All Set For Big School Election Here On Saturday

There are nine names on the ballot and the voter will be asked to scratch out six—leaving the other three as his choice to sit on the board of trustees for the next three years.

Voter all over this county-wide school district will cast their ballots at the High School building this Saturday, April 2, and when the votes are totaled up after 7:00 p.m., the three with the largest vote will be declared elected.

Eight hundred ballots have been ordered for this election and it is likely that nearly all of them will be used. Every candidate will get some votes, but it is unlikely that any one of the nine will get as much as half (or majority) of the total votes cast. But the three high ones will be officially elected, since there is no such a thing as a run-off in school elections.

The three elected Saturday will assume office Monday night and will be part of a 7-member board which disburses nearly half a million dollars each year. The four hold-over members are: Ford Oglesby and Jo Ed Hill, whose terms expire next year, and Bill Lester and Fred Case, whose terms expire in 1968.

Balloting Saturday will be at the High School building under direction of W. N. Ramsay and a number of assistants. Polls open at 8:00 a.m., and close at 7:00 p.m. Here are the names of the nine candidates in the order they will appear on your ballot:

For Trustee:

(Vote for Three)

- Bobby R. Sykes
- J. F. Cawley
- Robert K. Bradley
- Mrs. Ed Meador
- Henry Speck, Jr.
- Jimmie Martin
- Jerrold E. Sanders
- Ken Rosford
- Edwin M. Jackson, Jr.

Of the nine, only one, Jim Martin, is an incumbent running for re-election.

Harkey Sells Enco Stations To Mobley

BENNIE HARKEY

In a deal completed this week, Raymon L. Mobley became the owner of the two Enco (Humble) service stations here in Eldorado. He bought them from B. F. (Bennie) Harkey, proprietor for the past 12 years.

The transaction also included the Enco wholesale, or consignee business which Harkey had for about the past 7 years. Enco was formerly known as Humble.

Mr. Harkey stated that his own personal plans for the future are indefinite. He is presently assisting Mr. Mobley, and is continuing to make his home here in Eldorado. Mrs. Harkey is employed in the First National Bank, and their daughter, Kaye, is a Senior in Eldorado High School.

Mobley, who has been employed with Halliburton 15 years, was transferred to Eldorado 8 years ago.

Wm. C. Porter, long-time employee at the station, will continue to work for Mr. Mobley.

Mr. Mobley is not without previous station experience; before going with Halliburton, he operated a Humble station at Abilene.

Post Script

As is noted elsewhere in this Success issue, the Community Choir of Eldorado is presenting a cantata the evening of Palm Sunday in the First Baptist church.

This will be the main Easter event promoted and sponsored by the Ministerial Alliance. Most local churches will dispense with their own services that night in order for their congregations to hear the cantata.

—ps—
Palm Sunday marks the beginning of Holy Week, which culminates in Easter Sunday.

The pageant is to be held again this year on the hillside near Junction, starting at 10:00 o'clock the night before Easter Sunday. It is more fully described elsewhere in this Success. A number of local people plan to attend.

—ps—
Next week's Success issue for April 7th will be the one just before Easter, and we will carry features, advertising, etc., carrying out the theme of the season.

Since Easter Sunday is a highlight of the year for nearly all churches, we wish to carry the plans for the day of as many local churches as possible.

So a special word to all local church pastors and their reporters is in order:

Please write out your Easter Sunday schedule, giving sermon topics and any special music if available, and turn it in to us by Monday or Tuesday of next week. That way it is sure to be included.

Also any special events such as picnics, vesper services, or Easter egg hunts should be included in your report.

Maundy Thursday, Good Friday, and Holy Saturday call for special services in some churches, and reports on these, too, are invited.

—ps—
Driving around and looking over Eldorado late Sunday afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Hunter discovered our print shop door open and came in for an hour's visit.

The first time we met them—and the last—was about 20 years ago when our pre-war car developed mechanical trouble and we had to stay overnight at Baird while waiting for it to be repaired. Mr. and Mrs. Hunter were then publishers of the Baird Star and they went out of their way to make our overnight stay as pleasant as possible. It must have been on a Friday night as we joined them in attending a high school football game.

Later the Hunters sold out at Baird and were in business at Arlington between Fort Worth and Dallas. They are now located at Kerrville where Marvin, of course, is still connected with the printing business while his wife is on the school faculty.

We enjoyed their visit and were glad to have a chance to talk shop.

—ps—
They call it "East Street," the highway that runs from the Sofge corner north to intersect with San Angelo highway. It's a long street—if you want to call it a street. On its west side the area is divided more or less into blocks and streets but on its east side it is just land.

Paul Phillips has considerable acreage devoted to his large brooder houses. Beyond that are several residences, and farther on is space for a colored church and school house. The school building is empty now, since integration.

From there on north to the Glendale intersection is simply land—no man's land, in fact.

Several years ago someone came along looking for a place to dump a load of trash. Instead of going to the dump ground he dumped his trash right there. That was all it took!

From then on it looked like a dump ground, so it MUST BE a dump ground—and in no time at all it became a real dump ground and an eye-sore.

This area is some of the remaining land belonging to the Eldorado Townsite Company, but who or what really is the Townsite Company? When was it organized? Who was responsible for it?

Leslie Baker and W. O. Alexander had no specific date in mind but they believed the Townsite Co. was organized as far back as 1910. San Angelo promoters had a hand in working it up and they sold stock in the company here and at San Angelo and perhaps other

Memberships Now Being Solicited In The New El Dorado Golf Club

Memberships are now being taken at County Judge's office, the Eagle Chevrolet Co., and the First National Bank for all persons interested in the new recreation facility built by the County, in conjunction with the City and many volunteers.

Membership in the El Dorado Golf Club will cost $40.00 for the year 1966 and will entitle free use of the golf facilities for member's entire family.

The money collected for memberships will be used by the Club for maintenance of the golf course and park grounds.

The Golf Club will elect its own officers and committees that will supervise the maintenance of the playground, park, and golf course and will in turn be under the jurisdiction of the Commissioners' Court.

The greens are almost ready to play upon now and the expected open date is April 15th. Green fees (if not a member) will be 50c on week days and 75c on Saturdays and Sundays. Much enthusiasm has been displayed concerning the golf course and everyone is encouraged to try out their skill.

Eldorado is the only school in our district which has not had a golf team in their school system, and now we expect to compete in this sport as our neighboring towns have been doing for several years.

Golf is a game played by all ages of people and our new facility is an example of the progress which our town displays and its faith in the future. Everyone is encouraged to drive up and see this community project and to use it as much as possible. THIS IS YOUR GOLF COURSE!

Another Trustee Candidate Speaks

Editor, Eldorado Success
Eldorado, Texas

Dear Sir:

Thank you for the opportunity to express myself in relation to our approaching School Board election.

Your request for specific suggestions concerning improvement of our school necessitates the evaluation of our present system.

I believe the best indication of any school system's value lies in the records compiled by its graduates as they go on to college or take their places in our society. In my 12 years' experience here, I have found that our students have, almost without exception, proven their academic background by their performance in college. Almost without exception they have been, and are today, equipped to do college level work and this is a MUST. The rapidity of change in today's society makes the young person going out into the world without an education comparable to a man who doesn't know how to swim being alone in the middle of the ocean. It is impossible to place too much emphasis on the necessity for ALL our students to complete at least the high school portion of their education.

I have never served on a school board, therefore am not conversant with all our board's problems. I feel it would be presumptuous of me to advocate any particular program; however, I wish to say that if I am elected to your school board I will study each and every proposal that comes before the board very carefully and will, to the best of my ability, determine what is best for the students and the community as a whole, and will vote accordingly.

—Jerrold E. Sanders.

places. As time went on the stock evidently became a drug on the market. A lot of it was put up as security for loans at Eldorado's First National Bank, which resulted in the bank finally finding itself the reluctant majority stockholder.

So there they were—majority owners in a dump ground—whether they liked it or not!

Now something has been done. Bulldozers for several weeks have been pushing the junk down into a draw and the city's biggest "operation eyesore" is being completed. The area now looks slick and attractive—nice enough now to even attract a buyer.

The Townsite stockholders (you know who) are now determined to keep it that way.

Jo Ed said that cleaning up the area cost more than the land was worth, but he seemed to be proud of the job—and everybody else should be, too.

Go by and see it when you are out driving.

Revival services will begin Monday night at 7:30 at the Assembly of God church, and continue thru Easter Sunday. The church has the former Eastside Baptist church building, located on the Menard highway.

The pastor, the Rev. Johnny Griffith, will preach the services. He adds that everyone is welcome to any and all services.

—ps—

Don't forget to vote in the school trustee election coming up Saturday, and the city alderman election set Tuesday. Sample ballots for both of these are printed on page 2 of this Success issue.

School Trustees Elect C. T. Humphries As Superintendent

CURTIS T. HUMPHRIES

Curtis Humphries, elementary school principal here since July, 1957, was elected superintendent of the Schleicher County Independent School District in a called meeting of the school board last Thursday night.

Humphries will replace A. M. Whitis, superintendent since 1957, who resigned effective July 1 to accept a position on the English department staff of Texas Military Institute in San Antonio.

Humphries received bachelor of arts and master of education degrees from Howard Payne College and has also studied at North Texas State University.

He served as superintendent of schools in Flat for a period of 12 years and taught five years in Hamilton county vocational school. He came to Eldorado from Hamilton at the same time A. M. Whitis also came from Hamilton to assume the superintendency.

He is a member of National Educational Association, Texas State Teachers Association, and Texas Elementary Principals Association. He has served as president of Schleicher County Teachers Association and he is a life member of Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Mrs. Humphries is also on the faculty in the elementary school. They have two daughters, Gilda, who is married to Jack Stanford and lives at Wichita Falls, and Betty, who is a Senior at Baylor University, Waco, Texas.

As the Success went to press this week, there was no announcement from the school board as yet concerning new elementary principal or new head football coach.

County Helped By Rains Sunday Night

Of course it wasn't enough after many months of drouth, but an average of three-quarters inch of rain falling Sunday night and Monday morning came as a welcome relief to everyone in the county.

As is usual in Schleicher county the amounts varied greatly—all the way from half-inch to nearly two. Claude Doyle on the Circle ranch reported 1.25 to 1.70 which was a good deal more than his neighbors got. Jimmie West up in the Huldale area claimed 8-tenths to a full inch, and said it made them feel "like millionaires."

The Clemens Sauer farm in Reynolds community reported a welcome 9-tenths, but that, too, was more than the average. All told there were more people reporting half an inch or less, rather than more.

CANDIDATE VISITS HERE

Albert R. Smith of Eagle Pass, Democratic candidate for State Representative from the 65th (our) District, made a call in Eldorado Tuesday in the interest of his campaign.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Van Dusen and Mrs. Bernard Carr visited relatives at Quitman and Yantis in East Texas, and at Greenville, last week end. The red-bud trees were simply beautiful all the way, but especially so at Quitman, where they grow very tall, the Van Dusens reported.

City Election Tuesday . . .

Voters To Rule On 4-Year Terms For Mayor, Aldermen

With a new proposition added to the ballot, a larger turnout than usual is expected in the City Aldermen's election which comes up next Tuesday, April 5th.

In prior years with no contest to stimulate interest, the city election has often drawn less than 100 votes, but no less than 500 ballots have been ordered and printed for this year's contest. Balloting will be done at the fire station building with Mrs. Thelma Childers as election judge, assisted by Mrs. Ruth Finnigan and perhaps an extra clerk.

Voters will elect three aldermen out of a group of four—Alvin Faris, W. R. Davidson, Ralph Waldron, and Johnny Griffith. The first three are incumbents, running for re-election, while Mr. Griffith, a local barber and pastor, is making his first bid for a place on the board.

The new proposition, which appears at the bottom of the ballot, has to do with extending terms of Mayor and alderman to 4 years instead of 2. This proposition was ordered placed on the ballot by action of the council several weeks ago.

District Literary Meet Set Here For Friday

The Eldorado schools will host about 150 students all day this Friday at the District Literary Meet; the day will be a holiday for the host school. A. M. Whitis is director general for the UIL Spring Meet.

The one-act play contest was held Tuesday in Sonora, with Rex Lowe in charge.

Debate and ready writing contests are being held today, March 31st, at the school with Nelson Word in charge of debate and Mrs. Menton Skaggs of Iraan judging the ready writing.

Literary events coming up Friday, and their directors, were announced as follows:

Slide Rule, Robert Jay, Eldorado; Spelling (all divisions), Roy Moody, Ozona; Number Sense, Ray Senterfitt, Sanderson; Elementary Declamation, Mrs. Ila Wheat, Rankin; Prose Reading, C. H. Leath, Ozona; Persuasive Speaking, F. H. Goodyear, Rankin; Poetry Interpretation, Mrs. Dimple Noguess, Menard; Typing, Marylu Ray, Eldorado; Science, Mr. Wynn Big Lake; Extemp. Speaking, Mr. Bentley, Big Lake; and Shorthand, Wesley Hayhurst, Junction.

Officials stated that no lunch will be served Friday in the school cafeteria, so Eldorado cafes should do a big volume of business that day.

All Set For Bus Trip To Houston Games

With a total of $1,150 collected from 41 bus trippers, Jack Jones feels that everything is in order for the big bus trip to Houston on April 8th.

Of this cash total, $369 went for 104 tickets for two games at the Astrodome, and $567 goes for round trip bus tickets. The remainder is for motel rooms and trip insurance. "All we're waiting for now is for the day to arrive," remarked Jones.

The bus will depart from Eldorado at 6:00 a.m., and go by way of Sonora, Austin and La Grange, where they will arrive at noon and stop for lunch. From there on to Columbus and finally Houston, arriving at the Continental Houston between 3:30 and 4:00.

Circle Meetings Held—

The Berth Smith circle met last week on Monday, March 21st, at the home of Mrs. Odis Harris, for the concluding chapters of the mission study book, Panama—The Land Between, by Walter Knight. Mrs. W. N. Ramsay taught the lesson.

The hostess served cheese cake and a drink to the eight members of the circle attending and the W.M.S. president, Mrs. Jack Bell.

This circle met again Monday for Bible study at the home of the circle chairman, Mrs. Jack Griffin. Mrs. Jack Bell, president, taught the lesson on the Missionary Message of the Bible, the subtitle being Division and Decline Among the People of God.

The timing is just perfect. With the coming of hot weather a new cool rise method of making bread is announced. Home made bread is so good, why don't you make up a couple of loaves real soon. Bread freezes well and keeps well for six months.

The temptation to eat too much good home made bread is taken care of at our house by the person doing the slicing. The pieces are cut just a little thinner than usual.

Basic White Bread New Coolrise Method

5½ to 6½ cups Flour
2 pkgs. or cakes Fleischmann's Yeast, Active Dry or Compressed
½ cup warm water (105 to 115 F)
1 ¾ cups warm milk
2 tablespoons sugar
1 tablespoon salt
3 tablespoons shortening or margarine
Cooking oil.

(Ingredients for 2 loaves.) Tips to make your bread the best:

Dissolve yeast in a warm bowl. Rinse the bowl with warm water just before using. If you don't have a thermometer to test the temperature of the water and the milk for dissolving, test by sprinkling a few drops on the inside of your wrist. It should feel comfortably warm, not hot.

Beat vigorously during first two additions of flour. This strengthens the dough and helps make high, light loaves.

Knead dough thoroughly for good texture and volume. To check, press your finger firmly into dough. When it has been kneaded sufficiently the dough will spring back.

Cover the dough while it rests on the board and in the refrigerator to keep it moist. Be sure the wax paper and plastic wrap over loaves in refrigerator are not tucked under the pans. They should be loose to allow dough rising space.

Correct pan size is important for high, well-shaped loaves. Measure inside dimensions at top of pans with a ruler. You can still make excellent bread with pans slightly larger than the size called for in the recipe—but for perfect loaves use the suggested size.

Refrigerate loaves on a shelf which allows room for dough to rise. The space between shelves should be about 5 inches.

Bake in 400 F. oven for 30-40 minutes. Remove from pans immediately. Brush crust with butter. Cool.

Test for doneness by tapping the top crust with your forefinger and checking for brownness. If the bread sounds hollow—and the color is a nice brown, the bread is baked.

Cool bread slightly before slicing. A serrated knife and a gentle sawing motion give best results.

Aerosol sprays have taken the country. Every time I go to a market something new shows up in a spray can. I have heard of a business concern in San Angelo which will can a person's own paint mixtures in an aerosol can. Wouldn't I like to get hold of one in the ½-gallon size? That would be real fun.

But aerosol cans are not all fun. They are in reality miniature bombs and can be lethal weapons if misused.

Don't take these very handy but very commonplace spray cans for granted. Don't become careless. Do follow these safety rules when dealing with this household bomb:

1. Never spray directly in someone's face.
2. Never smoke while spraying.
3. Never spray near a fire or open flame.
4. Never store where temperature may exceed 120 degrees; high temperatures may cause pressurized containers to burst.
5. Never throw a pressurized can in the fire or keep one on the stove or on a radiator.
6. Never leave an aerosol can in a closed car in hot weather.
7. Never puncture the can; this could also cause it to burst.

Remember to hold an aerosol can upright for efficient operation whenever possible. This keeps the dip tube in the liquid. If the container is partly emptied and you tip it on its side in use, the dip tube may be out of the liquid.

If this is the case, you will release only pressure when you press the button. If the can runs out of pressure before the contents are used, it will be impossible to empty the can.

I have just looked at a Texas map to find out the exact location of Camp County, and I thought I had my Texas geography worked out a long time ago. Now honest, do you know where Camp county is? No fair for those to answer who have kin folks living there. Unfair advantage... you already know.

Anyway, all of this was occasioned by a letter from Johnny Cates, county agent in Camp county. Johnny says that they have a big peach festival every year in Pittsburg (county seat) and that he would like to have any good peach recipes we might be willing to send him.

Let's help Johnny Cates out. There is something appealing about a man writing for recipes. Get your files out... let's send Johnny something real "peachy."

Quite A Coincidence

Mrs. Bill (Beulah) Lester and Mrs. J. H. (Skeet) Mace live on the same street, Dixie Drive, here in Eldorado. Mrs. Lester's father and step-mother and Mace's mother and father lived in the same section of Fort Worth and were good friends. They played dominoes together every week. 'Easter' By Other Names

Although Easter is one of the most solemn Christian feasts, the names by which it is known are not Christian at all. In France, Easter is called Paques; in Italy it is called Pasqua; and in Spanish-speaking nations it is called Pascua. All three words are derived from the Hebrew word Pesah, which is the name for the Jewish feast of Passover. The English word, Easter, may have come from Eostre, a Teutonic goddess of spring, or from the Teutonic festival of spring called Eostur.

A Reminder:

Please Turn Your News and Advertising in Early

There's a good reason for doing so, because then it's certain to get in the paper. If you were to wait until press day or the day before to turn in your news, it might not get printed. Regardless of how much we might like to include your news, the load of work may prevent doing so, if it doesn't arrive in plenty of time.

Here's the Problem

We start the week Monday morning with very little news, or advertising, and therefore a light load of work. Tuesday the work load grows heavier as most news and advertising copy comes in. Wednesday is still busier, much busier—and all routine news and advertising should be in by mid-morning.

More and More Work, Less and Less Time

You see how the load of work keeps growing through the week—and the time for getting the work done grows less and less. Through all of this, remember that we have only the same number of people to get the paper out, regardless of how heavy the load. Everyone works harder and harder and faster and faster as presstime approaches—to make sure the paper reaches you on time. We will appreciate your co-operation in turning in your news early.

up his own long-range conservation plan to suit himself. He is not later subject to any restriction to which he has not previously agreed.

Both parties, the landowner and the government, must first reach an agreement about the conditions before they enter the contract. If they cannot reach agreement, they don't make the contract in the first place, supervisors say.

Under the contract, the landowner, or operator agrees that as part of his conservation plan, he will practice "proper use" of his rangeland. According to the contract, this will be interpreted to mean that he leaves half of the current year's growth of grass, by weight, on the ground. The contract will specify an accepted and mechanical method of determining the amount of grass usage.

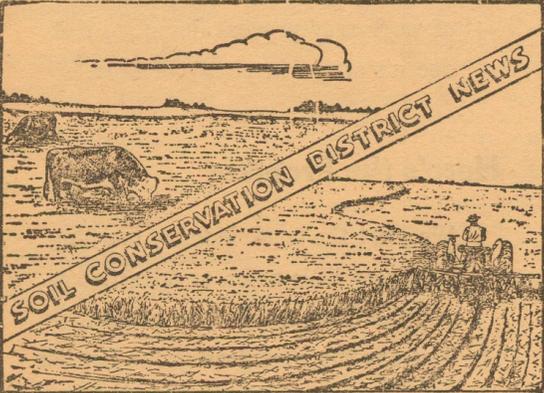

This method will make measurement impersonal and should eliminate disagreement later over whether a pasture actually has had proper use.

In a Great Plains contract the Government will not make any requirements about stocking rates as such. It will not tell the stockman he can run only so many head. It will, however, tell him if he is using more than the 50% of grass specified in the contract. The operator can make the adjustment however he sees fit, whether by selling down livestock, putting out supplemental feed, putting some on field grazing, or whatever he may decide.

Each contract is based on a practical long range conservation plan designed by the ranchman or farmer himself, with help of trained conservation personnel. Contracts will be flexible enough to take care of changing conditions. "Every time a ranchman goes to the bank to borrow money, he commits himself to certain contract regulations," supervisors say.

Fifteen farmers and ranchmen have entered into a Great Plains Conservation Program Contract on 34,609 acres in the Schleicher county part of the Eldorado-Divide Soil and Water Conservation District.

In these Great Plains contracts the government agrees what it will do, and the landowner or operator agrees what he will do. There is nothing in it that a conservation ranchman or farmer would object to. It's no more than he should be doing to take care of his place and produce maximum yields in the first place.

Farmers and ranchers in the Eldorado-Divide Soil and Water Conservation District are finding in the Great Plains Conservation Program a faster and less costly way of solving erosion problems and making yields and income more dependable.

A farmer or rancher with cost-share help can apply a complete farm or ranch conservation plan at a stepped-up pace. This gives him the best drought defense science and farmer-rancher experience have been able to work out for agriculture in the Plains area.

Farmers and ranchers in the district have available to them the Great Plains Conservation Program a long-time contract that guarantees cost sharing to complete his conservation plan. This program is being used as an important tool for the operator who depends entirely on farming and ranching for a livelihood.

The producer can get up to $25,000 as the Government's contribution in cost-share payments for conservation work on his farm or ranch. The minimum contract period is 3 years, and maximum is 10 years.

Other good features about the program is that the contract can be modified to meet changing conditions and he gets prompt cost-share payments as he completes portions of his soil and water conservation plan.

Some producers are leery of the program in that when a farmer or rancher signs a Great Plains contract he will be under a certain amount of compulsion and will lose part of his freedom to operate his land as he sees fit. This contract has no more compulsion than any commercial contract.

Under the program, District supervisors say, the landowner makes

Many Vehicles Still Await Inspection

Austin.—The director of the Texas Department of Public Safety reported today the owners of more than 1 1/4-million motor vehicles still need to have them safety checked at official inspection stations before their current inspection stickers expire April 15.

Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., said this means Texas' 5,350 inspection stations must collectively check over 65,000 vehicles per day in order to meet the deadline.

"This breaks down to an average of 12 cars per day per station," Garrison said. "And though this may seem like a small enough number to run through each station, it adds up to a total of over 1,378,000 individual vehicles."

He pointed out that the load on some inspection stations is greater than on others, resulting in the development of frustrating waiting lines in some places as the deadline approaches.

Latest figures indicate that so far during the 1966 inspection period approximately 2,816,000 vehicles have been inspected. This is 308,000 more than for the same period during the 1965 period when 2,507,000 were safety checked. It is estimated that some 200,000 to 250,000 more vehicles will be inspected this year compared to 1965.

"This gives us a gain of some 50,000 vehicles over last year's inspection period," Garrison said, "which is less than one day's total."

"Those drivers who consistently have their vehicles checked early and more than once during the year, such as before long trips, are to be commended for guarding their own safety as well as that of others on our streets and highways."

Easter Pageant To Be Given At Junction

Junction.—The Men's Bible Class of Junction, Texas, is producing for the 16th Year, the story of Jesus Christ's last days on earth in the form of an Easter Pageant.

There will be 100-plus Kimble county citizens portraying the different characters in this Pantomime Production under the direction of Ranch Woman, Mrs. Jack Reeves.

COUNTY AGENT'S COLUMN

by Tiny Godwin

Schleicher County Agricultural Agent

Weather and management largely determine the profit a grower gets out of his cotton crop. A dryland cotton farmer is more dependent upon weather than a farmer who irrigates but weather has a tremendous effect on cotton yields, whether irrigated or not.

Climatic data, showing weather behavior for a 30-year period, has been prepared for numerous stations within the Rolling Plains, of which Schleicher is a part, by the Cotton Research Committee of Texas. When a cotton grower knows how local weather conditions influence production, he can use practices needed to minimize hazards. In other words he can utilize weather as a management tool especially regarding planting dates.

Selecting a planting date that will produce the highest yield of the best quality at the greatest profit is one of the most important managerial decisions growers make each year. Climatic data offers no specific guarantee but does offer sound data that will work 9 out of 10 years. These are odds that farmers like to work with.

Advantages of delayed uniform planting on community or county levels are many as:

- (1) By planting in late May or early June, cotton fields are left bedded and dammed during heavy May rainfall in order to store valuable moisture for cotton production during low rainfall periods of July and August.
- (2) By planting in late May or early June, cotton would have a better chance of making growth during the hot, dry months and not start its peak bloom period until after mid-August when cool nights begin and chance of rain is better.
- (3) Virtually no replanting.
- (4) Cultivation and hoeing costs greatly reduced.
- (5) Weevils must have 1/3 grown squares in which to lay eggs. By planting late, the majority of the boll weevils are out of hibernation, 2-3 weeks before squares are 1/3 grown. Weevils can be more easily controlled by community-wide spray programs during the period. Natural control is also increased.
- (6) Delayed uniform planting eliminates 1 to 2 generations of weevils every year.

By planting in April, a farmer flattens his beds and decreases his soil capacity for catching and holding May moisture. He forces his cotton to fruit during July and early August and low rainfall.

There is greater chance for costly replanting. Cultivation and hoeing costs are increased and boll weevils are provided with the opportunity of multiplying through 1 to 2 generations during the year.

However, farmers who still believe that early cotton will make more cotton (irrigated farmers especially) can still cooperate fully with a community or county planting date weevil control program, by carrying out a complete insect control program. In this manner they do not jeopardize the efforts of their neighbors and they themselves make more cotton and profit.

The best recipe for an after-dinner speech is to add a good portion of shortening.

A good set of peaches and plums from the trees which are beginning to bloom isn't assured. Insects can damage the fruit or even "wipe-out" the crop if they are not controlled.

Insect control on fruit trees, he adds, is largely a preventive program. Once the insects begin to cause damage, little can be done to rid the fruit of the pests and prevent further damage. Most of the common fruit damaging insects begin their activity and reproduction during the first 30-45 days after the trees begin to bloom. Therefore, insecticides applied during this early period will control the insects which damage fruit later in the season.

Homeowners with a few trees are advised to follow a preventive spray program. Malathion or methoxychlor, either in the wettable powder or emulsifiable concentrate forms, are effective for controlling insects. They are not hazardous when used as directed and will not leave residues in the fruit. Both are available in numerous commercial formulations and directions for mixing and applying are given on the container label.

Four spray applications, timed to coincide with bloom and fruit formulation, are recommended. The first or petal fall spray should be applied when about three-fourths of the blossom petals have shed. The second or shuck split spray should be made about 10 days after most of the petals have shed. The third or first cover spray should follow the second spray in 10 to 14 days and fourth or second cover spray should follow the 3rd application in 14 to 21 days.

If later infestations begin to damage the fruit, a spray contain-
