parcels and finally to negotiate the prisoners' release.

Arranging an exchange will be complicated by the fact that all the prisoners on the allied side are in South Vietnamese hands, while Hanoi has very few South Vietnamese prisoners. This rules out any direct prisoner exchange between the United States and North Vietnam, particularly as Hanoi has never acknowledged that its troops are fighting in South Vietnam.

To negotiate openly about prisoners thus would constitute a significant admission by Hanoi. For this reason the North Vietnamese might be willing to take up the subject only in strictly secret contacts with the United States.

Hanoi would hardly allow the Saigon government's delegation to take part in such talks unless the National Liberation Front's delegation also joins in. Yet Saigon is vigorously opposed to any recognition of the NLF as an equal negotiator.

Another problem will be the fate of any captured North Vietnamese who don't want to go back to their Communist country. In the Korean armistice negotiations at Panmunjom, the Chinese Communists and North Koreans delayed the proceedings for weeks with their insistence that all prisoners must be returned, including whose who objected.

Henry Rites In Missouri

Funeral services are slated for Tuesday in Marceline, Mo., for Mrs. Earl Henry, 69, who died there early Saturday. Born in Scurry County in 1900, Mrs. Henry was the former Willie Jo Sims, daughter of the late W. D. Sims', Scurry County pioneers.

Mrs. Henry is survived by one son, Billy Mac Henry of Kansas City; one sister, Mrs. Ethel Irvine of Roswell, N. M.; four grandchildren, one great-grandchild; a sister-in-law, Mrs. Wraymond Sims of Snyder, and several nieces and nephews including Darrell Sims, Robert Sims, Benny Sims, Mrs. Vada Burleson and Mrs. Cliff Hale all of Snyder.

Death Claims Film Star Gabby Hayes

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — At the age of 23, a veteran of burlesque and vaudeville, George Hayes began making his living as a jabbering old man.

The living was good for Hayes, who became known to millions over the next 59 years as "Gabby" Hayes, sidekick to cowboy stars.

"Yer durn tootin'" was his reply to Bill Boyd, the Hopalong Cassidy of Western movies during the 1940s, and to Roy Rogers, Gene Autry and others.

Hayes, grizzled and gravel-voiced to the end, died of a heart ailment Sunday at St. Joseph Hospital in nearby Burbank. He was 83, a widower since 1957. In 1960 he retired from show business.

Boyd, in Palm Desert, Calif., expressed great regret at Hayes' passing. "We loved him very much," said Mrs. Boyd.

Hayes was the son of a Wellsville, N.Y., hotel man who wanted him to join the family business. He ran away from home when he was in the eight grade and joined a touring repertory company.

He and actress Dorothy Earle married and came to Hollywood together in the early days of talking pictures. Said Hayes: "My wife talked me into it."

In 1939 he was costarred with Boyd in an early Hopalong Cassidy movie and stayed around for dozens of Westerns. His other movies inluded "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town," "The Plainsman" and "The Texas Rangers."

In 1957 his wife died. They had no children.

Former Scurry Resident Dies

Graveside services are scheduled for 4 p.m. Tuesday at Fluvanna Cemetery for Charlie R. Johnson, 82, of Dumas, former resident of Scurry County.

He died at 2:10 a.m. today in a Dumas hospital.

Survivors include three sons, three daughters, one brother, one sister, 19 grandchildren and 15 great-grandchildren.

Bell - Seale Funeral Home is in charge of local arrangements.

WOMEN

IN LUBBOCK PAGEANT — Dianne Lewallen, 19, daughter of Mrs. W. P. Lewallen of Snyder and a freshman at Texas Tech, is one of the 16 finalists who will perform in the 1969 Miss Lubbock Pageant at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in Lubbock Municipal Auditorium. She will do a dramatic interpretation. Winner of the pageant, sponsored by Lubbock Jaycees, will represent Lubbock in the Miss Texas Pageant.

Sardine And Caponata Salad

2 cans (each 4¾ ounces) caponata (eggplant appetizer)
2 medium tomatoes, diced
½ cup pimiento-stuffed green olives
Romaine or other lettuce
2 cans each (3 ounces) brisling sardines

In a small mixing bowl, lightly mix together the caponata, tomatoes and olives. Arrange romaine and drained sardines on individual salad plates; spoon the caponata mixture over the sardines. If salad is to be served on a platter, cover it with the romaine and make a ring of the sardines; turn caponata mixture over center of platter. Makes 6 servings.

Parsley Lamb

4¼ pounds (about) shank half of leg of lamb, boned and tied (about 3 pounds after boning)
⅓ cup finely chopped parsley
1 tablespoon olive oil
1 large clove garlic, crushed
Salt, pepper and paprika

Have a good portion of the fat cut away from surface of roast. In a small mixing bowl, mix together the parsley, oil and garlic; stuff mixture into space left when shank bone was removed. Use a small spoon and your fingers to do this, from both ends of roast, without disturbing string that binds meat. Sprinkle surface of lamb with salt, pepper and paprika. Place meat on a straight rack in shallow roast pan; roast in a 350-degree oven until lamb is as done as you like — 165 to 170 degrees on a meat thermometer for meat with a pink tinge, 180 degrees for well-done meat. Count on 35 to 40 minutes per pound. Fat may be skimmed from drippings in pan and drippings used for natural or slightly thickened gravy. When lamb is carved, spoon a bit of the parsley mixture over slices.

Cornmeal Fritters

3 tablespoons butter or margarine, soft
1 cup sugar
2 eggs, well beaten
3 cups sifted flour
1 cup enriched cornmeal
3½ teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon nutmeg
1 cup milk
Confectioners' sugar

Beat together butter and sugar until blended. Add eggs; beat well. Sift together flour, cornmeal, baking powder, salt and nutmeg; add alternately with milk to butter-sugar mixture, beating well after each addition. Drop by rounded tablespoonfuls into hot deep fat (375 degrees). Fry 5 to 6 minutes or until golden-brown. Turn once during drying. Drain on absorbent paper; sift confectioners' sugar over fritters. Makes 2 dozen.

California ranks fifth among the states in the number of local governments. The latest count was 3,504.

New Snow Novel Dull Reading

THE SLEEP OF REASON. By C. P. Snow.

Place: England. Time: 1963. Chief protagonist and narrotor: Sir Lewis Eliot, in his late 50s, retired from civil service and writing.

This is the genteel bit, brushing against modernity. It is mainly about those well cultivated elders of English university and governmental life who so mincingly and politely polish the verbiage of their well regulated lives. There are only some slight intrusions from the contemporary, plebeian crudity of the younger generation.

For about half the book, Eliot dawdles around in his set framework of family, old friends and connections with Cambridge University. Discreetly, he participates in the problem of booting out the University's vice chancellor (old friend), who has become a fuddy-duddy. With equally discreet delicacy he tries to smooth the path of the old friend's daughter suffering from unrequited love.

In the latter half of the book he — as bystander and spectator — loyally tries to help out another old friend and mentor, because the latter's niece and another young women — lesbians — are being tried for torturing and killing a small boy. The trial gives Eliot an opportunity to ruminate at length on questions of reason and rationality, free will and instinct.

This happens to be the 10th novel in Snow's series called "Strangers and Brothers," intended to be sufficiently self-contained that it may be read as a separate story.

But let's face it, the novel is a creaky, digressive, discursive, dull and boring story. The marvel of it is that a novelist who is addicted to many of the worst features of 19th century fiction is taken so seriously, thus far in the current century.

Animals Shown By Snyder FFA

Another fine day for animal judging arrived Saturday along with dozens of spectators at the annual Snyder FFA Stock Show. It was held in the county barn in Towle Park. Contestants in the Snyder Show along with contestants from the other FFA shows in the county will enter the County Junior Livestock Show here Thursday.

Judge of the chapter show was Sid Long, vocational agriculture teacher at Gail. He selected blue ribbon animals from among 69 hogs and 28 lambs. Billy Bob McMullan and Floyd Collins, local agriculture teachers, helped with the show.

Jim Bob Roberson, a senior student and the son of Mrs. Charlcie Roberson of Snyder, showed the grand champion hog. It was a Crossbred animal and selected over blue ribbon winners in the Chester-White, Duroc and Hampshire divisions. Jim Bob also took first place in the fine wool division of the sheep show.

Reserve champion hog was a Hampshire shown by Rusty Wilson, a junior student. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wilson, Lamesa Highway. Darden Stokes, a junior and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Stokes, had the champion Duroc, and Bo Robinson, a freshman and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Robinson, had the champion Chester-White.

Grand champion of the sheep show was Donnie Beck's Crossbred animal. Donnie, 18, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elton Beck, Route 3, Snyder. Reserve champion also was a Crossbred. It was shown by Bill Lockhart, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Lockhart of Snyder.

Complete results of the show:

SHEEP

Fine Wool — 1. Jim Bob Roberson. 2. Donnie Beck, 3. George Richardson, 4. James Hargrove, 5. Bill Lockhart, 6. David McCommas, 7. James Hargrove.

Crossbred — 1. Donnie Beck (grand champion), 2. Bill Lockhart (reserve champion), 3. Jimmy Williams, 4. Donnie Beck, 5. Bill Lockhart, 6. David McCommas, 7. George Richardson.

HOGS

Chester Whites — 1. Bo Robinson, 2. Rusty Wilson, 3. Billy Evans.

Durocs — 1. Darden Stokes, 2. Bill Stokes, 3. Tom Ed Wilson, 4. Gary Jones, 5. Jim Provence.

Crossbreds — 1. Jim Bob Roberson (grand champion) 2. Howard Shifflett, 3. Bo Robinson, 4. Mike Edwards, 5. Jerry Rinehart.

Hampshires — 1. Rusty Wilson (reserve champion), 2. Gary Smith, 3. Larry Green, 4. Darden Stokes, 5. Jerry Rinehart.

CHAMPION HOG — Jim Bob Roberson, a senior student at Snyder High School, won the grand championship of the Snyder FFA hog show with his Crossbred hog. He is the son of Mrs. Charlcie Roberson of Snyder.

CHAMPION SHEEP — Donnie Beck (right), 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elton Beck, Route 3, Snyder, had the grand champion lamb in the Snyder FFA Chapter Show. Bill Lockhart (left), 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Lockhart, 2712 Twenty-fifth Street, had the reserve champion lamb. Both animals are Crossbreeds.

Best To Bend Knees

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Two orthopedic surgeons say you won't be cheating if you bend your knees in toe-touching exercises.

Leaning over without bending your knees puts a tremendous strain on the lower part of the back, one says.

Another says failure to bend the knees could cause a severe back muscle sprain.

And Charlotte physical education teachers are advising their pupils not to keep the knees straight.

"This exercise stretches the hamstring muscles behind the knees, and a child's hamstring muscles don't need stretching," says Miss Risalie Bryant, director of elementary health and physical education for the school system.

Body Recovered 16 Days Later

INDUSTRY, Calif. (AP) — Michael James Heitrich, 11, investigating a rain-swollen storm drain by his home, lost his balance in the water and was swept 130 miles away.

His body, washed onto a beach near the Mexican border, was identified Saturday—16 days after he was drowned.

The boy's brother, Robert, 10, also was washed away by the swift water but was rescued two hours later.

Tigers, Wolves Will Decide Second Place

A berth in the playoffs of District 3-AAA will be riding on the Tiger - Wolf clash tomorrow night in Colorado City.

Snyder has lost three out of eight district tussles. Colorado City has lost only twice. A victory for the Tigers will tie the two teams for second place, but the Wolves would still face strong Brownfield there. C. City can clinch second in the zone by defeating the Tigers. Lamesa, the leader with an 8-0 record, has beaten both C. City and Snyder two times each. The other Bengal loss was a 66-61 decision by the Wolves.

The first meeting between the Wolves and Tigers was a battle-down to the wire, and tomorrow's collision should be equally if not more exciting. After about a week of average shooting, the Bengals began hitting with a high degree of accuracy at Brownfield last Friday and toppled the Cubs on their home court 68-58. A strong showing in the fourth period turned the tide in favor of Snyder.

If Coach Ned Underwood's lads can continue their momentum, then Coach Caddo Matthews Wolves will face a furious challenge on their home court.

Tipoff is set for 8 p.m. following the JV tilt at 6:15 p.m. A capacity crowd is expected for the crucial battle.

Leading the host Wolves are Lyneal James and Randy Parker. Both are 6-3 seniors and they can hit from anywhere on the court. Other seniors in the Wolf alignment are Johnny Matthews (6-2) and Don Safford (6-0).

The Tigers have a high-scoring machine that is led by senior Benny Ward. Lee McNair, 5-11 junior, and Jerry January, 6-1 senior, also know something about scoring as they demonstrated in the fourth quarter at Brownfield. Jodi Williamson, senior co - captain along with Ward, has been of considerable value as a playmaker. He can hit from the outside, too.

The Bengals have more reserve strength than Colorado City. Included are seniors Bill Hood and Randy Rushing as well as some talented juniors. If the contest is rough physically and the calls are close, then the Tigers will have the advantage despite being away from home.

Tickets can be purchased at Colorado City tomorrow night at the rate of $1 for adults and 50 cents for students.

Wheatley Falters

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Undefeated San Antonio Wheatley finally got booted out of first place in the Amarillo Globe-News Class AAAA schoolboy basketball poll after a narrow victory over San Antonio Breckinridge.

Until this week's poll, Wheatley had shared top billing with Houston Spring Branch Memorial, now the sole occupant of first place with a 34-0 record.

Wheatley had to scramble behind to score a thin 62-60 victory over Breckinridge last week and consequently lost a share of top billing with Memorial. Wheatley, now 24-0, has two other victories over Breckinridge this season, also by close margins.

Odessa High is back in third place with a 26-2 record and Dallas Pinkston is fourth at 31-3, despite last week's 86-85 loss to Dallas Thomas Jefferson. Defending state champion Houston Wheatley is fifth with a 20-2 record.

Clear Creek is sixth with a 29-3 record followed by Fort Worth Paschal, 17-2, San Antonio Alamo Heights and San Antonio Sam Houston, tied for eighth with 25-3 records and Dallas Thomas Jefferson, 10th, with a 30-4 record.

CASPER TAKES DESERT CLASSIC WITH 6-UNDER

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Billy Casper finally got off the launching pad and onto the victory stand. A position he occupied six times in golf in 1968.

A nonwinner in this new season, Casper forged from behind in the final round to capture the $122,000 Bob Hope Desert Classic Sunday at the par 36-33—72 Indian Wells Country Club.

The 37-year-old California pocketed $20,000 a nice start in a bid to repeat as the game's leading money winner. He was tops with $205,000 last year.

A last-round six-under par 66 for a 90-hole score of 345-15 under par for the marathon—was three shots in front of Dave Hill's 348 last round 66. Hill, from Evergreen, Colo., won his second largest purse, $11,400.

Such stars as defending champion Arnold Palmer, a former winner, Jack Nicklaus, as well as U.S. Open champion Lee Trevino, did not fare well on the bright and sunny day.

Never serious threats, Nicklaus had a final 69 for 345 and $1,350 Trevino 71 for 353 and $1,800 and Palmer 70 for 356 and $755.

Casper and the sentimental favorite of the show, Art Wall Jr., rounded the turn into the final nine holes all even.

Wall, the 1959 Masters champion and one of the tigers of the 50s, began to wilt and Casper virtually settled it all with an eagle 3 on the 478-yard 14th hole Billy hit a No. 4 wood 25 feet from the cup and sank it.

It was a breeze on in but Casper, a determined guy, went for another eagle 3 on the last green from 45 feet. The ball laged up short three feet and he closed out with a birdie.

"My goal was to get off to a good start," said Casper. "At no time later did I ever have it in mind to play conservatively. I've lost quite a few tournaments playing that way. I was shooting for birdies from start to finish."

Win 10-B Jr. Crowns

HERMLEIGH — Roby won the girls crown and Loraine copped the boys title in the District 10-B Junior High Basketball Tournament that concluded here Saturday.

The Roby girls took a 26-23 decision over Ira. Bobbie Holcomb led Roby with 11 points while Jan Kruse netted 17 for Ira.

Loraine's boys tripped Ira 48-34 behind the 19-point production of Cleon Williams. Sterling meshed 13 for Ira.

The high school tournament will be held in the Scurry County Coliseum, Thursday through Saturday.

Rod Stars Against Countryman

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Rod Laver has a new cure for a backache—five games of tennis.

Laver, a 30-year-old Australian, was due on court Sunday for his best three-of-five set final against countryman Tony Roche in the Philadelphia International Indoor Open Tennis Tournament. But Laver's back ached. It seemed he pulled a muscle a few days ago and it was acting up.

So Laver took a hot shower. Then he had some linament applied. That didn't help much. The final match got under way and Laver looked like a guy with a backache.

Roche, who could be the second best tennis player in the world—Laver is acknowledged No. 1—zipped to a 4-1 lead. The 23-year-old Roche appeared ready to tear up his fellow Aussie for the third time in their last four meetings.

Suddenly, the tide changed. Laver began to hit the shots that made him the No. 1 pro money winner in 1968 with earnings of $70,359. Roche appeared to press a little. The strokes he had been scoring with earlier now were just out.

Laver tied it at 4-4, and went on to take the set and the match by 7-5, 6-4, 6-4. His efforts earned him the $7,000 top prize, while Roche soothed his own pain with $4,000 second money.

What happened to the backache

"I've got a little history of a back condition," Laver confided. "It's a bit of a problem, though nothing to worry about. I've got be a little careful getting the back warm. That's why I'm a slow starter. After a few games it 'frees' up, and I can play completely normal."

In the doubles final, Marty Riessen of Evanston, Ill., teamed with The Netherlands' Tom Okker to defeat the Australian pair of John Newcombe and Roche 8-6, 6-4.

Leaders Survive Scares In SWC

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ
Associated Press Writer

The University of Texas and Rice will take turns this week trying to upset Baylor and Texas A&M's lockhold on first place in the Southwest Conference basketball chase.

The Aggies play Texas Tuesday and Rice Saturday and Baylor meets Rice Tuesday and Texas Saturday as the second half of the SWC race begins.

The co-leaders survived early scares Saturday to retain their shares of the lead with 6-1 records. Baylor trailed Texas by 23-11 in the first half before winning 71-57. A&M also had to rally to defeat Rice 90-82.

Southern Methodist ripped Arkansas 84-69 Saturday to remain just a step away from the leaders and Texas Tech defeated defending champion Texas Christian 56-49.

It's beginning to look like a three horse race with the rest of the league presently batting below .500. Tech and Texas are closest to the break-even level with 3-4 records followed by Rice and Arkansas with 2-5 records and TCU with 1-6.

Texas appeared ready to break out of a two-game losing slump when it spurted in front of Baylor. But the Bears rallied and trailed by only 35-34 at halftime.

In the second half, the lead changed hands seven times and was tied four times before the Bears took the lead for good. Larry Gatewood paced Baylor with 20 points and Wayne Doyal hit 19 for Texas.

Mike Heitmann and Billy Bob Barnett poured in 20 points each to lead A&M past Rice the Aggies had to do some scrambling too.

Rice led 53-50 with 11:13 to play before the Aggies scored 12 straight points to take control. Jim Naples led Rice with 18 points.

SMU hits well from the field in the first half and then burned in 19 of 22 free throws in the second half to defeat the Razorbacks.

The Mustangs' sensational sophomore Gene Phillips again led the Ponies with 24 points. Robert McKenzie netted 20 for Arkansas.

Steve Williams took up some of the scoring slack left by departed Clay Van Loozen to lead Tech to its third conference victory. Williams scored 20 and TCU's James Cash netted 18.

Lamar Tech Tips Trinity

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Lamar Tech and Trinity won't have much time to heal the wounds of last weekend's Southland Conference basketball showdown. They play each other again this week.

Lamar Tech, the nation's top-ranked small college team, won Saturday's meeting 93-92 in overtime throwing the conference into a tie for the lead. Tech and Trinity each have 4-1 records.

Lamar Tech, now 16-1, nipped Trinity in the follow-up game to its first loss of the season, a 76-71 defeat by the University of Texas at Arlington.

Arkansas State plays UT-Arlington is the only SLC game tonight. In other games this week Hardin-Simmons is at Abilene Christian and the University of West Florida is at Lamar Tech Tuesday night.

Saturday, ACC is at Arkansas State, in addition to the Lamar Tech-Trinity clash at San Antonio.

Houston whacked UT-Arlington 82-65 and Arkansas State nipped Abilene Christian 77-75 in other games Saturday night.

NET TEAM TRIUMPHS

BROWNFIELD — The Snyder High School tennis team had a happy day Saturday, winning the boys match 7-0 and the girls match 5-2 against Brownfield.

Linda Miller defeated Cindy Causseaux 6-2, 6-1 in the No. 1 girls singles. Cindy was district champion for the past two years.

Results of other girls matches with Snyder girls listed first:

D'Anna Boles defeated Jena King 6-4, 6-1; Carolyn Tyree defeated Hazel Purtell 6-1, 6-2; Vonee Reneau defeated Wanda Qualls 6-2, 6-3; Miller and Becky Sims defeated Valerie Marsh and King 7-5, 7-5; Boles and Tyree lost to Causseaux and Beth Benson 6-3, 6-1; and, Reneau and Linda Thompson lost to Purtell and Leigon 6-0, 6-4.

John Phillips bested Monty Hinson 6-2, 6-2 in the No. 1 boys singles. Results of other boys matches with Snyder boys listed first:

Max Falls defeated Leonard Farrar 6-0, 6-2; Ronnie Maddux defeated Danny Adkins 6-2, 6-1; Bebo Boren defeated Larry Redding 6-0, 6-0; Falls and Maddux defeated Hinson and Farrar 6-0, 6-0; Phillips and Book defeated Adkins and Redding 6-0, 6-0; and, Boren and Larry Braziel defeated Willingham and Lindsey 6-2, 6-1.

The Tigers are ahead in the round-robin competition for the team trophy. Dunbar will be at Snyder Saturday.

Golf Team Takes First

BROWNFIELD — Snyder High School's golf team swept a match with Brownfield here Saturday. The No. 1 Tiger team took top honors with a 321. The No. 2 Tiger team was runnerup with a 352. Brownfield's first team carded a 366, and its second team finished with a 367.

Mitch Rambin took medalist honors with a 4-over 76. Scores of other members of Snyder's first team: Jay Kidd 77, Phil Ator 83, Johnny Powell 85, and Leland Herod 96.

Second team scores: Terry Rannefeld 86, John Lacik 89, Steven Boydstun 96, Ted Donaldson 97, and Trey Cooper 101.

Coach J. P. Ward's boys will be at Lubbock Saturday for a match with Coronado, Monterey and Lubbock High. Tee off time is set for 8:30 a.m.

Bruins, Broncos Head For West Coast Cage Showdown

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

UCLA came up with an effective pain-killer for Lew Alcindor's headache, but Santa Clara might have trouble finding a remedy for Bud Ogden's sprained ankle.

A headache sent Alcindor to the bench early in the second half of UCLA's Pacific 8 Conference game against Washington State last Saturday.

The 7-foot-1½ All-American left the game after scoring 10 points, but teammates John Vallely, Lynn Shackelford, Curtis Rowe and Kenny Heitz picked up the slack as the top-ranked Bruins breezed to a 108-80 victory, their 18th without a loss this season.

No. 3 Santa Clara, the nation's only other unbeaten major power, extended its winning string to 20 with an 88-60 triumph over Pepperdine. But the Broncos lost sparkplug Ogden in the first half when the high-scoring, 6-foot-6 forward twisted an ankle. The extent of the injury was not reported as of Sunday night.

The two West Coast titans, heading toward a possible showdown in the NCAA Tournament, are idle this week until Saturday, when UCLA takes on Washington State again on the Cougars' court and Santa Clara visits San Francisco for a West Coast Athletic Conference scrap.

The Bruins, who have run off 38 successive victories since a two-point loss at Houston a year ago, are 10-0 in the Pacific 8 this season and lead runner-up Washington State by 1½ games. The Broncos, 7-0 in the WCAC, have a two-game edge on four pursuers but could have trouble staying unbeaten without Ogden up front.

Elsewhere last weekend, seventh-ranked LaSalle outscored No. 8 Villanova 74-67 in a Philadelphia summit clash and six other high-ranked teams won handily. No. 2 North Carolina bombed Florida State 100-82, No. 4 Kentucky trounced Mississippi 14-68 and No. 5 St. John's N.Y., stymied Army 65-43.

Sixth-ranked Davidson crushed George Washington 126-98, No. 9 Purdue whipped Northwestern 97-84 and No. 10 Illinois thrashed Iowa 98-69.

Vallely led the UCLA point-parade with 23 while Shackelford contributed 15, Rowe and Heitz 14 apiece. Ogden's brother, Ralph, and 6-foot-9 Dennis Awtrey each scored 17, keying the Santa Clara attack.

Ed Szczesny came off the LaSalle bench and hit three baskets down the stretch as the Explorers got past arch rival Villanova for their 18th victory in 19 starts. Soph Ken Durrett topped the LaSalle scorers with 20 points.

Charlie Scott put in 23 points and Bill Bunting 22 as North Carolina ran its season mark to 17-1. The Tar Heels are 8-0 in the Atlantic Coast Conference but face rugged tests this week in North Carolina State and South Carolina.

Dan Issel's 26 points paced Kentucky's Southeastern Conference leaders to their 16th triumph in 18 games and Jee DePre scored 10 of 14 St. John's points in a second half getaway that sent the Redmen, 16-2, past Army.

Davidson rolled to its 48th consecutive home court victory behind 26-point performances by Mike Malyo and Jerry Kroll. The wildcats are 18-2 over-all and 7-0 in the Southern Conference.

Rick Mount's 31-point spree led Purdue to its sixth Big Ten Conference victory without a loss and soph Greg Jackson's rebounding and defensive work helped Illinois tie 12th ranked Ohio State for the runner-up spot at 3-2. The Boilermakers are 13-3, the Illini 14-2 for the season.

Eleventh-ranked Tulsa raced to its 10th straight Missouri Valley Conference victory, topping Bradley 94-80 for an 18-2 season mark. Ohio State, 12-4, was upset by Wisconsin 77-73.

Kansas, No. 13, squeezed past Oklahoma 66-59 in overtime to stay within one-half game of 20th-ranked Colorado's Big Eight Conference leaders, who edged Nebraska 83-81.

But 14th-ranked Columbia bowed to Penn 91-81 and slipped two full games behind front-running Princeton in the Ivy League title chase. The Tigers beat Cornell 67-57 for an 8-0 Ivy mark.

Duquesne, No. 15, throttled Holy Cross 98-80 Sunday for its 15th victory in 17 starts. Saturday night, No. 16 New Mexico State beat Northern Illinois 63-59. Marquette riddled Eastern Michigan 82-58, No. 18 New Mexico got by Arizona 79-74 and No. 19 Dayton shaded Chicago Loyola 70-68 in overtime.

Injuns Lose Two Times

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

McMurry has some catching up to do this week if it intends to contend for the Lone Star Conference basketball title.

At the beginning of last week's games, the Indians were tied with Stephen F. Austin and Howard Payne with 6-1 records. But McMurry lost twice last week—both times to Southwest Texas State—and all but squelched its title hopes.

S. F. Austin and Howard Payne won twice and now have the lead to themselves with 8-1 records.

S. F. Austin, the fourth-ranked team in the Associated Press small college basketball poll, remains the winningest team in the league with a 20-2 records followed by Howard Payne with a 19-3 record.

Three games are scheduled tonight. East Texas State is at Southwest Texas, McMurry is at Texas A&I and Cameron State is at Angelo State.

In games Saturday night Howard Payne slammed Sam Houston 96-85; S. F. Austin whipped Sul Ross 94-76; Texas A&I downed East Texas State 98-75; Southwest Texas trimmed McMurry 66-62; and Wayland Baptist defeated Angelo State 79-69.

Brash Bob Will Guide Texas Loop

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ
Associated Press Writer

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Bobby Bragan, who refined umpire baiting to a fine art during his years as a major league baseball manager, now has set about to make Texas League umps the fashion plates for all organized baseball—let 'em wear turtleneck sweaters.

Bragan, often at odds with the umpires when he managed at Milwaukee, Atlanta, Cleveland, and Pittsburgh, said that was just one of his ideas Sunday as he took over as Texas League president.

The outspoken Bragan said now that he is in a position to do some inovating, he also would propose changes in the major league rules dealing with rain-outs and some way to prevent long games.

Shortly after Bragan signed his two-year contract he announced plans to get the umpires "out of those pallbearer uniforms they wear."

But turtlenecks?

"Sure, they could wear turtleneck sweaters and a nice pair of slacks," Bragan said. "They could have a different color for each night of the week. I plan to carry this out this year in the Texas League."

Bragan had been scheduled to report to the National League expansion team at Montreal this month as a coach but said he just couldn't pass up the opportunity with the Texas League.

Bragan said he thought a game should be finished once it is started.

"I don't like the way they treat the rain," he said. "If a game goes four innings and a pitcher strikes out 12 batters, it's all washed down the drain with the rain (if the game is cancelled).

"I think when you start a game you should finish it, either later the same day or the next day. This would eliminate the stalling tactics."

Bragan said he also would suggest to the national rules committee do something about lengthy games.

"That's another one of my pet peeves," he said. "I hate to see these 12:30 and one o'clock games. We not stop it after nine regular innings and if the game is tied, give it to the team with the most hits."

Failure To Pay Pipers Is Costly

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Minnesota Pipers didn't get their bonus. And it was costly.

In an American Basketball Association game against Indiana at home Sunday night, a Pacer was charged with fouling a Minnesota player late in the first half.

It should have been Indiana's sixth team foul, which would have given Minnesota a bonus shot. However, the scorers table had neglected to record an earlier foul against Indiana, and, so, the bonus situation did not take affect.

Indiana won 119-118 and moved to within three percentage points of first-place Minnesota in the Eastern Division.

In other ABA action Sunday, Houston outlasted Oakland 129-123 and Miami edged New Orleans 105-103. The New York at Kentucky game was postponed when the Nets could not get out of New York because of snow.

In the National Basketball Association, Boston bested Philadelphia 122-117 in overtime. Baltimore edged Atlanta 102-101, San Francisco nipped Seattle 21-120, Los Angeles mauled Phoenix 134-116 and Milwaukee topped San Diego 117-110.

The Pipers protested the matter of the missing free throw during the halftime, but ABA Commissioner George Mikan later ruled a mistake had been made and it was too late to do anything about it.

The Pipers missed a chance at victory late in the game when they were called for offensive goal tending. Roger Brown led Indiana with 30 points. Charlie Williams got 32 for Minnesota.

Oakland, playing without star Rick Barry, out with a knee injury, led 120-119 with 1:28 remaining, but Houston then reeled off 10 points to clinch the victory. Stew Johnson led the winners with 32 points. Gary Bradds got 26 for Oakland.

Don Freeman, Skip Thoren and Maurice McHartley led Miami over New Orleans by scoring 22 points each. New Orleans' Jimmy Jones scored 32.

Saturday, Oakland downed Indiana 118-103 and Denver took New York 119-113 in overtime.

Seagren Shoots For Eighteen Foot Mark

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) —Pole vault chanpion Bob Seagren, with a new world indoor record of 17 feet 6 inches, continues to aim at 18 feet and notes, "The more times I get to jump at it, the better chance I've got."

Seagren cleared the 17-6 at Saturday night's Times Indoor Games in Los Angeles and will compete again in Montreal on Friday night and flew back to California to go even higher.

After this coming weekend, Olympic champion Seagren, who has cleared 17-9 outdoors, plans to compete in about five other indoor meets.

He was voted the outstanding athlete in the Times meet before 13,736 at The Forum on a night when Australia's Ralph Doubell ran the second fastest indoor 1,000 meters ever.

The Aussie led all the way to post a 2:06.3, second only to Peter Snell's 2:06, a race run by the New Zealander in 1962.

West Germany's Jurgen May, on the comeback trail, won the mile but in comparatively slow time of 4:05.8. Poland's Hendryk Szordykowski finished second in 4:06.7.

George Young, the 31-year-old school teacher from Casa Grande, Ariz., ran his unbeaten string of indoor races to 16 when he outlegged Australia's Kerry O'Brien in the two-mile. The indefatiguable Young won in 8:42.4 as he surged ahead with two laps to go. O'Brien couldn't catch him and wound up at 8:43.0 followed by early pace setter Ole Oleson of Southern California in 8:45.

Willie Davenport of the Houston Striders equalled the world record in the 60-yeard hurdles for the second straight night with a 6.8 clocking. Like Seagren, he had competed at Ft. Worth. Davenport, who hopes for a pro football career, shares the record with Hayes Jones.

Petite Barbara Ferrell turned in the night's only double victory and both times she beat Olympic 200-meter champion Irena Szewinska of Poland. In the 60 it was Miss Ferrell in 6.7 and Mrs. Szewinska in 6.9 for second place.

In the 300, Barbara won in 36.2 but Lois Drinkwater of Phoenix, Ariz., took second in 36.3 with the Polish gal third in 36.6.

Doubell said he thought he could have broken the 1,000 record except the first quarter was run too slowly.

Another of track's big guns, Jim Ryun, was in action Saturday night, for the first time since being upset by Kipchoge Keino of Kenya in the 1,500 meters at the Olympics.

Ryun, the world record holder in the miie-run, won that event at the 46th annual Michigan State Relays in a leisurely 4:06.2.

A pole vaulter also set the only record at the All-Eastern Indoor Games Saturday at Baltimore. Claus Schiprowski vaulted to a meet mark of 16-11.

In an upset at Baltimore, Sam Bair of Kent State had a five-race winning streak snapped in the mile, which was won by Bob Finley of the Toronto Track Club in 4:05.3.

An American record of 1:07.7 in the 1,000-yard run was set by Tom Von Ruden of Oklahoma State Friday night at the ninth annual Fort Worth Coaches Indoor Games, the meet in which Davenport equalled the 60-yard hurdles world record.

Olympians Charlie Green and Randy Matson also won at Houston—Green taking the 60-yard dash in 6.0 and Matson the shot put with a toss of 64-1.

In another big meet Friday, Jim Green beat Olympions John Carlos, Leonx Miller and Ronnie Ray Smith in the 60-yard dash in a meet record 6.0 at the Madison Square Garden Invitational Track Meet.

Brokerage House Confusion Is Opportunity For Thieves

AP Business Analyst
By JOHN CUNNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — The nearly incredible behind-the-scenes confusion in some brokerage houses, where stacks of stocks worth millions of dollars cannot be identified with the owners, could become a paradise to thieves.

That is the judgment of a top officer in one of the largest underwriters of insurance for brokers. Paradise might, in fact, already be here, he suggested.

"The chaos is beyond description and is creating enormous opportunities for thieves," he said. "We have been extraordinarly luckly so far, but we're extremely worried."

Insurance rates have risen, some business is being declined by insurers, and informal warnings have been issued that protection might be refused altogether. "Enormous liabilities are hanging over our heads," said the insurer.

Earlier this month representatives of the banking and securities industries formed a committee to study the thefts and are expected to make their report within one month. This would require a rather hurried study.

Despite the apparent need for speed, the public attitude of committee members sounds decidedly less anxious than the private worries of insurers.

"My mind is open on the matter," said Gene McHam, vice president of the New York Stock Exchange's Stock Clearing Corp. "There has been some concern voiced in the street. Our position is, 'Let's take a look and see.'"

Frank Zarb, a partner in Goodbody & Co. and chairman of the committee, said: "Thefts definitely are a problem, but we just don't know the scope and depth. We need to determine it."

In the opinion of some financial authorities who were asked for estimates, that figure is going to be well up in the millions of dollars. Nobody cared to name a specific figure or, in fact, felt that they could.

Some thefts may not be uncovered, because some firms are believed to be accepting the losses rather than to suffer the publicity. Some securities may be listed as misplaced until, months later, it is realized they have been stolen.

The certificates may have been spirited out in the inner slit pocket of a worker's suitcoat, then taken to banks by thieves or their cohorts and used as collateral for loans. The loans remain unpaid.

The initial stage of the industry investigation is to define the problem. The second stage, if there is one, will be to set up a program to upgrade brokerage house security.

Behind the industry activity, however, are several prods:

The New York State Joint Legislative Committee on Crime has set up offices in the financial district to study the same problem. The Securities and Exchange Commission and other public agencies are concerned also. And there are the insurers.

"If corrective action is not taken the roof will fall in on the brokers in six months and then they'll be left without any insurance whatever," said the highly placed insurance executive, who asked not to be identified.

"Right now a professional thief would have an absolute heyday and it would take six to eight months to discover the theft. We might even have $500,000 to $5 million of liabilities we don't even know about."

The situation described by the insurer is a combination of at least two major failures of the brokerage business: disorder in record keeping and inability to thoroughly check the background of new employes.

"Almost anybody can go down there and get a job in a place with all that paper lying around," said the head of a company that conducts "personnel audits" for brokers. Even the Mafia, he was asked?

"Almost anybody," he repeated.

Junior Editors Quiz on MAYFLOWER

QUESTION: What happened to the Mayflower after it came to Plymouth?

• • •

ANSWER: All Americans revere the Pilgrims. Their motives in leaving the Old World for the dangers of a raw wilderness were based on a determination to live in a country where they could worship God in freedom. This has become one of America's most cherished conceptions. The Pilgrims left England in the Mayflower September 16, 1620, and had a rough passage over the Atlantic. They landed first on the tip of Cape Cod where Provincetown, Mass., now stands. Finding the soil too poor for settlement, they sailed west and arrived at Plymouth. The tradition is that they landed on the stone called Plymouth Rock (lower right). As to the Mayflower, we know it left Plymouth April 5, 1621, under command of Christopher Jones, who was captain on the voyage over, and also part owner. Jones died in 1622, but we do not know the Mayflower's further story. There is a tradition that it was sold for salvage, and that the hull was made into the roof of a barn. Recently, a replica of the famous little Mayflower was built and sailed across the Atlantic. She can be seen today in Plymouth, Mass.

We tend to speak of any winter storm as a blizzard, but the U.S. Weather Bureau says you don't have a blizzard unless you have winds of 35 miles an hour, much snow, and a temperature of 20 degrees Fahrenheit or lower. A severe blizzard, the bureau says, is marked by snow, 45 mile an hour winds or higher, and a temperature of 10 degrees or less.

What to do with the things we're through with is becoming a major problem in this country. We have to dump or discard more than 165 million tons of solid waste material each year, not counting the waste products of agriculture and industry. That's more than three-quarters of a ton for every American.

Those good old days: A Manhattan restaurant, reviewing one of its 1868 menus, found that 100 years ago it charged 4 cents for a beef steak, 2 cents for pie, a penny for coffee. It figured out that a meal which cost 12 cents a century ago would cost $9.50 now.

Political Reforms Proposed

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the Democrats' new reform commission says the party can put an end to backroom politics in selecting presidential candidates by giving citizens more responsibility on the precinct level.

Sen. George S. McGovern of South Dakota, in his first move since being formally appointed Saturday, also has asked Sen. Harold E. Hughes of Iowa to present the 27-member reform group with recommendations on making the party more democratic.

The commission was established by the 1968 Democratic National Convention to overhaul procedures for selection of convention delegates in 1972.

McGovern said "If we can open up the channel of communication in our party so that ordinary citizens can become active on the precinct level, this is a much better way to restructure and revitalize the party.

"I would like to see a system developed where every precinct has a voice in determining the delegation that's going to represent that particular state at the national convention," he added.

McGovern's comments were made in an appearance on a Metromedia News television documentary on the Democratic party.

By naming Hughes, the choice of many reformers for the group's chairman, McGovern signified his determination to press forward in the reform move. He said he hopes to bring the entire commission together within 30 days and to present at least an interim report by midsummer.

In naming the commission Saturday, Democratic National Chairman Fred R. Harris put two other members of the Hughes group, Rep. Donald Fraser of Minnesota and attorney Frederick G. Dutton, on the panel which has no mayors and few old-line party leaders.

But most of the members are new to the subject, and one person who has been close to reform drive said privately "I think it's going to be extremely tough."

The commission faces one major problem—time. Changes in state laws will be required in a number of states, and some legislatures are nearing the end of the only sessions before the start of preliminary delegate selection procedures in 1970.

In ordering creation of the special commission, the 1968 convention also outlawed the unit rule at all levels and directed that 1972 delegates be chosen by processes open to all Democrats within the calendar year of the convention itself.

Blaze Damages Junior High School

LANCASTER, Tex. (AP) — A $60,000 fire raced through the Lancaster Junior High School Sunday night.

Firemen from Dallas, Lancaster, De Soto, Cedar Hill and Wilmar battled the blaze at the 45-year-old two-story building for more than two hours before bringing it under control.

Fire Chief Tommy Griffin said the fire apparently started in a closet in the school's science laboratory on the second floor of the building.

The fire left the second floor of the building a shambles, firemen said, and the first floor was heavily damaged by water.

Powerful Craft In Stationary Orbit

By JIM STROTHMAN
AP Aerospace Writer

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The most powerful communications spacecraft yet developed by the Western world hovered high over the Pacific Ocean today, the herald for a new era when small combat units on front lines can speed messages via satellite.

The $30 million experimental craft, called TACCOMSAT for Tactical Communications Satellite, might be used by U.S. forces in Southeast Asia if it passes as test program expected to take several months.

The 1,600-pound payload rocketed atop a powerful Titan 3C rocket Sunday into a spot 22,300 miles over the equator off the west coast of South America. At that altitude, the satellite's orbital speed matches earth's rotation to keep the payload in a seemingly stationary position over the Galapagos Islands.

With a cluster of antennae sticking out the top of a soup-can-shaped body, the two-story-tall spacecraft was designed to test the feasibility of using satellites so mobile military units can communicate over great distances.

Its size permits enough power for ground forces to use portable, lightweight receiving antennae as small as one foot in diameter. This would allow rear headquarters to warn front line troops, for example, and small patrol boats to contact a shore base over long distances.

Lt. Gen. John W. O'Neill, commander of the Air Force space and missile systems organization which developed TACCOMSAT, said there is no plan "at the moment" to use the craft in Vietnam, "but we do have the capacity to move it, should that be required."

Sources said the payload probably would be shifted nearer Southeast Asia if it passed the testing program.

Huge 747 A Dream, Says Pilot

By JAMES RAGSDALE
Associated Press Writer

EVERETT, Wash. (AP) — The huge Boeing 747 jet airliner designed to carry up to 490 passengers flew for the first time Sunday and but for a single flaw its pilot called the test trip "absolutely ideal."

"It's a pilot's dream...It flies like an arrow," declared pilot Jack Waddell, 45, as he stepped from the cockpit of the $20 million, 355-ton prototype of the new fleet of superjets.

The flaw—an improperly aligned wing flap—forced the jet to return to Paine Field here after 1 hour, 15 minutes of a scheduled 2½-hour flight. The trouble was discovered 34 minutes into the flight.

The faulty flap—termed later by Waddell as a "minor discrepancy"—was discovered by Flight Engineer Jess Wallick at about the same time Waddell radioed feeling "a bump" during tests of the wing control system.

The 747 is about 2½ times larger than the biggest jetliners now in service, capable of flying 6,000 miles nonstop at a cruising speed of 625 miles per hour.

Its dimensions are massive—tipped on end it equals a 20-story building—and its four giant jet engines are amazingly quiet and smoke-free.

As Waddell applied conservative throttle, the jet appeared to lumber painfully along the runway looking deceptively slow for its takeoff speed of 196 m.p.h.

On takeoff and landing it appeared to hover gracefully like a kite rather than streak through the air as do its Boeing predecessors, the 707 and 727.

"If future flights are like this one," Waddell quipped at a news conference, "it really won't be much of a challenge."

Hospitals and related institutions employ about 15,000 administrators, according to a survey by the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

SPECIAL MILK PROGRAM

USDA's Worrisome Legacy

By C. YATES McDANIEL

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has sidestepped one agricultural pitfall left by the last regime but still must figure out how to defuse another delayed action device planted in the budget of former President Lyndon B. Johnson.

This worrisome legacy is the special milk program, which the Johnson budget proposed to cut drastically this year and then submerge in a broader-based, larger and costlier permanent child-nutrition plan geared primarily to helping needy youngsters.

Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin got White House approval last week to continue for this year at least the 50 per cent advance diversion payments feed grain producers have become accustomed to. The adavnnce will also be paid farmers participating in the 1969 wheat program.

The Johnson budget would have halved advance payments this year and ended them next year.

The special milk program problem is a tougher one to handle because it cuts across a number of Johnson's Great Society social plans outside the direct authority of the Agriculture Department.

The federal budget submitted to Congress Jan. 15 proposed a little less than $15 million for the special milk program in the year starting July 1. This would be a reduction of $88.2 million from what is being spent in the current year.

Influential members of Congress responded with proposed legislation to raise spending for the special milk program and make it permanent. Hardin has yet to give his views.

The budget not only proposed phasing out the special program but also adding more than ever was spent for the purpose in 15 years to general child-nutrition programs. These would provide lunch and breakfast free or at reduced rates for needy children in schools and day care centers.

The additional funds also would be used to help schools in low income communities to purchase kitchen and lunch rom equipment.

The former president said in his budget message that "the increased milk consumption resulting from these and other food assistance programs will substantially offset the decline in consumption resulting from the shift away from the special milk program."

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis. for one, sees the matter quite differently. He says the special program has been successful because it has supplied "billions of half pints" each year over and above the milk included as part of the standard school lunch program.

Proxmire argues that "to submerge this success story by making the program a subsidiary of the school lunch program and other special programs would be to make it an unwanted stepchild."

Proxmire, avowing his support for solving problems of hunger and malnutrition, noted with satisfaction that his bill to make permanent the special milk program was cosponsored by Sen. Leorge McGovern, D-S.D., who heads a special Committee on Nutrition and Human needs.

Influential backing for the special milk program came also from Rep. W. R. Poage, chairman of the House Agriculture Committee. The Texas Democrat's bill would give the program permanent status and authorize $125 million for its operation in the year starting July 1.

Spending for the special program during the past two years has run about $103.5 million.

Outside of Congress the fight to continue special milk as a separate program is being pressed by the National Milk Producers Federation. Congressional leaders and influential committeemen of both parties have heard from the federation. So has Secretary Hardin. His task is to improve farmer income and fit his proposals for achieving this into whatever plans the administration comes up with to help the poor.

Nose Count Shows Texas Is Growing

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas' population grew by 10,366,000 from 1960 to 10,945,000 on April 1, 1968, the Texas Business Review says in its January issue.

More than half of that increase was in the Houston and Dallas metropolitan areas.

Houston and Dallas had the same growth rate—over 29 per cent—but Houston's absolute gain of 418,000 was considerably larger than Dallas' 327,000 Bradshaw says.

The metropolitan population in Texas was 71.4 per cent of the whole in 1968, compared with 69 per cent in 1960.

Some metropolitan areas, however, lost population, the review said. These included the Midland and Odessa areas, termed "remarkable" in light of their 162.6 per cent and 116.1 per cent increases, from 1950 to 1960.

Midland's estimated loss was 2,500, from 67,717 to 65,200. Odessa's estimated loss was 7,800, from 90,995 to 83,200.

Other metropolitan area losses reported by the review were:

—Brownsville, Harlingen, San Benito 134,900, down from 151,098.

—McAllen, Pharr, Edinburg 177,100, down from 180,904.

—Waco 148,400, down from 150,091.

—Abilene 120,100, down from 120,377.

Estimates for the April 1, 1968, population in the metropolitan areas with more than 100,000 were:

Houston 1,836,700.
Dallas 1,466,100.
San Antonio 837,100.
Fort Worth 679,400.
El Paso 343,800.
Beaumont, Port Arthur, Orange 320,500.
Corpus Christi 279,700.
Austin 263,800.
Lubbock 198,600.
Amarillo 177,100.
McAllen, Pharr, Edinburg 177,100.
Galveston, Texas City 168,600.
Waco 148,400.
Brownsville, Harlingen, San Benito 134,900.
Wichita Falls 132,200.
Abilene 120,100.

The combined Houston and Galveston, Texas City metropolitan areas trailed the combined Dallas and Fort Worth metropolitan areas, 2,005,300 to 2,125,500. Nearly 38 per cent of all Texans live in these four metropolitan areas in 1968.

Epiphany, Jan. 6, is celebrated with an unusual blessing of the Greek sponge divers ritual at Tarpon Springs, Fla. A bishop throws his gold crucifix into the water to signify the baptism of Christ. Young men dive after the cross. Whoever retrieves it is specially blessed.

SPECIAL IMPRESSION — Herschell Hinshaw, owner of Hinshaw's House of Flowers, 2804 Avenue S, and his wife, Pat, say a gift of flowers and candy on Valentine's makes quite an impression on loved ones. Fresh flowers of all varieties as well as world-famous Flora Mir chocolates are available at Hinshaw. You can place your order in person by simply dialing 573-9600.

Say It With Flowers And Candy, Suggests Hinshaw

Why not say it with flowers and candy?

Such a gift could make twice the impression on a loved one on Valentine's Day, pointed out Hershel Hinshaw, owner of Hinshaw's House of Flowers, 2804 Avenue S, along with his wife, Pat.

But why wait until Valentine's Day? Why not avoid the last minute rush and get your order in now? Most floral firms are swamped with business during Valentine's and most of them usually sell their choice red flowers by the time Feb. 14 rolls around.

"We've ordered twice as many red flowers this year," Hinshaw said, "and we hope we have enough to last. But don't be disappointed if they're all gone when you call — we'll do our best to fix you up with other attractive flowers. Pink carnations are popular at this time of year."

The House of Flowers has a wide variety of fresh flowers from which to choose, including roses of any color, mixed spring bouquets, potted plants, azaleas, mums, tulips, hyacinths and kolanchoe.

Moreover, Hinshaw's also carries a line of quality Flora Mir candy in heart shaped boxes. Prices from $4 to $10, Flora Mir candy has a genuine chocolate taste. It is not dipped in wax, but kept under constant refrigeration at 42 degrees. Flora Mir has earned its reputation of being the "most luxurious chocolate in the world." Patrons know that its taste is superior.

Hinshaw's is a member of two floral delivery services, FTD and Tele-Flora. The FTD system is world-wide. A quick call to Hinshaw's House of Flowers, 573-9600, can brighten the day for your loved ones — whether wife, sweetheart or relative. Flowers or candy are appropriate gifts at any time of the year.

But a special gift of both on a special day could make a lasting impression on that special person.

Local deliveries are free. If you prefer placing your order in person, the friendly employes at Hinshaws will be glad to assist you with your choice.

Seek Clues In Slaying

BRENHAM, Tex. (AP)—Officers searched for clues late Sunday in the shooting death of Mrs. Eva Grace Long, who was ordered to close an alleged bawdy house two years ago.

Mrs. Long, 48, was found shot to death Saturday outside her Washington County Home. A .38-caliber pistol was near the body.

Justice of the Peace F.S. Bryan withheld a verdict pending completion of an investigation.

A temporary injunction was issued against Mrs. Long in 1967 and later upheld by the Texas Supreme Court.

After the Washington County Ministerial Association asked the grand jury to help close the house, known as "Gracie's Place," several jury members said they received telephone calls threatening harm to their children.

A radio announcer said one caller threatened to blow up the Brenham schools unless the investigation was stopped. Texas Rangers and highway patrolmen guarded the schools for a week.

MODEL T OF JET TRANSPORTATION

707 Changed Habits Of A People

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
AP Special Correspondent

RENTON, Wash. (AP) — In this day of computeried everything, it's nice to know a man can lift his eyes above the control panel and still see a sky lit for dreaming.

A few weeks ago the captain and crew of a Pan Am Boeing 707, streaking along at 38,000 feet on a routine flight from Honolulu to Sydney, Australia, saw out their cockpit window the Apollo 8 spacecraft making its flaming re-entry into the earth's atmosphere on its way back from around the moon.

It could hardly have happened to a more appropriate airplane.

Ten years ago, on Oct. 26, 1958, a Boeing 707 created the Jet Age by whisking 111 passengers from New York to Paris in 7 hours and 34 minutes on a regularly scheduled flight.

The feeling was strong that Paris was definitely taking its chances. One school of skeptics was certain that the banshee-wailing engines would blow down the buildings at Le Bourget field. Another held that the 145-foot-long monster, longer than the Wright brothers' first flight at Kitty Hawk, would sink into the tarmac as soon as she set down. There was fear that the jet stream, the west wind's mysterious freeway, would whip her beyond the speed of sound and crush her like an eagle egg.

Still, public acceptance came amazingly fast; faster than most airlines, which were reluctant to order the $6-million planes, were willing to admit to their stockholders in yearend statements. Within a month, National Airlines had begun the "run to the sun" with daily New York-to-Miami service on a 707 borrowed from Pan Am, and before the winter was over, American Airlines was literally rolling out the red carpet, purchased for just that purpose, for its nonstop Los Angeles-to-New York service. Business was so brisk the carpet wore out the first year, but the original plane is still flying, and so is the 707 that inaugurated the Paris run.

What the Model T Ford did for the motoring age and what the old DC3, the Douglas Dakota, did for aviation in general, the Boeing 707 did for jet transportation: it revolutionized the industry and, in the porcess, changed the habits of a people. Only this time, the people happened to be a pretty good chunk of the world.

There were other jets on the market before the Boeing 707, just as there were other automobiles before the Model T. The British Comet had gone into service in 1952 and then had been pulled from passenger service in 1954 after two disastrous crashes. The 707, which ignominiously began its flying life as a military tanker, created the Jet Age by being the first in the passenger field to span oceans and continents at better than 500 miles an hour.

By jet measurements, the world was only 40 hours around the middle, and the United States had shrunk to five hours wide by two hours deep. But other changes, more subtle, more significant, attended the phenomenal growth of jet transportation. In 1958, when piston planes still ruled the skies and the 707 was getting off the ground with its first passenger payload, airliners in the free world counted 88 million passengers. A decade later, the figure stood at 250 million, and there was scarcely a spot on the globe where the 707 had not cast its shadow or inspired the local airport to increase its runways to receive its bulk. The ultimate this side of the moon may have been attained with the recent announcement that Easter Island, where the grim-jaw prehistoric idols stare stonily out to sea, was lengthening its runways to receive the hundreds of tourists who soon will be arriving every day on the 707s of Lan-Chile, the national airlines.

Almost from the start, the Boeing 707 triggered a culture competition among some of the less-developed countries of the earth. Countries that never had a battleship or a steamship line to fly their colors found that they simply had to have an international airline, with girls in traditional native dress to hand out the hors d'oeuvres and pilots who sometimes had to sit on phone books to see out the window because the natinal stature was not in keeping with the dimensions of the Boeing cockpit.

The assembly line at Renton, Wash., turning out 707s at the rate of 20 a month, tried to tailor the planes to the varying national tastes and customs.

Being everywhere in the sky, the 707 seemed to be everywhere in the news.

During the 1964 Congo crisis, Sabena, the Belgian airline, dispatched five of its 707s to Leopoldville for one of the most spectacular airlifts in aviation history. In 14 days, making 62 round trips to Brussels, the planes carried more than 25,000 men, women and children to safety. Still an aviation record, one 707 carried 303 persons on the 4,000-mile, seven-hour nonstop flight. Most of the children sat or lay on the floor, babies were stowed in the luggage rack or distributed among the laps of the adult passengers who occupied the 189 seats.

The flash of 707s sweptback wings in a summer sky gave small boys something to dream on out schoolhouse windows.

Skimming along at 600 miles an hour in the clear, frigid air of the troposphere, above the weather, miles above the nearest bird, the jet provided the tourist with a view of America never seen before: the checkboard of the Midwest, the neon necklace of cities suddenly passed far below in the vault of night, cloud formations piled high in eerie citadels or rising like buttes out of the plains.

With the in-place only hours away from the out-place, the Beautiful People were forming themselves into something called the Jet Set and whizzing off to Portugal for a cocktail bash in honor of heart surgeon Christiaan Barnard or to shush over the slopes of Cortina or water ski at Acapulco or just do their thing at Majorca or St. Tropez or Bali or whatever spot on the globe happened to be fashionable this year. On another economic level, the Sligoment's Soccer, Social and Nocturnal Adoration Society, 200 strong and led by five priests, six nuns, two fiddlers and a bagpipe band, was filing up the ramp for a charter flight back to the Auld Sod that most of them had sworn they'd never make until that bridge was built across the Atlantic, but how could they resist when the roundtrip far was only $180? The new mobility, brought about by the reduced fares, greater descretionary income and the ease and speed of travel, had people heading off to golf in Scotland, ski in Austria, spear fish in the Caribbean, for a theater weekend in London or a swinging singles week in one of those Windward Islands that hadn't seen any action since the hey-dey of the rum runners.

For years Boeing had been trying to interest the government in financing a jet tanker to go with the company's B52, which had to drop down several miles and slow up to near stall speed to link up with a prop tanker. Based on the success of the B47 and the B52, the company also proposed a jet transport but could interest neither the government nor a single commercial airline. In August, 1952, Bill Allen, the crusty lawyer who was then president of Boeing and now is chairman of the board, emerged from a director's meeting with the startling announcement that the company would go ahead and built a prototype on its own. The plane, built behind a 30-foot high fence and given the number 367-80 to throw curious competitors off the track, wound up costing $20 million, which was more than Boeing profits for the previous five years combined. It was an instant success. The Air Force liked the plane so much, the KC-135 tanker model got into the air two full years ahead of the first commercial flight. Pan Am got delivery on its first Boeing 707 in August, 1958, followed by American, TWA, Continental, Qantas, Air France, Braniff, Sabena, Air India and Lufthansa.

Since Bill Allen emerged from that directors' meeting with the firm resolve of putting the B52 engines to work on a passenger plane, 828 Boeing 707s and 820 military tankers and transports have rolled off the assembly line at Renton. The production line is still open, but the end, inevitably, is in sight. This year Boeing will turn out only 55 to 60 orders of the 707, compared to 113 last year and nearly 200 when the line was at full production.

In a security-tight building just up the runway from where pilots from Kuwait Air and Olympic Airlines are going through their final cockpit checkouts for delivery of their new 707s, 5,000 engineers and draftsmen are at work on plans for the SST, the supersonic transport, compared with the task force of 350 engineers who helped project director Maynard Pennell put the 707 together back in the early '50s. And 30 miles away at Everett, Wash., in the biggest building anywhere under one roof, swarms of workmen are readying the 747 prototype for its flight tests, a subsonic monster that looks almost like the 707 except that i's 2½ times as big.

Grandson Of Barkley Faces Charge

PLATTSBURGH, N.Y. (AP) — The grandson of the late U.S. Vice President Alben Barkley is back in the United States to face charges of air piracy and kidnaping.

But Alben W. Truitt, 35, says he is guilty only of foolish conduct in events which led to him being charged with forcing the pilot of a chartered Cessna 177 to fly him from Key West, Fla., to Cuba last Oct. 23.

The FBI took Truitt into custody Saturday at the U.S.-Canadian border in nearby Champlain after he withdrew an appeal to an order deporting him from Canada.

Truitt, being held in lieu of $100,000 bail, was to be arraigned here today.

Truitt was ordered held in Clinton County jail after a hearing Sunday before U.S. Commissioner Joseph W. Kelley was continued until today.

The indictment against Truitt was returned Feb. 6 by a grand jury in Miami, Fla.

Truitt has said he was held under house arrest in Havana following his flight there.

"I just confess I was terrified," he said in a recent interview. Anyone who makes unauthorized trips to Cuba "may wind up dead," he said.

Truitt said he is a journalist and went to Cuba to write a book.

He said instead he was finally placed aboard a Cuban ship bound for France, which he left at Saint John, N.B. He made a brief swing into the United States and then re-entered Canada. He was detained in Montreal Jan. 17.
